Islands Brace For Hurricane; Judged 'Strongest' In 20 Years

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (AP) — Hurricane David, one of the most dangerous storms ever to threaten the Caribbean, gained strength Tuesday and sent residents and tourists in the Lesser Antilles island chain scrambling for shelter.

U.S. forecasters clocked sustained winds in the storm at 150 miles an hour. Gale-force winds and rain reached this easternmost island of the Caribbean as darkness fell.

Officials here said an unusually high number of American and other off-season tourists were on the island, many in luxury beach hotels that could be hit with the full brunt of the storm.

"Hurricane David is at this moment comparable to the great hurricanes in the history of the Antilles, like the 1831 hurricane of Barbados and the 1891 hurricane of Martinique," said a spokesman for the U.S. National Weather Service in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

David is the second Atlantic Ocean hurricane of the season, and forecasters said it was the "strongest to threaten the Lesser Antilles since Hurricane Donna," which followed a similar path 20 years ago, killing 150 people in Puerto Rico and Florida.

The storm was moving west at 15 miles an hour, and Weather Service officials said they expected it to pass just north of Barbados Tuesday night, and very near St. Lucia and Martinique early Wednesday.

Service said. "Residents of those islands should continue taking maximum precautions and should keep in touch with later advisories."

The only indication of the approaching storm Tuesday afternoon on Barbados was a freshening breeze and a falling barometer under cloudless skies.

Although midday skies were clear, Bridgetown resembled a ghost town. Residents boarded up their homes and stores.

Hurricane warnings have been issued for the islands of St. Vincent, St. Lucia and Martinique, and a hurricane watch was in effect in Trinidad and Tobago to the south.

"Residents of the islands from Barbados and the Grenadines northward to Martinique are urged to carry out maximum preparatory measures immediately," forecasters said. Those islands are all in the Lesser Antilles chain, which separates the Caribbean Sea from the Atlantic between 1,500 and 2,000 miles southeast of Miami.

In San Juan, Gov. Carlos Romero Barcelo warned residents the storm could strike Puerto Rico and summoned his Cabinet and key government officials to plan for a possible emergency.

"The strongest winds are expected in Barbados around midnight (Tuesday) and in the islands to the west close to daybreak on Wednesday," the Weather

A weak high pressure system over New Mexico will help keep mostly fair, warm weather over the South Plains through Thursday.

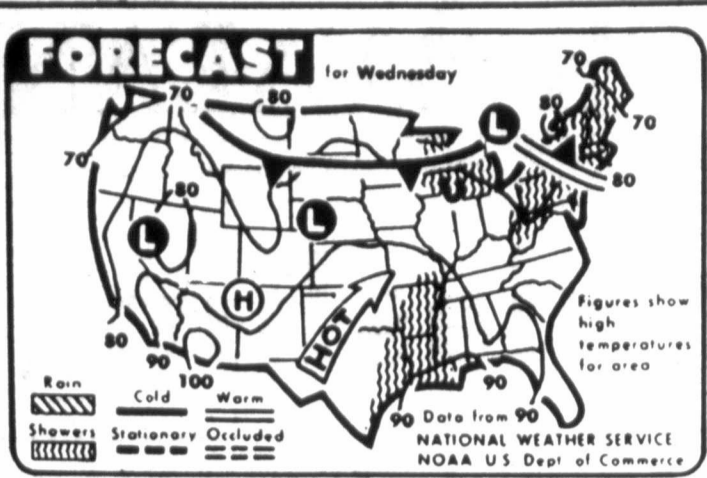

No rain is forecast for the area until Friday, when a chance of thunderstorms is expected to plague the region during the weekend.

A predicted 12 hours of sunshine both today and Thursday is expected to help dry out crop land drenched by last week's heavy storms.

The high today should soar to the middle 90s, accompanied by brisk southerly breezes at 15 to 20 mph. The low tonight will be in the upper 60s.

The high Thursday should reach the lower 90s, dipping to the 80s by Friday as cooler, moist air enters the area.

Elsewhere across the state, weather conditions remained mostly clear except Cactus grows in Minnesota. Seven species of the plant usually associated with the arid Southwest grow in Blue Mounds State Park.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for today calls for showers over the Great Lakes, New England and as far south as New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Showers also are expected over the gulf coast and Mississippi River regions as well. (AP Laserphoto Map)

IRA Bomb Blast Wrecks Stage; 15 Hurt

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — In another blow of a widening IRA terror war, a bomb blast Tuesday tore through an open-air stage where a British army band was preparing to give a concert for tourists in Brussels' historic Grand Place. Eleven spectators and four bandmen were injured, police said.

Brussels Mayor Pierre van Halteren said the Irish Republican Army claimed responsibility for the bombing in a telephone call to city hall. Irish guerrillas have attacked other British targets in Belgium and the Netherlands in recent months.

Authorities in both Britain and the Irish Republic expressed outrage at Monday's carnage — as did President Carter and Pope John Paul II. On Tuesday, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher held urgent security talks in London and sources at Scotland Yard, center of the British police network, said security chiefs were trying to persuade more prominent British personalities to accept bodyguards.

The band that came to Brussels was the Duke of Edinburgh's Royal Regiment band, stationed in Ossendorf, West Germany.

In a few minutes, it was to have begun a 1 1/2-hour concert in the broad plaza, a major tourist site surrounded by centuries-old buildings.

But by chance, only six of the 24 members of the band were on stage when the blast ripped apart the floor about 3 p.m.

The others had stepped off to change into their red dress uniforms after setting up music stands and instruments.

The bombing in the Belgian capital came just a day after IRA bombs killed Britain's Earl Mountbatten of Burma and three others in the Irish Republic, and 18 British soldiers in Northern Ireland.

The Provisional wing of the IRA, in the name of Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic minority, has been waging a terror campaign aimed at ending British rule in Northern Ireland and uniting it with the predominantly Catholic Irish Republic.

Khomeini Stance Seen As Peace Threat

TEHRAN (AP) — Kurdish peace delegates met with government representatives Tuesday, seeking a negotiated cease-fire and the recall of Ayatollah Sadeq Khalkali, who the Kurds say has ordered dozens of rebels executed.

Despite the peace overture, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini dispatched Moslem cleric Hosseini Kermani to Kurdistan on a fact-finding mission Tuesday with instructions to "crush the outlaws if need be," the state radio reported.

The announced executions Tuesday in Kurdistan of 11 rebels and nine army deserters appeared to jeopardize chances of a lasting cease-fire between Kurds and forces loyal to the Khomeini.

Khomeini apparently views the Kurdish rebellion, led by the banned Kurdish Democratic party, as a threat to the revolutionary Islamic regime he established with the ouster of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in February.

Kurdish rebels raided fuel depots and armories for supplies Tuesday, the third day of a cease-fire, and government forces remained poised for an attack 19 miles from the Kurdish stronghold of Mahabad, the official Pars news agency reported.

Pars said 20 people were executed in the Kurdish town of Saqqez Tuesday, including 11 rebels and nine government soldiers accused of "desertion."

More than 50 Kurdish rebels have been put to death since the latest struggle for Kurdish autonomy began two weeks ago. Nearly 1,000 people have died in fighting in Kurdistan, northwest Iran, since March.

Kurdish sources in Mahabad said Tuesday that 57 rebels were found guilty of "anti-revolutionary activities" and condemned to death by the controversial Khalkali, whom Khomeini sent to Kurdistan to direct revolutionary tribunals.

The Kurds, reached by telephone, said the bullet-riddled bodies were "dumped into the street outside the town's garrison as grief-stricken relatives gathered around." Reporters were unable to confirm either the government or Kurdish figures of the number executed.

The Iranian press reported that Rahman Fazeli, deputy governor of Mahabad, urged the regime not to attack Mahabad until the peacekeeping delegation completed its mission.

"If the government forces make one wrong move, more than two million Kurds will be drawn into an unwanted war," Fazeli said.

Iran's four million Kurds have repeatedly sought political autonomy from the central government, and say they would like to join other Kurds in neighboring Iraq and Turkey to form an independent nation.

"Right now the Kurdish Democratic party commands a tremendous amount of influence among the Kurdish people. The KDP is in a position to provide the people with fuel and food supplies," Fazeli said. "The party has bought up all the fuel available in Mahabad and has moved it outside the city to their own storage facilities."

Khomeini banned the Kurdish Democratic party after heavy fighting in the town of Paveh two weeks ago and ordered the arrest of party secretary general

Abdol Rahman Qassemu and Kurdish spiritual leader Sheikh Ezzedin Hosseini, a Sunni cleric.

The Kurds, like the majority of the Moslems, are members of the Sunni sect. Most Iranians are members of the Shiite sect, led by Khomeini.

In an apparent attempt to split the Kurdish leadership, government spokesman Sadeq Tabatabai told reporters in Tehran Tuesday the regime was willing to talk with individuals of the Kurdish Democratic party but not with Qassemu or Sheikh Hosseini.

Tabatabai also said four Israeli spies had been captured in Kurdistan recently, "proving that Zionists have a program for establishing a new Israel in western Iran."

He did not substantiate the claim or disclose when and where the Israelis were captured. One of Khomeini's first acts was to denounce Israel and stop the sale of Iranian oil to the Jewish nation.

In other developments, four other executions were reported in Iran Tuesday, bringing the total to 505 since February.

Brig. Gen. Mozfar Niazmand, former police chief of Kurdistan, was reported shot along with Cyrus Manuchehri, deputy head of SAVAK, the shah's dreaded secret police. Niazmand was the 32nd general executed since the ouster of the shah.

The government also announced the execution of two women on moral charges in Isfahan, a city in central Iran.

The Los Angeles-based airline said it would begin freight service from Los Angeles to Hong Kong via Honolulu and Guam beginning Oct. 1.

Carter, Chinese Head Slate Visit Exchange

PEKING (AP) — President Carter and Chinese leader Hua Guofeng (Hua Kuo-feng) will exchange visits to China and the United States next year, Vice President Walter Mondale announced Tuesday after far-ranging talks with the Peking leadership about the future of Chinese-American relations.

Mondale said Hua, Chinese premier and Communist Party chairman, accepted Carter's invitation "with delight." Carter announced several months ago he had been invited by the Chinese government to visit China.

Dates for the 1980 trips are not set, but they will be the first by each leader to the country of the other, although both have traveled extensively to foreign nations.

Hua told Mondale he was aware it was the vice president's first visit to China and the first by such a high-ranking American since diplomatic relations were established Jan. 1.

"So I extend you a special welcome because of these two firsts. It is a beginning, not an end," Hua said.

They met at a ceremony for the signing of a broad range of agreements covering cultural exchanges and U.S. assistance.

Coal Gasification Project Endorsed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A privately backed coal gasification program for Missouri has a good chance of getting some federal aid if financial questions are answered adequately, federal energy officials say.

"It would be in the attractive list as far as I'm concerned," said Russell Bardos of the Department of Energy's resource applications branch. "But there are key questions that have to be answered, including the source of design investment."

Bardos said the department is concerned about whether the non-profit Consumer Energy Corp. of Cameron, Mo., can come up with the $5 million to $10 million needed for actual plant design after completing preliminary plans that the $300,000 grant would help finance.

ance for China in developing its hydroelectric power resources.

The cultural pact for 1980-81 covers education, art, broadcasting, sports and other areas. The energy plan calls for U.S. funds for some of China's 20 pending hydroelectric programs, and will involve help from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Department of Energy and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The amount of U.S. assistance on the power projects was not disclosed, but the projects' sizes were said to be between $1 billion and $2 billion each.

Mondale also announced he would open a U.S. consulate in Canton, "the first consulate we've had in China in over 30 years," when he visits southern China's biggest city during his current tour. He said China will open consulates in Houston and San Francisco in the near future.

Asked how he was adjusting to China, Mondale smiled and told reporters: "I'm now part Chinese. I am an expert on Chinese food."

The vice president delivered a speech Monday at Peking University, and he said Tuesday he was pleased the talk had been covered in such detail by the Chinese media, which broadcast it on radio and television nationwide.

In it he said a strong China is in America's interest and offered the Chinese economic partnership in the 1980s along with a $2 billion line of credit from the Export-Import Bank, and would consider more if warranted.

Senior Deputy Premier Deng Xiaoping (Teng Hsiao-ping) met with Mondale prior to his meeting with Hua and told the vice president, "I heard your speech was warmly welcomed."

In the speech, Mondale promised the Carter administration would submit the Sino-American trade agreement for congressional approval before the end of the year. The pact contains a most-favored-nation provision that would reduce tariffs on Chinese goods entering the United States.

The Chinese are annoyed at the Carter administration's failure to present the agreement to Congress, despite Mondale's explanation that it has been held up by the Senate leadership.

General Motors, Ford Make First Contract Overtures To UAW

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. Tuesday made their first economic proposals in contract negotiations with the United Auto Workers union.

Ford said the offers contained "improvements" and GM characterized them as "substantial increases" in wages and benefits. But UAW President Donald A. Fraser said they were "not acceptable" but "a basis on which to build."

Neither side would give details, except that the companies said they proposed three-year terms for contracts replacing those of the same length expiring Sept. 14 for 460,000 workers at GM and 190,000 at Ford.

Fraser confirmed that the companies had made a pension offer — "I would have been shocked if they hadn't" — but said "there were no specifics" in response to the union's pension proposal.

Earlier reports from the bargaining table have said the union asked for set pensions at 60 percent of the wage for a pensioner's job, whatever the changes in the wage.

The union has made protection of retired members against inflation its top priority and has not yet even presented a formal wage demand.

Illustrating stumbling blocks from the UAW point of view, Fraser said some company proposals were put "in very general terms," some union proposals were ignored and some "very troublesome take-away issues" brought up by the companies were unresolved.

Fraser said he would reveal details of the offers Thursday at a meeting of local and regional officers from around the country.

The two companies, although bargaining separately, consulted each other before they made initial offers. Fraser called Tuesday's offers "not identical — very parallel."

The UAW vice presidents for GM, Irving Bluestone, and for Ford, Ken Bannon, flanked Fraser at his news conference. Each said he was pushing for his company to be selected as the union's strike target at Thursday's scheduled meeting of the UAW executive board.

GM said it was offering "substantial increases in wages, pensions and additional paid time off the job," an offer "which recognizes the needs of our employees and addresses the major concerns expressed by the union."

Ford said its offer was "responsive to the legitimate needs of our hourly employees and consistent with the realities of the environment in which we are operating ... (and) contains improvements" in wages, pensions and time off.

The reference to "the realities of the environment" was a nod at the sales slump and a hint that the union might be disappointed with the offer.

GM also made an offer to the International Union of Electrical Workers, which is bargaining separately for 30,000 GM employees.

Chrysler Corp. has been ruled out as a strike target because of its financial problems, and Chrysler was not in on Tuesday's offers.

Chrysler earlier asked for a two-year freeze on wages and benefits. Rejecting that, the union put economic issues at Chrysler on the back burner until GM and Ford settlements were reached.

Park Service Sets Snowmobile Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you are planning to zoom off to a national park on your snowmobile this winter, check ahead for the new park rules.

The National Park Service has established a policy that snowmobiles may be used in parks only under certain conditions and if wildlife will not be disturbed.

Where they are allowed, the vehicles will be restricted to designated routes in each park so it will pay to check in advance with the park you plan to visit.

Copies of the general policy can be obtained from the Office of Public Affairs, National Park Service, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240.

One of the longest-reigning rulers still in power is Prince Rainier III of Monaco who gained power in 1949.

Congratulations

- Spec. 4 and Mrs. W.R. Lawrence of Route 1, Box 429 on the birth of a son weighing 6 pounds 8 ounces at 5:11 p.m. Monday in University Hospital.
- Mr. and Mrs. Anselmo Ramirez of Plainview on the birth of a son weighing 6 pounds 8 ounces at 2:20 p.m. Sunday in Health Sciences Center Hospital.
- Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Flores of 2408 Auburn St. on the birth of a daughter weighing 3 pounds 11 ounces at 10:16 p.m. Monday in Health Sciences Center Hospital.
- Mr. and Mrs. George Rivera of Post on the birth of a daughter weighing 6 pounds at 2:17 a.m. Monday in Health Sciences Center Hospital.

Canada To Enforce Fishing Laws

OTTAWA (AP) — Charges will be filed against the captains of eight United States fishing vessels seized by Canada off Vancouver Island during the weekend. Fisheries Minister James McGrath said Tuesday.

McGrath told reporters that Canadian fishing laws would be strictly enforced on the West Coast, and he also warned that action could be taken against 40 to 60 other U.S. vessels reported to be fishing illegally off the coast of British Columbia.

Seven of the boats arrived in Victoria, British Columbia, early Tuesday under escort. An eighth was due later in the day.

The boats were suspected of fishing illegally for albacore tuna within Canada's 200-mile zone.

McGrath said the eight captains are being charged under the Coastal Fisheries Protection Act, but the exact charges were not yet known.

They could be charged with entering Canadian waters without a license or perhaps with illegal fishing, he said.

The act provides for fines, seizure of cargo, impounding of vessels and jail terms in some cases.

"We want the boats and the fishermen released as soon as possible," said Paul Glasoe, U.S. consul in Vancouver.

John Cairns, Canadian fisheries department supervisor of offshore surveillance, said members of the crews hadn't been arrested.

"We're not sure what will happen to the boats and their catch," Cairns said. "At this time we're just going ahead with the inspection...to ascertain the number (of fish) and species on board."

Weeds Deemed Part Of Ecology, Too

GULPH MILLS, Pa. (UPI) — Saul Weiner calls it normal ecological wetland succession, but Upper Marion Township calls it a patch of weeds.

A demand that Weiner mow down the vegetation he has carefully cultivated for seven years has been blocked by a court injunction until a hearing Oct. 19.

Weiner, 37, said he presumes there were complaints by a neighbor who doesn't share his feelings about the ecological value of un-manicured lawns over manicured spaces.

Weiner is a landscape architect and regional planner in the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection's Division of Coastal Resources. His wife is the daughter of a botanist and they both have a lifelong interest in plants.

"I have a piece of low ground and it's wet," he said.

He tried to mow the 1-acre plot when he bought his home seven years ago but found it was too wet. So he let the natural plants grow.

"I have a lot of alder, sweetgum, some willows coming up, swamp maple and we have a lot of white ash. Those are the short term things. Next will follow pin oak and sycamore and that will be the long range.

"Each year it changes drastically, the things that have been minor become major and to see this thing growing from year to year is very interesting."

He said the problem arises because some people can't accept that type of landscape.

"It is difficult to change aesthetically, going from a perfectly manicured, high maintenance lawn to succession which is kind of scruffy at first."

Only half of his land is into succession and he does mow the other half, but as it progresses, he said, he will consider letting more go into succession.

Teachers' Strikes Cropping Up Across Country

By The Associated Press
Teachers walked picket lines with little progress in negotiations in suburban New Orleans and Oklahoma City on Tuesday while thousands of others were on strike in five other states.

About 2,300 teachers remained off the job in five Michigan school districts and Keith Geiger, president of the 90,000-member Michigan Education Association, predicted the walkouts will spread to "20 to 40" other districts, including Detroit public schools.

School officials in Oklahoma City called an afternoon news conference to discuss the strike by more than 1,000 teachers, affecting 43,000 students. But they refused to send negotiators back to the bargaining table, saying it may be illegal to do so.

In Louisiana, union leaders said a strike by more than 2,000 teachers affecting 37,500 students in Jefferson Parish seemed to be gaining support.

"There are additional pickets today," said Charles Iannello, chief negotiator for the Jefferson Federation of Teachers. "More on the line than yesterday."

School officials said there were 50 fewer teachers reporting for work Tuesday than on the first day of the walkout Friday.

But none of the parish's 85 public schools was closed, with classes being staffed by administrators, substitutes and non-striking full-time teachers.

Other strikes were reported in some school districts in Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Indiana. A strike in Missouri's Park Hill district was settled Sunday.

With the Oklahoma City strike in its fifth day, classes were being conducted with the help of 884 substitute teachers, school officials said.

Oklahoma City School Superintendent Thomas Payzant refused a request by the striking American Federation of Teachers to resume negotiations Tuesday.

In a statement issued Monday night, Payzant said he has asked school district lawyers if it would be illegal to resume bargaining with the union. Teacher strikes are illegal under state law, he said.

"That is extremely disappointing," said Mike Barlow, president of the American Federation of Teachers. "That indicates to us the superintendent and the board don't want to reach a settlement."

A spokeswoman for the Oklahoma City school system said 1,281 regular teachers and staff members out of a work force of 2,300 showed up Tuesday.

The school board was paying substitutes $50 a day to cross picket lines. The average pay for such teachers normally is $29 a day.

Michigan schools hit by strikes this week were in the Saginaw, Plymouth-Canton, Allegany County Intermediate, Benton Harbor and Olivet districts.

Elsewhere in teacher protests: The 387-member Tippecanoe County Education Association in north-central Indiana went on strike Tuesday while the 270 members of the Crown Point Teachers Association picketed for a second day.

Teachers in three Ohio school districts were on strike Tuesday.

The 78 teachers in the 1,450-pupil Frontier Local School District in Washington County continued a work stoppage that had begun Monday and dozens of others walked out Tuesday in the Ohio Valley Local School District and the Rittman Exempted Village District.

About 165 Pennsylvania teachers walked off the job Tuesday in the South Butler County School District about 40 miles north of Pittsburgh. Other teachers in suburban Pittsburgh already were on strike, 400 in Bethel Park and 270 in Chartiers Valley.

In Illinois, teachers struck at Park Ridge, the DeSoto Consolidated School and schools in the Sparta School District.

Robbery Accomplice Convicted By Jury

Bobby G. Wright Tuesday was convicted of helping rob Pay-Less Self Service Shoes at 1916 Fourth St. last March and assessed a 10-year prison term and $1,000 fine.

The 72nd District Court jury returned the verdicts Tuesday afternoon after almost two days of testimony in the trial.

Wright, 28, of 5409 39th St. was found guilty of helping Larry Donald Gilliland rob the store of $3,800 shortly before it closed the night of March 24.

In 1934, Hitler asserted his right to kill without benefit of law.

Gilliland was convicted of the offense earlier this month and sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Testimony during Wright's trial indicated that he and Gilliland entered the store about 9 p.m. and that Wright ordered one of the female clerks to take the cash from the store bank bags and place the money in a paper sack.

The two men fled the business, according to testimony, after cutting the shoe store's phone line.

CRICKETS CHIRP THROUGH INTERVIEW — Sonny Curtis, left, and Jerry Allison represented the Crickets, who used to play with the late Buddy Holly, at a Tuesday meeting of the Buddy Holly Tribute Society. The two, with fellow Cricket Joe B. Mauldin, will combine forces with

Committee Works On Details Of Buddy Holly Tribute

By WILLIAM D. KERNS
A-J Entertainment Editor

Less than 1,000 tickets remain available for the Sept. 7 Buddy Holly Memorial Concert at the Civic Center exhibition hall, but the Buddy Holly Tribute Committee still found its hands full finalizing details at its Tuesday meeting.

Chaired by Bill McAlister, the committee not only requested a more detailed financial budget of expenditures, but also discussed arrangements for the national media and the written agreement with Grant Speed, the world-renowned sculptor who will construct the 8-foot-6 bronze statue of Holly.

Joining the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce were Jerry Ivan Allison and Sonny Curtis, two of the three Crickets. Joe B. Mauldin also is visiting in Lubbock, but did not attend the meeting; he will perform at the Sept. 7 show.

McAlister and Mayor Dirk West were firm about not allowing private individuals to reap a profit from the benefit performance. Both also emphasized again that no city money was being used for the benefit and the subsequent placement of a statue and "walk of fame" at the Civic Center. A letter from Speed revealed that the sculptor would construct the statue for the city, with financing to be provided by the sale of 250 miniature bronze statues, each priced at $1,000.

The final 50 statues virtually belong to the city, with Speed designating that profits from these 50 will be donated for the upkeep of the Holly Memorial.

The committee made the decision to pay the standard rental fee for use of the exhibition hall, rather than requesting it be donated, and also concluded that 1,000 "observed vision" tickets would be placed on sale only after the present ticket allocation sells out. All seats with possible obscured sight lines will be marked as such on the tickets, which will be sold at "bottom price" ($7).

Media seating was approved, with the decision made to refrain from giving complimentary tickets to others.

Though the concert already has received national attention, the committee agreed that any "big national publicity push" should be held until the Sept. 7, 1980, concert, at

Odessa Deaths Ruled Suicide, Homicides

ODESSA (Special) — Two men and a woman found dead Monday inside a liquor store here were killed as the result of a double homicide and suicide. Odessa Justice of the Peace Jimmy Harris has ruled.

Harris said a 40-year-old Odessa man apparently shot to death his former wife and the store owner, then turned the lever-action, .30-30 carbine on himself and fired once into his chest.

Store owner Andrew Starritt of Odessa, James Wayne Taylor Jr. and his former wife, Carolyn Taylor, were found dead about 12:30 p.m. Monday inside The Korner liquor store by a man who apparently had walked up just minutes after the triple killing.

All three victims were pronounced dead at the scene by Harris.

The justice of the peace said it appeared Taylor shot his former wife in the back, fired once into Starritt's head and then turned the rifle on himself.

"From the powder burns, the gun must have been right against him," Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught said. One of Starritt's hands was shot off, indicating he had grabbed the weapon in an attempt to save himself, deputies said.

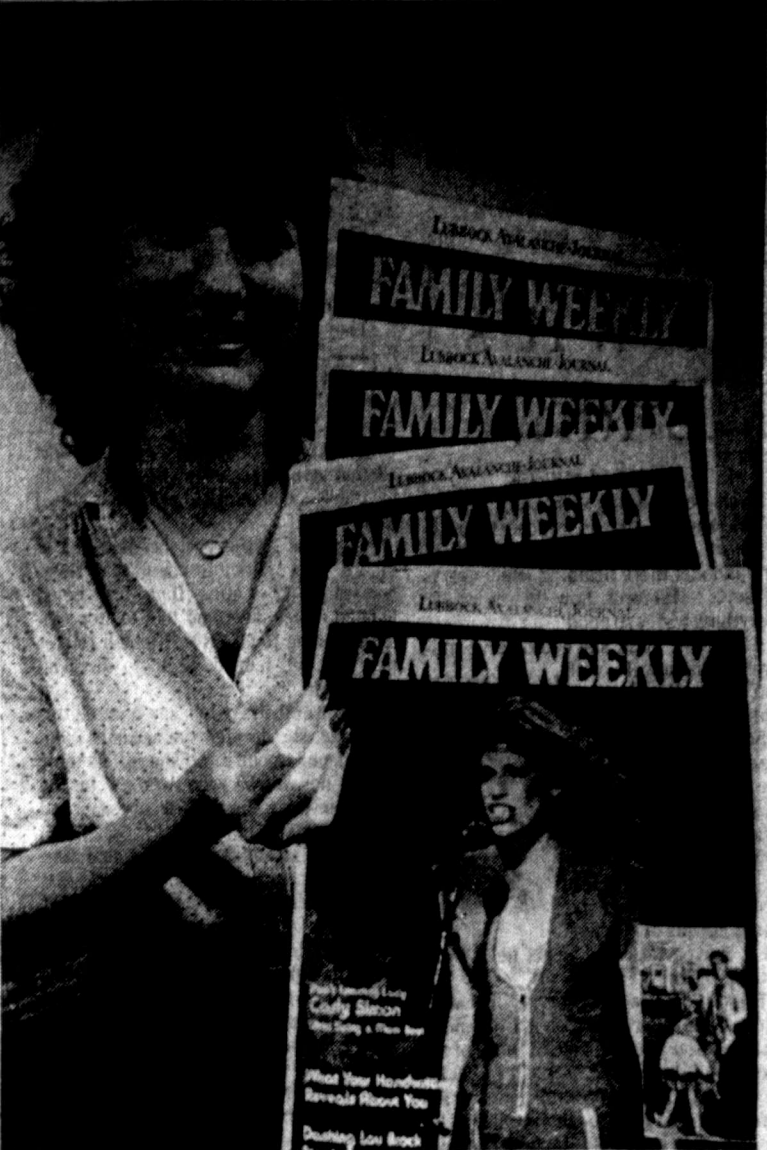

Authorities said Wayne Antoniechil walked into the store about 12:30 p.m. Monday and found Taylor's body on the floor next to the front door. The rifle was lying next to his body.

Antoniechil, who had run out of the business and re-entered with another man, then found Starritt and Mrs. Taylor behind a counter, according to deputies.

Starritt's body was slumped in a chair and the woman was on her knees with her head resting in the owner's lap.

Authorities said jealousy may have been a motive in the killings. Robbery was ruled out after the cash register was found closed and containing money.

The Taylors had just recently been divorced. Mrs. Taylor was an employee at the store. Deputies said no one saw or heard the shooting.

Owner Of Average Home, Elderly Due Tax Break

By LISA PAIKOWSKI
Avalanche-Journal Staff

New state tax exemptions combined with a two-cent cut in the school district tax rate will yield many Lubbock residents this year a tax saving that will reach about $50 for a homeowner under 65 with an average-priced home. It will mean even more for the elderly.

The trustee-approved tax rate cut Monday from $1.38 to $1.36 will give taxpayers who were not reappraised this year a nominal saving, but the bulk of the tax break comes from homestead exemptions that can add up to $12,000 in assessed value for the elderly.

The dollars and cents effects of tax rates and exemptions are shown by a

Two Men Charged In Attack Case

Valdoreno Garcia, 24, and Rudy Garcia, 22, were each charged with attempted murder Tuesday in connection with a Sunday night attack on 21-year-old Lubbock man.

Police arrived at an apartment complex at 2820 Cornell St. just before midnight Sunday and found Jose "Pete" Antencio lying on the ground suffering from head injuries.

Witnesses said Antencio, who lives in Apt. B at the Cornell Street complex, was attacked by two men who had driven up in a pickup truck. As the suspects were approaching Antencio, reports indicate, one of the men fired a rifle at the victim, but the bullet missed its target.

Witnesses said the gunman and Antencio began fighting over the gun and the victim was struck in the back of the head. Antencio was treated at Methodist Hospital and released.

Bonds for the two men, both of 308 39th St., was recommended at $15,000 each.

comparison between the taxes paid last year and the taxes paid at the different rates proposed by trustees this year.

The owner of a home with a $50,000 market value will pay taxes on the assessed value of $30,000, which is 60 percent of market value.

If that owner was under 65 last year, he paid $414 in taxes at last year's rate of $1.38 per $100 of assessed value. This year that homeowner will pay taxes on $27,000 because of a $3,000 homestead exemption for all homeowners. His tax bill will add up to $367.20 at the new $1.36 rate — a savings over last year of $46.80.

If trustees had chosen to keep the rate at $1.38, that homeowner's bill would have been $372.60 — $5.40 more than will actually be paid this year.

That taxpayer would have realized about a $16.20 savings over his actual bill this year if board members had approved the $1.30 rate calculated by the tax office in accordance with the state-mandated truth in taxation law.

Trustees, however, conducted a public hearing in order to scrap that rate for a higher one, saying the tax base this year was eroded by exemptions so that revenue generated at $1.30 would not cover budget expenditures adequately.

A glance at the tax bill comparisons for elderly homeowners will show a substantial savings due to exemptions totaling $12,000.

A homeowner over 65 with a $30,000 market value residence ($18,000 assessed value) paid taxes on $15,000 last year because of a local $3,000 homestead exemption. The bill for that home at $1.38 came to $207.

This year the same taxpayer will pay taxes on only $6,000 due to additional exemptions from the state of $6,000 for the elderly and $3,000 for all homeowners. The tax bill at $1.36 this year will be only $81.60 — a savings of $125.40.

At the $1.38 rate, the homeowner would have paid $82.80 — only $1.20 more than the actual bill, and at $1.30 the taxes owed would have been $78.

The elderly will get an additional break this year as the taxes paid in 1979 will be frozen unless the house is sold or massive remodeling is done.

CBS Executive Announces Move To NBC News Position

NEW YORK (AP) — William J. Small, a CBS News executive since 1962, will replace Lester M. Crystal as president of NBC News, NBC announced Tuesday. NBC said Small, currently a CBS vice president in Washington, will take over the NBC News operation as soon as possible. No date was set for the transition. Small will follow Richard S. Salant, a retired CBS News president, to NBC. Salant now is a vice chairman of NBC. Small will take over a division struggling to keep ahead of the competition in several areas. NBC's "Nightly News," until recently a close second in the ratings to CBS' "Evening News," is being threatened by ABC's "World News Tonight."

Reagan Camp Struggle Seen As Top Aide Quits

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A top aide to Republican presidential hopeful Ronald Reagan has resigned from Reagan's campaign, triggering reports of a struggle over the effort to give Reagan a more moderate image. But the accounts of a split between moderates and conservatives in Reagan's inner circle were denied Tuesday by campaign committee spokesman Jim Lake. In a telephone interview from Los Angeles, Lake confirmed that Lyn Nofziger, one of Reagan's closest political advisers for 13 years, submitted his resignation "for personal reasons" and that the former California governor accepted it.

Reagan was on vacation at his Santa Barbara ranch and Nofziger was not available for comment Tuesday. In an interview Monday with the Sacramento Bee, Nofziger said he had resigned earlier that day and hinted at a dispute with John Sears, executive vice chairman of the Reagan committee and principal architect of the strategy to give Reagan a more moderate image. Nofziger denied he had any dispute with Sears. But he phrased his denial in a way that increased speculation about a feud: "I haven't talked to John Sears in a long time except to say good morning or good evening." In recent months, the

McCroery To Testify Soon In Cullen Davis Trial

FORT WORTH (AP) — Prosecutors wrapped up two weeks of FBI testimony Tuesday and were poised to call their key witness in the murder-for-hire trial of millionaire Cullen Davis. "McCroery's coming," state's attorney John Bankston said during a lull in defense cross-examination of FBI agent Joe Gray, the fourth prosecution witness. It was a year ago this week that informant David McCroery told an overflowing courtroom of his involvement with Davis in an alleged scheme of mass murder. Davis, 45, is accused specifically of soliciting the murder of State District Judge Joe Eidson, then presiding over the multimillion-dollar Davis divorce case.

Those tapes represent the crux of the state's case. Davis insists he was framed by his ex-wife, Priscilla, in a conspiracy involving McCroery, karate expert Pat Burleson and possibly others. Defense efforts to subpoena Burleson have been unsuccessful although he twice has denied under oath any complicity in a plot to frame Davis. McCroery, meanwhile, entered the federal witness protection program shortly after Davis' arrest and has surfaced only to testify against his one-time employer. Federal authorities provided McCroery with a new identity and living expenses and relocated him and his family outside Texas. Last July 4, McCroery telephoned the Associated Press from an unknown location to challenge Davis to a lie detector test. He also accused his one-time pool-shooting crony of issuing a contract on his life. Defense attorneys rejected the polygraph proposal and dismissed the allegations as absurd.

Egypt Staff Chief Gets U.S. Medal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of staff of the Egyptian armed forces, Lt. Gen. Ahmad Badawi Sayid Ahmad, received full military honors and a U.S. Legion of Merit medal Tuesday during a visit to Gen. David C. Jones, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Badawi was making courtesy calls on

Jones and chiefs of each of the U.S. armed services as part of a tour of U.S. military installations, a Defense Department statement said. Officials said the two top military officers of the United States and Egypt would "review the progress of programs already under way."

Hollywood Film Crew, Big Money Invade Small Georgia Town

PARROTT, Ga. (AP) — A Hollywood film crew is at work transforming this community of 250 into Northfield, Minn., Sept. 7, 1876, the day Cole and Bob Younger and the James brothers rode into town with larceny in their hearts. Workmen filled the town's main — and only — street with dirt, tore down utility poles and built 19th Century facades on the storefronts. In a few days, a cast that includes

Stacy Keach and David Carradine will begin filming the Northfield, Minn., raid segment of a film called "The Long Riders."

"We're doing a little facelift on the town to simulate Northfield, which is where the James-Younger gang started its own demise when they tried to rob the bank," says Bob Werden, unit publicist for the movie being shot by Huka Films.

The film is to be released next summer by United Artists.

"The company originally wanted to shoot in Missouri, but they found that urban sprawl just blew that out of the tub," Werden says.

Although the company, headed by producer Tim Zinnemann, is spending a healthy chunk of money to remodel Parrott, the filmmakers say the Terrell County town was made to order for the project.

Gene Levy, the production manager, says, "Parrott was chosen because it's almost as if time stood still there. The ravages of the years have not touched the buildings and it closely resembles Northfield, Minn., in 1876."

Werden says the director, Walter Hill, already has shot some scenes in Clayton, Ga., and also plans to film in Albany, Ga., too.

But Parrott is the only location getting the full Hollywood treatment, and Mayor Jimmy Pritchard says local residents "are pretty excited."

"The film people are real nice folks," says the 50-year-old mayor. "Some of the nicest folks we've ever met."

The Keach boys were down here, (Stacy and his brother James) and they were real nice — just regular people." Ed Spiva, head of the film office of the Georgia Department of Industry and Trade, says 109 feature films and television movies have been shot in the state since the office opened in 1972 — Pumping about $100 million into the state's economy.

Spiva estimates the cast and crew of "The Long Riders" will "leave about half" of their $8 million budget in Georgia when they return to the West Coast.

Part of that money will be used to pay local residents to perform as extras in the film.

Pritchard says residents will have to drive to Columbus or Albany to see themselves on the screen when the movie opens in Georgia.

The mayor says he won't be in the film. "Not me, no. You've got to be on call for two weeks and I'll be farming."

Distributors Defend Python Satire

NEW YORK (AP) — The distributors of the hit film "Monty Python's Life of Brian" expressed regret Monday that the movie offended some Orthodox Jewish rabbis, who called it a "vicious attack upon Judaism."

"It was never our intention to offend anyone's beliefs and we certainly regret having done so," said Warner Bros. in a statement on behalf of itself and Orion Pictures.

Rabbi Abraham Hecht, head of the Rabbinical Alliance of America, called the film displaying the British six-man comedy group's usual irreverent manner "grotesquely insulting" and conducive to violence.

"Blasphemy and sacrilege are not protected by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution," added Hecht, in a statement also endorsed by the Union of Orthodox Rabbis of the United States and Canada, and the Rabbinical Council of the Syrian and Near Eastern Sephardic Community of America.

"Especially offensive to religious Jews," Hecht added, "is a so-called stoning scene in which our traditional reverence for the holy name of God is ridiculed and the bearded rabbi wearing a prayer shawl is insultingly satirized."

In its first three days at the Cinema 1 theater here, the film set a box-office record, grossing $44,277, according to the show business trade newspaper Variety.

Warner's quoted Hollywood Reporter

critic Robert Osborne as calling the film "a wacky, good-natured satire, carrying more of a whimsical and friendly air than any sacrilegious flavor."

The Warner statement said numerous other critics — including Vincent Canby of the New York Times and Archer Winsten of the New York Post — concurred with Osborne.

"It is entertainment, and to many, 'Monty Python's Life of Brian' is an enjoyable movie experience," the Warner Bros. statement concluded. "The film is a satire; it is a spoof, and it should be viewed in this context."

SNIPING ARRAIGNMENT

HONOLULU (AP) — Robert E. Miller, on leave from a mental hospital where he was confined after a 1973 sniping, faces arraignment Wednesday on charges stemming from the weekend sniping that injured six tourists. Miller was charged with attempted murder in the Saturday shooting in front of a Waikiki hotel and was being held in lieu of $250,000 bail. Miller was committed to the hospital after he was arrested in 1973 in a sniper shooting that seriously wounded a woman, also in Waikiki. He was allowed to leave the hospital last April after hospital officials decided he no longer showed signs of psychosis.

Biologists Recommend Freezing Cell Samples

NEW YORK (AP) — Cell samples from endangered species should be deep frozen in an animal gene bank so the creatures can be reconstructed later if they become extinct, two Russian biologists have proposed.

Dr. B.N. Veprintsev of the Institute of Biological Physics and Dr. Natalia Rott of the Institute of Developmental Biology of the USSR outline a scheme for such a gene bank in the current issue of the British scientific magazine Nature.

"Current efforts to preserve rare animals and plants in natural reservations, zoos and botanic gardens may not provide sufficient security for their future," the Soviet scientists said.

"We believe that we must find ways of conserving the basic genetic material of these species — the gonads, germ cells and somatic (body) cells — so that they can be revived in the future when conditions for their survival may be more favorable."

The scientists said many animal and plant species inevitably would be lost as humans cut into forests and prairies and exploit oceans, lakes and rivers.

"Their loss would not only produce an aesthetically impoverished landscape but, more practically, eliminate important genetic resources and disrupt the stability of fragile ecosystems which have evolved over centuries," they said.

Many scientists already believe that seeds from endangered plant species should be saved in a similar botanical gene bank, the editors of Nature noted.

The Soviets said sperm and egg cells or even entire animal gonads also could be deep frozen without harming the shrinking species.

Later, the cells could be reactivated to reconstruct the vanished breed.

"Already deep frozen sperm are widely used in animal breeding and more recently, methods of storing deep-frozen oocytes (egg cells) and embryos of cattle and some laboratory animals have been developed," they said.

The scientists said it might even prove possible some day to reconstruct an animal species from the genetic material of body cells such as skin cells that were not initially devoted to reproduction.

The nucleus of every cell of an animal contains a full copy of the creature's genetic code, they noted.

They added that with microsurgery and hormone manipulation, it might even be possible to reconstruct an entire species even if only male or female cells were available to work with.

"Although most of the methods we have discussed are not yet practicable, research is proceeding at such a rate that they are beginning to look feasible in the not-too-distant future," the Soviet scientists wrote.

"But we need to be very cautious and not think that this approach can save the animal kingdom."

No. 4 America's energy problem is complex. This is the fourth in a series in which we will discuss each of the individual factors affecting the energy situation.

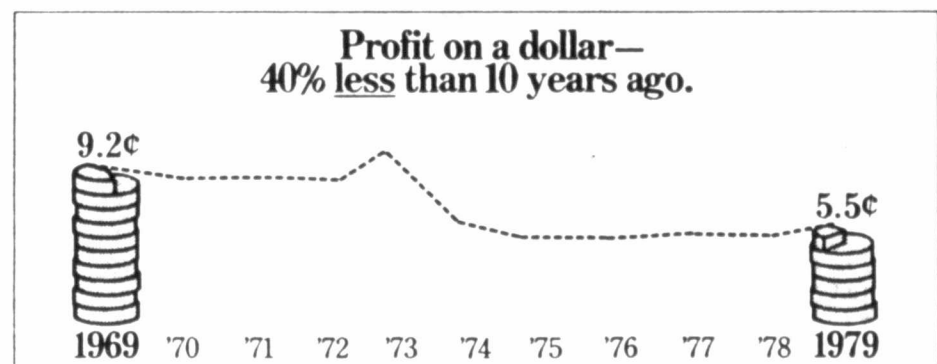

Profits: Friend or Foe?

In the enormously expensive job of energy development, profit is one of the most important factors. Simply put, profits produce energy.

Fact is, after paying stockholder dividends, Chevron historically has invested its remaining profits... and more... in the development of energy.

What's Chevron's profit on a dollar?

While our profits appear large in total dollars, the amount we earn on each sales dollar is less than you may think. This year, Chevron averaged about 5½ cents profit on each dollar worldwide... about 3½ cents in the U.S.

'79 Profits will help provide more energy.

Increases in Chevron's profits this year make it possible to spend about $400 million more than originally planned for energy development... 75% in the U.S.

Profits are vital to the development of America's own energy sources. And just as important, all of us must do an even better job of conserving the energy we have now.

Thank you for listening.

COMPLETE STOCK MARKET ANALYSIS AMEX

Trade Slows, Mart Slides

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices declined in the slowest trading in several weeks Tuesday as many of the nation's banks raised their prime interest rate to a record 12 1/2 percent.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed off 77 at 884.64, after fluctuating in a narrow range throughout the session.

The prime rate increase, initiated by Chase Manhattan Bank and quickly followed by others, had been widely anticipated because of earlier credit-tightening moves by the Federal Reserve Board.

But the increase in the prime rate — the basic rate banks charge their best corporate customers — tended to focus market attention on what has been a persistent concern in recent sessions, analysts said.

"This was no great surprise but it's keeping buyers from becoming more aggressive," said Newton Zinder of E.F. Hutton & Co.

Social Security Recipients Due Early Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 35 million Social Security beneficiaries will get their September checks on Friday, three days early, because of the Labor Day holiday, the agency says.

A spokesman, Jim Brown, said the early mailing of the $9 billion in checks will cost the government $1.75 million in lost interest.

The checks normally are mailed for delivery on the third of the month, but Congress stipulated in 1977 that they be sent out earlier when the third lands on a holiday or weekend.

Supplemental Security Income checks for welfare recipients, which normally go out on the first, also will be delivered Friday, Brown said.

Common Folks' Approach Used By Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The legislative aide sacked groceries, the chief of staff pumped gas and the press aide busied tables littered with remnants of barbeque dinners.

The office manager handed local Social Security cases while the top appropriations expert sold hardware to the locals gathered around the unlit pot-bellied stove.

And the agricultural expert really got down to basics, helping shove recalcitrant cattle and hogs through an auction ring in rural Arkansas.

It wasn't exactly a typical workday for congressional staffers. But then their boss, Sen. David Pryor, never has been accused of being a conventional politician.

Pryor, a freshman Democrat from Arkansas, attracted national attention — and the ire of a few House leaders — eight years ago as a congressman by working incognito in a nursing home and then publicizing his findings in hopes of drawing attention to the problems of the elderly.

And he decided as a senator that his staff should spend at least one day during the August congressional recess getting close to the problems of his constituents.

"We're so caught up in complicated tax bills, in the SALT treaty (limiting strategic arms), that we forget there are other issues," said Ann Pride, Pryor's press secretary when she's not cleaning tables at Couch's Barbeque in Jonesboro, Ark.

"When these people said pass the salt, they weren't referring to a treaty."

Will Feland, Pryor's agricultural aide, spent one day as a laborer at a livestock auction and another day working in a farm supply store. And while most aides said they make an effort not to identify themselves, Feland said it wasn't too long before even the pigs recognized his lack of familiarity with the subject at hand.

"I was raised on a beef cattle farm," Feland said. "My work with hogs, gee, their personalities are much different."

"I tried not to identify myself. I dressed just like everyone else. The idea was to be treated just like one of the crew. But inevitably, it became known in both places who I was."

Ray Scott, Pryor's administrative assistant, spent two days working in a gas station and a lumberyard in Malvern, Ark.

"He said it felt really good to get out there and make your muscles sore, doing a good day's honest work," said Miss Pride of Scott, whose sore muscles were taking a short vacation Tuesday.

Miss Pride said she did not identify herself at the barbeque, but she did tell people who she was when she worked as a receptionist at a bank in Horseshoe Bend, Ark.

"In a small town like that (population 1,700), an outsider stands out like a sore thumb," she noted.

The staffers found residents most concerned about inflation and domestic government policies. Foreign affairs such as the SALT treaty attracted little attention, although some residents did mention the Panama Canal treaties. Ms. Pride said.

"I think from the comments made, the top thing on their mind is inflation and how far their money goes. They're talking about energy some, but primarily how it affects the price of gasoline," she said.

Many teachers frequented the barbeque restaurant and "They were talking about the crowded classroom situation, their salary situation. And many of the tables were talking about who had the best barbeque in town."

Frogs Hope For Paradise

By NORVAL POLLARD
Executive Sports Editor

FORT WORTH — Football success is a wait-and-see proposition at Texas Christian University in 1979.

The Horned Frogs must wait and see how much one of the biggest offensive lines in the Southwest Conference has improved, how much a surprisingly strong group of freshman recruits can immediately contribute to the program, and how much the defensive line and linebacking corps rally around an outstanding group of defensive backs.

F.A. Dry begins his third season as TCU's head coach with the knowledge that the Frogs will be better and that his rebuilding program is making headway. TCU went from an 0-11 record in 1976 to back-to-back 2-9 seasons in '78 and '79. Dry and his staff are looking for four or maybe five wins during the upcoming campaign.

The Frogs will continue running out of the Veer formation, but Dry plans to use several formations to throw some surprise into the TCU attack. He lists excellent quarterbacking, better outside speed, larger, stronger and more talented linemen and consistent receivers as the key to the offense.

"How surprising we are will depend on how well we execute," said Dry. "I think we have some people we can make a football team out of."

TCU's offensive line is huge. Tackles Dudley Stephenson, a 6-4, 250-pound junior, and Steve Wilson, a 6-4, 250-pound sophomore, are as big as any tackles in the SWC. Junior center Eddie Grimes (6-4, 240) and guards Frank Hartman (6-3, 240) and Donald Ray Richards (6-2, 250) don't hurt the size factor.

"We're pleased with the overall movement with the line, but not their endurance," Dry added. "They could come along well, but we've never been strapped with this much youth."

The Frogs have several young players pushing hard for starting assignments on that offensive front. They include freshman Mike Hartman (6-3, 266) at center and junior Bill Butler (6-4, 280) at tackle. Former Monterey football

Dry Anger Surfaces
Against Ron Meyer

AT THE TIME THE WORDS were spoken, no one really paid much attention to them. The quote didn't grab sports headlines across the state of Texas. But Ron Meyer dropped off a couple of smoldering lines last year that have touched off a raging fire in F.A. Dry's heart—lines that could someday come back and haunt the SMU mentor.

The story begins in 1977, the year Dry took over the crumbling football fortunes at Texas Christian University, SMU's Southwest Conference and cross-town rival.

For one reason or another, Dry did not want his son Mike to play football for him at TCU. Mike Dry agreed and decided to enroll at SMU after visiting several conference schools. Mike joined the Mustangs as a walk-on and played in six football games during the 1977 season, his freshman year.

Following the 1977-78 school year, the younger Dry left SMU—again, for one reason or another—and decided to play for his father in Fort Worth. Mike reportedly did not like SMU and there was also a yarn being spun about Mike's disgust over a certain edition of Steve Harvey's Bottom Ten feature that ran in both Dallas and Fort Worth papers.

At the time, TCU was ranked No. 1 in the so-called "bottom ten," which means they were absolutely the worst team in the college ranks in America. Harvey wrote something to the effect that TCU was so bad, F.A. Dry couldn't get his own son to play for him. It struck home.

Well, Mike transferred to TCU in the fall of 1978 and had to sit out the season. But before the season started—during the 1978 Southwest Conference Press Tour to be exact—Meyer spewed forth his soon-to-be-famous stab. This year's four members didn't remember Meyer's exact words, but they implied Meyer had done F.A. Dry a big favor by letting his son join the team as a walk-on and that Mike really wasn't good enough to make the Mustang squad.

THERE YOU HAVE IT. One of the Houston papers used the statement and the word quickly returned to the TCU coach. Dry never said a word about it last year, but he's been brewing Tuesday in Fort Worth, he let it be known, the fire has definitely ignited.

"There is definitely a rivalry between TCU and SMU," said Dry. "This is as close to a personal rivalry as I've ever had."

Dry had most of the sports writers in the room baffled when he brought up the "personal rivalry" thing. The writers had pretty much placed the Meyer statement in the back of their minds because they had never played up the remark to begin with. I thought it might have had something to do with recruiting, or the fabled Mustang Mania that has Dallas by the throat. So I asked him: what he meant.

"I thought he (Meyer) cheap-shot my kid in the Houston paper," Dry answered. "I never saw the exact quote, but I heard about it."

The full story then came out and that concluded the session with Dry. Obviously, Meyer's words weren't the only thing bothering Dry. Sure, you start bad-mouthing a man's offspring and his reaction is going to come straight from the gut. But I get the impression that Mustang Mania has of F.A. just a little hot around the collar.

YOU HAVE TO REMEMBER that there is much more at stake here than the outcome of a single football game. All indications are that the SMU program is rocketing toward new horizons. SMU is trying to build a college football powerhouse and they have more than just a foot in the door with the likes of Eric Dickerson, Mike Carter and Craig James.

While Meyer and his maniacs are selling tickets faster than they can be printed and grabbing every prospective all-America coming out of central Texas, Dry is giving tickets away and, until last year, couldn't even talk to possible recruits at South Oak Cliff High School in Dallas. They wouldn't listen. Where would you rather play football—SMU, where they could be in the running for a national championship in a couple of years, or TCU, where three victories would be the most success the Horned Frogs have enjoyed since 1973? Think about it.

There are indications that Dry has the TCU program moving in the right direction. The Horned Frogs have a surprisingly good class of freshmen. Four of them are pushing varsity letterman for starting positions. TCU also has 32 walk-ons still with the squad after two weeks of practice, and a junior varsity schedule has been added to the program.

"I felt we closed the gap on some football clubs last season, even with the injury problems we had," Dry said. "We didn't lose our morale and we were in some games up until the end. We've got to keep closing that gap. I think it would be stupid to say we closed the gap on the upper four teams in the conference. We have improved our program, and that's a step up."

Dry is shooting at four or possibly five wins this season. Some of his players, including quarterback Steve Stamp and running back Craig Richardson, say that seven victories is a realistic goal for the 1979 Horned Frogs. That may be asking a wee too much this season. Besides, just a single win over a certain cross-town rival may be all that's needed to make Dry's year a success.

PEOPLE PLACES THINGS

New Invasion Considered

SEATTLE (AP) — Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., says that during a just-completed visit to China, Chinese officials indicated they might launch a second invasion of Vietnam "if the Vietnamese continue to be provocative toward China."

The Chinese still view their relations with Vietnam as "tense" and have "reserved the right" for a follow-up attack of last winter's 28-day invasion, Jackson said Monday.

He said he met for a half-day with Vice Premier Deng Xiaoping (Teng Hsiao-ping) and for 90 minutes with Chairman Hua Guofeng (Hua Kuofeng) during his stay.

Jackson said the Chinese view Vietnam as the Soviet Union's agent in Southeast Asia and have developed a "domino theory" similar to the theory prevalent during American involvement in Vietnam in the 1960s.

The Chinese also view the "boat people" exodus from Vietnam as a "provocative" act by the Vietnamese government since large numbers of the refugees are ethnic Chinese, he said. "The Chinese are very uptight about this point," he continued. "They see this as a mistreatment of their people with the Cholom Chinese being sent off to die by the Vietnamese government."

SEN. JACKSON

Auto Dealer Altruistic

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Chevrolet dealer Ron Tonkin says it was sincerity, not publicity, that prompted him to place a newspaper ad for competitors' Chrysler Corp. cars.

Tonkin, whose brother owns a Ford dealership, says in the ad in Monday's Oregon Journal, "I'd rather sell you one of our new Chevrolets. And I'm sure my brother Marv would rather sell you one of his new Fords. But competition is good for us." The ad, referring to a promotional rebate being offered by the financially troubled Chrysler Corp. as a good deal, reflects hypothetically that if Chrysler Corp. stopped selling cars, "We'd all have to get used to saying 'the Big Two,' instead of 'the Big Three,' and that's no fun."

Adventurers Finish Trek

CHICAGO (AP) — Dave Halsey and Peter Souchuk were such tenderfeet when they began their Canadian trek that they wore their snowshoes backwards for the first 100 miles.

The two adventurers also found that they were using more primitive travel methods than the natives.

Halsey, 22, and Souchuk, 25, returned last month from what they called "their adventure of a lifetime" — a two-year, off-and-on expedition across Canada.

But Halsey said he and his companion are glad they used old-fashioned methods of transportation like canoeing, backpacking and snowshoeing on their adventure.

Halsey, who in 1977 came up with the idea of the expedition, was abandoned by his three original companions.

Souchuk read about the trip in a magazine and drove to Fort Langley, B.C., to meet Halsey and join up.

The trip began at Vancouver, B.C., and ended at Tadoussac on the Atlantic Coast.

Souchuk, of the Chicago suburb of Western Springs, said the trip was 95 percent work and 5 percent pleasure.

Triplets Come In Threes

DETROIT (AP) — Things come in threes in Traverse City — or so it seems. Officials at Munson Medical Center said in the past week two sets of triplets were born at the facility, while a third set was born Aug. 3 at Traverse City Osteopathic Hospital.

The latest set was born to an unwed teen-ager over the weekend. All were girls. Two days earlier, Lots Bosley gave birth to two girls and a boy at Munson. On Aug. 3, Renee Szabo of Kalkaska gave birth to three girls. All triplets were reported healthy.

Fan Dancer Sally Rand Critically Ill

GLENDORA, Calif. (AP) — Exotic dancer Sally Rand, suffering from chronic lung and heart disorders, was reported in critical condition Tuesday at a suburban Los Angeles hospital.

Miss Rand's son, Sean, said his mother was admitted to Foothill Presbyterian Hospital Thursday and was transferred to the intensive care unit when her condition worsened.

"She just started not feeling well," Rand said. "She didn't have a heart attack."

Miss Rand, 75, achieved fame at the 1933 Chicago World's Fair and has made her living dancing in the nude with long white ostrich plumes almost ever since.

Abused Puppy Dognapped

SOUTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (UPI) — Dog lovers Tuesday fought for possession of Crispy Critter, the mongrel puppy whose sufferings at the hands of a "monster" brought $30,000 in contributions.

While the Animal Rescue League of Southern Rhode Island screened applicants to find a loving home for the badly burned pup, Crispy was taken from Boston's Angell Memorial Hospital for animals and hidden away by a woman who said she won't give him up.

"I'm keeping the dog because I want it to remain alive and well," said Beverly Lockhart, a South Kingstown nurse.

She refused to reveal the dog's whereabouts but did allow a newspaper reporter and photographer to visit Crispy's hideout Monday after demanding a promise of secrecy.

On June 12, Crispy, then 4 months old, was tied up, doused with lighter fluid and set aflame. His muzzle was wrapped in rope to muffle his anguish.

A police official said it had to be "some kind of a monster to do this," but an investigation turned up no leads. The dog's original owner was never found.

Crispy's ear was burned off, the other amputated and his legs, chest and muzzle were badly scarred.

Contributions poured in from across the country to pay the costs of the special tissue surgery to relieve Crispy's suffering. The medical costs were about $1,000.

So far $30,000 has been donated.

William R. Inms, president of the rescue league, said he is "very upset."

"We are considering moves to get the dog," he said, but added he has no specific plan.

He said Narragansett police gave the league custody of the dog.

The league received about $22,000 for the dog's care to help set up a fund to care for other abused animals. The rest of the donations were received by the Boston hospital.

Walter E. Kilroy, vice president of the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said Mrs. Lockhart violated hospital policy by taking the dog without permission but apparently broke no laws.

Kilroy said he had been in a quandary over who should get the dog. He said Mrs. Lockhart's action relieved him of having to make the decision.

Said Mrs. Lockhart: "I'm not giving him up to anyone."

IRA Member To Leave U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Kiernan Nugent, the Irish Republican Army member who slipped into the United States after officials refused to issue him a visa, can leave voluntarily, an immigration judge ruled Tuesday.

The ruling means Nugent can apply for a visa to return to the United States in the future. If he had been deported, he would have been barred from the country.

Nugent claimed he was arrested by U.S. authorities because both the British and American governments want "to prevent the Republicans from telling their side of the story" about the conflict in Northern Ireland.

But after Tuesday's hearing, his attorney, Paul O'Dwyer, said Nugent, 21, was "satisfied that he told his story here. That's why he came."

Nugent was imprisoned in Ireland for three years and released in May.

Blind Ex-Boxer Graduates

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ex-boxer George "Sugar" Costner has known victory, but none so sweet, he said, as his successful battle over blindness to earn his college degree.

On Thursday, Costner, 56, once a nationally-ranked welterweight, will receive a bachelor of arts degree from Cleveland State University.

"This has to be the milestone of my life," he said. "I feel like I won the championship. I don't see how I could feel any better if I won the welterweight title."

Costner was a top welterweight boxer in the 1940s. In a Philadelphia fight in 1949 against Chico Varona, however, Costner was hit in the right eye and suffered retina damage from which he never recovered. He underwent several eye operations between 1951 and 1958.
