

Crime Line's Successes Acclaimed

741-1000

By DAVE KNAPP
A-J EXECUTIVE EDITOR

REWARDS TOTALING $1,500 are being offered in four burglary cases and one armed robbery incident this week by Crime Line Inc., which continues to rack up impressive statistics in a citywide anti-crime battle.

Det. Sgt. Doyle Nelson, who heads the Crime Line operation at the Lubbock Police Department, said the five-month-old program now has been successful in cracking 63 felonies, resulting in the arrest of 44 suspects.

In addition, Nelson said, $149,955 in stolen property has been recovered in the course of the investigations and cash rewards amounting to $7,100 have been paid to informants.

The program now is being hailed as the most successful of its kind in the nation.

Persons having information regarding cases published in The Avalanche-Journal every Monday need only call the Crime Line hotline, 741-1000, and give the information to detectives.

Anonymity is guaranteed at all times. All dealings with officers are by code number only. The number is assigned on the initial call. All rewards are paid in cash.

Citizen response has been good. Many decline rewards. Last week tips cleared 15 soft drink machine burglaries although no rewards had been posted in the cases.

This week, a $300 reward is being offered for information concerning an armed robbery of a Seven-Eleven store at 2318 19th St. The incident occurred at 1:30 a.m. on Sept. 13, when a suspect entered the business through the south main entrance, withdrew a medium-sized brown handle pocket knife and $200 in cash. The attendant gave the intruder $75 she was holding in her hand. The suspect was described as a black male, 18 to 35 years old, short and thin, with black hair, brown eyes and wearing a black watch on his right wrist. The attendant said he also had a medium length Afro hair style, was clean shaven and wearing a plaid, multi-colored shirt and blue trousers.

Information is needed in the following burglary cases with $300 in rewards being posted in each.

On Sept. 8, intruders entered through a window and removed from 1709 E. 28th St. the following items: a Magnavox color television set, a Silverstone record player, 26 yards of assorted color material, two King-size bedsprings, one white, three-tier jewelry box with

World Economy Slowing Monetary Fund Says Impact Underestimated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Monetary Fund said Sunday there is little hope that major industrial nations can soon find answers to their economic problems, and concluded the problems may get worse.

It said the industrial powers already have miscalculated the degree of the economic slowdown in the world this year, saying it will be steeper than was first thought.

"The current environment of great uncertainty clearly foreshadows a period of severe strains in the world economy, emphasizing the need for policies to deal with them," the IMF said.

No Quick Solutions

It said the major nations have little choice except to try to deal gradually with problems of sluggish economic growth, high inflation and rising energy prices, even though this approach hasn't worked so far.

"The present array of problems confronting national authorities in the industrial world precludes simple prescriptions offering promise of early success, but rather points to the need for pursuit of a many-sided strategy of policy in a medium-term framework," it said in its annual report.

The report will serve as a basis for discussion at the annual meeting of the 138-nation institution in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Oct. 2-8. The IMF has only a few Communist members, and the Belgrade meeting will be the first for the IMF in a Communist nation.

Currency Proposal On Agenda

Among other things, the meeting will consider establishment of a so-called substitution account into which member nations can deposit unwanted U.S. dollars. The purpose will be to help stabilize world currency markets.

The United States will be represented at the meeting by Treasury Secretary G. William Miller and Chairman Paul A. Volcker of the Federal Reserve Board.

Cool, Cloudy Trend Clings

THE COOL and mostly cloudy weather that dominated the weekend is expected to continue its hold over Lubbock and the South Plains a little longer, although no severe weather of any kind is anticipated.

A 20 percent chance of rain across the area today is expected to diminish and warmer, sunnier weather should prevail Tuesday.

Highs today should be in the upper 70s, with lows tonight sitting at about 55. Winds should be southerly at 10 to 15 mph this afternoon.

The weather across the area is being heavily influenced by a high pressure ridge that begins over Indiana and extends southwestward into West Texas. That ridge is blocking any other weather patterns from entering the area and changing the cool, cloudy weather so predominant under the ridge.

Toward the end of the week, highs are expected to jump back into the mid 80s across the South Plains as the chance for rain decreases.

The high in Lubbock Sunday was 77 degrees, the low 53.

The IMF report said industrial nations have miscalculated the degree of the economic slowdown in the industrial nations this year, in part because the United States is sinking into a recession.

It said the economic slowdown now underway in the United States "was sought by the U.S. authorities and welcomed internationally, in view of the need to curb domestic inflationary pressures."

But it said the recession was unexpected, concluding, "Now, it seems clear that the decline of output growth in the industrial world will prove to be much sharper than had been generally expected."

The chief reason for the miscalculation, the IMF said, was the steep increase in oil prices, which was not foreseen.

The IMF cautioned that the effects of the U.S. recession could not be fully offset by growth in other industrial nations, because such an effort would worsen inflation in other countries. And it said U.S. authorities should be "very cautious" in adopting policies to counter the recession.

There should not be "any lowering of the priority that has been accorded by the U.S. authorities to the reduction of inflation in a medium-term context," it said.

It urged that the industrial nations coordinate their economic policies to a greater degree than they have before, including exchange market intervention and monetary policies.

It also urged that the industrial nations ensure a larger flow of private capital and official development assistance to underdeveloped countries, which it said will be particularly hard hit by high oil prices and the worldwide economic slump.

The IMF said debt service charges are rising faster in some underdeveloped countries than the debt itself, and faster than export earnings.

"The economic performance of the low-income group of developing countries, which contain more than two-fifths of the population of all fund members, is clearly a major cause for concern in terms of human welfare," the IMF said.

East German Families Escape To West In Hot Air Balloon

NAILA, West Germany (AP) — Eight East Germans, including four children, floated through the night skies over Germany and across the "death strip" border to the West on Sunday in a homemade hot-air balloon stitched together from bits of nylon and bedsheets.

The group, made up of two families each with two children, escaped in a 12-mile, 20-minute flight that ended in this Bavarian town six miles from the border. Their leader, airplane mechanic Peter Strelzke, told reporters they had prepared for the trip for two months, since they failed in their first attempt July 4.

Strelzke said they fled for political reasons, because "it was no longer possible for us to lie to our children and put up with the political conditions in East Germany."

It was believed to be the first time refugees had used a balloon to cross the closely patrolled border, which is strung with electrified fences and minefields.

During the flight, the children rode in the middle of the gondola, an 18-square-foot iron plate, and were huddled around bottles of gas used to fuel a fire that heated air in the 5,000-cubic-yard balloon. The adults rode on four iron rods projecting from the plate, each grabbing onto inch-thick ropes attaching the gondola to the balloon.

Strelzke, who said he was a civilian employee of the East German army, was accompanied by his wife, Doris, and two sons, Andreas, 11, and Frank, 15. The others were Andreas Wetzel, a brickmason, his wife, Petra, and two sons, aged 2 and 5 years, whose names were not disclosed.

Strelzke said the escape began about 1:30 a.m. near the East German town of Lobenstein when they filled the balloon with hot air. A half-hour later, with a light, northwest wind to push them westward, they took off, floating toward the border under starry skies at about 25 miles an hour, he said. They reached a maximum altitude of 8,000 feet, he said. The border runs east-west in the Lobenstein-Naila area.

The group was met by two West German police officers who had raced to the Bank Charter Probe Looking At Connally

DALLAS (AP) — The charter of a Dallas bank whose original stockholders included seven former aides of Republican presidential candidate John Connally, as well as one of Connally's sons, is under investigation by the Senate Banking Committee, the Dallas Morning News reported Sunday.

The copyright story says committee investigators are looking into the possibility of influence by Connally being used to secure the charter for Love Field National Bank of Dallas.

The bank was chartered in 1972 while Connally was Secretary of the Treasury.

Comptroller William Camp, who died in 1975, issued the charter for the bank despite recommendations from his staff and his deputy that the charter be rejected.

At the time, the office of the comptroller was an agency of the Treasury Department.

Connally was asked Friday if his son's position as an initial stockholder might have been a conflict of interest. "I don't know anything about that," Connally said while campaigning in Florida. "I don't even know when the bank was chartered... Bill Camp was running that comptroller's office... I wasn't. Mike Myers owns the bank, I think, and I think he got my children into it."

Myers was a Connally assistant when Connally was the Democratic governor of Texas from 1963 to 1968. Myers is the Texas state deputy campaign chairman for Connally's presidential bid.

Asked about the bank charter, Myers said, "The secretary of the treasury didn't have anything to do with it."

Kenneth McLean, staff director of the Senate Banking Committee, said, "It ought to be emphasized this investigation (on bank charters in general) is not for the sole and principal purpose of looking at Connally's dealing when he was secretary of the treasury."

"It happened to turn up in the context of a much broader investigation, and we took a little closer look at it."

McLean said his staff has examined the comptroller's files of Love Field National Bank as one of seven in Texas "where the comptroller reversed the recommendation of his deputy and staff."

EARLY THANKSGIVING — Thanksgiving observance came early for the congregation of the Trinity Episcopal Church in Mobile Sunday. Members offered thanks that their church had been spared greater damage. Tropic Storm Henri Brewing Off Coast

MIAMI (AP) — Tropical Storm Henri was born Sunday in the Gulf of Mexico and forecasters said it probably would hit shore Monday morning along Mexico's eastern coast.

"It looks now that if it doesn't abruptly change course it will make landfall in the next 24 to 36 hours somewhere over Mexico," said National Hurricane Center forecaster Miles Lawrence in Miami.

At 5 p.m. CDT, the center of the storm was located near latitude 21.0 north, longitude 94.0 west, or about 175 miles northeast of Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Henri — the eighth storm of the Atlantic season — was moving west-southwest at 12 to 15 mph. Highest sustained winds were about 50 mph. Gale force winds extended outward about 100 miles north of the center, Lawrence said.

Lawrence said the storm was expected to intensify before it hit land, though it wasn't expected to become a hurricane. However, if Henri stays over water, it could intensify into a hurricane, Lawrence said.

Gale force winds were expected to affect the Mexican coastline early Monday morning from Vera Cruz northward to La Pesca, Lawrence said. Tides of three feet above normal could occur near and north of the point of landfall and locally heavy rains were accompanying the storm.

The storm could threaten areas of the U.S. Gulf Coast devastated last week by Hurricane Frederic, but Lawrence said that wasn't likely. He said, however, that boaters along the Southwest Texas coast should use caution.

"It's a possibility the storm could hit the Gulf Coast and we wouldn't want to exclude anything," he said. "Some storms behave so erratically we can't say it won't hit the Gulf Coast."

Kennedy Says Carter Ability To Rally Electorate Will Influence His Course

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says a major factor in his decision whether to run for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination will be whether President Carter is able to regain the confidence of the American people.

"It's back to whether the people have the sense of confidence that he can deal with these issues. I think that's a matter of deepening and increasing concern to people as we come to the 1980s," the senator said in an interview with The Associated Press.

The interview with Kennedy took place Friday, the day after an AP-NBC News poll showed only 19 percent of those questioned rated Carter's work excellent or good. It was the lowest overall job rating for an American president in 30 years.

Sitting in his Senate office, its walls covered with mementoes of his career and those of his brothers, John and Robert, Kennedy insisted he has not decided whether to seek the presidency.

He said that while he has no timetable for a decision, he would plan, if he runs, to enter the earliest primaries and contest for delegates in the Jan. 21 Democratic caucuses in Iowa. That would indicate that the latest he would announce his plans would be early January.

If he decides to challenge the president, said Kennedy, he anticipates a tough campaign fought to a decision.

Asked if he thought President Carter might withdraw, Kennedy replied, "I would expect he would be in for the duration."

Just before the August congressional recess, Kennedy said many of his colleagues in Congress as well as people in private life urged him to run.

"And then during the month of August," said Kennedy, "I had the opportunity to give a good deal of reflection, both to these comments, but, I think most importantly, to my own deep concerns about the direction of the nation, our ability to deal with many of the problems that we're facing here in this country, about the mood of the nation."

The Massachusetts senator said that his concern with the nation's economic problems does not mean that his decision on running will be determined by the inflation or unemployment figures at the end of the year.

"Is what you're looking for, simply, the way the administration addresses the problem?" he was asked.

"That's critical," replied Kennedy.

He disagreed with President Carter's approach in his speech when he returned from Camp David after a long evaluation of his administration, in which the president referred to a "crisis of confidence" afflicting the American people.

"I think it is very difficult for people to have a great deal of

Symposium To Kick Off Friday

Financial experts, agribusinessmen and livestock producers will gather in Lubbock Friday to discuss the impact of government regulations and inflation on the livestock industry at the second annual National Golden Spur Livestock and Money Symposium.

The 9 a.m.—2:30 p.m. session in The Museum of Texas Tech University will precede the presentation of the National Golden Spur Award to rancher-businessman-civil servant Jay L. Taylor of Amarillo at a prairie party in Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Ranch-oriented activities conclude Saturday with the 10th annual meeting of the Ranching Heritage Association, one of the sponsoring organizations, at the Ranching Heritage Center.

Top authorities in agribusiness and livestock matters will head sessions broken at noon by a steak lunch with W. P. Platt, director of Agricultural Experiment Stations for the University of Georgia-Athens, as speaker.

Leadoff speaker for the morning session will be Lawrence L. Boger, agricultural economist and president of Oklahoma State University.

Walter Minger, head of Bank of America's worldwide agribusiness relationships, will discuss "Availability of Funds" and Richard A. McDougal, immediate past president of National Cattlemen's Association, will have producer survival as his topic to complete the morning round.

An afternoon panel discussion on government regulations will be led by NCA president Lauren Carlson and Bartley P. Cardon, chairman of Arizona Feeds board of directors.

Boger, an internationally recognized authority on agricultural economics, has been a member of the National Committee on the Use of Electronic Data Processing in Farm Management, director-at-large for the Central Bank for Cooperatives and delegate to the 1974 President's Conference on Inflation. He is a past vice president of American Agricultural Economics Association.

Platt, a lecturer here and abroad, works with animal nutrition. He is chairman-elect of the National Experiment Station Section of the National Association of State University and Land Grant Colleges, Division of Agriculture. He was co-winner of the $10,000 Hoblitzelle National Award for contributions to American agriculture.

Minger, agricultural economist at the policy level for Bank of America's agricultural lending activities, served as 1978 chairman of the executive committee, Agricultural Bankers Division, American Bankers Association. He is a member of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Food and Agriculture Committee and the International Investment Subcommittee.

McDougal, the first NCA president, is a director of Sacramento Farm Credit

Banks and president of McDougal Livestock Co., Nevada Nile Ranch Inc. and Nevada Supplement Co. He also has headed the California Feeder's Association, Nevada Cattlemen's Association, Cattle Market Information Service.

Cardon's memberships have included officer, director and member of many Arizona livestock groups as well as chairman of the board of American Feed Manufacturers Association and director-at-large of the American Society of Animal Society of Animal Science.

Cardon owns and operates a family farming and feeding operation utilizing confinement feeding barns said to be one of the finest in the country.

The symposium is sponsored by the Texas Tech University College of Agricultural Sciences, American National Cowbelles, American Quarter Horse Association, National Cattlemen's Association, National Wool Growers Association, Ranching Heritage Association, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, and Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

Tickets for the symposium, $17.50 including lunch, are available from the Ranching Heritage Association, The Museum of Texas Tech University, Lubbock Texas 79409, or by telephone (806) 742-2498.

Duets for the prairie party and Ranch Day also are available from RHA.

YWCA Sets Program Teaching Children Muscle Development

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles dealing with the United Way of Lubbock. Except for officials of United Way agencies involved, the names used are fictitious to protect the identities of those served. However, the stories reflect actual case histories here.

Did you ever wonder where you picked up that slight slouch when you sit in an upright chair or that funny little hunch in your step? Well, it could go all the way back to before you were two years old.

This year, the YWCA of Lubbock, a United Way agency, began a program to assist parents to teach children correct muscle development, according to class instructor, Judy Campbell.

The YWCA will receive $69,992 from the United Way's 1980 goal of $1,803,752.

Aptly named "diaper gym" the program, divided into four age groups—6 months to walking, walking to age 2, 2 years and 3 years—is designed to instruct parents on the correct exercises for their children to gain strength and flexibility in all muscle groups.

Mrs. Campbell said the children work on learning to crawl, to reach out and, with parents, on spatial awareness, such as holding the child upside down. She explained that this not only teaches space concepts but also enables the child to gain trust in the parent at an early age.

In addition, she said, work on balance beams with parents guiding the children gives the child greater trust and decreases any developing fear of heights.

Much of the time is spent developing skills the child will need in life and the strength and flexibility so they can hold their bodies correctly throughout their lives. Mrs. Campbell said that this could, perhaps, prevent many of the aches and pains suffered in later life due to simple strain and tension.

The total concept of the program, she said is to teach the child total body awareness—how to control the body and use it. The program gives greater emphasis on eye-hand coordination which, Mrs. Campbell pointed out, is important when the child learns to read and write.

"We want to teach the normal patterns of movement—sensory and motor patterns—so children will develop normal learning patterns. Many patterns they develop are done before 18 months, so it's never too early to teach them," the instructor said.

According to YWCA director Betty Rhea Moxley, the diaper gym program is one of many programs the organization is instituting in expanding its services to the community.

Currently the YWCA has a membership of about 4,400 members and a participation of approximately 66,000. And, as Mrs. Moxley pointed out, the YWCA is expanding to include much more of the family. "We are no longer just a women's organization. Many of our programs include men and we have men as members. Some of these programs are lessons in yoga, which is supposed to be good for joggers and skiers, and our swimming program," she said.

The YWCA also includes classes for pre-schoolers, like diaper gym and "kinderhooker" and "rocker gym" for those who do not want a vigorous exercise program, but nonetheless, do want some exercise.

Also, fine arts and crafts are offered,

Fathers File Lawsuit After Kayak Deaths

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A $2 million lawsuit has been filed against an international outdoor training program in connection with the January 1978 deaths of two young men who disappeared after paddling a kayak into Mexico's Sea of Cortez.

The suit was filed Friday in U.S. District Court in Albuquerque, N.M., against Southwest Outward Bound, based in Santa Fe, by George Schwimmer, 48, of Raleigh, and Delight Breideman, of Kutztown, Pa.

Schwimmer's son, David, drowned while taking an ocean-going kayaking course sponsored by the school. The body of the 18-year-old Duke University sophomore was never found.

Breideman's 21-year-old son, Tim, drowned in the same incident.

"The point of the suit is not primarily to collect monetary damages," Schwimmer said. "We want to force Outward Bound to make their programs safe. They are lax in safety and they put students in dangerous situations they can't get out of."

Outward Bound is an international outdoor program with seven schools in this country, including one near Morganton, N.C.. The program stresses outdoor activity and survival and is designed to promote self-confidence.

Beginning Of Busing Termed 'Remarkable' In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Despite the public anxiety that preceded the start of racial busing, the director of a special school monitoring panel says the school desegregation program got under way in "remarkable" fashion last week.

Dr. Leonard Stevens, director of the court-appointed Office on School Monitoring and Community Relations, said he and his staff must study some key areas of concern in coming months.

"It was a remarkable week, given the fact that school desegregation is a new experience for Cleveland," Stevens said. "There was a great deal of anxiety across the city prior to Sept. 10."

"Simply the fact that the first week of the first phase of desegregation brought no untoward incidents of any consequence is remarkable in and of itself."

Stevens' office, which acts as the eyes and ears of the court in reviewing Cleveland's school desegregation progress, last week had specially trained "school monitors" in each of the 33 schools affected by this fall's racial balancing plan.

The monitors will continue their observations at the desegregated buildings during the coming week.

"Then after gathering additional data for another week or perhaps two weeks, we'll be in a position to have enough information in our hands to provide the court with a reasonably detailed report on the early stages of desegregation," Stevens said.

Camp David Accords Not Fulfilled

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after the signing of the Camp David accords, their promise of peace in the Middle East is only half fulfilled.

Egypt and Israel, as they promised to do, have negotiated a peace treaty. Israel is withdrawing from the Sinai. Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, who barely spoke to each other at Camp David, now seem to have developed a close and effective relationship. That is the positive side.

On the negative side, the negotiations on Palestinian autonomy have gone almost nowhere, according to sources familiar with the negotiations, and there is little indication that the inhabitants of the West Bank and Gaza Strip, or the rest of the Arab world, will accept their validity. Whether the Egypt-Israel peace can survive a failure in those talks remains to be seen.

President Carter said in a statement Sunday that the talks on autonomy for the West Bank and Gaza "are proceeding on schedule, in an atmosphere of good will and serious cooperation." He added: "I am confident those talks will succeed."

Noting that the accords were signed last Sept. 17, Carter said, "We believed then that we had reached a historic turning point in the bitter history of that long-suffering region. One short year later, that belief has become a firm reality."

The president said that "after 30 years of hostility and war, Israel is truly at peace with its largest Arab neighbor. The relations between them are improving daily."

He said he does not underestimate difficulties that lie ahead. But, he added, "we knew from the outset that the road would be hard and rocky."

"And looking back today at the solid achievements of the past year, we are justified in keeping our eyes firmly on the goal of peace rather than in heeding the inevitable cries that say peace cannot be achieved," he said.

For Carter, the political benefits of the event have proven ephemeral. His standing in the polls shot up immediately afterward, but it has dropped to new lows in recent weeks.

Some of the problems were foreseen last Sept. 17 as Carter, Sadat and Begin gathered around a gilt-edged table in the White House's East Room to sign the documents they had labored over at the summit.

One U.S. official who was there recalls, "We knew the Palestinian framework was very vague. And we knew that Sadat's foreign minister (Mohammed Kameel) had resigned because of that, presaging the Arab world's reaction." Even more important in retrospect was the failure of Carter and Begin to agree on the duration of the freeze on new Israeli settlements in the occupied West Bank, the official said.

That agreement was reached during a private conversation between the two men as the negotiations neared a climax. Carter thought the freeze was to last until negotiations for the West Bank autonomy plan were complete, at least a year.

In practice, Begin's view has prevailed, and new settlements have been established. The Carter administration chose not to press the issue too hard last fall because it did not want to upset the negotiations on the Egypt-Israel peace treaty, which was finally completed in March.

But now, the officials believe that the American inability to enforce its view of the freeze has contributed to the hostility of the Arab world to the accords, convincing it that Israel has no intention of relinquishing the West Bank and the United States will not force it to.

Arab hostility became evident even before Sadat and Begin had returned home. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance flew ahead of them to talk about the accords to the Arab "moderates," Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

They were considered critical to the peace plan. Jordan was supposed to enter the West Bank negotiations and help police the area during an interim period. The administration hoped that Saudi Arabia, the financial and spiritual leader of the Arab world, would at least not oppose the process.

Marcos Critic Arrested

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — An outspoken critic of President Ferdinand E. Marcos was re-arrested in connection with rape charges he had been cleared of three years ago, his wife said Sunday.

Margot Yabut, wife of radio announcer Rafael Yabut, said no formal charge had been filed against her husband, but that the leader of a Philippine constabulary team that picked him up at his office Saturday morning told her he was wanted in connection with the 1976 rape case.

Yabut is one of the few journalists in the Manila area who has openly criticized Marcos and his family, as well as other government officials.

The rape charges, on which he was detained for eight months, were brought against him in 1975 by five young women who claimed Yabut raped them in his office while they were waiting to be screened as radio announcers. A military court, trying Yabut under Marcos' martial-law regime, acquitted him of the charges in June 1976, but Yabut was subsequently stripped of his rank of lieutenant colonel in the constabulary reserve.

Census Bureau Says More Older Women Than Men Live Alone

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A New Census Bureau report showed Sunday that 42 percent of American women over 65 lived by themselves last year while most older men still lived with their wives.

The bureau, in a report on the "older population," said the reason for the difference is that women generally live longer than men.

While 63 percent of the older people lived in families, 30 percent lived alone and the rest were in nursing homes or other institutions. The bureau said that meant 7 million old people lived alone last year — 42 percent of the entire population of older women and 16 percent of the older men.

for older men is to be married and living with their wives — 75 percent," the bureau said. "About 37 percent of older women lived with their husbands. Although men usually marry at an older age, they die at a younger age than women."

Other characteristics of Americans over 65: "The number of older women increased 22 percent since 1970, compared to a 16 percent hike in the number of men 65 and older. The figures last year stood at 14.3 million women and 9.8 million men."

"Almost three-quarters of older householders owned their own homes last year. "Older people are not as likely to be victims of crime as younger ones. Counting crimes against the person (as distinct from property crimes), there were 30 for every 1,000 old people compared to 130 for the general population. "One of every five men and one of every 12 women over 65 was in the labor force last year."

SWEDISH ELECTION — Ola Ullsten, left, Sweden's current Prime Minister and leader of the liberal People's Party, and former Prime Minister Olof Palme, right, cast their votes here during Sunday's national election. Swedes turned out in unusually heavy numbers to decide whether to return the government to Palme's Social Democrats or to continue with the non-socialist three-party coalition in control now. Close Vote Predicted

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Swedes voted in large numbers Sunday in general elections to decide if the country will continue its three year experiment with nonsocialist government or bring back the Social Democrats who ruled the nation for nearly 50 years.

er income taxes and told business it could expect greater incentives under their rule.

Their rule said indirect taxation, in the form of higher sales taxes, would be increased to help pay for Sweden's expensive and all encompassing social welfare programs.

The Socialists said the way to pay for these benefits was higher income taxes and proposed a new "production" tax on business.

At stake were all 349 of the seats in Sweden's parliament, the Riksdag. Swedes also voted in local and municipal elections.

Unemployment, especially high among the young, was another central issue. Swedish unemployment has averaged about 2.5 percent during 1979, compared with about 1.6 percent in when elections were last held in three years ago.

The Social Democrats and Communists charged that the economic policies of the nonsocialists had forced up unemployment.

Polis published three days before the elections indicated the race was extremely close with the socialist and non-socialist blocs separated by just three tenths of 1 percent.

Fine autumn weather encouraged voter turnout and officials said about 90 percent of the six million Swedes registered to vote exercised their franchise.

Polis closed at 3 p.m. EDT, but no results were expected to be available for at least 24 hours.

The main issues in the balloting were taxation and the economy.

The three non-socialist, or "bourgeois" parties presented a united front in face of a strong challenge by the socialist bloc made up of the Social Democrats and the Communist Party.

The "bourgeois" Liberal, Center and Moderate Parties promised Swedes low-

YOUR PERSONAL BIORHYTHMS

By Bernard Gittelson, Author of "Biorhythm: A Personal Science"

The personal science of biorhythm can tell you how your day will go. Now you can judge the highs and lows of not only yourself, but loved ones and friends, and celebrities and stars. Biorhythm, our newest scientific discipline, is the study of the built-in natural cycles that powerfully influence our behavior.

Step 1: From the year chart, find the numbers corresponding to your year of birth. For instance, if you were born in 1947, your number for Physical would be 21, Emotional 17, Intellectual 19. Note whether your numbers are preceded by an A or B, this will be used for Step 2.

JAY HARRIS: A Glance At 1980

HAS THE election process, particularly as it applies to the national level, gotten completely out of hand?

There was a time not so long ago when candidates and talk of candidates—for everything from constable to the White House—did not surface until a few months before the election itself.

Then, in the Presidential and Congressional field, the barrier was slowly pushed back. There was some "talk" of who might or might not be "the man who" perhaps six months or so before the next year's elections.

But, today, no sooner has one ballot box been counted and locked until "Wham!" we are right back into another contest. For a nation of citizens that has looked with jaundiced eyes on politics as practiced today, it may well be the last straw.

THERE IS SUCH a thing as too much of anything...

And it may well be the case in today's high-powered, all-consuming Presidential Politics.

While there has been every reason to be concerned about the State of the Nation, as well as that of the White House almost from the moment its present occupant took office, the truth of the matter is that neither he nor those who would oppose him the next go-around have had time to really think about the subject at hand—governing a nation and running its day-to-day business.

It seems that most of the attention has been directed at the next Big Drama without realizing that we are blowing the one we are in...

Perhaps the woman shown in a campaign hat recently in The Nation's Business represented the feelings of many. The hat band read: "NOBODY FOR PRESIDENT!"

BUT, SINCE that is out of the question, and since we do have candidates, perhaps a look at why they say they are, or are not, running is of interest...

The same magazine asked each of them. Here are their answers, summarized:

President Carter—"As a nation, we have to re-create a sense of confidence in our leaders and a sense of confidence in ourselves."

Rep. John Anderson—"I seek the presidency out of a profound sense of obligation to demonstrate that America is still the last best hope of mankind."

Rep. Phillip Crane—"My candidacy is a commitment to our future. A restoration of the American dream to its proper custodian—the American people."

George Bush—"I wish to seek the presidency...because I know that we need a new generation of leaders. Men and women of total integrity who are experienced enough in government and private enterprise to understand the nature of our problems, but also young enough, fresh enough, and energetic enough to overcome them."

SEN. ROBERT Dole—"I believe I could do better. More important, I believe that my 18 years of congressional experience...have provided me with the critical quality almost wholly lacking in the Carter administration: Expertise in the ways of Washington."

Harold Stassen—"My number-one objective would be to stop inflation and to do it with full employment. I consider inflation to be like arsenic poisoning to a free society."

Ronald Reagan—"A sound national defense and a sound economy are both necessary. We can't, as a matter of fact, have one without the other."

Gov. Edmund Brown—"I'm trying to get the message across that we can't go on mortgaging the future."

John Connally—"I am running for President because I am deeply concerned about the current course of America. On all sides, we see our once proud nation beset with problems, both at home and abroad. I believe there is still time to do something about them. But I am convinced that we must have strong new leadership in the White House."

SEN. HOWARD Baker—"I intend to set this country on a course that we can follow far into the future. I intend to have it said of our generation that we made fundamental decisions that marked the beginning of the most illustrious and progressive era in the history of the American republic..."

Ben Fernandez—"I believe I am best equipped of all candidates to be President because I am a graduate economist, a businessman with 25 years experience in finance and marketing. Our most pressing problems are essentially economic. And the No. 1 economic problem is inflation."

Sen. Edward Kennedy—"I said I am not going to be a candidate. I deal in the realities of the situation, and I think the realities are that President Carter is going to be a candidate. He's going to run, and I think he will be successful."

And there you have a brief analysis of how the men who would like to be President feel. As Nation's Business put it in its excellent article: "Campaign '80: Ready or Not, It's Here."

AND SO where does that leave the people on the other side of the ballot box?

Between now and next summer when the nominating conventions are held, each of those men named, give or take a dropout or so and an addition of so, will use millions of words, gestures and all the trappings of today's political world to win friends and influence voters.

How does one choose and be sure he has picked the "best candidate"?

In the past, we think the American people have made wise choices, generally speaking. But, in recent times, the Presidency and other key contests, all too often have become popularity contests.

We seriously doubt that this one may be any different. And that is the sad part of it...

Connally On Stump

WASHINGTON—John B. Connally is ending his opposition to an anti-abortion constitutional amendment, part of a high-risk operation to broaden his presidential campaign from corporate boardrooms to right-wing populist grassroots.

At a recent secret session at his Texas ranch with conservative evangelical churchmen, Connally broadly hinted a change on abortion. Such a change has been spelled out to close supporters: while not exactly supporting the "right-to-life" amendment, he will no longer oppose it.

But he must delay revealing this change because of a recent magazine interview quoting

DONALD GRAFF:

Anatomy Of Hate

WASHINGTON—Terrorism is a weapon of weakness.

Those who resort to it are in effect acknowledging that they are in a position of inferiority to their opposition, and that they do not have confidence in their ability to improve it by other means.

It also reeks of cowardice in that it is customarily employed against the weak, or the unsuspecting and undefended.

Those who do resort to it usually believe they have good reasons and much to gain in doing so. They may be employing it as political blackmail, to extort funds and, above all, for publicity, to impress the public and weaken opposition.

The assassination of Earl Mountbatten is an appalling demonstration of the latter.

HIS MURDERERS could not have made a more devastating impression on the British public short of striking at the queen herself. And having come this close to the throne, there is no reason to doubt that they are capable of exactly that.

The long-term effectiveness of terrorism is something else again. It rarely if ever gains or even significantly advances the ends that motivate the terrorists.

The Mountbatten murder recalls in some respects that of Count Folke Bernadotte 30 years ago as the Arab-Jewish war in Palestine was at its bloody and inconclusive climax.

A member of the Swedish royal family heading the United Nations effort to effect a compromise settlement, Bernadotte was murdered by an extremist Jewish faction opposed to an approaching truce.

THE EVENT shocked the world, but it was a life taken to no purpose. It had no discernible influence then or subsequently on the course of events in the Mideast.

The political and social forces then and now at work transcend the significance of any one individual.

Mountbatten's death is also the work of a faction—a faction, in fact, of a faction of the Irish Republican Army. It, too, shocks the world.

But the likelihood that it will have an effect beyond that, encouraging British withdrawal from Northern Ireland, is slight, if the initial reaction of British press and officialdom is any indication.

And it is to be hoped that it does not instigate the opposite, a campaign of repression. For it is over-retaliation that the real dangers of terrorism often lie for its victims.

DESPITE THE havoc they are capable of wreaking and the headlines they reap, true terrorists are few in number.

For all that their actions may be rooted in history, such as Ireland's tortured own, they are not revolutionaries motivated by a broad view of what is past and what should come but introverted fanatics.

In the end, their outrages have no real effect upon the march of history. They are no match for society's momentum.

But so long as the terrorist is prepared to sacrifice everything and everyone to his warped purposes, every individual who does not share his fanaticism is a potential victim.

Soviet Gains At Our Expense

A NONPARTISAN analysis published Friday reveals that "laxity and poor administration" by the Commerce Department have permitted the Soviet Union to gain access to important U.S. technology that is now being used to upgrade the Soviet military machine.

Stinging criticism of administration of U.S. export controls, currently under review by Congress, was contained in the Heritage Foundation's monthly defense newsletter, National Security Record.

The failure of Commerce to identify the military potential of many of the goods and technologies it has approved for export was largely "primarily" the agency's lack of expertise.

UNDER THE 1969 Export Administration Act, governing sales of technology to the Soviet bloc, the Commerce Department has the principal authority to enforce national security export controls.

"The Defense Department has only a secondary, consultative role...in spite of DOD's superior expertise in assessing what technologies many have military significance," the report says.

U.S. technology, the editors say, is now being used in production of a variety of Soviet military hardware, including trucks, tanks and missiles.

The Fight To Switch Is 'On'

SOME THINGS you can't give away, but ordinary money isn't among them. Except in the case of the Susan B. Anthony dollar coin.

It can't be for lack of publicity. Starting with the lengthy and sex-focused debate over the percentage it was to honor, the Anthony dollar has had more coverage than virtually anything in the coinage line since Judas' 30 pieces of silver.

It can't be for lack of supply. The Mint already has stamped out more than half a billion and plans to have 1.3 billion in circulation by next April. Well, maybe in circulation.

It takes people to accomplish that and so far money exchangers have made it clear they'd prefer to pass on the Anthony dollar.

RETAILERS REPORT little traffic in the coin across their counters and overstocked banks have stopped ordering supplies from the Mint.

A major complaint appears to be that the new dollar is easily mistaken for a quarter. Maybe in size, coin-makers counter, but not in shape and feel.

The Anthony has a unique raised and broken-line border and is heavier. Besides, they say, there is greater differentiation between it and a quarter than between the quarter and the nickel. And confusion between the latter two has never threatened to become a public issue.

There is a bill in Congress to enhance the distinctiveness by making Susan B. even heavier. However, one of the major objections to the Eisenhower dollar, Anthony's widely uncirculated predecessor, was that it was too heavy.

BUT TREASURY isn't giving up. It's planning a new publicity blitz this fall to convince the public that the Anthony is the "coinage wave" of the future.

In addition to the weighty facts, the Anthony is somewhat more expensive to produce than the $1 bill (3 cents vs. 2 cents each) but the durability of a coin keeps it in circulation 10 times longer—at immense overall savings to the government, it says.

If the public relations campaign doesn't work, Treasury is threatening to create its own "coinage wave" by commencing to withdraw from circulation approximately three billion $1 bills. But if millions of Americans decide they'd rather fight for George Washington than switch to Susan B. Anthony, it could turn out to be a very long withdrawal.

M. STANTON EVANS

That Old-Time Religion Not What It Used To Be

WASHINGTON—"Social gospel" religion, having accepted its terms of reference from the world, has long since lost connection to the realm of faith. So much is generally understood.

Less widely known is that the obsession of some Western clerics with social uplift is more than simply non-religious.

In the policy views to which it gravitates, and the secular causes it promotes, it is actually anti-religious in its implications, and in recent years has become progressively more so.

What began as a mild collectivism has become an alliance with Marxist theory—a policy turn so obviously heretical as to border on the Satanic.

For those who think this indictment too severe, a recent publication from the Ethics and Public Policy Center at Georgetown University is highly recommended.

ENTITLED "AMSTERDAM to Nairobi," and authored by theologian Ernest LeFever, this document traces the recent actions of the World Council of Churches (WCC) in its continuing love affair with the "third world."

It shows the transgressions of the WCC to be much worse than "merely" involving the church where it doesn't belong, the usual charge against politicizing clergy.

The problem is rather that "the church" if the WCC may be so described, is involved where it arguably does belong, but involved on the anti-Christian side.

The most jarring example of this departure was the revelation a year ago that an $85,000 grant had been made by the WCC to the Communist-backed guerrilla forces invading Zimbabwe, Rhodesia (a state now headed, ironically enough, by a black Methodist bishop).

THE MONEY was allegedly meant for food and health services, but there was no assurance that it wouldn't be used for AK-47s and Soviet SAM missiles—both of which the guerrillas use quite freely in their war of terror against the black civilian population (and Christian missionaries).

As LeFever shows, similar aid has been given other Marxist "liberation" groups in Africa, most notably the Southwest African Peoples Organization of San Nujoma, which through 1978 had received some $496,000 of WCC funds.

Other Marxist recipients of such aid include the MPLA of Agostinho Neto in Angola and Samora Machel's FRELIMO in Mozambique.

These grants have been made by the WCC's Program to Combat Racism, whose chief American supporters, LeFever notes, are the United Methodist and United Presbyterian Churches.

IN KEEPING with this performance, the WCC and its official spokesmen have drifted toward a policy stance that is indistinguishable from Marxist boilerplate.

Ritual denunciation of U.S. policy in Vietnam, condemnation of Western "imperialism" and "racism," demands for "radical change in economic, social and political structures" and so on.

On the other hand, the WCC has little to say in condemnation of the Soviet Union, Cuba or other Communist (and militantly anti-Christian) despots, or of the one-party African dictatorships that are backing the war of terror against Zimbabwe Rhodesia.

HOW THE WCC got in this condition is the subject of two monographs also published by the Ethics and Public Policy Center—"The World Council of Churches and Radical Chic" by Richard John Niehaus, and "Politicizing Christianity: Focus on South Africa," by Edward Norman.

Rev. Niehaus, a Lutheran minister in New York, argues that the WCC, having played down questions of doctrine to concentrate on "action," was pretty much left with radical politics as its principle of unity.

Rev. Norman, an Anglican priest and historian, suggests that liberal clergy, bereft of other certitudes, are easy prey for secular dogma—a conversion the more easily accomplished since the clerics know little of the issues on which they are espousing.

Suffice it to say the whole affair emits the distinct aroma of sulfur.

Expert Says U.S. Should Not Support Philippines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A respected Filipino has called on the United States to withdraw its support of President Ferdinand Marcos' government before the Philippines goes the way of Iran and Nicaragua.

Salvador Araneta, a former Philippine Cabinet member, educator and delegate to both Philippine Constitutional Conventions, said the United States should heed a warning issued by Cardinal Jaime L. Sin in Manila in July.

Sin, religious leader of the Philippines' 38 million Roman Catholics, urged Marcos, after 14 years in office, seven as a martial law president, "to begin the process of stepping down."

In an interview, Araneta, 77, a soft-spoken exile, said the bloodshed of revolutions in Iran and Nicaragua could be avoided in the Philippines through American action.

"With timely help from President Carter in the form of economic sanctions, we can accomplish ours without violence," Araneta said.

"The Filipino people are very pragmatic," Araneta said. "Economic sanctions would be sufficient for the martial law of Marcos to fall in a matter of weeks like a deck of cards."

Araneta brushed aside suggestions the United States should not intervene in the internal affairs of a sovereign country. He said the United States, with its military bases at Clark Field and Subic Bay, has been involved in Philippine internal affairs for years.

"The good American people should realize that their government, by supporting Marcos with economic and military assistance up to now, is actually involved in the domestic affairs of the Philippines," Araneta said.

'With timely help from President Carter in the form of economic sanctions, we can accomplish ours without violence...'

Araneta said the cardinal has been forced to try to end martial law because "he foresees the bloodshed that is forthcoming because our people are now ready to take arms, arms that are now supplied by Libya, and tomorrow will be supplied by Russia."

Araneta acknowledged he voted for Marcos when he ran for his second term but said since then Marcos has proclaimed martial law, ended Philippine democracy and violated human rights.

Abroad when Marcos declared martial law Sept. 21, 1972, Araneta said he feared internment if he returned home. He is now a resident of Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

He believes that President Richard Nixon gave his approval and support to Marcos when he declared martial law. Araneta asks the U.S. government "to declassify the tapes of all telephone conversations between Nixon and Marcos as well as any document related to the problems of the Philippines, including the activities of the CIA in the Philippines to determine the real facts behind Nixon's and his successors' involvement in the martial law of the Philippines."

Chances of the United States taking action against the Marcos government seem remote other than occasional statements disapproving of continued martial law and political prisoners, officials indicated last week.

Araneta said time is growing short. "In the recent past, in the case of Iran and Nicaragua, it (the United States) was forced to change horses much too late," he said.

Texas Pilot Survives Crash

FORT NELSON, B.C. (UPI) — Search and rescue officials Sunday found Walter Yates of Austin missing since a helicopter flight to Alberta Sept. 4, alive after enduring 12 days in the wilderness without food or shelter.

The 55-year-old Texan found at a crash site 72 kilometers (45 miles) southeast of here, had only minor injuries, search officials said.

Yates was discovered about 3:45 pm CDT and was taken to a local hospital where nursing staff described his condition as "good." He was reported as suffering bruised ribs and suffering slightly from exposure.

Search officials said Yates' good sense had helped his discovery in the wilderness. Fort Nelson in the far northwestern corner of the province is a settlement on the Alaska Highway about 480 kilometers (300 miles) northwest of Dawson Creek, B.C.

"He had dragged a piece of aircraft out into a cutline so that it would make it easier to see," said an official from the provincial search and coordination rescue center in Victoria, B.C.

"His supplies were destroyed in the fire that occurred after impact but he certainly must have kept his head — he stayed alive for two weeks up there with no shelter and no food."

Yates, pilot and sole occupant of a Bell helicopter, left Fort Nelson Sept. 4 on an 896 kilometer (560-mile) flight to Red Deer, Alta.

California Brush Fire Sweeps Exclusive Area

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A major brush fire roared through an exclusive residential community in the Hollywood Hills Sunday, burning several homes and threatening others.

A city fire department spokesman said 25 units were dispatched to the scene near Laurel Canyon after the first alarm was sounded at 2:57 p.m.

"We expect it to be a protracted operation," he said. Heavy smoke and hundreds of curious onlookers hampered the fire trucks from getting into the hilly area.

Earlier, fires in several southern California counties roared through thousands of acres of brush, destroying homes and private vehicles.

Israeli Man Killed By Arab Gunfire

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli man was shot and killed after his car broke down and he became stranded on a lonely road in predominantly Arab East Jerusalem early Sunday. Police said they believed Arab terrorists were responsible.

The victim was identified as an Orthodox Jew from Tel Aviv who came to Jerusalem to pray at the Wailing Wall, Judaism's holiest shrine, in preparation for the Jewish new year later this month.

Independent Truckers Divided

The president of an independent truckers group said Sunday that about 60 percent of the nation's independent drivers had heeded a strike call and parked their rigs, but an Associated Press spot check showed very little strike activity.

Dave Edwards, president of the Greensboro, N.C.-based Independent Owner-Operators of America, estimated Sunday morning that about 60 percent of the independent drivers in North Carolina and the rest of the nation had parked their rigs.

"So far everything looks real promising," said Edwards, an organizer of the strike which was called for midnight Saturday. He claims his group, one of nearly 20 associations of independent haulers, has 2,700 members and chapters in 37 states. The truckers want such things as uniform rules on the rates they are paid and truck sizes.

"I am well pleased and know the other guys are too. The roads are practically empty from trucks from what I've gathered from people across the country," Edwards said in a telephone interview.

But an AP spot check in 18 states showed very little compliance with the strike effort. Spokesmen from other independent truckers groups said there was opposition to a strike.

Jim Johnston, president of the Owner-Operators Independent Drivers Association of America said he had heard of the strike effort but did not consider it serious. "There's not widespread support for it," Johnston said Saturday night, adding that a survey of members of his Oak Grove, Mo.-based group, which claims 2,500 members nationwide, showed overwhelming opposition to another strike.

"At this time, we are not supporting any strike date," said Bill Scheffer, of Breezewood, Pa., a top official of the national Independent Truckers Association. Scheffer declined to specify how many members belong to his group, which has chapters in 37 states.

Edwards said it would probably be

Wednesday or Thursday before there would be any accurate estimate on how many drivers were participating in the strike. He said some were still on the road Sunday completing long hauls and driving home before they joined the strike.

Edwards, contending there is more support from outside the industry, predicted this strike would be bigger than the one in early summer. He said drivers would stay out this time until they got what they wanted.

Ford Says He Could Win Election Today

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Gerald Ford said Sunday he could beat Jimmy Carter in an election if it were held today.

The former president also sharply criticized Carter's handling of the controversy over Soviet troops in Cuba.

Interviewed prior to tee-off at the annual Roy Clark Celebrity Golf Classic, Ford did not rule out the possibility of running for the Republican nomination next year.

"My position on running will be influenced by whether or not I think I can be helpful to the Republican party and the country," Ford said.

But he added he was "not a candidate now and do not plan to be in the upcoming election."

"If the 1978 election were held again today, I believe we (Republicans) would fare much better," he said. "The polls indicate I would win."

Ford sharply criticized Carter's policy toward Soviet troops in Cuba, saying the president had been too soft with the Soviets.

"I hope he (Carter) is stronger with the Russians than it seems he is in the press reports," said the former president.

Ford also speculated on what he would do had he not been narrowly unseated as president in 1976.

"If I were president, the Soviets would not have gambled with putting combat brigade troops in Cuba because they were well aware of my stand," he said. "I would immediately call for their removal."

He denied administration reports that Soviet combat troops were in Cuba while he was president because "intelligence would have let us know if such was the case."

"It is an incorrect statement that the troops were already in Cuba when Carter became president."

Ford called Carter's economic policy "a disaster" and said the SALT II treaty needed further analysis.

"When we left office, inflation was at 4.8 (percent), employment was up and unemployment down," Ford said. "Inflation now is at 13 (percent) and rising, and unemployment is on a skyrocket."

Airplanes Collide In France

HAZEBROUCK, France (UPI) — Two small planes flying country fair excursions to give novices their first plane rides crashed into each other Sunday, killing all eight people aboard the crafts.

Seven persons were killed immediately and one died later from injuries suffered when the two planes crashed and burst into flames over the small northern French town of Hazebrouck, authorities said.

Each plane carried a pilot and three passengers making brief aerial excursions during a local fair.

The two small planes were used each year in the annual festival to permit persons who never flew in an airplane to have their so-called "baptism of the air" for a modest fee.

The victims in one of the two planes was a local doctor, a flying enthusiast who was piloting the aircraft for Martine and Regine Bay, sisters aged 19 and 15, from a farming family at Morbecque village and their friend Eric Smal, 15.

The victims of the second aircraft included the pilot, and an entire family — Jean Marie Platel, a farmer and his wife and their son Sebastian, 5.

Young Plans For Present, Not Future

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Andrew Young said Sunday his immediate aim is to help President Carter win re-election. Beyond that, he said recalling his grandmother's favorite quote from the Bible, "Let the day's own trouble be sufficient unto the day thereof."

With less than a month to go before his resignation as U.N. ambassador takes effect, Young discussed his plans and his role over the past 30 months in an interview with The Associated Press on a 5 1/2-hour flight from Cameroon to Nairobi, part of an African tour to promote U.S. trade with Africa.

"I've always taken my life one day at a time," he said, and his plans for the near future include doing some writing and speaking, and in November probably visiting several Middle East countries, including "at least Israel, Egypt, Kuwait and Jordan."

Would he accept an invitation to meet with Palestine Liberation Organization Chairman Yasser Arafat?

"I wouldn't make a special effort unless I had something special to talk about," Young said. "I don't think of myself as a champion of the Palestinian cause. I think of myself as a champion of American interests, and it was strictly in the interest of the United States that I felt it was necessary to talk to the PLO at the United Nations."

His unauthorized meeting with a PLO representative led to a political storm in the United States and Israel culminating in his resignation.

Looking to his own future, Young did not rule out a race for the House, where he served for six years, or for the Senate. But he said his first goal is to help in the Carter re-election effort.

He said he intended to set up a small office in Atlanta with a staff of six. "We're now talking about something called 'Young Ideas Inc.," he said. "We don't want a big organization, and don't want to compete with anybody else's funding sources. We'll want to assist existing organizations in developing foreign policy programs."

The black American diplomat is now halfway through his African tour at the head of a delegation of U.S. businessmen. On stops in Liberia, Ivory Coast, Cameroon and Nigeria he has been making a strong pitch for greater U.S. trade with black Africa.

House Ways And Means To Hold Hearings On Value-Added Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — How much value would a value-added tax have for Americans?

Sharp debate is developing over that question as the House Ways and Means Committee prepares to hold hearings next month on the value added tax — or VAT — which is much like a sales tax because it taxes consumption, not income.

Q. How does VAT work?
A. It is a tax levied on the value added to the price of a good or service by each business at each stage of production.

Widely used by European countries, VAT would be collected, for example, at the farmer's wheat stage of production, the miller's flour stage, the baker's dough stage, and eventually the grocer's delivered-bread stage.

This means that the price of a good rises repeatedly and, eventually the value-added tax is borne entirely by the final consumer, although he or she may not know it. Congressional experts believe a 10 percent value-added tax could raise $100 billion in annual revenues.

Q. Is VAT a new idea for the United States?

A. In the last 60 years, there have been numerous proposals for a tax similar to VAT. A bill calling for VAT was introduced in Congress in 1940. Michigan adopted a variant of the tax.

Q. Why should hard-pressed taxpayers accept another tax?

A. They probably won't, unless it is tied to reductions in corporate and personal income taxes and Social Security payroll taxes. That is the hope of Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

He suggests cutting 3 percent from the combined payroll tax of 12.26 percent paid by employees and employers; giving business faster tax write-offs; and reducing the maximum individual tax rate on investments.

Q. Still, won't VAT penalize poorer Americans much as the regressive sales tax does?

A. Lower-income groups would spend a greater proportion of their income, than wealthier people, on value-added taxes to buy necessities, from food to energy products to furniture.

But VAT proponents argue that Social Security taxes are even more regressive, and these can be reduced with VAT's enactment. Moreover, exemptions can be made for some necessities, particularly food.

Exemptions, however, can be a can of worms, says Rudolph Penner, an economist at the American Enterprise Institute. "One of my greatest fears is that VAT would become so riddled with exemptions it would become an inequitable monstrosity," he says.

Q. Won't VAT force up prices and could increase the prices of most goods 5 percent to 10 percent, says Joseph Pecterman, of the Brookings Institution.

A. At the current inflation rate, VAT

As VAT adds to the price tag of goods, people will demand higher wages, thus feeding inflation, he argues.

Q. Then, how can any politician get away with supporting VAT when inflation is running at 13 percent a year?

A. Because there is another side to the story. Some economists believe VAT discourages spending because the more you buy, the more tax you pay. VAT, then, can cut spending demand and this would lead to reduced prices.

Penner argues, however, that any increase in the VAT rate would be very well publicized.

Q. Will VAT be difficult to administer?

A. "State governments spend more money per dollar of revenues to enforce sales taxes than to monitor income taxes," says Pecterman. He says the new tax would require millions of monthly quarterly returns, making life even tougher for small and medium-size firms, while expanding an already bloated bureaucracy.

Others, however, say that once VAT is put in place, the wizardry of computers would simplify data gathering.

Q. Who supports VAT and who opposes it?

A. It's almost too early to tell. The Carter administration is noncommittal. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller says the idea deserves study, but its implementation is years away at best. Ullman calls VAT "inevitable."

State and local governments may prove to be the strongest opponents, since they and not the federal government depend on sales taxes for revenue. And by cutting spending, VAT would also cut sales tax revenues. Arthur Andersen says state and local sales taxes come to about $65 billion a year.

In addition, businesses that don't make much profit probably would oppose VAT. These firms would have to raise prices to absorb the tax.

More profitable companies, however, could more easily keep prices stable to attract customers. Profitable firms also would benefit more from cuts in corporate taxes that could accompany VAT passage.

Today's FOCUS

If spending declines, savings should increase, thus freeing more money for investments that expand the nation's capital and increase productivity. In the long-run, this can cut the inflation rate — particularly if income taxes are reduced at the same time.

Says Brian Davie, a staff member of the Ways and Means Committee: "With the current, high marginal income tax rates, some people choose not to work that hard. That affects productivity. They ask themselves, 'Do I want overtime if Uncle Sam is going to get it?'"

Q. It's easy to know your income tax rate. But isn't the VAT tax hidden?

A. True, it needn't be disclosed at the retail level. "Since the consumer is not aware of the amount of tax, legislators might be tempted to increase the rate of VAT to raise more revenue without causing any public alarm," says a new study by Arthur Andersen & Co., the accounting firm.

Kennedy Favored In Polls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Voters in New Hampshire and Iowa — two states with early tests for presidential candidates — would choose Sen. Edward Kennedy over President Jimmy Carter by overwhelming margins, according to separate newspaper polls.

And the New Hampshire residents polled said they would vote for Kennedy, a Democrat from neighboring Massachusetts, even if he were not on the ballot.

The polls were conducted and reported Sunday by the Boston Globe and the Des Moines Register.

If Kennedy were a candidate in New Hampshire's presidential primary, he could win 68 percent of the vote compared to 28 percent for President Carter, according to a poll taken for the Globe.

If Kennedy were only a write-in candidate, the Globe survey showed he would still capture 38 percent of the vote, compared to 28 percent for Carter and 11 percent for California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., with 3 percent undecided.

Forty-nine percent of the Iowa Democrats polled for the Register favored Kennedy among eight possible candidates. President Carter had the support of 28 percent in the poll. Sixty-four percent said Kennedy had the best chance to beat any Republican candidate in 1980.

Iowa holds its presidential caucuses in January. The New Hampshire primary is in February.

In the New Hampshire sampling, Kennedy's margin over Carter dropped by five percentage points when half of those polled were reminded of the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in the senator's car at Chappaquiddick 10 years ago, and of the fact that he lives apart from his wife, Joan, the Globe reported.

But the Register's copyright story said that its poll indicates Iowa voters do not think Kennedy's behavior at Chappaquiddick should disqualify him from running for president.

According to the poll, 74 percent said Kennedy's behavior should not stand in the way of his candidacy, 19 percent said his past should keep him out of the race and 7 percent were undecided.

The Iowa poll was based on in-home interviews with 595 adults selected by a probability sampling method. It was conducted between Aug. 15 and 18, before Kennedy announced that his family had dropped objections to his candidacy.

The telephone survey of 2,017 people who said they were registered New Hampshire voters was conducted between Sept. 7 and 11. A similar poll taken in May showed Kennedy with 52 percent, Carter with 30 percent, Brown with 13 percent, and 5 percent undecided.

Newly Developed Anglican Church Denounces Action

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The College of Bishops of the Anglican Catholic Church denounced Saturday the Episcopal Church's adoption of a revised Book of Common Prayer.

The College of Bishops of the group that broke with the Episcopal Church over doctrinal matters in the past year is meeting in Roanoke this weekend while the House of Bishops of the Episcopal General Convention meets in Denver to discuss issues affecting its 3 million followers.

One of the decisions made at the Denver meeting was ratification of a revision of the Book of Common Prayer.

Strother Smith, chancellor of the Middle Atlantic Diocese of the Anglican Catholic Church, which claims 200 parishes and 20,000 members in 48 states, said the actions in Denver would drive more Episcopalians out of the church. But he said there was room for them in the Anglican Catholic Church.

Rape Case Investigated

Police Sunday were investigating the reported rape of a 16-year-old Estacado High School student and a number of assaults on city residents which occurred over the weekend.

The rape victim told police that she and the suspect had first gone to a relative's house and then went driving around, stopping at the parking lot of Alderson Junior High early Saturday.

She said the suspect asked her to have sexual intercourse with him and that when she refused, the suspect began choking her and raped her.

The teenager said the suspect was black and 17-years-old. The suspect was not in custody late Sunday pending filing of charges, reports show.

The incident reportedly occurred sometime between 1:55 a.m. and 2:25 a.m. Saturday.

A 33-year-old Lubbock man said that he was assaulted by four Mexican-American men at the intersection of Fourth Street and Avenue A about 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

Alberto Azua, Jr. of 1710 E. Second Place reported that a green Malibu had been following him and bumped into the back of his vehicle at the intersection.

Azua said he got out of his vehicle and that the four suspects got out of the Malibu and began fighting with him. The victim said he had never seen the suspects before.

George Konrad Kovach and David Wayne Stafford told police that they were assaulted by two white males in an incident at McDonald's restaurant, 2343 19th St. about 1:46 a.m. Sunday.

Kovach, 26, of 2211 18th St. reported that one of the suspects had been giving trouble to the manager and that he intervened. Kovach said that when he left the restaurant, one of the suspects began hitting him.

Stafford, 26, of 3415 26th St. told police that when he tried to pull the suspect off Kovach, some other men began fighting with him. The victims said the suspects, who were 18- to 25-years-old, left the scene in a 1979 black Mustang.

Mark England, 19, of 4304 Chicago Ave. said that robbers took his friend's car, his wallet, belt buckle and knife Saturday night.

England said the property was worth $1,819.

The victim said that he had driven to a club at 1801 19th St. about 8 p.m. and later that night found himself walking near the intersection of 28th Street and Elgin Avenue. The victim had suffered several bruises and had been hit on the head, reports indicate.

England had no description of the suspects.

A 55-year-old Lubbock man said that he is minus $10 and his wallet after an aggravated robbery which reportedly occurred at 7:15 a.m. Saturday in the parking lot of a club at 1819 E. Broadway.

Grogerio Sanchez of 3718 E. Seventh St. said that he was getting into his pickup truck when a black male stuck a knife to his back and ordered him to hand over his wallet. Reports show that the suspect also grabbed the truck keys and threw them to the ground before fleeing the scene.

The victim said the suspect was 26 to 35, tall and thin and was wearing a blue shirt and blue pants.

A 23-year-old Lubbock man was arrested early Sunday after an incident at the Seven-Eleven convenience store at Fourth Street and Detroit Avenue.

When investigating officers arrived at the store, they saw the manager point out the suspect, who was attempting to get into his car. Reports show that during questioning by police, the suspect began cursing and was arrested.

Store manager Ronald McGraw told police that the suspect had entered the store and began throwing food items at him and had also harassed a customer.

In another assault, a 18-year-old Shallowater man said that a woman hit him in an incident which allegedly occurred about 10:30 p.m. Saturday at a trailer park at 4702 Fourth St.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

There isn't a person who takes a trip out of the country who doesn't live in dreaded fear of the LL Experience... Lost Luggage.

I have been on trips where poor devils have been two days ahead of their luggage for the entire trip. You try not to notice the ring around their collar/cuffs/waistbands/hems. You try to feign joy when they show you their newly-purchased toothbrush and dental floss. You are tactful when they squirm uncomfortably in damp underwear that didn't dry during the night.

We have just returned from a trip out of which columns are made. We flew from Phoenix to Los Angeles and our luggage was there. We flew to the Fiji Islands and our luggage was there. We flew to Sydney, Australia, and our luggage was there. Sydney to Perth and it was still with us. From Perth we flew to Adelaide and witnessed yet another miracle.

From Adelaide we shot up to Brisbane and were confirmed believers in the airlines. From Brisbane to Melbourne, our luggage once again appeared.

From Melbourne to Sydney was a piece of cake as our four pieces of yellow luggage came tumbling off the conveyer belt FIRST, no less.

We wavered a bit when we flew from Sydney to Port Moresby. Papua New Guinea, but lo and behold, there it was. From Port Moresby to Madang, from Madang to Goroka and back again to Port Moresby and Sydney, we watched in absolute disbelief as the Bombeck luggage whirled around the carousel.

We watched it being loaded on the flight to Auckland, New Zealand, so its arrival was no surprise. But we knew we were pushing the odds as we breathlessly awaited its arrival in Wellington.

It arrived, but we were worried. We were trying for the Guinness Book of Records and we knew it. I even rechecked my tags with the airline to make sure he had our next stop, Rotorua, but he did and they did and we were ecstatic.

We flew to Auckland and our luggage was there...bringing the total exchanges to 18.

We flew to Los Angeles and our luggage was there...bringing the total exchanges to 18.

We flew to Phoenix. They lost our luggage.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for every judge who is or may be involved with a case concerning child abuse. I hope you will print it.

Your Honor: I beg of you to read what I have to say. It's a matter of life and death. Today, so many people are dedicated to protecting baby seals and leopards. I am writing about another endangered species — the battered child.

"I am a nurse who has seen little children beaten beyond recognition, small bodies with cigaret and rope burns, fractured skulls and those who were sexually molested. I have cared for youngsters who were filthy, lice-infested and malnourished. I have seen the vacant stares of children who have never known love and those who don't even cry anymore.

"Members of health care teams do all in their power to mend these broken bodies and spirits. Then what happens? Too often they are returned to the same environment. It breaks our hearts because we know there are (1) parents who cannot or will not change; and (2) parents who accept counseling only because it looks good. Then there are (3) parents who can and DO change with help and are forever grateful.

"I beg of you, your honor, before you send battered children back to their parents, make certain that you are not sentencing them to a continuation of the old horrors." — Nurse In Oshkosh

Dear Nurse: Bless you for taking the time to write that superb letter. It's sure to make an impact on many judges, and hopefully they will give more thought to the consequences of their decisions.

Dear Ann Landers: I was shocked to read an ethnic insult in your column recently. You referred to Mexicans as "Chicanos." This is the same as calling Jews "kikes," or Italians "wops."

I am correcting you, so in the future you will use either Mexican, Hispanic or Latin-American. No doubt you'll get a lot of complaints about this, so be prepared for a blasting. — From Pasadena

Dear Pasadena: According to the American Heritage dictionary, "Chicano" is a variation of Mexicano, Spanish for Mexican.

I received many three other complaints and they, too, were from California. Since the word "Chicano" slid by two savvy, sharp-eyed editors (both Midwesterners), I suspect the objection is regional. But thank you for letting me know. I won't use it again.

Weddings

MRS. ROBERT BUSTILLOS

ZUNIGA-BUSTILLOS
Virginia Zuniga became the bride of Robert Bustillos Saturday in a 2 p.m. ceremony in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. The Rev. Stephen Keogh officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Hipolito Zuniga and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bustillos.

Honor attendants were Mary Victoria Zuniga, niece of the bride, and Ruben Bustillos, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride attended Estacado High School. The bridegroom attended Lubbock High School.

The couple will reside in Lubbock.

Dear Ann: I didn't sleep a wink last night. I need to be comforted or chastised. You decide which.

My husband and I attended a social gathering recently. A very attractive young man about our son's age greeted me warmly. We've known this fellow a long time, but not intimately.

On a sudden impulse I kissed him hello. (It was a motherly kiss, nothing more). My husband gave me a withering look and sulked all evening. On the way home, he said, "You had no business kissing Henry like that. You cheapened yourself and probably gave him some ideas."

To be honest, Ann, I don't know why I did it, but I don't feel it was wrong. Do you? — Trouble In Troy

Dear Troy: It was an impulsive gesture. No reason to lose any sleep over it. The world needs more spontaneous affection. An orchid to you for your warm-heartedness and a bouquet of skunk cabbage to your super-critical husband.

Miscellany

Hunt Elementary PTA will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the school cafeteria. State Representative Froy Salinas will speak at the meeting.

Caprock Chapter of National Secretaries Association will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, 14th Street and Avenue K. Dr. Glynda Dodd from Wayland Baptist College will be the guest speaker and the 1979 scholarship recipients will be presented.

Lubbock City Council PTA has announced a schedule of programs for the coming year. The meetings are designed primarily for PTA officers and principals, but all interested persons are welcome.

The group will meet at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Municipal Garden and Arts Center, 4215 University Ave. The topic will be programs in the Lubbock Independent School District. Representatives from Iles, Ballenger, Dunbar/Struggs and Lubbock High will discuss features of the innovative new educational programs at their schools.

Oct. 23, Capt. Cox from the Juvenile Division of the Lubbock Police Department and Leota Mathew from LISD Central Office will discuss juvenile crime.

The association will present the 1979 scholarship winners at the meeting. Those recipients are Teresa Gail Calhoun, a student at Wayland Baptist College, and Leslie Moore, a student at Texas Tech University. Each will receive a $150 scholarship at the meeting.

Any secretary interested in becoming a part of this organization should contact Peggy Wright at the Chamber of Commerce for more information.

EXPORT TRADING
Foreign-based export trading companies are being explored as a possibility to promote U.S. textile apparel exports by probing foreign market needs and selling U.S. merchandise to foreign customers, reports Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Community Concerts Seeks New Members

Lubbock Community Concerts Association is conducting its second annual membership drive for the 1979-80 season through Sept. 24.

Through membership in the association, concert-goers can enjoy four concerts during the course of the year by outstanding artists.

Scheduled to appear this year are the Glinka Chorus of Leningrad; Beverly Wolff, mezzo-soprano; Leonard Penna, pianist, and the New York Harp Ensemble.

Individual memberships are $15. Students may join for $8. Family plan memberships are available at $40 — which entitles a family to attend the full program of concerts.

The membership committee consists of Dr. Ruth Holmes, Mrs. Roy Sheffield, Mrs. J.P. Kenney, Ronald Herrin and Eugene Johnson.

To join the Community Concert Association or to obtain more information, interested persons may contact one of these committee members or write to Lubbock Community Concerts, 3406 53rd St., Lubbock, Tx. 79413.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY DR. PAUL G. DONOHUE

Dear Dr. Donohue: Our daughter, 38, has been told that she is suffering from acromegaly and has been affected by it since age 10, probably. But it is only in the past year or two that changes have been obvious. Her need for a larger shoe size for example. Many tests were taken and she was told that they would have to remove her pituitary gland. The alternative, she was told, is continued growth of the face and extremities, blindness and other problems.

Can't partial surgery of the gland correct the growth problem without taking it all out? Our medical dictionary describes the problem as in the anterior part of the gland. Is there no medical alternative? — T.H.T.

There is no alternative to removal. Acromegaly is a condition in which the pituitary gland makes too much growth hormone. Removal of the gland is necessary for cure.

You are correct. It is the anterior (front) lobe of the gland where the growth hormone is made. But you must realize that this gland is so very tiny that partial surgery cannot be done.

After surgery, your daughter will have to take medicine to replace what the pituitary gland makes. The pituitary produces other hormones than the one for growth, so they, too, must be replaced.

The surgery is not pleasant to contemplate, but it is a small price to pay for the consequences of not having it done. Blindness is possible, and probable, if the gland remains. Unfortunately, we have no means of controlling the activity of the gland by drugs. With the surgery and replacement medicine, a patient can live a normal life.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I heard once that scotch and water has a high carbohydrate content, yet my gram counter book says there are no carbohydrates in scotch and water. Is there or isn't there? — M.P.L.

The book is correct. Alcohol is not a carbohydrate. Alcohol comes from the fermentation of glucose, a well-known carbohydrate. But the glucose is converted to alcohol in the fermentation, so there is none left to be digested by the body. All that remains are the "empty" calories of the alcohol (average 100 calories per ounce-and-a-half jigger). The calorie total rises with the proof of the drink.

Incidentally, it is this lack of anything to digest that causes such easy inebriation when alcohol is drunk on an "empty stomach." It passes more or less directly into the bloodstream.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Could a lack of hormones cause a woman past menopause to have an increase in bust size? I have been told this is the cause of the two-to-three-inch increase in size. It's my sister-in-law, who is 54. She is on a nerve medicine, too. Could that cause it? — T.Z.

Breast enlargement after menopause should be thoroughly investigated. Normally, there is a loss of tissue at this time of life, unless general body weight gain accounts for it.

Other glands may produce excess hormones, which may stimulate breast enlargement. These glands include the adrenals, the pituitary (water gland) or the thyroid. Certain medicines, like digitalis (heart medicine) or some kinds of diuretic (water) pills may cause it. Your sister-in-law has a long checklist to eliminate to find the reason for this degree of enlargement, but it should be done.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I've heard where it is actually true that chicken soup is a cure for the common cold. Do you believe in this? — Mrs. T.W.

Nothing wrong with trying it. Many Jewish mothers have sworn by it for generations, and there has actually been some serious medical discussion of it lately. The cold, as I've mentioned, is caused usually by a virus, and we have no known substance to attack the virus. If chicken soup helps, fine. If it doesn't, all you've lost are the ingredients and you've gained a delicious treat.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you say that an ovarian cyst would cause menstrual irregularity? — M.

Yes. It is a common cause of it.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 1210, Chicago, Ill. 60611, for his invaluable booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

Q.1—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠A982 ♥KQ ♣AQ108 ♦A94
 Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one diamond. What action do you take?

A.—You do not need much from partner to make game, but the odds are against it—partner's share of the outstanding points should be only about 2. Pass. This does not indicate timidity, but rather sound judgment. Even one diamond could be defeated for as much as the value of any game you might have. At a different vulnerability, you could not afford this trap pass. You would have to double and risk in the trump to show your balanced powerhouse.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠642 ♥AK974 ♣A102 ♦K5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♥ Pass 3 ♦ Pass
 3 ♥ Pass 3 ♦ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Beware of the obvious: It is wrong to bid three no trump, which denies the ability to make a constructive bid. You have a good hand—all prime values, in light of partner's jump shift. K x in his first bid is good support, and you should show it by taking a preference to four clubs.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AJ ♥KJ4 ♣KQ2 ♦AQ962
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♦ 2 ♠ 3 ♦ ?

What action do you take?
A.—Someone is lying through their teeth—probably West, there just aren't that many points in the pack. Your vulnerable partner, however, must be telling the truth. Even if he has no more than a reasonable heart suit, you should have excellent play for slam, so you surely intend bidding six hearts. Since it can't hurt, we would check for aces en route in the hope of possibly uncovering the values for a grand slam.

Q.4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠A752 ♥A963 ♣72 ♦AJ5
 Partner opens the bidding with one diamond. What do you respond?

Hints from Heloise

HELLO AGAIN:
 With the high cost of draperies, here are some professional buying tips and care suggestions from the Guild of Professional Drycleaners that may save you money by providing extended wear of expensive draperies:
 Select fabrics to fit individual needs. For sunny locations, choose fibers that have resistance to sunlight. Synthetics are more resistant than cellulose, while silk is least resistant.
 Line all draperies as an added precaution against fading or rotting.
 Select colorfast fabrics that have a satisfactory resistance to fading and home or professional care methods.
 Keep in mind that atmospheric conditions will cause up and down changes in draperies constructed from cotton or rayon.
 To prevent rotting, yellowing and mildew, care for draperies at least once per year. Remember, synthetic fibers collect dry soil due to static, and cotton and rayon tend to yellow with age.
 If you will abide by these rules your expensive drapes will last much longer.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:
 I love your column!
 One of your "letters of laughter" (it was about not going too fast or you'd meet yourself trying to finish that last chore) made me think of one I don't think you've heard. Here is mine:
 The best time to clean ceilings is when the kids have the house turned upside down! —M.J.M.

DEAR HELOISE:
 We thought this worth repeating:
 We have little ones in our family and when I fry chicken there never seems to be enough chicken legs to go around.

DEFROST DILEMMA

If you're like most cooks, chances are you've arrived home on occasion to a dinner you forgot to defrost. But there's no need to panic with this handy way to defrost hamburgers. Just place frozen patties in a skillet, searing on both sides over moderate heat until browned. Add a sliced onion, sprinkle with seasoned salt and cover. Lower heat and cook, shaking pan occasionally, until burgers are thawed. Inside they'll be pink and juicy.

A.—Take a demerit if you decided to bid two no trump. With all the aces and aces in intermediates, your hand is oriented to a suit contract. If a fit is available, respond one heart, giving partner room to bid one spade if he does not have a heart suit but does have four spades. That way you will find a fit in either major if one exists.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠K10753 ♥24 67 ♦AJ982

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣ Pass
 2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—It appears that your side does not have the values for slam, but don't give up on this hand yet. Bid three clubs. If partner has a strong fit for one of your suits and prime values, he will probably make a slamgoing move, which you will happily accept. If not, you can still settle in three no trump.

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠Q952 ♥A94 ♣Q5 ♦AQ82
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♣ Dble. 2 ♣
 4 ♣ Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—You have asked partner for the right of way and he has refused to give it to you. The only explanation can be that he has a long, strong spade suit and a very unbalanced hand. An ace-couplet might settle for a sure profit and pass, but for our money, we would gamble on the small slam in spades.

Q.7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠AJ ♥98652 ♣J ♦AK1072

What is your opening bid?
A.—A basic rule when opening the bidding is that, with two five-card suits, you should open the higher-ranking. Don't let the fact that your hearts are considerably less robust than your clubs deter you from bidding the hand correctly. The right opening bid is one heart. If you open one club, the heart suit could get lost should partner respond one spade or one no trump.

Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AK864 ♥2 ♣A9763 ♦J3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♣ Pass

2 NT Pass 3 ♣ Pass
 3 NT Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Since you have a full opening bid opposite a partner who has shown a 19-20 point balanced hand, you surely want to be in slam. It is only a question of where to play the hand. For the moment you need do no more than complete the picture of your hand. Bid four diamonds. Since you took partner out of a game contract, this bid is forcing, and your next move will depend on how partner reacts.

this in mind, every expert will make occasional bids to make things difficult for the defense. South's three-diamond call is typical of this sort of action. He intends to play in four spades and wants to stop a diamond lead against that contract.

Alan: "He can't get hurt by fooling his partner. Spades outrank diamonds and if partner raises diamonds South just goes back to spades."

Oswald: "This type bid is less effective today than it used to be. Players have learned to be suspicious when declarer gives them too much information. This West was a doubting Thomas. Left to his own devices he would almost surely have opened a club. This time he decided that South was playing games. Hence, he opened the king of diamonds. The defense rattled off three diamond tricks and declarer was held to his contract. At tables where the club was led, declarer had time to discard one diamond on dummy's fourth heart and made an overtrick."

Paper Publishes N-Data

In Protesting 'Government Censorship'

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A diagram and the complete text of a controversial letter that the government says contains secret information about the hydrogen bomb were published Sunday in a special edition of the Madison Press Connection.

The letter — written by Charles Hansen, a computer programmer from Mountain View, Calif. — figured in a Saturday night ruling by a federal judge in San Francisco, who issued a temporary restraining order barring the student-run Daily Californian of Berkeley from publishing it.

As published in the Press Connection, Hansen's 32-page letter is about half technical information on what he says is how to build and trigger a hydrogen bomb and half social commentary on the need of the American people to have the information so they will understand the weapon's destructive power.

The letter also complains that several scientists have released secret data related to the bomb and have not been prosecuted, while free-lance writer Howard Morland, who wrote an as-yet-unpublished article on the bomb, and others working from those documents have been the target of Energy Department action.

U.S. District Judge Robert Schnacke ordered the Daily Californian and two of its editors not to publish or give anyone else material from the letter, which the government classified earlier in the week as "secret restricted data" under the Atomic Energy Act of 1954.

No injunction was issued to the Press Connection, however.

Mark Sheehan, a Justice Department spokesman in Washington, said the department had no information on the publication and had no comment.

Jim Bishop, Energy Department spokesman, also declined comment.

Hansen, 32, says his hobby is collecting documents about nuclear weaponry.

Copies of his letter, written to Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., apparently had been sent to as many as seven newspapers and several individuals.

The Press Connection, which normally does not publish on Sunday, printed an eight-page extra edition, most of it devoted to the text of Hansen's letter.

The newspaper said it decided to publish the material as an answer to what it called government censorship.

The Milwaukee Sentinel reported Saturday that Energy Department officials asked its editors to give up their copy of the letter, but they refused.

In an editorial across the top of its front page, the Press Connection said, "The shadow of government censorship has fallen across the United States. On March 8, the Justice Department, acting on behalf of the Department of Energy, ordered the Madison-based Progressive magazine to refrain from publishing an article on nuclear weaponry, despite the fact that all of the research was based on unclassified documents in public circulation.

"Saturday night, the same thing happened to the Daily Californian in Berkeley. The shadow of government censorship has fallen across the land. It must stop, and it must stop now."

The front page of the extra edition included a diagram that the Press Connection said was on the 18th page of Hansen's letter, showing a cross section of a hydrogen bomb, with detail of the bomb trigger.

The Atomic Energy Act of 1954 provides penalties for anyone who possesses or communicates what it terms "restricted data" — regardless of the source. It defines such data as anything about the "design, manufacture or utilization of atomic weapons ... the production of special nuclear material ... or the use of special nuclear material in the production of energy."

Violation of the act carries penalties of fines up to $10,000 or imprisonment for up to 10 years.

Hansen said he turned his copy of the letter over to federal officials Friday and signed an affidavit detailing where he sent copies of the letter and his activities in acquiring the information.

Hansen said he has a security clearance for access to classified information because of his job at Ford-Aerospace. "But it has nothing to do with H-bombs."

He said he educated himself about nuclear physics through information available to the public for years in libraries and research centers.

In the letter, Hansen said: "... The technical information presented in the Morland article (written for Progressive magazine) is not at all important, or even longer relevant to the larger issues. The government has conceded that the technical information is already in the public domain."

"The concepts discussed in the Morland article deal with basic applied physics, and they are certainly no longer 'secret'."

George Vukelich, president of the Press Connection's board of directors, told readers the newspaper published Hansen's letter "because we feel it is crucially important that all Americans see it in print."

"The Hansen letter reveals nothing new that has not been revealed before about bomb technology," he added.

"The Department of Energy is aware of this, and yet has classified the letter and obtained an injunction against the Daily Californian prohibiting them from publishing it."

The Peninsula Times Tribune in Palo Alto, Calif., reported that it published Hansen's H-bomb diagram and a related news story on Aug. 30.

Times Tribune editor David Burgin said the newspaper received a copy of the latest letter from Hansen, and rejected a Justice Department request to surrender it.

"This newspaper simply will not and cannot bow to government censorship of any kind," said Burgin.

The Times Tribune's parent corporation, the Tribune Co. of Chicago, also decried the government's actions.

"The investigative appearance of government on one's doorstep is always intimidating," said Tribune Co. president Stanton Cook.

Afghanistan President Quits As Strife Grows

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Nur Mohammed Taraki of Afghanistan resigned the presidency and leadership of the ruling party Sunday, Radio Afghanistan reported, as intensifying rebel warfare and political dissension pushed the country deeper into turmoil.

Taraki, citing poor health, resigned as president in favor of Prime Minister Hafizullah Amin. The 50-year-old Communist considered a more hard-line Communist than Taraki, had forced him into the background in recent months and emerged as the pro-Soviet regime's strongman.

Afghanistan has been weakened by an internal split in the ruling Khalq (People's) Party and an insurgency by right-wing Moslem tribesmen, who now control about half the countryside.

Taraki, a 62-year-old former journalist who once worked as a translator for the U.S. Embassy in the Afghan capital of Kabul, asked to be excused from his positions "in view of my bad health and nervous weakness," according to the Pushtu-language broadcast monitored in India.

Amin's takeover as president leaves him as the unquestioned dominant figure in Afghanistan.

Taraki's resignation followed the dismissal Friday of the last two military officers in Amin's cabinet. Diplomatic sources reported Sunday that the apparent cabinet purge was followed immediately by shooting and loud explosions in the capital, but could not say whether there was a direct link to the political developments.

Taraki, although a Communist, was considered to be less radical than many of the people who brought him into power in April 1978 in a coup that toppled President Mohammed Daoud.

Radio Kabul said the Afghan Revolutionary Council met in Kabul Sunday and considered Taraki's resignation for four hours, finally relieving him of all of his posts and duties.

The diplomatic sources in Kabul, who asked not to be identified, said troops in the mile-high capital were quickly mobilized when gunfire began Friday.

It was the first report of widespread gunfire in the capital since Aug. 5, when loyal troops, backed by tanks and helicopter gunships, put down a mutiny by the crack 444 Commando Regiment at Kabul's Bala Hissar fort.

Radio Afghanistan reported Friday that Interior Minister Col. Aslam Watanjar, a leader of the April 1978 coup that brought the pro-Soviet regime to power, and Border Affairs Minister Col. Sheirjan Mazdoori were dropped from the cabinet by Taraki at Amin's recommendation. It gave no reason for the dismissals.

Observers in Islamabad, Pakistan, said they thought the cabinet shakeup might indicate the government's fight against the Islamic rebels was not going well.

Faqir M. Faqir, a political unknown, was chosen to replace Watanjar, and Sahibjan Sahrayee was named new border affairs minister. He held the same post before the last cabinet shuffle, in late July. The broadcast also said a man named Zareef, whom it described as an engineer, was appointed communications minister. His full name was not available.

South African Acts, Statements Conflict

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Prime Minister Pieter W. Botha has raised the alarm that South Africa's racial segregation policies must change to avoid revolution. But at the same time, his white-minority government is pushing ahead with the keystone of those policies — creation of independent black states within South Africa.

The granting of independence last week to a third impoverished "homeland" — Venda — is a clear sign that the government has no plans to abandon its homeland policy, which by stripping blacks of South African citizenship and consigning them to distant rural areas is designed to stem black nationalism.

Yet Botha has confused the 4.4 million white South Africans, who for 30 years have been told by their Dutch-descended Afrikaaner leaders that racial segregation would be their salvation. Now suddenly, they're being told it will destroy them.

The prime minister so far has presented his survival plan in only the most general terms, but basically it would enlarge the territory now allocated to the 10 homelands — about 13 percent of South Africa's total area — and provide for urban blacks to gain some measure of self-government.

A recent Botha remark that "we are all South Africans" was another sign that his National Party was moving toward opening up this rigid society to non-white participation. The confusion among whites stems from the government's vagueness on how far it plans to go in accommodating the non-white majority.

There is much talk of eradicating "unnecessary" discrimination that now bars blacks from most white restaurants, hotels, neighborhoods, cinemas, toilets and hotels. Critics of apartheid question whether these measures will in fact go far enough to quell non-white anger over unemployment, inferior living standards and exclusion from the political system.

The moves to end petty apartheid include a decision to allow all races to view sporting events in the Loftus Versfeld Stadium here. In some areas, South African railways are phasing out examples of apartheid where removal will cause no "friction." And in Johannesburg the Central Business District Association has said at least a dozen restaurants will seek multi-racial permits this month.

As for labor, a government commission last May recommended that more jobs be opened up to blacks. The government announced last week it will reconsider its earlier exclusion of migrant workers and homeland commuters from trade union rights.

ent cabinet purge was followed immediately by shooting and loud explosions in the capital, but could not say whether there was a direct link to the political developments.

Taraki, although a Communist, was considered to be less radical than many of the people who brought him into power in April 1978 in a coup that toppled President Mohammed Daoud.

Radio Kabul said the Afghan Revolutionary Council met in Kabul Sunday and considered Taraki's resignation for four hours, finally relieving him of all of his posts and duties.

The diplomatic sources in Kabul, who asked not to be identified, said troops in the mile-high capital were quickly mobilized when gunfire began Friday.

It was the first report of widespread gunfire in the capital since Aug. 5, when loyal troops, backed by tanks and helicopter gunships, put down a mutiny by the crack 444 Commando Regiment at Kabul's Bala Hissar fort.

Radio Afghanistan reported Friday that Interior Minister Col. Aslam Watanjar, a leader of the April 1978 coup that brought the pro-Soviet regime to power, and Border Affairs Minister Col. Sheirjan Mazdoori were dropped from the cabinet by Taraki at Amin's recommendation. It gave no reason for the dismissals.

Observers in Islamabad, Pakistan, said they thought the cabinet shakeup might indicate the government's fight against the Islamic rebels was not going well.

Faqir M. Faqir, a political unknown, was chosen to replace Watanjar, and Sahibjan Sahrayee was named new border affairs minister. He held the same post before the last cabinet shuffle, in late July. The broadcast also said a man named Zareef, whom it described as an engineer, was appointed communications minister. His full name was not available.

landing site, thinking they might be following a UFO.

"Are we in the West here?" one of the balloonists reportedly asked. "We were convinced that we were in the West even before the police officers came because we saw a modern farm machine on the field unlike anything we have," Strelzek later told a reporter.

Two of the children were slightly injured during the landing. The group was examined at a local hospital and released.

Strelzek said he had designed the balloon using principles he learned from his work with airplanes. He said Naia's mayor had offered the families housing and jobs but that the group had not decided whether to stay here.

Their July 4 escape attempt failed when their balloon went down about 220 yards short of the border, the mechanic said. He said the group returned home without being spotted by East German guards, and soon began patching together a new balloon, buying the needed material in small quantities at different stores so they would not attract attention.

Top Level Dallas School System Employees Fired

DALLAS (AP) — Eight city school employees have been fired and lie detector tests will be given to several other workers as part of an investigation into the school system's business practices, says Superintendent Linus Wright.

confidence in their own future when they are wondering whether they can afford the mortgage on their house, the food bill or home heating bill," said Kennedy.

"So, I don't feel it's a failure of the spirit among the American people," he added. "I don't think that's the sense that is missing in this country today."

Asked whether the problem was a failure of leadership, Kennedy replied, "Clearly, it's a climate and a mood that's important."

Kennedy dismissed suggestions that if he challenges an incumbent Democratic president he will split the party and assure election of a Republican president in November 1980.

"The divisions that existed in the party and the country existed today...and they would be there whether I was a candidate or not," he said.

Report Says Elderly Political Clout Factor To Consider

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians looking to next year's elections may want to give special attention to the elderly, who turn out at the polls in larger percentages than younger Americans.

A special Census Bureau report on the nation's elderly, released Sunday, discloses that the percentage of elderly persons voting in 1978 was 10 points higher than for the population as a whole.

The report says that in the 1976 presidential contest, 62 percent of persons aged 65 and older voted, compared with 49 percent of people aged 18 to 34.

In recent years the percentage of Americans going to the polls has declined steadily.

For the past eight elections, voting by the population as a whole has dropped by 10 percent for both presidential and congressional contests.

Voting by the elderly has also dropped 10 percent in congressional contests, but it showed a decline of only 4 percent when the presidency was at stake.

For older black Americans, the proportion voting in presidential elections actually increased 9 percent between 1964 and 1976, while remaining steady in congressional contest years.

Other highlights of the census study of the elderly, compiled last year, included:

—Most older Americans live in families, with 6 percent in institutions and 30 percent living alone.

—One of every five men over 65 and one of every 12 women were still in the labor force.

—Nearly half of all Americans aged 65 and over never attended high school, and only 16 percent attended one or more years of college.

—The 1977 median income of families with the head aged 65 or over was $9,121.

—The elderly were less likely to be victims of crime than the population as a whole.

In a report covering 1977, the bureau said that persons over 65 suffered crimes against the person at only about one-fourth the rate of the general population.

The elderly accounted for about 30 crime victims per 1,000 people, the report states, while for the population aged 12 and over there were 130 victims per 1,000. The figures for both groups, however, are about double those of a similar study in 1973.

Turning to health statistics, the bureau also reported that the elderly were less likely than the general population to suffer an injury. However, when they were hurt they were considerably more likely to have activities limited because of their physical condition.

Overall, the report states, in 1978 there were 24 million Americans over the age of 65, an eightfold increase since the turn of the century.

The number of elderly women has grown faster than that of men. The numbers of men and women in this age group were about equal in the early years of this century, but older women now outnumber men by 4.5 million.

The majority of the elderly — 62 percent — live in metropolitan areas, the report said.

FINANCE CHIEFS MEET

PARIS (AP) — Finance chiefs of the United States, France, Japan, Britain and West Germany met secretly in the Paris region Sunday, apparently to seek accord on economic issues prior to the International Monetary Fund annual meeting next month in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Secrecy surrounding the meeting was extremely tight.

Oil Reserves Value May Reach $25 Per Barrel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The oil reserves of the 23 largest U.S. oil firms will soar in value by $424 billion if decontrolled domestic crude prices reach $25 a barrel, an Energy Action Foundation study concluded Sunday.

The Washington-based energy consumer group, which used 1978 oil company reserve estimates to arrive at its figure, said American energy consumers will ultimately pay the increase in higher fuel costs under decontrol.

"It's clear that what decontrol does is transfer large amounts of money to the oil companies from the public," said James Flug, who heads Energy Action.

The group said the windfall to the major oil companies would cost each American between $1,500 and $2,000.

And Energy Action said higher prices for unproven oil reserves and other forms of energy that tend to follow oil prices would "add very substantially to the massive income transfers resulting from oil price decontrol."

The American Petroleum Institute, a big oil trade group, said Energy Action's study "totally overlooks the purpose of decontrol."

"Our national objective is to reduce our reliance on uncertain foreign sources of crude oil," an API spokesman said Sunday. "President Carter's decontrol action will bring about the production of an estimated 2 million barrels a day, more domestic oil by the late 1980s than would be produced without decontrol."

President Carter decided last spring to phase out domestic crude oil price controls gradually by October 1981. By that time, domestic prices will rise to the world market level, currently pegged to $18-a-barrel Saudi Arabian light crude.

Flug said his estimate was conservative because prices are rising rapidly and some foreign oil is already selling for $25 a barrel or more.

The API spokesman did not dispute the figures but cautioned that proven reserves — Oil that is already discovered and can be produced — could be misleading.

"A lot of it is estimated," he said. "They have to estimate the amount of oil in a discovered field and that's hard to do."

Energy Action used 1978 proven reserve figures which the 23 largest oil companies furnished the Securities and Exchange Commission. They totaled 24.7 billion barrels of crude or three-quarters of all U.S. oil reserves.

In 1978, the reserves were worth $192.9 billion at the average prevailing price of $10.24 per barrel.

The group found that the reserves would increase in value to $409 billion if decontrolled prices hit $20 a barrel and to $277 billion assuming $25 a barrel. Compared to their 1978 value, the proven reserves would rise to $249 billion for $20 a barrel and $385 billion for $25 a barrel.

"It looks now like to hit the $25 a barrel price would not only be possible but incorrect because it would mean $25 a barrel is already the price," Flug said.

Even at $14.50 a barrel, the Energy Action study said, the reserves would increase to $258 billion.

Flug said President Carter's energy program could mean an even greater windfall for the major companies.

He said development of costly synthetic fuels "will act as a magnet for bringing world crude prices even higher and import quotas will permit domestic prices to exceed world levels."

Flug said winter heating oil bill mounting inflation and oil company quarterly profit figures might make Congress abandon decontrol.

Energy Action is one of several consumer, labor and civic groups participating in a massive Oct. 17 protest and wave of campus teach-ins against the Carter energy plan.

FIREFIGHTERS FOR A NIGHT — Three residents man an idle firehose to help firefighters fight the five-alarm fire that gutted 64 units of their north Dallas apartment complex early Sunday. More than 100 firefighters battled the blaze, which spread rapidly along the wood-shingled roofs, causing an estimated $1.5 million damage (AP Laserphoto)

Apartment Fire 'Suspicious'

DALLAS (AP) — Fire of a "suspicious origin" swept through a wood-shingled Dallas apartment complex early Sunday, destroying three buildings while 100 firefighters battled the blaze.

There were no immediate reports of injuries.

Capt. Levi Whitlow of the fire department's arson investigation section said firefighters worked for more than an hour before bringing the blaze under control.

Fire Battalion Chief Travis Zuber estimated damages could reach $1.5 million.

Firefighters said three buildings were leveled and another three or four heavily damaged. An estimated 64 apartments were destroyed.

It could not immediately be determined how many families lived in the destroyed buildings.

A youth apparently spotted the blaze in a vacant apartment and went door to door to awaken residents while two women called authorities.

Whitlow said it was too early to determine the cause of the blaze, but called it of "suspicious origin."

Whitlow said the apartments had wood shingles on the roofs and at least two sides of the buildings were made of wood.

In August, a fire at a wood-shingled Houston complex destroyed 324 apartment units and left about 1,000 persons homeless. Houston's city council later banned the future construction of apartments with wood shingles.

"As we rolled up, the first thing I thought of was the Houston deal," said Zuber. "These wood-shingled roofs are like pouring gasoline on a fire."

UAW Begins Contract Ratification

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union today begins the long process of ratifying a tentative contract with General Motors Corp. that reportedly contains historic breakthroughs in labor-management relations.

Among those is a pioneering stock ownership program for GM's blue collar workers, the Detroit Free Press said Sunday.

The agreement was reached more than four hours before contracts covering 450,000 GM Workers expired at midnight Friday, averting a strike that both sides and several economists said could have deepened the nation's recession.

It will serve as a basis for upcoming bargaining to renew contracts for another 300,000 auto workers at Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. — although financially ailing Chrysler is expected to win money concessions from the union.

Quoting sources close to the UAW-GM negotiations, the Free Press said the free stock ownership plan will be identical to the one available now to GM Salaried workers.

The newspaper said it was unclear how many GM hourly employees could qualify for the program, which would place stock in trust where dividends would accumulate until the worker retires or leaves his job.

Top UAW officials would neither confirm nor deny the report, but they described the contract in glowing terms.

"It's quite historic in many, many areas of breakthrough," said UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone, the union's chief bargainer at GM. "Our membership will recognize that, appreciate that and they will ratify overwhelmingly."

The union released details of its new pension program — its No. 1 bargaining priority, but kept officially silent about other terms of the pact.

Retired workers will receive three increases in their basic pension rate every year of the three-year contract, with the amount of the increase depending on the years of service and date of retirement.

A worker now receiving a $500 monthly pension check would see that boosted to $690 at the end of three years. The contract provides 30-and-out pensions up to $935 per month after three years.

The pact was reported to continue the now-traditional 3 percent per year basic wage increase and to improve formulas for calculating cost of living increases. In three years, average hourly wages are expected to increase above $11.50.

Paid personal holidays, the union's method of moving slowly toward an average fourday work week, would be increased from 12 to 26.

There were significant noneconomic gains, reportedly including automatic recognition of UAW bargaining units at GM's new plants in Southern states.

GM reportedly received several concessions, including a hold-the-line posture on health care benefits, plans to reduce absenteeism and a diversion of part of the hour work force's cost of living money to pay for the pension improvements.

The pact will be explained Monday to the Union's 26-member International Executive Board and then be presented Tuesday to officers of local GM bargaining units.

Speaker Sure Kennedy Not A Candidate

NEW YORK (AP) — House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill Jr., a longtime friend of the Kennedy family, said Sunday he doesn't believe Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will run against President Carter for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I truly believe, as I'm talking here, that Jimmy Carter's the candidate for the presidency and that Ted Kennedy's not the candidate," O'Neill said on WOR Radio's "Newsbeat" program.

O'Neill, D-Mass., denied reports that Kennedy was moving closer to announcing his candidacy, saying, "I still have to take it on good faith that he is not a candidate."

He added that he had "strong feelings" that the Massachusetts senator would not run for the presidential nomination because of "the method in which I have seen the Kennedys operate."

Saying that Carter has "worked hard" to become president, O'Neill added that he did not think there was "any way President Carter will drop out of the race" for the Democratic nomination.

Nixon For Arms Sale

HONG KONG (UPI) — Former President Richard Nixon has hinted the United States should consider selling weapons to China and said he believed the Soviet Union would back down and pull its combat troops out of Cuba.

On the eve of his third visit to China, the former president, who will travel first to Canton by train, said that if the Soviet troops were not withdrawn, the likelihood of the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty being approved by Congress would be slim.

"As long as the Soviet Union has combat troops in Cuba, SALT doesn't have a snowball's chance in the Sahara," Nixon said. "Russia must do something. They're going to have to come down on the side of removing their troops."

Asked if he was aware of reports there might have been Soviet combat troops in Cuba when he was president, Nixon said aerial surveillance of Cuba at the time had not uncovered any troops.

"If they were there then we would have gotten them out," he said. "Carter has to do the same."

At an airport news conference upon arrival in Hong Kong Saturday, Nixon said he believed the United States should supply defensive arms to China to help deter Soviet aggression in the world.

"A strong China is central to survival of peace in this part of the world and peace in the whole world. It's the old balance of power," said Nixon.

"A stronger China is absolutely indispensable to maintain a balance of power and to maintain an uneasy peace in this area," the former president added. "Any action to help China develop its defensive capabilities would help peace."

"The United States has a special problem because of the SALT negotiations with the Soviets. We take the position we won't sell arms to China but we don't object if others do."

Nixon's first trip to Peking was in 1972 when he was president and the second was in February 1976 when the Chinese government sent an airplane for him as an official guest.

Animal Farm Evacuated, Homes Destroyed By California Fire

United Press International

Lions, elephants and other wild animals were evacuated from an animal farm and homes and vehicles were destroyed Sunday in fires that roared through thousands of acres of brush in several Southern California counties.

"It seems like the whole damn county's on fire," one San Diego County sheriff's deputy said.

The largest of three San Diego blazes consumed 9,000 acres of land in the Black Mountain area at the northern outskirts of the city of San Diego before it was contained.

"There could be flareups if the winds go," a state Division of Forestry spokeswoman said. There was no estimate for full control.

Several homes were evacuated and seven houses, valued at more than $100,000 each, one mobile home, 20 outbuilding and 20 automobiles were destroyed in the Rancho Santa Fe residential development. Animal control officers also removed 155 horses. There were no injuries.

An arsonist was blamed for the blaze, which at one point was consuming up to 500 acres per hour, and a $500 reward has been posted for information.

In the Antelope Valley in northern Los Angeles County, a blaze near Acton, dubbed the Crown Valley fire, threatened a wild animal ranch as it charred 3,700 acres.

Several dozen ranches scattered through the area were untouched by the flames, according to county Fire Department spokesman Dick Friend. About $10,000 damage was recorded in the loss of several outbuildings and a rare bird.

The blaze was 90 percent contained. A bulldozer operator was trapped by flames, but rolled up in a protective fire tent and was unharmed, Friend said.

Several wild cats, including lions, tigers and cheetahs used in the movie "Roar," were moved from the area briefly in cages and a few elephants were walked out. The animal refuge was not damaged.

Fires elsewhere

Blackened about 14,400 acres in the Angeles National Forest about 12 miles north of Altadena in Los Angeles County. Four tree plantations and a fishery were burned and the tiny mountain community of Hidden Springs and two large ranches were evacuated.

Threatened hundreds of new homes under construction west of Corona in Riverside County and forced the evacuation of more than 100 occupied houses.

Scorched 450 acres of brush at the western end of Highway 330 on the outskirts of San Bernardino and came within a half-mile of the Mountain Shadows housing community.

Charred more than 2,300 acres of land at the northern edge of the Camp Pendleton Marine base.

Navy Ship Rescues Viet Boat People

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The U.S. Navy frigate Rathburne rescued 39 Vietnamese "boat people," most of them children, from a small and overcrowded fishing boat in the South China Sea, a Navy spokesman reported Sunday.

The 7th Fleet spokesman at the Subic Naval Base north of here said 26 children and 13 adults were aboard the 24-foot boat. It was first spotted by a Navy patrol plane that guided the frigate to it Saturday, the spokesman said.

Pope's Face On Buttons

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — By the time Pope John Paul II arrives in the City of Brotherly Love Oct. 3, people will be able to wear him, mail him, or wave him.

Business is booming for the makers and sellers of papal souvenirs.

They will use the pope's face to adorn T-shirts, buttons, tie tacks, post cards, pennants, key rings, thermal cups, bumper stickers, balloons, plaques, posters and pendants.

Joseph A. Weiser of the wholesale novelty firm, Kim & Cioffi, has been forced to turn down orders for pennants and buttons, some for as many as 100, 000 of the items, because he can't keep up with the great demand.

"This is bigger than the World Series," he said.

Weiser said the cost of the souvenirs will be as high as people are willing to pay.

"Nuns and priests will be coming from all over," he said. "They'll want something to take home with them. They don't care how much it costs."

Particularly popular souvenirs so far are papal and Polish flags, big and small, that will be waved as a gesture of welcome as the pope's motorcade travels through the city.

"Normally we would sell maybe 10 a month. Now we're selling several thousand a week," said Brian O'Connor, who manages Humphrey's Flags.

The Rev. Joseph Graham, head of Institutional Procurement Services for the Philadelphia archdiocese, said he has received a host of calls from entrepreneurs who are requesting their wares be designated as "official" pope souvenirs.

Graham said the church will not "put our blessing on any of these."

Novelty store owner Charles Harris rejected a line of jewelry offered by a salesman because it was "in bad taste."

"I don't think the pope looks good on a tie tack," he said.

Tests Trigger Lawsuit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A San Francisco lawyer has obtained from the Army a detailed report of chemical warfare tests conducted in 1950 in which huge aerosol containers aboard a Navy ship were used to spray a bacteria-laden cloud over the Bay Area.

The lawyer, Edward Nevins III, is suing the Army for $11 million on grounds that his grandfather died from a rare infection that resulted from the tests almost 30 years ago.

Nevins was in Washington last week to contact Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., for help in obtaining from the Army "all records of civilian deaths which have resulted from the Army's open air testing of biological as well as chemical agents."

The declassified report he received concludes that the tests showed it "to be entirely feasible to attack a seaport city with a (bacteria) aerosol generated from a ship or other source located some distance offshore."

According to the report, at 1:30 p.m., Sept. 20, 1950, technicians aboard the USS ACM-13 opened four nozzles of large aerosol containers, loosing clouds of bacteria two miles off San Francisco.

For half an hour as the auxiliary mine laying ship steamed on a five-mile course, the spray continued with the bacteria drifting over San Francisco and the Bay and as far as 25 miles inland.

The maneuver was carried out on six successive days with as many as eight sprays in use.

"San Francisco was not as uniformly covered by the aerosol clouds as the East Bay cities 10 miles beyond," a classified report later noted. "The extreme coverage obtained from a comparatively small amount of material is impressively shown by (graphic) FE30, in which 117 square miles received a dosage of 100 particle minutes per liter and 30 square miles or nearly all of San Francisco received 500 particle minutes per liter."

Vincent Martin Young, who had been in a coma since an April 24 car accident, died at 11:55 p.m. Friday at Hoag Memorial Hospital, 1½ hours after the life support system that had been sustaining him was turned off.

A hospital spokeswoman said the young man showed some breathing efforts on his own, "but they weren't enough to sustain life."

His mother, Nina Young, said she

"In other words, nearly every one of the 800,000 people in San Francisco exposed to the cloud at normal breathing rate ... inhaled 5,000 or more fluorescense particles."

The particles of bacillus globiggi, and serratia marcescens were said to show a "complete lack of pathogenicity" or disease-causing capability.

Nevins made the Jan. 22, 1951, Army report available to United Press International.

The San Francisco tests were conducted under the direction of the Army Chemical Corps Biological Laboratories at Camp Detrick, Md., with the assistance of the U.S. Navy, and under authority by "secret letter" from the Chief of Naval Operations and the Army's Chief Chemical Officer.

Nevins said his grandfather, Irish-born Edward Nevins, was 65 at the time of the tests and had been hospitalized with prostate trouble. Released after an operation, he was brought back to the hospital in October of 1950 where doctors isolated bacteria later found to be the same as that used in the Army tests. Ten other patients had the same infections but survived. The older Nevins died Nov. 1, 1950.

The Army report said the organisms used in the tests "were selected from those available to simulate two of the pathogens (disease-causing agents) that might be used in actual biological warfare."

The report said, "It was determined that a successful (bacteriological warfare) attack on this area can be launched from the sea and that effective dosages can be produced over relatively large areas for distances up to 20 miles inland provided the attack is timed to coincide with suitable meteorological conditions."

Nevins said he is pursuing his case to try to find out if the Army has received any complaints or reports of other illness or fatalities ascribed to the tests.

Respirator Turned Off; Youth Dies

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — An 18-year-old high school football player who was kept alive on a life support system for five months died more than an hour after a judge's decision allowed the respirator to be turned off.

Vincent Martin Young, who had been in a coma since an April 24 car accident, died at 11:55 p.m. Friday at Hoag Memorial Hospital, 1½ hours after the life support system that had been sustaining him was turned off.

A hospital spokeswoman said the young man showed some breathing efforts on his own, "but they weren't enough to sustain life."

His mother, Nina Young, said she

"feels a sense of relief for Marty."

"His death is not pleasant for everyone," Mrs. Young said Saturday, "but our loss is his gain. So many doctors told us that he would have been a vegetable."

Doctors said Young, who played football while attending Westminster High School, was unable to think, breathe, hear or see on his own since the auto accident. The once 230-pound youth weighed 154 pounds when he died.

Mrs. Young filed a court petition to have her son removed from the life support systems and on Sept. 11, Orange County Superior Court Judge Bruce Sumner granted the request.

Unique 'Cotton Patch' Draws Acclaim For Concept, Stock

Unique in concept and selection, The Cotton Patch, in Idalou on Hwy. 62/82, affords a most inviting and appreciated shopping experience.

Check some of these highlights that already have gained acclaim for the Cotton Patch since its opening in early July:

- (1) Specializing in cotton, the ownership believes in cotton as a cool, comfortable, superior fiber and purchases accordingly, staying with quality lines and fashion.
- (2) A wide selection of sizes is stocked, with emphasis at this season on the casual look throughout.
- (3) The complete Elizabeth Arden cosmetic line is stocked, in fact The Cotton Patch is said to be one of only five small stores in the nation securing and offering this line!

(4) An Elizabeth Arden Skin Care Clinic, with the newest look in makeup for fall, is slated Oct. 9, at 7 p.m., and again Oct. 10, at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., at The Cotton Patch. This is your special opportunity, upon appointment, to actually use Elizabeth Arden products to create your own distinctive look. Call for reservations; the class fee is only $5. Call 892-3023, The Cotton Patch in Idalou.

Cosmetics by Elizabeth Arden always are in beautiful taste, and they enable skin care you can trust.

For personalized makeup and skin analysis, call for appointment, there is no obligation.

The Cotton Patch is owned and actively operated by Janis DeBusk.

"My husband is a cotton farmer, and I believe in this material; it is not only fashionable but is a renewable resource. Living, shopping and producing here in the midst of such a large cotton area, I felt it was high time for a store to really stock and promote cotton, and we buy as much cotton wear for the store as possible while staying with quality lines and fashions," Janis emphasizes.

Dresses, Jeans
Dresses are arriving with such respected labels as Non-Stop, Holiday Dresses, Halston loungewear and lingerie by Her Majesty.

There are 100 per cent cotton jeans in stock, all from "known" manufacturers.

Diet Centers' Weight Loss Program Enable 'Winning At The Losing Game'

"A sensible weight loss program that really works" and attention by "a counselor who cares" aren't these great reasons in themselves to depend upon the Diet Centers in Lubbock, now located in Security Park and on South Indiana, with another opening soon at a Boston address?

In introducing and explaining the Diet Center programs in Lubbock, let us first learn about the counselors heading each of the units. Each of the three counselors became head of her business after personal experience in Diet Center weight loss, becoming "sold" on the program through personal trial. What better proof could there be?

Deanie Alewine heads the 8302 Indiana Diet Center. A native West Texan, Deanie is more recently a 10-year Bryan (Tex.) resident where she attended Texas A & M.

Connie Dunlap is owner of the newest Diet Center, at B-10 Security Park, 3602 Slide Road. Connie is a longtime Lubbock resident, and began her Diet Center program under Deanie.

Sheryl Shields, from Idalou, tells of impending opening of her Diet Center on Oct. 1 at 4211 Boston Ave.

There's a Diet Center near you!
 (In citing their personal experiences with Diet Center, each of the three counselors relate a personal and measurable weight loss that has remained stabilized. In fact, they report that each probably has lost over 200 pounds during their lifetime in other programs and on their own, what with fad diets, crash diets, etc., but each prefer the Diet Center program because it has worked for them. Each have had special training at the Dietology Training School in Rexburg, Idaho, before opening centers as franchise owners. Each has graduated from the Rexburg school.

Program Defined
 No drugs or shots are involved in the very practical program that features (1) well-balanced diet, (2) individual counseling and (3) daily weigh-in.

A 12-week program most usually is utilized, with 17 to 25 pound loss normal within a six-week period.

Stabilization after weight loss is an important facet of the Diet Center program, it is emphasized.

Diet Centers in Lubbock are open five days a week; no signing of contracts is involved; it is a plan to "live with" pleasantly.

Open House
 To introduce the newest Diet Center, in Security Park, an Open House is slated

Sept. 27. Opened for one month, and very much in business at this time, the Open House nevertheless is slated to afford special opportunity for getting acquainted. On that day, one is invited to register, with awards including two 3-week programs free. (You don't have to be present to win.)

For Men, Women, Children
 Some may not realize that Diet Center programs are set up to meet each individual's needs, and that these can be adjusted for folks with special health problems. Counseling is afforded men and children, as well as women.

Finally, and in brief, it is explained that the Diet Center program calls for a well-balanced diet, and the clients will not lose the essential fat on the body, but only the extra adipose fat, the dieters will have all the nutrients necessary to maintain good health while losing adipose fat from the body. At a very, modest price, one may avail herself or himself of daily counseling during the weight loss period, counseling during stabilization, and further aid during later maintenance for a lifetime of weight control.

"With the aid of one of the Diet Centers in Lubbock, you can feel well and if you persevere, in no time at all you'll begin to look as great as you feel!"

Maxey Home Center Announces Benjamin Moore Line Featured

Maxey Home Improvement Center, 120 N. University Ave., is proud to announce that it now features a most representative line of famous Benjamin Moore paints.

Whatever the painting need, for inside, outside, enamels, exterior stains, varnishes, etc., Maxey feels it has a really outstanding offering.

With the large stock of paints now presented, Maxey emphasizes that whatever the color, it can be secured now; custom mixing enables over 1,000 colors.

(In closing out its former paint lines to make ready for the featured Benjamin Moore labels, drastically marked-down prices were posted on the other brands. There still is a small supply of this older stock, and if one is fortunate enough to find the type and color desired, exceptionally low prices are arranged.)

For new beauty, luster, resistance to blistering, alkali and fumes, Benjamin Moore comes through. Whether selection is from MoorGlo latex house and trim paint, MooreGard vinyl-acrylic, exterior paint for wood siding, trim, shakes and shingles, even unglazed brick and asbestos shingles, stucco, cement and cinder blocks, or from Moore's Impervo high-gloss enamel, with its bold, bright, durable, wet-look finish, one cannot go wrong with Benjamin Moore.

"We hope you'll come in real soon to see the paint department now featuring Benjamin Moore paints," is the invitation from the management and staff at Maxey Home Improvement Center, a ready source for supplies for both handyman and professional.

For remodeling, home improvement, new construction and all, Maxey Home Improvement Center seems to be "designed specifically for your needs," stocking those often hard-to-find items as well as those others rightfully expect-

FOR FINEST PAINTS — Ben Romo of Maxey Home Improvement Center calls attention to the Benjamin Moore paint new at the firm but long recognized for its quality features.

FOR PLEASURE AND ACHIEVEMENT, WITH CERAMICS — Ceramic Country owner Bonnie Hudon is shown standing, with a group busily engaged in ceramic crafts. Included are Mrs. C.M. Welch, Linda Kemp, Juanita Welch and Tia Hudon

Ceramic Country Sets Special Bonus Offer During 'Grand Opening Month'

"Ceramic Country," new at 2705-A 26th St., seems to be about the most appropriately-named business one could imagine!

With everything in the attractive shop related to ceramics, ease in shopping, selection and craftwork is most noticeable.

Even with Grand Opening underway this month, equally exciting are the classes made available.

For Class Registration

Call and register now for beginning classes in ceramics... there is no previous experience necessary, and there are no age limits! It could be a whole new experience in pleasure, achievement and even profit.

Specials

During the Grand Opening (throughout September) there is a 10 per cent discount in price on all greenware.

Owner (and founder) Bonnie Hudon has made personal buying trips to eastern states and has secured really distinctive pieces great for gifts and as decor items within one's own home.

Large ceramic items are featured, and it is wisely suggested that one commence now in planning ceramic gifts for Christmas. The classes can be a big advantage.

Greenware, bisque, firing and unfinished and finished wares all are available at Ceramic Country, phone 792-7502. No plaster is stocked.

A kiln has been installed, and custom firing is available, even though the piece might not have been purchased at this store.

However, all tools and supplies necessary for ceramic achievement are stocked at Ceramic Country.

There is plenty of room for classroom work, and the "know how" of Bonnie Hudon in the art can be of key consideration.

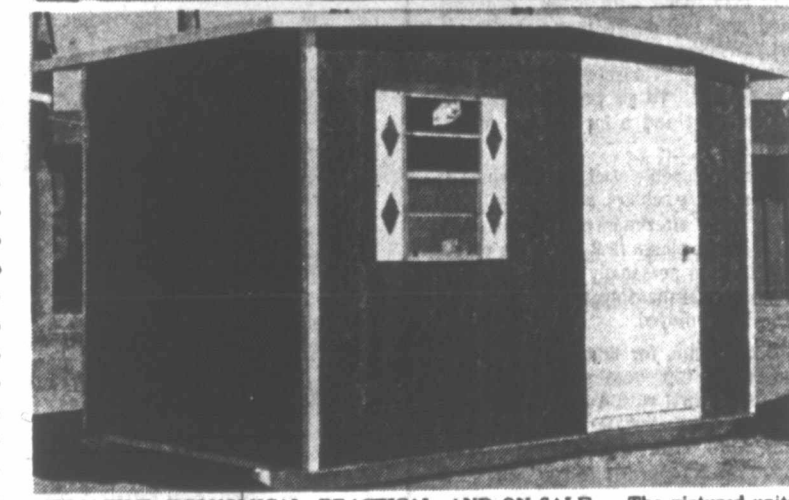

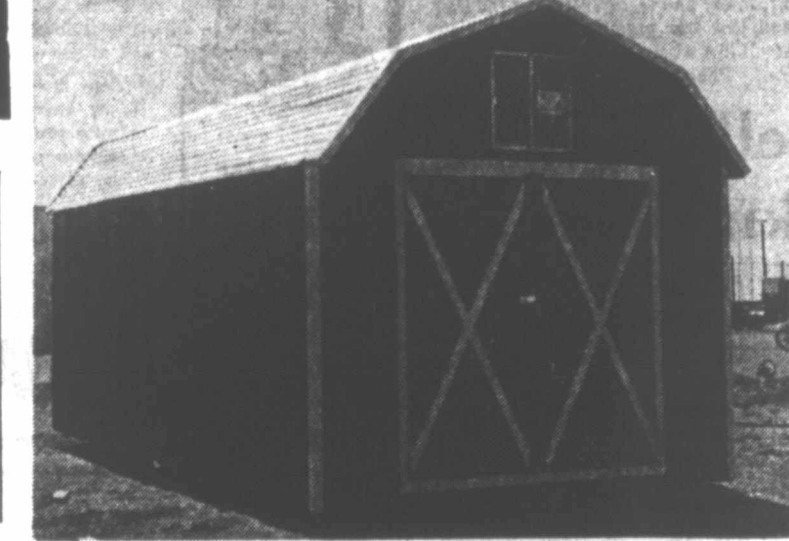

A lifelong Lubbock resident, Bonnie Hudon before opening the shop pursued ceramics as a hobby. As time passed, she really got the "ceramic fever" and consequently opened her own shop and has planned classes and all to be a real help and pleasure to others, too.

Hours at Ceramic Country, 2705-A 26th St., are 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays (with extended 6-9 hours Friday), and from 9 until 12 noon on Saturdays.

For new achievement this fall, for holiday preparation, for gifting needs, let Ceramic Country work with you! Remember, call now for details regarding classes; you'll surely want to be included.

Dura' Bilt's Week-Long Sale Affords Special Opportunity

It is a "Pre-Fair Special" that begins today, Monday, at Dura' Bilt Portable Buildings, 6415 Ave. H, just south of the Tahoka traffic circle in south Lubbock, phone 745-2891!

VERSATILE, ECONOMICAL, PRACTICAL, AND ON SALE — The pictured units are among those on the Dura' Bilt lot marked this week at reduced prices.

Every building on the big lot is marked at 10 per cent off throughout this week, through Saturday, Sept. 22.

With already-low prices (tomorrow's buildings at yesterday's prices), this week-long sale enables extraordinary savings.

Another bonus feature is that exceptional selection opportunity is enabled, with over 40 units in stock, from size 6 x 8 to 12 x 24.

So... check the selection, compare the price, note the quality and versatility, and Dura' Bilt surely will be your choice. Early attention is advised to be sure of full selection while at sale pricing.

Locally Built For Savings

"Dura' Bilt Portable Buildings are manufactured locally to better serve you. Whether the need is an office, barn, garage, storage, warehouse, hobby shop, mobile-home add-on or a field office, as example, Dura' Bilt can be the economical and practical answer."

Features include pre-finish masonite exterior that requires no paint or maintenance; it is of best quality and available in various colors.

Strong steel roofing guards against hail.

Exterior grade plywood flooring is utilized, with floor joists on 16-inch center to assure further quality.

Baked-on enamel aluminum trim in lovely colors is another feature.

And rubber closures in the eaves to guard against dust.

Options Available

On the finished building, Dura' Bilt offers 3 1/2-inch rockwool insulation and lovely wood paneling. Many "extras" can be added to assure a building that meets your needs and preferences.

Bank financing is available. Dura' Bilt also provides delivery of the units.

Pick Up Pals' Multiple Stock Items, Service Meeting Need

For those interested in new utility and added functionally-attractive accessories for the pickup, Pick Up Pals comes through, but strong!

Supplying pickup needs exclusively, Pick Up Pals has a really "sit up and take notice" stock at its Broadway & Ave. Q location in Lubbock.

Functional and protective accessories for vans, pickups and 4x4's not only are in the attractive showroom there but also will be shown at the firm's booth at the South Plains Fair, beginning Sept. 22 and located in Space K, across from the Commercial Exhibit building at the fairgrounds.

Installation is available, of course, on anything Pick Up Pals sells.

Suggestions Given

Among these items are Pick Up Pals' grill guards (three kinds of guards: plain steel, chrome steel and aluminum); Aero Shield bug deflectors; Extruded and Tread-Brite running boards for "everything on the road"; Line-a-Beds (the best thing that ever happened to a pickup truck, protecting and keeping the bed looking like new); Tool and utility boxes by DE, with low, streamlined design, covered continuous hinges, of heavy duty steel construction and with other benefits; Side rails, sun shades, chrome show grills, grill guards, rope hooks, spare tire locks, and more.

There are lowered sun shields for both the mini size and standard trucks.

Bed Liners to fit El Camino units are due to arrive any day. Liners to fit all pickups are now in stock.

Rapid Acceptance

Small wonder we have heard so many favorable comments about Pick Up Pals, the relatively new but well established firm at Broadway & Q.

Opened early this year, this home-owned and home-operated business is said to be Lubbock's only dealer devoted strictly to pickup accessories. Weldon Davis is store manager.

More about the popular Line-a-Bed:

Line-a-Bed is the new liner protector for truck beds, vacuum molded as a tight-fitting insert and made from a high-density, extra high molecular weight polyethylene base material. Made of the same high-impact materials that go into crash helmets and football helmets, it is almost impossible to break or stain.

One solid piece covers and protects a pickup floor, headwell, sides and side rails. The Line-a-Bed is often used for auto parts delivery because of its durability!

What a way to protect one's pickup investment! And Pick Up Pals, at Broadway & Q stocks units to fit all import and all U.S. pickups. No long delays to wait for a unit; installation, when desired, most usually can be the same day ordered.

"Anyone who uses a pickup should consider a Line-a-Bed, whether the truck is for business, pleasure or combination. It is one of the few options available that returns your investment."

"If you use the truck for business, the revolutionary liner will return its cost in additional trade-in value, plus you still have the Line-a-Bed to put in your next truck," manager Weldon Davis points out.

"And if the truck is used as a recreational vehicle with a topper as cover, it reduces the danger of noxious fumes from fuel tanks and exhaust, as well as keeping out dust and moisture."

Running Boards

The running boards should come in for equal attention, with such features as construction of brite tread aluminum with skid-resistant surface, appearance of chrome-like finish but one that will not rust or peel, enabling easy entry and protecting the truck body from rock chips and mud splattering. (Front mud guards are included as are mounting brackets and hardware.)

Auxiliary Lighting

Or maybe the need is a bumper; Pick Up Pals keep a full line of bumpers; and a complete line of auxiliary lighting by Hella from Europe.

Grill guards are stocked and recommended, standing up to abuse and still looking good! Made of extruded aluminum, they have more elasticity than most metals and have tensile yield of 46,000 pounds per square inch.

Let Davis and his efficient staff open a whole new area of enjoyment of your pickup, slicking it up, protecting your investment and enabling new convenience... all at a cost likely less than imagined.

"Come by; you can't miss us at Broadway and Q, or visit us at the Fair, and look our products over; we think you'll like what you discover at Pick Up Pals." Phone 747-7099.

Auto Upholstery & Trim Tells Huge Stock Materials, Fine Workmanship

For the finest in all types of auto upholstery and tailor-made seat covers, Auto Upholstery & Trim Co., 1910 Ave. Q, phone 745-6623, invites consideration and comparison.

Said to be unique in the trim business, everything is guaranteed for one year!

Owned by Steve and Elizabeth Varga, the Auto Upholstery & Trim Co. is actively managed by Mrs. Varga. She emphasizes that only finest in upholstery installations are the rule there, with value foremost.

Large Material Stock

Actually, "the largest stock of auto upholstery material in town" is the claim by the firm, and they take pleasure in showing the patterns and materials available, one seemingly "just for you." And there is carpeting and vinyl top material too.

Expert installation is assured. Steve and Elizabeth just would have it no other way.

Workmanship Exceels

Owning related businesses, the Auto Care Center and Mr. T-Top, these at 2607 Texas Ave., Varga performs quite a service for the motoring public. He points out that quality is more important than ever, what with today's economy and the desire to "make things last." Whether for complete upholstery jobs, T-Tops, windshields, for sunroof repairs, etc., Varga prides in factory-type product and a factory-type job to satisfy.

CARPET DISCOUNTS ASSURED — Carpet City owner Howard Darwin, right, is shown with staffmember Gary Oliver, both of whom know their carpet and make it available at 'about half what you would expect to pay'.

Carpet City Arranges Added Savings In Simplified Sale Ending Wednesday

Already gaining reputation as a carpet source where one can consistently save, Carpet City at 2257 34th St. is conducting an unusual sale through Wednesday of this week.

For these three last days of the sale, all carpet in the big store has been divided, with one group of rolls on the east side, and another group on the west. And . . . everything on the east side is marked at $4.99 per yard, with the west tier a still modest $5.99!

What better arrangement could be made? How much simpler can a firm make shopping and selection for its customers?

Discount Throughout

Carpet City, a discount store featuring special purchases (factory irregulars and discontinued quantities) was opened June 1 by Howard Darwin, owner, who went into the carpet business after '77 graduation from Texas Tech. Formerly of Brownfield, Howard knows the area and its residents, appreciating their recognition of quality and value.

Special Opportunity

There presently is some very good kitchen carpet in stock, with some that normally sells for $9.95 going at $4.99 for what is left on the rolls. (Carpet City usually receives full rolls from the suppliers, but is glad to cut a roll for particular needs.)

Quantity buying from suppliers is one of the factors enabling the firm's discount policy, Darwin explains.

The firm has its own installation crew, with installations guaranteed for a full year. Installation usually can be made within a day or two of purchase. (Prices quoted in Carpet City advertising are for carpet only.)

Good Choice

A good color and material selection is maintained, and Darwin says, in explaining prices to be expected, that customers can secure carpet there at about one-half suggested retail.

Financing is available, and both Master Charge and Visa are honored.

Carpet City, 2257 34th St., phone 747-9027, is open six days a week, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 9 until 1 on Saturdays.

The current sale would be a very good time to learn firsthand of the type store Howard Darwin has provided in Carpet City.

(A special room has been arranged for sample showing of finest carpet available on custom order. Yes, Carpet City can order just about anything one could possibly desire in carpet, up to the most expensive available. Carpet City is in business to serve "you," whatever your preference, but always assuring quality and savings.)

Hufstedler GMC Truck Firm Tells Limited-Time Situation

There's no doubt about it: the current model year and the big selection at Hufstedler GMC Truck Co., 1802 Erskine Road in Lubbock, presents some opportunities that never will be duplicated.

There are a few Jimmys and pickups still in stock, before model change, that have the 400 cu. in. V8 motors and are full-time 4-wheel-drive units.

(Neither the 400 engine or the full-time 4-wheel-drive will be available in '80 models, the local dealership reveals.)

More about these units in stock:

They have automatic transmissions; most of the Jimmys have 33-gallon gasoline tanks; and the pickups (1/2-ton short wheelbase) have auxiliary tanks to permit extra long distance between refueling stops.

All full-time 4-wheel drive controls are available to the driver from inside the cab. There is no need to shift into or out of 4-wheel-drive or to get out to lock or unlock front free-wheeling hubs.

Haven't you wanted a Jimmy with its 4-wheel' adventure, for a long time? Then, now is the time to make that dream a reality. For 4-wheeling touring or trailering, Jimmy offers dependable performance, toughness, comfort and good looks that lasts!

Check the Features

Jimmy, a vehicle to be trusted, has such standard and available features as:

- A chassis with tough side rails and cross members.
- Drop center frame for low body mounting, providing an entry height under 23 inches while maintaining a 74inch ground clearance.
- Tough transfer case.
- Long, wide, energy-absorbing front leaf and two-stage rear leaf springs for steady, firm support; standard 25-mm front and rear shock absorbers, rear shocks staggered to help control the effect of brake thrust and power hop.
- Brake system computer matched to GVW rating, front disc brakes with wear sensor and finned rear brake drums for efficient cooling.
- Exhaust system compression hangers compensate for expansion and movement.
- Standard heavy-duty, 1.25-inch-diameter front stabilizer bar.
- Power steering that is standard.
- And more!

Such as the luxury in Jimmy's interior!

And don't forget the exceptional combination that goes out with the model change — the 400 cu. in. V8 full-time 4-wheel drive units. Get one now; Hufstedler makes it possible . . . at 1802 Erskine Road in Lubbock.

FOR DELIGHTFUL DINING — Whether in Ol' Doc Chumley's or at poolside, both at the Hilton Inn in Lubbock, new experiences in selection from an international cuisine are the rule, never the exception.

Elegant Menu, Decor, Service Highlight Hilton Inn Dining

On ballgame occasions, when entertaining out-of-town guests, when just appreciating finest dining for yourself and family, the Hilton Inn of Lubbock invites you to Ol' Doc Chumley's emporium of tonics, elixirs, libations and palatable delights!

A new and elegant menu is presented, under direction of a new chef with international capabilities.

Ol' Doc Chumley's Restaurant, in the Hilton Inn at 505 Ave. Q, phone 747-0171, is open daily from 5 to 10 p.m.

And there is the Garden Pub bar with entertainment and free hors d'oeuvres.

The menu is truly exciting at the Hilton Inn, and General Manager Alain Pelletier prides in the delicious meals there, noting that testimonials from satisfied customers are available upon request.

Aside from the great food, only top liquors are made available.

Appetizers, Texas treats, salads, wines, Doc's palatable platters, the great steak menu, desserts and beverages... all invite and merit your pleasure and applause at the Hilton Inn!

All meals at Ol' Doc Chumley's are served with Doc's salad bar, a choice of potato and the vegetable of the day.

Menu To Please

The platters include such popular offerings as U.S. top sirloin steak with two giant broiled shrimp, cooked to one's taste; the shrimp Italiane; double pork chop broiled; sauteed trout almandine, Texas pepper steak, Chumley's beef skewer and seafood Newburg.

In the steak menu, select from Texas-size T-bone, Kansas City strip, filet mignon and U.S. top choice sirloin.

Texas Treats include the Chumley Burger (half pound chopped beef patty on a sesame seed bun with steak fries, even with cheese when desired; the chicken breast cordon bleu, Italian Bird and Chicken Chumley.

Fine Wines

One's favorite quality wines are available, including Cabernet Sauvignon, Gamay Beaujolais, Blue Nun Liebfraumilch, Pinot Chardonnay, Mateus, French Mumm's champagne and Korbel-U.S., most popular domestic champagne.

The nighttime menu is most unique, with the suggestion on the cover:

"Take these contents in one or more generous portions. Prescribe your own cure and, for best results, repeat dosage as often as possible. For internal use only. Spread the good news to your neighbors!"

(And once you've tried Ol' Doc Chumley's at the Hilton Inn, you, too, will spread the good news... it is a place and an experience worth recommending.)

Professional, Yet Friendly, Service Staff Excels At Don Crow Chevrolet

The service advisor is the first person one meets when calling with problems at the Service Department at Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., Slide Road at South Loop 289.

And it is the friendliness, interest and product/technical knowledge of that advisor that makes a first... and lasting impression in most instances.

This is one of the reasons that Don Crow Chevrolet is very careful in its choice of service advisors.

It would seem that Don Crow Chevrolet thoroughly understands the meaning of "service" in its Service Department, with the customer considered in every instance. From service manager Jess Nichols to the service advisors and technicians, the entire staff takes pride in the type service rendered.

All service work is guaranteed 90 days or 4,000 miles on all General Motors parts and accessories.

Fourteen technicians and three service advisors are on the job.

Areas of service within the department include new car make ready, used car make ready, quick service, heavy line service and the paint and body department.

Service advisors include Mrs. Jess (Eve) Nichols; Ron Scott and Andy Holt. Both Holt and Scott have completed GM training as service advisors; and Mrs. Nichols is certified from the Cadillac Motor Division.

The advisors, together with technicians, mark both practical experience and special training among their qualifications. Several are certified as master technicians.

Service Manager Nichols, a 25-year Lubbock resident, recently has returned to Don Crow Chevrolet after a short absence (he was formerly with the firm for 7½ years). He is especially well known in the Lubbock and Brownfield areas.

"Mini Maid" service is one of the benefits at Don Crow Chevrolet, with a Mini Maid picking up and delivering service customers as need is presented.

Rental cars are available, also at the firm.

The Service Department of Don

Crow Chevrolet is open five days weekly, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., with 7:30 opening of the service drive to enable one "getting to work on time" when leaving the vehicle at Don Crow Chevrolet "where the customer signs our paychecks."

SERVICE SATISFACTION BEGINS HERE — Service advisors at Don Crow Chevrolet not only merit confidence but they are enthusiastic exponents of the Don Crow policy of friendliness and consideration in all customer relations. Pictured are Andy Holt and Ron Scott, with Eve Nichols within the vehicle at the firm's service entry.

Good Eating At Modest Prices Marks Russell Chicken & Fish

EASY TO FIND; EASY TO APPRECIATE

"Have you discovered Russell's Chicken and Fish, for dining and carry-out service, at 50th & Kenbosha in Lubbock?"

"And have you discovered that the menu is more elaborate than likely you would expect from a business of this type?"

Yes, there are all the standard delicious chicken and fish orders... and fried okra, hush puppies, squash, steak fingers, chicken bits, chicken fried steak, and more!

Russell's Chicken and Fish, just east of Woolco on 50th Street, will have been open two years in December. The growing and popular establishment is owned and actively operated by Russell Gillentine.

Gillentine, a longtime Lubbock resident, is widely known by the eating public as he was with a Lubbock family center for 17 years and was manager of the fountain and delicatessen there.

Open Every Day

Russell knows food and food goodness, combining all this with modest pricing and best in service at his own Russell's Chicken and Fish that is open from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. seven days a week.

"Let us prepare your picnic or party foods from our menu; then you can pick them up here and save the difference," is Russell's invitation in outlining catering service also available at his firm offering both dining room (67 seating capacity) and carry-out service.

Prices Emphasized

Examples of the affordable prices at Russell's include:

Russell's Special Chicken Dinner, 1/4 chicken white ($2.20) or dark ($2.10) including french fries, crispy puffs, cole slaw and honey;

A regular order of three chicken pieces (choice of the firm) is $2.20 including puffs and honey;

And there is a Fisherman's platter of Texas style fish, shrimp, oysters, scallops, french fries, cole slaw and hush puppies, at just $2.99.

Shrimp & Fries (deep fried portions of shrimp) french fries, puffs, seafood sauce and honey, is a modest $2.40.

And there are lots of other golden fried chicken orders and delicious seafood orders, even child's plates at special savings.

For Fastest Service

For quick takeout service or to have your order ready when you arrive, simply phone 799-8855.

"We want to prove at Russell's Chicken and Fish, 50th Street and Kenbosha, that we are worthy of your trade when good eating, at modest pricing, is a consideration. May we have the opportunity of serving you soon? We know you'll like what you find... at Russell's Chicken and Fish."

Davis R.V. Service Center Tells Avion Factory Offer Spelling Big Discounts

"This can be a memorable season for you... the time that you purchase that long-desired Avion travel trailer from Davis R.V. Service Center in Lubbock!"

"You see, there is a current factory offering of a full $1,200 discount on Avion 28 ft., 30 ft., and 32 ft. models!"

What a saving... and made available at Davis R.V. on the above-listed sizes.

"Trailer people recognize that Avion is the finest travel trailer built in America," the Davis staff emphasizes. "Step inside and you'll see for yourself. That sleek aerodynamic styling contains a unique world of luxury and livability. Avion's exclusive suspension, its painstaking construction, its technical excellence... all make it one of a kind."

Avion has been selected as the official travel trailer of the 1980 Olympic Winter Games to be staged in Lake Placid, N.Y., in February 1980.

"Avion was chosen because of its national popularity and its affiliation with family fun during all seasons of the year."

See the several models of Avion now at Davis R.V. Service Center, 220 Paris Ave., where all '79 models are priced to clear.

Davis has other good buys throughout its stock, including used units such as a 24 ft. Holiday Rambler, loaded with new carpet, upholstery and curtains.

Accessories, Service

Aside from the recreational vehicle (RV) units, Davis stocks the needed accessories that make for vacation and trip comfort and convenience.

"See us for your needs in jacks, in equalizer hitches, etc."

Protected Storage

Davis services any make or brand of recreational vehicle in its big quarters, and it is wisely suggested that the units be checked after summer travel, kept in top condition for ready use as trip opportunities avail themselves throughout the year."

Business & Industrial Review

FOR FOOTBALL SEASON, FOR FUN GALORE — Boys' football uniforms, with low Woolco pricing, are now at Woolco and are one of the more popular offerings there. Just in time for youth football there are helmets, jersey, pants and shoulder pad sets at $15.99, made by Hitch. Also there are footballs for the beginner to the pro, made by Winfield ($6.99), by Rawlings ($7.99) and Wilson ($19.99). These footballs are not designed for competitive sport use, however, it is emphasized.

DISCO ROLLER SKATES — These really quality skates are stocked by Woolco and are perfect for the expert roller skater. Manufactured by Roller Derby, regularly priced $49.99, these skates can be used for trick skating or just for fun. And note the materials and workmanship: the suede hand-cut uppers with nylon side panels and the solid urethane wheels. There is a size to fit, with women's sizes 4-10 stocked, and men's sizes 5 through 12.

Conference Headed Downhill?

LONDON (UPI) — The Zimbabwe Rhodesia conference headed Sunday towards a possible early breakdown with the Salisbury government delegation of Bishop Abel Muzorewa and the Patriotic Front guerrillas both rejecting any concessions on future control over the new state.

A split also appeared to have opened up inside the Salisbury delegation between Muzorewa and former Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith over maintaining special safeguards for the country's 220,000 white minority in a future independent Zimbabwe.

In a radio message broadcast to the people of Zimbabwe Rhodesia late Saturday, Muzorewa said he was willing to see so-called "entrenched clauses" in the present constitution dropped. These were designed to safeguard the position of the whites and Smith said he still considered them essential.

In his broadcast, Muzorewa also rejected handing over control of the security forces to the guerrillas, as they have demanded.

"No country in the world," he said, "can accept the dismantling of their security services and the forces that maintain law and good order."

Muzorewa indicated earlier this week he would return home by next weekend, with or without agreement on a new constitution.

But Robert Mugabe, Marxist leader of one faction of the guerrillas, said in a British Broadcasting Corp. radio interview he is not interested whether the bishop pulls out.

"We are not negotiating with Muzorewa and Smith but with the British government," Mugabe said.

The conference begins debate Monday on a new constitution with three widely differing drafts on the table.

A British draft proposes stripping the whites of most of their privileged position but ensures them a limited number of seats in parliament for 10 years.

The Salisbury government has offered the present Zimbabwe Rhodesian constitution as a basis for discussion, giving the whites a guaranteed 28 per cent of parliamentary seats, a veto over constitutional changes and control over the defense forces, police, civil service and judiciary.

The Patriotic Front's draft gives the whites no special rights. It calls for an executive president with control over the armed forces, police and administration.

Richest Jewel Auction Slated Thursday

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The late Nizam of Hyderabad was never known for his generosity. He never offered cigarettes to his palace guests, sponging smokes off visitors himself instead.

But Nizam Sir Mir Osman Ali Khan VII considered one of the world's wealthiest men, left a fabulous collection of diamonds, emeralds and other gems to his heirs when he died in 1967. A part of it, 37 pieces, is scheduled to be sold Thursday at what may be the richest jewel auction ever held.

The prized item is a leather box, once the property of Czar Nicholas II of Russia, that holds 22 large emeralds with a total weight of 414 carats. It has been valued at more than $8.5 million. Another piece is a gold pendant containing a 200-carat emerald, a central diamond weighing 12 carats and eight side diamonds totaling 40 carats.

The auction is to be conducted at the Indian Supreme Court in New Delhi while the jewels, to be sold as one lot, remain safely locked in a tightly guarded bank vault in Bombay, across the country.

Sotheby's, the London auction house, calls it the most expensive auction of its kind because potential buyers are required to deposit the minimum bid of $26.3 million in advance. Monday is the deadline and two men already have put up the money — Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos and Dubai banker Abdul Wahab Al-Ghadhri.

The court-appointed auctioneer, Finance Ministry official Ram N. Malhotra, said the jewels were being sold because some of the Nizam's heirs had run into financial difficulties. The Supreme Court took over the sale after voiding the results of an auction held last year following suits by beneficiaries who accused the trust of mishandling the sale.

Proceeds of Thursday's auction will most likely be invested in government rural development bonds that will pay the beneficiaries about 7.5 percent in interest, Malhotra said in an interview.

The Nizam's main jewel collection consisted of 107 pieces, of which about one-third are being auctioned off Thursday. Surprisingly little is known about the origins of most of the collection.

"The Nizam played his cards very close to his chest, so there's little known about the jewelry," said Malhotra. "These gems were collected by his aides on a very confidential basis. I'm surprised there are so few records on them."

With more care, the eccentric Moslem monarch who ruled a predominantly Hindu state the size of France until 1947, could have left his heirs more wealth.

According to one account, he rolled huge amounts of paper money in newspapers and tossed them in corners of the palace basement where rats nibbled away millions of dollars' worth.

LEADER ENDS VISIT
MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin ended a six-day visit to Ethiopia Sunday, the Soviet news agency Tass reported. He was seen off at the airport in the capital of Addis Ababa by Ethiopian leader Mengistu Haile Mariam.

Smaller Families Sought

China Institutes Certificate For Control

PEKING (AP) — A Chinese family's most prized possession soon may be the "one-child certificate." That scrap of paper will attest to their patriotism and entitle them to cheaper medical care, free education, better housing and bigger pensions.

The families that don't have a certificate will find themselves looked down upon by their neighbors and paying more to live in this nation burdened with more than 900 million people.

Family planning is China's No. 1 social priority and people are reminded daily that a big population stands in the way of modernization and everyone's happiness. Zero population growth is the goal for the year 2000.

China is using the carrot-and-stick approach to population control and couples who practice birth control will be rewarded while those who don't will be monetarily punished.

The newspaper Shanghai Liberation Daily recently published the family planning regulations for Shanghai, which with a population of 10.8 million is the world's fourth largest urban area after greater New York, Mexico City and Tokyo. The rules were passed Aug. 22 by the Shanghai Revolutionary Committee — the city council.

A couple that has one child will receive benefits, a couple that has two will receive none, a couple that has three will be penalized.

Article 5 says: "One-child couples will be rewarded."

"A one-child certificate will be given to one-child couples who have been sterilized and to couples who promise not to have a second child for four years."

One-child certificate holders get monthly subsidies of 4 yuan, the equivalent of $2.80 for their child until it reaches age 16. Their child gets priorities in admissions to nursery school and kindergarten. The care is free. Tuition is free for the child through middle school.

When government employees and workers retire, if they have only one child they will get an additional pension of five percent of their wages. Commune members will get an additional welfare allowance.

Couples who have been sterilized receive a payment of 20 yuan, about $13. Leaves for sterilizing will not affect wages, work points and rewards.

Government employees and workers who have no children will get an additional 10 percent of their wages when they retire. Commune members with no children will receive additional welfare benefits.

A one-child family will be treated like a two-child family and receive more space in housing allocations. In the countryside one-child families will be assigned as much land as two-child families.

Couples who have more than one child will be penalized, however, with "more children fee."

Couples who have a third child will be fined 10 percent of their wages after March 1, 1980, until their third child is 16. Peasants who have a third child will be fined 10 percent of their annual work points until their children reach 16.

In Shanghai, as everywhere in China, the principles are the same: late marriage, late child-bearing and fewer children. The minimum marriage age in rural areas is 25 for men and 23 for women and in the cities 27 for men and 25 for women.

Rural areas have a tradition of large families and China has acknowledged the greatest problem with birth control lies in the countryside.

College and technical school students are not permitted to marry — those who insist will be expelled.

Apprentices are not permitted to marry — those who insist will be fired.

In 1949 China had 540 million people. Today it has more than 900 million. About 600 million have been born since then — three times the population of the United States, which is at or near zero population growth.

It is estimated that to raise a child to age 16 in rural areas costs the equivalent of about $1,400; in small and middle-size cities, about $3,120, and in big cities, about $4,480.

Registration Denied Nurse Candidates

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Candidates for registered nurse in New York are being rejected because advance copies of a test given last July may have been offered for sale in four states for fees of up to $2,000.

"Not only will we not accept the test results for the exam given in New York state, but we will not accept results from candidates who took the exam in other states," Arnold Bloom of the state Education Department said Saturday.

The test, taken by about 100,000 persons nationally, each of whom paid a $60 examination fee, is given twice a year. It has not been invalidated nationally.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q: My wife and I have about 1,150 shares of a stock which pays dividends of a $5 a share per year. We are being urged by a representative of a "financial services" organization to consider an "option" mutual fund.

A: Your name was given to them by a dear friend of the family, a widow, who has sold all her stock and reinvested the $40,250 proceeds in the option fund. They have guaranteed her $460 a month — which she believes is a 12 percent return. She also says this has solved all her estate planning problems.

Q: We have made no commitment, as yet. What is your advice? We are well over the hill in age and are currently holding on the five-yard line.

A: Then your game plan should emphasize ball control. Don't take a chance of losing. The stock you named in your letter is a winner — one of the bluest of the blue chips. Sit on it.

You would take on a good deal of extra risk by switching into a mutual fund which writes options. There's nothing wrong with funds of that type, for many people. Option funds provide a way to play the options market at lower risks than most option play.

But your stock has a current yield — dividend divided by market price — of 8.8 per cent. The dividend yield on the option fund your friend went into has been running about 3.1 percent. Even that isn't "guaranteed." Mutual fund dividends can change, from year to year, up or down.

The numbers that widow talks about are really suspect. At $460 a month, she would get $5,520 a year. On $40,250, that works out to 13.7 percent. No mutual fund produces that kind of a yield.

It could be that your friend has signed up for a "withdrawal plan" — with part of the money in each check she receives coming from her dividends and the rest coming from the redemption of some of her mutual fund shares.

A withdrawal plan can be a sensible thing — unless the rate of withdrawal is set too high. And 13.7 percent is much too high a rate, in almost any circumstance. After not too many years, she won't have anything left in that fund. That would be an unhappy way to "solve her estate planning problems."

Q: I have a number of Series E U.S. Savings Bonds, which I plan to exchange for the new Series HH bonds when the HHs are available in 1980. Can I name a friend as a co-owner of the HHs? Or, do I have to name a relative? Or can I name just myself?

A: You can name anyone you like as the co-owner of the bonds. The co-owner doesn't have to be a relative.

Because HH bonds — like the H bonds now being issued — pay interest by check every six months, the interest checks will be issued payable to the owner or co-owners.

If you name someone as a co-owner, both your name and that person's name will appear on the interest checks. Both you and the co-owner will have to endorse the interest checks. That might cause complications, unless he or she is a very good friend.

Q: When I retired earlier this year, I received certificates for 900 shares of stock in the company for which I worked, which I had acquired through the company's stock bonus plan. I want to hold the shares for the dividends.

A: The company says I won't be taxed if I hold the shares. My accountant told me to hold. The Internal Revenue Service gave me two different answers. What do you say?

A: Pay attention to the company and your accountant. Although there are many different corporate plans for employee stock acquisition, it's a certainty that your company provided you with correct tax information on its plan. Your accountant confirmed that.

The sorry fact is that it's not unusual to get two different answers to the same question from the IRS.

Mr. Doyle welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column. For information on mutual funds, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Tech Quelled Effort
By Persistent Lobos

I MUST ADMIT, I WAS getting a little concerned somewhere around 10 p.m. Saturday.

The reason for my nervousness? Tech's measly 6-0 lead over the University of New Mexico.

Here it was the fourth quarter and the Red Raiders — 16-point favorites over the visiting Lobos — had put only six points on the scoreboard. Bill Adams' two field goals were all the scoring the Red Raiders could muster in almost 50 minutes of action.

A New Mexico touchdown and successful conversion wins the football game and destroys my credibility. Last Friday, I practically guaranteed a Tech victory.

And New Mexico had knocked at the scoring door on a couple occasions. But the Lobos acted like trick-or-treaters on Halloween. They'd knock on the door — and then run and hide.

Finally, after watching Tech's offense struggle for more than three quarters against a very determined New Mexico defense, the Red Raiders struck paydirt. And that touchdown came at a very crucial time in the contest.

The 44-yard scoring drive was set up by sophomore strong safety Tate Randle's second interception of the game. Randle, Tech's replacement for the injured Larry Flowers, made a diving theft of an errant Brad Wright pass with 12:41 left in the game.

THE LOBOS HELPED THE Red Raiders on the following seven-play scoring drive with a 15-yard holding penalty, but it was the hard-nosed runs of James Hadnot and Ron Reeves that led to the eventual score.

Hadnot, who tossed his body to the wolves 29 times Saturday, picked up a crucial first down at the UNM 10-yard line on third down and one.

On the following play, Reeves showed his determination to end Tech's touchdown drought by breaking about 17 tackles and charging into the end zone. It was also Reeves who lofted a perfect pass to a wide-open Edwin Newsome on the successful two-point conversion that allowed the Red Raiders to breathe a little easier with a 14-0 advantage.

I know my blood pressure normalized following the score and I'm sure Rex Dockery whispered a few words of congratulations to himself.

"It was an important win for our players because it was the first one," Dockery said in his office Sunday. "It was also a hard-earned win.

"WE FELT NEW MEXICO played well at times, and at times we played well. We definitely had some breakdowns during the game that hurt us."

I'm sure I wasn't the only spectator at Jones Stadium Saturday night who wondered where the Red Raider offense was hiding. And that isn't meant as a knock.

Tech moved the football. The Red Raiders had 325 yards in total offense. But the points sure didn't come easy.

Of those 325 yards, 273 were on the ground. Hadnot finished up with 153 and Reeves tacked on another 80 on 15 carries. That means Tech's passing attack accounted for a scant 52 yards. That figure will have to improve if Tech expects to take some heat off Hadnot and keep opposing linebackers at least half-honest.

"We know that for us to be a good football team, we have to throw the football well," Dockery added. "Right now, we are just not executing well in that area. And it's not something we can just talk about doing. We have to break down the problem areas and correct them. We have to do it."

RON (REEVES) IS a very capable passer and he's worked hard to make himself better. I'm not worried about the passing game because it will come. We just need to keep working at it.

I couldn't help but get the feeling that the Red Raiders were down just a little bit from last week's contest. After that emotional and physical drain against Southern California, it would have been hard for any team to come back 100 percent. Tech didn't have that keen edge that was evident against the Trojans.

The Lobos did play every down as if it were their last. New Mexico senior linebacker Mike Forrest had an interesting quote following his team's 17-7 setback.

"The difference in scoring was that both teams were more prepared this year than they were last year," Forrest said. "This was the biggest game for us. I would rather win this one than any other one."

Just like the Southern Cal defeat, the Red Raiders must now forget about the victory over UNM Saturday and begin thinking about the Arizona Wildcats, Saturday's opponent.

The Tech-Arizona contest is similar to the Tech-New Mexico game in that it is a wild and free-wheeling affair. Arizona suffered a 10-7 last-second loss against California Saturday.

The Wildcats will be looking to get back in the win column and will be playing at home in Tucson. That means Tech is in store for another determined opponent.

Dallas Survives Chicago

IRVING (AP) — Vince Evans was just two minutes from being a hero like he was once in the Rose Bowl, but 12-year veteran Roger Staubach played the spoilsport for the third straight week with yet another vintage, clutch Sunday performance.

Staubach, flashing the magic that has carried Dallas to five Super Bowls, brought the Dallas Cowboys from behind three times with touchdown passes for a hard-earned 24-20 National Football League victory over the Evans-led Chicago Bears.

Staubach's final touchdown pass was a 22-yard screen toss to Tony Hill.

Staubach said of his duel with Evans, "It was a situation when you just don't quit. We are conditioned to where we have a good two-minute offense. Sometimes it comes off, and sometimes it doesn't. Today it did."

Staubach, who was knocked out for a few seconds in the second quarter while on a scramble, said "Yes, I was knocked out. I was dazed. I couldn't get my legs under me. But I came back in after a few minutes because I was okay."

Evans, starting his first NFL game at quarterback, ran for one touchdown and passed for two more scores as the 10-point underdog Bears almost pulled off a shocking upset in Texas Stadium.

"When you come out to see us play, it's exciting and that's an understatement," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said.

"We've had the ability to win close football games for a long time, and I guess that comes with winning a lot of games and Super Bowls. We always believe we have a chance."

With Chicago leading 20-17, Staubach completed four straight passes, including a 22-yard touchdown pass to Tony Hill.

Hill caught the ball on a short screen and dashed into the end zone for the game-winner with 1:53 to play.

Staubach completed passes of 13 yards to Drew Pearson, 13 yards to Hill and 23 yards to Preston Pearson on a 57-second blitz of the Bear secondary.

Evans, a former Rose Bowl hero at Southern California, scored on a 3-yard run in the first quarter, but Dallas owned a 10-7 halftime lead thanks to a 42-yard scoring pass from Staubach to Hill and Rafael Septien's 44-yard field goal.

Former Cowboy Golden Richards stunned the Cowboys with a 52-yard scoring pass from Evans, but Staubach brought Dallas right back again with an 11-yard loss to Billy Joe Dupree and the Cowboys led 17-13 after the third period. Richards was 25 yards behind the Cowboy secondary on his touchdown.

A costly offside penalty against Randy White set up the scoring pass to Scott, who outraced the Cowboy secondary after he fielded the ball on the 34.

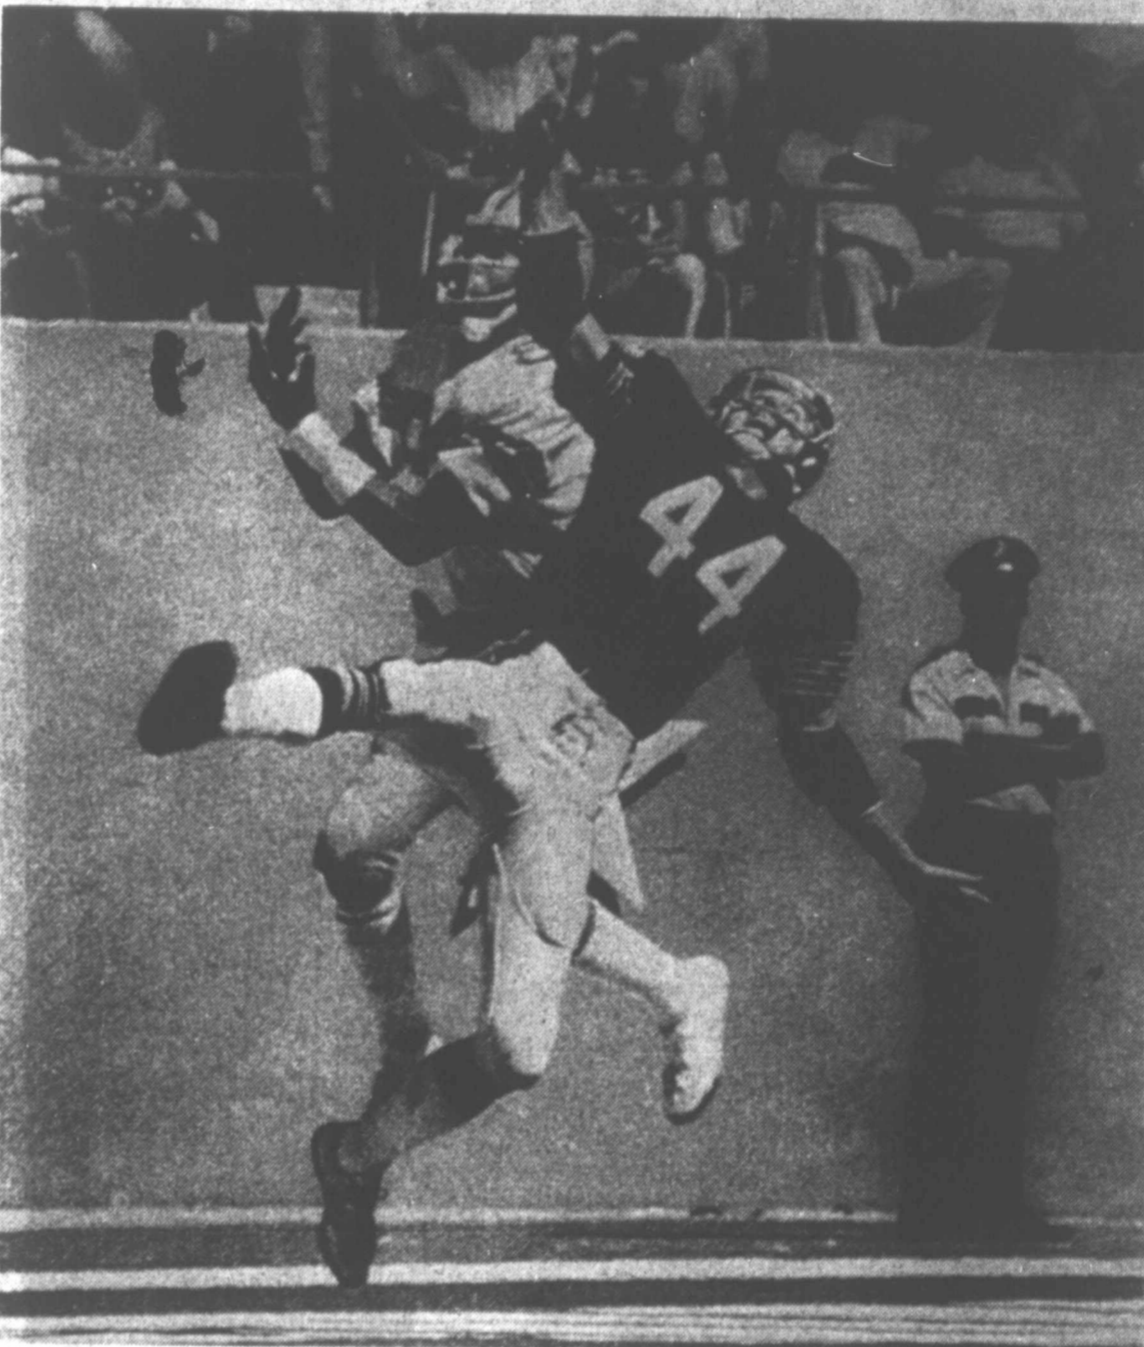

Chicago had punted on fourth-and-1, but got the ball back on the penalty and Evans hit the TD pass with 10:44 to play in the game.

The Bears scratched back to their own 40 yard line after Staubach's final touchdown pass, but rookie Bruce Thornton of Illinois spoiled any comeback dreams by sacking Evans on fourth down and Dallas ran out the clock.

Staubach completed 18 of 31 passes for 223 yards.

Evans completed only five passes for 115 yards, but two of them went for touchdowns as the Bears stayed on the ground behind awesome Walter Payton most of the day.

carries as he finally conquered a Dallas jinx against his rushing exploits. Payton had only gained 101 yards in two previous games against Dallas.

Tony Dorsett gained 108 yards in 20 carries, but kept the Cowboys in hot water with three costly fumbles.

The Bears stampeded 65 yards in 11 plays after the opening kickoff behind Payton's explosive runs and Evans' scrambles.

Evans dashed 17 yards to the Cowboy 34 on a third and 10, and Payton ripped off a 17-yard run to the Cowboy 12. On third and three at the Dallas six, Evans surprised the Cowboys defense with a quarterback draw for his first professional touchdown.

On the drive, Payton gained enough yards to surpass Rick Casares as the all-time Chicago career rusher. Casares had 5,657 yards.

The stung Cowboys retaliated on their first possession as Staubach found Hill all alone behind cornerback Virgil Livers on a 42-yard touchdown pass. Staubach picked up a Chicago blitz on the play as the Bears sent all their linebackers.

A Payton mistake set up Dallas' go-ahead field goal in the second quarter. Payton fumbled after a hard hit by Randy Hughes, and Cliff Harris claimed the ball on the Chicago 41.

Chicago held after a Dallas first down, and Rafael Septien drilled a 46-yard field goal. The Bears failed to cash two Dorsett fumbles into points and trailed 10-7 at halftime.

Oilers, Nielsen Win Battle Of Rookies

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterbacks Gifford Nielsen of Houston and Steve Fuller of Kansas City, both making their first pro starts, got differing views of the starting role Sunday as Nielsen led the Oilers to a 20-6 victory over the Chiefs.

Nielsen, substituting for injured Dan Pastorini, threw one touchdown pass and handed off to Earl Campbell for another score as the Oilers came back from a devastating loss to Pittsburgh last week.

"I felt good about what happened today," Nielsen said. "I feel that I have come a long way and the team responded to me. I'm still Dan's backup quarterback and I played because he was hurt. I told Dan before the game I would do my darndest to win the game." Meanwhile Fuller, who beat out Mike Livingston last week, was intercepted four times by the Oilers and sacked six times for 41 yards in losses.

"I forced the ball a lot today and shouldn't have," Fuller said. "Late in the game, it was tough on our offense because they knew we were going to pass."

Campbell rushed over 100 yards in the first half for the first time in his career and finished with 132 yards on 30 carries.

Houston's defense spoiled Fuller's debut with four pass interceptions, two of them inside the Houston 20. Mike Reinfield picked off two and J.C. Wilson also got two.

The Oilers scored in the first quarter on Campbell's 4-yard burst.

Houston's second touchdown was a perfectly executed screen pass. Nielsen hit Wilson behind a wave of blockers and the Oiler fullback sprinted down the sideline and scored standing.

Nielsen and receiver Ken Burroughs victimized Kansas City cornerback Tim Collier for pass completions of 41 and 12 yards prior to the touchdown pass.

The Chiefs drove to Houston's 11-yard line in the second quarter and reached the Oiler 27 in the fourth quarter without getting any points.

Fuller took the Chiefs to the Oiler 27 early in the fourth period before Wilson intercepted and returned the ball 19 yards. The theft led to Fritsch's second field goal.

The Chiefs, aided by Ted Knight's 35-yard run, reached the Oiler nine before Reinfield picked off his second pass with 4:20 left in the game.

Nielsen hit seven of his first eight completions in the game and finished with 12 completions on 18 tries for 173 yards and no interceptions. Nielsen hit Burroughs four times for 62 yards and went to Barber three times for 66 yards.

Fuller finished with 11 completions on 26 attempts for 138 yards and four interceptions.

SMU's Ford Lost For '79

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist quarterback Mike Ford, who led the nation in total offense last year with 268 yards a game, underwent surgery for a torn right knee ligament Sunday morning and will be lost to the Southwest Conference leading Mustangs for the rest of the year.

Ford suffered the injury Saturday night in the second quarter of SMU's 27-7 victory over Texas Christian when a blocker knocked another player into him.

In other SWC games Saturday night, Baylor whipped Texas A&M 17-7, Houston tripped Florida 14-10, Texas Tech trimmed New Mexico 17-7, Arkansas downed Colorado State 36-3, and Rice upset Tulane 21-17.

Jim Turner's 'Cool' Conquers Falcons

By The Associated Press
It was veteran kicker Jim Turner Sunday, just "one more thrill in a long career."

Turner's "thrill" was a 24-yard field goal 6:15 into an overtime period that gave the Denver Broncos a 20-17 National Football League victory over the Atlanta Falcons.

"I didn't put any pressure on myself," Turner said, "not one iota. I don't allow pressure on myself."

Thus, Turner became the second leading scorer in NFL history with his game-winning kick that came after Norris Weese completed four passes for 47 yards in a drive to the Atlanta seven.

It lifted his total to 1,381 points, one more than the total for former St. Louis star Jim Bakken, but far behind all-time leader George Blanda's 2,002 points.

The Broncos victory came after Atlanta's Tim Mazzetti missed a 31-yard field goal with only 17 seconds remaining in regulation.

Rookie Jack Thompson, playing for Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson, who left the game with a back bruise, scored both the Bengals' touchdowns on runs of 1 and 14 yards.

New England improved its record to 2-1, while Cincinnati lost its third straight game.

The Saints came into the game averaging almost 600 yards of offense a game, although they are winless so far this season.

The Browns, 3-0, then survived a desperation Baltimore drive that ended with a missed 28-yard field goal by Toni Linhart with one second remaining. It was Linhart's third straight miss.

But it was Todd's bombs to Walker that provided most of New York's yardage. Walker caught six passes for 422 yards, four of them for 129 in the first half when the Jets came from behind to seize the lead.

Jeff Kromlo's 12-yard pitch to David Hill gave the Lions a 7-0 lead, but on the Jets' next play from scrimmage, Todd hit Walker with a 47-yard pass, setting up Long's 4-yard TD.

On New York's next possession, Todd found Walker twice, first for 22 yards, then for 32. Again, Long climaxed the drive with the TD run.

Pat Leahy of the Jets made it 17-7 in the third quarter with a 30-yard field goal.

Rams 27, 49ers 24

Pat Haden threw two touchdown passes and the Los Angeles Rams held off O.J. Simpson and the San Francisco 49ers, scoring a 27-24 victory.

Simpson, a Heisman Trophy winner at Southern California, gained 73 yards in 18 carries as San Francisco's leading rusher and the 49ers built a 10-0 first quarter lead before the Rams finally came to life.

There were just 4:21 left in the first half before the Rams' offense crossed midfield. But before halftime Los Angeles scored twice, on a 4-yard pass from Haden to Charlie Young and a 1-yard run by Cullen Bryant.

Haden hit his second touchdown pass, an 11-yard throw to Terry Nelson, in the third quarter and Frank Corral added field goals of 49 and 43 yards in the final period.

Seahawks 27, Raiders 10

Jim Zorn and Steve Largent teamed for two touchdowns strikes and Zorn threw for a third score to offset a 33-yard passing performance by Oakland's Ken Stabler as the Seattle Seahawks maintained their Kingdom mastery over the Raiders with a 27-10 victory.

On a day when the 33-year-old Stabler completed 25 of 37 passes for the most passing yards ever in a single game by an opposing quarterback, Zorn broke out of a two-game slump to help Seattle launch its first win of the regular National Football League season.

Jets 31, Lions 10

Richard Todd softened Detroit's defense with long passes to Wesley Walker and Kevin Long scored three touchdowns as the New York Jets defeated the Lions 31-10 for their first victory of the season.

Long scored second-period touchdowns of 7 and 4 yards and then the Jets added two more in the fourth quarter — a 2-yarder by Scott Dierking and a 5-yarder by Long.

Dolphins 27, Vikings 12

Don Strock, subbing for injured Miami quarterback Bob Griese, fired two fourth-quarter touchdown passes to lift the unbeaten Dolphins to a 27-12 victory over Minnesota.

Griese left the game midway through the third quarter with a muscle pull in his leg and the Vikings gained a 12-7 lead.

Minnesota regained a 13-12 lead, but Strock marched the Dolphins 57 yards in five plays on their next series of downs capped by another six-yard TD, this time to Jimmy Cefalo.

Buccaners 21, Packers 10

Ricky Bell raced 19 yards for one touchdown and caught an 11-yard scoring pass from Doug Williams, leading the unbeaten Tampa Bay Buccaneers to a 21-10 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Rookie Jerry Eckwood rushed for 99 yards, including a 40-yard scamper for the go-ahead touchdown, and Bell added 97 yards as Bucs' guard Greg Roberts and tackle Charlie Hannah consistently opened big holes on the left side of the Packers' defense.

Pittsburgh rookie Matt Bahr kicked a 20-yard field goal with 13 seconds to go, climaxing a 17-point rally in the final period and sending the late-awakening Steelers to a 24-21 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bahr's field goal capped a Pittsburgh march from its own 29 in the closing minutes, extending the Steelers' string of victories to 11 games in a row, including last January's 35-31 win over the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl XIII.

Atlanta 27, Browns 13

A 74-yard pass play from Brian Sipe to tight end Ozzie Newsome set up a 28-yard field goal by Don Cockroft with 1:51 remaining that gave the Cleveland Browns a 13-10 National Football League victory over the Baltimore Colts.

With a third and 11 deep in Cleveland territory, Sipe connected with Newsome, who outran three Baltimore defenders down the sideline for nearly 40 yards before being caught at the Baltimore 16 by defensive back Lyle Blackwood. Three plays gained five yards, and Cockroft calmly booted his second field goal of the game.

Eagles 26, Saints 14

Ron Jaworski threw for 181 yards and a touchdown and Tony Franklin kicked four field goals as the Philadelphia Eagles rolled over the New Orleans Saints 26-14.

The Eagle defense, led by defensive end Carl Hairston, shut down the New Orleans offense, which had been the most productive in the NFL this season.

McEnroe Keys Davis Cup Win

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — John McEnroe took just one hour to beat Jose-Luis Clerc 6-2, 6-3 to add to the United States' already unbeatable tally over Argentina in the American zone final of the Davis Cup.

The score stood at 4-0 for the United States with one match yet to be played, between Vitas Gerulaitis and Argentina's top player, Guillermo Vilas.

Stan Smith and Bob Lutz had scraped through a desperately close doubles match against Vilas and Clerc Saturday, winning in five sets to clinch the final for the United States, which advances against Australia in three weeks. The U.S. is the defending Davis Cup champion.

McEnroe, with his thigh heavily wrapped, showed little ill-effect and beat Clerc easily. He broke service in the fourth and final games of the first set.

Attendance on the final day of the three-day series reached 3,728 at the 4,000-seat stadium of the Racquet Club of Memphis. That was more than 600 better than Friday's attendance and more than 1,000 better than Saturday's turnout, when the competition was still alive.

Cooper's Overton Dazzled By Ranking

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Ray Overton woke up one morning — and much to his surprise — the Abilene Cooper Cougars were ranked number one in every schoolboy poll Texas sports-writers have to offer.

He said he was more shocked than if his wife had run away with a Cruex salesman.

"I really thought we'd be in the top ten," commented the Cooper head coach. "But I never thought we'd be that close to the top."

The Cougars can't get any higher, Ray.

Through the first couple of games this season, Cooper has rolled up a pair of big wins over Brownwood and Wichita Falls High. The Cougars drilled then-top-ranked Class AAA power Brownwood 50-14 on the opening night and last Friday evening Overton's crew blitzed Wichita Falls High 48-7.

In an attempt to explain Cooper's successful season, thus far, Overton explained: "I guess the key to our success is our ability to both run and pass the football. We've got a very balanced attack. Plus, I think, our offensive line does a tremendous job opening holes for our backs.

"So I think the real key is the team thing. Everyone from the offensive line to the runningbacks play a team-type game. We're all in this together."

The offensive line is centered around tight end Alvin Jenkins, tackles David Johnson and Charles Buetemeyer, guards Steve Hill and Jay Zumwaldt and center Mike Howle. And all five, Overton says, are "very fine athletes and solid blockers."

So far, the line has opened big holes for all-state runningback candidate Terry Orr to run through. Although Overton says he doesn't like to single out individual ballplayers as keys to the attack, he amends that rule for Orr. "I guess you could say he's the hub of the team. He is big and very strong. Everytime he gets the ball he's a threat to score...from anywhere."

The only problem — and it might not even be a problem, says Overton — for

Cooper is at quarterback. It seems the Cougars have two, not one but two, quarterbacks capable of running the first team. So instead of selecting a starter, Overton goes with the shuttle system. And he'll continue to do that until "one or the other really takes charge."

"Either one (junior Lanny Dycus or senior John Slaughter) are capable of running this team. I like to tell them that we don't have a number two quarterback, both of them are number one. They seem to accept it really well," said Overton.

Because Slaughter is a better runner and Dycus a better passer, Overton wishes he could tie the two together. "But," said Overton, "I don't think they'll let me do that."

Right, Ray. Cooper ends its post-district 5-AAAA

I don't know what their problem was; maybe they just weren't prepared or took Amarillo a little too lightly."

But, right now, Overton says he isn't worrying about Midland Lee, or Odessa High, or Midland or Permian or any of the other district favorites.

Andrews Prepares To Explode

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

The Andrews Mustangs, says head coach Bill Shipman, have not yet begun to fight.

And once the district 2-AAA Mustangs do begin to click, oh boy, that could be something to see. Because Andrews is currently 2-0 on the year, having racked up 758 yards of total offense and 70 points in their first two outings. Defensively, Andrews has allowed only a scant six points and 236 total yards.

"We only have two returning offensive linemen," explains Shipman, "and they haven't been able to play yet because of injuries. So we're pretty inexperienced on the line — and we've been making mistakes."

Missing from that offensive line has been center Donnie Munsell (6-2, 205) and tight end Rick Jarvis (6-2, 195). Munsell was an all-district selection last year but had to undergo surgery after his show-calf kicked him last spring.

"Donnie will be able to play this week," says Shipman. "And I think Rick will be back next week."

And the Andrews center couldn't be coming back at a better time. The Mustangs will host Seminole this Friday in their biggest test of the year. Although Andrews has already knocked off a 4A opponent and a 3A foe, Shipman says that Class AA Seminole will be tough.

"I think we may run into a logjam this week," said the coach. "Seminole is one of the top AA teams in the state. We expect them to be in the running for the state championship."

Currently the Indians are 2-0 and the No. 1 ranked team in the Avalanche-Journal Class AA South Plains poll.

And even though Andrews is off to a blazing start, in district 2-AAA it hardly causes a ripple. That's because four of the five teams in the district are also 2-0. Fort Stockton, Monahans, Odessa Ector and Pecos have all been impressive in the early games.

"It looks like it is going to be a five-team race when district starts," says

Shipman. "I guess that's just your typical 2-AAA race."

But if Shipman continues to get a sterling performance from sophomore quarterback Keith Brooks, the Mustangs may run away with that race. To date Brooks has tossed four touchdowns and run for one himself. According to Shipman, "Brooks has been a real stabilizing factor."

"And our defense is not real big," adds the coach, "but we're solid. They've done a good job."

Speaking of good defenses, Estacado continues to be the big story in district 1-AAA. The Matadors are the only undefeated team in the loop with a 2-0 record, after rolling over Lubbock High 32-0 Friday. That gave EHS 45 points in two games, while allowing only seven. Meanwhile Dunbar and Dumas are still looking for their first wins of the year.

Estacado, the number two ranked AAA team in the state, will face Lubbock Coronado in an intra-city match on Thursday at Lowrey Field.

Over in district 3-AAA, Snyder took a narrow 15-14 victory over Monahans Friday night to register their first win of the young season. Meanwhile Brownfield and Lamesa are still looking for something to put in the win column.

Fought Fights Way

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Jim Fought, a 25-year-old rookie on the PGA tour, rammed home a 3-foot par putt on the second playoff hole to defeat Jim Simons for the title in the $150,000 Buick Open Sunday.

Fought and Simons began their play-off on the par-5, 598-yard 16th hole where each carded a par.

On the 185-yard, par-3 17th hole, Simons hit his drive way left to the edge of a clump of trees. Simons then skulled his second shot across the green and into a sand trap and blasted his third shot 8 feet from the pin where he two-putted for a double-bogey 5.

The triumph was worth $27,000 to the Brigham Young graduate and earned him use of a new Buick for a year. More importantly, it earned Fought an exemption from qualifying for PGA tournaments.

Fought, a Portland, Ore., native who won the U.S. Amateur Championship in 1977, hit his tee shot on No. 17 onto the fringe below the hole.

The 6-foot, 190-pounder calmly chipped to within three feet of the pin. Then, after watching while Simons missed his putt for bogey, he sank his 3-footer for his first tournament victory.

"The triumph was worth $27,000 to the Brigham Young graduate and earned him use of a new Buick for a year. More importantly, it earned Fought an exemption from qualifying for PGA tournaments."

"I think they put the course exactly for the American team," said Ballesteros, the British Open champion. "We always play very slow greens (in Europe). This is where we got beat ... on the greens."

Astros Again Foul Late, Lose Ground

By The Associated Press
Larry Herndon's bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth inning broke a tie and lifted the San Francisco Giants to a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros.

Houston's second consecutive late-inning loss to the Giants dropped the Astros to 1 1/2 games behind the Cincinnati Reds in the National League West race.

San Francisco scored its winning run off loser J.R. Richard, 16-13, who struck out 11 batters and allowed only four hits.

Mike Ivie led off the ninth with a single and raced to third on Darrell Evans' double down the first base line. Max Venable was walked intentionally, loading the bases, before Herndon sent a long drive over the head of left fielder Jose Cruz, scoring Ivie with the winning run.

Reds 2, Dodgers 0

Tom Seaver fired a three-hitter for his 52nd career shutout, tops among active major league pitchers, to pace the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-0 victory over Los Angeles.

The loss mathematically eliminated the defending champion Dodgers from the National League West title chase.

Brewers 2, Angels 1

Paul Molitor doubled home Charlie Moore in the seventh inning and Gorman Thomas belted his 42nd home run of the year, leading the Milwaukee Brewers to a 2-1 victory over the California Angels.

Mariners 6, Royals 3

Julio Cruz drove in two runs and Bobby Valentine and Rodney Craig each collected two hits as the Seattle Mariners downed the Kansas City Royals 6-3.

White Sox 5, A's 2

Claudell Washington's two-run homer in the first inning and Mike Squires tie-breaking homer in the seventh powered rookie Rich Dotson and the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 victory over the Oakland A's.

Phillies 4, Cubs 3

Garry Maddox tripled home an eighth-inning run to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Cards 4-1, Expos 3-5

Dave Cash's 10th-inning grand slam homer lifted the Montreal Expos to a 5-1 victory and a double-header split with St. Louis after the Cardinals won the opener 4-3.

The second-game victory put the Expos one percentage point ahead of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East pennant race.

In the first game of the twinbill, which drew 59,282, the largest crowd in Expos history, the Cardinals got run-scoring singles by Garry Templeton and Keith Hernandez and an RBI double from Ken Oberkfell in the first two innings against starter Ross Grimsley, 8-9.

Orioles 13, Red Sox 3

Light-hitting Mark Belanger drove in three runs after launching Baltimore's nine-run first inning with a single and the Orioles rolled to a 13-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

Mets 3, Pirates 0

Pete Falcone won only his sixth game in 19 decisions with relief help from Neil Allen, and Dan Norman smacked a home run to lead the New York Mets to a 3-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Tigers 8, Yankees 4

Lance Parrish's bases-loaded single in the 12th inning keyed a four-run burst for the Detroit Tigers.

Giants Tip Astros

San Francisco's second consecutive late-inning loss to the Houston Astros dropped the Giants to 1 1/2 games behind the Cincinnati Reds in the National League West race.

Chef Creates Longest Loaf

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (UPI) — Chef Franz Eichenauer broke the world record for the longest loaf of bread Sunday, baking a 1,000-foot-long loaf in a specially designed oven.

Then he planned to serve up the world's largest hero sandwich.

Preparation for the event began months ago when bakers, chefs and engineers — got together to conquer the logistics of baking a 1,000-foot-long loaf of bread.

The task was a challenge to Eichenauer, who last year successfully designed a huge omelette pan and cooked a 10,000-egg omelette.

Once again this year the chef set up shop on the Riverfront Green in Peekskill and was joined by about 200 chefs from around the world at the Second Annual Culinary Festival, a benefit for the Peekskill Area Health Center.

Eichenauer used a specially designed 100-foot oven built of aluminum culvert piping. Bread was fed into the pipe at a rate calculated to keep it in the oven for 35 minutes — long enough to bake.

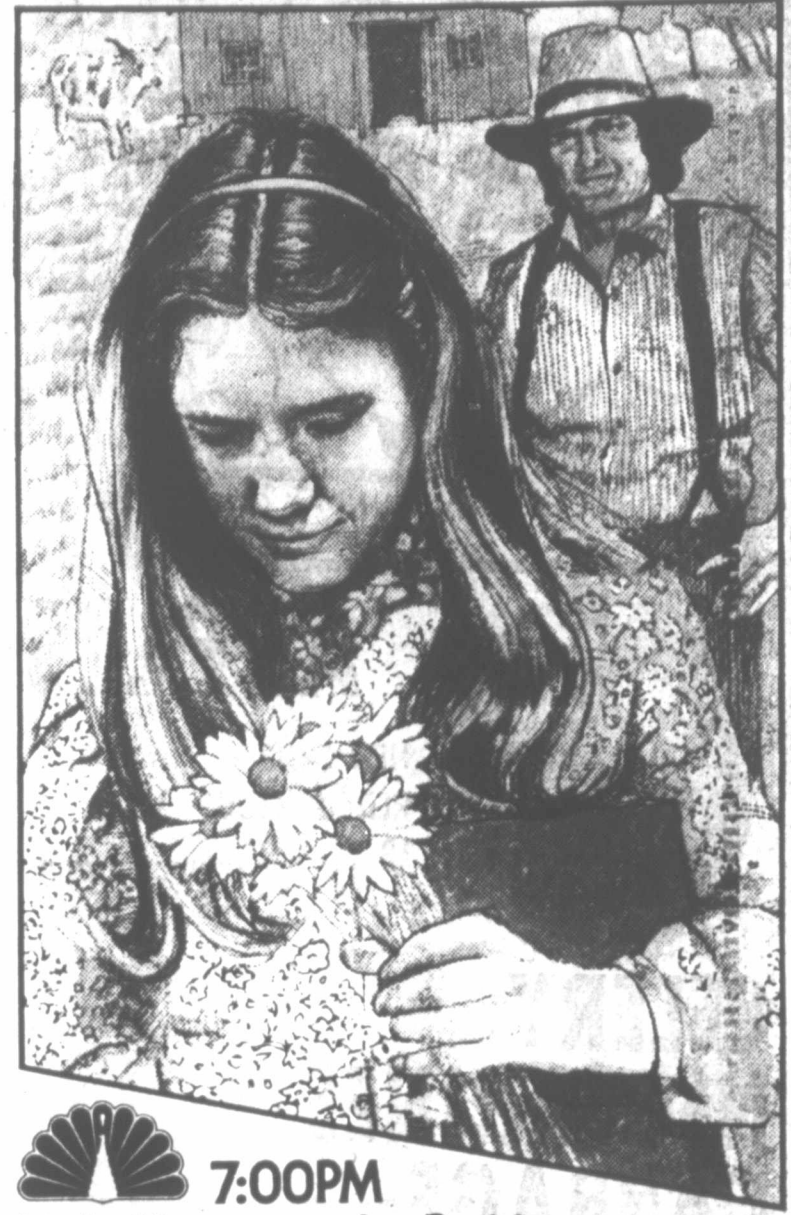

Mounted on a 1,000-foot sheet of aluminum, the 1,500 pounds of dough, contributed by a baking company, was pulled by winch through the oven.

Underneath the pipe oven, 30 kerosene burners from the New York state branch of the National Guard heated and baked the dough. A 1,000-foot platform was erected to support the baked bread.

Heretofore, the longest loaf of bread — as recorded in the Guinness Book of World Records — was baked in Australia, measuring 684 feet, 6 inches.

Eichenauer, who began his task about 10 a.m., broke the record about noon and proceeded to go on to the 1,000-foot mark.

Lubbockite Tours Russia With Band

MOSCOW (UPI) — Elton John loved it, but American blues and jazz band Gatemouth Brown and Gates Express found performing in the Soviet Union an exhausting and frustrating business.

First there was the problem of the rubles.

"Man, what are you gonna spend all those rubles on?" asked tour manager Don Heimerman.

The Soviet Union allows no one to take rubles out of the country, so the band couldn't get rid of them even in six weeks of expensive dinners, tipping taxis 20 rubles ($30) and buying endless souvenirs.

At 800 rubles ($1,200) for each of 38 performances, the group collected so many it threw a lavish champagne bash for the foreign community in Moscow the day before going home.

The Soviets "helped" at the last minute by announcing band members' luggage was $2,550 overweight and that a painting bought for nearly $1,500 would require a 100 percent export tax.

That surprise was only the last of a series of unexpected frustrations that confronted the band members during their six-week tour of Leningrad, Rostov, Baku, Erevan, Tbilisi, Sukhumi, Sochi and Moscow.

"Our equipment will never be the same again," said Cal Freeman, pedal steel guitar player from Lubbock. "It got so bashed up in travel by the people sent to help us that we were wondering if it would survive the trip."

"Look at this microphone. They tried to unplug it and ripped the cord out altogether."

Most of the six band members were on their first trip to Russia — or to Europe. So it was a new problem to get a meal after 9 p.m. (concerts always ran much later), to find hotel rooms where the toilets didn't work, to find taxis scarce.

One evening a band member accepted a dinner invitation from a woman he had met and dined with her, her friend and the friend's husband. Next day the friend was fired from her job. The band never learned why.

Freeman's unorthodox appearance with long, blond hair below his shoulders combined with a beard as long as his hair drew howls of approval from audiences, but he found it more problematic on the street.

"We'd find people following us, making comments, sneering," said Tom Davis, the drummer from Grand Rapids, Mich. "We couldn't understand them, but we could tell what it was about. Just show these guys a fist, though, and they scurried off."

Musically the tour was fine, except that "these audiences aren't used to responding to music, like they've been told they can't or something," said manager Heimerman. "With our kind of performance, we really depend on feedback to get going, so sometimes it got kind of difficult to keep up the enthusiasm."

But the crowds loved Clarence "Gatemouth" Brown, a tall, lanky, Texan who came on stage in an embroidered khaki shirt, jeans and cowboy hat.

Smiling the big, toothy grin that earned him the nickname "Gatemouth" in school, he would croon a deep "space-bo" (thank you) into the microphone after numbers, to laughter and cheers from the theater.

More Country Artists Merging Pop-Western Sounds Into Music

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — In the grandest tradition of a tear-jerking country song about illicit love, country and pop music are having an ever more torrid affair.

This may become even more apparent next month when the Country Music Association gives its annual awards. One-time rock singer Kenny Rogers, who has turned to country-flavored tunes, is nominated for five awards.

But Rogers is only one of many artists who are merging country and pop styles — thus crating a widening audience for country sounds and turning Nashville into a "unsettled" challenger to Hollywood.

Hard-core country singers like the rhinestone-clad Porter Wagoner have changed their sound to flirt with pop. Roy Acuff, "the king of country music," has cut an album with the pop group,

Nitty Gritty Dirt Band. The Grand Ole Opry, the revered country music show, had on soul singer James Brown last spring. In August, country queen Loretta Lynn teamed up with soul heartthrob Teddy Pendergrass to record a soundtrack for the movie "The Fish That Saved Pittsburgh."

Similarly, some pop and rock singers and groups openly court the country fans. The Carpenters, Tom Jones and Olivia Newton-John have won some top country music awards. The Bellamy Brothers, Dr. Hook and the Charlie Daniels Band are just three examples of the growing ranks of hybrid country-rock.

Kenny Rogers, who had a string of popular hits singing with folk-rock groups in the 1960s, resurrected a sagging career three years ago by turning to country-flavored songs. Now he's country music's hottest entertainer, as is evident from the five awards he's up for in this year's country music awards show Oct. 8.

"I went to a basic country sound," he said shortly after his "Lucille" became a country-pop hit in 1976. "I think of myself as an ex-pop artist who got a lot of country airplay who's now a country artist with a lot of pop airplay," he explains.

This mutation music has triggered outcries from some country music purists. Veteran Grand Ole Opry singer Jean Shepard bemoans, "You can't tell the pop radio stations from the country stations."

and twang are making enough money to stay stocked with steel guitars for a long time.

The Statlers, a hard-core country quartet discovered by Johnny Cash 15 years ago, grossed more than $6 million at the box office during the past year. Dick Blake International Inc., the group's agent, has reported that the quartet grosses up to $100,000 for a show.

And country music singers are no longer obscure figures relegated to haystacks as they were 15 years ago. Bearded, bandannaed Willie Nelson has visited the White House a half dozen times since President Carter took office in 1977. The Oak Ridge Boys, a flashy quartet, headlined a country music show for Princess Anne and her husband in London during July.

The Nashville music business, now that it's more universal, has produced successful spinoffs: burgeoning television and motion picture industries. The city's proud epithet, "Music City USA," may have to be changed to "Show Business City USA."

In fact, Nashville may be poised to challenge Los Angeles-Hollywood, New York City and Las Vegas as show business centers.

Television producers are using Nashville to tape specials and take advantage of the talent pool here and the modern, plush facilities at a Grand Ole Opry House complex built five years ago to replace the original downtown structure.

The specials supplement live telecasts like the annual Country Music Associalion awards show and syndicated country music shows like the long-running "Hee Haw," "The Porter Wagoner Show," "Marty Robbins Spotlight," "That Nashville Music" and others.

A dozen movies have been filmed here in the past decade, many of them with musical overtones. The best known was Robert Altman's controversial "Nashville" in 1974. This summer, filming was completed on a movie based on Loretta Lynn's self-selling autobiography, "Coal Miner's Daughter."

The cornerstone of the entertainment industry is the Grand Ole Opry, which presents live shows every weekend. Having never missed a performance, it's had 2,800 straight performances in its 54-year history.

The success of the Opry and people like Acuff and Miss Lynn and now Nelson and Rogers has kept country music alive for much of this century. Now even presidents are country music fans.

"Country music is part of the soul and conscience of our democracy," Carter said last year. "It captures our indomitable spirit and pulsates with the sorrows, joys and unflinching perseverance of ordinary men and women who sustain our national vitality and strength."

Heston Agrees To First Occult Film

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Charlton Heston, who has been killed off twice in Egypt, has been reincarnated as a British archeologist in an occult film about the discovery of a 3,000-year-old mummy.

"It's my first occult film," Heston, who has a film for each of his 54 years, observed in an interview between takes of "Waking," being shot at the Cairo museum and the pharaonic ruins in Luxor.

Heston, who shied away from the lead in "Omni" which eventually went to Gregory Peck, conceded the cast will have to work hard to keep it from becoming what he called a "hammer" movie, an artless commercial effort.

His helpmates are Susannah York, who plays his archeological assistant-turned-wife Jane, and Stephanie Zimbalist — 20-year-old daughter of Efrem Zimbalist Jr. of TV's "FBI" fame — who plays his spirit-haunted child.

The 6-foot-3 actor has twice before filmed in Egypt. In 1954 he went through nine beards of varying lengths as Moses in "The Ten Commandments" before succumbing in the desert. In 1965, he played the British Gen. "Chinese" Gordon in "Khartoum," whose fate was to be swarmed under by a horde of dervishes.

With the help of a Welsh voice coach, Heston is dusting off his British accent and sporting a mini-version of his Moses beard for the make-believe hunt in the real Valley of the Kings for the tomb of Queen Kara.

"What really attracted me to this film was a chance to play an Englishman," said Heston. "I have to keep up my license as the only American actor allowed to play an Englishman."

Heston, articulate and intense about his filmmaking despite his he-man image, said he sees his imposing physical equipment as somewhat of a liability — too tall for the Italian painter Michelangelo and too healthy for the French statesman Cardinal Richelieu.

"But I'd rather get 70 percent of Richelieu than use just me," said Heston.

For his role as Professor Matthew Corbeck, the archeologist, Heston has tackled the turgid prose of the pioneer Egyptologist James Henry Breasted, but said his basic approach is to begin with appearances.

"I never get anywhere until I know what the character looks like, what kind of watch he wears, what kind of suits. I work from the outside in and I always begin with the makeup," said Heston.

To emphasize the point, Heston lifted his black half-boot shoes bought 20 years ago at Maxwell's in London and displayed the gold cufflinks made from 3,000-year-old pharaonic scarabs.

Even if such subtleties are lost on the audience, Heston said it makes him feel psychologically at home with the part he is playing.

Perhaps with an eye on the box office success of "The Exorcist" and the King Tut tour of America's museums, the Robert Solo production for Emi Films-Orion Pictures has allotted $6 million to "Waking."

A healthy chunk of the budget — about a quarter-million dollars — went into recreating the Egyptian wing of the British Museum.

Newspaper Reports Revolt Crushed

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Bangladesh President Gen. Ziaur Rahman recently crushed a planned revolt by air force officers, the Indian Express newspaper reported Sunday from the Bangladesh capital of Dacca.

It said six officers, including two group captains and two wing commanders, were dismissed in the past few weeks. "These are routine things," it quoted Ziaur as saying in an interview. "They happen in other armed forces, in your armed forces, but they are not things to talk about."

The report said some Bangladeshi military officers were unhappy about the country's return to civilian politics.

DIALYSIS CENTER GROUNDBREAKING — Members of the board of directors of the South Plains Dialysis Center take part in a groundbreaking ceremony Sunday at the center's new location, 4110 22nd Pl. The new facility will have approximately three times the 6,000 square feet in the present unit and will include enlarged patient care areas, including a dialysis room with specialized capabilities for pediatric, isolation care, treatment rooms and increased laboratory space. Completion is anticipated next July. Those taking part in Sunday's ceremony were Ron Douglas, the center's administrator; the Rev. Charles Boyer, associate rector of St. Paul's on the Plains Episcopal Church; Alex Cooke, president of the South Plains Kidney Foundation; Glen Stambaugh Jr., M.D., medical director of the dialysis center; Max L. Ince, president of the center's board of directors, and the Rev. Jim Sutherlin, pastor of the First Christian Church. (Staff Photo)

Davis Trial Near End

FORT WORTH (AP) — With their devastating tapes in evidence, prosecutors launch the final phase Monday of their murder-for-hire case against Cullen Davis.

State attorneys will devote the sixth week of testimony largely to the hours and events just preceding the millionaire defendant's arrest Aug. 20, 1978.

Those activities included Davis' removal of $25,000 from his office safe and delivery of the money to FBI informant David McCrotry.

State and federal officers, convinced the money was earmarked for a phantom killer, arrested Davis and charged him with soliciting the murder of his divorcee judge.

Davis, 45, insists the money was McCrotry's all along and that his friend-turned-informant used it as part of a bizarre scheme to frame him in a criminal conspiracy.

McCrotry slipped back into the obscurity of a federal witness protection program Friday after 11 days of incredible and incriminating testimony against Davis.

He told the jury of secretly recording two August 1978 conversations in which Davis discussed the murder of divorcee judge Joe Eidson and others.

Prosecutors used the earlier testimony of three FBI agents to lay the legal "predicate" for the tapes and introduce them into the court record through McCrotry.

The remaining state witnesses include two arresting officers and two secretaries from Mid-Continent Supply Co., flagship of the worldwide, billion-dollar Davis business empire.

The secretarial testimony is designed to pinpoint the $25,000 on the morning of Davis' arrest and establish when and how it was removed from the company safe.

An FBI flight observer told the jury last week he tracked Davis' blue-and-white Cadillac from the downtown Mid-Continent building to the McCrotry meeting that Sunday morning.

Agent Larry Tongate said the surveillance plane located the defendant's car parked outside his office and followed it to the restaurant parking lot where the money was exchanged.

Tongate, who indicated Davis was "surveillance-conscious" that morning, resumed his testimony Monday.

Hidalgo DA Faces Loss Of License

EDINBURG (AP) — It will be a role reversal Monday when Hidalgo County District Attorney Oscar McInnis sits down as a defendant in a state courtroom.

McInnis faces loss of his law license due to allegations he tried to arrange the murder of a friend's ex-husband.

Although the disbarment trial is a civil matter, criminal allegations and purported conspiracies form the bulk of both the State Bar's reasons for acting against McInnis and the longtime prosecutor's defense against the charges.

McInnis lawyers claim he is the victim of a "courthouse conspiracy" aimed at getting him out of office and setting up a friend of Sheriff Brig Marmolejo as district attorney.

Defense lawyer Jack Skaggs has called the disbarment suit "the junior case" of the several court actions against McInnis in the last year.

His troubles began June 7, 1978, when a federal grand jury in Brownsville indicted him and a female friend on charges of conspiring to lure the woman's ex-husband to Reynosa, Mexico, where he would be killed.

The intended victim of the alleged plot, Joe Villanueva, was not killed.

A federal district judge threw out the murder-conspiracy charges on grounds the alleged crime did not occur on American soil.

The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals last week said McInnis and his friend, Patricia Parada of McAllen, must stand trial on perjury charges returned by the same grand jury that indicted them for murder-conspiracy.

McInnis' lawyers wanted to postpone the disbarment matter until after the perjury trial, expected later this year.

Tower Stresses Solidarity

DALLAS (AP) — After promising not to deliver what he called one of his "Tower unity speeches," Texas' senior senator preached solidarity to the State Republican Executive Committee.

"Some people have said that the Republicans have a singular talent for snatching defeat from the jaws of victory," Sen. John Tower said at the Saturday SREC meeting here.

SREC members agreed that John Connally, George Bush and Ronald Reagan are the leading contenders in the May GOP presidential preference primary. Tower says the survivor of that "spirited" battle will have an excellent shot at the Democratic nominee — as long as the battle is not too bloody.

"I'm gratified that our presidential candidates and their managers have comported themselves in an amicable and friendly way," Tower said. "I think they are all in fundamental agreement on the major issues."

"I hope that whatever wounds there might be will heal rapidly after the convention," he added.

Oil Spill Costs $300 Million

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Oil and tar no longer mar miles of sandy Texas beaches, but the fishing and tourist industries lost at least $300 million in three short weeks and officials fear future oil well disasters could dwarf the fateful events of summer 1979.

Some 550 miles south of the Texas coast, in Mexico's Bay of Campeche, runaway Ixtoc I oil well continues to dump hundreds of tons of oil since it blew out June 3 and became history's worst oil spill.

Officials of PEMEX, the Mexican oil monopoly, say the well cannot be capped until late October — at the earliest. Privately, far less optimistic reports have been circulated.

Regardless of when the well is capped, authorities along Texas' Gulf coast are fearful of the future — even while admitting they were lucky only to see some $300 million go down the drain.

It took three months for the oil to make its long journey north, where it washed and splattered onto Texas beaches and got worldwide publicity. The oil struck just at the end of the peak summer tourist season. If it had come earlier, officials say, the economic disaster would have been far greater.

Winds and currents reversed at the end of summer and sent most of the oil back toward Mexico, where beaches and habitats have suffered far greater damage than in Texas.

But next spring, winds and currents reverse again and could return the oil from the Ixtoc I well — or from other wells planned off the Mexican coast.

Dr. Nancy Maynard, a scientific support coordinator for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, said, "What is happening here is people are saying 'It's over. But wait until spring. It took three months for that oil to get up here and the currents have now reversed."

"In spring, the currents flow north again," she said. "If it's not capped, if the oil is still flowing, we'll get plastered again. We lucked out this fall because it happened just at the end of the northerly currents."

"Most of the offshore oil is located just south of Brownsville. Most of the water has some sort of sheen on it and patches of oil. I imagine it will pretty much stay in that area — or go ashore in Mexico. But in February, if there's still oil on the water, we're going to have the same problem again."

On Sept. 6, the most recent date measurements showed there were 3,700 metric tons of oil in the Gulf, on or near south Texas beaches.

"We really got lucky and the currents changed just at the right time," said University of Texas marine sciences expert Pat Parker.

Ralph Thompson, executive vice-president of the South Padre tourist bureau, said the $300 million loss figure was probably very conservative. There have been some estimates that $400-$450 million was lost. "Had this happened to us in spring, it would be far more serious," Thompson said. "We would have lost the entire spring break, Easter and summer business."

HEARTLINE: My wife recently became disabled due to a stroke. She is partially paralyzed, but can move a few steps at a time with a walker. She cannot, however, go up or down stairs.

I checked into a chair elevator — a stair glide which goes up and down the steps powered by a motor. This gadget is expensive but essential, because our house is old (built about 50 years ago) and has a bathroom upstairs and downstairs but none on the ground floor.

I am not physically able to carry my wife. We have no relatives or friends nearby, and we can't afford to hire a full-time person to carry her. I could afford a stair glide with Medicare's help, but I am told that Medicare will not help pay for this. I just cannot understand why they don't if they don't. This sure looks to me like something that is medically necessary. What do you say? — K.O.

You were told correctly. Medicare will not help pay for a stair glide, elevator or any similar item. According to Medicare sources, these are considered luxury items. We have been given different philosophies for the why's of this ruling over the years. The general opinion is that there are too many other options, which include moving to another house and remodeling.

For those persons who are interested in information about the entire Medicare program, we have written Heartline's guide to Medicare. To order, send $1.75 to Medicare Guidebook, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381.

HEARTLINE: I have read about the Heartline Pen Pal Club from time to time over the years. But, until recently, I never really understood how dreadful loneliness can be. My husband died six months ago, and three months ago, my youngest son got married and moved out of the state. I just sit around, watch TV, read, clean the house — over and over and over! What must I do to receive information on Heartline's Pen Pal Club? — B.W.

People seldom realize how terrible loneliness can be until they experience it. Loneliness is a primary problem in our society today, especially among the elderly. Our society has come a long way with special groups and functions for the elderly, but the sad fact remains that thousands of older American still sit in small apartments and houses, isolated farms and institutions, suffering the agony of loneliness.

We know that our Pen Pal Club, to many people, would seem a lot of foolishness. We also know, because our members have told us, that we have helped thousands of senior citizens make new friends with whom they share their memories, families, hobbies and in some cases gossip. For some people, it may not be the answer, but for many, it is.

For complete information on the club and an enrollment card, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Heartline American 60 club, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Remember, though, that this is a club exclusively for senior citizens and we do not accept members under the age of 50.

HEARTLINE: Is it true that any part of the $60 deductible I pay for Medicare this year can also be applied for next year? — H.S.

In some cases this is true. If you meet all or any portion of your Medicare deductible in the last three months of the year (October, November, December), that part of the previous year's deductible can also be counted toward the following year's $60 annual deductible.
