Panel Recommends Scrapping Of Dollar Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - The dollar bill could become a thing of the past and tomorrow's money might be made of plastic if Congress follows the recommendations released Tuesday by a Carter administration task force on mon-

It also suggested that Congress consider eliminating the half dollar coin, making pennies out of aluminum alloy if copper prices rise too high and urged a study of using plastic in future currency.

Possible elimination of the dollar bill was immediately attacked by Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., chairman of the House Banking subcommittee on consumer affairs. Annunzio told a hearing that he would "do everything within my power to keep the dollar bill bill and, instead, use the dollar coin, then the Treasury Department should be required to issue every American a pair of suspenders," he concluded. Congressional sources, who asked that their names not be used, said Congress probably would move very slowly to alter the nation's currency because of apparent public rejection of two recent hard-fought changes: introduction of the Anthony dollar earlier this year and the 1976 re-introduction of the $2 bill.

The task-force report - prepared by officials from the Treasury Department, the Mint, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the Federal Reserve - is the latest in a series of recommendations that have been prepared on the nation's coin and currency sys-

Three times previously the House had shied away from approving a pay raise for members of Congress, top-level government officials and federal judges. The congressmen reversed themselves Tuesday on a narrow roll call vote of 208 to 203. (Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, voted against the pay raise.)

The key to passage appeared to be the last-minute addition of one of Congress' pet projects — a $10 billion bill to fund water and energy projects across uncertain fate in the Senate. the nation - to the legislation containing the pay raise.

Congress earlier had passed a separate water and energy bill and sent it to President Carter. But the water project but contained money for the controversial Tellico Dam in Tennessee and there were concerns that Carter might veto vote

Handlers Approve Contract

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) - The crippling 11-week strike that halted all grain shipments from the ports of Duluth and Superior, Wis., ended Tuesday when grain handlers ratified contract offers made by eight elevator companies. The approval came despite the lack of a cost of living increase clause, which the union had been insisting on and which officials said was the main dispute in the walkout which began July 6. Rather than the cost of living clause.

the workers agreed to accept a $1,000 bonus each year for the life of the three year contract.

The striking members of Local 118 of the American Federal of Grain Millers voted 358-86 to accept the new pact and union officials said work would resume at 8 a.m. today at each of the eight ele-

A port official said 27 ships waiting for more than a week offshore in Lake Superior began moving into the harbor immediately after it was announced the contracts had been accepted by union

The companies maintained through out long negotiations in Minneapolis that they could not include a cost-of-living clause and would only agree to a contract that conformed to President Carter's 7 percent wage-benefit guidelines.

Throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota, grain elevators are filled to capacity and some grain is piled on the ground. Grain truck traffic from North Dakota, where bumper crops are being harvested, is expected to be nearly bumperto-bumper as soon as elevators get the word to resume shipments. Basically Same Offer

Continental Grain Co. grain handler Mark Steffen said the contract grain handlers were voting on includes basically the same thing the companies were offering before the strike began.

He said the new contract calls for a 70-cent hourly increase in its first year and a 58-cent raise in its second year. 'It wasn't worth the wait," said Steffen. "It really didn't amount to much." Direct economic losses - in wages. sales and other services - have been estimated at about $40 million in Minnesota. However, state officials said the loss to Minnesota farmers and agri-business will reach $1 billion. Losses to farmers in the Dakotas are expected to exceed

> "$1 Billion Accurate" From the information we have received, I would have to say that $1 bil-lion is accurate," said Minnesota Agriculture Commissioner Mark Seetin. The strike began when grain handlers at the Continental Grain Co. elevator in Superior walked off their jobs. The contract between Local 118 and the grain companies had expired June 30.

The shutdown gradually spread to elevators owned by Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association, Cargill, Inc., Con-Agra, Inc., Archer-Daniels Midland Corp., Peavey Co., International Multifoods Corp. and General Mills. Inc.

Two Injured In Shootings

A PREGNANT woman and a 17year-old youth were shot Tuesday night at the Panhandle South Plains Fair in two separate incidents.

Delores Carter, 23, of 5406 27th St. apartment 15 D, was shot with a small caliber weapon in the right leg. The woman's husband told police she was sitting on a fence about 9:50 p.m. in the midway area when the 6 months pregnant woman felt a pain in her leg and discovered she was shot.

An argument at 9:30 p.m. apparently sparked the shooting of Javier G. Ruiz, 1811-A Sixth St., who was shot once in the lower abdomen. He was being treated at Health Sciences Center Hospital late Tuesday. Police have the name of a

By BOB CAMPBELL Avalanche-Journal Staff

CROSBYTON - A prosecutor in the murder trial of 58-year-old Paula Bruce, who is accused in the shooting deaths of an elderly Lorenzo couple last October, testified Tuesday that he offered Mrs. Bruce immunity from prosecution "if she didn't pull the trigger" and could Crosby County District Attorney Bill Marley, co-prosecutor with special prosecutor Alton Griffin of Lubbock, said he did not consider a statement given later by Mrs. Bruce to have satisfied either requirement.

Griffin and Marley rested for the state Tuesday afternoon following the testimony of Marley and two women who said they saw 34-year-old John Thomas Carter of Lubbock and Mrs. Bruce at a Lubbock liquor store late on the afternoon of the Oct. 2, 1978, the day of the shootings. Testimony in the trial opened Tuesday morning with the introduction of the statement in which Mrs. Bruce said she was unsure how Mr. and Mrs. Valton Gandy were killed.

However, she said in the statement that Carter, who apparently committed suicide in his jail cell here March 7, came to the car in which she was sitting alongside the Gandys' home and indicated that he had killed the couple. 'The first thing he said when he got in the car was, 'I've killed the Gandys," the statement said.

Mrs. Bruce said in the statement taken last Oct. 30 at Department of Public Safety headquarters in Lubbock that she had drunk a large quantity of beer on the afternoon before the Gandys were slain outside their rural home a half mile north of Lorenzo.

Referring to Carter as "Tommy," she said in the statement that she remembered riding with Carter toward the Gandy home before the killings. She said she also remembered seeing Carter on the front porch of the house and hearing the approach of some type of vehicle. The statement did not mention Mrs.

Bruce hearing gunshots, but Crosby County Sheriff Fred Owen, who spent most of the morning on the witness stand, said five .38-caliber bullets were recovered from the two bodies and from the blood-soaked shooting scene in the front driveway of the house.

Several other law enforcement officers testified between witness stand appearances by Owen concerning recovery of the bullets, and Texas Ranger Joe Hunt indicated in testimony that one slug was fired through Mrs. Gandy's head after she was lying on the ground. The bullet was recovered several inches under the driveway surface, Hunt said and there was an exit wound on the side of her head that was next to the

Owen said 73-year-old Valton Gandy had bullet wounds on the right side of the head and in the face and that 68year-old Cora Gandy had wounds in her forehead and the side of her head.

Senate Approves Canal Treaty Bill; House To Vote Today

Tuesday passed a bill designed to carry out details of the Panama Canal treaties as President Carter worked to cool treaty opposition in the House.

Already signed by Carter and ratified by the Senate, the treaties take effect Monday

The bill approved by the Senate is designed to establish a U.S.-controlled commission that will operate the canal until, under terms of the treaties, the waterway is turned over to Panama on Dec. 31, 1999.

Senate approval of the bill had been expected and it easily passed on a vote of 63-32. But opposition to the treaties has been heavy in the House, which last week turned down the treaty implementation bill on a 203-192 vote. The bill approved by the Senate was a compromise revision of the measure rejected by the House last week

The House planned to vote on the new bill today.

Carter, to whom last week's House vote was an embarrassment, personally telephoned some House members in an supporting the legislation.

The compromise measure approved by the Senate was restructured Monday by a House-Senate conference committee in an effort to make it more acceptable to House treaty opponents.

The House had wanted a provision in the bill that would state that the canal would be placed under U.S. military control in time of war, but the administration contended such a provision would violate the spirit of the treaties.

The compromise measure empowers the president to order the canal's administrator to follow directions of the U.S. military if he believes the security of the canal is threatened. In a statement that accompanies but is not part of the bill the conference committee specified that foreign combat troops moving into Panama would constitute such a threat. The House also won a provision that prohibits the president from turning the canal over to Panama before the treaty expires at the end of the century. Some House members had contended that the bill rejected last week would have allowed Carter to surrender the canal before he leaves office.

Before the Senate vote. Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan, offered and then withdrew a proposal to authorize the president to put the canal under U.S. military control if Soviet, Cuban or other foreign military forces move into Panama.

"This is one more opportunity to say to the world, say to the Soviets or anyone else who has designs on the Panama Canal, that if foreign military forces are found in Panama that would be considered a threat to the security of the canal," Dole said.

Senate leaders talked Dole into withdrawing the motion, arguing that a revision so late would jeopardize chances for final approval of the bill by the time the treaties take effect on Monday.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance are scheduled to participate in ceremonies in Panama on Monday when the treaties take effect.

Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., floor manager of the bill, said if the measure is not approved by Monday "we could forfeit our rights under the treaties, including the rights to operate the canal and maintain troops there until the end of the century.

The workers were not exposed to any excessive radiation. And the discharge of xenon gas was only 10 percent of the allowable limits set by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission for a single discharge," said Vepco senior vice president William L. Proffitt.

Xenon gas is produced by the radioactive decay of the reactor's fuel.

C.M. Stallings, Vepco vice president for power supply and production operations, said the problem with the heat exchanger tube was not directly related to

In the heat exchanger, pressurized radioactive water from the reactor's core transfers heat to uncontaminated water, producing steam to drive the generators. The radioactive water returns to the reactor to be reheated and does not enter the generator.

When the exchanger tube began leaking, it allowed temperatures to rise to an excessive level, which automatically shut down the steam turbine. That in turn tripped the reactor off line as part of the failsafe system. Proffitt said.

Proffitt said the gas venting, in an auxiliary building, occurred because the gas bubble above a volume control tank" on the reactor's pressurized water system reached a certain pressure level. In the volume control tank, the bubble reacts to changes in water pressure by expanding or shrinking.

Hyping An Anti-Nuke Crusade

IS THIS NATION destined to be ruled by dom in the audience should be considered a government of "sound and fury?"

The question is relevant in the wake of Sunday's massive anti-nuclear protest meeting in Manhattan. An estimated 200,000 protestors turned out to hear big-name rock stars and activists such as Jane Fonda and Ralph Nader in what was billed as the largest such protest in the nation's history.

WE HAVE NO quarrel with peaceful assembly and protest. Sunday's gathering is to be commended for keeping such a profile.

But, we do take issue with how Sunday's "massive protest" was presented.

In the first place, it is not unusual for 100,000 or more persons to be drawn to some event by "big name rock stars and activitists" these days. With such a "drawing card," you could organize a protest against motherhood and apple pie.

In the second place, the motives of those involved in such things have to be an issue. Almost all the speakers have long been associated with activist issues and have their own axes to grind.

And thirdly, it is doubtful that more than a mere handful of the 200,000 present, including those leading the protest, had the foggiest notion of what they were talking

WHICH BRINGS us down to the manner in which such events are covered by the news media.

In all objectivity, we can't understand ever that may be, or anyone picked at ran-ment of sound and fury?

an authority to speak to the rest of the nation on the safety of nuclear power.

One of those prominently quoted was a 17-year-old who expounded that "there are safer energy forms to pursue (that) are foolproof" and could avoid nuclear accidents such as the one at Three Mile Island.

Really now? We assume burning cowchips and old trees would come under that category. Or even standard fuel oil from Iran, if it were available at the right price.

WHO IS qualified to speak out on such matters? Jane Fonda, husband Tom Hayden. Ralph Nader and Bella Abzug?

What about the other side of the controversy? Is it being buried by such 'massive' protest meetings and "name" activists? Are such emotional arenas-hyped by rock stars-the proper place to decide such important subjects?

Is a person "news" just because he or she happens to show up at such events?

The point here is that a nation should not be run by, nor critical decisions made in, such a climate.

We will be among the first to argue that the safety factor should be a prime priority in nuclear power. But, we also are aware that thus far, far fewer persons have died or been injured by nuclear power than in manufacturing other forms of conventional power-or in driving a car on the streets of Lubbock, Texas!

Bigger SPAG Bad Business

WITHDRAWAL of Lubbock County from the South Plains Association of Governments may be nothing more than a tiny ripple in the sea of non-representative government that is threatening to engulf America.

By a 3-2 majority, the Commissioners Court nonetheless served notice that it does not want to be a party to the erosion of the rights of local government in federal-statelocal relationships.

The action resulted from SPAG's decision to take private citizens onto its board of directors in order to qualify for federal Economic Development Administration grants.

ORGANIZED AS an association of ernments, as its name implies, SPAG thus will become Some People After Grants rather than an organization of elected officials to coordinate regional planning.

Federal bureaucrats, who are appointed, not elected, want to funnel taxpayers' money through state bureaucrats, likewise unelected, to a group of unelected local citizens.

If a region such as that embraced by SPAG wants to receive a share of the "economic development" grants, then the federal-state guidelines require unelected minority representation in proportion to the overall population.

This belief that federally allocated funds should be spent by bypassing local governments helps account for why the federal budget has gotten so high and the deficit so

Direct grants of such magnitude should be spent and administered only by officials who are directly responsible to the taxpayers. Enlarging the SPAG board to include private citizens who do not carry this burden of responsibility is bad business.

change in the make-up of the board are payers' money around like daisies-"Love me, quite right in pointing out that other regions are raking in the federally allocated largesse after organizing the receiving bodies to fit the federal guidelines.

Lubbock County Commissioners Alton Brazell, Coy Biggs and Edgar Chance decided, though, to stand on principle and now it will be interesting to see if the Lubbock City Council is equally sensitive to the principle of representative government.

An association of governments-that is, of elected officials-to approve or reject grants of taxpayers' money for regional economic development projects makes sense; an association of private citizens does not.

Doomsayers Are Wrong Sayeth Tax-Cut Gospel

Supreme Court of California rejected legal challenges to the Jarvis-Gann amendment, sharply slashing property taxes in that state.

This anniversary has been the occasion for several assessments of the effects of Jarvis-Gann, or Proposition 13, as it was identified on the California ballot.

When the amendment was being debated, there were voluble cries of anguish from government interests and spending lobbies, saying that social progress in the state would come to a screeching halt. A year after the proposal became effective law, all these projections turn out to be mistaken.

As noted by Robert Poole of the Local Government Center in Santa Barbara, Calif., writing in the current issue of Human Events, Proposition 13 has been an economic godsend to California.

FAR FROM CAUSING calamity in the Golden State, the law has brought an exhilarating surge

Lay-offs of government employes and cutbacks of social services have been far less than predicted, and are more than canceled by the explosive growth of private economic action.

In terms of government job reductions, Poole observes, there are about 100,000 fewer public sector employes now than there were a year ago (some analysts had said there would be a loss of 450,000 such positions). Moreover, only 17,000 of these were actually laid off, the other jobs having been eliminated through attrition.

Likewise, local governments have not been required to shut their doors or suspend essential services, despite some marginal cutbacks, such as. shorter library hours.

THE REAL STORY on Jarvis-Gann, however, has been the tremendous increase in private sector vigor since the amendment took effect. Nearly all the positive economic indicators in tional average.

WASHINGTON-A year has passed since the California are on the upswing, with nearly all the negative ones declining-suggesting the creative energy of private enterprise when it can get a little headroom. Data on these subjects have been convincingly assembled by Fortune magazine.

Once Jarvis-Gann was in place, says Fortune, personal incomes in California rose dramatically -by 14 percent early this year, compared to the identical period in 1978. Retail sales followed in the wake of this resurgence.

BUT BECAUSE tax costs were so much lower, the state consumer price index rose by only eight percent-a percentage point lower than a year before. Cost reductions were especially notable in the expensive California housing market.

Fortune estimates that Proposition 13, by rolling back the property tax, lowered the cost of owning a home in California by about $800 a year on the average.

This has been followed by a boom in housing construction-up to an annual rate of 200,000 per year as of this summer, well in advance of the most optimistic projections.

Even more dramatic are the figures on California employment.

IN THE YEAR ensuing after passage of Jarvis-Gann, the private sector in the state generated 552,000 new jobs, vastly overcompensating for the loss in public employment.

The jobless rate fell to 6.2 percent in May, almost a full percentage point below the figure for a year before. This was twice the percentage reduction on a nationwide basis, and brought the California rate to within half a point of the na-

All of this not only suggests the doomsayers were wrong, but that those who have been preaching the gospel of tax cuts generally as a remedy for our economic ills are almost certainly

Hardball Goes Foul

WASHINGTON-The moment Sen. Edward M. Kennedy became available, President Carter's operatives began to warn key party leaders that a Carter-Kennedy fight would tear the Democratic party asunder along religious, sectional and political lines—a warning which immediately began undermining its own purpose.

Carter's hardball originated with top aide Hamilton Jordan and his political deputies. It boils down to this: Jimmy Carter is in the race to stay; if you join Kennedy against him, you will rip the national fabric-besides contributing to a Democratic bloodbath. And make no mistake: We'll be

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

WASHINGTON-President Carter has much to SPAG DIRECTORS who voted for the learn about money. He throws our suffering taxlove me not"-as if the barrel had no bottom.

President Carter's attitude somehow reminds me of novelist Upton Sinclair, once nearly elected governor of the great state of California-a wild man if you ever saw one.

Sinclair had a paper-money, cradle-to-grave pitch. He could talk the ears off a corn field; and to provide himself with a political gimmick, originated the "End Poverty in California" program, called the Townsend Plan.

Throughout California, Sinclair shouted: "More money means less work and you can have more of the good things of life. Isn't that common sense? The Townsend Plan will end poverty.'

TODAY YOU find it widely agreed that Sinclair's plan would have ended California, but not poverty. When President Carter confuses money with purchasing power, he falls into the same

In Central Asia I found Buddhists who believe they can improve their lot in life by standing on one foot, closing one nostril and pronouncing the mystic word "OM-PAH." They are mistaken. So is President Carter whenever he believes the United States can improve itself by distributing more and more money. That's inflation. There are all kinds of swindlers, of course, but the worst swindler of all is inflation.

We are helpless, struggling men and women. facing the inflation surf by joining hands in a chain to be kept from being swept away.

YOU AND I see inflation everywhere-in the rent we pay, the houses we try to build, at the gasoline pump, the wages and salaries paid, and every time we turn around.

President Carter, again and again, declares inflation is the No. 1 problem. Surely he knows it spreads like cancer, like a surgeon who finds the body diseased. But, by President Carter's overspending, we will continue inflation.

On the day of Arthur Okun's retirement as chairman of President Lyndon Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, he conceded: "The government itself has been a major cause of inflation because it has been providing so much deficit money into the economy.'

This is the first time any government official openly made such an admission.

MONEY, OF course, will buy only what is produced. When the United States distributes "more money" we create no more goods-not a single additional plow, hairpin, bag of peanuts, etc. If tomorrow Congress passed a law arbitrarily making every $1 bill into a $20 bill, could we buy with it 20 times as much? Prosperity and money are related, but they are not the same.

In a DC-3 during World War II I flew from Dum Dum airport near Calcutta to Chungking, China, sitting beside immense bales of paper en route. The bales contained billions of Chinese dollars, printed in Philadelphia by the American Bank Note Company

But I was not sitting beside Chinese purchasing power, only bundles of American paper with which the Chinese could purchase little or nothobserving closely who is for us-and and who is against us

The intent clearly was to prevent a stampede toward the Kennedy bandwagon. But the reaction has been overwhelmingly negative. Carter's hardball response is interpreted by longtime Democratic politicians as an indication that the President and his men have no interest in a post-Carter Democratic party but are content to bring down the temple as they leave it.

Kennedy's changed tune brought neither surprise nor melancholy from the West Wing of the White House. Carter's closest advisers—especially Press Secretary Jody Powell-long have been convinced that Kennedy would challenge him. To them, Kennedy has simply cleared the air.

thus triggering what obviously was their previously planned strategy. That strategy closely resembled the "full-court press' of the old Nixon days: putting out the word in the most unmistakable terms possible. AT THE WHITE HOUSE, prominent Democratic politicians were warned by Jordan himself that a bloody battle would result if they backed Kennedy. But bloody or not, Carter would win.

Jordan's mood was described as "macho", more swaggering than regretful. Jordan's operatives simultaneously were on the telephones to pound home a slightly different message in explicit terms. One warned Democratic politicians in the Northeast, naturals for defecting to Kennedy, with these blunt words, seemingly read from a prepared script: A Carter-Kennedy shoot-out will divide the Democratic party and the nation "worse than Vietnam. It will be North vs. South, Protestant vs. Catholic. The emotional level will rise during the next two months. HE NEXT WARNED of the consequences of a Kennedy nomination: "In a general election, he's going to get clobbered. Wait 'til the Jesse Helms' of the world get ahold of him. He won't carry a state below Kentucky This Jordan agent stressed Carter's tenacity, retelling the oft-told story of how he ran again for governor of Georgia in 1970 (after losing in 1966) against Jordan's advice Finally, the big and slightly bullying pitch:

'Over the next two months, we'll be finding out who our friends are

The impact was highly negative. One visitor went straight from the White House to a pro-Kennedy leader's Capitol Hill office to brief him.

Others wondered about talk of Protestant vs. Catholic fratracide, when Carter must contend with Kennedy for Catholic voters in the important early delegate tests in Puerto Rico, Iowa, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

THE ABRASIVE TONE confirms the interpretation of that unfortunate remark by the President's mother in Nashua, N.H., Sept. 9

When she publicly raised the possibility of a third Kennedy assassination, after having uttered the same thought in private statements earlier that day, it was widely interpreted in the political community, fairly or not, as White House orches-

While claiming Mrs. Carter's comments were only a mother's musings, the President's men feel hardball can serve two purposes

* Keep wavering Democrats out of the Kennedy camp; and * Show Teddy Kennedy he cannot hope for a

Carter withdrawal (and therefore might well reconsider entering). Party stalwarts, many personally fond of Carter, believe that is the route to disaster. THEY FEEL NO sense of danger from the exaggerated powers of a weak incumbent President. They contend Carter would have been better advised to stress foreign policy and integrity and to hope that, somehow, Kennedy would back out in the end.

Ham Jordan's hardball confirms suspicion among these stalwarts that the Carter team has never been more than a temporary occupant of the Democratic structure, ready to burn it down in the event of an eviction notice.

The fear raised by these calls concerns not so much what candidate Carter can do to them in his quest of the nomination but what a lame duck President might do to his party if Kennedy is nominated.

JAY HARRIS:

The New Africa...

JOHANNESBURG-The South African Airways jumbo jet was only a short distance from this "golden city.

The man in the next seat leaned forward. What do you think is going to happen in the United States? Are you going to be able to turn things around in time?" he asked.

In view of the fact we were headed for the Republic of South Africa, a nation painted as a pariah by much of the world, it was an ironic, almost amusing query. But, it is one being asked more and more often, abroad as well as at home,

For the past two weeks, we have been seeking answers to not only that question, but the crucial one of what may happen to one of the most strategic "hot spots" in the world today.

IT HAS BEEN a most revealing journey.

The quest has taken us to the birth of a third black homelands nation in the RSA, to its capital of Pretoria where the ruling Nationalist Party has been debating a bold new course of action, and to the beauty that is Capetown and Stellenbosch on the southernmost tip of the continent. Not only are there signs of a "new Africa" emerging, but a new attitude toward America. No longer does most of the world look to the United States as the last bastion of freedom, or even Free Enterprise. Instead, not only the South Africans, but those we met from around the world are worried by what they perceive to be a stumbling giant. Millions of "little people" would still jump at the chance to live in America. To the average person, it is still the land of opportunity. But, to the educated observers, the businessman and politicians, the torch beside the golden door is somewhat dimmer, the door itself a bit tarnished

THE REPUBLIC of South Africa today is still the same bustling place we recall from three previous visits since 1975. But, with a difference, Today, the RSA is work ing as never before to find solutions, not only to its historic racial problem, from petty apartheid to more deep-rooted social and economic issues.

And South Africa today is benefiting as never before from the frenetic gold price boom. As a nation which produces a vast portion of the Free World's supply of the yellow stuff, today's "gold rush" means money in the bank, as well as pockets of South Africans

Today, South Africa enjoys one of the better credit ratings among all nations, and the sale of its Krugerrand, the "one perfect ounce" gold coin, is setting records in money markets the world over, including the U.S.

applies a double standard of criticism to the economic giant of the African continent, then stumbles over itself in a rush to hoard its gold WE MADE THE trip to South Africa for a number of reasons, not the least of which was to

It is a strange commentary on a world which find what others thought of U.S. policies and to see how others are coping in a world at bay with the Third World We were in the company the first week of the visit with two other editors from the U.S., two members of Britain's Parliament, two leading news people from Europe, a professor of world history and politics from Canada, another from Australia and one from Israel We also talked with leading businessmen and civic leaders in South Africa and from Latin America and Europe. And some from the U.S. who come here for what they consider sound in vestments. We also visited the campuses of two of South Africa's fine universities, including a black one which next year starts admitting white students, and a racially mixed one which was fea-

While we were in Venda, a lush land and the smallest of the RSA's tribal units, my wife flew from Joburg into what is now Zimbabwe-Rhodesia under unusual circumstances

After landing at Bulawayo, she flew on to tamed Victoria Falls in a camouflaged Air Rhodesia plane for a look at one of the "wonders of the modern world," and to see first hand what is happening in that beleaguered land. An armed camp for all practical purposes, Zim-

Rho, as some have dubbed it, is viewed by South Africa, and many Americans for that matter, as a pawn being used by Britain and U.S. to placate demands for a so-called black majority rule, and indirectly another Marxist conquest. It may be another of history's all-time blunders

TODAY, IN South Africa, there is a refreshing candor and approach to the problems the nation

As headlines continue to dwell on the racial issue, and events such as the London conference on Zimbabwe-Rhodesia, one has the feeling that the people and their leaders have finally made up their minds they must solve their own problems and save themselves. The West is viewed as a faltering, if unsteady friend.

On the surface, South Africa presents a picture of a bustling nation coming out of an inflation-induced slowdown. Hotels, airlines, tours, you name it, most are booked solid. The immediate outlook is an upbeat one.

South Africa's cities are unusually clean, with streets and highways lined with plants, flowers. trees. Service in the major hotels and restaurants is excellent, the food superb and the prices considerably lower than in most places in the world.

And while most blacks are still strictly segregated, in the homelands and townships such as Soweto, there is no segregation in the major hotels, cases, planes. Mixed theater audiences and integrated sporting events are common. The nation has a long way to go, but at least it is moving ahead, which is something many of its critics, including those in the U.S., can't say.

A-J Entertainment Editor
It was not that long ago that John Conlee quit planting tobacco on his daddy's Kentucky farm and started planting something entirely different as a funeral home employee. However, the embalming business was still much too slow an undertaking for a man whose first love was music. So six years later, Conlee found himself working as a deejay for one of Nashville's biggest rock 'n' roll stations.

But all the while he was spinning other folks' records, he couldn't deny having an itch of his own.

In 1978 John Conlee started scratching that itch, and the results have been nothing short of phenomenal. His very first album of country music spawned not one but three hit songs in "Rose Colored Glasses," "Back Side Of 30" and "Lady Lay Down." His second album looks to fare equally well. His mom's scrapbook started getting fatter and fatter as the "best newcomer" started coming his way, followed in short order by bigger and more vocal audiences. Which is not at all bad for a Kentucky farm at all in getting airplay, he said, "No, not in that respect. My advantage was that, during my nine years in radio, I got to observe a lot of things. I got to learn the business, and know some of the dos and don'ts. I've seen the pressures on some bands, which is why I don't do more than three dates (performances) a week. And I know what the media needs in regards to interviews and the like.

Asked during a recent telephone interview whether his radio experience helped

'Still, it's been an incredible year. Everything just keeps happening. I knew it was all possible, but I just didn't expect it to come this quickly.

Conlee, who indicates that awards are "the icing, but not the cake," also down-plays his own stylistic singing ability. "Back Side Of 30" was actually released long before "Rose Colored Glasses" — but received virtually no airplay and died a quick death. Then, after "Glasses" prompted response, the first song was rediscovered, rereleased and never allowed to wander far from country station turntables. Conlect the country station turntables. The world tracks and basic said, "It was the same record. All we did was add strings. The vocal tracks and basic tracks were all the same.

"It was just a matter of timing. Really, I'd say luck and timing are factors which play a much bigger part than talent in getting hits."

Conlee says his writing has suffered more than anything else during the past year; he's traveling a lot more and "can't write a lick on an airplane." But he's been saved by the same success, with Nashville's finest songwriters now submitting tunes to Conlee for consideration. Still, those airplanes are getting the guy down — and by

Jan. 1 he plans to give them up. It's a resolution he intends to keep. "A lot of people think traveling by plane from New York to Chicago must be real exotic," he said. "But it's not. It's tiring. Waiting in airports is tiring. I still can't afford to have a full band travel with me because it'd be too expensive to fly. But by Jan. 1 I plan to have a bus. And then things are really going to pick up. You can travel together by bus, you can arrive relaxed.

"The bus will allow us a lot more freedom. We'll be more self-contained. Hopefully, we'll also be able to tour where we can spend two weeks on the road and two

It's not surprising that Conlee now finds himself in the position of being handed hundreds of unsolicited tapes from aspiring singers. He went through the same thing tract. But that doesn't mean he's willing to seri his songs, before making a costract. But that doesn't mean he's willing to sacrifice quality for sentiment.

"I'm interested in good songs," he said, "and so I take all the tapes and listen to them. You never know where you might get a hit, right? But over 90 per cent of the time, you're not going to find anything good enough from locals on the road. Shoot, I've still got a bunch of my own songs back home that I wrote years ago. Nobody else has cut them, and I haven't either.

"Frankly, I can see the flaws in those songs, and I just want to record the best songs available."

John Conlee will be featured in con-cert today at the Panhandle South Plains Fair. Dave and Sugar headline the show, tickets for which are available at the coliseum box office.

Palestinian Self-Rule Still Sinai Obstacle

TEL AVIV (AP) - Israel turned over biblical Mount Sinai 2,600 square miles of Sinai wilderness to Egypt Tuesday as part of the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty, but sharp differences on self-rule for Palestinians remained as the two countries prepared to resume autonomy negotiations.

"Both sides are contributing to peace, and both sides are making sacrifices for peace," said Israeli Brig. Gen. Dov Sion as he turned over control of a triangular sector of south-central Sinai to Egyptian Brig. Gen. Saf-el-Din Avu

"We have achieved more in peace than we have by all our wars," Sion add-

That sentiment was also stressed Tuesday by Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who said in a speech that agreement with Egypt was only the start of an overall peace in the Middle East,

"It never occurred to us . . . that we should sign a treaty of peace and then say, 'enough,'" Begin said. He repeated his calls to Jordan and Syria to join the peace talks.

Israeli and Egyptian honor guards and bands accompanied the brief military ceremony at Abu Durba, a desert outpost on the Suez Gulf. Israel lowered its flag at the site at 11:25 a.r. local time, and the Egyptian flag was then raised over the area. The ceremony marked the third time Israel has turned over a Sinai parcel to Egypt under terms of the March treaty.

Israeli and Egyptian negotiators resume talks on Palestinian self-rule Wednesday in Alexandria, but the two countries have yet to grapple successfully with the issue of autonomy for the more than one million Arabs living under Israeli occupation on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza

Israel has accepted several U.S. proposals for accelerating the talks, including the establishment of technical committees to work out details concerning agriculture, education and finance for the West Bank government.

The suggestions, brought by special U.S. Mideast envoy Robert Strauss two weeks ago, do not touch the delicate issue of the legal status of an autonomy government. Israel wants the body to have narrowly defined powers, while Egypt is pushing for a more independent government.

The mountainous region turned over to Egypt Tuesday is populated by about 3,000 Bedouins and contains no important Israeli military i istallations: It is in the south-central part of the peninula, while Israel captured in the 1967 Mideast war. The area is north of St. Catherine's Monastery at the site revered as the Israel is to turn over Mt. Sinai in November, ahead of the schedule which originally called for the transfer to be carried out in January. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat plans a special celebration at the site to commemorate the second anniversary of his historic trip to Jerasalem on Nov 19, 1977.

"She's been in delicate health for many years," said Julie Eisenhower, who is married to Mrs. Eisenhower's grandson, David. "She has an enlarged heart and hasn't been able to get out of bed for several months.

The 82-year-old widow of President Dwight D. Eisenhower was rushed to Walter Reed Army Medical Center by a volunteer fire department ambulance from her farm on the edge of the Civil War battlefield in Gettysburg, Pa. She has lived at the farm since her husband died in 1969.

As she arrived at the hospital, reporters saw her doctor holding her hand and talking to her. Mrs. Eisenhower's eyes were closed.

Mrs. Eisenhower was taken immediately to the Eisenhower Nursing Suite, a VIP facility named for her late husband. A medical bulletin issued by the hospital two hours after Mrs. Eisenhower's arrival said the former first lady was in stable condition and had been placed on medication "The stroke has affected some of the functions on the right side of her body." the hospital statement said. "The permanency of these effects is not known at this time.

A fire department official said he received a call for an ambulance at the Eisenhower farm before 10 a.m.

Officials of the Secret Service, which guards Mrs. Eisenhower, said she was fully conscious when placed in the ambulance for the 80-mile trip to Washing-

In a telephone interview, Julie Eisenhower said that in the last year, the elder Mrs. Eisenhower has stopped traveling, given up most of her activities and spent much of her time reading.

"She used to greet a lot of people who came through Gettysburg - Boy Scouts, 4-H groups, things like that, said Julie, who is the daughter of former President Richard M. Nixon. "They gave her a lift. But she hasn't been able to do any of that for awhile.

Now her bed is always full of books. She reads everything. It's really the thing that has kept her going

Judge Accepts Guilty Pleas; Defendant Receives Sentence

Avalanche-Journal Staff U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward Tuesday deleted portions of a presentence report concerning drug-trafficking activities of Robert Wayne Lin-

After an hour-long hearing, the judge announced that portions of the report prepared by a federal probation officer could not be proven, and because of the 'misleading' statements in the report the judge said he earlier had been inclined to assess the 27-year-old Lindley a heftier prison term.

However, Tuesday Woodward accept ed Lindley's pleas of guilty to a charge of conspiracy to distribute methamphetamine and a second charge of possession of the drug, also known as "speed." with the intent to distribute. He sentenced Lindley to two years in a federal penitentiary for each count.

The judge noted that the two prison terms would run concurrently, and Lindley would be on special parole for two years on each count after serving his prison time. Woodward stipulated that the parole sentences also would be concur-

Lindley, of 1921 39th St., was to be sentenced last week, but when the defendant took the stand and denied probation reports that he manufactured the drug, Woodward ordered federal prosecutors to return to court Tuesday and prove that allegation.

Also questioned last week was a second allegation in the probation report, prepared by federal probation officer Jim Parsons, that Lindley was "a major distributor" of methamphetamines in West and North Texas.

Tuesday Lindley once again took the stand and denied ever being in a laboratory where the drug was produced. He told Asst. U.S. Attorney Bob Slough he had once discussed the possibility of manufacturing the drug, but that "it never got beyond the talking stage."

Lindley also testified that he made primary deliveries of speed to one man, who already has been convicted of drug trafficking in Dallas federal court, and that he did not know the full name of the man who supplied the drugs Lindley

The defendant said he began distributing the drug about 11/2 years ago and that each pickup of the drug he made was at a Lubbock city limits sign on the Slaton Highway.

Lindley said the supplier, a man he met through a friend and knew only as "John," would call him at a pay phone and tell him when to pick up the methamphetamines. Lindley said he then

Lubbock Area Unemployment Remains Low

Unemployment continues to drop in Lubbock, despite a decrease in the total number of employed people, according to figures released by the Texas Employment Commission.

Unemployment receded from 3.9 perent to 3.7 percent in Au lower unemployment figures expected during the remainder of the year. Withdrawal of students and other summer job seekers reduced the number of people looking for jobs, making a noticeable change in the size of the available labor supply Demand for workers showed an increase as those students and summer workers left their jobs. But the number of job seekers continues to outnumber available jobs.

The 1979 August unemployment estimate is below that of August 1978. Last year, unemployment was at 4.1 percent during August.

Lubbock has been following the trend line for Texas so far this year, though the local rate is considerably lower. Texas unemployment is estimated at 4.6 percent while U.S. unemployment is 5.9 percent.

TEC officials are predicting an additional 3,000 jobs above the current level will open up during the coming quarter. Approximately 98,480 people were employed in August and estimates put the November work force at about 100,800

The pattern of growth is expected to continue during the rest of the year due to the new school term and the approaching harvest. Wage and salary employment should hit new highs before the end of the year.

New building is still declining, lagging even further behind last year's levels. Declines in various segments of the work force were led by contract construction, with a 130-worker drop for the month, the TEC reported.

would give the money for the drugs to defendant, "It's now clear in my mind his friend, who he supposed delivered the cash to "John."

Lindley added that most of the drugs then were delivered to the man since convicted in Dallas, but he did admit he occasionally sold excess quantities of speed to other persons

Parsons also took the stand Tuesday and, under questioning from Lindley's attorney Gerald Anderson, said that the portion of the probation report concerning the manufacture of methamphetamines was included to "give the overall picture of the drug situation.

Woodward, however, noted that Parsons' report implied Lindley was directly connected with the production of the

"This report indicates he got it directly (from a laboratory)," Woodward told Parsons. "I can't read it any other way. We're not talking about what he's charged with (conspiracy to distribute and actual distribution of methamphetamines). He's not charged with laboratory operations and yet it's in there and this inflames me.

The judge then ordered the portion of the report concerning Lindley's implied participation in the manufacture of methamphetamines stricken from the

Woodward, however, allowed the report statement labeling Lindley "a major distributor" to stand, and told the the extent of your participation in this

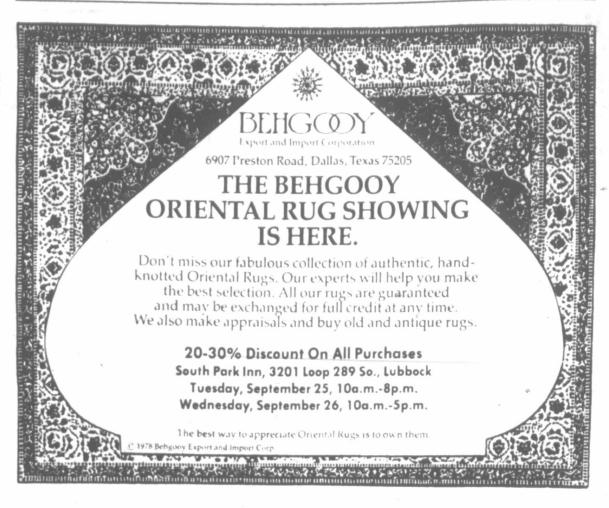

"I doubt if the record shows you were the hub of the (drug distribution) wheel, but you certainly were one of the major spokes.

Woodward added that after the initial review of the pre-sentence report he had unofficially decided to sentence Lindley to four years in federal prison on the two counts to which Lindley pleaded guilty. But after Tuesday's hearing, Woodward said, he thought the two-year terms were more appropriate.

Woodward also Tuesday dismissed four other possession of methamphetamine with the intent to distribute charges that were included in the original sixcount indictment returned by a federal grand jury against Lindley in June.

The dismissal of four of the counts in return for the guilty pleas on the other two indictment charges were part of the plea bargain arrangement agreed upon by Lindley's attorney and the U.S. Attor-

Judge Orders Book Report

CLEVELAND (AP) - The judge has thrown the book - a civies book - at a 20-year-old man who played hookey on the day he was to report for jury duty.

Judge Manuel Rocker, a municipal judge in the Cleveland suburb of Shaker Heights, said he did not think that Jeffrey Sugerman understood the importance of jury duty. So I did something to avoid a recurrence," the judge said.

Sugerman had been charged with contempt of court, fined $100 and court costs and sentenced to three days in jail for not appearing for jury duty Sept. 13. Rocker suspended the fine and jail sentence on the condition that Sugerman read a civics book and write a report on court organization and operation. The report must be submitted to the judge by Oct. 6.

Sugerman said he knew he was to report for jury duty but he was working and did not understand the seriousness

DENVER (AP) — A robber bungled a drugstore stickup when he fired several bullets into his own car, sped past a police-cruiser, ran out of gas a block from the store, commandeered a truck and promptly wrecked it, police say.

Police said that a man and a woman entered robbed a Denver drugstore of more than $500. The store manager grabbed a gun and gave chase, firing one shot. Carter Vows To Aid Transit Systems

NEW YORK (AP) - President Carter said Tuesday his proposals to aid mass transportation will erase decades of neglect and "reclaim America's transit systems" unless Congress rejects his proposed tax on oil company profits.

Carter, making a one-day trip to New York City, also promised that mass transit systems will continue to get priority allocation of gasoline and diese fuel if shortages develop. "We will keep them rolling," he said.

Carter's remarks were delivered at the annual convention of the American Public Transit Association.

After his speech, the president was to attend a reception for civic and community leaders before holding a "towr. meeting" with residents of the borough

In his speech to the transit group, Carter said he has made proposals that would produce 40,000 jobs throughout the 1980s, save "massive" amounts of energy and add 15 million passengers a day to buses, streetcars and subways,

He announced no new programs, but said that when he is through with New York City's 75-year-old IRT subway line it won't look a day over Sweet 16."

Carter spoke glowingly of the future of mass transit but said, "for this program to succeed, the Congress absolutey must approve one major element the windfall profits tax."

He said lobbyists "are swarming all over Capitol Hill, working to devastate" the tax on excess oil company profits by cutting back sharply on the $140 billion the administration claims it would produce for the Treasury over 10 years.

Their proposed amendments would put a total of well over $100 billion in the pockets of the oil companies," Cart-

Shortly before Carter left Washington, the Senate Finance Committee unanimously agreed to exclude "newly discovered oil" from the tax, one of a number of pending moves aimed at softening the tax bite. The administration opposed the committee's action. The president told the transit group that he wants to double the production of buses and speed construction of new rail lines.

The program Carter outlined to the nation July 15 in his energy address included a recommendation that $10 billion be provided from the windfall profits tax for public mass transit facilities along with $6.5 billion for improving automobile fuel efficiency during the 1980s. But he told the transit association will invest $50 billion in public transportation during the decade of the 1980s. He did not elaborate on the $50 billion

"With the energy proposals I have muter trains," he said. "We will repair presented to the Congress, this nation track beds, modernize stations, improve signaling and control systems, replace ng rail cars, expand the size of our fleets, extend lines into new areas and

GM Recalls Front-Drive Compacts

DETROIT (AP) - A General Motors recall of some of its "X-body" cars the first recall of the popular new frontwheel drive compacts - should not hurt sales, according to studies that show it takes several recalls of a model to turn off the customers.

Such a confidence-shaking series of recalls occurred in late 1977 and early 1978 when Chrysler Corp.'s Dodge Aspen and Plymouth Volare suffered four recalls in six months.

GM announced Monday it was bringing back 225,000 of its "X-body" series to fix automatic transmission cooler hoses that could leak and start fires, as well as steering gear mounting plates that could crack from metal fatigue on 160,-000 of the same cars.

The company said it knew of nine fires resulting from defective hoses, but heard of no failed steering assemblies.

Several studies, including those conducted by the United Auto Worker union and the University of Indiana, have concluded that one recall of a model does not affect sales.

GM had earlier put a hold on 50,000 cars still in dealer hands to fix nine flaws ranging from spare wheels that could rub against disc brakes to constant-speed throttle surges at 35 mph on four-cylinder models.

Widely heralded as the car of the future, the "X-body" series has been a hit since April. About 267,000 have been sold as the Chevrolet Citation, Pontiac Phoenix, Odsmobile Omega and Buick

Robert Stempel, general manager of the Pontiac Division, told reporters at a new-model preview this week that average delivery time for the Phoenix is six to seven weeks. "I'd rather have a waiting list for a car than a car nobody wanted. Stempel said. "But it's very difficult to explain to the customers. Stocks of the X-cars have been the industry's lowest since spring. On Sept. 1, Chevrolet had 24 days worth of Citations on hand. For Pontiac, it was 21 days; for Oldsmobile, 17 days; for Buick, 10 days. In an industry that counts a 60-day supply as normal, that's scraping the bottom of the barrel. What accounts for the remarkable appeal of the cars? The design is not revolutionary. Front-wheel drive with a transverse engine mount was pioneered in the British Mini some 20 years ago. Chrysler Corp. beat GM with a similar design by more than a year with the subcompact Plymouth Horizon and Dodge Omni. However, the two Chrysler cars are smaller and do not offer the interior room of GM's compacts.

The design and close attention to weight-saving techniques permitted GM to shrink the cars by 800 pounds from the old compacts, while increasing inte-

The cars offer fuel economy. The four-cylinder model with automatic transmission gets 22 miles per gallon in the city and 35 on the highway, according to Environmental Protection Agency That's 4 city mpg and 12 high way mpg better than the old compacts.

Consumer Reports magazine said the figures were "exceptional for a compact car that seats five."

Some critics have said GM has not completely removed the quirks of frontwheel drive such as "torque steer" the deviation from the intended line in a curve when the throttle is jammed down or suddenly lifted

Lawyer Breaks Legal Ground With Videotape

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - Lawyer Michael Sigman asked why he shouldn't be allowed the same privileges as newspaper photographers and television carneramen in Florida courtrooms. No reason, said the judge.

So Sigman quickly introduced instant replay into the trial of a client charged with robbing a drugstore. The attorney videotaped his performance before the jury last week - and he calls it the wave of the future.

"Can you imagine sending the tapes up to a court of appeal?" asks Sigman. When a court of appeal sees the naked transcript, they can't visualize the expressions ... it's instant recall, the perfect record.

Sigman took advantage of a Florida Supreme Court order permitting cameras in courtrooms. Courthouse and Florida Bar officials say this is the first time a lawyer has done his own videotaping in Orange County.

The official camera operator for the lawyer's performance was his secretary. But Sigman once was forced to flip the switch himself when she was late for an afternoon session.

He said he forestalled any objections to the camera by offering to provide a copy of the tape to the prosecution.

Videotaping, says the lawyer, is tre-mendously useful during a trial, too. He said he sat down and made copious notes while viewing the tape after a ses-

And it allows lawyers to view themselves as jurors see them, Sigman says. "It's a great training tool."

The trial ended abruptly, but not be-cause of anything having to do with the Circuit Judge Lon S. Cornelius ordered Sigman's client acquitted because the chief prosecution witness, the pharmacist who was held up, died of cancer

In Congress

On Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a family arguing over whether to buy a new car, and which one, Congress is locked in an increasingly bitter debate over how much the country can afford to spend and what it should be spent on.

But as the House and Senate resume debate on the budget today, they'll be talking not in terms of $100 or $200 - the cost of one car vs. another - but about a budget of more than $500 billion and even differences in the billions of And for the first time in the five-year history of the new congressional budget process, it appears unlikely they'll re-solve their differences before the new fiscal year starts Monday.

The deadlock is not expected to affect the day-to-day operation of government — Congress can still appropriate money — but it could generate other fall-out, including a further weakening of public confidence in Congress.

The Senate, looking forward to this fall's SALT II debate, favors sharply higher defense spending than the proposed House budget. The Senate is also calling for $3.6 billion in cuts in social programs that the House has thus far re-roughly 9 percent - just below the double-digit level. But to end the year with that kind of rate, prices would have to rise less than 0.25 percent per month for each of the final four months of the year, Labor Department economists estimate. Prices haven't risen that slowly since early 1976 records show

Although food prices showed no change last month, the costs of other items were driven up substantially by rapidly rising gasoline and fuel oil costs and higher interest rates.

Much of this results from the 60 percent increase in crude oil prices, enacted by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) since the start

The White House press office blamed OPEC for the inflation problem.

"For the second time in six years, our nation is suffering severely from both higher inflation and higher unemployment because of a sudden and massive increase in world oil prices," it said in a statement. "The need to reduce our dependence on foreign oil is driven home each time the CPI comes out."

The statement said that if it were not for rapidly rising prices for energy, food and housing, the index would have risen at "a much lower - though still too high - annual rate of 8.5 percent.

Programs Emphasized The August inflation rate underscores the importance of President Carter's energy and anti-inflation programs, it said.

The rate of inflation is of critical importance to Carter. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has said the course of the economy will be a decisive factor in his decision on whether to challenge Carter for the presidency in 1980.

In recent days, administration spokesmen have said they expect inflation to fall below the double-digit level before the end of the year.

However, in an address here before members of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said the rate of inflation will not drop below 4 percent until the mid-

'False Hope" Hit It would be logical that by 1985 it will be well below 4 percent," he said. Miller said anyone who promises faster results is guilty of raising "false hope."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, commented on the inflation figures and the recent announcement that the unemployment rate rose to 6 percent last month after hovering near 5.8 percent for a full year.

The figures you bring us today are very much like being hit by both Hurricane David and Hurricane Frederic at the same time," he said. "And I am concerned about our chance of coming out of it okay.

Although administration officials, including the president, have been predicting inflation will abate toward the end of the year, government and private economists said Tuesday they weren't so Effect Of OPEC Jackman noted that the OPEC increase "has direct and indirect effects on (consumer) prices and we have to continue to face that.

Michael Evans, a private economist in Washington, predicted that prices will continue to go up at least 1 percent a month. "We haven't digested the increase in energy prices," he said.

Carter Disputes Soviet Claim On Cuba Forces

er called Cuba a "puppet" of the Soviet ets. Union Tuesday night and told a "town meeting" audience that despite Soviet claims to the contrary the Russian troops on the island are combat forces.

Carter noted that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had tacitly denied earlier in the day that the Soviets in Cuba are combat forces. Then the president said: "It is a combat unit."

Gromyko, in remarks that appeared to challenge to U.S. assertion that the 2,-000 to 3,000 Soviet troops in Cuba are combat forces, told the United Nations that "all sorts of falsehoods are being piled up concerning the policies of Cuba and the Soviet Union.' In his speech to the U.N. General Assembly, Gromyko said: "It is high time that you honestly admit that this whole matter is artificial and proclaim it to be closed.' But Carter told his audience at Queens College that if the status quo in Cuba does not change, he will take "appropriate action.

As for negotiations with the Soviets, Carter said: "I don't know whether we will be successful.... If we do not succeed, we will take appropriate action to change the status quo.

Carter refused to say what action he might take. He said, "I would rather not spell out what we would do."

He said he will "report to the nation, probably within the next week" on the Cuban situation after negotiations with the Russians have ended. Although he said "we're convinced" that the Soviet troops in Cuba make up a combat force, Carter suggested the status of the troops could be changed by

NEW YORK (AP) - President Cart- the current negotiations with the Sovi-

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance has been holding talks on the Cuban issue with the Soviets for the past week. The Soviets have contended the troops in Cuba are advisers and that they have been there for years.

Carter said the Soviet brigade has about 2,500 troops. 40 tanks and "some field pieces" and he stressed that the unit lacks any weapons that can threaten the United States.

The president denounced Cuba in unusually strong language.

They act completely in accordance with" Moscow's policies, Carter said. He noted Cuban dependence on Soviet aid and said that in return for that assistance, "Cuba acts in effect as a Soviet surrogate in areas around the world.

Carter also voiced criticism of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, saying the Massachusetts Democrat has been unsuccessfully trying for 16 years to win approval of a national health plan.

He has not gotten the comprehensive national health bill out of his subcommittee," Carter said.

Kennedy is considering a campaign to wrest the Democratic presidential nomination from Carter next year.

Asked to compare his leadership abilities with those of Kennedy, Carter said he would let the senator speak for him-

As to his view of his own qualities, Carter said he has never been afraid to tackle tough issues. In a pointed addition, Carter noted there have been some crises during his term, but "I don't think I'll panic in a crisis.'

Ring Tossers Keep Behind-The-Scenes Bottle Designer Busy

Avalanche-Journal Staff

Behind the scenes at the Panhandle South Plains Fair this year is a man who makes and designs the hundreds of bottles lining several booths as tempting prizes for patrons with good aim on the midway. The twisted, elongated bottles filled with brightly colored water, corked and then topped with bright plastic strands, line the booths by the hundreds this year. But the lines are broken only temporarily when a proud ring tosser selects the bottle he wants for his prize. The bottles are replaced quickly by Bob Fuller, who works in a small trailer behind the midway making about 200 of the Fuller, a muscular man with a big smile, sweats in a small trailer that heats up to about 120 degrees each day as he operates seven 220-volt kilns for hours at a time.

Although some carnival agents make their bottles in advance and then ship them, Fuller said his agent prefers to make the bottles on "a supply and demand basis be-

Once the kilns are red hot, melting the bottles only takes about three minutes but the trick is knowing when to take them out," said Fuller.

If a bottle remains hanging by a metal clamp in the kiln for too long, the bottle will stretch until it breaks. Not enough time in the kiln, and the bottle won't stetch.

Immediately after the bottle is pulled from the kiln, Fuller twists or pulls the liquid glass into various shapes and positions with the clamp. During this process "the most important part is to make sure it (the bottle) will stand by itself," explained Fuller.

Within seconds the bottle begins hardening into its new shape and can be hung from a peg until it has completely cooled. The bottles hang about 20 minutes before the colored water can be added and the bottles corked. Fuller said the most popular bottles are those filled with blue water, and "unfortunately, those stretched the longest." Although longer bottles are not difficult to make, said Fuller, after a bottle is

"An insurance company researching the bottles found that when they are stretched half their length, they still retain their full original strength," said the bot-

Fuller works in standing-room-only conditions in his small trailer as he skillfully, manipulates the dangerously hot bottles coming from the kilns and hanging on pegs behind him.

"I've never had any injuries because I'm careful," Fuller said. Although the Illinois farm boy only has been making bottles a year with the Pat Crabtree Carnival Co., he's been working carnivals more than eight years.

When I was in the service, a buddy whose father owned a carnival told me that if I needed anything to do when I got out to come see him," Fuller said.
"It's as good a living as I could make doing anything else I can do and its the only work I know that's dedicated to letting other people have fun," he said.

Board members also denied a request by the Lubbock Roots Historical Society to hold an open dance in the Mae Simmons Center. Park policy does not allow the use of community centers for dances sponsored by private groups, board members noted. "There are just too many factors we have no control over if someone else were to sponsor a dance," said Alford, noting that the Parks and Recreation Department sponsors several dances in the centers during the year.

Alford said he was concerned with the centers image. When we sponsor a dance, we run a good, clean show. Parents aren't afraid to let their kids come." If problems were to develop at an non-departmentally sponsored event. he continued "it would take a long to get our attendance back up.

With an eye toward changing that policy, however, board members asked Alford's staff to work with Eric Strong of the Roots Society, to plan a "pilot project," and present it at a future meeting.

The parks board also tabled an item requesting approval of a preliminary plat for property between Memphis and Quaker Avenues south of 82nd Street, in order to investigate the possiblity of developing a "green belt" between two playa lakes in what will be a housing subdivision

The city's playa lakes ordinance provides the Park and Recreation Department with 70 percent of land below the high water line of all playa lakes for park development.

However, to connect the two lakes with park land would require more than 70 percent of the land. The board asked Alford's staff to find out if they could acquire what they would need for the Board members reviewed and approved plans for remodeling the Landwer House, located in Yellowhouse Canyon and tagged for use as a party house.

Alford reported that some $100,000 in similar to a crawler tractor, have been federal funds for use on the project came through in July. He said he will open bidding on the project as soon as possible

Remodeling plans include a private apartment within the house, which Alford hopes will be leased "at a reduced rate" to a city police officer for security

Pending "in depth research" by Director of Community Facilities Jim Weston, the board tabled consideration of leasing a portion of Leroy Elmore Park to the City-County Library for their yet-to-be-constructed branch.

Use of the land for the library already has been approved by the board, said Weston. He asked for more time to consider the merits of requiring pay-

The Mahon Branch of the library also is located on park land, without a lease,

The board approved a request by the city Public Services Department for dedication of a right-of-way for Avenue L. on the east side of Lou Stubbs Park. Only a "small corner" of the park will be affected, said Alford.

Crisis Center Supports Victims Of Area Rapes

Statistically, the incidence of rape is on the sharp rise in Lubbock, but victims are fighting back.

Not in the streets or dark alleys, but in police stations, hospitals and courtrooms. Victims have finally begun to know they have a friend if they report a rape to the Lubbock Rape Crisis Center.

The Lubbock Rape Crisis Center, a United Way Agency, will receive $43,513 from United Way's 1980 goal

The figures show that 100 rape cases were handled by the center in 1977 compared to 96 in only the first six months of this year, or 13.7 reported rapes per month. Officials feel, however, this increase in the number of cases over the past two of Lubbock years is due mainly to an increase in the number of victims who are reporting rape. This increase is due, perhaps, to the community support of the center, the local police and sheriff's departments, the Criminal District Attorney's office and cooperation of the emergency room physicians at Health Science Center Hospital.

United Way

According to the center's handbook, the caseworkers at the center are trained, sensitive members of this community who can provide crisis intervention counseling, follow up counseling, supportive counseling to family members, legal and medical information, and supportive presence at law enforcement and legal proceedings."

Two volunteer case workers for the Rape Crisis Center, Wendell Acker and Susan Talley, agreed that most of the rape victims and most people have the idea "it won't happen to me," and do not take simple but important precautions in deterring rapists.

"If people were aware of being a potential rape victim, they would be more careful," said Acker, pointing out some of the most vulnerable moments women have. He said when writing a check in the grocery store, for example, a rapist can merely peer over your shoulder and see your name and address on the check. If you have frozen food to take home, he knows you'll probably be home within 20 minutes.

Also, when taking your husband to the airport for a business trip the rapist sees lauggage name and address tags and knows that your husband will be out of town - at least overnight. Mrs. Talley said that rapists usually don't see women as people but rather someone to vent anger upon and that many people see rape as a sexual crime rather than a violent crime. This feeling is far from the truth, she said. She said that although women have a right to go and to be where they want to be, common sense and responsibility should guide women when they encounter a stranger at home and outside the home. The feeling that a "woman deserved to be raped" because she was out at night is far from the truth. However, she should exercise caution because the rapists are in society. According to the center's officials, only three of those rapists prosecuted since March 1975 received acquittals. Even though the Rape Crisis Center is gaining response from rape victims and 71 percent intend to prosecute, 73 percent of arrested rapists will rape again, according to FBI figures. Other statistics made available by the center say that 14 percent of rapes are done by a relative, 54 percent by a total stranger and 61 percent of rapes happen outside the victim's home, with the youngest rape victim seen by center volunteers 2-years-old and the oldest 83. When dealing with a rape victim, volunteers first ask that the victim not bathe and go immediately to a doctor for a medical exam, preferably by physicians on call to the center at Health Science Center Hospital. These doctors are trained in sensitivity to rape victims and are skilled in collecting evidence, should the victim want to prosecute. Those physicians will testify in court. Also, volunteers encourage victims to, at least, give a statement to law enforcement officials, even if the victim does not want to prosecute. They merely present facts. The caseworkers also counsel family members at the time of the rape and provide some counseling after the rape for the victim. If the victim requires further conseling she is referred to another agency. The case worker will, if necessary, accompany the victim during trial proceedings and other legal mat-

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY DR. PAUL G. DONOHUE

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please inform me about hypothyroidism. Is animal or synthetic thyroid medicine used? Do doses of medicine start small and gradually increase? Is there a range considered to be safe? Finally, would the thyroid medicine still be used if the pituitary gland was at fault and causing the thyroid to malfunction? - M.F.S.

We can't avoid a class in "Thyroid 101" here

Thyroid hormone is a substance made by the thyroid gland (in the neck). That's the gland that keeps the body at the ideal "55 miles per hour speed," so to speak. Too much of the hormone (thyrotoxicosis) makes the body exceed the speed limit; too little (hypothyroidism) causes it to slow down below the

For the thyroid gland to release thyroid hormone, it needs a message delivered by another hormone - thyroid-stimulating hormone. That is made by the pituitary gland, located at the base of the brain. If that gland is deficient the end result, as you imply, is the same not enough thyroid hormone produced.

To your specific questions: - The thyroid hormone is given for both conditions, thyroid gland failure or pituitary gland failure, because, as we've seen, in either case the end result is the same - not enough thyroid hormone for

- The laboratory-made thyroid hormone is the most commonly used because it is handier for measuring proper dosage than is the animal gland kind.

- Thyroid medicine is begun in small doses. To give the full dose all at once would be like racing a cold engine. The body needs time to adjust. Class dis-

Dear Dr. Donohue: It is often difficult for athletes to find doctors who are health-oriented instead of sickness oriented. I do a lot of running and have been having some trouble with my feet. Could you recommend a local doctor with experiences in problems of runners? And how about a good book that would help me help myself? -

Sorry. I could not recommend a local doctor even if I knew one in your town. You live in a large New England city, so should be able to find a specialist in foot problems. Dr. George Sheehan's book Medical Advice for Runners," is a good

Dear Dr. Donohue: What is an electroencephalogram? What is it's purpose and what kind of medication does it require? - Ms. E.W.

It is what you see on a medical report as "EEG." An electroencephalograph is the instrument used. It picks up and amplifies electrical current given off by brain cell activity. Little discs (receivers or electrodes) are attached to the skull. The current emerges in waves and activates a recording needle, which traces the brain waves on a stip of paper (the encephalogram).

EEGs have many uses, as in diagnosing brain-related disorders, like epilepsy tumors, etc. No medication is required to have an EEG. In fact, a person should be off all medicine before taking one. The doctor should be informed about any medication being used.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please give me a medical opinion on a phobia I have which has bothered me for a long time. If a person has a cold, sore throat, or what have you, and licks an envelope flap, will those germs be transmitted to the person opening the letter? I can't be the only person who ever wondered about it. - D.V.D.

The germs cannot survive more than a minute or two outside their environment (the body). The postal department is a long way from providing that kind of service. Scratch one phobia.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My son, who is in his late 30s. has had this thick white coating on his tongue for several years now. It will peel off in large pieces, leaving his tongue red and sore. He will not see a doctor. What do you think this could be and what is the seriousness of it? What should be done? - Mrs.

White patches on the tongue that peel off usually mean conditions like candida (fungal) infection, psoriasis, or smoker's tongue. White patches that do not peel off so readily can signify more serious conditions, such as leukoplakia, That is determined by looking at a tiny section of the patches under a micro-

This is speculation and probably meaningless in your son's case. From your description, it is obvious that he should be examined. What's he got against doctors?

Dear Ann Landers: In 1975 or '76 you printed a letter from someone who was

Here is a rerun of the letter knocking the Red Cross, along with my reply.

Dear Ann: I was irritated by your kind words for the American Red Cross. As a veteran of World War II who served overseas for three years, I'd like you to know that the organization you praised was no favorite of the men and women

We had to pay the Red Cross for coffee, doughnuts, meals and overnight lodging while the Salvation Army supplied coffee, doughnuts and meals free.

So please, Ann. don't be so generous ty. - G.I. Joe Of Long Ago Dear Joe: A blizzard of letters similar to yours hit my desk after that column appeared. I wrote to the top officials of the American Red Cross for an explanation and received an eye-popping response. It was documented by a copy of a letter dated March 20, 1942, from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson to Norman H: Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross. Here's the inside story, and pretty it isn't.

All English and Australian men in uniform had to pay for off-base food and lodging because voluntary giving (which is characteristic of the United States) is not the pattern in other countries. The Red Cross, which has never accepted a dime from the U.S. government (and to this day relies totally on voluntary contributions), was asked to establish club facilities for U.S. servicemen overseas where troops from all allied forces would be welcome. The Salvation Army did not have this responsibility.

Allegations have persisted since World War II that the Red Cross made a profit overseas. Nothing could be further from the truth. The clubs operated at a loss and represented a heavy financial burden to the Red Cross. Moreover, the public image of the Red Cross was badly tarnished when they were forced by Stimson to go along with the British high command.

How unfair that this splendid organization has had to take the rap for a decision made by the U.S. Army. Today, 35 years later, the truth is known by only

Hints from Heloise

MY DEAR READERS:

Aren't food prices soaring these days? Well, here's a reminder of one more way to fight inflation, and that's in the dairy case.

If you're like me, you love the taste of good, country fresh butter, but oh-h-h the price we have to pay for it now. Even margarine isn't to be sneezed at. So here's what to do to "have your butter and be able to pay for it, too.'

Purchase a pound of butter (ouch) and a pound of soft margarine (cheapest brand available or diet works fine) and let them sit out on the cabinet until they reach room temperature.

With your electric mixer, mix the butter and margarine until smooth. Then add a little butter flavoring and enough milk to reach the consistency you desire.

Let it stand until quite soft and then whip it again and put into containers.

The result is delicious butter that's always soft and ready to spread. Now if you're dieting and this sounds just too full of calories, try whipping a pound of diet margarine with one cup of water and a dash of salt. (Note: unless specified, these recipes call for firm stick margarine - not tube or softened.) Really increases the margarine and de-

Since we all have different tastes, you might want to try some of the following "stretchers" as well.

Whip margarine (room temperature) at low speed with your electric mixer until light and fluffy. Add one cup of cold buttermilk in a slow steady stream while the margarine is mixing. After completely mixed, whip it at a high speed for a minute or two.

For "white butter": One cup sweet milk, one pound margarine, one package unflavored gelatin. Warm small amount of milk and dissolve gelatin, mixing until thickened. Add all ingredients and beat at a low speed and increase to high speed when all ingredients are fully mixed. Should take fifteen to thirty minutes. You cannot fry with this butter. though, as the gelatin thickens and Here's a tasty one. Use margarine, canned milk and salt. Mix margarine at medium speed and add four tablespoons of milk at a time and beat thoroughly.

Repeat until the can of milk has been absorbed. Then add salt to taste and beat again. To further tempt your taste buds, add a little butter flavoring.

This recipe doubles the quantity; it's delicious and creamy; has a good consistency and really tastes like freshly

To add a little spice in your life, you might want to try these. Divide the butter into portions and to one portion, add garlic powder or onions to taste, and beat thoroughly. Delicious on garlic bread.

Add honey to another batch for eating on those hot biscuits, or even pancakes or waffles in the morning. Be sure and label these containers, as I'm sure the family might not enjoy "garlic toast' for breakfast.

You'll find by stretching the butter and margarine some become lighter in color, so just add a few drops of vellow food coloring during the mixing period.

Hope this helps stretch your food dollar just a little further and that you enjoy the end result as much as I have.

I want you to know I love you all dearly. - Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I invariably clip out those hints I feel I can use. But, being the dodo bird that I am, the problem comes in applying them all.

Mrs. Horne says she hopes she won't hurt anyone's feelings by commenting that people who collect antiques have "I do think those interested in antiques are very 'special' kinds of people. That in itself makes antiquing even more exciting.

"So, I like to see the entries, and I enjoy seeing old friends who have been bringing entries to the fair over a long period of time. But, I like meeting the new people, too. Of course, the thing that probably keeps me coming back to participate in the fair each year is the association of the other workers. All these people are very knowledgeable about antiques: so, it's always a learning experience just getting to work with them. But, what binds everyone together is a love of antiques.

To get a fix on this situation, you have to understand that every U.S. tax- sheet payer is allowed to exclude and not pay federal income tax on the first $100 he or she receives each year from "qualifying domestic corporations" meaning just about every American company.

For a married couple filing a joint tax return, the exclusion is $200 - if the dividends come from jointly owned stock or if each spouse receives at least $100 of dividends.

For instance, if a wife receives $500 in dividends on stocks in her name and her husband receives $50 in dividends on stocks in his name, their exclusion on their joint tax return would be $150.

There is no exclusion for interest received from bonds and other debt secur-

The typical mutual fund holds many different securities. Some funds hold only stooks; some only debt securities; some a combination

A mutual fund acts as a "conduit" collecting dividends on the stocks it holds and interest on the debt securities it helds and passing that income along to the fund shareholders. The fund does not pay income taxes on that income The fund shareholders pay income taxes on that money, when they receive it from the fund in the form of income div-

The interest the fund collects on debt securities does not qualify for the exclusion. So, only the portion of a mutual fund's dividend that comes from dividends on stocks the fund holds is entitled to the exclusion.

On common stock, "par" means a dollar amount assigned to each share by the company's charter and sometimes is used to compute the dollar amount of the common shares on the balance

But par value has little or no significance, in relation to market value. Market value - the price you can get if you sell - is the thing to be concerned about. Many companies issue stock of "no par" or "without par value" but list a stated per share value on their balance

The Federal Department of Energy's (DOE) gasoline allocation program was instituted during the 1973-74 Oil Embargo, seeking to provide a fair distribution of limited gasoline supplies under price control. It became critically important again earlier this year when the Iranian revolution created a new shortage.

Priority Users.

The program gives preference each month to the needs of "priority users" such as farmers, police and fire departments. Another portion is "set aside" for State governments to use in emergency or problem situations.

More supplies but less available at service stations.

So far in 1979, Chevron has delivered a total of 8% more gasoline to all of its customers than in the same period in 1978. But because of the requirements of priority users and other DOE adjustments, many service stations actually received less gasoline than a year ago. So - under Federal allocations, more can mean less.

Because we have less, all of us must do an even better job of conserving energy.

Thank you for listening.

TOOL AUCTION 2 P.M. each Sunday at THE TOOL YARD, 2327 E. 50th, St. Lubbock, Texas.

We have professional buyers and auction bird dogs in several large cities. Finding bargains in new and used equipment is the way they make their living, and they live very good. They can locate more good buys in a week then the average person could scare up in a year of gas burning looking. Come out any Sunday and let us show you the savings you may make by letting us do the work and you do the pricing.

As fer as we know we are the only regular weekly tool auction in the nation, and we've been in business in this same location for over fitteen years so you know we must have something the public needs and

You are invited to be with us as a buyer, seller or just a spectator.

Saturday Important For Grant Teaff

GRANT TEAFF DIDN'T hestitate to answer my question concerning the importance of Saturday's Southwest Conference showdown between his Baylor Bears and the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

Teaff could have beat around the bush for a few seconds and come up with one of those non-answers, but he chose to shoot straight from the hip.

"I would have to say that this is the most important game Baylor has played since 1975," the eighth-year Baylor mentor responded. "We had some very important games during the 1974 season (the year the Bears captured the SWC crown), but this is the most important contest for us since then.

Any conference contest is important, especially when a team has already knocked off one of the preseason favorites (Baylor upset Texas A&M 17-7 two weeks ago). But the most important game in over four seasons? Wow!

No matter how much importance Saturday's clash in Waco has upon the Bears, I believe it will be doubly important to Teaff.

You see Teaff, the man who made the Bears respectable in the SWC after several horrible seasons and guided them to that conference title in 1974, is on the final leg of a five-year contract. The powers that be at Baylor have not dropped a hint as to his future in Waco. Teaff's position certainly appears to be in jeopardy, but a final decision is not likely until the season is completed.

FOR THIS REASON, every game - especially in conference action - is important.

Teaff surely didn't attempt to hide his displeasure with the contract situation when the Southwest Conference Press Tour visited Waco a little more than a month ago. There was obvious emotion in his voice when he stated:

"I'll tell you now, I will be coaching here (Baylor) or somewhere else next year because I am a football coach.

There was pressure on the team to win last season and I'm sure there will be more pressure this year. But you can't let the pressure affect your coaching. Although I feel the pressure, I'm determined not to succumb to it. I will continue coaching the way I believe in coaching."

A one-or two-year contract extension would have given Teaff a much stronger hand when it came to recruiting last spring, but those powers that be were hardly that kind. Teaff had to convince his high school prospects, as well as himself, that he would be around the Baylor campus after the 1979 season.

THAT'S A PRETTY sorry way to treat a man of Teaff's stature and proven coaching ability. But as one long-time follower of Southwest Conference football put it, "they've done a lot worse things at Baylor."

The Bears, much like the Red Raiders, enter Saturday's contest looking for consistency on offense. Baylor scored 20 and 17 points respectively in victories over Lamar and A&M, but last week Alabama blanked the Bears 45-0 and there wasn't much to cheer about.

"I thought before the season started that we could be a good football team offensively, but we haven't been able to achieve consistency," Teaff remarked. "We've also had problems throwing the football.

"I still think we can be a good offensive football team, but we are not there, yet. We've shown some good signs, but we are not there."

Against the Crimson Tide, Baylor had six passes intercepted, one short of the school record. And Alabama wasn't choosy - the Crimson Tide intercepted starting quarterback Mickey Elam once, second-teamer Mike Brannan three times and Steve Smith twice.

Teaff said before the season began that he thought Tech would have one of the best offenses in the conference and he is sticking with his prediction.

"I said before that Tech could have one of the best offensive units in the league and they still can," Teaff said. "Basically, it's the same offense they had last year. They have great running ability with James Hadnot and Ron Reeves is a big play quarterback.

'Tech's offensive line is comparable to ours in that they get off the line of scrimmage quickly. Tech's defense is very much improved and the kicking game is the best in the conference with Adams (Bill) and (Maury) Buford.

"I would say that offense is equal to what they were last year - and that was pretty darn good. Hadnot picked up 212 yards as the Red Raiders trounced the Bears in Lubbock last season 27-9. The Red Raiders have won the last four meetings with 'They embarrassed us last year," added Teaff. "They manhandled our defense. We had cleat marks all over our chests from James Hadnot stomping on us. And they are better this year. They're good. Offensive improvement will be on both Teaff's and Rex Dockery's mind this week. And one of those offensive units is bound to break out of its shell Saturday at least to some extent

It will be interesting to see just how important the contest is to the Bears and Teaff's future

Reeves Stands Out In Drill

By NORVAL POLLARD Executive Sports Editor

There were some positive signs at Texas Tech's Tuesday practice session. The Red Raiders had their minds on football.

Quarterback Ron Reeves was throwing the ball with great authority. The Red Raider offensive line was exploding off the line of scrimmage. The blocking and tackling were crisp throughout the two-hour workout

But the most positive aspect of Tuesday's practice was the smile on Rex Dockery's face when it was all over

'We had a real good practice today,' the Tech head coach stated. "There was a lot of intensity out there on both sides of the football. I also thought we had an excellent three-on-three drill. We looked like a (ootball team

Reeves had his best passing game of the season against the Wildcats, completing nine of 20 passes for 188 yards and those two scores. Lewis, a 6-5, 211pound senior from Pampa, had his most productive day as a Red Raider receiver by pulling in four passes for 53 yards and six points.

Kangaroos Expect Better Days Ahead

By RUSS PARSONS Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Kress football coach Al Mitts must feel like a first grader waiting for the approach of summer. After a long hard winter, vacation time is near.

Consider that his Kangaroos have played Silverton (which beat Lubbock Christian), Hale Center (with only a onepoint loss on its deficit) and Petersburg 1-1-1 after playing District 4-AA favorites Abernathy and Idalou).

That's some pretty hefty competition. And you can understand why he's resting a little better at night now that only Ralls and Happy remain on his predistrict schedule.

The teams share only one win between them, and that was when Ralls knocked off the Cowboys 24-20 last Friday night. Mitts won't tell you as much, but this could be just the prescription his ailing team needs.

"It'll be a change of pace, let's put it that way." he said of the upcoming cushion before his district opener against Springlake-Earth in two weeks.

defense," he continued. "We gave up 27 points one game and 20 points another, that's allowing too many points.

Of last week's close 20-17 loss to Petersburg. Mitts said "We looked better than we did last week (in a 27-6 loss to

"We've played some pretty tough football teams, but those people are in the same class as we are. We should be "Against Hale Center we had 140 yards in penalties and we deserved every one of them. Against Petersburg we fixed that and had a better ballgame.

'But still we had a catch called back because the receiver was leaning forward when he went in motion. I don't think the officials are really in the groove yet," he said. "That's not just for us, but for everybody. They're out of position. They're watching things things they shouldn't be watching. You can see it on the films we watch. I think they're getting themselves lined out now though

Of his impending district race, Mitts said "We'll be in the battle. We may get beat but we'll be in the battle. Everybody who plays us knows they've been in a ballgame. If we ever get that stuff back, we'll be hard to handle.

While Mitts is trying to get his troops playing at their peak, coach Steve Park speaks from a very different place.

His Stanton Buffaloes opened the season by knocking off Class AA power Tahoka, at that time ranked among the state's top 10 teams. Only problem is. he's stuck in District 5-A, and that means his team must go against Seagraves a perennial district champion. Now, with a 2-0-1 mark (wins over the Bulldogs and Coahoma and a tie with McCamey) Park and his troops rest for the district season which begins after this idle weekend. 'We have a good chance," he said

Of course Seagraves and Shallowater will be tough, but we feel we have the kids to play with them. "Last weekend (against McCamey) kids had to be up two weeks in a row and it was too much. "This week we're going to work on fundamentals. Last Friday we didn't take care of the football, we had seven turnovers. That's too many. We had five fumbles and two interceptions and we had over 100 yards in penalties."

Park points to the leadership of his seniors as one of the keys to his team's success, particularly linebackers Keith Hull and Gary Douglas, running backs Richard Perez and Ernie Byrd and lineman John Parker.

'The leadership really helped during the off-season last year." he said. "And it really helped getting the kids up for Tahoka. We felt we had the kids to beat them, but ves, we did feel it would be closer than that (28-14).

Blocking problems aside, Davis is quickly proving his worth as a runner.

"Now running with the football," added Davis, "well that comes natural. I love to carry the ball."

The Coronado Mustangs would just as soon have seen the Estacado junior take up hang-gliding, pigeon racing, - anything but running with a football

When Davis was pressed into action (by injuries to Estacado backs Kelvin White and George Irvin) last Thursday against Coronado he exploded for 120 yards on only 14 carries. Davis also scored the Mats first touchdown of the night on a 13-yard burst off tackle.

For his performance in the Matadors 16-0 victory over CHS, Davis has been named the Avalanche-Journal South Plains Class AAA Player of the Week.

But Davis got his chance in the second period - and he wound up gaining 88 yards on only six carries as Estacado broke the contest open.

"That game helped my confidence a lot," admitted Davis. "I think I've got the speed to be a good runner. If I got the ball enough times, I could probably gain 1,000 yards.'

But Davis is also the first to admit that when you play in the same back-

Five Browns' players were on the injured list after Monday night's nationally televised game, with defensive end Lyle Alzado the most seriously hurt.

Alzado sprained his left knee early in the game, then reinjured it in a freak accident on the way to the dressing room at Municipal Stadium in Cleveland after the game, the coach told reporters at his weekly news briefing. He said a security guard, holding back a crowd of enthusiastic fans trying to get near the players, fell off the roof of a dugout onto Alzado, who was kocked down on the dugout steps.

Alzado, who has been credited with bolstering the Browns' pass rush this year, was injured the first time the defensive unit was on the field but came back to play most of the game with the Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff The proverbial fatted calf is a welcome sight, whether it be rotating above an open barbecue or wearing a helmet and football pads.

Whitharral High School's six-man football team's treatment of winless Western Hills Baptist Academy last Friday hardly befitted a delicacy. In fact, Whitharral's handling was anything but delicate as the Panthers led 38-0 at the end of the first quarter en route to a 50-0 victory that was mercifully halted, by virtue of six-man rules, early in the fourth period once the deficit had exceeded 45 points.

Everything went right for us and nothing went right for them," said Gary Patterson, Whitharral coach.

"This was a morale builder," he added, "and it was especially good to win big following a loss the week before."

Although Patterson had not anticipated a close shave from Western Hills, a fledgling football program in its second year, he attempted to convince his players otherwise.

The main thing is to not to let your kids know it'll be an easy game," Patterson said. "You try all week not to get overconfident and to play with some intensity. And that's what we did. Our defense held 'em to minus 49 yards total-

The dinner bell may toll for Three Way Friday night as it throws the door wide open for Western Hills at 8 p.m.

"From all indications, they have some pretty inexperienced kids," said Pat Risinger, Three Way coach of his expected guests. "That makes it hard to compete against teams that have been playing for years. If we play as well as we're capable of playing, we should blow 'em out."

The first time something goes wrong you can't throw up your hands and change people," said Phillips, a staunch defender of his oft-criticized quarterback. "We play 16 ball games. A guy can't play good every quarter every week, especially a quarterback. He gets more chances to mess up than any-

If you pull your starter and then the guy you put in can't do the job, you're really in trouble," Phillips said. "But I don't have to defend Dan. He defended himself pretty well."

After completing only two of his first 10 passes and throwing two interceptions, Pastorini rallied the Oilers to a 30-27 victory, reminiscent of a 26-23 comeback victory over New England last year.

No Relief Pitcher Landry Praises Defense

DALLAS (AP) - Tom Landry, bleary-eyed from loss of sleep and watching films of Dallas' 26-7 National Football League loss to Cleveland Monday night, refused Tuesday to blame the Cowboys' lack of pass rush for the defeat.

Landry showed up punctually for his weekly media luncheon although the Landry was up several hours later to watch films of the whipping, which dropped Dallas' record to 3-1 in the National Conference Eastern Division.

"We are regrouping and that takes time," said Landry.

Landry added, "Right now our defense needs confidence.

Abilene Cooper in Class 4A, Jasper in 3A, Pittsburg in 2A and China Spring in A retained their No. 1 positions in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll this week and their collective offensive and defensive units all get a share

In the total of 12 games played by the four teams this season, there have been eight shutouts recorded by the defensive units while the four offensive units have scored an aggregate of 456 points, for an average victory margin of 38-3.

Cooper, which started the season with a shocking 50-14 win over Brownwood, has outscored three opponents 150-21. Jasper yielded a touchdown in its opener and has shut out two opponents for a 110-7 points total.

Pittsburg is unscored on this season with a 100-0 total that includes 39-0 victory in the season opener over Class 3A Mount Vernon. China Spring blanked its first two opponents and edged Class 2A Waco Robinson 17-14 last week for an 86-14 total.

Minor shuffling occurred last week as only three of the ranked teams lost and two others were tied.

Houston Stratford, the defending state Class 4A champion, dropped from sixth to eighth after having its 20-game winning streak snapped 26-23 by No. 2 ranked LaPorte. Killeen remained No. 9 despite a 7-7 tie with Longview.

Sanders, speaking at Tuesday's Chaparral Club press conference luncheon. said, "We're not giving up, and our players aren't either. We are looking to the future.

Sanders lauded his team, "and we have performed up to our capabilities. They have done everything we have asked of them."

Speaking of the 1-3 season, where the Chaparrals have been outscored 137-53. Sanders said, "There are two things we could do - and we've told the kids this: We could duck our heads and gripe about not winning. Or we can continue to keep our heads up and work on getting stronger and better.

'We are not talking about the negative things; we're talking about the positive aspects. And there were some bright spots. We stopped them on downs twice inside our 10-yard line, and I think this showed our players that they could

If Smith is not able to play, Sanders said that Wade Welch will start, with defensive end Vic Smith moving over as backup. Under this situation, Tracy Witherspoon or Tim Howell could step into Smith's defensive spot.

Starting quarterback Kent Allison, who went out of the Tarleton game with a severely bruised back, was sore and stiff Monday, but the coach said Allison will be ready to play by Saturday.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL'S HALL OF FAME

An Ohio Shrine For Saturday's Heroes

Can a museum capture America's love affair with college football? It can - and it has - in Cincinnati's Football Hall of Fame. It is no tomb of display and data. It is a vibrant and dynamic house for 453 players and coaches, full of dash - 50-yard dash, and the athletes' goals, long ones. The visitor is fascinated with grid and true grit. And he can participate in plays: Computers set up past glory plays, and the visitor can out-think a coach's plan. Read all about fooball's living

Residents Feel Free Films Much Too Free

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - Some Huron County residents who thought the free films they could watch nightly were much too free will have to get the individual films judged obscene before they can close the local drive-in theater.

A circuit court decision barring the Blue Sky Drive-in near Caseville from showing X-rated films was tossed out Monday by the state Court of Appeals.

A group of 15 homeowners near the drive-in complained the films could be seen from their property.

The trial court failed to confirm whether or not the plaintiffs' (complaining homeowners') views accurately reflected the standards prevalent in the greater local community," the appeals panel said.

To shut the theater down without finding the films obscene would allow citizens "to utilize an arm of the state. the court system, to impose censorship upon the free speech rights of others merely because they did not approve of the content of their message."

However, he appeal court stressed that the lower court could bar the showing of films as a public nuisance if the films met the community's definitions of obscenity.

The lower court had ruled in 1977 that the films shown at the American Amusement Co. Inc. drive-in were pornographic and a nuisance to the families and their young children.

NBC Gets Top Nielsen Ratings With Boost From Hollywood

NEW YORK (AP) - NBC, given lit- prime-time minute during the week, 20.6 tle chance of improving its dismal thirdplace standing in the ratings, finished a surprising No. 1 for the first week of the fall TV season, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed Tuesday.

And though NBC's quick start was due in part to a couple of major theatrical movies, rather than regular weekly fare, three of the network's returning series placed in Nielsen's Top 20 for the that the network emerged from the first week ending Sept. 23.

NBC had counted on a boost from Coming Home," the box-office hit of last year starring Jane Fonda and Jon Voight, and hoped for a big audience for Clint Eastwood's "The Outlaw Josey Wales." The two motion picture finished four-five in the ratings.

Beyond that, NBC listed "CHiPs" in sixth place, "Little House on the Prairie" eighth and "Diff'rent Strokes" 16th.

NBC's rating was 20.6, with ABC second at 18 and CBS last at 16.9. The net-

Ratings are vital to the networks because they translate into advertising dollars: a commercial on a highly rated program costs more than one on a lower-rated show.

It was NBC's best premiere week in a decade, and the first time since 1972 week of head-to-head competition in first place.

The good start was particularly important to NBC, which airs the major league baseball playoffs in prime-time beginning the evening of Oct. 2. NBC's highest rating last season was recorded during ts broadcast of baseball's World

Oil Stocks Up Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, after drifting lower for most of the day, wiped out most of its losses with a last minute rally Tuesday and finished mixed. As has been the case in many recent sessions, impetus for the late surge came from oil stocks.

The oil issues, which had been among the biggest losers earlier in the day, were reacting favorably to a unanimous vote by the Senate Finance Committee exempting newly discovered crude oil from the tax on the "windfall" profits created by decontrol of oil prices.

The rally kept the stock market from its second straight sharp drop. Analysts had attributed the fall in stock prices to investors cashing in on the recent run-up in stock prices that last week boosted the market to its highest level in almost a year. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 8.10 points Monday and seemed headed for a likesized loss on Tuesday before the rally turned it around

York (AP) — Tuesday's national for New York Stock Exchange as of NYSE close. Prices and consolidated for securities also on other markets.
