

Crime Line Six Months Old; Mayor 'Pleased'

AFTER SIX months, the city's Crime Line program is an "outstanding success," according to Mayor Dirk West, one of its founders.

"At the end of six months' operation, it is very apparent that this program will be a permanent fixture in fighting crime," West said. "Seventy-one felony crimes have been cleared as a result of informants calling Crime Line. 51 criminals have been taken off our city streets, and $152,956 in stolen property has been recovered."

More than $8,000 in reward money has been paid out to persons calling Crime Line during its first half year. Persons with information concerning felony crimes are urged to call the number. Callers will remain anonymous.

Persons wishing to make tax-deductible donations to the Crime Line reward fund should mail them to Box 2,000, Lubbock.

This week, Crime Line is posting rewards of $1,200 in connection with a possible case of arson and three burglaries.

About 4:45 a.m. Oct. 1, a fire in the B&M Liquor Store on FM 400, seven miles south of Dalou, destroyed the building and all inventory, together worth about $125,000.

This is the third possible case of arson at the store, said Lubbock police, who added the fire revealed suspicious burn patterns similar to those that would be created by flammable liquids. There also was evidence of rapid acceleration of the fire, said police.

Authorities are currently conducting numerous interviews and following several leads, but public help could very likely speed the solution of the matter, said police.

Crime Line is offering $300 reward for information on the alleged arson of the store, and $300 in each of three burglaries listed this week.

Police said they discovered a burglary at the Needles Tire Co., at 1502 Ave. H the morning of Oct. 2. The intruders apparently gained entry by prying open a wood door with a large screwdriver or tire tool. Once inside the burglars ransacked the building and attempted to break open a safe.

They took four G78-15 Pharis Brand white sidewall tires; two LR78-15 Delta brand white sidewall tires; four HR78-15 Delta brand white sidewall tires; four H78-14 King tires; two JR78-15 PR6 brand white sidewall tires; two LR78-15 PR6 brand white sidewall tires; two LR78-15 Steele brand white sidewall tires; and six GR78-15 PR6 white sidewall tires. Total loss is estimated at about $1,800.

In another case, Lubbock County Sheriff's deputies got a call in reference to a burglary of a house at Rt. 1, Box 146 Shallowater at 1 p.m. Sept. 14. The deputies said someone had cut through a screen door and forced open a wooden door and taken $3,494.95 in property.

Taken were: a portable Curtis Mathes 19-inch TV; a Corning ware coffee pot; a G.E. two-slice toaster; two sets of silverware; three glass chandeliers trimmed in gold; a Waltham electric clock; a Curtis Mathes 21-inch color TV; a wooden bank with $100 in it; an antique wooden digital clock; a Skil electric saw; a Craftsman 1/4-inch electric drill; and some jewelry.

And, sheriff's deputies are seeking information on a burglary that occurred Sept. 25 at a house at Rt. 1, Box 194, Lubbock in which $2,340 in property was taken after burglars entered through a back door. Missing from the house are: a Zenith sound system and speakers, model 154060, serial no. 0182072; a Zenith 19-inch color TV with remote control; a black and white AC/DC portable TV; and a gold ring with chain containing a 2 1/2 dollar gold piece mounted in gold and a 14K gold chain 20 inches in length.

Anyone with information concerning any of these crimes is urged to call the Crime Line telephone number, 741-1000.

Should that information lead to the solution of the crime, the caller will receive $300.

Pope Ends U.S. Trip In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bidding America a fond farewell, Pope John Paul II completed his triumphant pilgrimage Sunday, unyielding in his condemnation of abortion and in his insistence that women have no place in the priesthood.

"God bless America! God bless America!" were his final words to a country that turned out in record numbers to embrace him.

The only disappointing crowd of his tour was on the final day. Instead of the million people predicted for the pontifical Mass on the mall of the capital, police said there were no more than 175,000.

But millions of people, perhaps 10 million or more, saw John Paul on his six-city tour of America. For many, it was a brief glimpse — the pontiff speeding by in a motorcade, standing up through the sunroof of his limousine. Others saw him from afar: a distant, small figure behind an altar.

Breeze Chills Turnout
A chill breeze ruffled the pope's green and white vestments as he celebrated Mass on Sunday. Worshippers shivered in blankets under rain-threatening skies as the mercury dropped into the low 60s.

In a dramatic moment earlier in the day, John Paul heard the challenge of a nun who urged that women be allowed to become priests.

He did not depart from prepared remarks to respond to her, thus underscoring his continued opposition.

'God Bless America'
In his farewell remarks, the pope thanked President Carter, the first president to officially receive the supreme pastor of 700-million Roman Catholics. And he thanked the American people, declaring, "Your hospitality has been warm and filled with love. All of you will constantly be remembered in my prayers..."

"Today, therefore, my final prayer is this: that God will bless America, so that she may increasingly become — and truly be and long remain — one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

And then he exclaimed: "God bless America! God bless America!"

It was the pope's ninth speech of the day and the 70th of his nine-day tour that began in Ireland. From Washington, Pope John Paul II flew non-stop to Rome aboard a TWA 747 dubbed Shepherd I.

Pope Speaks To Family Life
For his final homily, the pope chose "family life" because "Right to Life Sunday," an annual event, coincided

Elderly In Three States Bilked By Con Schemes

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

CON MEN posing as Social Security Administration representatives have been bilking elderly persons in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma in recent weeks, Social Security District Manager Laura Peacock of Lubbock said Friday.

Two unsuccessful attempts by imposters to pose as representatives of the agency have been reported in Lubbock.

"The Lubbock Social Security Administration urges everyone to be extremely cautious of anyone appearing at their home claiming to be a Social Security representative," she said.

"Before admitting anyone into their homes, identification of the caller should be made. All Social Security Administration employees who call on the public in their homes have identity cards and will readily show these identification cards as requested."

The card is headed "U. S. Government Identification Card." It has the typed name and signature of the representative and, in the case of Social Security employees, a typed line saying the person works for the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It also has a photograph of the employee on the front left side of the card.

that his name will be leaked to the news media.

Publicity of candidates' names is of great concern to the regents. The last Tech president, Dr. Cecil Mackey, made it clear he would withdraw if his name were leaked. The first two interviews with Mackey were held elsewhere. It was only in the last two to three weeks of the search that Mackey visited the Tech campus, Formby said.

A study on presidential searches at colleges and universities in the United States, written by Glenn D. Williams of Illinois, noted, however, "When a candidate's name has been in a fish bowl for several months, it is fairly certain that his candidacy is no secret at home or abroad."

Formby admitted that the initial interviews in neutral territory are designed to protect the anonymity of the candidates, but noted that before a candidate is named president, he or she will visit the Tech campus.

"At some point they (their names) have to surface," Formby said.

Before that campus visit the candidates will be thoroughly questioned. Their resume will have been accepted by the search committee, evaluated by the advisory committee (composed of regents, faculty and students) and the seven-member (four regents, three faculty) search committee will have had one or two personal interviews with the candidates.

"We will also evaluate by calling people," Formby said, citing for example, regents who have contacts in the candidate's town may call businessmen there to ask about the candidate's rapport with the local community and his ability to speak at civic club meetings.

Faculty members involved in the search may call faculty at the candidate's school and ask about his relations with faculty, students and administration.

In personal interviews, Formby said, candidates are asked to discuss their concepts of a university, "Where is higher education today? What are the problems in higher education? What are the

Castro May Speak To U.N. Delegates

U.S. Visit Would Be First In 19 Years

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Fidel Castro has made arrangements to travel to New York this week to address the U.N. General Assembly, American and U.N. officials said Sunday. It would be the Cuban president's first trip to the United States in 19 years.

A State Department spokesman, David Passage, said in Washington that visa requests for Castro and his party were made last week, and he would probably arrive in the middle of this week.

Castro To Address U.N.
Passage said Castro would address the current Assembly session in his role as head of the non-aligned movement — the organization of more than 90 nations that profess neutrality between the superpower blocs. Castro played host to a non-aligned summit meeting in Havana last month.

"There are no plans for meetings with U.S. officials," Passage said.

A spokesman for Kurt Waldheim said the U.N. secretary-general "got similar information from... (Cuba U.N. Ambassador) Mr. Raul Roa Kouri, but we are waiting for final communications," perhaps Monday.

The spokesman, Rudolf Stajduhar, said Roa informed Waldheim of the Cuban leader's intentions Friday. Stajduhar gave no further details, and there was no immediate official word on the trip from Havana. Sources suggested Castro may not yet have made a final decision on whether to make the trip.

Each year a number of heads of state and foreign ministers address the General Assembly in the first few weeks of its three-month session. It had been expected that Castro might be one of this year's speakers, but as late as Friday a U.N. spokesman said it was his understanding that the Cuban president would not take part in the 1979 session.

Recent reports had indicated his place at the podium would be taken by longtime Cuban Communist Party leader Carlos Rodriguez next Friday, when it is Cuba's turn to address the assembly.

Castro's trip to the United States would come in the wake of a major dispute between the United States and the Soviet Union over the reported presence of a Soviet combat brigade in Cuba. The Soviets denied the report, which was based on U.S. intelligence findings, and Castro insisted that the unit has been in Cuba since 1962 and its mission has not been changed.

Carter Meeting Ruled Out
Last Monday, President Carter announced that the Soviets would not remove or dismantle the unit, but had pledged that the 2,600 troops are a training brigade, rather than a combat unit, and that their role would not be changed or expanded.

Castro said in an interview two weeks ago he would welcome a meeting with Carter to discuss the issue, but Passage's statements Sunday ruled out such an unprecedented summit.

During his last visit, in 1960, Castro's activities were restricted to the United Nations and his movements to the island of Manhattan. The State Department spokesman said the Cuban delegation would similarly be restricted to the New York area this time as well.

In 1960, Castro brought with him a 90-member delegation. Passage said that also was a "ballpark figure" for the number of visas requested this time.

Castro denounced the United States in a 4 1/2-hour speech to the 1960 General Assembly. He charged that Washington had "decreed destruction" of his regime on the pretext that it was Communist-dominated. Actually, he said, his revolutionary government was being

Son Of A-J Executive Missing On Canoe Trip

REMINGTON, Va. (AP) — Authorities searched Sunday for a man missing after his canoe capsized in Rappahannock River rapids Saturday.

State police said a canoe carrying Paul S. Simon, 24, of Augusta, Ga., turned over in rapids around noon Saturday about five miles south of Remington and one mile north of Kelly's Ford.

Simon, a third-year law student at the University of Virginia, is the son of Paul S. Simon, executive vice president of the Augusta-based Morris Communications Corp. and affiliated companies. Morris Communications publishes The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, The Amarillo Globe-News and newspapers in Augusta, Athens and Savannah, Ga.; and Juneau, Alaska.

Two companions in a second canoe that capsized at the same location were able to swim to shore.

Robert Nath of Arlington and Bonnie Scanlon of Alexandria both were wearing life preservers. Simon, canoeing alone, was not, said State Trooper S.L. Crane.

"The river is up, and these rapids through here are very dangerous, even when the river is in the normal range," Crane said.

Simon's canoe was found Sunday morning about six miles south of Kelly's Ford.

HEARTLINE: My wife and I find it very difficult to remain in a room or building that is extremely hot or extremely cold. Although we feel that the new emergency building temperature restrictions are necessary, we still wish to avoid these uncomfortable environments as often as possible. I have heard several versions of which types of buildings must follow the regulations and which ones are not required to follow them. Can you tell us definitely what the requirements are? — K.B.

The Emergency Building Temperature Restrictions regulations, effective since July 16, 1979, place temporary restrictions on temperatures for heating, cooling and domestic hot water in commercial, industrial, governmental and other non-residential buildings.

The regulations generally require that thermostats be set no lower than 78 degrees for cooling, no higher than 65 degrees for heating and no higher than 105 degrees for domestic hot water. These temperatures refer to Fahrenheit settings. Provisions are made, however, for maintenance of room temperatures at these limits as an alternative to thermostat settings. The regulations also require room temperature set-backs during periods when the building is unoccupied.

Certain types of buildings and portions of certain buildings are excluded from the temperature restrictions. Exemptions also are available under certain specified conditions.

Due to the limited space in our column, it would be impossible to list the exclusions and exemptions in detail, but generally speaking, the buildings which are excluded are residential buildings, hotels and other lodging facilities. (Motel and hotel rooms are excluded, but shops, restaurants, meeting rooms, lobbies and offices that have separate temperature controls must be in compliance with the regulations.)

Also excluded are hospitals and other health-care facilities, elementary schools, nursery schools and day-care centers. For further information, you can call (800) 424-9122 between 9:00 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Eastern time, Monday through Friday. (Alaska and Hawaii dial (800) 424-9088.)

HEARTLINE: I am 48 years old and was recently retired on disability from the company where I worked for the past 18 years. Since I was found disabled by the company, would I also be eligible for Social Security disability? — J.C.

You are eligible to apply for Social Security disability benefits. However, the fact that you meet your company's disability requirements does not necessarily mean that you will be found disabled for Social Security. The Social Security disability law and the rules your company use may be different. Regardless of the differences, you should apply for Social Security disability benefits. The report of an examination you underwent in establishing disability for your company's retirement will be considered in determining whether you are eligible under the Social Security program.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. After my husband's death in 1963, I put $25,000 in a mutual fund and signed up for the fund's systematic withdrawal program. At first I drew $125 a month but, as the value of my investment grew, I began drawing more. I now own 3,309 shares and draw $200 a month. With that, Social Security and income from other investments, I have $656.80 a month coming in to live on.

I am 69 and all the talk about a recession or depression has me worried. Should I stay with the mutual fund withdrawal plan? Or should I put my money in a safer place — such as a six-month bank savings certificate or a money market mutual fund? Savings certificates are insured. The mutual funds are not.

A. Your experience is an excellent example of how a mutual fund withdrawal program can be used successfully. So that all readers know what we are talking about, we had better explain how such programs work.

With the typical withdrawal program, you invest your money in shares of the fund and then start receiving checks on a steady basis — every month, three months or what ever other schedule you choose. You decide the amount you want to receive in each check.

The money for the check comes, first, from dividends paid on your fund shares and, second, from capital gains distributions paid on your shares. If that's not enough, some of your shares will automatically be redeemed. Any dividends and capital gains distributions not used are reinvested to buy additional shares.

If you set your withdrawal sights too high, the automatic redemptions will reduce the value of your investment and you might end up with nothing.

You started by withdrawing $125 a month — $1,500 a year — from a $25,000 investment. That's 6 percent — the generally recommended rate of withdrawal.

Your fund now has an asset value per share of $10.89. That makes the 3,309 shares you currently own worth $36,035. Your present withdrawals of $200 a month — $2,400 a year — are at the rate of 6.6 percent. That's sensible.

You could get a much higher current yield — 10 percent or a bit more — right now in six-month savings certificates and money market mutual funds. If you need higher current income, make the switch.

But you have been able to increase the size of your because you own an investment that has grown in value. If you believe, as I do, that your mutual fund will continue to do reasonably well in the future, and if you don't need more income now, my advice is to hang on to what you have. Then, gradually keep increasing the size of your withdrawal checks.

Q. We are new to the field of investments and are familiar only with the six-month savings certificates sold by banks and savings and loan associations. What safe investments are there, of a similar nature, that would be tax free?

A. If by "a similar nature," you mean something that would provide tax-free income equal to the taxable interest paid on six-month savings certificates, the answer is "none."

Tax-free investments pay lower yields than taxable investments. But, after adjusting for the tax bite, you can end up with more "keeping money" with tax-free income than with taxable income.

The interest from municipal bonds — bonds issued by state and political subdivisions of states — is not subject to federal income tax. Some municipals now yield 7 percent or more. If you're in a 30 percent or higher federal income tax bracket, a 7 percent tax-free yield provides you with at least as much keeping money as a 10 percent yield on six-month savings certificates.

But a municipal bond can't be counted as "safe" as an insured six-month savings certificate. If you need cash and have to sell your bond, you might get less than you paid for it.

Since you're new at investing, I urge you to do a lot of studying, before you make any investment plunge. Copyright 1979 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

DOYLE welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Woman Awarded Only One Penny

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A Baltimore woman who claimed she could "hear the bones cracking and tearing" after an Eastern Shore traffic accident received nominal damages for her suffering — a single cent.

The Maryland Court of Special Appeals recently ruled that Cornelia Hyacinth Gomeringer, who was confined to a wheelchair when she appeared in a Baltimore City court to testify about the 1971 accident, was entitled to some sort of compensation.

Mrs. Gomeringer, 54, had sued the driver of the other car for $75,000 in damages. After a Baltimore court jury declined to award her any damages, she appealed her case.

Mrs. Gomeringer said that her injuries were so extensive, all she could handle was her "daily absorption."

However, Peninsula General Hospital records indicated she had fractured the tip of her nasal bones.

In addition, her son testified his mother rented a car after the accident and continued her brief trip on the Eastern Shore. He also said she appeared in the lead role of a play the following night.

Murder Trial Evidence 'Overwhelming'

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI) — Joe Dugas goes on trial Monday on charges of killing five former in-laws in a rage over his divorce, and his lawyer calls the evidence against the East Texas refinery worker "overwhelming."

Dugas, 33, is charged with capital murder and faces a possible death penalty in the July 1978 shooting of Bishop and Esther Phillips of Winnie, their son Elmer, his wife Martha and their son Jason, 2, of Woodward, Okla.

Dugas, whose trial was moved from Beaumont, will be prosecuted first in the death of Jason. Linda May Burnett, 31, identified as Dugas' lover, was convicted and sentenced to death last year for her role in Jason's death.

"We've got very little," defense lawyer Sonny Cribbs said. "This one is going to be very tough because of the brutality of the crime. The evidence is overwhelming."

"They (prosecutors) have got written and oral confessions, statements to his brother that he committed the perfect murder. It's just one thing after the other."

State District Judge Larry Gist rejected defense efforts to bar the confessions on grounds they were coerced.

Jefferson County District Attorney James McGrath said he doubts Mrs. Burnett will testify, "but I do intend to ask that a bench warrant be issued to bring her to Corpus Christi. I may use her for identification."

McGrath said he expects jury selection starting Monday to take three weeks and the trial itself to take 10 days. Cribbs said that, from the defense point of view, the trial depends on jury selection.

"It's going to sort of depend on the luck of the draw," Cribbs said.

Dugas has been jailed without bond since his arrest a few days after the family disappeared from the elder Phillips' home in the rural community west of Beaumont.

Analyst Sees More Gas Shortages

LOS ANGELES — Another nationwide gasoline shortage is possible this month, according to the respected industry analyst who accurately predicted "the days of line and hoses" last spring.

Dan Lundberg, publisher of the "Lundberg Letter," said in a telephone interview Sunday that October gas supplies could fall as much as 5 percent below demand.

His prediction last March of an 8.9 percent gap between supply and demand for that month was exactly right, the Department of Energy later said, and ushered in last spring's gas crisis.

Lundberg added, however, that a new shortage could extend well into the winter and cause worse hardships this time around. "I'd hate like hell to be in line, pushing my car through the frozen slough, with the engine and therefore the heater turned off," he said.

The petroleum marketing expert said the Energy Department has been pushing oil companies to increase stockpiles of diesel fuel and home heating oil for this winter.

A Prayer Session

THE BATTLE has been joined over the prayer-in-school issue.

Actually, the issue has spread past that specific question.

To many, it's not whether prayer or religious values are to be a part of the education of future Americans, but just what sort of values and ethics are to be taught in the school system in general.

The can of worms which the American Civil Liberties Union has opened in Lubbock may make forced busing look like a, uh...pardon the expression, Sunday school picnic.

That fact is obvious from the phone calls and letters which hit our desk in the wake of the ACLU suit. By far the majority take a stand for some sort of religious-ethic-value base in the school system.

WHAT THEY see is a "neutral" or "humanist" type approach. And they also see red.

In case you have been on a cruise or counting your dollar losses or gold gains, here is a brief rundown on how we arrived at this point.

For years, prayer in the Public Schools, even school assemblies with a religious theme were conducted with little or no attention from the public. Then, gradually, under pressure, the emphasis on such things was muted.

But, in many schools, including Lubbock, the daily prayer or morning devotional was continued in some form or other, often with the students themselves in charge.

The practice has been under fire here for some time. And at the start of this school year, a spokesman for the ACLU warned trustees that if all aspects of religion in the schools, including silent prayer, weren't abolished, a suit would be filed challenging the practice.

SO, LAST WEEK, the ACLU filed its suit. ACLU member Robert Davidow, a member of the Texas Tech Law School faculty, said that despite a majority pro-prayer stance in Lubbock, "We are proceeding on the basis of an interpretation of the U.S. Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court..."

"It becomes irrelevant what most of the people of Lubbock want to do...The Constitution is the supreme law of the land," Davidow said.

Monte Hasie, school board president, termed the suit "ludicrous" and said that school officials "definitely will fight" the court action.

The ACLU suit charges that the LISD "has established a policy expressly authorizing religious exercises in the local schools" and that this violates the First Amendment and the Constitution.

NOT SO strangely, pro-prayer persons argue that that same First Amendment protects their right to engage in such activities.

In case you haven't read it lately, here it is: "Freedom of Religion, Speech, of the Press and Right of Petition: Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

Pro-prayer people argue that this means if someone wants to stand up or sit and pray silently, as long as he or she doesn't make the next person do likewise, then that next person also has no right to tell the party of the first part they can't do what they are doing, that is pray.

Anti-prayer people claim just the opposite. The fact that the schools permit such silent prayer, often accompanied by a vocal "Amen," infringes on the rights of the party of the second part. Even intimidates them, perhaps, is the claim.

ANYWAY, YOU get the picture, in somewhat simplified form.

Actually, the whole issue is much more involved, as a survey among Lubbock ministers revealed. While there was support for prayers in the schools, even teaching of religion as a historical and educational fact, there were numerous ministers who opposed any reference to religion per se.

The major argument is that prayer, as often practiced in the schools, the passing out of Bibles or Biblical literature and such, offers no protection "to the non-religious, the non-Christian, or the dissenting Christian..."

And, as the ACLU spokesman noted, it matters not one whit what "the majority" think. To those opposing prayer in the schools, it also is a matter of principle.

THE BUSINESS of prayer in the schools has overtones other than just the basic one of whose "rights" are being violated.

All across the land, parents and many educators already are on the warpath because they feel the schools aren't doing the job they should be doing. Test scores for high school graduates continue to sag.

Militant teachers who have taken to the streets have caused many parents to think such teacher groups view the schools as job factories, not places to turn out future "whole" American citizens. Many teachers see the schools as little more than back alleys where administrators refuse to crack down on miscreants.

And many parents and others note that with a decline in emphasis on religious principles in the schools, other things became more common—lower grades, violence, drugs and a move on the part of a Federal Big Brother to make social pawns out of children.

Under such circumstances and considering the state of the world—if not schools—perhaps someone needs to pray!

...Pass It On

Q. IF A CAR is struck by lightning, don't the tires insulate it from grounding thereby making it safe to be inside it?

A. Doesn't work that way. Inside a car is safer than most places in a lightning storm. But it's because the deflected current tends to flow through the metal skin of the car rather than into its occupants. The tires certainly aren't sufficient insulation to stop a lightning bolt.

Something else you can do to while away the time at stoplights is call to mind all the various animals that can't look back over their shoulders. Start with the elephant. It can't. What others?

Q. How much bigger is the Pacific Ocean than the Atlantic Ocean?

A. About 15 percent bigger. The Pacific takes up about 40 percent of the earth's surface, the Atlantic about 25 percent.

AN EDITORIAL:

Kennedy Bill Handcuffs FBI

AT A TIME when international terrorism continues unabated and the breakdown of U.S. intelligence gathering alarms both the country and the world, liberal lawmakers are prepared to shackle the FBI.

In doing so, they would practically eliminate the bureau's ability to detect and deal with domestic terrorism, subversion and organized crime.

The vehicle for this latest handcuffing of the agency is the proposed FBI charter.

"As it came out of Sen. Edward Kennedy's Judiciary Committee, the new charter would effectively wipe out the FBI's ability to investigate—even by means readily available to the public—organizations planning to overthrow the U.S. government by force and violence," said U.S. Rep. Robert E. Bauman, R-Md.

UNDER KENNEDY's proposed charter, the FBI's hands would be tied much more securely than those of its prospective targets.

Charter opponents say the FBI would not be able to move against terrorists until they are in the planning, training, and killing stage.

"The new charter," says Rep. Bauman, chairman of the American Conservative Union, "would absurdly prohibit the use of un-discover agents and informants until 'after a group has committed a crime.'

The charter would even constrain the FBI from collecting newspapers, pamphlets and magazines published by subversive organizations.

BUT THE NEW charter Kennedy's committee endorsed does not simply stop at curtailing investigations of terrorism.

It cuts the FBI's ability to deal with organized crime in the U.S., making it unlawful to carry on surveillance of the social activities (e.g., weddings and funerals) where the FBI formerly could observe the shadowy figures of organized crime.

While some charter is needed to clarify the FBI's legal rights, this version only serves to legitimize and solidify the extreme restrictions placed on the FBI in the backlash of Watergate.

The choice is clear. We can allow our domestic intelligence to perform its job, with prudent guidelines. Or we can expect repeats here at home of the recent intelligence debacles in Iran and Cuba.

The proposed FBI charter paves the way for the latter. Lawmakers who place a premium on the security of America and its citizens should join Rep. Bauman in opposing adoption of the Kennedy committee's charter unless it is amended extensively.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK:

Ham Eggs On Fight

WASHINGTON—Well-heeled contributors to the Democratic party have received firsthand confirmation from Hamilton Jordan of news reports that President Carter's re-election campaign considers a bloody party rupture inevitable if Sen. Edward M. Kennedy challenges for the Democratic nomination.

Members of the Democratic Finance Council from around the country, in town to attend a fund-raising dinner, were invited to the White House for a Sept. 26 closed-door briefing by Jordan.

One veteran money man asked whether it were possible to conduct a Carter vs. Kennedy fight on a gentlemanly level without bloodshed.

Jordan, the President's top strategist, was quick to answer: "No, we have to make this fight, and it is inevitable that blood will be spilled. Nor did he show any remorse over it.

A footnote: Jordan also signaled that nearly three years in the capital has not changed the Carter team's anti-Washington approach.

He welcomed the fat cats by saying he was glad to see them here to provide a greater breadth of views in what he called the "very one-dimensional town" of Washington—suggesting an anti-Carter bias here. Actually, several of the finance council members are covert Kennedy backers.

POPE JOHN PAUL II, whose designation is "Shepherd One" for U.S. Secret Service and affiliated security agents, demanded—and won—assurances that he would not be hit with any legal summons or embarrassing court orders during his visit here.

Papal advisers had worried about bad publicity if anti-Catholic critics obtained court orders against him on grounds, however specious, that some tax monies would be used in welcoming ceremonies to guarantee his safety and for other aspects of his visit.

A footnote: Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin played the most prominent role in a diplomatic reception given for his holiness by the apostolic delegate here.

Dobrynin's special role is automatic as senior diplomat in the U.S. but it is steeped in irony. The Polish pontiff has never concealed his strong sense of Polish nationalism and strong dislike for Soviet communism.

WHEN PRESIDENT Carter announced the appointment as secretary of the navy of Edward Hidalgo, an Hispanic American, at the annual Hispanic Caucus here Sept. 13, he did so without knowing that Hidalgo is deeply feared and distrusted in Puerto Rico.

Hidalgo, now an assistant secretary of the Navy, infuriated politicians of all stripes in Puerto Rico by insisting the Navy would not stop using the small populated island of Culebra for its major target practice in the Caribbean. Finally, Hidalgo was forced to back down.

Without checking his own White House Hispanic aides or the Puerto Rican delegate in Congress, Carter made his announcement expecting cheers and congratulations—a political error familiar in the Carter White House.

The result: Hidalgo will get tough questions during his confirmation hearing, particularly from Sen. Henry M. Jackson who is close to the island's democratic leadership.

AFTER TOYING with the notion of changing his abortion position to court "new right" support, Republican presidential hopeful John B. Connally has returned to his opposition against an anti-abortion constitutional amendment.

When asked about abortion, he now declares: "I'm against abortion. I'm opposed to federal subsidization of abortion." He next says he would not actively fight any anti-abortion constitutional amendment but adds he is not for it either.

Then comes the clincher on the "right to life" amendment: "I don't think it ought to be in the Constitution."

That is enough to make sure evangelical Christian elements in the "new right" coalition suffocate any support for Connally. Previously, Connally had contemplated a position neither for nor against the amendment on grounds that the President is not involved in the process of changing the Constitution.

THE CHANGE in climate at the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) was shown by the new secretary, Moon Landrieu, when he privately addressed a group of Democratic businessmen less than 48 hours after being sworn in.

Considering the frightful inflationary surge, Landrieu was asked, why not impose rent controls? Landrieu, who became a developer after stepping down as mayor of New Orleans in 1978, pulled no punches: It's a terrible idea.

Such controls would ultimately hurt the poor as well as everybody else, he said, by putting the housing industry in a straitjacket.

Such a blunt espousal of the market system could scarcely have been expected from Landrieu's predecessor, Patricia Roberts Harris, new secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Landrieu's clear articulation also stands out among President Carter's often tongue-tied Cabinet members.

AN EDITORIAL:

House Sticks By In-decision

IN CONSIDERING the 1980 federal budget, the House of Representatives was faced with the clear-cut choice either of continuing the liberals' ill-fated economic course or opting for a new substantive approach.

Rep. Robert E. Bauman, R-Md., chairman of the American Conservative Union, writes in his current column that the House displayed "its confusion and reluctance to act decisively" by rejecting both proposals.

Conservatives rejected the unrealistic notion that creating more jobs by creating more programs is a solution to the nation's economic woes.

Solutions of that nature are responsible for a rise in the national debt from $500-$890 billion in the last six years and a monstrous federal budget which has nearly doubled, from $270-$460 billion in the same period.

REP. BAUMAN and his conservative colleagues offered the view that the private sector—and not the federal government—is best equipped to provide jobs and economic incentive.

"With tax levels already at record levels and scheduled to go higher still," Rep. Bauman writes, "we offered a $20 billion tax cut for both individuals and corporations. "This alone would stimulate economic growth and savings at the same time, while cutting inflation substantially."

It would have cut the liberals' proposed deficit by approximately $9 billion—while providing more real dollars for defense at the same time.

Bauman's proposal was defeated 230-187.

THE PROPOSAL may have been defeated, but maybe the point was made that Americans are fed up with their outrageous tax burden.

They are fed up with the federal programs that accomplish little while financing the enormous and dangerous deficit. They are fed up with the inflation that is ravaging the paychecks and savings of everyone, and that is directly attributable to the budgetary policies of Congress.

Liberal economic policies are dangerously out of touch with the times. A new approach is needed, in line with economic reality.

Rep. Bauman and his fellow conservative lawmakers offered such an approach—only to have it rejected by liberals in an inexcusable but typical fit of indecision.

M. STANTON EVANS:

Nations Fare Better Without U.S. 'Help'

WASHINGTON—Where America's foreign policy maesters are concerned, it seems, nothing fails like success.

It is a peculiar fact of global life that the nations our government has chosen to leperize in recent years—Somozas's Nicaragua, post-Allende Chile, South Africa, Rhodesia—have been, in economic terms, among the soundest in the world.

Such countries have problems, of course—often intensified by our hostility. But compared to the Marxist regimes and Third World despots on whom we currently look with so much favor, these anti-Communist societies are economically quite strong.

This strange reverse phenomenon is even more apparent in Asia than in Latin America or Africa.

THERE, THE two most dynamic economies of the present era may be found, precisely, in the countries that have been targeted for special abuse in the United States: Taiwan and South Korea.

With comparatively little fanfare in the American media, both anti-Communist nations have written stories of amazing progress in the past two decades.

These successes are especially vivid because in each case there is a parallel Communist society with which comparisons may be drawn—Communist China and North Korea.

And they are the more impressive because, in each case as well, the anti-Communist country has had to overcome enormous hardship, including devastating warfare, enormous immigration problems, the constant possibility of external attack, and—in Taiwan's case at least—a campaign of global ostracism.

DESPITE THESE factors, the figures on economic performance speak for themselves. Between 1963 and 1973, Taiwan roughly tripled its agricultural output.

With a population of only 17 million (though it is the most densely populated country on earth) it has become the 16th largest trading nation in the world.

Its Gross National Product grew from less than $2 billion in 1961 to more than $24 billion in 1978, for a GNP per capita of roughly $1,300. By way of contrast, the estimated GNP per capita of Communist China is $410.

The South Korean record is equally impressive. At the time the country was originally divided, North Korea had most of the mineral resources and industrial base, a smaller population to keep employed and fed, and a higher GNP per capita.

BUT IN the past decade and a half, the South Korean rate of industrial production has been growing at twice the rate prevailing in the North. By 1976, South Korea's GNP stood at $25 billion, compared to only $6 billion for the North.

By 1981, it is estimated, the GNP per capita figures will be $875 and $650, respectively.

As pointed out by Herman Kahn of the Hudson Institute in his recent study, "World Economic Development," both Taiwan and South Korea have managed to surmount beginning economic troubles by concentrating on the global export market and avoiding the economic fantasies that have plagued so many other nations.

Also, Kahn notes, they have moved strongly in the direction of private enterprise and principles of business efficiency, despite the fact that both began with, and to a large extent still have, state involvement in their economies.

THE RESULT can be seen in all sort of American stores that feature goods from South Korea and Taiwan, in trade missions that girdle the globe, and in such phenomena as South Korean contractors and thousands of South Korean laborers working on construction projects in the Middle East.

These prodigious achievements, Kahn suggests, may in fact have been aided by the sense of isolation of these countries, who knew they would have to depend on their own hard work and self-reliance if they were going to survive.

Perhaps another factor is involved as well. With our government's apparently unerring instinct for doing the wrong thing in recent years, it may just be that any country we turn against is bound to be a winner.

PERHAPS CARTER, a precise politician, is merely touching all the bases, and after all there are blacks capable of handling any governmental assignment, including the Presidency. I would not be distraught to wake up and find Vernon Jordan, president of the Urban League, in the White House.

But there is a catch. Everybody, including Vernon Jordan, knows that the time is not ripe for a black Vice Presidential candidate. Yeah, it's unfair. But it's also a fact of political life.

Whenever this black Vice Presidential trickery surfaces, memory goes back to Sen. Ed Muskie, the Democrat from Maine, who ran for the top job briefly eight years ago.

In the fall of 1971, Muskie startled every politician in the country by saying he didn't think a ticket with a black Vice Presidential nominee would be electable.

WELL, SIRS and madames, you'd have thought Muskie had come out against watching TV soap operas. Other real and potential candidates—Nixon, Humphrey, Bayh, McGovern, Jackson—hustled out statements saying they would be delighted to run with a black.

And, predictably, Muskie eventually dropped out of the running. Honesty, as usual, was not fashionable.

Presidential candidates, by their very nature, form a club whose members will go to almost any length to avoid telling the electorate the truth about issues involving blacks.

I say almost any length, because I trust voters have noticed that no contender has ever announced that he would demand a black Vice President if he won his party's nomination. Haw! Not ruddy likely.

MEANWHILE, NOT even the nation's congenial boobs believe it when a candidate says he's considering a black running mate. But such mouthing does emit a comforting sound.

It makes both the candidate and the voters feel noble, and it doesn't do any harm to pretend there isn't a bigoted bone in America's body. But it's tough on the blacks because it tells them that their pride and emotions are being used.

Varied Assistance Offered By Group

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles dealing with the United Way of Lubbock. Except for officials of United Way agencies involved, the names used are fictitious to protect the identities of those served. However, the stories reflect actual case histories here.)

The material luxuries of life don't mean much when one loses good health. One day you're on top of the world, a home, food, a nice car and money in the bank. A year later, it's gone to pay medical bills of a debilitating illness.

This was the case of Thomas Stone when the Salvation Army of Lubbock heard of his plight.

The Salvation Army of Lubbock, a United Way agency, will receive $104,125 from the United Way's 1980 goal of $1,803,752.

According to Louise Stanger, employee of the Salvation Army, the organization was contacted by a friend of Stone's who was caring for him at the time. The friend explained that Stone had had numerous operations, affecting several organs of his body, which proved to be quite expensive for the previously financially comfortable citizen.

Also, Stone would have to have constant treatment for his entire life and needed at least $150 worth of prescriptions per week. The operations and the treatments depleted the life savings of Stone, Mrs. Stanger said, and when he was released from the hospital he had no where to go for money for the prescriptions.

It was the Salvation Army that helped Stone obtain the much needed medicine. Mrs. Stanger said the Salvation Army helped Stone, who will never be able to work again because of illness, obtain the initial medication. Since then, she said, he has been helped by other agencies and church groups and is now getting back on his feet through Social Security benefits.

Mrs. Stanger said many of the persons aided by this United Way agency do not respond after being helped, but "we had a really sweet letter from Mr. Stone. He was very appreciative of our help," she said.

The assistance given to Stone is part of the social services program of the Salvation Army. The program includes emergency assistance in the form of counseling, food orders, clothing, prescriptions, utility bills, rent, transportation and emergency lodging.

According to Major James Waller, director of the Salvation Army of Lubbock, the purpose of the organization and its social service program is "to bring people into a right relationship with God. Social service is one of the vehicles to bring them to their Creator."

The major cited many other programs of the army which help to achieve this goal. The army has an assistance service for transient persons who are stranded or without a home. The services provided in this type of situation are lodging, food, clothing and counseling.

United Way of Lubbock

In its emergency lodging program a total of 4,742 persons were aided with 13,111 needs served.

Waller said this service is important to the army because it gives them a chance to relate to the persons on an individual basis. Waller said that persons staying with the army on an emergency basis are required to attend some type of church service on Sunday. He said this program helps to fulfill the Army's obligation "to put man into an environment where he can, and maybe will, change his whole life." Although some rebel against the spiritual aspects of the army's procedure, Waller said it is the backbone of the army's work. He said that in each person is sin.

"If you can get the sin problem straightened out, you can solve the other problems in life. Unless we bring an awareness of God into people's lives here, we're not helping them. God is a vital part of changing motivation. We're not just here to feed and clothe people but to bring them into a good environment."

Other programs of the Salvation Army include assistance to parolees, providing them with a stopping point, assisting in finding work and supplying them with basic needs if there are no loved ones here to provide, the league of mercy, which is a service group, providing visitations to convalescent homes and gifts during holiday seasons, a missing persons service, which attempts to find loved one who are gone from home, and many adult and youth organizations are sponsored through the Salvation Army.

Waller said all of these programs are administered with spirituality; however, he said it is not forced on people. He said the staff has a special way of relating to its clients. "The staff we have relates to the people. They see God in them, in their kindness and concern. This is one of the most significant ways we do our ministry. It's not so much what you say but the attitude you put forth. A bit of kindness is like a cup of cool water to a thirsty man," he said.

The Salvation Army of Lubbock is among 34 United Way agencies.

Engineering Student Granted Scholarship

H.C. "Chuck" Harjes, a first year graduate student in electrical engineering at Texas Tech University, has been granted a scholarship by the Nuclear and Plasma Sciences Society of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers.

The IEEE society awards only about three such scholarships nationwide per year, according to faculty who nominated Harjes for the $500 award.

Harjes, the son of Joyce Raines and H.C. Harjes Sr. of Lubbock, is a graduate of Lubbock High School and the top student in his graduating senior class of about 65 electrical engineering students.

Professor Magne Kristiansen, who nominated Harjes, said Harjes' work has resulted in two international conference proceedings papers and another article is in preparation.

HONG KONG BUS WRECK
HONG KONG (AP) — A bus ran off a road Sunday and tumbled down an embankment in Hong Kong's New Territories, bordering China, and 71 passengers were injured, police reported. The injured were rushed to a nearby clinic. There was no immediate word on the extent of their injuries.

"The method he has developed for laser triggering of spark gaps using fiber optics transmission is unique," Kristiansen said.

In his graduate work on laser triggered spark gaps, Harjes has been working with Professor Lynn L. Hatfield of the physics department, but the work is done in the Plasma and Switching Laboratory in Electrical Engineering.

Hatfield described Harjes' work as "outstanding."

Talk is cheaper than you think.

How to save up to 60% on Long Distance.

If you're one of those who thinks a Long Distance call is a luxury, read on.

The trick to saving money while keeping in touch with family or friends is knowing when to call, and calling One-Plus.

Call between 11pm and 8am.

Before you groan about how you can't stay up late or see straight in the morning, think about it.

You'll be saving up to 60%! If you're a night person, you probably don't start counting sheep until after 11 pm anyway. And if you've got friends and family to call out west, it'll be a perfectly civilized 9 or 10 pm when their phone rings. If you like to see the sun rise, and you know folks back east, it'll be an hour later on their end.

Call out of state anytime before 8 am and you can talk all day if you want and still save 60%. In-state calls are also greatly reduced. Just remember to dial One-Plus.

Reach out on the weekend and save up to 60%.

Now this is a stroke of good luck: a really cheap Long Distance phone call just when you may want it most. Call any time between 11 pm Friday and 5 pm Sunday and really save. For instance, dial One-Plus and you can make a ten-minute call to Atlanta for only $1.55. That's almost worth making a new friend in Atlanta for.

Even on week-nights, save up to 35%.

Sometimes you can't wait for the weekend. Or you don't want to.

But you can still save plenty Sunday through Friday from 5 pm to 11 pm. Think about what a bargain it is to call someone 1900 miles away, talk it up for ten minutes, and only run a tab of about $2.00. There's just no other way to get close to a faraway friend or relative so quickly, so cheaply.

On weekdays it's still a bargain.

Here's a surprise. From 8 am to 5 pm, a Long Distance chat still doesn't cost very much. A five minute call out of state, to anywhere in the continental U.S. is only about $2.50 when you dial One-Plus. Think of how good the sound of your voice would be to a friend (not to mention your mother!) right in the middle of the day!

Dial One-Plus and watch the savings add up.

Even if you're not a regular do-it-yourselfer, do-it-yourself when you call Long Distance. The savings are significant when you dial "one" plus the area code plus the phone number, instead of having the Operator do it. It's also faster. If you don't know the area code you need, just look in the front of your Telephone Directory. (Also check your telephone directory for exact discounts and conditions on out-of-state and in-state calls.)

Take advantage of the Holiday discount and celebrate.

Along with the flag-waving, fetes and parades, pick up the phone and call Long Distance. Our regular evening discount rates apply all day on Christmas, New Year's Day, Labor Day, July 4th and Thanksgiving. If the holiday falls on a weekend, you get the lower rate. Isn't this the perfect time to ring up friends and family?

Reach out. Reach out and touch someone.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY DR. PAUL G. DONOHUE

Dear Dr. Donohue: I had an upper G.I. test this year after having a bad attack of indigestion. While being X-rayed (after drinking that lovely little cocktail) the technician told me that the fluid was shooting upward in a stream, but he did not see anything wrong. The doctor told me to take an antacid a half hour after eating and then three hours after eating. This really helped.

Can you suggest a diet? I have had several attacks and am getting tired of antacids. I am healthy and active at 68. The doctor called it "acid peptic disease." — Mrs. L.A.C.

Acid peptic disease is a general term. It includes a lot of illnesses featured by overproduction of stomach juices and acid.

The "shooting upward" of barium (cocktail) during your stomach x-rays indicates that the stomach juices are passing upward into the esophagus. This can cause the pain of what is called "heartburn." Antacids neutralize the acid and help. Medically it's called "gastroesophageal reflux."

Many foods have been implicated — peppermint, garlic, onion and alcohol. Smoking causes an increase in reflux (splashing) of juices. Certain other foods add to the heartburn by irritating the lining of the gullet — coffee, citrus juices, tomato juice, etc.

I suppose at this point you might ask: What's left? A diet high in protein and low in fat helps. Broiled meats, skim milk, potatoes, corn, bananas and apples should cause no problem. Chiefly, though, you have to use yourself as your own private guinea pig to arrive at a total diet. Just avoid the foods that give you trouble.

Dear Dr. Donohue: For many years my father has taken baking soda for heartburn and indigestion, and he says it relieves the pain temporarily. I told him I read somewhere that baking soda increases the acid in his stomach and that is why he has to take it so much. He drinks it many times a day. What can you tell us about this? — Mrs. D.K.

Baking soda contains sodium bicarbonate. It does neutralize stomach acid, but it has to be taken frequently to be effective. The high sodium content can be detrimental to blood pressure (tending to elevate it). It should not be used on a regular basis as an antacid.

Your father should find out why he has heartburn and/or indigestion, both of which terms can be meaningless medically. Once the cause of his distress is found that can be treated appropriately.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can too much iron cause a person to have arthritis? I was feeling tired out and my husband suggested I take iron tablets. I took them for about a month. At the same time I was taking vitamins that also contained the daily iron needs. I started to have terrific pain in my lower back. X-rays showed I had some arthritis in my lower back. I stopped taking the iron and haven't had a backache since. Do you think the iron was involved in my problem? — M.E.W.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: What is happening in our culture, with suddenly so much emphasis on female rear ends? A person can't turn on the TV without seeing a closeup of a woman's derriere.

What I saw yesterday was the worst — an ad for jeans that nearly popped my eyeballs. That filly must have had an 18-inch waist and a 42 behind. Five minutes later came another ad — for fanny smoothers, fanny shapers and fanny pads. Something for everybody. If you've got too much, squash it in. If you're lumpy, smooth it out. If you don't have enough, a little foam rubber can add to it. Crazy? You'd better believe it.

For a while I was sick to death of the bra commercials, but they were a lot less offensive. Now it seems women don't wear bras anymore — they just let it all hang out.

Some psychiatrists say men who are obsessed with female breasts were bottle babies, but what explanation is there for this intense preoccupation with the fanny? I won't sign my name, Ann. Please make one up. — White Plains, N.Y.

Dear Sit on It: I don't have the slightest idea what is causing the shift from top to bottom, but you are right, it's a definite trend. Maybe it means the world is coming to an end. (Bum joke.)

Dear Ann Landers: You missed the boat in responding to "Nibbler in Bridgeport." She was surprised to learn that shoppers who help themselves to cookies, potato chips, fruit, etc., and discard the remains before they get to the check-out counter hurt the store's profits substantially.

You said the store's profits are hit a lot harder because of shoplifting than nibbling. Of course, they are. But don't you realize, Ann, those nibblers ARE shoplifting? If they tried to walk out of the store with the stuff in their tote bags instead of their stomachs, they'd be arrested. How come you didn't say so? — B.M.M. in Dearborn, Mich.

I doubt it. Excess iron intake over a long period can cause a rare illness called "hemochromatosis." A part of that picture can be arthritis in joints. A month of iron supplements would not cause this.

In another part of your letter you ask if taking B-12 shots would cause such a problem. It won't. There is no iron in B-12. As to the iron tablets, even though you can't attribute your back problem to them, such supplements should not be taken unless truly needed. Appropriate blood tests tell if there is a need.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I'm a 15-year-old girl. My problem is that the hair in the pubic area is different than that on my head. I was born with black hair but it changed to blonde. But the pubic hair is black. I'm so afraid something is wrong with me and all I do is worry. I'm real serious, so please reply. — B.J.

Cool it. There's nothing wrong with you.

Pubic hair is usually a different color and always of a different texture than the hair on your head. Hair on the head is exposed to many agents that tend to lighten it, like the sun's rays.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear B.M.M.: Because I wasn't as sharp as you. Thanks for waking me up. And now that I'm up, I'd like to add another comment. The cost of all merchandise that "disappears," whether eaten or stolen, is passed on to the consumer. We all have to pay for what Mrs. Hogmouth filches.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem won't mean anything to anybody else but it sure means a lot to me.

I am a 17-year-old girl. Last Christmas I gave my boyfriend a very expensive gold ring with his initials engraved on it. When he broke up a few weeks later he gave the ring back to me.

Now I am going with a super guy, and I'd like to give him a very nice present for his birthday. Would it be OK if I had the jeweler remove the old boyfriend's initials and put the new guy's initials on it? Do you think the ex would recognize it? If he finked, would it make me look cheap to the new boyfriend? That ring was awfully expensive, and I hate to have it go to waste. — Not Sure

Dear N.S.: Don't be a cheapie. Take the ring back to the jeweler who sold it to you and ask for a credit toward a new ring for Heartthrob No. 2.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

One of my kids was interviewing a potential roommate on the phone the other day. She hung up and said, "It's a shame that one didn't work out."

"What was wrong with her?" I asked.

"On the surface she seemed to have everything. A good job, likes to cook, is considerate of people, has no bad habits, has her own car, and can pierce ears."

"So why didn't you ask her to move in?"

"I couldn't," she said. "We're looking for a size 10 with a steam iron."

"You're kidding."

"Mom, getting roommates who are 'neat people' just isn't enough. Last week I turned down a girl with her own VTR and a new battery in her car."

"What was wrong with her?"

"Would you want to live with a size three who doesn't do windows or floors?"

"I guess you can't be too careful."

"We thought we were onto a steam iron yesterday, but we were too late. Steam irons never have any trouble finding roommates. She could pick her own pad and not even have to share a bathroom. Stereos are a dime a dozen. Everyone's got their own system. We've just had a streak of bad luck. First, our Mr. Coffee flunked out of school and went back home. When we replaced her, our electric typewriter got married and split, and we got stuck with a girl who said she was getting a leather coat, but she just said that to get the room."

"I'm curious," I said. "What have YOU brought to this better living through materialism?"

"Are you serious?" she laughed. "When you have two tall unmarried brothers you're in the driver's seat. The trouble with a lot of people who share an apartment is they don't have a plan. It should be like a marriage — carefully thought out. Each partner should be seriously considered on what he can bring to the relationship. Incidentally, Dad had a job, a car, a bicycle, savings account and a collection of Glenn Miller albums. What did you bring to the marriage?"

I smiled. "A steam iron."

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠62 ♥AK95 ♦AQ83 ♣J82
The bidding has proceeded:

What action do you take?
A.—Simple arithmetic should provide you with the correct answer. You have only 14 points in high cards and you cannot expect more than 9-10 points from partner, and he may have only 6. Even if partner is maximum, there is no game. Since your hand is balanced, it would be foolish to look for a better spot.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK43 ♥1052 ♦A63 ♣Q43
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1♦ Pass
2♥ Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—When you opened this hand, it was with the idea of reaching a satisfactory part score rather than game—after all, you have a minimum opening bid and a balanced hand, and partner has already passed. Partner's response did not change this. You are in a playable contract at a comfortable level, so pass.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ103 ♥KQ63 ♦QJ102 ♣7
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1♦ Dbl. Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—You want to be in game in either major, but there is no need for you to blindly leap to four spades or four hearts and hope that partner produces four-card support. Simply cue bid two diamonds, forcing partner to show a major. Naturally you intend raising to game whichever major suit partner bids.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠QJ10964 ♥5 ♦KQ10963
Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one heart. What action do you take?

A.—Your intention with this distributional powerhouse is to buy the hand at whatever level is necessary. However, a little foresight is required. If you overcall one spade, you may have to show your diamond suit at the five-level (♠) at your next turn. Therefore, we recommend that you overcall two diamonds now, and then introduce your spades in an effort to buy the contract as cheaply as possible.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Oswald: "After over 60 years of bridge, I keep getting more and more impressed by the importance of planning your whole play of the dummy before committing yourself."
Alan: "Here is a good example. South won the heart lead with his ace and before you could say 'Jack Robinson' he had led a trump to dummy's ace. The rest of the play was slow and unsuccessful."
Oswald: "A little thought would have told him that he needed to keep that ace of trumps in dummy as a possiour actions. Here, for example, you have a wealth of values opposite a partner who has shown the equivalent, or thereabouts, of our offensive prospects are poor for our only probable game is in no trump, which may be defeated after a heart lead. In view of this fact, we would pass and hope that the vulnerable opponents might incur a penalty equivalent to, or in excess of, any contract we might make.

IMPORTANCE OF COLOR

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠QJ4 ♥KQ1074 ♦6 ♣A942
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass
3♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Despite partner's minimum rebid, your holding in his suit and controls in the minor suits indicate definite slam possibilities. To show your interest, cue bid the ace of clubs. If partner makes a positive move over this, we would simply check for aces and bid a slam if he shows the required number.

Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K7 ♥KQ976 ♦A92 ♣653
The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1♦ Pass 2♥ Pass
4♦ Pass 4♥ Pass
6♥ Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Even though partner is looking at a spade suit that is not solid, he has jumped all the way to slam with only the slightest encouragement from you. Unless he is a raving lunatic, you may be laydown for a grand slam. Bid seven hearts—the king of spades is the key card.

Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ ♥6432 ♦QJ104 ♣J106
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass
2♦ Pass 3♦ Pass
4♦ Pass 4♥ Pass
6♦ Pass Pass Pass

What is your opening lead?
A.—The auction has been a giveaway. Opener should have at least five hearts and four spades. Responder has at least three hearts for his initial raise. Therefore, your partner is marked with no more than one heart, at most. Lead a heart. If partner does not ruff, continue hearts when you get in with the ace of spades. Partner will almost surely ruff that to defeat the slam.

Center Provides Treatment For Disabled Housewives

By BETTY YARMON
Women's News Service

NEW YORK — The United States might take a lesson from Israel, where a housewife's work is considered by law to be an occupation on a par with any other job outside the home.

One dramatic way in which this is being shown: Recognition is now given to disabilities suffered by housewives. In fact, a Center for the Functional Evaluation of the Disabled Housewife has been set up in the Physician Medicine and Rehabilitation Department of Hadassah University Hospital on Jerusalem's Mt. Scopus. This is how it works:

Housewives under the age of 60 who are disabled and cannot function normally come to the center. There, a team of doctors, occupational therapists and social workers evaluate each disability so the housewife can obtain compensation from the National Insurance Institute under the Housewives Disability Act recently passed by the Israeli Knesset (parliament).

Dr. Elsar Orkan, head of the center, described the need for an interdisciplinary approach to this problem of housewives' disabilities on a recent visit to the United States.

"We believe that those who cannot function at home because of illness should be compensated so that they and their families can be rehabilitated. For instance, a woman may have a cerebrovascular incident (stroke), or suffer from severe heart disease, or progressive multiple sclerosis, or be injured in an accident. The financial assistance provided to her or her family can be used to provide for home care. It can also be used for such equipment, or appliances, as a refrigerator, or washing machine, or special chair. Such things may make it possible for the woman to continue in an active role as mother and homemaker. The compensation also provides for transportation to the clinic."

Sometimes, the patients who come for examinations are recommended for further rehabilitation and they may be referred to specialists either at Hadassah or in hospitals near their homes.

The rating of the housewives' disability requires a medical assessment of the disability, with a statement of the anticipated changes in the future and the effects of the disability on her physical and psychological ability to function.

About 30 housewives are now being screened each week. First, they get a physical examination to evaluate their handicap. Then, according to individual needs, other specialists are invited to examine them, such as orthopedic surgeons, or neurologists, or practitioners of internal medicine, ophthalmology, or psychiatry.

After the physical and psychological examinations, the patient who shows a 50 percent or more disability is tested in a model apartment at the center. There, occupational therapists watch her carry out the activities of daily living, and such tasks as housekeeping, dishwashing, bed-making, laundering and cleaning floors. While she performs these tasks, an occupational therapist measures her capacity to execute them. Sometimes, this capacity may exceed or fall short of her potential to function, as estimated by the physical examination.

A social worker then interviews the woman and estimates the actual demands made upon her as a housekeeper. These are different in every case. Account is taken of her family situation, whether she has many or few children, whether the children are dependent or go out to work, whether her husband works or is unable to work, the type of housing, and so on. All these factors are given a numerical score.

Finally, a team interviews the housewife and a decision is made as to the amount of disability she is suffering so that compensation can be provided by the National Insurance Institute.

Patients are reviewed once a year in case there has been a change in their situation.

Hints from Heloise

HI THERE:

If you tossed and turned trying to get comfortable last night, and woke up time and again scratching yourself raw, the problem just may be your new pajamas or those beautiful new sheets you bought last week.

The Guild of Professional Drycleaners tells me that pajamas and sheets often contain durable press finishes in which an acid catalyst is used to cure the resin in the fabric.

This acid can be a terrible skin irritant. The acid is quite easily removed by simply washing the material as you would normally.

The manufacturer often fails to take this step for fear that it may affect the "new look" of the product.

So avoid another sleepless night for yourself and your family... wash your new pajamas and sheets before you use them.

Pleasant dreams! — Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

Have you ever noticed how hilarious animals are when embarrassed?

Every time my dog is playing and running fast, and falls down, he lies there and yawns and stretches, pretending he didn't fall at all; like he just planned to be lying there flat on the floor. — Susie Q.

DEAR HELOISE:

As you travel around and take home movies, first take a picture of the name of the town, park, or resort.

As the years pass (and they do, you know) you will always know where they were taken. — Mabel Welton

Be sure to put the date some place on them also. That's just as important as the place they were taken. — Heloise

HINTS FROM HIM

DEAR HELOISE:

I've hated grease in gravy since I was a small boy. This is how I avoid it when making roasts or whatever.

Tip the pan up to make a deep well of fluid at one end. Depress the bulb of a baster and insert the tip through the floating grease down into the meat stock.

When you release the bulb, the baster will draw up almost pure meat juice.

Repeat until most of the stock is transferred to a sauce pan. The demarcation of the stock and grease is easy to see. — P.V.

DEAR HELOISE:

While on vacation, I ran into a small problem. We had packed everything we thought we needed, but forgot the baby's feeding dish. So I fed her a jar of baby food (out of the jar), and started to throw away the empty jar when a thought hit me. Why not use the jar for mixing the cereal in?

I washed the jar in hot water and mixed her cereal in it and fed her. It was so easy and so convenient.

I used this method all during our trip.

I guess it is another way of recycling, right? — Mrs. Phil Conn

This is a good idea but be sure to throw away all the food that is left after feeding the baby if you have fed him directly from the jar.

Saliva breaks down the enzymes in the foods, thereby destroying its nutritive qualities. Better to have a clean jar handy to store any unused portion. — Heloise

THIS COLUMN is written for you... the homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise, 235 E. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10017. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Self-Image Development Vital To Personal Growth

COLLEGE STATION (Special) — Do you like your self-image? Your life may depend on it.

If you don't like it, change it, says Jenny Reinhardt, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

OTHERS TEACH 'SELF-VIEW'

Others teach us self-worth or self-image from our earliest years on. By the teen years, individuals have the mental maturity to decide how they will view themselves, however, Miss Reinhardt says.

"At this point, individuals can take a serious look at the 'messages' others have given.

"Each individual then can choose which 'messages' to continue believing and which ones to discard.

DISCARD HARMFUL 'MESSAGES'

"This sorting process is important, because we all receive some messages from others that do not contribute to a strong and healthy self-image.

"Messages that hurt our self-image are the ones to discard, because a strong self-image is the foundation of sound mental health — and it may be the key ingredient in a successful and happy life," Miss Reinhardt stresses.

A STRONG SELF-IMAGE

Building a good self-image is the most important task an individual has in his mental and emotional development — and it's among the greatest challenges of parenthood, she explains.

Individuals with high self-esteem are more likely to achieve the goals they have for themselves — and those others have for them.

Because every person's mental health and life's successes depend on a strong self-image, it's vital that we understand what our self-image is and how it grows — so we can change it ourselves when it needs strengthening, the specialist says.

WHAT IS SELF-IMAGE?

A self-image is all of the thoughts, feelings and ideas a person has about himself or herself.

It is the overall judgment of self. It is how much we like, accept and respect ourselves.

In one way or another, most of the things we do are directly related to our feelings about ourselves.

Friends we choose, how we relate to others, our creativity and our achievements all are affected by our self-image, Miss Reinhardt says.

HOW SELF-IMAGE GROWS

Individuals are not born with high or low self-esteem. Our feelings about ourselves are learned — starting at birth and continuing over our lifetime.

Experiences in the first years of life form the basic foundation of those feelings.

After the first years, those feelings are constantly revised — upward or downward — throughout life by the results of each additional experience or undertaking, Miss Reinhardt says.

For a very young child, self-image is dependent to a large extent on the people closely involved in his or her care — mother, father, grandparents or people providing child care.

As the child reaches adolescence, his friends, teachers and others also influence his feelings about self.

"Any time after that, it's important to start the sorting process — if we are to build a strong self-image for the rest of our life," Miss Reinhardt says.

"From then on throughout life, we can receive 'messages' from others and keep them or discard them as we build and maintain our life's foundation — a strong, satisfying self-image."

Signature Analysis Reveals Personality

By MARILYN HOLMES
A-J Correspondent

CARLSBAD, N.M. — Three signatures magnified on the screen were all written by the same man, but they were vastly different.

Carlsbad certified handwriting analyst Judith A. Housley, a professional with 15 years of experience, interpreted those differences.

Years ago the writer was strong and confident. Later, he became secretive. And finally, a thin line that trailed across the paper represented absolute defeat.

The writer was Richard Nixon, the only U.S. President ever to resign because of alleged impropriety.

Handwriting analysts say that Nixon's changing signature traced his mental state as the ordeal of Watergate unfolded.

"Handwriting is brainwriting," Miss Housley said. "You can write with your feet or mouth and still reveal things about yourself."

She pointed to a set of signatures that flashed on the screen. These two samples spelled out the same name and looked similar. But they were written by two different individuals.

"The bottom signature is a forgery," Miss Housley declared.

She pointed out the forger's mistakes, obvious to her but indiscernible to the untrained eye. The forged sample revealed blots in the signature and subtle changes in fluidity of the stroke, letter connections and individualized formations.

These characteristics helped reveal the writer's hesitance and unfamiliarity with the signature. Even though the authentic signatures also revealed less obvious blots, Miss Housley called them a common indication of "brain impulses" — further proof, she explained, of the direct connection between handwriting and the brain.

She can also direct when a signer was under the influence of alcohol or drugs. She saved an Albuquerque bank several thousand dollars with this expertise when a depositor denied knowledge of signing for a withdrawal.

Since the signature on the withdrawal did appear forged, Miss Housley was hired to examine the document. She determined that the signature was authentic and that the man was intoxicated when he made the withdrawal.

The bank/client withdrew his protest when he remembered he had "had a few" on the date of withdrawal, but did not recall his actions.

Through character evaluation, Miss Housley was able to trace an employe responsible for embezzlement at one business firm after examining handwriting samples of workers who were in a position to commit the theft.

While handwriting expertise is generally accepted in determining authenticity of signatures, Miss Housley said that detailed personality evaluations are only now beginning to gain credibility in the U.S.

Her specialty is the psychogram, a method she says is far more detailed than the traditional trait stroke analysis. She claims that more than 2,000 areas of personality can be measured in a thorough analysis.

"When you're thorough, you have a wealth of information about the person's intellect and IQ — how they use their mind in regard to higher thought processes," she said.

Through handwriting analysis, criminal tendencies or emotional difficulties can be traced along with positive traits like success orientation or good character.

More than 5,000 large corporations in the U.S. are using handwriting analysis to aid in hiring and promotion decisions.

"Most people who are against handwriting analysis just don't understand it," Miss Housley said. "It works for the employee as well as the employer."

She said analysis is also valuable to the individual.

"A lot of people are role playing because they are unable to express themselves," she said.

A better understanding of self leads to better mental health, she said. She demonstrated several methods of graphology therapy designed to help people develop better powers of concentration and coordination through mastering certain strokes.

Miss Housley received her training in certified schools and workshops in California, Utah and New Jersey. She is a graduate of the International Graphoanalysis Society of Chicago.

She is a member of several professional organizations and serves as a consultant for banks and other businesses throughout the U.S.

She also works as a consultant for various government and law enforcement agencies.

Salary Dispute Hearing Set

A-J Correspondent

PLAINVIEW (Special) — Hale County Justice of the Peace Glenn Stone has a grievance hearing concerning a salary adjustment tentatively scheduled by the county commissioners court at 8 a.m. Oct. 18.

The commissioners last week selected Abernathy farmers Walter Cox and James Conn and Plainview schoolteacher Inez Cuevas to serve with the seven elected members of the grievance committee.

Should any of those three refuse, the court will select at random from persons who have served on Hale County grand juries to fill the vacant positions.

Stone's hearing is the first time a grievance procedure has been held in Hale County since a law permitting such hearings came into effect in 1973.

Debate Slated At University

Some of the country's most eloquent student speakers, debaters and oral interpreters will meet in Lubbock Friday through Sunday for the Texas Tech Fall Forensic Tournament.

More than 350 participants from more than 40 colleges and universities are expected to attend the 28th annual tournament. Among institutions expected to participate are the University of Kansas, Southwest Missouri State University, The University of Texas at Austin, University of Houston, Baylor University, University of Denver, and The University of Texas at Arlington.

Events will include persuasive speaking, extemporaneous speaking, debate, and oral interpretation.

The competition this year has been designated a state qualifying tournament for the National Forensic League (NFL).

Awards will be presented at a banquet Saturday night in all categories of competition. Sweepstakes trophies also will be presented.

Tech Counsel Aids Students

Advising students on car problems, traffic tickets and landlord-tenant problems fills the weeks of the Texas Tech student legal counsel.

In only her first week as the university's new Legal Counsel, Jean Wallace has faced a number of these situations. She assumed her position and busy schedule on Sept. 24 and has seen an average of seven to 10 students a day.

Miss Wallace's job at Texas Tech is to advise students when they have a legal problem. The legal counsel does no actual litigation.

The majority of problem handled by Miss Wallace deal with students and their automobiles and have had trouble with them in getting them repaired and students who receive parking and traffic violation tickets.

As Texas Tech's student legal counsel, Miss Wallace will speak to different campus organizations on how to use the legal system, what the counsel has to offer, and try to alert students to problems before they happen.

The attorney comes to Lubbock from Midland where she was assistant county attorney for Midland County. As a member of the county prosecuting staff, she often tried misdemeanor cases.

After nearly three years in the courtroom, she decided to move on, saying, "I wanted to get out of the courtroom, but I don't regret the three years in Midland."

A native of Lubbock Miss Wallace graduated from Monterey High School in 1969. She received the Bachelor of Arts degree in history from Texas Tech in 1973. In 1976 she received the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from Texas Tech University.

Scottish Rite Reunion Slated

About 60 degrees will be issued during the Lubbock Scottish Rite reunion which continues through Tuesday and began Sunday.

More than 400 people from 50 counties across West Texas to New Mexico and Oklahoma are expected to take part in the awarding of degrees.

Members from other temples are invited to attend this year's reunion which has been named for D. A. Edwards, a 32nd degree KCCH of Crosbyton.

Meat Firm Seeking More Hogs

PLAINVIEW — The Jimmy Dean Meat Co. this week issued an appeal for more local and area hogs to bolster their production capacity.

Currently, only about 70 head of local hogs are being processed each week through the plant, which has a capacity of about 500 hogs per week, said spokesmen for the plant, who added the company is having to import hogs from Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa to meet their commitments to the Cuddahy Meat Co. of Phoenix.

The spokesman said the plant was paying Omaha prices, or top dollar, for the hogs, and that the plant spent nearly $500,000 to re-open the plant and could not continue to operate at such a loss.

Salvation Army Rally Slated

Ten Lubbock Salvation Army Corps women members will accompany Mrs. Jim Waller, corps co-commander, to the 1979 Home League Rally to be held in Dallas Tuesday at the Northpark Inn.

Lubbock delegates to the rally will be: Bobbie Boyd, Ruby Dennis, Gloria Duff, Peggy Duff, Carrie Haney, Thelma Hensley, Clara Potter, Dorothy Villarreal, Bernice Wingo and Evelyn Woods.

Guest speaker for the event will be Mrs. George Marshall, southern territorial secretary for the Home League department with headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia. Mrs. Marshall will speak on "Symbols of Love" which will be the theme of the annual rally.

Testimony To Begin In Steakhouse Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Roger Dale Stafford — accused of gunning down six steakhouse workers in the worst mass murder in Oklahoma history — goes on trial Monday, with his wife as the star prosecution witness.

Verna Stafford, 26, testified against her 27-year-old husband in chilling detail at his August preliminary hearing on six first-degree murder charges. She said she was an eyewitness to Stafford's involvement in the July 16, 1978 mass murder at a Sirlion Stockade steakhouse in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Stafford testified she watched in horror as Stafford and his late brother Harold, 29, "turned around and started shooting" at four teen-agers and two men huddled in the steakhouse meat locker during a $1,200 robbery.

Stafford, a 27-year-old Alabama drifter, is "going to testify at the trial, he's going to say he's innocent," said defense attorney J. Malone Brewer, 39, a former assistant district attorney and former assistant public defender.

Jurors, who will be sequestered during the trial, will be faced with the choice of believing either Roger Stafford or his wife. The couple has been married seven years and has three children.

"We're going to demand the death penalty" if Stafford is found guilty, said James McKinney, first assistant district attorney for Oklahoma County.

The Stafford case, which has already drawn national attention, is expected to attract even more news coverage now because it will be the first major trial in the state televised under new state Supreme Court guidelines.

Stafford's attorneys have suffered a series of defeats in pretrial motions hearings. Their key setback was the refusal by judges to bar Mrs. Stafford from testifying against her husband at his preliminary hearing and trial. The judges rejected Brewer's argument that a wife cannot legally testify against her husband.

District Judge Charles Owens, who will preside at the Stafford trial, also rejected defense requests for access to police reports on the steakhouse massacre and for public financial aid.

In addition, the judge turned down defense motions to move the trial to another county to escape heavy pretrial publicity and to grant additional postponements of court appearances to give the defense more preparation time.

District Attorney Andrew Coats said he will call about 30 witnesses in the trial.

Smith Says Rhodesia Will Reject British Peace Settlement

SALISBURY, Zimbabwe Rhodesia (AP) — Former Prime Minister Ian Smith, who voted against accepting a British proposal for a constitutional settlement of the guerrilla war, said Sunday he did so because whites would lose control of the military and judiciary.

"Clearly these things are unacceptable, and unless they are changed, these British proposals will be rejected by our Parliament," Smith said.

The Salisbury delegation to the London peace talks, now in its fifth week, accepted the British plan Friday over Smith's dissent.

In London, sources close to Muzorewa said he was untroubled by Smith's claim that Parliament would reject the British proposals, saying such a move was "not practical politics."

But Smith, saying he was certain he spoke for country's minority 230,000 whites, said it was "madness to tamper with security and law and order."

He said, "the British are now asking us to accept a new set up which will give any future prime minister virtual dictatorial powers in the appointment and dismissal of our security chiefs and our judiciary."

Under the internal settlement Smith negotiated with blacks prior to the April election which brought Bishop Abel Muzorewa to power as prime minister, whites were given control of the military and judiciary. They also were given veto power over constitutional changes and 28 of 100 seats in Parliament — a larger representation than their 3 percent minority would be entitled to in a one-man, one-vote system.

The British said whites could retain 20 percent of the Parliament seats for seven years, and Muzorewa agreed to the plan — anxious to have Britain lift sanctions placed against the country in 1965 when Smith split with England to head off black majority rule.

Smith said although he was the only member of the delegation who voted against the plan, several blacks also opposed it because it could drive much-needed white skilled workers from the country.

"Nothing would make white people leave Rhodesia sooner than a breakdown in security and law-and-order and standards of impartiality in courts," Smith said.

He bitterly attacked the government of British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher. Her election had raised hopes in this breakaway colony because of her party's pre-election pledge to lift the sanctions if the April elections were found to be fair.

Smith said the terms offered by Mrs. Thatcher's government "are worse than those from any previous British government since our declaration of independence."

Waitress Found Guilty In Double Slaying

SAYRE, Okla. (AP) — An 18-year-old Amarillo waitress was convicted of first-degree murder Saturday for her role in a bizarre double slaying.

Susan Ann Ratliff was found guilty in the slaying of a Texas couple whose bound and gagged bodies were discovered beneath an Interstate 40 culvert here last March.

The jury recommended life imprisonment.

Rogers County Associate Judge Giles Peterson, presiding in the Beckham County District Court trial, set formal sentencing for Oct. 26.

Miss Ratliff was convicted in the shooting deaths of Steven Joseph Snyder, 26, and Ceci Corbet, 24.

Charged with Miss Ratliff, but not yet tried, is Michael Stephen Forbes, 34, also of Amarillo.

Miss Ratliff shared an Amarillo apartment with Forbes and Snyder, testimony in the four-day trial indicated. The killings occurred on the day Snyder and Miss Corbet were planning to come to Oklahoma to marry, investigators said.

A motive for the slayings was not established, but a witness testified that Miss Ratliff said Snyder took a photograph of her and altered it to make the photograph obscene.

Another witness testified Miss Ratliff had said that Miss Corbet, when the killings occurred, was "in the wrong place at the wrong time."

Miss Ratliff, who took the stand in her defense Friday, testified Forbes gave her venereal disease, causing her to abort her unborn baby after she was arrested in Amarillo. She testified her co-defendant "prostituted" her.

Miss Ratliff and Forbes were arrested in Amarillo after the bodies of Snyder and Corbet were found March 12. The couple had been shot with a .22-caliber weapon.

District Attorney Richard Dugger told the jury Miss Ratliff helped "march them (the victims) to their deaths... where they were murdered execution-style."

He told the jury Snyder was shot between the eyes and Miss Corbet "shot in the throat, and she drowned in her own blood."

U.S. Approaching Promise Cautiously

Minority Leader Rejects British-Sponsored Plan

SALISBURY, Zimbabwe Rhodesia (UPI) — White minority leader Ian Smith Sunday rejected Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa's acceptance of a British-sponsored plan for a new majority rule agreement and threatened to block it in parliament.

"The British have succeeded in dividing our government of national unity," the former prime minister said in underlining the rift within the coalition government. "I made it clear I did not accept them," he said of the proposals. "I don't accept something that is dependant on something else happening in the future. I want to see the whole deal clear."

Smith, referring to the British-authored constitutional clauses he rejects, said that "unless they are changed, these British proposals will be rejected by our parliament. That will mean that all of the effort put into these negotiations will be to no avail."

The legislative house of assembly consists of 72 blacks and 28 whites, all members of the Rhodesian Front, including Smith himself.

Constitutionally, major changes require the affirmative vote of 78 members, meaning that for changes to go through, all 72 black members plus at least six whites have to be in accord.

Specifically, he described as "unacceptable" provisions that give a black prime minister ultimate authority over hiring and firing the armed forces commanders, the police commissioner and the chief justice of the high court.

Smith also criticized British proposals regarding the senate, a ratifying body. Whites, who now make up one third of the senate, would represent one fourth of the body under the British plan.

Soviet Offer Rejected

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — A high NATO official, reacting to Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev's offer to reduce Soviet military strength in Europe, says the West will not be lured into permanent inferiority for the defense of Europe.

Brezhnev said in a speech in East Berlin Saturday that the Soviet Union was prepared to reduce the number of medium range nuclear planes and missiles deployed in Western areas of the Soviet Union if the West did not deploy any additional such systems. He also announced he was withdrawing 20,000 Soviet troops and 1,000 tanks from East Germany.

Brezhnev's disclosure came at a time NATO allies were reported nearing a decision on the modernizing their nuclear forces in Europe.

The Carter administration has proposed stationing 500 Pershing 2 missiles — the equivalent of Russia's SS-20 missile — in Europe, and observers say Brezhnev's proposal Saturday was an attempt to sway Europeans to reject the U.S. plan.

Recalling NATO's basic policy of "deterrence and detente," the high NATO Official, who asked not to be identified, said during the weekend the West was willing to enter into talks with the Soviet Union on the so-called "long-range theatre nuclear systems" but that such negotiations should not serve to perpetuate Soviet superiority in this field.

MOSCOW (AP) — The news media of the Soviet bloc Sunday portrayed President Leonid I. Brezhnev's promise to reduce Red Army forces in East Germany as a major peace initiative. But the United States and its NATO partners took a far more cautious approach.

West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt said the Soviet pledge would be "a substantial contribution to the reduction of certain existing imbalances." But Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher, while calling the Soviet move "a step in the right direction," also indicated concern over Soviet missile strength.

In Brussels, Belgium, a NATO official noted it remains to be seen whether the Soviets will withdraw only combat units, or support units as well, and how far they will be pulled back. If they are withdrawn only as far as Poland, he said, they will still be viewed as part of the Soviet military contingent in Eastern Europe.

And in the United States, presidential security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski rebuffed Brezhnev's suggestion that the NATO allies drop plans to deploy nuclear missiles in Western Europe in exchange for a reduction in Soviet missile strength.

In East Berlin on Saturday night, the Soviet president, declaring the East bloc is serious about detente, pledged to withdraw from East Germany within 12 months up to 20,000 Soviet troops, 1,000 tanks and other military equipment. He challenged Western countries to make similar steps in Central Europe.

Western defense officials estimate Soviet troop strength in Central Europe at between 340,000 and 400,000 men.

In response, the State Department noted that Washington believes the Soviet Union currently enjoys a position of military advantage in Europe.

In the long-deadlocked talks in Vienna, Austria, on reducing forces in Central Europe, the United States has called for a Soviet pullback of 65,000-70,000 troops and 1,700 tanks in return for a U.S. reduction of 1,000 nuclear warheads, 28,000 men, 54 aircraft and 36 short-range missiles.

The State Department added, however, that Brezhnev's proposal "appears to contain some positive elements" and would be thoroughly studied.

Soviet-bloc media praised the Brezhnev promise as a key step toward a more peaceful Europe.

The Bulgarian daily Rabotnichesko Delo, quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass, said the pledge would be a "heavy blow" to "enemies of detente" who claim the Soviet Union threatens the West.

Newspapers in East Germany headlined the Kremlin leader's "unilateral offer in the interests of peace and security."

The official Soviet news media was full of praise for Brezhnev's offer.

Tass said the Soviet initiative "most eloquently exposes the entire nonsensicalness of reactionary propaganda's assertions about a certain striving of the U.S.S.R. for military superiority."

The newspaper Moskovskaya Pravda published interviews with a Soviet truck driver, a weaver, a chemist and a house builder, all of them approving of Brezhnev's move.

In addition to the troop reduction move, Brezhnev volunteered to reduce the number of medium-range Soviet missiles targeted on Western Europe if "no additional medium-range nuclear means are deployed in Western Europe."

NATO nuclear planners are to meet in December on plans to deploy powerful new Pershing-2 missiles in Europe.

Deposed Radicals Facing Trial

PEKING (AP) — Chinese Premier Hua Guofeng said Sunday the "Gang of Four," the deposed radical group led by the widow of Mao Tse-tung, will be put on trial but will not be sentenced to death.

"As to when, I can tell you it won't be too long," he said.

Hua was responding to a question during a news conference for reporters from West Germany, France, Britain and Italy, countries he is to visit later this month.

Hua, who is also Communist Party chairman, was quoted by those present as saying the new legal code passed in July by the National People's Congress gives all Chinese the right to trial. He said the Gang committed crimes against the Chinese people, and the cases would be settled by due process.

FORCED REMOVAL — After penetrating the Seabrook nuclear power plant construction site more than 500 anti-nuclear protesters are driven back off the site by police and National Guardsmen Sunday afternoon. Police used mace and smoke

Nuclear Power Plant Assaulted

SEABROOK, N.H. (AP) — Hundreds of anti-nuclear protesters repeatedly assaulted the Seabrook atomic power plant Sunday but were repulsed by state troopers and National Guardsmen using fire hoses, Mace and a smoke-spewing generator.

Waves of demonstrators twice assaulted the fence surrounding the construction site and ripped down whole sections of it with ropes. Troopers and Guardsmen surged through the gap, spraying Mace and driving the protesters back along an access road.

But more than 1,000 of them quickly regrouped and marched a mile in the rain to the plant entrance, where they were met by troopers and guardsmen standing shoulder to shoulder behind the main gate. Fire hoses were turned on the crowd and a stream of smoke was unleashed from a generator.

But the chanting protesters, clad in rain slickers and plastic sheets, put their backs against the chain-link gate and defied authorities to move them. Utility workers then emptied two water trucks onto the crowd but were unable to disperse them immediately.

The demonstrators eventually backed off but continued to mill about in front of the gate. Some returned to campsites in the nearby woods.

Police reinforcements from other sections of the construction site were brought to the main gate. Traffic was blocked on busy U.S. Highway 1, the main road through the town of Seabrook.

Ten people were arrested Sunday, bringing to 19 the number arrested on criminal trespassing charges in the two-day attempt to occupy the Seabrook site, long a focal point for demonstrations against the use of nuclear power. One other demonstrator was arrested on a charge of criminal mischief. Officers also confiscated gas masks and other gear from protesters.

Earlier, the demonstrators attempted to enter the facility at separate sites along the chain-link fence surrounding the 140-acre site. The first assault, by about 75 protesters, fizzled after a squad of troopers moved from behind the fence and sprayed them with Mace and smoke bombs.

Other officers in boats used jackknives to slash truck tire inner tubes; the protesters were using as a makeshift pontoon bridge across a tidal inlet in the marshland.

A few hours later, about 500 demonstrators returned in two groups and managed to bring down sections of the fence before being turned back.

The early skirmishes at first appeared to dim the spirits of demonstrators who had camped in the rain overnight in the marshland, after a failed attempt to take over the plant Saturday.

Departing demonstrators complained that the takeover attempt was too disorganized and said there were not enough protesters.

The Coalition for Direct Action at Seabrook, sponsors of the protest, had said they were hoping for thousands. The coalition is a militant offshoot of the Clamshell Alliance, which had organized previous, peaceful demonstrations at the construction site.

David Bolster, 21, of Farmington, Maine, said he was prepared to stay as long as necessary to stop construction, but added that he could understand why so many were "intimidated" by the police.

"A lot of people are starting to realize that the police state is for real," he said.

Manson's Freedom Planned

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Two terrorist groups have joined forces and gone on a crime spree to free from jail Charles Manson and members of his "family" and the Symbionese Liberation Army, the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram reported Sunday.

In a copyright story, the newspaper quoted an intelligence agent as saying, "Our street sources tell us that the group is planning something that will make the Patty Hearst thing look penny ante."

Scattered remnants of Manson's clan — some of whose members were convicted of murdering actress Sharon Tate and at least eight others — and persons associated with the SLA — which kidnapped the Hearst newspaper heiress — are on a crime spree aimed at freeing their comrades from prison, law enforcement agents told the newspaper.

The agents said the groups have joined forces and are recruiting new followers. Among their recent crimes are a series of bank robberies in northern California and an intricate credit card scheme.

The group to date has raised nearly $2 million, intended to help Manson, his followers and SLA members escape from prison, informants told the FBI.

Three suspects have become proficient helicopter pilots, and the group has stockpiled weapons and gold and purchased thousands of dollars worth of freeze-dried food and camping equipment.

Robberies attributed by the FBI to the group include a $20,000 bank holdup in Manteca, Calif., Aug. 26; a $199,000 Stockton armored car stickup Aug. 3; the robbery of a Sunnyside bank April 5, and at least three other recent bank holdups.

Officials estimate the Manson clan, which numbered about 25 during the 1969 murder spree, has 60 members; the SLA, whose hard-core members died during a 1974 gunbattle in Los Angeles, has more than 100.

Prison officials said hundreds of letters of support have been written to the cult leader imprisoned for the murders of Mrs. Tate, Leno and Rosemary LaBianca and four others in 1971. Manson has talked of escape since his imprisonment.

Two of his key followers masterminded an abortive attempt in 1971 to hijack an airplane at Los Angeles Airport and kill a passenger every hour until Manson was released. The two, identified as Kenneth Como and his wife Catherine "Gypsy" Share, are believed to be spearheading the current escape plan.

Como is serving a 20-year-to-life sentence for armed robbery. Mrs. Share, 36, was released on parole in 1975 after serving two years for robberies reportedly committed to gather money and guns to free Manson.

Others are Joseph Remiro, one of the SLA's founders, who was imprisoned with Russell Little for killing Oakland School Superintendent Marcus Foster.

Sacramento police detectives estimate Manson family members and their SLA associates have accumulated an estimated $1.5 million in the last two years in the credit card scheme — operated in at least 16 cities in California, Oregon, Nevada and Arizona. Bank robberies have netted the group an estimated $400,000.

Spaceman Foresees Colonized Mars

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Former moonwalker Harrison Schmitt, now a U.S. senator from New Mexico, says it's just a matter of time until American space travelers colonize Mars.

"We have already moved beyond the moon," Schmitt, R-N.M., said Saturday. "The Edgar Mitchells, the John Glenns and the Alan Shepards already live in the past."

Schmitt addressed about 400 people during the fourth annual induction ceremonies at the International Space Hall of Fame in Alamogordo. This year's inductees are two space scientists, John Paul Stapp and Ernst A. Steinhoff, both of Alamogordo; an astronaut, Dr. Edgar Mitchell of West Palm Beach, Fla.; and Sir William Congreve, a British rocket expert who died in 1828.

"On Mars, the farming will be conducted under inflated domes, using irrigation techniques developed right here in New Mexico," Schmitt said. "The independence of the settlers on Mars will resemble that expressed by another group of settlers in our nation's past as they tamed an earlier frontier."

NATO Arms Cut Asked

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Sunday followed up President Leonid Brezhnev's surprise announcement of a unilateral troop reduction in Europe by calling on the West to go "halfway" and match the gesture.

The official Tass news agency praised Brezhnev's Saturday speech in East Berlin and added, "it is now up to the Western side" to follow suit.

The quick followup to Brezhnev's announcement that he would withdraw 20-000 ground troops from East Germany in the coming year appeared to confirm the opinions of Western analysts that the real purpose of the speech was to pressure the United States into paring its own military strength in Europe.

Tass said Brezhnev's action "shows once again how earnest and sincere is the Soviet Union's aspiration to achieve military detente in Europe and to strengthen trust between states and really ensure life for all European peoples in the conditions of security and peace."

"It is now up to the Western side," Tass said.

"And much depends on whether the West meets halfway the new Soviet initiatives to take out of the impasse the efforts of many years to achieve military detente in Europe and, following the U.S.S.R.'s example, to move on from words to real deeds."

The commentary said that "the European public that was looking forward to the speech was not deceived in its expectations."

The Soviet leader in his speech touched upon one of the most vital matters for the peoples of Europe — plans by certain Western circles to turn Western Europe into a launch site for U.S. weapons spearheaded against the U.S.S.R.

A major portion of Brezhnev's speech was devoted to a warning that deployment of the American Pershing-2 nuclear missile in Europe would be met by a similar Soviet response, presumably the stepping up of SS-20 installations in Western Russia.

The Tass commentary said, "The population of our continent is earnestly concerned over this, and not without reason. A dangerous mine is being planted beneath the edifice of peace in Europe."

Earlier, the demonstrators attempted to enter the facility at separate sites along the chain-link fence surrounding the 140-acre site. The first assault, by about 75 protesters, fizzled after a squad of troopers moved from behind the fence and sprayed them with Mace and smoke bombs.

Other officers in boats used jackknives to slash truck tire inner tubes; the protesters were using as a makeshift pontoon bridge across a tidal inlet in the marshland.

A few hours later, about 500 demonstrators returned in two groups and managed to bring down sections of the fence before being turned back.

The early skirmishes at first appeared to dim the spirits of demonstrators who had camped in the rain overnight in the marshland, after a failed attempt to take over the plant Saturday.

Departing demonstrators complained that the takeover attempt was too disorganized and said there were not enough protesters.

Pope John Paul II Returns To Rome

In the Mass, televised to a global audience, John Paul raised his strong voice on a touchy issue that divides his Roman Catholic flock in the United States: abortion and birth control.

"When the sacredness of life before birth is attacked, we will stand up and proclaim that no one ever has the authority to destroy unborn life," the pontiff said in his worldwide-televised homily.

"When the institution of marriage is abandoned to human selfishness or reduced to a temporary, conditional arrangement that can easily be terminated, we will stand up and affirm the indissolubility of the marriage bond," he said.

"When freedom is used to dominate the weak, to squander natural resources and energy, and to deny basic necessities to people, we will stand up and reaffirm the demands of justice and social love."

"When the sick, the aged or the dying are abandoned in loneliness, we will stand up and proclaim that they are worthy of love, care and respect."

Pope Repeats Theme
The three themes of family, abortion and marriage — called "so closely interconnected" by the pope — were sounded time and again as he toured America, from its largest cities to the heartland of Iowa.

Framed by the Capitol and the Washington Monument, with the red-brick Smithsonian castle as backdrop, the Mass featured a 1,500-voice choir. An equal number of priests mobilized to offer communion.

Thousands upon thousands of chrysanthemums — golden, white and purple — encircled the oak altar erected for the occasion.

It was near nightfall Sunday when the pope placed communion wafers on the tongues of the faithful — 250 especially chosen for the honor.

Unexpected Challenge
Sunday's events were marked by the unexpected challenge from Sister Theresa Kane, president of the Leadership Conference of Women Religious, an official church organization of American nuns.

"I urge you, your Holiness, to be open to and to respond to the voices coming from the women of this country whose desire is for serving in and through the church as fully participating members," she said in an address witnessed by 5,000 nuns.

In declining to respond directly, the pope affirmed his declaration in Philadelphia last week that the church never has and never will ordain women into the priesthood.

Referring to his prepared speech, John Paul instead urged the church's religious women to emulate the Virgin Mary, "the woman who speaks to us of femininity, human dignity and love."

Con Men Use Schemes To Bilk Elderly

"Living so close to the poverty level, they're really concerned about anything that has an effect on their checks, even by a few dollars," West said.

He said Social Security field representatives never ask for money from recipients except occasionally to collect for an overpayment. In that case, he said, the person will have received at least one and usually three letters before the field representative comes to the home.

West said a representative would not recommend the recipient seeing a doctor unless, for example, the person was unable to see well enough to read.

Tech Regents Interviewing Candidates

"If anything, they're overchecked," Formby said of the evaluation process. "The danger here is with so many people checking them out, well the good Lord didn't place a perfect human being on this earth."

Can a candidate unsuitable for the Tech job fool the regents by giving "appropriate" answers?

"Every possible safeguard that is humanly possible will be used," to guard against that happening, Formby said.

Spy Plane Downed By Syrian Jets

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syrian warplanes shot down an unmanned Israeli reconnaissance plane Sunday as it flew through Syrian airspace north of Damascus, a military spokesman reported.

"Syrian jetfighters shot down the Israeli plane which violated our airspace" in mid-afternoon, a military spokesman said.

The short announcement said all Syrian jets that confronted the Israeli plane returned safely to base, but it gave no further details.

In Tel Aviv, Gen. David Ivri told Israeli Radio: "We had reports of a massive buildup of Soviet military equipment near the Syrian city of Homs. The plane, which is equipped with cameras and nothing else, was sent to investigate when suddenly it stopped sending signals."

Ivri said the spy plane, a small subsonic American-made Firebee, has been in use since before the 1973 Mideast war, and that it was not the first time such a plane, called a drone, had disappeared.

An Israeli spokesman said while it was not common for Israel to send unmanned flights over Syria, "it has been going on."

Hit-And-Run Victim Identity Unknown

ROSCOE (Special) — A white female, whose identity remained unknown late Sunday, was killed in a car-pedestrian, hit-and-run accident on U.S. 84 about one mile north of here Sunday morning.

Justice of the Peace C.F. Rose of Roscoe pronounced the woman dead at the scene of the accident, which reportedly occurred about 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

Department of Public Safety reports show that the woman was in the center of the outside, westbound lane when she was struck by an unknown vehicle.

Trooper Doug Edins and Sgt. Richard Campbell, both of Sweetwater, are investigating the accident.

PLANE FIRE PROVES FATAL

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A Swissair jetliner with 142 passengers and 12 crewmembers on board caught fire Sunday night after landing at Athens international airport, a Swissair employee reported. The employee was unable to determine how many persons on the aircraft were injured or whether anyone was killed.

American Dies During Descent From Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — An American mountain guide and a West German woman froze to death on the slopes of Mount Everest coming down from their successful climb of the world's highest mountain, the Ministry of Tourism said Sunday.

The death was the third of an American climber within a month in attempts to conquer the towering peaks of the Himalayas, the highest mountain range in the world.

On Sept. 19, two Americans and one British climber were killed by an avalanche that swept their camp away on the slopes of the 26,504-foot Annapurna, one of the world's most dangerous peaks.

The tourism ministry said Sunday that Raymond Genet, 45, a mountain guide from Talkeetna, Alaska, and Hannel Griesch Schmatz, 39, from Neu Ulm, West Germany, were forced by bad weather and exhaustion to make camp on their way down from the 29,028-foot Mount Everest on Oct. 2.

The two froze to death that day in their camp at an altitude of 26,880 feet, the ministry said. A local guide accompanying the two climbers was rescued out was suffering from frostbite and snow blindness.

They were part of a nine-member team led by Mrs. Schmatz's husband, Gerhard Schmatz, who led two other members to the summit on Oct. 1 in record time — just 30 days from the day they set their base camp.

Mrs. Schmatz was the first woman to die on Everest and the second European woman to reach the summit. A Polish woman climbed Everest last autumn.

The ministry said efforts were being made to recover the bodies of the two climbers.

Survivors of the Annapurna climb said Sunday that they could find no trace of their dead team members, who were swept away by an avalanche on the treacherous mountain.

Robert Wilson, 39, a physics teacher from Gresham, Ore., and leader of the ill-fated expedition, said that after the avalanche, "There was no sign of anything at the fourth camp which the three climbers were occupying."

"We spent one hour digging and found nothing even after digging down to the tent platform."

The dead were identified as Gilbert Harder, 34, an Air Force captain from Abilene, Maynard Cobick, 41, a lawyer from Republic, Mo., and Eric Roberts, a camera shop owner from Wales.

Speaking at a news conference in Katmandu, Wilson said, "We saw some down gear and a food can about 2,000 feet down the ridge where the fourth camp was situated. It was unapproachable and risky going down the ridge and search.

NOT SO TYPICAL WEST TEXAS SCENE — The horse and rider scene, once a traditional part of the West Texas, has practically disappeared here with the advancement of technology, but Jami Gilbert, an 18-year-old Texas Tech freshman, and 15-year-old Mary Abney revived the scene Sunday afternoon as they took advantage of warm weather. The two Lubbock girls loped their mounts, Tami and Burr, along almost mature cotton crops growing south of the city. (Staff Photo by Milton Adams)

Rumors Of Breakout Result In Transfer Of Prisoners

Three Muleshoe men were in Lubbock County Jail Sunday after being moved there from Morton at the direction of Sheriff C. G. Richards. Richards reportedly made the decision Saturday based on rumors that an attempt would be made to break the trio out of the Cochran County Jail.

Although Richards refused to comment on the situation Sunday, the Avalanche-Journal learned that the sheriff had transported the three prisoners to the Lubbock County Jail late Saturday.

Wallet Of Victim Found In Alley

Lubbock police have recovered the wallet of Oland Kenneth Anderson, who was found dead Friday at his business, Neon Specialty Inc., 2402 Ave. J.

The wallet was found late Saturday by an 11-year-old boy in a dumpster in an alley in the 100-block of North Avenue V.

Police detectives said Sunday the wallet contained Anderson's drivers license and various business cards but no money. Sources said Anderson normally had "quite a bit of money" in his wallet.

Justice of the Peace Charles Smith ruled the death a homicide. Anderson's body was found lying in a pool of blood at his business about 9:30 a.m. by his brother and another man. An autopsy indicated that Anderson died from a crushed skull caused by being struck on the left side of the head with a heavy blunt object.

HONG KONG BUS WRECK — A bus ran off a road Sunday and tumbled down an embankment in Hong Kong's New Territories, bordering China, and 71 passengers were injured, police reported. The injured were rushed to a nearby clinic. There was no immediate word on the extent of their injuries.

News Briefs

Steve Trevino, 13, of 5525 Fourth St. remained in stable condition Sunday at Health Sciences Center Hospital with injuries suffered in a car-pedestrian accident Thursday in the 5500-block of Fourth Street.

Herbert Carden, 24, of Clovis, N.M. was in serious condition Sunday at Methodist Hospital with injuries he suffered in a traffic accident north of Lubbock Saturday morning.

Italy May Make Marijuana Legal

ROME (AP) — About 10,000 persons, most of them young people, jammed rallies in Rome and other cities in support of a campaign by Italy's Radical Party to legalize the sale and use of marijuana.

Radical Party members of Parliament addressed a crowd that filled the baroque Piazza Navona in downtown Rome Saturday, demanding quick parliamentary action on the party's marijuana legalization bill.

In Milan, a Radical Party speaker, Aliigi Taschera, invited everyone at a rally in Cathedral Square to join him in smoking marijuana in public.

Gunshots Interrupt Gathering

Five Lubbock residents suffered gunshot wounds when a pickup truck, reportedly with two men in it, drove by a 44th Street home twice Sunday morning and fired at a party, police reports show. The five victims were treated and later released from Methodist Hospital.

In the first assault, which occurred about 1:24 a.m., reports indicate that a party was in progress in the front yard of 5605 44th St. when the 1977 green pickup truck reportedly passed the residence and fired at the group.

Janet Ruth Stovall, 22, and David Paul Stovall, 25, both of 509 44th St., and Shane J. Boyd, 19, of 5208 15th St. suffered pellet wounds.

At about 2:24 a.m. reports show that someone drove by the residence again and fired three shots, hitting Milton Lee Wossum, 20, of 5613 44th St. and Robert Bradford Pearson, 20, of 4902 41st St. Wossum sustained a gunshot wound to his left hip, and Pearson suffered a gunshot wound to the stomach.

In both incidents, the suspects were described as a white male and a Mexican-American male, 18 to 25, and of medium height and build.

A 20-year-old Texas Tech University student told police that he was assaulted by three black males about 1:40 a.m. Sunday in a parking lot at 2412 Ave. Q.

James Larry Dunbar of 403-Bromley Hall said that the three men beat him with clubs and sections of steel pipe. He said his attackers were 18-to 25-years-old.

A 20-year-old Lubbock man, who was parked at a club at 322 N. University Dr., said three men pulled up to his car, hit him in the face with pistols and then drove off about 3 a.m. Sunday.

The victim, who told police his name was Gifford Hill, was treated and later released from Methodist Hospital.

Pennee Edwards of 2117 67th St. reported that someone removed $5,500 worth of jewelry from her home sometime between 3:30 p.m. Saturday and 1:16 p.m. Sunday.

Danny Klein of 2010 9th St. returned from a football game Saturday night only to discover that burglars had taken $4,195 worth of goods, including stereo equipment and a color TV, from his apartment.

Lubbock Youth Suffers Injuries In Accident

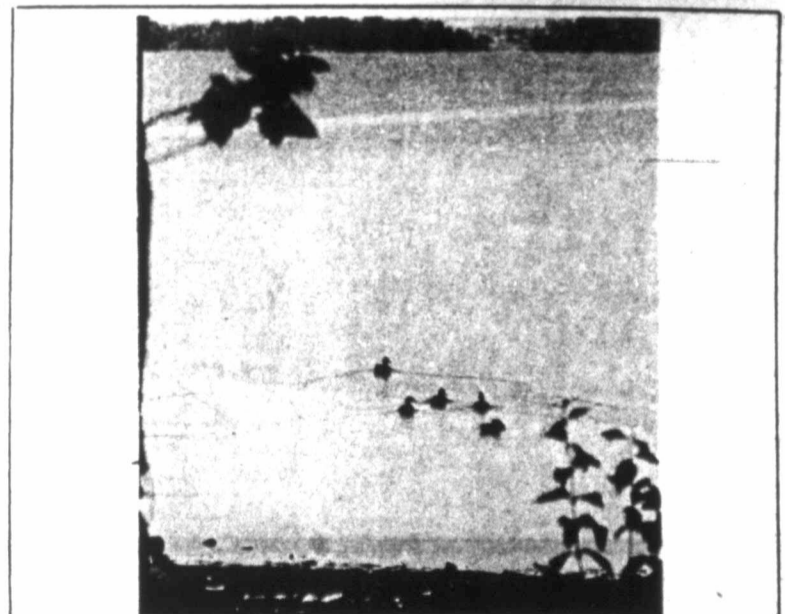

Jeffrey Lynn Brown, 16, of Route 7, Box 943, Lubbock was in critical condition Sunday at Methodist Hospital with multiple injuries he suffered in a motorcycle-train accident east of Lubbock Sunday morning.

The accident occurred about 9:38 a.m., one mile east of Lubbock on Farm Road 40.

Department of Public Safety reports show that Brown was traveling west on FM 40 and the train was going northeast when the collision occurred. Trooper Tony Marshall said that when the youth saw the train coming, he apparently began getting off the motorcycle and was thrown from the cycle upon impact.

The youth was taken to Methodist Hospital by EMS ambulance.

First Wife Says Women Ruined Cullen Davis

EDITORS' NOTE: Cullen Davis' first wife, a 1977 private person, granted this interview to Mike Cochran of The Associated Press and Fort Worth Star-Telegram writer Carolyn Ondrejka.

DALLAS (AP) — At 38, she is still a stunner, with a robust sense of humor, a throaty, husky laugh and green eyes that sparkle like gemstones.

She jogs, cooks, diets, gardens, cleans house, raises two frisky teenagers and remembers.

And what she remembers most is her marriage to Cullen Davis, the anguish and aura of the Texas super-rich and a honeymoon that "was like a fairytale."

"We went to 36 countries in six weeks," recalls Sandra Davis, the first of Cullen's three wives and the forgotten 4 in favor of conviction on the murder-for-hire charges.

Davis was acquitted by an Amarillo jury on capital murder charges stemming from the lurid Davis saga.

There was the Waldorf, and Europe and North Africa... camel rides and Christian Dior showings in Paris... a $10,000 mink.

Davis is now on trial on charges of scheming to hire the murders of his divorce judge and others.

Judge Joe Eidson, the judge who was to preside over divorce proceedings between Davis and his second wife, Priscilla, was not harmed.

Davis contends that he is the target of a complicated conspiracy involving his Priscilla and the state's star witness, David McCrory.

ming from shootings at his mansion, Priscilla's lover, Stan Farr, and her daughter by a previous marriage, 12-year-old Andrea Wilborn, died. Priscilla was wounded, as was a chance visitor, Gus Gavrel Jr.

Davis had been charged only with Miss Wilborn's death in that case.

While the trial brings attention to Priscilla, his first wife remembers the August wedding, the August divorce and the telephone call one August morning in 1976 that plunged her into a state of shock.

"There's been a shooting," her mother told her. "I'm not sure, but I think everybody's dead."

Her mother was wrong. The midnight intruder at the Davis mansion in Fort Worth killed two, wounded two and permitted one to escape unharmed. The three survivors identified Davis as the gunman in black.

Sandra did not believe them, nor did the jury in Amarillo that acquitted Davis of murder. But still...

"Cullen is a brilliant man," said Sandra, who divorced the troubled millionaire in 1968 after six years, two sons and a settlement she now scoffs at.

"But I do think he has a lot to learn. I saw what was coming with Priscilla. The women have ruined him. The women in his life have ruined him."

Serving drinks and quiche to two late-night visitors at her Highland Park home, Sandra talked openly for the first time of her life with and without Cullen Davis.

She obviously preferred the former, but with reservations.

"I'm so different from the other two," she said. "They wouldn't live the way I live, and I'm not so sure I'd live the way they live."

The "other two" are the more visible Davis women, Priscilla, 38, and his current wife Karen, 30.

About the only thing the three have in common besides the Davis name, is that they hate one another.

It's a healthy hatred, without pretense. If words could kill, Cullen, at 46, would be a widower three over.

Sandra on Karen: "In my book, she is just following in Priscilla's footsteps."

Priscilla on Sandra: "She and Karen came out of the same mold. They are so similar it's incredible."

Karen on Sandra: "Has she finally realized Cullen isn't coming back to her?"

"I have no regrets, except that I wasted so much time caring for him," Sandra said. "I was very naive when I got married, and moving from Hurst to multimillionaire Rivercrest... wasn't easy."

"I didn't know what caterers were. I didn't know if you have enough money, the Marcuses will come in and dress you. I didn't realize that, so I took it upon myself to learn all these things."

She said she took course upon course to acquire the acceptable skills, then realized she could have hired everything done instead.

"Your readers," she said, laughing heartily, "will think it's a typo when they learn what I got."

"Most people think I came out of the marriage with millions. I got $20,000 in cash, a house and $2,150 a month, and that's taxable. I've reduced households four times since then because of inflation."

The Medicine Shoppe, Locally Owned, Tells Unique Benefits

"Want to save money on your prescriptions? Then rely upon us at The Medicine Shoppe, 4021 34th St., phone 797-0282.

"As a locally-owned pharmacy with a working affiliation with Medicine Shoppe International, the nation's largest chain of prescription centers, we are able to keep overhead and administrative costs low. As a result, we are able to offer low prices on all products. (And there are a number of free services, and even generic products, and other factors that work for your benefit at The Medicine Shoppe.)"

Ron Crow, Lubbock resident and pharmacist at a Lubbock drugstore for 12 years, is owner and pharmacist at The Medicine Shoppe that he opened some seven months ago at the convenient 34th Street location.

Crow, a Canyon native, attended WTSC there and finished his studies at the School of Pharmacy at Southwestern State University in Oklahoma in 1967. He is a member of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association and the American association. His wife, Nancy, teaches in Lubbock Public Schools, and they have two daughters, Kelli, 16, and Torri, 13.

Special Services Afforded

On a regular basis, The Medicine Shoppe in Lubbock offers free services such as health screenings. High blood pressure, diabetes, glaucoma, hearing loss and carbon monoxide poisoning are just a few of the serious health problems for which Medicine Shoppe customers can be screened, Crow reports.

"We see the pharmacist as part of the health care team," he emphasizes.

"We believe these screening programs will create awareness among local residents and provide early detection for potential victims of serious health problems. My aim is maintenance of the image of the shoppe as a professional health care center, which provides services particularly beneficial to those on limited incomes or with incomes that cannot keep pace with spiraling prices."

Added Savings Told

At The Medicine Shoppe a unique customer registration program is provided in which senior citizens and registered groups are eligible for additional discounts on prescriptions, vitamins and health-related items, Crow adds.

"If you purchase a product at another store which is normally carried by your Medicine Shoppe, for whatever reason, simply save your receipt and return it to your Medicine Shoppe and they will issue you a credit for the entire difference in price."

Medicine Shoppes will complete a customer transaction within 15 minutes, too, or Medicine Shoppe International will issue a $1 credit for any inconvenience (not applicable to multiple transactions, compounding or outside consultation, of course).

Generics Included

As for savings on generics, these are available at The Medicine Shoppe together with the other prescription drugs. Not all prescription drugs are available as generic equivalents, but about 40 percent of the most frequently prescribed drugs are available as generics. Ask your Medicine Shoppe pharmacist about your prescription; he can be of benefit to everyone who wants to save money!

The Medicine Shoppe, 4021 34th St., phone 797-0282, is open every weekday, 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. through Fridays, and from 9 until 1 on Saturdays.

"We at The Medicine Shoppe are dedicated to filling your needs so you will come back again and again!"

World Wide's Professionalism Simplifies Travel Arrangement

"If you value good service and a professional approach to your travel needs, then the invitation is extended to call or stop in for a visit at World Wide Travel, Court Place, 1001 Main, Lubbock, a full-service travel agency."

World Wide Travel, phone 762-0311, is reported as the oldest travel agency in Lubbock, and it is fully staffed and geared to handling one's personal or commercial travel.

"Just one phone call can take care of your trip arrangements... when that call is to the professionals at World Wide Travel, leaving you free to take care of your own business and get ready for the trip."

Free Delivery

The services of World Wide Travel are free to the customer, and the firm is justifiably proud of its multiple services... such as free delivery, for example.

Office hours are 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday; free parking is provided, just across the street, and itineraries are furnished with each ticket.

Staffed To Serve

The capable staff marks some 35 years combined experience in the field, and is headed by Cindy Jones who has been with the firm for 10 years. Owners are Jack Clendenin and Frank Lee. The staff travels extensively and can assist with first-hand knowledge in most trip inquiries.

'Book Now And Save'

(Now is a very good time to book for holiday and winter cruises, even trips for the spring breaks, and it is emphasized by World Wide Travel, to assure availability of the particular cruise or other trip desired. Another desirable reason for booking now is to avoid any ticket price increases made before trip time.)

Travel today is a complex and changing field requiring a competent professional to keep up with these changes. World Wide travel agents are professionals in their field, with each rendering service from research and years of experience.

Whether the situation is an impending cruise, group and convention travel, train travel, air travel, hotel and car rental reservation, tours and tailored itineraries or a honeymoon, World Wide Travel knows that it can be of full assistance.

"Honeymooners are a special group with us, and though requiring work with budgets and time limits, the enthusiastic staff is ready to fill the travel needs of the special honeymooners, making this important time an even better trip with our interest and aid."

There are very good "buys" in travel in spots throughout the world; and the World Wide travel staff knows of these particular values, glad to pass on suggestions and helps, whatever the travel desire.

"May we at World Wide Travel, Lubbock's oldest and most experienced travel agency, make your own trip, in any season, the most pleasant ever? Please call, 762-0311, or visit us in our Court Place offices, 1001 Main in Lubbock."

Modern Chevrolet Truck Stock Grouped At 41st & Q Location

"Did you realize that aside from the tremendous selection and the fine vehicles that are matter of record at Modern Chevrolet, that all operations of that firm are now located at the one 41st Street and Avenue Q location for maximum customer convenience?"

Attention is especially directed to the location of the New and Used Truck facilities at this address, a recent move from a 34th Street site.

Now, not only is the Truck Department adjacent to all other departments and services of Modern Chevrolet, but it has brand new facilities and offices.

"You'll like the convenience, the product, and the staff and the location" is promise of Butch Thompson, truck manager marking 11 years with Modern Chevrolet, the "we've been friends a long time" firm.

"Priced To Move"

There is a good stock of '79 trucks, in every size, on the big lot, and extremely good deals are arranged in the firm's program of moving out the '79 units at end of model year.

There are lots of vans, customized to the customer preference, and Luv two and four-wheel drives, and the two and four wheel drives in 10, 20 and 30 series Chevrolet trucks. Crew cabs are in stock.

Modern Chevrolet also is the only heavy duty Chevrolet franchised dealer in the area, Thompson emphasizes.

A full crew is on hand, all knowledgeable in trucks and in customer assistance with recommendations and assistance. Check with Bob Anderson, Melvin Coffman, Tom Seiler, Ted Mitchell, J. T. Ellis, C.W. Dennis, Jesse Ponciano or Butch Thompson now and "save."

The Modern Chevrolet truck department is now at 41st & Q, remember, and is open all day Saturday.

Remodeling, Adding a Room, Custom Homebuilding Among Sanders Services

For remodeling, for room additions, for custom homes, one deserves and desires finest workmanship Right?

Then, the wise thing might well be to entrust these tasks to Melvin Sanders' Construction & Remodeling, phone 797-9779 in Lubbock.

Sanders, a lifelong Lubbock resident, literally "grew up" in the building business, following in the footsteps of his carpenter father. Melvin has spent years putting together a qualified team of hands and subcontractors with ability that cannot be questioned.

From the smallest job to the largest, integrity and know-how are key considerations.

modeling need, or custom homebuilding project, anywhere in Lubbock and immediate area, a call to Sanders seems in order.

A native of Lubbock, Sanders is a '66 Monterey High School graduate, then majoring in architectural engineering at Texas Tech.

For full information on how Sanders can work for you, how free estimates are available, etc., simply call 797-9779, day or night, most likely Mrs. Sanders (Carla) will be able to speed your request, should Sanders not be at the phone.

It may be old fashioned, but Sanders believes that "know-how, dedication to customer service, liking folks and treating them right" is the best way of doing business.

"Melvin Sanders' Construction & Remodeling merits your consideration."

Turnkey Capabilities

Turnkey jobs, building just anything one can imagine, are Sanders' specialties.

"Do you need added space in your home? Do you need another room but just didn't know how to go about the planning and construction? Then let Melvin Sanders assist!"

Whether the need is kitchen cabinets, repainting, porches, patios, carpeting, sheds, storage houses, plumbing, formica, ceramic work, painting, trim, electrical work or adding a room, reliance upon Sanders results in a job well done, more than a few area residents can testify. Sanders seems to do it all, when the customer desires, from drawing plans right down to assistance in financing!

(Sanders reports that there is more money now locally available for remodeling, and that assistance in financing is gladly given.)

BY MELVIN SANDERS — New beauty and utility for the home can come with remodeling or additions, and Melvin Sanders Construction & Remodeling invites consideration, no matter size of the job.

Something else about a Sanders job of any size: Melvin Sanders personally works on "every job we sell!" Furthermore, the crews "stay after the job", not deserting it to start another. Isn't this a refreshing assurance?

Consider also, that references are gladly given; examples of Sanders' work can be pointed out throughout the area; and ordinarily there is no long wait before a Sanders gets on the job.

Lusk's Boot Shop Benefits Include Quality Shoe Repair

"If you already do not know, it is time you are discovering that: Lusk's Boot Shop, standard of excellence for over 30 years, not only excels in custom made boots but also specializes in (and invites) boot and shoe repair."
It all is at Lusk's Boot Shop, 3019 34th St., phone 763-4438.
Charlie Wade, owner since 1977 of the shop established back in 1948 by the late Willie Lusk, carries on traditions of quality and guaranteed satisfaction in every transaction, and prides in a staff "second to none."
Repair Specialist
Ocie Franklin, marking about 22 years boot and shoe repair in Lubbock, is now with the Lusk firm, devoting his time exclusively to repair.
"Next day" service on repairs can be depended upon, with "same day" service on Saturdays.
It is not by happenstance that finest handmade boots are custom made at Lusk's Boot Shop.

Long On Experience
The staff includes Joe McNelly, with 35 years experience; Evelyn Green, 30 years; Butch Jeffcoat, 20 years (all working with the late Willie Lusk); and newer staffmember, Diane Flanagan, also a bootmaker with exceptional ability.
The "Lusk" name on a boot stands for unquestioned quality, as it has for decades, and Wade, a 15 year Lubbock resident, would have it no other way.
Selection is enabled from materials to meet the preference of anyone, it is evident. Select from elk, brush pig, calf, bull hide, sea turtle, water buffalo, pig skin, kangaroo, nylon, elephant, shark, lizard, snake, ostrich, alligator, ant eater and even eel, as example!
NO SUBSTITUTE FOR SKILL, GOOD MATERIALS — A staffmember at Lusk's Boot Shop is shown here working on a full-quill, black ostrich vamp, cutting and fitting the vamp, for another custom boot creation at the Lubbock shop widely respected for decades.
About six to eight weeks completion is norm for one's personalized pair of boots, and this is considered quite a good time when the meticulous care and craftsmanship in their construction is recognized. One cannot help but admire the attention to detail, the knowledge of bootmaking and the genuine interest in customer satisfaction by the devoted staff of experts at Lusk's Boot Shop, only facility of its type in the region.

BABY WORLD FURNITURE STOCK UNVEILED IN NEW HOME

Baby World Furniture Opening Today, Related Specials Told

Baby World Furniture opens today! Area residents for years have depended upon Baby World for both apparel and for nursery furniture, and upon Lue Ree's, under same ownership, for apparel for the young set; and now there is a third business, also owned by Vickey and Jonathan Hoffman: the all-new Baby World Furniture located at 4912 50th St. just two doors east of Baby World in the West 50th Street Center.

The added facility means that all furniture for the baby's room is being moved from its former Baby World location to the new and nearby Baby World Furniture, enabling better display and enlarged stock. More room is thus made for apparel, sizes infants through 6x for girls and through boys 7, remember, at Baby World. It all is a matter of convenience for both the store owners and the growing family of customers that has made the expansion both possible and necessary.

Specials Posted
As means of introduction and celebration, the following special benefits have been announced:

At the new Baby World Furniture, throughout this week all items there will be marked at 10 per cent off! This includes tables, chairs, rockers, cribs and all.

Grand Prize Told
Registration is being invited with a winner to be announced Nov. 1 for a crib and chest give-away!

And at Baby World, still at 4912 50th St., all baby needs are being marked at 10 per cent off for three days (Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week), and all clothing is tagged at a whopping 20 per cent off during the same three days!

There's more! At Lue Ree's, in Briercroft Shopping Center just south of 50th Street and Avenue Q, all clothing items (infants through 14) are marked at a big 20 per cent off all week long, with baby needs at 10 per cent off all week!

The Hoffmans have owned and operated Baby World for some five years, then also acquiring Lue Rees two years ago, and now the just-announced Baby World Furniture rounds out the trio of businesses designed to aid the growing family Customer appreciation of the type stores afforded has enabled this growth and expansion, and Vickey and Jonathan say "thanks, from the bottom of our hearts; we shall continue to exert all efforts to merit your trade and confidence, offering quality lines throughout".

Featured in the new Baby World Furniture are the Simmons, Hedstrom, Strolee and American Wicker lines.

"Everything for the nursery" is afforded... after all, your baby deserves the best, and from a wide selection.

Pharr's RV's, Inc., 1702 Clovis Road in Lubbock, is making a heretofore unheard-of offer!

The prestigious Silver Streaks ("standard of quality for over a quarter of a century") are being discounted up to $2,000 per unit! This big discount on new '79 models affords a tremendous opportunity to buy at a saving, enabling vacation enjoyment for years to come.

And there are Scotty trailers that can be pulled with even small foreign imports!

And Sachs Mopeds... providing up to 150 miles per gallon!

Pharr doesn't stop here; he offers even more!

Rentals of new motor homes, trailers and pop-up units are one of the vital and appreciated services of the big firm.

Together with covered and open storage for RV units.

Throughout its operation, Pharr is doing something about inflation, reducing units to a price level that makes sense, and savings!

It could well be that never was there a better time to purchase a Silver Streak with its functional beauty a matter of reality. Its all-aluminum roof and side-walls are riveted together, aircraft style, making this exclusive feature a framework of safety and reliability. Its spacious interior presents an atmosphere of refined elegance where luxurious furnishings and interior appointments will be in perfect harmony with one's particular life style.

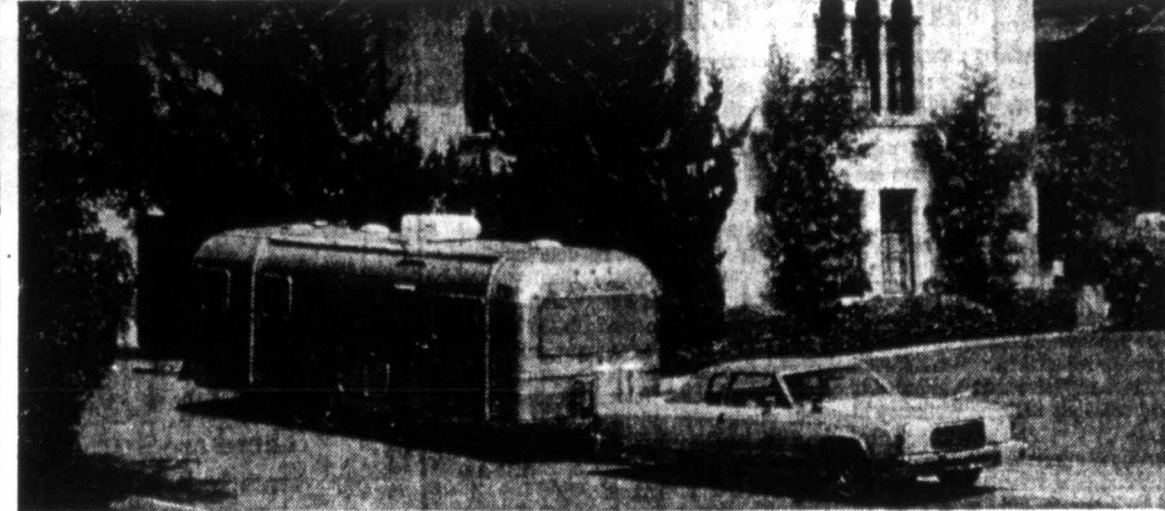

And Coachmen is equally recommended; after all, it is the world's largest full-line manufacturer of recreational vehicles.

"Consumer designed, Coachmen built" has become a motto well recognized for its value.

Aside from all this, Pharr stocks Apollo motor homes, all priced to move.

AN INVITING STORE, INSIDE AND OUTSIDE MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Gladys Hines Dress Shop, Since 1968, Known For Quality In Women's Wear

October is anniversary month at the Gladys Hines Dress Shop, 2012 34th St. For 11 years, value-conscious, fashion-wise women from throughout the region have depended upon this women's wear store that provides apparel sizes 4 through 20. Gladys Hines opened the store back in 1968 at this same location, and its growth has been marked by ever-expanding stock and even doubling of floorspace. Mrs. Hines still actively operates the business, assisted by such capable staffmembers as her sister, Laura Perle Busby, her grandson, Randy Hines, who does the book work, and by Ruby Pannell and Robbie McDaniel. Only the "better" lines of merchandise are stocked, customers can attest.

New For Winter
 The teenager, the working woman, the older woman alike, all can be assured of selection and value at Gladys

Hines Dress Shop, a home of latest fashions always.

New coats for winter have been placed in stock, including fake furs and others. Some holiday wear is in, including long dresses. There are scads of fall dresses, pant suits and lingerie, Haynes hose, and even a delightful selection in costume jewelry.

Always a Sale Rack
 Gladys Hines maintains a permanent sales rack presenting in-season and end-of-season wear drastically reduced in price.

With the new merchandise arriving and with the sales rack affording extremely good values in apparel that still can be enjoyed during the fall months, now would seem to be one of the really excellent times to visit the Gladys Hines Dress Shop at 2012 34th St. (with its convenient off-street parking right at the front door).

Layaway is invited, as is use of Visa and Master Charge.

Hours are 10 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.

The enlarged store enables display of the expanded stock without crowding; it is a leisurely, pleasant shopping experience that awaits at Gladys Hines Dress Shop. (Men who accompany their wives to the store like the table and chair area provided for their relaxation and convenience.)

Gladys Hines likes her work, is thoroughly devoted to it and she personally is on hand during all working hours at the attractive 34th Street store that is especially appreciative of its enviable "repeat" business.

A visit there will readily reveal reason for the store's acceptance, popularity and growth... and how it can be of service to you as a woman appreciating fashion value.

Hagood's Arts & Crafts Adds To Stock, Sets Impressive Instruction Schedule

"Have you visited Hagood's Arts and Crafts lately?"

If not, a revelation is in store, for this already-impressive shop has expanded, rearranged, upgraded and specialized to be of added service to the arts and crafts community!

Even Christmas planning is making its activities evident, and one could do well to check Hagood's now, at 8211 Indiana (around the corner at 83rd and Indiana) for supplies.

An impressive class schedule has been arranged, too, with enlarged classroom space and finest facilities.

Among the instruction opportunities are:

Oct. 13, Silhouette Workshop in oils, at 10 a.m., with instruction free!

Then on Oct. 21, Terri Burdette is working up a new Floral Workshop, starting at 1 p.m. that Sunday ($12.50 fee).

On Oct. 27, a Gold Leaf Glass Staining and India Ink Workshop (10 a.m. on the announced Saturday) is slated, with free instruction!

During November, Hagood's is arranging workshops in plaster, dried flower arranging, dimensional paper tole, with two sessions on Sundays enabling choice of time. Check for full details.

In December there will be some Christmas project workshops.

A new 8-week Beginner Tole class will commence Wednesday, Oct. 17, with two separate schedules, morning or afternoon, provided. Instruction is free!

Oct. 24, free instruction is afforded in a Gold Leaf-Glass Staining Workshop at 10 a.m.

(For those interested in acrylic painting on wood, and related classes, a call should be made to Judy at 745-4530, or Ellen at 792-5675. Or if you want to learn how to watercolor, call B.J. Bennett at 799-5391, who teaches beginning oil and enamels, too.)

Hagood's Arts & Crafts is buzzing with excitement regarding new arrivals and added stock, all just right for the holiday preparation.

"We have greatly increased our inventory and we are anxious to serve your art and craft needs," owner Billie Hagood emphasizes.

"We invite you to visit and discover our large stock including doll supplies, beads, candle supplies, Bucilla latch rugs and Christmas kits, Walter Foster books, tole books and miscellaneous craft books, plaster, macrame, silk flower and dried flower supplies, prints, fantasy fur, fashion foam, chenille stem felt, plush pelts, stripe foam, tole and canvas supplies, easels, frames, glass, stretcher strips, balsa wood, Exacto art supplies, and much more.

The sizable stock of frames is marked at really low competitive prices.

"If there are other supplies you need, tell us and we will try to get them for you. Hagood's Arts and Crafts is just that kind of considerate store!"

Business & Industrial Review

'The Cottage' Antiques, Gifts Lauded For Quality, Selection

For antiques that are out of the ordinary, for collectibles, distinctive gifts, decorator accessories, beveled glass, furniture, primitives and more, an entire new world awaits at The Cottage Antiques & Gifts, 2247 34th St., phone 744-3927.

The "cottage" outside appearance of the big facility may be misleading, for actually it is found that people are surprised when they come in for the first time, discovering the shop to be so much larger than expected.

There are 12 rooms bursting with antiques! And a warehouse area of furniture to be refinished.

New Christmas Room

There is a special depression glass room, a kitchen room, primitive room, Oriental room, year-around Christmas room, and others!

Ina May Stewart, owner, is a second-generation antique dealer; her parents had the Morgan Antiques in Shawnee, Okla. She has been in business at 2247 34th St. about six years.

An able staff includes Ina May, Maurine Hearn, Joni Lynch, June Caruth, Annette Turner and Christie Stewart.

It would be impossible to itemize the galaxy of items provided, only seeing is believing.

However, the following is pointed out to hint of the selective and huge stock.

A new line of stuffed toys (washable) has been added to assure something for every age. And there are reproduction Bye Lo Dolls, beautifully dressed.

And the Sebastian miniatures collectibles.

A really good selection of leaded beveled glass doors and windows is stocked.

And there are greeting cards (contemporary and reproductions) as well as antique post cards.

Furniture Treasures

Plus sheet music, furniture that includes everything from shelves and stools to armoires, Welch dressers, Bedmeier desk, dentist cabinet, chests, schoolmaster desk, oak dressers, beds, frames and chairs, and more.

The Cottage is headquarters for Hope refinisher, tung oil and lemon oil, as an added service.

There are grapevine wreaths with silk flowers, as one of the unique but so-desirable offerings; and handcarved ducks, beautiful brass, etc.

Also select from fireplace accessories, brass and oak fenders and fire screens.

If searching for a unique gift, The Cottage certainly would seem the answer. A really distinctive gift wrap is provided. Layaway is encouraged, as is use of Visa and Master Charge.

Shop hours are 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.

Shopping The Cottage is a delightful, recommended experience!

'Blue Flu' Epidemic Begins Decline

DENVER (UPI) — Incidence of the "blue flu" epidemic, started to obtain a larger pay hike for police officers, dipped Sunday with more patrolmen reporting for work and department officials admitting disciplinary action would be difficult because of the volume involved. The sick-out started Friday at 6 p.m. with approximately 90 percent of the patrolmen in the city's four districts calling in sick to protest a 7.5 percent pay increase offered by the city. Police sought a 13 percent hike. By Sunday, two districts reported 70 percent absenteeism and the other two said the work force was back to normal. Strikes by city workers are banned by the municipal charter and the sick-out was a spontaneous effort.

Tornado Cleanup Effort Under Way

WINDSOR LOCKS, Conn. (AP) — A large-scale cleanup effort, with help volunteered by the state's construction industry, was set to begin Monday in this suburban area devastated last week by a tornado. At the urging of Gov. Ella Grasso, the Connecticut Construction Industries Association and three local unions agreed to provide workers and heavy equipment to clear away uprooted trees and the rubble of destroyed homes. Government and business officials have estimated damage caused by the sudden storm at about $184 million. Two people were killed Wednesday when the storm struck the Hartford suburbs of Windsor, Windsor Locks and Suffield, and more than 300 were treated for injuries. About 250 National Guard troops were on duty Sunday to turn back sightseers. And police in Windsor Locks have had to chase away souvenir hunters scavenging the Bradley Air Museum, which was destroyed and had its collection of rare and antique military aircraft strewn about. Larry deBear, the governor's press secretary, said he had noted a change in the mood among storm victims over the weekend.

Iranian Clashes Kill At Least Nine

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — At least nine people died and 26 were injured in widespread clashes and bombings in western Iran and demolition experts dug up 27 mines planted on the Iran-Europe railroad, press reports said Sunday. The explosives were found Saturday by children playing near the track close to Saveh, west of Tehran, the Kayhan newspaper reported. "A great tragedy would have taken place had a train passed over the track when the explosives were still there," the newspaper said. The track connects Iran to Turkey and Europe and is used by passenger and freight trains. A train blast in the southern Arab province of Khuzestan last Wednesday killed eight passengers. A grenade explosion this weekend killed three children who were playing with it in the southern town of Khorramabad. The mother of one of the children died of shock while witnessing the bodies ripped by the blast. Security forces mounted a discreet alert in the west Azerbaijan, Kurdistan and Khuzestan provinces bordering Iraq.

Raiders Finally See Light Of Day

THEY SAY THE DARKEST hour is always just before the dawn. If that is correct, it was pitch black at Jones Stadium late in the third quarter of Saturday's Texas Tech-Texas A&M football contest.

You see, the Aggies had just scored on a six-yard pass play from quarterback Mike Mosley to flanker Gerald Carter to take a 20-9 lead over the Red Raiders. It appeared the Aggies were on their way to victory. Darkness and silence settled over the stadium.

But suddenly — far off on the horizon — there was a trace of light. It wasn't long before that new dawn had enveloped Jones Stadium and most of the 52,468 spectators on hand for the Southwest Conference clash.

Tech laughed at that 20-9 A&M advantage, buckled down the old chin straps and in less than 20 minutes overhauled the stunned Aggies. The Red Raiders had pulled out a 21-20 triumph and the nova of success lit up Lubbock's night sky.

It was a great team effort on the part of the Red Raiders. And it couldn't have come at a better time or against a better opponent. Tech needed the victory to stay in the Southwest Conference title race and put an end to the doubt and frustration that had accompanied the Red Raiders the past two weekends.

THE FACT THAT A&M was Saturday's goat made the win all the more satisfying because the Aggies are one of Tech's oldest and most hated rivals. The loss knocked A&M out of the championship picture and ruined Tom Wilson's return to his old stomping grounds.

Needless to say, many players had a hand in the comeback win. Bill Adams booted three field goals to keep the Red Raiders within striking distance. Sophomore linebacker Lewis Washington blocked a punt that led to one of the field goals. Junior free safety Ted Watts was in on 10 tackles and dragged down Mosley after he burned Tech on a 56-yard run. Watts also returned a punt 28 yards to set up a field goal.

Offensively, senior fullback James Hadnot continued his saga with those bull-like dives through the heart of A&M's defense. The crushing runner, who is the bread and butter man for the Red Raiders on situations calling for seven or less yards, lugged the leather 29 times for 111 yards.

HADNOT NOW HAS GAINED 2,049 yards in 16 games as a running back. He needs only 585 yards in the final six games of the 1979 season to become Tech's all-time leading rusher. Saturday's effort was his fourth straight 100-yard-plus performance.

There were other standouts on offense for Tech. Joe Walstad played a strong game at guard after being switched from center earlier this week. Denny Harris, who replaced Walstad at center, was equally effective throughout the game. Greg Tyler had never carried the football for the Red Raiders until Saturday and he cashed in his only try for eight yards and the winning touchdown. Freshman Mark James was moved from quarterback to wide receiver last Monday and he came through with an 18-yard pass reception and a 15-yard gain on an end-around.

Let's see, have I forgotten anyone? No, I didn't forget quarterback Ron Reeves. I was just saving the best for last.

It's tough to be a major college quarterback. You not only take the pressure from opposing defenses, but you take a truckload of pressure from your school and community when things aren't going according to the plan.

REEVES HAS TAKEN HIS share of pressure from both sides this season. He expected it — it comes with the territory — and faced it as well as any man possibly could. Heaven knows it wasn't easy.

Well, Reeves can breathe a sigh of relief after the win over A&M. He regained some of that confidence he displayed as the conference's newcomer of the year last season. He never lost his poise, despite being down the entire game. Ron Reeves was the blood and guts behind the Red Raiders' two fourth-quarter drives.

His leadership was obvious as he directed Tech to paydirt on back-to-back possessions. And his determination to succeed didn't have to take a back seat to anyone's.

Reeves turned in an excellent all-around effort against the Aggies. He carried the ball 26 times for 84 yards. His long gain of 18 yards set up Tyler's TD run from the eight.

The 6-2, 210-pound sophomore also had a good night throwing the football. Reeves was on target seven of 10 times for 57 yards and one score. The most important statistic for Reeves was zero interceptions. It was the first time this season that Reeves went four quarters without having one of his aeriels picked off.

Reeves and the entire Red Raider squad should be congratulated for their inspiring effort against the Aggies. Maybe they have finally turned the corner. At least they've made it to the intersection.

Hot Cowboys Plug Vikings

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — "It felt great to get back into the end zone again," said Dallas halfback Tony Dorsett, who scored three times in the Cowboys' 36-20 National Football League triumph over Minnesota Sunday.

Dorsett, who had been shut out in five previous games, scored on runs of 5, 3 and 30 yards and gained 145 yards rushing as the Cowboys began their inevitable surge toward the playoffs.

"I hadn't scored any touchdowns before today, but things just started," Dorsett said.

The Cowboys also appear to be clicking as a team and readying themselves for their annual mid-season push, which usually carries them to a division title.

"I like the way we're playing right now," said Dallas coach Tom Landry. "Tony really ran well. He's getting to the point where he was at the end of last season.

"And our defense has really picked up. Even though we gave up 20 points, they gave us a lift when we needed it."

The Cowboys, who were embarrassed two weeks ago by Cleveland in a Monday night contest, have played two straight strong games and in each one Dorsett has rushed for more than 100 yards. Last week he had 119 against Cincinnati.

Dorsett scored three touchdowns for the first time in his career and caught five passes for 47 yards, including two 16-yard screens which led to his first score.

Quarterback Roger Staubach completed 15 of 23 passes for 174 yards, including a string of eight straight in the second quarter.

Kramer finished with 18 out of 34 for 206 yards.

Benny Barnes' fumble return late in the second quarter gave Dallas what appeared to be a comfortable 23-7 lead, but Minnesota came out after halftime to score 10 quick points and get back in to the game.

Danneimer's second field goal came after defensive end Jim Marshall recovered the 29th fumble of his 21-year career, an ongoing NFL record.

A high snap from center helped set up White's touchdown. The snap went over Staubach's head on a third and 13 situation, and pushed Dallas back to its own 14. After a delay penalty on the Cowboys, White punted out to his own 45.

Kramer hit Ahmad Rashad for a first down at the 28 and on the next play, White broke three tackles, was tripped up at the 5, but stumbled into the end zone to pull the Vikings within three points at 23-20.

But Dorsett cashed in on his 30-yard burst following the fumble by Robert Miller, and Preston Pearson also booted over from six yards out in the waning seconds to wrap up the game for Dallas.

NBA Spurs May Move

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — San Antonio Spurs' President Angelo Drossos plans to ask the National Basketball Association commissioner about the "possibility" of moving the NBA franchise back to Dallas in time for next season, the San Antonio Express-News reported Sunday.

"Look, I love San Antonio. This is my home, where I was born, and where I hope to spend the rest of my life. But I owe an obligation to a lot of people who have invested millions of dollars in this basketball team here," Drossos told the newspaper in a copyright story.

Dallas, which is building a new arena, is considered one of the leading contenders for an NBA expansion franchise.

Sluggish Oilers Overrun By Cardinals

HOUSTON (AP) — The beleaguered St. Louis Cardinals, stung so many times this season by their own mistakes, kept overcoming them Sunday and with the help of Steve Little and Wayne Morris finally struck down the Houston Oilers 24-17.

The Cardinals, with a pair of narrow losses to Pittsburgh and Dallas, continued making errors against the Oilers with 123 yards in penalties, but this time they won.

Little, criticized for his kicking abilities, completed a 16-yard fourth-down pass to be the first of two winning touchdown runs by Morris.

Morris scored on a one-yard dive midway through the fourth quarter to tie the game. Moments later, after Carl Allen had intercepted a pass, Morris ran in the winning points from six yards out.

"St. Louis outplayed us and they deserved to win," Oiler Coach Bum Phillips said. "That doesn't mean our season is over. St. Louis had Dallas and Pittsburgh beat but they lost. They are still a good team."

Despite St. Louis setbacks this season, Cardinal Coach Bud Wilkinson said he never lost faith.

"Even when we were behind I thought we were playing as well as we could," Wilkinson said. "I felt we could come back because we were the aggressors and not taking a defensive stance. We showed a great deal of courage to come back after what we have been through."

Allen returned his interception of a Dan Pastorini pass 17 yards to give the Cardinals the ball on the Houston 40. After a 20-yard gain by Otis Anderson, Morris slid around right end to score the winning touchdown with 2:35 left in the game.

The sluggish Oilers had scored two touchdowns in a 22-second span of the second quarter and added Tom Fritsch's 51-yard field goal in the fourth quarter to take a 17-10 lead before the Cardinals came back.

The Oilers were outgained in total yards, 243-134 in the first half, but led 14-7 at the half on a one-yard run by

Graham Putts Way To Texas Open Title

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Veteran Lou Graham, the hottest golfer on the pro tour since July, collected two birdies in his final four holes Sunday to win the $250,000 Texas Open by one stroke.

It was Graham's third tour title in the eight tournaments he's played since getting a new putter and disposing of his 1962 vintage irons in July — the first time he's seriously switched irons in 17 years.

Graham, 41, of Nashville, Tenn., shot a 4-under-par 66 Sunday and finished at 12-under-par 268, a stroke ahead of Eddie Pearce, Bill Rogers and third-round leader Doug Tewell.

Rogers, 28, and the struggling Tewell, 30, both birdied No. 17 behind Graham and had chances to force a playoff with birdies on the par-3, 18th hole. But Rogers hit his tee shot just off the green and missed a 35-foot putt. Tewell missed a tricky 12-foot putt.

"My putter took care of me today," said Graham, who has won $167,000 of his total $190,000 haul this year since getting the new irons.

Odom Learns To Smile

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

The first half of last season left James Odom about half-witted. Or as they say out in West Texas, "Three bricks yout of a load."

But, oh, what a difference a year makes.

Now, instead of 1-3-1 through the first five games of the season, the Monterey Plains are 4-1. And last Friday night's 49-0 win over Hobbs, N.M., meant the Plainsmen would win one more game than they did the entire 1978 season.

Things are certainly looking up, in other words. Just ask Odom.

"Last year we were embarrassed," explained Odom. "And those kids that came back were determined that would't happen again."

So far it hasn't.

Monterey, which moved the ball somewhat slower than a snail's pace last year, not only leads District 4-AAAA in total-offense at a 291.0 per game clip, but also in total defense. They have allowed only 699 yards, for a 139.8 per game average. During last week's contest with Hobbs, the MHS defense limited the Eagles to a minus 55 yards on the ground and 75 through the air.

from a year ago," said Odom. "That's another one of the keys."

But Odom says the defense isn't the only unit that's come to the front of the class.

"We have a lot more ability on offense than we did last year," he continued. "We've got a much better combination of rushing and passing, plus our offensive line is much stronger. And the play at quarterback (with Kent Potts) is a lot better than what we had last year."

Plus, added Odom, the running of backs Willie Johnson and Ricky Pinkerton and Dwayne Smith hasn't hurt matters, either. Johnson is the league's leading carrier with 592 yards after five games and Pinkerton and Smith are both averaging five yards a carry.

Although the season has been a bright one, so far, there was one low spot — the night Midland came from behind to score a narrow 22-21 win over MHS.

"That really hurt us," said Odom. "We'd come from 14 points down to take the lead only to lose it."

"But," he went on, "that (the loss) might have helped us, too. You never like to lose a game, but when you can learn from your mistakes, that's important. We found out that we can battle back against a good, physical team like Midland. I think we learned some things that will help us down the line."

With only one game left before loop play gets under way, all eyes are starting to turn toward the Oct. 18 matchup between Monterey and defending champion, Plainview. But first, Odom says, the Plainsmen "must" beat Carlsbad.

"It's important that we beat them (Carlsbad)," said Odom. "We need some momentum going in (against Plainview) and we can pick it up with a win. It will also help our morale."

SWC ROUNDUP

Raiders Among SWC Teams To Triumph

By The Associated Press

In a wild Southwest Conference night of close calls for favored teams, it was someone named Greg Tyler who was the most unlikely hero of all in Texas Tech's upset of Texas A&M.

Tyler, a junior who had been a defensive back until spring training, carried the ball for the first time in his career in the fourth quarter with Texas Tech on the Aggie 8-yard line and trailing 20-15.

The first thing Tyler had to do was watch the ball after the pitch from quarterback Ron Reeves bounced off a blocker's shoulder pads.

The next thing he had to do was break T-H-R-E-E tackles to score the winning touchdown in a 21-20 Red Raider victory.

"We decided to try him," said a drained Tech coach Rex Duckery. "I guess it was a gamble but you've got to have confidence in your players. We figured they (the Aggies) would be looking for James Hadnot to carry the ball. Of course, it's not drawn up where you bounce the pitch off a blocker's shoulder pads."

The close calls for the favored teams included Arkansas somehow surviving Texas Christian 16-13 on Ish Ordonez's 44-yard field goal with seven seconds to play; Houston outlasting Baylor by the same score; and Texas finally subduing stubborn Rice 26-9.

Arkansas coach was so impressed with winless TCU that he paid a visit to the loser's dressing room.

"I want you guys to know that you are winners," Holtz told the TCU team.

High Scoring Eagles Take Break, Win Anyway

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

The Pecos Eagles didn't have the kind of day against Alpine Friday that they have been used to so far this year.

Heck, the Eagles only piled up 282 yards of total-offense as they took a 26-12 victory. For a team that had been averaging close to 320 yards a contest, that's almost disappointing.

But there was a reason for the Pecos let-up. The Eagles scored two touchdowns on kickoff returns and could afford to coast — as those were all the points they needed.

First Gary Rogers broke loose for an 88 yard return with 10:23 left in the second quarter to give the Eagles a quick TD.

Then, on the opening play of the second half, Eddie Monta took the kickoff and scampered 87 yards to paydirt. That was all Pecos needed to raise its season mark to a perfect 5-0.

And even with its performance against Alpine, the Eagles are still the top offensive unit in these parts — averaging 308 yards a contest.

But it's hard to single out a single key to the Pecos success. Because the Eagles have already used 10 running backs in five games.

But this week Pecos will take its No. 1 offense against the No. 2 Class AAA defense — the Snyder Tigers. Snyder, with a 3-2 record, has given up only an average of 183 yards per game to the opposition. That's second only to Estacado in team-defense.

And Snyder's only losses have come against Class AAAA power Midland Lee and the No. 1 ranked area AAA team Andrews.

So when the Tigers and Eagles collide this Friday in Pecos it should be a dandy. Snyder hasn't done too badly offensively either, averaging 254 yards a contest.

The Tigers also lead the South Plains in interceptions with eight in five games. Bryan Vincent is the Tigers' leading thief with three steals.

The Dunbar Panthers will have the week off to reflect on their monumental victory over Lamesa on Friday. Although the Panthers don't rank up with the leaders, they enjoyed a big day against Lamesa piling up over 200 yards of offense.

For winless Lamesa, no rest is in sight. On Friday they visit Lubbock to face the rested Estacado Matadors. Tailback Kelvin White is expected to make his first start since the Matadors defeated Lubbock High back in the second week of the season.

jumped on Rails 38-0 to open the teams' 4-A season.

Tabkha's loaded with firepower. One back, Clifford Oages, ran the ball 13 times for 102 yards and a score, and another, Tracy White, gained only 81 yards but scored three times.

Seminole welcomed Roosevelt to the District 5-AAA season Friday night with a 41-0 shutout. Leading the way was super running back Ricky Greene. Green gained 174 yards and scored on runs of 30, 60 and nine yards.

Klondike junior noseguard James Martin, a 6-2, 220-pounder, was in on 16 tackles, two of them sacks. He also blocked a punt and caused two fumbles in the Cougars' 29-14 win over Christ the King — all that despite missing eight minutes of the second half with leg cramps.

O'Donnell's Tony Acosta, an all-South Plains running back and linebacker last year, was in on 15 stops, six of them solo, in O'Donnell's 0-0 tie with Anton.

A pair of Meadow defenders, Perry Jordan and Patrick McCarty, combined to help the Broncos stop Sundown 26-8. Jordan, a defensive end, was in on 15 tackles while tackle McCarty had 12.

Muleshoe's Mike Northcutt carried the ball 17 times from his quarterback spot, picking up 187 yards and scoring on runs of one and 93 yards as the Mules tied Abernathy 20-20.

Borden County quarterback Brad Dyess scored one touchdown, set up another and kicked a field goal as the Coyotes surprised Wilson 32-0. Dyess passed 34 yards to Jim Rinehart and kicked a 37-yard field goal in the first quarter and then set up Borden County's clinching score in the third with an 89-yard run to the one-yard line.

It's getting so you can almost take Ronald Johnson for granted, unless you happen to be playing against him.

Johnson gained 258 yards and scored twice in Friday night's 37-9 Armherst victory over New Home. That was his third-straight plus-200 yard game and it gave him a total of 1,004 yards on the season, with five games still to play.

Looney Makes Presence Felt — Everywhere

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

You might say Derrick Looney was busy Friday night. In fact, about the only thing the Stanton player didn't do was turn pages for the marching band.

Looney scored four touchdowns in the Buffaloes 42-0 win over Ropes, but the surprising thing was the way he scored them.

Two were routine enough, coming on short runs of one and three yards. But those other two came on a couple of 30-yard interception returns.

As if that wasn't enough, he picked off another pass to boot, giving him three thefts on the night. That paced a Buffalo defense that allowed the Eagles only 17 yards total-offense and no first downs.

And that was good enough to earn him the Avalanche-Journal's Defensive Player of the Week honor.

Earning top offensive player honors was Plains quarterback James McElroy, another versatile scorer.

McElroy completed only three of four passes, but covered 100 yards. He connected for one TD toss, a 70-yarder to wingback David Huerta, and he ran 10 yards for another.

But that's not all. McElroy also returned a punt 52 yards for a third score and returned an interception three yards for a fourth. In addition, he ran over an extra-point conversion and changed pages for the marching band.

Petersburg's Mike Phillips carried 28 times for 188 yards and three touchdowns as his Petersburg Buffaloes jumped on Rails 38-0 to open the teams' 4-A season.

Tabkha's loaded with firepower. One back, Clifford Oages, ran the ball 13 times for 102 yards and a score, and another, Tracy White, gained only 81 yards but scored three times.

Flanagan, Kison Will Open World Series

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Oriole Manager Earl Weaver decided Sunday he would use mostly left-handers in the World Series to counter the left-handed power of the National League Champion Pittsburgh Pirates.

Mike Flanagan, the American League champion's 23-game winner, will pitch the home opener Tuesday night, followed by right-hander Jim Palmer, who has won only 10 games this season after missing 14 starts because of various arm, shoulder and back ailments.

Scott McGregor, a 13-game winner who pitched the Orioles 8-0 victory over the California Angels Saturday which clinched the playoff title, will start in game No. 3.

"I still haven't decided whether to go with a three or a four-man rotation. I'm going to study to see if we can get by with three days rest," he added.

TV's Frost Halts Interview

NEW YORK (AP) — Television personality David Frost has pulled out of his job as NBC's interviewer of former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in a dispute over editorial control.

William Small, president of NBC News, said Sunday that Frost notified the network he believed "fundamental journalistic ethics" were violated by certain NBC decisions about the interviews.

Small, in a telephone interview at his Washington home, said Frost was wrong and that "at no time were NBC journalistic principles compromised."

Kissinger, who last year signed a five-year contract worth $1 million to provide occasional services to the network, was interviewed by Frost for a television special to be broadcast Thursday. The program, which still is scheduled to appear, was to coincide with publication of Kissinger's memoirs, "White House Years."

Frost, in a letter to the network last week after completing two of three scheduled interviews for the program, said he was quitting because NBC had agreed to let Kissinger retroactively edit and clarify statements he made during the interviews.

"In effect, Dr. Kissinger is to be allowed a second opportunity to answer questions first put to him three days earlier, a clear breach of our understanding to each other and to the press that — in accordance with normal journalistic practice — we would not reveal questions to Dr. Kissinger in advance of the interview," Frost wrote.

Small disputed Frost's interpretation, saying, "we don't permit people to make statements to fit into a broadcast."

"The final editing is, of course, being done by NBC and we will decide what will be included in the program, not Mr. Kissinger or, for that matter, Mr. Frost," he said. "Frost, by leaving, has lost his right to participate."

Small said that following Frost's interview last Wednesday, Kissinger expressed concern over the authenticity of some documents Frost used as the basis of questions about U.S. government policy toward Cambodia during the administration of President Nixon.

He said NBC agreed to let the subject of Cambodia be raised in another taping session. He said he did not think the extra session was held.

Frost said he originally was told Kissinger "felt he had not been able to explain the basic reasons for his Cambodian policy, and that he required an additional opportunity to make a brief further statement of his philosophy."

He said he agreed to that because it "did not involve adding to, amending or doctoring answers already given."

Frost said he later learned Kissinger would be allowed 10 minutes to "in detail be adding to, subtracting from or supplementing the answers he gave to my questions (in the previously recorded interview)."

Simple Video Game Tests Capacity Of Human Brain

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A simple video game is serving as the foundation of an experiment to determine the capacity of the brain to process information.

"The brain can only process so much information," said Wittenberg University Professor Glenn Wilson. "The question is, how much?"

One of the goals of Wilson's study, which is being financed by the U.S. Air Force, is to find out whether a particular worker can handle a particular demanding job.

"If the results come out as I expect them," said Wilson, "the prospects for using this technique are vast. For example, if you are designing a piece of equipment, you can measure and see if you are demanding too much of one person."

The results of the experiment would also be useful in designing equipment that would require manual monitoring.

The experiment uses a television screen with a "target square" locked in the center. The individual being tested is then given the task of keeping a moving target within the center square.

To complicate the number of "influences" upon the tested person's brain, fluorescent tubes are mounted above and below the television screen and programmed to flicker at adjustable frequencies ranging from once every half-second to every 50th of a second.

Wilson said he can adjust the participants' level of concentration by increasing the difficulty of keeping the moving target within the square.

"What we're really measuring is the brain's response to those flickers," he said.

By using sophisticated computer techniques, Wilson is hoping to prove a pre-determined premise. He believes that when his volunteers are required to concentrate more on the task of keeping the moving target in the center, they will have a lower response to the flicker light.

"You could use it (the technique) to see what is the right level of task for a person to perform," he said.

Reporters Protest Conference Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Newspaper Publishers Association has protested a decision to bar reporters from a UNESCO conference on communication to be held here next month.

In a letter to Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, the association's general manager, Jerry W. Friedheim, said the conference should be open to reporters.

"We recognize the diplomatic difficulties our government experiences in dealing with other governments which do not enjoy a free press in the private sector," Friedheim said. "But exclusion of the press from a governmental meeting is inappropriate in this country, where press freedom is a bulwark of individual freedom in our free society."

Friedheim also noted that U.S. tax dollars pay about 25 percent of the budget of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, and "press representatives should have access to the meeting in order to fairly and fully report activities conducted in the United States and funded by U.S. taxpayers."

Demanding Japanese Movie Director Attempting Comeback

NAKATSU RIVER, Japan (AP) — First come the 100 foot soldiers, toiling up the hill in their cumbersome medieval battle tocs. Then the four horsemen, clattering after them in a charge that seems to go off with perfect precision.

When finished early next year, it will be Kurosawa's first Japan-made film in 10 years and his first Samurai picture — the genre he did so much to popularize — in 15 years.

But then comes the order, relayed by two-way radio: "Tell them to go back and do it again." Akira Kurosawa, the emperor of Samurai cinema, is back at work — as always, demanding that the job be done his way.

For Kurosawa, it's a chance at age 69 to regain the reputation he earned with such earlier classics as "Rashomon," a 1951 Academy Award-winner, and "Seven Samurai."

Known in Japan's film industry as the most exacting of directors, Kurosawa is trying for a comeback after years of eclipse and a depression-induced suicide attempt in 1971.

Already the film is in financial trouble, but help has arrived in the form of backing from Hollywood's 20th Century-Fox studio and American directors George Lucas ("Star Wars") and Francis Ford Coppola ("The Godfather," "Apocalypse Now").

The film is "Kage Musha," (literally "Shadow Warrior"), a period epic about a Japanese warrior whose death is concealed for three years by loyal retainers, while a look-alike impersonates him.

Japanese news reports place the American investment at $1.5 million to Toho Motion Pictures' original $5.5 million investment. Kurosawa refuses to say how much it is, but credits Lucas and Coppola with saving him. "Without their word, Fox would not have backed the film," he says.

Kurosawa was interviewed between takes (the scene with the soldiers and horsemen was shot 10 more times that day) as he sat on the riverbank in Kanagawa, west of Tokyo. He wore a yellow T-shirt with the words "California" and "Water Power" on the back. Nearby was his elaborately constructed 15th Century military encampment.

"I have my own shooting schedule," he says in response to a question about his reputation for overspending on pictures. "Once I thought I could shoot a scene on Mount Fuji in a week. It took 100 days."

"He is the strictest of all Japanese directors," says Jujiro Yamada, chief makeup artist on the set. "His pictures contain no lies. He will abandon a scene, reconstruct it later, and continue rehearing until he is completely satisfied."

If such perfectionism has brought him the admiration of such foreign colleagues as Lucas and Coppola, it has not made him universally popular in Japan's film industry.

In July, the only "name" professional actor in "Kage Musha," Shintaro Katsu, walked out in a reportedly bitter disagreement with Kurosawa over acting technique.

In 1965, Kurosawa fought with his leading man of 20 years, Toshiro Mifune, when the director would not let the star shave — thereby depriving him on other jobs during the year Kurosawa spent shooting "Red Beard."

In the 1950s, Japanese film studios churned out 500 pictures, and audiences in Japan topped a billion. By the late '60s, audiences were down to about one-seventh of that figure, and moviemakers' budgets had shrunk to as low as $300,000 for a full-length feature.

Most studios by that time wanted little to do with the free-spending Kurosawa, and in 1971, after one of his pictures lost money for the first time, a discouraged Kurosawa slashed his neck and wrists with a razor, narrowly missing major blood vessels.

In 1976, Kurosawa won his second Oscar, for "Desru Uzala." Critics said the award was not so much for the picture as in recognition of Kurosawa's contributions to film technique.

Studio Office Workers To Vote On Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Striking office workers vote Monday night on a tentative contract agreement that could end a 12-day strike against four major Hollywood studios and four film processors.

But the 2,000-member Local 174 of the Office of Professional Employees International Union will continue picketing at the eight sites prior to the ratification vote, said Ruth Benson, union business representative.

"We are still on strike and the acceptance or rejection of the contract is still up in the air because our formal ratification vote will be taken Monday," Miss Benson said.

She conceded, however, that there was "reduced" picketing at all Hollywood sites over the weekend.

The strike against 20th Century-Fox, Universal, MGM and Columbia Pictures and the film labs began Sept. 26 and for a time halted the filming for the television shows "MASH" and "CHiPs." Other production also was disrupted.

Miss Benson refused to divulge terms of the agreement, a stipulation she said was agreed upon both by management and the union.

However, a union member told The Associated Press that the contract would grant across-the-board increases of 10 percent the first 15 months, 9 percent for the next 12 months and 8 1/4 percent for the final nine months of the three-year agreement.

This represents about a 67-cent-per-hour increase for middle-level union workers during the first 15 months, the source said. Current salaries range from $5.30 to $8.25 an hour.

The contract is retroactive to Aug. 1 and runs concurrent with the recently concluded agreement between the film industry and the 24,000-member International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, the largest Hollywood labor group.

Parity in contract length was a major stumbling block in negotiations, the union said. This was the first time in over 30 years that Local 174 had not bargained alongside the stage employees' alliance.

The pact does not include dental and eye care plans, however, which was another major point of contention during negotiations.

Former Miss America

Weds In Virginia

WILLIAMSBURG, Va (AP) — About 1,000 people gathered outside historic Bruton Parish Church in Colonial Williamsburg for the wedding of Kyline Barker, Miss America 1979, and James Brandon, a Roanoke businessman.

After the 30-minute ceremony Saturday afternoon, the couple left in a horse-drawn, open carriage to Williamsburg Inn for a reception.

Miss America was only for one year, but this is for a lifetime. The bride said at the reception "Jim was so quiet when we came out of the church. He was quiet as a ghost."

Mr. and Mrs. Brandon will move to Palm Beach, Fla., where they plan to open a dress shop in November. It will be called "D. Kyline." The initials is for the bride's first name, Danice.

Pope Appreciative Of Coverage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope John Paul II said thank you and goodbye Sunday to the 270 journalists who traveled with him through America and he praised them for doing a good job.

The pontiff said he had touched, during his tour, on several components of peace and you have diligently reported on these reflections.

"You have performed the service of stimulating people to think about how they might contribute to a firmer foundation for peace, for cooperation and for justice among all persons," the pope said.

The 270 reporters, photographers and broadcast technicians from across the world, were invited to a final meeting with the pope at the residence of the apostolic delegate to the United States.

"You are a small group so I will have a small speech," the pope said. He began reading his prepared speech. "Here we are together again at the end of another journey."

There was a pause, and the pope ad libbed: "Praise be to God. Thanks be to God."

The pontiff, showed the weariness of 10 days on the road — three in Ireland and seven in the United States. At that point, in early afternoon, he had only one more speech to deliver and it was the 68th since he left Rome.

After he finished his brief talk to the journalists, a reporter shouted "Come back." The pope smiled and said "you Americans have supported me very well. Thank you. Thank you very much."

And finally, the pope said thank again in Spanish, "mucho gracias"; in Latin, "deo gratias"; in Italian, "grazie tante"; and in Polish, "do widzenia."
