

Prosecutors Try Proving Reckless Driving Resulted In Deaths

By KAY BELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Prosecutors Wednesday began to piece together evidence in an effort to prove Ramaldo Belasco Jr. was driving recklessly June 16 when his car collided with another vehicle, killing two Lubbock school principals.

Among witnesses called to the stand as Belasco's involuntary manslaughter trial entered its first day of testimony were:

• A city police officer who pursued the 17-year-old defendant's Pontiac Grand Prix for several blocks before the fatal crash, at one point during the chase reaching 90 mph before he gave up the attempt to stop Belasco's car.

• A blind man who lives at a house located on the southeast corner of 22nd Street and Boston Avenue, where the two cars collided just before 1 a.m. June 16. The man said he heard no car brakes screeching immediately before hearing a loud crash.

• An ambulance driver who took Belasco to the hospital for medical treatment and was told by the defendant that he had had nine beers before the wreck.

Police Detective David O'Haver said Belasco's car was going 90 mph and "appeared to be gaining speed right up to the point of impact."

O'Haver said he saw the crash and was the first officer to arrive at the scene, where he found the decapitated body of Rush Elementary School principal William Bravenec in the street and Tommy Herring's body in the front seat of the demolished Corvette in which they had been traveling.

Belasco, of 3017 30th St., is standing trial this week for involuntary manslaughter in connection with Bravenec's death. He also has been indicted on the same charge for the death of Herring, principal of Ballenger Elementary School.

The detective said he first saw Belasco's car involved in a drag race on 34th Street shortly before 1 a.m. June 16. He said the other car participating in the race slowed down after traveling about a block, but Belasco continued to accelerate.

"As Belasco turned his vehicle north onto Boston Avenue, O'Haver told the seven-woman, five-man panel, the officer turned on his red light and siren in an attempt to stop the car.

O'Haver said he pulled up beside Belasco at one point, but the young man ignored the light and siren and pulled away from the unmarked police car, O'Haver said. The officer added that he continued to follow the car for several blocks, traveling at 90 mph, but he still was unable to catch Belasco.

O'Haver said he gave up the chase in the 2900-block of Boston Avenue "because I decided I couldn't catch the vehicle and with the street conditions, blind corners, I decided it wasn't safe for me to be traveling that fast."

As O'Haver was attempting to radio for assistance in stopping the car, he said, he saw "a terrific accident" about four blocks ahead of him. The officer said Belasco's Grand Prix struck a Corvette, in which Herring and Bravenec were riding, as the Corvette was slowly pulling out of 22nd Street onto Boston Avenue.

When he arrived at the crash site, O'Haver testified, he found Bravenec thrown from the vehicle, apparently decapitated by the impact. Herring was slumped in what was left of the front of the car, O'Haver said.

The driver's side of the Corvette was completely ripped from the body of the car, and the Grand Prix was north of the crash site on its hood, O'Haver said. The driver of the Pontiac, he added, was not in the car or the area and the vehicle smelled strongly of alcohol.

The officer said Belasco returned to the crash site with a woman while police were investigating the crash and told officers, "I'm sorry." O'Haver said the young man smelled strongly of alcohol and appeared to be intoxicated. Belasco was taken by ambulance to Methodist Hospital for treatment.

Before ending his testimony, the officer added that the Grand Prix never slowed down before the accident and the driver did not swerve in an effort to miss the Corvette.

Additional testimony concerning whether Belasco tried to avoid the collision was given by Roger Smith of 2629 22nd St., the house at the southeast corner of the intersection.

Smith, who is blind, said he and his wife had been in bed only 15 minutes when they heard "a tremendous crash." But, Smith said, he did not hear any sound — such as screeching brakes — precede the loud crash.

Emergency Medical Services technician Forrest Broom said when Belasco was being taken by ambulance to the hospital for head and chest injuries, the defendant told the ambulance attendant that he had drunk nine beers.

Broom added that the defendant appeared unsteady and smelled of alcohol.

In response to questions from defense counsel John O'Shea and Mark Hall, Broom conceded that Belasco's unsteadiness could have been caused by injuries suffered in the collision.

But, Broom told prosecutors Travis Ware and Clint Averitte that his experience as an EMS technician caused him to believe that Belasco's symptoms were the result of intoxication rather than injuries. Broom added that vital sign tests administered to Belasco during the ambulance ride also made intoxication the more probable explanation.

Testimony in the trial will continue in 140th District Court at 9 a.m. today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee, sidestepping a battle over abortion funding language, passed an emergency bill Wednesday to finance for the operations of four major government departments.

The committee's decision to approve the bill with no mention of abortion language sets the stage for another possible battle with the House. A House-Senate clash over the volatile abortion issue last month temporarily put 1.5 million federal employees on half pay.

The House-passed version of the emergency funding bill sets strict requirements on the use of federal funds to pay for abortions for poor women.

The appropriations committee voted 15-13 to avoid the abortion issue in its action on the funding measure. It then passed the bill by voice vote.

The abortion language controversy has proven difficult to resolve, with the House insisting on strict requirements and the Senate favoring more liberal regulations.

Both chambers agreed last month on compromise language but only after the dispute had stalled a bill needed to temporarily retain funding for a host of government agencies.

As a result of that impasse, seven Cabinet-level departments had to operate for more than two weeks on funds left over from fiscal 1979, which ended Sept. 30.

The framers of the compromise had hoped it would become the model for abortion language on all other bills this year. But the House dashed those hopes earlier this month by rejecting the compromise when it came up as part of another bill.

Sunny Days, Chilly Nights Expected

Lubbock area residents can look forward to sunny afternoons and chilly nights for the rest of the week, and the coming weekend.

A huge high pressure system should keep skies over Texas clear through Monday. The forecast calls for a high temperature today in the mid-60s and a low tonight in the mid-30s.

Winds today will be southwesterly from 10 to 15 mph.

The extended forecast calls for no chance of precipitation through Friday with days fair and warm over the weekend. Monday should be a little cooler.

Cool, dry conditions prevailed in much of the nation Wednesday, but rain continued in parts of the Northeast. Sunny skies were reported over the West and much of the Southeast. Freezing temperatures continued from northern Minnesota to upper Michigan.

The forecast called for dry conditions and sunny skies today in most of the nation. Light snow was forecast for northern Michigan.

Hospital Says Shah's Cancer Therapy Begun

NEW YORK (AP) — The deposed shah of Iran is receiving radiation therapy for a neck tumor — being whisked from his heavily guarded hospital room through an underground tunnel to an adjacent medical facility, sources said Wednesday.

Chris Godek, a spokeswoman for the shah, refused to confirm or deny specifics about the treatment "on the grounds of security," but she did say the therapy had begun.

Medical sources who asked not to be identified said the deposed monarch received his first of 10 scheduled sessions Monday at Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases. Estimates for completion of the treatment varied from two weeks to four weeks, depending on the source.

New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, the Upper East Side facility where Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi is recovering from a gall bladder operation, is connected to the affiliated Memorial institution by a tunnel. His lymphoma — diagnosed six years ago — caused the cancerous tumor in his neck.

The sources told The Associated Press the therapy sessions were being "administered during off hours so that traffic in the tunnel is minimal." The shah's armed guards close off the tunnel during the shah's transit, the sources said.

Militant Moslems have been holding 60 Americans hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Iran since Nov. 4, demanding that the shah be sent back to Iran to be tried for alleged crimes.

There has been speculation the shah might go to another country to try to ease the situation for the United States. The New York Times reported Wednesday that attending physicians had reversed their earlier advice that any attempt by the shah to move to another country could be fatal.

However, Miss Godek and hospital public relations personnel denied any change in the shah's status. Miss Godek noted the shah is recovering from the Oct. 24 surgery and pointed to previously announced plans for radiation therapy for the neck tumor and the planned removal of an additional gallstone blocking the bile duct within the next two weeks.

If any move were to be made — rumors to that effect swept through New York and Washington late Tuesday — it probably would come after the 10 radiation sessions were completed, the sources said. If additional treatments were needed they presumably could be administered elsewhere.

Whereabouts Of Shah's Wealth Unknown

NEW YORK (AP) — About 19 years ago, Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi of Iran reportedly donated $110 million of his personal wealth to set up a private foundation. Before he left Iran in February, the holdings were said to be close to $25 billion.

But today, no one knows how much of the shah's personal wealth has been left in Iran, how much he was able to take with him, or how much has been funneled into foreign banks and holdings.

No balance sheet was ever filed for the Pahlavi Foundation that the shah established in Iran. Its charitable contributions included the construction of mosques, orphanages and hospitals.

Among its holdings were an oil company, 12 sugar companies, an electronics firm, a soccer club, four cement factories and interests in shipping and tankers, mining, bread factories, banks, the General Motors plant in Iran and several other firms.

The foundation had joint ventures with French, Greek and German firms. In New York, the shah and his sister, Ashraf Pahlavi, own adjoining townhouses on Beekman Place.

The Pahlavi Foundation reportedly spent $200 million to build a resort island in the Persian Gulf, which included a landing strip capable of handling the Concorde.

In 1973 a Pahlavi Foundation was incorporated in New York as a nonprofit, charitable organization. Its original board included former Secretary of State William Rogers and Democrat Rep. John Murphy of New York. Since the turnover of power in Iran, the board has been replaced with members who could work with the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

About 150 Iranian students in U.S. colleges and universities receive $300 a month each from the foundation.

The New York foundation reported assets of $31.7 million on its 1977 federal income tax return, but New York State and Iranian officials in the United States say the foundation is in the red.

The foundation's principal asset is a 36-story office building on Fifth Avenue, but only 45 to 50 percent of the skyscraper is rented.

The New York State attorney general's office says the organization "owes a substantial amount of money" to the National Bank of Iran in Tehran from which it borrowed $42 million to construct the building.

The foundation plans to use income from the building for charitable purposes, said Manoucher Shafie, president of the organization.

Shafie wants to change the foundation's name so it will no longer be associated with the shah. He said the organization is not connected with the Pahlavi Foundation in Iran.

per is rented. The New York State attorney general's office says the organization "owes a substantial amount of money" to the National Bank of Iran in Tehran from which it borrowed $42 million to construct the building.

The foundation plans to use income from the building for charitable purposes, said Manoucher Shafie, president of the organization.

Shafie wants to change the foundation's name so it will no longer be associated with the shah. He said the organization is not connected with the Pahlavi Foundation in Iran.

"This building has nothing to do with Iran," he said in a recent interview. "It does not belong to the shah. And we want to change the name because of the connotation of his name."

"He's a Hitler. Why should his name be a landmark?" said Shafie, who sat beneath a color photograph of Khomeini.

Space in the building is renting at $10 to $40 per square foot. Shafie does not expect full occupancy until 1982. Bonwit Teller was to have been a tenant in the building, occupying the first seven floors. But the department store plans to reopen on 57th Street.

"What happened, they came to the bridge seeking admission, and they were not admitted for one reason or another," Perez said.

He later declined comment on the situation and referred callers to the Justice Department in Washington — where no one was available to speak about the situation.

Iranians Blocked From Returning To U.S.

EL PASO (UPI) — Twenty-five Iranians seeking enrollment in a Mexican university were blocked from re-entering the United States Wednesday by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

On the Texas side of the bridge, other Iranian students angered at the plight of their countrymen vowed to demonstrate if the 25 detainees were not allowed to return.

Late Wednesday afternoon, someone claiming to be an Iranian notified El Paso authorities that a bomb or bombs had been planted in one or more of the three immigration offices situated at ports of entry between Mexico and the U.S.

El Paso police and U.S. Customs officers used dogs to search all three bridge entries and fire trucks were dispatched, but no bombs were found.

Meanwhile, Charles Perez, district director for the INS, said the Iranians had been scheduled on an immigration service docket, but he could not say when their trials might be held.

Atomic Foundation President Attacks Federal Regulations

By ESTHER LONGORIA
Avalanche-Journal Staff

LAMESA — The president of Texas Electric Service Co. supports the development of nuclear power to help solve the nation's energy crunch, and says government regulations "get in the way" of nuclear safety.

Bill Marquardt, also president of the Texas Atomic Research Foundation and chairman of the board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker at Tuesday night's Lamesa Area Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Our nation is in a serious energy shortage, and we need to turn to both coal and uranium to solve our energy problem, Marquardt said.

He lashed out at federal regulations which "get in the way" of nuclear safety and make the use of coal almost impossible.

Other banquet activities included a salute to the Prophecy company, which opened a women's garment manufacturing plant here in May. The apparel firm, headquartered in Dallas, has been in existence since 1971.

The chamber gave its Top Hand Award to city police officer Gerry Brown as the Round Up Club member who signed up the most new members for the chamber. Bennie Green, salesman for Fred Barrington Chevrolet Co., was second in the competition.

New chamber officers are Dewayne Lee, president; Roy Byrd, president-elect; Doyle McAda, senior vice-president, Johnny Grissom, vice-president, and Dale Newberry, treasurer.

New Mexico Solon Reports Military Grants Approved

Washington, D.C. (Special) — U.S. Sen. Harrison Schmitt has announced that the Senate Appropriations Committee, on which he serves, approved $25,670,000 for military construction projects in New Mexico.

Among the projects that will be funded are $7.3 million for the Department of Defense (DOD) High Energy Laser Test Facility at White Sands Missile Range, $2.1 million for a Flight Simulator Training Facility at Cannon Air Force Base, $600,000 for an Energy Conservation Program under the Tactical Air Command at Holloman Air Force Base, $670,000 for an Energy Conservation Program under the Military Airlift Command at Kirtland Air Force Base, and $1.5 million to add to and alter the Flight Simulator Training Facility also at Kirtland Air Force Base.

Schmitt said that White Sands Missile Range was allocated $15,150,000 total.

OPEC May Not Make Up Lost Oil Supplies

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Oil-thirsty America cannot expect other OPEC nations to make up the difference in the loss resulting from the cutoff of Iranian oil, Middle East experts said Wednesday.

"There's no way for them (Arab oil exporters) to support Iran in this," one expert told the Associated Press. "But, on the other hand, there's not much leeway for them to increase production."

President Carter announced Tuesday the United States would buy no more oil from Iran because of the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and the holding of some 98 hostages there. Iran responded by saying it had already decided to halt oil sales to the United States.

Iranian foreign affairs chief Abolhassan Bani Sadr strongly hinted that Iran would ask other Moslem Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to join in an oil embargo against the United States. Later Tuesday, Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinefar messaged other OPEC oil ministers, calling on them to "back up" Iran.

But Moinefar said Wednesday that Iran sought only moral support from other oil-producing nations, the Kuwait news agency reported from Tehran.

Industry sources in Kuwait, the United Arab Emirates and Beirut had speculated that Saudi Arabia might boost its current production rate of 9.5 million barrels a day to help Carter offset the loss of some 600,000 barrels a day from Iran.

"There's a tacit consensus among the gulf states to maintain the current production rates, and some of them are apt to reduce their daily output levels," a Saudi diplomat said.

Most Arab countries are producing and selling more oil than they need. The money from oil sales is far more than their economies can absorb profitably, according to the experts, who asked not to be identified.

The gulf states have limited storage facilities, and could not immediately hike output anyway, the experts said.

Only Saudi Arabia can afford to go up to 10 million barrels a day, but that would require a political decision at the highest level, a Saudi diplomat said.

Venezuela, Mexico, Nigeria and other non-Moslem OPEC members also were not expected to offset America's loss of Iranian oil, sources here said.

Iran also drew criticism Wednesday from newspapers in neighboring Kuwait for its handling of the crisis.

Iran Claims New Oil Buyer; Indonesia Ups Prices

By The Associated Press

Iran claimed Wednesday it had found a buyer for 10 percent of the Iranian oil banned from shipment to the United States, and Indonesia announced it was raising most of its oil prices an average 11 percent.

Indonesia is the seventh member of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to boost crude-oil prices in recent weeks. There also were continued rumors that Saudi Arabia, OPEC's largest member, was on the verge of a price increase.

In a Tehran radio broadcast monitored in Kuwait, Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinefar said Iran had reached agreement to sell unidentified "international customers" 70,000 barrels of oil daily for $45 a barrel, almost twice Iran's official price.

Oil industry sources in New York speculated the customers for the Iranian oil were Japanese firms. Japan has been buying large amounts of oil from Iran at high prices in the past several months, and had been listed by industry sources as a prime prospect to buy 700,000 barrels of Iranian oil banned Monday by President Carter from entering the United States.

"I would think the Japanese were in there in full force trying to get the oil," said one New York crude oil trader. "The consensus in the industry is that Japan will get it."

In a related development, Gulf Oil said Wednesday that because of "uncertainty in crude oil supplies" it was suspending shipments of oil to Japan in next year's first quarter. Gulf supplies about 2 percent of the oil used by Japan.

There also were rumors that the Soviet Union was negotiating with Iran to buy some of the oil passed up by the United States.

The price set by Iran is one of the highest ever for a cargo of oil, and confirmed industry speculation that Iran would be able to command high prices for its crude.

The apparent ease with which Iran got that price is expected to put additional pressure on OPEC for a hefty price rise at its December meeting in Venezuela. OPEC's official price now ranges between $18 and $23.50 a barrel, although three members — Libya, Nigeria and Algeria — have broken through the ceiling and are selling their oil for up to $26.27 a barrel.

Prices on the spot market, where oil not sold under long-term contracts changes hands, are even higher, as much as $40 a barrel.

Indonesia chose to honor the OPEC ceiling in announcing its price increase Wednesday. It left the price of its best oil at $23.50.

Businessmen Say Iranian Assets Freeze Will Hurt U.S.-Arab Relations

NEW YORK (AP) — Spokesmen for Arab businessmen with billions of dollars invested in the United States said Wednesday President Carter's freeze on Iranian assets will hurt U.S.-Arab economic relations and weaken the oil producers' commitment to the dollar.

"No one can tell what will happen in the short run, but in the long run it will generate a lot of negative processes," said Burhan Dajani, director of the Union of Arab Chambers of Commerce.

"All countries which have money in the United States will be concerned about their investments," Dajani said.

"Capital is a coward," said Mohamed

Sauid Nabulsi, Governor of the Central bank of Jordan. "Anyone holding capital in the United States is bound to be apprehensive. It's a very rare step to take outside of war," he said of the freeze.

Word of Carter's announcement, in reaction to an Iranian threat to pull Iranian money out of the United States, shocked Dajani and other delegates to a major meeting here of Arab and U.S. businessmen — a sales conference designed to spur commerce between the two regions.

The U.S.-Arab Chamber of Commerce had predicted that millions of dollars of trade would be generated at the conference, but many of the business leaders expressed grave fears that the U.S. freeze would hurt U.S.-Arab trade, which last year exceeded $25 billion.

Iran, a non-Arab country, was not a participant in the conference, but delegates at the conclave expressed concern that Arabs with U.S. investments would see Carter's action as a sign of general U.S. distrust of the Islamic world.

"It sets a very bad precedent," Dajani said. "The same thing happened when the United States froze Egyptian assets in 1956 during the Suez war. Businessmen say, 'what happened once, can happen again.'"

"Capital is very sensitive and when it smells something it doesn't like, its reaction is to pull back," said Abdul Aziz Al

Investigation Concluded In Plane Crash

Investigation by the Drug Enforcement Administration of a private plane crash near Tucumcari that killed a Lubbock pilot and his passenger has ended.

Agent David Hoover said only a small amount of cocaine was found at the scene of the crash. About three grams of cocaine, worth about $300, and a small amount of marijuana was found at the crash site, he said.

Federal Aviation Administration officials still had not discovered by late Wednesday the cause of the crash that killed David Alan Jones, 32, of 5427 Ave. B., and Michael W. O'Keefe, 31, of Owalla, Wash.

"The initial reports (of large amounts of drugs aboard the aircraft) were grossly exaggerated," Hoover said.

National Transportation Safety Board officials sealed off the crash site shortly after the plane was discovered Monday morning.

DEA officials said two revolvers were found at the crash site. One weapon, officials said, was in Jones's hand.

Investigating officers reported that "Jones had a microphone in one hand a gun in the other," indicating he might have "contemplated killing himself."

Services for Jones will be at 10 a.m. Friday at Sanders Funeral Home with the Rev. Wayne Perry, Highland Hospital chaplain, officiating.

Graveside services will be at 3 p.m. at Childress Cemetery.

Jones had lived in Lubbock the past 11 years and had attended Texas Tech. He was a bomber mechanic during the Vietnam War. He was a member of the Bandidos motorcycle club.

Survivors include his wife, Ginger Rene; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones of Ceevee; and two sisters, Mary Badgett of Lubbock and Patricia Henningsen of Callahan, Colo.

Sister Bares Background Of Young Gunman

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A police SWAT sergeant, one of three officers wounded Tuesday before police killed a 19-year-old gunman in a three-hour drama, was in critical condition Wednesday night with head and neck wounds after undergoing surgery.

Meanwhile, a report surfaced that the gunman, Javier Sanchez, was once a close friend of Joe Campos Torres, a Mexican-American who died while in police custody in a 1977 civil rights case that attracted nationwide attention.

Sanchez' 17-year sister also said her brother, who was once taught karate by Campos Torres, had been beaten by Houston police in an incident two years ago.

SWAT Sgt. Coy Boone, 34, was shot point-blank when Sanchez burst out the back door of a small frame house near a high school and unleashed a hail of bullets into a group of SWAT officers conducting a house-to-house search.

Surgeons removed some bullet fragments Wednesday from Boone's brain, officials said.

Another SWAT officer, Patrolman Oscar Gallo, 30, was wounded in the arm before the other SWAT officer killed Sanchez in a flurry of gunfire.

Wranglers™

Taste a Hormel Wrangler™ just taste one - and you'll never go back to hot dogs.

Your first bite tells you Wranglers™ are really different. Bigger, smokier and coarser-ground than ordinary wieners. Solid and meaty for full-sized meals.

For a hearty supper, serve 'em with hash-browned potatoes and onions, Spanish rice or baked beans. Or grill 'em with cheese and tomato for a man-sized sandwich.

Wrangler's tangy taste comes through baked or broiled, pan-fried or grilled. (But don't you ever boil 'em in water.)

If you haven't tried Wranglers™ yet, you're missing something mighty special. All it takes is just one taste — and you'll never settle for hot dogs again.

National Emergency Triggers Uncertainty At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Carter declared a "national emergency" on Wednesday, he triggered uncertainty within his own administration as to the potential breadth of his action.

It was Carter's first national emergency.

A Carter spokesman, Rex Granum, said that as far as he was aware, the emergency declaration would have no impact beyond the freezing of Iranian government money and property in the United States.

At the Treasury, spokesman Everard Munsey professed ignorance of any other act, I don't know.

But another Treasury official, asking not to be identified by name, said: "You shouldn't discount possible further steps. The statute the president relied on is extraordinarily broad."

This official said Carter, by invoking the International Emergency Economic Powers Act, now has the power to put an embargo on all U.S.-Iranian trade, including food, and could freeze privately held Iranian assets now held in the United States.

Asked to clarify the powers now available to Carter, Treasury spokesman Munsey suggested that reporters check with the White House.

In the office of White House Counsel Lloyd Cutler, the word was, "call the Federal Emergency Management Administration."

At FEMA, spokesman John Coleman said Wednesday's move was Carter's first national emergency, and that all emergencies declared by his predecessors had expired, though assets frozen in previous emergencies remain in limbo.

Throughout Carter administration offices Wednesday, the atmosphere was distinctly non-emergency, but the official declaration was required for Carter to freeze the Iranian assets after the Iranian government announced its intention to shift billions of dollars in deposits to other nations.

In past eras, national emergencies have been declared to freeze a nation's assets during times of combat or conflict.

The longest-running such emergency, declared by President Harry S. Truman during the Korean War, was declared ended under the new emergency reorganization program, Coleman said.

The International Emergency Economic Powers Act under which Carter acted to thwart the Iranian initiative superseded the Trading with the Enemy Act.

Under the now-defunct Trading with the Enemy Act, the assets of Vietnam ($100 million), Cambodia ($10 million), Cuba ($30 million), and an undetermined amount of North Korean funds have been frozen, according to Treasury spokesman Jack Plum.

In addition, $80 million in Chinese funds, frozen since the communist government took over in China, are scheduled to be released in January, Plum said.

Under a different act, assets of Rhodesia, now known as Zimbabwe-Rhodesia, have been held in suspense since 1968 in connection with a United Nations action, he said.

Approximately $20 million in assets owned by Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and East Germany, all part of the Soviet bloc, are also frozen, Plum said.

The International Emergency Economic Powers Act gives the president authority "to deal with any unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy or economy of the United States."

New Zealand attained Dominion status in 1907.

Group Praises Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is winning praise on two fronts for his decision to halt U.S. purchases of Iranian oil.

The action, taken following the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran by Iranian students, was hailed Wednesday by a group known as Americans for Energy Independence.

"Your bold move serves as a signal to foreign oil suppliers that this country cannot be held hostage to outrageous and illegal demands by foreign oil suppliers," the group said in a letter to Carter.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. I have a number of bonds issued by major corporations. Some will mature in 1982 and some not until the year 2006. Because I am 56, I don't think it is wise to hold the longer-term bonds. I may not live until they mature. Also, their interest rates will be poor investments in the years to come.

A. My broker advised me to hold these bonds until interest rates go down. He says the prices of these bonds will then go up. Does past performance in long-term bonds support his belief? What are my chances of cashing these bonds at near 100 percent of their face values before they mature?

A. What your broker told you is very true. When interest rates go up — as they have recently — the market prices of bonds already issued go down. And, when interest rates go down — as they eventually will — the market prices of bonds go up.

This is a natural thing. Say you bought a $1,000 bond which pays 8 percent interest. You collect $80 a year interest. Say that interest rates go up to 10 percent. Because anyone who then buys a $1,000 newly-issued bond can then get $100 a year interest, no one in his or her right mind will pay more than about $800 for your long-term bond.

But, if interest rates on new bonds then drop back down to 8 percent, your bond's value in the market place would then rise again to $1,000.

You know, of course, that your bonds will be paid off at face value when they reach their maturities. Whether or not you will ever be able to sell your long-term bonds at or near their face values will depend on what happens to interest rates in general in the future.

If those rates decline to the level of interest your bonds pay, the answer will be "yes." If they don't, the answer will be "no."

There are signs that interest rates are beginning to come down. But it's unlikely that general interest rates will drop to the rates your long-term bonds pay. So, it's doubtful that you will be able to sell your bonds at or near face value before maturity.

Q. I am in charge of my mother's finances. She is 81, an invalid and will be going into a retirement home soon. She has to use about $600 to $800 of her capital each month. She still has about $24,000 plus about $50,000 she will get from the sale of her home.

A. My brother thinks part of mother's money should be put into silver and gold coins, which are supposed to be doubling or tripling in value. I think her money should be kept in insured six-month savings certificates and a savings account. What is your opinion?

A. It's a good thing you are in charge of your mother's financial affairs. Your thinking is correct.

As nicely as you can, tell your brother to "butt out." The notion of gambling in the gold and silver markets with money your mother needs is ridiculous.

Sure, gold and silver have done right well over the last year or so. But they are volatile commodities and could come down, just as fast as they went up.

Clements Welcomes Farmers, Ranchers

AUSTIN (AP) — Members of 49 families whose ancestors founded farms or ranches 100 years ago were welcomed to the Capitol Wednesday by Gov. Bill Clements.

The 49 families were the latest inducted into the Family Land Heritage Program for properties that have been producing farms or ranches for a century.

"I admire you. You have every reason in the world to take pride in the contribution you and your family have made to this great state of ours," Clements said.

The program was started in 1974 and 1,294 properties have been registered.

The oldest property inducted into the program Wednesday was the Cedar Grove Plantation in Harrison County. It was started in 1847.

The Young Ranch in Coleman County became the farthest west property honored. Most of the Family Land Heritage Program inductees have been in East Texas.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown said the Canton Farm in Sabine was founded by a man who came to Texas as a slave "but who lived to see his children and grandchildren become the rightful heirs to Texas soil."

Auto Sales Down 25 Percent; Chrysler Hard Hit

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto producers sold 25 percent fewer cars in early November than during the same period a year ago, and the decline was led by Chrysler Corp., which suffered a 43 percent drop despite a new rebate program, according to company reports Wednesday.

Sales for the first 10 days of November were the worst for that period since 1974, a recession year. Trade publications already are saying that bloated inventories and chopped-back production schedules indicate the industry is in another recession.

The five companies sold 179,073 cars in the first 10 days of the month compared with 239,924 in early November 1978.

Ford Motor Co. sales declined 29 percent from 67,451 to 47,973. General Motors Corp.'s fell 23 percent from 139,934 to 108,405 and Chrysler's sank from 26,178 to 14,815.

American Motors Corp., which announced a 60 percent production increase for its four-wheel drive cars earlier this year, sold an estimated 4,500 cars for a 6.4 percent decline from 4,810. AMC no longer reports 10-day sales.

Chrysler's Jerry Pyle, vice president for U.S. auto sales, said it appeared that buyers held back in anticipation of the rebates. The $300 rebates were announced on Nov. 5.

Chrysler did improve its relative performance from late October, when, without rebates, sales were down 56 percent.

Consumer Groups Contend Oil Companies Understated Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three consumer groups said Wednesday that the way they figure it, oil company profits are at least 33 percent higher than officially reported.

The groups said accounting methods used by the oil companies, although legitimate, end up understating profits in the companies' public reports. Other accounting practices provide more realistic, and much larger, profit figures, they said.

The groups also said oil company acquisitions of other companies, both in and out of energy production, shows they are not using all of their available cash to develop additional oil and gas.

Robert McIntyre, spokesman for the Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition, said the study "points out how ridiculous the industry's contention is that the oil producers need more cash to finance new exploration."

The American Petroleum Institute, an oil industry trade organization, has argued that this year's profit increases mark a recovery from inadequate profits last year rather than an exorbitant leap.

The API has also said the industry needs higher profits to develop the more costly petroleum supplies of the future. It calls criticism of acquisitions "a red herring", claiming that acquisitions represent only a small fraction of oil company investments.

Oil industry spokesmen, explaining huge third-quarter profit increases, say most of the profit was earned overseas, not in the United States.

But the three groups claimed that this, too, is misleading because U.S. consumers buy some petroleum products imported by foreign refineries owned by the U.S.-based international companies.

They said this means that the profits on those imported products come from consumers in the United States, even though they are credited to the overseas refinery operations, making the U.S. refinery appear smaller than they really are.

The study said three major accounting practices contribute to understating oil profits:

• One is the practice by some large companies of immediately absorbing the full expense of unsuccessful exploration and development efforts. The study said this practice is "favored by most accountants" but a different method used by many smaller companies who spread those expenses over a longer period of time provides "a more accurate reflection of income."

• A second practice challenged by the groups is the inclusion, as an apparent cost, of "deferred" taxes which in reality are never paid. The study said those unpaid taxes should not be subtracted but should be included as part of a company's actual income since the money remains available for use by the company.

• Third, the study said profits are understated because the companies figure the expense of their oil at the latest, highest cost levels instead of what it really cost them when they got it. The study said realistic costing would reduce that expense figure, revealing larger profits.

'Jungle Warfare' Lurks In House, Chairman Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — House committees are engaged in "jungle warfare" over which panel will control high-priority energy legislation, the chairman of a House energy subcommittee said Wednesday.

Rep. Anthony Toby Moffett, D-Conn., urged the House Select Committee on Committees to sort out the jurisdictional conflicts, which he said can sometimes become more important to lawmakers than the bills themselves.

"We are in jungle warfare in regards to jurisdiction over energy legislation," Moffett said. "Many decisions are being made on the basis of who can hang on for dear life and who can hang on to their turf."

Moffett cited one example in which both the House Commerce and Banking committees were reviewing a bill on residential energy conservation.

"There was no sense of urgency about the issue of conservation, only about beating the Banking Committee to the floor," he said.

Moffett, chairman of the House Government Operations subcommittee on environment, energy and natural resources, said he would be willing to surrender part of his panel's jurisdiction to resolve the overall conflict.

IT&T Chairman To Retire; Successor Named

By MARK POTTS
 NEW YORK (AP) — Harold S. Geneen will retire as chairman of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. at the end of this year, the company said Wednesday. The giant communications concern's board named ITT president Rand V. Araskog to succeed Geneen.

The resignation of Geneen, 69, capped several months of maneuvering in the executive suite of ITT, the nation's 11th largest company.

ITT president and chief executive officer Lyman C. Hamilton Jr. was replaced last July, after 28 months in that post, by the 48-year-old Araskog, who had been senior vice president and chief operating officer of the company.

Hamilton had been viewed as Geneen's hand-picked successor, although, ironically, Geneen was said to have tried to convince the board to select Araskog over Hamilton when it decided on a new president in 1977.

But sources said Geneen had been displeased with Hamilton's tenure as president and shunted him aside in July in favor of Araskog.

Geneen said Wednesday that Araskog had shown his ability to run the company in his four months as president.

"This is the proper step to take at this time," Geneen said in a statement. "I have tremendous confidence in the way Rand Araskog is running the company and for its future under his direction. I think it is time for him to assume the added responsibilities of the chairmanship."

Geneen became president of ITT in 1959 and was elevated to chairman in 1965. The company said Wednesday he would remain a member of the board and would be elected chairman emeritus.

Geneen also has become involved in recent months with a number of investment opportunities which analysts had expected to occupy his time after retirement.

Araskog is considered in the financial community to be particularly strong in marketing, a talent considered important by analysts as the telecommunications industry becomes more competitive because of reduced regulation.

A West Point graduate, Araskog joined ITT in 1966 after six years in the Defense Department. He began at ITT as general manager of the defense communications division and became and executive vice president in 1976.

The executive shuffle which included Hamilton's replacement also saw the appointment of several other executives from the vice-president level up. Observers said Geneen seemed to be trying to regain control of the firm and change its direction after several years in which he had gradually relinquished the reins.

ITT had sales last year of $19.4 billion and earnings of $662 million.

ITT also said on Wednesday that it lost $137 million in this year's third quarter because of a one-time charge to cover ITT's investment in a strike-idled pulp mill in Quebec.

Steelmaker, Texaco May Build Plant

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United States Steel Corp., the nation's largest steelmaker, and Texaco Inc., the third-ranked oil producer, said Wednesday they may jointly build a chemical plant in Texas.

The move would reflect U.S. Steel's on-going attempt to diversify beyond the steel business, where returns on equity have been lackluster for nearly two decades.

"Engineering and other studies are already under way for a plant to produce polyethylene which could come on stream as early as 1983," U.S. Steel Chairman David Roderick said at a press briefing.

"If subsequently approved by both corporations, such a plant would be located on the Gulf Coast," he added.

The U.S. Steel-Texaco project would market high-density polyethylene, a thermoplastic resin used in containers, housewares, pipe and other products.

No price tag was given for the proposal.

The companies also are studying the possibility of constructing a large light-olefins plant that would provide feedstocks to the proposed polyethylene plant as well as provide ethylene and other olefins for other purposes.

That facility would be located in the same region and would likely open in the mid-1980s.

In announcing the project, Roderick noted that U.S. Steel's involvement in chemicals has grown steadily from sales of $91 million in 1966 to more than $1 billion already this year.

The chemicals division accounts for about 5 percent of U.S. Steel's total assets, but is a major contributor to the corporation's income.

Treasury Chief Sees Chrysler Loan Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary G. William Miller predicted Wednesday that Congress would swiftly approve the Carter administration's proposal for $1.5 billion in federal loan guarantees for the financially beleaguered Chrysler Corp.

Miller offered his prediction to reporters as he outlined the administration's case for the guarantees before the Senate Banking Committee.

Asked if he thought Congress would approve the rescue plan by the end of the year, Miller replied: "Oh, yes."

Miller also said he thought there was a "reasonable prospect" that Chrysler could on its own come up with the additional $1.5 billion in new financing that the administration is requiring as a condition of the loan guarantees.

Miller testified that without government help it is likely that Chrysler "will face an insolvency and a reorganization under bankruptcy," events he said would be disruptive.

Chrysler, the nation's third-largest automaker, also says it faces bankruptcy without government assistance.

Miller appeared before the Senate committee after the House Banking Committee voted to require Chrysler to produce energy-saving cars and other equipment as a condition for receiving assistance.

The House committee, by a 30-7 vote, adopted an amendment calling for a plan "which focuses on the national need to lessen United States dependence on petroleum."

The amendment, sponsored by Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., the committee chairman, was supported by the administration. Reuss said the amendment was necessary for his support of the bill.

The Reuss amendment would require Chrysler to agree to an energy-saving plan "satisfactory" to the treasury secretary. Reuss said this would permit the administration to require unspecified energy-saving measures in addition to the national fuel economy standards all auto manufacturers are required to meet.

"The amendment requires that the Chrysler plan concentrate on producing transportation and energy equipment that will reduce our dependence on petroleum," Reuss said.

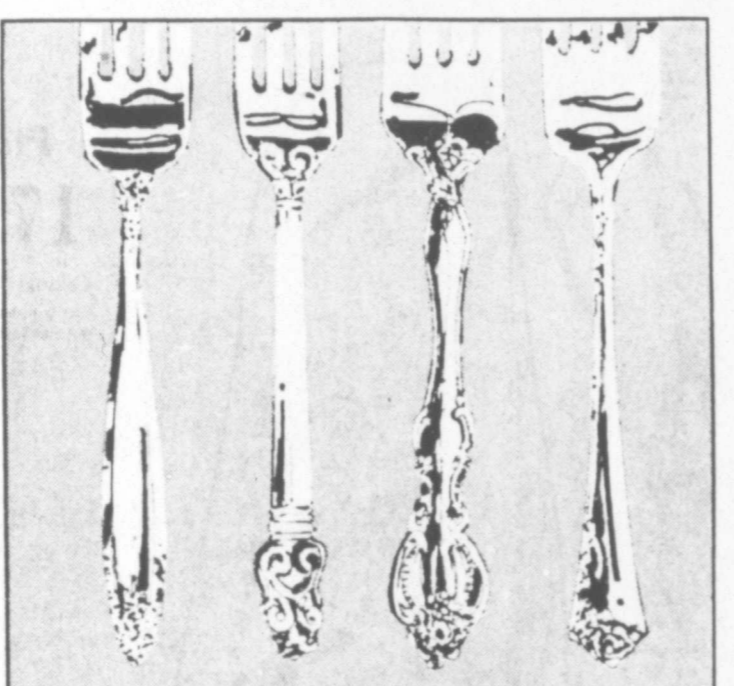

The amendment also would authorize aid to any other company prepared to make energy-saving vehicles at plants Chrysler had abandoned or planned to abandon.

Reuss mentioned as an example Chrysler's Dodge Main plant in Hamtramck, Mich., which Chrysler has abandoned it will close.

Carter's Freeze On Iran's Assets Seen As 'Bargaining Chip'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders endorsed President Carter's freeze on official Iranian assets, and a key senator said the move gives the United States a bargaining chip to win the release of American hostages in Tehran.

"The message to the Iranians is clear: we release their money when they release the American prisoners," said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, announcing Carter's action, said, "This is not related to the hostages because the response at the moment is in terms of protecting these assets from being moved beyond our jurisdiction so that American claims could not be provided for."

Administration officials stressed that the move was designed to deal with the specific threat caused by an effort to remove the Iranian funds. Miller said it "is not taken either to cause any difficulty for the hostages or as an act that, by itself, would hasten their release."

Asked his reaction to Carter's move, Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said simply, "I support it" — a statement echoed by Senate GOP Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn.

"I think it's an excellent idea," House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill told reporters.

Church, in an apparent move to reassure other oil-producing countries with large assets invested in the United States, said Carter's order poses "no threat whatever to any other oil-producing government which observes international law."

"The freezing of Iranian assets has been brought on by a renegade government in Tehran that has defied every principle of comity and civility by illegally permitting student anarchists to hold American citizens hostage in our own embassy," Church added.

"The United States will neither back down nor bend to blackmail," he told his Senate colleagues.

Later, Church said one "encouraging sign" was the decision of Arab foreign ministers in Tunisia to denounce the support of the regime of the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and of the embassy takeover.

"They represent the voice of Islam," he said of the foreign ministers.

Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, said he supported Carter's move.

"He can be sure that I and other Republicans will stand behind him in his efforts to resolve this crisis," Dole said.

"This is not a time for partisan politics or presidential campaign posturing," Dole added.

Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher led a delegation of high administration officials in a private meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Afterward, Christopher said the president's decision to freeze the assets had met with "an unusual outpouring of bipartisan support."

In the House, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., chairman of the Banking Committee, said, "The ayatollah has done the wrong thing, and the president has done the right thing."

"For the Iranians to try to remove their dollar assets for political purposes is the monetary equivalent of their seizing our embassy hostages," Reuss said.

"We protect the international dollar not only for our own good, but as a responsible member of the international community.

In another development, Rep. John

M. Murphy, D-N.Y., urged Carter to seek an immediate halt to all U.S. maritime traffic with Iran.

"What better way is there for the United States than for our shipping corporations to voluntarily and completely sever business relations with an outlaw nation?" asked Murphy, chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee.

Food, Animal Feed Exports To Iran Go On

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. farmers sell more than $450 million in food and animal feed to Iran each year, a bargaining tool that the Carter administration has not used in efforts to obtain freedom for Americans held hostage in Tehran.

"A trade embargo would hurt us as much as them," a high-ranking U.S. official said Wednesday. "And it could jeopardize world feeling, which so far has been on our side in the Iran confrontation."

The official, who asked not to be identified, declined to say whether Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said trade was not a target of Carter's decision to freeze Iranian government assets in the United States.

"The purpose of the action is not to block trade," Miller told a news conference. "We are putting no export limits as such."

The Agriculture Department's general sales manager, Kelly Harrison, said Iran probably would be able to handle its trade purchases with letters of credit, possibly drawn on European banks.

An end to trade relations with Iran has been urged by several Republican congressmen, including Rep. George Hansen of Idaho and Rep. Bob Livingston of Louisiana, in the wake of the seizure Nov. 4 of more than 60 Americans by Iranians.

Iran's revolutionary leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, says his nation can do without U.S. imports.

"We know how to fast," he told cheering Iranians last weekend. "We will eat the wheat and barley we grow in our own country. We eat meat once a week. Eating meat is not such a good thing anyway."

U.S. Spurs Checks Of Iranian Students

By The Associated Press
Immigration officials stepped up their inquiries into the status of Iranian students in the United States on Wednesday as protests continued against the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

In Chicago, a 30-year-old Iranian who tried to enter the country as a student was ordered to leave, the second such order in two days. A third exclusion hearing was held for an Iranian who arrived at O'Hare International Airport with a 90-day tourist visa.

President Carter earlier this week ordered immigration officials to begin deportation proceedings against Iranian students with visa violations.

In San Antonio, an Iranian engineering student, Sayed Mojtaba Miri, 22, held on $40,000 bond for three days on charges of holding a job without authorization, was freed Wednesday on $5,000 bond.

Richard M. Casillas, district director of the San Antonio Immigration and Naturalization Service office, said Miri had been held because he was thought to be a "security risk."

In El Paso, border agents stopped three Iranian students trying to return to El Paso from Juarez, Mexico. Immigration judges will decide if the students are still attending schools where they originally registered and if they are complying with all rules in their entry permits.

Several hundred Iranian students, mostly in Southern California, have been notified they may be in violation of federal immigration laws, the western regional director of the INS said Wednesday. Edward O'Connor said the notification that students are "out of status" is the first step in deportation proceedings.

Immigration investigators in New Jersey say they will begin a statewide roundup of Iranians with improper visas today.

Meanwhile, an American Civil Liberties Union official said Wednesday that the move to deport some Iranians has "the makings of a witch hunt."

"Stifle Dissent"

Leonard M. Rubinstein, a director of the ACLU's Worcester, Mass., branch, called deportation "a way to pressure people and stifle dissent." While the government can legally deport students with visa violations, Rubinstein said the action is discriminatory if only certain foreign students are singled out.

In Oklahoma City, some Iranians who don't want to return home are reportedly going underground. One 24-year-old Iranian, identified only as Shoreh, said: "We are political prisoners because your government has taken this action. It is like the Japanese in World War II. They were rounded up and we are being rounded up too. We are afraid to go out in Oklahoma City, and are afraid to go back to our country."

REPORT ON REFUGEES — Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., right, and Rep. Olympia Snowe, R-Maine, comment on the situation of Cambodian refugees at a House press conference in Washington Wednesday. They were part of a congressional fact-finding mission to Cambodia. (AP Laserphoto)

Dome Covering Town Studied In Vermont

WINOOSKI, Vt. (UPI) — The city of Winooski is considering a way to come in out of the rain.

The city's Community Development Committee this week applied for a $55,000 federal grant to study the feasibility of building a dome over the entire city, or at least parts of it.

"A lot of people think it's a bizarre idea until you sit them down and explain it to them," Mark Tigan, director of the Winooski Community Development Corp., said Wednesday.

"Once people listen, we haven't found a single negative person," he said.

Tigan said the city was intrigued by the idea after learning that plastic domes could theoretically save 90 percent of the cost of heating Winooski's buildings.

Tigan said when he mentioned the idea to officials at the federal Housing and Urban Development Department, they encouraged the city to apply for a study grant.

Winooski, a town of 850 acres on the north bank of the river whose name it bears, was once a prosperous milltown.

Since mid-century, the city has been struggling to rebuild the local economy with the help of millions of dollars in federal urban renewal money.

Tigan said if the grant is approved by HUD, the city will consider two alternatives — a dome covering the entire city, or two smaller domes covering the 25-acre downtown and a 50-acre industrial park.

He said among the questions that will have to be answered are the cost of the dome, its effect on air pollution and its effect on airplane traffic into nearby Burlington International Airport.

"We'd also like to find out if we could make it retractable, for sunny days," he said.

Members of the local Community Development Committee decided to seek the federal funds, but only after some expressed puzzlement.

Said member Kenneth Myers, "If we submit this proposal, don't you think people will think we're flaky?"

asked the district attorney what his opinion of such action would be. Montford hesitated momentarily before asking the young attorney, "Do you really want my personal opinion?"

"Yes, sir," Lanehart replied.

"I would consider that (hypothetical situation) to be a violation of the laws of Texas," Montford said. "In that situation, you're actually asking a juvenile offender to become an active participant in a life of crime."

Lanehart, however, continued to press the district attorney and asked whether Montford would consider such actions prompted by a motive to help the youth "a bad judgment call."

"I'd call it a terrible judgment call," Montford responded.

Lloyd Watts, head of the juvenile probation office and King's supervisor, also testified Wednesday, but as a prosecution witness.

Efforts Move To U.N. On Hostages

newspaper, quoted "international monetary sources" in its Thursday edition as saying Iran's central bank managed to move up to $200 million to Japanese branch banks in London before the freeze became effective.

Although U.S. officials said the order would apply to the foreign branches and wholly owned subsidiaries of American banks, some bankers in West Germany and Switzerland questioned whether the U.S. government has such authority.

The United States still has some formidable weapons in reserve for what Bani Sadr says is an "economic war." A Treasury official noted that, under his emergency powers, Carter could order a trade embargo and a freeze on privately held Iranian assets.

"You shouldn't discount possible further steps," said the official, who asked not to be named.

The value of the dollar has become something of a scoreboard in the U.S.-Iran confrontation. After Carter's ban on Iranian oil imports Monday, the dollar shot up on currency markets. After Iran's announcement of the money withdrawal Wednesday, it dropped abruptly. But then, with Carter's counter-move, it rebounded sharply.

In another development, Bani Sadr accused the United States of airlifting paratroopers to Bahrain, in the Persian Gulf, for a military operation to free the hostages, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported from Tehran. Bahrain denied it, and U.S. officials denied a similar report that they were prepared to stage a military operation from the Gulf area.

Watts said he would "absolutely not" recommend shock therapy in counseling juvenile probationers. He added that while counseling with the youths is left largely to the discretion of the individual probation officers, his office has no shock therapy program, does not plan to institute such a program, and officers who use such tactics could face possible termination.

Also Wednesday, several other members of the district attorney's office — including co-prosecutor Marvin Williams — took the witness stand as the state introduced evidence in an effort to prove the East 34th Street business where King allegedly took the 15-year-old Lubbock girl is a "known house of prostitution."

The prosecutors were called to identify photographs and final judgment and sentence orders against two women who were convicted of operating as prostitutes at the establishment.

One of the women was convicted of the misdemeanor charge of prostitution while the second pleaded guilty to the third-degree felony charge of aggravated promotion of prostitution at the business.

Iranian Quake Toll Mounts

said the epicenter of the quake was 150 miles south of Mashhad in mountain country near Qaen, about 60 miles west of the border with Afghanistan.

Shirazi said army helicopters rushed relief teams and supplies to the stricken areas as well as troops to help in the rescue operations. The helicopters flew the injured to hospitals in the nearest towns.

In a Tehran Radio broadcast Khomeini said:

"We have received tragic and frightening reports on the earthquake in Khorasan and the extensive losses in property and lives...I call on it (the nation) to take immediate steps...this tragedy requires everyone's help..."

Earthquakes are frequent in Iran, often taking many lives. A quake measuring 6.7 on the Richter scale struck about 270 miles south of Mashhad Jan. 16, killing about 200 persons, injuring many others and leveling hundreds of structures.

Food Air Shipments To Cambodia Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six women members of Congress reported Wednesday that the Cambodian government promised them it would allow more air shipments of food, possibly even an "air bridge," to feed starving people there.

Cambodian Foreign Minister Hun Sen also promised to allow distribution of 30,000 tons of food to be distributed within two or three days after it arrives, the six told a news conference.

But the women, who recently visited refugee camps, also said there is no assurance that Cambodia can or will keep the promises. They said famine relief organizations should take advantage of the pledges and order immediate increases in food shipments.

"Of course there are no guarantees," said Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., co-leader of the group. "But we have got to press."

San Antonio Conductor Voted Out

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Francois Huybrechts, the flamboyant, highly touted, young conductor hired in May 1978 to head the San Antonio Symphony, has been fired, symphony association officials announced Wednesday.

A two-paragraph announcement said the reasons for the action are a private matter between Huybrechts, 34, and the executive committee of the Symphony Society.

Huybrechts released a short statement at the same time, saying the committee had given no reasons for its dismissal action.

But Symphony President Hugh K. Foster said Huybrechts was given reasons why his contract was not being renewed. They were not spelled out, added Foster, in order to protect Huybrechts' future career.

Huybrechts said in his statement that he regretted the committee's decision and added that he is proud of the orchestra's accomplishments under his direction.

Huybrechts said he would honor the remaining nine weeks on his contract.

Fund Block Involves $6 Billion

sulted with Saudi authorities in advance of announcing the freeze and found them "sympathetic to us. They did not express concern."

Other major trading partners of the United States also were informed ahead of time, he said.

Miller said the administration had anticipated the Iranians might try to withdraw their funds as relations worsened because of the seizure of the U.S. Embassy and 60 American hostages in Tehran. He said the administration was prepared ahead of time to institute the freeze.

"The action we are taking is not an action that should create any kind of disruption at all," he said. "It should have no effect on domestic financial markets... There is no reason for disorder."

Miller stressed the freeze applied only to Iranian government assets in the United States and in overseas branches and subsidiaries of U.S. banks, and not to private Iranian holdings.

A Treasury official, who did not want to be identified, said private Iranian holdings probably are valued at close to the nearly $6 billion in assets of the Tehran government the sudden withdrawal of Iranian deposits from major banks might have caused the banks some problems.

But an official of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, who did not want to be identified, said the Iranian withdrawals would have meant nothing to U.S. banks even if the total were the $12 billion as the Iranians claimed.

He said that is "peanuts compared with total deposits in American banks," amounting to slightly more than $1 trillion.

The frozen assets include everything owned by the Iranian government in the United States, including aircraft belonging to the national airline, Iran Air, and facilities of the National Iranian Oil Co. But Miller said later the aircraft owned by Iran Air will be allowed to leave the country.

The freeze also applies to $470 million in Iranian funds deposited with the U.S. government as an escrow account against possible cancellation of Iranian orders for U.S.-manufactured military equipment, and $305 million in military spare parts and equipment stored in the United States.

Arab Foreign Ministers Support Assets Freeze

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Arab foreign ministers Wednesday generally were in strong favor of President Carter's freeze of Iranian assets in the United States. Only ministers from the hard-line states Iraq and Libya voiced reservations.

"It is a very sound decision," said Saudi Arabia's Saud al Faisal at a meeting of foreign ministers of the 20-nation Arab League.

"It gives us no ground for concern whatsoever, because it could never happen to us. No one could ever seize the American embassy in Riyadh," he told reporters.

Delegates of the Persian Gulf states were even more outspoken.

"It is high time Ayatollah (Ruhollah) Khomeini got some of his own medicine," said a spokesman for Foreign Minister Muhammad ibn Mubarak al Khalifa of Bahrain. "He has violated every principle of civilized conduct between nations. It is sheer sacrilege that he is acting in the name of Islam."

A member of the Kuwait delegation said his government and those of other oil producing countries of the Persian Gulf were notified by the United States on Thursday that the seizure of Iranian assets was under consideration in Washington should the situation in Tehran deteriorate.

"As far as Kuwait is concerned, we raised no objection," he said.

The oil producers of the gulf, whose relations with the Khomeini regime have steadily deteriorated in recent months, have billions of dollars deposited in American banks.

Of delegates questioned among the Arab League members, only those from Iraq and Libya expressed reservations over Carter's move. Both are leaders of the group of Arab nations opposed to the U.S.-sponsored Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

Abdelhoussein Jamali, secretary general of the Iraqi Foreign Ministry, said the freeze of Iranian assets "creates a very dangerous precedent."

"We ourselves don't have much money deposited in the United States," he said. "But I wonder whether the Gulf emirates and Saudi Arabia are aware of the possible implications of the American action for their own holdings in the United States?"

A Libyan delegate said "I ask myself whether the freeze of Iranian assets includes the $5 billion the former shah has deposited in the United States? That money, too, belongs to the Iranian people."

The freeze announced by President Carter applies only to assets of the Iranian government deposited in the United States, not private funds. Iran has estimated these government funds at $12 billion, but Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said the total is less than $6 billion. The biggest chunk, $1.3 billion, is invested in U.S. government securities.

Khaled Baabar, chief spokesman for Arab League Secretary-General Cheddi Klibi, declined comment on the freeze, but said the Arab League "gives its wholehearted support" to continuing efforts by the Palestine Liberation Organization to help reach a solution to the hostage problem.

Crackdown On Iranian Students Begins; Demonstrations Abate

By The Associated Press
Immigration officials began a crackdown on Iranian students across the state Wednesday while anti-Iranian street demonstrations began to decline and angry Texans sought alternative means of protesting the capture of Americans in Tehran.

Immigration officials in San Antonio said a 22-year-old Iranian student at the University of Texas could be deported for working as a $3-an-hour waiter in Austin. But, the authorities added, Sayed Mojtaba Miri could be a "security threat" and may face other charges.

An immigration source told the Dallas Times Herald that Miri, who was arrested Sunday, is being investigated because of an alleged threat on the life of President Carter. The engineering student is being held under $40,000 bond, charged with violating an Immigration and Naturalization Service ban that prohibits foreign students from working without authorization.

"We feel he's a security threat," said Richard M. Casillas, district director of the San Antonio immigration office. "We're working on the case and don't want to jeopardize it. The lives of ... individuals are in danger and I don't want to add any fuel to the fire."

Immigration officials held three Iranian students in Juarez Wednesday while checking their immigration papers and student visas.

Pete A. Reyes, assistant district director of the immigration service in El Paso, said 15 students were stopped at the American border Tuesday. Nine were allowed back into the United States, two were held at the district office in El Paso and three were held in Juarez for an immigration hearing.

But Reyes stressed that the procedure was commonplace with all foreign travelers returning to the U.S. and did not indicate a crackdown because of tensions overseas.

Reyes said the two students detained in El Paso would be allowed to return to school if immigration officials could confirm their student status. Individuals usually are held for a hearing, he said, if their visa or passport has expired or there are indications they have been employed without authorization.

A Vietnam veteran in Austin is recruiting volunteers to replace the 62 American hostages held by Iranian students at the U.S. Embassy since Nov. 11. Ed Holdren, 35, says he has 43 volunteers — all males with combat experience — to take the place of the hostages.

"We are waiting to get 60 volunteers, then we'll contact the officials at the State Department," Holdren said. "I want you to understand, we are not trying to organize a commando raid. This is not anything to be taken lightly. I am screening out any crazies, Communists or trigger-happy potheads."

He has set only one condition for volunteering: that the State Department will agree to send in the Marines "to rescue us eventually, even if it meant we would get killed."

In Houston, the president of the longshoreman's union ordered longshoremen from North Carolina to Texas to boycott Iranian ships and cargo until the hostages are released.

"There is a lot of Iranian cargo in Port Houston and my people won't load that cargo," said J.H. Raspberry, president of the International Longshoremen's Association for the South Atlantic and Gulf Coast District.

Gov. Bill Clements cleared his engagement calendar for Friday to attend a White House governor's briefing on implications of the Iranian crude oil stoppage.

The governor's office said President Carter, presidential assistant Zbigniew Brzezinski and Energy Secretary Charles Duncan will discuss the crisis.

Smokers Bracing For 'Cold Turkey'

Millions of smokers across the nation will try to kick the habit today as part of the American Cancer Society's "Great American Smokeout."

Hundreds of Lubbock and South Plains area residents also will join the third annual effort, which encourages smokers to quit for one day — at least — or try to help a friend stop smoking.

Thousands of smokers in previous smokeouts have quit for long-term periods and many quit entirely. Last year, it was estimated 2.5 million smokers participating in the smokeout still weren't smoking two weeks after the "day."

The cancer society encourages those who try, but can't quit smoking, to examine their habit more closely; possibly even seek professional assistance to help them quit.

The Lubbock unit of the ACS formed a task force to coordinate events and activities for the smokeout locally. Jerry Lane heads the effort as project chairman and Mayor Durk West will serve as honorary chairman.

Other task force members include Bill Horton, president of the Lubbock unit of the ACS, Janet McWhirter, Cyndi Sennetti, Mike Ogletree, Fred Dickensen, Charley Pope and Jeanne Knapp, member of the Texas board of the Great American Smokeout who is acting as an advisor to the group.

Businesses and industry as well as projects at Texas Tech are involved in the smokeout, promoting events and special activities in conjunction with the project.

In addition, the ACS will hold two "quit smoking" clinics here. The first will be a short course from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. today in the Health Sciences Center Hospital cafeteria. This course will offer literature and information to persons interested in quitting or getting a friend or family member to quit.

The second will be the full ACS six-hour course, schedules Nov. 20, 27 and Dec. 4. To register or for further information, call the ACS office at 762-0825.

Iran Crisis Said Increasing Americans' Interest Abroad

By RUTHANNE BROCKWAY

Avalanche-Journal Staff
There was disagreement among a crowd of an estimated 200 persons discussing the Iranian situation Tuesday at Texas Tech University's Forum over how the U.S. government should react, but there was a consensus that the issue has stirred Americans' interest in international politics.

"We as Americans are very disinterested in international politics and foreign policy," said forum speaker Dr. Raffi Turian. "It's only during a crisis or when American lives are in danger or when our oil is cut off (that we are interested)."

Turian stressed, "I have no advice for the president. He's privy to a lot more information than we." But he also said, "America is essentially impotent despite the fact we are the most powerful nation in the world."

He said part of America's inability to deal with the situation stems from the fact that "Iranian authorities are not playing by any accepted form of rules."

Political scientist Dr. Metin Tamkoc, another speaker at the forum, said while he had no concrete evidence to support his claim, he believes the Soviet Union is responsible for creating tension in Iran and that they "created an atmosphere of hostility" between the U.S. and Iran.

Tamkoc said since World War II, the Soviet Union has had as its objective creating tension in Eastern countries and that "the latest victim is Iran." He said the country is "being used by leftist Marxists."

Imran Zali, a student from Pakistan interviewed after the forum, noted that Pakistani hostages are being held along with the U.S. hostages at the American Embassy in Iran and agreed with Tamkoc's theory of Soviet influence.

"Khomeini is a symptom of the disease that emanates from Moscow," Zali said, adding that the U.S. should take a "hard line policy" towards Khomeini to stop "Soviet expansion." He said unless the U.S. takes a strong position now, "The liberties of all freedom-loving peoples is at stake." He added that, "We (Pakistan) are afraid we are next in line."

A 10-item questionnaire was handed to those in attendance, but answers have not yet been tabulated. The questions were:

1. Should the U.S. continue negotiations with the Iranian government for the release of the American hostages?
2. Should the U.S. further employ the PLO for negotiating purposes?
3. Should the U.S. use military tactics to secure the release of the American hostages?
4. Should the U.S. declare war on Iran?
5. Should the U.S. hold Iranian students in confinement until the American hostages are freed?
6. Should the U.S. employ economic retaliation against Iran?
7. Should the U.S. return the Shah to the Iranian government?
8. Should the U.S. force the Shah to move to another country?

9. Should the U.S. remain passive in the fear of retaliation from Iran and other countries?

10. Will the cutoff of Iranian oil supplies help the U.S. secure the freedom of the hostages?

An Iranian student interviewed after the forum, who declined to give his name, said he condemns the Khomeini government and that he will remain in the U.S. as a student as long as Khomeini is in power because, "I don't want to go home. There is no future there for me. There is no hope there for me."

He took no position on whether the U.S. should return the Shah, saying, "That is up to the Americans."

"I do not see any reason (for me) to go back to a terrorist government which violates international law in the name of the people," he said. "I give the Americans the right to show their reaction to radical (Iranian) students."

He said he believes Iranian students should be allowed to remain in the U.S. unless they violate student visas or become "active in politics," in which case, he said, "They should be deported."

Grade School Author Has Story Published

By LISA PAIKOWSKI
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Most novice writers, and some veterans too, know to expect a myriad of those notorious rejection slips before a publisher actually accepts a story. But 12-year-old Irma Hernandez managed to avoid any such struggle in her literary efforts.

In fact, the Thompson Junior High School seventh grader found success on her first serious try at writing with a short story that has been included in a fifth grade textbook.

The quiet youngster was given a copy of the text, autographed by its senior editor, and a check for $100 at Wednesday's Lubbock public school board of trustees meeting. Jay Lackey, a representative of Ginn Publishing Company, made the presentation to Irma.

The short story, included in the text, "Tell Me How the Sun Rose" was the product of Irma's creative talents when she was in the fifth grade at Mahon Elementary School.

Irma explained that a friend of Neta Lewis, her teacher at the time, was an acquaintance of staff members at Ginn. The friend suggested that the teacher submit a story written by one of her students to the publishing company.

Irma said fifth and sixth graders wrote stories and hers was chosen to be considered for publication.

The story, titled, "Why They Changed Their Minds," is a brief account of a young girl who was made fun of because of her height. But when the students played baseball, they all wanted Irma on their team because, "I could run. I could catch and I could really hit the ball."

Irma denies her story is autobiographical, but her mother, Alice, suspects that the account reflects a true experience. "She told me the kids used to kid her for being real tall," said Mrs. Hernandez.

The youngster said she is "very happy" over her success and that her friends have been supportive. "At Mahon they sent me flowers," she added.

Irma does not know yet whether she wants to be an author. "Sometimes I want to be one and sometimes I don't really want to," said Irma.

The textbook that includes Irma's story will be submitted for consideration by the Texas State Textbook Committee this summer. If the book is adopted, it will be used throughout Texas public schools.

Reader's Exchange

By JEANNE LIVELY
Family News Staff

Do we have a lot of recipes for you this week? And, for me, too.
For "Jane" who wanted an "old-fashioned fudge" recipe, Mrs. Leon Foster, Earth, sends the following:

OLD-FASHIONED CHOCOLATE FUDGE

3 tbsps. cocoa
2 cups sugar
1 cup canned condensed milk
1 tbsps. white corn syrup
1/4 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. butter
1 tsp. vanilla
Chopped pecans 1/2 to 1 cup or omit pecans as you desire.
Sift cocoa and sugar into a 3-qt. heavy sauce pan. Add canned milk, corn syrup and salt. Stir until well mixed and place over direct heat. Cook with occasional stirring to a soft ball stage (235 degrees if you use a candy thermometer) or drop small amount of candy into cold water. When done, remove from heat, stir in butter and vanilla. Set pan in cold water and cool without further stirring until pan may be handled comfortably with bare hand. Beat fudge vigorously, using a wooden spoon, until mixture begins to stiffen and loses its shine. Stir in nuts, if you use them. Turn into a buttered 9-in. pan or platter. Press out into a uniform layer. Let cool. Cut into squares. Makes 1 1/4 lbs. of "yummy" fudge.

For Barbara Turgeon, Lubbock, and for all those you asked if they'd "missed" the sweet cole slaw recipe, here is another very special one, also from Mrs. Leon Foster:

SWEET-SOUR COLE SLAW

1 medium head of firm green cabbage
1 large sweet bell pepper (optional)
2 or 3 medium-size fresh carrots
Grind or grate the cabbage, carrots and pepper (Mrs. Foster prefers the slaw without the pepper). Toss together lightly; chill and serve. For the sauce:
1 cup of canned milk or half-and-half cream
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1 cup high-quality mayonnaise
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/4 cup sugar or to suit taste
Put milk and vinegar in a small mixing bowl. Let set a few minutes, add mayonnaise and sugar. With a wire whisk, beat the mixture until well mixed. Mixture should be the consistency of whipping cream (add milk as per judgement). Pour over slaw and mix gently. If this is not enough sauce to cover the slaw to your liking, make another batch.

recipe for roast beef cooked in beer, with vegetables and gravy.

Mrs. M.T. James, Olton, would like a recipe similar to the "delicious" cherry cobbler served in Underwood's Cafeteria for so many years.

Mrs. Troy P. Bartlett, Smyer, needs a recipe for salting peanuts while they're still in the shell. Help!

And, Mrs. Bartlett sends the following "super" recipe:

EGGPLANT (OR ZUCCHINI) PARMESAN

1 medium size eggplant or 2 zucchini squash
1 egg
2 tbsps. evaporated milk
Dash black pepper
1/4 tsp. salt
8-oz. mozzarella cheese
1/4 cup grated parmesan cheese
Vegetable oil for frying Sauce:
28-oz. cans tomato sauce
1/2 tsp. oregano
1/4 tsp. oregano
1/4 tsp. sweet basil
1/4 tsp. rosemary
1 tbsps. brown sugar
1/4 cup chopped onions
2 tbsps. chopped bell pepper
1 clove garlic chopped
Sauce should be cooked about 30 minutes, just as simmering point. (Mrs. Bartlett usually multiplies the sauce ingredients by four or five and freeze portions for future use.)
Peel a medium size eggplant. Slice about 3/8-in. thick. Dip in a mixture of a slightly beaten egg, evaporated milk, salt and black pepper. Dip in flour. Cook in oil just until tender. Layer in a casserole which has been sprayed with a non-fat spray beginning with the eggplant or squash, then sauce, ending with both kinds of cheese. Top with cheese layer. Bake in a 375 degree oven until cheese melts and top is slightly browned (about 30 minutes).

For Mrs. Gene Stinnett, Lubbock, here are two excellent recipes for using at Thanksgiving or Christmas.
From Daisy Holly (many, many thanks!), Lubbock:

APPLE MALLOW YAM BAKE
2 cups apples (sliced)
1/3 cup chopped pecans
1/4 cup brown sugar (packed)

BOILED HAM
Add a little white, cider or wine vinegar to the water in which you boil ham. It will draw out some of the salty taste and improve the flavor.

1/4 tsp. cinnamon
2 17-oz. cans yams (drained)
1/4 cup oleomargarine
2 cups miniature marshmallows
Mix brown sugar, cinnamon and nuts. Mix with apples. Put yams in a casserole dish. Pour apple mixture over yams. Dot with oleomargarine. Cover. Bake 40 minutes at 350 degrees. Sprinkle marshmallows on top. Brown in oven. Serve hot.

Mrs. E.C. Caviness, Plainview, sends the following:

SPECIAL YAMS

8 yams
1/4 cup oleomargarine or butter
1 cup brown sugar
2 tbsps. honey
1/2 cup orange juice
1 tsp. orange rind
Peel and halve eight yams lengthwise; brown in 1/4 cup oleomargarine or butter in skillet. Arrange sweet potatoes in 2-qt. casserole, along with butter. Add 1 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons honey, 1/2 cup orange juice and 1 teaspoon orange rind. Cover casserole and bake at 400 degrees for 45 minutes. Remove cover; bake 20 minutes longer or until tender, basting often. Makes eight servings.

Apologies to Mrs. Gene Stinnett, Lubbock. Here is a corrected copy of her fabulous "Hot Chocolate" recipe.

HOT CHOCOLATE

4 tbsps. cocoa
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup water
Stir together in a saucepan, adding water last. Boil approximately three minutes.
4 cups milk
1/4 tsp. vanilla (optional)
Add to other ingredients and heat. Not boil. If desired, add vanilla. Also add a marshmallow in each cup, again if desired.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: What is happening in the world that is making everyone so diet-and-exercise-conscious? The last time I looked at the New York Times best-seller list, three of the top 10 books were on diet and running. (My doctor says they are a ripoff.)

This morning when I asked the doorman to get me a taxi he said, "You'd feel a lot better if you walked half way." I came close to clobbering him with my umbrella.

Around 3:30 this afternoon I felt the need for some quick energy, so I went to the vending machine and got myself a candy bar. When I got back to my desk, a secretary I barely know tapped me on the shoulder and said, "You don't need that." I looked at her in shocked disbelief. She then added, "An orange would be a lot better for you, and it's only one-third the calories." I told her they didn't sell oranges in the vending machine. She snapped, "Well, why don't you bring one from home?"

I became irritated and announced that I wasn't interested in a lecture on nutrition. She replied, "The people who need it never are."

Who started all this nonsense that "the thinner is the winner"? Why the sudden preoccupation with what we should eat? Frankly, I am — Bored By The Overkill

Miscellany

C.N. Hodges Elementary School will host a Thanksgiving program for the PTA today at 7:30 p.m. The first grade classes will present the program.

Volunteers In Service To America (VISTA) will hold their first community meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Parkway Neighborhood Center, 405 N. Quirt. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss problems of the Cherry Point area that were compiled from a recent VISTA survey. The concerns include housing, sanitation and crime. Agency representatives will include D.C. Fair, Lubbock housing authority; Sargent Nelson, detective division of the Lubbock Police Department and Jerry Monasch, community services.

Everyone is invited and the citizens of the Cherry Point area are encouraged to attend to help seek solutions to their area problems. Babysitting will be provided, free to the public.

Dear Bored: I agree that fad diets are for the birds — the cuckoos, that is — and there is entirely too much rubbish being published on how to lose 30 pounds in 30 days. Also, running is not for everybody. Today's joggers may be tomorrow's arthritics.

We have learned a lot in recent years, however, about diet in relation to heart disease. We also know obesity is very unhealthy. I believe in daily calisthenics and walking whenever possible. But, when it comes to denying oneself all the delicious things to eat in exchange for a figure like a broom handle, count me out.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going to visit my Dad. I haven't been home for more than five years. Naturally, I want to see all my friends and relatives, especially my Dad's sister. She is like a second Mom to me.

Problem: My dad and this aunt are battling in the courts over easement rights. He absolutely forbids me to see her, even though she lives next door.

Should I forget the trip? I've been looking forward to it for a long time. Please advise. — Monkey In The Middle

Dear Monkey: Go! Tell your dad his problem with his sister has nothing to do with you, and you're going to see her. Then do it. But don't listen to one word from either about the other. That's your ace in the hole, honey.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11996, Chicago, Illinois 60611. Copyright 1979 Field Enterprises, Inc.

To Your Good Health

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 20-year-old female who occasionally gets asthma attacks, brought on by allergy to certain dust and pollen. I get allergy shots each week. I recently tried running after a year of hardly doing any exercise at all. In a few minutes, I couldn't tell whether I was having an asthma attack or was just out of breath. Should asthma prevent me from taking part in any strenuous exercise? — B.L.M.

An easy way to tell if you are having an asthma attack when exercising is to stop exercising. If you can breathe easily upon resting then you can lay your breathlessness to the exercise. If the attack of breathlessness were due to a pollen in the air, you'd have it, running or not.

It's not wise to begin exercising so strenuously, at first, to the point where you gasp for breath. You can judge this by a simple test. You ought to be able to carry on a conversation while running. If you can't, you are overdoing.

Another problem some people have is called "exercise induced asthma," a tendency for the airways to constrict when exercising. This can be determined in a doctor's office by testing lung function during exercise.

Modern treatment emphasizes some amount of exercise to the asthma patient within his or her limits.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you suggest any low-calorie snack food for us fatties trying to shed some pounds of fat? — K.S.L.

Sure, that's easy. How about radishes (2 calories each) or a soda cracker (17 each), a dill pickle (15), or a tomato (medium, 30 calories)? A stalk of celery (large, 9 calories) can make a nice snack.

It's more important to learn the diet wreckers. In fact there are two whole pages of diet wreckers and low-calorie snacks listed in the booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing" (page 32-33). For a copy, send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Where does cholesterol come from? — D.C.

I guess the best answer to that is I don't know. We know it is present in food and that the body makes a certain amount of it (in the liver) regardless of the kind of food we eat.

In fact, cholesterol has several legitimate uses in the body. For example, it's a building block for several hormones, which is where the "sterol" part of the word comes into the picture.

If you mean to ask what foods contain it, I could fill a couple of columns with that. I suspect from your note that you're pressed for a term paper. You'll find a full layman-language discussion of this in the booklet, "Control Cholesterol Sensibly," which I'm sending to you. Other readers can obtain a copy by sending 50 cents and a stamped self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Why would a hole be punched into your chest and some marrow removed? Is this a cancer test? Is it dangerous? Does it leave side effects? — A.E.R.

I don't mean to smile, but I had to suppress a small grin when I read the words, "hole punched in your chest." Some readers have picturesque ways of describing surgical procedures to make them sound like something left over from the medieval torture chambers.

What you refer to is marrow aspiration. The skin over the breastbone is deadened with a pain killer. Then a small needle is introduced through the breastbone to its mid portion, the marrow. Doesn't that sound better than "punching a hole in your chest?"

Marrow is where blood cells are made, so much is learned from this test. Sometimes it can detect the cause of anemia or some disorder of the white blood cells. It is slightly uncomfortable, but no more so than routine dental work.

If anyone told me someone was going to punch a hole in my chest I'd have second thoughts. There are no after effects except for the mild discomfort mentioned. It might be part of a cancer testing.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I saw the word "oxyuriasis" on a report. What's it mean? — N.F.

Pinworms.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I love your column — it's jammed with hints to help out us gals. Finally, I have a dandy to share with you.

You know how frustrating it is to sort clothes on wash day? It seems like you always miss something — like after you've washed the dark clothes you find that stray black sock!

Well, I've solved the problem. I have separate clothes hampers — one for light stuff, one for dark and one for towels.

Now on wash day the clothes are already sorted. It's a real time and aggravation saver.

Too expensive you say? Not if you make the hampers yourself! That's right!

Just ask your grocer for some large boxes with lids. Line them with plastic bags and paint them or decorate them with adhesive-backed paper. I painted a floral design incorporating the words "dark," "white" and "towels" on mine.

Not only practical but lovely to look at too.

Now I almost look forward to wash day! No more headaches! Cheryl Dee Mick

What a ring-a-ding idea, Cheryl Dee! You've practically got that wash sorting itself. Now...if you could just teach the towels to run the washing machine. Hugs — Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

As a home economist, I am a little surprised at how many homemakers and advertisers don't know it is incorrect to put clothes in the washing machine and then add the detergent.

The detergent should be added to the water first and allowed to mix well with the water before the clothes are added.

The reason for this, of course, is to have the detergent dissolved and distributed in the water so no lumps will be concentrated on the clothes.

In a concentrated form, detergent is strong and could harm the fibers in fabrics. — An Arkansas Home Economist

DEAR HELOISE:

I have an aunt and uncle in their 80s on a fixed income.

I buy cute, inexpensive banks from flea markets or thrift shops. During the year I drop in small change and small bills. When their birthday or Christmas comes, I put a note in the bank, wrap it and mail it to them, as they live in another state.

They spend this money on something special for themselves. They really enjoy counting the money and deciding how to spend it. When they do, they still have the bank.

They no longer have drawers full of presents they will never use.

The nicest part of this idea is that I can give them much more and never miss the money. — Mrs. John F. Boyd

You're a sweetheart — thanks for sharing your thoughtful idea. It's true.

Seminar Shows Unique Housing

The Center for Energy Research and the Civil Engineering Department of Texas Tech University will host a conference on "Earth Sheltered Housing for the Southwest" Friday from 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. in Rooms 111/112 of the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Conference speakers are from the civil engineering department at Tech. They are: Dr. E.W. Kiesling, professor and chairman; Richard A. Behr and Gary A. Boubel, both research associates with the department.

According to information received on the conference, "By using earth sheltered concepts and cost-effective solar systems, energy consumption can be reduced to a fraction of that in conventional aboveground houses; the total cost of living in the earth sheltered house promises to be substantially less."

In addition, this type housing has advantages in weather resistance, maintenance and efficient use of resources.

"(The conference) will also show why the Southwest is a fertile area for growth of the earth sheltered housing concept."

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Soutar

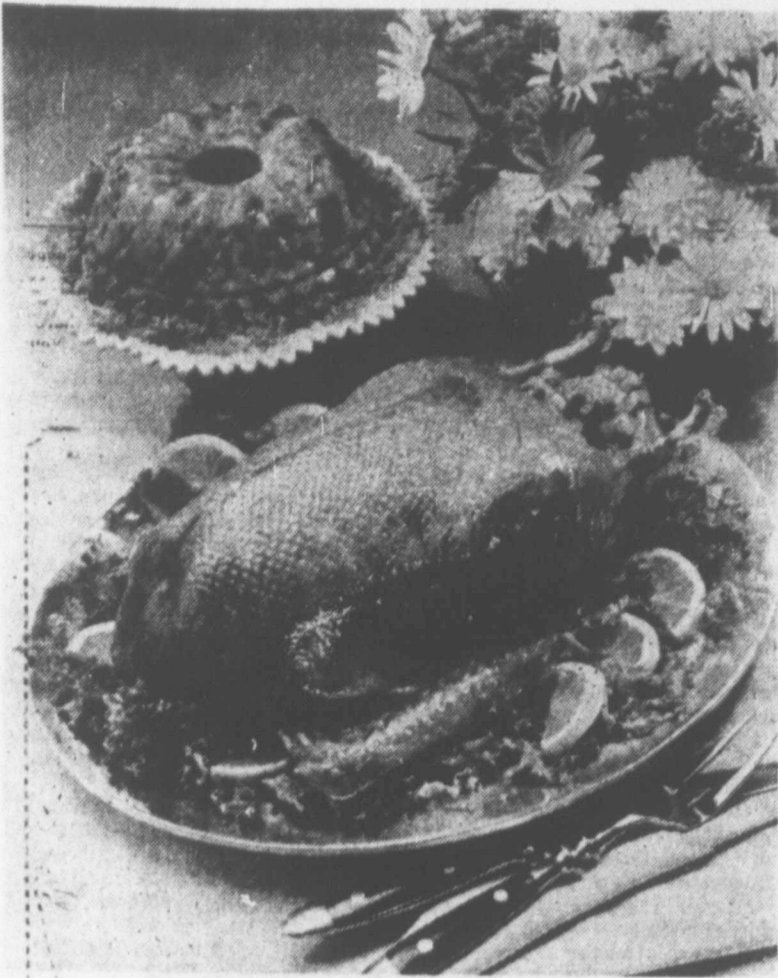

If the ACBL were inclined to play games with the computer-dealt charity hands, they would certainly do something with this one.

North and South have just 28 high-card points between them. South has a fine opening spade bid. North, with 14 high-card points and balanced distribution, has a book two-notrump response but many players would respond with two clubs.

Irrespective of how North starts proceedings, the final contract at most tables is going to be three notrump or four spades.

All suits break and West holds both the ace and queen of diamonds, so 12 tricks are there at either notrump or spades. Spade and notrump slams received thoroughly undeserved good scores while four-spade bidders who were in the correct final contract would receive very bad scores.

There are hundreds of ways to bid this hand. The contract of six clubs by North is the best slam contract. All it GLAZED GOOSE — Renew and update an old American Tradition...serve a goose glazed with a rich Burgundy Glaze garnished with orange slices and fresh greens. Complement the meal with a festive Cranberry Yogurt Salad.

Serve Goose For Holiday

NEW YORK (Special) — Did you know that goose graced the table at the first Thanksgiving in 1621? The settlers brought geese to New England from their native England where they served a multi-purpose life as watchdogs, in quill pens, in goose down quilts and as the traditional roast at holiday time.

If your choice is either goose or the more popular turkey this year, make it special with a Burgundy Glaze, beautiful to look at, delicious to eat! The new liquid brown sugar is so convenient for making the glaze. It measures easily and blends instantly and completely with other ingredients and lends a rich brown sugar flavor, as well. You'll also find it a plus to have on hand for stirring into our favorite sweet-sour dishes, salad dressings, stews, barbecue and meat sauces. Most important, liquid brown sugar is a natural ingredient, 100 percent real brown sugar, no additives, preservatives or artificial colors.

To complement the delicious Burgundy Glazed Goose, serve up the seasonal cranberries in a jellied Cranberry Yogurt Salad. Make it up in a pretty mold a day or two in advance if you want. Just let it chill in the refrigerator until serving time.

BURGUNDY GLAZED GOOSE
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tbsps. liquid brown sugar
1/2 cup burgundy wine
1 tsp. liquid gravy seasoning
Melt butter or margarine in small saucepan; add remaining ingredients, blending well. Use as glaze for roast goose, duck, turkey or chicken; brush glaze over poultry during last 45 minutes of roasting time; brush glaze often during this time.

CRANBERRY YOGURT SALAD
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup cold water
2 1/2 cups bottled cranberry juice cocktail
1/2 cup liquid brown sugar
2 cups (1 pt.) plain yogurt
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/3 cup chopped nuts
1 pkg. (16 oz.) fresh cranberries, coarsely chopped

Soften gelatin and salt in cold water; dissolve over hot water. Stir in cranberry juice cocktail, liquid brown sugar and yogurt; chill until slightly thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into well oiled 2 quart mold. Chill several hours.

Women Qualify For Traditional Male Jobs

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Special) — "Go West, young man, go West and grow with the country."

Over a century ago, when Horace Greeley uttered his well-known maxim, he was speaking to a young man. If Greeley were alive today, more than likely he would be speaking to a young woman.

Increasingly, throughout the U.S., challenging, well-paying jobs traditionally reserved for men are being opened to women. Women are qualifying for and doing well in these occupations. The southwestern states are in the forefront of the evolution.

One reason that non-traditional employment for women is gaining acceptability in this traditionally conservative region is the Southwest's comparatively low unemployment rate. Another strong contributing factor is that the Southwest is ahead of most of the nation in apprenticeship training for women in non-traditional fields of employment.

Frank G. Benites, who directs the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of apprenticeship and Training in the Southwest Region, says that 1,007 women were participating in apprenticeship training in five southwestern states last Oct. 1, and that even more women are expected to be in apprenticeship status by October of this year.

Breaking down the totals by the five states comprising his region, Benites placed Louisiana first with 448 women in apprenticeship status, and Texas second with 408. Oklahoma followed with 103 women, then New Mexico with 34 and Arkansas with 14. Which skills are more attractive to female apprentices? The State-National Apprenticeship Reporting System discloses that in 1977 nearly 40 percent of women in apprenticeship training in the southwest were learning construction trades. Another 40 percent were training in such miscellaneous occupations as air conditioning repair, auto mechanics, electrical, electronic, industrial, and maintenance skills.

What attracts women to non-traditional occupations? Benites says "interest and determination by women themselves are the prime motivating factors."

Benites recalled a recent Houston conference where a panel of four women employed in non-traditional occupations (plumber, electrician, sheet metal worker, and carpenter) discussed the rewards as well as the drawbacks of their situations.

These women described the attitudes of their co-workers as generally helpful. In fact, one woman said she wished male workers wouldn't help her quite so much. The four women declared that they actually faced few obstacles, particularly in relation to stereotypes associated with so-called "man's work," and received so much encouragement in their jobs that they "felt like one of the boys."

These women advised, "If you join an apprenticeship program to be babied, forget it." Apprenticeship programs have involved women for five or six years, but the Labor Department intensified efforts to recruit women two years ago. According to Benites, promotional efforts by his staff reach an average of one woman's group per week. A variety of organizations are contacted, from the YWCA and the League of Women Voters, to numerous high school and collegiate organizations.

A recent Labor Department directive sets a goal for next year of 20 percent female participation in starting classes in skilled trades and crafts. The timetable may be optimistic but the southwest is working toward that goal. Already in this region, women comprise eight percent of the total number of persons undergoing apprenticeship training.

Among the more successful non-traditional apprenticeship programs in the Southwest, Benites cited carpenters training in Albuquerque, Houston, and New Orleans, and chemical industry maintenance workers at the Exxon refineries in Baton Rouge, Louisiana and Baytown, Texas.

A linkage program, where students of both sexes work and attend school simultaneously during the last year of high school, then enter a full-time apprenticeship program is being planned with Paris State College, Paris, Texas.

Apprenticeship programs operate several ways. The majority, 70 percent, involve sponsors only, without benefit of union assistance. Another 25 percent are joint employer-union ventures. The remainder involve either two or more employers and a union, or else a group of employers, without union assistance.

Apprentice training requires close cooperation with skilled journeymen, who perform the actual on-the-job training. For example, in the construction industry, each trade has a separate joint apprenticeship committee (JAC), consisting of union representatives and employers hiring workers in the particular trade. JAC interviews, tests and accepts applicants for apprenticeship openings in the trade and places them on a waiting list according to their qualifications and test scores. Employers select new apprentices from the list. JACs supervise and evaluate the apprentice's work experience, and qualify them as journeymen when their apprenticeships are successfully completed.

Involvement of women in non-traditional occupations is not a new concept. In colonial times, women were employed as printers, millers, furniture makers, leather workers, eyeglass grinders, barbers, and even undertakers. Women did not learn these skills in formal apprenticeship but picked them up while working alongside husbands, fathers and brothers. Some women became proficient enough to take over the family business upon the death of the male relative. This pattern of female apprenticeship continued during the advance of the American frontier during the first century-and-a-quarter of the nation's independent existence.

So-called traditional occupations for both sexes evolved more recently, due in part to the development of mass industrialization and consequent physical separation of home and work environments.

The representation of women in many skilled crafts declined noticeably.

Temporary large-scale inrushes of women into non-traditional labor occurred during both World Wars. However, this pattern, rationalized by the absence of manpower, was temporary, and women drifted back to homemaking or more traditional labor fields when hostilities ended and the men came home to their pre-war jobs.

Benites pointed out the main reason for BAT's success in attracting modern women into the non-traditional labor market:

"At first people were doubtful that women were able to perform most non-traditional skills. We had to convince them. But they are becoming easier to convince all the time because they see more women doing these jobs — and doing them well."

Early Settlers Discover Pumpkin Has Many Uses

RENO, Nev. (Special) — There's more to pumpkin than pumpkin pie.

Early English settlers discovered they could brew beer out of pumpkin, parsnips and walnut tree chips, and since then Yankee chefs have concocted everything from pumpkin pudding to delicious pumpkin bread.

Historians aren't certain if the Pilgrims enjoyed pumpkin at the first Thanksgiving feast in 1621, but if they did, it wasn't in the form of pumpkin pie because the only pies known to them were meat pies.

The big orange globes from the squash family originated in the Americas, probably the tropics of South America. The vegetable was introduced to the pilgrims by the Indian Squanto, who taught the first settlers to plant pumpkins between corn "hills." Spreading pumpkin vines helped keep the weeds under control.

Several varieties of pumpkins are grown throughout the U.S., including Japanese Pie, Kentucky Field, Green Striped and Sweet Cheese, which is the variety used most frequently for canned pumpkins.

Although it may have been absent in the beginning, pumpkin pie has become a traditional Thanksgiving dish, along with turkey and cranberry sauce.

More than 750 lbs. of pumpkin will be used for pies on Thanksgiving Day for five of the restaurants at Harrah's Tahoe. Chefs at the 540-room hotel casino will be roasting more than a ton of turkeys — 3,750 lbs. to be exact — and simmering 500 lbs. of cranberries for cranberry sauce.

Horst Mandersheid, assistant chef at Harrah's, offers the following untraditional recipes for pumpkin, along with that traditional standby, Colonial Pumpkin Pie.

COLONIAL PUMPKIN PIE

Ingredients:
2 cups mashed cooked pumpkin or one 16-oz. can of pumpkin
1/2 cup of sugar
2 tps. ground cinnamon
1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/4 tsp. ground cloves
3 slightly beaten eggs
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup milk
1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
Combine pumpkin, sugar, spices and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Blend in eggs, cream and milk. Pour into pastry shell. Bake at 400 degrees until a knife inserted off-center comes out clean, 40 to 45 minutes (filling may crack). Also, 1 cup of light cream may be substituted for whipping cream and milk.

PUMPKIN BREAD

Ingredients:
3 1/2 to 3 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
1/4 tsp. ground ginger
1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/4 tsp. ground cloves
1/2 cup milk

1/4 cup packed brown sugar
2 tps. butter
1 1/2 tps. salt
1/2 cup mashed pumpkin
1/2 cup raisins

In large mixing bowl, thoroughly combine 1 1/2 cups of the flour, yeast and spices. In saucepan heat milk, brown sugar, butter and salt just until warm (115 to 120 degrees) stirring constantly. Add to dry mixture in mixing bowl, add pumpkin. Beat at low speed of electric mixer for 1/2 minute, scraping sides of bowl constantly. Beat 3 minutes at high speed. By hand, stir in raisins and enough of the remaining flour to make a moderately stiff dough. Turn out onto floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic (5 to 8 minutes). Shape into ball. Place in lightly greased bowl, turning once. Cover and let rise in warm place until it doubles in size (about 1 hour). Punch down, cover and let rest for 10 minutes. Shape into a loaf; place in greased 8 1/2 x 2 1/2 inch loaf pan. Cover, let rise until double (about 30 minutes). Bake at 375 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Remove from pan, cool.

PUMPKIN—CORNEB BEEF DINNER

In 7 1/2 quart dutch oven barely cover one 3 to 4 lb. corned beef brisket with water. Add 1/2 cup chopped onions, 2 cloves garlic, minced; 2 bay leaves; 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme, crushed; 1/2 teaspoon whole black pepper. Simmer, covered until meat is almost tender, about 2 1/2 hours. Skim off fat. Add 6 medium sized potatoes, peeled; and 2 lbs. pumpkin, cut into 6 portions. Cover, cook until vegetables are tender, 30 to 35 minutes. Remove meat and vegetables to platter; keep warm. Strain liquid, reserving 1 1/2 cups. Blend 1/2 cup cold water slowly into 1/4 cup all-purpose flour. Add to cooking liquid. Cook and stir until thick and bubbly. Serve over meat and vegetables. Serves 6.

PUMPKIN RICE PUDDING

Ingredients:
1 (16-oz.) can pumpkin

1/4 cup sugar
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. ground ginger
1/4 tsp. ground cloves
2 slightly beaten eggs
1 (13-oz.) can evaporated milk
2/3 cup uncooked quick-cooking rice
1/4 cup raisins

Combine pumpkin, sugar, cinnamon, salt, ginger and cloves. Add eggs. Stir in milk. Stir in rice and raisins. Pour into 2 1/2 quart casserole. Place in shallow pan on oven rack; pour hot water around casserole into pan to depth of 1 inch. Bake at 350 degrees for about 15 minutes; stir until well combined. Bake until a knife inserted off-center comes out clean, 50 to 60 minutes more. (Or spoon into six to eight 5 ounce custard cups; place in pan. Fill pan with hot water to depth of 1 inch. Bake at 350 degrees until a knife inserted off-center comes out clean, 25 to 30 minutes.) Makes 6 to 8 servings.

STEAMED PUMPKIN PUDDING

Ingredients:
6 tps. butter
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1/4 tsp. ground ginger
1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/2 cup mashed cooked pumpkin or canned pumpkin
1/2 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
Cream butter and sugar until light. Beat in eggs. Stir together flour, salt, soda, cinnamon, ginger and nutmeg. Mix pumpkin and buttermilk, add to creamed mixture alternately with dry ingredients, mixing well after each addition. Fold in nuts. Spoon into greased and floured 6 1/2 cup ring mold. Cover tightly with foil. Bake at 350 degrees for an hour. Let stand 10 minutes. Unmold. Serve with whipped cream, if desired.

School Children Hear Symphony

The Lubbock Symphony is presenting concerts today for the children of Lubbock.

The Lubbock Symphony has provided children's concerts to the community for the past 29 years. These concerts were given through the joint efforts of the Symphony, Allegro Music Club, and Lubbock Public Schools.

William A. Harrod, founding conductor of the Symphony, feels strongly that an opportunity for the appreciation of music should be provided early in a child's education. It is with this feeling that Harrod plans his programs for these concerts. The orchestra plays something the children will identify with and enjoy, but he also plays music from the classical background.

There will be two concerts this season. The first will be this morning for students from the sixth grades of Lubbock Public Schools and students from fourth, fifth and sixth grades from private and parochial schools and students from nine area towns.

In the past a small admission was charged to the student to help cover expenses. The concerts will be provided free to the students this year as a result of the Lubbock Cultural Affairs Council grant program developed in conjunction with the City of Lubbock through revenues generated by the Hotel-Motel Occupancy Tax. This stems from Texas Legislative passage of the "Lalor Bill" in 1977, which enables municipalities to support the arts locally with no additional local tax.

Jim Toland, executive director of the Lubbock Cultural Affairs Council, believes "this is a positive reflection of the farsighted and innovative approaches of the symphony, the City of Lubbock and the Lubbock Independent School District in developing this quality of life for our community. These kinds of cooperative efforts go a long way toward benefiting the future of our community."

Four Smokeout Participants Relate Progress

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Today marks the American Cancer Society's third annual "Great American Smokeout," designed to encourage people to quit putting for at least 24 hours. Millions are expected to try to give up cigarettes. Here is a look at four individuals who participated in last year's smokeout and of what has happened since then.)

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
James Fitzgerald Jr. is trying to give up cigarettes. Again.

CALIFANO AGAINST SMOKING — Former HEW Secretary Joseph Califano points to a poster during a news conference Wednesday at the headquarters of the American Cancer Society in New York. Califano is promoting today's third annual "Great American Smokeout" sponsored by the American Cancer Society, which hopes to encourage people to stop smoking for at least 24 hours. At the news conference Califano said cigarette smoking is the "single most preventable cause of death of disease in our country." (AP Laserphoto)

The Unionmutual Insurance Co. in Portland, Maine, went without smoking for 24 hours on Nov. 16, 1978, but broke down when he got to work the next morning. "I couldn't stand it anymore," he said later.

Fitzgerald was one of an estimated 14 million people who participated in last year's "Great American Smokeout" sponsored by the American Cancer Society. A survey taken for the society showed that 3.6 million of the would-be quitters made it through the day without cigarettes, but there are no figures on how many of them, like Fitzgerald, lit up later.

Fitzgerald is ready for this year's smokeout on Thursday. "Sure I'll give it a whirl," he said. "I'll try every year." Fitzgerald started smoking about 17 years ago. Quitting for a day last year helped him "cut down about 50 percent," he said. He now smokes a pack a day and is confident that someday he will break the habit for good. "With the way oil prices are today, I can't afford to smoke," he chuckled.

The turning point in his efforts, Fitzgerald predicted, will come when he can convince himself, deep down, "it's the right thing to do."

"I don't feel as guilty as I did because I don't smoke as much as I did," said Marleen McDaniel, who tried to kick the habit permanently last year but couldn't quite make it.

In the past 12 months, Mrs. McDaniel, 36, a secretary at Indiana Bell in Indianapolis, has cut back to six cigarettes a day — more on weekends — compared to the full pack she used to go through daily.

She managed to do without cigarettes for two days last year. Then she thought: "Maybe I can have just one." She couldn't.

Mrs. McDaniel said she is pleased with her efforts so far. "I've been taking a two-hour dance class and when I smoked now, I just didn't have the wind. Now, I've got much more stamina."

Mrs. McDaniel is not participating in this year's smokeout. "I just don't want to," she said, adding that she doesn't feel she has to because she is smoking so little. Paul Phillips of Lander, Wyo., also used to smoke about a pack of cigarettes a day; now he goes through two-thirds of a pack. "I'm sorry to say I'm still smoking," he replied when asked whether er he had managed to keep his 1978 resolution to quit. Phillips, 41, manages a savings and loan association. There are five smokers in his six-person office. They all quit for a day last year and they all resumed smoking. "When Thursday comes, we'll just stop again and see what happens," Phillips said.

Phillips describes himself as a "reward smoker," adding: "There are certain times when I do something really well and want to relax and have a cup of coffee and a cigarette."

He said it would be much easier if his co-workers stopped smoking as well. He wants to quit so he is in better shape to enjoy outdoor activities like hunting. "I really tried last year and I'm going to try again this year," he said.

Love is the motivation behind Merwin Chambers' determination to give up cigarettes.

Corliss Quillio, then his girlfriend, persuaded him to participate in the 1978 smokeout. Chambers — a three-pack-a-day smoker — had three cigarettes in 24 hours.

Today, Miss Quillio, a secretary at the Grumman Corp., is Chambers' fiancée. The 28-year-old auditor for the Municipal Electric Authority of Georgia in Atlanta vows: "I definitely will quit entirely by Nov. 24 when I'm getting married."

Chambers recently had gallbladder surgery. "I didn't smoke for two weeks while in the hospital, but I've slipped a little since then. I've had maybe a dozen since I got out of the hospital on the 28th of October," he said Tuesday. "I'm not smoking today. I won't smoke Wednesday and I won't smoke Thursday or any more this week. I haven't been smoking at home or on weekends at all during the last four or five weeks."

Chambers said Miss Quillio has noticed a difference. "I guess I don't stink as much from cigarette smoke. That's what she says anyway."

Rotary Honors Tech Scholarship Students

The Lubbock Rotary Club honored at its luncheon Wednesday five Texas Tech students who have won Rotary scholarships abroad for the next academic year.

The five students honored are Dayna Esque of Lubbock, who will study in France; Adria Gregg of Amarillo, who will study in Costa Rica; Donna Doyle of Azle, who will study in Austria; Cynthia Fulton of Big Spring, who will study in Italy; and Rex Caldwell of Pánhandle, who will study in Australia. The five were selected from a group of 25 students from Rotary District 573, which covers an area south to Midland and Odessa, and east to Sweetwater, west to Childress and the entire Texas Panhandle, according to Dr. Harley Oberhelman, chairman of the Rotary Foundation Committee.

The Rotary scholarships pay all the expenses for the students, including transportation, books and living expenses.

ses, Oberhelman said. The winners were selected by the Rotary Foundation Committee from District 573, he said.

Also honored at the luncheon was Mrs. Winifred Vigness, who was made a Paul Harris Fellow in memory of her husband, David Vigness, a member of the club, died last summer and friends contributed more than $1,000 in his memory. The fellowship is named after Paul Harris, who founded Rotary International.

Park Service Official Sets Preservation Talk

Richard W. Sellars, chief of the Southwest Cultural Resources Center of the National Park Service (NPS), will discuss preservation, restoration and reconstruction of historic structures at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Ranching Heritage Center of The Museum of Texas Tech University.

Sellers will discuss the same subject Friday morning for museum science students, museum staff and others interested in technical aspects. This lecture will take place at 8:30 a.m. at the museum.

The Southwest Cultural Resources Center is in the NPS Southwest Regional Office in Santa Fe. N.M. Sellars will emphasize NPS philosophy regarding preservation, restoration and reconstruction of historic structures.

The topic is of special interest to the Tech museum because of the restoration involved at the Ranching Heritage Center, where more than 20 authentic structures help interpret America's ranching history.

Hospital Districts Chart Drive For State Funding

Realizing that there really is strength in numbers, officials from hospital districts across the state — including Lubbock County — will meet in San Antonio next month to plan still another pitch for state funding.

This is not the first time the hospital district representatives have worked together to lobby for state support of hospital districts, teaching hospitals and related medical schools. Many of the other hospital districts across Texas share the same problems Lubbock's district faces — high indigent care costs and a relatively low local tax base.

But some officials involved in the planning of the Dec. 10 meeting are talking about a possible half-cent designated sales tax to be used to pick up where local support leaves off. This is a proposal not previously discussed by a gathering of hospital district officials, who in the past have aimed their efforts at getting state funding for medical residents' salaries.

Tom Fordyce, chairman of the Bexar County Hospital District Board of Managers, says the half-cent designated tax is the answer to some of the problems faced by the districts. He stresses that since the group has not met yet the speculation over the half-cent tax is still just in the planning stages.

Fordyce told the Avalanche-Journal that the tax could be used in one of two ways — either matched with federal funds to broaden medical programs for indigents or earmarked specifically for teaching hospitals.

He called the push for state support of medical residents' salaries a "Band-Aid" approach to the statewide financial problems, saying that the districts need to be planning for the 1981 legislative session and the years beyond.

"Everybody's jumping on the sales tax," Fordyce said of the feedback from other hospital district officials. A casual survey of the other officials has indicated support for the measure, he said. "If the state does not provide some funding, it won't be just the hospital districts that suffer," Fordyce stressed, "it will be the medical schools." Most communities don't realize the close relationships between the hospitals and medical schools, he said.

"Invitations (for the meeting) will be going to medical school officials as well," Fordyce said. Health Sciences Center Hospital interim administrator Charles Roberts said Tuesday that probably he, board chairman Joe Stanley and vice chairman Dub Rushing would make the trip to San Antonio.

Roberts said Dr. Richard Lockwood and George Tyner, vice president and dean of Health Sciences Center, respectively, would probably attend the meeting too.

Family Specialist Sees Alarming Suicide Rate Among Elderly

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (Special) — One out of every four suicide victims in this country is over 65 years old, although that same group only makes up about 10 percent of the population, says Leo Yates, extension family life specialist at New Mexico State University.

Between 5,000 and 8,000 elderly people kill themselves every year and the actual figure may be even higher than the top estimate, because many suicides are not classified as such. Forgetting to take an essential drug, taking an overdose of medication and being killed in a mishap, in some cases may be intentional suicides, even though they are seen as accidental deaths, the specialist says.

"Suicide is a serious problem... especially among white males, who have the highest suicide rate," reports Yates. "It's interesting to note that while the suicide rate decreases with age for black males, the rate is twice as high for white males in their 80's as it is for white males in their 20's," he says. The fact that white men usually achieve more in our society than women, blacks and other minorities, may account for the fact that older white males feel a stronger sense of despondency and despair as they lose the advantage of youth.

Yates thinks the incidence of suicide among the elderly is most commonly motivated by a series of losses. The death of a spouse, inability to keep a family home, loss of a job or business, or deteriorating health all contribute to the depression and despair that may lead to the determination to commit suicide.

Symptoms that may indicate a potential suicide include depression and expressions of discouragement. "If someone talks about suicide, that should be taken very seriously. It is a warning," says Yates.

Loss of appetite, weight loss, insomnia and cessation of activities may also indicate a severe and possibly dangerous depression.

Emotional support is the best form of prevention and treatment for suicidal depressions. "It's well known that the people most likely to commit suicide are socially isolated," says Yates. People with no family, friends or counselors experience the greatest difficulties with aging.

Sometimes drug therapy is available to counteract depression, but the side effects of drugs can be dangerous in themselves to an elderly and weakened person. Establishing contact and giving a person a sense of emotional support and self-worth are more useful forms of treatment, Yates says.

Early November Votes Of Congressmen Listed

HOUSE
WELFARE BILL — The House passed, 222 for and 184 against, a bill making major changes in the federal-state welfare system, including the establishment of what amounts to a guaranteed minimum income for recipients of Aid for Families with Dependent Children. The bill (HR 4904), estimated to cost the Treasury at least $3 billion annually, was sent to the Senate.

The minimum income would be achieved by setting a floor under what states can pay to AFDC recipients. Beginning in 1981, no state could pay less than 65 per cent of the federal poverty level (today, 65 per cent of the level is $4,700 for a family of four). Thirteen states, all in the South and Southwest, now have AFDC payments of less than 65 per cent of the federal poverty level.

Rep. Fortney Stark, D-Calif., a supporter, said of those members opposed to the bill: "It is discouraging that members of this body who enjoy the munificence of a large federal salary — and many of them do very little work themselves, I might add — would criticize the setting of minimum state welfare payments."

Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., an opponent, said: "This legislation is what the liberals of this country want, but I know it is not what the taxpayers of this country want."

Members voting "yes" favored the bill.

Reps. Bob Eckhardt, D-8, James Wright, D-12, Richard White, D-16, Henry Gonzalez, D-20, Abraham Kazen, D-23, and Martin Frost, D-24, voted "yes."

Reps. Samuel Hall, D-1, Charles Wilson, D-2, James Collins, R-3, Ray Roberts, D-4, Jim Mattox, D-5, Phil Gramm, D-6, Bill Archer, R-7, Jack Brooks, D-9, Jake Pickle, D-10, Jack Hightower, D-13, Charles Stenholm, D-17, Kent Hance, D-18, Tom Loeffler, R-21, and Ron Paul, R-22, voted "nay."

Reps. J. Marvin Leath, D-11, Kika de la Garza, D-15, Mickey Leland, D-18, Manuel Lujan, R-1 (N.M.), and Harold Runnels, D-2 (N.M.), did not vote.

NO WORK, NO WELFARE — The House voted, 200 for and 205 against, to reject a Republican substitute for the welfare bill (HR 4904; see previous vote). The GOP proposal would have allowed a work requirement for welfare recipients and provided states with block grants with which they could fashion their own welfare systems subject to certain federal controls.

Rep. Barber Conable, R-N.Y., a supporter, said the GOP plan "would keep the focus of the welfare program on the states (and) reward them for a tight, well-run program."

Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., an opponent, said the block-grant approach would perpetuate the system in which some states pay less in welfare benefits than do other states.

Members voting "yes" favored the work-requirement and block-grant approach.

Hall, Wilson, Collins, Roberts, Gramm, Archer, Wyatt, White, Stenholm, Hance, Loeffler and Paul voted "yes."

Mattox, Eckhardt, Brooks, Pickle, Wright, Hightower, Gonzalez, Kazen and Frost voted "nay."

Leath, de la Garza, Leland, Lujan and Runnels did not vote.

FRONT-DOOR GI BILL — The House adopted, 236 for and 115 against, an amendment to use the student loan program to attract better-educated volunteers to the military. By entering certain fields of active or reserve duty, holders of student loans would have up to $1,000 (or 20 per cent, whichever is higher) of their loan forgiven by the government. The amendment was attached to a bill (HR 5192) extending the Higher Education Act of 1965, passed and sent to the Senate.

Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y., a supporter, said: "Our military weapons are becoming more and more sophisticated and it is essential to our national defense to have the best educated service person."

Rep. William Ford, D-Mich., an opponent, said that as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, "I do not really want to go out across the country and try to explain (the program) to people who are already complaining that we do not do a good enough job in collecting back the money the federal government advances for education."

Members voting "yes" favored the use of student-loan forgiveness as an incentive to military service.

Roberts, Mattox, Gramm, Archer.

Eckhardt, Brooks, Leath, Hightower, Wyatt, de la Garza, White, Stenholm, Hance, Gonzalez, Loeffler, Kazen, Frost and Lujan voted "yes."

Hall, Wilson, Collins, Pickle and Paul voted "nay."
 Wright, Leland and Runnels did not vote.

SENATE

AIRCRAFT CARRIER — The Senate rejected, 20 for and 72 against, an amendment to kill a $2.1 billion appropriation to build what will be the 5th nuclear-powered aircraft carrier in the U.S. fleet. This vote killed an amendment to delete funding for the Nimitz-class carrier. It came during debate on a defense appropriations bill (HR 5359) later passed and sent to conference with the house.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who favored killing the appropriation, said: "We are paying billions for a custom-made Cadillac when a small Chevy will do just as good a job for us... For the $10 billion construction cost of the carrier and its planes and its much greater operations costs... we could build and operate a far more useful flotilla."

Sen. John Warner, R-Va., an advocate of the carrier, said: "We are an island nation heavily dependent on the sea for our economic and military security... The aircraft carrier is an essential part of the U.S. naval fleet and is the key to our continued maritime superiority."

Senators voting "nay" wanted to build another nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D, John Tower, R, Pete Domenici, R (N.M.), and Harrison Schmitt, R (N.M.), voted "nay."

"SYNFUEL" — The Senate rejected, 37 for and 57 against, an amendment to scale down a proposed synthetic fuels program. The vote left intact a plan to set up an Energy Security Corp. that would spend $20 billion to create a synthetic fuel industry through price supports, government purchase agreements, direct loans, loan guarantees, joint ventures with private firms, and government ownership of production plants.

The amendment, offered to a bill (S 932) headed for final passage, would have substituted a less-ambitious $3 billion plan administered by the Department of Energy and without direct loans, joint ventures, or government-owned plants.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., a supporter of the amendment, said the larger program "threatens to turn synfuels facilities into gold-plated Edsels."

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., an opponent, said the choice was between "a puny bill — really a research and development bill — or a significant bill."

Senators voting "yes" favored a less extensive synfuel program.

Bentsen and Domenici voted "nay."

NOW ACCOUNTS — By a vote of 37 for and 51 against, the Senate rejected an amendment preventing banks and savings and loans from paying interest on checking accounts without the approval of the states in which they operate. The amendment, proposed to a bill (HR 4986) permitting "NOW accounts" at federally-chartered financial institutions, would have limited such accounts to states where state-chartered institutions could offer competitive services. Its effect would have been to slow the spread of interest-bearing checking accounts. The bill was passed and sent to conference with the House.

Sen. Robert Morgan, D-N.C., the sponsor, said that under his amendment "if the state does not want NOW accounts, they do not have to have them."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., an opponent, said the amendment "has the potential for fragmenting our national banking system."

Most senators voting "nay" favored the nationwide spread of NOW accounts.

Bentsen, Domenici and Schmitt voted "yes."

Tower voted "nay."

Electrical Workers Plan To Arrange Jobs Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — An electrical workers union will arrange on-the-job training for 450 jobless, underemployed or handicapped persons in 12 states, the Labor Department said Wednesday.

Assistant Labor Secretary Ernest Green said the program will be expanded under a 12-month renewal of a government contract with the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

The IUE will develop subcontracts among employers with whom the union has collective bargaining agreements, the Labor Department said. The states involved are: California, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Tennessee, Texas as well as New England.

Dents left in the carpeting by heavy pieces of furniture can be fixed by filling the dents with water. After a while, depending on how badly mashed down the fibers are, they will begin to loosen and separate.

Poison Gases Allegedly Used In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Mill-cent Fenwick said Wednesday she got an eyewitness account of Vietnamese use of deadly red, yellow and white poison gas in Laos.

The New Jersey Republican, one of six congresswomen who went to Thailand and Cambodia this week, said a refugee told her he witnessed the gas being dropped in his village of Prebia in Laos last January.

"Now people are telling us it is beginning to be used in Cambodia, this gas," by the Vietnamese," she told reporters.

The defense department has told members of Congress previously that it is investigating, but has not proved, refugee reports of the use of poison gas in Laos.

Mrs. Fenwick said the refugee, Thao Chee Neng, told her, "he saw the use of three kinds of gas."

"There is one kind that causes terrible hemorrhaging," she said. You die in 5 to 15 minutes.

She said the refugee told her the red, yellow and white gases are usually dropped together in canisters.

"It's dropped from the airplane, hits the ground and explodes there and then you see these clouds," she said.

"He himself was never gassed," the congresswoman said. "But he saw many dead, from gas."

Singer Joan Baez and Sen. Jim Sasser, D-Tenn., told a Senate committee last month of similar reports by refugees that Vietnamese forces are using poison gas against the Hmong tribesmen.

The Hmong tribesmen joined French and, later, U.S. forces in fighting the Vietnamese during the Indochina wars.

A State Department report lists accounts by more than 20 refugees of the use of poison gas in Laos but chemists so far have been unable to prove that traces of poison gas are left.

The report says refugees have supplied samples but they are too old and too small to be identified.

The report says medical examinations of reported victims are being arranged in an effort to prove whether poison gas has been used and what it is.

Message To Washington

MESSAGE — What should have been a short and easy change of Army duty station has become a six month ordeal that has been very inconvenient and costly. My wife, kids and I are presently sleeping on the floor because our beds were literally torn apart during our move and we have not had a stove, refrigerator, washer, or even a kitchen table since last May. We filed a claim with the Army for damages to our household goods, but have not yet received one cent. I was told yesterday that there is a shortage of money for claims and that we may not get payment for another month. I am outraged. Can you please help us? M.K. — San Antonio

SENATOR BENTSEN RESPONDS — The U.S. Department of the Army advises me that there is, indeed, a shortage of money for claims. However, a reserve fund for hardship situations like yours exists. Payment from the reserve fund has been arranged and, hopefully, by the time you read this you'll be sleeping in a bed again.

RADIO RULES

MESSAGE — As a small businessman and user of a two-way radio, I am deeply worried about things at the Federal Communications Commission. My radio supplier said that I am going to have to buy some new and expensive radio equipment that he called a "trunked" system, because the FCC is no longer going to let me use the conventional radio frequencies I have always used. I can't believe they are making this change without even checking with the business world about its needs. Please make sure that nothing is done to shut off access to the radio frequencies I am presently using. J.T. — Pampa SENATOR BENTSEN RESPONDS — FCC officials report they have received over 100 letters from Texas residents about radio frequencies. They assume that someone in the region may have gotten the wrong impression of commission policy regarding the 800 Mhz radio band. Only in highly populated areas — such as Los Angeles, New York, and Chicago — is the FCC encouraging radio operators to convert to the new "trunked" system. In Texas, conventional radio frequencies are plentiful, so there should be no problem in continuing to use your same frequencies.

Do you have a problem with government? MESSAGE TO WASHINGTON cuts through the red tape to get answers to your questions about Social Security, veterans benefits, immigration matters and other problems you may have run into in your dealings with the Federal Government in Washington. Write MESSAGE TO WASHINGTON, c/o Senator Lloyd Bentsen, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510. Inquiries to MESSAGE TO WASHINGTON are sometimes edited before publication, but the intent and substance of the inquiries are maintained.

Department Of Commerce Preparing For 1980 National Census

The U.S. Department of Commerce is gearing up for what it calls "the nation's largest and most important statistical project" — the 1980 census. Beginning April 1, the U.S. Bureau of the Census will contact more than 86 million households to collect information on some 222 million persons living in nearly 39,000 governmental units. Results of the census will describe the nation's demographic makeup by region, state, county, city, census tract, neighborhood and city block, according to Regional Director Percy Millard. The information will be used as a basis for allocation of state and federal funds and determining congressional representation on national and state levels, Millard said. Lubbock is included in a 98-county census district which extends north from Ector and Midland Counties and covers the entire Panhandle.

OVER THE TOP — Mr. and Mrs. Joe Price and Don Douglass were overjoyed when Lubbock's United Way campaign went over the top Wednesday. Volunteer workers reported raising $1,805,332 for 100 percent of the 1979 goal. The drive had been extended until Wednesday to meet the $1.8 million goal. Extended United Way Drive Tops Goal

It took a special extension to do it, but Lubbock's United Way campaign went over the top Wednesday as volunteer workers reported raising $1,805,332 for 100 percent of the 1979 goal.

The drive fell about $100,000 short of the $1.8 million goal at what was supposed to be the "victory" report meeting on Nov. 2.

Chairman Joe Price extended the drive until Wednesday.

Attainment of the goal, cheered at a noon meeting at the civic center, kept intact Lubbock's record of successful United Way campaign completions.

Lubbock became the eighth city in Texas to raise more than $1 million in United Way campaigns this year, officials said.

Price hailed community spirit and the efforts of volunteers in putting the drive over the top.

"People have told me all along that Lubbock is proud of the United Way and its successful record," he said. "Lubbock people are responsive to the needs of the community."

Price credited additional contributions from many United Way supporters as the rallying force that set the stage for the completion of the campaign.

"It's heart-warming to be selected as chairman of the United Way campaign," Price said, adding, "It's more heart-warming to realize firsthand the work and dedication that so many people in Lubbock give."

Active solicitation in the 1979 campaign began in late August, followed by the general kickoff on Oct. 2. The drive was scheduled to end a month later, but for the second year in a row the campaign had to be extended.

"The campaign is not over as far as the cabinet members and team captains are concerned," Price said. "Some cards that must be worked remain out. But it's a great feeling to be over the top to assure our agencies can provide complete services in 1980."

The United Way funds 34 charitable and service agencies.

Plaques Presented To Summer Youth Project Workers

A Plainview man and a Texas Tech University freshman have been awarded plaques for their participation in a summer youth employment program funded by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

Carl Holland, Plainview Parks Department ground maintenance supervisor, was named the outstanding supervisor of the year in the program, while Andrew Rodriguez was honored as outstanding participant for 1979.

Administrative staff of the South Plains Association of Governments employment and training programs recognized Holland for his work with 12 youths placed under his supervision and for furnishing those trainees with career information in his area of work.

Rodriguez was selected for his participation in the program, beginning as a maintenance worker in the ninth grade and advancing to an audio-visual aide for KTXU-TV in the summer of 1979. He is now employed as a cameraman with another local television station.

Harp Ensemble Program Set At Monterey High

Lubbock Community Concerts will present the New York Harp Ensemble in concert at 8 p.m. today in the Monterey High School Auditorium.

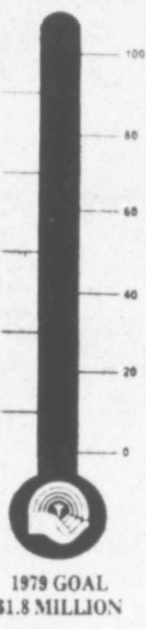

This is the second concert of the season for Lubbock Community Concerts, according to Max Harper, president of the group. Memberships can be obtained at the door for the remainder of the concert season, Harper said.

The world-renowned New York Harp Ensemble is composed of four harpists.

Campaign division totals and percentages for the final report:

Pacesetter, $466,571, 107 percent; Loaned Executive, $692,580, 100 percent; Advance Gifts, $118,505, 101 percent; Employee, $51,232, 100 percent; Professional, $128,090, 87 percent; Fed-

NOW IS THE TIME TO FIGHT FOR LOVE.

THE "SPECIAL" AMENDMENTS. On Monday, Oct. 22, the U.S. House of Representatives, by voice vote, passed H.R. 2440, a routine airport assistance bill, but with a special amendment, Section 3, which bans interstate passenger flights from Love Field. There was no public notice or hearing on adoption of this amendment, which is now tied up in a House-Senate conference committee. On Tuesday, Oct. 30, the House Public Works Committee approved H.R. 5481, entitled the "International Air Transportation Competition Act of 1979." This bill also contains a special amendment banning interstate passenger flights from Love Field. Again, there was no public notice or hearing on the amendment.

WHY THE "SPECIAL" TREATMENT? It's the latest in a series of attempts to circumvent the Airline Deregulation Act of 1978 and the Civil Aeronautics Board and to keep Southwest Airlines from providing Lubbock with convenient, low-cost service through Love Field to New Orleans and other shorthaul interstate destinations. It received special treatment precisely so that you, as concerned individuals, would not have an opportunity to speak. If you thought the federal government got out of one industry's economic "hair" with the Airline Deregulation Act—watch out, it's back!

WE'VE EARNED THE RIGHT. Southwest Airlines has been to the U.S. Supreme Court twice on its right to serve Love Field. Its service has been approved by the Federal Aviation Administration and authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Board, as well as numerous courts and the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Should Eastern Airlines' shuttle air service be performed between Washington's Dulles Airport and New York's Kennedy instead of National, in downtown Washington, and La Guardia, close-in to New York? Of course not—throughout the nation, where multiple airports exist, the shorthaul air carrier serves the close-in or downtown airport—why should getting to your airplane take longer than your flight?

WHAT HAVE AIRLINE PASSENGERS GOT TO LOSE? PLENTY. Literally millions of dollars per year and the convenience of air service through Love Field to and from destinations such as New Orleans, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, and other out-of-state points, east, west, and north. Remember, we are the airline that brought you the $22.00 "Pleasure Class" fare to Dallas and the $45.00 "Pleasure Class" fare to New Orleans! Wouldn't you like to fly to other interstate destinations at similar low fares?

WHAT DOES LUBBOCK HAVE TO LOSE? LOTS. We are the #1 air carrier in Lubbock in terms of passengers carried. This means that we bring you more people—and their business—and more convenience than any other airline serving Lubbock. If we cannot carry shorthaul interstate passengers through Love Field to Lubbock, then, without the traffic support provided by those passengers, we cannot expand our air service to Lubbock either as rapidly or as widely as we had planned. The issue is whether Lubbock wants more low fares to more destinations—or less than it would otherwise have?

IS IT TOO LATE FOR YOU TO SPEAK OUT? NO. Ultimately the Senate must decide whether this anti-Love Field amendment should remain in the bills or not. We know our U.S. Senators to be fairminded men and we feel that they will respond to the needs and wishes of Texas citizens.

IF YOU ARE A SOUTHWEST AIRLINES PASSENGER OR A CITIZEN CONCERNED WITH FAIR PLAY AND GENUINE FREE ENTERPRISE, HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO FIGHT FOR LOVE—AND MONEY. The Honorable Lloyd Bentsen, Sirs: I want to keep and expand our convenient, efficient, low-cost service between Lubbock and out-of-state cities through Love Field. I am unalterably opposed to Section 3 of H.R. 2440, and any like governmental interference, as an infringement on my right to a free choice and an unfair restriction on free airline competition.

Raquel Welch To Portray Alien In 'Mork' Special

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The name on the dressing room door reads Anna Nirvana, but don't let it fool you. It's really Raquel Welch inside.

The dressing room is a mobile home about the length of a railroad car parked alongside Paramount's Stage 27. The size befits the occupant's importance. Not often does a film luminary like Raquel Welch appear in a TV comedy series.

She is playing Capt. Nirvana, a sinister figure from another planet, who has arrived on earth to menace Robin Williams in "Mork and Mindy." The show is a one-hour special that will appear Nov. 18 during the all-important "sweeps" weeks, when the networks flex their ratings muscles.

"It's a special set and a special situation — aliens from outer space," said Welch, who arrives with two lovely assistants. "I'm enjoying it, especially working with Robin. I met him a couple of years ago when he was appearing at the Comedy Store; his manager, Charles Joffe, is friend of mine.

"As soon as I heard him, I knew he was going to be huge. He's an interesting person, shy and quiet when he's not in character. He is very aware and sensitive, with a sharp mind.

"He IS the show, and he adds nuances that give the comedy depth and character. I think the interaction between the two of us will be interesting. It is intriguing to combine two diverse characters, like Marilyn Monroe and Tom Ewell in 'The Seven Year Itch.'"

Raquel's treatment on "Mork and Mindy" contrasts with her first appearance at Paramount. That was 15 years ago when she was starting in films and landed a role in Elvis Presley's "Roustabout." "I played one of the girls who was crazy about Elvis," she recalled. "The role lasted one minute on the screen."

Next spring, television viewers will see a different Raquel Welch when she stars in a three-hour NBC movie. "The

Britain-Vatican Diplomacy Near

LONDON (AP) — The pope's personal envoy in London is being given diplomatic rights as a first step toward establishing full diplomatic relations between Britain and the Vatican, The Times reported.

The newspaper, in a front-page story, said the Foreign Office is about to grant diplomatic immunity to Swiss Archbishop Bruno Heim, apostolic delegate to Britain, and that Britain now regards him as a recognized diplomatic agent.

There was no comment from the Foreign Office or the Vatican.

The Times said, "the unprecedented popularity of Pope John Paul II" brought about a change in the attitude of the British government toward diplomatic relations with the Holy See.

King Henry VIII broke with the Vatican in the 16th century over the pope's refusal to approve his divorce from Catherine of Aragon and established the Church of England.

Until now, Archbishop Heim has been nothing more than the pope's personal representative to the Roman Catholic Church in Britain and legally just a private visitor to this country.

The granting of diplomatic rights to him is expected to lead eventually to an exchange of ambassadors.

ALIEN FROM OUTER SPACE — Actress Raquel Welch, dressed for her role as Capt. Nirvana a sinister figure from another planet, poses with Robin Williams, star of the TV series "Mork and Mindy." ### Legend of Walks Far Woman

"Lee Levinson, who is a producer, brought the book to me and suggested a co-production," she recounted. "He thought it would be perfect for television. I was fascinated with the idea of playing an Indian woman; it was far from the roles I am usually offered. Like a woman detective, or some mad, wanton creature.

"Also I wanted to create a more accurate picture of the Indian woman. Usually they are portrayed as stoic women, almost like geisha girls in their care for their husbands. But the Northern Plains Indian women led well-rounded adventurous lives. They were liberated before their time. The woman I play was a real-life character who was able to hunt and survive in the wild."

Welch said "Walks Far Woman" drew an immediate yes from Roger Gimbel, head of EMI television films, and from Deanne Barkley, then NBC V.P. for movies and mini-series. The film was shot entirely on location last year near Billings, Mont.

Said the star, "I dyed my hair black, wore no makeup, I aged to 90. I worked in temperatures up to 110, swam in rivers, rode a bucking horse.

"There is a lot of adventure and action in the show, but I think it is a woman's picture. I hope it will break the stereotype of the Indian woman, as well as myself.

"Not that it is a militant story about the mistreatment of the Indians. It is a personal story of a remarkable woman, who experienced a great deal of pathos in her life. I think it is better to tell the story that way, rather than waving a big banner of guilt. That simply defeats the purpose of trying to show the Indians' story.

Her last theater film was "L'Animal," with Jean-Paul Belmondo two years ago. Like Jane Fonda, Barbra Streisand, Ellen Burstyn and other stars, she is not waiting for the male-oriented industry to find her vehicles. She is developing her own in partnership with Andre Weinfeld, whom she describes as her "fiance."

"Yes, I know that sounds old-fashioned, but that's the kind of person I am," she said. "I met Andre when I did the Belmondo picture, and we have been together since. When we get some time for it, we'll get married."

Former 'Big Brother' Named Assistant Director Of Ex-Students

Jim Douglass has been named assistant director of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association and will assume duties Thursday.

Douglass has been serving as executive director of Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Lubbock Inc. As assistant director of the Ex-Students Association, he succeeds James R. Hess, who resigned Nov. 1.

In announcing Douglass' appointment, Association Executive Director Bill Dean said that in addition to his capabilities as an effective organization leader, Douglass is well informed about the university, the association and their goals.

"Jim is highly regarded by ex-students, community leaders and university faculty and staff who have been acquainted with him through his work and civic organizations," Dean said.

"We are pleased that Jim is willing to accept the position as assistant director because of our long awareness of his many abilities that will assure further development and expansion of membership and chapter activities."

A native of San Antonio, Douglass was graduated from Texas Tech in 1969 with a BBA degree in administrative management and completed one year of graduate work in the College of Business Administration.

In 1974 when he joined Big Brothers-Big Sisters at the age of 27, he was the youngest agency executive director in the country. The organization's local case load has developed from 35 per year to more than 200.

Douglass supervised a staff of nine planning and coordinating monthly group activities and outings for the case load, coordinated committees of the board of directors, did public speaking on behalf of the agency and handled all agency publicity and promotion.

In addition, he was president of Region X's Professional Staff Council, which includes all professional staff of every Big Brothers-Big Sisters agency in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Montana and Wyoming.

Two years ago he was named one of five "Outstanding Young Men of Lubbock" and recently received a special citation for his work with the Bicentennial Committee.

Douglass is active in the United Way, Boy Scouts of America, YMCA, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the Monterey Optimist basketball program. He is a member of the West Texas Museum Association, Red Raider Club, Ex-Students Association, Century Club and the Southwest Basketball Official's Association.

He currently is chapter adviser of the Texas Tech chapter of Alpha Tau Omega and serves as president of its housing corporation and has been named one of the fraternity's "Outstanding Alumni."

You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.)

HEARTLINE: My mother is 68 years old and only receives a total of $328 per month from Social Security and SSI. She was married to my father for 32 years. She was forced to divorce him in 1978 due to his drinking problem. He did, however, manage to quit drinking and moved back home in June of this year. He suffered a heart attack in August and just recently passed away. I know that he had G.I. life insurance from WW II. He had told us this a few years ago after having his first heart attack.

My mother stubbornly refuse to obtain, fill out and return the necessary claim forms because she thinks the divorce makes her no longer eligible for my father's G.I. life insurance. Even though they divorced, my father always loved her and I am sure he would not have changed the beneficiary from her to someone else. Is my mother entitled to my father's G.I. life insurance? — I.P.

If your mother is the properly listed beneficiary on your father's G.I. life insurance, then she would be entitled to the benefits from the insurance. Divorce does not affect an individual's right to insurance benefits. We advise that you have her fill out the forms and send them in.

HEARTLINE: I have been going through my mother's insurance papers. I find that she has four different Medicare supplement policies.

My mother is an extremely sharp person who has been very efficiently taking care of all her own affairs. She even realizes that a couple of those policies have duplicate coverage. She purchased them because they all claim to pay on top of any other policy. She said that she would prefer to be overinsured because she is afraid that being underinsured could possibly cause a burden to my brother and me.

What I am worried about is whether or not these are good policies. My mother, fortunately, can afford them. I can see, however, how a lot of senior citizens might easily be tempted to buy duplicate coverage even though they cannot afford it. Can you tell people whether or not certain policies are good or bad? — K.R.

Heartline has received thousands of complaints each year in reference to Medicare supplement policies. We can tell you whether or not we have received complaints against a particular company. Due to the fact that Medicare supplements play a big role in the lives of so many senior citizens, Heartline has been investigating Medicare supplement policies. We have compiled a list of tips to guide a person in making wise and educated choices in purchasing health insurance. If you wish to obtain this list, write to Heartline's Tips of Buying Health Insurance, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Please send 35 cents to cover postage and handling.

School Trustees Cast Tax Panel Votes

By LISA PAIKOWSKI
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Lubbock public school trustees Wednesday cast their ballots for their own nominees and a former New Deal school board member to serve on the board of directors of the Lubbock County tax appraisal district.

Board members gave 834 of their votes each to trustee Lynn Stafford and Mabry Brock, president of the First State Bank of Shallowater. Paul E. Crosnoe, nominated by the New Deal Independent School District, received the trustees' other 523 votes.

The Lubbock school district has 43.8 percent or 2,191 of the votes in the election, according to a formula that allots votes based on the amount of taxes a taxing authority levies annually.

All taxing entities in each county in the state are required to cast their ballots by today.

The taxing district was mandated by the legislature this year as a means of consolidating the taxing authorities in each county in order to achieve uniform assessment and collection.

Those elected to the five-member board of directors take office on Jan. 1. The district does not become fully operational until 1982, however.

Trustees also approved a request by administrators to employ four additional aides for Lubbock public school bus routes.

Superintendent Ed Irons said the aides are needed on the four special education bus routes because many of the youngsters require constant supervision.

Funding for additional aides was cut from the district budget earlier this year, but Irons said the money is available if the board would approve the request.

The superintendent said the aides could be employed at a cost of about $12,800. Board members instructed the administration to present proposed guidelines outlining the procedure for filling vacancies in board positions and an established list of candidate qualifications.

A request for such guidelines was made in a letter from the League of Women of Voters. Identical letters were sent by the group to the city council and county commissioners court as well.

The proposed guidelines will be submitted to the board for consideration at a later meeting.

In other business, trustees voted to join the South Plains Area Association of School Boards established last year.

Irons said the association meets to discuss problems common to school districts in an 18-county region. Dues for the organization are $200 a year for each participating district.

NORVAL POLLARD U.S. Basketball Teams Impress Polish Coach

WEDNESDAY, WHILE THE TEXAS TECH football team was still trying to figure out how to get a man with the ball into the end zone, Red Raider basketball coach Gerald Myers faced a dilemma of his own — how to score over the forest of legs and arms known as the Polish Nationals.

Myers' squad officially opens its 1979-80 cage season tonight at 7:30 at the Lubbock Coliseum when the Red and Black host the Poles in an exhibition contest.

Now you might get a kick out of telling Polack jokes to friends and relatives, but I guarantee you wouldn't dare whisper even the mildest of toilet paper witticisms around the towering Polish squad. Well, at least not in Polish.

Are the Poles big? Are you kidding? Starting guard Eugeniusz Kijewski is the shortest player on the roster at 6-3. There are three players over 6-10, six cagers in the 6-6 to 6-9 range and two others at 6-4 and 6-5.

These guys could move right into the NBA Eastern Division and no one would notice. Well, you probably would notice. There are no black players on the Polish squad. And that's to be expected. You won't find too many black basketball players roaming the streets of Warsaw or Krakow. Only Poles.

RED RAIDER FRESHMAN NELSON FRANSE tossed a little lighthearted humor around the Tech locker room following Wednesday's practice when he told his teammates: "The Polish players spoke only three words of English when they stepped off the plane today. They were 'we want Brewster (Tech junior center Ralph Brewster).'"

Don't fret Brew, the Polish players speak no English whatsoever. If they do, they are keeping it a big secret. The only member of the Polish contingent who knows enough English to carry on a conversation is head coach Jerzy Swiatek.

Swiatek's squad is currently on a 25-day, 30-game swing through the states. That schedule would make NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien blush.

"We have a very interesting schedule," Swiatek conceded. "We travel in many states and in many areas. We have only played six games and already we are very tired."

The Poles are presently 2-4 against American college squads. The Polish Nationals have defeated Cincinnati and Scanton, while losing to Marquette, Holy Cross, Canisius and Alabama. Swiatek is quick to point out that three of the losses were very close.

"ALL OF THE GAMES have been very close," said the third-year coach of the Polish Nationals. "Only Marquette wasn't close at the end. The other three we lost in the final two minutes."

Swiatek has been very impressed with the talent on the U.S. college teams his squad has played thus far. He likes the way Americans play basketball and even tries to use some of the cage techniques used against his players.

"U.S. players are very strong physically, have very good fundamentals and play well as a team," Swiatek said admiringly. "And their press is a great advantage. When they use the press, it hurts us very much."

"We have tall players, but they are poor in basketball fundamentals. We try to use the press against American teams. We try tomorrow. You see."

The Polish National team is made up of 20 different players recruited from various basketball clubs throughout Poland.

TWELVE PLAYERS MADE THIS YEAR'S trip to the United States. And not all 12 are studs. Swiatek is forced to leave some of his top players at home to compete in some of the 100 other contests the Polish Nationals play against other national teams.

"I do not bring my best players," Swiatek admitted. "I must leave some behind and allow some of the younger players to get experience. Now we have two players who would be considered high school players in America."

There is little doubt the Poles can and do hold their own against this country's finest collegiate basketball teams. Red Raider fans will find that out tonight.

Now if this were a spelling bee instead of a basketball game, there would be no contest. The Poles would clean up. With names like Mieczyslaw Mlynarski and Krzysztof Kikiel how would expect the Americans to win?

I guess I should pass my condolences to Tech play-by-play man Jack Dale. Dale will be at mike-side tonight broadcasting all the action. When I saw him Monday, he was carrying around his little cassette recorder trying to memorize the correct pronunciation of all the Polish team members' names.

Listen Jack, with all the aforementioned names and others like Justyn Weglorz and Wojciech Rosinski all I can say is POWODVENIA. In Polish, that means good luck!

Tech Hosts Polish Team

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Just the mention of the Polish National basketball team is enough to make most folks chuckle under their breath — immediately a rash of bad jokes come to mind.

"Say, did you hear about the Polish basketball team that took ten minutes to score, after the other team left the court..."

But Texas Tech head coach Gerald Myers isn't laughing. No he doesn't see anything humorous about the situation at all. That's because Myers knows that his Red Raiders will have their work cut out for them when they open the 1979-80 cage season tonight against the Polish Nationals.

Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Coliseum.

"Well, they (the Polish team) beat Cincinnati by 14 points Tuesday night," said Myers, "and that's got to be a pre-ty big win for them. Cincinnati is a good basketball school."

The Polish Nationals defeated Cincinnati 77-63 Tuesday night to raise their record against American schools to 2-4. Mieczyslaw Mlynarski and Eugen-iusz Kijewski each pumped in 24 points to pace the Polish attack in that win.

"They're a good shooting team and do a good job getting the offensive rebound," said Myers of the Polish team. "They'll also look for the fast break quite a bit — at least that's what I've heard. We haven't seen them on film or anything."

But to put the Polish team into a perspective that Southwest Conference fans can understand, senior Kent Williams says that the European squad compares to the one at Texas A&M.

"They're big and they go to the offensive boards well," said Williams, "so I think they're going to be a lot like A&M."

"They're not afraid to shoot, either," added the Tech senior, "but they like to run a set offense. So we have to beat them down the floor and force them out of their pattern. We'll have to come out a little further (from the basket) on defense."

"But it'll be a good test for us," he added. "Because we need to rebound better this year than we did last year — and they are a big team."

And Williams knows what he's talking about. Heading into the new season

Williams is the most experienced man on the Raider roster. He's one of only two seniors (Thad Sanders) is the other, and led the Raiders in scoring average (12.4 a game), assists (104), steals (28), free throws (89 of 80), and minutes played (938).

"Kent has worked as hard as anyone in our conference in developing his basketball skills," says Myers. "I'd put him up against anybody in a game of perimeter shooting. He's our zone buster."

And Williams may have to display a bit of zone-busting tonight. The Polish team will start two players at 6-9, a 6-7 man and a post man at 6-10 1/2. The Raiders counter with starter Ralph Brewster — at 6-8. Leslie Nichols is the Raiders' other big man, also 6-8.

But the coach of the Polish squad, Jerzy Swiatek, says that his squad isn't as fundamentally sound as are most

Monterey Takes Aim At District Title

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Sharing and sharing alike may be fine for some folks, but when it comes to winning district championships outright, James Odom is a stingy rascal.

And what coach wouldn't be?

Monterey goes hunting for their third undisputed District 4-AAAA crown in four years tonight when it meets Hereford at 7:30 p.m. at Lowrey Field.

The Plainsmen have already clinched a post-season playoff spot opposite the winner of District 3-AAAA (either Amarillo or Pampa), but to win the title outright Monterey must defeat the Whitefaces. Should MHS stumble and Plainview whip Coronado on Friday night, then the loop would end in a two-way tie.

Monterey, rated among the state's top Class AAAA teams in both wire-service polls, enters the contest with a 3-0 loop mark and 8-1 overall. Meanwhile, Hereford is 1-2 and 5-4, respectively.

"We're going to do our dead-level best to win this one," announced Odom at the weekly news luncheon at the 50-Yard Line Restaurant. "We want to win the title outright...no ties."

Despite taking last week off for a little R&R, the Plainsmen will still be without a pair of key defensive starters, linebacker Monte McCrite and end Mac Tatum. Tatum also doubles as the MHS starting tight end.

McCrite is one of the reasons the Plainsmen defense has held its opponents to an average of 127.9 yards per outing, a total of 673 yards on the ground and 478 passing, which, incidentally, is the best in the conference by a long shot.

On offense, the Plainsmen will be led again by running back Willie Johnson. Johnson has already gained 1,309 yards on 217 carries and scored 13 touchdowns, along with catching six passes for an additional 133 more steps.

Wide receiver Joe Cockrell, the top target for quarterback Kent Potts, was listed as questionable early in the week for tonight's game. But Odom said Cockrell will start against the Herd.

"For a team that's just had a week off, we're not in great shape," said Odom. "Coronado (MHS' last opponent) really banged us around a lot. Hopefully, by next week everybody will be ready to go."

What worries Odom most about Hereford is the passing of quarterback Derek Dirks, who has hit 47 of 96 passes for 669 yards and three touchdowns.

"He really throws well," said Odom. "And the tight end (Scott Daniels) makes a nice target."

"They are very aggressive," continued Odom. "And they'll get after you."

Hereford's two Joe's, running backs Joe Mitchem and Joe Walker, give the Herd one of the best one-two punches in the conference. Mitchem is the third leading ballcarrier in the district with 510 yards on 134 tries, while Walker has picked up 351 yards on 62 carries and scored five touchdowns. Only Plainview's Ervin Davis and Johnson have scored more TDs than Walker.

On the subject of the bi-district playoffs, Odom said it didn't really matter if the Plainsmen play either Pampa or Amarillo.

"If we play Amarillo then the game would be in Lubbock," commented Odom. "But other than that, we're just glad to be there."

Injuries Fell Hopes Of Mustang Mania

By NORVAL POLLARD
Executive Sports Editor

In many ways, Southern Methodist University's 1979 football fortunes have rivaled those of Texas Tech. The season has just not gone according to plans.

Key injuries have played a major role in limiting the success that was predicted before the first football was teed up back in September. As has been the case with Red Raider mentor Rex Dockery, this season hasn't been the most enjoyable for Mustang head coach Ron Meyer.

The Mustangs jumped off to a fast 3-0 start and the Associated Press weekly football poll recognized them as the 18th best team in the land at one time. Two of those first three wins were in Southwest Conference action. Mustang Mania was cruising along at full speed.

But then the roof caved in. All-America quarterback Mike Ford was lost for the season with a knee injury during the North Texas State contest. The Ponies proceeded to lose six consecutive games and that long-hoped-for conference championship.

SMU managed to find its way back into the win column last Saturday with a 34-0 non-conference victory over weak Wichita State.

"SMU has had some problems the last few weeks, but Ron Meyer still has a good football team," declared Dockery. "They have had some players hurt and that has hurt them as a team, but some of their young players are playing again now and that has to help them."

Dockery has had similar injury problems this season. When the Red Raiders and Mustangs meet at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Texas Stadium, it will be like two similar ships passing through the night.

When Ford, last season's NCAA total offense leader and the second-leading passer among major college quarterbacks went down, sophomore Jim Bob Taylor (6-2, 195) was called on to take his place. Taylor has struggled with inconsistency this season, but he will be starting Saturday against Tech.

EMANUEL TOLBERT
Record-Setting QB

Taylor was being spelled by freshman Mike Fisher, but Fisher was hurt during a 47-14 loss to Texas A&M and now Clovis, N.M., freshman Layne Walker is Meyer's second-team signal-caller.

The Mustangs experimented with the I formation when Ford went down, but have gone back to the veer attack to utilize the great running ability of freshmen Eric Dickerson and Charles Waggoner. Dickerson (6-3, 205) and Waggoner (6-2, 200) were two of the most sought after high school players in the nation last season. Waggoner is currently the sixth-leading rusher in the conference with 612 yards in nine games. Dickerson, hurt during several contests, has added 442 yards.

The Mustangs also have two outstanding freshmen full-backs in Craig James and Lott McIlhenny. James (6-1, 210) was another highly-sought high school player and has expressed his displeasure with being moved to second team behind Dickerson. Rumors are that James is planning to transfer to Alabama at the end of the season, but he is still a capable running back and should see a great deal of action Saturday.

All-American wingback Emanuel Tolbert hasn't had the type of year that was expected of him, but he did become the SWC's all-time leading receiver last week with seven catches against Wichita State. Tolbert caught seven passes to bring his season total to 20 and his career mark to 163. Despite his poor statistics this year, Tolbert has to be respected for his game-breaking abilities.

Sophomore Gary Smith (6-0, 185) will start at split end for the Ponies and seniors Clement Fox (6-2, 220) and Robert Fisher (6-4, 240) will split time at the tight end spot.

Injuries have also hurt the Mustangs in the offensive line. Freshman Joe Beard (6-3, 200) has been forced into duty at the left guard position. He is joined on the left side of the ball by sophomore tackle Perry Hartnett (6-5, 265).

Other starters on the SMU line are junior center Lancy Pederson (6-1, 245), senior guard Randy Katz (6-0, 245) and junior tackle Mike Jusko (6-6, 268). Jusko is considered the best blocker of the five.

Inconsistent play defensively has also played a big part in SMU's lack of success in 1979. The Mustangs have allowed 195 points in nine games and five times teams have scored 24 or more points against the Ponies.

Junior John Simmons (5-11, 189) will begin the game at the left cornerback post and junior Charles Bruton (5-11, 190) is the only corner man for Meyer.

The safeties are freshman Wes Hopkins (5-11, 185) and sophomore James Mobley (6-0, 185). Mobley is a sure tackler and can usually be found around the football.

Senior Ken Rosenthal handles the punting chores and sophomore Eddie Garcia will be called on for place-kicking duties.

Reyes Garners AAA Award

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
The Levelland Lobos lost to the Estacado Matadors 34-4 last Friday night at the LHS Field but little Lupe Reyes won a personal battle against the powerful Matadors.

The 5-foot-10 senior cracked the EHS defense for 128 yards rushing on only 19 carries. That's the most yardage the Matador defense has allowed any runner all year long. In fact, Reyes is the first runner to go over 100 yards in a game against the Mats.

And don't think that the Estacado defense hasn't faced some tough runners this year. The Mats held Monterey's highly-touted Willie Johnson to 86 yards on 20 carries in a 7-0 MHS victory and were even more impressive against Plainview's big-name runner, Ervin Davis.

The Mats allowed Davis only 72 yards on 21 totes.

For his work against the Matadors, Reyes was named the Avalanche-Journal Class AAA Player of the Week. It was the second time this year that Reyes received the award. He was also cited for his work against the Dunbar Panthers when he had almost identical stats.

Reyes gained 129 yards that night on 19 carries. The only difference was that he cracked the DHS defense for three touchdowns while he scored only one TD against the Mats.

Of course, that's no small feat in itself, since Estacado has allowed only five touchdowns all year.

For the season, Reyes has gained 585 yards on 90 carries and scored seven touchdowns. And he's done that playing in only seven of Levelland's nine contests.

Reyes only narrowly edged out Estacado's James Rose for this week's award though. The Matadors big tight end caught three passes against the Lobos but they were three mighty big receptions.

The first one came on a fourth-and-six and resulted in an EHS touchdown. The second came on a fourth-and-nine and set up the Matadors second touchdown. And the third resulted in a two-point conversion.

And the catch that Rose made to set up the Mats second score will be remembered for quite awhile by Estacado fans. The ball appeared to be overthrown, but Rose went way up in the air to haul it in one-handed.

"The minute (quarterback Jerry) Gray threw the ball I knew it was overthrown," recalled Matador boss Louis Kelley. "I got mad and just turned away — I didn't think Rose could catch it."

"But, boy you should see that thing on the film," added Kelley. "Rose just stuck his 'ol arm up and that ball just stuck to his hand."

Shattering Dunk Awesome

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers didn't win, but center Darrell Dawkins will be remembered for an emphatic dunk shot that shattered the glass backboard and bent the support pole.

It happened 28 seconds into the second half of the National Basketball Association game Wednesday night with the Kansas City Kings, won by the Kings, 110-103.

The 6-foot-11, 256-pound Dawkins soared up for one of his spectacular dunks. As the ball slammed through the net, the backboard shattered, showering the court with pieces of glass.

The near-capacity crowd of 9,180 sat in awe, then stood in ovation as Dawkins teammates congratulated him. Only Bill Robinson of the Kings, who was defending on the play, was hurt. He suffered a minor cut on the hand.

"I think this is Darrell's lifelong dream, to shatter a backboard," quipped teammate Doug Collins. It was Dawkins' first bucket of the night and gave 76ers a 47-45 lead.

Referee Bill Oakes said Dawkins' arms went through the rim, up to the elbows.

Police cordoned off the court to keep spectators from grabbing souvenir pieces of the glass. The game was delayed one hour and 13 minutes while workmen cleaned up the mess and erected a new backboard. The supporting pole, apparently done in by Dawkins' dunk, snapped off, and also had to be replaced.

American teams.

"U.S. team are very good in fundamentals," said Swiatek. "They are also very well coached and can run and press well."

But the Polish coach promised that his squad will also employ the press tonight against the Raiders.

Whatever the outcome of the contest, Tech's Myers is just glad to be playing a live contest.

"We've been working out for a month now," said Myers. "We're ready for a game. This will give us a chance to see what we're doing well and what we've still got to improve on."

The Raiders starting lineup will be

Brewster (6-8, Jr.) at the post, David Little (6-6, Soph.) and Ben Hill (6-6, Jr.) at the forward spots with Williams (6-5, Sr.) and Jeff Taylor (6-4, Soph.) at the guard positions.

But, Myers cautioned, the starting lineup doesn't really mean much in an exhibition contest like this one.

"We'll play a lot of guys," he said.

"We may even start five different people in the second half."

The Poles will counter with guards Eugeniusz Kijewski (6-2 1/2) and Ryszard Proszak (6-4), forwards Marcin Michalski (6-7 1/2) and Justyn Weglort (6-9) and center Zdzislaw Myrda (6-9). They also have a pair of 6-10 centers ready on the bench.

Lazbuddie Faces Explosive Valley Pats

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
 Those folks at Lazbuddie have seen some tough running backs this year, but they may not have seen anything like James McNary. At least the Valley Patriots hope not.
 McNary, a 5-7, 165-pound bundle of dynamite has turned what might have been a rebuilding year in Turkey into a possible district championship season.
 Lazbuddie faces Valley tonight at 7:30 in Plainview's Bulldog Stadium for the District 2-B championship. The Patriots won the district's North Zone while Lazbuddie took the South Zone, setting up this meeting.

During summer workouts, VHS coach Ted Giddens was openly pessimistic about his team's chances this year. After all, the Patriots had lost four all-South Plains starters and another honorable mention. In fact, only 10 lettermen returned off the squad that beat Amherst 21-7 for the District 2-B championship last year.
 But McNary changed all that. Though he played only the first quarter of the first game and sat out the second entirely, he ended the regular season with 1,245 yards rushing on only 141 attempts, an average of over eight yards a try.
 As if that wasn't enough, the Patriots found a hard-charging fullback in Ray Williams to complement McNary's water-bug darting. Listed as an end on the preseason roster, the 5-11, 180-pound junior has added another dimension to the Pat offense.

 With those two turning enemy defenses every which way but up, Valley has averaged about 320 yards total offense a game, despite never gaining more than 70 yards passing.
 After a slow start (a 12-6 loss to Crosbyton and a 12-0 win over Ralls), the Pats have exploded. In fact, after warming up for district play with a 60-0 win over Spur and a 70-0 decision over Paducah, Valley went quickly to work, defeating both district rivals in the first two games of the season.

 First, Nazareth fell 19-0 and then Silverton 27-14 and, barring a major upset, that was it. As it turned out, nobody came close to the Patriots until the last game of the year, last Friday night. Then Claude held them to a 13-0 win.
 The Valley defense has allowed an average of just 110 yards a game this season and, after the opening loss to Crosbyton, has given up just four touchdowns.
 But defense is what their opponent tonight, Lazbuddie, specializes in. Although the Longhorns don't have quite as impressive stats (they've allowed six touchdowns and 157 yards a game), an argument could be made that they've played a more offensive schedule.

 Two of Lazbuddie's opponents, Sudan and Amherst, are ranked among the area's top offensive squads. And both have outstanding running backs.
 In fact, Amherst's Ronald Johnson could be the most explosive runner to come out of this area in some time. He is only the fourth running back in the history of this area (as far as statistical histories go) to gain as many as 2,020 yards in a season. Over his career, he gained 4,092.
 Lazbuddie beat Amherst 9-6.
 Sudan has two outstanding backs, Victor King and Joey Bellar. Both gained more than a thousand yards this season. King averaging about 125 a game and Bellar 100 even.

 Lazbuddie beat Sudan 20-6.
 But don't think the Longhorns are just another bunch of big guys who don't let anybody run on them. Lazbuddie also is among the area leaders offensively, averaging 315 yards a game and having scored 200 points.
 Leading the way for the 'Horns is quarterback Andy Rogers, a skinny (6-0, 155) option-type runner who leads the team in rushing with an average of 110 yards a game. That includes a 213-yard explosion against in a 35-0 win against Sundown and four more games over 100 yards.
 He is helped out by running back Russell Windham, one of the better linebackers in the area but also a first-rate running back. Windham has averaged "only" 85 yards a game, but has four games over 100 yards.

UIL Rejects Amendment

From Private Schools

By NORVAL POLLARD
Executive Sports Editor
 The University Interscholastic League's Legislative Council last week rejected the request of two Lubbock private school officials to amend Article III, Section 1 of the UIL constitution—the article governing membership in the Texas high school activities association.
 Gonzalo Cartagenova and Joe Doenges, representing Christ the King High School, made their request Sunday, Nov. 11, during a formal presentation to the Legislative Council at its annual meeting in Austin.
 Despite having their proposal rejected, Cartagenova and Doenges remain optimistic in their drive to have the UIL change the wording of the membership article and allow properly accredited private schools in the state to join the organization and compete alongside Texas public schools.
 "We achieved our realistic goal," Doenges admitted last week. "We wanted to present our facts to the council and show them that we had done serious study to obtain our facts."
 "The Legislative Council was very warm and very receptive," added Cartagenova. "We felt very good about being there and about being able to present our facts. I believe we are now pointed in the right direction."
 The Legislative Council rejected the request, but allowed it to live by asking the athletic committee to look into the problems of private and parochial schools, as well as UIL member schools to see if the problems could be eliminated.
 "We really didn't expect to Legislative Council to accept our recommendation just like that," Doenges stated. "We were hoping that a committee would be appointed to study the issue and make sure all ramifications would be thoroughly researched. There are some matters that we didn't even realize need to be considered."

 Cartagenova and Doenges are supposed to have input with the committee.
 "The committee is a very positive sign," Doenges added. It will allow for more give and take, assuming that a committee atmosphere does exist. We will be able to argue and present our ideas."

JONES JAB — Ed "Too Tall" Jones throws one of dozens of left jabs that missed Abdullah Muhammad (right) in Tuesday's heavyweight bout in Phoenix. Despite his failure to connect on most of his punches, Jones scored a sixth-round technical knock-out over Muhammad. It was Jones' second win in two fights and Muhammad's eighth loss in 12 decisions. (AP Laserphoto)

Despite Boos, Too Tall Says He Is Improving

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Abdullah Muhammad never played in the NFL, but after facing Ed "Too Tall" Jones in the ring he knows what running backs were up against in the former all-pro lineman.

Every time the 6-foot-3, 214-pound Los Angeles boxer bored in on Jones Tuesday night, the 6-foot-9, 248-pound ex-Dallas Cowboy wrapped his massive arms around Muhammad and stopped him for no gain.

A disappointed crowd of 4,200 booted after referee Bobby Ferrara stopped the lackluster heavyweight bout at 44 seconds of the sixth-round and awarded Jones a knockout.

Although Jones completely dominated his smaller opponent, cut Muhammad's eye and won his second fight without a loss, most ringside observers were unimpressed.

"I think you're expecting too much of me," Jones told reporters in his dressing room.

His manager, Dave Wolf, added, "Everybody is coming in and asking 'What's wrong?' When you win, people should ask you 'What's right?'"

Jones, 28, won at least four of the first five rounds and decked Muhammad, 29, in the sixth with a right hand that many saw as a push.

Muhammad's head bounced off the canvas and Ferrara stopped the bout as the boxer lay sprawled under the ropes.

"The man quit in the sixth round," Wolf said. "He quit because he was being punished. The question of whether there was a punch there at the end I think is less relevant than the fact that he was way behind, he was being battered and he quit."

"Regardless of how he hit the ground, the fact was that the fight was very one-sided and Ed beat another experienced professional."

Jones admitted that, as in his first win, a split-decision over Jesus "Yaqui" Meneses on Nov. 3, "I was dropping my right, not jabbing properly."

"Muhammad hit me with some good body shots but he never hurt me," Jones said.

He cut Muhammad's left eye in the fifth round. Jones said he opened the cut with a left hook, but Muhammad disagreed.

Muhammad, now 4-8, he said he couldn't get up off the floor because blood from the cut "gave me double vision. He caught me with an elbow, and after that I couldn't see right."

Jones' honorary cornermen, Phoenix Suns forward Truck Robinson and former Arizona State football coach Frank Kush assessed the boxer's performance with guarded optimism.

"Well, he was a little better than last time," said Robinson. "But he needs a lot of work, there's no question about that. He's looping his punches a lot. As big and as strong as he is, I don't think he has to rear back that far."

Kush said, "Well, I don't know a real lot about boxing but, I'll tell you this, he's awful courageous to get up in that ring. I'd say he has a future as a professional."

Ann Meyers Misses Her Own Ceremony

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — The purpose of Wednesday's news conference by the Women's Basketball League Gems was to announce the signing of a superstar and introduce her to reporters.

But superstar Ann Meyers never showed.

Gems President Robert J. Milo announced that Meyers, the former UCLA All-American, from Long Beach, Calif., would sign a six-figure contract.

Meyers, who sources say has agreed to $130,000 in a three-year agreement, was in Seattle, where she attended a promotional event Tuesday night.

But when it came time for her to board a plane, Seattle's fog-shrouded airport was closed, said Milo, who hoped that the 5-foot-9 basketball wonder would arrive in time for practice Wednesday night.

"When I picked my staff, I left one person out — a staff weather person. If I had known this, I would never have let Annie go out to Seattle," Milo said.

"I told her to bring her favorite pen with her," Milo said.

He said he would try to sign Meyers on Wednesday night, although no one was sure she could get a plane from the West Coast in time.

The Gems acquired the rights to sign Meyers from the Houston Angels, who named her as their No. 1 draft pick. While at UCLA, Meyers averaged 17.8 points per game, 50 percent from the floor and 78.5 percent from the free-throw line.

Milo signed his side of the agreement, which calls for $50,000 the first year and $40,000 in each of the other two, sources said. Meyers' agent James M. Griffin would not discuss contract details with reporters.

Meyers tried out for the National Basketball Association's Indiana Pacers this season, but was cut. Until a few weeks ago, she was exercising her contract rights to do color broadcasting for the Pacers, Griffin said.

When asked whether the signing of Meyers was an "exploitation" of the woman star, Milo said, "I'm not signing her to fill seats. I have to win games to fill seats. We think she's going to contribute to the final score."

Wanda "Wicked Wanda" Szeremeta, the Gems captain, said she's looking forward to playing with Meyers. Meyers played at UCLA, while Szeremeta and Carol "The Blaze" Blazewski were sensations at Montclair State College.

"Ann Meyers is probably the best all-around ball player that I have ever had the pleasure of playing with or against," Szeremeta said.

Porter Adjusting To Bullets' Style

By The Associated Press

Kevin Porter does not dribble the ball upcourt, he drives it. There's fire in his eyes and a strut in his stride as he pounds the ball into the floor and races past defenders, toward the basket. If someone gets in his way, anything can happen — a stutter-step and a slip move, perhaps, or some behind-the-back passing magic.

All of which the Washington Bullets were counting on to spark them to a National Basketball Association championship this season. But the early returns have been disappointing.

The Bullets are below the .500 mark, and a major reason for their slow start has been the difficult adjustment of Porter to his Washington teammates, and vice versa.

The Bullets, who reached the NBA finals with Porter as their playmaker in 1975 but then dealt him to Detroit, signed the feisty 5-foot-11 guard as a free agent this summer.

They were dissatisfied with the way Tom Henderson ran the club last season, particularly during the playoffs, so they didn't put up much of a fight when Henderson elected to sign with Houston as a free agent. They figured Porter could do the job better, since he led the league in assists the last two years and particularly since he had played previously with Washington veterans Wes Unseld, Elvin Hayes and Phil Chenier.

"We figured we were getting a very good replacement in Porter, but he's had a big adjustment," said Bullets Coach Dick Motta. "I thought Kevin was going to come back here spitting fire. I thought he was going to be a knock-down, drag-out, get-in-our-face guy and really be tough and aggressive. But it hasn't been that way."

Part of the reason is that Porter recognized that he was rejoining a veteran team, one used to winning. After all, the Bullets captured the NBA title two years ago, won more games than any other club last season and reached the playoff finals last May.

He could not expect them to change their style to suit him. That had been the case in Detroit, where the team's play revolved around his freewheeling style. With Washington, Porter has had to learn to work within the framework of Motta's carefully patterned offense, keeping his freelancing tendencies under tight reign.

"Last year I had freedom with the ball," explained Porter. "Here I had to adjust. We run the fast break, but under more control."

And control has never come easily for the temperamental Porter, who is very much the court artisan, given to fits of improvisation.

It's all well and good when it works, but when it doesn't, Motta doesn't hesitate to give Porter the hook. And that has happened more than once over the first month of the season.

"I haven't been off to a good start."

Motta, for one, is not ready to blame Porter.

"We have been out of synch, but it's not Porter's fault," he said. "He's better than he was five years ago, but he's had a big adjustment."

Oilers Get Back Barber

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers tight end Mike Barber, who missed last week's game against Oakland because doctors could not agree on the condition of his injured knee, returned to practice Wednesday after receiving approval of a third opinion.

Barber was pronounced fit Tuesday by Dr. Jack Hughston of Columbus, Ga. Barber's personal physician in Shreveport, La., had pronounced Barber fit six days earlier but Oilers team physicians were not convinced.

Oilers Coach Bum Phillips said he preferred to be cautious and wrong than to allow Barber to play and find he had made the wrong decision.

"One thing we ask of (medical) people is that they never take a chance with a player," Phillips said. "If there's any doubt whatsoever, I don't want to use the player. For 31 years I've heard players say they were fine when they really weren't. I don't want them out there on the field just for the sake of a game."

Barber was one of four players listed on Wednesday's injury report. Wide receiver Ben Burroughs, with bruised ribs, and tackle Leon Gray, knee sprain, are probable for Sunday's game against Cincinnati. Halfback Kenny King is questionable with a sore rib.

Phillips said he planned to start Barber Sunday.

Houston will take an 8-3 record against Cincinnati, the first of two games next week for the Oilers. Houston will meet the Dallas Cowboys in Texas Stadium Thanksgiving Day.

Hartford In Danger Of Losing PGA Tournament

HARTFORD (AP) — The sponsor and host club for the Greater Hartford Open golf tournament are looking for ways to keep the PGA event here beyond 1980.

Officials of the Greater Hartford Jaycees and the Wethersfield Country Club said Wednesday that they are looking at alternatives to upgrade the course to meet tournament specifications.

Spokesmen for both groups, in addition to the Professional Golfers' Association, emphasized that the 1980 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open is not in danger. The tourney will be played July 24-27.

The issue arose when Robert C. Kask, president of the country club, warned members in a letter that unless improvements are made to the course, the top flight of PGA players may not come to Hartford.

The 6,534-yard course is the shortest on the PGA tour and many of the top money-winners have not played here in recent years. The improvements, Kask said, would entail possibly major expenditures to make the course more difficult to play.

"The local Jaycees advise us that they are looking at other courses in the area as alternate for the tournament, but that they would like to stay here. We are working collectively to determine what might be done," Kask said.

Complicating the issue is the PGA's own pending decision on whether to divide the current tour into two separate sets of tourneys. The so-called "A and B tours" or "major and minor tours" is the subject of a marketing test, a PGA spokesman said Wednesday in a telephone interview from Florida.

Dale Antram said PGA Commissioner Deane Beman is preparing to poll the 346 card-carrying players as to whether they would accept a two-tour operation.

Antram said there has been "no correspondence from here on the condition of the golf course, no ultimatum to the Wethersfield Country Club."

The PGA official said the only mention of the condition of the course was in the post-GHO critique, which is a routine matter.

The Jaycees, meanwhile, maintain the tournament is not in danger of losing stature with the PGA.

Alan Veniscosky, chairman of the 1980 event, said the Jaycees have met with representatives of the country club to discuss improving the course.

"They've had an architect come in and we've had an architect come in at our own costs."

Olivia Newton-John Returns To Screen In Musical 'Xanadu'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Olivia Newton-John waited more than two years before attempting another film after the immense success of "Grease."

agents, managers and assorted hangers-on and relatives. Newton-John appears to make her own decisions. She remains essentially feminine, yet there's no mistaking the strong will of a singer who started performing as a teen-ager in Australia and then ascended through England's music world.

"I had a number of offers for films after 'Grease' — straight acting roles as well as musicals," she recalls. "Time was going on, and I was tempted. But I never had the instinctive feeling that I had for Grease."

show seven years before in London, and I liked the idea that in the movie script the girl got to change in the end. I had also seen John Travolta on television, and had a feeling he would be a star — this was before 'Saturday Night Fever' had been released."

"Why was 'Grease' so successful? It was a period that many people remember fondly. Even those who weren't around then found it to be a very romantic period."

"It was a big hit in Australia, where they especially liked it because I played an Australian. People in Melbourne, my home town, were upset because I said in the movie that I was from Sydney. I tried to explain that more people in the world had heard of Sydney than Melbourne."

Olivia said she had an "instinctive feeling" for her current film, "Xanadu," which has been described as a contemporary fantasy with the feeling of a 1940s musical. Recently, she was working with co-star Michael Beck in the garish old Los Angeles Theater in the heart of downtown. Or at least she was getting ready to work, as a hairdresser added a few touches.

"It's a new style for me," said the singer. "I play a muse in the picture, so we wanted a slightly period look. It's not 'now' and not 'yesterday,' but somewhere in-between."

Her songs for Xanadu were written by her producer, John Farrar, who also provided the Newton-John solos in "Grease" — "Hopelessly Devoted to You" (gold record) and "You're the One That I Want" (platinum).

"The songs for 'Xanadu,' we hope, are what will be the songs of the 80s," she explained. "They're kind of an ethereal music, written for the character I play."

"I like country. It's simple, nice music. As my acceptance broadened, I tried to change and move into other areas. I'm glad I did. I don't think music should be categorized."

Newton-John has made no tours since last year, when she sang in Japan, Australia and Europe. She doesn't miss the traveling.

"The shows I love: getting there is not so good. I can't really enjoy foreign countries when I'm touring, because I have to save my energy for a performance. It becomes a procession of limousines and hotel rooms."

TV Executives Assail Fairness Doctrine; Ad Policy Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top executives from the three commercial TV networks said Tuesday the fairness doctrine should be repealed, but they acknowledged that repeal would not prompt them to accept advertising they now refuse.

The three executives appeared here during the first day of House hearings on the Federal Communications Commission. Their comments came in response to criticism by the top executive of the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. over the networks' refusal to accept ads from his company.

Under the fairness doctrine, the FCC requires broadcasters to cover opportunity for the presentation of opposing viewpoints. The doctrine applies both to editorials and to advertising that seeks to advance a particular viewpoint.

Last spring, Kaiser Aluminum was rejected by the networks when it tried to broadcast three advertisements focusing on the need for free enterprise, a national energy policy and an end to government red tape.

"These rejections are a flagrant abuse of what is tantamount to an absolute power of censorship on the part of the networks," said Cornell C. Maier, Kaiser's chairman.

But the network executives responded that the ads were editorial in tone and could be considered an expression of a point of view on a controversial issue.

"Even if we had accepted the Kaiser ads under our (own) policy, the FCC might reach a different conclusion down the road and determine that the ads did advocate a point of view," said Corydon B. Dunham, executive vice president of NBC. That would require "counter-programming presenting all the varying viewpoints."

The network executives agreed, however, they would prefer the fairness doctrine if the alternative was a mandatory requirement to provide TV access to those seeking it.

"We do not believe that we would serve either our audience or the public interest by providing time to partisan spokesmen because of their ability to pay," said Gene P. Mater, a vice president and assistant to the president of the CBS Broadcast Group.

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., the subcommittee's chairman, then wondered aloud whether the networks' refusal to accept the ads would have been tempered if Kaiser had paid for an opposing viewpoint.

Just Shake it and Let it Fall Into Place. The Precision Haircut.
Because your head is unique, the way your hair grows is equally unique. Really quite different from every one else's.
Precision haircutting is a technique for cutting the hair in harmony with the way it grows. Your hair eventually grows out but it doesn't lose its shape with a precision haircut. Consequently your haircut will look as good after five days as it does after five minutes. And because the hair falls naturally into place you won't have to keep fussing with it. Usually a shake of the head does it.
At Command Performance we shampoo, precision-cut and blow dry your hair for fourteen dollars, whether you're a gal or a guy. And no appointments are ever necessary.
We also offer permanent waves, coloring, frosting and conditioning. But we really shine with precision. And so will you.

COMPOSITE STOCK MARKET INDEX

Market Posts Modest Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market managed a modest gain as volatile activity Wednesday as traders reacted to the financial confrontation between the United States and Iran.

Prices sold off at the opening, but bounced back to the plus side by midafternoon.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down about 6 points at the outset and up 6 at its afternoon peak, finished with a 2.47 gain at 816.55.

New York Stock Exchange volume totaled 30.77 million shares, up from 29.24 million Tuesday.

President Carter ordered a freeze on Iranian government assets in U.S.-based banks after Iran had declared its intention to withdraw those funds.

Analysts said investors initially responded uneasily to the situation. One worry, brokers said, was that other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries might consider pulling their assets out of this country.

But the market began climbing later in the session as Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said the membership of OPEC was generally sympathetic to the American position in imposing the freeze.
