

Mecca Shrine Seized; Khomeini Linked

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Gunmen stormed the Grand Mosque in Mecca, which shelters Islam's holiest shrine, on Tuesday and seized a number of hostages, the official Saudi news agency reported.

Other reports said there were about 100 invaders and they seized 90 pilgrims as hostages.

The agency reported Saudi authorities took "all necessary measures" to bring the situation under control and protect the lives of the hostages, but would leave the U.S. naval base at Subic Bay in the Philippines with an escort of five warships.

Sources emphasized that there had been no orders from the White House for any military action, although the White House raised this possibility Tuesday for the first time in the deepening crisis that began Nov. 4 when 62 Americans were taken hostage at the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

The White House statement came after Ayatollah Khomeini

Shiites, they believe that the mahdi, one of the sect's earliest leaders, will someday return to guide Moslems on the path to paradise.

One of the Shiite's spiritual leaders is Iran's revolutionary chief, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. He has been criticized by Saudi leaders and other moderate Moslems for approving the Nov. 4 capture of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and the holding of American hostages in the embassy.

Sources at an Arab League summit conference in Tunis, Tunisia, said earlier that 100 armed men were involved in the raid, and a Kuwait newspaper said 90 hostages were taken.

The sources also said the invaders of the Great Mosque in the holy city were Shiite Moslems, who are a minority in Saudi Arabia but the predominant group in Moslem but non-Arabic Iran. About 85 percent of the world's estimated 800 million Moslems belong to the large Sunni sect.

The Great Mosque houses the Kaaba shrine and its revered Black Stone.

State Department officials in Washington said they had unconfirmed reports the gunmen were Iranian Shiites. They quoted American diplomats in Saudi Arabia as saying "the violence appears to be confined to the mosque, and Mecca itself is quiet."

Saudi Crown Prince Fahd was reported preparing to leave Tunis for home because of the emergency in his country, the world's largest oil exporter and the birthplace of Islam.

In Egypt, Cairo's Al Akhbar newspaper said "a large number of Khomeini's bands" staged several anti-government demonstrations in Saudi Arabia during the pilgrimage season last month, and speculated the attackers might be Iranian.

The Egyptian newspaper said the Saudi army recently had put a ring of tanks and troops around the Great Mosque and had begun helicopter surveillance of

U.S. Hints Military Action In Iran

Aircraft Carrier Moving Into Indian Ocean

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon ordered the 81,000-ton aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk to sail from the Philippines to the Indian Ocean Tuesday night after the Carter administration raised the possibility of U.S. military action against Iran.

Defense spokesman Thomas Ross refused to comment on the reported orders to the Kitty Hawk. However, other Pentagon sources said the huge warship, which carries about 85 planes, would leave the U.S. naval base at Subic Bay in the Philippines with an escort of five warships.

Sources emphasized that there had been no orders from the White House for any military action, although the White House raised this possibility Tuesday for the first time in the deepening crisis that began Nov. 4 when 62 Americans were taken hostage at the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

The White House statement came after Ayatollah Khomeini said the 49 Americans still held hostage might be tried as spies.

The United States already has an aircraft carrier task group, headed by the 64,000-ton Midway, in the Arabian Sea, approximately 600 miles from the mouth of the Persian Gulf.

The administration cloaked its intentions in secrecy, but military sources noted that aircraft carriers would not be instruments used to rescue hostages some 400 miles inland from the sea.

This suggested that the United States was obliquely threatening Iran with retribution if the American hostages are harmed.

The nearest Marine landing force to the Persian Gulf is in the Mediterranean Sea, several days' steaming time from the Persian Gulf.

Officials said no alerts had been ordered for the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C., or any other units most like-

U.N.'s Charter Authority Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration hinted for the first time Tuesday at the possibility of U.S. military action against Iran if American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran are not freed.

The veiled threat came from White House spokesman Jody Powell after President Carter returned to Washington from his Camp David retreat to confer with top advisers, including military leaders.

"The United States is seeking a peaceful solution to this problem through the United Nations and every available channel," Powell said. "This is far preferable to the other remedies available to the United States."

"Iran Must Recognize Gravity"

"Such remedies are explicitly recognized in the charter of the United Nations. The government of Iran must recognize the gravity of the situation it has created."

Under the U.N. Charter, an aggrieved nation is entitled to take defensive military action and seek Security Council sanctions, including interruption of economic ties or air, sea or land communications.

It was understood that the statement was intended as a stern warning to Iran's revolutionary leaders that the United States is no longer ruling out the right of self-defense.

Carrier Orders Issued

Shortly after the White House statement was issued, Pentagon officials said the aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk and an escort of five warships were ordered to sail from the Philippines to the Indian Ocean. The carrier Midway and five other ships currently are operating in the Arabian Sea about 600 miles from the mouth of the Persian Gulf.

Pentagon sources stressed there had been no orders from the White House for military action.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown and Gen. David C. Jones, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, took part in the White House meeting with the president.

Until Tuesday's statement, administration officials had been careful to rule out even the hint of military action in connection with the Nov. 4 seizure of the embassy and 62 American hostages.

Fear For Hostages

Officials had said they feared any discussion of such action could endanger the lives of the hostages. As of Tuesday, 49 persons still were being held at the embassy.

The White House statement followed a declaration by Iran's religious ruler, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, that the 49 Americans would be tried as spies unless the United States returned the deposed shah to Iran.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance went from the White House meeting to the Capitol where he briefed Senate leaders in the office of Majority Leader Robert Byrd. Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin arrived while Vance was in Byrd's office, but a spokesman for Byrd

MAYOR REELECTED

HOUSTON (AP) — Incumbent Jim McConn won votes from the minority sections and middle-income areas of the nation's fifth largest city Tuesday to defeat City Councilman Louis Macey for a second two-year term as mayor. With 325 of the 355 precincts reporting in the nonpartisan runoff election, McConn had 82,458 votes to 66,023 for Macey.

Wind, Colder Weather But No Snow Due Area

A THREAT of snow and freezing rain for the Lubbock area evaporated Tuesday when a major storm suddenly veered northward, missing the Panhandle and South Plains.

Although the storm battered Colorado and brought showers and thunderstorms to North Central Texas, the only effects Lubbockites should feel from the storm are gusty winds and lower temperatures today and tonight.

The local forecast calls for a high today in the mid-50s and a low tonight in the low 20s. Skies should be mostly clear, with winds blowing northwesterly from 15 to 20 mph.

Cool temperatures should prevail over the South Plains through Friday when a slow warming trend will begin. No precipitation is expected through Thursday.

The Thanksgiving week snowstorm buried the Colorado Rockies Tuesday, snarling traffic in Denver, closing schools and halting production of nuclear weapons. At least two deaths, in a plane crash, were blamed on the storm.

More than 20 inches of snow were dumped in the mountains.

Arabs Shun Oil Ban On Israel

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Iraq asked Arab countries to use their "very effective weapon" — oil — to punish Israel and its allies, but moderates moved to block any oil embargo at the Arab League summit conference that opened Tuesday.

League Secretary-General Chedli Klibi of Tunisia rejected a proposal to admit the non-Arab but militant Moslem Iranian regime to attend the meeting as an observer. Iran's revolutionary leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, sent a delegation anyway to Tunis to seek support in its confrontation with the United States over the seizure of the U.S. Embassy and American hostages in Tehran.

There was disarray at the summit, which was convened primarily to map strategy against Israel and re-establish the Lebanese government's control over southern Lebanon.

Egypt, the largest Arab nation, was expelled from the Arab League at a summit meeting last year in Baghdad, Iraq, for signing a peace pact with Israel, and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was the target of renewed criticism at the Tunis summit.

But Algeria and Morocco, in a dispute over the former Spanish Sahara, along with Libya, Mauritania and Oman sent lower-level officials.

Delegation sources said the hard-line governments of Libya and Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization favored granting Iran observer status, but they were opposed by Saudi Arabia, a moderate, and Iraq, which has been having border disputes with Iran.

Khomeini named a delegation headed by Ghazi Modarresi and league officials said the move led to "considerable controversy," although the Iranians have not yet arrived.

Klibi told a news conference he would not admit Khomeini's group unless the summit overruled his decision that the league's statutes exclude observers from non-Arab governments.

Libya and Syria are the only two league nations that have expressed support of the Nov. 4 takeover of the U.S. Embassy by Iranian militants. League sources said Libyan Foreign Minister Ali Triki not only demanded admission of the Iranian delegation but also renewed his call for joint Arab reprisals against America for freezing Iranian government assets in the United States.

Saudi Arabia met with the other Western-oriented gulf states of Kuwait, Bahrain, Qatar and the United Arab

Campaign Surprises Promised By Bush

By JOHNNY HOLMES
Avalanche-Journal Staff

SAYING HE was "riding high" on a wave of straw poll victories in Iowa and Maine, former Texas congressman and oilman George Bush Tuesday told a Lubbock audience he is "going to surprise a lot of people, including some of those big-name candidates" on his way to winning the 1980 GOP presidential nomination.

"We're going to go into those early primary states and do better than people expect us to," Bush told a crowd of about 150 supporters at a $125-per-plate luncheon at the Hilton Inn. "We're going to be better organized, work harder and just out-hustle the other candidates. And with the breadth of my experience and my convictions about the country, I think I can overcome any obstacles."

One of the more moderate of the 10 announced Republican presidential hopefuls, Bush surprised many observers by nosing out heavily-favored Tennessee Sen. Howard Baker in a straw poll in Maine Nov. 3, after sweeping through five Iowa straw polls in mid-October. Sandwiched between stops in Wichita Falls and Midland, Bush's visit to the fund-raiser and a short speech at Texas Tech University marked his first appearance in Texas since winning those polls.

"My record in foreign affairs as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nation and chief of the U.S. Liaison Office to the People's Republic of China, in domestic affairs as director of the CIA and chairman of the Republican National Committee, and in the private sector (as a successful oilman in the Permian Basin) can't be matched," he stressed. "I agree with something President John Kennedy once said, and that was, 'There may be men more qualified for the presidency, but they're not running.'"

Bush drew a cheer from the partisan crowd by commenting, "Some people say the job of being president may be too big for just one man. I don't believe that. I do believe it's too big for the man in there right now, though."

The former Houston congressman was especially vocal in his opposition to the SALT II agreement, calling it "strategic madness," and noting that "this pact won't cap defense spending. We shouldn't sign the SALT II agreement because it isn't equitable or verifiable. I desperately want us to enter into an agreement to control the arms race, but this isn't it."

"Even though their budget is smaller than ours, the Soviets are spending 40 percent more than we are on arms," he continued. "They won't enter into an arms race because they're already in one. They've got their throttle pushed all the way to the dashboard."

Addressing the touchy Iranian situation during a question-and-answer period after his speech at Tech, Bush said, "I've long been a critic of Carter's foreign policy, including his handling of Iran, but this is one time we all need to

Improvements Reported In Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Profits of American corporations rose visibly in the third quarter while the nation's overall economy proved even stronger than was first reported, the government said Tuesday.

However, government officials cautioned that the report does not alter predictions of a recession which are underscored by prospects of ever higher oil prices and a housing downturn caused by rising interest rates.

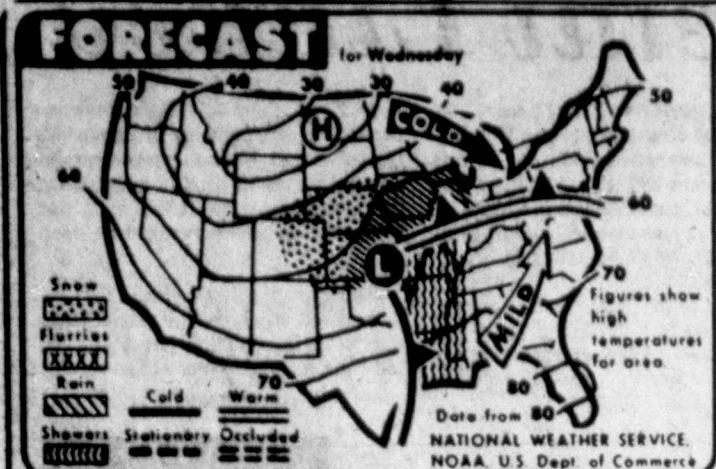

"There's nothing on the horizon to keep the economy from declining," said one Commerce Department official, who asked not to be named.

The department reported that in the June-September quarter, after-tax profits of U.S. corporations increased by a healthy 6.2 percent, after declining about 2 percent between April and June.

The upsurge in corporate profits was concentrated mainly in the oil industry, where U.S. companies realized huge overseas gains, said Kenneth E. Petrick, a Commerce Department economist.

U.S. financial institutions also reported

'Politicizing' Of Oil Spill Cautioned

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov Bill Clements accused Attorney General Mark White in a hotly worded letter Tuesday of misrepresenting the attorney general's authority in regard to oil spills and of "politicizing" the issue of the Campeche Bay run-away oil well.

Clements' letter to White was distributed by his press secretary late Tuesday afternoon.

Attached to it was a copy of a telegram Clements said White sent to various oil companies on Nov. 12. The telegram invites the companies to send representatives to a meeting in White's office Tuesday to discuss what might be done in response to future spills.

In the telegram, White says he had been "unimpressed with the ability of the existing governmental and commercial structures" to respond to the Mexican oil spill and the collision of a tanker and freighter that has resulted in an ongoing spill fouling beaches around Galveston.

"As I told you in a telephone conversation today, I take strong issue with inferences you made in the attached telegram," Clements told White.

He said the telegram impugns actions taken during the oil spills by agencies ranging from the U.S. Coast Guard to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency, as well as the governor's office.

"Your communication inviting attendance at today's meeting amounts to a misrepresentation of your authority, and I hereby urge you to limit your activities to those matters within the purview of your office. I also call upon you once again to quit politicizing the oil spill issue," Clements said.

He said White had refused the governor's request to allow either Clements' general counsel, David Dean, or Frank Cox, state coordinator of disaster emergency services to attend Tuesday's meeting with the oilmen.

This, the governor said, "clearly calls into question your motives and intentions in this matter."

Officials Must Explain School Segregation

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A federal judge has given school officials until Nov. 30 to explain why four elementary schools will remain predominantly black under the school board's latest desegregation plan.

U.S. District Judge John T. Curtin said he was puzzled why the information wasn't in the Board of Education's Phase III plan, turned over to him last week.

Junior High School Leaders Honored

Opposition To Chrysler Loan Plan Mounts In Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., proposed Tuesday that Congress scrap a bill to assure $1.5 billion in loan guarantees to Chrysler Corp. and funnel the money to companies with better prospects.

Stevenson introduced his substitute bill as opposition continued to mount in the Senate Banking Committee to Carter administration's loan guarantee proposal.

The committee is to begin voting on the administration bill Nov. 29. Stevenson said through a spokesman he planned to offer his measure as an amendment.

Under the Stevenson plan, the $1.5 billion in aid would be administered by the Economic Development Administration instead of the Treasury Department, as in the administration bill.

Rather than guarantee $1.5 billion in loans to an ailing company with a highly uncertain future, it uses the $1.5 billion to guarantee loans to firms which could make something out of Chrysler's assets and to other innovative, viable firms," Stevenson said in a Senate speech.

"It would not be difficult to find better investments than Chrysler; it would not be difficult to find firms better managed, with better prospects, and likely to create more employment over the long term than Chrysler can hope to maintain, even over the next two years," he said.

Legislation that has passed the House and the Senate and is now before a joint conference committee would give the EDA $1.8 billion in loan guarantee authority for the fiscal year that began Oct. 1, plus $600 million for other programs including relocation assistance to workers.

Stevenson said the $1.5 billion would be added to this proposed authority. Although he spoke in terms of loan guarantees, an aide said some of the money might be used for loans or for grants to companies and workers for relocation and training.

As Senate hearings on the aid plan continued, Sen. Paul Tsongas, D-Mass., a self-styled swing voter on the Banking Committee, said aid for Chrysler probably cannot win committee approval unless it is made "painful" for the automaker.

Tsongas spoke after Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, said he did not think Chrysler and its employees had made sufficient sacrifices to warrant federal financial assistance, and "until they do they are not going to get my vote."

"I think Sen. Garn's position represents the swing vote in this committee, and I share his position," Tsongas said. "Coming to Washington should not only be an embarrassment for Chrysler; it should be painful."

Tsongas said that was "not the case" with the Chrysler aid plan, so he could not support it.

He said Congress should "make this a precedent no other company would want to follow" except in the most "extreme circumstances."

Former Michigan Gov. George Romney, who also is a former president of American Motors, said no aid should be given Chrysler unless Congress also acts to change tax and other policies that he said are hamstringing the entire automotive industry.

If aid is to be given, he said in response to a question, it would "not be unreasonable" to require that Chrysler employees accept a wage freeze for at least a year.

The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus performed under canvas for the last time in 1956.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader suggested that Congress require Chrysler to make its automobiles more fuel-efficient and less polluting and to go into the business of manufacturing mass transit equipment. "If we are going to guarantee anything, let's guarantee an automobile that has multiple health, social and economic advantages to it," Nader said.

Iran Equation Can Be Solved

WITH DRAMATIC suddenness, the world has seen just how far the U.S. has fallen from its former position as leader of the free world and as a power with which to be reckoned.

Americans have had the results of the Carter administration's lack of will thrust into their faces with the spectacle of U.S. citizens being held hostage by the fanatical forces of the Ayatollah Khomeini.

The simple fact is that American power and influence has been systematically weakened in every sphere of the world.

THE CURRENT problem is still more disturbing when one considers the days immediately preceding the embassy outrage.

U.S. Rep. Robert E. Bauman, R-Md., chairman of the American Conservative Union, said this week the State Department knew that anti-American demonstrations were becoming increasingly vicious.

"Why wasn't action taken then, before American lives were endangered?" he asks. He answers: "Because our State Department was afraid of damaging the already non-existent relations with the mad Ayatollah."

"This is the same State Department that deserted the Shah of Iran earlier this year during the revolution which brought Khomeini to power."

Thus, once again, as in Nicaragua, the Panama Canal, Cuba, Africa and Taiwan, American actions paint a picture of a weak, pitiful giant.

The immediate question is how to put sufficient pressure on the Iranians to insure the remaining American hostages' safety.

THE GRIMMEST PART of this international equation is the probable effect this incident will have on America's future relations with the nations of the world.

Allies and enemies alike have seen the trend of events in the last three years, and have taken close note.

"We have bargained from a position of voluntary weakness for too long," argues Rep. Bauman. "Iran simply puts the results of that policy into stark relief."

The anger and frustration of Americans is understandable, and perhaps best summed up over the weekend by a person who viewed a demonstration of Iranian students in California: "I'm just sick and tired of being pushed around."

Amen.

Jonestown Tragedy Revisited

IT HAS BEEN a year since 909 men, women and children were murdered or poisoned themselves at Jonestown, Guyana. Aspects of this unprecedented tragedy continue to gnaw at the American psyche.

"Guyana was the stage, Americans were the actors and the world was the audience," said one Guyanese investigator reflecting on the mass execution-suicide.

For legal purposes, the government of Guyana refers to the events of Jonestown as "a public nuisance committed...on and after Nov. 18, 1978."

Today, things are quiet at the People's Temple compound and, according to news service accounts published this week, tranquility should prevail for some time to come.

A PROPOSAL to turn the site into an Auschwitz-like theme park was scrapped months ago, as were plans for a penal colony, an agricultural project and a youth camp.

"The Guyanese are very superstitious," said Brig. Gen. Norman G. McLean, the commander of the country's army. "With more than 900 people having died at Jonestown, our youngsters would not want to go there."

One complaint the reading public can never make is that it was not kept informed of every horrifying nuance of the Guyana story.

Conventional wisdom holds that more words were expended on the grisly details and motivating circumstances of the atrocities, than on any other single topic during a comparable period since World War II.

THE REV. Jim Jones is buried in Indiana and the bodies of many of his followers are interred in unmarked graves, but the bizarre drama of Jonestown is far from over.

Larry Layton and Charles Beikman, accused of murdering U.S. Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., and three others, await trial in Georgetown, Guyana.

"There is no case against either of them," said defense lawyer Jai Narine Singh in interviews this week. Nevertheless, the FBI is standing by to take custody of Layton on charges of murdering Ryan should he escape prosecution by Guyana's criminal justice system.

If there is any basic truth to be derived from the murderous end of the Jonestown colony, an exulting of sadism posing as a religious movement, perhaps it is, as India's Mahatma Gandhi put it:

"True religion being the greatest thing in life...has been exploited the most."

M. STANTON EVANS:

Feds Flunk Homework On Iranian 'Students'

WASHINGTON—Concerning President Carter's announced decision to do something about Iranian "students" illegally in the United States, the obvious comment is: About time.

The issue of these "students" is one of the most curious in contemporary politics, illustrating the forlorn condition of American policy on matters vital to our security.

First of all, it may come as a surprise to some people (it did to me) that there are more Iranian "students" in the United States than there are in Iran—at least half again as many, according to official estimates.

I say "estimates" because our government doesn't really know how many of these "students" we have with us, so lax is official policy in this area.

THE BEST guess is that there are 50,000 to 60,000 Iranians in this country supposedly attending institutions of higher learning (the actual number could be much bigger). This compares to 30,000 to 35,000 such students in Iran itself, according to the Iranian embassy in Washington.

Another curious fact, noted by researcher Cheryl Fish in a paper for the Education and Research Institute, is that Iranians constitute almost one-quarter of all the foreign students officially computed to be in the United States.

This also is strange, considering the fact that Iran has a population of only 33 million, out of a world total of four billion. Just why there should be so many Iranians here has never been adequately explained.

ADD TO this the fact that many foreign students are here illegally, in violation of their visas. Something like a sixth of all foreign "students" are not attending the schools where they are supposed to be enrolled, and some estimates put the proportion of Iranian "students" out of school much higher.

Even assuming the Iranian percentage is the same as that for other nationalities, this would mean approximately 10,000 Iranian "students" who actually aren't students.

Part of the problem in approaching this subject is that our government does such a miserable job of keeping track of it.

Until recently, U.S. authorities had done absolutely nothing to monitor the conduct of these students, find out if they were in school, or deport them for illegal activities.

ONLY THIS April did the immigration service institute a spot-check system—covering about one percent of foreign students on a random basis—to see if they were actually attending college.

Accentuating difficulties on this score is the way in which current law treats foreign students as "U.S. persons"—extending to them the panoply of rights that are granted to American citizens.

This means, among other things, that the so-called "students" are not subjected to close monitoring of their activities, until and unless they are suspected of having committed some specific crime. They are pretty much free to move about at will, doing whatever they please.

There have been several episodes of violence involving Iranian "students"—yet the immigration service has extended special privileges to the Iranians because of unsettled conditions in their homeland, and postponed all deportations until next year.

It is this policy that President Carter now, apparently, proposes to reverse.

THE GAPING loopholes in this system are obvious on the face of it. Since U.S. law treats "students" as the equivalent of U.S. citizens, all anyone needs to do to get into this country and do whatever he wants is to be admitted to some college, come to the United States, and then start roaming about as he likes. This is a manifest—and dangerous—absurdity.

There is no reason the United States should suddenly turn xenophobic because of the troubles in Iran. Certainly foreign students who want to come here legally and conduct themselves in peaceable fashion should be allowed to do so.

But the ridiculous situation in which anyone can be admitted to the United States in the guise of "student" and then run amok, virtually ignored by authorities who seem perpetually asleep at the switch, should be brought to a sudden and decisive end.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK:

Going Bayh's Way?

WASHINGTON—The Senate Intelligence Committee's super-secret report on SALT II verification problems, now under lock and key in a remote corner of Capitol Hill, contradicts the verbal summary delivered to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by intelligence committee Chairman Birch Bayh.

Sen. Bayh's two days of testimony behind closed doors, according to those present, was "highly selective."

DONALD F. GRAFF

The Dip In Nips

WASHINGTON—Another sign of the recessionary times—the liquor industry is reporting a drop-off in business.

Shipments to retailers during the first half of 1979 were off 6.5 percent from the previous year. Leading the decline are blended whiskeys and scotch, down 15 percent and 12 percent respectively.

Industry spokesmen place responsibility on the sluggish trend throughout the economy and the uncertain energy situation.

Actually, when you stop to think about it, there's cause for mild surprise in the development. These are the circumstances that might be expected to generate an upturn for the liquor people by driving everyone else to drink.

WE'VE BEEN hearing for some time about the danger to hearing in all those decibels. Now it develops that's not all that's hazardous in contemporary preferences in music.

According to the Health Insurance Institute, a new recreational injury is rapidly gaining on jogger's knee, tennis elbow and the like. It's disco foot, and some 25 percent of dance-related injuries are now coming to the attention of the medical experts are attributable to disco dancing, according to one specialist, Dr. Joseph D'Amico at New York College of Podiatric Medicine, cited in an institute report.

Disco foot can involve numerous familiar ailments such as sprained ankles, pulled tendons and bursitis. It is twice as common among women as among men, most probably because of differences in footwear.

Disco dancing, according to D'Amico, is the only athletic activity made more difficult to perform by the equipment worn—high heels. There are, however, steps that can be taken to reduce the risk. First, it is advised, take a brisk pre-dance walk of several blocks. Follow up with 50 or so toe raises and some vigorous ankle movements.

That should get the old circulation going, loosen the muscles and limber up the joints. And who knows? After all that exertion, dancers a little short on wind to start with might even decide they have already had enough and it is time to go home.

Injuries wouldn't be the only thing saved. Think of all the money.

DISPATCHES JUST in from the front in the war on smoking reveal contradictory trends. Per capita consumption of tobacco is declining in the United States—the world's second-largest producer (after China) and No. 1 exporter. Total world use is, however, on the rise.

The sharpest increases are occurring in the less-developed world, in many countries where sales of U.S. tobacco are subsidized by the Agriculture Department through the "Food for Peace" program.

One of the appeals of tobacco appears to be prestige, as noted in a recent study by the Worldwatch Institute, a Washington-based public-interest research organization: "Throughout most of the third world, it seems, the cigarette bespeaks privilege and knowledge."

It probably does, as those terms apply to tobacco exporters.

Ignoring the bad news and inflating the good, it differed in word and spirit from the 177-page report Bayh's committee prepared for the guidance of the foreign relations panel in considering the new arms limitation treaty (SALT II).

That report is stamped "secret codeword," a classification reserved for unusually sensitive intelligence matters.

Bayh's testimony did not make clear to listeners that the "secret codeword" report states unequivocally that the SALT II protocol (lasting to Dec. 31, 1981) cannot be verified.

THE SOVIETS could test a new ICBM system with a launch weight as much as 20 to 40 percent above the SS-39 with less than a 50 percent chance of detection," the report says.

This would seem to threaten enforcement of the SALT II provision that the one "new" system permitted by the treaty cannot be larger than the Soviet SS-39.

Analyzing what Moscow could do secretly in an effort to "break out" of the treaty's limitations, the report states: "If a covert deployment were attempted, the Soviets could evade detection and identification of the activity for as long as three years during which some 200 missiles might become operational."

THE IMPORTANCE of Bayh's testimony lies in its impact on fellow senators. They tend to accept the chairman's statements at face value, without recognizing nuances, subtleties or fine print.

That tendency unites with problems of dealing with classified information to tie the hands and close the mouths of even the senators most skeptical about verification.

The 177-page report is under 24-hour guard in an obscure chamber on the top floor of the Capitol. Admittance is restricted to the 100 senators themselves during normal working hours.

No copies may be made; nor can notes on the report be taken out of the room.

Few very senators have read it, but an exception is Sen. John Glenn, a supporter of the SALT process but an informed skeptic on verification. He ripped Bayh's testimony apart in cross-examination during the foreign relations committee hearing.

WHEN WE asked Glenn to confirm our information about the report, he declined but then put the problem in a nutshell: "Nothing I have read or heard so far takes care of the verification problem, but I cannot even say why because of the high security classification that has been hung on this whole matter. What we have is euphoria based on official statements."

That euphoria might dissipate if every senator read the report, taking time out of tight schedules to cope with security limitations. They would learn that "the confidence with which we can detect tests of an ICBM with a mobile launcher (prohibited by the protocol) will be low at best."

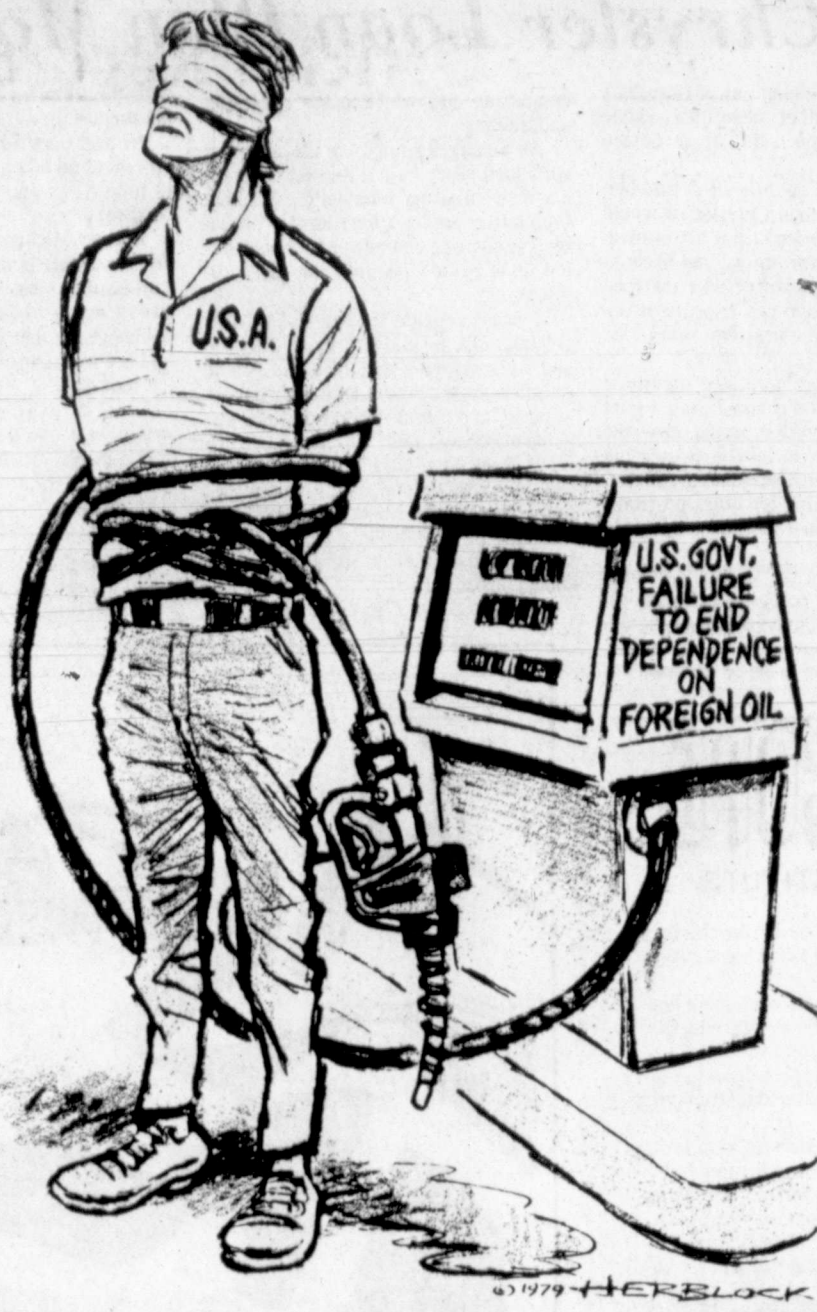

Although cruise missiles with a ground-launched or sea-launched range of more than 600 kilometers are banned during the three-year protocol, the report warns that "monitoring small changes in air intakes, horizontal and vertical stabilizers, antennae and warhead attachment points could be important SALT II monitoring tasks concerning cruise missile range...monitoring such changes would be extremely difficult."

THE REPORT says monitoring plusses from SALT II will be few and far between. As a strong treaty advocate, Bayh naturally dwelled on these. But he sped lightly over the damaging statement that the U.S. consistently has exaggerated its ability to "monitor Soviet production" of nuclear weapons.

Nobody can forecast the impact of SALT ratification even if every senator were fully aware of these facts.

But to accept Bayh's clearly loaded testimony in favor of the treaty is tantamount to voting blind, a condition that some day could return to haunt the Senate.

JAY HARRIS:

To Israel And Back

TWILIGHT WAS just edging across the skyscrapers of New York's towering canyons...

Out at John F. Kennedy Airport, a plane load of passengers walked off the Braniff airliner, several seeking the score of the latest Dallas Cowboy game...

It was late Sunday afternoon. Before it was dawn the next morning in New York and Lubbock, Texas, we were walking the streets of Tel Aviv in Israel. Again, we had learned it is a small world.

Almost two weeks to the day, we again set down at JFK, this time aboard a crowded El Al airliner, which had spanned almost half the globe in a day...

IN BETWEEN those two time periods, we got a closeup and in-depth look at the length and breadth of one of the world's key "war and peace" spots...

We not only got an updated look at Israel the Holy Land, but Israel the modern nation, its cities, peoples, leaders, kibbutzim, development cities and settlements, its gamble for peace and its neighbors, including a journey into war-torn southern Lebanon and a trip to the Jordanian border.

Today, Israel, as most of the rest of the world, has its share of problems, from a flaming annual inflation rate of 100 percent to how best to implement the Mideast Peace agreement with Egypt. There are no easy answers to either.

But, from Prime Minister Menachem Begin to the man and woman in the bustling streets of the nation born of blood, sweat, toil and tears, the mood is one of hope and prayer, of song and the soil, and of pride and a healthy dose of caution.

For all of its mood of peace, Israel also is keeping its powder dry...

AND WELL it might, Israel is still a land at bay, surrounded by some who would annihilate it if the occasion arose.

To understand Israel and its role in today's world, its status as one of two or three "hot spots" where World War III conceivably could start, one has to remember its past as well as note its present and future...

Here in an area smaller than the Panhandle-South Plains of Texas live some 3.5 million persons, most of whom are immigrants who have adopted the land as a new way of life, if not the promised land.

Here in an area, which can be traversed by auto from top to bottom in a day and across its narrowest width in a matter of a couple of hours, may be found the makings of an international jigsaw puzzle which has confounded the saints and scholars and wise men from almost the beginning of time.

It is no different today in that respect. What is different is that "the new," from immigrants to "peace," are having a major impact on the "the old..."

IT WAS IN this context that in recent days we made our second journey to Israel, a visit as informative and intriguing as any of the many we have been privileged to make across the world.

In the company of 12 others in the news business from across the U.S., we spent 14-to-18-hour days looking at Israel's bustling cities, its business centers and industries, the nation's vital farm lands, its orchards and hot houses which not only supply the nation and its visitors, but much of Western Europe as well.

We took a long day's ride to Metulla, Israel's northernmost city on the Lebanese border, and into southern Lebanon itself, where we saw the devastation wrought by the PLO and talked to those who "live under the gun" both day and night...We stood atop bunkers at Strongpoint 109 on the Golan Heights and looked down on Syria only a few yards away...

And we journeyed many miles to the south and east, where we watched hundreds of Arabs freely crossing one of Israel's "open bridges" with Jordan, and into the Gaza Strip, where one of Israel's well-planned development settlements, Yammit, must be given up to the Egyptians.

WE LISTENED to the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra in a superb performance one night in Tel Aviv's magnificent Mann Auditorium...

And walked the Mediterranean seaport's crowded streets at midnight, its sidewalk cafes jammed with late music lovers, theater goers and those who seemed to be enjoying life to the hilt.

We stopped at the sites of battles born of four wars in which Israel has fought for her life in the short span of 30 years, and we listened to the men who fought in those battles.

We climbed stairs of some of mankind's most revered monuments and walked through doors of Holy places vital to three of the world's major religions.

WE SHARED food and thoughts with people of all ages and professions...

With those who make their lives on the Kibbutz, with those who have just fled Russia to freedom, with young Americans opting for a new life style, with those in the armed forces, those in our profession, professors, the workers, shopkeepers...

And we met and talked with the nation's leaders, with Prime Minister Begin, opposition leader Shimon Peres, with Israel's onetime hero Moshe Dayan and Jerusalem's irrepressible Teddy Kolek, with an equally outspoken Arab West Bank mayor.

We sat in on a heart-pulsing 54 to 54 Knesset vote on an abortion issue which could have toppled the government. We again visited Jerusalem's magnificent Museum, its nearby Shrine of the Book where the Dead Sea Scrolls are kept, and Yad Vashem, the memorial to six million Jews who died in the Holocaust...

We will be relating most of it on these pages and elsewhere in the paper in the days ahead...

...Pass It On

Q. ASK YOUR Love and War man to list the famous four "Cs" of marriage in order of their importance.

A. Their proper order is a matter of opinion: communication, consideration, cooperation and compromise. Do you agree?

More than 50 percent of the people who appear to attempt suicide by poison don't even come close to any real danger of dying. Or so conclude British researchers. Maybe 30 survive after considerable risk. And 19 percent do indeed give up their lives.

17-Year Sentence Ends Bizarre Grain Stealing Case

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Professing sorrow and vowing to pay back his victims, former Iowa Park grain dealer Robert Johnson was sentenced to a total of 17 years in prison Tuesday for interstate transportation of stolen grain.

U.S. District Judge Eldon Mahon sentenced Johnson to 10 years on one count and seven on another, with the terms to run consecutively.

Mahon also accepted a plea bargain agreement under which an additional 11 counts against Johnson were dismissed in return for his guilty plea.

Johnson's bizarre saga began in January 1978, when he was reported missing from his boat during a cruise in the Gulf of Mexico.

Subsequent investigations by state and federal authorities revealed grain shortages in Johnson's elevators.

He was arrested earlier this year in Idaho on a traffic charge and transferred to Wichita County, where he has been held in lieu of $500,000 bond.

At his sentencing hearing Tuesday, Johnson said his problems started when his fertilizer business began to go sour.

He said he concocted his "disappearance" to try to help employees hurt by the business reversal.

"I knew at that time I had to find something else," Johnson said. After banks refused him loans, Johnson said, he began selling grain farmers had stored in his elevators.

He said he panicked. "I found I would rather have my family and friends think I was dead than be in the penitentiary," Johnson said. "I started figuring out how I would do it. I didn't mean to hurt anyone."

Johnson said he thought he would leave enough assets to "take care of" the farmers who entrusted their grain to him.

Johnson's attorney, Gene Douglass, presented three witnesses who spoke in Johnson's behalf, but Mahon said the premeditation involved influenced his sentence.

"It is so great to see someone go from rags to riches," Mahon said. "So sad to see that individual end up in a different light... we get back to that human weakness for greed."

"The court can't help but be influenced by the crime," said Mahon.

The Judge also criticized Johnson's attempt to fake his death. "There are too many people involved in this kind of hoax," he said.

After the sentencing, Douglass said, "He (Johnson) wants to thank all his friends, and he believes he still has many. He is very sorry for the disgrace."

Douglass said Johnson hopes to return and repay all the farmers.

Johnson pleaded guilty Oct. 25 to two counts of transporting stolen grain outside Texas. Each count carried a maximum 10-year sentence and a $10,000 fine.

In return, prosecutors agreed to dismiss another 11 similar charges. Also dismissed were four counts of aiding and abetting his brother in the same offense.

CAREERS

By JOYCE LAIN KENNEDY

Dear Joyce: Should I study journalism or public relations if I plan on a public relations career?

—N.L., Fresno, Calif.

Although many of today's practitioners transferred from journalism posts, job requirements are changing, says Pat Jackson, president of the Public Relations Society of America. He recommends a public relations sequence. In a speech to PRSA members, Jackson discusses developments expected in the '80s.

Overall, Jackson foresees the professionalization of the field, including employer demand for peer accreditation.

He looks for professionals to emerge as "managers of change rather than defenders of the faith." The emphasis will be on anticipating issues, Jackson says, as opposed to the present mode of apologizing to the public after disaster strikes.

But to move from apologist to futurist, the PRSA president warns that professionals will have to sharpen their talents in diplomacy to accommodate groups in conflict; this suggests that people-skills, such as those learned in courses in group psychology, organizational development and applied behavioral science will be vital.

To sell issues anticipations to top management, public relations specialists will need hard evidence to support insight, which means learning to use electronic data bases. That, plus the necessity to understand the emerging electronic media, points to coursework that promotes computer and electronic communication literacy, Jackson says.

PRSA has just published an invaluable career aid: "Your Personal Guidebook to Help You Chart a More Successful Career in Public Relations." It splits the occupation into four levels, describes in detail what you must know to qualify for each level, and tells you where to learn it. The book can be ordered for $50 from the Public Relations Society of America, 845 Third Ave., New York, NY 10022.

Solid writing skills remain important for public relations jobs. But, as Pat Jackson has observed, the trend does seem to be veering away from journalism as the foundation, and toward management science, sociology and psychology.

READER SERVICE: To obtain a copy of Pat Jackson's complete speech, "What Lies Ahead for Public Relations in the 1980's," enclose a stamped, self-addressed, long white envelope with your request to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper before March 1, 1980.

Gas Plentiful, Expensive This Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Motorists traveling over the Thanksgiving Day holiday weekend should have no trouble finding gasoline, but they'll be paying higher prices for it, the American Automobile Association said Tuesday.

Of 6,032 service station operators surveyed by the AAA nationwide, 44 percent said they planned to be open on the holiday Thursday, 56 percent planned to be open Saturday and 49 percent said they would be manning the pumps on Sunday.

Only 7 percent of the stations surveyed said they were limiting individual gasoline purchases, and only 2 percent reported being out of at least one grade of gasoline, the auto-club said.

But while fuel will be available, the prices will be about 30 cents a gallon higher than they were a year ago, it said.

The AAA said average full-service prices across the United States were $1.019 per gallon for regular, $1.074 for premium and $1.06 for unleaded.

Self-service prices averaged 98.3 cents per gallon for regular, $1.043 for premium and $1.029 for unleaded.

The highest-priced gasoline was found in Illinois, $1.157 per gallon for premium at full-service stations. The cheapest fuel was in Texas, 91.4 cents per gallon for regular at self-service stations.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I read that Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, where they pioneered sex-change operations in this country, has stopped doing them. Follow-up research apparently failed to prove the operation showed justifiable improvement in the lives of the patients.

A few days later I read that sex-change operations are a legitimate and necessary expense and should be covered by standard employe medical insurance. That decision was handed down by a New York appeals court judge.

The insurance company lawyers took the position that such surgery was "cosmetic," but the court decided that for the person to live a normal life, sex reassignment surgery was imperative.

Where do you stand on this question? Do you dare say? — Vitally Interested In Windsor, Canada

Dear Win: Twenty major medical centers across the country now offer this operation, plus hormone treatments and counseling. The price runs from $5,000 to $10,000 and up.

Anyone who would go through the pain of surgery, and spend that sum of money, must want the gender change desperately. These people truly feel as if they are a member of one sex trapped in the body of another.

Even though the Johns Hopkins research indicates that those who have been changed over surgically have not achieved the level of happiness they sought, I feel that those who want the surgery should have it. Moreover, it should not be classified as an alteration since it produces relief from an excruciating psychological problem.

Dear Ann Landers: What has happened to manners? I've read of some extremely rude behavior in your column. But today I experienced something beyond belief.

I am a single mother, working full time. This morning I had just dropped my children off at day school and was on the bus carrying a cup of coffee (in a covered take-out carton), since I had no time for breakfast.

An elderly man inadvertently brushed my arm as he was leaving. The still-covered cup, by now lukewarm, spilled on me and on the man who was seated at my left. The old gentleman left the bus without realizing what he had done. The man on my left stood up and started to swear a blue streak. Other passengers chimed in, calling me an "idiot" for bringing the coffee aboard.

Even though I apologized profusely, the man demanded $3.50 to have his suit cleaned. I opened my purse and gave him the money. I got off the bus in tears, feeling like a fool.

Do you agree that a gentleman would not have carried on like that? I congratulated myself on behaving with dignity. Now I am more determined than ever to instill in my own children good manners — especially in a crisis. — Ottawa, Ont.

Dear Ott: I agree — a gentleman would not have carried on like that. But you should not have taken the coffee on the bus, dear. Handing over the $3.50 was the lady-like thing to do. It also served as a lesson in good manners to the other passengers and it undoubtedly diminished the man who previously had gained their sympathy.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents and a self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

HOLIDAY LEFTOVERS — A wholesome hearty turkey chowder makes leftovers from the big "bird" taste as good as the first time around.

Holiday Feast Makes Tasty Second Dinner

NEW YORK (Special) — One of the benefits of a turkey dinner is that you get at least another day's meal from the leftovers — and there are some folks who savor the second day's far as much as the first.

Few turkey dishes are more delectable than a supper soup you make with the meat, vegetables and stock. Good cooks often create turkey soup by heart, rather than recipe. So, to inspire you to your own masterpieces we're suggesting you begin with our variations. The first is an old-fashioned turkey soup, the kind you might have learned from your grandmother. It's interesting because you use the leftover stuffing to flavor the broth. The second is a turkey chowder in a creamy base with a light sweet touch added by canned cream style corn.

With the proper preparation turkey soups rise to the heights of tastiness. We've added flavor enhancer to each recipe to insure the melding and freshness of flavors. Flavor enhancer has the ability to enliven the natural goodness of reheated foods, and in soups, especially those with many ingredients, it "harmonizes" all the good flavors in the dish.

Would you like to know more about turkey? Ac'cent International is offering a guide to everything you need to know about turkey.

It's called "How To Tackle A Turkey" and it's free. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Ac'cent International, Inc., Dept. H-T, 131 East Street, Westwood, Ma. 02090.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

The professor's two-club opening was artificial and forcing. The student would have made the negative response of two diamonds, but West bid first and took away the need for him to bid. Then the professor jumped to four spades to end the bidding at the normal contract.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace. By that time the student got up from the table to watch his mentor operate. He almost jumped with surprise when the professor ruffed the second club and led a low trump. Then he did jump with delight when West won with the ace.

A second trump trick had to be lost to East later on, but the game contract was in.

There was legerdemain or other magic involved in the professor's play. He has just made a well-known (among experts anyway) safety play and it had worked.

There was no legitimate way to avoid the loss of two spade tricks. If spades broke 3-2 that is all the spade tricks that would be lost.

Suppose they were to break 4-1. Three tricks would be lost unless the spade ace were single-ton and the safety play made, so the professor had made it.

Grandmothers Make Best Thanksgiving Meal

NEW YORK (Special) — ... to Grandmother's house we go ... But have you seen Grandma lately? Chances are she golfs once a week, volunteers at the art museum, takes an economics class at the university, and is considering running for the school board. She has come a long way, but one thing hasn't changed — she is still one of the best cooks around and Thanksgiving dinner at her house is always a treat. Though she loves to cook from scratch, with her busy schedule she welcomes a little help from modern foods and time-saving cooking methods.

If Grandma has changed, so have many of our foods. Turkey is a good example. Do you realize that it takes only 6 minutes of your time to get a fresh or completely thawed turkey ready for the oven, whether a special holiday meal or an everyday family dinner?

In planning your Thanksgiving feast, keep in mind the fact that whole turkeys range in size from six to more than 30 pounds, are available fresh or frozen and may be prebasted. If you allow one pound of turkey per person you will have plenty for the dinner and some for your favorite left-over recipes.

If turkey is frozen, leave in original bag and thaw in refrigerator for three to four days (24 hours for each five pounds of turkey) or cover with cold water, changing water frequently (1/2 hour per pound of turkey). Refrigerate or cook turkey as soon as thawed. For your six-minute turkey, simply follow these easy steps. Remove plastic wrap from thawed turkey, remove giblets and neck from body cavities, rinse turkey inside and out, pat dry with paper towel, return legs to hock lock or band of skin, tuck tips of wings "akimbo" back of turkey and skewer neck skin to back.

Place turkey breast side up on rack in foil-lined pan. Place a tent of aluminum foil loosely over turkey to prevent over-browning. Place in oven and roast according to chart. Foil tent may be removed last half hour for a final browning.

APPROXIMATE ROASTING TIME IN 325 DEGREE OVEN

- 8-12 lbs., Unstuffed 3-4 hrs., Stuffed 4-5 hrs.
- 12-16 lbs., Unstuffed 3 1/2-5 hrs., Stuffed 4 1/2-6 hrs.
- 16-20 lbs., Unstuffed 4 1/2-6 hrs., Stuffed 5 1/2-7 hrs.
- 20-24 lbs., Unstuffed 5 1/2-6 1/2 hrs., Stuffed 6 1/2-7 1/2 hrs.

Factors affecting roasting times are variations in ovens, shape of turkeys and degree of thawing. These variations make it important to begin checking for doneness about one hour before the end of the recommended roasting time.

While the turkey is roasting, prepare fluffy mashed potatoes, creamed onions and giblet gravy. Impress everyone with your kitchen magic with the sudden appearance of cranberry salad and pumpkin cake, prepared a day ahead — and can be prepared to treat the traditional holiday appetite with old-fashioned good food with ease.

FRESH CRANBERRY SALAD

- 2 cups fresh cranberries
 - 1 cup water

 - 1/2 cup cold water
 - 2/3 cup diced celery
 - 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

To Your Good Health

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D.
Dear Dr. Donohue: With the news reports of a recent severe outbreak of hepatitis, I think now would be a good time to devote one of your columns to a discussion of this disease — the types, treatments, etc. — Mrs. S.S.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a girl of 22 who had an attack of hepatitis that damaged my liver. I was in the hospital for a week and isolated. Can you give me some advice on diet and rules to follow to stay healthy? — Miss M.O.

Hey, this is my field — infectious diseases.

Hepatitis is inflammation of the liver. The disease can be caused by a variety of agents — viruses, poisons and alcohol, to list a few.

Most is due to viruses, though, so let's limit our discussion to that. There are three varieties of virus-caused hepatitis. We'll have to take them one by one.

The first, infectious hepatitis (hepatitis A) is most often transmitted by infected feces, usually by way of water that has been contaminated. This kind takes two weeks to a month to develop. It is less serious than the other kinds of hepatitis.

The second kind is serum hepatitis (hepatitis B). Today, it is most often a disease of drug addicts who have used contaminated needles. The incubation period is much longer (from two to six months). It can cause serious liver problems.

The third form is simply referred to as "hepatitis, not A, not B." It behaves much like serum hepatitis (the needle kind) and can appear after a blood transfusion.

There is no special treatment for any active infection itself.

After one is exposed to infectious hepatitis (the first kind) gamma globulin is given to help prevent or lessen the effects. The person with this kind is generally not capable of transmitting it after jaundice (yellowing) has appeared.

If one gets serum hepatitis (hepatitis B), a special gamma globulin helps protect those exposed to the infected person's blood.

The third form of hepatitis (not A, not B) has no preventative treatment.

With hepatitis the diet should be basically nutritional, no restrictions unless there has been severe liver damage. The doctor should advise about this. Vitamin supplements are often given. Alcohol has to be strictly avoided.

See what you get when you step into someone's special field? Long answers.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What would cause a woman to bleed late in pregnancy? — M.R.

From 5 to 10 percent of women do bleed late in pregnancy, and women who have had previous pregnancies seem more prone to others. In the great majority of cases the women stop the hemorrhaging after a few days of bedrest. However the cause of the bleeding has to be determined promptly to rule out serious problems of the placenta. One of the more serious causes of bleeding late in pregnancy is premature separation of the placenta from the uterus. Bleeding anytime during pregnancy should be reported.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have two questions. When having a spinal tap do they put fluid back in the spine at the same time? When the doctor draws fluid from the spine for the test does he replace it afterward? — J.G.

Seems to me I just discussed spinal taps recently. But anyway, when a spinal tap (or lumbar puncture) is done for diagnosis, only a small amount of fluid is withdrawn, a little more than a teaspoonful. There is about three quarters of a pint of the fluid present.

Since such a small proportion is withdrawn for the test it need not be replaced because it is constantly being produced anyway.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am only 10 years old. My breasts are developing. My nipples are soft. I think they are quite big, about the size of quarters. Could it be breast cancer? I'm afraid to go to the doctor, no matter what you say. But please tell me if a 10-year-old girl could get breast cancer. I am Oriental, if that helps. — S.H.H.

What you describe is common. It is not a sign of breast cancer, which is quite rare in young girls like you. You should not be afraid of doctors. Some of my best friends are doctors. Your being Oriental has nothing to do with the matter.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I was surprised to learn during a hospital visit that a friend was being fed by a tube in the nose. Why? — N.M.

It's more comfortable, avoids tube biting and the patient can talk. The food gets where it's supposed to. The nose and mouth passage, while common, separate into the gullet and air passages, so none of the liquid gets to the lungs.

You can lose weight if you really want to! The booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. You wrote, "If you put $1,000 in a mutual fund with an 8 percent lead (commission) you get $920 worth of shares, with the other $80 going to pay commissions. If you put $1,000 into a no-load mutual fund, you get $1,000 worth of shares."

Why don't you explain that, if you put $1,000 into a publicly traded investment fund, you usually get shares with an underlying value of at least $1,300. Even after paying a broker's commission of, say, $30, you would still have about $1,270 worth of securities working for you.

Can you argue with these figures?
A. Not at all. The market prices of shares of "publicly traded investment funds" — the new moniker for closed-end investment companies — are now well below the net asset values of those shares.

That name, adopted a couple of years ago, reeks of a Madison Avenue attempt to polish an image that had tarnished. So, don't be unhappy when this column continues to use the old name. Closed-end investment company is a far more descriptive term.

Like a mutual fund, the net asset value of a closed-end investment company is calculated by adding up the values of everything the company owns — mostly stocks and bonds — subtracting everything the company owes — its liabilities — and then dividing by the number of shares outstanding — owned by investors.

Because — unlike mutual funds — the closed-enders do not stand ready to redeem their shares, the shares of closed-enders are traded on stock exchanges and in the over-the-counter market. You buy and sell closed-enders' shares just as you do stocks of most other companies.

And, because closed-enders are not popular items with most investors, the market prices of their shares are usually at "discounts" — below the net asset values of those shares.

So, by investing $1,000 you can buy closed-enders' shares with net asset values of $1,300, or more, or less — depending upon the discount for the particular shares.

When you buy a closed-enders' shares at a discount, you have the higher net asset value of the shares you own working for you — producing dividends and, hopefully, growing in value.

The kicker is that when you sell, you normally have to do so at a discount. This shouldn't bother you, as long as the discount when you sell is no greater than the discount you paid when you bought.

Q. If I exchange my Series E, U.S. Savings Bonds, for Series H bonds and redeem my H bonds at some time in the future, how will I determine the amount to report on my income tax return?

A. The accrued interest on the E bonds you exchange for H bonds will be stamped on the H bonds you receive. This will also apply to the HH bonds which go on sale in 1980.

When you exchange E bonds for H or HH bonds you do not have to report and pay income tax on the interest that has built up on your E bonds. You postpone that tax liability until you cash the H or HH bonds received in the exchange.

You and the U.S. Treasury will have a record of your E bond interest, because it will be calculated and stamped on your H or HH bonds at the time you make the exchange. Remember that the Internal Revenue Service is a branch of the Treasury Department.

Q. I own a fairly long list of securities, which I am enclosing. I will be moving to a different state soon, making it necessary for me to inform the companies of my new address. Can you send me the address to which I can write to make the address changes?

A. You get annual and quarterly stockholder reports — which contain those addresses. Also, most dividend checks have spaces to report change of address. I try to be helpful. But this is a chore you can handle on your own. + + +

Doyle welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

American, Iranian Students Present Petition

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of American and Iranian students presented a petition Tuesday to the Iranian Embassy, calling for peaceful resolution of the crisis stemming from the holding of hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

About 50 of the students marched several miles from near the White House to the embassy. They were shadowed by a dozen other demonstrators who carried an American flag and anti-Iranian placards, and demanded that Iranian students be deported from the United States.

Police kept the two groups apart and the march was peaceful. There was one arrest, when a man identified as Mark Bernhardt, 26, of suburban Oakton, Va., was charged with destruction of foreign property when he ran from an alley and knocked down a barricade at the embassy.

Frank Jackalone, chairman of the U.S. Student Association, told reporters after he and another marcher presented the petition to Iranian officials that the release of the American hostages in Tehran was not discussed.

Police kept both groups of demonstrators more than 500 feet from the embassy while Jackalone and Simin Ruyan, an Iranian and former student at the University of Maryland, met with Iranian charge d'affaires Ali Agah.

The petition urged "an immediate end to all hostilities between Iranian and American students ... and an opening of peaceful discussions between students of our two countries" in the United States.

"We want peace and understanding. We don't want Marines landing," the students chanted.

Prisoners Can Be Forced To Undergo Treatment

BOSTON (AP) — Prisoners can be forced to undergo medical treatment if it is necessary to save their lives, the state Supreme Court says.

The state's interest in "upholding orderly prison administration tips the balance in favor of authorizing treatment without consent," the unanimous court said Monday.

The subject of the ruling was Kenneth Myers, 24, of Boston, serving time for armed robbery, kidnapping and rape.

Bank President Lowers Rate To Aid Business

LOWELL, Mass. (AP) — The president of a Lowell bank says he thinks the prime interest rate is too high, and is lowering his to three-quarters of a percentage point below the going rate to help out business.

G. Richard Gagnon, president of the Lowell Bank and Trust Co., said that beginning Tuesday, he froze his bank's prime at 15 percent.

"We believe that the high prime has an adverse effect on the local economy," Gagnon said.

Ordinarily, banks around the country follow the lead of the big New York banks when they establish their prime rates, the interest that they charge for loans to their biggest corporate customers. Most banks are currently charging a 15 1/2 percent prime rate.

"We are concerned with the loyalty of local businesses," Gagnon said. "We hope the 15 percent rate will benefit them."

The Lowell Bank and Trust has assets of $33 million and is the smallest commercial bank in the city.

Gagnon said he has no illusions of New York banks following his example, but he believes other banks in Lowell will notice his move.

"I think this will spread out beyond our bank," he said.

Gagnon said the interest charged his other commercial customers — even if they do not merit the prime rate — will also be proportionately lower.

Lowell, located about 25 miles north of Boston, was once a major textile-making city. Now its old mills are filled with a variety of manufacturing plants, including businesses that produce plastics and electronics equipment.

Railroad Commissioner—Sees Crude Oil Decline

AUSTIN (AP) — Chairman John Poerner of the Texas Railroad Commission said Tuesday his fears have come true in that Texas will produce less than one billion barrels of crude oil this year for the first time in 15 years.

Poerner, however, issued this challenge to oil and gas executives for the 1980s:

"Let's be positive for a change: let's oil up the rigs, dust off the pumpjacks and be prepared to ring in the New Year with a strong theme of 'Domestic Energy for the '80s.'"

The commission routinely set the statewide oil allowable for December at 100 percent.

The allowable, or production factor, is geared to market demand.

The commission, Texas' oil and gas regulatory agency, has maintained a 100 percent allowable each month except three since April 1972.

Poerner said Texas' oil output for 1979 will total approximately 980.4 million barrels. Texas production last year exceeded 1.04 billion barrels.

"Early last spring, I made a prediction, and sadly enough, it has come true," said Poerner. "If you'll remember, I feared that if our producers didn't have some incentive to increase production, that in 1979, Texas would produce under one billion barrels of crude oil for the first time in 15 years."

"Tragic as it is in light of recent events around the world and our increasing dependence on foreign imports, the nominations you have just heard confirm my earlier suspicions."

Major buyers of Texas crude oil told the commission they wanted to obtain 2,672,973 barrels a day in December, a decrease of 11,967 barrels a day from November.

The buyers' nominations are pegged to what they think they can obtain, and seven of the 14 major buyers submitted lower nominations, which indicated declining production.

Poerner also noted crude and petroleum products imports into the United States totaled 7,972,000 barrels per day for the four-week average ended Nov. 2.

Educational Foundation

Created By Two Parties

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties created a bipartisan American Political Foundation on Tuesday to conduct a variety of educational programs.

GOP Chairman Bill Brock and Charles T. Manatt, finance chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said the primary emphasis of the foundation will be "... mutual knowledge and understanding of democratic systems, parties, and political leaders throughout the world, with particular attention to helping foreigners learn about the American system and Americans learn about foreign systems."

The foundation's directors will be evenly divided between Democrats and Republicans, officials said.

One In 10 Iranian Students Faces Ouster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Immigration officials reported Tuesday that about 10 percent of the Iranian students interviewed to determine if they were in the country illegally are subject to deportation.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service said it had interviewed 6,700 Iranian students in the first six days of the program which began Nov. 13 and discovered that 700 are deportable.

An additional 760 "will require further checking of documents to verify their status," said David Crosland, acting head of the immigration service.

The remaining 5,200 are complying with the law and the terms of their student visas, Crosland said.

The INS estimates there are more than 50,500 Iranian students enrolled in colleges and universities in the United States.

Crosland said that of the 700 subject to deportation, about 90 have chosen to leave the country voluntarily. The rest face deportation proceedings which could take varying amounts of time to complete, depending on whether the students challenge deportation orders.

The Carter administration launched the program last week in response to the crisis in Iran, where hostages have now been held for 17 days in the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

Crosland said that 200 students have requested asylum in this country. Not all of those students are in the group with visa violations.

The INS will consider asylum for students who could face political or religious persecution if forced to return to their homeland. The burden of proof rests with the students. INS officials have said.

The administration program required all Iranian students to report to immigration officials within 30 days to show they are enrolled as full-time college students.

The figures released Tuesday covered the period from Nov. 13 through Nov. 18.

The INS said about 1,200 immigration personnel have been working exclusively on the program.

The administration's program of checking the status of Iranian students has drawn some criticism.

A group called the National Emergency Civil Liberties Committee said Tuesday it will file suit today in federal court here seeking to halt the program.

Civil liberties lawyers have said the program discriminates by singling out

Iranian students.

Auto Issues Top Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Auto issues posted some of the biggest losses as the stock market lapsed to a steady decline Tuesday.

Analysts described the drop as a wary response on the part of investors to the latest Middle East developments.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial slipped 6.05 to 809.22.

New York Stock Exchange volume reached 35.10 million shares up from 33.09 million Monday.

Analysts said investors seemed to be taking a cautious approach with the diplomatic and financial war of wills continuing between the United States and Iran.

New York (AP) — Tuesday's national price of New York Stock Exchange volume consolidated for securities also traded on other markets.

Don Jennings, Lubbock street superintendent for one year, will begin serving as the city engineer today.

Police Probe Burglaries To Firms On 34th Street Over $3,500 In Items Taken

More than $3,500 worth of computers, calculators, radios and cash were stolen early Tuesday from nine separate businesses located in a 34th Street complex, police reports indicate.

Police said entry to the businesses, located at 2806 34th St., was gained by prying open the back door to each firm.

Police said no suspects have been arrested in connection with the burglaries that occurred between 9 p.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

In other activity, a 34-year-old employee for the State Department of Corrections told police Tuesday that $1,100 worth of property was stolen from a wrecker he was driving.

Reports indicate Herman L. Johnson of Huntsville told police a tire, tool boxes and several tools were stolen from the vehicle between 6 p.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday. Police said locks on the tool boxes had been cut off.

A 50-year-old woman was taken to Methodist Hospital about 10:30 p.m. Monday after her husband allegedly assaulted her at the couple's home.

After the assault, the woman ran naked to a neighbor's house, where police were called.

She said that after she drove her 60-year-old husband home from work to their 36th Street residence, a fight began when he accused her of seeing someone else.

The woman, treated and released for cuts and multiple bruises, said the man kicked her several times in the stomach and head and ripped off her clothes.

In other activity, two men were arrested about 11:45 p.m. Monday after one of the suspects reportedly walked into a convenience store in the 4900-block of Memphis Avenue displaying a .45-caliber pistol.

The suspects, a 19-year-old Lubbock man and an Albuquerque, N.M. man, 18, were apprehended in the 3700-block of 53rd Street after police confiscated the pistol from the suspect's vehicle. Reports indicate the weapon was unloaded and the firing pin missing.

However, the men allegedly resisted officers' attempts to search them and were taken to the county jail.

The clerk said one of the men entered the store acting "cocky" and making no attempts to conceal the pistol, which was tucked inside his pants. The other man appeared to be acting as a lookout outside the store, according to reports.

The attendant said the man with the gun walked out of the business and both suspects drove off after they saw him calling police.

Police received information of the suspect's vehicle and located them on 53rd Street minutes after the clerk called in the complaint. Police said they had to struggle with one of the suspects before handcuffing him. Both were booked into county jail on suspicion of disorderly conduct.

An off-duty policeman, working security at John Knox Village, 1717 Norfolk Ave., said he apprehended two men after he saw them loading wooden beams onto their vehicle behind the retirement center.

The Lubbock men, ages 21 and 22, attempted to drive away, but were caught by the officer within minutes, according to police.

Inquest Jury Sets Death Probe

An inquest jury next month will hear evidence and rule on what killed a 26-year-old Shallower woman, whose decomposed body was found Saturday.

Doris Christy appeared to have been dead about two months when her body was discovered by a jogger. The woman's body was under a piece of farm machinery in a clump of weeds about two-tenths of a mile east of Shallower on FM 1294.

Relatives told Lubbock County sheriff's deputies that Mrs. Christy had been missing since Sept. 1 and that a missing persons report had been filed Sept. 8 with the Lubbock police department.

Deputies found a .22-caliber pistol under Mrs. Christy's head, but said initial investigations by Lubbock authorities and Texas Rangers did not indicate foul play was involved in the death.

However, Shallower Justice of the Peace Dardie Williamson said she requested the Dec. 3 inquest to obtain as much information as possible concerning Mrs. Christy's death.

Odessa Dies In Auto Accident

MIDLAND (Special) — An Odessa woman was killed and a man was injured Monday afternoon in a one-car accident that occurred six miles northwest of Odessa, according to the Department of Public Safety.

The body of Dr. Adams was taken to Sheppard Funeral Home at Odessa, where services were pending late Tuesday.

The DPS said the accident occurred when Hensen's car, southbound on Texas 137, went off the right shoulder of the highway. Successful TV Producer Still Finds It Hard To Sell A Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Lee Mendelson is one of America's most successful independent television producers, and he's still got a gripe against the networks.

"We've done almost 70 specials in 15 years," he says, "and I'm yet to have a network call me. That's unbelievable. Our shows have won six Emmys and three Peabodys and we've always had high ratings." Mendelson says, "and it's just as hard to sell a show now as it was 15 years ago."

Lee Mendelson may sound discouraged, but the constant struggle he describes is not about to keep him off the air.

"She's a Good Skater, Charlie"

Brown, scheduled for broadcast in February, is Mendelson's latest production in a series of animated specials that began with "A Charlie Brown Christmas" in 1965. And he's at work on "Bon Voyage, Charlie Brown," which he expects to complete in May or June.

In addition, he's just published a book, "Happy Birthday, Charlie Brown," celebrating the 30th birthday of the cartoon character developed by Charles Schulz, and is at work on a one-man play on Winston Churchill as well as a TV movie based on the memoirs of John Sirica, the Watergate judge.

Mendelson grew up in San Francisco, graduated from Stanford in 1954 and spent three years in the Air Force. He went to work as a producer-director-writer for television station KPX in San Francisco in 1961, and set up his own production company — based in his hometown — two years later.

No one told him dealing with the TV networks from San Francisco would be easy.

"The question was, could a film company survive outside of New York and Los Angeles," Mendelson says. "I wanted to send someone to Hollywood to find out, but my father said, 'Save the $2,000. They're going to say, 'No.'"

"But I've found that's not necessarily the case. When you deliver a film to someone, they don't look at the address. It's true, I'm on the outside looking in," Mendelson says, "but I feel not being in Hollywood or New York gives me a better idea of what the people want."

Selling work to the networks is another matter, Mendelson says, and there are only a few independent filmmakers with records as good as his.

FCC Says Networks Unreasonable In Refusing Carter Air Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission ruled Tuesday that the three major TV networks acted unreasonably by refusing to provide a large block of air time to the Carter re-election committee next month.

By a 4-3 vote, the commission instructed the three networks to file by Nov. 26 petitions showing how they intended to adhere to the "reasonable access provision" of federal law.

The issue was presented to the commission when ABC, CBS and NBC refused to sell a 30-minute block of air time to President Carter until after Jan. 1.

The networks cited the potential disruption to programming for a national audience "when only scattered local contests are presently occurring," as well as their right to impose "reasonable" guidelines on such political advertising.

The Carter-Mondale Presidential Committee Inc. alleged in a complaint late last month, however, that the networks were not being reasonable and had become engaged in "a common pattern of abuse of power."

Gerald Rafshoon, the president's media consultant, called on the networks after the decision to forego a threatened court fight.

"I would hope they don't take this to court," he said. "Let's sit down and pick a mutually advantageous time to run this announcement. I'm available tomorrow to start negotiations."

In its decision Tuesday, the FCC said it was clear the 1980 presidential campaign was already in full swing across the country.

But it focused its finding that the networks had acted unreasonably on the fact that they had not considered the needs of the candidates themselves.

'60 Minutes' Leads CBS' Assault On Prime Time Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — With "60 Minutes" leading the way, CBS appears to be mounting a powerful challenge to ABC's dominance in the networks' prime-time ratings competition.

With seven of the 10 highest-rated programs, including No. 1 "60 Minutes," CBS won the ratings race for the week ending Nov. 18 and drew a bit closer to

Administrators Ban Grumbling Santa Christmas Book

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Santa Claus should not grumble about bad weather or ponder over minor details like how to get into a mobile home, officials at the West Ottawa School District have decided.

School administrators have banned a children's Christmas book because it made the jolly, old gift-giver seem to have a negative attitude about Christmas, according to Superintendent Bradley Henson.

The book, written by English author Raymond Briggs, is called "Father Christmas" and traces the Christmas Eve and Christmas Day routine of Santa.

"The parents that complained felt the book gave a negative attitude about Christmas," said Ray Johnson, a West Ottawa administrative assistant. "They thought it made Santa's attitude toward Christmas too negative."

Somehow the book was taken off the shelves at all six of the district's elementary schools.

Johnson said the district's school board was not formally involved in the action.

Court Will Decide Who Owns Silver Coins

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Police here plan to let the courts decide who owns 800 pounds of silver coins that were found in pickle crocks at the construction site of a new church.

Eight parties — including former owners of the site, the present owner, the excavating company and coin collectors — claim they own the $9,000 cache, dug up June 12 during excavation for the Gethsemane Bethel Apostolic Church.

ABC for the season, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed.

CBS' rating for the week was 22.1 to 18.7 for ABC and 17.6 for NBC. ABC's rating for the season to date dipped, meantime, from 19.9 to 19.8, while CBS' tally increased a tenth of a point, to 18.5.

The networks say CBS' rating for the week means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 22.1 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to CBS.

CBS finished the first week of the season, ending Sept. 16, in second place, then spent a month in third. With ratings for the week ending Nov. 18, CBS moved past NBC in season-to-date figures for the first time since fall programming began.

In addition, it was the third time in four weeks for "60 Minutes" in first place, and CBS' rating of 22.1 was the highest for any network this season.

The rating for "60 Minutes" was 31.9. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 31.9 percent saw at least part of the newsmagazine.

ABC was a runaway winner in the ratings last season, and had been expected to continue in first place this year. But CBS has established a firm grip on viewers three nights of the week — Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays, and all seven of the network's Top 10 shows air those evenings.

In addition to "60 Minutes," CBS listed "Alice" No. 2 and "The Jeffersons" third. All are in the network's Sunday night lineup.

NBC, third in the weekly ratings the last five weeks, had only two continuing series in the week's Top 20, "Little House on the Prairie" in 15th place and "CHiPs" 19th.

ABC had two shows in the bottom four: "A Man Called Sloane" on NBC was 54th for the week, followed by CBS' "California Fever" and the two ABC programs, the second chapter in a three-part movie, "The French Atlantic Affair," and "The 13th Day: Story of Esther."

The week's Top 10 shows:

"60 Minutes," with a rating of 31.9 representing 24.3 million homes, "Alice," 31.6 or 24.1 million, and "The Jeffersons," 29.3 or 22.4 million, all CBS; "Three's Company," 29 or 22.1 million, ABC; "Dallas," 28.9 or 22 million, and "Archie's Place," 27.9 or 21.3 million, both CBS; "Taxi," 25.7 or 19.6 million, both ABC, and "Trapper John, M.D.," 25.2 or 19.2 million, and Movie: "Silver Streak," 25.1 or 19.1 million, both CBS.

The next 11 programs: "Eight is Enough," ABC; "M-A-S-H," CBS; "Laverne and Shirley" and "Charlie's Angels," both ABC; "Little House on the Prairie," NBC; "NFL Monday Night Football," and "Angie," both ABC; Movie: "The Omen," and "CHiPs," both NBC, and "WKRP in Cincinnati," CBS, and "Hart to Hart," ABC, tie.

'60 Minutes' Leads CBS' Assault On Prime Time Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — With "60 Minutes" leading the way, CBS appears to be mounting a powerful challenge to ABC's dominance in the networks' prime-time ratings competition.

With seven of the 10 highest-rated programs, including No. 1 "60 Minutes," CBS led the ratings race for the week ending Nov. 18 and drew a bit closer to

Administrators Ban Grumbling Santa Christmas Book

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Santa Claus should not grumble about bad weather or ponder over minor details like how to get into a mobile home, officials of the West Ottawa School District have decided.

School administrators have banned a children's Christmas book because it made the jolly, old gift-giver seem to have a negative attitude about Christmas, according to Superintendent Bradley Henson.

The book, written by English author Raymond Briggs, is called "Father Christmas" and traces the Christmas Eve and Christmas Day routine of Santa.

The parents that complained felt the book gave a negative attitude about Christmas," said Ray Johnson, a West Ottawa administrative assistant. "They thought it made Santa's attitude toward Christmas too negative."

So the book was taken off the shelves at all six of the district's elementary schools.

Johnson said the district's school board was not formally involved in the action.

Court Will Decide Who Owns Silver Coins

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Police here plan to let the courts decide who owns 800 pounds of silver coins that were found in pickle crocks at the construction site of a new church.

Eight parties — including former owners of the site, the present owner, the excavating company and coin collectors — claim they own the $9,000 cache, dug up June 12 during excavation for the Gethsemane Bethel Apostolic Church.

ABC for the season, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed.

CBS' rating for the week was 22.1 to 18.7 for ABC and 17.6 for NBC. ABC's rating for the season to date dipped, meantime, from 19.9 to 19.8, while CBS' tally increased a tenth of a point, to 18.5.

The networks say CBS' rating for the week means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 22.1 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to CBS.

CBS finished the first week of the season, ending Sept. 16, in second place, then spent a month in third. With ratings for the week ending Nov. 18, CBS moved past NBC in season-to-date figures for the first time since fall programming began.

In addition, it was the third time in four weeks for "60 Minutes" in first place, and CBS' rating of 22.1 was the highest for any network this season.

The rating for "60 Minutes" was 31.9. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 31.9 percent saw at least part of the newsmagazine.

ABC was a runaway winner in the ratings last season, and had been expected to continue in first place this year. But CBS has established a firm grip on viewers three nights of the week — Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays, and all seven of the network's Top 10 shows air those evenings.

In addition to "60 Minutes," CBS listed "Alice" No. 2 and "The Jeffersons" third. All are in the network's Sunday night lineup.

NBC, third in the weekly ratings the last five weeks, had only two continuing series in the week's Top 20, "Little House on the Prairie" in 15th place and "CHiPs" 19th.

ABC had two shows in the bottom four: "A Man Called Sloane" on NBC was 54th for the week, followed by CBS' "California Fever" and the two ABC programs, the second chapter in a three-part movie, "The French Atlantic Affair," and "The 13th Day: Story of Esther."

The week's Top 10 shows:

"60 Minutes," with a rating of 31.9 representing 24.3 million homes, "Alice," 31.6 or 24.1 million, and "The Jeffersons," 29.3 or 22.4 million, all CBS; "Three's Company," 29 or 22.1 million, ABC; "Dallas," 28.9 or 22 million, and "Archie's Place," 27.9 or 21.3 million, both CBS; "Taxi," 25.7 or 19.6 million, and "Happy Days," 25.3 or 19.3 million, both ABC, and "Trapper John, M.D.," 25.2 or 19.2 million, and Movie "Silver Streak," 25.1 or 19.1 million, both CBS.

The next 11 programs: "Eight is Enough," ABC; "M-A-S-H," CBS; "Laverne and Shirley" and "Charlie's Angels," both ABC; "Little House on the Prairie," NBC, "NFL Monday Night Football," and "Angie," both ABC; Movie "The Omen," and "CHiPs," both NBC, and "WKRP in Cincinnati," CBS, and "Hart to Hart," ABC, tie.

U.S. Hints Military Action Against Iran

said Dobrynin was there for a previously scheduled meeting on Cambodian refugees and that the Iranian situation was not discussed.
Earlier, the State Department reiterated its contention that any trial of the U.S. diplomats would make a "mockery" of international principles.
"If there is anything more unacceptable than the taking of hostages, it would be this (a trial)," said Hodding Carter, the State Department spokesman. "It is an outright violation of diplomatic relations and diplomatic protection."

In a broadcast over Tehran Radio, Khomeini said that if the United States continues to refuse to send the deposed Shah, Mohammad Reza Pahlavi to Iran, "the hostages will be put on trial."
Khomeini and the students who seized the embassy and 62 Americans on Nov. 4 have demanded that the shah be returned to stand trial as a war criminal before the hostages are released. The United States has refused the demand for the shah, who is undergoing cancer treatment in a New York hospital.

Before Khomeini's speech, Abolhasan Sadegh, Iran's foreign press director, said in a Tehran interview that no decision had been made on whether to try the Americans.
But he suggested that such trials could be held before the same special tribunals that have sentenced more than 600 persons to death since last winter's revolution in which Khomeini took power in Iran.

Khomeini Announces Trial For Hostages

American "imperialism."
Before he spoke, the militants released six more black men and four more women from the embassy. State Department officials said all 13 hostages freed so far might be home for Thanksgiving.
Immediately after Khomeini spoke, thousands of people climbed to their rooftops and the capital rang with the cry, "Allah Akbar (God is great)."
The religious leader's remarks Tuesday night appeared to take a tougher stand than his statement Sunday that the militants had found evidence U.S. diplomats were spying on Iran from the embassy "and a certain number of spies... should be, according to our laws, tried and punished."

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said any trial of the hostages, even one that ended in a pardon, would be a "mockery" of international principles.
"If there is anything more unacceptable than the taking of hostages it would be this (a trial)," he told reporters in Washington. "It is an outright violation of diplomatic relations and diplomatic protection."
U.S. diplomats attempted unsuccessfully in New York to convince other U.N. Security Council members to condemn a possible spy trial for the hostages. Council President Sergio Palacios de Vizio of Bolivia said only one unidentified member of the 15-member council supported the U.S. request.
Former U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young told State Department officials in Washington he planned to go to Tehran to try to win freedom for the hostages. U.S. officials said he would be acting on his own.

Today's march is expected to be the largest anti-American protest since militants occupied the embassy.
The Ruling Revolutionary Council declared the day a national holiday to commemorate the hejira, the flight by the Moslem prophet Mohammed from Mecca to Medina in what is now Saudi Arabia. The day, which begins the holy month of Moharram, is one of the holiest in the Moslem year and this year marks the beginning of the 15th Islamic century.
Khomeini said, "The shah was a criminal and giving him shelter was a big political error." The shah left his exile home in Mexico last month and entered a New York hospital, where he is being treated for cancer.
"If the shah is not returned the hostages will remain in the nest of spies (the embassy) and they will be put on trial. After that Carter will realize what a mistake he has made," Khomeini said in the broadcast from his retreat in the holy city of Qom, 100 miles south of Tehran.

Iranian national television stoked the religious fervor by broadcasting film taken last year of a series of bloody riots against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi that led to his exile in January and the downfall the next month of the government he left behind.

Heavy Snow Clogs Roads In Colorado

for north central Oklahoma after 6 1/2 inches of rain fell in the area.
Twenty-four inches of snow had fallen in Buena Vista, near Castle Rock, Colo., late Monday as the storm first struck the area. Two people were killed and a third seriously injured.
Industries in some areas shut down, with some 1,500 employees at the world headquarters of the Johns-Manville Corp. near Littleton, Colo., being given the day off.
Workers at the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons plant northwest of Denver initially were told to come to work two hours late, but then, as the storm worsened, they were told to stay home.

U.S. officials said he would be acting on his own.
Other U.S. officials, also asking not to be named, said that if Young went through with his plan — which they doubted — he would be acting on his own initiative.

With efforts to free the remaining hostages apparently at a stalemate, Andrew Young, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, told officials at the State Department he planned to go to Iran to try to win their release.
But one official, who asked that he not be identified, said the White House is opposed to any such mission unless there is a prior commitment from Khomeini that the hostages will be released.
"We told that to Andy," the official said. "I don't know whether he's going. We talked about it... and he said he was inclined not to go."

Blizzard Warning Posted
The National Weather Service posted a blizzard warning for northeastern Colorado. Heavy snow warnings were posted for much of the rest of the Colorado, and for parts of Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas.

Thanksgiving At Home
Young's Atlanta office said he intended to spend Thanksgiving weekend with his family.
Private overtures have been welcomed by the Carter administration since Iranian students seized the embassy and 62 Americans. Iranian officials have steadfastly refused to open direct lines of communication with U.S. officials.
Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark was sent as a presidential emissary shortly after the seizure of the embassy, but Iranian authorities refused to permit him to enter the country.
Plans were being made, meanwhile, to reunite the 13 freed hostages with their families in time for the holiday.
"We hope to have all released hostages home by Thanksgiving — on or before Thanksgiving," spokesman Carter said. He said Vance probably will be there to greet them.

U.N. Support Urged
Elsewhere, the administration tried to rally support for its position at the United Nations.
Security Council President Sergio Palacios de Vizio of Bolivia told reporters the United States found scant backing for a proposed statement against a trial of the hostages.
U.S. officials have not denied that some intelligence employees might be among the hostages remaining in the embassy, but White House press secretary Jody Powell insisted on Monday that "it is not a legitimate issue."

Colorado State Patrolman Keith Dameron described road conditions as "miserable" and said motorists were being urged to stay off the highways. He said officers had closed several highways, including Interstate 70 through Mount Vernon Canyon west of Denver.
"We have quite a bit of snow coming down," Dameron said.

He expressed confidence in dealing with the energy problems facing the nation, explaining, "I learned the oil business by being out in the oil fields, not reading about it or just attending some hearings. I rolled up my sleeves and went to work right here in West Texas."
See Kennedy Lagging
Bush "courageously predicted" that President Carter would hold off Sen. Edward Kennedy's challenge for the Democratic nomination, and said he planned to spend the next several weeks crisscrossing the country, concentrating on the states with early primaries and caucuses, such as Iowa, New Hampshire, Puerto Rico and Arkansas.
"People predicting Carter to get beat by Kennedy are underestimating the power of the incumbency," Bush said.
"When they look closely, they'll see Kennedy's voting record is to the left of George McGovern's, and Carter still has a reservoir of decency left."
"There is still a long way to go, but we realize the task before us and we're prepared to work harder than all the others," he concluded. "When Carter went into Iowa last time, his name recognition was low, but he built momentum and surprised some people. We're hoping to do the same."
"I like to say I'm the tortoise and there are a bunch of hares bouncing around out there," he said. "But I'll catch them."

Drivers Use Caution
"I think a lot of people realize how bad conditions are and are taking it pretty careful on the roads," he said. "I would guess there are a lot of fender benders we're not hearing about. People really should stay off the roads if they can."
Up to two feet of snow fell on Estee Park, on the east side of Rocky Mountain National Park.
Colorado's ski areas, which traditionally mark their season opening on Thanksgiving Day, also were reporting heavy snowfall. However, motorists will face difficulty in reaching ski areas.

Bush Critical Of Carter's Foreign Policy pull together and rally behind the president and his diplomatic policy."

When asked if he thought the Ayatollah Khomeini will live up to his threat to try the remaining American hostages as spies, Bush replied, "I honestly don't know. What we're looking at here is complete anarchy with no respect whatsoever for international order."
In expressing his support for decontrol of the oil industry, he said, "We need to go forward on all energy fronts, and we can't do that by getting the government into the energy business. In my book, controlling the price only guarantees a shortage. We need less regulation, not to kill off our ability to compete."

Arab League Rejects Ban

Emirates to discuss "the situation in Iran," Saudi sources said.
In its first full session, the league approved a Saudi proposal to establish a council of economic and foreign ministers to discuss coordination of Arab economic policies.
This was seen as a move to shelve Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's call for an all-out economic offensive against Israel and its friends.
"We must exploit as fully as possible the full weight of our vast economic potential in a worldwide struggle against Israeli aggression," Hussein told the summit attended by 14 Arab kings and heads of state and ELO chief Yasser Arafat.
He said the Arab world is determined to oppose Israel and its allies "despite the surrender and treachery of the Egyptian regime." Among the Arab economic weapons is oil, he said, and "we must compel" Israel's friends "to understand that their interests in our area cannot survive as long as they persist in their policies." He did not specifically name the United States.

Corporate Profits, GNP Rise In Third Quarter

ed big profits because of high interest rates which attracted foreign capital, Petrick said.
However, U.S. automakers suffered large losses during the third quarter, Petrick noted, as did many companies producing other long-lasting consumer items.
This trend could well continue into the fourth quarter, many economists predict, particularly if the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries increases oil prices again next month.
The department also reported that the inflation-adjusted gross national product, which measures the value of the nation's total output of goods and services, increased 3.5 percent at an annual rate during the third quarter, compared with a preliminary estimate last month of a 2.4 percent rise.
That extra increase more than wiped out a 2.3 percent drop in the GNP during the second quarter, a decline that led at the time to warnings the recession was under way.
Real GNP, adjusted for inflation, increased from $1,422.3 billion in the second quarter to $1,434.4 billion between June and September, the Commerce Department said.
While final sales rose significantly, Commerce said real inventory accumulation, which rose in the second quarter, decreased in the third.
"Despite the revision, I still don't see recent indications of a healthy economy," said the department official who requested anonymity.
The third-quarter increase was attributed largely to a 6.5 percent increase in final sales, compared with a 3.9 percent drop during the second quarter, the department said.
But retail sales were reported to have slumped last month, particularly in the auto industry, and the income of Americans continued to lose ground to inflation.
The department, reporting continuing inflation, placed the GNP price index at 9.8 percent, up from 9.5 percent in the second quarter.
This inflation index is smaller than the more-publicized Consumer Price Index, which includes imports such as foreign oil which has risen in cost by about 60 percent this year.

While after-tax corporate profits rose at an annual rate from $139.3 billion in the second quarter to $147.9 billion last quarter, the department said company profit margins fell from 4.5 percent to 4.1 percent.
This was caused by slightly higher production costs brought on by inflation, Petrick said.
Before-tax profits, meanwhile, increased from $227.9 billion to $242.5 billion at an annual rate, or a 6.4 percent rise.

Gunmen Seize Mecca Shrine

The Kuwaiti newspaper Al-Qabas said a group of "hiredlings" had stormed a building in Mecca took 90 persons hostage. It did not identify the building or say whose "hiredlings" the invaders were.
The Saudi defense minister flew from Riyadh to Mecca to take personal charge of the security forces there, sources in Tunis said.
Tuesday was the last day of the Islamic year 1399, a religious period. At this time of year, Moslems from around the world traditionally make a sacred pilgrimage to Mecca to visit the Great Mosque around the Kaaba.
The Kaaba is a small cube-like building built that encloses the Black Stone, the most sacred object in Islam. The site was a pagan holy place before the prophet Mohammed founded the Moslem faith in Mecca in the early 7th century.
Various Islamic sects have coveted the stone, which is guarded by the conservative Wahabi Moslem sect to which the Saudi royal family belongs. In the last reported incident, an Afghan Moslem tried to remove the stone in 1932.

David Barrett, 24, of 3002 Fourth St., Apt. 139, was in satisfactory condition late Tuesday at Health Sciences Center Hospital with injuries he received when the car he was repairing fell on his chest.
Barrett, a Texas Tech University senior, reportedly was working underneath his small foreign car that was parked in front of his apartment about 11:20 a.m. Tuesday when the vehicle fell on him. Reports indicate one of the vehicle's wheels fell across Barrett's chest.

Coronado Girls Lose To Sandies

Coronado seemed to have everything going in its favor during Tuesday night's bi-district volleyball matchup with Amarillo High.

The Mustangs had the homecourt advantage, for one thing. And for another, the Patti Jones-coached club was just coming off a big second-game win.

But somehow the roof fell in, rafters and all.

Trailing only 6-3 in the third and final game, Coronado lost eight straight points and in the process fell to the visiting Sandies 15-4. AHS won the split decision over CHS 15-10, 8-15, 15-4.

Shanna Kelley swung the winning paw in the third game. She took over with AHS nursing a narrow four-point lead and commenced to serve the eight points.

Coronado managed to break Kelley's serve and take over trailing 14-3. Tammy Scott helped with one point, but it wasn't quite enough.

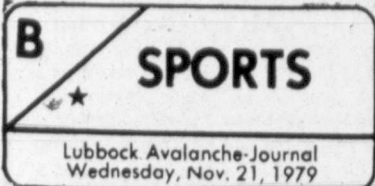

On the next point, Stacey Youngblood, who dominated play at the net all night against the Mustangs, served the ball and after a couple of sets by the Sandies, Cindy Hunt slapped home the winner.

Tammy Edmonson had given Coronado a 1-0 lead on her first serve. But that was the only time the Mustangs would lead the Sandies in the deciding game.

Amarillo's Karen DeArmond stepped in, following Edmonson's serve, and reeled off five straight points. After that, the Sandies never looked back.

Coronado and Amarillo, winners of Districts 4-AAAA and 3-AAAA, respectively, had entered the bi-district clash with similar records. The Mustangs were 24-7 and the Sandies 27-4. The similar won-loss marks had prompted Miss Jones to comment prior to the contest, "It should really be a close one."

She wasn't far from wrong.

The first game proved that.

The two teams battled down to the net before Amarillo was able to take a 15-10 win. Coronado had come within one point, 11-10, of catching AHS.

GETTING UNDER IT — Coronado's Debbie Terrell goes to her knees in an attempt to stop an Amarillo High shot during volleyball play Tuesday night at the CHS gym. Landry Returns To 'Hollywood'

DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas coach Tom Landry talked about emotion, dedication and enthusiasm Tuesday, but on top of that he found out he wasn't through talking about Thomas Henderson.

Even Houston coach Bum Phillips had an opinion, although at first he didn't want to give one.

The "Henderson affair" — in which Landry dismissed the Pro Bowl linebacker from the team and thus brought about Henderson's retirement from football — still overshadowed any advance chatter about Dallas' critical meeting with the Houston Oilers Thursday.

One Dallas newspaper Tuesday put the Henderson story on its front page alongside the lead story concerning Iran. In Houston, where pitcher Nolan Ryan signed with the Astros for $1 million a year Monday, a newspaper gave Henderson and Ryan equal billing.

Phillips, whose Oilers are tied for the AFC Central lead with Pittsburgh, was reluctant to discuss Henderson and what his dismissal from the Cowboys' might mean.

"I don't have any opinion," said Phillips. "That's not something that affects our football team. Everybody has got their own situations. We've had things that were similar, but maybe not quite like that."

"When we have things like that, I don't think Dallas could tell you how I feel about it. I wouldn't care how they feel and I don't think they care what I think about this."

Finally, however, Phillips came forth with a brief personal feeling. "If a guy can't get along with someone for some reason or another, regardless of what it is or whose fault it is; if you don't get along one place you might not get along someplace else real good, either."

Landry, at his weekly media meeting, said his team was not playing with as much emotion or dedication as he would like, but pointed out that it is hard for a successful team to rise to the occasion all the time.

But just as the subject of Henderson appeared to be dropped, it would come back again.

"It would be hard for him to handle a second string role," Landry said. "His ego is such that he needs the starting role to function effectively."

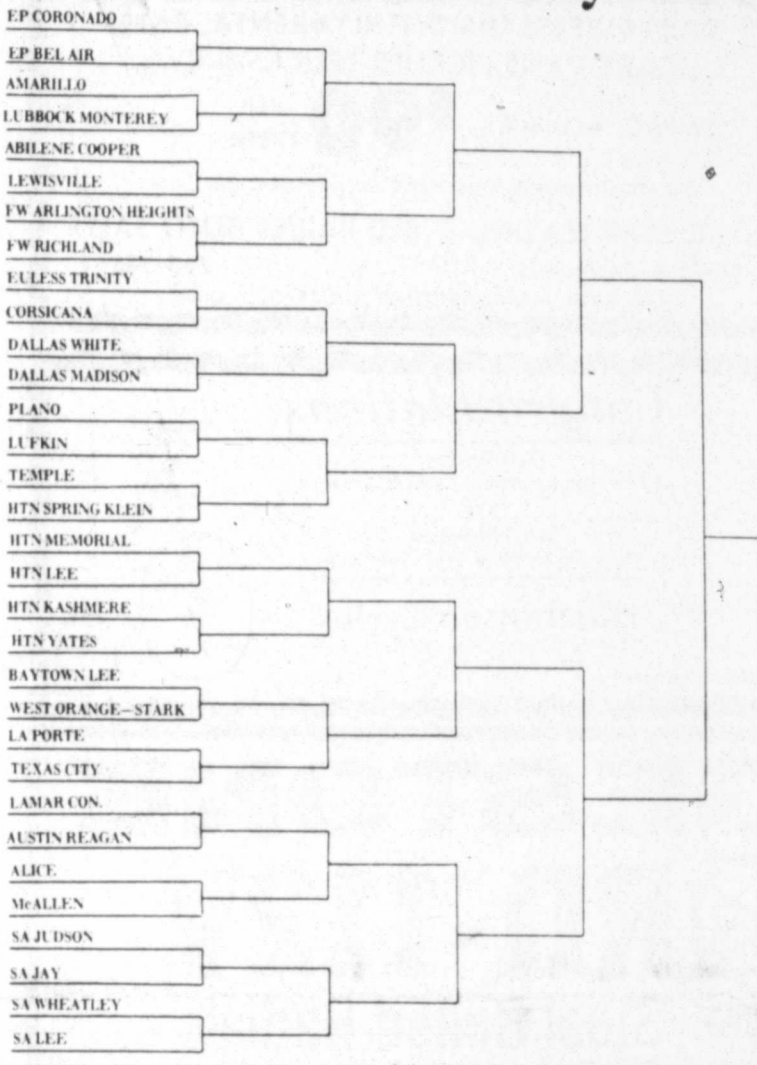

And if Henderson had been relegated to second-string status, Landry was afraid Henderson's disruption factor would be increased.

"Very definitely, I do," the coach said. "If I hadn't thought he would have affected the team I wouldn't have gotten rid of him."

Mike Hegman, best remembered for swiping the ball from Terry Bradshaw and running for a touchdown in last season's Super Bowl, will move into the starting strongside linebacking position.

"Mike is the only one (linebacker) we have healthy," said Landry. "We don't have many numbers at linebacker right now."

Texas Tech continued its stepped-up preparation for Friday's Southwest Conference football clash with Houston Tuesday afternoon with a quick and productive practice.

"We got finished a little quicker today," Red Raider head coach Rex Dockery said. "I thought we had a good practice. We got quite a bit done."

The Red Raiders take their 3-5-2 record into the Astrodom and in front of the nation's viewing public at 2 p.m. Friday for the nationally televised battle with the 8-1 and ninth-ranked Cougars.

Freshman Jim Hart and Mark James continued to run Tech's top two offensive units. Hart is scheduled to start against the Cougars and James will also see playing time. Hart has started the last two outings for Tech because of the absence of regular starter Ron Reeves, who has been out of action since the Texas contest three weeks ago.

The Red Raiders didn't have a great deal to cheer about during last Saturday's 35-10 loss to Southern Methodist, but two players emerged to capture the Avalanche-Journal Player of the Week honors.

Junior tight end L.M. Cummings, who suffered a shoulder injury against the Mustangs, hauled in two passes for 17 yards and graded out well as a blocker to earn A-J Offensive Player of the Week honors.

Tech defender Andrew Thomas was cited for his aggressive play against the Mustangs.

Jones' Fight Cancelled

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Low ticket sales for former football player Ed "Too Tall" Jones' third professional boxing match forced the promoter to cancel it Tuesday.

Promoter Bruce Trampler said he wanted to sell at least 3,000 tickets. But a spokesman for the Tucson Community Center, where the fight was to be held, said that as of Monday, total receipts were $2,000, meaning that roughly 200 tickets had been sold.

The fight was scheduled for Tuesday night as part of a seven-fight card. The entire card was cancelled.

Jones, who won his first two fights in the last month after leaving the Dallas Cowboys pro football team, was scheduled to fight Allan Johnson in a six-round bout.

"Although it's not as large a market, we thought Tucson would respond with at least 3,000," Trampler said.

Bum Enjoys Edge On Cowboys

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers Coach Bum Phillips says the Dallas Cowboys have been better to them than he has to them — and he'd like to extend that arrangement through Thursday's Thanksgiving Day game in Texas Stadium.

"When I was coaching at SMU, I used to live right behind their practice field and their offices were right across the road from ours," Phillips said. "I'd go over and look at film and use their projectors. They've been really nice to me. They've done a lot more for me than I've done for them."

The Oilers and Cowboys renew their intra-state rivalry Thursday in an important game for both teams. The winner will lead its division and the loser will drop from the lead.

Houston, 9-3, shares the American Football Conference Central Division lead with Pittsburgh while the Cowboys are locked in a three-way tie with Washington and Philadelphia for the National Football Conference's Eastern Division lead with 8-4 records.

"A few weeks ago, after we'd lost a couple games we should have won, it looked like the Dallas game would be a must game for us," Oiler strong safety Mike Reinfield said. "It still is, but right now I'd say the real pressure is on them."

"They've been losing and they're a little banged up. This will be an important game for them to turn things around."

Phillips said quarterback Dan Pastorini, who suffered a scratched eye in Sunday's 42-21 victory over Cincinnati, would be ready to play against the Cowboys.

Pastorini wore a patch on the eye Tuesday but Phillips said it would come off in time for practice.

Phillips said the Oilers would be concentrating on winning a football game rather than increasing in-state bragging rights.

Hot Buckeyes Zero In On Crimson Tide

By The Associated Press
Only 24 points separated top-rated Alabama from runnerup Ohio State in this week's Associated Press college football poll, as the Buckeyes continued their relentless drive toward No. 1.

In the latest balloting by a national panel of 65 sports writers and broadcasters, the Crimson Tide, 30-0 winners over Miami, Fla. last Saturday, received 32 first-place votes and a total of 1,238 points.

Ohio State, which completed a perfect regular season by defeating Michigan 18-15 Saturday, continued to gain ground on Alabama. The Buckeyes collected 18 first-place votes and 1,214 points.

Last week, Alabama led Ohio State by 20 first-place votes, 34-14, and by 44 points, 1,262-1,218.

The top six teams — Alabama, Ohio State, Nebraska, Southern California, Florida State and Texas — held onto their positions, but Arkansas replaced Oklahoma as the No. 7 team, with the Sooners dropping to eighth, a reversal of last week's ratings.

Nebraska, which defeated Iowa State 34-3 Saturday, received four first-place votes and 1,157 points to edge Southern Cal, idle last weekend, for third place in the poll. The Trojans had 10 votes for No. 1 but only 1,151 points.

Florida State, which accepted a bid to the Orange Bowl and overwhelmed Memphis State 66-17 last weekend, tallied 1,019 points for fifth place.

Illinois Fires Gary Moeller

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Gary Moeller was fired Tuesday as head football coach of the University of Illinois after his third consecutive losing season.

The university's athletic board met behind closed doors at the home of chairman John Hummel and voted to accept the recommendation of athletic director Neale Stoner that Moeller be fired. The actual vote was not released.

On Saturday, Moeller finished his third year as head coach of Illinois with a 29-13 victory at Northwestern to bring his team's record to 2-8-1. He was 6-24-3 in his three seasons. Moeller had two years left on his five-year contract when he was fired.

Before announcing its decision, the board listened to Moeller and a group of his players who had threatened to quit the team if he was fired.

Idalou Hopes To Turn Tables On Mules

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Will history repeat itself? Can lightning strike twice in the same spot? Muleshoe coach Mike Wartes hopes not. Idalou coach Tom Ritchey doesn't think so.

A little elaboration. Last year Idalou beat Muleshoe solidly 21-7 during the regular season. Both teams went on to win their respective districts, setting up a bi-district playoff meeting.

That cold night in Canyon, Muleshoe turned the tables on the Wildcats, taking home a 21-6 victory, a bi-district championship and the dubious honor of facing Children in the regionals.

This year the setting is much the same, except reversed. When Muleshoe and Idalou met during the regular season the Mules came out ahead, 21-15. Can the Wildcats keep tradition alive and beat back the Mania?

"I don't know," says Ritchey. "We lost a lot of kids in that Lockney game. We'll really have to play great to play with them."

"They're romping and stomping and raring to go."

Wingback Gary Smith, free safety Raymond Hill and offensive guard Ray Foreman are the starters the Wildcats lost in last week's 15-13 upset loss to Lockney.

Brad DeBusk (48 completions in 98 attempts for 666 yards).
Muleshoe's got that too, only thing is, it's in one guy.
Quarterback Mike Northcutt, last year's all-South Plains selection at that position, has completed 39 of 73 passes for 714 yards and nine touchdowns. That's an average of over 18 yards per completion.
He is equally effective running the option. He has rushed for 657 yards on 125 tries, an average of 5.2 yards a carry. He has scored eight times on the ground.

Put it together, and the Mules benefit to the tune of almost seven yards every time Northcutt calls his own number.

Muleshoe also has a strong running fullback in Zeke Pecina. He has carried the ball 134 times for 615 yards this year, an average of 4.5 yards a carry.

"It's going to be a tough game," said Wartes. "But it's great to be back. We've always had good games in the past, but let's hope it turns out the way it has in the past."

In the area's other Class AA playoff game, Slaton travels south to Snyder to meet Stamford, winner of District 6-AA.

Stamford coach Jerry Taylor doesn't see much of a contest. "We're extremely small," he says. "We just happened to be in a weak district."

That may or may not be true, but there's no arguing that the Tigers survived a tough district season. They finished in a three-way tie with Seminole and Tahoka and had to go to a coin toss after last week's 20-0 loss to Tahoka to claim the District 5-AA title.

Slaton has averaged 256 yards a game offense behind the balanced running game of Lance Bownds and Jesse Titus. Titus averaged 105 yards a game and Bownds 95.

But defense is really the Tiger strong point. In 10 games, their opponents gained only 1,734 yards, an average of 173.4 yards a game.

They'll be trying to stop a pro-set veer offense from Stamford which includes fullback Edward Gardner, quarterback Mike Cox and halfbacks Victor Davis and Rocky Lewis.

Thing is, Gardner is the biggest of the bunch at 160 pounds. Quarterback Cox weighs in at 153 and the two halfbacks are about 145 each.

Coach Taylor also pointed out wide receiver Marty Gomez as one of the keys to Stamford's success this year, but added "He's real small and not real fast."

Raider Runner Finishes Low

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (Special) — Texas Tech's Greg Lautenslager found the competition awfully tough here Monday as he finished well back in the pack in the NCAA cross-country championships. Lautenslager finished 165th in the field of 250 runners. Washington's Harry Rono won the race for the third straight year and UTEP won the team championship — also for the third time in a row.

LCC Cager Gets Honor

Kevin Wharton, the Chaparrals' 6-6 forward, has been picked as Lubbock Christian College's athlete of the week. During the past week, Wharton collected 28 rebounds and 13 blocked shots. He hit 21 of 36 field goals during the three-game stretch and made four of five foul shots. He also had 07 seven assists. However, he was in foul trouble and the Chaps lost two of three games last week.

Krupp To Wrestle Lawman In Bout

Karl Krupp will tangle with The Lawman tonight at the Fair Park Coliseum in a "no holds barred match" in the Main Event. There will be no disqualification allowed for either Krupp or The Lawman — so this one could get bloody. The action starts at 8 p.m. In other matches Dory Funk Jr. will battle the Super Destroyer and James Dillon will tangle with perennial favorite Ricky Romero. The tag-team match will feature the rugged duo of Larry Lane and Gary Young against equally tough Gypsy Joe and Alex Perez.

Documents Show 46 Farmers Cashed In On $10 Million In Relief

By BRIAN B. KING
WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department records show that 46 farmers received a total of more than $10 million in disaster payments from the Agriculture Department in the last three years, according to documents released Tuesday.

According to the records made public by Sen. Robert Morgan, one California farmer received a check last year for more than $812,836. Another was paid $721,078 to cover crop losses, according to the documents.

Grain and cotton growers unable to plant a crop or who harvest an abnormally small one because of drought, flood or other disaster are partially reimbursed by the federal government if they have cooperated with land-aiding programs, under present law.

Like other farm subsidies, the disaster program is geared to production rather than need and favors the largest operations. The size of the reimbursement depends on acreage planted, normal yields and the actual harvest.

The payments program is handled by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The House last month voted for new limits on a disaster emergency loan program run by the Farmers Home Administration, under which a few large California farms have borrowed millions of dollars despite substantial assets.

The Texas Department of Corrections received $105,002 for losses at its prison farms in 1977, when the state had a budget surplus above $100 million, Morgan said. The state governments of Washington and Montana also have received large payments.

They were among nearly 450 farmers, land companies and seed firms who received more than $50,000 each in the last three years. Altogether, Morgan said, 96,570 producers, or less than 4 percent of the nation's 2.6 million farms and ranches, received annual payments in three of the last four years.

Since 1977, 30 farms have received between $100,000 and $200,000, 9 have gotten between $200,000 and $300,000, 3 have been paid between $300,000 and $400,000 and 4 have gotten more than that.

Morgan, D-N.C., said in a Senate speech that he favors "the total elimination of this program" but would settle for a payments limit of $50,000 per producer until a new crop insurance program becomes law.

"We are not talking about massive abuse," he said. "There are nearly 2.6 million farmers in this country, many of whom have never received a disaster payment. However, I think that abuse does exist and should be remedied" through crop insurance.

As part of a 1977 overhaul of farm programs, Congress specified that all types of payments combined should not exceed $40,000 per farm in 1977, rising to $55,000 in 1980. It later exempted disaster payments from the ceiling.

"The program has two fundamental problems," Morgan said. "The first has to do with excessive payments, the second with the fact that the same farmers are in the program on a continual basis."

"The point of all this has nothing to do with who is receiving the money, but simply the fact that people are receiving money of this magnitude," he added.

Weather-related farming risks should be faced with crop insurance because it "puts all farmers on an equal footing," Morgan said.

The Senate two months ago approved the insurance program, a compromise version of a 1978 proposal by President Carter. A slightly different measure is pending in the House.

Under either plan, the government would pay part of a farmer's premiums.

The Extension Service.

The use of manure on problem soils and high rate application of manure on irrigated lands will be discussed by Dr. A. C. Mathers. He is a soil scientist specializing in soil chemistry and fertility at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Southwest Great Plains Research Center, Bushland.

Weed problems and control methods will be explored by Dr. Rupert D. Palmer, extension weed specialist from College Station.

Hauling and spreading feedlot manure will be a topic of Dr. John M. Sweeten, extension agricultural engineer — waste management from College Station.

Sweeten also will discuss the convertion of feedlot manure to energy.

A panel of producers will discuss the utilization of feedlot manure. The discussion leader will be Charles Hottel, Castro County extension agent.

PLAINS AGRICULTURE

By DUANE HOWELL

"STRONG AND VIGOROUS OPPOSITION is expanding rapidly to the unreasonable and punitive interpretation and enforcement of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act (FLCRA)... by the U. S. Department of Labor's wage-hour agents."

This has been reported by Don Smith, executive vice president of the Lubbock-based Texas Independent Farmers Association, one of the leaders in seeking relief from what critics contend is an unrealistic application of the law by the department.

"Although no official action has been announced to change a deplorable situation," Smith says, "it is now understood that wage-hour agents in their future inspections of cotton gins will be looking for violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act rather than issuing the hotly contested notices of violations of FLCRA."

In the legislative area, two House bills (H.R. 5575 and H.R. 4151) have been introduced, Smith says, and attempts are underway in the Senate to add technical amendments to existing bills — all with the purpose of clarifying the original intent of Congress.

THE NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL has hand-delivered to the secretary of labor a letter signed by 52 senators expressing their deep concern about unfair administration and interpretation of the law.

Also, Smith says, the Small Business Administration's Office of Advocacy has the problem under review.

"These actions are in addition to the individual protests from members of Congress and ginning associations that commenced toward the close of last year's ginning season," Smith says.

For example, TIGA attorneys and cooperative ginners since 1978 have been representing member gins determined by the Labor Department to be in violation of FLCRA.

"This legal assistance has taken the form of correspondence and meetings with wage-hour officials and appeals by means of requests for administrative hearings," Smith says.

"The appellate review process could take several years at great expense to individual gins in this battle against bureaucratic arrogance."

THE FLCRA WAS ENACTED BY CONGRESS to require registration of farm labor contractors, or crew leaders, and thus curb exploitation of migrant farm workers.

Essentially, the law makes it illegal for anyone to recruit or transport workers for a fee unless they are registered and establishes a penalty for any employer who uses an unregistered crew leader. And it is said to be the only law that prohibits the hiring of undocumented aliens.

The Department of Labor came under fire for the way it was enforcing the act following the agency's interpretation of the law to define virtually all farm workers as "migrant" workers and almost all farmers, ginners and other agricultural employers as "farm labor contractors."

Under those interpretations, both farmers and ginners on the High Plains have been either cited for FLCRA violations or threatened by attorneys for Texas Rural Legal Aid, Inc., says the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., of Lubbock.

In at least one instance, PGC officials say, an attorney for the TRLA has called on a producer to pay penalties which the cotton grower organization maintains would be far in excess of what would appear to be justified by the provisions of FLCRA.

THE TRLA ACCUSED THE SAME PRODUCER of violating the minimum wage law after the Labor Department's wage-hour division already had checked his records and found no fault, says Ed Dean, field service director of the PGC.

Earlier this year, the Labor Department's "unwarranted actions" under FLCRA were discussed with about 60 lawmakers and their staffs at a "congressional awareness" breakfast in Washington. The breakfast was sponsored by the National Council of Agricultural Employers.

Dean, a director and member of the council's executive committee, says the PGC and NCAE have continued to take an active part in the effort to modify the Labor Department's actions.

Meanwhile, Smith says, Judge Lewis F. Oberdorfer of the U. S. District Court in Washington, D. C., has ruled that the Immigration and Naturalization Service overstepped its legal bounds when INS officers arrested aliens on private property in a Washington restaurant raid last November.

The judge said the INS raid was illegal because the search warrant did not name the aliens being sought and also ruled that the raid violated the restaurant's rights of privacy.

A GENERAL UPTURN IN COMMODITY FUTURES prices during the afternoon in response to heightened concern about the Iranian situation spilled into the cotton market Tuesday and nearby months closed with gains of 50 to 44 points.

But floor brokers said end-of-session local profit taking pared spot December gains to 50 points to 68.65 cents after an earlier 83-point rise. March added 44 points to close at 70.30 and May gained 49 points to settle at 71.81.

Brokers said local and commission house buying was a major influence during the late upturn as the market ignored bearish implications of the weekly trader commitment report. Estimated volume was 10,050 lots.

The commitment report showed speculative longs at the close of last week at a bulging 70.9 percent, up 4.8 percent from the previous week, and speculative shorts at 49.1 percent, up 0.8 percent. Thus speculators were 21.8 percent net long, up 4 percent.

Trade longs were at 21.3 percent, down 2.5 percent, and trade shorts were at 43.2 percent, up 1.2 percent. So while speculators were net buyers, the trade was a net seller.

There has been only one other time in the last five years that speculators have been more than 70 percent long, analysts said. That was last June, when speculative fever was high over a possible squeeze in July.

Speculators at that time pushed their long holdings to a whopping 74.6 percent. The percentage dipped to around 72 and 71 and then began a precipitous decline.

U. S. COTTON HARVESTING STOOD at 58 percent done at the close of last week, the USDA reported, up three points from a year earlier and four points more than average.

The Texas crop was 65 percent harvested, against 40 percent a year earlier and the average of 44 percent. Frost stopped cotton crop development in Arkansas and Mississippi, USDA reported.

Harvesting was 73 percent complete in Mississippi, down from 98 percent a year ago and the average of 81 percent, and was 79 percent done in Arkansas, compared with 93 percent in 1978 and the average of 82 percent.

California growers had harvested 86 percent of their crop, up from 56 percent a year earlier, and the Arizona crop was 73 percent picked, up from 64 percent in 1978 and the average of 66 percent.

Classing offices on the High Plains, now operating seven days a week, received samples Monday from 29,300 bales, reflecting a quickened harvest tempo. The Lamesa office put on a night shift Monday.

A possible strike at a compress at Altus, Okla., has prompted 26 gins that normally ship cotton there to prepare for movement to other warehouses if necessary, sources reported.

Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and corn futures rose moderately Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Uneasiness over recent developments in the Iranian situation helped bolster prices for both grains.

Buying by local traders pushed corn futures to "buy stops," or predetermined prices at which brokerage house enter buy orders automatically for outside customers. Some commercial buying also boosted corn futures.

Hebert Lands Top Spot

By The Associated Press
Beaumont Hebert, which started the season as the No. 7-ranked Class 3A team in the state, will go into the state playoffs this week with the No. 1 ranking in the final Associated Press Schoolboy Football poll.

Hebert, 10-0, will go against No. 2-ranked Huntsville in one of the glamour first-round matchups.

A meeting between the state's first- and second-ranked teams was made possible when Kerrville Tivy, last week's leader, lost to San Antonio Madison, 28-11.

That cleared the way for Hebert to move up from the runner-up position and Huntsville to jump one notch to second. Tivy dropped to No. 9 in the final balloting.

Meanwhile, Abilene Cooper and China Spring completed the regular season as the season long top-ranked teams in Classes 4A and A and Childress retained its No. 1 Class 2A rank going into post-season play.

San Antonio Churchill was the lone final week loser in 4A, dropping from No. 9 out of the top 10 after a 7-0 loss to San Antonio Lee. Lewisville replaced Churchill in the No. 10 position.

Fourth-ranked Paris also was an upset victim in Class 3A and dropped to 10th after a 7-6 loss to Mount Pleasant.

The only blot on any 2A ranked team's record was Refugio's 14-14 tie with George West. Refugio dropped from ninth to 10th.

Nos. 8 Boyd and 10 Pettus dropped from the Class A list after final week losses and were replaced by No. 9 Wolfe City and No. 10 New Deal.

Westerners Triumph To Coach's Delight

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
His season is only two games old, but already Lubbock High coach Craig Wells is ready for track to start.

"I think I'm going to quit now and retire as the only undefeated coach in the city," Wells said Tuesday night as his Westerners beat Dunbar 51-49 for their second victory in as many games.

That may not seem like enough to base a career on to you, but it equalled the total number of wins Wells and his LHS bunch wracked up all of last year.

"We've already done as good as we did all last year," the ebullient coach said in his locker room after the game. "But we worked excellently hard for it. It took patience and just pure guts."

Patience almost lost the Westerners the game, as they let a 27-22 lead just after the half be whittled to 31-30 with about a minute and a half left in the third period.

The Westerners ballooned the margin to 35-30, but then were outscored 7-0 over a three and a half-minute span that saw Dunbar take the lead on a short jumper from the wing by Joe Bagley with 7:23 remaining and then add a free throw by Daryl Harris with six and a half showing.

The teams see-sawed the remainder of the game before Kirk Cole made a field goal and then sunk a pair of free throws with 26 seconds left to ensure the win.

Cole led Lubbock scorers with 18 points while Oscar Lopez added 15. Dunbar was led by big Stanley Whitfield's 19.

"We knew we were going to have trouble with Whitfield, B. Wells said. "He's 6-8 and our biggest guys are 6-3. We knew we had to shoot well from the outside to make up for that."

"But we did. Heck, anytime you go 2-24 and then win the first two games of the season it's great."

CHS Survives ACHS

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
If somebody's looking for a scapegoat, then Barry Arnwine will gladly oblige his carcass.

Probably even change his name to Billy.

Substituting almost too freely, Arnwine watched as the Coronado Mustangs blew a big fourth-quarter lead and then had to hold off Amarillo Caprock for a 67-63 high school basketball win Tuesday night.

"I did what I thought was best," grinned Arnwine following the game. "I just felt it was better to give the younger kids a chance to play when we were winning by 20 points. That doesn't help that much. But I'm going to be counting heavily on the bench all year. They've got to get in some playing time."

Touche.

Late in the third quarter, Coronado erupted for 14 unanswered points to hold a 57-43 lead going into the fourth and final stanza. It looked like a cakewalk from then on out.

But with a little over two minutes remaining in the game, Caprock's Phil Platt hit a four-foot jumper to close the gap to 63-62.

"Let's say then I started to pucker," commented Arnwine.

But Sam Law didn't.

The CHS senior hit both ends of a one-and-one attempt with 40 seconds left that gave CHS a three-point lead 65-62.

With 13 seconds remaining, Greg Ewing bucketed a free throw to cut the margin to two points, 65-63. But on the second freebie, Ewing intentionally missed the shot, hoping the ball would bounce back into his hands in front of the goal. But the plan didn't work quite that way.

So Coronado, off to a fast start, upped its record to 2-1, while Caprock fell to 0-3.

"We've had a long haul these past few days," continued Arnwine. "We played three games in four days. Plus we've had our tests. It took a toll."

Panhandle jumped out to a 6-0 lead early in the game and then with about 16 minutes left in the period rolled out to a 22-8 margin.
