

Reward Of $1,000 Posted In Beating Death Case

SETTING its sights on the city's most recent murder, Crime Line is offering a reward of $1,000 to anyone with information leading to the solution of the beating death of 22-year-old Raymond Padilla, who died Friday, two days after he was found severely beaten about the face and head.

Also, Lubbock's privately-funded crime-fighting program has posted rewards of $300 each for information on two fugitives and seven recent burglaries of houses under construction.

In the seven months of its existence, Crime Line callers have helped Lubbock Police clear 100 felonies and charge nearly 70 criminals.

Persons with information concerning any felony crime are urged to call Crime Line. Callers remain completely anonymous.

Persons wishing to make tax-deductible donations to the Crime Line reward fund should mail their checks to Box 2000, Lubbock.

In Lubbock's latest murder, Raymond Padilla, 22, of 2910 Ave. H, Apt. No. 1, was found lying next to the street in the 2700 block of Texas Ave. at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday. Police said Padilla was lying face up on the west side of the street, and had bruises and severe swelling of the left side of his face, with dried blood on and around his left eye, which was swollen completely shut.

Police later learned that Padilla, who died early Friday at Health Sciences Center Hospital of those injuries, had been in Lee's Lounge about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday and that he saw a man he had had some trouble with earlier. Witnesses said Padilla left the club, and that the suspect left soon thereafter, and was not seen again until police found him about 7:30 a.m.

Witnesses described the man who followed Padilla from the lounge as a Mexican-American in his early 50s, who stood about 5-foot-6 with a stocky build and short hair.

Persons with information leading to the arrest and indictment of a suspect in this case could be eligible for a $1,000 reward.

Lubbock police also are seeking two fugitives, and Crime Line has posted $300 rewards for information on them. The first is Vicky Diaz Montez, a Mexican-American female, age 23, who has been charged with felony theft and aggravated assault. She is described as being 5-foot-2, 135 pounds with brown eyes, black hair and has a dot tattooed on her left hand.

Police also are seeking Henry Felder, a black male age 44, who has been charged with felony theft. He is described as 5-foot-8, 155 pounds with black hair and brown eyes. Police said he has a woman's head tattooed on his left shoulder and has scars on his right eye and his upper lip.

Seven houses under construction have been victimized by burglaries and thefts in recent weeks, and Crime Line is offering rewards of $300 for information on any of the cases.

On Nov. 1, someone took a Granger electric 1 1/2 horsepower motor, Granger brand; seven blue venter jacks and three adjustable speedloads, valued at $704, from a house at 4408 89th St.

On Nov. 4, at 4950 S. Loop 289, someone took five rolls of 6x6x10 wire mesh, valued at $300.

On Oct. 5, at 7707 Ave. W, 46 sheets of 1/2" C.D. plywood, valued at $393, was taken.

On Oct. 6, at 2805 95th St., someone took several items, including a cloth brown and blue plaid sofa, a matching love seat; a wooden coffee table with cabinet; a lamp with a porcelain base and brownish shade; an off-white 4x4 throw pillow; a Magnavox cabinet

U.S. Backs U.N. Debate On Iran

No Saudi Oil Quota Cut Seen

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said on Sunday that Saudi officials are considering a U.S. request to keep oil production at peak levels to help avoid another world shortage, and one official indicated the Saudis will go along at least for a while.

"I think we must all await their decision," Miller said, adding he did not expect one during his visit. He leaves today for Abu Dhabi and travels to Kuwait on Tuesday.

He met with Finance Minister Mohammed Abu Al-Khail, and Oil Minister Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani. Later, at a joint news conference with Miller, Al-Khail said he saw no reason to reduce daily production from 9.5 million barrels in the immediate future.

While the Saudis are expected to keep the current production level until the end of the year, they are known to be divided on whether to extend it into 1980.

Miller is on a six-day tour the oil-producing nations not only to plead the U.S. case for maintained high production now that Iranian oil is unavailable to America, but to try to persuade them to keep expected oil price increases at a minimum.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, of which Saudi Arabia is a member, meets Dec. 17 in Caracas.

Bani Sadr Cancels U.N. Trip

By The Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim in New York Sunday called for an urgent meeting of the Security Council to consider the Iranian crisis, saying it poses a grave threat to international peace. The Carter administration said it "strongly supported" Waldheim's request. Iranian officials were not immediately available for comment.

Pars, the official Iranian news agency, also reported Sunday that Acting Foreign Minister Abolhassan Bani Sadr would fly to New York today to address the Security Council and demand that the United States send the shah back to Iran. Hours later, a government spokesman said the trip would be put off for a week because of an upcoming religious holiday and a constitution referendum.

State Department officials in Washington denied the administration's support of Waldheim's appeal represented a concession to Iran, which previously had sought a Security Council meeting. But the State Department earlier had opposed Iran's request, insisting that the hostages be freed first.

A State Department official, who asked not to be identified, told reporters the United States agreed to the meeting because it was considered certain the council would adopt a strong resolution supporting the American contention that the hostages be released immediately and without precondition. The council previously condemned the embassy takeover.

Diplomatic sources said the 15 council members would hold private consultations starting at 10:30 a.m. Monday, and if they agree to Waldheim's request, a public debate could begin at 3 p.m.

The 49 Americans held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran were healthy but "anxious" and were still being kept with their hands bound loosely behind their backs, according to a congressman who saw some of them Sunday. Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, was the first American allowed to visit the captives

Saudis Blast Into Holiest Mosque

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (UPI) — Saudi troops backed by armored cars blasted their way into the Grand Mosque in Mecca and fought "room-to-room" through Islam's holiest shrine until the last of the Muslim fanatics holed up inside had been killed or routed, diplomatic sources said Sunday.

The sources said the final assault was launched Saturday night as the holy city of Mecca rocked to the sounds of explosions and gunfire and smoke billowed into the sky from a fire raging inside the sacred shrine.

By morning, Saudi forces had finished their "mopping-up" operations and by the afternoon, religious leaders had begun the process of "purifying" the mosque seized last Tuesday by 200 to 500 heavily-armed, religious fanatics seeking to have their 27-year-old leader recognized as the Messiah.

The sources said the mosque, which the world's 800 million Moslems consider to be "the holiest place on earth," was badly damaged by fire and explosions and that casualties on both sides were "in the hundreds."

The fate of some 20 hostages, who had reportedly been held by the rebels was not immediately known. But Saudi Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani said some of the rebels may have escaped, taking hostages with them.

"The drama at Mecca is apparently or almost, if not completely, over," said a diplomatic source. "The ending appears to have been dramatic and violent and the mopping up stage of the final assault of the mosque was observed."

Diplomatic sources said the Saudis reopened a portion of the mosque for public worship Sunday for the first time since dissident Moslems seized the Moslem world's most sacred shrine Tuesday.

In a related development, security was stepped up at U.S. diplomatic facilities in Saudi Arabia Sunday out of concern that Moslem pilgrims might blame the United States for the disturbance.

At one point there was talk of trying to starve the gunmen out but officials changed their strategy after it became apparent that the attackers holed up in the mosque's slender minarets came prepared with enough food and ammunition for a long siege.

"When the end finally came it was 'extremely violent,'" said one source, quoting a witness to the attack.

Troops fought the gunmen "room-by-room through the top floors" of the massive mosque, smoke billowed from its towers and the scream of ambulance sirens and fire engines filled the streets of Mecca, the third largest city on Saudi Arabia, the sources said.

Two armed personnel carriers spearheaded the assault, rumbling into the mosque's 179,000 square-yard courtyard and firing their guns into the interior of the building, the eyewitness accounts said. Saudi soldiers scrambled over the roof.

The Ulama — the council of Saudi Arabia's top religious leaders — gave the government its blessing for the attack which was led by the Saudi National Guard, King Khaled's royal force.

Crown Prince Fahd canceled a scheduled meeting with U.S. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller to rush to Mecca to personally supervise the assault.

After a meeting with Khaled on Saturday, Miller said the gunmen were members of a fanatical Moslem sect that had "created trouble before."

He did not elaborate but another

Apartments Discussion Set By Zoning Group

By SYLVIA TEAGUE

Avalanche-Journal Staff

ALTHOUGH they are illegal, garage apartments abound in Lubbock neighborhoods zoned for single family homes or duplexes.

But city officials have launched a crackdown on the illegal apartments, including injunction suits against two apartment owners.

And an amendment to the city's zoning ordinance which would require apartment owners to register their properties and allow those apartments to be rented only for a specified time is under consideration by a Planning and Zoning Commission subcommittee.

That subcommittee will hear public comment on the suggested amendment at a hearing at 1 p.m. Tuesday in City Council Chambers.

With the amendment, the subcommittee is attempting to find a legal way to eliminate the apartments causing problems, allow apartments to remain which do not adversely affect neighborhoods and prevent the construction or conversion of any additional apartments in the incorrect zoning district.

The suggested amendment would require owners of units to register the existence of the apartments with the city during a specified period of time.

Those apartments which are registered could continue to exist during an amortization period designed to allow property owners to recoup their initial investments in the properties.

However, any unregistered apartments immediately would become illegal at the end of the registration period and could be ordered closed by city officials.

Owners of accessory apartments would have the option of seeking Zoning Board of Adjustment approval to continue to rent the structures. The ZBA would have to determine whether the apartments are appropriate for the neighborhood or if they were in existence before the city's first zoning regulations were adopted in 1941.

Without ZBA approval, owners would have to close the apartments at the end of the amortization period.

As yet undetermined is what would constitute a fair registration period and amortization period.

The UNIT Neighborhood Association, comprised of residents in the area between 19th and 34th Streets and between University and Indiana Avenues, was instrumental in getting the city to crack down on the illegal apartments.

Association members claim the apartments destroy property values, and the stability of their neighborhood by increasing the population density, traffic volumes and parking problems in the area, as well as changing the single-family character of the neighborhood.

However, those who oppose the crackdown now have formed an organization called Concerned Citizens of Lubbock.

Nuclear Power Protesters Arrested At Plant

GLEN ROSE (AP) — Somervell County deputies booked nearly 100 anti-nuclear protesters for trespassing Sunday after arresting them on the grounds of the Comanche Peak power station, being built near this North Central Texas town.

It took more than five hours for the booking process to be completed when about 25 of the protesters refused to get off a bus parked in front of the sheriff's office.

Each of the defendants will face the charges individually in separate trials. Mavis Belisle was the first to go on trial. Her trial began last week and will resume Monday before a Somervell County jury.

She was back Sunday to participate in Sunday's demonstration.

"I feel like it will increase my chance of conviction," she said.

The plant is under construction by Texas Utilities Generating Co. about four miles north of here. The first reactor is due to become operational in March 1981, with delivery of nuclear fuel set for three months prior to opening.

"We plan to stay on the bus until we reach a compromise we consider satisfactory," said protest leader Jim Schermbek of Fort Worth.

Deputies and Department of Public Safety troopers arrested the demonstrators, who call themselves the Comanche Peak Life Force, as soon as they climbed ladders over a fence surrounding the plant. They were loaded into buses and taken to the sheriff's office for booking.

Officers carried one protester off the bus, holding him by the feet and hands, but the rest left voluntarily when it became clear they would not be held in the jail.

"We feel betrayed," Schermbek said, referring to last June's protest by the same group. Then, the demonstrators were permitted to make speeches and sing anti-nuclear songs before officers arrested them, charging 48 with criminal trespassing.

The June demonstration resulted in a mass trial for the 48 defendants, but a mistrial was declared when jurors deadlocked at 4-2 for acquittal.

Veterans Schedule Monthly Meeting Tuesday Evening

The China-Burma-India Veterans Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Chinese Kitchen Restaurant, according to Ray Chapman.

A special feature of the meeting will be a screening of the film of the Stillwell-Burma Road, a road built by U.S. troops through virtually impassable jungle that became a lifeline to China.

James Vickers, the organization's commanding officer, said all veterans of the China-Burma-India Theater and their families are welcome.

AN EDITORIAL:

War Weapons 'Made In U.S.'

AT A TIME when talk of a new nuclear arms limitation treaty (SALT II) is rife, it is easy to forget that another arms race is moving swiftly along.

That one involves the American-Soviet rivalry in supplying conventional, as opposed to nuclear, arms to much of the world.

Arms supplied by the U.S., the largest seller of arms in the world, were important factors in the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty, the rise and fall of the Shah of Iran and the war between North and South Vietnam, to name a few.

The political machinations in the Middle East are being played out against the backdrop of the worldwide competition between the United States and the Soviet Union (the second leading seller of arms) to gain influence and win friends around the world.

PRESIDENT CARTER came to office promising to cut down U.S. arms sales. During the campaign he constantly criticized the extent of arms sales under the Nixon and Ford administrations.

"We cannot be both the world's leading champion of peace and the world's leading supplier of weapons of war," said Carter the Candidate.

After taking office, the President, warning of the threat to world peace embodied in this spiraling arms traffic unquote, said he would "place the burden of persuasion...on those who favor a particular arms sale rather than those who oppose it." Mr. Carter's policy has earned criticism on two counts: 1. It is selective; 2. Overall U.S. arms shipments have increased each year since he has been President.

REDUCING THE outflow of arms is obviously no easy job for a country that has been an international supplier of arms since shortly before the U.S. entry into World War II.

The U.S., though officially neutral, started sending lend-lease goods to Britain, China and Russia months before Pearl Harbor, for example.

Once in the war, America indeed became, in President Roosevelt's words, "the arsenal of democracy." There has been little let-up over the years—although under President Kennedy this country began to sell more arms than it gave away.

A Library of Congress study reveals that President Carter's policy on arms sales has "yet to demonstrate a significantly reduced role for arms transfers as an instrument of U.S. foreign policy," concluding that "U.S. arms transfers continue to occur on a rather routine basis."

The President told editorial writers, however, that "the promise I made was 'outside of our NATO commitments.' I have met my standard."

Another promise, clarified but broken nevertheless.

Juvenile Punks Belong In Jail

HARDCORE juvenile delinquents, it stands to reason, can't be committing crimes if they're in jail.

This simple fact, however, flies in the face of government policy and a widespread public belief that stems from repetitious sing-songing of the theory that jails turn juveniles into hardened criminals.

Not long ago, for example, no less an authority than the nation's chief law enforcement officer, Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti, said the Justice Department is committed to "de-institutionalizing juvenile offenders to the fullest possible degree."

He added that the number of imprisoned juveniles has declined markedly since Congress passed the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Act in 1974.

Not surprisingly, teen-age crime has increased during the same period.

SOMETIMES, a scientific "study" is required to confirm what already is apparent, in this case, that being soft on juvenile criminals is hard on their victims.

Fortunately, such a study has been made—partly paid for, ironically enough, by the Justice Department itself—and the researchers are to publish their findings soon.

Charles A. Murray, one of the authors of the report, "Beyond Probation: Juvenile Corrections and the Chronic Delinquent," was contacted by the Associated Press for a pre-publication interview.

"Suppose you were arrested 10 times and put on probation 10 times," Murray said. "You wouldn't believe anything was going to happen the 11th time."

His conclusion: Prison can reduce the number of crimes a juvenile delinquent is likely to commit and even the threat of jail can have a positive impact.

IMPRISONMENT, Murray added, should be considered particularly for chronic delinquents who commit serious crimes and not for the average truant or the kid who steals hubcaps.

That last point is where too many sociologists and soft-headed judges miss the boat: the only way to deal with a hardcore juvenile punk is to throw him in jail and keep him there. Work with the first-timer to keep him out of trouble, but keep the chronic serious offender out of circulation.

The researchers were convinced by their study that it is essential to convince young offenders that "the criminal justice system is no longer bluffing."

That's what we've been saying all along, but maybe a study made with federal funds will carry more weight.

M. STANTON EVANS:

Speech Is Impediment To Reagan's Rhetoric

WASHINGTON—Readers of this column are perhaps aware that I am an admirer of Ronald Reagan.

It is in this context that I offer a painful opinion about the former governor's speech announcing his presidential candidacy for 1980. He blew it. Not the candidacy, mind you, just the speech. But blowing the speech is not a hopeful augury for the candidacy, either.

I say this as one who applauded Reagan's presidential runs in 1968 and 1976, welcomed his many utterances on public issues, and believes that, among the leading candidates for the White House in 1980, he is the best qualified contender.

THIS WAS to have been the speech in which Reagan seized the initiative, set the agenda for the campaign, and projected a vision for the future of the country.

It did none of these things, or at least did none of them very well. By Reagan standards, it was a terribly limp affair, and only his assured delivery managed to give it a semblance of distinction.

The basic idea behind the speech, apparently, was to take away Reagan's supposed "hard line" image from the 1976 campaign, hence the low-keyed tone, lackluster phrasing, and tendency toward generalizations.

And so far as the generalizations went, they were pretty good—standard Reagan-Republican fare: Less government, lower taxes, reduced inflation, strong defense, etc.

WHAT WAS disconcerting about the speech was the choice of certain specifics for discussion: A weather eye to see if we are being "unfairly exploited" by the oil companies, statehood for Puerto Rico, a "developing closeness" with Canada and Mexico.

One can only guess what cerebrations in the inner circle produced these notions, in a speech that nowhere mentioned Iran, the SALT agreements, the boat people fleeing Indochina, the right to life, welfare abuse, or numerous other subjects on which the Californian, in other settings, has proved so eloquent.

On the bit about the possibility of "unfair exploitation," we are informed that Reagan backers in recent polls have expressed suspicion of the oil companies more so than have other Republican voters.

And while it is hard to believe that Reagan and his operatives would cater to ignorance and demagoguery on these grounds, that sort of hard-eyed political computation would at least provide a rational basis for his statement.

THE PART about Puerto Rico, Canada, and Mexico is even tougher to figure. With all due respect to citizens of these jurisdictions, these are not exactly issues in which the American people have a burning interest—nor is it likely that Reagan's dwelling on them in his announcement speech is going to light a brushfire of enthusiasm.

It was almost as if someone had said, "Let's pick some subjects that are so totally devoid of popular interest that no one could possibly object to them."

If the point of all this is in fact to erase the more forceful Reagan image of '76, then to some extent it probably succeeded. It is worth recalling, however, that it was precisely the Reagan image of '76—and of years past—that put him where he is today.

AND THAT it was only the two-listed Reagan campaign style last time around—after another campaign beginning that skirted controversial issues—that put him back in the race against Gerald Ford.

The campaign advisers who concocted the original "above the battle" Reagan posture in '76 appear to be in charge again this time, only more so. That posture led to losses in the early primaries in New Hampshire and Florida last time around.

Whether his ample lead in the polls can survive it this time is an intriguing question.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK:

Dearth Of Salesmen

WASHINGTON—Senate troubles for SALT II persist thanks to President Carter's failure to link the treaty's ratification with survival of the Western alliance, an ill-conceived effort that collapsed at last month's NATO political assembly in Ottawa.

Headlines proclaimed that assembled members of the alliance's parliaments had called for early Senate ratification of the arms control treaty (SALT II).

But behind the scenes, there were bitter recriminations among U.S. delegates, and attempts by embarrassed Europeans to tone down the unrestrained language drafted for them by the Americans.

Those efforts belied the Carter administration's

ANDREW TULLY:

Ted Not Out Yet

WASHINGTON—Good news is where a Presidential candidate can find it, and Ted Kennedy may take a helping of comfort from the knowledge that he has not yet been indicted by the American public for Chappaquiddick.

That word came from an expert, George Gallup, the veteran vote counter, told a Washington seminar he simply didn't know whether that tragic night 10 years ago will affect Kennedy's try for the Presidency.

It's too early to find out, Gallup said. His reasoning was that everybody would have to wait to see whether the Chappaquiddick issue turns people on.

What happens, he said, depends on how Kennedy fares with the media and how vigorously the Republicans pursue the controversy.

So far, the numerous polls have found that between 20 and 35 percent of voters interviewed say Chappaquiddick would cause them to vote against Kennedy.

BUT SOME of those polled were Republicans, and some probably were anti-Kennedy Democrats.

Said a Kennedy aide: "What the polls mean is that maybe 75 percent of those interviewed said they weren't bothered enough by Chappaquiddick to vote against Teddy. We'd be satisfied with that percentage of the vote."

Just so. But as Gallup noted, the campaign is still in its infancy. When it heats up next year, newspapers, TV and radio will be flooded with chapter-and-verse comments on the tragedy.

Indeed, the Wall Street Journal, which is not given to sensationalism, in a recent issue ran a long column on the judge's report on the inquest into the accident, noting that the judge in effect called Kennedy a liar.

TWO OTHER columns were devoted to an editorial which questioned whether voters "can believe (Kennedy's) account of the major crisis in his life, and whether they could believe what he would tell them about any crisis of his Presidency."

That was rough, and fair. The media not only has the right but the duty to question a Presidential candidate's character.

Just as the media reported the Democrats' use of Watergate as a weapon against Jerry Ford, it will have no choice but to report what Kennedy opponents have to say about Chappaquiddick.

As time goes on, too, Republicans and certain anti-Kennedy politicians in the Democratic Party will hammer away at Massachusetts' "double standard" of justice.

IT IS ALL there in the record: That there was no autopsy on Mary Jo Kopechne's remains. That the inquest was closed to the public and press. That a judge ignored a Massachusetts law and chose not to put Kennedy under arrest for reckless driving.

But George Gallup is right. More attention should be paid to whether the voters today take a more lenient view of a candidate's private morality.

Ten years is a long time ago, and the unremitting reminders of Chappaquiddick could make it old hat. Anyway, as of now, Ted Kennedy is entitled to his helping of good news.

claim of Western Europe pleading for salvation through SALT.

Rather, it was American SALT-sellers in Ottawa unwittingly buttressing the Soviet campaign against nuclear modernization in order to label Senate rejection of the treaty as subversive to NATO's future.

Instead of arguing the merits of giving away the canal, the President's men warned that rejection by the Senate would reap havoc throughout the Western Hemisphere and lined up Latin American statesmen to agree.

Lloyd Cutler, Carter's chief SALT-seller, pursued the same strategy in tying an umbilical cord between SALT II and NATO.

MEMBERS OF the British and West German governments (including British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher) publicly declared that, of course, NATO would survive the death of SALT II.

At this point, SALT supporters sought to revive the NATO gambit at the Ottawa meeting of the North Atlantic assembly. With European parliamentarians on hand in Canada, their U.S. congressional counterparts remained in Washington for late votes.

They were preceded, however, by a Senate Foreign Relations Committee staffer named John Ritch, renowned on Capitol Hill as a passionate arms controller.

Ritch brought to Ottawa a draft resolution urging "early ratification" of SALT and bearing the names of two pro-SALT senators: Republican Jacob Javits of New York and Democrat Joseph Biden of Delaware.

IT IS WIDELY believed, though denied by the White House, that inspiration came from the administration.

Peter Cotterier, a Social Democratic member of the West German Bundestag and supporter of SALT, was asked to introduce the resolution.

Besides contending that U.S. failure to ratify would be "seriously disruptive" to NATO, it specified that would be true "particularly with regard to the forthcoming decision on the modernization of NATO's theater nuclear forces."

With the U.S. delegation still in Washington, the assembly's military committee toned down the American language. The warning against undercutting nuclear force modernization was stricken.

SO WAS A clause contending that linkage of "the current situation in Cuba to SALT ratification would unnecessarily jeopardize alliance security interests."

The committee also added what the Javits-Biden resolution omitted: "respecting...the sovereign right" of the U.S. to decide on SALT and noting requirements for "credible deterrence, stable nuclear balance and future arms control negotiations."

When the U.S. delegation finally arrived in Ottawa, anti-SALT senators were outraged to discover the existence of a resolution demanding Senate ratification ready for passage by the assembly.

Two anti-SALT Democrats, Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, assailed Biden for not consulting them.

Jackson accused Biden of conspiring with White House counsel Cutler, contending "This whole thing (is) a Cutler operation which has backfired." While taking full responsibility himself, Biden apologized for lack of consultation.

APOLOGY OR not, Biden and Javits refused to change the resolution so that only an early "decision"—not "ratification"—would be urged. After much rancorous debate, it was finally decided that all U.S. senators would abstain from the voting.

Added to the French delegation plus conservatives from Britain and West Germany, that made 38 abstentions against 71 in favor—less than a certain trumpet.

The Ottawa meeting deepened SALT divisions among senators and intensified concern by British, French and German parliamentarians over what the Americans are doing.

Thus, the NATO gambit won over no new senators for SALT but raised questions about the President's devotion to the Western Alliance among our puzzled European allies.

JAY HARRIS:

The New Towns...

YAMMIT. The Sinai—This ultra-modern city in the sandy wastelands of the upper Sinai, along with Katrim, another new city only nine miles from the Syrian border, are two dramatic stories in the life of today's Israel.

One, Yammit, sometimes spelled Yamit and pronounced Ya-meet, is barely six years old. It has a population of 2,500 persons, mostly Jewish families. Another 2,500 Israeli citizens or immigrants live in several "settlements" nearby.

All must leave within the next two years and eight months under the Mideast Peace pact with Egypt. It is one of the more bitter pills Israel must swallow in the final accord with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Katrim, on the other hand, is due to remain on the edge of the controversial Golan Heights. Remain and more than double its present 1,000 population. It is on Israeli territory. Yammit and Katrim are model cities in every sense of the word—models which the U.S. might well copy.

ON SOMEWHAT another level, there is another community, the settlement of Elon Moreh.

Located near the predominantly West Bank Arab city of Nablus, Elon Moreh threatens to force a government showdown at the highest levels. All three communities say something about today's Israel.

Israel today boasts a population of some 3,500,000 persons, a majority of whom are "immigrants," that is those who found a home in this Promised Land. As a national policy, Israel has vowed to accept any Jewish person from anywhere in the world who wants to "come home," and to welcome others who can meet immigration standards.

To accommodate this burgeoning population, both native born and the influx, not only are suburbs and bedroom cities springing up along the bustling Mediterranean coastal metropolis of Tel Aviv and Haifa, but new cities in such places as Yammit, Katrim and Eilon Moreh.

THIS PROGRESS and population boom is not without problems, political, economic, ethnic. Take each of these new communities, for instance.

Getting to Yammit from Tel Aviv is an adventure in itself. Rolling along a modern highway just inland from the blue Mediterranean, travelers pass by or through lush orchards, cotton and vegetable farms and booming cities with such names as Ashdod and Ashqelon, and later, Gaza in the Gaza Strip.

Here in this part of the Haifa-Tel Aviv-Ashqelon coastal crescent lives almost two-thirds of Israel's total population.

After leaving Ashqelon, which originally was to be a well-planned "garden city," but which has become another boom town, the road heads into the Gaza Strip, administered from 1948 until the 1967 Six Days War by Egyptian military forces.

TODAY, THE CITY of Gaza, like much of Israel is also booming, sharing in the "good life," so to speak.

On the southwest, along the coast, is Yammit, a "planned" city of modern homes and, like Katrim, well coordinated shopping centers, schools, playgrounds, parks, carefully watered and manicured small yards.

"Every tree, every flower, every blade of grass was planted and nurtured with love," a resident of Yammit told us. "And now we must leave it all. For what?"

The "for what" is to appease demands of President Sadat that not only should Israel turn over the city in the Sinai, but that its residents must leave. "Mother, will an Egyptian live in our house?" a 10-year-old asks. "I can't stand to think about it."

Yammit is the sort of community city planners dream about. Its mostly two-story condominium small houses are neat, nicely furnished, each with a yard or patio of some sort. Each has neat fences, address markers, sometimes vines, but always flowers, in the yard, house...

ITAMAR DVIR and his wife and two daughters live in Yammit. They were happy. Then came the news.

Today, like Yammit's other residents, Itamar Dvir, a tall, handsome Israeli, is confused. He is a worker in construction in the area.

"We came here from Jerusalem. My wife thought she would live here forever, until she decided to leave herself..."

His wife, a pretty, dark-haired woman, speaks up: "It's paradise. Look at the children. They can grow here. If our 10-year-old or four-year-old daughter leaves to play, we don't worry. We know they are safe. It is a good place to grow, to enjoy life..."

There are no cars in the central portion of Yammit. Its central core is protected. Less than a mile away is the starkly beautiful sandy beaches of the Mediterranean. Nearby, wandering Bedouins have set up camps:

FAR TO THE north, the city of Katrim, named after an ancient town of Talmudic times, is having it much better.

With the first of 350 families moving in only two years ago, Katrim today is a service town for the area near the controversial Golan Heights.

Under the guidance of Menachem Haim, its appointed "mayor," Katrim also is a well-rounded city of homes, parks, schools, commercial projects. Its goal is to accommodate more families, help disperse the nation's population and to enhance an Israeli presence in the area.

Elon Moreh is a new Jewish "settlement" on the West Bank. Built on land seized from Arab owners, but paid for, it now has been declared illegal by the Israeli High Court and has been ordered to disband and move. Only a pledge of new settlements elsewhere by Prime Minister Menachem Begin has somewhat softened the ensuing uproar.

Yammit, Katrim, Elon Moreh...Three pieces of the drama that is today's Israel. More about them and Israel later...

Wyoming Ranchers Fight To Feed Stranded Herds

By The Associated Press

Another snowstorm bore down on Colorado on Sunday as ranchers and National Guard troops in neighboring Wyoming struggled to get feed to cattle stranded by a three-day blizzard.

At least four deaths in Colorado, including one in an avalanche, were blamed on the storms that struck in parts of both states Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. No major livestock losses have been reported in either state, but some ranchers in Wyoming have been unable to reach herds snowbound on the windswept plains.

The snow in the West was in stark contrast with the two days of record warm weather along much of the East Coast. The temperature climbed to 73 degrees in New York's Central Park on Sunday, and some people in Boston did their Christmas shopping in Bermuda shorts.

But in Alabama, thunderstorms spawned tornadoes that demolished several homes in Montgomery, the state capital, and the Clark County community of Saltpa. The extent of injuries and damage was not known immediately.

In Denver, last week's snow accumulated to depths of 17.7 inches, but most major streets were cleared by Sunday. Hundreds of people on cross-country skis turned out in city parks and along the dividing strips on parkways.

Four-hundred seventy-five truckloads of snow were carted away from the field at Mile High Stadium before the Denver-Oakland professional football game.

Heavy snow fell again Sunday in the Colorado mountains, and the National Weather Service warned of up to 12 inches of new snow in some mountain areas that received 40 inches and more last week.

The state patrol closed Loveland pass over the Continental Divide as 40-mph winds whipped up ground blizzards, and the U.S. Forest Service issued an avalanche alert for all mountain areas of Colorado.

Pilots Association Wants Safety System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Line Pilots Association, complaining of inaction by the Federal Aviation Administration, on Sunday urged Congress to mandate a system aboard planes to prevent collisions in the air.

Association representative John O'Brien said the FAA's response to calls for an airborne anti-collision system following several recent mid-air crashes has been "bureaucratic banality combined with considered complacency."

In testimony presented to the House Ways and Means oversight subcommittee, O'Brien said the first responsibility for keeping aircraft apart would remain with air traffic controllers. But he recommended that a radar beacon system specifically designed to prevent crashes be installed aboard aircraft.

Thieves Hit City During Holiday

Property losses from four Thanksgiving Weekend burglaries totaled more than $13,000 according to police reports.

The largest single burglary reported was the theft of a horse trailer and contents, valued at $3,600. Owner Jacob Messing told police the trailer was missing Saturday morning from the parking lot of Village Inn Motel on Brownfield Highway.

Police believe a crowbar-like object was used to gain entry into the home of Jack Glenn Simmons at 2219 7th St. Simmons told police Saturday evening that several items of men's clothing, a television set and stereo were missing from the residence. He estimated the loss at $3,225.

A video recorder and camera, valued at $2,700, was reported missing Saturday from the car of Artis Nelson Payne whose vehicle was parked at 2130 55th St.

Myron Earl Norman of Meadow told police his pickup truck was burglarized late Friday night while parked in the 900 block of 30th Street. Norman said tools, a CB radio, clothing, a portable gasoline welder and an air compressor, totaling $3,575 in value, were taken from the truck. A witness gave a description of two suspects to the police.

PORK PRODUCTION UP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production of pork was 32 percent greater last month than in October 1978 but output of most other meats dropped, the Agriculture Department reports. Beef output was down 8 percent from a year ago, and production of veal, lamb and mutton also was off, the department said. It said that because of the increase in pork production to 1.55 billion pounds, production of red meat overall rose by 6 percent to 3.56 billion pounds despite the decline in output of other meats.

Former Newspaper Boss Dies In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Funeral services are scheduled Tuesday in Orinda for Owen Michael Owens, a former newspaper executive and vintage car collector. He died Saturday in a San Francisco hospital at the age of 49 after a long battle with cancer.

He was the son of the late Leo J. Owens, board chairman of Owens Publications, a group of newspapers.

During his newspaper career he worked for the Richmond Independent and Concord Transcript and was vice president of Owens Publications Inc., publisher of the Whittier Daily News and the East Whittier Review.

He retired from the family newspaper business in 1965 at the age of 35 to give full time to his car collection, which at one time included 72 restored vintage vehicles.

Survivors include his wife, Lois; his stepmother, Josephine H. Owens of Palm Springs; a sister, Ellen Vincent of Orinda; two brothers, Lee Owens of Whittier and Peter Owens of San Francisco, and eight children.

Water Specialists Check Creek For Contamination After Crash

GLENMARY, Tenn. (AP) — State water quality control specialists were checking a creek Sunday after conflicting reports as to whether caustic soda had spilled there following the derailment of two Southern Railway freight trains.

Meanwhile, about 100 residents who had been ordered to leave their homes late Saturday afternoon during the cleanup were allowed back early Sunday, officials said. The precaution was taken because a chlorine tanker was among the derailed cars.

The railroad said it hoped to have one of the two parallel lines open to traffic by midday while work continued to clean up the second set of tracks.

Railroad officials said a car on one of the trains derailed Saturday morning and careened into the path of a second train. A total of 49 cars and three locomotives went off the tracks in this tiny East Tennessee community 20 miles south of the Tennessee-Kentucky border and about 45 miles northwest of Knoxville.

One of the derailed cars struck a stationary 500-gallon propane storage tank near the tracks and the propane ignited, sending flames up 60 feet until the fire burned out.

The railroad and the Civil Defense agency agreed that about 7,000 gallons of diesel fuel drained from the locomotives into Webb Creek.

Joel Ledbetter of the state Civil Defense in Nashville said his agent reported that 10,000 gallons of caustic soda also leaked into the stream.

R.O. Slaven, a dispatcher for the Scott County sheriff's office, said he observed a white substance in the creek on Saturday and that his office warned to residents within five miles to keep their livestock from drinking from the creek.

But Charles Morgret, a spokesman for the railroad, said the company sent its top chemical expert to the site and he reported no caustic soda had leaked.

Initial reports from the railroad and the civil defense also were that a car containing a liquid phosphorus fertilizer had leaked, but Ledbetter and Morgret both said those reports were incorrect.

U. S. Predicted To Face More Crises

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger says the United States will face other crises similar to the one in Iran as more Third World nations develop.

Kissinger said such factors as modernization, growing resentment of U.S. wealth and the presence of political radicals in the developing world, will combine to give America more problems.

"One of the mistakes that the shah made was not to take into account the transformation of the society that he was bringing about," Kissinger said Saturday.

Chicago Authorities Seek Bomb Suspects

Newspaper, TV Station Get Threats

CHICAGO (AP) — While authorities were searching late Saturday for three persons in connection with weekend bombings at military facilities here, two news organizations received telephoned threats that there would be more explosions.

Police said they were circulating composite drawings of a man and two women of Latin origin in the investigation of bombings late Friday and early Saturday at two military recruiting offices and at a naval armory.

In the meantime, the Chicago Tribune and WLS-TV reported receiving bomb warnings from a man who said he represented an Iranian group.

The caller, claiming to be a member of the Iranian Student Organization, said bombs would explode "somewhere near the Loop" within the next 36 hours, said Clarence Page, an assistant city editor for the Chicago Tribune.

Page said he received the call at around 5:26 p.m. Authorities said that minutes earlier, a similar call was made to WLS-TV, the local ABC network affiliate.

William Chriesman, a WLS desk assistant, quoted the caller as saying "bombs are gonna go off within 24 to 36 hours."

Page said the call to the Tribune was similar to one the newspaper received after the Nov. 15 explosion aboard a Chicago-to-Washington American Airlines jet. In both calls, Page said, the man mentioned the Iranian Student Organization.

There is a student group known as the Iranian Student Association, but it has disavowed involvement in the explosion, which occurred in a mail pouch on the plane.

Page said the caller to the Tribune had a Middle Eastern accent and claimed responsibility for one of three bombs that exploded late Friday and early Saturday at military facilities in the city. But Page said the man didn't seem to know details about those explosions.

The FBI was continuing its search for witnesses, and police bomb and arson squad investigators tried to determine what kind of explosive devices were used in the three bombings.

There were no injuries and damage was slight in the series of explosions that occurred late Friday and early Saturday.

An anonymous caller to a Chicago newspaper said the Puerto Rican terrorist group, FALN, planted two of the bombs.

No one claimed responsibility for the third explosion, but FBI spokesman James Ingram said, "when you have three in the same morning, it looks like the same group. That's the assumption we're going on."

George McMahon, deputy chief of violent crimes, said police would increase security at all federal facilities in the city.

Demonstrators Arrested On Trespassing Charges

GLEN ROSE (UPI) — Ninety demonstrators opposed to nuclear power scaled a fence surrounding the $1.7 billion Comanche Peak nuclear power plant Sunday and were arrested on trespassing charges, sheriff's officials said.

As soon as protesters landed on power plant property, sheriff's officials moved in to make the arrests, said Somervell County Sheriff's spokesman Bobby West.

By mid-afternoon, 66 protesters had been processed at the sheriff's office, but "several" refused to give their names or leave the police bus that carried the prisoners from the demonstration site to sheriff's headquarters, West said.

All were to be charged with criminal trespass, a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $1 to $200, and released. They will be notified by mail of their required appearances in court.

After their release, protesters continued their demonstration against further construction of the nuclear plant, rallying outside the sheriff's offices, listening to anti-nuclear speeches and conducting a worship service.

A large number of those arrested already face criminal trespass charges stemming from a similar demonstration June 10 in which 48 protesters were arrested. The group originally was tried together, but the case ended in a mistrial.

REP. GEORGE HANSEN

Representative Winning Favor With Voters

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Rep. George Hansen stood before a federal judge in Washington four years ago and was sentenced for campaign finance violations.

But the Idaho Republican survived that low point in 1975 and has won favor with the voters in Idaho's 2nd Congressional District with battles against America's surrender of the Panama Canal and the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Hansen, 49, currently making headlines with his one-man peace mission to Iran, is a member of the Mormon Church and the father of five children.

He moved from selling insurance for New York Life Insurance Co. in the late 1950s into city elections and was elected to Congress in 1964, in a major upset over Democrat Ralph Harding.

He won another term, then lost badly in 1968 when he ran against Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, for a Senate seat.

Hansen recaptured the congressional seat in 1974, has won twice since, and few Democrats think they have much chance in 1980 in the rural, conservative, heavily Mormon district.

Early in the Iranian crisis, Hansen called for impeaching President Carter unless he did something about the hostages. In telephone calls to Idaho newspapers last week, Hansen said he decided to go to Iran because it appeared the administration was doing little to free the Americans being held hostage at the U.S. Embassy.

It was not Hansen's first headline-making trip abroad. In the last few years, he has flown to Bolivia to obtain the release of a constituent imprisoned on drug charges, to Nicaragua to show support for Anastasio Somoza shortly before he was overthrown, and to Panama as part of his losing battle to keep the United States from surrendering the canal.

One of the most conservative members of the House, he has campaigned repeatedly on the theme of "cutting down big government."

Hansen campaigned hard against OSHA, a federal agency enforcing safety rules. He also took on another government agency unpopular with many, the Internal Revenue Service. He alleged in December 1977 that the IRS was discriminating against members of the Mormon Church. The agency investigated and concluded there was nothing to the charge.

Gregg County Sheriff Facing Federal Charges

TYLER (AP) — Gregg County Sheriff Tom Welch, County Commissioner William Satterwhite and three other county officials are scheduled to go to trial today on federal racketeering charges.

"We're absolutely ready for it," said Ken Ross, Satterwhite's attorney. "We've been working hard on it. I'm sure the government has, too."

Both Ross and U.S. Attorney John Hannah predicted the trial will last about two weeks.

Federal indictments against the men were returned Aug. 3 under a statute designed to wipe out corrupt organizations.

"The alleged corrupt organization in this case is the Gregg County sheriff's office," Hannah said.

On trial with Welch and Satterwhite are Justice of the Peace Charles Cashell and former chief deputies Billy Ray Roach and James M. Cochran.

Fourteen other individuals were named, but four were convicted Nov. 7 of conspiracy and violation of interstate gambling laws.

Prosecutors allege the men plotted an aborted triple-murder in 1974 and covered up illegal gambling operations in and around Longview in Gregg County. In addition, Welch is charged with taking bribes from jail inmates and gambling operators 13 different times since 1973.

The indictments accuse Welch, Satterwhite and Cochran of plotting to have three unidentified persons ambushed at a county-owned equipment barn. The intended victims escaped unharmed despite reported volleys of gunfire.

"We're highly confident that these charges are going to be found groundless," Welch said.

Hotel Safety Deposit Boxes Taken In Heist

NEW YORK (AP) — Five men, one of them armed, held up the plush Mayfair Regent Hotel early Sunday, making off with the contents of 10 safe deposit boxes, police said. It was the latest in a series of holdups at Manhattan luxury hotels in recent years.

Investigators said they could not determine the value of the haul until the owners of the boxes were contacted.

The elegant hotel charges from $110 to $450 for a single room. Guests at the time of the robbery included actresses

Penny Marshall of television's "Laverne and Shirley" and Carrie Fisher, of the movie "Star Wars."

The heist, describe by Detective Stephen Kelly as "very professional," began shortly before midnight when two men entered the hotel at 65th Street and Park Avenue and went up to a second-floor room. Three other men joined them there about an hour later.

The five then summoned the elevator, handcuffed the operator at gunpoint and brought him to a telephone room in the lobby where they held him, a night auditor and a telephone operator.

Five guests who entered the hotel while the robbery was in progress were let in by two of the robbers and brought into the telephone room where they were held with the employees, Kelly said.

The robbers then went to the nearby safe deposit boxes and broke into 10 of them with hand and power tools. They tried to open another five but were unsuccessful, Kelly said.

The gang then walked outside and escaped shortly before 4:30 a.m.

A number of high-class Manhattan hotels have been hit with similar robberies over the past few years. The robbery of the Hotel Pierre on Fifth Avenue netted the bandits between $2 million and $4 million in cash and valuables.

Kelly said "there were similarities" between the Mayfair robbery and the others, but he said "at this point we just don't know" if it was done by the same gang.

Guerrillas Reject Ultimatum

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Zimbabwe Rhodesian guerrilla leaders Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo said

Sunday they will reject Britain's ultimatum for a cease-fire decision when they return to the London peace talks. The announcement followed a meeting with presidents of the "frontline" African states.

In neighboring Zambia, witnesses said Zimbabwe Rhodesian forces bombed one of Nkomo's guerrilla camps, the latest in a string of aerial and ground attacks that have cut off vital supply routes in Zambia, in retaliation for that country's support of the guerrillas.

Britain told the guerrillas to say by today, when they return to London, whether they will agree to a cease-fire so final election arrangements can be made for a new, internationally recognized government in Salisbury and an end the seven-year-old war.

Mugabe and Nkomo met with presidents of the "frontline" states, which support their Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance, then Nkomo told a news conference at Tanzania's state house. "We're not going to say yes or no to anything."

"That's not our position. Our position is to negotiate. If (British Foreign Secretary Lord) Carrington wants to walk out... let him walk out."

The Front leaders flew here from London Saturday and held talks late into the night with Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere and resident amora Machel of Mozambique, where Mugabe is based.

After the news conference, the guerrilla leaders flew back to London to begin the 12th week of peace talks.

British sources in London said Carrington will be able to persuade the Salisbury government of Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa to accept a cease-fire, but that agreement would be meaningless without guerrilla concurrence.

Both sides want to control the security forces during a British-administered transition, and that is causing the protracted haggling in London.

Rhodesia, as it was then known, broke from Britain unilaterally in 1965 to head off black majority rule. But the severance brought international economic embargoes, heavily felt once the guerrilla war started.

Emissions Control, Carburetor School To Begin Tonight

A course dealing with carburetors and emissions control systems will be offered here beginning at 7 p.m. today as part of a continuing series of short courses made available by the Texas State Technical Institute.

Designed for the journeyman mechanic, the 12-hour course will be conducted at National Distributing Co., 1012 17th St. Instructor will be Calvin W. Williamson.

The course, to be presented in four three-hour segments nightly through Thursday, will offer up-to-date information on smog and automotive pollutants, carburetors for engines employing emissions control, precombustion systems, combustion systems and post-combustion systems.

A fee of $20 is charged to cover tuition and cost of materials. Persons interested may contact Jim Lindsey at National Distributing Co. or telephone him at 744-1215 to reserve a place in the class.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I have always used a pad on my mattress to protect it from dust and soil, but I'm told one of the most important reasons for keeping a pad of some kind on the bed is to absorb normal body moisture that's lost during an average night's sleep.

As that's a lot of moisture — a whole cup for each person — think what it would do to a mattress over a period of time!

So, take heed, guys and gals, and use a pad of some sort on that mattress even if it's nothing more than a couple of old sheets-folded. (Use a plastic protector under the pad.)

By doing so, you will prolong the life — and good looks — of your mattress and, at today's replacement costs, who can afford to do otherwise? — Hugs, Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

When digging out our Christmas decorations last year, I found that, in spite of the newspaper stuffing, the lovely fabric bows on the wreaths were crushed.

But, a quick trip around each loop with our steam hair curling iron made them as pretty as ever — Snookie

HINTS FROM HIM

DEAR HELOISE:

A short time ago a lady asked how to remove the lime caked on the bottom of her tea kettle and was given a correct answer (Use vinegar. — Heloise)

However, this writer thinks "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

If, each time after using the kettle, she will pour out any water it contains, rinse it and then refill it with fresh water, she will find it will be many a day before troublesome sediment accumulates — J.C. Walker

DEAR HELOISE:

My eight-year-old son came up with a terrific idea.

I had my foot operated on about two months ago and the first night back home, my husband fixed us all dinner.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Eight teenage students in England have been suspended from school for wearing their hair too short.

The headmaster said, "This short hair is becoming a cult and I'm determined to stop it! It's a matter of school discipline. All of them can return to school when their hair has grown to an acceptable length."

I took one look at that story and fell to my knees. At long last, there's a new hostility between parent and teenager. With most of us the only time our teenagers will talk is through rebuttals. I chewed around about their long hair for so long I got bored with myself. Every day, same old arguments and same old replies.

Then I zeroed in on tight pants, but baggy jeans came into style and once again we had nothing to talk about with one another.

Oh, I had the usual standards: sloppy bed, room, no gas left in the car, loud music, but nothing "meaningful." A couple of weeks ago, my son walked out the door and there was nothing new to criticize. I felt like I was losing him.

Then I read this story. He came in last night and I snapped, "Another haircut?"

"Look, Mom, don't bug me about my hair."

"No one else is showing their ears. I suppose it's that peer group you run around with. I've seen them and they look weird."

"Mom, we happen to like short hair. We keep it clean and we keep it combed."

"It's not natural to have short hair. You know who you look like? Sandy Duncan! Why can't you wear your hair long like your father?"

"Because I'm not my father. I'm me."

"The least you could do is comb it and try to keep it in your eyes. I wish the school would make a stand on short hair. If they told you you couldn't play football with short hair I bet you'd let it grow."

"Mom! Billy Graham once had short hair and so did John Kennedy."

That's what I hate the most about arguing with kids. They always resort to logic.

On the other hand, it's the longest conversation we've had in five years.

The only problem was I couldn't get out of bed to eat.

My son brought me my dinner on my 3-year-old's highchair tray, which he had removed from the chair.

It worked great? Fitted right around my stomach, so no spilling or mess. — Giviva Crisp

Give that honeybun of a helpful son a hug and a kiss from — Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

For years, my husband thought my system of sealing letters and putting stamps on was the funniest thing he had seen in a long time.

I write all the letters, check and make sure the right letter is in the right envelope. Then, seal the envelopes, put on stamps and sit on them.

The heat of a person's body will really seal the envelope and secure the stamp. The weight helps, too.

I also always test the ink from any pen I use to make sure it will not run in dampness.

New Approach Saves Time

MONTICELLO, Ill. (AP) — "Work simplification" provides a new approach to saving time, energy and effort on routine tasks such as housework, says the director of therapies for a group of nursing and rehabilitation centers.

"While it was designed specifically to aid our elderly patients and to prevent disability occurring from overexertion, the idea makes good sense for anyone, young or old, who is concerned with making life easier, more efficient and more enjoyable," says Sondra Gerhardt of the Americana Healthcare Corp.

"The first premise of 'work simplification,'" she explains, "is eliminating unnecessary details — uncluttering. Household items that are not used are thrown away. Motions and activities are combined or streamlined. The sequence in which jobs are performed is rearranged to reduce movement and exertion. The remaining necessary elements of each task then are simplified as much as possible."

To illustrate, Gerhardt advises that equipment in each work area be pre-positioned and organized at the point of first use. Other suggestions include having all baking items — dry ingredients, mixing bowls, mixer — within a small radius.

Correct work heights are another important element to be considered, she points out, to eliminate excessive bending, stooping and reaching.

"The proper counter height for standing or sitting work should be two

DEAR HELOISE:

To make a broom last longer, while sweeping keep turning it from side to side, wearing it off even. — Mrs. H.

True! Also, don't forget to stand a broom on the handle, not the bristles when you store it. This too keeps a broom from becoming lopsided as quickly. Makes all the difference in the world in terms of a long-lasting broom.

Try this the next time you buy a new broom and see how much longer it lasts. You'll be convinced. — Heloise

"And when washing dishes, hands should rest comfortably on the bottom of the sink while standing erect."

The program also incorporates some general tips for making tasks easier and reducing exertion. Motions should be swinging, smooth and rhythmic, with no jerking.

When possible, both hands should be used to do a job such as dusting.

To further cut down on fatigue, the program suggests that you work to music, in a relaxed way, at your own natural pace. If you rest between tasks, lie down.

"It takes one-third more energy to sit at rest than it does to lie down," Gerhardt says.

Body mechanics — which concerns itself with posture, balance, body alignment and the use of muscles, bones and joints — is yet another element of the work-simplification program. Gerhardt offers the following hints for using the body most efficiently:

— Keep feet a shoulder-width apart with one foot slightly in front of the other to provide better stability.

— Try to stay as erect as possible while sitting, standing, walking or climbing stairs.

— To lift, push or pull a heavy object, bend your knees, not your back.

— Never twist while lifting. Pick up the item, hold it close to your body, then pivot.

"Work simplification stresses the importance of how you do a job rather than what job you do.

UNCOOKED FROZEN KIWI FRUIT JAM

3 1/2 cups well mashed kiwifruit
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 pkg. powdered jam and jelly pectin
1 cup light corn syrup
4 1/2 cups sugar

In a large kettle, mix kiwifruit pulp and lemon juice thoroughly. Sift in pectin, stirring vigorously. Add corn syrup and mix well. Gradually stir in sugar, stirring until completely dissolved. Warming to 100 degrees (temperature you would use for baby's milk... no hotter) will help dissolve sugar. Jam is ready to eat when sugar is dissolved.

To Your Good Health

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Recently I had my first heart attack. My doctor sent me to a heart care unit in our hospital. I was immediately connected to a monitor that recorded constantly for five days. I also had ECG tapings done each day. Would you explain just what these recordings were telling my doctor and the attending nurses? — A.B.

Patients are attached to monitors in cardiac care units to observe the rhythm of the heart.

After an attack the heart muscle is very irritable and may develop peculiar beats. When these irregularities become pronounced the heart cannot pump blood efficiently.

Before there were cardiac care units, heart rhythm disturbance was the major cause of death after heart attacks. Now, the abnormal beats are detected and promptly treated there and then.

The ECG machine is much like the monitor, but it is attached to the chest with electric leads in various positions. This way, it is possible to detect specific areas of heart damage from the attack. Observing from many "viewpoints" at once, doctors can pinpoint areas of trouble.

The ECG only detects irregularities for the brief time it is turned on. The monitor, since it is always on, can detect abnormal rhythm patterns, day or night.

You use the term "first attack" rather glibly. There need not be a second one if you follow your doctor's advice about post-infarction care.

Your letter is not unusual. I am continually impressed with the number of readers interested not so much in their illness as in the "hardware" used during treatment of it.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Approximately how long does it take for a breast biopsy and does it require hospitalization? — Mrs. M.S.

The actual biopsy takes but a little time, but preparation of the bit of tissue and examination of it takes longer.

In many places the biopsy is done in outpatient surgical suites, where the patient is discharged the same day. Processing of the specimen may take a day or two. In some instances, immediate analysis is needed (as during actual surgery). In such cases, a so-called "frozen section" of tissue can be prepared and some idea obtained within minutes.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been told I have eosinophilic granuloma. Can you explain it for me? — J.D.O.

There are two forms of eosinophilic granuloma. One occurs in children and young adults, the other in youngsters less than five years old. Obviously, you have the adult variety.

In the adult form there is a single area of bone destruction, most often in the skull, the hip bone, the ribs or the back bone. If only an isolated area remains involved after six months there is not likely ever to be any extension of the problem.

If the bone area is accessible it can be removed surgically. Radiation is sometimes used. It is not a fatal disease. Often patients with this have no symptoms.

The other (childhood) kind is more serious and requires surgery, radiation, or drugs of the kind used in treating cancer.

Granuloma refers to the kind of growth involved and "eosinophile" to the type of white blood cells present in the growth tissue.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 26 and in excellent health. I had my tubes tied when I was 20. I had two children, so it seemed like a good idea at the time. Now my husband and I regret our decision and are looking for ways to undo our mistake. Are there answers you can give me? — Mrs. B.F.

Depending on what was done in the original procedure, it is sometimes possible to reconstruct the fallopian tubes after they have been tied off. You will have to talk this over with your gynecologist. Much progress has been made in this over the past several years.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35-cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

What is your opening bid?
A.—Even though you have game in hand, resist the temptation to open with a demand bid of two hearts—you do not have the high-card requirements for that action. The danger in opening with a forcing two bid is that you might find partner with something like the king-queen in spades and ace-king in clubs, in which case wild horses couldn't stop him from contracting for a slam. Just open one heart. The chances of everyone passing are practically nil.

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass
What do you bid now?
A.—Don't let your plethora of aces and kings go to your head. Whatever extra value those cards are worth is offset by the distribution, for which you must deduct a point. You have a minimum opening bid, so show it and your shape, by rebidding one no trump. There is no game unless partner takes further action.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦A1087 ♠7 ♦AQ94 ♦KQ72
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♠ 1 ♦
What action do you take?
A.—Your singleton heart is the key. It suggests that game is unlikely because of a misfit. But the corollary, a penalty double of the opponents, might produce a highly satisfactory result if partner has a suitable hand. That is the action we would recommend, assuming partner remembers that all low-level doubles are, to a large extent, cooperative efforts.

Q.5—As South vulnerable, you hold:
♦KQ104 ♠K985 ♠5 ♦J873
Partner opens the bidding with one heart. What do you respond?
A.—In support of hearts, your hand is worth 12 points—almost good enough for a jump raise, and far too strong for a single raise. A jump to four hearts does not thrill us. We would temperize by responding one spade, and then support hearts at our next turn, with a jump preference, if necessary.

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦J83 ♠J9862 ♠A7 ♦KQ4
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Don't waste your time bidding no trump, partner, who is almost surely short in hearts, is unlikely to accept a no trump contract, and your stopper is not all that robust. This is simply a matter of whether you should bid three spades or four. With a fourth spade, we would jump to game. As it is, we think that three spades is enough. Partner might have handling problems.

especially considering that his left hand opponent will be poised to overruff him in hearts.

Q.7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦QJ6 ♠AJ ♦AKQ83 ♦962
Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one spade. What action do you take?
A.—A simple overall of two diamonds does not do your hand justice. However, a double followed by a diamond bid also misdescribes your hand. You have 17 HCPs and balanced distribution and there is only one bid for this occasion—an overall of one no trump. Don't let the fact that you do not have a club guard deflect you from this descriptive bid. Your strong five-card suit is a compensating factor.

Q.8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♦K873 ♠KJ62 ♠A7 ♦J52
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass
1 NT Pass 3 NT Pass
Pass Pass
What is your opening lead?
A.—The one thing we know from the auction is that East does not have a four-card major suit. Therefore, we should not be as reluctant to lead from a four-card major as might have been the case. We see no reason on this hand to depart from the old bromide: "Fourth highest from your longest and strongest." Our choice is the deuce of hearts.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am so excited I can hardly write. Just this morning a friend called to tell me about an operation that can help people lose a lot of weight. She read it in the newspaper, and it sounds fabulous. According to the story, the woman weighed 326 pounds before the operation. In 18 months she has lost 150 pounds.
I am 46 years of age and have gained about 15 pounds with each of my five children. I'm five-foot-three and weigh 180 pounds. I've tried every diet I've ever heard about and could never stay with any of them. I just love food, and I guess you might say I am not a disciplined person. I also eat when I'm nervous, and with five kids there's a lot to be nervous about these days.
Will you please find out as much as you can about this operation? I need to know if it is legitimate, or just a sensational piece of journalism to sell newspapers. Thanks a lot. — Trusting You about this surgery, ask your physician or contact your county medical society.

Dear Ann Landers: I was very disappointed when you told that woman to consider court action just because her husband broke her jaw and knocked out a few of her teeth. Big deal. He was worried about her because she didn't come home from her mother's until 11:00 (half an hour later), which proves he really cares about her. I know about such things. Every now and then my Jimmy gives me a shiner or yanks a handful of hair out of my head, but I realize he does these things only because he loves me. If he didn't care, he wouldn't get so mad.
Some people are better than others at controlling their tempers. My Jimmy is Irish, and I accept his little shortcomings as sort of an ethnic trait and I love him in spite of them. After all, nobody's perfect. — An Understanding Wife

Dear Wife: If it's OK with you, it's OK with me. But I hope you have a lot of hair to spare plus a very competent ophthalmologist in case your Jimmy ruptures some blood vessels in your eyes and you need sophisticated care.
Sexual freedom? Presents a difficult decision for teenagers and their parents. Ann Landers offers down-to-earth advice in her new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It—A Guide for Teens and Their Parents." For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Oswald: "Some hands are easy to bid. Others lend themselves to all sorts of possible bidding sequences. There are numerous ways for North and South to bid today's hand. You may not agree with their bidding, but they did get to a fine six-clubs contract."

Alan: "I see that there is some problem in the play also. South has some worries about the black kings. I also note that there will be a happy ending for any South player who relies on the 52 percent chance that when you hold 11 cards in a suit, the missing two cards will be found one in each hand."

Oswald: "I played this hand in a rubber bridge game long before there were any conventions to find how many aces your partner might hold. I also got a real horse laugh from West when I finessed in clubs and lost to his singleton king."

Alan: "The last laugh had to be yours since you had played safe to guarantee your slam against all reasonable card combinations."

Oswald: "Of course! I took my king of hearts, led a diamond to dummy, cashed the ace of hearts to discard one spade, ruffed a heart, went back to dummy with the last diamond and lost that trump finesse. When West quieted down I showed my hand and claimed the contract. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Cambodians Revive In Thai Sanctuary

SA KAEW, Thailand (AP) — A month of rest, food and medical care has transformed the passive and starving Cambodian refugees of Sa Kaew into something of a community, with births, marriages and groups of children flying kites.

But it has also given members of Cambodia's ousted Communist regime of Pol Pot, who are mixed among the refugees, a chance to assert their control. A shadow of fear hovers over the acres of closely packed blue plastic tents.

The crowded refugees speak only guardedly with outsiders, and whenever a conversation with a Westerner begins, other black-clad men gather to watch coldly, sometimes prompting answers in an undertone.

Along the barbed wire of its eastern perimeter the once-disorganized camp is impressive. Its hospital is now clean and well staffed, its kitchen stocked with vegetables and red meat, its orphanage busy with games and the camp's first small school.

The early days of horror at Sa Kaew have passed, when sick and starving people who had lost the will to live died in the mud for lack of medical attention, and doctors and relief workers were scarce.

The death rate has dropped from a high of 52 to around 10 a day, with the months of malnutrition and disease taking a decreasing toll. Nearly 550 people have died since the camp opened Oct. 24, 110 miles east of Bangkok, Thailand's capital.

More than 1,000 of the seriously ill still lie in the tent hospital and nearly 4,000 others still visit the camp's three outpatient clinics each day. Doctors say the extremely crowded conditions among the 31,000 refugees here bring a danger of the spread of disease.

But more than 10 marriages have been recorded in Sa Kaew's first month, and babies are being born at the rate of up to five a day. As a further sign of life, Thai soldiers complain that the once-hungry and listless children are becoming hard to control when candy or toys are handed out.

But not so much has changed deeper inside the camp, where families lie cramped with little to do under their small squares of blue plastic, and where little official influence appears to penetrate despite armed patrols day and night by Thai special forces troops in red berets.

Weathermen To Air Winter Predictions

By The Associated Press

FOLKLORE HAS it that the entrails of hogs are more reliable than computers for predicting the weather, and some weathermen concede they sometimes fall back on a "gut feeling."

But having stuffed their computers with all manner of numbers and meteorological data, the Long Range Predictions Group of the National Weather Service will hold a news conference on Wednesday to tell Americans how cold they're going to get this winter.

Joe and Eunice Kwasniewski of Ava, N.Y., have checked the innards of butchered hogs and they foresee a long, but mild winter season.

The Farmer's Almanac, which has been predicting the weather for 188 years, agrees with the Kwasniewskis, or vice-versa.

It's all hogwash, says veteran broadcast weatherman Don Kent of WBZ in Boston, who's been keeping New Englanders posted on weather conditions for more than three decades.

"I firmly believe no one in the world, including the squirrels, knows what's going to happen," he says.

Kent, who admits he sometimes relies on "instinct," has his own rule-of-thumb — "I always look out the window when I make a forecast."

If the Kwasniewskis say the spleens of butchered hogs — called hog milt — have been long and narrow this season, indicating a long, mild winter, the weather service thinks it has better data.

Dr. Donald L. Gillman, chief meteorologist for the Long Range Predictions Group, has been forecasting the weather with 70 percent accuracy for several years. In November 1977 he went before Congress to warn of an impending stormy and bitter season and last year he accurately forecast more snowfall than average in many areas.

Nonetheless, the nation's weathermen — especially the television personalities who suffer the scorn of the public when they are wrong — are skeptical.

And, as for their own guesses, they appear divided on what this winter has in store.

It's interesting to note, however, that all of the weathermen interviewed by The Associated Press in various parts of the Northeast and Midwest have their own homes well insulated.

Storm Field, the weatherman at WABC-TV in New York and son of the NBC veteran, Frank Field, says he likes the cold and puts on sweaters instead of turning up the thermostat.

Like many of the others, Storm Field says he doesn't keep a record of the accuracy of his predictions. But last winter, he said, a group of students kept tabs on several in New York.

His father had the best record, he was second, and the National Weather Service came in fifth, Field said.

No-Kissing Zone Established In Front Of Train Station

DEERFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Laurie Gordon drove with her husband to the train station and gave him a goodbye kiss — a clear violation of the town's no-kissing zone.

Had she been 50 yards away, in the community's kissing zone, she could have legally smooched all morning.

The kiss and no-kiss boundaries are clearly marked by signs. The first has a silhouette of a man in a hat and a woman in curlers touching puckered lips. The other is the same picture with a slash through it.

The point of this government intrusion into domestic affection is to keep traffic moving in the drop-off point at the Milwaukee Road commuter station in this suburb northwest of Chicago.

The idea developed after the city completed work on a parking lot and put up a bunch of new signs — "one-way, no parking, don't do this, don't do that," said Marge Emery, an assistant village manager.

"One engineer said the traffic was getting clogged by couples kissing goodbye," she said. "So we thought we'd put up a sign outlawing smooching."

But, she said, "It's just a joke. Of course, you can't enforce it."

Nonetheless, Mrs. Gordon was a little apologetic after she pecked her husband goodbye during the morning rush-hour Friday.

"It wasn't a real long and passionate kiss," she said. "And I don't think I held up traffic."

Many of the other commuters who exchanged kisses also ignored the signs.

"Yeah, I saw it," Scott Krantz, 27, told a reporter. "But I'm willing to run the risk of a 10-year ride in Leavenworth to kiss my wife goodbye."

"I stared at it for about 30 seconds trying to see if there was something more to it," he said. "but then I said the hell with it, it's not busy, and I kissed her."

U.S. Backs Debate On Iranian Crisis

since Iranian militants seized the embassy Nov. 4.

Tens of thousands of Iranians shouting anti-American slogans marched to the occupied embassy Sunday. No violent incidents were reported.

Hansen, who was in Tehran in a personal and unofficial bid to end the standoff, said the hostages he saw looked fairly well, "but their mental state seems anxious. They would like to get out. They are anxious for their families to know they are well."

He said the Americans' hands were "loosely tied with a strip of white cloth" and they were kept about three to a room. "Some were sitting and reading. Some were lying on mats." They "don't get much sunshine and not much opportunity to change their clothes," he added.

Hansen, who came to Iran on his own and won government permission to visit the embassy, said he spoke with "a substantial" number of hostages about "various things."

Later, he said his meeting with the hostages showed "there is something we can deal with" and "this was quite a concession as no American has been in before to see them." He named one of the hostages as Gerry Plotkin, a businessman from Oaks, Calif., and said Plotkin was visiting the embassy when it was invaded.

The congressman was surrounded by a good-natured crowd of fist-waving Iranians as he emerged from the embassy. The crowd began chanting "Yankee Go Home, Yankee Go Home," but quickly switched to "People Yes, Carter No."

He told the demonstrators, through an interpreter, he did not represent the U.S. government but spoke as "one of the people."

Hansen said the charges against the shah have concerned many Americans, but he did not see how "under the laws of our country" it would be possible for the United States to extradite Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, who is now receiving cancer treatment in New York.

He told them of his proposal for a U.S. congressional inquiry into Iranian charges that the shah is responsible for the deaths of 60,000 persons and for plundering billions of dollars from the nation.

Iranians involved in Sunday's demonstrations marched to the embassy in two wings, one organized by Marxist groups to show their displeasure with the United States. The other — larger — wing was made up of Moslems, supporting Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, who maintains the Marxist groups do not support his Islamic principles.

There were a few scuffles between the rival groups, but no major incidents, and the government, in calling for the march, urged participants to avoid any violence.

In other developments:

- In Dubai, United Arab Emirates, the UAE government posted troops around U.S. and British installations in an effort to prevent attacks by Moslems sympathetic to the embassy occupation in Tehran.
- Pars reported the autonomy-seeking Kurds of the northwest have agreed to a 20-day cease-fire in their four-month-old war providing the "withdrawal of all non-native guards from all Kurdish towns within 15 days."
- The Kurdish Democratic Party, which took part in the negotiations that led to the cease-fire, issued a statement backing Khomeini.

No Saudi Oil Quota Cut Seen

Venezuela and experts are predicting the $23.50 a barrel OPEC ceiling will go up $2-$4 a barrel.

Saudi Arabia, which has billions of dollars invested in the United States, has sought to protect the dollar value of those holdings by keeping down its oil price to American oil companies.

But Miller said there is some sentiment in Saudi Arabia to raise prices to American oil firms from $18 a barrel to the $23.50 ceiling because U.S. firms, the Saudi government said, are buying $18 oil, reselling it at $23.50, costing the Riyadh government $100 million daily in lost revenues.

Al-Khalil told reporters future Saudi decisions on where to invest oil earnings will include many factors "currency and other risks" but he did not specify.

On Saturday, Miller said the Saudis insisted the United States tax oil firms more heavily on their profits or face higher prices, and he said while he expects some price increase at the Dec. 17 meeting, he hoped they would not be substantial.

"If there are continued significant increases, there will be continued downward pressures on economies and we could go into a worldwide recession," he said Saturday.

Attention of the Saudi officials was diverted during Miller's visit by a siege of the Grand Mosque in Mecca, site of Islam's holiest shrine.

Crown Prince Fahd, the man who probably will make the decision on oil prices and supply, canceled a scheduled meeting with Miller on Saturday because of the situation in Mecca.

Conservationists Say Sea Turtle In Danger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sea turtle, once so abundant that Spanish galleons could navigate in fog by following the sound of migrating herds, is fast becoming extinct.

Hoping to find some strategy that will allow the turtle to survive, conservationists and marine scientists from 40 nations are beginning a week-long conference on the creature Monday at the State Department.

Preservation of the sea turtle is of more than academic interest. The green turtle, one of the threatened species, is a rich source of protein for thousands of people around the world. Conservationists hope that the green turtle, if protected from commercial exploitation, can continue to feed subsistence hunters along the tropical coasts.

But against that hope are the commercial realities that threaten the turtle:

- Tortoise shell, the mottled shell of the endangered hawksbill turtle, now sells on the world market at a higher price than that of raw elephant ivory. It is used for jewelry.
- Turtle eggs not only are considered a delicacy in much of the world, they are believed in parts of Latin America to be an aphrodisiac, highly sought after and highly priced.
- The skin of the flippers of most species is valued as leather for shoes and handbags. Turtle oil is used in cosmetics. Turtle cartilage is rendered for soup.

Conservationists say that, because of its versatility, the sea turtle is the most profitable wild animal in the world.

- Even in protected waters, the nets of commercial shrimp fishermen snare and drown thousands of turtles inadvertently. Beach development destroys nesting areas. And some souvenir vendors have even frozen tiny hatchling turtles in clear plastic for sale as paperweights.

The green turtle existed in such great numbers only a few centuries ago that Spanish navigators claimed they could find the Cayman Islands in fog simply by following the noise of migrating herds.

In the 1800s, thousands of turtles could be harvested from a single nesting beach in a single night. A 1947 film made in Mexico showed an estimated 40,000 Kemp's ridley turtles riding the surf to the beach of Playa de Rancho Nuevo to nest.

"Now," says Rutgers University professor David Ehrenfeld, "some of the largest of the historically recorded green turtle rookeries no longer exist. Those that remain are almost all in great danger and are declining."

Ehrenfeld said the total number of green turtles in the world may be fewer than 500,000, and only about 500 Kemp's ridley turtles nested this year.

Abolhassan Bani Sadr Postpones Trip To U.S.

ABOLHASSAN BANI SADR Postpones Trip To U.S.

Abolhassan Bani Sadr, the Iranian revolutionary leader, has postponed his trip to the United States, according to a spokesman.

The spokesman said Bani Sadr had been scheduled to visit the United States in the next few weeks, but the trip has been postponed until further notice.

Cracks Showing In U.S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cracks in the U.S. economy are widening as business, and consumers show increasing vulnerability to inflation and rising interest rates, many economists say.

The government's most recent statistics provide the strongest evidence yet of the long-predicted, but slow-to-develop recession, these economists said in a series of interviews last week.

Since the Federal Reserve Board acted Oct. 6 to tighten credit and boost interest rates, home building has plummeted, industrial activity has weakened, and retail sales have eroded.

Even positive economic news had a gloomy side.

People's incomes rose last month, but not enough to keep up with inflation. The government also said Americans were saving more of their income than in September, while spending less. While that could eventually help temper the inflation rate, it also is characteristic of a recession, said Jack Carlson, chief economist of the National Association of Realtors.

"The consumer is getting more cautious," he noted.

At the same time, the government reported corporate profits in the third quarter rebounded from a second-quarter downturn. Yet, as with people's incomes, inflation took its toll.

Despite a 6.2-percent increase in after-tax profits, less cash was available to companies for dividends to stockholders and for future expansion than during the second quarter. Because of inflation, businesses put much of their profits to work replacing inventory and worn-out equipment at higher prices than the original items cost.

"Oil companies have plenty of money, but they're the only ones," says Michael Evans of the Washington-based Evans Economics. "Take them out, and it's clear profits have been running behind inflation this year."

Adds Robert Gough, of Data Resources Inc., of Cambridge, Mass.: "This confirms the vulnerability of business balance sheets. It means the business sector as a whole is not well-positioned to spend heavily in the next six to nine months on new projects."

Interest rates are so high — nearly 16 percent to banks' biggest and best customers — that many corporations will choose to delay capital expenditures.

Detroit will be an exception, says auto industry analyst Arvid Jouppe.

"The auto industry must expand to stay in business," he said. Even though Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co. announced huge losses recently, they will join General Motors in spending billions to retool their plants to produce more small cars, he said.

"But, Detroit will be the aberration," Jouppe stressed.

Business spending is seen as a key prop for the economy because it must make up for the decline in consumer spending, economists say.

Consumer spending was a major reason the nation's economic output, or gross national product, increased 3.5 percent in the third quarter, after slipping 2.3 percent in the second quarter.

But retail sales in October dropped 1.7 percent, led by sharp declines in auto purchases. Many economists expect this slippage to worsen.

The fall-off will be harshest in Detroit, said Jouppe. "We will have another month or more of dismal sales ... Detroit will remain in a recession into March," he predicted.

Alan Greenspan, who headed the Council of Economic Advisers under President Ford, agrees that cracks in the economy are widening, but adds: "The walls have not yet caved in." He said the economy did not begin to truly weaken until very recently. Housing starts, for example, didn't dip until "the last couple of weeks."

Employment remains relatively stable, he noted, while factory orders for long-lasting goods — a key economic signal — are holding up, with the exception of airplanes.

"We're not yet at the precipice," he said. "We're slipping, eroding."

But that precipice may be close. Theodore Torda, a Commerce Department economist, said last week that businesses are clearly beginning to work off their backlog of durable goods orders.

bock and plan to have their say at Tuesday's hearing.

Reportedly, organization members are concerned about the hardship on Texas Tech University students if the garage apartments can no longer be rented.

Though only about 15 persons attended the first meeting of Concerned Citizens last week, the charter members plan to solicit additional membership before the hearing.

Following the hearing, the subcommittee will make a recommendation to the full planning commission which, in turn, will recommend a course of action to the City Council.

Doctor Awaits Verdict Following Long Trial

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — After a four-day recess, jurors in the attempted capital murder trial of Dr. Archie Herman Burkhalter resume deliberations Monday.

The jury considered the case seven hours Wednesday before getting an unexpected long Thanksgiving weekend break.

Burkhalter and co-defendant Scott David Minnick are charged with trying to arrange the death of John Hensley on South Padre Island on Feb. 15.

Hensley survived a rifle bullet that ripped out his eyes as he unlocked his car. The victim is married to Burkhalter's ex-wife, Laurita.

One man was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the case. S.J. Wilburn, Minnick's uncle, was tried in July for what prosecutors say was his part as the triggerman in the shooting.

Burkhalter, formerly of Pasadena, Texas, is accused of hiring Wilburn and Minnick and giving them a 1977 Cadillac Eldorado for the shooting.

The doctor, who now lives in Fredericksburg, originally was charged with offering the men $15,000 for the shooting, but prosecutors said they couldn't locate a crucial witness who could testify to the money.

Burkhalter's defense lawyers have painted the doctor's legal problems as largely family squabbles and have tried to attack the credibility of his ex-wife's testimony.

A week before she married Hensley, the doctor's former spouse was taken from her South Padre Island condominium to the hospital Burkhalter owned in Pasadena. She was released later after police warned the doctor to let her go.

Burkhalter was charged with kidnapping in the incident. His trial on those charges was delayed after Hensley was shot.

Jewish Hostage Felt Escape Safest Plan

EL PASO (UPI) — Jeff Huppert figured the risk of escape beat an unscheduled trip to Iran.

Huppert, 32, was one of the 73 people aboard American Airlines Flight 395, hijacked after it landed Saturday at El Paso International Airport en route from San Antonio to Los Angeles.

But Huppert had a special reason for fearing a trip to Iran.

"They don't allow Jews in Iran, so I split," said the Jewish sales representative from San Diego in explanation of his decision to flee the plane. He pretended to have to use a restroom but then slipped out a rear cabin door and down a flight of stairs.

"I was scared. I looked around and saw a give-and-take situation and I decided that I'd rather make my play here than somewhere else," he said.

The hijacker, who authorities identified as Gerald James Hill, 18, of Chester, Mass., remained in the El Paso County Jail Sunday, where jailers said he spent a quiet night.

Held in lieu of $500,000 bond on charges of attempted hijacking and crime aboard an airport, Hill was scheduled for another hearing before a federal judge Monday.

Authorities have declined to reveal why Hill wanted to go to Iran.

Airline officials Sunday could not explain how he could have gotten through airport security with the large knife — variously described by hostages as a "Bowie knife," "machete" and "butcher knife" — he used to begin the hijack.

Officials said the San Antonio airport, where he boarded the plane, has two X-ray machines and a security guard and that all passengers were checked. An FBI official said he got aboard by running to the gate at the last minute and possibly dodged past security.

American spokesman John Raymond said the airline still was trying to determine if Hill had been on another plane before boarding in San Antonio.

"If he came off another plane he may have been in a sterile area (where passengers already cleared by one security system would not have to go through another). If that were the case, we would have to take the microscope off San Antonio and look elsewhere for the security breach."

No one was injured in the four-hour incident and all women and children passengers were freed shortly after it began.

Sid Campa, one of about 20 hostages freed when the FBI slipped aboard the plane and captured Hill, said he heard a bystander say the hijacking attempt "wasn't much" as far as hostage situations go.

"That may be," Campa said later, "but I would have traded places with almost anyone this morning."

Klansmen Visit Texas Town

SEADRIFT (AP) — Six Ku Klux Klan members met briefly with civic leaders of this Gulf Coast town to discuss the shooting death of a fisherman for which two Vietnamese refugees stood trial and were acquitted.

Mayor Rayburn Haynie said he talked with members of the white supremacist group for about five minutes on Saturday.

"The consensus here is the trial is over and let's forget about it," Haynie said later. "That's the way our justice system works, and that's the way it should be. It may have its faults, but it's still the best in the world."

Texas Klan grand dragon Louis Bean of Pasadena, said his organization made the "fact-finding" mission to Seadrift because of "concern" that evidence might be covered up in the death of Billy Joe Aplin last August. The shooting occurred amid rising tension between natives and refugees over fishing rights in the area.

"I'm asking the state of Texas to return all evidence pertaining to the Billy Joe Aplin case back to the family," Bean said. "Otherwise, we will have to come back to Seadrift in force and dramatize our concern."

He said the family was especially interested in recovering the shirt Aplin was wearing when he was shot to death Aug. 3.

"There is the possibility that Billy Joe had been shot more than two times and had been cut up with a knife prior to the shooting. That shirt, we feel, will answer questions which have not been answered," said Bean, 33.

Said Haynie: "I don't care if they walk up and down the street. It's a free country, but we don't want any problems."

Attempt To Stop Fire Fails

GALVESTON (AP) — Coast Guard aircraft monitored a 25-day-old fire aboard a leaking oil tanker in the Gulf of Mexico Sunday after firefighters gave up on a second attempt to extinguish the persistent blaze.

The Burmah Agate has been afire since it collided Nov. 1 with the freighter Mimosa near the entrance to the Galveston Ship Channel. Bodies of 17 crewmen have been recovered and 15 others are missing and presumed dead.

Foam poured into burning tanks Friday did no good.

The Burmah Agate carried 390,000 barrels of crude oil, and ship owners estimated about half that amount has leaked into the Gulf.

Wind and currents have periodically forced some of the oil onto Galveston beaches, and cleanup crews remained on standby.

Scientists from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said over the weekend that oil sheen could be seen on the water around the ship, but that there were no reports of that oil coming ashore.

Dallas Apartment Fire

Kills One-Year-Old

DALLAS (UPI) — A fire at a 40-unit apartment complex in East Dallas early Sunday killed a 1-year-old girl and caused $100,000 damage, fire officials said.

Witnesses said firefighter David Thomas tried three times to get into the apartment and save Lakeisha Feaster, but each time was turned back by smoke and flames.

The Dallas County medical examiner's office listed the preliminary cause of death as smoke inhalation.

Arab Businessman Locked In Billion Dollar Divorce Battle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — They met in Paris. He was a young Saudi Arabian businessman ready to take a wife. She was a teen-age British beauty touring with her mother.

"In 1961, I met and was attracted to Sandra Jarvis-Daley," Adnan Khashoggi would recall years later. "...After a period of courtship, we decided to get married."

Sandra changed her name to Soraya, became a Moslem, took the veil and had five children. Adnan built a multi-billion-dollar business empire which took them to far corners of the world.

Now, 18 years after meeting, Adnan and Soraya Khashoggi are locked in a bitter court battle involving billions of dollars, their children and the details of a storybook marriage that failed.

It is no ordinary divorce case because Adnan Khashoggi is no ordinary man. An international arms dealer with a shadowy reputation, Khashoggi is considered one of the world's richest men.

Soraya's lawsuit, filed on Aug. 3 by attorney Marvin Mitchelson, is the largest divorce action on record, seeking $2.5 billion, which she estimates as half of Khashoggi's staggering wealth.

The case has international political implications as well. "Government agencies will be watching this civil case," says Mitchelson, who accompanied the glamorous Soraya to a recent Securities and Exchange Commission hearing. She invoked the Fifth Amendment and declined to testify about her husband's role in alleged bribes.

Mitchelson said former President Richard Nixon was subpoenaed last week to give a deposition about his contacts with Khashoggi.

Coming weeks will tell whether the case of Khashoggi vs. Khashoggi will unearth enough data to threaten Adnan Khashoggi's worldwide power as middleman in the arms market.

The first step, getting Adnan to testify in a legal proceeding, is scheduled for Dec. 12, when he will make a deposition either in Paris or in New York at his $2 million townhouse on Fifth Avenue, according to Mitchelson. Mitchelson says this is his most important case since the landmark Marvin vs. Marvin alimony-without-marriage trial.

"This case will strengthen the rights of Moslem women to be treated as partners with their husbands and have their contributions to marriages recognized as something more than second-class, walk-behind status," says the lawyer.

"Even the Koran (the Moslem holy book) says that a wife and children should be treated fairly upon a divorce," says Mitchelson, who has perused lawbooks and religious treatises with his associate, Harold Rhoden, researching precedents for this unusual suit.

One question that puzzles is why an Arab and his British wife should have their divorce litigated in California.

"These people lived all over the world," says Mitchelson. "He spent as much time here as anywhere else. ... Besides, Khashoggi has banks and companies all over the state. He owns banks with 15 branches here."

Soraya, living in Los Angeles, seeks to take advantage of California's liberal community property laws.

A similar move by Mitchelson for Bianca Jagger in connection with her divorce from British rock star Mick Jagger so far has failed to establish property jurisdiction in California, a matter under appeal.

Khashoggi said in a sworn affidavit that he has not lived in California since he attended Chico State College and Stanford University for four years in the 1950s. He said his only business contacts are two banks he owns in Walnut Creek, Calif.

His affidavit makes no mention of Lockheed or Northrop corporations. Both California defense manufacturers are reportedly under SEC investigation for allegedly passing bribes, through Khashoggi, to Arabian princes and government officials.

Khashoggi recently sued Northrop for $153 million he claims the company owes him in commissions on sales to Saudi Arabia.

Soraya's brief appearance before the SEC signaled the international fallout that could accompany a divorce trial.

There are more complications in the case. "Soraya and Adnan were divorced by proxy in 1974 in a Beirut court. Mitchelson says Soraya was unaware of the proceeding until some time later and claims it is invalid. She also accuses Adnan of threatening her with execution — "declaring her blood to be legal" under Moslem law if she opposed him.

"Khashoggi has paid Soraya child support of about $2 million in the past five years for their five children who attend schools in Switzerland. But she says all payments stopped last June and he broke a promise to give her $400,000 in cash and support her "in the manner to which she had become accustomed."

"Before she filed suit, Soraya married an Englishman, a union that was annulled early this year after seven months.

"The Khashoggis are involved in another legal wrangle in London where Soraya claims Adnan has refused to pay rent on a house which she owns and he uses. A court there impounded one of his three private jumbo jetliners as part of the dispute.

Mitchelson concedes the request for a $2.5 billion settlement raised eyebrows, but he insists it's not outrageous.

"You have to look at it relatively," he said with a smile. "We're talking about a man who has a $44 million yacht, 13 homes, three planes and who is reputed to have bought his Italian girlfriend a $20 million yacht."

"We're talking about a man with a great deal of money."

Government's Report Into Dam Collapse To Be Released Soon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A government study says some "wet seams" in the earthen structure of Idaho's Teton Dam may have been involved in its collapse in 1976, the Los Angeles Times said in Sunday's editions.

The collapse which unleashed a wall of water was blamed for 14 deaths and extensive agricultural damage.

The report of an Interior Department review group, scheduled for public release about Jan. 1, is the first official study of the dam collapse to cite construction irregularities as a possible cause, the Times said. Previous investigations pointed toward design problems as what may have caused the 300-foot tall dam to fail June 5, 1976.

Bodies Of Servicemen Enroute

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — The bodies of two American servicemen killed in the attack on the U.S. Embassy in Islamabad last week were flown here Sunday from Pakistan enroute to the United States.

Separate Marine and Army honor guards carried the flag-draped coffins to waiting ambulances at Frankfurt airport for transport to a nearby U.S. army mortuary for official identification and embalming.

The two men, Marine Corporal Steven Crowley, of Port Jefferson, N.Y., and Army Warrant Officer Brian Ellis, of Spring Lake, N. C., were killed last Wednesday after a mob attacked the em-

Rising Prices, Tight Money No Deterrent

People Still Finding Ways To Buy Gifts

By United Press International
Christmas shoppers seem undeterred by the tight money situation, recession talk, 13 percent inflation and worker layoffs. The merchants know why: People always find a way to buy Christmas presents.

It's the tradition that counts, the merchants say.

A UPI post-Thanksgiving survey showed some shopkeepers were keeping inventories tight, narrowing selections, playing conservative. Many reported normal stock. In newspapers thick with advertising, they offer early sales to draw customers into stores.

The customers are going. "It's a traditional thing," said John Juhasz, who has begun selling Christmas trees and wreaths of balsam fir from the front lawn of his Woodbridge, N.J., home. "People are grumbling a little, but everything is going up. Business is a little slow because it's early yet, but it'll pick up."

"People will always buy a wreath or tree at Christmas," said his wife, Mary. "There's some traditions people will always spend money for. Christmas is one of them."

John Gray of a Toys-R-Us store in Washington, D.C., also expressed confidence in "tradition" and said his inventory is the same as last year.

"We feel the Christmas season has its own momentum and no matter whether people are feeling the effects of inflation or other things they will find a way to buy presents for Christmas," said Dan Hagan of the Foley's department store chain in Houston.

Shoppers are buying at Macy's and Lord and Taylor in New York. Foley's in Houston, Dayton's of Minneapolis, Miller & Paine of Seattle, and Nieman Marcus in Dallas.

John Pawlis, manager of the Penn Square Shopping Center in Oklahoma City called business "exceptionally good."

Al Dietzel, president of the Columbus, Ohio Chamber of Commerce, said he expects sales to be 8 percent higher than last Christmas season.

Pete Gregos at King Norman's Kingdom of Toys in Portland, Ore., has a crowded store, and Bill Payne of Play Pen Toy in Jackson, Miss., said, "Business is up, really."

Edwin Roberts of May Company department stores in Los Angeles said he expects a 10 percent increase in sales over last year, and Ron Hyde of ZCMI Department Store in Salt Lake City said his store is "very, very busy."

On the day after Thanksgiving, the first "official" day of the Christmas shopping season, the shopping center across the street from the General Motors plant in Columbus, Ohio, was jammed, shopping brisk.

In Raleigh, N.C., Vance Corbett, general manager of Crabtree Valley Mall, said, "A Lot of our stores are well up in sales."

Some merchants don't see it that way.

"We're just barely breaking even right now but that's pretty good considering the shape the economy is in," said Merrill Peterson, manager of the J.C. Penney store at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Larry J. LaBati at Sakowitz department store chain in Houston said, "We've been a little conservative in our purchases, yes, because we feel there's a little bit of a slowup in the economy."

Stephanie Sklar of Woodward & Lothrop in Washington, D.C., said, "We are taking a conservative approach to inventories this Christmas."

Stores in Georgia also said they are not being "overly ambitious" with their stocks, and Everett Purdy of Service Merchandise in Nashville, Tenn., a chain of 101 catalog stores, said suppliers to retail outlets have low inventories this season.

Customers also seem to be using caution, said many merchants. "Quality, rather than price," was how one shopkeeper described it.

"We find people are buying more selectively, carefully," said Stanley Seiden of Dayton's Department Store in Minneapolis.

"They're looking for every price break," said Robert Campbell of Miller & Paine of Seattle.

"We think people are practical shoppers while a recession is going on," said a spokesman for Lord & Taylor in Boston.

But there are exceptions. Sakowitz of Houston said one of its most popular items is cashmere sweaters. Bill Marrero of Castner Knott, one of the largest retail stores in Bowling Green, Ky., said his hottest item is anything made of 14-carat gold.

Court Says Ex-Official Guilty

PROVIDENCE (AP) — Former state Rep. Peter J. Coelho was found guilty Saturday of six counts of embezzlement and two counts of conspiracy in connection with the theft of $13,000 from the Rhode Island Housing Investment Fund while he was its executive director.

A Superior Court jury acquitted Coelho, 58, a Democrat who formerly represented East Providence, of two related counts of embezzlement.

Coelho's attorney, John F. Sheehan, said he would appeal the case and immediately filed a motion for a new trial. Judge John P. Bourcier released Coelho in personal recognizance and scheduled a Jan. 4 hearing on the motion.

The verdict was returned late Saturday after 17 hours of deliberations over two days.

During the two-week trial, the state contended that Coelho embezzled funds while executive director of the housing fund, which was set up to provide low interest housing loans. The jury retired Wednesday after four days of technical testimony about the loans approved by Coelho, who did not seek reelection in 1978.

His lawyer conceded this week that "sloppy bookkeeping" procedures were followed under Coelho, but said his client should not be facing embezzlement charges.

CAREERS

By JOYCE LAIN KENNEDY

Dear Joyce: Could you discuss public health educators? I am a former teacher, have become interested in health and plan to go back to work.
—M.W., San Antonio

Community health education is a small but apparently expanding field which focuses on preventive health care. Its practitioners are known as community health educators or public health educators.

These professionals use teaching skills and a sound knowledge of public health to educate you and me about what we can do to stay fit, prevent disease or secure treatment.

Rarely do health educators deal with us individually, but instead work through intermediaries: teachers, club leaders, health officers, public health nurses, trade-union officials, scout leaders, community group heads and media personnel.

Their duties range from preparing such health materials as leaflets, films, exhibits and posters, to helping a poor neighborhood plan its own health center. But whatever the task, these specialized educators are analysts, facilitators, motivators, planners and communicators. As such, they must be able to work well with others, resolve conflicts and serve as people's advocates until the people come forward to speak for themselves in health matters.

A bachelor's degree in community education is basic, but a master's degree in the same specialty or in public health is required for leadership positions.

Unlike most health occupations, work settings are often other than health facilities: government offices, voluntary health agencies industry, international health programs, poverty projects, agricultural extension services, insurance companies and professional societies, as well as hospitals and clinics.

Beginners are said to earn $12,000 to $16,000, while educators with extensive training and experience can receive $18,000 and higher. Although the profession appears to be on the upswing — it has grown from 600 in 1950 to an estimated 3,000 today — it is vulnerable to recession because results and cost benefits are difficult to document. Related jobs include school health educators, educational therapists and rehabilitation teacher.

Persuading people to sidestep health hazards can be frustrating when no one pays attention to your missionary efforts, yet when your work does bear fruit, as in the opening of a neighborhood health center, the psychic rewards are powerful.

READER SERVICE: To obtain two pages of additional career information including accredited graduate schools of community health education, enclose a stamped, self-addressed, long white envelope with your request to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper. Ask for "What Is A Public Health Educator?" The offer ends February 1, 1980. The information will be sent by the Society for Public Health Education.

TARGET — El Paso gun shop owner Dick Brand holds up a silhouette target he had printed depicting revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini as the bull's-eye. "We just did it to support the growing American protest," says Brand. He said the owner of a local gun range heard about the targets and said shooters bringing in the silhouettes could fire free all day. (AP Laserphoto)

Expert Says Carter Has Public's Confidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A University of Michigan professor has taken President Carter and his pollster to task for saying the United States faces a "crisis of confidence."

The scholar, Warren E. Miller, says the decline in public confidence in government actually has leveled off in the past two years.

In a nationally televised speech last July, Carter warned that America faces a "crisis of confidence" that "threatens the very fabric of our society."

The man given credit for providing Carter with the theme for his address is Patrick H. Caddell, president of Cambridge Survey Research Inc.

Caddell writes in the latest issue of Public Opinion magazine that the public's attitude toward the level of prosperity, personal lives, personal financial situations and the ability of government and society to cope with problems has "shown a significant decline in recent years ... or was already at such low levels that a crisis could be said to have existed for some time."

But the university of Michigan's Miller points out in the same magazine that surveys conducted by the school's Institute for Social Research "have clearly shown a decline in trust over the past two decades, but in recent years — 1976-1978 — the decline has leveled off."

Carter enjoys "an appreciable increase in confidence" among his fellow Democrats, and only among Republicans has there been "a distinct downward trend since he took office," he said.

"Whether or not one agrees with the pessimism of the president's outlook, it is clear that the 'crisis' preceded his election and had not grown appreciably worse during his first two years in office," said Miller.

He argued that Carter and Caddell "have not paid sufficient attention to the influence of partisanship and ideology on public sentiments."

"The ultimate irony of the president's speech," Miller said, "will come if he establishes his own credibility by persuading the nation that his diagnosis is correct."

Caddell said that although Carter "has made his share of mistakes," there is no single cause of the confidence crisis. He also denied the economy could be held solely responsible for a confidence gap with the White House.

"The more likely explanation is that the country has suffered a series of shocks — Vietnam, Watergate, stagflation and so on — and has never had time to recover from one before being hit by another," he wrote.

Caddell said polls taken by his survey firm early this year touched on such low points as Watergate and the Arab oil embargo, "yet people still thought the present was worse than that particular chapter in our history."

Senate Hearings Dealing With 'Chop Shops' To Open Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators say the high cost of replacing auto parts is behind the emergence of steal-to-order repair garages known as "chop shops."

The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, which calls auto theft "the decade's most ominous new property crime," opens five days of hearings on the subject Tuesday.

"Organized crime figures are believed by law enforcement to be involved in chop shop operations in several major cities throughout the country," said staff investigators.

A 1966 law aimed at making cars theft-resistant, they said, has reduced only teen-age joyriding and has not stopped professional auto thieves.

And the rising cost of parts — investigators say thieves can get $23,400 separately for what went into a $5,100 new car — is behind the increase in "chop shops."

In a legitimate business, an auto repair shop will call a salvage yard for a part. The yard has gotten parts from auctions at which insurance companies sell wrecks not worth repairing. If the yard doesn't have it, it can call on a network of other yards nationally.

In the illegal operation, a salvage yard responds to the request and offers a lower-than-cost price and delivery date. The salvage yard owner then contacts a thief, instructing him to steal the car or truck from which the part is needed. After it is stolen, the vehicle is dismantled in a "chop shop" in a matter of hours and the part delivered to the yard that requested it.

Tourists No Longer Stranded In Wyoming Town

CHUGWATER, Wyo. (AP) — They hung out the "Vacancy" sign at the Chugwater Hotel again Sunday, and the Rev. Boyd Crose had plenty of empty pews at the Methodist Church. Nearly all of the 100 motorists who were stranded here for five days by a blizzard had departed.

But while some of the 200 residents of this southeastern Wyoming town talked of a belated Thanksgiving celebration, Dave Malin of Red Lodge, Mont., was not yet counting his blessings.

"The first day we were here, we talked about getting Chugwater T-shirts and having an annual reunion, but now it's getting a little old," Malin, who remained behind with two friends because of car trouble, said in a telephone interview.

Chugwater has been cut off from the rest of the West since Tuesday, when one of the fiercest storms of the century dumped more than 2 feet of snow on parts of Wyoming and Colorado, closing roads, stranding thousands and causing at least three deaths in Wyoming and four in Colorado.

Interstate 25, Chugwater's only link with the outside, remained closed for 70 miles between Cheyenne and Wheatland for the sixth straight day Sunday, but the Wyoming Highway Patrol led most stranded travelers caravan-style to Wheatland late Saturday night along a narrow lane of highway opened through the frozen drifts.

Before their rescue, wayfarers crowded into the 21-room Chugwater Hotel and private homes for as many as five days and were described as "getting kind of crabby."

"It was pretty tight for awhile," Malin said. "There were some mouthy people who really made it tough, but now that there's only three of us, it's pretty mellow."

The Chugwater Hotel, which had 75 guests most nights, put out its vacancy sign Sunday, but owner Janice Grange wasn't complaining.

"It seems pretty quiet and peaceful here," she said. "We might even be able to have our Thanksgiving dinner today."

Woman VP Acceptable

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. said Sunday he has "no problems" with the idea of a woman as his vice presidential running mate, but he said he would not accept a vice presidential bid himself.

Brown began a three-day campaign swing through Northern New England by addressing a women's rights forum at the Nashua YCA. The trip was his second to New Hampshire since announcing his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination on Nov. 8.

Affirming his support for the Equal Rights Amendment, Brown said any controversy over women holding high government office stems from "anxiety created in the minds of people who are not used to seeing women in power."

The women's movement is in "mid-passage," he said, with several years remaining before most resistance can be eliminated.

Brown was asked whether he is bothered by his reputation as a "flake." He replied, "That label is one of the lightest burdens a presidential candidate ever had to carry into a race."

STEP 1.
YEAR OF BIRTH
STEP 2.
A-B MONTH OF BIRTH
STEP 3.
DAY OF BIRTH
TOTALS

PHYSICAL		Can burst into things
Circle: 10, 22, 33, 45, 56, 68	High: 1, 9, 23, 32, 45, 55, 68, 75	Strong as a lion
Low: 11, 21, 34, 44, 57, 67		Act on your strong suit
EMOTIONAL		Exercise caution today
Circle: 9, 23, 37, 51, 65, 79	High: 10, 22, 36, 50, 64, 78	In good mood, enjoy
Low: 1, 8, 24, 38, 52, 66, 80, 85		Depression prevails
INTELLECTUAL		Easy to be a dunce
Circle: 9, 25, 42, 58, 75, 91	High: 10, 24, 43, 57, 76, 90	Trust your judgment
Low: 1, 8, 26, 41, 56, 74, 92, 95		Thinking sluggish

Stewart, Stewart - Isami Nov 6, 1948 28 33 42

Step 1 — Year of birth. Read down the left hand column to find the last number in the year of your birth then go across to the appropriate decade. For instance, if you were born in 1947, your number for Physical would be 21, Emotional 17, Intellectual 19. Note whether your numbers are preceded by an A or B; this will be used for Step 2.

Step 2 — Month of birth. Find the corresponding numbers for the month you were born. If your month is February, and your year numbers were preceded by a B, your month numbers would be 8 for Physical, 3 for Emotional and 31 for Intellectual. Enter your own numbers in the figure chart for Step 2.

Jan	Feb	March	April	May	June	July	Aug	Sept	Oct	Nov	Dec
P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I	P E I

Step 3 — Day of birth. Enter your day of birth three times in the figure chart, once each for Physical (P), Emotional (E) and Intellectual (I).

Add the three columns to derive your permanent biorhythm numbers for your Physical, Emotional and Intellectual cycles. Now you can refer to today's biorhythm readings.

Tobacco Chewing Becoming Popular Across Country

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — For the past two years, once a month, a group of Wabash College men have donned three-piece suits and gathered to recite poetry or discuss contemporary philosophy. They also bring spittoons.

"There was a time when men didn't smoke in public, so they chewed," says John Price, president of the tobacco chewing club, which claims to have been the first of its sort.

"We're trying to bring elegance back to chewing. This is a gentlemen's club."

Attendance Invited At Dec. 2 Abernathy Floral's Open House

Abernathy Floral cordially invites your attendance at its third annual Christmas Open House on Sunday, Dec. 2, from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. at its shop, 1312 Ave. D. in Abernathy. Come in, browse and enjoy an afternoon at a most unique shop, where the stock is the largest and most unique yet. Door prizes will be given.

A most comprehensive and selective stock of gift items (including many that are new and some exclusive in the area to this shop), flowers and floral accessories and a multitude of services mark the long-established (about 30 years) Abernathy business that serves a wide South Plains area.

Owner and operator is Jan Hill, long a teacher in the Abernathy schools. She is ably assisted in the operation by former owner Dorothy Stephens; by Sandi Waldrop, manager; and by Lupe Hernandez.

Abernathy Floral, phone 298-2334, is a member of both FTD and AFS wire services for maximum customer convenience.

Listing of the many services and products would be impossible, but it is intended that the following "high points" will correctly indicate how very much this area business can do for one, whether a resident of Lubbock, Abernathy, New Deal or elsewhere in the near region.

It is a complete floral and gift shop.

Poinsettias, Green Plants
 Poinsettias are available, with first deliveries scheduled tomorrow, Tuesday.

There are green plants, hanging baskets, fresh flowers and fresh holly and fir for the Christmas centerpiece.

See the Hindi handmade clay animals, exclusive to this shop, including decor items, vases, desk sets and more.

And the so-novel post office door coin banks, with the real "mail box door" and otherwise oak construction, Postal Originals of the Knot Hole Co. There also are fireplace match holders of the same construction.

There are unique wooden picture frames for groupings, great for grandparents, for sure.

Plus brass candlesticks, vases, containers, Fenton handpainted ceramics, Kevin dolls that are definite collector items.

There are Root candles and votive cups just right for that small gift of love.

Select from China, pottery, stemware, stainless and silver by Noritake, Vernon, Poppytrail, Fitz & Floyd, Villeroy & Bach, Imperial Oneida, International and Gorham.

Lots of baby items are stocked. Abernathy Floral is "Dirty Kids' headquarters with these products very popular.

Wedding Service
 A full wedding service is provided, including invitations, thank you notes, napkins from Regency and others; tablecloth rentals, silver service, crystal cups and plates for the parties and receptions.

What a shop! What a selection! What service! Delivery to New Deal and Lubbock is afforded at a nominal service charge.

And what better time is there than the Christmas Open House, this Sunday, remember, for making or renewing acquaintance at this shop with its holiday atmosphere all year long!

Huge Stock At South Plains Schwinn Enables Bicycle Right For Any Age

"South Plains Schwinn, 3651 34th St., can without doubt enhance your image as a perfect Santa!"

With over 500 bicycles in stock, with the quality Schwinn products of unquestioned value, and with the layaway plan and other special considerations at the Lubbock-owned dealership, Christmas shopping can be most gratifying... at South Plains Schwinn.

The Schwinn Sting-Ray II is on the floor... great for riders in the 5-year and 6-year age group. With 20-inch wheels, it has a junior frame, full length chainguard, coaster brake, and dazzling new two-tone color combinations.

There is a fantastic selection, really, of kids' bikes at South Plains Schwinn, together with the units for older riders on your Christmas gift list.

"If you appreciate selection from the very largest bicycle stock in this region, then we invite you to come out to South Plains Schwinn, 3651 34th St."

The husband-wife team of Don and Wanda Fullwood established the Schwinn dealership about a year ago at this same location and they have been accorded a fast-increasing trade. They are West Texas natives, and Don is a '63 graduate of Texas Tech.

So much could be said in behalf of the type store provided by South Plains Schwinn, and only a thumbnail sketch is given here: we hope you'll make a visit to the facility in person and note just how very much is offered for the customers' benefit.

A Complete Store
 It is a Schwinn bicycle store, not just a shop, and it is spacious, neatly and attractively arranged, with an open display enabling full inspection and comparison of units.

Complete repair and service is afforded on any make bicycle.

A complete parts and accessory department is maintained.

South Plains Schwinn is a bicycle motorcross dealer.

Schwinn exercisers, with a quality well known, are stocked, and these units actually are recommended by many doctors, Fullwood emphasizes.

Casa Blanca Fans
 Casa Blanca fans are stocked, too, great for comfort and energy saving in the winter months and summer time alike.

Bicycles stocked include a wide range from the "Little Tiger" for age 2 and under, to the Super Le Tour II, 12-speed 28-lb. ultra-light bicycle.

With all this on hand, it makes good sense to select now and layaway for Christmas. Gift certificates are available, too, and both Visa and Master Charge purchases are welcomed.

Don and Wanda, both factory-trained repairmen, know their bicycles and they are very particular in seeing that the bicycle "fits" in every transaction, as the fit to the bike is most important for enjoyment, comfort and safety.

Even though Schwinn has a 30-day check-up program, Fullwood goes even further to provide a free 90-day check up service.

Every unit is assembled and adjusted and ready to ride before it is sold.

Free repair estimates are given on any repair job, with labor prices clearly posted within the store. There are no "surprises" on repair bills at South Plains Schwinn.

Comparative shopping is encouraged whether for the bicycles, exercisers, accessories or the Casa Blanca fans for which the firm is authorized dealer.

South Plains Schwinn is open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays. No abbreviated hours here, even on Saturday!

"South Plains Schwinn is recommended as providing a little more, working a little harder, providing the extras that mean so much in product enjoyment. They only want the opportunity to serve, and now would be a very good time for making acquaintance... while selection is complete and everything possible has been done to make shopping for Christmas really convenient. Remember the location, 3651 34th St., where scads of off-street parking is immediately in front of the big South Plains Schwinn facility. We hope to see you and serve you soon."

Business & Industrial Review

A JEWELRY STORE TO BE APPRECIATED — Powers Jewelry in Wolfforth works hard at proving a drive there 'will save' with full attention to quality stock, service capabilities and sensible pricing. Shown, from left, is customer Vickie Daniels, Frenship student, being assisted by store owner Melvin Powers, Lisa Powers, Tammy Herrington and Mrs. (Bonnye) Powers.

Powers Jewelry, In Wolfforth, Tells 'Short Drive Worthwhile'

"Powers Jewelry, in Wolfforth, makes the short drive there most, most worthwhile."

In fact, one does not have to wait for Christmas or other special occasions to save from a quality selection at Powers Jewelry. Check the Powers ad in this section for eye-opener watch repair prices.

Located just a block west of the school, at 800 Main St. in Wolfforth, Powers Jewelry probably is best known for its watch repair ability and specials, but one should not overlook the other benefits of Powers Jewelry... such as the selection of "wanted" items and names to trust in Christmas selection.

Great For Gifts
There are Seiko (Seiko has more than 500 styles, but only one standard excellence), Waltham and Elgin watches (Ar-nex pocket watches, too). Powers is both dealer and service specialist for Seiko.

Then there are Cross pens and pencils. Art Carved class rings. Spield bands, and more, all of unquestioned gift value.

Special orders are taken on Seth Thomas grandfather clocks, and if one hurries, delivery can be made before Christmas.

Also select from the in-store stock of jewelry boxes, trophies, plaques, Win and Chrysler lighters, solid gold serpentine chains (14k and gold filled). Engraving is available.

Custom jewelry work is expertly done, including diamond setting.

School Rings
Class rings, including those for Texas Tech and any area school, can be ordered.

Complete clock repair is a service, as is the watch repair.

Powers Jewelry is essentially a family operation, with Melvin Powers as owner of the Jewelry and the adjacent barber shop. Melvin is a former resident of Slaton, moving to New Mexico some 30 years ago, where he managed the Furr's jewelry department in Albuquerque.

Returning to the South Plains he opened the Wolfforth jewelry establishment just over three years ago. Reception to his type of service and products has been most gratifying. Folks seem to appreciate friendly service and prices that invite comparison.

Powers is assisted in the jewelry business by his wife, Bonnye, and daughter, Lisa, a student in the schools at Wolfforth; and by Tammy Herrington, a Coronado High School student.

Powers Jewelry is open from 9 until 6, Mondays through Fridays, and from 10 until 6 on Saturdays. Both Master Charge and Visa purchases are welcomed.

Let us prove that the short drive will save a lot, whether the need is watch or clock repair, or selection from a quality line of jewelry items great for Christmas giving.

Meinecke Bros. Gift Selection Eases Hunt For Wanted Items

Meinecke Bros., 1633 Broadway what a place to Christmas shop!

Appropriate gift items for the home-maker, the special friend, the man of the house, they all can be found at Meinecke Bros., where customers of long-standing know thousands of quality and different items are stocked.

There's a new shipment of the delightful Precious Moments china collection, and Letton's figurines, with beautiful birds predominating.

And colorful papermache clowns from Mexico.

Or an inertia nutcracker or pecan "picker-upper" might be the ideal gift. Meinecke has these, too.

Cookware Always Right

Microwave cookware for microwave and for smooth-top cooking is stocked, as is Corning cookware. And Silverstone cookware by West Bend and Mirro, heavy cast aluminum cookware by Magnolite, stainless cookware by Farberware, West Bend, Revere and others.

Select lead crystal by Crystle Clear, West Virginia, Viking and Crystle Clear cake domes and stands, glassware by Fenton, Imperial, Westmoreland, etc. with reproductions by L.G. Wright. There is a very large selection of brass and wooden ware.

Cutlery by Case, Chicago, Henckel and Ekco Flint always is "right," with open stock or sets available at Meinecke Bros.

Select from beautiful flower arrangements encased in glass frames.

For Little Folks, Too

And mini bean bags, puppets and stuffed animals for the little shopper. Stocked are dinnerware sets from Nikko, Correlle and Metlox.

Pottery in sets or open stock is in abundance, as are Viking glasses and matching pitchers, stemware by Crystal D'Arques, etc.; place mats, terry towels, potholders, mugs, candles, rings and vo-

QUALITY, SELECTION TRADITIONAL HERE — Meinecke Bros. recognizes that the many Christmas situations call for an equally great choice in gifts, and they have stocked accordingly. Pictured in one of the beautiful display areas of the conveniently-located Broadway store are Steve Meinecke and staffmember Mrs. Mary Alderson.

BOWMAN BEFRIENDS AREA SANTAS — Cindy Harrist and Robin Reeves of the Bowman Garden, Gift & Christmas department reveal lots of news goodies — like Thursday night

Garden, Gift & Christmas Shop Fully Stocked, Sets Open House

There are so many pre-Christmas benefits at the Bowman Garden, Gift & Christmas Center that not only is one urged to check the following announcements, one by one, but to come on out to 8301 S. University and discover the thrilling truth... Bowman has gone "all out" to aid in holiday planning and gifting.

Open House for the entire Bowman center is scheduled from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. this Thursday, Nov. 29!

There will be Christmas refreshments featuring hot apple cider!

And entertainment... the Sweet Adelines will be there. Der Dog from Der Wienerschnitzel is scheduled to be on hand together with the K-Triple-Elephant, etc., with live broadcast on KLLL.

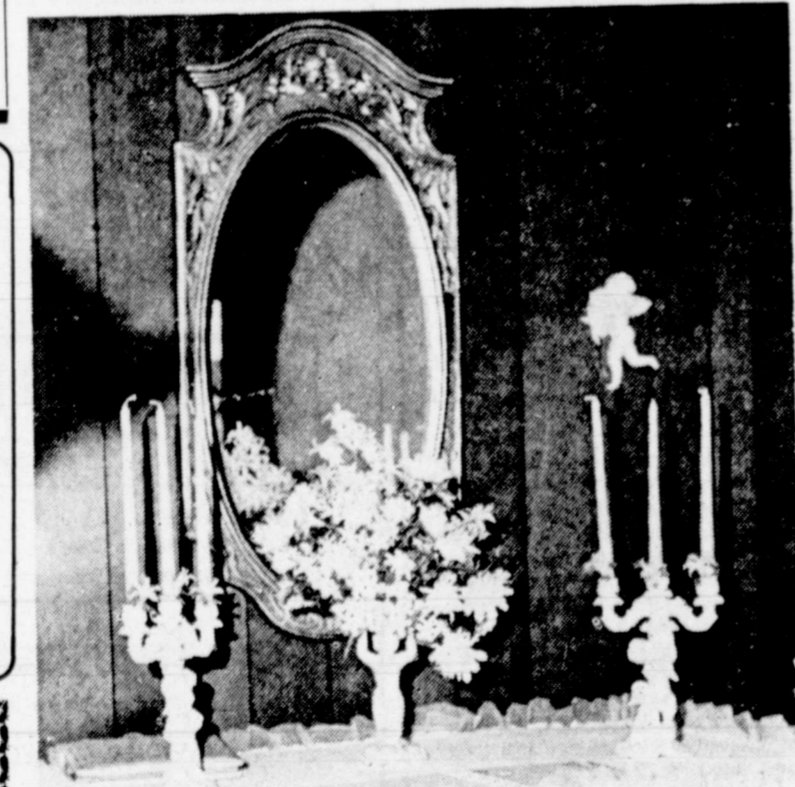

Come, join in the festivities, see the gorgeous displays of decorator and gift items and all. It is an annual event to which folks understandably look forward!

Other news from Bowman:
Live, Artificial Trees
 Live Christmas trees have arrived, with size selection assuring "just the one for you."
 Poinsettias are on hand, with 5-blossom plants at just $3.99!
 Artificial trees are in abundance, with a full line of new short-needle artificial trees.
 There are room-mother gifts by the score, at prices of 65 cents and under, many suitable for personalizing with child's name and the year.
 Custom arranging and decorating is available... but hurry!
 Bowman has miles of ribbon in all the new decorator colors.
Shell Graphics
 And shell Christmas tree ornaments, plus sea shell graphics, night lights, etc.
 Custom gift wrapping is another

Bowman Garden, Gift & Christmas department specialty, with custom centerpieces expertly designed.
 Be sure and see the handblown glass Christmas balls in the gorgeous decorator colors including coffee, burnt orange, tangerine, wild plum, hot cherry, frosted brown and turquoise.
 New winter hours for the Garden, Gift & Christmas Center are 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays, with this huge department also open on Sundays, 1:30 until 5 p.m. until Christmas.
 It is a fantastically increased, discriminating stock, with new gift lines from throughout the world made available at Bowman.
 And there's free gift wrapping!
 We especially look forward to your visits at the Thursday evening open house, and at all other times when we can be of what we believe is exceptional service in your Christmas preparation!

Business & Industrial Review

WHERE BINDING, RESTORATION IS AN ART — Moises Perez of Bookbinding & Bible Repair aptly suggests one or more of the many services at the popular firm as "a really thoughtful and appreciated Christmas consideration."

Bookbinding & Bible Repair Quality, Versatility Aid In Gifting Solution

The versatile services of Bookbinding & Bible Repair, 2235 34th St., phone 765-6761, may likely be of greater scope than many realize, with many or all these services fitting into Christmas planning most advantageously.

Any written material can be bound by the firm to be preserved and become a memorable gift increasing value of the material.

A variety of bindings, to suit one's particular needs, plans and desires is offered.

Any book can be restored to its original looks, at Bookbinding & Bible Repair.

Many valuable publications not only can be bound but need binding to be preserved. (This can be a valuable gift for the entire family.)

Even with these and its many other capabilities, attention to detail and the personal interest of owner Moises Perez is likely the foremost factor in service at Bookbinding & Bible Repair, no matter how small or large the order.

Bible restoration is one of the key services that might come in for special attention at this season... as a gift that "keeps on giving."

Whether a manual Bible or the family Bible is involved, expert restoration is assured. Manual Bibles differ from the big family Bible in that the family Bibles are most generally heirlooms, with family records, charts, etc. The manual ones are those "you take with you, everywhere."

The manual Bible is of necessity bound in flexible bindings of leather, with the reason that this particular cover can take hard use under all circumstances. The binding needs to be the strongest among books as the Bible is taken to church, home Bible studies, devotionals, etc., explains Perez, and with this kind of use the Bible is exposed to many accidents and unwitting mistreatment.

"In making flexible bindings, we are conscious of all these factors, and with the accumulated experience that we have we have developed a system of binding that is almost indestructible in normal use."

Advantages Defined
Advantages of rebinding these old, used Bibles over purchasing new ones include:

(1) The quality of the paper in the last 10-15 years has deteriorated; in most new Bibles the quality of the paper is very poor, Moises relates. Any paper of an old manual Bible can outlast any of the finest papers available now, he adds.

(2) Many new bindings are coming apart as result of cheap products and mass production methods used to reduce the cost of publishing. In the manufacturing process at Bookbinding & Bible Repair every Bible is hand bound and every cover is custom made.

(3) The familiarity the owner has with his or her old Bible, notes and underlined passages make old Bibles almost irreplaceable.

(4) Add to all this that the many manual Bibles are also heirlooms, already enriched with markings and notes made by beloved parents, even grandparents, and in using them we can get the direct message plus the knowledge and study by other generations.

"So, don't hesitate in having your old Bible rebound; we can assure you that our bindings are better than new, since every Bible is hand bound and every leather cover is custom made with its finished look as close to the original as possible."

"Bookbinding & Bible Repair, in short, can help you preserve many treasures, whether involving Bibles, the National Geographic, Life and other collector magazines, journals, etc.

Multiple Services

Whether spiro-plastic binding, magazine binding and fine deluxe leather bindings, or even if the need is lamination of pages and documents with the hot plastic process, Moises Perez has the expertise, equipment and personal interest that assures satisfaction.

In short, check the following outline and see if one or more of these services can be utilized in your own situation:

- (1) Books rebound or restored.
- (2) Restoration of Bibles that are out of use because of their condition but that can be rebound and re-used again and again.
- (3) Binding of favorite magazines such as special years of the National Geographic Magazine, or any other professional or hobby magazine or journal.
- (4) Blank books for special occasions.
- (5) Restoration or rebinding of antique photo albums and pictures.
- (6) New bindings in elegant leather for special letters or documents that should be preserved; and
- (7) Restoration of heirloom family Bibles for family records and future memories.

"Our phone is 765-6761, and our address at Bookbinding & Bible Repair is 2235 34th St., across from the clock at First Federal Savings & Loan."

Don Crow Chevrolet Cites 'Little Known EPA Method'

Don Crow Chevrolet, Loop 289 at Slide Road, feels that an explanation is in order, and possibly long overdue:

It is in regard to the EPA ratings widely publicized and posted on auto fuel consumption, make by make:

"The government computation of EPA mileage ratings, for all American manufacturers whose output involves 60 per cent or more of their units equipped with air conditioning, results in posting of the mileage rating 'with' air conditioning use," Don Crow Jr. points out.

"Foreign cars, without exception," Crow adds, "aren't included in the '60 per cent class,' so their EPA ratings do not involve the air conditioning drag. Thus, figure against figure comparison is misleading and actually impossible."

"Air conditioning pulls mileage estimates down as much as 25 per cent, many authorities and observers state."

"So... in comparing an American car with air conditioning against a foreign vehicle in which the air conditioning is not considered in EPA postings, one should look at all factors, not a misleading comparison," the Don Crow Chevrolet manager emphasizes.

"Isn't this actually most informative? Likely most folks did not know just what was involved in EPA mileage announcements and charts."

Chevrolet's and Don Crow's devotion to energy saving and truth in advertising cannot be overlooked, for sure.

Business & Industrial Review

FOR UTILITY OR GIFTING — Frances York of Childress Hardware calls attention to the many fireplace accessories among the practical and 'in demand' stock items attractively displayed in the big new home of the firm.

Childress Hardware Emphasizes New Address, Modern Facility

Don't forget. The Fred Childress Hardware is now at 10th & H (915 Ave. H) just a block north of the former 902 Main Street location that was home of hardware since back in 1917.

"To the many of you who have visited us at our new facility, we say 'thanks' for all the kind and even enthusiastic expressions. Thanks for coming by, renewing or making new friendships, discovering how we can be of benefit to one another in the good old South Plains way."

Yes, Childress is an old friend, but with a new address in Lubbock and with a new functionally-beautiful building in which to serve even better.

"Now, with pre-holiday tasks for most households and with Christmas planning and gifting taking top priority, wouldn't this be a very good time to visit Childress Hardware and select for these very needs? You'll like the convenient arrangement, the attractive displays, the thousands of items... and the traditionally friendly service by a staff that appreciates you."

It is no idle statement that hardware needs of the area have been met for decades by the Childress Hardware and its predecessors. As a bit of history, it is recounted that the old Cole-Myrick Hardware was established at 902 Main in 1917. Within a few years ownership passed to the Nislar interests, with Fred Childress in 1924 going to work for that ownership. Then in 1934, just a decade later, the firm was purchased by Childress and O.A. Terry. Then in 1959, Terry disposed of his interest.

The Fred Childress Hardware, Inc. is owned by Dick Jay and Leslie Duncan who have long served at this time-proven and time-honored establishment that prides in stocking needs of the day for every year, every season.

The former Main Street building has been razed to make way for other use of the property, and the new and beautiful building at 915 H marks even greater capacity for service.

Away from the "congested area," more and easier parking is enabled, yet the business still is on a major traffic artery to conveniently serve city and area. The new building was specifically designed for Childress Hardware, and the open displays and other built-in conveniences certainly do not detract from the traditional Childress image of "we appreciate you as a customer and friend, and we're glad you came to see us."

Whether one's immediate concerns and needs involve winter preparation (even need of tireplace accessories, etc.), security via quality mortise locks, or even the unusual hardware items, likely still the first and only place necessary to check is Childress Hardware, now at 10th & H.

Childress for years has stocked the finest in security hardware, and possibly at no time has "security" been more in the minds of most people than today. And properly so. It would be foolish, then to consider security for the home of business without attention to the locks, such as dead bolts etc., that are among the products stocked at Childress.

Correct tools and equipment can be the big item in convenience and accomplishment in numerous home operations or by the professional builder throughout the year, and for these tools, one can rely with certainty upon the Fred Childress Hardware.

For those who appreciate good hand tools, there is a wide stock, including the respected name of Stanley, Crescent, Thorson, Nicholson, Bluegrass, Daston, Lutkin, Plumb and others long associated with quality and integrity in tool-making.

On and on the list could go in enumerating the lawn and the building needs provided at Childress Hardware, but suffice it to say that "if it is in the hardware line, you can get it there."

Thousands of items

One can purchase an old-fashioned sprinkling can or a lawn watering device that negotiates your yard, a well pulley or a lamp chimney; actually more than 10,000 items.

Childress Hardware continues as a popular place with carpenters and craftsmen, who make it headquarters for nails of all sizes, as well as a wide range of other fastenings including stove bolts, capscrews, carriage bolts, machine screws, metal screws, wood screws and brass screws, chain, rope — you name it, for home, industrial or farm use.

The Fred Childress Hardware also stocks one of the most extensive line of cabinet hardware in the city.

Lubbock Carport & Patio Supplying New Dimensions In Functional Beauty

Functionally beautiful patio covers, carports, room enclosures, etc., from Lubbock Carport & Patio can add an entirely new dimension to home enjoyment!

Lubbock Carport & Patio, at 2715 Slaton Hwy., features the Howmet line ("Cadillac of patios and carports") including woodgrain patio covers with domed skylight, in rich walnut, golden oak and even white birch, as seen in Better Homes & Gardens and House Beautiful.

Howmet Aluminum Corp. is reputed to be the world's largest manufacturer of patio and carport units, and is located in Mesquite (Tex.).

Lubbock Carport & Patio, established as a home-owned business in early 1976, is owned and operated by Kip Sanders, an area native and member of a pioneer Lubbock family.

Also Portable Buildings

Sanders also owns and operates Lubbock Portable Buildings at the same 2715 Slaton Hwy. location.

One is invited to come by for full details of any of the Lubbock firms' products and services, or call 745-7060, or residence phone 799-0326 evenings.

Primarily utilizing steel in the carport and patio covers, the Lubbock Carport & Patio crew can do a turnkey job anywhere in the area, constructing with the pre-engineered units and meeting applicable city building codes.

Both residential and commercial application is enabled, with the tops great for playrooms, game rooms, sunrooms, pool enclosures, carports, etc.

Free estimates are gladly given, of course.

Longlasting Finish

Howmet lays claim to being the first patio cover designed for fine homes, and with its woodgrain finishes and steel utilization, this is understandable. As beautiful as its finish, one can forget about retaining wood every year. Let Lubbock Carport & Patio show how you, too, can enjoy the beauty and utility of a unit to meet your preferences and needs.

"For products that are fully engineered for durability, strength and long lasting beauty, we invite comparison!"

As for the portable buildings from Lubbock Portable Buildings, a wide flexibility in design and use is afforded.

Sanders can provide, on custom basis, anything from a 6 x 8 unit to a large 20 ft. by 40-ft. building. Generally constructed with steel siding (recommended to withstand weather conditions here) wood construction can be utilized if desired. Custom construction of buildings for well houses, offices, tool houses, even school units, is afforded.

The portable units can be built on skids or for concrete floors. Delivery and even installation to the extent desired is enabled.

Unique Service

Lubbock Portable Buildings also provides a moving service for those wishing to move an already-existing portable building.

From the simplest building to one finished out with utilities, carpet and all, the folks at Lubbock Portable Buildings invite consideration.

And the wise word is... don't delay in constructing that carport or sunroom; make arrangements now for enjoyment of the unit this winter. Check now with Mr. or Mrs. Kip Sanders and crew at Lubbock Carport & Patio, 2715 Slaton Hwy. in Lubbock.

Business & Industrial Review

FITTING AS IMPORTANT AS THE PURCHASE — Jeff Reynolds and John Paikowski of the Ski-Lubbock Sports staff demonstrate the fitting of a Hanson Citation boot, just one of the operations receiving professional attention at the big shop.

Ski-Lubbock Sports Devotes All Efforts To Skiing Satisfaction

"Put yourself in our hands" is the qualified invitation of the staff at Ski-Lubbock Sports whose whole job is to assure maximum satisfaction, correct fitting, everything that is right for the avid ski enthusiast or the beginner.

Not only is it the Christmas shopping season; but it is ski season... outdoor fun season, so why turn to any other supply source than Ski-Lubbock Sports where skiing is our only business!

For a Christmas gift that can be immediately used and appreciated, apparel or equipment for a visit to the slopes, on the South Plains it is Ski-Lubbock Sports, 2918 4th St., phone 747-5748, Lubbock.

For Entire Family
Already, there is mountain snow, and it is high time to get present equipment ready, or secure new ski equipment including the great new clothing items, for an enjoyable season ahead. Ski-Lubbock Sports for the first time has added children's clothes to its otherwise comprehensive selection. Now, all the family need make but one stop — at Ski-Lubbock Sports, just a short distance east of the 4th Street-Indiana intersection near the Texas Tech campus.

Clothing selection is at its finest at this time, including latest fashions, items and materials. Skiing underwear for ladies is stocked. Not only do the products excel, but Ski-Lubbock Sports is especially well known for its fitting and its expertise in equipment maintenance and repair. Nothing is left to happenstance; satisfaction is more important than the sale to Ski-Lubbock Sports owners and staff.

(Hoyle Moss provides an extra service in the "Ski Tip of the Week" series prepared and available at the big store. Really valuable information is afforded in these tips, relating to such matters as proper length of ski pant or bib, use of binding covers, keeping the racers edge by doing your own tuning after each day of skiing, etc. Moss even tells how not wearing a hat can cause cold feet!)

Rentals
As in seasons past, the rental department is complete, enabling quality skiing equipment use at nominal fee.

The same proficient crew is back to assist in apparel needs, in choice of the finest ski lines, in fitting and in serving with a staff including certified ski mechanics.

Yes, not only is the stock of apparel and all ski equipment most impressive, but Ski-Lubbock Sports is manned by dedicated, top-notch specially-trained "pros". Ski-Lubbock Sports is easy to reach from just about anywhere... from Texas Tech, LCC, the Loop and principal cross-town arteries. Don't forget the location and the easily-spotted and distinctive building at 2918 W. 4th St., Lubbock.

"Name" lines comprise the entire stock at Ski-Lubbock Sports, whether for apparel or skis. Select from the Number One Sunline clothing, Innsbruck, Bogner, Anba, White Stag, Rotli, Obermyer, Snuggler, Demetre sweaters, and others. There are Hanson boots, too, and children's apparel is now stocked to round out the selection for the entire family.

Dynastar, Head and Olin ski lines are stocked, and the Salomon 626 and 727 ski bindings are featured, and Tyrolia 360 racing, 360 diagonal and the new 260 diagonal, even the 60 series bindings for aggressive children are stocked. Also, select from the "Look in '77" turntable bindings.

Ski-Lubbock Sports, as a knowledgeable dealer and concentrating all activities to the field of skiing, can be the greatest help imaginable in pointing one to a fun season ahead.

"The selection of a ski dealer might seem nothing more than a question of convenience, but take it from us (and a lot of our customers) where you buy your skis is a most important consideration, for the dealer who choose will affect the skis you choose, as well as the boots, poles, bindings and accessories you need to improve your skiing and for full enjoyment of the sport. Finding a dealer who can satisfy you in each of these areas is not difficult... simply depend upon Ski-Lubbock sports where expertise and customer consideration is the rule rather than exception."

Make it a Merry Christmas... with the Village Craft Corner!

Of immediate interest are demonstrations and displays for making gifts and decorations for Christmas to be held this Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20, Dec. 1, from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. each day at the Village Craft Corner, South Plains Mall.

Tree Ornaments
Tree ornaments include Kristy painting ornament kits, lovely handblown glass balls for painting, photo ornaments, Quilt 'n' Tuck ornaments making a boot, bell, tree and ball; darling ribbon angels, Dough Art ornaments and painted wooden ornament kits.

Decorations
For decorations... there are burl fans, silk flower materials, type trays and miniatures, Sparkle beaded angel, door sprays and wreaths as well as Christmas greenery; and bead kits including flowers, ornaments, baskets and swans, and a large supply of doll-making materials, heads, hands, torsos, etc.

Artist's Needs
For gifts, there are new stained glass kits with pressed flowers, both free-hanging or framed that are now so popular; painting sets, standing easels, table easels and a wide selection of artists' materials for one's favorite artist on the Christmas gift list. There are new special instruction books for giving to oil and watercolor painters.

There's a wide selection of picture frames in stock at Village Craft Corner at 25 per cent off for framing Christmas photographs and paintings. Gift certificates also are available at Village Craft Corner.

Remember, when visiting the Village Craft Corner, to pick up the January class schedule. The staff of teachers is planning ahead... and a gift certificate for classes would surely be a thoughtful treat, don't you think?

"Come to the Village Craft Corner, South Plains Mall, especially on Friday and Saturday of this week, and plan your Christmas!"

Business & Industrial Review

ELECTRONIC GAMES POPULAR — Frank Olivares of the Woolco staff is shown with some of the electronic games that presently are in full supply... but with early selection advised.

Electronic Games Stocked At Woolco

Woolco has an excellent selection of electronic games. Yes, games for all ages — children to adults. There are pre-school games that are both fun and educational (Alpha and Major Morgan, as example). There are pocket games for all ages, two kinds of football games, three choices in baseball games, and there are racers, shooting galleries, and more. Plus table-top electronic games... Simon, Mania and Detective among them. Or select Atomic Arcade pinball, television video games, Atari video computer systems and a complete selection of game programs.

For more games and more fun, shop early at Woolco, while selection is complete... with all these great games in stock and readily available at this time. No waiting! Remember, you can use your Woolco Charge, Visa, Master Charge and or layaway to make for easier shopping at Woolco.

WOOLCO'S LOW PRICING PROVEN — Woolco maintains quite a sportswear department, and featured at this time are the jogging suits that regularly sell for $18.88, but now Woolco-marked at $13.88! A very good selection of sports footwear includes golf shoe, and even new-style disco skates in the stock that seems to fully meet area preferences and needs.

HUNTING NEEDS AT A SAVING — Raul Perez displays hooded hunting jackets, small to extra large, from the hunting apparel stock that is marked at a full 50 per cent off at Woolco!

Analyst Warns Of Trade Pact

Giving China 'Most Favored Nation' Status Argued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An analyst for a conservative research group says the United States is going to wind up with an albatross around its neck if Congress grants China most-favored-nation trade status.

Susan Woodard, an analyst for the Heritage Foundation, said the change in trade status would leave the United States with one more high-risk debtor and a new competitor for America's hard-pressed textile industry.

Miss Woodard warned that China has "an over-extended economy or one on the verge of borrowing itself into bankruptcy." She said most-favored nation status would just give the Chinese a chance to go deeper into the red.

"The possibility of large-scale future

Chinese debt will negate the continuance of profitable trade for the United States," she wrote in a study of the Sino-American trade legislation before Congress.

She warned that the major Chinese products to be benefited by most-favored-nation status — the status of the majority of America's trading partners — would be low-priced shirts and sheets.

"If a working bilateral textile agreement does not precede the granting of MFN status to China, the U.S. textile industry will face tougher competition than it currently experiences," she said.

President Carter has asked Congress to grant China a waiver under the Jackson-Vanik Amendment, which prohibits the extension of most-favored-nation status to any communist country with discriminatory emigration policies.

Miss Woodard said China's offer to permit large-scale emigration from the world's most populous nation "does not automatically imply 'free' emigration."

"China can fulfill any yearly numerical requirement the United States chooses as a standard without granting a single visa to a dissident, scientist or any type of professional the country does not want to lose," she said.

She also made light of the significance of Sino-American trade, which has resulted in $4.5 billion in U.S. exports and $1.6 billion in Chinese sales since economic ties were resumed in 1971.

She said the United States has been supplying China with such major products as wheat, machinery and trucks while receiving such non-essential items in return as fireworks, baskets, leathers, licorice and tea.

"The qualitative values of these two lists are not equal," she said.

She also played down the importance of oil production in the People's Republic of China, saying "there is no conclusive evidence to date upon which one can assert that the PRC will ever be a major oil exporter."

The Heritage Foundation describes itself as "a Washington-based, tax-exempt, nonpartisan public policy research institution dedicated to the principles of free competitive enterprise, limited government, individual liberty and a strong national defense."

China Military Scornful Of Activists

PEKING (UPI) — China's military leadership, whose support is crucial to state policies, has given its blessings to the government's tough stand against activists demanding more democracy, official press reports said Sunday.

A the same time, the People's Liberation Army — the largest combined armed force in the world with a strength of more than 3 million — also handed out a warning to government officials who ignore their duty to the people and abuse the power entrusted to them.

Two articles published by the official Liberation Army Daily at the end of last week, outlining the military leadership's stand on the democracy movement in China, were reprinted in other state-run publications Sunday.

"There are now an extreme minority of people who are stirring up troubles under the banner of spreading democracy," the newspaper said. "Some of them attack government institutions and assault officials, some of them incite the masses, organize so-called demonstrations and put up slanderous big character posters, spreading rumors and incorrect thoughts."

It said "This kind of activities... is a distortion and misuse of socialist democracy." In China, the term "socialist democracy" refers to a system under which people play a part in government, but always under the leadership of the Communist Party.

"Everybody knows," the army newspaper said, "that a stable and united political situation is needed before we can realize modernization. But some people are creating incidents and disrupting order..."

"We must oppose with determination this type of activity," it said.

The newspaper said convicted dissident Wei Jingsheng is a good example of the "troublemakers" who should be dealt with harshly. Wei was jailed for 15 years for advocating the seizure of power from the communist leadership, and for giving military information to a foreigner.

In another article, the military brass said "anarchism" — The official description for agitators for increased democratic rights — is not the answer to official "elitism."

It said "anarchists" often are found whenever there are government officials who are insensitive to the people's hardship and abuse their powers.

"We must oppose official elitism and also oppose anarchism," the article said.

The military in China has always played an important role in shaping the country. The late Chairman Mao Tse-tung acknowledged this when he said that "power comes from the barrel of a gun."

Carter's Programs Criticized

New AFL-CIO President Avoids Endorsing 1980 Candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lane Kirkland, the new president of the AFL-CIO, avoided endorsing any presidential candidate Sunday but openly criticized some of President Carter's economic programs.

Kirkland said the huge labor union, which contributed more than $300,000 to Carter's campaign in 1976, would maintain its official aloofness until after the nominating process. But, "if there are things that might be done in an unofficial way that might be in the best interest of the trade union movement, we'd do it," he said.

Interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation" program, Kirkland said, "I expect we will examine the candidates put forward by the two parties after their conventions and the platforms of the two parties and make a judgment at that time as to whether one or the other warrants endorsement."

He made it clear, however, that support for a Republican was unlikely. "I believe in the redemption of sins and the saving of souls," he said, "but on the basis of the demonstrated record and the positions that the candidates have taken, I have doubts (about a Republican endorsement)."

Kirkland, who succeeded George Meany last week, said the administration's record is mixed in labor's view. "There have been a number of areas where we have been in agreement, and others where we have been in disagreement. It varies from issue to issue," he said.

Kirkland was particularly critical of Carter's decontrol of domestic oil prices and the Federal Reserve Board's move in October to tighten credit and raise interest rates.

Of Carter's effort to let artificially low domestic oil prices rise to encourage Americans to conserve energy, he said, "Oil price decontrol is certainly not deflationary.... Faced with the choice of approaching a supply problem and approaching an inflation problem, they opted to deal with the supply problem at the expense of furthering inflation."

Referring to the federal Reserve's October actions as "the same old medicine that cured nothing and created a new ailment," Kirkland said, "I think that the outrageous level of interest rates... is inflationary. It adds to the cost of producing everything under the sun, it discourages production and is one of the more inflationary elements of the current picture."

Kirkland called Carter's position on the Iran crisis "calm, prudent and forceful" and that the president's actions warrant the support of the American people.

The union leader said he "would do nothing to discourage" American workers from boycotting the shipment of food and other goods to Iran.

"I think it is a perfectly normal, spontaneous reaction of workers faced with an opportunity to demonstrate how they feel about the conduct of Iran, the seizure of Americans as hostages."

Risky Liquor Sales Transacted In Iran

By Donald O'Higgins
TEHRAN, (UPI) — The middle-aged man with the toothless smile, winked knowingly, and nodded his head toward a ramshackle structure that passed for a shop.

"You want?" he asked.
"Want what?" I replied.
"You very funny man," he said, his girth heaving with mirth.

He caught my arm and half-pushed, half-dragged me inside a darkened little store room.

"One must be careful," he said, in a conspiratorial whisper. "One must be very careful," he repeated.

When my eyes became accustomed to the dimness of the battered-looking room, I saw liquor bottles ranging from scotch whisky to brandy.

"Which you want," he whispered.

"Be quick. I take big risk."

"I don't drink," I replied, sending him into further gales of laughter.

Then he grew suddenly serious.

"Hurry up. The price may be a little high but one must take into account my risks."

After reassuring him of my intention not to purchase anything, he hurried me outside.

"You are a very funny man, indeed," he said, except this time he was not laughing.

It was my first introduction into the flourishing black market in articles either forbidden or in short supply.

In the old, corrupt days of the shah's regime, the Islamic ban on drinking liquor was virtually ignored.

But since the revolution there has been a complete purifying of the whole concept of Islamism and what it means to the Moslems under the guidance of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

He has pounded home the message that the Islamic religion is the whole center of their lives and cannot be separated from their day to day activities.

His example has been followed by government ministers and all those in authority and by a huge majority of the public, along with other measures that might seem harsh to western eyes.

There are still those around with a hankering for the odd nip o' nightcap. It is on these the blackmarketeers batten.

Only this week the authorities warned it would take stern measures against those engaged in smuggling and would administer the full penalties of the law.

In the days immediately after the revolution, before the Revolutionary Council got things firmly under their control, there is the story of a bottle of scotch that sold many times over.

Late at night, vigilantes would halt automobiles, chat with their occupants, and finally whisper about a bottle of scotch which would change hands at a high sum.

Some 200 meters down the road the automobile would again be stopped. This time searched. "Ah ha, what's this — don't you know it is against the law."

"The bottle would be confiscated. The automobile drive on, the driver feeling lucky to have got away with a warning."

Drugs Used On Inmates, Story Says

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The University of Pennsylvania, under contract with the U.S. Army, experimented on 320 inmates of Holmesburg prison in the city during the 1960s to test mind-control drugs and "skin hardeners," the Philadelphia Inquirer reported Sunday.

Using information obtained through the Freedom of Information Act, the newspaper said inmate volunteers between 1964 and 1968 lived in trailers beside the prison while doctors administered increasing amounts of drugs and psychologists wrote down their reactions.

The chief Penn researchers, Drs. Albert M. Kligman and Herbert W. Copelan, said in an Army inspector general's 1975 report they achieved a "perfect safety record," the newspaper said.

Testing on humans ended in 1975, the report said.

The Army report, however, noted one inmate needed therapy after taking a drug which caused hallucinations, stomach pains and aggressive behavior, the newspaper said.

In the search for "skin hardeners" — techniques which would make skin impervious to chemical warfare — the newspaper quoted the report as saying the prisoners "complained bitterly."

"After weeks of apparently peak inflammation, the skin exhibited no willingness to become hardened and the willingness of the subjects to go on diminished to zero," the report continued.

Researchers found turpentine to be an ideal skin hardener, but about half of the prisoners developed severe allergic reactions to it, the newspaper said. Kligman wrote in a report to the Army, Experiments with pure ethylene glycol monomethyl ether created psychotic reactions in inmates, who had to be hospitalized.

Kligman, still a professor of dermatology at Penn, was unavailable for comment Sunday. The U.S. Army spokesman said he could not respond without further checking.

Exiled Prince Heads Campaign

PARIS (UPI) — Exiled Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk flew into the French capital Sunday to the cheers of his compatriots to head a campaign calling for an end of the genocide of the Cambodian people and the ouster of the Vietnamese-backed Phnom Penh government.

"As long as the political problem is insoluble, I think absolute priority must be given to the humanitarian problem," Sihanouk told reporters on his arrival. "At any price the Khmer people must be saved, although more than half have perished, from vanishing totally."

Sihanouk insisted that all aid to Cambodia be supervised by the donors because the Hanoi installed government of "Heng Samrin distributes the relief to its partisans and to his masters in Vietnam."

"It is the same with the aid sent to the Khmer Rouge: Their soldiers are well nourished but the peasants who are under them are forced to go to the Thai frontier," he said.

Sihanouk is in France as a guest of the French government and was welcomed at the airport by an emotional crowd of 700 Cambodians who waved portraits of the prince, unfurled old Cambodian flags and held signs which said, "Hanoi out of Cambodia."

"Sihanouk is Cambodia's only hope," said Tho Som, a former Cambodian army commander who fled to France in 1975 after the Khmer Rouge defeated the pro-American Lon Nol regime.

Vice President Selection List Being Urged

BALTIMORE (AP) — A proposal before the Republican Convention Committee would have the party's vice-presidential nominee chosen from a list of names submitted by the presidential candidate.

"I think the people of America are looking more at who is the vice-presidential candidate (than before)," Dr. Allen C. Levey, head of the Maryland GOP committee, said Saturday. "Therefore, the candidate should be compatible with the presidential nominee."

Levey said he has gotten indications of support for the idea from all major candidates, including Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, former California Governor Ronald Reagan, former Texas Governor John Connally and former CIA director George Bush.

the crowd was the Confederation of Khmer Nationalists founded in September by Sihanouk during his exile in North Korea.

The confederation claims to represent exile groups as well as guerrillas fighting in Cambodia. Sihanouk vowed this group would fight to rid Cambodia of the Vietnamese "colonizers."

"I ask all foreign powers who express sympathy for a free Cambodia to give military aid, important or modest, open or discreet to all nationalist Khmer military fighters," Sihanouk said. "It is the only way to kick out the Vietnamese who know only the language of force, to release their grip on Cambodia."

The portly prince said he had not read Henry Kissinger's memoirs, the "White House Years," which claim the former Cambodian chief of state approved the 1969-70 bombings of Cambodia.

"I never approved the American bombings," he said. "I have proof of that which I will soon release."

Report Says Women Untapped Market For Adult Industry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A survey of 50 women in the Washington D.C. area shows more than half of them have been to an X-rated movie — and all but 2 percent either liked it or "thought it was okay."

A fair share also have visited adult book stores, according to the survey appearing in the November issue of Tab Report, a monthly newsletter of the adult business world.

"Women represent a largely untapped, but potentially enormous market for the adult business industry," Tab Report said.

The newsletter said one woman conducted the poll by picking phone numbers listed in a woman's name. Approximately 70 women were called in an area between Baltimore and Richmond, including 50 women in the Washington, D.C., area.

Of the 50 women questioned in the Washington area, 68 percent said they had been to an X-rated movie and 38 percent had gone to an adult book store.

"Of those who saw an X-rated movie, 52 percent liked it, 26 percent thought it was 'okay,' and 2 percent didn't like it," the survey said. A total of 63 percent said they liked adult book stores, 31 percent did not like them and 5 percent said they were 'okay'.

Of the women over 35, 45 percent said they had never been to an adult book store or an X-rated movie, while only 14 percent of the women under 35 said they had never been to either.

Kennedy Campaign Machine Catching Up

WASHINGTON (AP) The Kennedy campaign machine — part old, part new and part lured away from President Carter — is making a hurry-up effort to match Carter's organizational depth.

"It's really catchup as far as we're concerned," says Philip Bakes, deputy manager of Sen. Edward Kennedy's presidential campaign.

The disarray in the Kennedy campaign is just what you'd expect for a candidate in the race less than 20 days.

Despite the buildup created by various draft Kennedy movements, the senator decided relatively recently to challenge Carter for the 1980 nomination. And last week aides were still awaiting office furniture for the abandoned Cadillac dealership rented as a headquarters.

The Carter-Mondale campaign, with a full-time staff of 169, has been hard at work in its Washington office since summer. Carter is expected to announce his candidacy officially on Dec. 4.

Bakes said the Kennedy campaign so far has put together a full-time staff of about 60-65, 45 to 50 of them paid.

Not that the Carter-Mondale people have not had their share of start-up problems — Robert Strauss is the third director of the still-unannounced campaign. But campaign spokeswoman Linda Peek notes that Carter's organization already includes 10 state and three regional offices. She estimated there are 169 people on the payroll, between 70 and 80 of them working outside Washington.

The Kennedy campaign lags, particularly in areas other than the capital. "We're starting to get in fairly good shape" in Iowa, Alabama and New Hampshire, with 26 on the campaign staff, said Bakes.

Elsewhere, he said, "We're just starting the effort to find out what the situation is."

In Iowa, Kennedy's office has been open less than two weeks. "We're hectoring trying to figure things out. We're in a very embryonic stage right now," said Bob Miller, in charge of the Iowa effort.

While there were draft Kennedy movements in more than half the states, Bakes said most are going out of business as the formal organization moves in.

But if Kennedy so far trails the president in organization, he has been successful in raiding the Carter camp for political talent. The prominent defectors include:

- Morris Dees, chief fundraiser for Carter in 1976. He is now performing a similar role for Kennedy.
- Former Sen. Dick Clark of Iowa, who left his job as the Carter administration's coordinator for refugee programs to take a senior role with Kennedy's campaign. Bakes said Clark will concentrate his efforts on caucus states, including Iowa.

• Former Wisconsin Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, quit his Carter-appointed post as ambassador to Mexico to sign on with Kennedy.

Kennedy's top man, his 51-year-old brother-in-law, Stephen Smith, has been involved in Kennedy campaigns since 1958. In 1962, he managed Edward Kennedy's first campaign for the Senate.

Other longtime Kennedy associates in key slots include two former senatorial aides, Paul Kirk and Dick Drayne.

Kirk, who was on Kennedy's campaign staff for nearly a decade before leaving in 1976, is in charge of political operations, Bakes said. Drayne, a former press secretary, is a special assistant to Smith.

Peter Edelman, an aide to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., is serving as issues director in the 1980 campaign.

In charge of field operations is Carl Wagner, who joined Kennedy's Senate staff a little over a year ago after working for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. Wagner rejected offers to work for Carter.

Two top aides in Kennedy's office, administrative assistant Rick Burke and chief legislative aide Carey Parker, have reduced their salaries and are performing split duties, according to press secretary Tom Southwick. Both will eventually join the campaign fulltime.

Herbert Schmetz, a vice president of Mobil Oil Corp. who worked on the campaigns of John and Robert Kennedy, signed on for six weeks without pay to help set up Ted Kennedy's advertising program. A defender of the oil industry, will not advise on energy issues.

Bob Bates, a former Kennedy aide who also worked for Mobil Oil, is serving as a political adviser.

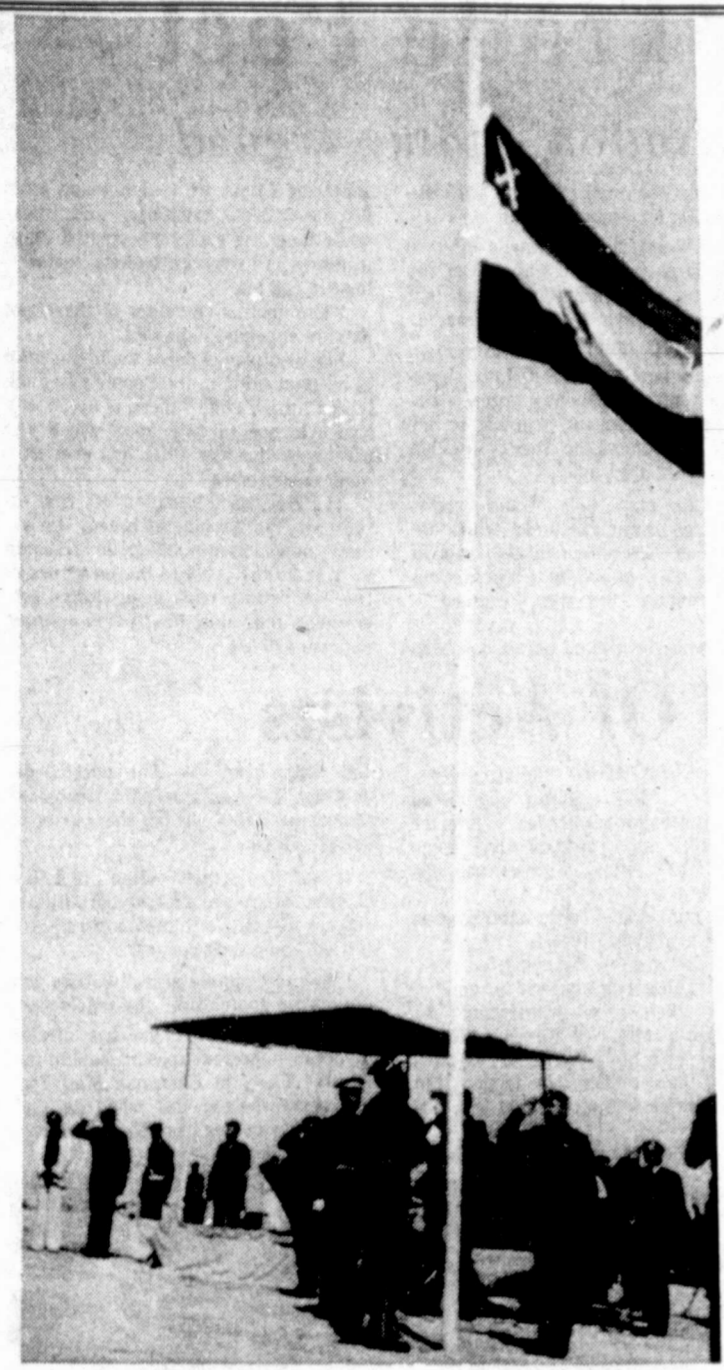

Ironically, a well-known oil industry critic, former Kennedy aide James Flug, also has joined the campaign. Flug recently was director of a citizens group critical of Carter energy policies.

Among the key newcomers to Kennedy's cause is Rick Stearns, in charge of hunting delegates to the national convention. Stearns played a similar role for Sen. George McGovern in 1972.

Martin Katz, who will keep track of campaign funds, resigned from the staff of Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y. He had worked for McGovern and the 1976 presidential effort of Sen. Henry Jackson.

EGYPTIAN FLAG RAISED OVER SINAI — The Egyptian flag is hoisted up a flagpole at the El Tor air field in previously Israeli-occupied Sinai territory during ceremonies Sunday marking the transfer of control of the area to Egypt. The transfer was made under the terms of the Camp David peace treaty. The territory contains much of Egypt's oil reserves and now makes Israel a purchaser of the crude. (AP Laserphoto)

Last Of Oil Fields Returned To Egypt

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — As Bedouin Arabs shouted "Long Live Egypt," an Israeli soldier lowered the Star of David over the southwestern Sinai Sunday and Israel returned to Egypt the last of the oil fields it captured in the 1967 Middle East war.

The return of a 940 square-mile chunk of the Sinai Desert — including the offshore Alma oilfields — also meant that Israel gave up virtually the last of its domestic sources of oil.

In Jerusalem, hundreds of peace activists demonstrated in front of Prime Minister Menachem Begin's office Sunday to protest the government's settlement policies.

The demonstrations began Saturday night, when several thousand demonstrators carrying torches camped out in front of Begin's residence and demanded that he resign. The protesters, most of them from the Peace Now movement, shouted "we can't sleep with such a government in office."

They demanded the government give up a recently approved $5 billion plan to expand Jewish settlements in occupied Arab territories, saying that Israel's troubled economy could not bear the cost.

"It is simply not serious to ask the public to make sacrifices to save government money while at the same time deciding to spend millions on West Bank settlements," said Omri Padan, one of the demonstration's organizers.

Of all the phased withdrawals from the Sinai under the terms of the Egyptian-Israeli peace accord, the loss of the Alma oilfields cost Israel the most financially since the offshore wells had been producing enough oil to meet one quarter of Israel's domestic energy needs.

Finance Minister Yigael Hurvitz said Israel will have to spend another $2 billion annually to buy the oil that Alma produced from Egypt, which has agreed to supply Israel with 2 million tons of oil this year at a price slightly below the current OPEC-set level.

In an emotional ceremony in which a group of curious Bedouin Arabs cheered and a group of Israeli women conscripts broke into tears, the Egyptian flag replaced the Star of David at an airfield near the war-ravaged and largely deserted town of Sinai town of El Tor in the southwestern Sinai.

Marine Corps Discuss Role Of 1,100 Embassy Guards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 1,100 Marine guards on duty at U.S. diplomatic missions in 105 countries are not supposed to be a fighting force ready to do "pitched battle" with anti-American mobs, the Marine Corps says.

When riots and demonstrations directed against U.S. Embassies break out, the guards have an essentially defensive role — to act as a delaying force until local authorities arrive with aid. According to the Marine Corps, their mandate is twofold:

- "To delay entry of a hostile group into the installation long enough to allow for the destruction of classified material."
- "To aid in safeguarding the lives of American and locally hired personnel."

Questions about their role arose last week when a young Marine guard, Cpl. Steven Crowley, was killed as mobs stormed and burned the U.S. Embassy in Islamabad, Pakistan. Additionally, Marine guards did not use "deadly force" to resist when the U.S. Embassy in Iran was seized Nov. 4.

Did the guards do all they could to protect the embassies? Are the guards limited in their choices of only taking defensive actions? Could the situations in Tehran and Islamabad have been avoided if they engaged in something tantamount to combat action?

The Marine Corps says the answers to the first two questions is yes, but the answer to the third is no.

While serving with an embassy, the corps said in a one-page note distributed at the State Department, the duties of Marine security guards "are defensive in nature."

"Marine security guards are not intended to be a fighting force ready and able to engage a hostile population in pitched battle," it said.

"The overall protection of our embassies and assigned personnel is the responsibility of the host governments," State Department spokesman Hodding Carter told reporters last week.

He said Marines guarding the U.S. missions in Iran and Pakistan carried out their duty in an "exemplary" manner.

The guards provided "a delaying action without use of force, and bought sufficient time for the destruction of most of the classified material in both places," he said.

"We also believe (their performance) undoubtedly spared the lives of the personnel in both embassies."

The first Marines assigned to embassy duty overseas left Washington Jan. 28, 1949. All are members of the Marine Guard Security Battalion based at Quantico, Va.

A normal tour of duty for Marine guards is 30 months, broken into two 15-month tours in different countries.

Places like Moscow and Brazzaville, Congo, are considered hardships posts with tours running only one year. Tour length in Iran has been six months.

The largest Marine Corps detachment is at the U.S. Embassy in Paris with 35 Marines. The smallest posts, such as that in Bridgetown, Barbados, have only six Marines on duty.

Fifteen women are serving in six countries under a pilot program that has been stopped for the time being.

HUD Housing Projects Behind In Mortgages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nearly three-quarters of the Department of Housing and Urban Development's 2,047 multifamily housing projects are behind in their mortgage payments, a Senate investigation reported Sunday.

A report released by the Senate Appropriations Committee's investigative staff found that only 27 percent of the projects were up to date in their payments.

Delinquent mortgage payments from the remaining 73 percent totaled about $500 million, it said, adding: "This condition has existed for at least the past five fiscal years."

The 2,047, largely low-income multifamily properties on which HUD currently holds the mortgages are valued at about $3.7 billion.

The 51-page report on HUD's management of its multifamily projects also included numerous instances of mismanagement, corruption and waste.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who chairs the appropriations subcommittee that funds HUD, called the findings "a shocking indictment of the way in which HUD is handling its inventory."

He said he will begin public hearings later this year or early in 1980 on the re-

Firemen Injured In Explosion

HICKSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Firefighters responding to a routine garage fire here Sunday suddenly found themselves reeling from an exploding 2½-gallon gasoline can and choking from burning pesticides stored in the building, officials said.

Thirteen firefighters were reported injured, two of them seriously.

The explosion occurred shortly after firefighters arrived at the burning garage. Hicksville Fire Chief Owen Magee said a car in the garage, owned by John Hill, was ablaze when firefighters reached the scene.

He said the firefighters were crawling on their stomachs into the burning structure when a gas can containing about 2½ gallons of gasoline exploded "like a bomb."

Anchorman Blasts Network Special

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — An anchorman for the ABC affiliate here says he thought the network special, "Playboy Roller-Disco Pajama Party" was blatantly sexist — so when he came on the air to do a news update, he made sure everyone knew he wasn't part of it.

"I came on and said, 'I want to assure that this is a local news update and it has nothing whatsoever to do with the Playboy Roller-Disco Pajama Party,'" said Ron Magers of television station KSTP.

"I gave a couple of headlines. Then I said, 'For those of you who may have turned off your television sets in disgust, I want to assure you we'll be back in 30 minutes with local news,'" he recalled Saturday.

KSTP operations manager Ralph Dolan would not comment on the Friday incident, saying he had not heard of it. A KSTP switchboard operator said the switchboard lit up for more than 30 minutes after Magers' announcement — most of the callers siding with Magers.

Turkish Leader Narrowly Wins Parliament Vote Of Confidence

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Justice Party leader Suleyman Demirel narrowly won a vote of confidence Sunday in a fist-pounding, shouting session of parliament to become prime minister for a sixth time.

The Grand National Assembly — the Turkish parliament — voted 229 to 208 with one abstention to approve the program of Demirel's right-of-center Justice Party and consent to his choice of a cabinet.

When the result was announced, parliament erupted into a din of boos and cheers and fist-pounding and shouting between Demirel's supporters and the members of opposition parties. While the vote meant that Demirel was prime minister once again, the spectacle illustrated how shaky his party's hold would be on parliament, where it does not have a clear-cut majority and will have to rely on the uncertain support of right-wing splinter groups.

The new government's official program — a general and broad outline of policy — pledged among other things to improve Turkey's relations both with the United States and with other Islamic nations.

The roll-call vote proceeded relatively calmly but parliament burst into an uproar when the final tally was announced. Justice party supporters cheered, shouted, and waved their coats above their heads in victory.

Outgoing Prime Minister Bulent Ecevit, who resigned Oct. 16 after his Republican People's Party was defeated in mid-term elections, sat calmly throughout the uproar. But his supporters angrily demanded that the noisy Justice Party delegates be expelled from the hall.

When that did not work, they tried to keep Demirel from delivering his acceptance speech by pounding their fists on their desks.

Demirel ignored the demonstration and spoke briefly, saying that he and his party have a "heavy burden to shoulder" and appealing for unity to solve the nation's pressing problems — political terrorism, inflation and unemployment.

He also pledged better relations with other Islamic nations and with the United States "on the basis of mutual interest and mutual respect."

Melee Erupts At Iran Rally

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Police officers in riot gear broke up a short-lived melee that erupted Sunday between several pro-Iran demonstrators and a group carrying American flags, authorities said.

The scuffle erupted when an Iranian sympathizer tried to tear an American flag away from a motorcycle rider, officers said.

Swinging clubs, police in riot gear drove the pro-Iran group out of a downtown park where pro-American demonstrators had gathered.

The scuffle broke out at the end of a two-mile parade during which members of a group called the African Socialist People's Party marched through the streets of this university town escorted by 15 policemen.

"The shah and Klan work hand in hand," the protesters shouted during the march.

There apparently were no serious injuries or arrests during the incident.

NORVAL POLLARD Taylor And Hadnot In The NFL

IF I WERE NEW YORK GIANTS head coach Ray Perkins, I know one thing for sure. I'd move Billy Taylor out of my doghouse and insert him into my starting lineup — pronto.

Taylor, the former Texas Tech star running back, had been used sparingly by Perkins since his stellar 148-yard performance against Tampa Bay some eight weeks ago. Taylor claimed last week that Perkins didn't like him and that was the motive behind his limited action. When Perkins was asked why Taylor was in his doghouse, the first-year Giants mentor replied, "I don't care to tell you."

For some reason, Perkins decided to allow Taylor the opportunity to prove himself again Sunday afternoon against the Washington Redskins. The San Antonio native responded with another great effort, rushing 26 times for 126 yards as New York upset the Redskins 14-6.

Taylor showed outstanding durability and determination during the Giants' insurance touchdown drive midway through the fourth quarter. The 6-foot-2, 205-pounder carried the 13 times during the 14-play scoring drive. He capped the march with a one-yard touchdown.

WHEN ASKED IF HE MINDED carrying the football that many times during one drive Taylor responded, "No way. Any running back wants the ball as often as he can get it, especially when the offensive line is playing as well as ours was today (Sunday). I can't remember carrying so often in one drive, but I like it."

"I had the holes to go through," Taylor added. "You can't do that alone. The offensive line did a big job."

The 126 yards gives Taylor 494 steps for the season, second only to starter Doug Kotar's 522. Kotar, who starts ahead of Taylor, carried 14 times for 44 yards against Washington. When Taylor is given the chance to play he produces. And that is the name of the game in the National Football League.

New York hasn't had a 1,000-yard season from a running back since Ron Johnson went over the magic mark back in 1972. With Taylor, the Giants possess the capability to establish the good running game, something all successful teams in the NFL have. Now, if Perkins will only use Taylor — every week.

THERE'S ANOTHER RED RAIDER running back the professional scouts are drooling over — big James Hadnot, who closed out his college grid career last Friday during Tech's losing effort against the Houston Cougars.

All 28 professional football squads sent representatives to watch Hadnot perform at least once this past year. There were several teams that scouted Hadnot two and three times. The scouts liked what they saw in the 6-foot-2, 230-pound tight end-turned-running back. After Hadnot's 199-yard showing on national television against the Cougars it's not hard to understand why.

Hadnot rewrote the Tech record book in most almost every rushing category during his brief, two-year tenure as a ball carrier. And he finished it with a rush Friday.

Kong, Hadnot's nickname, established a single-season rushing mark of 1,369 yards in 1978, but broke that record this season with 1,371 yards in 11 games. Those two seasons are the third and fourth best in Southwest Conference history. They are also the best consecutive rushing years by any SWC runner.

Hadnot moved into ninth place among conference rushers with the 199 yards against Houston. He finished his career with 2,794 yards, 60 ahead of Alvin Maxson. His 273 carries in 1979 also set a new SWC mark, erasing the old standard of 267 established by Earl Campbell in 1977.

THE LIST GOES ON. Hadnot replaced Larry Isaac as Tech's all-time ground gainer with 2,794 yards. It took Isaac four years to roll up 2,633. Hadnot also has the top two and four out of the top five single-game rushing performances at Tech. His 268 yards against New Mexico last year is the best for a Red Raider running back and is the fifth-best in SWC action.

There has been much speculation as to what lies ahead for Kong. He was a third-team All-America selection by the Associated Press in 1978 and is in the running, along with Charles White, Billy Sims, Vagas Ferguson and George Rogers of South Carolina, for a spot on the All-America first-team this year. It has also been rumored that Hadnot has received some votes in the Heisman Trophy balloting.

As far as the professional football draft goes, Hadnot is a likely first-round choice. White and Sims will likely be taken before him, but Hadnot should go somewhere in the later selections of the first round.

PRO OFFICIALS DON'T LIKE to mention who they are interested in before the draft takes place. They don't want to give away any trade secrets, naturally. Most of the teams eyeing Kong want him as a running back and not a tight end. It's rumored that the Dallas Cowboys are highly interested. Whew, can you imagine Tony Dorsett and Kong in the same backfield? Sheer heart attack for opponents.

Besides Hadnot, there are several other Red Raiders who could go in the college draft. The most likely choices are defensive backs Larry Flowers and Willie Stephens, offensive linemen Joe Walstad and Ken Walter and placekicker Bill Adams.

This season wasn't the greatest in the world for the Red Raiders, but if Tech can get five or six players selected in the draft, it should say something about the college football program in Lubbock.

Matador Win Makes Louis Kelley Grin

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Afterwards, Estacado coach Louis Kelley was able to smile and declare confidently, "I never second-guess myself."

And Saturday in Odessa it didn't really matter since the Matadors took a 7-0 bi-district victory from Odessa Ector to advance Estacado into the quarterfinals against San Angelo Lake View.

What Kelley was refusing to second-guess was a third quarter field goal attempt — Estacado's first try at a three-point lead — that went wide left.

Leading 7-0 at the time, Estacado had advanced to the Ector 10 where the Matadors faced a fourth-and-three situation.

Anyone who's watched Estacado this year knows that the Mats avoid field goals the way Farrah Fawcett avoids split ends — they just don't like 'em. But this time tailback Kelvin White trotted out to try the kick.

And when White's try failed, it looked momentarily like the momentum had shifted to Ector. After all, the Eagles had just dodged another Matador bullet.

But in three plays, Ector came up with minus yardage and it was punting time again. The rest of the contest was a game of field position — Estacado had it, Ector didn't.

The Eagles crossed the midfield stripe only once (advancing to the 46) and Estacado hung on to take their narrow 7-0 win.

But the Matadors had to dodge a few bullets of their own in the first half as twice the Eagles penetrated inside the Matador 10-yard line. Both Eagle drives were set up by Estacado fumbles. But the Estacado defenders refused to buckle.

"I can't say enough about our defense," said Kelley after the game. "I really didn't think we were capable of shutting them out like this."

A look at the stats shows just how impressive the Matador shutout — Estacado's fifth this year — really was. Ector led District 2-AAA in scoring with 242 points in 10 contests and their lowest scoring output of the year was 10 points against Lubbock High.

And running back James Ricks came into the contest with 1,086 yards — an average of 7.9 a carry. He was held to 93 yards and any rushing honors had to go to the Estacado duo of Kelvin White and Alvin Davis who combined for 185 yards on 31 carries.

After the game Ector coach Ralph Johnson pointed to mistakes as the difference. But he wasn't entirely correct. Estacado made more miscues than did Ector, but the Mats also made the big plays on defense.

The Matador win wasn't an artistic thing as the Mats fumbled six times and lost four of those, but at this stage of the game nothing matters but the final score.

San Angelo Lake View is another team that didn't look good in bi-district action but still managed to come out with a victory.

Lake View could accumulate only 131 yards of total offense Friday night against Burk Burnett but still was able to come out with a 9-6 victory. And the Chiefs did that without their offensive unit scoring a single point.

Trailing 6-0, Lake View scored on a safety and then returned the ensuing kickoff 66 yards for a touchdown. Like the Estacado-Ector game, the Lake View-Burk Burnett tilt was strictly a defensive affair.

Lake View's leading rusher, Mike Doyle, was forced to miss the second half of that contest with an injured knee and gained only 52 yards on 18 carries. Doyle's status this Friday could play a key role in the game.

But for now, the Mats aren't worrying about Doyle or any of the Chiefs. They're still enjoying the big win over arch-rival Ector.

Giants' Win Taylor-Made

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — He ran slants and he ran off-tackles. He ran straight ahead and he ran wide. He ran inside and he ran outside.

And when he was through, Billy Taylor had run the New York Giants right past the Washington Redskins in a 14-6 National Football League victory Sunday.

Taylor carried the ball 26 times for 126 yards but the remarkable part of those numbers is that for nearly eight minutes he was a one-man offense. In a 14-play drive that produced the Giants' wrapup touchdown, Taylor carried 13

Last week he carried only twice for 12 yards in the rematch against the Bucs.

Coach Ray Perkins would not comment on why Taylor had not been playing, but the running back resurfaced against the Redskins.

Washington: Coach Jack Pardee thought Taylor's return gave him added incentive. "He gave extra effort because he was getting a chance to play for the first time in a while," he said.

Perkins had a simple explanation for Taylor's production. "We left Taylor in because he was running well, so why not?" the Giants' coach said. "We've done that before."

And Taylor explained his big day this way: "I had the holes to go through. You can't do that alone. The offensive line did a big job."

After Mark Moseley's 41-yard field goal had narrowed the Giants' lead to a single point with 1:02 left in the third quarter, New York took over on its own 22-yard line. Taylor carried the ball on 13 of the next 14 plays from scrimmage, rushing for all but four of the yards needed to reach the Washington end zone.

It was the second-best game of the season for the Giants' running back, who had gained 148 yards against Tampa Bay in New York's first victory this year. He gradually fell into disuse after that game and carried only twice for 12 yards a week ago in a rematch against the Bucs.

Four times in his one-man drive, Taylor converted third-down plays, going 4 yards, 12 yards, 4 yards again and 27 yards to set up the touchdown which came from the Redskins' 1-yard line.

The Giants broke in front on their second possession of the game in a 10-play drive climaxed by Doug Kotar's 1-yard plunge.

Quarterback Phil Simms found Kotar for 26 yards and rookie Earnest Gray for 23 to keep the drive going. Washington responded with Moseley's first field goal of the game, a 21-yarder 2 1/2 minutes into the second period.

Quarterback Joe Theismann positioned the ball with a 40-yard pass to running back Clarence Harmon on a third-down play, moving the Redskins to the New York 9. But the Giants' defense held at that point, forcing the 'Skins to settle for the field goal.

The Redskins launched a drive of their own in the final five minutes and Moseley tried for a third field goal, this one a 46-yarder. But the ball struck the right upright and bounced away, killing their final serious scoring chance with 1:25 to play.

times for 74 yards and barreled over from the 1-yard line for the score. The TD came at 7:43 of the fourth quarter and clinched the victory for New York.

Never once during the drive did Taylor ask quarterback Phil Simms to call somebody else's number.

"No way!" he said. "Any running back wants the ball as often as he can get it, especially when the offensive line is playing as well as ours was today. I can't remember carrying so often in one drive, but I liked it."

Taylor had not been seeing the ball very much lately. After a 148-yard game against Tampa Bay that gave the Giants their first victory of the year, he had gradually been eased out of the offense.

Bahr Kicks Browns In OT

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Matt Bahr, who would look at home in a punt, pass and kick contest, made the kick that made the difference as the Pittsburgh Steelers beat the Cleveland Browns 33-30 in overtime Sunday.

"This is flattering. It really is. But it was a team effort today," the boyish looking rookie said after his fourth field goal of the day, a 37-yarder, ended play with nine seconds left in the extra sudden-death period.

Pittsburgh climbed to 10-3 with the victory to jump back into a tie with Houston atop the AFC Central Division. Cleveland slipped to 8-5.

"It was a wonderfully played game. It's a shame somebody had to lose," said Cleveland Coach Sam Rutigliano, whose team also lost in overtime here last season, when Pittsburgh pulled off a double-reverse flea-flicker pass for the winning touchdown.

"They're the world champions. They come up with some way to win," said Browns defensive lineman Lyle Alzado. "We gotta learn to do that, I guess."

Bahr's winning kick capped an overtime drive that included a 28-yard scramble by Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw, who hit 30 of 44 passes for 364 yards — all career highs.

Bradshaw, who likes to kid about adopting the 5-foot-10 Bahr, was asked if he said anything to the former Penn State before the crucial kick.

"We try not to put any pressure on him. We just said, 'Miss it and you're out,'" Bradshaw joked.

"How many field goals did he kick today, anyway? I know he had a bunch of them!" Bradshaw added.

Bahr, who beat New England with an overtime field goal the first weekend of the season, was asked about the significance of beating Cleveland.

"I've only been in the league a short time, but from what I've heard, it's been quite a rivalry. That makes it even more exciting," Bahr said.

Steeler Coach Chuck Noll took a different view.

"Excitement to me is being ahead by 100 points," Noll deadpanned.

On the winning drive in overtime, Bradshaw dropped back to pass on a third-and-10 play from his own 34-yard line.

"They had a man-to-man coverage on, and the only guy unaccounted for is the quarterback," Bradshaw said of his 28-yard run to the sideline. The Steeler quarterback also completed 30 of 44 passes for a career high of 364 yards. Pittsburgh climbed to 10-3 with the victory to jump back into a tie with Houston atop the AFC Central Division. Cleveland slipped to 8-5.

Bradshaw's scramble carried to the Cleveland 38-yard line. The Steelers moved to the Cleveland 19 behind the running of Franco Harris, who piled up 150 yards rushing on 32 carries and scored three touchdowns.

The Steelers called time with 13 seconds on the clock, and Bahr was mobbed by his teammates when his kick ended the contest on the same field where Cleveland lost 15-9 to Pittsburgh in overtime last season.

Don Cockroft's third field goal of the game, a 40-yarder, put Cleveland on top 30-20 with 9:44 left in the final quarter, but Pittsburgh, which had been riddled for three touchdowns passes and 300 passing yards by Cleveland quarterback Brian Sipe, scored the next 10 points to knot the score.

With 4:42 left, Harris ran 4 yards for his third touchdown of the game, to cut the margin to 30-27. After a Cleveland punt and a 27-yard return by Theo Bell, the Steelers marched from their own 50 to the Cleveland 3-yard line, from where Bahr tied the score with 24 seconds left. Bahr's 21-yard field goal was his third of the game.

Sipe hit 23 of 38 passes for 333 yards, including scoring strikes to tight end Ozzie Newsome, wide receiver Dave Logan and running back Calvin Hill.

Sipe boosted his season passing total to 3,230 yards, breaking the old Cleveland record of 2,974 set by Frank Ryan in 1966.

By raising his season completion total to 239, Sipe broke the old record of 222 he amassed last season.

Cleveland remained winless in 10 games at Three Rivers Stadium, dating back to 1970.

Bills Stun Patriots With Overtime Magic

By The Associated Press
Veteran placekicker Nick Mike-Mayer was ready and the Buffalo Bills wasted no time in giving him the call.

Set up by a 51-yard pass from Joe Ferguson to Jerry Butler, Mike-Mayer came off the bench and booted a 29-yard field goal at 9:15 of overtime, lifting the Bills to a 16-13 victory over the New England Patriots in an upset.

"Maybe a lot of people wondered why we didn't run the ball three times before kicking, but we weren't taking any chances," Buffalo coach Chuck Knox said. "I've seen too many things happen, like fumbles in such situations."

Knox was pleased with the way his Bills came back, particularly in the final seconds of the fourth period to tie the score 13-13. Ferguson capped a 64-yard drive by passing 11 yards to wide receiver Lou Piccone in the end zone with just 11 seconds remaining in regulation.

"It was a hell of a hard-fought football game," Knox said. "Our players came back. With a team that's learning how to win, it was a great accomplishment. They just stayed in there, hung in there."

"It's a tough loss, one that shouldn't have happened," New England coach Ron Erhardt said. "We've got our backs to the wall now. We had our chances to put more points on the board but we didn't get it done."

Dickey threw a 7-yard touchdown pass to James Lofton with 51 seconds to play.

The Raiders used big plays to move to a 14-0 lead midway through the third period. The Broncos rallied for 10 points in the fourth quarter and drove into Oakland territory with less than two minutes left, but an interception by Oakland safety Charles Phillips ended the threat.

Craig Morton completed four passes as Denver reduced to the deficit to 14-10, with Rob Lyle scoring from 1 yard out with 1:57 to play. Denver's successful inside kick followed that score, but Phillips' interception came three plays later.

Quarterback Dan Fouts threw for 350 yards and rifled three touchdown passes as the San Diego Chargers rolled to a 28-7 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

The win was the fifth in a row for the Chargers and boosted their record to 10-3, tied for the best mark in the NFL. The Chiefs dropped to 5-8.

Fouts, who passed for 249 yards in the first half, finished 19 yards shy of the club single-game record set by Tobin Rote in 1963 and tied by Fouts last year against Houston.

Stung by an early Kansas City touchdown, the Chargers stormed back as Fouts hooked up with wide receiver Charlie Joiner on a 29-yard touchdown pass just a few minutes later.

San Diego went ahead to stay on a 42-yard bomb from Fouts to acrobatic wide receiver John Jefferson early in the second period.

Fouts, the first Charger quarterback to pass for more than 3,000 yards in a season since John Hadl surpassed the mark in 1971, has recorded a club-record five 300-yard passing games this year. He completed 27 of 43 aerials against the Chiefs and was intercepted once.

Hogs To Celebrate New Year In Style

By The Associated Press
Generally picked for a second-division finish, the Arkansas Razorbacks will be either in Dallas or New Orleans Jan. 1 instead of home where most experts figured they would celebrate New Year's Day.
The Razorbacks clinched at least a Southwest Conference co-championship Saturday night with a 31-7 victory over Southern Methodist.

"It was great to win a championship, especially in a year the league is considered tougher than it's ever been," said Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz.
Arkansas will play either Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl or No. 1 ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, depending on the outcome of the Texas-Texas A&M and Houston-Rice games this Saturday.
If both Texas and Houston win, Arkansas will go to the Cotton Bowl, Texas to the Sugar Bowl and Houston to the Sun Bowl. The same thing happens if both teams lose.

If Texas loses, Houston will go to the Cotton Bowl, Arkansas will go to the Sugar Bowl, and Texas will go to the Sun Bowl.
Texas held Peach Bowl-bound Baylor to two first downs in a 13-0 victory Saturday while Texas A&M was downing Texas Christian 30-7.

Houston nipped Texas Tech 14-10 Friday in a nationally televised game.
"We have our share of the title," said Holtz. "Someone else may share it with us. When something is that good, maybe it ought to be shared."
Arkansas won its 12th game in November under the Holtz regime and has yet to lose a game in what used to be the magic month for now-Athletic Director Frank Broyles.

Texas lost two members of its starting backfield Saturday. Freshman Rodney Tate suffered a shoulder separation and A.J. "Jam" Jones will be lost for the season with a knee injury.
"We are beat up going into the Aggie game," said Texas Coach Fred Akers, who started freshman Rick McIvor at quarterback and the kid responded with a school record 270 yards passing.
The Cotton Bowl landed Nebraska as the guest team as the Big Eight runner-

"We're fortunate to have them," said Field Scovell of the Cotton Bowl committee. "They are a great team."
Scovell had gone on record, saying he was fearful of a Texas-Oklahoma rematch, something the Cotton Bowl committee definitely did not want.
Baylor meets Clemson of the Atlantic Coast Conference Dec. 31 in Atlanta in the nationally televised Peach Bowl. The Bears finished their regular season with a 7-4 record.

Notre Dame Wins 'Mirage Bowl'

TOKYO (AP) — Halfback Vagas Ferguson scored three touchdowns for Notre Dame before a rain-soaked but enthusiastic Japanese crowd of about 80,000 at the Fighting Irish downed Miami 40-15 in college football Sunday.

Cornerback Dave Waymer scored on pass interception returns of 6 and 27 yards as the Irish finished their season 7-4. Miami is 4-6, with one game to play, against the University of Florida Saturday.

Notre Dame went ahead 14-0 in the first five minutes thanks to a crucial roughing-the-kicker penalty and a stunning interception.

"That penalty on fourth down gave them new life, and our throwing that interception put a different light on the remainder of the game," said Miami Coach Howard Schnellenberger. But even without those, he added, "Notre Dame was a superior team."

Miami fullback Chris Hobbs said, "We didn't make many mistakes, but the ones we made were costly. That made a big difference for the momentum of the game."

"We admire greatly people who don't quit," Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine commented. "We know they will be a very good football team next year."

Hobbs rushed for 23 yards in nine carries and caught the 10-yard pass that preceded teammate Gary Breckner's 1-yard touchdown plunge early in the second quarter.

Ferguson, the game's most valuable player, carried 177 yards in 35 rushes in Notre Dame's total offense of 250 yards — only 21 passing. Miami passed for 186 yards and ran for 65.

The Fighting Irish marched to Miami's 36 after the opening kickoff on runs of 11 and 15 yards by junior quarterback

Mike Courey, starting in place of Rusty Lisch. But then Courey lost 9 yards trying to pass and a moment later Notre Dame had to punt from the 43.

A roughing-the-kicker penalty gave the Irish the ball at the 28. Ferguson, who holds Notre Dame's all-time rushing record, covered that distance in five carries, finally plunging over from the 2.

Miami took the kickoff and ran one play before Waymer picked off Jim Kelly's screen pass to Jim Joiner and returned it 6 yards for a touchdown.

Miami marched 67 yards for its first touchdown, getting to Notre Dame's 20 on Kelly's 30-yard pass to Pat Walker and 17-yard toss to Larry Brodsky. But running to Notre Dame's 11, Kelly suffered bruised ribs, and Mike Rodrigue came in and threw to Hobbs on the 1.

Notre Dame soon launched an attack that fell 2 feet short of the goal on a quarterback sneak by Lisch, who wound up playing most of the game. But Miami couldn't get past its own 4-yard line. Bob Crabie blocked Miami's punt for a safety that put the Irish ahead 16-7. Chuck Male added a 35-yard field goal before the half ended.

Freshman Dave Duerson's 42-yard punt return to the Miami 18 set up Notre Dame's next touchdown. Ferguson scored after runs of 7 and 11 yards.

He then carried the ball most of the way in a 70-yard drive, aided by personal foul and facemasking penalties. It ended with his 2-yard scoring run early in the fourth quarter. Waymer made it 40-7 some 3½ minutes later when he ran back an interception 27 yards.

Arizona Gets Fiesta Bid

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The University of Arizona has been offered and accepted a conditional bid to the Fiesta Bowl football game in Tempe, Ariz., on Christmas Day, bowl officials said Sunday.

The announcement said Alabama's Crimson Tide — currently ranked No. 1 in the country — is the first choice to oppose Pittsburgh, and also has accepted a conditional bid to the Fiesta.

However, Alabama will go to the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day as the Southeastern Conference champion if it beats Auburn this coming Saturday. In that case, Arizona will play in the Fiesta Bowl.

Arizona finished its season with a 6 wins, 4 losses and a tie Saturday night by defeating Arizona State in Tempe, 27-24.

Fiesta Bowl

The Fiesta Bowl is held in Arizona State's 70,000-plus stadium.

Fiesta Bowl officials, before last weekend's game, said they would offer a bid to Southern Cal, Brigham Young or Alabama if they should lose their final games. However, Southern Cal clinched the Rose Bowl by defeating UCLA and Brigham Young won the Western Athletic Conference title by defeating San Diego State.

Auburn is 8-2. However, it is not eligible for a bowl assignment.

"If we can't go to the one place (Sugar Bowl), we'd sure like to go to your place," coach Bear Bryant of Alabama was quoted by John Reid, executive director of the Fiesta Bowl.

Edmonton Wins Canadian Title

MONTREAL (AP) — A tough Edmonton defense and several costly penalties against the Montreal Alouettes gave the Eskimos a 17-9 victory and their second consecutive Grey Cup in the Canadian Football League championship Sunday.

The usually high-scoring Eskimos managed only two touchdowns — a 43-yard pass play from Tom Wilkinson to Waddell Smith in the first quarter and a 33-yard strike by Warren Moon to Tom Scott in the third quarter.

Scott's touchdown erased a 9-7 Montreal lead and then Moon moved the Eskimos close enough for a Dave Cutler 38-yard field goal on the last play of the third quarter.

But the Eskimos still only were eight points in front going into the fourth quarter and the Alouettes, led by running back David Green, kept threatening.

Local Boxer Castillo Wins Championship

ALBUQUERQUE (Special) — Gilbert Castillo won a national championship and the Lubbock Warriors boxing club finished second as a team Saturday in the Police Athletic League national tournament here.

Castillo won a unanimous decision over Angelo Black of Salt Lake City to win the national 106-open title. Three other Warrior boxers advanced to the final round, only to lose.

Billy Burt was a runnerup in the 100-junior category, losing a decision to Paul Banke of Tucson. Angelo Carrillo lost a decision to Edward Osborne of Sacramento and Joel Amagur lost a split decision to Reno's John Davis in the 132 weight class.

Mario Martinez lost a decision in the semifinals to Albuquerque's Steve Hindi and Domingo Amalla lost a split decision to Joseph Montoya of Las Vegas.

WHITTINGTON WINS RACE
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bill Whittington of Fort Lauderdale averaged 110.379 mph Sunday in his turbo-Porsche 935 to beat his brother Don by 4.080 seconds in a rain-and-crash-marred sports car race at Daytona International Speedway.

Time and again, however, the Als either were stopped by the so-called Alberta Crude Edmonton defense or by penalties.

The Montreal errors were capped with about two minutes left when Keith Baker ran back an Edmonton punt for what could have been a touchdown. But the Als were called back to their own 12-yard line because of a clipping penalty. The partisan crowd of 65,113 did not like the call and booed lustily.

Roaring Lions Advance In 3-A Playoffs

By The UPI
The Brownwood Lions, counted down but not out following a season-opening 50-14 loss to Abilene Cooper, are for real after all.

"Our defense is playing real well now," Wood said of Brownwood's victory. "We broke down a time or two on offense — they tipped a pass and intercepted it for a touchdown. But, overall, the offense did pretty well — mixing it up between passing and running."

La Porte defeated Texas City, 42-10, and will play Baytown Lee this week, while San Antonio Jay defeated San Antonio Judson, 28-0, to advance to a regional meeting against San Antonio Wheatley, a 16-14 victor over San Antonio Lee.

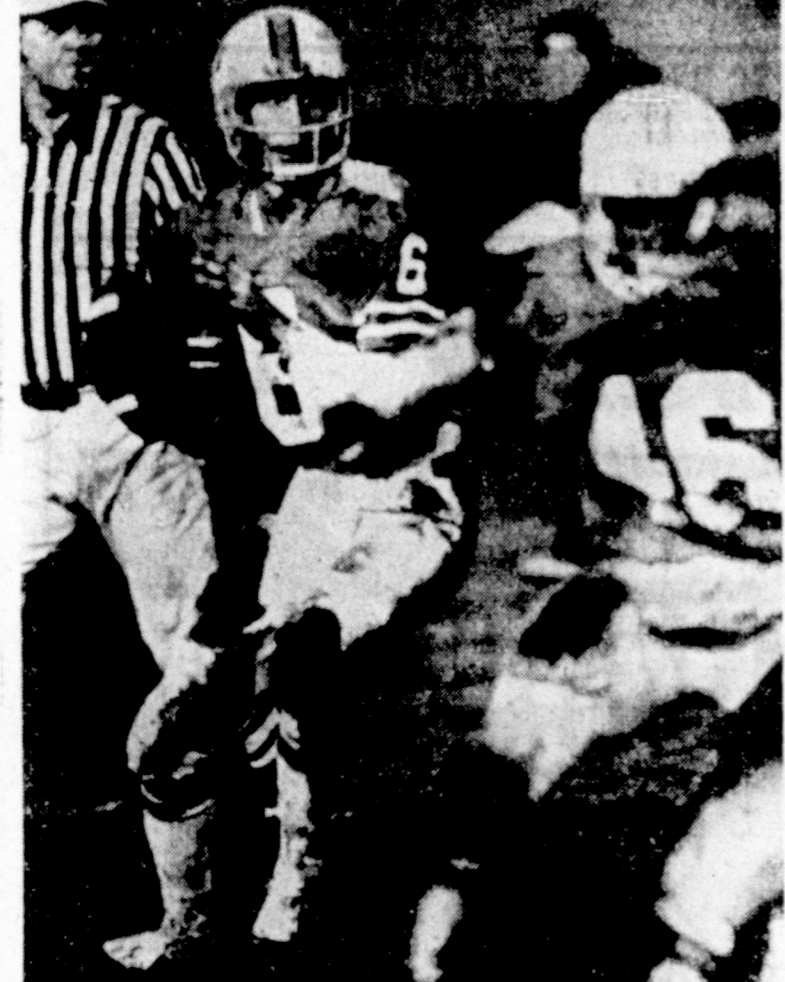

included China Spring, Troup, Haskell, and Seagraves. China Spring defeated Whitney, 42-0; Troup downed Frankston, 49-0; Haskell eliminated Rotan, 53-20; and Seagraves beat McCamey, 21-0. China Spring now plays San Saba, Troup meets Hawkins, and Haskell and Seagraves collide in a West Texas regional shootout.

Unity Keeps Cougars Undefeated

By The UPI
Brigham Young University has put together the school's first unbeaten regular season, and according to coach Lavell Edwards, the thing that sets the Cougars apart from most teams is an intangible that also brings them together.

Wilson, performing before a national television audience, threw touchdown passes of 25, 42, 57 and 46 yards to four different receivers. Equally devastating was the Cougars' running game, which rolled up 320 yards. Running backs Eric Lane and Homer Jones combined for 204 yards and repeatedly benefited from the mammoth holes the BYU offensive line provided them.

San Diego State, which had lost only one other home game in the past four years, didn't get on the scoreboard until Wilson had already fired four TD strikes. Aztec's coach Claude Gilbert said the early BYU explosion forced San Diego State to change its game plan.

season high 63 points. In another season ending game in the league, New Mexico beat Wyoming 17-9 in outgoing coach Bill Mondt's final game. Mondt was fired earlier in the week and the victory enabled the Lobos to finish at 6-6 for the year.

Fighter Classen Remains Critical

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Classen, the middleweight boxer who suffered severe head injuries in a bout Friday night, remained in critical condition Sunday, a Bellevue Hospital spokeswoman said.

Classen reportedly suffered a hemorrhage in a network of arteries between the brain and the dura, the lining around the brain. He fell from the ring backwards through the middle ropes and onto the apron of the ring in the final round of his 10-rounder against Houston's Wilford Scypion at Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum.

Observers said that after two knockdowns — one in the third round and one in the ninth — Classen did not appear to have heard the bell signaling the 10th round. He did not raise his gloves, and Scypion finished him off with two rights with the round just 12 seconds old.

Classen, who is from Puerto Rico, lives in New York with his wife and two children.

Louisville Coach Gibson Suffers Hurt After Loss

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville football Coach Vince Gibson said Sunday's 31-7 loss to Rutgers was the first time this year that he has been disappointed in his team's effort.

Gibson said his team was well prepared for the season's finale. "I just can't understand why we didn't play better."

"We just didn't play well at all in the second half, especially after they ran the interception back for the TD," Gibson said.

Gibson was referring to a pass interception by Rutgers' Mark Pineiro less than five minutes into the second half. Pineiro caught the ball after it bounced off the hands of Louisville's Greg Searcy and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown that erased a 7-3 U of L halftime lead.

Rutgers, 8-3 for the season, added two more touchdowns by Albert Ray and one by Bryant Moore as it completely dominated the second half.

"I don't know what happened," Gibson said as his team finished with a disappointing 4-6-1 record. "I just know we didn't have it out on the field."

Ray, who scored on runs of 59 yards and 1 yard, had 183 yards rushing on the afternoon, nearly half as much as he had gained all season.

His first score came after Rutgers had been given a second life on a punt attempt when Louisville tackle Dan Ditzleruk had jumped off sides.

Moore's touchdown also came when Rutgers got a reprieve on a punt when Louisville's Eddie Johnson was called for rushing the kicker.

Louisville had been the one to take advantage of the other team's mistakes in the first half when Bo Haden scored from two yards out following a fumble recovery by Louisville's Kevin Hill on the Rutgers 12-yard line.

Gibson said his much maligned offense could not be blamed for all of the problems Sunday as Rutgers gained 337 total yards, including 268 rushing.

"The defense certainly can't blame everything on the offense because they didn't play well either," Gibson said. "Rutgers' offensive line just lined up and knocked our tails."

Bonnett Wins NAPA 250 Race

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Neil Bonnett took the lead from Richard Petty with nine laps to go and won the $31,000 Arizona NAPA 250 stock car race by 3.8 seconds Sunday at Phoenix International Raceway.

Petty, the pole winner, had been coasting along with a healthy lead, but said his right front tire began going flat on the 141st lap. Bonnett passed him on the 147th.

Petty managed to finish third, going the final miles on the tire's inner liner. Petty led in 136 of the 156 laps.

Bobby Allison finished second.

They were the only three drivers within hailing distance of the lead from the 43rd mile. The 156-mile, or 250-kilometer race, closed the Phoenix racing series.

The race also gave the Winston series point championship to Bill Schmidt, who said he "hung on" to finish the race so he could secure that title — his second in three years.

Ironically, Bonnett was driving one of Schmidt's cars, a Pontiac Ventura. So they considered the day a doubleheader sweep.

Bonnett came to Phoenix looking for a car to drive.

Petty had decided to change tires under a yellow flag on the 126th lap. Bonnett had changed his midway, said they felt great "and I decided to go for broke."

Bonnett's winning average speed was 92.96 miles an hour. The race was accident free but the yellow caution flag was on twice and there was a red flag on the 131st mile to allow maintenance personnel to clear a large oil spill at the first turn. The red flag brought racing to a halt for nine minutes and 35 seconds.

Johnson, Bucks Flow Past Golden State

By The Associated Press

With Marques Johnson's 20 points pacing balanced scoring, the Milwaukee Bucks glided to a 114-90 National Basketball Association victory over the Golden State Warriors.

The Bucks' flow was scarcely interrupted. Golden State, trailing 65-45 at intermission, closed to within 12 points late in the third period.

But Milwaukee came back on six points by reserve Richard Washington to lead 82-67 at the end of three.

Reserves Sidney Moncrief and Lloyd Walton scored seven points each to help build a 29-point Milwaukee advantage in the fourth.

Johnson led the Bucks with 20 points.

Junior Bridgeman added 17. Sonny Parker had 17 for Golden State.

Balanced scoring was evident in the first period when the Bucks took a 12-point lead behind 10 points from Johnson, nine from Quinn Buckner and eight from Dave Meyers.

Cavaliers 112, Nets 103.

Randy Smith scored 25 points and Kenny Carr matched his career high with 22 as the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the New Jersey Nets 112-103.

Cleveland and New Jersey battled on even terms through the first three quarters, with the Cavaliers taking a 77-76 lead into the final period.

New Jersey managed to stay close until early in the fourth quarter, when the Cavaliers surged away from an 83-82 lead.

Carr scored five straight points and teammate Austin Carr followed with eight quick points as the Cavaliers ran off a 14-2 spurt to gain a 97-84 advantage, then coasted to victory.

Foots Walker added 16 points for Cleveland, while Calvin Natt paced New Jersey with 23 points, and rookie Cliff Robinson scored his pro-high with 22.

Midland College Edges Amarillo

AMARILLO (Special) — Jeff Ray hit two free throws to give Midland College a 73-70 advantage which led to a 73-72 championship victory over Amarillo College in the Shootout of the Golden Spread Basketball Tournament here Saturday night.

Robert Tate, selected as the tournament's most valuable player, led Midland with 18 points. Vic Mitchell paced Amarillo with 36 points.

Midland — Ray 1-2-4; Shelby 5-1-1; Tate 8-2-18; Sly 0-0-0; McGill 1-0-2; Johnson 3-3-9; Young 6-3-15; Wilson 2-0-4; Williamson 5-0-10; Totals 31-17-72.
Amarillo — Broadus 10-2; Seamon 9-0-0; Summers 6-0-0; Horton 8-0-0; Lightbourne 5-0-10; Parker 7-0-14; Perry 1-0-2; Mitchell 17-2-36; Bradley 4-0-8; Totals 25-2-72.

Louisiana Tech, South Oak Cliff Capture Queens

PLAINVIEW (Special) — Janis Mulford rebounded a missed free throw attempt and scored with six seconds remaining to give Louisiana Tech a 72-70 championship victory over Wayland Baptist College in the fourth annual Plainview Queens' Classic here Saturday night.

Pam Kelly of Louisiana Tech was the game's leading scorer with 24 points. Elaine Schulte paced the Flying Queens with 14.

This marked the first loss for the Flying Queens in the tournament since its inception in 1976. Louisiana Tech was the runnerup for the national championship last year.

Dallas South Oak Cliff won the high school division for the second consecutive year with a 58-39 win over Nazareth. Other results in the college division included Kansas winning over Missouri 106-75 for third place, San Jose State beating Memphis State 71-61 for consolation and Brigham Young downing Ohio State 88-85 for seventh place.

In the high school division, Hale Center defeated Slaton 52-41 for third place, Dumas beat Plainview 59-45 for consolation and Dimmitt tripped Lockney 53-36 for seventh place.

Miss Navratilova Takes Foe's Advice

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Wimbledon champion Martina Navratilova beat Chris Evert Lloyd 6-3, 6-3 in the finals of a women's challenge tennis tournament here Sunday, winning 12 of the last 14 points of the match.

The Czech expatriate, now residing in the United States, earned $22,000 and a new car.

Miss Navratilova disclosed that last week she had sought her rival's help in ironing out a problem with her serve.

"She probably wishes she hadn't bothered to help at all," joked Miss Navratilova.

The tournament, called the Daihatsu Challenge Cup, carried total prizes of $110,000.

Both players disputed some questionable line decisions, but the 23-year-old Miss Navratilova clearly outplayed her American rival.

Wyoming Demotes Bill Lewis

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — University of Wyoming Football Coach Bill Lewis was relieved of his duties Sunday following the Cowboys' dismal 4-8 season and season-ending loss to New Mexico.

UW President Edward Jennings announced he and Lewis "mutually agreed" that Lewis would step aside as coach immediately and take a position as an alumni relations specialist.

Jennings said the Cowboys would begin a nationwide search and name a new head coach as soon as possible.

The new university president cited economics in his announcement, noting that intercollegiate athletics should be self-sufficient but aren't at Wyoming now.

Cowboy attendance dropped even more drastically than the 'Pokes' football fortunes this season, with only 5,000 fans watching the last home game against Arkansas State.

"Coach Lewis and I feel there is no longer adequate interest by the Cowboy fans to carry forward the program that we would like to accomplish," Jennings said. "Coach Lewis has asked that he be assigned other duties within the university effective immediately."

Lewis, 37, compiled a 13-21-1 record in three years at UW. The East Stroudsburg (Pa.) State College graduate replaced Fred Akers, now coach at Texas, three years ago. Lewis previously was an assistant coach at Pittsburgh, Wake Forest, Georgia Tech and Arkansas.

Wyoming had high hopes for the 1979 season after compiling its second best record of the decade (5-6) last season, finishing second in the Western Athletic Conference and playing competitively against nationally ranked Texas and Louisiana State.

But the turn-around never occurred, and Cowboy fans still dreaming of the glory years of the late 1960s began grumbling about needing a change as the team opened with losses to Washington and Northwestern. The grumbles grew louder with each successive loss.

In the end, flashes of brilliance by a young, inexperienced team were not enough to offset the frequent fumbles and mistakes, and attendance dropped.

Jennings called the 1979 season a "major disappointment" but predicted "brighter days ahead."

Lewis was not available for comment after the announcement, but McCarty credited the coach for making a "valiant effort to produce a successful program" but said he agrees "change is necessary."

In 48 hours you can learn to use your mind to do anything you wish. It has been said that Einstein used only 10% of his mind, and the general public uses only about 3% or 4%. And that's what Silva Mind Control is all about... learning to use more of your mind. There is no limit to how far you can go, there is no limit to what you can do, because there is no limit to the power of your mind. Students report simple things like: fall asleep without drugs and wake up without clocks, relieve nervousness, stop excessive drinking, memorize long lists and improve creativity... to the more sophisticated things like: develop ESP and using dreams to solve problems and to get information.

Over 1,500,000 people all over the world have taken Silva Mind Control, and so can you. To find out how, we invite you to a free seminar. But a word of caution, it will change your life.

Woman Attacked Twice In Separate Incidents

IRVING (AP) — A 27-year-old woman told police she was forced off the road, gang raped and thrown out of a car, only to be raped again by a truck driver who stopped to help her.

The woman was "nearly hysterical" when she told her story to Irving police Saturday, investigators said. And despite the nightmarish ring to her story, police say they believe her.

"There are a few minor inconsistencies in her facts," said an investigator. "Her story sounds weird, but it appears to be true."

The woman, an electronics assembler from nearby Grapevine, was picked up about 6 a.m. (CST) Saturday by an Irving patrol car as she wandered in a daze along a freeway.

Investigators said she told them she was driving home about midnight after drinking with friends when a car forced her off the road. She got out of the car to go for help and five Mexican-American males grabbed her, the woman told police.

One man drove her car while she was forced to ride in a 1966 green Chevrolet with the other four, police said. After driving around for a while, the men held her at knifepoint, stripped her of her clothing and repeatedly raped her, the woman told police.

The men threw the woman and her clothing from the car in a North Dallas business district and sped away in both vehicles, the woman told police.

She said she dressed and walked toward I.H. 35 where a tractor-trailer driver stopped and offered to help, investigators said.

The driver, a black male in his 30s, listened to the woman's story, then drove her to a secluded area of North Irving where he raped her before freeing her, the woman told police.

Irving police said they took the woman to a Dallas hospital where she was examined and released.

Despite detailed descriptions from the woman, investigators said they had not yet established the identities of her attackers.

Near Misses Alarm Air Controllers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — With psychiatrists still treating people for emotional stress caused by a disastrous air collision in 1978, reports of a dozen near-collisions in recent months have renewed fears about airline safety over populous Southern California.

"I'm scared to death," says Bruce Travis, who heads the Lindbergh Field Tower unit of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Association.

It has been 14 months since a Pacific Southwest Airlines 727 and a Cessna 172 on an instrument instruction flight collided over San Diego. The explosion and rain of debris killed 144 people.

There are those who still have nightmares in which they see again the flash of fire, the screeching metal and human flesh piled in chunks across two burned-out city blocks. They seek professional help to forget.

Some pilots and air traffic controllers say they fear another such disaster will occur.

They have leaked word about a dozen near-misses reported to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by pilots of four and possibly six airlines in recent months.

A PSA pilot reported that on Nov. 18 he had to swerve to avoid hitting a small plane near San Diego Stadium, packed at the time with 52,000 people at a professional football game.

Three hours later, an American Airlines plane with 91 people aboard flew directly toward a PSA jetliner that was taking off from Lindbergh Field with 139 crew members and passengers. The jets were traveling at 350 mph, only two miles apart, when the PSA pilot was told to turn left about 2,000 feet below the normal turning point.

Officially, NASA defines a near-miss as one in which two planes come within 500 feet of each other or when evasive action must be taken to avoid a collision. Local newspapers have gotten letters claiming sightings of hundreds of such incidents.

The Federal Aviation Administration, however, contends that air safety in San Diego is not in jeopardy. And Charles Billings, who heads NASA's near-collision reporting program, said in a telephone interview that there has been no increase in near-miss incidents in recent months.

Pope's Address Touches On Recent Turmoil

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II Sunday praised holy men who do not seek worldly power but concern themselves instead with spiritual matters.

John Paul did not mention Iran or its Moslem spiritual leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, during his noon blessing in St. Peter's Square, but Vatican experts said his words were applicable to the current religious turmoil in the Middle East.

"Our thoughts and hearts go out today to him who to Pilate's question, 'Are you king?' answered, 'This is why I was born and this is why I have come into the world, to bear witness to the truth,'" the pope said, quoting the Biblical story of Christ's judgment by the Romans.

"The times in which we live oblige us to think more often of this answer," John Paul said.

"How marvelous is this king who renounced all signs of power and the instruments of domination, force and pretence and wanted to reign only with the force of truth and love, with interior conviction," he said.

The pope's reference came a week after his emissary to Iran, Msgr. Annibale Bugnini, returned from Tehran where he unsuccessfully tried to convince Khomeini to release American hostages held by Moslem students in the U.S. Embassy.

Bugnini was due to return to Tehran over the weekend with another appeal to free the hostages but the Vatican would not confirm if the trip was still scheduled.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are able to charm others into doing pretty much what you desire now. Later, arguments arise that could cause a considerable amount of tension.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contact good friends for needed favors. Evening is not good for going after personal wishes. Be clever in business matters.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle civic matters early and clear up unfinished business. Don't neglect credit matters. Prepare for bigger things ahead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A new interest inspires you. Act upon it immediately and success will follow. A new contact could be helpful, but rely on yourself.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't neglect money matters which could put you in an embarrassing position. Follow through on ideas offered by loved ones.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to understand what partners expect and cooperate more for mutual benefit. Be more willing to work. Evening can be a happy one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Come to a better understanding with a co-worker and coordinate efforts. Be charming with kin in the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get fun activities scheduled early and then take care of business matters. Try to help a friend in need. Cooperate more with loved ones.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get busy on new arrangements for improving your home conditions. Study a new project that could prove profitable to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to improve on routine jobs for more efficiency. Morning is the best time for meetings. Avoid arguments with anyone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use more up-to-date methods where finances are concerned and get better results. Show kindness to those who are deserving.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Personal goals are easy to reach now, but handle difficult business problems later. The social could be disappointing in the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Confer with advisers and get everything around you in better order. Follow your intuition which can be helpful to you. Avoid risky schemes.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will be very careful and capable at adopting new methods of the Modern Age to benefit mankind. A natural student in this chart and an avid reader. Spiritual training early in life is important here. Sports are a must.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

by BILL DOYLE

Q. I have between $7,000 and $8,000 in Series E, U.S. Savings Bonds, purchased through the payroll savings plan since 1973. I also have an insurance policy with a cash value surrender value of $4,000 which I can borrow at 5 percent interest. The bonds and insurance are investments for my retirement in 15 years and will not be used for any other purposes.

Would I be better off redeeming the E bonds, borrowing from the insurance policy and putting the money in a six-month savings certificate? I understand that those certificates now pay more than 12 percent.

A. You would have higher income. That's for sure. And, if you don't touch the money in the certificate but leave it to compound at whatever the prevailing rates are over the next 15 years, you will most likely have a much bigger retirement nestegg.

There's one problem — taxes. If you're like most people, you have not paid income taxes on the interest that has built up on your E bonds each year. That means you'll have to pay federal income taxes on all your accrued E bond interest when you cash the bonds.

You would be wise to check with a bank or other U.S. Savings Bonds "paying agent" to find out how much accrued E bond interest you stand to get. Add that to your present income and, by using the federal income tax tables, you should be able to figure out what the tax bite would be.

Because you have held those bonds not too many years, my bet is that the tax won't be too severe and you will come out ahead with the much-higher-yielding six month savings certificates.

And, of course, you'll be better off borrowing the $4,000 on your insurance at 5 percent and investing it at 12 percent. This will reduce your insurance coverage by $4,000 but you'll have the money tucked away, elsewhere. There will be no reduction in your family's net worth.

It's clear that you are doing much more sensible financial planning now than you were earlier in life. Insurance is not an investment. Insurance should be bought for protection. You should invest elsewhere, at higher returns.

Q. We wish to make gifts to each of our grandchildren, to start their college funds. If the gifts are less than $3,000 a year, what branch of government must be notified?

A. None. As long as your gifts are less than $3,000 a year to each child — or adult, for that matter — you don't have to file Form 709 — the federal gift tax return.

If you're planning on being very generous, I urge you to get a copy of Publication 448, the guide to federal estate and gift taxation from your nearest Internal Revenue Service office.

Q. How can children get Social Security numbers?

A. By going to a Social Security Administration office. A birth certificate is usually sufficient documentation for a Social Security number to be issued. In the case of a very young child, however, a second proof — such as a hospital or doctor's record of birth or even one of those "baby bands" — is required.

Q. When interest rates decline, money will presumably be taken out of money market mutual funds in bunches. Does this pose any risk to investors in those funds?

A. In theory, it could. In practice, however, it is most unlikely. Money market mutual funds invest in short-term "money market instruments." A typical money market fund has some investments maturing every business day. And its other short-term holdings can always be sold. If interest rates drop, those holdings can be sold at higher prices. Those funds should have no trouble meeting redemptions.

PBS To Air 'Mahagonny' Opera

NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't think Kurt Weill ever dreamed he would end up at the Met," says Lotte Lenya, who ought to know. "At the City Opera, yes, but to get into the holy Metropolitan!"

LOTTE LENYA

Miss Lenya, the noted singer and actress, also is the widow of the German-born composer whose grand opera, "Rise and Fall of the City of Mahagonny" is currently being seen at the Metropolitan Opera. The production will be televised Tuesday by stations in the Public Broadcasting Service network as part of the "Live From The Met" series.

The libretto, by Bertolt Brecht, is a bitter parable of corrupt society in which three degenerates set up a new city where every vice is tolerated and the only crime punishable by death is to be penniless.

When the opera was first staged, in Leipzig in 1930, many critics took it as a commentary on the decadence of post-World War I German society — or of capitalist America. But might it not seem dated today?

Miss Lenya's eyebrows rose at the suggestion. "Look what's happening in this country," she said. "Inflation, bribery, corruption — those things aren't likely to go away soon. We still seem to be headed for disaster."

In view of the opera's grim themes, Miss Lenya said in an interview, both collaborators had a surprisingly jolly time composing it.

"They had more fun than you can imagine," she said. "Kurt went to Brecht's apartment, they had a little piano there. They never had an argument the whole time, they worked beautifully together."

And yet, after such successes as "Mahagonny" and the more popular "Three-penny Opera," the partners split and both eventually were driven from Germany by the Nazis.

"The split came when Brecht got so political," Miss Lenya said. "Weil said, 'I don't want to compose Karl Marx. I want to make music.'"

And that he continued to do, spending the last 15 years of his life in the United States, writing scores for Broadway shows. One of those, "Street Scene," recently proved tremendously popular in a revival by the New York City Opera, just a short walk across Lincoln Center from the Met. Next spring, the City Opera will stage another Weill work, "The Silver Lake," written while he was still in Germany.

"Why there is such a revival of his works, I can't tell you, but I'm delighted," Miss Lenya said. "Of course his music has always been popular. But if you take a song as famous as 'September Song,' only one out of 99 people will know that he wrote it."

During the weeks of rehearsal at the Met, Miss Lenya was in constant attendance, her opinions and suggestions frequently sought by producer John Dexter. And not simply out of courtesy — Miss Lenya herself starred in a Berlin production of "Mahagonny" in cabaret style, given shortly after the work's premiere.

In Leipzig, the singers couldn't act. In Berlin, we could, but that production didn't do justice to Kurt's orchestra," she said. "They had to change the vocal parts because we were not opera singers."

The first commencement exercises were held at Harvard University in 1942.

sianship — there's nothing to compare. "For three weeks I've been walking on clouds," she said. "These have been my happiest few weeks in a long time."

Heartline

EDITOR'S NOTE: Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 43081. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I would like some information regarding Social Security benefits that my sister and I should have received but never did.

My father died in January 1957, leaving two minor, my sister and me. She was born in 1936 and I was born in 1944. We both received benefits until we reached the age of 18. Our guardians were our aunt and uncle and they evidently did not know that we were entitled to student's benefits while going to school full time up until the age of 22, because they never filed or applied for us and we never knew anything about what we were entitled to. Anyway, my sister went to college from October 1957 until July 1962, and I went from September 1961 until January 1964. Is it possible to make a retroactive claim for these benefits that we should have received until age 22? — H.W.

No. The reason, in your case, is simply because you were not entitled to benefits after age 18. The benefits now payable to dependent children while going to school full time until age 22 did not come into law until 1965. Since there were no such benefits at the time you were going to school, you cannot claim them now.

HEARTLINE: My wife and I are retired. We are 65 and 63 respectively. We have been blessed with a decent savings account and an adequate retirement income. We are looking for some investment opportunities other than stocks and bonds. Actually we are looking for a hobby — something to collect that might prove to be a good investment. We have plenty of spare time to devote to something. Do you have any suggestions? — K.S.

Although Heartline does not, as a rule, give investment advice, we will in your case, due to the hobby factor. The most profitable investments in recent years, to the surprise of many, have not been stocks and bonds.

An example of one of these investments is Chinese ceramics, which have increased in value at an annual rate of 23-24 percent since 1960. Gold jewelry is also on the rise at 16 percent; coins at 12.3 percent; and well-chosen stamps at a whopping 100-150 percent.

Most older, handmade items are also good investments. You can choose something unusual, such as antique or unique chess sets or handmade quilts. Also on the rise are Indian artifacts, such as pottery, baskets and rugs.

All of this goes to show that art, antiques, coins and other collectibles show tremendous potential for profit.

Some helpful tips for those interested in this area of investment:

- Be patient. These types of investments may be slow in paying off, but the hobby factor alone should be rewarding and interesting.
- Work only with reputable dealers. Don't let yourself be taken in by swindlers. In dealings with mail-order houses, be sure you can return the item for a full refund if you are not satisfied.
- Learn to be an expert so that you will have the ability to distinguish authentic from counterfeit items. You should also be able to spot all alterations and defects. Choose an area of investment that you will enjoy researching and displaying to family and friends.

Wall Used As 'Hometown' Paper

PEKING (UPI) — Peking's "democracy wall" on its first anniversary has become an outlet of tales of woe, rape, murder and love.

The stretch of beige brick wall around a bus station designated by the post-Mao regime as a place for protest posters, displays few political outcries since one radical poster writer was sentenced to 15 years in jail and others arrested.

But the pasted-up posters show that the Chinese as a people as torn by personal drama as any other.

One father glued up a poster saying his 17-year-old son was beaten to death by police in a Peking police station during MAO Tse-tung's Cultural Revolution. At the end of the eightpage poster the father hung a piece of blood-stained cloth taken from his son's body. A tiny framed photograph of the youth was pinned to the cloth.

Life on the farm in China apparently explodes often into violence. A girl's 24-page poster on green paper told how her farmer father was beaten to death by his collective farm's deputy party secretary during a quarrel over a piece of land.

The father insisted the land was a private plot belonging to his son, the official shouted that it belonged to the state.

"After his death the body was moved from the deputy party secretary's office," said the poster. "The bones of his body were broken."

The poster, scribbled in poor grammar, said the alleged murderer's boss, the local party secretary, claimed the father had died of a heart attack.

The girl said she then turned to county party officials "but they said I had broken the bones after he died to make it appear he was beaten."

"The county officials asked the deputy secretary's neighbor to confirm my father died of a heart attack. After this testimony the neighbor was promoted in his farm job."

"The son and daughter of the deputy secretary who witnessed the death were sent away to school. And the county officials got from the hospital a fabricated certificate saying he died of heart trouble."

In another poster that could have been a novel, a woman charged her husband was tortured and beaten to death by party officials on a farm during Mao's final years.

"I had to sell my second daughter in order to eat," the poster went on. "I then had to sell our house on the collective farm and go to live with my parents. Ten years have gone by but justice has not been done."

The Chinese stand silently every day reading the posters and spitting husks of sunflower seeds on the dirt ground.

Some youths are in patched blue Mao jackets, others look like officials in neat Mao suits, leather shoes, caps and briefcases.

One poster scanned by the crowd was by a man who said he fell in love with a student in a technical school but a teacher also loved the girl.

"So the teacher got me dismissed from the school in 1961," claimed the poster, spattered on brown wrapping paper. "Later I was sent to work on a timber farm and forced to marry the handicapped daughter of the farm party secretary."

China has no newspapers that reflect the daily lives of the people, so the wall has become PEKING'S "home town" paper, complete with advertising. "For sale: BBC (British Broadcasting Corporation) English lessons on tape," said a poster nailed to a tree next to the wall.

Poster readers clustered around a sign from a doctor selling herbal medicine to cure impotency. A man in Tianjin port wrote he wanted to exchange jobs with someboddy in Peking.

One citizen wrote six posters denouncing his sit in on party meetings so he can tell the leaders how to reform local party officials.

Another man strung a poster between two trees with diagrams to illustrate his plan to simplify the written Chinese language. "I proposed this change 20 years ago but the authorities never answered my letters," he complained.

Rape stories flourish and are avidly read by wall-watchers in this puritan society. One woman's torn poster said that 20 years ago she sued her neighbor for rape but he got her dismissed from her teaching job. Demanding justice, her poster was decorated with a sketch of

Condominium Sales Booming In Texas

New Condominium Construction Doubled Last Year In Dallas

By The Associated Press

A nationwide trend away from apartments and expensive suburban housing has swept Texas in the form of a condominium boom.

Nowhere in the state has the trend been so pronounced as in Dallas, where apartment conversion and new condominium construction more than doubled in the past year.

Condominium consultant Sharon Reuler said that through the end of October, 3,063 condominium deeds had been filed in Dallas County, and 1,984 more condos were on the market. In 1978, 1,378 condominiums appeared in the city.

Since 1970, she said, 10,746 condos have been built and converted in Dallas.

In Houston, condominium conversions more than doubled in 1977 when 5,042 apartment units were converted, figures from the Greater Houston Builders Association show. Since 1970, 15,008 units have been converted. Through August of this year, however, only 1,194 were converted. No figures were available for condominium construction.

Conversion in Houston has leveled off because "all the properties suitable for conversion have already been converted," said Dr. Arthur Wright of the Texas Real Estate Research Center in College Station.

Condominiums, which were unheard of 10 years ago, have been built on a smaller scale in other Texas cities. But since "condomania" is a fairly new phenomenon, few figures are available.

The young, the single and the retired have made the move to condominiums because of relative low cost, low maintenance and proximity to work, Miss Reuler said.

"A U.S. housing economist expects one-half of the U.S. population to be in condominium housing within 20 years. I think that in this region, that means any type of attached housing — Townhouses, patio homes, low-maintenance housing, but not counting apartments," she said.

"What is happening is the attached housing market is the fastest-growing segment of the housing industry. What we're seeing, really, is a literal explosion. There is very little mortgage money for single family housing, but there is mortgage money for condominiums, much of it with 95 percent financing."

Miss Reuler said changes in the population and lifestyles have led to the condominium craze.

"There are so many one-and-two-person households," Miss Reuler said. "The population structure is getting older, staying healthier longer and living in their own homes longer."

"Young adults are deferring marriage or not marrying at all; they are deferring children or not having children at all. What you've got is an ever-increasing number of households, even if the population stays static."

The skyrocketing cost of land and the energy crisis have helped fuel the move toward low-maintenance homes.

Talk Show Guests Discuss Iranian Situation

By The Associated Press

The new head of the AFL-CIO says he supports workers who refuse to service ships and planes bound for Iran. George Ball says the U.S.-Iranian crisis may ease at the end of the week. And Sen. Edward Kennedy says the nation must stand behind President Carter's efforts to free the hostages held at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

All three made their remarks in interviews on the network's regular weekly talk show Sunday.

Lane Kirkland, who succeeded

George Meany as president of the labor federation, said on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" that he thought a boycott was "a perfectly normal, spontaneous reaction of workers faced with an opportunity to demonstrate how they feel about the conduct of Iran and the seizure of Americans as hostages."

The International Longshoremen's Association has halted servicing ships carrying cargo to or from Iran and the Transport Workers Union staged a brief boycott of service to Air Iran planes.
