Crime Line Aims At Greater Successes In 1980

AS 1979 COMES to a close, Crime Line has been in operation for only nine months and closes out the year as an unqualified success and 1980 should produce even more successes of operation, ranging from capital murder to burglary. And almost a quarter of a million dollars in stolen property has been recovered. As Lubbock continues to grow, crime will continue to increase. Crime Line will assume an even more important role in fighting crime and removing criminals from our city streets.

Donations continue to come in and anyone wishing to make a taxfree donation to Crime Line may mail it to Crime Line, P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock, Texas,

A $1,000 reward is being offered this week by Crime Line for information concerning the murder of a Mexican national working in Lubbock.

About 11:49 p.m. Christmas Eve, police responded to a call about a man being down at the Che Che Club located at 1819 E. Broadway. Upon arrival, officers found a Mexican male, later identified as Ramiro Viller Vargas, lying on his back between two cars near the northwest corner of the club.

Reports indicate Vargas had been shot in front of the right ear and Justice of the Peace Charles Smith ruled the death a homicide at the scene.

Police said Vargas had told a woman companion that he was going to check on his car in the club's parking lot about 11 p.m. The woman told police when Vargas failed to return, she became worried and left the club about 30 minutes later to check on him.

Reports indicate the woman found Vargas' body, went back inside the club to get two friends, returned to the parking lot to check Vargas' vitals and then called police.

Crime Line is offering a $300 reward for the burglary of more than $1,400 worth of property from an East Lubbock residence.

Police were called to 2202 E. 47th St. about 4:15 p.m. Wednesday in reference to a burglary. Upon arrival, officers could find no signs of forced entry, but the victim thought the burglars might have entered the house through the front door. Reports indicate investigating officers examined the door's lock and it appeared weak.

Items taken in the burglary included a woodgrain AM/FM digital clock radio, a color television set, a microwave oven and six guns

A $300 reward is being offered by Crime Line for information about a Christmas Day burglary.

Police received a burglary call to 5321 47th St. about 8:50 p.m. Tuesday.

The victim reportedly told officers more than $2,100 worth of property had been stolen from his residence and had gained entry to the house by prying open the rear garage door and kicking open the door leading from the garage into the kitchen.

Reports indicate and eighttrack tape deck, a turntable, a stereo and five guns were taken during the burglary. Information concerning a 20-year-old man wanted for felony theft could earn a Crime Line tipster $300.

SPAG Finds Decade

By DEBBIE STALTER Avalanche-Journal Staff

THE SOUTH Plains Association of Governments was brought into existence more than a decade ago to combat the dilemma of having too many governmental chiefs and too little cooperation among the Indians.

- has found itself fighting against federal and state bureaucracy for its rights of existence, a problem compounded by the SPAG member governments' incessant habits of withdrawing from and rejoining the organization. In taking a look back to the time when the council of governments was new to the business of handling regional affairs, the conclusion might be made that SPAG hasn't gone too far down the road to independence in the past 10

In fact, just this year the association once more buckled DEBBIE STALTER under to federal government requirements in hopes that DEBBIE STALTER its efforts would bring economic redevelopment funds to the Lubbock area.

In the past decade, the main factor behind the feud between SPAG and higher federal entities has been the panel's efforts to secure Economic Development Administration job funding for this area.

To do so, the SPAG board of directors had to be expanded to include minor ity representation to satisfy federal requirements.

And although this addition may have opened up a new direction as far as who is selected to serve on the board, to some the action meant that SPAG was once again bowing down to federal government demands. In fact, this move left such a bac

Moscow's Grip Strengthening

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) - The Soviet Union poured thousands of fresh troops and military equipment into Afghanistan Sunday, swelling Soviet ranks here to an estimated 45,000 men and strengthening Moscow's grip on the isolated nation three days after a Soviet-backed coup, Western diplomats in Kabul reported.

A West European envoy, speaking with one of the first Western reporters to reach Kabul in the aftermath of the coup, said it appeared that last Thursday's overthrow of the Afghan government was entirely a Soviet operation.

Repulse Soviets

His account contradicted initial reports of a short-lived conflict between Afghan factions, one of them supported by the Russians.

"As far as we could tell, only the Russians were involved in the coup," he said. "Afghan soldiers either did not fight or did so to repulse the Soviets.'

(In the first report of Soviet troops in heavy combat, a Pakistani newspaper said Russian soldiers were locked in a bloody battle with anti-communist Afghan insurgents in the northern province of Takhar, which borders the Soviet Union. The report could not be independently confirmed.

(The Pakistani newspaper, Jang of Karachi, quoted Afghan rebel sources in Pakistan as saying newly arrived Russian forces had "reoccupied" most of the province, including its capital city of Talukhan taste in the mouths of Lubbock County commissioners that they vot ed themselves out of the council of governments in September. The change also was not accepted favorably by the City of Lubbock. which joined the county in protesting the plan.

The protesters were hard pressed at that time to explain to their minority constituents and others that they were not against minorities serving on the board, but rather that they opposed the idea of anyone other than elected officials serving on the board.

Although the city's reaction to the board expansion vote was not as drastic as the county's, its outlook on the issue was just as dim.

The SPAG group has always been less than enthusiastic about having to revise its board of elected officials because the federal government said it had to do so

In October 1973, the board first voted against expanding its membership to receive EDA job funds - a move which may have cost the local panel thousands of dollars in economic redevelopment money.

Feds Object To Minorities Selection Plan

But some board members later felt they might not have gotten funding even had they voted for minority representation. Board members discovered three years later when they added minorities to their membership that the federal government wouldn't accept the way in which the minority members were selected.

And although 1979 brought yet another attempt to please higher government officials on the minority issue, the association of governments still hasn't been assured it will receive the economic development funding.

The Public Works and Economic Development Act, which since 1965 has funded redevelopment projects across the nation, expired this year, leaving Congress to toy with the idea of whether to continue the act's projects. And in the meantime, the 15-county SPAG area is left to wait for a decision.

The fireworks resulting from the push for federal funding certainly wasn't the only instance of SPAG trying to buck the federal or state government's

Kansas City Firefighters Continue Work Boycott

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) - Fire protection for the city Sunday was in the hands of police and the National Guard as a combined "sick-out" and work slowdown dropped the number of union firefighters on the job to six men.

Only two fire stations in the city were manned by union firefighters. Eight of the city's 32 stations were closed, and the remaining stations were operated by police officers, National Guardsmen and non-union fire department battalion chiefs.

Fire officials said 33 pieces of firefighting equipment were in service, compared to 53 during normal operations.

Battalion chief Roger Cornell described the fire protection situation for the city "certainly less safe than a week

"The firefighting force has been reduced drastically," he said. "A lot of inexperienced people are working -a lot of people from out of town who don't know the city streets very well. But it's better than nothing at all.

City officials and Local 42 of the International Association of Firefighters are battling it out over a new contract, with the firefighters seeking higher salaries, better working conditions and fringe benefits

The job action by firefighters began Dec. 21 when firefighters began refusing to work overtime. The city responded by firing or suspending those who refused. The firemen stepped up their action by refusing to do non-emergency chores such as building inspections. Union members also staged a sick-in and hundreds of firefighters have stayed off the job.

Union members Sunday were refusing to work out-of-class - filling in temporarily for higher ranking colleagues who are absent

A police spokesman said officers and guardsmen responded to 18 fires Saturday night. Police Sgt. Jim Treece said at least four of the blazes were classified as See FIREFIGHTERS Page 14

Members of the Security Council were told of Waldheim's decision before an afternoon meeting that lasted less than an hour. The council heard a half dozen speakers and then adjourned until 10:30 a.m. Monday without acting on a U.S. resolution designed to pressure Iran to free the hostages

In Tehran, Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said Waldheim would be welcome, although no official invitation would be issued. But the militant students, who have held the hostages since Nov. 4, rejected any mediation by Waldheim and said he was "not trustworthy

Waldheim's spokesman, Francois Giuliani, gave reporters this statement:

"The secretary-general has just been informed that, on the basis of contacts he had established with the Iranian authorities in the last few weeks, his offer to visit Iran has been accepted

'This acceptance was conveyed to the secretary-general on behalf of the Iranian government by the permanent representative of Iran, Ambassador Mansour Farhang

"The secretary-general will leave New York tomorrow, 31 December, for Tehran

A U.S. resolution submitted to the U.N. Security Council shortly before Waldheim's announcement would have the 15-member council call again for release of the hostages, applaud Waldheim's plan to go to Tehran, and agree to meet again Jan. 7 to take further measures if the hostages are not freed. These measures could include economic sanctions against Iran.

The resolution was handed in shortly before the council convened for the second day to consider a U.S. request for acdiers also were killed. The Afghan guerrillas also destroyed one government helicopter and two armored cars, the news paper said.)

This coincided with unconfirmed reports cited by diplomats here that some Soviet troops had been sent to the east and northeast to fight the rebels. The insurgents, nationalistic and militant Moslems, were said to control about half the countryside by day and more territory by night

Kabul's state-owned radio station broadcast a Revolutionary Council communique Sunday night saving "there is a complete peace and calm in the country, and the armed forces are in full control."

It also said the new government, headed by President Babrak Karmal, had asked the Soviet Union for military political and economic aid under the Afghan-Soviet friendship treaty of 1978 to deal with the "enemies" of Afghanistan and protect the socialist revolution.

Officials Fighting Red Tape, Clock To Get Boy To Hospital

EL PASO (AP) — Officials at Sun Towers Hospital worked against the clock Sunday trying to find a hospital equipped to care for a severly burned 2-year-old Mexican boy.

The child, Jose Luis Romero, of Juarez, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande from this border city, fell into a burning pit of garbage Saturday and suffered second and third-degree burns over 65 percent of his body.

Shriners brought him to Sun Towers, which has a burn treatment ward, but hospital information officer Susan Sandoval said it is not sophisticated enough to care for the boy, who was in "very critical condition" Sunday.

Hospital officials said his chances of survival would be increased if he could be transferred to a hospital with better burn treatment equipment, such as Galveston.

We tried the Shrine Hospital in Galveston, but they are full, and have a waiting list," Miss Sandoval said. "They said they could take him in a week, but we don't know if he can wait a

Two Chicago Apartment Fires Claim 11 Lives; 60 Injured

Commissioner Says First Blaze 'Definitely Arson'

CHICAGO (AP) - Fires struck two apartment buildings 11 blocks apart on Chicago's North Side on Saturday, killing 11 people and injuring more than 60, au thorities said.

Fire Commissioner Richard Albrecht said the Saturday afternoon fire that killed six people and injured 45, including three firefighters, was "definitely a case of arson.

The building had been reposessed by a bank at least three months ago, said building manager John L. Myers, and would have been empty within a month.

The dead included two children, while five firefighters and 38 other persons were injured. The firefighters were treated at hospitals for smoke inhalation and released. Most of the other injured persons were treated for smoke inhalation and burns, and some suffered broken bones, hospital officials said.

One fireman said some of the tenants fleeing the fire were in wheelchairs.

Myers said tenants had received eviction notices for either Jan. 3 or Jan. 13. One tenant said he had been told everyone had to be out of the building by the end of January because it was going to be gutted.

In an earlier fire - also in a four-story brick apartment building - five persons were killed and 20 injured.

The first blaze erupted at about midnight and was under control within two hours, authorities said

One man died when he apparently tried to escape the flames by jumping from the third floor, officials said. Other residents escaped by lowering them-selves on bedsheets they had tied togeth-for leg injuries at Ravenswood Hospital

The fire broke out about midnight and burned through the roof of the building on the city's North Side.

Some of the residents who were hurt had jumped from windows as flames and dense smoke spread quickly through the structure, officials said. Others suffered from smoke inhalation

Firefighters with a ladder rescued Bernadette Murray, 24, and her young sons. She said she could not get through the fourth-floor hallway outside her apartment because it was filled with smoke, so she went to a window and screamed for help.

A police arson investigator, Edward Nickels, said the cause of the fire had not been determined but that it appeared to have started in a fourth-floor apartment near a stove.

Building manager James Cantrell said he went to the apartment in response to a complaint from neighbors about a tenant "being a nuisance.

Cantrell said he saw the tenant, Johnny Lloyd, boiling water in greasy pots and told him, "Hey, you better turn off that stove before the water boils over.

Lloyd was identified later as one of those killed. Others were identified as Floyd Brown, 52, Mitchell Pearman and Marge Gregory, whose ages were not known. A fifth victim remained unidentified Saturday

Fire Lt. Tom Jennings, 36, was injured when he fell through a floor that for leg injuries at Ravenswood Hospital

Border Patrol Agent:

Befriends Alien

RIVERSIDE. Calif. (AP) - A friendship between a U.S. Border Patrol agent and an illegal alien from Mexico may be unlikely, but agent Earl Morgan and Miguel Hernandez have become close because of an unfortunate accident.

Last spring, Hernandez crossed the border from Mexico into Arizona, one ol the many times he had come into the country illegally over the last seven years. He hopped a freight train for San Joaquin Valley to work in the fields. Hernandez fell off the speeding train and both his legs were severed just above the knees.

"I saw him about three days after the accident," Morgan said. "He's been caught and deported at least 30 times that I know of.

During a recent visit, a smiling Hernandez, with a sparkle in his eyes, joked with about a friend of his, another alien, who also comes to visit. "When he hears you coming he runs out the back door."

Hernandez' family is still in Zamora, Mexico, and he comes close to tears when he talks about his wife, two young daughters andmother. Morgan said he has obtained a permit-to allow Hernandez to remain in the country for humanitarian reasons.

Lulow said Ohio law does provide for a waiver of the requirement.

The state could agree to the school system's going beyond the June 30 date," he said. "The problem is that nobody's ever been in this situation before. ...

"No matter what is decided, it's going to be detrimental to the kids," he said

No coordinated effort has been made to continue educating Cleveland youngsters. Several "neighborhood class centers" have been set up on an informal basis. In some neighborhoods, parents have managed to get "10 or 15 kids together to follow some courses," according to one resident.

The majority of students, however, have stayed at home without benefit of a formalized education system.

School board president John Gallagher Jr. has urged Coleman to order teachers back to work. Teachers are likely to ignore any such order, but there is speculation the judge will issue such a directive if no settlement is in sight by the end of the week.

the demands could be met only by making further, crippling budget cuts. The board made two offers last week that would have cost about $30 million each. One would have provided for a 7 percent increase retroactive to Sept. 1 and 9 percent next September. Union members rejected both proposals by a 4-1 margin.

Wage Earners To Pay More

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Wage earners making more than $22,900 a year about 13 percent of the work force - will pay up to $183 90 more in Social Security txes during 1980 than they did this year.

At the lower end of the income scale, there is better news no Social Security tax increase and, beginning Tuesday, the federal minimum wage rises from $2.90 per hour to $3 10 per hour

The minimum wage covers about 57 million U.S. workers, and it is estimated 5 million will get an immediate raise. Generally when the minimum wage rises, many other lower income workers who make more than the minimum also get increases.

For persons receiving Social Security benefits, the news is also good. The maximum amount of outside income that a person age 65 to 71 may earn without losing benefits rises from $4,579 to $5,000. Those under 65 may earn $3,720 instead of the current $3,480 There is no earnings limit for those over 71.

The increased Social gsecurity tax bite results from legislation passed in 1977 to make the sagging Social Security trust fund financially self-sustaining.

Upper income workers - the group that usually is tapped for tax increases will be levied higher Social Security taxes to pay for the increased benefits.

Also, since employers pay the same amount as workers in taxes, they will pay half the $4.2 billion 1980 tax increase.

Although the tax rate will remain the same in 1980 at 6.13 percent, the wage base - the maximum amount on which taxes are collected - will go up from this vear's $22,900 to $25,900.

That makes the maximum tax liability in the new year $1,587.67, compared with $1,403.77 in 1979

What this means is that persons mak ing more than $22,900 will be hit with a tax increase. The 9 percent of th work force making more than $25,900 will have to pay the maximum $183.90 tax in crease

Lower-income workers will be hit with a tax increase in 1981, however, unless Congress acts to moderate the huge increases planned for that year.

In 1981, current law calls for the tax rate to rise to 6.65 percent, and for the wage base to rise to $29,700. Therefore, all workers would pay more taxes, with the maximum $387.38 increase coming for those who make more than $29,700. who would pay a maximum $1,975.05.

The Jan 1 change in the minimum wage was provided for in 1977 amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act. Labor Secretary Ray Marshall said the mininum wage law continues "to protect workers at the low end of the wage scale by providing a minimum standard of living and also by preventing these workers from shouldering an unfair burden in the fight against inflation.

Also The Year Of The Victim

THIS HAS BEEN The Year Of The Child. It also has been a year of political, economic, religious and moral upheaval seldom equaled in any such given period in recent times.

*From the leaking boats of the Southeast Asian refugees to the dynamite-laden confrontation in Iran, the drama of 1979 has been played out on broad canvasses.

Yet, through it all, the individual equation remained

WHETHER IT was a group of American hostages being held prisoner in Tehran or "the boat people," in the final analysis it all came down to Who is involved.

The answer in every instance is A Person. Today, as 1979 fades, it is far past time we took another look at what is happening to the generations which will inherit this earth

In many ways, how we have looked upon those who must look to others for help, including the basics of food and shelter, says something about our attitude toward ourselves, our cultures, our regard for human dignity, life itself.

WHEN THE Year Of The Child was proclaimed, there were those, rightly or wrongly, who took the attitude that it was another But, it was not FOR the Child.

rip-off, a mini-human rights crusade cloaked in false promises, false premises.

Conservative elements in the U.S. particularly looked upon its inception as another step in an attack on the family structure, in giving developing teen-agers legal and moral axes to grind

BUT, ON A broader scale, the Year of The Child served another purpose.

Because of the almost unbelievable conditions in which the South Asian refugees have been forced to live, and die, the plight of the most innocent victim of all-the child, of whatever race or geographical location-has come into the living rooms, hearts and minds of millions

As a result, efforts to alleviate outright starvation, lack of adequate shelter, a chance at a new life, have come from many places. Massive aid programs, official and private, have been mounted in such diverse areas as Israel, Taiwan and the United States.

But, not all have opened their hearts and golden gates" to downtrodden, today's weary and hungry masses. Opposition has surfaced to the influx of persons from a different culture. persons who will compete for jobs and perhaps later political influence. It may have been the Year OF The Child.

WHAT SORT of City would you like Lubbock to be in the year, the decade ahead?

What have we done in the past 10 years, as a community, to improve: 1. The economy, 2. The health and welfare, 3. The educational and job opportunities, 4. The quality of life in general for all citizens?

What can we do in the immediate months and the years ahead? Those are no small questions. And, as those on the broader world scene of a similar nature, they demand answers. But, of more import, they also demand the personal participation of each of us as citizens of Lubbock and the South Plains.

LUBBOCK AT the moment is on sort of a high plane.

The city, without any single shot of adrenalin-a government project, a sudden input of peoplehas just chalked up a solid 10 years of steady growth

Consistently, for the better part of that 10 years, Lubbock has maintained one of the more impressive and enviable economic records of any city its size in the nation.

During the past year, and in most previous years. Lubbock's unemployment rate has averaged 3.5 to 4.3 percent, about half the national medium. And of equal importance, Lubbock's civilian work force has stayed above the 100,000 mark the past year, the largest such labor force in West Texas. The current status is: Steady and holding.

ONE OF THE major reasons for the picture just painted is the area's highly diversified economic base

Although agriculture and agri-business still are the keys to it all.Lubbock today can point to its status in a wide-ranging field of endeavor that makes it all happen: Health care, education and electronics, wholesale and retail sales, state and federal offices, real estate and construction, importance as an aerial transport hub, Reese AFB, to name only a few major ingredients.

As a result, citizens in this area have been somewhat insulated from shocks induced by national and world events, a fact which may change as the energy problem grows.

And what of the future? How will that diversified economy fare? What do we need to do on a local and area level to insure a continuation of what to most has to be "a good thing?" A look at the past 10 years offers some answers.

DURING MUCH of the Sixties. Lubbock sort of drifted

We had just come off the Fabulous Fifties. when on the heels of World War II, Lubbock was one of the fastest growing small cities in the nation

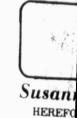

Building boomed and so did the economy. Irrigation and improved farming boosted the area's food and fiber output. As the years rolled by, the area was to become a major element in world trade

Then, something happened on the way to Utopia

A sort of lethargy seemed to set in among the city's leadership as well as its citizens, who understandably were ready to "catch their breath," as it were. But, on a more subtle note, an element of competitive contrariness seemed to creep into the picture. The all for one and one for all attitude of the past was missing.

IT WAS ON just such a note that we entered the 1970s

To put it bluntly, we were drifting, from a civic both a drink, or several. Good for Jock. Ever since I reached the wise age of 40 I have regarded New Year's Eve as a blasted nuisance.

Taking a couple of snorts before a good dinner is okay, but I see only the decline of civilization in the practice of deliberately, calculatingly reducing oneself to sottishness on any night of the year.

THERE IS also all that lunatic-kissing of every member of the opposite sex you can corner. Let us, to coin a phrase, face it. There are people one doesn't enjoy kissing, just as there are people who don't enjoy kissing one

Unfortunately, everybody leaves Christmas decorations up through New Year's Eve-including mistletoe

The stuff is everywhere, and the male or female who doesn't award a kiss to everybody caught under a sprig is put down as a cad and dropped from future guest lists.

For that practice we have to indict a Grade-B Scandinavian god named Balder. From his palace in the Milky Way. Balder turned all mistletoe over to the goddess of love and told her to launch the kissing racket.

EVEN ENEMIES had to drop their weapons and embrace when they met under mistletoe; otherwise their heads would drop off or some other annoving accident would befall them.

Mistletoe used to be hung only in the kitchen, but nowadays it's put in a room where there's a better chance of trapping a girl.

Getting drunk on New Year's Eve apparently was started by the ancient Scots, drat my Stuart ancestors.

Although the Scots are known in song and legend as dour and frugal, their ancient New Year's Eve merrymaking was a veritable Bacchanal.

They didn't wait for an invitation to a party but dropped in on as many households as their legs permitted. Once inside, they had a kind of divine right to drink as much booze as they could hold.

THUS, THE annoying "open house" custom of today, some of which last from noon until after midnight

Alas, not to say alack. Even without New Year's Eve hangovers, January is a bummer of a month. Things were going along okay when January was invented by Numa Pompilius, successor to Romulus as king of Rome, to get his name in the papers. It is not surprising that the Encyclopedia Britannica says Numa's claim to relationship with Pythagoras was chronologically impossible, and doscribes as "clear foregery" 14 books in Latin and Greek which Numa claimed to have written. With that guy as a forefather, it's no wonder Americans go bonkers on January's eve.

Soviet troops, now possibly close to 10,000, intended for use against eastern Iran if and when it breaks up into its component nationalities?

John Sears. Reagan's campaign manager, has pursued with success all during 1979 this Sears doctrine for front-runners: Don't debate and don't attend "cattle shows" (at which all candidates do their stuff at the same time).

So Sears has ruled out the Des Moines debate, which would pit Reagan against every other major Republican presidential contender.

Iowa Republicans not in Reagan's camp say they are glad he is staying out. First, they think that his relaxed, cool style might bring him in first in the debate; second, they say the "restiveness" now apparent among his followers is bound to hurt him in the caucuses.

RETIRED GEN ALEXANDER Haig, the 55year-old former commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization, will not be a candidate for President after all.

The Philadelphia native, despite appeals from hawkish Republicans all over the country, has all but decided that instead of trying to get a fouryear lease on the White House he will accept a major corporate job.

THE SENATE Foreign Relations Committee. at the express command of Chairman Frank Church, will do a "complete investigation" of U.S. policy toward Iran as soon as the crisis centered on the American hostages is resolved.

Intimates of Church, the embattled Idaho Democrat now running for his fifth Senate term, say the senator is really more interested in future than past U.S. policy toward the oil-rich former kingdom now in the throes of post-revolution chaos.

Rather than Monday-morning quarterbacking, Church tells intimates he wants his committee to help chart a future U.S.-Iranian relationship that will restore to the U.S. the full amount of oil it used to get from Iran and will safeguard Iran from Soviet intrigue.

That is a very large order. What makes Church's objective interesting is that it shows he learned a lesson from the recent U.S. Soviet crisis over the combat brigade in Cuba night of May 11, 1970, and the Lubbock Tornado. And while it may seem strange to say, the fact is from that moment-9:16 p.m. on a Monday in May-forward, a new Lubbock and a new spirit were born.

Out of the rubble was born a spirit of cooperation and understanding, a Phoenix of Hope that would propel the city on a new course, for all of its citizens

Ten years later, hundreds of new homes, additions, businesses-many with national and international reputations and trade connections-a new Med School Complex, not to mention other programs at Texas Tech, a four-year program at Lubbock Christian College, new opportunities at South Plains College and Wayland, all have served to make Lubbock and the area one of the "best places to live and raise a family" of any place in the nation

SO, WHAT, as we posed at the beginning, comes next?

Well, for one thing, Lubbock like the nation, is at a turning point. It can keep moving ahead with an aggressive and at times daring approach, or it can sit on its laurels and again become lethargic. It will pay dearly, if it does.

We would be less than candid to note that we, as well as others who have watched and been a part of this city's hopes and dreams, are disturbed by certain undercurrents, a certain divisiveness and backbiting attitude on the part of minority groups who have done quite well for themselves in this community the past 10 years, a move on the past of others to inject doubt and controversy into too many basic elements of the city's life.

There are those, including some on the public payroll, who seem to forget that they are also part and parcel of this city and what happens to it and its institutions, and that what they do, in the courts and public forums, affect their neighbors as well as themselves.

On a more concrete line, Lubbock and its citizens must find a key to a spirit of give and take. Despite the rosy after-glow of past progress, there is much to be done: 1. Maintain the Health Center Sciences Hospital.2. Make the city's diversified economy work by continued good labor relations and productivity; 3. Keep the high level of education, from kindergarten to doctorate degrees, moving smoothly: 5. Solve the city's traffic dispersal headache, to name a few "musts."

Lubbock belongs to all of us. We work to make it work in that vein or it comes apart at the seams and works for no one. That, in brief, is the challenge of the Eighties.

burglars under the direction of detective James McCord made no less than five incredibly clumsy efforts to gain access to the DNC

On several occasions they made their presence in the Watergate building known to security guards, going so far as to enter aliases on the Watergate sign-in sheet.

When the final break-in occurred, McCord and his burglars committed every kind of blunder imaginable-blunders of a type that would almost The lock on an outside door, for instance, was

WHEN THIS tape was discovered and removed by a security guard-clearly indicating the burglars' activities had been spotted-two of the burglars dutifully replaced it

Hougan's most interesting discussion in this regard concerns the time-sequence for the break-in. As Hougan tells it, McCord transmitted radically inaccurate information to his confederates. making it virtually certain they would be caught. One of his jobs was to watch the DNC and Watergate building, and to let the others know when the Democratic headquarters was empty and the coast was clear

Yet for approximately an hour when the DNC was dark and vacant, and the Watergate security guard was absent. McCord did not convey the proper signal

Only after the security guard returned to his post and entered into active conversations with his superiors about the tape on the door, on Hougan's chronology, did McCord give his colleagues the high-sign to proceed.

BY THE TIME they got into the building and were at work on getting through the door to the DNC, police were swarming about the premises. As nearly as anyone can figure out, some of the burglars and some of the police must have entered the building within minutes of each other.

There is more to Hougan's story suggesting the Watergate caper was engineered to fail, and there are other sources which corroborate the notion. For instance, Fred D. Thompson, minority counsel to the Senate Watergate Committee, in his book, "At That Point In Time," discusses evidence that the DNC itself was well apprised, long before the break-in occurred, that such a project

was in progress, and the avenues by which this information was conveyed. None of which proves the break-in was a set-up; but it certainly suggests the possibility of such a thing

Man Remains In Lubbock Jail In Connection With Shooting

An 18-year-old Lubbock man remained in county jail late Sunday in connection with the Sunday morning shooting of Nathaniel Roy, 37, of 1715 E Auburn St.

Roy, who suffered a .22-caliber bullet wound to the left side of the nose, was in. critical condition Sunday at Health Sciences Center Hospital

Police were called about 12:25 a.m. to a shooting at 6203 Quetsel where they found the victim lying face up between an east wall and a pool table.

The suspect turned himself in to police at 3:09 a.m. Sunday.

Police late Sunday had not determined what sparked the shooting inci-Three Lubbock men, one 19 and the other two 20, were in county jail Sunday. They were arrested in connection with aggravated rape and kidnapping of a 19 year-old Lubbock woman. The incident reportedly occurred sometime between 4:15 a.m. and 6:12 a.m. Sunday. Police were called to a city residence where the woman told them that three men had raped her and gave police a description of the car they left in A short time later, police stopped a car with three men in it and fitting the woman's description in the 700-block of Parkway Drive. The victim later identified the vehicle, and the suspects were taken to county jail.

The woman told police that she and a girlfriend were at a club in the 1700-block of Parkway Drive when they accepted a ride home with three men. She said the men took her friend home but refused to leave her at her house.

Reports show the woman was forced into a house in East Lubbock where the three suspects threatened to kill or beat her and then raped her. After the inci-ened her with a knife about 11 p.m. Saturday at the Methodist Hospital parking

The woman said that she was getting out of her car when the suspect jumped at her and told her to move over. Wher the suspect pulled out a knife, the wom an pushed him back with her feet and fled out the passenger door. As she attempted to escape, the suspect reportedly pulled the woman's hair and scratched her face.

The suspect was described as Mexican-American, 26 to 35, very short, of medium build and wearing an Army jacket.

A Texas Tech student lost about $4 cash and several credit cards when a man pulled a small pistol on him while he was in his car about 9:20 p.m. Saturday in the 2300-block of Seventh Street.

Newton's attorney. Luke Ellis, said a hearing will be sought "as a matter of principle." Since Newton is usually chauffered, a license suspension wouldn't hinder him much. Ellis said. According to Ellis. Newton's insistence on a lawyer or "third party" witness did not constitute refusal to take chemical tests. Newton- was also cited for speeding unless his attorney or an "objective third and running a red light, and he has ing dictator Idi Amin's overthrow, used machine guns and even hand grenades to wipe out about one-third of all large mammals in Uganda's huge Ruwenzori National Park.

Van Orsdol, who went to Africa in 1976 to study lions at the Uganda Institute of Ecology, said he saw one section of the park turned into "a graveyard of dead and dying animals" -- with soldiers earning as much as $1,000 a day for killing 10 hippos.

Ugandan merchants sold the meat off the carcasses for as much as $2,000 per animal, according to Van Orsdol's story, titled, "I Witnessed a Massacre," in the bimonthly magazine published by the National Wildlife Federation.

The scientist said he first saw wildlife killed by soldiers in March 1979, when Idi Amin's troops, camping in Ruwenzori, started shooting animals for food. They said they hadn't been paid for months.

He said he saw more animals being killed in June and July by Tanzanian soldiers. In July, the scientist said he made a final trip along the shore of the park's Lake Edward.

"We passed carcass after carcass of hippo, sun-bleached, with legs pointed skyward," he wrote. "After a three-hour trip, our notebook carried grim statistics: 82 hippos seen alive ... 75 dead."

In August, the day before he left Uganda, Van Orsdol said he and a Ugandan colleague reviewed their figures on the number of animals killed in the past three months. They calculated 6,000 hippoppotamuses out of a total park population of 14,-000: 5.000 Uganda kob. an orange-red antelope: 2,000 buffalo: 400 topi, another species of antelope: 100 elephants; and 70 lions - some killed with hand grenades. The figures amounted to nearly 14,000 animals out of a total park population of 46,000 large mammals.

The new Ugandan government imposed a five-year ban on hunting a few days after Van Orsdol's departure, and he said a team of biologists is initiating an ambitious recovery program in that nation's parks.

"Moral and financial support is crucial," he said. "With aid from the rest of the world, there's a good chance these Ugandans can succeed.

Israel Postpones Evacuation

Third Delay Caused By Unfinished Work

JERUSALEM (AP) - The Israeli Cabinet on Sunday again postponed the evacuation of the controversial Jewish settlement of Elon Moreh in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, claiming heavy rains had slowed work on a new site for the settlers

It was the third extension since Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government agreed to evacuate the current site near Nablus, the West Bank's largest Palestinian city.

A Cabinet statement Sunday said the settlers can remain up to five weeks more until road work and pipelines are completed at the new settlement.

The Israeli Supreme Court ruled Oct. 22 that the land for Elon Moreh was illegally expropriated from its Arab owners. The seizure of the land was not necessary for security reasons, as had been claimed, the court held.

The government had set Jan. 3 as the final date for moving the 100 settlers. But Cabinet Secretary Aryeh Naor said Sunday that even helicopter airlifts of heavy equipment could not overcome the bad weather that has been delaying work on the new site at Mount Kabir, an isolated hill six miles from the present outpost

It remains unclear whether the Elon Moreh settlers will leave their hilltop peacefully or will provoke a Cabinet crisis by forcibly resisting efforts to remove them.

The settlers, from the ultra-nationalist Gush Emunim (Bloc of the Faithful) movement, are demanding legislation that would remove the issue of West Bank expropriations from the jurisdiction of the courts. Legal experts say such a law would be a step toward annexation of the West Bank

The government says it cannot change the legal status of the territory, captured from Jordan in the 1967 Mideast War, without undermining the peace treaty with Egypt and its own promise to grant the Palestinians autonomy.

Israel has 10,400 citizens in 45 settlements in the West Bank, and has announced plans to triple the Jewish population there. In theory, the Arab landowners could appeal to the Supreme Court to have the Elon Moreh settlers evicted before the new government deadline.

Kuwaiti State Minister Announces 19 Percent Crude Oil Price Hike Kuwait was charging $12.27 a barrel

KUWAIT (AP) - Kuwait, one of the few OPEC holdouts during a flurry of price hikes before the oil cartel's meeting 10 days ago, announced Sunday it was raising crude oil prices by 19 percent to $25.50 a barrel.

The $4.07 boost from the previous level of $21.43 puts Kuwaiti prices slightly above those of Saudi Arabia, now charging $24 a barrel.

The increase, announced by State Minister Abdul Aziz Hussein, follows increases announced Friday by four other nations in the 13-member Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. It was the second round of recent increases by three of those countries. which had also raised their prices just before or during the OPEC meeting in Caracas, Venezuela, that ended Dec. 20.

Last Friday's increases - by Venezuela. Libya, Indonesia and Iraq amounted to rises of up to 20 percent and could raise U.S. fuel prices by 2 or 3 cents over and above the increase of 5 to 10 cents a gallon expected to result from the price hikes in Caracas, analysts said. Iraq was the only nation among the four that had not announced a price hike in Caracas

Hussein said the Kuwaiti boost was retroactive to Nov. 1. It brought to 100 percent the total increase in Kuwaiti oil prices during 1979, he told reporters following a Cabinet meeting.

Kennedy Supporters Praise Joan

MIAMI (AP) - Sen. Edward Kennedy's wife, Joan, met with supporters of her husband's presidential campaign and the partisans came away praising her for conquering several personal problems.

She's an admirable person. She's been thrust into the spotlight and she's doing a great job," said Kennedy backer Flavia Kruger after the meeting Saturday.

"She's got so much courage," said Enid Cook, another supporter of the Massachusetts Democrat in his challenge of President Carter for the 1980 party

He said the government originally planned to increase the per-barrel price to $26 but decided to lower it by 50 cents because of the heavy nature of Kuwaiti crude. Light crude is considered of higher quality.

cent of total U.S. consumption.

Other nations in the 13-member cartel that did not raise prices in Caracas were Ecuador, Gabon and Algeria, an OPEC hard-liner with a current price of $26.27.

Analysts have said that if the Libvan hike spreads to Algeria and Nigeria and then affects Saudi Arabia and other moderates. U.S. fuel prices could climb another five cents a gallon.

CLARKSVILLE, Pa. (AP) - The assassins guzzled beer on a backwoods mountain road just after midnight on that last day of 1969.

In the fieldstone farmhouse below, United Mine Workers rebel Joseph "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter were drifting off to sleep, the embers in the den fireplace casting a faint glow on the Christmas tree.

"OK. We go into the house and get him," said Aubran "Buddy" Martin. "If anybody gets in the way, we kill them, he said, according to trial testimo-

"No witnesses," agreed Claude Vealey, who with Paul Gilly completed the hit squad.

After cutting telephone wires and breaking in, the killers crept to the bedrooms. Charlotte Yablonski, 25, was the first to die. Martin pumped two slugs from his chrome-plated .38-caliber revolver into her head, just inches from her hair curlers.

Gilly and Vealey almost bungled the job when their carbine jammed after one shot, giving Yablonski a chance to reach for a loaded shotgun he kept nearby. Over the screams of Margaret Ya-blonski, Martin emptied his pistol. Vealey reloaded and fired several more times. The trio's deed hit front pages everywhere on Jan. 5, 1970, when the bulletriddled bodies were found, bloated and disfigured in the overheated house.

A relentless investigation by special prosecutor Richard Sprague traced the killings to the very top of the mine workers union. Union president W.A. "Tony" Boyle was eventually convicted on three counts of first-degree murder. The upheaval caused by the murders still reverberates through the union, but in Yablonski's hometown, nobody talks much about the deaths these days. 'Time heals," said Robert Luzier, who bought the 200-year-old Yablonski house 1978 than in 1960.

Although Yablonski is generally regarded today as a labor martyr, more than a few people in this hilly coal coun-try still consider him a traitor for challenging Boyle in a sometimes violent election campaign in 1969

Once a union loyalist, Yablonski the 59-year-old son of a Polish immigrant had accused the union of corruption.

"He was a vicious man," said one retired miner who did not want his name used. "If they hadn't killed the woman and her daughter, everyone would have forgotten about Jock the next day.'

The killings focused attention on the union and prompted a court-ordered rerun of the election. Boyle was defeated by reform candidates Arnold Miller and Mike Trbovich.

"If Jock had lived, the UMW would have been in much better shape than it is today," Trbovich said in a recent interview. "He had a lot of throttle to him. He would have been a good president.

Miller took over a membership bent on democracy after chafing for years under the dictatorial rule by John L. Lewis, then Boyle.

'It was too big for him (Miller). He got paranoid after a while," said Trbovich, whom Miller ousted in 1977. Last month, the ailing Miller turned over the presidency to Sam Church.

Yablonski's attorney, Joseph Rauh, remains bitter about the backing Boyle got from other big unions and the refusal of the Labor Department to intervene in the election before Yablonski's death.

"It showed that the labor movement and its ally, the Labor Department, support incumbents no matter how bad or even murderous they are," he said.

Yablonski's son, Joseph "Chip" Ya blonski Jr. - who was the union's chief counsel for three years after Miller's election - heaps praise on prosecutor Sprague but is reluctant to discuss the killings.

Nothing could have brought back my parents and my sister, so I guess justice is not really served," he said.

Washington County Judge Charles Sweet, who handled five of the nine cases. says he feels the gunmen "cheated the gallows.

Juries recommended death for Gilly and Martin, But the U.S. Supreme Court struck down Pennsylvania's death penalty law, and life sentences were imposed instead.

Justice fights with one hand behind its back." Sweet said. Nine people either confessed or were

To Your Good Health

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D. Dear Dr. Donohue: I have had a hurting in my right breast since last year. I went to the doctor several months ago for my annual check up and he said I had slight thickening in that breast but no lump. This hurting persists.

I notice the aching more at night when I have removed my bra. I am 39 and have never been sick enough to be hospitalized except during childbirth. I mention this to let you know that I'm not a chronic complainer or sickie. Can you comment? - B.A.

There are areas in the breast where the tissue is denser than the rest of the gland. This is especially true around the nipples and on the undersides. Further, many harmless conditions are referred to as thickenings - fibroadenomas and sclerosing adenosis. Thickening is a more understandable and less disturbing term for a doctor to use

Perhaps your pain is caused by your bra. It may not be fitted properly. That can be true even though your pain is on one side only. Female breasts are seldom of the same size and a bra that fits comfortably on one breast might irritate the other. Some women may have unusually thick breast "tails" - the portion that extends to the underarm area. Bras can irritate this area.

The breast pain associated with menstrual onset is uncomfortable, but usually subsides shortly after menstruation. These are essentially harmless causes of breast pain, and, as I've noted here before, breast pain is seldom of itself indicative of cancer.

You should let your physician re-evaluate your symptoms. Persistent pain should not be ignored.

All women should be familiar with breast examination because at least 90 percent of breast cancers are first detected by patients themselves. The American Cancer Society (listed in the phone book) can provide you with a pamphlet on how best to examine breasts

Dear Dr. Donohue My little grandson, who is 11, has Graves' disease. He was in the hospital for two weeks and had lots of blood tests taken. Now my doctor has moved to another city. Can you tell me of a clinic that would specialize in Graves' disease and thyroid problems? - Mrs EL

I'm sorry, but I'm not that familiar

Do one of two things (and other readers should take note): Call your county medical society and ask for a pediatrician or an endocrinologist. who is a doctor specializing in gland disorders: or contact one of the many fine medical sohools in your state and arrange to have your grandson examined. Graves' disease (or overactive thyroid disease) should be closely followed in anyone, but especially in a youngster.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Our three-yearold daughter is plagued with attacks of coughing every night and early morning. She often chokes and occasionally vomits. It is a loose cough. She has had this for two months. She has had blood tests, ohest x-rays and TB test. All were negative. However, we are still concerned Being so young, we hate to put her through more lab tests. Are we overly concerned, and do you have any suggestions? - Mrs. G.L.F.

Persistent cough, loose or otherwise, in a three-year-old is a concern.

I think you ought to go through with all lab tests until a cause is found. A nighttime cough often indicates allergy. Perhaps as simple a measure as having the youngster sleep in a different room and in a different bed for a few nights might tell you something. That might eliminate whatever she is coming in contact with in her own room.

Since there are so many causes for chronic cough - bronchitis, cystic fibrosis, sinusitis - it is important to rule them out both for early treatment and for your peace of mind. So, yes, complete her tests

Christmas Joy Reflected By English Feast Program

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL-Monday Morning, December 31, 1979-A-13

By JEANNE LIVELY Family News Staff

The Texas Tech Music Department and the University Center's Madrigal dinner presentation held recently at the U.C. ballroom succeeded in re-creating an old English Christmas feast, complete with the merriment of Christmas.

To trumpet fanfare, the Madrigal Singers entered the "castle" dressed in appropriate medieval costumes. To further the Medieval ilusion, the Madrigal singers portrayed characters of the era. Bass Mike Medley portrayed Henry the VIII, taking it upon himself to welcome the guests into his abode along with soprano Suzy Graham (Queen Anne).

And to make things seem more authentic, a Lord of Misrule (Tom Francis) read a lengthy list of table rules to make even the rowdiest knight behave.

Rules included not dipping one's fingers into one's drink, cleaning one's fingernails before dining, and no cajoling of another's lady.

After the reading the rules, Henry VIII summoned a servant to light the candles at his table. A trumpet fanfare again heralded a major event -the lighting of the King's candles. Then, the audience members were allowed to light the candles on their own tables.

As the ballroom glowed with the light of the candles, the King summoned the wassail bowl (apple cider). And if that wasn't enough, a servant followed carrying a real boar's head, complete with an

Mrs. Morse's recipe is as follows:

PLUM PUDDING

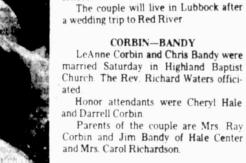

- (For 12 Persons)
- 1/2 cup shortening 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cup corn syrup
- 3 cups bread crumbs
- 6 tbsps. flour
- 3/4 tsp. baking soda 3/4 tsp. powdered cloves
- I- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 3/4 cup buttermilk
- 3/4 cup chopped nuts
- 3/4 cup raisins

Cream shortening and sugar, beat until light. Add eggs one at a time and beat; blend corn syrup. Add bread crumbs and mix well. Sift flour with soda and spices; add alternately with buttermilk. Fold in nuts and raisins.

Pour into ungreased pan. Cover tight-(Mrs. Morse and her staff just use brown paper and string) and steam for approximately 3/4 hour.

In a statement broadcast on Radio Kabul, Karmal said his country's close ties with the Soviets stemmed from "the free will and patriotism" of the Afghan people

He took over from Hafizullah Amin, who was ousted as president during the 3.1.2-hour coup Thursday night, and reportedly was arrested, tried by a revolutionary court and executed along with some family members early Friday

The Soviets moved in as Amin's pro-Moscow Marxist government was reeling under attack from an Islamic fundamentalist rebel movement that has waged an anti-communist crusade against the Kabul regime for 19 months. Karmal is beheved to be an even stronger ally of the Soviets than Amin was.

Several Western diplomatic sources here estimated the Russian military strength in Afghanistan at 25,000 as of Saturday They said these were being joined Sunday by two additional divisions of about 20,000 men sent by road from the Soviet border in the north, some 190 miles from here.

Several diplomatic sources said some Afghan units had been disarmed in the wake of the coup Few of the Afghan soldiers seen in the capital carried weapons. An unconfirmed report said Afghan soldiers at Reshkor and Qargah, bases near Kabul, refused to obey orders from Soviet army officers

Another report, also unconfirmed, said Interior Minister Fagir Mohammed Faqir was killed during the coup. The Interior Ministry and the People's House were scenes of clashes between Soviet troops and defending Afghan soldiers. diplomatic sources said.

They said some of the Soviets now in Kabul were part of mixed Central Asian units while others were predominantly European Russian.

Union Walkouts* Clas May Mark 1980

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's anti-inflation guidelines, labor's new leaders and the steel industry's nostrike pact will be put to critical tests in 1980 as a heavy round of contract talks begins.

National contracts affecting 60,000 oil refinery workers, 316,000 steel and aluminum workers, 550,000 telephone company employees, 41,000 longshoremen and 66,500 aerospace workers - to name the largest - will be up for renegotiation during the year. Many of the talks could prompt disruptive walkouts during the year, labor relations experts say.

The first major strike of 1980 could occur as early as next week, when the first year of an oil industry contract expires with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union (OCAW).

In all, contracts affecting more than 3.8 million of the 9.4 million workers covered by collective bargaining agreements expire in 1980, according to Labor Department estimates.

With inflation running at a 13 percent rate and a long-predicted recession due in 1980, healthy wage boosts and increased job security are expected to top the list of labor's demands.

Carter's inflation-fighters hope to dissuade unions from catching up fully with the rate of inflation, which they contend will only lead to accelerated price increases and perpetuate the inflationary cvcle.

Carter is counting on labor's new chief spokesman. AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland, to help restrain wage increases through Kirkland's participation on a panel that is drafting new voluntary pay guidelines.

Carter's 1979 guideline limiting pay hikes to 7 percent a year is generally viewed as too low in the face of current inflation

Kirkland, 57. who succeeded longtime AFL-CIO President George Meany in November, has promised to help the administration fight inflation in exchange for a greater say on economic policy. To fulfill that pledge, he faces the difficult task of persuading unions to moderate their wage demands without inviting an insurrection within the AFL-CIO

Another new labor chief whose leadership abilities will be tested quickly is Robert F. Goss, president of the oil workers. Goss faces a Jan. 8 strike deadline for reaching a pattern settlement with the oil industry on 400 separate contracts that cover 60,000 of his members.

Last year, the union accepted a contract within Carter's guidelines that raised wages about 13 percent over two years. In exchange, the union won the right to renegotiate a second-year pay increase in the event inflation worsened from its rate at that time of 9 percent.

Goss was elected president of the union in a close election in 1979, and the current contract talks will provide the first major challenge to his authority, government labor observers say.

One top government labor official, who did not want to be named, said Goss place three-year contracts that expire in. August

Under the agreement adopted in 1977, the union and industry will submit unresolved issues to arbitration. This year's bargaining, however, is expected to be tougher than anticipated because of steel mill closings and worker layoffs caused by increased sales of imported steel.

The steelworkers and industry have worked together in seeking government trade protections from foreign steel producers, but they could drift apart over initial union demands for improved wages, pensions, cost-of-living adjustments and job security.

Meet Mr. Average American

Some 94 million Americans were working in 1978 - half of them at white-collar jobs - With only 6 percent of the labor force unemployed

But the chance of being out of work nearly doubled - to 11.9 percent - if you were black, and it kept on soaring — to a whopping 16.3 percent — if you were a teenager

The average weekly paycheck in private industry rose from $189 in 1977 to $204 in 1978, but expenses were also up.

The consumer price index -The government's guide to inflation -jumped from 181.5 to 195.4. And Uncle Sam socked Americans with $402 billion in taxes in 1978 compared to $357.8 billion the year before

Crime, as usual, was a big growth industry. Serious crimes against persons rose from 1.01 million in 1977 to 1.062 million in 1978. Serious property crimes were up 9.93 million to 10.08 million.

And death, like taxes, was still with us - and rising. The death rate increased from 878 to 882 per 100,000 Americans. The big killer? Heart disease accounted for more than a third of deaths.

Whether SPAG should charge non-member governments for this service and for the SPAG process of reviewing member governments' applications for federal funding was being considered during the mid-1970s and is still being tossed about during board meetings at the end of this decade.

Just what non-member governments' reaction will be to SPAG's decision on the charges remains to be seen.

Action By Federal, State Officials Mulled

And to what extent the federal and state governments will impose their authority on the local panel in future may be a dark spot in SPAG's crystal ball.

For example, in August 1971, the council of governments was told by the Texas Criminal Justice Council that in order for it to receive state crime prevention monies, it would have to budget by line item all money SPAG planned to use to match funds with the state.

These budgeted items, SPAG was told, would have to be given priority ranking, meaning that projects at the bottom of the list might not be funded should state grants run short

The state also mandated that local matching funds would have to be in cash. although in the past much of the local money was of the "in-kind" variety such as provision of space and facilities.

This instance and others leave the council's board members with their groundwork and battle plans laid out for them. At stake is their right to individual existence as a local governing group and their ability to weather the effects of bending to whatever higher mandates they must accept been freed by a "specified early date" on which the council would meet again. Article 41 empowers the council to impose economic sanctions against a nation.

That position seemed a retreat from President Carter's flat announcement of Dec. 21 that he had decided "to ask for an early meeting of the United Nations Security Council to impose international economic sanctions upon Iran."

The United States apparently found in soundings taken before Saturday's meeting that it could not get the necessary nine votes for a resolution calling for immediate sanctions. One council member. speaking privately, estimated such a proposal would receive only six votes.

Council members are the United States, Britain, France, China, the Soviet Union, Kuwait, Czechoslovakia, Zambia, Bolivia, Jamaica, Portugal, Norway, Gabon, Bangladesh and Nigeria. The first five are permanent members with veto powers

Article 41 of the U.N. charter authorizes the council to deal with a threat to international peace by calling on U.N. members to punish the country responsible through the "interruption of economic relations and of rail, sea, air, postal, telegraphic, radio and other means of communications, and the severance of diplomatic relations.

The council, at a Dec. 4 meeting summoned by Waldheim, unanimously adopted a resolution calling on Iran to "release immediately the personnel of the embassy of the United States being held in Tehran.

That action followed two informal appeals for release of the hostages, made on Nov. 9 and Nov. 27 by Bolivian Ambassador Sergio Palacios de Vizzio, then council president.

The American resolution would have the council

•Reaffirm "in all its aspects" the Dec. 4 resolution.

•Condemn "the continued detention of the hostages" contrary to that resolution and a Dec. 15 world court decision.

•Urgently call again on Iran 'to release immediately all persons of United States nationality being held as hostages in Iran.

•Reiterate its request to Waldheim to lend his good offices and to intensify his efforts with a view to assisting the council to achieve the objectives called for in this resolution and, in this connection, take ... note of his readiness to go personally to Iran."

•Request the secretary-general "to report to the council on his good offices efforts before the council meets again."

•Decide to meet Jan. 7 "in order to review the situation and in the event of non-compliance with this resolution, to adopt effective measures" under the U.N. charter

WASHINGTON (UPI) - In a blunt warning to the Soviet Union, the United States said Sunday it could respond with armed force if the Kremlin's Afghan offensive spills over into neighboring Pakistan

National security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski said President Carter authorized him to reaffirm America's 25-yearold defense commitment to Pakistan.

Pakistan, which has provided a haven across the border for Islamic guerrillas fighting the Soviet-backed regime in Afghanistan, was believed to fear retaliatory strikes by Soviet forces Brzezinski said Carter reaffirmed the U.S. commitment during recent telephone conversations with Gen. Muhammad Zia-ul-Haq, the leader of Moslem Pakistan.

"It is an important commitment and the United States will stand by it." he said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program "I have been authorized to reaffirm that

Some diplomatic observers said U.S. military support for Pakistan eventually could lead to a Vietnam-style conflict with the roles of the superpowers reversed

The observers said such a scenario would see Soviet troops bogged down in a ground war against guerrillas operating out of bases across the frontier in U.S. armed Pakistan

Brzezinski declined to say whether the United States would be willing to directly arm Islamic guerrillas fighting against the Soviet-backed regime in Ka-

"I can't be very specific at this stage as to what would be done tangibly, but we are concerned." he said.

Brzezinski instead read the terms of America's Pakistani defense commitment, which can be traced back to the 1955 Middle East Treaty Organization and its successor Central Treaty Organization

"In case of aggression againt Pakistan, the government of the United States in accordance with its constitutional procedures will take such appropriate action, including the use of armed force, as may be mutually agreed and is envisaged in the joint resolution to protect peace and stability in the Middle East in order to assist the government of Pakistan at its request.

He said the administration has the constitutional power to take up arms in defense of Pakistan but "would of course consult very carefully with congressional leadership" before taking action.

We want it to be understood that the United States stands by its commitments and its friends should be sure of that and any potential adversaries should have no illusions about it," he said.

But Soames also has the authority to use Rhodesian forces, now that they are technically under the authority of the British crown, for missions such as preventing infiltration.

After the cease-fire began, Rhodesian forces were confined to the general areas of their bases and guerrillas were to gather in other assembly areas under the eyes of a Commonwealth peacekeeping force.

The Rhodesian news agency, quoting sources in eastern Rhodesia, said the ambush victim, a 63-year-old white farmer. was gunned down Sunday afternoon a half-mile north of the village of Penhalonga on Rhodesia's eastern border with Mozambique

Shortly after the ambush, the agency said, a bus carrying black passengers was stopped in the area, reportedly by the same group of guerrillas. They robbed the passengers and then fired a rocket into the bus, setting it afire, the report said. No casualties were reported in that incident.

Security forces mounted a follow-up operation, the report said. But it was unclear whether it was connected with the anti-guerrilla operation revealed by Fenn. Both British and Rhodesian military

Afghan Crisis Hurts U.S.-Soviet Relations

MOSCOW (AP) - U.S. Soviet relations, already sliding downward for several months, have been dealt a new blow by the crisis in Afghanistan, Soviet and Western officials say.

Some Soviet officials are even beginning to speak privately of a "second cold war" between the superpowers, just 61/2 months after Presidents Carter and Leonid I. Brezhnev signed the SALT II strategic arms agreement in a major triumph of detente.

The Soviets complain of sharp new increases in Western armaments, American foot-dragging over the ratification of SALT II, American "ingratitude" for Soviet gesture on the human rights front, and an alleged American propaganda campaign to spur the strengthening of Western forces.

Washington has its own complaints about expanding Soviet arsenals, Soviet involvement in Afghanistan, lukewarm Soviet support for the release of American hostages in Iran and Soviet propaganda aimed at Western Europe.

Already, Soviet and Western observers say, tension has risen to a point at which new incidents between the countries tend to bring increasingly emotional reactions.

Analysts here noted an unusually bitter Soviet reaction, extending over several days, to a bomb blast Dec. 11 outside the Soviet mission to the United Nations in New York.

Similarly, Carter angrily denounced Soviet armed intervention in Afghanistan as "a grave threat to peace" - although Soviet and Western diplomats here see no indication it will lead to any major conflagration.

"I'm really worried that the way things are going, something one of these days between the U.S. and the Soviet Union is going to blow up into a direct confrontation," a Soviet official said last week. "The current atmosphere could well lead to that."

Soviet faith in U.S. foreign policy has declined ever since the SALT II signing in Vienna, Austria, because of Carter's difficulties in getting the pact ratified.

Although a Soviet diplomat in a conversation last week gave Carter substantial personal credit for supporting the treaty's ratification, many Soviets see him as unable to control right-wing lobbies that are blocking Senate action.

While the SALT treaty hangs in the balance, Moscow has been seriously angered by the NATO decision - taken despite a Soviet propaganda blitz aimed at Western Europe - to deploy 572 new American missiles on European soil, and by Carter's announced increases in defense spending.

Some Soviet officials seem as irritated by American "propaganda" accompanying the arms decisions as by the new weaponry itself.

One Soviet official insisted recently that the U.S. government was fully capable of launching weapons programs in total secrecy, but had intentionally decided to make a public show of defense spending this year under the "pretext" of having to justify the expenditure to Congress.

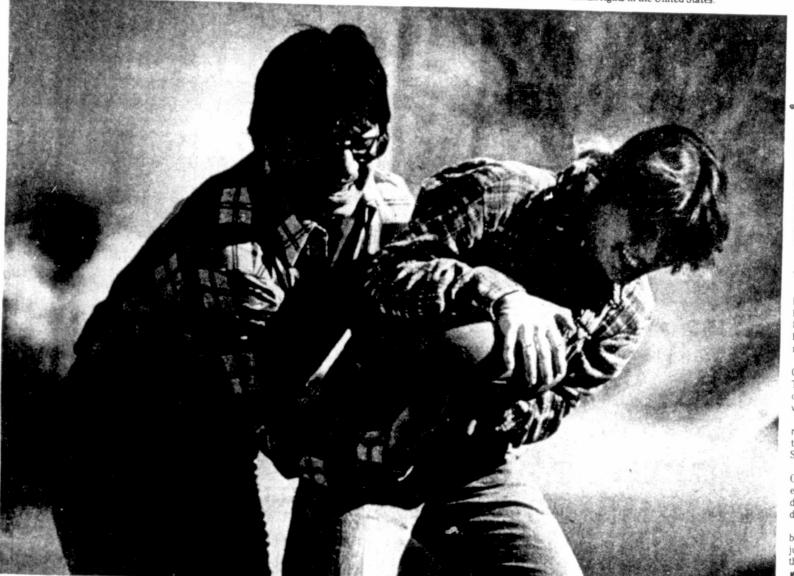

Similarly, U.S. publicity over the creation of a "quick reaction" military force was seen in some Soviet circles as another propaganda display by Washington. Soviets argue that any major country has such forces, and that the Carter administration consciously decided to make a "bellicose" public demonstration out of the U.S. move.

Meanwhile, Soviet analysts told an American visitor here recently that Carter's boosting of defense spending looked to them like a declaration of "economic war" against the Kremlin - aimed at forcing Moscow to spend so much money on its own weaponry that its hard-pressed economy would not be able to take care of its own people

Soviet officials also note that the Soviet Union has let nearly 50,000 Jews emigrate this year - largely in response to American demands that emigration rules be eased in return for trading advantages with the United States - but that despite Soviet hopes no major new trade advantages have yet been granted. The Soviets particularly seek most-favored-nation trade and tariff terms.

On American complaints, most Soviet commentators are taking a tough line. They refuse to agree with the Americans that massive Soviet conventional forces have given Moscow a military advantage in Europe. They also say they have done as much to help the American hostages in Tehran as they can, bearing in mind that Iran is a Soviet neighbor and Moscow is not prepared to completely alienate Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini serve you, but we also realize that your interests also are our best interests. We are determined to give you the service you pay for, and we are dedicated to the policy of providing courteous and efficient service at prices as low as we can charge and still meet our obligations.

The Kremlin has also ignored continuing Carter administration complaints about the Soviet human rights situation, or dismissed them with recommendations that Washington concern itself more with human rights in the United States.

We take pride in your loyality and we want you to know that we appreciate each of you.

This is the sincere message from Clyde A. Blakely, president of Fabit, and from Ted Ratcliff, manager of the firm's Refuse Services Division, each expressing wishes for a happy and prosperous new year for all.

The Refuse Division is excited, and justifiably so, about its new Container Dumper utilized in its refuse operations that presently involves four trucks (all side-loading) and two routes in and around Lubbock. The Container Dumper is manufactured right here in Lubbock by the highly capable Fabit Corp., being used commercially in the firm's own business.

One must see this unit in operation to appreciate fully its utility and the engineering that has made it so simple and efficient. . . by Fabit.

Division Serves Well

She also teaches Baton, and her students hold many titles due to her excellent training.

Marilyn Campbell is fantastic with the acrobats and tumblers at Billie Jo's. Every little boy and girl has a great desire to become a gymnast. Strength and muscle control are developed through this training. Marilyn also teaches Ballet, Jazz, Balance Beam. Women's Exercise Classes and Pageant Modeling. She is a member of Dance Masters of America and is a favorite with all the students at Billie Jo's. She takes many of her students to perform at various organizations. ## Carpet City Relates Specific Prices In January Sale Beginning Wednesday

Carpet City, at 2257 34th St., commences its big storewide January Clearance Sale on Wednesday, Jan. 2.

This means that everything in stock is marked down to a drastic extent, owner Howard Darwin emphasizes Examples of the sale values include: Heavy first-quality carpet, teflon and static guard, earth tones, at just $6.99 per vard. This is of Dupont "Touchable Yarn," said to be one of Dupont's finest. You'll like this soft denier continuous filament nylon.)

And first quality kitchen prints at $3.50 per yard!

Sculptured cut and loop, at $3.99 per yard (both the jute back and rubber back Plush carpeting priced from $2.99 which is well below cost):

Remnants, roll ends at a full 50 per cent off!

(All prices are for carpet only.)

"Isn't this sale a most practical way to say 'thank you' for the business in the old year, greeting the '80's with expectation of serving even better?

Carpet City, a discount store featuring special purchases (factory irregulars and discontinued quantities) was opened June 1 by Howard Darwin, owner, who went into the carpet business after '77 graduation from Texas Tech. Formerly of Brownfield, Howard knows the area and its residents, appreciating their recognition of quality and value. Carpet City usually receives full rolls from the suppliers, but is glad to cut a roll for particular needs.

Good Choice

Quantity buying from suppliers is one of the factors enabling the firm's discount policy, Darwin explains.

The firm has its own installation crew, with installations guaranteed for a full year. Installation usually can be made within a day or two of purchase.

A good color and material selection is maintained, and Darwin says, in explaining prices to be expected, that customers can secure carpet there at about onehalf suggested retail.

Financing is available, and both Master Charge and Visa are honored.

Carpet City, 2257 34th St., phone 747-9027, is open six days a week, from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 9 until 1 on Saturdays. The current sale would be a very good time to learn firsthand of the type store Howard Darwin has provided in Carpet City.

for sample showing of finest carpet available on custom order. Yes, Carpet City can order just about anything one could possibly desire in carpet, up to the most expensive available. Carpet City is in business to serve "you," whatever your preference, but always assuring quality and savings.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - True or false? The Soviet Union prevents its citizens from moving freely about their own country. The American South is a plantation economy with blacks still used as slaves.

The statements are among dozens of distortions, biases and lies" found in U.S. and Soviet textbooks when each country writes about the other, scholars say.

With an aim of improving the quality of such textbooks, the American and Soviet scholars are taking part in a joint review.

"I don't think in our case it is deliberate lying," said George Demko, professor of geography at Ohio State University. "Rather, it's that we are writing with images of the 1950s.

Demko is one of nine American scholars, all professors of history or geography, involved in the year-old American-Soviet Textbook Study Project. The members of the Soviet reviewing panel come from the Ministry of Education and the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

The group is confining its review to history and geography books from the eighth grade through high school.

Americans believe - that Soviet citizens cannot move within the country freely." Demko said that is untrue.

The Soviets also object to American textbooks that do not mention the role played by the Red Army in World War II.

"They claim that we ignore their incredible role in conquering the Nazis," said Demko. "That, by the way, we can agree on. But we, on the other hand, told the Russians that they ignore the war in the Pacific.

Geography textbooks contain the same types of errors, said the professor, citing the work of one American writing about agriculture in the Soviet Union. The American wrote that in agriculture, you could see the political system reflected." Demko said.

The geographer wrote that in the United States, where cows are free to roam the pastures, they give great quantities of milk. But in the Soviet Union, the writer continued, they produce much less milk because they are kept in barns and restricted in their freedom on the collective farms.

The American panel noted similar inaccuracies in Soviet texts. Demko told of accurate because regional and social patterns have changed enormously.

'You're so concerned with keeping Lenin's characterization that you're now making errors of fact," he said he told the Soviets.

In the Soviet Union, only one textbook is approved for each subject in a particular grade. American history and geography textbooks number in the hundreds

This project could have tremendous impact on how future generations of Soviets and Americans view each other's country," Demko said. "As I got into this, I realized how important it is that Soviets view our country a little more fairly and how important it is that our kids do the same.

What textbook changes may result from the project are uncertain.

We know that they can go right to their Ministry of Education and make the changes," Demko said. "They know that we can't.

"We've concurred that when we come to an agreement with them, we will take all the material, send it to the authors and publishers and urge them to consider the recommendations Demko said American publishers are interested in commissioning new books. and the information compiled by the joint project will be good source material for the textbook authors. Demko said the panel will meet for a third and final time next spring to work out an agreement for improving the textbooks.

Sign Up For

When young people sign up for newspaper route work, they are really signing up for independence. The kind of independence that goes with earning your own money, running your own business and dealing with people on a one-to-one basis.

Our carriers are young business men and women. They provide a vital service, handle their own finances and reap a handsome profit from their efforts. What better training to prepare them for the future?

If you are interested in stepping into the business world and declaring your own independence, contact our carrier manager right now. He'll give you all of the important facts about carrier work. Then, if you are still interested, he'll provide the pen and show you where to sign . . . even if your name is John Hancock.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT 762-8844

We all agreed that these were basic topics and that both Soviet and American students get their strongest biases against each other during those years. Demko said

Demko savs American textbooks contain more errors of fact than the Soviet books. For example, he said, "most of the U.S. textbooks say - and even most Soviet geographers dividing the United States into regions based on an analysis produced by Lenin over 60 years ago.

The industrial Northeast, for example, is described by the Soviets as the center of "Big Capital," while the South remains a plantation economy with black people as virtual slaves. Demko told his Soviet counterparts that the 60-year-old analysis is no longer

Newspaper Publishes Khomeini Ad

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Times published an advertisement Sunday in which Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini called on Americans to "rise up against oppression" and referred to the hostages in Iran as "spies

KHOMEINI MAN OF THE YEAR - Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini appears on the cover of Time Magazine, whose editors have chosen him "Man of the Year." The distinction of being the person who did the most in 1979 to "change the news, for better or worse," is the criterion for the award. (AP Laserphoto)

The Washington Post last week rejected the advertisement, which was purchased by the Embassy of the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Subtitled "Imam Khomein's Christmas Message to the Christian World," the ad urged Americans to ring church bells in support of oppressed nations and not in support of the American hostages.

It called President Carter the "vanguard of the world's oppressors" and said he had "called for the bells to be rung throughout the United States in support of his agents against the deprived Iranian nation."

How good and appropriate that you ring the bells according to the order of God and the teachings of Jesus Christ and all the prophets, for the sake of spies and oppressors of the rights of nations," the ad said.

It urged Americans not to listen "to the propaganda of Presidents who think of nothing but power, and be sure that our youth will treat the spies in a manner pleasing to God."

In rejecting the ad, the Post said the message was "potentially libelous" and violated its policy of not accepting "serious charges against people that are not substantiated.

Times publisher Arthur Ochs Sulzberger said the Times agreed to print the advertisement "because the Times has long believed that its advertising columns must be open to all forms of opinion advertising - even when we strenuously disagree with and abhor the message."

In an addendum to the advertisement, as it appeared in the Times, it was noted that the message was to be published in the Post on Christmas, but the Post would not publish it unless changes were made in its wording.

Since these are the exact words of the Imam, we could not change them, the ad savs.

Sulzberger said the newspaper will turn over the $10,260 the Iranians paid for the ad to the International Committee of the Red Cross because of its work with hostages and prisoners.

The ad appeared on page 22 and covered about half the page.

Student Loan Agency Struggling To Survive Political Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — A little agency nicknamed Sallie Mae is struggling to survive in a simmering political dispute over the government's billion-dollar loan program for college students.

Sallie Mae is the Student Loan Marketing Association, a quasi-governmental but privately-owned, profit-making agency created by Congress in 1972 to provide a secondary market for government student loans.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare wants Sallie Mae to foresake its independent ways, come home and stop trying to make a profit. But the agency's defenders say HEW has not shown it has the financial expertise to run Sallie Mae.

Critics say Sallie Mae's private profits come right out of the taxpayers' pockets because it operates entirely on federal borrowing and loan subsidies and guarantees. They say that although President Carter appoints seven of the 21 board members, the board cannot force Sallie Mae to carry out HEW policy.

As part of an overhaul of federal grants and loans for college students, HEW has asked Congress to convert Sallie Mae into a regular, non-profit federal agency. A bill before the Senate would take away Sallie Mae's profit-making status.

Edward Fox, president of Sallie Mae since its inception, said of the loan program, "I think a profit incentive is the best way to do this."

He maintains his agency has lived up to its social responsibilities and still turned a profit that amounted to nearly $6 million last year.

"Sallie Mae is alive and well. We've never been busier. We're growing in terms of assets and the number of institutions we support," he said. "Nobody really could build a case we weren't doing what we were supposed to be doing. There's no egregious rip-off here.

Fox has grounds for optimism. The House, in passing the Higher Education Reauthorization Act last month, preserved Sallie Mae's profit-making status and expanded its mission.

Currently, Sallie Mae does not make loans directly to students. It buys loans from banks that do not want to hold the paper and be bothered with the collection effort. It also "warehouses" banks' student loan portfolios, lending them money to make more loans.

Sallie Mae, which has 130 employees and a budget of $5 million, holds $1.4 billion of the $8 billion outstanding in guaranteed student loans. It borrows its money from an adjunct of the Treasury, the Federal Financing Bank, at a fraction above the Treasury bill rate. In turn, HEW pays Sallie Mae 3 1/2 points above the Treasury bill rate

They are guaranteed the ability to borrow cheap and lend dear. If a student defaults, the government picks up the tab. There's no other loan as riskless as these loans that is as profitable," said a congressional aide who asked not to be identified.

The other 14 seats on Sallie Mae's board are filled by banks and education institutions that own its stock. Two board members, the Bank of America and the First Chicago Corp., have subsidiaries that Sallie Mae hires to service some of its loans.

Fox said the potential for conflict of interest is inherent in Sallie Mae's structure, but he said the agency abides by a strict code of ethics.

"I have not seen the financial and business acumen necessary to run a business in HEW. They're a policy-making agency and should remain so. They should not become a banking institution," Fox said in an interview.

He stressed that Sallie Mae was not unique as a quasi-government agency with access to the Treasury. He cited Amtrak and Conrail, the rail corporations.

AT AT THE WORK AND A DRIVE

Earlier there was criticism over the program because of Fox's $119,000 annual salary. But HEW officials now say they are less worried about salaries than about having their policies carried out.

Sallie Mae is only a pawn in a high stakes game of how much the government is willing to subsidize student loans.

Although student defaults have gotten the most attention, the government's major cost in these programs is subsidizing interest. HEW officials say that each $1,000 costs the government $600 over the life of the loan - $500 in interest and $100 to cover default. One estimate puts government cost for student loans at $1.5 billion this year.

The government is paying up to 16 percent interest on guaranteed loans, including many controlled by Sallie Mae. Students pay no interest while in college and only 7 percent afterward. On another guaranteed loan that colleges can make, students pay only 3 percent interest upon graduation.

The Carter administration proposed creating a Government Student Loan Association to take over Sallie Mae's role and to charge at least 7 percent interest on all the guaranteed loans.

If students borrowed more than their minimum need, the interest would be the Treasury bill rate plus 1 percent - or 13 percent at current rates. The interest would be deferred, not forgiven, while the student was in school.

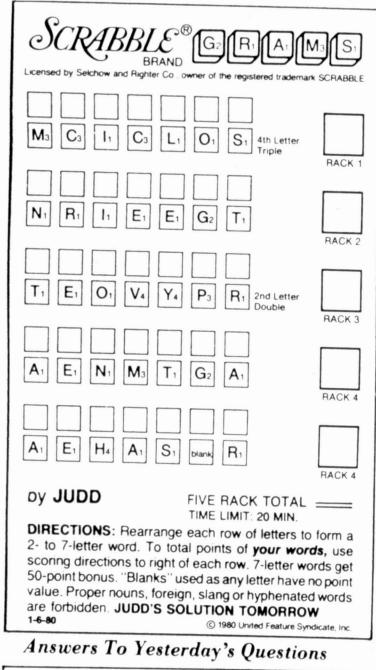

In the Senate, Sallie Mae faces another obstacle in the form of an alternative bill sponsored by Sen . Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who want Sallie Mae to become a non-profit organization but stay outside the government.

All versions of the legislation would give Sallie Mae or its successor the power to consolidate students' loans for repayment, and the Kennedy-Bellmon bill would give the agency more collection responsibility.

Fox is leery of seeing his agency become a super collection office. Each student loan involves dozens of pieces of paper. plus making personal contact with a highly transient population.

"The issues are not as pure black and white as HEW indicates," said Fox 'There's no cheap, quick fix in this business.

Consumers Demand Examination Of Tests

NEW YORK (UPI) - Kingpins in the multi-million-dollar college entrance testing industry said Saturday they're out to crack the mystique of college entrance tests, law school admisson tests and others - in response to consumer demands for more test information.

They promised increased publication of the content of the tests and ways for test takers to verify scores.

The College Board, Graduate Record Examination Board, Graduate Management Admission Council, Law School Admission Council and Educational Testing Service issued a set of "public interest principles to guide future developments in standrdized admissions tests."

The five organizations are responsible for major national testing programs. More than one million high school juniors and seniors each year take the Scholastic Aptitude Test, one type of college entrance test. Each, in 1980, will pay $8.25 per sitting, estimated the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J. - the $94 million a year testing industry giant

About 120,000 take another type, the Law School Admissions Test and pay $17.50 apiece. Some 300,000 take Graduate Record Examinations for graduate school and pay, too - more than for the SAT And less than for the LSAT.

About 900,000 high school students also pay to take entrance examinations from American College Testing in Iowa City, Iowa.

The testing industry guidelines aimed at giving test takers more information are not as broad as the goals of a truth-intesting law going into effect Jan 1 in New York or a similar one that went on the books in California in July.

Neither do they spell out in great detail test-taker rights to see scoring sheets and correct answers as mandated by the New York law or other rights as per a truth-in-testing proposal before Congress

But for the close-mouthed testing industry, the publication of guidelines or public interest principles marked a sharp turn in policy. It came after losing its campaign to block the New York and California laws

The testing industry also is battling the proposal before Congress and backed by consumer groups and some education organizations, including the National Education Association. That 1.8 million member teachers' union wants a moritorium on all standardized tests.

William W. Turnbull, president of ETS in Princeton, N. J., Was asked if the 2 million who take various ETS-administered tests will be able to see their answer sheets and correct answers.

We will go as far in that direction of making the content public without jeopardizing the quality of the tests," he replied. "We are trying to be responsive to students who want to see how they are doing on the tests.

'And we want the general public to have more information on testing. We are taking away some of the mystique of the tests. This statement of public interest principles will guide fiture developments in standardized tests used for admissions.

The guidelines call for Increased publiction of the content of the tests.

•Publicly visible procedures for eliminating test bias.

•Ways to enable test takers to have their scores verified.

•Procedures to increase the appropriate use of scores and to discourage misuse

•Ways to give test takers as much useful information as possible about their performance on the test and to give them a voice in the design of the pro-

Bettors Line Up At Boardwalk's Newest Casino

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - Bettors lined the Boardwalk outside the East's newest legal gambling casino for more than an hour before it opened Sunday, the second day of operation for Bally's Park Place.

They started lining up before 9 a.m., about 50 people at each of our entrances, said Kim Kalagian, a secretary in the casino manager's office.

The crowds were heavy at the gaming tables Saturday and Sunday, with bettors waiting behind the blackjack, roulette and craps tables for a chance to try their luck at Atlantic City's third casino, she said.

'It's been a pretty steady flow," Miss Kalagian said.

Figures on how much money the casino won on its first day will not be available until later in the week, she said.

Bally's $300 million gambling hall opened for play at 10 a.m. Saturday. less than six hours after New Jersey authorities gave their permission for the opening after observing the casino's operation and internal accounting controls during two additional practice "play nights" Thursday and Friday.

Park Place officials had hoped to open the casino Thursday morning after four ght-hour practice runs last weekend with play money on the tables ar and Caesars' Boardwalk Regency, which opened last June, as the Boardwalk's three casinos. Ten more casino hotels are under construction and dozens more have been proposed.

Sheriff Resigns In Midst Of Legal Investigation

LAMPASAS (AP) - Lampasas County Sheriff Walter Gossett has resigned as the local district attorney's office began an investigation of Gossett's department.

District Attorney Arthur Eads confirmed he is conducting the investigation, but would not comment on the specific nature of the inquiry

Gossett, who was elected in 1978, issued a press release Thursday saying he resigned for "personal reasons.

Eads said the state attorney general's office is aiding in the investigation of "general operations" at the sheriff's department

County commissioners were to meet Friday to discuss the situation.

HEARTLINE: I will be retiring soon and my wife and I are planning on moving to a new, warmer location, if possible. But our primary concern is how high the cost of living is in a particular area. Some people tell me that the cost of living is about the same everywhere, but I have read in magazine articles and various advertisements that some cities or communities do have a lower cost of living, on the average. Can you give us any information on this subject? - B.N.

Based on an intermediate budget for a retired couple (husband age 65 or older), preliminary estimates developed by the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, show that it is less expensive to live in small cities than in large cities of the same region.

Living costs are lower in cities of the South, such as Orlando, Fla., Durham, N.C., and Atlanta, Ga., than the average for all cities of the United States. Out West, Bakersfield, Calif., and Denver, Colo., are also lower than the average.

Cities in which the cost of living is considerably higher than the average include Buffalo, N.Y., Hartford, Conn., San Francisco-Oakland, Calif., and Honolulu, Hawaii. Other cities which have a lower than average cost of living are: Dayton, Ohio, Baton Rouge, La., Austin, Texas and San Diego, Calif. Also the non-metropolitan areas of each of the above cities would have even a lower cost of living.

Heartline has taken the figures from the Department of Labor and prepared an index of the cost of living for a retired couple in selected cities and areas with a population of 2,500 to 50,000. This chart is available free by writing Heartline-

> HEARTLINE: My husband just recently retired. We have a child who is still going to school. We were told at the Social Security office that our son would be entitled to dependent children's benefits from the father's benefit.

You know how it is when you're in an interview situation - you never think of the questions you may have until you're back home. We were explaining the benefits to our son, who is a college student, and he asked whether or not he would receive payments during the summers, when he is out of school for vacation. This was not discussed at the Social Security office and my husband and I have no idea. Can you tell us? - M.R.

Yes, your son will receive Socaial Security benefits during his summer vacation if he was a full-time student during the semester or quarter before the summer vacation and if he intends to be a full-time student again after the vacation is over

HEARTLINE: I am age 62 and will begin receiving Social Security benefits for retirement next month. Will I also receive Medicare coverage? - K.E.

Ram Miracle Disappoints Dallas

IRVING (AP) - The Los Angeles Rams, who have never been to a Super Bowl, eliminated one of the major reasons why - the Dallas Cowboys - Sunday in the magical type of comeback the Cowboys thought they had patented.

It was third-year quarterback Vince Ferragamo's 50-yard touchdown pass with 2:06 remaining that cooked the Cowboys 21-19 and put Los Angeles in the National Football Conference title game next Sunday on the road against Tampa Bay.

The Cowboys appeared to be ready to make their eighth NFC title appearance of the decade. Then Ferragamo, who was third string in training camp, pulled off a Dallas-type "miracle" with his perfectly timed shot to Billy Waddy.

When I dropped back, I saw the deep zone coverage and got the ball behind the linebackers," said Ferragamo. I had told the team in the huddle that this was our last effort and so please make it a good one. We hung in there and pulled it out.

Rams Coach Ray Malavasi, who has seen Dallas knock the Rams out of the playoffs three times since 1973, said, This is one of the best wins I've ever been around since I've been in football.'

Malayasi said he concocted a sevendefensive-back secondary to "match speed with speed. Our defensive coordinator, Bud Carson, came up with the idea. It was very effective."

Malayasi was still steaming over a fourth-quarter call in which one official overruled a pass-interference flag thrown by another that cost the Rams possession deep in Dallas territory.

Dallas defensive tackle Larry Cole summed up how his team felt: "All year we let the big play get away from us and that's what did us in today.

Ferragamo, who had thrown two touchdown passes in the first half but had been burned by two second-half interceptions, stole a page from Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach's book on last-minute dramatics.

Waddy ran a post pattern across the middle and snared the pass at the Dallas 27 behind the outstretched hands of two linebackers. He then outran safeties Dennis Thurman and Cliff Harris down the left sideline to score standing up. It hushed the sellout crowd of 64,792.

Dallas appeared to have earned its eighth NFC title appearance in 10 years with 12 46 to play in the game on Staubach's clutch 2-vard third-down touchdown pass to seldom-used tight end Jay Saldi.

The Cowboys, who trailed 14-5 at halftime after Ferragamo had thrown touchdown passes of 32 yards to Wendell Tyler and 43 yards to Ron Smith, pulled to within two points at 14-12 on Ron Springs' 1-yard touchdown run.

That set the stage for Staubach's touchdown pass, followed by Ferragamo's heroics.

Staubach,' who thrice had brought Dallas from behind to victory in the last two minutes of games this year, lost his magic touch against the Rams.

After two incompletions at the Dallas 33-yard line, he hit left guard Burton Lawless, an ineligible receiver, in the stomach with a pass, causing loss of down and a 10-yard penalty.

The Cowboys were trailing 14-5 before Staubach temporarily solved the mystery of Los Angeles' seven defensive backs whenever the Cowboys went into a shotgun formation.

On the Rams' next possession, Ferra-gamo was intercepted by Harris, who returned the wayward aerial 22 yards to the Dallas 43. Staubach completed passes of 10 yards to Preston Pearson, 15 to Saldi and 15 to Drew Pearson to move the ball to the Rams' 9-yard line.

On third-and-2 from the 2, Staubach just did get away his TD pass to Saldi before being crunched by a tackle delivered blitzing linebacker Jack Reynolds. Saldi caught the ball in the middle of the end zone. There wasn't a Ram within five yards of him when the ball arrived with 12:47 to play.

The Rams, trailing 19-14, charged to the Cowboys' 32-yard line, where Dallas got the benefit of an official changing his mind. On fourth-and-8, back judge Bay Douglas ruled Harris had interfered with Waddy on an incompletion. However, field judge Charley Musser, who said he had a better view, overruled Douglas and the Cowboys got the ball.

TV Networks Jam New Years With All Sorts Of Bowl Games Airwaves Bring Roses, Oranges, Sugar and Cotton

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

Every year it's the same. America drinks too much on New Year's Eve and indulges in too much college football on New Year's Day.

One suspects that this Tuesday, when the three networks televise the four major bowl games, the participating sponsors will not be getting full value for their commercial dollars. Millions of Americans may have their TV sets on, but how many will be awake and watching?

At 1 p.m. CBS will have the Cotton Bowl game between No. 8 Houston and No. 7 Nebraska. CBS has had this game for 23 straight years, and Lindsey Nelson will be handling the Cotton Bowl play-by-play for the 20th time. Also on hand will be Paul Hornung doing commentary and Frank Glieber reporting from the sidelines.

NBC made a big pitch to get the Cotton Bowl last year, which would have given, it three-fourths of the Jan. 1 bowl action. With games at 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. NBC could have single-handledly interrupted a late-waking nation's breakfast, lunch and dinner

NBC's angle with the Cotton Bowl was that the viewers would be locked in and never have to change the dial. NBC's dream sequence would be Cotton Bowl Parade, Rose Bowl Parade, Cotton Bowl, Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl.

We wanted to be the network of the bowls," said an NBC source. "It would have been good for prestige, plus it's always nice to steal away a major property. In the end, we helped the Cotton Bowl make a good pile of dough.

But a TV network without a football game on New Year's Day would be like a Dec. 31 celebration minus the bubbly. So CBS, taking advantage of its incumbent's position, came up with the extra loot to keep the Dallas-based game

"It was too much money," said one network source. "But CBS couldn't afford to lose the game.

Also at 1 p.m. Tuesday will be the Sugar Bowl game between No. 2 Alabama and No. 6 Arkansas, which will have a bearing on the national championship. Keith Jackson will provide play-by-play, with Ara Parseghian offering commentar-

It's a shame these two games have to conflict. CBS and the Cotton Bowl say they would consider moving but they haven't been able to agree. The game can't start too early in the central time zone, nor too late because of cold weather in Dallas and a reluctance to overlap with the late-starting Rose Bowl. CBS is also happy with its Rose Bowl Parade coverage that ends at 2 p.m.

The Sugar Bowl, however, has experimented with different starting times and not done well. During 1972-75, the Sugar Bowl was played on New Year's Eve but got killed in the ratings. On Dec. 31, 1973, ABC had Alabama-Notre Dame for the national championship. But it got beaten by all three games the next day, proving even football fans have priorities.

On Jan. 1, 1977, ABC had Pitt-Georgia for the national championship. With Tony Dorsett as the star attraction, ABC began the game at noon to get a head start on the Cotton Bowl. It worked. But the next year, with a less attractive game, ABC went head to head with the Cotton Bowl, rather than buck the Rose Bowl Pa-

There's some additional background to ABC and the Sugar Bowl upstaging the other bowls by luring No. 1 Pitt and Dorsett to New Orleans. Pitt was undecided where to go until ABC sweetened its payment to the Sugar Bowl from $1.1 to $1.4 million, money which filtered its way to Pitt.

ABC denies doing any other dealing to get Pitt to the Sugar Bowl, although there are some in the TV industry who insist that the Panthers popping up on the tube against West Virginia for an ABC regional broadcast that year was an extra inducement

Last year the combined ratings of the Sugar and Cotton Bowl games were lower than the combined rating of the Rose Bowl Parade carried by both CBS and NBC. The Rose Bowl Parade is so coveted that one year all three networks aired it. It has celebrities and tradition, in contrast to the Sugar Bowl parade, which once had Melvin Laird as its honored figure.

The Rose Bowl game is also the most desirable, receiving the biggest bundle of TV money — an estimated $3.5 million a year from NBC, which will be doing the game for the 29th straight year. Airtime for the game between top-rated Ohio State and No. 3 Southern California is 3:45 p.m., with play-by-play man Dick Enberg sit-ting between commentators Merlin Olsen and O.J. Simpson.

The Rose Bowl is normally the highest-rated game. Called the "Granddaddy of the bowls," it is the most prestigious and has the advantage of a solo shot late in the afternoon. TV's rule of thumb is that sets in use increase later in the afternoon on weekends

ABC, which does regular-season college football all year, would love the Rose Bowl. Three years ago, Roone Arledge, president of ABC News and Sports, personally negotiated for the property but couldn't get it away from NBC.

It's ironic that ABC, now the network of prime-time football, lost the Orange Bowl to NBC in 1965 because it couldn't decide whether to broadcast the Miamibased game at night. ABC had lost a lot of money on a Jerry Lewis show and was then leery of gambling on sports at night.

NBC took the risk on the Orange Bowl in '65 and had three Jan. 1 games, including the Sugar Bowl. ABC had no games for five years until it got back at NBC by taking away the Sugar Bowl in 1970.

Tuesday's Orange Bowl, matching No. 4 Florida State and fifth-ranked Oklahoma, will be in prime time (7 p.m. start) for the 16th straight year. Don Criqui will do play-by-play alongside commentators John Brodie and Bob Trumpy. Also working a microphone will be Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden.

Bowden agreed to be wired for sound during the game, while his counterpart, Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, declined. Switzer said it would distract from the game. Also, Switzer has been known to say a bad word or two.

At last year's Fiesta Bowl, UCLA Coach Terry Donahue uttered a well-known expletive of frustration, just as the microphone was opened up on the sidelines. Brodie, in the broadcast booth, retorted: "That sounds like a dilly of a play."

Coaches Debate Playoffs

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Keep the ratings and the current bowls? Or go to playoffs and decide the national college football championship on the field?

An Associated Press survey of the coaches and players for top-ranked. Ohio State and No. 3-rated Southern California shows a wide range of opinions on the controversy.

The Rose Bowl opponents Tuesday are prime contenders for the 1979 national poll crown. The Buckeyes, 11-0-0, held a scant 112-point margin over runnerup Alabama, 11-0-0, in the final regular-season ratings. Southern Cal. 10-0-1, was just 10 points behind Ohio State.

BIG SHADOW- Seems no matter where Bear Bryant goes he casts a big shadow, but especially on the football field. Here he strolls in after supervising his team's workout prior to Tuesday's Sugar Bowl tilt with Arkansas. (AP Laserphoto) zone for a safety in the first quarter. Dallas' three other points in the first half came on Rafael Septien's 33-yard chipshot field goal.

The Cowboys jumped on top with the safety late in the first period. On secondand-14 from the Rams' 6-yard-line. Ferragamo tried to evade the Dallas rush and slipped down in the end zone with 35 yards to the Rams' 43. Ferragamo worked the ball to the Dallas 32 and, on first-and-10, he flipped a short pass down the right sideline to Tyler, who eluded Dallas linebacker D.D. Lewis for the touchdown

Houston, Nebraska Each Have Points To Prove In Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) - The critics are calling this one the "Apathy Bowl" but don't demean the 44th annual Cotton Bowl in front of Houston Coach Bill Yeoman and Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne Yeoman figures his Southwest Conference Cougars have a point to prove 34 to Notre Dame last New Year's Day.

Osborne thinks his team was the best in the Big Eight Conference this year and wants a victory to propel his club perhaps into the top three of the final Associated Press poll.

"What happened to us against Notre Dame last year has been in the back of our minds since it happened," said Yeoman. "This season was a result of it. We lost only one game, a close one to Texas.

When something like the Notre Dame comeback happens to you, well, you really don't need to be reminded of

The Cornhuskers are rated No. 7 and the Cougars No. 8 before the kickoff of the 1 p.m. New Year's Day game which was expected to draw a sellout crowd of 72.000 although there were still some tickets remaining.

'We want to win this game bad," said Osborne "People take their football seriously in Nebraska. We might not be able to win the national championship but we might get it up to No. 3 or No. 4. That's better than No. 12 or No. 13."

Houston and Nebraska, both 10-1 for the season, are meeting for the first time.

Houston has been in the Southwest Conference for only four years and although the Cougars have won three titles, they have yet to generate the following of schools like Texas, Arkansas and Texas A&M

Osborne says it matters not that Houston lacks the long football tradition of other schools in the SWC. He says the Cougars are loaded with quality players and that's all that concerns him.

'I've known (Houston Coach) Bill (Yeoman) and his program for a long time," Osborne said. "They don't conjure up a reputation like Ohio State or after blowing a 34-12 lead and losing 35- I USC, but they haven't been in the conference for that long.

"We're not playing George Gipp or somebody out of the past, we're playing a good football team.

Houston features a rugged ground game headed by 1,000 yard gainer Terald Clark while Nebraska has a high-powered I attack spotlighting its own 1,000-yard gainer, Jarvis Redwine

Redwine is coming off an ankle injury in which he was sidelined in the late season loss to Oklahoma.

Houston will be playing in its third Cotton Bowl game in four years. The Cougars beat Maryland 30-21 in 1977 then lost to Notre Dame last year

Nebraska beat Texas 19-3 in the 1974 Cotton Bowl but lost 10-7 to Arkansas in 1965

Yeoman said the Comhuskers are 'big, thick, strong and don't make many mistakes.

Yeoman shrugs off talk about Houston's image in the conference, saying he is more concerned about what happens on the field.

"We've beaten a bunch of real good football teams over the year and the media does more worrying about what our image is than I do," he said. "We have been trying to develop a football team and program with some degree of consistency and I believe our players over the years have been consistent "If we just worry about the things we control. the football team, things will take care of themselves. "This is college football. They have a playoff in the National Football League. But a lot of our decisions must be based on what's right for us - otherwise we should play in the NFL.

Earle Bruce, Ohio State's first-year coach, is on the fence.

"It would be a hardship on us with the start of our winter quarter. But I'd like to see playoffs. It would mean more games, and that would be tough on the players' educations," he said.

Then Bruce paused and thought of the lucrative contract between the Pacific-10 and Big Ten Conferences in the Rose Bowl. Michigan and Southern Cal each took home a net of $1.6 million to divide among their league members from the 1979 Rose Bowl

Pittsburgh Mangles Miami

The Dolphins, who blocked a Steeler extra point try in the first period, penetrated to the Pittsburgh 10 yard line twice in the second quarter, but came up sepreless both times.

Linebacker Dennis Winston, subbing for injured Jack Ham, intercepted a Bob Griese pass to stop one drive to the Pittsburgh six and Steelers held on downs at their own 2 vard line after Thornton lost a fumble at the Steeler nine.

In the third quarter, Griese threw a 7vard touchdown pass to Duriel Harris two plays after an apparent error by the officials gave the Dolphins the ball at the Pittsburgh 11.

On a Miami punt, the officials ruled that Steeler rookie Dwavne Woodruff was struck by the ball while making a block. Miami recovered and was given possession, but instant replays showed no contact between Woodruff and the ball

The Steelers countered with a 69-yard touchdown drive capped by a 1-yard run by Rocky Blier, who replaced Thornton after he injured an ankle. With Swann sidelined by a muscle pull, Bradshaw hit two straight 14-yard passes to Jim Smith to key the march.

Pittsburgh added a fourth-quarter touchdown on a 5-yard run by Franco Harris, who gained 83 yards on 21 attempts

When he went to the bench in the fourth quarter. Griese had completed 14 of 26 passes for 118 yards. His replacement, Don Strock, led a 77-yard touchdown drive that ended with a 1-yard give by Csonka with 4:07 left in the game. The game ended when Woodruff intercepted a pass into the endzone by Bradshaw finished with 21 completions in 31 attempts for 230 yards and no interceptions. His top receiver was Stallworth with six catches for 86 yards.

Pittsburgh and Houston split in regular season play. The Steelers won 38-7 here the second week of the season, and the Oilers posted a 20-17 win on their home turf in the next to last gameof the reular season

Air In 1979 Pro Season

By The Associated Press In the National Football League, 1979 began and ended with footballs filling the air in record numbers.

It started with Terry Bradshaw shattering passing records as he guided the Pittsburgh Steelers to an unprecedented third Super Bowl title, a 35-31 victory over the Dallas Cowboys that was by far the most exciting of these roman-numeraled extravaganzas.

And when the 1979 regular season opened, the rest of the NFL's quarterbacks followed Bradshaw's lead - and the game opened up.

By the time the regular-season closed, the Steelers once again were the American Conference's Central Division champions and only two really new faces emerged among the 10 contenders for Super Bowl XIV - the San Diego Chargers in the American Conference and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the National Conference.

The Chargers epitomize the new look of the NFL. Don Coryell, an advocate of the wide-open offense, is their coach and Dan Fouts is their quarterback

Bear Boss Says Defense Key To Peach

Grant Teaff agrees that Peach Bowl opponent Clemson and his Bears are very similar and a low-scoring, defense-oriented battle could be shaping up for today's nationally televised contest.

However, the 46-year-old Teaff also admits he is a terrible forecaster and more than likely the score will be something like 45-44.

Kickoff is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. before a sellout crowd of 58,000 at Atlanta Stadium. No. 18 Clemson, 8-3, is a slight favorite over the 7-4 Bears, who are ranked 19th.

Each club boasts an All-American player. Baylor is represented by junior middle linebacker Mike Singletary, who was in on 188 tackles this season. The Tigers have defensive tackle Jim Stuckey, a 6-foot-5, 241-pounder with a team-high 92 tackles, including 10 quarterback sacks.

'Stuckey is strong, tough and quick, everything that's supposed to be in an All-American," said Teaff. "They are a really good defensive team. They gather around the football. At the snap of the football there are usually 11 folks around

Clemson allowed opponents an average of only 8.4 points per game and ranked 7th nationally in total defense and 10th against the rush.

Baylor allowed 15 points per game and 325 yards total offense

The Bears alternate quarterbacks, using both redshirted freshman Mike Brannan and senior Mickey Elam. They passed for only 1,106 yards and a 34 percent Coryell, who a few years back had built the St. Louis Cardinals into one of the league's most explosive teams, gave Fouts free reign to plunder opposition secondaries - and he did with a vengeance. In the year's final Monday night game when he guided San Diego to the AFC Western Division title Fouts finished the season with 4,082 yards, shattering the single-season passing record that had stood since Joe Namath of the New York Jets had thrown for 4,007 during the 1967 American Football League season. Fouts also tied Namath's record of six 300-yard games.

He wasn't the only record-breaking quarterback. Relative no-names like Steve DeBerg in San Francisco and Greg Landry in Baltimore (the latter a replacement for injured Bert Jones), established club marks as revered names like John Brodie and Johnny Unitas were relegated to secondary positions in the record books

In 1978, five quarterbacks threw for 3,000 yards during the season. In 1979, 11 of them hit that mark, eight of them surpassing Fran Tarkenton's 1978 high water mark of 3,468 yards.

In 1978 only 17 receivers caught 50 or more passes for the season. That number more than doubled to 35 in 1979. Four of the top 10 receivers were running backs in 1978, hauling in short stuff out of the backfield, and Minnesota's Rickey Young was the runaway receiver with 88 catches, 14 more than his nearest competitor. In '79 there were only two running backs in the top 10. And although one of them, Joe Washington of Baltimore, was the leader, his 82 was only two catches ahead of Ahmad Rashad of the Vikings.

Not that the ground game was entirely forsaken in 1979, mind you. An even dozen running backs surpassed 1,000 yards, matching the league record set in Earl Campbell, the NFL rushing champ as a rookie with 1,450 yards in 1978, retained his title with 1,697 yards, only the third player in league history to win the ground-gaining crown his first two years. But the rookie rushing record he'd set was demolished by Ottis Andercould still only post a 16-11 record. Right now, after a 76-67 victory over Davidson in the final non-conference game of the season, Baylor is 5-5. The Bears host Texas A&M on Jan. 5 and have their work cut out for them to win 11 more games. Terry Teagle, who scored 23 points against Davidson, is already outdoing himself in the scoring department. As a freshman he averaged 14.5 - second only to Vinnie.

'We'll try and play a true five-man a game game," promises Haller, "but with a player like Teagle it's tough.

'Right now he doesn't know he's any better than anyone else on the team," added the Baylor coach. "But I think he'll lege team in the country," adds the Baylor boss, "but our strongest assest is our shooting ability. Last year we set a school shooting record - hitting 51 percent of our shots

We're going to have to continue that kind of performance

Haller is hoping that 6-5 junior college transfer Mike Battle will step to the front to help shoulder the scoring load as does junior guard Pat Nunley. Nunley, a 6-4 junior, has been a starter since midway through his freshman year and has given the Bears stability at the spot. Last year he averaged 9.4 points

Chuck Stanley, a 6-6, 210, junior has helped bolster the Baylor inside attack in the early going and is expected to contribute down the stretch. Consistency, though, is Stanley's problem according to Haller.

Like most coaches with small lineups, Haller points to the Bears quickness as an assest. He also hopes that his team is older and wiser this year

Tve got five or six kids coming back that have played a lot," he said. "And we've had some success, we've won in Houston's) Hofheinz Pavilion, (SMU's) Moody Coliseum and (Arkansas') Barnhill Arena.

Those are some pretty tough places to win." he added, "I hope that'll have a carryover affect.

Laker Center Leads Voting

NEW YORK (AP) - Veteran Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Los Angeles Lakers is the leading vote-getter among West Division players in the fan balloting for the National Basketball Association All-Star Game,

Abdul-Jabbar led Denver's Dan Issel, 75,969 votes to 33,714 for the starting center position. Phoenix' Alvan Adams was third with 29,896 votes

Marques Johnson of Milwaukee, with 52,744 votes, and Scott Wedman of Kansas City, with 42,928, led at the forward spot. Third place was occupied by Phoenix' Walter Davis with 42,684 votes, followed by Utah's Adrian Dantley (41,098) and Denver's George McGinnis (39,102).

San Diego's Lloyd Free (67,096 votes) and Phoenix' Paul Westphal (56,026) led the guards. Los Angeles rookie sensation Earvin "Magic" Johnson was third with 51,622 votes, followed by Kansas City's Phil Ford (45,253) and Denver's David Thompson (44,826).

The voting will conclude on Jan.1. The NBA All-Star Game will be played at Landover, Md., on Sunday, Feb.3.

'Our passing game doesn't exactly thrill you," said Teaff, whose club rolled for 2.586 yards on the ground.

> Sophomore Walter Abercrombie was the leading rusher for the Bears with 886 yards and seven touchdowns. Dennis Gentry added 511 yards while the two quarterbacks added 673 yards on the ground

Coach Danny Ford of Clemson, in his first full season at the helm of the Tigers after taking over for Charley Pell before last year's Gator Bowl victory over Ohio State, agrees with. Teaff on the similarity of the clubs.

We line up pretty simple and hand the ball off to the fullback with some options," he said. "We don't throw much. When a pass is called, I panic.

The Tigers, however, averaged 329 yards a game, geting 2,622 on the ground and 999 through the air.

Purdue, Tennessee Meet In Bluebonnet

HOUSTON (AP) - Purdue defensive end Keena Turner expects to spend New Year's Eve keeping Tennessee quarterback Jimmy Streater in his place when the two teams meet Monday night in the 21st Bluebonnet Bowl.

"He's the most dangerous when he gets in the open field," Turner said of Streater, the Vols' all-time total offense leader. "He is so quick and it helps him in both running and passing.

"He sets up so quick on his passes, he's hard to get to. That accounts for bis completing 60 per cent of his career passes.

While Turner and his Boilermaker teammates are trying to contain the needy Streater, the Volunteer defense will be going after Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann, who as a junior already has set the Big 10 career vardage record.

Kickoff is at 7 p.m. CST in the Astrodome

Turner should be well qualified to chase down the elusive Streater. Turner, 6-3, 220, led the team with 22 tackles for losses this season and last year set a team record of 25 tackles for losses of 201 yards. Turner has a career total of 57 tackles for losses, also a Purdue record.

And he may need it against Streater, rounding back into shape after missing two games with a knee injury

The Boilermakers, 9-2 in their third season under Coach Jim Young, are attending a bowl for the second straight year. Purdue blasted Georgia Tech 41-21 in last year's Peach Bowl to complete a 9-2-1 season.

Turner and defensive tackle Calvin Clark spearheaded a Purdue defense that led the Big 10 in defense against the rush, allowing an average of 101.4 yards per game.

Tennessee, 7-4, also is in the third year of a rebuilding program under Coach Johnny Majors. The Vols' record was the first winning season in the Majors era and marked Tennessee's first bowl trip since 1974.

"I am concerned about our physical condition going into the game because we haven't played a game in six weeks," Young said. "But from another standpoint, I am pleased. We have all our people back from injuries so we're physically sound in that manner.

Majors said he had tried to keep workouts short but intense since arriving here.

"I'm never sure how to prepare for a bowl game," he said. "We try to give our players some of the educational aspects of the trip. We did conditioning work before we got here and not much after. But while we're on the field I look for undivided attention.

Irish's Saturday Night Defeat Just One In String At Kentucky

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Notre Dame-Kentucky basketball series has been a great one - for Kentucky, that is,

Digger Phelps has taken his Fighting Irish to Louisville's Freedom Hall nine times in the last nine years and has only one victory to show for it.

Saturday night's result was the most recent loss in that dismal record.

"When Sam Bowie comes back, Kentucky will be as good as any team in the country." said Phelps after an 86-80 loss to the Wildcats that wasn't as close as the final score indicated.

The second-ranked Wildcats were good enough to beat third-ranked Notre Dame without their talented freshman center. In fact, Bowie wasn't the only one out of the Kentucky lineup Saturday night. Guard Dirk Minnifield was suspended by Coach Joe Hall along with Bowie for unspecified violations of training rules. In addition, guard Dwight Anderson quit the team last week.

"They've beaten three pretty good teams now," said Phelps of Kentucky, referring to the Wildcats' previous victories over Indiana and Purdue prior to the triumph over Notre Dame.

Kentucky had an 18-point lead in the first half and a 15-point edge with just 9:44 left in the game before the Irish made a belated rally. But Kyle Macy's three-point play with 4:06 left held off the Notre Dame comeback try. Macy finished with 21 points as the Wildcats won their 11th straight game after a season-opening loss to Duke

Elsewhere, No.1 Duke beat Cincinnati 87-75 in overtime in the finals of the Iron Duke Classic: No.4 DePaul stopped Bradley 68-61; No.5 Louisiana State routed Delaware 92-62: No.6 North Carolina bested Zeibert of England 115-93 in the Philips International basketball championships in London: No.7 Ohio State routed Northwestern Louisiana 71-46; No.8 Purdue outscored Tulsa 82-58; No.9 Syracuse whipped Villanova 92-84 in the finals of the Rochester Classic and No.10 Indiana won the Cabrillo Classic with a 61-52 victory over Brown.

Also, No.11 Iowa beat Drake 77-66: Illinois upset 12th-ranked Louisville 77-64 in the Rainbow Classic: 14th-ranked Virginia defeated Old Dominion 79-58 in the finals of the Richmond Invitational: 16th-ranked ULCA crushed Stanford 92-60. 18th-ranked Oregon State stopped Clemson 72-67 in the finals of the Far West Classic and 20th-ranked Brigham Young took third place in the Far West by coasting past North Carolina-Charlotte 104-91

Mike Gminski scored 25 points nine in overtime, to lead Duke past Cincinnati. The Bearcats outscored the Blue Devils 14-6 in the last six minutes of regulation to send the game into overtime tied at 71

We got a little sloppy down the stretch and I'm proud of the way we played in overtime." Gminski said.

Taking note of Duke's third overtime victory this year. Blue Devil Coach Bill Foster said "I can't believe the number of tight situations that we have been in this year. Nothing comes easy.

Mark Aguirre scored nine of his game-high 25 points in the final nine minutes to lead DePaul over Bradley. In winning their eighth straight game, the undefeated Blue Demons held Bradley to just three baskets in the final 7:11. Durand Macklin and DeWayne Scales teamed for 50 points to lead LSU past Delaware in a mismatch

Mike O'Koren collected 25 points and Al Wood 21 to lead North Carolina over Zeibert of England. The Tar Heels advanced to the semifinals of the 12-team-tournament

Herb Williams, Kelvin Ransey and Clark Kellogg combined for 50 points to pace Ohio State over Northwestern Louisiana. Purdue defeated Tulas behind a 23point performance by Joe Barry Carroll. Lewis Orr's 24 points and nine rebounds powered Syracuse over Villanova. Indiana whipped Brown as Ray Tolbert scored 15 points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Vince Brookins' 20-point, 14-rebound performance led Iowa past Drake. Paced by 11 points each from Robert Range and Mark Smith, Illinois used a balanced scoring attack to stun Louisville in a semifinal game of the Rainbow Classic.

Anytime you hold a team like Louisville to 36 percent shooting (for the game), you've done a pretty good job defensively." said Illinois Coach Lou Henson. "Our players knew they had to make the zone hold up and they really made it work.

Freshman sensation Ralph Sampson scored 15 points, blocked 10 shots and pulled down a tournament-record 21 rebounds to lead Virginia past Old Dominion. We got 40 good minutes from him tonight," said Virginia Coach Terry Holland Sampson. "That certainly doesn't make a season but it's something to build on. I think he'll get better with every game he plays. Every success he enjoys builds confidence

Mike Sanders had 14 points and Kiki Vandeweghe 13 to lead UCLA past Stanford. Oregon State edged Clemson as Steve Johnson scored 20 points. Earlier. BYU claimed third place in the Far West as Danny Ainge scored 32 points and handed out seven assists against North Carolina-Charlotte.

In other tournament action, Glenn Vickers scored 17 points to pace Iona over St. Bonaventure 75-67 in the finals of Iona's holiday tournament: Steve Bajema's 24 points led Oklahoma over Louisiana Tech 80-70 for the championship of the All-College tournament: John Stroud scored 32 points to lead Mississippi to a 70-66 decision over Virginia Tech in the championship game of the Sugar Bowl Classic and Pitt won the Connecticut Mutual Classic with a 77-72 victory over Connecticut behind Sam Clancy's 19 points.

this week and if the final tune-up activity is any indication there will be quite a few teams sputtering at the start.

Texas A&M dropped another game last week. Arkansas found itself havingproblems on the road. Texas' emotional actory over previously unbeaten San Francisco was somewhat negated by a loss to New Mexico State. SMU lost its second game of the year and the Houston Cougars not only continued to falter but lost a player as well.

On the upbeat, the Baylor Bears won their fifth game in six starts to help offset a dismal first few weeks and the TCU Horned Frogs are enjoying their best start in seven years.

We're still not very tall," said Baylor coach Jim Haller, whose team evened its record at 5-5 with a 76-67 decision over Davidson last Saturday. "There is not much way to get any taller after the season starts.

mystery, at least in the early going, because it appears that any team in the conference can beat any other team this

Texas A&M came into the season as the decided favorite, but the Aggies have compiled a ho-hum 8-5 non-conference record. A&M lost in the finals of the Pillsbury Classic to Minnesota last Saturday. 69-63.

The Aggies will travel to TCU Thursday night for their conference opener and the Horned Frogs, having put together a 5-3 non-league record, might be ready for an early upset. Rice (2-6) will visit Houston (4-5) and the Cougars will have to guard against an upset as well since they have not played consistent basketball this year. In addition, 6-7 Leonard Mitchell, a star defensive tackle on the Houston football team preparing for Tuesday's Cotton Bowl game, said last week he would not report to the basketball team after the bowl contest. Mitchell has been a key factor in Arkansas (6-2) will host SMU (8-2) in the other conference game Thursday night. Both teams had disappointments last week, the Razorbacks dropping a contest to Memphis State and SMU falling to Vanderbilt

D.C. Youth Orchestra To Grant Last Wish Of Dying Conductor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of a dying conductor's last wish, the D.C. Youth Orchestra will perform Beethoven's Ninth Symphony on the campus of George Washington University tonight.

The late Japanese conductor Setsuo Tsukaharo, a personal friend of the orchestra's conductor, Lin McLain, was especially fond of Beethoven's Ninth, featuring it in his New Year's Eve performances.

McLain and Tsukaharo performed the piece together in 1978 when the D.C. Youth Orchestra visited Japan and played in concert with Tsukaharo's Tokyo Youth Orchestra.

Tsukaharo succumbed to a heart attack last year. His dying wish was for McLain to conduct the Tokyo orchestra in Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. McLain flew to Japan to fulfill Tuskaharo's final request. And he vowed to perform the symphony each New Year's Eve.

The D.C. Youth Orchestra will also be joined by over 30 former members of the

"We had decided many years ago to teach our orchestras the symphony," McLain said. "It is a masterpiece of hope and inspiration."

Tonight's performance will feature over 240 Washington musicians and singers in concert.

Performing as soloists are soprano Elizabeth Ross, mezzo-soprano Renata Babak, tenor Edward Jackson and Baritone Nikita Rosanoff.

The 60-member D.C. Youth Chorale will be joined on stage at Lisner Auditorium by the Duke Ellington School of the Arts Concert Choir and the parents and family members of both the orchestra and chorale.

NEW YORK (AP) - "If I did drugs, I couldn't do everything I have to do," said actress Linda Blair, here to promote her latest film "Roller Boogie," a movie about the roller skating craze in Southern California.

Last September, Miss Blair pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of conspiracy to possess cocaine and was sentenced to three years' probation and ordered to talk to youth groups about drug abuse.

"I'm hoping I can show young people, without sounding like I'm preaching, that there's a lot that can be done without drugs," said the young actress, who will be 21 in January. "I'm really upon natural things. Drugs wear you out. You get old too fast. I don't need it. I've go too much to do.'

Miss Blair said her trouble with the law had more to do with who she is than anything she may have done. "They wanted to set an example for young people that no matter who you are, you can't get out of it.

"Just because I knew people that got themselves in trouble, whether I had anything to do with it or not, which I didn't, I'm in the public eye. And when you're in the public eye people make things happen even if it didn't," she said.

For Miss Blair, "Roller Boogie" represents a significant shift from her more serious portrayals of troubled teen-agers in television movies like "Born Innocent" and "Sara T. Portrait of a Teen-age Alocholic." And it is light years away from "The Exorcist." She was nominated for an Academy Award for her portrayal of a girl possessed pregnant.

GROUP TO APPEAR

"This is my first film that isn't controversial," she said. "I looked at films and said, 'Where are they headed?' I wanted to do something that was entertainment like in the '30s and '40s. This film isn't meant for anything but entertainment. Besides, how many films can you tell people between the ages of 4 and 94 to go see? Not very many

Not a professional skater, Miss Blair had to take lessons to keep up with her costar Jimmy Bray, considered one of the finest roller skaters in the country. In the film, she does most of her own skating and manages to keep up with her high-rolling co-star. How did she learn to skate like that?

"Hitler taught me," she said, laughing. "This girl named Barbara Guedel. I used to call her Hitler. She's really responsible for my skating. I skated six to eight hours a day, almost seven days a week for about three months. I knew if i didn't do it right, they'd bring somebody else in."

Even so, Miss Blair said, they almost did, or at least threatened to. "We're shooting a routine, and Irwin Yablans, the producer, comes in and says we're way over time on the film. If you don't get it, we're just gonna let Barbara do it. I got so mad. I'm the kind of person who doesn't like doubles. I like to do things myself. I said "You will not. I worked so hard for this."

On the next take, she did it perfectly.

"I'm a very determined person," she said. "It's a demanding business, and you can't always be on, but I enjoy it. It's nothing inside me. I don't have a need to act. I just like it. I want to have a family someday. That would be a neat experience. But, what's most important, is that through my work, I hope I can help people

Bostonians Fail To Pay Price To Keep Washingtons' Portraits

BOSTON (AP) - The deadline for raising $5 million to keep the famous portraits of George and Martha Washington hanging in a Boston museum expires today with the drive at least $3 million short of the goal.

But the battle to keep the couple in their long-time home appears to be continuing.

The affair has divided the city's most venerable cultural institutions in what is - for Boston society - an unseemly argument over money. No one is quite sure, now that the public appeal has fallen short, whether George and Martha will someday move to Washington.

On one side is retired Gen. James Gavin, the World War II paratrooper who is leading the fundraising effort. He said Sunday that he believes the paintings will stay where they have hung for more than a century.

On the other is the Boston Athenaeum, a genteel but hard up private library. It simply needs the cash, even if it means selling some of its most prized possessions

"It's all very sad," said Athenaeum director Rodney Armstrong. "This is my nightmare of how it would end up."

At stake are two portraits painted by Gilbert Stuart 183 years ago. The one of George in the original of the likeness on the dollar bill. Some say it is the most famous painting in America.

Although they are owned by the Athenaeum, they have been on loan to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts since 1876. Twice over the past five years, the library offered to sell the paintings to the museum, but the museum refused.

Finally, last April, the library announced that the National Portrait Galin Washington, would pay $5 million for them Boston's politicians and cultural may ens were outraged. The city threatened to sue to keep the art, and the Athenaeum, worried about an expensive court fight, agreed to delay the sale.

Despite television ads, billboards and other fundraising gimmicks, Gavin says the Washingtons Belong In Boston Committee has raised "something less than $1 million." The museum has promised to match whatever the committee comes up with, but the total is still far short of the Athenaeum's asking price.

However, Gavin said the committee's lawyers are dickering with the library's attorneys, and some compromise price

Gavin and others now argue that because the association's money was raised through public subscription, the Athenaeum has no right to sell the paintings. This issue was raised last spring, and the state attorney general said the portraits

Coast Guard Tows Ship To Burial

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) - The Coast Guard took advantage of a break in severe Alaska weather Sunday to tow a fuel-laden freighter to a high seas burial.

When the Lee Wang Zin is scuttled, possibly on New Year's Eve. the bodies of some of its 28 missing crewmen may go with it to the bottom.

Thirty Taiwanese crewmen were aboard the 741-foot ore freighter when it struck a reef and capsized off the northern British Columbia coast on Christmas Day. It drifted north into U.S. waters and became grounded about 40 miles southwest of Ketchican on Thursday.

The bodies of two men have been found. Winds of up to 60 knots and 20foot seas prevented a U.S. Navy diving team from getting into the ship for five days after the accident.

But Saturday, a break in the weather allowed a diver from Ketchikan, Del Hansen, to enter the Lee Wang Zin. He reported finding no survivors and no bod-

Hansen said the ship was not as firmly grounded as originally thought and, after consulting with the Coast Guard, attached a line to the ship's rudder. He was able to free it from the rocks with his 65foot boat.

The line was later transferred to the Coast Guard buoy tender Laurel and what officials called a "very slow and cautious" tow began to a mile-plus-deep site south of Prince of Wales Island.

Coast Guard Petty Officer Phillip Franklin said the tow will be relayed to another Coast Guard cutter or to a private salvage vessel before the ship reaches its final destination with a load of iron ore pellets from British Columbia, carried about 370,000 gallons of fuel.

Franklin said the Coast Guard was taking advantage of the good weather to get the wreck out of the environmentally sensitive Clarence Strait, where seeping oil threatened marine life, birds and salmon and herring spawning grounds.

Coast Guard Crndr. Ray Spoltman, federal on-scene coordinator of the pollution recovery effort, estimated 25 percent to 50 percent of the fuel leaked, adding rough weather dissipated some of the spill

Oil mop-up operations were begun by the Coast Guard on Saturday night at Helms Bay, about 18 miles northwest of Ketchikan. A crew of 26 persons aboard the cutter Cape Romain worked with floodlights and moonlight, lacing oil containment booms and using absorbent pads to mop up fuel.

Franklin said Hansen reported finding no damage to the fuel holds of the Lee Wang Zin, adding the bunker C-type oil solidifies at the colder temperatures and will remain in the ship

Spoltman has received approval to spend $450.000 from a federal oil spill fund. The cost of the cleanup won't be known for some time

The vessel, owned by Lee Wang Zin Navigation, S.A. and of Panamanian registry, had been leased to Japanese interests. Spoltman said the vessel's owners have disclaimed responsibility. He said the government probably will sue to recover its costs.

Land Bureau Beginning

Oil Tract Sale Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management announced Sunday it is beginning the process for another sale of offshore oil tracts on Georges Bank

The first sale of such tracts in the rich fishing area off New England was held Dec. 18 after a series of unsuccessful court actions to block it. The fishing industry and conservationists wanted to keep the area free of offshore drilling.

The bureau's new move will put in the Federal Resister on Monday a call for comment from the public and oil industry on which tracts in the area should be excluded or offered in the sale, tentatively scheduled for 1982.

The area involved is approximately 290 miles long and 163 miles wide, with its center 65 miles southeast of Massachusetts' Cape Cod. The deadline for comments is next Feb. 29.
