NINETEENTH YEAR, No. 50

NEW PARTS FOR OLD

L. F. Johnston, chairman of the Tarrant county USDA defense Board, follows his own advice "to repair farm machinery now" by listing the parts needed on his old tractor which he will need to produce defense foods under the Farm Program in 1942.

Draft Board To Give No More Information

The Bailey County Draft Board will not release for publication any more lists of draftees' names, number of draftees called or call numbers. "In other words," said Ross Smith, secretary of the local board, "all local information formerly given by the draft headquarters here, for publication, will be withheld. All bulletins from state draft officials and all changes of regulations within the Selective Service are now marked as confidential."

Smith further explains that the state board has defined the word "confidential" as meaning "not for release for publication or other informative purposes."

The obvious object of this secrecy is the chance that enemy agents might compile lists of names of men drafted to determine the growing strength of the new army.

Local authorities stated that press releases will be made from time to time by the state board, and that these would be so written that espionage will not benefit from them.

This will make it impossible for this paper to give information regarding the number and names of men to be drafted or already in the service, as in the past.

The new procedure, according to the press reports, does not preclude the publication of the names and ranks of isolated individuals in the armed forces. Information regarding soldiers on leave visiting at home or promotion of men from the ranks is not restricted.

This blanket order affects not only the Bailey County Board, but every board in the country.

Muleshoe FFA Boys Win Third At Littlefield

Muleshoe FFA boys won third place in the Junior Chapter conducting contest held at Littlefield Tuesday that there were numerous instances of automobile tires being stolen over the Plains area, and wishes to warn Muleshoe and Bailey county citizens to take every precaution to protect themselves against the theft of tires.

Cars should not be parked on streets or far away from the house, he said. If you have a garage, put your car in it every night. Above all things, the sheriff stated, car owners should get the serial number of each tire, and put an identification mark on each wheel, so that in case of a theft there would be some chance of reclaiming the property.

The Muleshoe department has made excellent progress for its first year, under the capable direction of P. Winford Jones.

Total Rainfall For 1941 Sets New Record

While the December rainfall, as recorded by the government weather station here, was one of the lightest since the station was established, the total for the year far exceeded anything since records have been kept.

Total for the year was 43.92 inches, or 14.98 inches above the bumper year of 1923. May, June and July brought as much rain as the total for many of the years in the past, and it was during these months that crops were washed away and highways ruined. The month of January showed only 24 inches of rainfall, but from there on, the increase was heavy. In March there was 3.14 inches, far above any previous record for that month.

In some parts of the county the rainfall was said to be better than fifty inches for the year. Although cotton and feed crops were cut short by so much rain, the county will make a fair crop in most all lines except cotton. Final reports on vegetables in the Blackwater Valley was far better than expected.

IOWA FOLKS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Edwards of Hampton, Iowa, arrived in Muleshoe Tuesday evening for a short visit. Since leaving here last spring, they have traveled over a large section of the Middle West and Southwest, and report conditions as fair to exceptionally good. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards are with the F. L. Nickerson Company of Marion, Iowa, and conducted The Journal circulation campaign here last winter. They made hundreds of friends in this territory and Mrs. Edwards stated that she still believes that Bailey county folks are the "salt of the earth."

Christmas cards for this year notably reflect the patriotic motif. Many of them show the flag in various settings.

Car Owners Warned Against Loss By Theft

Sheriff W. E. Renfrow stated Tuesday that there were numerous instances of automobile tires being stolen over the Plains area, and wishes to warn Muleshoe and Bailey county citizens to take every precaution to protect themselves against the theft of tires.

Cars should not be parked on streets or far away from the house, he said. If you have a garage, put your car in it every night. Above all things, the sheriff stated, car owners should get the serial number of each tire, and put an identification mark on each wheel, so that in case of a theft there would be some chance of reclaiming the property.

The Muleshoe department has made excellent progress for its first year, under the capable direction of P. Winford Jones.

Jensmas Write Of Iowa Weather

In renewing their subscription to The Journal just before Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Jensma of Newburg, Iowa, give us some interesting news of that section of the country. Mr. and Mrs. Jensma are long-time readers of The Journal. We are always glad to hear from them and all of our out-of-state subscribers.

Their report follows: "The last few days have been very dry. It shows zero record for that month. Part of November and December was very damp. Our coldest weather was 6 above zero.

Our corn crop in Iowa was 55 bushels to the acre. We have had about three inches of snow so far, mostly gone now. It rained the time farmers were to harvest their soybeans, which delayed them very much. But now the crop is mostly all in, and of a pretty good quality. Corn is nearly all gathered now.

We wish you and yours a merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Respectfully yours,
Mr. and Mrs. Levi Jensma

Blaise by GEORGE MARSH

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—Six men traveled the Chibougamau trail in the wilds of northern Canada. Six men died. They were reported drowned in the rapids.

CHAPTER II—The inhabitants are in terror of Isadore and his right-hand man, Tete-Blanche.

CHAPTER III—On the second day out, just as they had safely passed the worst of the rapids, the three investigators were ambushed from above.

CHAPTER IV—From Indians Blaise learned ten days later that there is much excitement among them over "big birds" from the south.

CHAPTER V—Finlay and Malone visit Isadore in his magnificent home. A sly attempt to poison them is frustrated by a clever trick by Malone.

CHAPTER VI—Wabistan, chief of the Montagnais, tells Finlay that the men who lost their lives on the Waswanipi were shot, and talks of a "bird" that makes a loud noise.

CHAPTER VII—Wabistan shows Finlay the grave of his brother Bob. Garry identifies the remains and notes the absence of a ring that Bob always wore.

CHAPTER VIII—The Indians have been stirred up to believe that the survivors of the expedition are "evil eyes," that is causing sickness among their children.

CHAPTER IX—Garry meets Lisa in response to her appeal. He is surrounded and knocked unconscious by Isadore's men after killing three of them.

CHAPTER X—Garry awakens consciousness in a tree and suffers tortures from insect bites. The dog, Flame, chews through the leather thongs and releases him.

CHAPTER XI—Finlay receives a note from Lisa protesting her interference in the ambush, and warning him that his life depends upon his leaving the country at once.

Th. swa: my b. faith in It was i. the beach l. to. Later, he had been some you, too real t. Now I know that edge they followed beach. "I cannot meet y week. You'll hear fr. But please don't worry. care of you. I've just rec news from the railroad. 1 is coming soon. Everything t out all right. Kiniebk has c crossed Isadore to save his hid. I'm leaving tonight for the hea. the lake. Keep a brave heart. Y are safe.

Finishing reading Red said: "Great stuff, chief! Wish it was true! If Isadore gets hold of this note, what a jolt he'll get!"

"Exactly. I had to consider that possibility so fed him a headache. It would send Tete-Blanche to the head of the lake hunting us while we're making for Matagami. Besides, I've got to keep up her courage."

Having ordered Moose and Michel Wabistan to meet him on his return with news from the old chief, that night Finlay passed Isadore's and spent the next day concealed near the outlet.

The following evening the Peterboro slipped into the Quiet Water, the slow moving thoroughfare connecting Waswanipi with the chain of large lakes to the west. Three days paddle away lay Matagami and the Hudson's Bay post.

The mark of a thick July night blanketed forest and water. "It's made to order for me, Garry!" whispered Red, from the waist of the boat where he sat behind Flame with his Lee-Enfield across his knees while, in the stern, Blaise handled the canoe with a bated paddle.

"Remember the island which splits the river about five miles below here?" returned Garry. "That's where they'll camp. They'll figure that a canoe can't pass there without being seen or heard. But they didn't count on a night like this."

"How about Flame when he winds them?" "He can't bark with that gag in his mouth. Further he'll muffle his head with a blanket. He might mumble a bit if he gets their scent."

"If they hear us and shoot do we lie doggo and push through, or—?" "We don't fire unless we have to wait to pass them without their knowing it. We have to return this way, you know."

"Very good, sergeant! Good luck to us!" "It's blacker out here than a cedar swamp. We ought to fade past that island like a shadow."

"We've traveled three hours on this mile and a half current," Finlay announced. "We can't be far from that island."

"Ah-hah! Not far now!" assented Blaise. "If they're guarding both channels, we've got to pass within yards of them. Have a pineapple handy, Red! Warn us when you throw it so we can flatten."

"I'm hot to toss one into that mob!" "All right! Remember, no firing unless we're caught!"

Again the canoe took up its slow drift but the men in waist and bow were now stiff on knees nursing the triggers of cocked rifles. Across the gunwale in front of each lay a setting pole ready for instant use, by the side of a paddle. From the forest buried in murk came no sound except the muffled thumping of the hind feet of a snowshoe rabbit, signalling. On went the canoe with a crew whose nerves were taut as harp strings.

As they rounded a bend Blaise stopped the boat with a swift thrust of his paddle. In the distance, like a new moon smothered in drift, a yellow smudge stained the blackness. "They've got a fire!" whispered Finlay. "I don't understand it!"

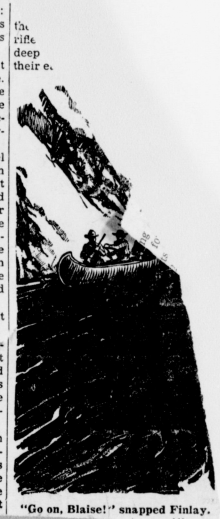

"We drop close and have a look," returned Blaise. The canoe moved on and was again checked. "You hear dem?" "No."

"Singing!" muttered Red. "The damned fools are singing. They continued and the yellow smear in the black wall grew larger. Three pairs of straining eyes now made out blurred shapes in the splash of fire-glow. The canoe moved nearer and through the murk drifted voices and laughter.

"They're drunk!" whispered Garry. "They sure are!" returned Malone, inhaling the damp air through his teeth. "Ah-hah! De Montagnais drink Isadore's whiskey!" grunted Blaise. "Indians! So Tete-Blanche wins!"

Disappointment, like wind off a barren, turned Finlay cold. "Kiniebk's won over the Montagnais! Thank God, we didn't bring Lisa!"

CHAPTER: Three days later the Peterboro slid into the g at the Hudson's Bay po

"Go on, Blaise!" snapped Finlay.

Carrier Pigeons Play Big Part In War Program

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 19—Even birds are joining Uncle Sam's army, and believe it or not, they play a big part in winning the war...

There's no joke about this. The species referred to is the Antwerp Messenger Pigeon, commonly called the carrier pigeon.

In the Army Signal Corps they have what is known as a Pigeon Service, and one of the eight base lofts in the United States is located in Texas to serve the Army Eighth Corps Area.

The legislature last year passed a law making it illegal to kill or maim or molest any of these carrier pigeons in Texas.

Enlistment Of Men For Air Base Announced

Announcement that enlistment for units of the Advanced Flying School, ten miles west of Lubbock, will be handled locally, was made Monday afternoon by Col. Thomas L. Gilbert, commanding officer of the base, who said that Capt. C. L. Prichard will serve as recruiting officer and has set up enlistment headquarters at 702 Main Street, Lubbock.

Approximately 1,000 men will be enlisted, Colonel Gilbert said. Necessary qualifications for enlistment were outlined as follows, for men between the ages of 18 to 35:

Those under 21 must have consent of parents.

Those applicants who are not high school graduates must pass an orientation test.

Married men are acceptable provided they are willing to sign a statement that their dependents do not have to rely on them for support.

All applicants for enlistment 20 years of age or older should present to the recruiting officer a statement from their selective board that they are not employed in technical positions for the Army or Navy and that they have not been ordered to report for induction.

"They must be physically fit. Local enlistments for units of the new flying school should prove especially interesting to men in this entire area, Colonel Gilbert said. Those enlisting, after proving themselves, will have an opportunity to enroll for married men's technical training. This training for highly technical jobs will be of great value in the future and is an absolute necessity now to "keep 'em flying."

YOUNGSTERS ENJOY FIRST RIDE ON PASSENGER TRAIN

One of the greatest thrills of their young lives was enjoyed by some twenty members of Mrs. R. N. Huckabee's kindergarten class Monday, when they were taken to Clovis, N. M., by train. It was the first experience for most of them, and a special representative of the Santa Fe was assigned to show them through the train.

They are still talking about the many wonderful things the "fine Santa Fe man" showed them about the train and the people they met, who were passengers. One lady gave them a dollar to buy ice cream cones when they got to Clovis. They returned to Muleshoe by automobile, but the trip back was not near so wonderful as the big Santa Fe passenger train.

Earth flew in all directions as the golf noices attempted to hit the ball. After many failures, he turned to the caddy and said: "My word, the worms must think there's an earthquake on."

"I dunno," replied the lad. "The worms are very cunning. I'll bet they are hiding under the ball for safety."

Dignity Of Tech Professors Upheld On Bicycles

LUBBOCK, Tex., Feb. 2.—Professional dignity is not jarred by pumping a bicycle in war time is the opinion of 10 percent of Texas Tech's faculty. As compared with three male professors and one secretary defying conventions this time last year by pedaling to and from the college campus, a total of 21 faculty members and office workers of both sexes now save gas, tires, shoe leather and oil wastelights by adopting the velocipede for transportation. Bicycle conveyance is cheaper than driving an automobile and faster than walking, they observe. Those who have purchased second hand bicycles "for the duration," at an average cost of $15, estimate that they will pay for their investment by the conclusion of this school semester in June. One aggie prof, who has been riding a bike to classes for two years "on good days when I have no errands to run," thinks he has cut $2 a month from his gasoline bill.

"Besides having fun and getting some good exercise," says one faculty woman, "I save my tires and have cut my gasoline cost in half. She admitted, however, having to re-charge the battery more often because the car is not getting used.

Greatest obstacles to happiness in this new form of travel for many seem to be (1) West Texas wind, (2) lack of adequate package space, and (3) need arising for trips to town, etc., when the car is at home. Women faculty members and secretaries have yet to work out a satisfactory costume for riding that is suitable for office or classroom. Men professors look forward to warmer spring weather when they may dispense with overcoats, "because coats catch in the chain gear." Most of those riding bicycles merely supplement use of the family car, although seven of the 21 are not car owners.

TO CONTINUE TEACHING

The U. S. War Department has suggested that the University of Texas Medical School continue its faculty in teaching duties rather than releasing them to the General Army hospital. Need for continual training of doctors is urgent, the department notified Dr. Homer P. Rainey, U. T. president.

American college students have united and are calling for an immediate place in the war effort, student opinion surveys conducted by the University of Texas on a nationwide scale indicate.

Lunching American Bacon

American bacon sandwiches form the lunch of this British coal miner, photographed as he halted work for a meal far underground. U. S. farmers are making it possible to send thousands of tons of pork, dairy, and poultry products overseas, thereby giving new strength to the English people in their fight against Nazi Germany.

Ship Shape
One of the strangest of salt water creatures is the sea horse which swims standing up, with its body vertical, and moves steadily and quite rapidly by means of a funny little fin on the middle of his back. This moves so swiftly that it seems to revolve and appears exactly like the screw of a propeller, so that the little creature has the effect of being driven along by means of an out-board motor attached to his back. Then, when he wishes to rest or to remain in one spot, he anchors himself by twisting his funny, curly, monkey-like tail about a piece of sea-weed or stone or other object.

The koala, or "living Teddy Bear," found in Australia, obtains its moisture by eating young eucalyptus leaves.

Why do we use this picture to dramatize our SURE STARTS?

If ever you could say of any motor fuel that it is full of anything, bulldog determination to start cold, icy engines... that motor fuel is Phillips 66 Poly Gas!

It is high test, loaded with instant-firing elements, engineered to produce marvelously quick starting. Yet it costs not a penny more.

That's why it's the "hot" gas for cold weather. Try just one tankful and see if you don't feel that difference.

Remember, the Orange and Black 66 Shield is High Test Headquarters for car owners... because Phillips is the WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of natural high test gasoline.

Polishing Shoes Way To Give Them Long Life

With this nation rolling up its sleeves for a victory effort, clothing must last as well as tires and automobiles. That goes for shoes, too, and the way to give shoes a long life is to polish them. Polishing shoes feeds the leather, makes it pliable, and protects it.

Many shoes come to an early end because they get wet and aren't properly dried, says Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist for the Texas A. and M. college Extension Service. Shoes should be dried slowly, never in a hot place like an oven, or in front of an open fire.

This is the right way to dry shoes: First, wash off all mud with a damp cloth and wipe the surface as dry as possible. Oil the shoes lightly all over with castor oil. Rub it in well. Then stuff the shoes with crumpled paper or with oats to help keep their shape and absorb moisture. Set the shoes in a moderately warm place for several hours or overnight. Polish them when they're dry.

Waterproofing helps protect shoes, but it does not take the place of overshoes or rubber boots for walking in water, slushy snow, or soft mud. Here is a good mixture for waterproofing. 8 ounces of natural wool grease, 4 ounces of dark petroleum jelly or vaseline, and 4 ounces of paraffin wax. Melt all three ingredients in a shallow rectangular pan such as a bread tin, as large as the sole of the shoe. Let the shoe stand about 15 minutes in enough of this waterproofing mixture to cover the sole and be some saturated with the grease. "Don't have the grease hotter than the hand can bear," Mrs. Barnes warns, "and don't let the rubber heels get in the grease."

Canvasser: "You make a small deposit, then you make no more payments for six months."
Prospect: "Who told you about us?"

War in Far East

WITH ALLIED STRATEGY in the Far East temporarily upset by the sudden and treacherous nature of the Japanese attack on the Philippines, Singapore and Hawaii, every ship counts—and so this heavy Greek cruiser, together with other units of the Greek navy, is now stationed in Eastern waters to cooperate with the Allied American, British, Australian and Dutch fleets in guarding strategic outposts. The Greek Government in London recently announced that Greek warships already have accounted for 95,000 tons of enemy shipping since the war began, which is about double the tonnage lost by the United States at Pearl Harbor.
