IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS -

INSURANCE CONTRACT

It is possible today to insure against almost anything within reason. You can insure yourself against home accidents, theft, automobile injuries, life, fire, health, and business risks.

The law covering insurance is vast. Yet basically your protection rests on the same simple elements of any contract.

1. Offer and acceptance: You must offer to pay for the insurance, and the company must accept you as a proper risk.

2. A "consideration": The premium you pay in return for which the company gives you certain protection.

3. A lawful purpose: You cannot insure an unlawful activity. You may insure yourself against burglary, but a burglar cannot take out a policy to insure his success.

4. Competency: The parties to an insurance contract must be

THE QUITAQUE TRIBUNE - THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1962

"competent" to enter it. And, as a rule, anyone who can enter any other contract can enter an insurance contract.

5. A special rule: You must have an "insurable interest". You cannot take out fire insurance on some old house down the street that you think will go up in smoke. That is you cannot insure it unless you have some interest in it, such as a mortgage or an option to purchase. Nor can you insure the life of just anyone. You can only insure somebody whose life means something to you - a close relative, a breadwinner, a partner or the like.

You can insure your house against loss by fire, but you cannot take out several policies with different companies which total much more than the true value of your house and expect to collect the full amount on all of these policies in case of fire. The theory behind insurance is to protect you from loss, not to enable you to make a profit.

MISSIONARIES FROM CHILE TO SPEAK AT METHODIST CHURCH

First Methodist Church announces that, this Sunday afternoon (Feb. 18), at 4:30, there will be a special service with Senora Ester Rossell and Senora Eliza de Elphick of Santiago, Chile. People from all churches are invited. A buffet supper will follow the service.

These two ladies are described as "two of the most consecrated, dynamic, and colorful women of the Methodist Church in the Republic of Chile." Senora Rossell is a Chilean. She was born and reared in Chile, the daughter of a Presbyterian minister. Her mother was a talented and educated woman and taught Ester at home. Today Senora Rossell is about 50 years of age and is an approved supply pastor of The Methodist Church. Her deep dedication and outstanding abilities led the Church to send her to San Ramon in Santiago several years ago to establish and carry on the work of the small mission outpost in this poverty-ridden section of the capitol city. Her first meeting in the small, unpainted wooden structure which measures 16 by 22 feet, was with five children. From this very humble beginning Senora Rossell has seen it grow until today there is a thriving congregation numbering around 100. In addition to her work as a pastor, she carries on a primary school in the small church building nine months of the year. She has 75 children of kindergarten to third grade age. She has one helper. For all of the work that she does Ester Rossell receives a monthly salary of $35 to $40. There are months when she does not get this. Living costs are scarcely lower than in the United States. Senora Eliza de Elphick was born and reared in Sweden, coming to Chile 41 years ago as a missionary of the Salvation Army. Several years later she was married to a Methodist minister, Dr. Elphick, who was then pastor of First Methodist Church in Santiago. They had one son, Eric, near the end of his illustrious career Dr. Elphick was elected a bishop of the Methodist Church and served in this capacity until his retirement. He passed away in May of 1961 at the age of 87.

Senora Elphick is known all over Chile for her work among abandoned and homeless children. Twenty-one years ago she founded an institution for the care and placement of children. Her interest was sparked into action one bitterly cold morning 21 years ago when she saw two little boys around 6 years of age frozen to death under a Santiago bridge where they had sought shelter the night before. She has personally raised most of the finances that have carried this institution on. Today she still does not own any land or buildings to insure the continuation of her great work after her passing from the human scene. Her great desire is to see this done before her death. Decorations have been bestowed upon her by the King of Sweden and the President of the Republic of Chile for outstanding services performed. She is a Local Deacon of the Methodist Church and serves through First Methodist Church which her step-son-in-law pastors. Senora Rossell's church is desperately in need of additional ground and a larger building. It is hoped that friends in the United States will be aroused to help in this cause and also with the work with homeless children being carried on by Senora Elphick.

REPAIRS NEEDED ON LOCAL NEGRO BAPTIST CHURCH

The membership of the local Negro Baptist Church is small but they love their place of worship. A new roof is needed, the material for which will cost around $90, and the building needs to be stuccoed on the outside. The entire inside could stand a face-lifting job. The small membership badly needs some help from the entire community of Quitaque to accomplish this. A small beginning was made last Sunday at First Methodist Church when some $40 was received toward some of these needs. Minnie Mae Roberson, the Methodist treasurer, would be glad to receive other donations toward this need. The good people of Quitaque will want to help!

LOCAL PEOPLE REPORT
Yarborough's staff, headed by Alex Dickie, Jr., former Texas Farmers Union president. Important issues expected to be debated in Congress this year were discussed with their Congressional delegation. These included the need for long range farm supply management programs, adequate loan funds for the Farmers Home Administration, Federal Aid to Education, extension of the Social Security System to provide health care for the aged and the matter of taxation of farmer's co-operatives.

The Farmers Union Delegations told their Congressmen that the farm income and price situation was critical and that a new long range farm bill was needed which would solve the problem of surpluses and at the same time raise farm income. The Farmers Union members expressed confidence in Secretary of Agriculture Orville C. Freeman, and some of his new approaches to the farm problem.

They also pointed out that farmers, with the help of Government, need greater control over production and market supply, and that farmers were entitled to a per capita farm income equivalent to that enjoyed by non-farm people.

Another issue discussed, was the lack of adequate funds to meet production expenses. Capital is also needed for the construction of new buildings, and the purchase of new machinery. Short term loans are needed for operating farm expenses. Congressmen were urged to insist that funds for Farmers Home Administration be greatly increased. The point was also made that the REA needs vastly increased funds to loan to farmers for the building of generating and transmitting facilities.

The current proposal to drastically revise tax revenues, especially in regard to farmers co-operatives, was given a great deal of attention by the Farmers Union members in their discussions with Congressmen. Various members of the delegations pointed out that certain proposals would add greatly to burdens of farmers and harass and weaken farmers cooperatives.

One of the highlights of the Farmers Union Bus-Tripper program was the opportunity given members to discuss current agricultural programs with the officials of the U.S.D.A.

The State Department was visited, also, where speakers discussed the great foreign policy issues, including foreign trade and aid program of the United States Government, such as the Peace Corps, Food for Peace, and the Alliance for Progress. Farmers Union is a strong supporter for assistance to underdeveloped countries.

Also pointed out was the skyrocketing cost of hospital care and health insurance and the urgent need to extend the social security system to provide this health care to senior citizens by means of the King-Anderson Bill, HR-4222.

County President Jim Reed also met with the House Agriculture Committee on Feb. 7th and later had a very interesting visit with the Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman about state and local problems. He was assured that immediate attention would be given to these problems.

The Gaston Owens attended both morning and evening services at First Baptist Church at Turkey last Sunday. The Rev. P. A. Powell, former pastor at Turkey, spoke at both services. The Powells and the Owens were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brantley. Sunday evening Rev. and Mrs. Powell stopped for a short visit at the Owens home before returning to their home at Idalou.

H. G. WELLS SEEKS RE-ELECTION
Wells of Tulia, Texas, Wells is 28 years old. He attended public school in Tulia, Texas, graduating from Tulia High School in 1950, where he was elected president of the student body. He was again elected president of the student body of North Texas State College while majoring in Government at that college, and in his senior year was selected "Outstanding Student of the Year." Upon graduation from North Texas State College with a BA degree in government, Wells volunteered and entered the army. After two years active duty in the army, H. G. returned to Tulia where he served as government and history teacher in the Tulia High School system and completed graduate work in government at West Texas State College.

In 1957 Wells began work on his law degree at the University of Texas and in 1960 was admitted to the Texas Bar. While in the army, Wells received the Freedoms Foundation Award. He also has received the American Legion Citizenship award and the Battle of Flower Orators Award. He is a member of the First Methodist Church in Tulia, the Kiwanis Club, Toastmasters, and the Texas Bar.

In H. G. Wells' first term in the Texas Legislature, he was named to the Agriculture, Education, Conservation and Reclamation, Constitutional Amendments, and Judiciary committees. In his second term he served as vice chairman of the important Rules Committee, chairman of the Engrossed Bills Committee, and member of the Five Man Insurance Investigation Committee. He also held membership on the powerful State Affairs Committee and recently was named to school districts.

Fredda's Beauty Shop
Rayette, Caryl Richards and Zola's Permanents

Wells has been a leading worker for improvement of our public education system, a fighter for retention of private ownership of underground water, and a sponsor of much agricultural legislation. He has advocated and sponsored legislation calling for loan shark regulation, revision of the merit rating plan, an adequate juvenile parole system, and modernization of our criminal laws.

In the recent special session, Wells authored the bill and spearheaded the fight to bring gas companies serving irrigated areas under the regulatory powers of the Railroad Commissions, arguing that farmers deserve the same protection accorded city gas users.

In announcing for re-election, Wells stated that he would campaign extensively throughout the district and that he would release a detailed platform in the near future.
