New Dams Being Constructed In Area

Finishing touches have been put on one dam and construction of a new one has been started here in our area this week.

The dam located just west of the Johnny Cagle home has been completed and a very large dam is being built north of town on the land owned by Theo Geissler.

The new dam will be located on what is known as Dry Creek just as it flows into Holmes Creek. The dam will back up water on the C. A. Hawkins farm adjoining the Geissler land.

Geissler and Hawkins are financing the project and construction is being done by Billy and Euman Lyles.

A good sized lake will be backed up by the dam. 83,000 cu. yards of dirt will be used to construct the dam, which will be around 60 feet tall. The Caprock country all around the dam site will furnish a huge drainage area for the lake-to-be.

Devil's Hollow, one of this area most famous scenic spot will cease to be when the work is completed and those who might wish to see the spot again or visit it for the first time should do it within the next three weeks, when construction is scheduled to be finished.

There is a great deal of interest in dam construction in this area now and more will be heard during the next several years since work will begin on the Kent Creek Watershed in the near future and several others in this vicinity have indicated that they are interested in constructing dams on their property.

TEXAS STATE GOVERNMENT SPENDS NATIONS' FIFTH LARGEST AMOUNT FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES

Texas State Government in the fiscal year ending in June 1961 paid out the nation's fifth largest amount of money for educational purposes, the Dallas Field Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce reported.

During the fiscal year, the State's government expended approximately $506,446,000 for the education of its students, an amount exceeded only in the state of California, New York, Michigan and Pennsylvania. In doing so, however, Texas dropped from third place in rank among the states in 1951 to fifth place in 1961.

Texas' per capita expenditures last year of $51.74 took it from 12th position among all states in 1951 to twenty-sixth place last year. During the decade, the state dropped behind such other states in per capita payments as Arizona, Alabama, Montana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Colorado, Oklahoma, North Dakota, West Virginia, New York, Georgia, Indiana, Vermont and Florida.

Harry C. Meyers, manager of the Commerce Department's Dallas Field Office said, an analysis of a report just released by the Bureau of the Census on State Government finances revealed that Texas more than doubled its outgo of funds for education in the past decade.

Guests in the Lon McKay home for Mother's Day were Mrs. Corky Davis and Scotty, Mrs. Denzil Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Bud McKay and Russell, all of Amarillo; and Mrs. Bill Lane and three children of Turkey.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Duck; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Farley and children, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ramsey, Jr. and children, all of Quitaque; Mrs. H. G. Boyles and children of Silverton; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe King of Cactus spent Sunday in Amarillo at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Snow of Silverton visited Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Saul Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Tracy Drake fell at her home Tuesday and suffered a badly bruised knee.

She was taken to Amarillo by Roberts Funeral Home Ambulance, where X-rays were taken, showing no broken bones. Mrs. Drake went to the home of her son, Shug Drake in Amarillo, and will remain until her knee is improved.

After eleven straight days of high winds and several days when it looked like it could rain without trying very hard, the skies finally opened up and gave our immediate area a good soaking.

The official gauge at the City Hall caught 2.05 inches of moisture and most reports around town have been a like amount. The rains were lighter south of town and Flomot is reported to have received only a trace. Skies are still cloudy early Thursday morning and the forecast is for more rain this afternoon.

Mrs. Jack Holcomb was in from Turkey Thursday morning and reports that Turkey had a good rain, also, though not as much as was received here. She said that in the Wolf Flat community east of Turkey, only about a quarter of an inch of rain fell.

Most residents were awakened a few minutes after eleven P. M. by the sound of hail stones battering their homes but fortunately the hail only last a short time. The hail that did fall was the size of large marbles and were big enough to knock out the crops but there have been no reports in this area of damage to amount to anything.

Some of the crops that were up will undoubtedly have to be replanted. B. K. Hamilton says that he is almost sure that he will have to replant some of his. That is to be expected in this country, however.

Residents are smiling here today. It was truly a million-dollar rain. The Valley was getting real dry.

WALTER ROGER'S NEWSLETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT:

WHY Mr. Norman?
"Mr. Norman" is Mr. James M. Norman, who resides in Memphis, Texas. He was wronged by the government — his own Federal government; not deliberately wronged, perhaps, but nevertheless a victim of too much red tape or inefficiency or perhaps, a reasonable mistake. In any event, Mr. Norman has been out $2,001.48 which in the opinion of the House of Representatives (which passed a bill for his relief), he is entitled to recover. He would have been well on his way to recovering it, had the other body of the Congress (sometimes referred to as the Senate) proceeded to discuss his bill for relief on its merits. However, when the bill for the relief of James M. Norman came up on the calendar of the Senate, an amendment known as the Mansfield-Dirksen Amendment was offered, to substitute the provisions of S. 2750, a bill to bar arbitrary literacy tests in Federal elections, for the contents of the Norman bill. Mr. Mansfield is the Majority Leader of the Senate and a Democrat. Mr. Dirksen is the Minority Leader of the Senate, and a Republican. So, it would seem that Mr. Norman involuntarily became a bipartisan victim. If the amendment is adopted, it will mean that Mr. James M. Norman, individual citizen of the United States, will be denied the relief to which he is entitled and be forced to begin anew the mechanics of obtaining a recovery of his money. The irony of the situation lies in the fact that the debate in S. 2750 will no doubt produce much weeping and wailing about the violation of the rights of the individual citizens of the United States of America. Yet here is Mr. Norman, an innocent victim of the fault of the Federal government, whose rights as an individual citizen are being ignored and encroached upon. And, this encroachment of individual rights in this particular instance is being used as a platform or a vehicle from which to argue against the encroachment of individual rights in this particular instance is being tent is inconsistency?.

The facts of the Norman case are simply this: in 1952 he was approached by representatives of the Federal government to purchase crop insurance on property owned by him in Foard County, Texas. He yielded to the entreaties and agreed to purchase the crop insurance. Under the rules then applicable, such crop insurance, once purchased, remained in force and was reinstated each year unless affirmatively cancelled by the landowner. And in the event a landowner did not cancel his insurance, he was charged the premium for the full year and it could be collected from him by law and, in fact, was in many cases. Hence, Mr. Norman was insured beginning with the 1952 crop year, and from year to year afterward, through 1958. For some unexplained reason, the description records reflected section 26 rather than section 16. This was unknown to Mr. Norman, as he had not made out the applications but had only signed them in the first instance at the request of the representatives of the Federal government. In 1952, 1953, 1954, 1955, and 1957, indemnities were claimed in accordance with the contract and were paid by the proper agency in the Department of Agriculture. It will be remembered that this was the period of the long drought in Texas. In 1948 there was another crop failure and Mr. Norman again claimed the indemnity to which he was entitled. It was then that the Department of Agriculture discovered that his land was actually section 16 and not section 26. They also discovered that section 16 was not in an insurable area, although this fact had never been made known to Mr. Norman. Consequently, the 1958 claim was rejected and a demand was made upon Mr. Norman to pay the Federal government the sum of $2,001.48. When Mr. Norman made these facts known to me, I immediately instituted an investigation of the matter and concluded that Mr. Norman was not at fault, but that the fault lay with the Federal government. In fact, had the insurer been a private corporation instead of the Federal government and had made the same mistake, any claim Mr. Norman would have been barred by the statute of limitations, or Mr. Norman could have successfully defended a law suit from an equitable standpoint. However, not so with the Federal government. Under the circumstances, I introduced a bill for the relief of Mr. James M. Norman in the summer of 1960. Due to the lateness of the time, the bill was not reached during that session of Congress. Hence, on January 3, 1961, I reintroduced the bill and proper hearings were had before the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives. The bill, H.R. 1361, was favorably reported from the Committee and was subsequently passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate. It passed through the Judiciary of that body and was placed on the calendar for consideration by the Senate. Mr. Norman was kept fully advised of the progress of the measure, as scribbled to the policy that in this country justice is slow, but sure. There is no doubt in his mind about it being slow, but when his bill became the vehicle for a civil rights dispute with the bipartisan support of both the Republican and the Democratic Parties, I wonder now if Mr. Norman is not somewhat skeptical about justice being sure. In any event, let it be known here and now that we shall continue the fight for justice, whether it be Mr. Norman or any other citizen of this nation who is entitled to redress.

Classes will be held during the Training Union hour every Sunday from 6:30 to 7:30 P. M.

ESPECIALLY FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

The week after school is out, our young people and intermediates will receive a note from the Pastor. This will be a personal invitation for each of them to come by and give time for getting better acquainted. Two and one-half hours two afternoons a week will be devoted to these young people.

It is hoped that any young person who is planning marriage will give time for at least four one-hour periods of preparation with the Pastor.

The Pastor's training and interest will demand that he be available to meet the needs of everyone. He tries to use each morning to study and can normally be reached by a phone call at other times of the day.

— Methodist News — SUNDAY IS "MINISTRY SUNDAY"

One Sunday each year is designated by the Methodist Church as "Ministry Sunday". It is the purpose to remind each member of each local Church of his obligation to help maintain a spiritual atmosphere in which the youth can be confronted by the claims of Christ, and will be encouraged to respond to the call of Christ to the Ministry, if it should come to them. It is the goal of the denomination to secure 2400 enlistments each year to meet the present need for ministers.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL BEGINS MONDAY AFTERNOON

1921. Forty years later it averaged about 65 cents a pound. In the same four decades, income per person nearly quadrupled.

The homely hen lays one.
The codfish never cackles, to tell you what she's done—
And so we scorn the codfish
While the humble hen we prize.
It only goes to show you
That it pays to advertise."

To the People of Briscoe County

May I take this means of expressing my sincere and heartfelt appreciation for the wonderful vote of confidence given to me in my bid for re-election to the office of County Judge. Although defeated, may I say to those of you who continued to place your faith, trust and confidence in me by casting your vote for me, "THANKS A MILLION". No man ever had more loyal supporters and better friends.

To those of you who did not see fit to vote for me, let me state that I recognize and respect your right, privilege and duty to vote for the man whom you believe to be best qualified to fulfill the duties of the office of County Judge, and which will best serve the interests and welfare of the people of Briscoe County.

Once again, as I have many times in the past, let me express my sincere appreciation to each and every individual in Briscoe County, for the wonderful support and cooperation given to me while serving as your County Judge. It is my hope and trust that you will give to my successor the same fine type of support and cooperation.

There are no better and finer people anywhere than the people of Briscoe County, and it is my humble prayer that God may bless and prosper each of you in the days to come.

YOUR COUNTY JUDGE,
J. W. Lyon, Jr.

Hi-Plains Hi-Lights

NEWS from the High Plains Research Foundation

Four different irrigation methods and four fertilizer treatments on cotton were tested to determine the effect on the efficiency of cotton at the High Plains Research Foundation in 1961.

James G. Valliant, recently promoted from Assistant to Associate Water Engineer, stated that the tests were designed to determine the combination or irrigation method and fertilizer treatment which would produce the greatest net return and the highest irrigation stages of growth, first bloom or efficiency in the production of cotton. Four irrigation methods combined with 4 fertilizer treatments and three varieties of cotton were used. The irrigation methods were: (1) First bloom only, (2) First bloom plus mid-bloom, (3) First bloom, mid-bloom and September 5 compared with (4) dryland cotton. Full Details of the test are in the complete High Plains Research Foundation Report No. 45, issued in April, 1962.

The three varieties of cotton were Gregg, representing early maturing; Lockett 88-A, representing mid-maturing, and Paymaster 88-90, representing late maturing as well as the open-boll type cotton.

Mr. Valliant concluded from these tests that, "Results from the 1931 cotton irrigation test indicated that in early and mid-maturing cotton, response to the fertilizer is directly related to the rate of irrigation water, while the response to fertilizer in late maturing cotton could be due to the period of time the plant demands nutrients."

The 1961 results indicate that applying irrigation water at early first bloom and mid-bloom and a low rate of fertilizer will produce the highest practical irrigation efficiency. Balancing time of irrigation and amount of fertilizer can increase lint cotton, net return per inch of irrigation water and net return per acre.

Fertilizer applications on a per acre basis were: 40 pounds of nitrogen and 60 pounds of phosphorus; 80 pounds of nitrogen and 60 pounds of phosphorus; 120 pounds of nitrogen and 60 pounds of phosphorus, compared to the nonfertilized plots.

This type of research was conducted in 1960 as well as in 1961 and will be conducted in 1962.
