Fire Destroys Willie Gragson Home

This was a home . . .

Tribune Photo

Fire completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Gragson shortly after noon Wednesday. The house, located on the Paul Hamilton farm about six miles northeast of Quitaque, and all the Gragson's furnishings and clothing was a total loss.

The Gragsons had moved to the farm just a few short weeks ago.

Willie was on the job in town and Laurene was at home when the tragic accident took place. She was in the yard working and the three children were inside when she saw smoke coming from inside the house. She ran inside and got the children out and had to drive to town to turn in the alarm. By the time the fire truck arrived the fire was out of control.

Grant, the oldest son of the Gragsons received two burns on one of his arms, but according to his father, not seriously. Although such a loss is a tremendous one for anyone to suffer, Willie and Laurene are most grateful that the fire was discovered in time to rescue the children from the burning house.

Friends and neighbors of the entire community started a fund immediately to help the victims of this tragedy. With the exception of a loss by death, such a loss as this is one of the toughest to bear. Few people, of course, are financially able to afford such a loss as a burnout, but things are lost in a fire that can never be replaced, such as pictures and keepsakes that might not be worth much to anyone else but are priceless to the ones concerned.

Pete Rice has asked that the Tribune announce that anyone who wishes to help the Gragson family in any way may leave their gift at Rice Dry Goods.

Mrs. T. E. Long of Matador, mother of Mrs. Jimmy Baird, is in the hospital in Matador. She has been there for a week.

Flomot News

Mrs. L. B. Turner

The Flomot 4-H Club went to Matador July 20 and 21, and participated in the Motley County 4-H Dress Revue. There were five entrants in the Junior Division: Donna Sue Rogers, Sherrilyn Calvert, Kathy Gilbert, Barbara Moseley and Judy Mitchell. Four of these Flomot 4-H girls were in the Junior Division and one in the Senior Division.

Donna Sue Rogers entered a cotton dress of pink and white check and made into a dressy dress that won the highest points in the county in the Junior Division.

Sherrilyn Calvert won second place in the county with her pink flowered dressy dress.

Each garment was judged on appearance, construction along with the record submitted with the entry and final score was tabulated after the garment was modeled by the girl and poise and grooming had their part in the scoring.

The winners will compete in the District 4-H Dress Revue in Wichita Falls August 17th.

The Adult Sponsors are quite proud of these 4-H Club girls and want to encourage each girl to keep up the good work.

This is the second year in succession that Flomot Juniors have had high score in the County and the sponsors as well as others are greatly pleased with the results. One adult sponsor said she sees no reason why Flomot 4-H Club should not have a state entrant and winner.

In 1961 Glynda Crowell was high score girl in the Junior Div. of the County. Due to illness, she was unable to enter this time.

The ones from Flomot that attended the encampment of Dickens and Motley Counties 4-H Clubs were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whitaker and son, Jan, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Reed, Mrs. L. W. FARM SALES UP BUT NET INCOME IS DOWN

Farmers, like other businessmen in recent years have their gross sales but have received less net income, reports C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

The nation's farmers have increased gross sales since 1945 by 46 percent but their net income has declined more than 9 percent, Bates adds. Gross income in 1945 was $25.7 billion and production expenses were $12.9 billion. Net income equaled $12.8 billion. By 1960, gross income was up to $37.9 billion but expenses had jumped to $26.3 billion, leaving a net of only $11.6 billion.

Farmers have sought to improve their situation, says Bates, by shifting the inputs or "mix" of production resources. They have substituted machinery for labor. In 1940, U. S. farmers spent $1.75 on machinery and buildings for each dollar spent on hired help. By 1960, they were spending $2.77 on these items for each dollar spent for hired labor.

Another effort to boost efficiency is reflected in the amounts for fertilizer and lime. By 1960, U. S. farmers were spending 4.8 times more for these items than was spent in 1940. This means a great increase in quantity since prices for fertilizer and lime have increased only 50 percent.

Although comparable figures are not available on farmer expenditures for pesticides and herbicides, the trend has been sharply upward, says the specialist. These inputs have tended to keep down the cost of food to consumers, he adds.

The question is often raised, points out Bates, why do farm units continue to increase in size? A major factor behind the pressure for larger units is the use of machinery and the narrower margin received on products marketed, explains the fixed assets as was needed in 1940 to obtain net returns on a comparable level and the price-cost squeeze is continuing, he adds.

The prim little lady entered the pet shop, and walked up to the clerk in charge.

"Excuse me, sir. I have a very fine parrot at home. Would you be interested in buying it?"

The clerk asked, "Does it have a nice plumage?"

"Gracious, I really don't know," she replied. "It's all covered with feathers, you know."

SENATOR YARBOROUGH STATES HIS VIEWS ON OWNERSHIP OF COMMUNICATIONS SATELLITES

DEAR FELLOW TEXANS: Before many years, the world will have instantaneous communications by TV, radio, phone and wireless telegraph, by use of signals from the earth relayed by satellites in space. Billions of your tax dollars were paid out for research which makes this possible. You paid for it and you, the people, deserve to own it.

Now, the Congress has to decide if the taxpayers will retain the ownership you now have, or if your investment in space will be handed over to a private, monopoly-dominated corporate set-up. That's why I've worked with a group of senators to develop the facts on this space communications program by days of debate on the Senate floor. Those of us who took part in this effort to get at the truth, working against heavy odds, have been accused of delay.

The main complaint seems to be that if we just quit objecting to this biggest giveaway plan in American history, if we would step aside, the Senate could quickly pass its giveaway monopoly bill and wind up its other work. And we could all hurry home. Fellow Texan, I don't believe we were sent here to give up quickly, to get home quickly.

When America has a new system for instant world communication—a power for good almost beyond belief—I don't think that's the time for blind, reckless haste. On the contrary, it's a good time for careful deliberation.

I'm co-sponsor of a bill that would allow the government to own and to lease to private companies the space on the space satellite on a fair competitive basis. The government would not be in the communications business, the government would not be in the telephone business, but would preserve the competition that a monopoly bill would freeze out.

The bill to turn it over to a corporate monopoly is a bad one, because a satellite communications system is world-wide and involves foreign policy decisions that can't be given away to a private corporation. Our foreign policy must be run for the benefit of all the American people—not for the profit of the corporation alone. The monopoly bill is bad because your dollars would be officially given to a few for their profit. It's bad because the government has no agency equipped to regulate a corporate monopoly in space. The giveaway bill is also bad because it comes too soon, before any system has been perfected.

The space communications program is still only an experiment. It will take several years before any kind of complete world-wide space communications system will be developed. It is a golden promise of world peace and good will at time of maturity, and it is too great to toss away. Without the corn, there can be no oak tree. Fellow Texan, will we turn back to the practice of the Europe of 1600, and charter a new monopoly to exploit space, as Queen Elizabeth I chartered the London Company to exploit Virginia in 1607? Or will we profit by this past three and one-half centuries of learning and progress and keep the space ways clear of the cobwebs of monopoly—keep them open to all in the true spirit of competitive free enterprise?

Will Congress charter one company to collect for all time from the people for space TV, phone and telegraph use, for weather reports, and air and sea navigation? Or will calmer judgment prevail over the clamor of the hour?

Fellow Texan, we must not surrender the New Frontier to a corporate monopoly. We must protect our frontier in space with a flag on the satellite—not a private monopoly flag.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 6, 1962.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 81 proposing an Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding thereto a new Section to be known as Section 9 to provide that the Legislature may authorize the creation of hospital districts composed of all or part of one or more counties; the assumption by the district of any indebtedness and the transfer of all hospital facilities thereof to the district; the issuance of bonds for hospital purposes and the levy of taxes to pay the district's bonds, assumed indebtedness, and for operating and maintaining the district; providing other terms and conditions for accomplishing the purposes of this Amendment. BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas be, and the same is hereby, amended by adding thereto another Section to be designated as Section 9, which shall read as follows: "Section 9. The Legislature may by law provide for the creation, establishment, maintenance and operation of hospital districts composed of one or more counties or all or any part of one or more counties with power to issue bonds for the purchase, construction, acquisition, repair or renovation of buildings and improvements and equipping same, for hospital purposes; providing for the transfer to the hospital district of the title to any land, buildings, improvements and equipment located wholly within the district which may be jointly or separately owned by any city, town or county, providing that any district so created shall assume full responsibility for providing medical and hospital care for its needy inhabitants and assume the outstanding indebtedness incurred by cities, towns and counties for hospital purposes prior to the creation of the district, if same are located wholly within its boundaries, and a pro rata portion of such indebtedness based upon the then last approved tax assessment rolls of the included cities, towns and counties if less than all the territory thereof is included within the district boundaries; providing that after its creation no other municipality or political subdivision shall have the power to levy taxes or issue bonds or other obligations for hospital purposes or for providing medical care within the boundaries of the district; providing for the levy of annual taxes at a rate not to exceed seventy-five cents (75c) on the one hundred dollar valuation of all taxable property within such district for the purpose of meeting the requirements of the district's bonds, the indebtedness assumed by it and its maintenance and operating expenses, providing that such district shall not be created or such tax authorized unless approved by a majority of the qualified property taxing electors thereof voting at an election called for the purpose; and providing further that the support and maintenance of the district's hospital system shall never become a charge against or obligation of the State of Texas nor shall any direct appropriation be made by the Legislature for the construction, maintenance or improvement of any of the facilities of such district. "Provided, however, that no district shall be created except by act of the Legislature and then only after thirty (30) days' public notice to the district affected, and in no event may the Legislature provide for a district to be created without the affirmative vote of a majority of the taxing voters in the district concerned." Master Gland Key to Health

Why can some persons quickly and easily throw off every infection while others constantly wage a losing battle against one germ after another?

Why do most individuals react with overwhelming success to a vaccine, while it has very little effect on other persons?

Is there perhaps a master gland that triggers the immune reactions?

"Yes, it's the thymus gland," says Dr. Robert A. Good, research professor of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota, and March of Dimes grantee.

Dr. Good recently won the annual award medal of the American Society for Experimental Pathology, much of his work being done with National Foundation financial support.

Dr. Good presented new evidence greatly strengthening this theory about the thymus gland in a paper he delivered before the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology at Atlantic City.

He detailed the results of experiments carried out in collaboration with other scientists which, he said, provide evidence that the thymus is a key organ in the body's endless struggle to protect itself against harmful substances. The thymus is located behind the breastbone in humans.

Much of Dr. Good's study was based on observation of 125 patients with agammaglobulinemia, a rare disease occurring most often in children whose bodies fail to produce gamma globulin, the substance in the blood which forms antibodies to fight off invasion by germs and other foreign substances.

Further study showed the association of other diseases with agammaglobulinemia, including a high incidence of rheumatoid arthritis and related diseases, leukemia and Hodgkin's disease (cancer of the lymph glands), and other disabilities suspected to result from malfunction of the immune system.

This led Dr. Good and his associates to the thymus as the important organ of immunity. The theory was tested by removing the thymus of rabbits less than five days old.

In his Minneapolis laboratory, Dr. Robert A. Good, March of Dimes research grants in arthritis at University of Minnesota School of Medicine, checks an X-ray film.

They proved later to be unable to form antibodies in any way and thus could not throw off disease. Dr. Good found that these same animals would accept skin grafts from other rabbits. Normally, skin can be transplanted only between identical twins. By this means the doctor was able to show how the natural barriers to tissue transplantation can be knocked down merely by removal of the thymus in the newborn. This phenomenon, the Minnesota pediatrician believes, has a human parallel, namely agammaglobulinemia, where antibodies are usually absent. For example, one of the children with this disease now under study by Dr. Good's group has been carrying an intact skin graft for more than seven years—even though the skin had been taken from a unrelated donor.

Studies of this sort, Dr. Good pointed out, have been possible only during the last decade since modern treatment has enabled the survival of children with immunologic deficiency diseases, and new laboratory techniques made possible the accurate analysis of blood and tissue components.

"We are gradually getting much closer to understanding the whole process of immunity and its relation to disease," Dr. Good said. "We now can see a real possibility of learning how to manipulate and overcome the natural barriers to transplantation of human organs, such as the kidney, as well as other tissues."

"It's tempting to speculate that someday we may have thymus gland banks just as we now have blood banks and bone banks, in order to supply thymus tissues for persons whose immune response is below par. This may also provide us with a means of altering an individual's immunologic pattern by implanting foreign thymus cells when the need arises."

The March of Dimes-supported scientist pointed out that further studies of animals artificially deprived of the ability to produce antibodies are urgently needed to provide insight into rheumatoid arthritis and other diseases which occur in patients with agammaglobulinemia. Fundamental research aimed at unraveling these disease mysteries is already under way with March of Dimes support at medical centers throughout the country, including Dr. Good's laboratory.

"Yes madam, drive-in banks are nice, but this doesn't happen to be one."

revival will be the Rev. Robert McGinnis, pastor of Casa View Baptist Church in Dallas. The Song Leader will be Dwain Harris, who is a sophomore music major at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview.

W.M.U. NOTES

The Baptist W.M.U. met Tuesday, August 14 at 10 A.M. in Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church.

During the months of August and September the ladies are giving careful examination of Communism and its plan of action in trying to understand what Communism wishes to do. They have turned to basic writings to see the plan set out for the conquest of the world.

When Mr. Kruschev looked out at American T-V audiences and said "this generation's grandchildren will live under Communism", he spoke with conviction.

The stages of action may be summed up in the words, Deception, Destruction, Dictatorship, Disillusionment and Death.

Mrs. Roy Davidson and the pastor's mother carried on a dialog concerning Communism's pan of action.

farmers and ranchers primarily to assist them in developing, protecting, and making proper use of their land and water.

Loans may be used by individual farmers to drill wells and otherwise improve water supply systems for irrigation, home use, and livestock; purchase pumps, sprinkler systems, and other irrigation equipment; construct and repair ponds and tanks, ditches, and canals for irrigation; dig ditches and install underground tile; make other related improvements.

These loans may be used to clear and level land; carry out basic land treatment practices including liming, fertilizing, and seeding; subsoil or sod land; purchase posts, wire, other fencing materials; establish permanent pastures.

Funds may also be used to build dikes, terraces, waterways, and other erosion control structures.

In addition, loan funds may be used to obtain plans and pay fees for legal, engineering, and other technical service, and to pay the borrower's share of social security taxes for labor hired to make the improvements.

The interest rate is five percent per year on the unpaid principal. Each loan is scheduled for repayment within a period consistent with the borrower's ability to repay.

To be eligible, an applicant must be an individual farmer or farmowner, a partnership that owns and operates a farm, or a domestic corporation engaged in farming; be unable to obtain the necessary credit on reasonable terms and conditions from private or cooperative lenders; be of legal age; and possess the character, industry and ability to carry out the proposed operations, and honestly endeavor to carry out the undertakings and obligations required of him in connection with the loan. The applicant must plan to improve a farm with the loan which is of such size and productive ca-capacity that it (a) will produce agricultural commodities in sufficient quantities that the proceeds from their sale will be a substantial portion of the operator's total cash income, and (b) is recognized as a farm in the community rather than a rural residence; have training or farm experience necessary to give reasonable assurance of success in farming whenever the soundness of the loan depends on the farming operation; and if the applicant is a tenant, have a satisfactory written lease for a sufficient period of time and under terms that will enable him to obtain reasonable returns on the improvements made with the loan.

The county committee of the Farmers Home Administration determines the eligibility of applicants. The Motley County committee consists of three farmers and ranchers, Mr. William A. Dye of Roaring Springs, Mr. John C. Franks of Flomot and Mr. D. I. W. Birnie of Matador. These committee members know local farming and credit conditions and what it takes for a farmer to succeed. Before acting on an application, the committee may ask the applicant and his wife to meet with them or they may visit the farm.

The Farmers Home Administration County supervisor will assist the applicant in working out a farm and home plan to determine the soundness of the loan and the applicant's debt-paying ability.

Soil and water loans are accompanied by advice in sound farm and home management to help borrowers who are tenants or owner-operators make profitable use of their land, labor, capital, and other resources that will be available to them. The county supervisor furnishes advice and assistance in keeping accurate records of expenses and income and in budgeting and otherwise making wise use of income and credit. He also provides on-the-farm assistance with farm and money management problems during the first few years of the loan.

Each loan will be adequately secured to protect the interest of the Government.

Usually, a loan will be secured by a real estate mortgage. In certain cases, a loan to be repaid in less than 10 years may be secured by chattels or other suitable security.

The loan may not exceed the normal value of the farm and other security minus any debts against the property and may not exceed the amount certified by the county committee. An appraisal is made of the security property to determine its normal value.

In no case may the Farmers Home Administration loan plus other debts against the security property exceed $60,000.

An applicant living in Motley County applies at the Motley Farmers Home Administration office located in the Motley County Courthouse, Matador, Texas or he may write to Farmers Home Administration, Box 668, Floydada, Texas for an appointment. He will be given an application blank, and the supervisor, Mr. Alfred A. Harrison will be glad to answer any questions he may have.

in which the Congress is convened after the general elections. The second session is actually a continuation of the first in most everything except name. All bills introduced after the beginning of the first session of the term of Congress remain on the calendar for the full two years unless otherwise disposed of by defeat, passage, or other action. At the end of the second session, all pending measures die. Unless these measures are re-introduced in the following session of the Congress, they are not before the Congress.

We are now in the second session of the 87th Congress, which was convened on January 10, 1962. From that time through June 30th, the Senate had been in session 99 days, the House of Representatives 94. The Senate spent 555 hours, 43 minutes in session; while the House spent 350 hours, 24 minutes. This wide differential in time is no doubt due to the fact that in the House debate is limited. In the Senate it is not. In the House, it is very seldom that a Member is allowed to talk for more than 10 or 15 minutes during any session while scheduled business of the House is being handled. The rules followed in the House are different from those followed in the Senate, hence the Members of the Senate are not limited in debate, and in fact have set some records in recent years. There are many, many times that I wish the House had unlimited debate, because things that should be said are blocked by the limitation rules. The pages in the Congressional Record reflect the difference in the time session. The Senate had placed 7,058 pages in the Record as of June 30th, while the House had placed 4,456.

During this time, 109 public bills had been enacted into law, 70 of which were House bills while 39 were Senate bills. And, 161 private bills had been enacted into law, 105 of these being House bills and 56 being Senate bills. All of these bills had to be passed by both houses and signed by the President. This does not mean that these were the only bills that were passed by either house. The fact is that the House had passed 571 bills and the Senate had passed 421. The committees in the Senate had reported to the Senate 636 measures; 625 measures had been reported by House committee to the House of Representatives.

Since January 10th and through June 30th, 1,069 measures were introduced in the Senate. During that same time, 3,444 measures were introduced in the House. These include bills, joint resolutions, concurrent resolutions, and simple resolutions. If you will compare this figure with the number of bills that have been enacted into law, you can see that very few of the bills introduced ever become law. Parliamentary procedure is one of the great safeguards under the democratic form of government. Once a bill is introduced, the gamut through which it must travel before it finally reaches the President's desk is quite formidable. When it is first introduced, it is sent to a committee by the Speaker of the House. Usually it is then assigned by the Chairman of that committee to a subcommittee. Public hearings are then scheduled by the subcommittee during which testimony is taken from both proponents and opponents. When this is concluded, the bill is considered in executive session, during which time amendments may be offered and acted upon. When this proceeding has been completed, the bill is reported to the full committee for further action. It is then considered in executive session for further amendments, should any be desired.

If the bill is then approved by the full committee, it is then reported to the House with proper recommendation. The matter is then submitted to the Rules Committee. The Rules Committee hears testimony from other Members of Congress with reference to the measure and the time that should be allowed for its consideration. Should the Rules Committee approve of debate on the measure, it adopts a resolution fixing the time of debate for the House. This resolution is then reported to the House and called up for consideration. If it is adopted, the House is resolved into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for further consideration of the bill. The debate is then held. When this is concluded, the bill is read for amendments, at which time any Member may offer an amendment and be heard on the same for five minutes. Sometimes the discussion of the bill under the "five-minute rule" the number of amendments that may last all day, depending upon are offered.

When this proceeding is finished, the bill is reported back to the House of Representatives, at which time it is voted upon by voice vote, by division vote, by teller vote, or by a roll call vote, or by a four. If it passes, it then
