Walter Rogers' Newsletter

IN TRIBUTE

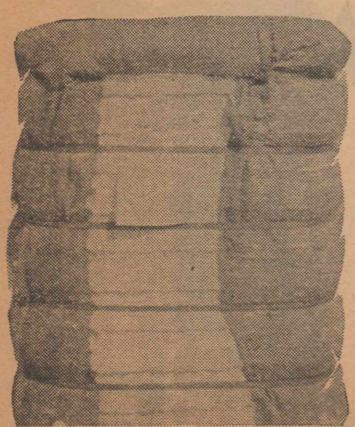

Shortly after this newsletter is being written - on Sunday, November 11, to be exact - we will celebrate Veterans Day. Therefore, this seems to me an appropriate time to consider just what our Armed Forces mean to us.

November 11, 1918, was the original Armistice Day. That day was the end of World War I, and it was made a national holiday shortly thereafter, as a tribute to all those who had died in the "war to end all wars." Since then, we have engaged in World War II, the Korean "police action," several small conflicts in widely scattered parts of the world, and the continuing Cold War. The cost of these struggles in men and money has been tremendous, and all of us mourn the gallant men and women who gave their lives that we might live. But, the result is something we must never forget: we are free, and we will remain free.

The current trouble over Cuba makes this all the more pertinent. One American pilot died in this encounter a few days ago; other lives may be lost before it is all over. But, all indications are that in this case we have convinced the Communist aggressors that we will fight if we must; and this determination on our part, firmly and unequivocally conveyed to the rulers of the Kremlin who pull the strings in the Cuban puppet state, has apparently won the day for us. Based on the information available as I write, the offensive missile bases in Cuba are being dismantled and the weapons of mass destruction which they supported are being crated for return to the Soviet Union. I am sure we all rejoice together that this threat is being removed and that our national strength and unity have again guaranteed our position as the greatest nation on earth.

The lives that have been lost in recent wars were terribly precious - there is nothing more an individual can sacrifice for his country and loved ones. We who enjoy the fruits of their sacrifice owe them a debt that can never be repaid; a debt we can only commemorate by remembering them and by doing everything in our power to maintain the nation which they saved for us. And, there are two major facets to this job. First, as indicated on back page)

Jr. Hi Basketball Teams Undefeated

Although their big brothers and sisters are having their early season troubles with the areas toughest basketball teams, the Junior High Panthers and Pantherettes are rolling merrily along the winning trail, both teams having played three games and winning all three.

Coach Jarrell Rice reports that his young cagers are shaping up real good and are showing real promise of making fine Panthers and Pantherettes, some of them next season and some a year or two later.

The first two games were played against Flomot. In the first game the Pantherettes topped the Longhornettes 25-17, with Patricia Brunson leading the way with 11 points, followed by Carrol Myers with 10 and Jill Johnson with 4 points.

The Jr. Panthers took a 20-16 win over the Flomot lads with six of the local boys getting into the scoring column. Monte Stephens dropped in 6 points; Joe Mack Jacobs 4, Dale Ramsey 4, Earl Lee Woods 3, Lupe Leal 2, and Pablo Leal 1.

The second outing against Flomot was won by the Pantherettes of QJHS 38-19 with Jill Johnson leading the way in this one with 14 points; Patricia Brunson and Renee McKay each tossed in 8 points, Carroll Myers 6 and Lynette Taylor 2.

The boys won over the Flomot lads 30-17 with Monte Stephens leading the way again with 12 points, followed by Ervin Phillips with 10, Earl Lee Woods 4, Jimmy Reed 2 and Pablo Leal 2.

The third outing of the season for the JH teams was against the teams from Hedley. The young Pantherettes took this one 17-12. Patricia Brunson won scoring honors in this one with 10 points, Jill Johnson was runnerup with 6 and Renee McKay dropped in a free toss for 1 point.

The Quitaque youngsters won over the young Owls by a 25-16 margin. Ervin Phillips racked up 13 points in this contest, followed by Monte Stephens with 8 and Lupe Leal 4.

Coach Rice reports that there are 14 girls and 11 boys on the Jr. Hi traveling squad and that in every game thus far in the young season every member has seen action in every game.

Last year the Jr. Hi boys won only two games, while the girls won 5.

The Jr. Hi schedule is as follows:
Nov. 15 - Silverton H
Nov. 29 - Estelline H
Dec. 3 - Hedley H
Dec. 6 - Silverton T
Dec. 10 - Turkey T
Dec. 17 - Kress T
Dec. 20 - Lakeview T
Jan. 4 - Flomot H
Jan. 14 - Kress T
Jan. 25 - Flomot T

Fans are urged to attend these Junior High games as well as the Senior High games. These youngsters are improving all the time and are playing good basketball. Fans can get an idea of what is in store for the basketball teams of the next few years.

MCADOO TEAMS TAKE TWO LOP-SIDED WINS OVER QUITAQUE

The Quitaque High School basketball teams journeyed over to McAdoo Tuesday night and both teams absorbed thorough drubbings at the hands of the hot shooting, hustling teams of that community. The Pantherettes were beaten 60-33 and the Panthers took one of the worst beatings in several years for a Quitaque boys team. That score was 70-38.

The Pantherettes started well and played the Eagles on even terms for the first period, the score being tied 9-9 at the end of the first quarter. However, the Quitaque lassies let the McAdoo team slip away from them in the opening minutes of the second frame and the home towners were away and flying. In less than 2 minutes the McAdoo girls built up a nine point lead from a score that had been even and from that point they were never headed. The Pantherettes never quit, however, and hustled all the way. The Quitaque girls played good basketball in spots and are improving. They will be tough before the season is over.

Chlonez Woods played her usual fine game, splitting her time at forward and guard, performing equally well at either end. She should be twins. Jennifer Whittington captured scoring honors for the Pantherettes with 13 points, hitting 7 for 6 field goals and one of 7 free shots; Janice Dudley hit five field goals and one of 6 free throws for 11 points; Chlonez Woods had one field goal and made 7 out of 10 free throws for 9 points.

The McAdoo girls were bi-district champions last year and they look like champs again this time. Their top scorers were Hardy with 26 points and Scott (sister of George) with 23.

The Panthers caught a team that was still burning over what they considered being upset by last years Panther team in the bi-district playoff. The Eagles were ready and they were really high for Tuesday's game. The Panthers were tense and before they could find the scoring range, the Eagles were slipping away from them to lead 17-4 at the end of the first period. At halftime, the Eagles had increased their lead to 39-15 as the Panthers seemed to be unable to get rolling.

Coach Streun played his reserves most of the second half, as did Coach Lemley of McAdoo.

Jack Johnson and Terry Woods each dropped in 10 points to lead the Panther scoring for the evening. Jim Saul contributed 5 points, Bobo Morrison and Carl Woods each chipped in with 4 points, Phil Barefield and Joe Hamilton hit for two points and Jamie Johnson made a free toss for 1.

McCormick was high for the Eagles with 16 points.

The Eagles have a fine team, make no mistake about it, but there is not that much difference between the Panthers and the Eagles and the local lads will be out to prove it as the McAdoo teams come to Quitaque for a pair of games Friday night. Both the Pantherettes and the Panthers will be trying to get back on the winning side of the ledger again.

The pressure is not due to let up very much next week as the Adrian Matadors come to Quitaque for two games on Tuesday night, Nov. 13. Earlier this season, fans will recall, Hedley trimmed the Panthers here, and a week later the Matadors beat Hedley 59-43, so the local lads will need to play heads up basketball to stay alive.

SAVINGS BOND SALES REPORT -

Mr. Perry Whittemore, Chairman of the Briscoe County Savings Bonds Committee has announced that Savings Bond sales in Briscoe County totaled $2,028 during September.

Texas Savings Bond sales for the first nine months of 1962 totaled $111,734,186. This figure represents 67% of the state's 1962 goal of $165.1 million.

"I have been happy to note that sales of Series E Savings Bonds in the $25, $50, $100 and $200 denominations continue to rise. These are the bonds purchased primarily by employees who buy bonds on the Payroll Savings plan. This simple plan for buying bonds offers thousands of employees an opportunity to save for their own and for their country's security. If employees in this area are interested in further information about the Payroll Savings plan they may write the Savings Bonds Division, Room 500, 708 Jackson Street, Dallas 2, Texas, and complete information and free materials will be furnished them." Chairman Whittemore concluded.

Briscoe County voters turned out in force Tuesday as at least 850 votes were cast in the General Election.

Briscoe County voters went solidly Democrat, with only two races creating much of a stir.

In the race for Governor, John Connally lacked only six votes having a two to one majority over Republican Jack Cox.

Congressman Walter Rogers, the incumbent, snored under his opponent, Jack Seale, an admitted member of the John Birch Society. All other Democratic candidates won with near 4 to 1 margins.

State Senator Andy Rogers and Ben Ramsey, candidate for Railroad Commissioner, were the top vote getters in Briscoe County, each receiving 666 votes.

PTA's Grow — Children Benefit

It happens every fall. As children the country over start back to school, the grown-ups most concerned with their welfare get together in activities that protect those children and enhance their learning and their lives.

Usually they do it in the PTA, through one of the more than 47,000 parent-teacher associations that constitute the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

AGAIN THIS fall, the millions of Americans who are PTA members will seek new colleagues to help advance the welfare of children in home, school, church and community. Under the leadership of Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, of Roslyn Heights, L.I., N.Y., they will look for answers to the needs most pressing in their own communities.

PTA offers a challenge to parents of children of all ages, even of children not yet ready for school. Throughout its 65-year history, the National Congress has led in establishing kindergartens, needed today especially in the hundreds of new communities that must build schools first, begin preschool training later.

SCHOOL-AGE children get all kinds of help from PTA activity, notably from its long-standing programs for promoting their health—throughout their school years—and their safety. Parents and teachers have worked together to improve the quality of education offered in their communities and, through the National Congress, to upgrade education nationally.

Whether they contribute books to a school library or sponsor teen-canteens, art exhibits or science fairs, PTA members find satisfaction in helping children to develop their abilities to the fullest. They work toward that goal by continuing their own education in parenthood, too, through study-discussion groups where they may share in the common market of ideas about children and their needs.

This fall, PTA's are embarking on an ambitious program seeking solutions to "pressing, compelling problems" cited by National Congress leaders as meriting special attention from PTA's.

Depending on their own community needs, they may be working to provide more day nursery services or help for emotionally disturbed children, to prevent school dropouts and juvenile delinquency, to evaluate local opportunities for higher education and professional training.

They may adopt suggestions the PTA program offers for promoting physical fitness and preventing accidents to children, for broadening young people's vistas in the field of cultural arts, for encouraging fuller participation in civic affairs and "two-way" communication within the community. And as they do every fall, they welcome other parents, teachers and friends of children to the continuing adventure of the PTA, urging, "Join it, serve it, grow with it."

Since its founding in 1897, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers has grown to a membership of more than 12,000,000, in PTA's throughout the United States and in American communities overseas. Its activities range from those of preschool groups to high school PTA's.

TEXAS BAPTISTS PLAN EVANGELISTIC CRUSADES

Fort Worth, — Texas Baptists in their annual convention here took a major step toward two of the largest evangelistic crusades ever attempted.

Messengers attending the statewide meeting put their stamp of approval on a statewide crusade aimed at reaching more than two million Latin Americans of Texas for Christ in 1964.

The messengers selected Nov. 4, 1962, as a day of prayer for a 1963 nation-wide crusade to be sponsored by Texas Baptists in Japan next spring. During a special emphasis on the Japan Baptist New Life Movement, as it is called in the Orient, Baptist leaders revealed that the crusade had mushroomed far beyond expectations.

The evangelistic effort, which will utilize several hundred Texas Baptist preachers and laymen, is also reaching out into great revivals planned for the Philippines, Okinawa and Tiawan. Evangelist Billy Graham is expected to speak some 19 times in various sections of the Orient.

"This may be the beginning of a movement that will spread throughout all Asia," said Dr. T. A. Patterson, Texas Baptist executive secretary.

Key resolutions commended the United Nations for its action in the Cuban crisis, and urged Baptists to oppose efforts to return legalized gambling to Texas and practices within public schools that would compromise the principle of church state separation.

The U. N. resolution urged the 1.6 million members of the denomination to "pray for the U. N. as it seeks to avert nuclear disaster in this troubled world."

Dr. K. Owen White, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Houston, was elected president. He replaces Dr. James H. Landes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wichita Falls.

An estimated 8,000 people attended the Baptist meeting, which will meet next year in San Antonio.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white lace and net gown featuring a scalloped neckline with long sleeves descending to points at the wrist. The bodice was covered with seed pearls and sequins.

She carried a bouquet of white gardenias on a white Bible. Miss Ima Jean Martin, sister of the groom, was the bride's attendant, and Clois Shorter, twin brother of the bride, was best man.

Candlelighters were Judy Shorter, sister of the bride, and Janie Pearl Garza, the groom's niece.

Ushers were the groom's brothers, Melvin and Donald Martin. Mrs. Jack Terrill played traditional wedding selections, and Mrs. Leon Cloyd sang, "Because," and "I Love You Truly."

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall following the wedding. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth over blue, and the three tiered cake was served with punch.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS -

By - Vern Sanford

Don't let any old greybeard kid you by saying that fishing was better back in the days when he was young. He's as wrong as he can be and you can prove it.

There are a number of reasons why fishing is much better now than it was in frontier times, and why it's going to keep on improving as the years go by.

These factors are contributing to the anglers joy:

1. Construction of lakes and farm ponds.
2. Introduction of new varieties of fish.
3. Research work done by scientists in the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

When Grandpa was a boy there were relatively few lakes in Texas. Perhaps the most significant was Caddo, where the crappie were to be found.

Now there are lakes all over Texas. They have been created by dams that have been built for water and soil conservation purposes, for irrigation, and for the production of low cost electric power.

These lakes also provide more stable conditions for fish, which formerly suffered (1) when the streams and creeks dried up during drouths and (2) from floods when the rains came.

There were, in the pioneer era, only a few near-ideal places for fresh water fish to live.

Example - the spring-fed streams along the Balcones Fault, where the water flow is fairly constant out of the Edwards Plateau limestone.

When the new artificial lakes came into being, crappie were introduced in them from Caddo. They flourished - thus to provide a new area for the fisherman's pleasure.

WHITE BASS EXPANSION
 Perhaps the most spectacular development has been the spread of white bass in Texas lakes. They were in Caddo lake, as were the crappie, having reached the lake from the Mississippi drainage system via the Red River.

In 1928, fisheries introduced 28 white bass from Caddo Lake into Lake Dallas. They multiplied fast. From Dallas, they were introduced into other lakes, with the same result.

Except for Texoma, all of the white bass in Texas lakes originated with those original 28 in Lake Dallas. And there were plenty left over to give to our friends in Arizona and California for their stocking purposes.

Texoma's white bass reached there the same way they entered Caddo - from the Mississippi via the Red River.

White crappie are decreasing in numbers, while the black crappie are increasing. That's due to the changing in water aused by drainage differences after the construction of Texoma. The water is less alkaline now and more acid. White crappie like alkaline water. Black crappie thrive in acid water.

While we're on the subject of introducing exotic fish into Texas waters, we'd better mention the carp, although some people would rather not.

An Asiatic minnow, the carp was imported to this country in the 1870's and spread all over the nation.

It is now an important commercial fish, condemned by some anglers and blessed by others. It depends on the point of view.

Anyway, the carp, which propagates fantastically, can get out of hand numerically. It thereby endangers the existence of other fish by consuming so much of the food.

Texas Game and Fish Commission scientists came up with an answer to that problem in rotenone.

They worked out a system of poisoning with a rotenone solution that will kill carp and other rough fish - such as shad and buffalo - without destroying the game fish.

This process has been followed on several lakes with excellent results. Killing the shad is a fine idea as far as sports fishermen are concerned. Shad are fine food for bass, which often gorge themselves on these bait fish. Then the bass won't respond to the angler's lure.

Remove the shad and the bass have to search for something else to eat. Then they find the angler's lure.

Another fish that has moved around some is the Rio Grande perch.

This is a fish that likes warm water. He can live in your lake or pond, unless it gets too cold. Then he gives up the ghost.

He can live perennially in places where there are springs that give the water a more or less constant temperature.

The Rio Grande perch is another fish about which there is some controversy as to whether he is desirable or not. Personally, I like him. He grows to a decent pan size. He is eminently edible. He will readily grab a worm, when he is of such a mind. And he is as full of fight as a bluegill.

Whether we like it or not, he is here to stay - having found his way from the Rio Grande into more northern waters.

Other importations to Texas have found conditions here not much to their liking.

There are a few trout that thrive in the Guadalupe Mountain streams. Smallmouth bass simply won't do in Texas waters. Northern rock bass have been tried and now live happily in one or two isolated places. Walleyes are not for us.

Everything considered, though, we are in pretty good shape as far as our fishing business is concerned.

In addition to the species mentioned above, Texas has the gallant largemouth bass, the tasty and of ten hefty catfish, the hard-fighting delectable bream, and the rugged, sizeable freshwater drum.

It ought to be enough to make a fisherman happy, just to contemplate his prospects.

But to add to his contemplation, he can think about going to the Gulf Coast, where there are more than 200 kinds of fish. These include the speckled trout, the red fish, the pompano, the drum, the ling, and the mackerel.

Also there are tarpon, sails, and others . . . for the sportsman who wants something really big.

Actually - there are about 450 species of fish in Texas waters, both fresh and salt water. Two hundred or more of these are in the fresh water.

For example, there are 30 species of the sunfish, which include the basses, the crappies, and the bream. There are about eleven different kinds of catfish, including the spoonbill, or paddlefish, which is not properly a catfish at all.

The spoonbill is a relic of prehistoric ages, found in the lowlands of East Texas. It's valued for its roe, which goes into making caviar.

Also in East Texas is the little pickerel, only representative of the pike family in this state.

We haven't mentioned gars, which some fishermen pursue for sport; and we haven't said anything about the minnows, which are part of the picture, and indispensable as bait.

Yep, we're in a good shape for fishing in Texas and - as we said - it's getting better all the time.

NOTES FROM THE COTTON CLASSING OFFICE

The late cotton crop soon to be ginned in the Memphis office classing territory will cause some problems because of the method of harvesting. Mechanical harvesting of cotton has increased during recent years.

Cotton that is snapped or harvested mechanically tends to be lower in grade and may contain more irregularities than hand-picked cotton. Most of the cotton in this section of the State will be machine-stripped. This method of harvesting strips the cotton plant from bottom to top. In addition to open cotton, immature bolls, limbs, foliage, bark and grass, gathered with the cotton are often quite difficult to remove at gins even with the best equipment.

The most difficult of the foreign matter to remove by gins is grass and bark, both of which also cause problems in the cotton classing laboratory. Samples that contain grass and bark are reduced in grade, resulting in a lower value of the cotton. When a bale containing matter must be removed, and therefore means more waste, additional spinning costs, and in many instances, a lower grade of finished product.

Causes for bark in a bale of cotton is usually attributed to maladjusted machinery or stripping too soon after the plant is killed. If the stalk is dry, and the machinery adjusted and operating properly, cotton with bark in it is rare. Farmers should watch their machines closely when harvesting. It should be remembered that the grade of cotton is only as good as the quality of harvested cotton delivered to the gin.

must remember that the maintenance of our nation is infinitely more important than the personal concerns and problems which face us in our daily life. And, collectively, we must do all that is necessary to maintain the strength which permits us to carry on our way of life. This latter duty is an expensive proposition, in terms of dollars. As I mentioned several months ago, the appropriations for the Department of Defense for the current fiscal year amounted to $47,839,491,000 about sixty cents out of every tax dollar collected. This is a staggering sum of money, but the job to be done with it is also huge. And, I am sure none of us would begrudge a single penny, as long as it is spent carefully and accomplishes the purpose for which it is appropriated.

Out of this total, the amount of $12,901,890,000 is designated for "military personnel." This is the money which pays the guardians of our sovereignty, to whom we all owe a debt of thanks. Although the members of our armed forces are imperfect individuals, as are we all, they are primarily dedicated individuals whose very existence is our shield against any totalitarian system which would take over the world. They are men and women of courage and determination, most of whom could lead easier, better-paid, more relaxed lives as civilians. One of the happiest jobs of a Congressman is the appointment of young men from their areas to the various academies, and I take a tremendous amount of pride in the fine cadets and officers who represent the Panhandle in the academies and the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines, and the many young men from the area who serve in the ranks in all the services.

I am sure you all join me in thanks and best wishes to the representatives of our area, and the rest of the nation, who have the front-line responsibility for permitting us to continue to live as a free and happy people.
