Livestock owners are once a_ gain cautioned against the deadly danger of allowing their farm animals to graze in cotton fields which have been defoliated by the use of certain chemicals.

This warning comes on the heels of new reports this fall of cattle dying from the effects of arsenic poison. A north Texas farmer lost 20 cattle overnight after they had grazed in a field where an arsenic-containing cotton defoliant had been applied earlier. At Woodson, near Breckenridge, 54 head of cattle were lost last week after grazing Seniors had 1 day of absentee in a cotton patch that had been sprayed earlier in September. The proper use of agricultural chemicals is of great significance to farm productivity in our nation today. However, lack of information or caution in their use can be disastrous. Chemical manufacturers are required to take every possible precaution in the making, distribution and sale of their products. A wealth of information is provided on the proper use of compounds, but there is no safeguard against carelessness of the applier.

... not with Flameless Electric Heating!

Drafts are out...comfort is in...because electric house heating lets you wrap heat around each room - with separate room controls, too! And you can choose from a variety of built-ins - installed inconspicuously in baseboard floor, ceiling, or wall. Here's a treat for your budget, too; you save on installation because no flues or chimneys are needed. Annual operation costs for heating during the winter months in the territory served by WTU averages about 7¢ per square foot of living area in the home. Why not ask your electrical contractor or WTU to survey your home for flameless electric heat?
