Commencement Set For Friday

Valedictorian

Jim Saul

Jim Saul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Saul, is Valedictorian for the graduating class of 1964.

Jim wound up his high school career with a 93.1 average to lead his classmates in that department. Being "brainy" seems to run in the family, for Jim's big brother Bob was also valedictorian of his class just a couple of years ago.

Jim also excelled on the basketball court as well as in the classroom, having an enviable record there, too.

MRS. GRAGSON TO PRESENT PIANO PUPILS IN RECITAL

Mrs. Cora Gragson will present her piano pupils in recital Monday night, May 25, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Gragson presented a recital at Silverton, Sunday afternoon, May 17, and another at Flomot, Tuesday night May 19. Attendance was good at both recitals.

There will be twenty-five Quitaque students participating Monday night. The public is invited to attend.

Margie Price of Midland spent from Saturday through Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Price and other relatives.

SENIORS GET A GOOD FEEDING

The Quitaque Senior Class was treated to a delicious supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murry Morrison Tuesday evening. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Wayne Whittington and Mrs. Euel Dudley. Fried chicken, beans, baked potatoes, salad, hot rolls and homemade ice cream made up the menu for Jennifer Whittington, Yvonne Matthews, Darlene Cagle, Janice Price, Terry Woods, Carl Woods, Kenneth Vines, Jim Saul, Joe Charles Bedwell, Phil Barefield, Jack Johnson, Joe Hamilton, Garv Payne, Clyde Dudley, Bobo Morrison and class sponsor, Coach and Mrs. Gene King and Susie.

Airman First Class Grady Lee Jacobs has been selected by Headquarters, Air Training Command to attend college this summer under the Air Force's "Operation Bootstrap." This is a program whereby selected airmen are relieved of all military duties and allowed to attend the college of their choice to take subjects to fulfill requirements for a degree, or to improve their job efficiency.

Airman Jacobs plans to attend West Texas State University in Canyon, and take courses in math, physics and business. He is presently stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base, and is performing duties as an Administrative Specialist in the central base personnel office.

Commencement exercises for 16 members of the Senior Class of 1964 will be held at 8:00 p. m. Friday, May 22 in the school auditorium.

Jim Saul will give the Valedictory address and Phil Barefield is the Salutatorian for this year's class.

Graddy Tunnell, Plainview attorney is the principal speaker for Friday night's program.

Salutatorian

Phil Barefield

Phil Barefield, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Barefield, is the Salutatorian for this year's class, winding up his career with a fine 89.89 average.

This is another case of "running in the family." Phil's sister Ann was Valedictorian of her graduating class, another sister, Patricia, was salutatorian of her class and mother Iva started it all when she was Honor Girl when she graduated.

Phil garnered a number of honors during his high school career, winning a Star Chapter Farmer award last year and being selected as Mr. Q.H.S. this year. Phil was also a member of this year's (and last) very fine Panther basketball team.

EDNA HAWKINS COMMENDED FOR WAY SHE IS HANDLING BUSINESS OF PRECINCT NO. 2

I would like to congratulate Mrs. Edna Hawkins for the very fine and business-like manner in which she has conducted the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 2, especially during the recent issue of the bond election.

Although being outnumbered in court she nevertheless presented our side of the argument against the issue as well as anyone possibly could have. We can bounce over the roads better than we can over the big debt of a hospital.

Sincerely,
Charles Gowin

OF TRADE AND AGRICULTURE
The position of U. S. negotiators in the Geneva trade and tariff talks which began this week in Geneva is good news for American farmers. The United States stand is that we will not make any industrial tariff cuts unless barriers to our farm trade abroad are lowered. The policy applies most directly to the protectionist barriers raised by the European Common Market. The negotiations may stretch out another year or eighteen months before agreements are reached in this most complex area of international relations, but I hope our negotiators maintain the position on agricultural trade.

This is the Kennedy Round of negotiations in the 17-year-old General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), which meets periodically to reach agreements furthering world trade. The meeting that began Monday is called the Kennedy Round because the late President promulgated the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 which permits the United States to seek reductions in trade barriers abroad and to reduce our own. Its enactment insured the new round of talks. President Johnson outlined U. S. agricultural trade policy in the GATT meeting by stating: "The United States will enter into no ultimate agreement unless progress is registered toward trade liberalization on the products of our farms as well as factories." Last year, U. S. exports totaled $21.9 billion, an increase of $1.4 billion over 1962. Of the increase, $560 million was accounted for by the sale of agricultural products. With the U. S. able to supply much of this hungry world's needs — under proper trading agreements—it is very much in our interest that the Geneva negotiations bring breakthroughs to permit a higher rate of expansion in agricultural as well as industrial exports.

By 1980 the population of the United States may top 274 million persons. By then, the problem of our agricultural surplus may be a matter of history as our farmers supply not only greatly increased domestic requirements but also vastly larger markets all around the globe.

Our effort to preserve the soundness of our agricultural economy today has as an important objective the preparation of American agriculture for the heavy demands to be placed upon it tomorrow. Thus, among the many important considerations involved, soil and water conservation efforts are vital in insuring future as well as present farm productivity. No one knows better than the farmers themselves, for they are truly the "stewards of the soil." This week was observed throughout the United States as "Soil Stewardship Week."

Sponsored by the 3,000 local soil and water conservation districts, their national association, and cooperating church groups, the week's theme was "To Each Among Us A Share." Among inspirational material distributed by soil conservationists was this very meaningful paragraph:

"By any standard of measurement, the land is big; but it is not endless. So it is with the companion resources—the water, grass and forests; the game, fish, and wildlife—which are influenced and supported by the land. Together they constitute a treasury of indispensable value, entrusted to us by God for our use and for which we must accept responsibility."

...The evidence of Conservation activity is all around us in the Panhandle. All of us in the Panhandle are conscious of the essential value of soil and water conservation work. And great progress has been made. Some of the most interesting and challenging work I perform in the Congress comes in connection with my duties as chairman of the Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation of the House Committee on the Interior. This week our subcommittee held hearings for four days on several reclamation proposals being advanced as part of the nationwide effort to protect, conserve, and enhance our vital resources of land and water. This work and many other similar efforts on the local, State, and Federal levels—as well as on the land itself by the men who farm it—all are aimed at one objective: To maintain America's bountiful ability to provide.

COMMON CRUSADE

At the turn of our present century, medicine and the allied sciences — despite great strides made during the 1800s — were still faced with many yet unconquered diseases of life-threatening and fatal potential.

Another 20 years or so were to pass before the discovery of insulin provided the spark that ignited the flame of modern-day drug research. First one and then another of the hitherto unmanageable diseases fell to the conquering power of the "new era" drugs — the hormones, sulfonamides, antibiotics, hypotensives, vaccines, and a host of others now available to worldwide medicine.

These are the fruits of a cooperative effort uniting medical science and the pharmaceutical laboratories in a common crusade against all human disease everywhere.

FLOMOT SCHOOL MAKES ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

Supt. A. J. Barron made the annual awards for outstanding achievements in the different fields of school activities for the 1963-64 school year at Flomot.

The outstanding student for each subject area is selected by the teachers of that area. By a vote the high school teachers select one boy and one girl to receive the American Legion Award. The Betty Crocker Award is given to the senior girl making the highest grade on tests furnished by the company.

In making the awards Mr. Barron explained that a student is eligible to receive only one subject matter award each year. In addition, when a student has received an individual award in particular subject, he is not eligible to receive that award again. For instance, if a freshman boy were to receive the award for the outstanding athlete that year, other boys would receive the award the next three years.

The following students received subject matter awards: Sandra Barrham, Science; Judy Mitchell, English; Janet Turner, Mathematics; Clois Shorter, Social Studies; and Donnie Cruse, Industrial Arts.

Students receiving non-subject matter awards were: Sue Tiffin and Eldon Martin, American Legion Award for Outstanding Achievement; Jerry Baird, Outstanding Boy Athlete; Sue Tiffin, Outstanding Girl Athlete; Janette Montoya, Betty Crocker Award; Sue Tiffin, Valedictorian; and Janette Montoya, Salutatorian. Donna Rogers received the FHS - 64 pin for the highest grades in the Eighth Grade.

Mrs. Mary Johnston of Lefors spent last week with her son, Wallace and Mrs. Johnston and with her grandson, Odell and his family. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Johnston took his mother back to her home at Lefors Sunday, all of them stopping in Amarillo for lunch with the Johnston's daughter and her family, the John Kyles.

H. J. Bailey of Amarillo visited his son, Bud, and his family last Wednesday.

WEATHERFORD — Ex-Angelina & Neches River Railway steam engine built in 1912, on display at Texas Railroad Museum in Weatherford. Weatherford is 28 miles west of Fort Worth and is the county seat of Parker county.

Want to get away from the busy city life? Then pack up the whole family and strike out for Weatherford, county seat of Parker County, 28 miles west of Fort Worth. Here you will find things of interest for all ages.

Weatherford can be reached on U. S. Highways 80 and 180, State Highways 171, and Farm Roads 51 and 920.

On Simmons Street, half a mile south of U. S. Highway 80, are the famous Chandor Gardens. Open the year 'round, the gardens are particularly beautiful in the spring when flowers and shrubs are in bloom.

The world-renowned portrait painter Douglas Chahdor built these unique gardens, which have been described as "18th-Century English with Chinese sculptural motifs." The effect is a series of out door rooms—roofed, walled and decorated by a vast variety of plants, shrubs, trees, fountains and pools.

Just east of the city, on Holland's Lake, is a double log cabin, built in 1855, which is now a memorial to Parker County pioneers.

One of the most unusual and unique places to visit is the Texas Railroad Museum at the old Santa Fe station, the only such museum in the state, and the only one south of St. Louis. Sponsored by the Trinity River Railfans, the museum was established in 1961.

The members of the association have collected and placed on display relics of a bygone era; railroad spikes, photos, uniforms, menus, timetables, and even the front section of a San Francisco cable car.

On the tracks alongside the station is a Texas & Pacific business car which was withdrawn from service in 1957. Used only for "top level" assignments, the executive car contains a lounge, two bedrooms and a "master bedroom," dining room, kitchen and quarters for the staff.

The executive car is attached to an old locomotive of the Angelina and Neches Railway built in 1912.

Children, who are always fascinated by trains, will get a real thrill out of this museum and its exhibits. But parents and grandparents will also enjoy this look into the past.

The museum is open Saturdays, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., and on Sundays from 1:30 to 5 p. m.

NEWS from the High Plains Research Foundation

William D. (Dub) Holley, Olton, Texas, has joined the staff of the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, on April 1. Dub will be working in the fields of flame cultivation research and in soil and crop studies. In his duties, he will be assisting both Jack Parks, Farm Superintendent and Flame Cultivation Engineer, and Dr. Arthur Gohlke, Senior Soil Scientist.

Dub Holley is a 1950 graduate of Olton High School, growing up in the Olton area on an irrigated farm. Dub graduated from Texas Tech with a B. S. in Agricultural Economics and has worked towards his Masters in that field.

Dr. Earl H. Collister, Director of the High Plains Research Foundation, said of Dub, "We are most fortunate at the Foundation to have Dub Holley with us. With his knowledge of this area and of agriculture in general, Dub will be a most valuable member of the staff." Mr. and Mrs. Holley and their three children will live in Olton on his farm.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY—or

Boys Will Be Boys

School will be out Friday here in Quitaque and boys and girls will be faced with three months of, at least part-time leisure, and there will be some long hours that will need some thinking about.

Did you ever wonder what little boys think of during these summer months when there are not enough things to keep them occupied? Little boys are always looking for ways of making money. Sometimes they run errands, do yard work, or even conduct puppet shows, summer theaters, sell rocks, or turn their back yards into a carnival or circus.

Last summer, two such enterprising young ten year olds in Quitaque, Guy Davidson and Scotty Stark, dreamed up a plan for turning their summer into a money-making proposition. They worked and planned and distributed circulars throughout Quitaque, scrawled in the handwriting of a small boy. Below is a copy of the circular advertising their business:

THE YOUNG RACERS STARTING JULY 20, 1:00

"The young racers will have games and races. There will be coolaid and candy to buy. The games we will have are horse-shoes, bingo, flip a coin, bicycle races, foot races, potoe races. For girls expelly cooking contests. There will be five enteries candy, cookies, cake, pies ice-cream. A nickle forever thing exept for cooking which is a dime. Winner in cooking will be given a champion riben and 25c. Winners of other games will be given two free games or 10c. Pay 10c at the gate—dont come throu the house.

Other Days Seddled
July 23, 27, 29, 31
August 1st, 3rd 6, 10, 13

MEET AT GUY'S HOME"

The boys' parents, Rev. and Mrs. Roy Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Stark learned of what was to take place when they entered one of the business establishments here in town and read the circular affixed to the entrance. Some of the games were tactfully revised and some eliminated since they were to be held in the backyard at the First Baptist parsonage! Then the boys were all set up for business. Still, some people wonder why mothers are grey.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Owens visited in Amarillo Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Owens' niece and her family. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Watkins and girls. That night they attended church services at San Jacinto Baptist Church where Rev. Carlos McLeod, former pastor at Silverton is now pastor.

LUCAS GUSHER MONUMENT—This tall Texas granite monument marks the spot where oil was discovered January 10, 1901, by Capt. Anthony F. Lucas at Spindletop oilfield three miles south of Beaumont. The wooden derrick in the background is a replica of the original Lucas well.

With so many holidays in 1964 falling on the weekend, why not make this the year for exploring Texas with a series of "long weekend" trips to visit some of our state's places of historical and scenic interest.

Beaumont and the surrounding area, for example. Beaumont is located on U. S. Highways 69, 90, 96, 287 and Interstate Highway 10.

Local residents point with pride to historical places, outstanding educational facilities and one of the nation's busiest ports where ships of all nations drop anchor. Lamar Tech, with more than 6,500 students and its many modern buildings, is recognized as a leader in the educational field.

Beaumont's most historical point is the Lucas Gusher Monument which commemorates the discovery of oil by Anthony F. Lucas at Spindletop, January 10, 1901. The Spindletop monument, a towering shaft of granite 58 feet high, stands near the site where the discovery well

May is salad month. So when you pick the best greens in the market, it's important that they are stored correctly. Any surface dirt should be removed before placing the greens in the refrigerator. If washing seems necessary, be sure and drain all excess water off before storing in crisper, food bags or wax paper. Lettuce keeps longer if the head is kept intact until meal preparation time. Then separate the leaves needed for a salad, wash in cold water, drain all excess water off so dressing can cling to leaves. Many greens lend themselves to a tossed salad

Boating Tips...

Making your boat fast to a dock shouldn't cause knotty problems, if you know the most versatile knot of all—the bowline. Its chief advantages, say the Mercury boating authorities, are that it's easy to tie, won't slip and can be loosened easily. Here's how to fashion one: make a loop in the "standing part" of the line as shown. Pass the end up through the loop, around the standing part, then return it down through the loop. Tighten by pulling on the free end—loosen it by tugging at the rope where it circles the standing part of the line. It's the best knot devised for any situation where you need a temporary loop in the end of a line.

Green Thumb Tips

Spacing is an important factor in growing sturdy, floriferous annual flowers. Sufficient room should be allowed when seedlings are thinned so each plant can spread its widest. Directions for spacing are on the seed packet.

While it "hurts" some gardeners to thin seedlings, growing two rows of the same flower side by side, one row of plants properly spaced and the other left unthinned, will prove that wide spacing pays.

One of the unusual annual vines that should be planted near every outdoor living room is the moonflower. This, as its name implies, blooms at night filling the air with delicious fragrance. Ordinarily, during the heat of summer, the flowers will close when the sun rises high in the sky.

While this would leave the vines without daylight bloom, it is possible to have flowers day and night by alternating the planting of moonflowers with Heavenly Blue morning glories. These will bloom all day and close at night.

After a row of vegetables or flowers has been planted, roll the wheel of a wheel cultivator over the newly planted seeds. Or, walk down the row, placing one foot in front of the other with the heel of the front foot touching the toe of the one in back.

By either of these simple acts the row is marked so you can find it easily when cultivating between rows and the seeds are firmed to the soil so they can obtain moisture from it.

Try to choose the day on which you transplant seedlings. A sunny or windy day should be avoided as sun and wind dry plant tissues.

Clouded skies and still air make a day ideal for transplanting. Or, of course, you can move plants in the early evening which will at least give them the dark, cool night during which to recuperate from transplanting.

If the winter in your area was mild, you may find snapdragons plants growing where they did last autumn. This is because snapdragons are really perennials, grown as annuals in the north where winters are too cold for them to survive. Fertilize each plant and you'll have another season of flowers from it.

Graduation Day is a welcome reminder to us that a new generation is at work. Their ambitions . . . their skills . . . their eagerness make them our key to the door of a better Tomorrow.

Because of them we have confidence of great things to come!

It is a genuine pleasure for us to pay tribute to our new Graduates.

Six Flags to Host Baptist Youth Festival

Plans for the state-wide Baptist Youth Festival to be held at Six Flags Over Texas on June 2, gained momentum with the announcement that an almost complete roster of program personalities has been confirmed.

Principal speaker for the giant Youth Rally to close the all-day activities at the family recreation center between Dallas and Fort Worth, will be professional football star Bill Glass.

Glass, a Baptist preacher studying at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, is a defensive end for the Cleveland Browns. He was a member of the 1962 National Football League All-Star defensive team and an All-America football star at Baylor University.

The festival program, which places emphasis on spiritual values combined with good, clean Christian fun, has already enlisted many outstanding choir groups as well as leading personalities in the field of television, motion pictures and sports to appear on the program.

Among them are All-American tackle Scott Appleton and the "Golden Toed" Tony Crosby, both active Baptists and stars of the 1963 National Champions University of Texas football team.

Gregory Walcott, leading character in NBC's "87th Precinct" series; Miss Pam Baird, pert singer and actress who starred in the "Wonderful World of The Brothers Grimm", "Good Morning, Miss Dove", "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker" and a host of other motion picture and television productions; Bob Turnbull, key performer in many TV shows such as "Arrest and Trial", "Going My Way", "The Millionaire" and "Dr. Kildaire"; Ray Hildebrand, popular singer and song writer whose record of "Hey Paula" was the nation's number one song, hit for four weeks last year and sold over a million copies; Miss Linda Loftis, talented singer and beauty who was named "Miss Texas" in 1961 and runner-up in the Miss America Pageant that year.

Ten youth choirs from Baptist churches throughout the Lone Star State will present special musical programs, and the Hardin-Simmons University theatre group will offer a dramatic presentation depicting the roles Baptists have played in the early history of Texas.

Arrangements for the big day and tickets are being handled through the local Baptist churches.

All the regular rides and attractions at Six Flags will be in operation throughout the day, in addition to the special schedule of five different Youth Festival events and testimonies.

FLOMOT SCHOOLS HAVE FIFTEEN WITH PERFECT ATTENDANCE FOR SCHOOL YEAR

The record department of the Flomot school system announced this week that fifteen of the nearly 200 children enrolled during the 1963-64 school year had perfect attendance records. There was another twenty-nine who had missed five days or less.

Supt. A. J. Barron stated that this was an improvement over the 11 who had perfect records last year but far short of their goal of forty. Perfect attendance will be emphasized for the coming year in the hope that a much higher percent can be achieved.

Leading the list for the second year in a row was Johnny Turner with perfect attendance for his six years in school. Close behind are George Calvert with seven of his eight years and Alva Joe Calvert with perfect attendance for four of his five years in school. Sherrlyn Calvert has six perfect years out of eight, while Judy Smith has two out of three.

For the following students, this was the first year of perfect attendance: David Martin, Marvin Starkey, Frances Reed, Lucy Reed, Sandra Barham, Judy Shorter, Clois Shorter, Betty Gowin, James Gowin and Douglas Gowin.

Flomot will be able to reach its goal if a large number of the people who missed five days or less try just a little harder to be in school every day. Supt. Barron feels confident that the parents played a big part in this year's improvement, and that they would put the program across during 1964-65.

The following students missed 5 days or less: Eldon Martin, 1/2 day; Lynn Crowell 1 day; Coy Franks, 1; Wayne Gourdon 4; James Kimbell 4; Terry Sperry 4; Thomas Turner 3 1/2; Louis Leal 1/2; Juanita Carbajar 3; Joe Bob Crowell 3; Jim Tom Smith 1; Kathy Gilbert 1; Kathy Martin 3 1/2; Pamela Morris 5; Barbara Moseley 4 1/2; Jackie Pigg 5; Linda Gowin 1/2; Donna Rogers 2; Ernest Leal 2; Mary Carbajar 4; Janine Pigg 3; Karen Tiffin 5; Maria Carbajar 3; Rebecca Garcia 5; Tim Meyers 5; Jacky Bruton 3; Marilee Martin 2; Janet Turner 1; and Yolanda Garcia 4.

WAYLAND BROADENING ITS PRE-PROFESSIONAL OFFERINGS

PLAINVIEW, (Spl.) Broadening its pre-professional offerings Wayland Baptist College has set up a two-year curriculum for students desiring to obtain a degree of Doctor of Optometry at the University of Houston, according to President Roy C. McClung. This plan has been worked out between Dean Chester R. Pfeiffer of the College of Optometry of University of Houston and Dean Robert G. Collmer of Wayland.

Boating Tips...

Pulling an outboard rig with the family automobile requires practice, not special knowledge, maintain the Mercury outboard boating experts. This is particularly true of backing your trailer. The prime rule to remember is that you must turn the wheel of the car to the left to make the trailer turn to the right, and vice versa. To develop skill in moving in reverse, set up some empty cardboard cartons on a vacant parking lot and practice backing your trailer between them. When towing your rig out on the highway, allow more time for braking, accelerate more slowly and swing wider on corners. Figure that you need twice as much space to pass another vehicle when you are pulling a trailer.

In addition to meeting the specific requirements set up in the 1964-65 Wayland Catalog, a student must meet the qualitative entrance requirements of the University of Houston, where a student will then pursue a four year course of professional study. Completion of the six-year curriculum will make the student eligible for the Doctor of Optometry degree.

Wayland is already offering pre-professional courses in these fields: pre-engineering, pre-law, pre-medical, pre-nursing, pre-pharmacy and pre-theology. Some require only two years, while others require either three or four years before a student may qualify for admission to the professional curriculum leading to the degree sought.

WAYLAND TEACHER GRANTED FORD FOUNDATION FELLOWSHIP

PLAINVIEW, (Spl.)—Only a limited number of teachers of business are awarded a Ford Foundation Fellowship for advanced study in the Graduate School of business at Indiana University, but Mrs. Shirley Thompson Vessels is the second Wayland Baptist College business teacher to receive the fellowship.

Dr. Vance Clapp, head of the Department of business administration at Wayland, studied at Indiana in the summer of 1963 under such a Ford Fellowship.

Mrs. Vessels' fellowship is "intended to enhance the teaching effectiveness of faculties of colleges and universities in the Midwest and South." In information sent in the spring from Indiana the statement is made that "we do not wish to discourage applicants but each year we have had two or three times as many well-qualified applicants as we had money to finance."

This Ford Fellowship is a grant in excess of $1500 as it includes $100 a week for the eight-week Summer Session with an additional allowance of $50 a week for living expenses. In addition, the fellowship holder is provided all university fees and round-trip air transportation to and from Plainview to Bloomington.

At Indiana Mrs. Vessels plans to enroll for "Current Problems in Business Education" and "Business Law—Graduate Survey."

Mrs. Vessels, who has taught at Wayland since 1962, came from Lamar Tech, Beaumont. She holds the M.B.A. degree from the University of Houston and the B. B. A. from Georgia State College of Business Administration.

Americans spend only 19% of their take-home dollar on food. Compare this to 30 percent by the British, 50 percent by Russians, and up to 90 percent in some underdeveloped countries. Research on more efficient production and marketing, and better ways to control insects and diseases have helped keep food costs down.

Boating Tips...

Any boat operating between sunset and sunrise must show navigation lights. By color and arrangement these lights identify you to other boats and show the direction of your course. In most waters minimum equipment is as follows: one bright white light, visible two miles in all directions, mounted as high as possible at the stern; one combination light, visible one mile, mounted near the bow, showing red to port and green to starboard. Each color must be visible from dead ahead to two points abaft the beam (the correct angle is built into the light). In mounting lights be sure that their visibility is not obstructed by other equipment, advise the Mercury outboard experts. Always have a powerful flashlight aboard. In some areas additional lights may be required — check local regulations before buying.

Congratulations TO "WHO" ? TO THE SENIORS, of course
