Garcia Reels went to the winner of the bass fishing contest and also to the person who caught the largest crappie. To the fishermen who caught the largest catfish and the largest perch went cork lined tackle boxes—very nice prizes.

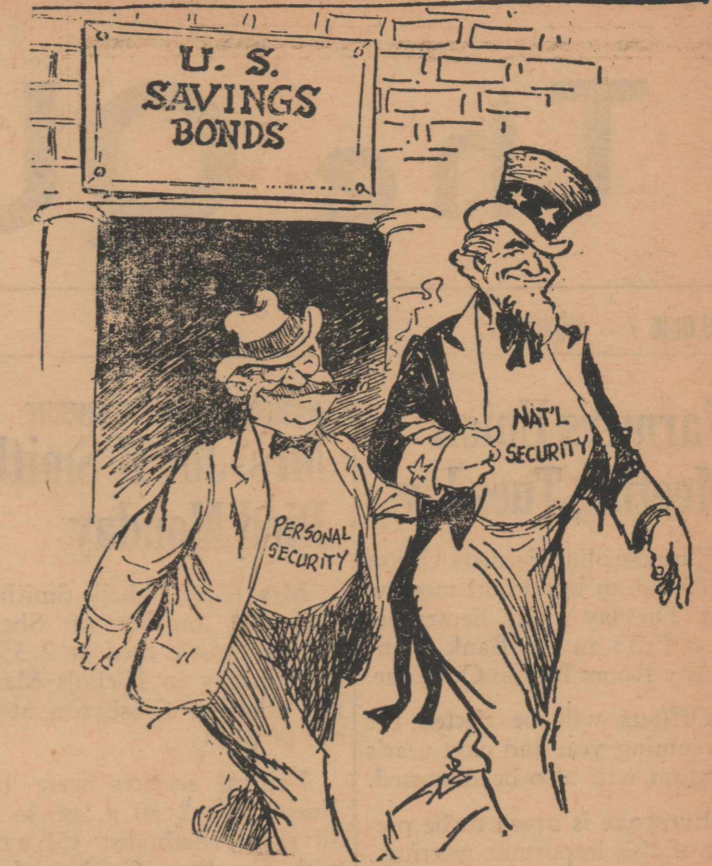

Randy Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Stark, Jr., hauled in the largest bass, a 5 lb. 9 oz. beauty, caught at Hawkins Lake.

The largest crappie was a 2 pounder caught by Nathan Grant, also at Hawkins Lake.

E. F. Payne caught the biggest catfish, a 6 lb. 12 oz. channel cat, this one also coming out of Hawkins Lake, and Weldon Griffin caught a 13-oz. perch out at Puckett Lake to capture the prize in that division.

Weldon and Nathan Grant were never topped after bringing in their fish but in the bass and catfish division there was spirited competition for Warren Payne caught catfish weighing over five pounds and his wife was leading in the bass division with a 4 lb. 10-oz. bass when Randy caught the winner. The Warren Paynes caught their fish at Cottonwood Lake. Carl Woods caught a 6 lb. cat out at Lake Theo and Jack and Babe Chandler had a couple of nice strings which were caught at Lake Theo.

O. R. Stark, Jr. caught a 4 lb. 3 oz. bass at Cottonwood.

So the fishing was pretty good on the local lakes this year and will probably be better next year.

Go Signal Given Soybean Growers In FDA's Report

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Soybean growers were advised today they can use toxaphene or toxaphene-DDT insecticide formulations in their insect control programs without fear of illegal residues. The announcement came as result of FDA action establishing official tolerances on both chemicals.

Toxaphene and toxaphene-DDT combinations are currently used with great success in controlling insect pests on cotton and a wide variety of other crops.

The new tolerances mean that soybean growers can treat their crops with toxaphene or toxaphene-DDT up to three weeks of harvest. Most insect pests are no longer a factor this late in the season, and controls are not usually required. The FDA order permits two applications of toxaphene-DDT formulations after pods form, using dosages as high as four pounds of toxaphene plus two pounds of DDT per acre.

This is welcome news to soybean growers who are looking for dependable, economical insect controls. Toxaphene and toxaphene-DDT formulations are highly effective against the corn earworm, the velvetbean caterpillar, the bean leaf beetle, armyworms, cutworms, and a variety of other leaf and pod-feeding insect pests.

School Time Means Time For PTA

When the children start off to school, it's prime time to join the PTA.

And in this school year, PTA's throughout the country are moving forward on programs that seek to involve all parents—and other adults interested in children's welfare—in ever better education, health and opportunity for all children.

"Never in its history has the PTA been more necessary to the well-being of children and our nation," says Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, of Eugene, Ore., National PTA president. "Never have we had so rich an opportunity to move the nation to great decisions, for ideas that the PTA has promoted for years have come into their own."

Its goal of making preschool education available to all children, for example, is winning broad acceptance. Increasingly, too, educators realize the importance of involving parents in their children's education, something long advocated by the PTA.

This year, the PTA plans to experiment with new methods of reaching the non-participating parents—the working mother, the parent-without-partner, the residents of urban slums or depressed rural areas. New programs, too, will deal with children's health, safety and education.

It's off to school for Jeanette and Michael Ryan—they're first and second graders at Nettelhorst School in Chicago—and back to the PTA for Mrs. Robert W. Ryan, like millions of other Americans, a participant in PTA programs for children. Their message: It's Prime Time To Join!

One such project, undertaken in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health Service, will attempt to discourage 7th and 8th graders from starting to smoke cigarettes.

On other subjects, as well, the PTA has a full schedule of "critical issues" ripe for action.

Membership in the PTA, of course, is open to any parent or teacher or school administrator

—indeed, to all who are interested in children and willing to uphold the Objects of the PTA. Membership dues vary among local units and state branches of the National PTA, but only ten cents of each membership fee goes to the National Office, in Chicago, for maintaining the organization and providing the services that enable PTA's to function effectively and serve children best.

The PTA Magazine, official publication of the organization, has scheduled three continuing series of articles dealing with school education, family life, and community services and intended to foster "better lives for all children."

"Your Own Project Head Start" is one subject in the preschool series, of interest primarily to parents of young children. The common blocks to learning in elementary school are scheduled for discussion in another article; and experts will also survey, for PTA Magazine readers, the problem areas of sex education and teenage drinking and use of drugs.

For every parent, Mrs. Moorhead emphasized, "the PTA has an ideal assignment—to work with men and women who share your concern for children and youth, to plan and initiate new projects, to enjoy a better understanding of yourself and your family, to take pride in working in an organization of national renown and international reputation."

Membership enrollment continues throughout the school year. But for parents who want to accomplish the most possible for their children, starting-to-school time is "prime time" to join the PTA.
