STILL CHAMPION

DEFENDING CHAMP — E. F. Payne was defending champion in the catfish division of the local fishing contest, having won last year with a 6 lb. 12-oz. channel cat last year. On July 5th of this year E. F. lugged in a 9-lb., 7-oz. dandy from Burson Lakes to take over the top spot in that division and he was never seriously challenged, although there were some real nice fish caught in the area lakes, some weighing in the neighborhood of 7 lbs.

according to reports. Mrs. Glen McWilliams of Silverton, was the winner in the crappie division. Her winning fish weighed 1 lb. and 10 ounces and was caught out at Hawkins Lake on June 7. Last year Nathan Grant won the crappie division with a 2 lb. beauty, also caught at Hawkins.

A NEW CHAMPION

THE BASS DIVISION in the fishing contest was the most hotly contested. Lyn Payne was the first entry in the contest with a 5 lb. 10 oz. bass caught at Cottonwood Lake on May 21. Jerry Payne caught a bass at Lake Theo that weighed over 5 lbs. On June 3 Jerry Patton landed a bass at Birdwell Lake that scaled 6 1/2 lbs. and that fish led the race until a couple of days before the contest was over. Lyn Payne, who consistently seems to catch more big bass than anyone in this community, came in after dark on August 29 with the beauty shown above that weighed 6 lbs. and 9 ozs., caught at Cottonwood Lake. Last year Randy Stark came in with the winner, a 5 lb. 9 oz. beauty which his father, O. R., now has displayed in his office at the bank.

The winning perch weighed 13 ozs. and was caught by Babe Chandler at Bursons. It was the same size as last year's winner, caught by Weldon Griffin.

The bass and perch division winners each received Shakespeare spin-casting reels. So, all the area lakes provided good fishing during the summer and each year, at least the bass and channel cat that are caught, are getting bigger.

PURPLE MAGIC!

I returned not long ago from a brief but most satisfying trip to the Kissimmee River lakes of Florida's Osceola County. This four-day jaunt was made for just one reason: to test a new lure color. But wait! You hear the best part — the color was purple!

Now I haven't anything against the color purple — particularly not after this test and some earlier experiences — but if you'd have asked me two years ago to go fishing with a purple spoon, I'd have said . . . well, I don't know what I'd have said. Nothing very complimentary, I'm sure.

But it was in 1965, not too far from Ocala, Florida, that I heard about a lot of bass being taken with a purple plastic worm. Didn't take me long to check out the rumor and brand it a fact. Those purple worms were out-performing other colors, and several different shades of spoons, to boot.

It wasn't long afterward that I heard a similar story about the drawing power of purple. Some fishermen farther north reported that lake trout were lapping up lead-headed jigs done in a purple-blue color. These stories were verified for me by the people who make the Johnson's lures — and boy, were they ever interested!

So, as things turned out, the forged Silver Minnow I'm so fond of finally acquired another finish. Yep — purple!

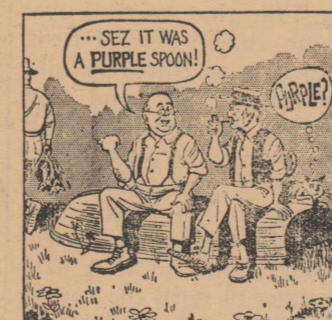

There's nothing drab about it, however, because the color was added by means of a dye in clear lacquer. This was then baked on the tapered spoon after it got its regular bright silver finish. The result is a lively, see-through color that's just the opposite of our first reaction when we hear the word "purple."

As for the "fish-ability" of the new lure — well, it was good enough to make my Orlando brother-in-law and his know-all buddies holler "Uncle." Four of us started down the Kissimmee, fishing in pairs. My partner and I used the purple spoon exclusively, in all sizes from 1/24 oz. (with fly rods) to 1 1/2 oz. (with bait casting rigs). The brother-in-law and a friend worked with all sorts of lures, including the Silver Minnow with standard silver finish.

At the end of four and a half days, my partner and I had taken and released well over one hundred keeper-sized bass and bream — beating the other team's score by very nearly two to one!

One thing I should add about fishing the purple Minnow is that it works best with a trailer: pork rind, rubber skirt, or plastic worm. Select the color that works best in your area. Also, you'll want to keep in mind a couple of tips I've mentioned before. First, get down in the weeds. The biggest bass we took, half a dozen at 6 to 8 lbs., were in the heaviest weedbeds we found.

Second, work a change-of-pace retrieve by giving the lure time to sink to the bottom after casting, then bring it in with alternate slow and fast cranking speeds.

PTA Schedules A Count-In

Every child counts, with the PTA. That's the reason the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is planning a special "count-in" of their parents and teachers as schools reopen this fall.

"The PTA believes that every child must be provided with what he needs to grow up healthy, secure, well-educated and useful to his community," says Mrs. Irvin E. Hendryson, of Albuquerque, N. Mex., president of the National PTA.

"To help secure these rights

Every single child counts, with the PTA—a nationwide organization of volunteers concerned for children and for the parents and teachers who nurture and educate them.

for all children," she declares, "the PTA counts on every citizen to work at expanding the opportunities of all America's children.

Parent-teacher associations (PTA's), organized in the 50 states, the District of Columbia and schools for American dependents overseas, begin enrolling new members with the first PTA meeting of the school term and usually concentrate on membership enrollment during October.

This year, they will give particular attention to reaching parents in low-income areas.

One of the many valuable services any PTA provides, Mrs. Hendryson believes, is "the opportunity for parents and teachers to know each other in a social situation. They are the people most important in a child's world, and the child can't help benefiting from their friendly collaboration.

"In poor areas, especially," she notes, "this friendly relation between home and school is of particular value because it's where children most need help."

PTA's can work to improve educational opportunity, to protect dependent or delinquent children, to improve health care and to provide the leadership for vibrant community programs that will serve all children, Mrs. Hendryson points out.

Because every child counts with the PTA, its activities cover all the varied needs of children—for kindergartens, adequately financed schools, well-trained teachers, along with the proper nourishment, good health and favorable emotional climate in which to learn from them.

"We need many members to cover such wide-ranging programs," says Mrs. Hendryson. "So our task this fall is to persuade every parent and every teacher that he too counts, with the PTA."

As PTA's start their "count-ins" this fall, Mrs. Hendryson is urging them to demonstrate that "PTA is where the action is."

She has suggested, for example, that local units take the lead in sponsoring "cultural happenings" for youngsters. Some branches of the National PTA, she notes, have developed art mobiles, comparable to the popular bookmobiles, which bring traveling exhibits of painting and sculpture to school children in remote areas. Other PTA's regularly sponsor musical concerts or provide tickets for theatrical productions to children who would not otherwise attend them.

"With something as simple as a folk festival," says the PTA's national president, "we can do much to enrich the lives of children."

At the Top It's a PTA F

Mrs. Hendryson, who will head the PTA until 1970, is a former profession orthopedic surgeon.

cation was first established in the United States in 1917. Within a few years there were a number of agricultural clubs.

There were a number of successes and failures in these groups. State-wide organizations developed between 1923 and 1928. Some splendid work was done in Arkansas, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, and certain other states were involved in this act.

In 1927 and '28 the goal of a national organization of students of vocational agriculture was gleaming in the distance of many minds and leaders. In 1928 the Future Farmers of America was organized in Kansas City, Mo. The first National President was Dr. C. H. Lane of Washington, D. C. became the first National advisor. The organization selected blue and corn gold. W. A. Ross became the first National Executive Secretary in 1930. J. A. Linke became the National advisor in 1933.

Texas became a part of Vocational Agriculture in 1929. In 1965 over 52,000 former N. F. A. members raised the total FFA membership to approximately 454,000 members in 10,000 chapters.

Mr. and Mrs. Athur Gregg of Amarillo spent Monday and Tuesday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Morris. They visited his sister, Mrs. J. W. Ewing Tuesday afternoon and spent the night with her. The Greggs returned home Wednesday morning.

MISS MARILYN KING WEDS CLIFFORD HAGAR
In a wedding ceremony read Saturday morning, August 26 in the home of the bride's parents, Miss Marilyn Sue King became the bride of Clifford W. Hagar, Jr. The vows were read by the Rev. Clarence Bishop, pastor of the Bible Baptist Church in Dumas.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. King of Dumas. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hagar, Sr., also of Dumas.

The wedding vows were exchanged before an archway of greenery entwined with white and blue roses with white ribbons and accented with white doves holding wedding bells. The arch was flanked by seven ruffled candelabras holding white tapers.

Miss Scarlet Bennett, soloist, sang, "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of white brocade with rounded neckline and bell shaped sleeves. Her tiered, shoulder length veil of illusion was secured by a satin bow and she carried a nosegay of white carnations.

The bride carried out the something old, new and blue by wearing a gold bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom; a teardrop ecklace borrowed from the maid of honor; a blue garter and an old penny in her shoe.

Miss Barbara Bullington was maid of honor. She wore a blue brocade satin dress fashioned similar to the bride's and a white carnation corsage.

Darrel Owens served the bridegroom as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. King chose a turquoise silk shantung suit with white accessories.

A reception was held following the ceremony.

Guests were registered by Miss Bretta Butler. The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth over blue underlay and centered with an arrangement of blue and white roses. Blue tapers in crystal holders flanked the arrangements.

The tiered wedding cake was topped with an open Bible and white roses.

Punch, nuts and mints were served from crystal appointments.

Presiding at the serving table were Miss Sherry Childers, Miss Scarlet Bennett and Mrs. Frank Galloway.

For a wedding trip to points in New Mexico, Mrs. Hagar traveled in a mint green bonded lace dress with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

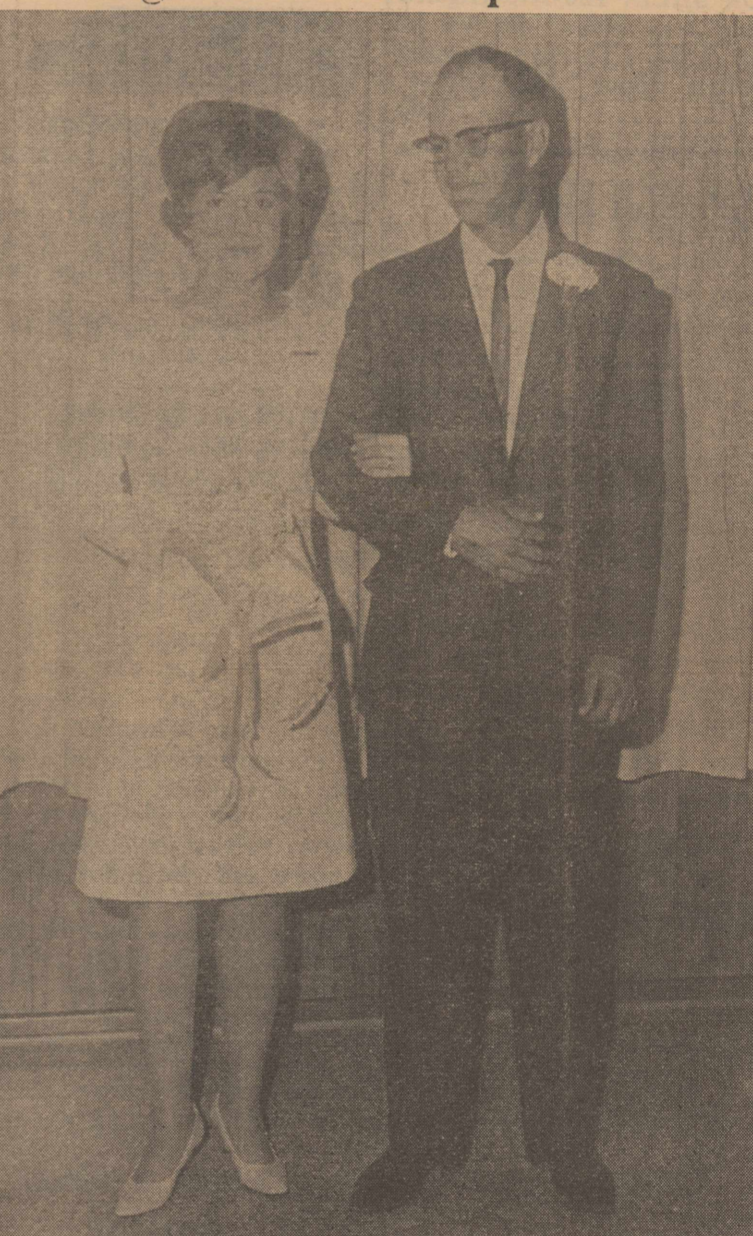

The bride is a senior at Dumas High School.

The bridegroom is a 1965 graduate of Dumas High and is presently employed by Corral Construction Company of Bovina.
