BAPTIST CHURCH HOSTS ANNUAL ASSOCIATIONAL W.M.U. MEETING

The First Baptist Church of Quitaque was host Thursday of last week to the Caprock Associational W.M.U. Annual meeting.

The meeting began at 2:00 P. M. with the Call to Worship. The congregation sang "Where Crosses the Crowded Ways of Life." Mrs. Oleta Collier presented the Calendar of Prayer; Mrs. Bobbie Trull presented the special music, "O Jesus I Have Promised." The message, entitled "Unto the Least of These." Another hymn, "The Light of the World" was sung by the congregation.

Several accounts of stewardship were given: Mission Study by Mrs. Evelyn Latta; Mission

Action, Mrs. Melba Wideman; Prayer, Mrs. Jack Sims; Stewardship, Mrs. Wayne Hunter; YWA by Mrs. Judy Hancock; GA, Mrs. Jo Scott; Sunbeams, Mrs. O. G. Mayfield; and the closing meditation "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again."

There were approximately 40 ladies present.

Mrs. Scott Bolton attended a tea at Matador Saturday of last week in the home of Miss Verlin Reeves, honoring Miss Ruby (McCall) Lynn and sisters of Oklahama City, Okla. The ladies were former residents of Matador from 1908 until 1915. Miss Mary Keith of Matador and Mrs. Bolton were co-hostesses for the tea. The serving table was laid with a white lace cloth over blue centered with an arrangement of fall mums and yellow stock, Gold colored punch, various cookies, nuts, mints and jelly beans were served with crystal and silver appointments to approximately 35 guests.

The afternoon was spent reminiscing and picture taking. The ladies report a very pleasant visit together.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Bolton visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hunter at Turkey Sunday afternoon.

FROM THE COUNTY AGENT'S DESK

Peanuts produces a quality food crop. The higher the quality of the crop the higher price it can command. Because of the importance of quality in determining the final price, County Agent Ken Cook offers these suggestions for handling the crop.

Wait until the crop has reached full maturity before harvesting. There will be fewer damaged nuts, less harvesting and drying trouble and quality will be better. Mature peanuts ready for digging have darkened veins and brown stains inside the shell and have pink and papery thin coats.

Curing is a critical step in the production of quality peanuts. Curing reduces the moisture content of the nuts and is done either by natural or artificial means. It allows completion of normal ripening, produces optimum flavor and resistance to mold damage. Curing takes place when air of low

Delicious Halloween Treat

Jack-O-Mince Pie

This jolly Jack-O-Mince Pie has been created in the gay spirit of Halloween. It's a quickie to put together with ready-to-use mince meat — nowadays readily available all year long. If you want to carry out the orange and black color scheme of Halloween even further, glaze the top crust with a thin orange frosting after it's baked.

Put your artistic talents to work to make the jack-o-lantern top crust. The pastry, made from mix or your own, is easy to cut in this shape if you cut a paper pattern first. Bake the top crust separately and place it on top the mince meat filling as soon as the pie comes from the oven.

Mince meat is made from a fragrant combination of California seedless raisins and Zante currants, carefully selected apples, beef, spices and the tangy peel of citrus fruits. It's most popular use is for fragrant pies but mince meat also makes a delicious filling for bar or drop cookies, turnovers and scrumptious pinwheel yeast rolls. Mince meat cakes are truly delectable.

JACK-O-MINCE PIE

3 cups ready-to-use mince meat
Pastry for double 8 or 9-inch crust

Line an 8 or 9-inch pie pan with pastry, crimping edges. Spoon in mince meat. Bake on lowest shelf of hot oven (425 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until pastry is brown. Meanwhile cut out a jack-o-lantern face from remaining rolled-out pastry. Place on baking sheet. Bake on upper shelf of oven 8 to 10 minutes. When pie is baked carefully place pastry jack-o-lantern on top. Makes 1 (8 or 9-inch) pie.

below 12 per cent. At that time the beans are fully mature and the pods have not yet begun to shatter.

If the beans are harvested at a higher moisture content, they will wrinkle on drying and will deteriorate rapidly in storage. In turn, if they are harvested after becoming too dry or harvest is delayed, serious losses will result from shattering.

When the moisture content of the beans is less than 10 per cent at harvest time, they will be more susceptible to mechanical damage.

Producers are advised to follow the manufacturer's recommendations closely to insure proper operation of the combine. Noteworthy items to check for adjustment are concaves. Careful attention to the cylinder speed, cutter bar and ground and cylinder speed and cutter bar height is important in harvesting high quality soybeans.

Extreme care should be exercised during the actual harvest. Mechanical damage which occurs during harvesting or later handling is the chief cause of low germinating soybean seed.

Also contributing to this low germination is improper storage of soybean seed. Soybeans should be stored only if they are thoroughly clean and if their moisture content is below 12 percent. If stored at a higher moisture level, seed germination and quality will be reduced rapidly, especially if temperatures are above normal.

humidity circulates around the pods.

The county agent points out that the peanut combine needs regular adjustments. In the morning when vines are tough, the combine needs to be set to give more picking action. As the vines dry out, the picking action should be reduced in order to minimize mechanical injury and shelling. Cylinders and picking units should not be operated above the recommended speed, he adds.

Mold spores are everywhere, cautions the county agent, especially in the soil. The spore grow only when humidity is high and temperatures are above 60 degrees. Normal healthy plant tissue such as the shell is a natural barrier to mold growth. Bruised, immature or unhealthy tissue is susceptible.

For top quality, Cook says, let the crop mature before harvesting, handle it to avoid damage to the nuts, cure and dry the nuts promptly and hold temperatures low in drying and in storage.

PROPER HARVEST VITAL TO GOOD SOYBEAN QUALITY

Soybeans in Briscoe County are fast approaching maturity and are beginning to be ready for harvest. However, the moisture content of the beans should be checked closely before taking the combine into the field.

Ideally, this moisture should be

GA INSTALLATION SERVICE HELD

Installation Service for both Auxiliaries was a very inspiring service the past Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Betty Wise and Tommie Lou Johnson. A very special emphasis was put upon each officer and their particular office. The importance of how well each one accomplishes his task was brought out as to how good an organization he would have. As G. A. Director I think we have a wonderful year ahead of us for both organizations.

STROUP AUXILIARY

The Intermediate Auxiliary had an Enlistment Mother and Daughter Salad Supper on Wednesday, October 4 which was enjoyed by all who came. To the mothers who made it such a success we say a big "thank you."

Those present were Debbie and Roberta Farley; Velda and Mary Woods; Stephanie and Sue Chadwick; Vanessa and Freda Robison; Wanda Ramsey, Gail Tyler and Wanda Payne; Jo Patrick and Pam Fleming; Tommie Lou Johnson, Assistant Counselor, and Mrs. Jack Cheatham, GA Director. We would like to invite all girls between the ages of 13 through 15 to be with us every Wednesday from 5 until 6 for this missionary organization. Mrs. Jack Cheatham

BAPTIST W.M.S. NOTES —

The W.M.S. of the First Baptist Church met Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in regular session. He Circle Chairman. Mrs. Jack Cheatham, took charge of the meeting. It was opened with the song, "O Worship the King" sung by the congregation. Mrs. Sid Bogan presented the Call to Worship.

Mrs. Cheatham introduced the program which was entitled, "Different Ways of Worship in Baptist Churches in Hong Kong and Germany." The program was presented by panelists. They were Mrs. Stateside, played by Mrs. A. L. Morris; Mrs. Rayborn, who was

Mrs. Glenn Ramsey; and Mrs. Guess who was Mrs. Gaston Owens. Mrs. Stateside told how Baptist churches worship in the States; Mrs. Raborn was from Hong Kong and Mrs. Guess was from Germany. It introduced many new concepts of worship in the different countries.

Mrs. Cheatham brought many facts to the attention of those present of the part each church member has in the furtherance of God's Kingdom work here.

A cordial welcome is extended each woman in the community to join us each Tuesday morning whether you are a member of our church or not.

PLANS MADE TO "BEEF UP" BRUSH CONTROL STUDIES

GUTHRIE — Ranchers and others who have been waging war against mesquite and brush in North Texas received a "shot in the arm" (October 4) when additional plans were announced to further brush control studies in that area.

Charles E. Fisher, research superintendent at Texas A & M University's South Plains Research and Extension Center, Lubbock, was named to head brush control research for the northern sector of the state and additional plans were announced to "beef up" the brush control program now in operation.

The announcement was made by Dr. H. O. Kunkel, acting dean of agriculture at Texas A&M, to a group of about 40 ranchers, researchers, educators and others touring the Pitchfork and Four-Sixes ranches during a mesquite control field day.

Beginning January 1, Fisher will "guide the work of a special team of scientists in an intensive effort to control mesquite and other brushy plants," Kunkel said. "He was named to this important post because of the overwhelming urgency of the problem."

Fisher's staff will include a plant physiologist, an agricultural engineer, and a herbicide specialist. He will also continue to serve in his present position at theSPREC.

During the field day program, Fisher said, "Even though more than 20 million acres of brush have been brought under control in Texas in the last 10 years, we have only scratched the surface in controlling brush on native grazing lands. We still have a long way to go before we can suggest methods that will pay good dividends consistently year after year for the major brush area."

"Today the problem is far more serious than ever before because mesquite is slowly spreading and reducing the gains of livestock at a time when production costs such as labor, materials and land taxes are consistently rising.

"The chief objective in a brush control program is to select those methods that will give the maximum amount of grass production at the least minimum cost for any given grassland site." Fisher continued, "The potential productivity of the land, density of brush, type of grassland, size of the area to be treated, immediate and long term effects on livestock, gains, runoff, wildlife and amount of capital required are some of the major factors to be considered in selecting methods of brush control."

Furthermore, he added, without a good maintenance and management program, the initial benefit of control will be lost due to reinfestation and other brush.

Fisher concluded by pointing out that a strong, well-coordinated and supported research and educational program must be developed if real headway is to be made in the control of brush.

Tours during the field day included some of the more than 1,500 five-acre experimental brush control plots established on the two ranches by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with interested ranchers,

USDA, chemical companies, machinery manufacturers and others. Those attending viewed results from such mesquite control methods as aerial spraying with chemicals, tree dozing, chaining, grubbing, root plowing and basal application of chemicals. Reseeded plots were also seen.

Pimientos and Cheese Team For Taste

Those team-mates, pimientos and cheese, join with shrimp, mushrooms and other seasonings to make a tasty and stylish quiche. This non-sweet custard or tart makes a handy lunch or supper dish. Serve with side dishes of whole shrimp, olives and pimientos.

Pimientos and Cheese Quiche

1/2 pound shelled raw shrimp
1 small can mushroom pieces, drained
1 large onion, sliced thin
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 unbaked 9" pastry shell, chilled
1 jar or can (7 oz.) pimientos, drained
5 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup cream
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon coarse grind black pepper
Dash cayenne
Dash nutmeg
1 cup grated sharp cheese, or Swiss
1/2 cup sour cream
Sauté shrimp (whole or cut up), mushroom pieces and sliced onion in hot oil. Spread mixture in unbaked pastry shell; top with about 2/3 of the pimientos, diced, reserving remainder for garnish.
Beat eggs with milk, cream and seasonings; pour into pie shell. Bake in a hot oven, 400°, 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderately low, 325°, and continue baking until custard sets, about 30 minutes.
Combine grated cheese with sour cream and spread mixture over top of quiche. Place under broiler for a minute or so until top browns. Garnish with reserved pimiento and serve hot. 6-8 servings.

Revealing Survey

Millions Supplementing Medicare

Eight million people aged 65 and older have private health and accident insurance to supplement Medicare benefits.

H. A. Jones

Men in the over-65 age group show more interest than women in purchasing insurance plans designed to supplement Medicare.

Almost half of all older people are influenced by the attitude of their families toward purchasing or not purchasing private health insurance.

Finally, Medicare eligibles are more in favor of health plans which fill the gaps in Medicare coverage and provide cash benefits while sick than they are in benefits for specific out-of-hospital medical expenses not covered by Medicare.

Projected on a national scale, Continental Casualty reports that the survey indicates that as many as eight million older Americans carry some form of private health and accident insurance to supplement Medicare. This is a drop of about 19 per cent from the pre-Medicare level, according to Henry A. Jones, Director of Retirement Planning for Continental Casualty.

Of those surveyed who did not have private coverage, but who expressed interest in purchasing a private plan, 8 per cent more men indicated interest than women. Of everyone indicating an interest in purchasing supplementary coverage, younger people aged 65 to 70, are more interested in purchasing than those over 70.

Almost one-third of the over-65 group surveyed who were interested in purchasing private insurance indicated family approval as a factor, while only about 15 per cent indicated disapproval of purchasing. The remainder either had no family to discuss the matter with, or the family was neutral in its feelings.

The survey clearly showed that people like the supplementary private plans mainly for the reason that they "complete Medicare." Rating of the major types of plans being offered in preference depends on how effectively each "completes Medicare."

There were indications that many people recognized that Medicare, with its various benefits, does not cover many of the medical expenses incurred. (The Social Security Administration estimates that Medicare covers about half of the average older person's total medical expenses.)

Projected on a national scale, Continental Casualty reports that the survey indicates that as many as eight million older Americans carry some form of private health and accident insurance to supplement Medicare. This is a drop of about 19 per cent from the pre-Medicare level, according to Henry A. Jones, Director of Retirement Planning for Continental Casualty.
