Idea! Give a party this Fall for just two people-your husband and you, or if you are single you and a friend, male

Since the guest list is so tiny, plan the party with 'hang the expense' enjoyment. After all, how often are you invited to so exclusive an affair?

If you enjoy a relaxing drink before dinner, spend just a little more for the best on such an occasion. Try one of those special quality spirits which people often drink straight because they are too fine to be mixed, Wild Turkey Kentucky Bourbon, for instance. Any guest offered a dram of such a smooth, connoisseur bourbon knows he's being treated royally.

Now's the time to pull out that cookbook of gourmet recipes. How about a spicy Indian curry cooled off with a sher-bet bombe for dessert? Or succulent roast pork baked with bananas Hawaiian style.

Even if your guest is strictly a steak and potatoes person, make the steak the finest to be bought and lure him with a potato parmesan

After the superiority of 101-proof Kentucky bourbon to start your party, the wine you serve with dinner should be just as unstintingly good. Maybe even champagne if the budget will hold out. And present a marvelous dessert with no calorie-counting at this special party.

Buy some new record for dancing or listening. Pick up one of those adult jig-saw puzzles and start it after dinner. Lay out the cards if your enjoys two-handed games. View an extra-special TV show together over coffee. Plan a fun trip, near or far. Parties for two can become a very pleasant habit.

Some of the world's best cooks are found in the kitchens of America, and they give themselves every cooking advantage, like gas range cooking. Good cooks like Mrs. Zotos and nine out of 10 professional chefs agree that precise temperature control makes the difference in good cooking, and with gas you get exactly that. Gas also gives immediate response and constant temperature, so important in oven cooking.

So, give yourself every advantage and cook with gas. Remember, people who cook with pride cook with gas.

Here's one of Mrs. Zotos' favorite recipes.
