STATE Chewbacca to marry Texan, become citizen

WASHINGTON (AP) - A long time ago, in a galaxy far, far away, a Wookiee named Chewbacca growled and howled his way through "Star Wars" movies. On Monday, the actor who played him will take the oath to become an American citizen.

British-born Peter Mayhew will be among 441 people from 77 countries who will become naturalized Americans in a ceremony in Arlington.

Mayhew, 60, played the fur-covered warrior Chewbacca in the original "Star Wars" trilogy of the 1970s and 1980s, and the latest movie, "Episode III: Revenge of the Sith."

"I got married to a Texan lady. That more or less decided it," said Mayhew, who has been married to his wife, Angelique, for six years.

In most cases, an immigrant must be a legal permanent resident for five years before becoming a citizen.

The wait is three years if the person marries a U.S. citizen. He also must pass history, English and civics exams

MUZAFFARABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Rescue efforts gave way to aid relief, as hopes faded Wednesday of finding more survivors in Pakistan's devastated quake zone. Still, miracles emerged amid the misery: A Russian team rescued a 5-year-old girl trapped for nearly 100 hours under the rubble of her family home.

China lets public watch latest space launch

BEIJING (AP) --- Chinese exulted at their country's second manned space flight Wednesday after the government eased its secrecy and showed the launch of two astronauts on live television, scoring a success in a costly program that communist leaders hope will win them respect abroad and public support at home.

Children in Shanghai watched in class and hundreds of people gathered around a giant video screen at Beijing's main railway station to see astronauts Fei Junlong and Nie Haisheng blast off from a base in China's desert northwest.

"I am feeling really emotional," said a construction worker at the Beijing train station, who would give only his surname, Liu. "This is a proud moment — not only for China, but for Chinese people all over the world, and for humankind."

The flight came two years after China launched its first astronaut into orbit in October 2003.

Inmates flee from Gaines County jail

Lubbock residents are being encouraged by local officials to be on the lookout for two inmates who escaped from a Gaines County jail earlier this week.

The two inmates broke out of a Gaines County holding facility in Seminole Monday night and remain at large.

Justin Kirk Graves, 19, and Claronaldo Matthew Davila, 27, were in custody when they escaped through building air vents and allegedly stole a white 1994 Cadillac, a spokesman for the Gaines County Sheriff's Office said Tuesday.

Davila was being held on a charge of forgery, and Graves was being held on burglary charges, Gaines County police officials said. Neither had been to trial yet.

The two men were last seen Monday night before breaking out of the facility and fleeing in the Cadillac with Texas license plate B23 PBG.

Graves was last seen wearing a dark-colored T-shirt and khaki pants, and Davila was wearing a white Tshirt and black sweat pants.

If you have any information regarding the two escapees, please contact the Gaines County Sheriff's Office at (432) 758-9871.

Rev. Graham Taylor made headlines for saying children's character Harry Potter is gay. His accusation gets analyzed in...

Teenage wizard a straight-flying ladies' man

ecently, a priest in England publicly called out Harry Potter as being gay. Basically, his argument against the J.K. Rowling series has to do with homosexuality and not witchcraft. Apparently it is OK to practice black magic, as long as you're not a gay. In my opinion, gay is an obvious symbol for a certain part or straight, it doesn't matter. ### Apple unveils video-capable iPod, hit TV shows available on iTunes

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) - Apple Computer Inc. unveiled Wednesday making more content available to an iPod capable of playing videos, evolving the portable music player of choice into a multimedia platform for everything from TV shows to music videos.

Videos will now be sold online alongside songs on Apple's iTunes Music Store.

Citing a groundbreaking deal with ABC Television Group, Apple chief executive Steve Jobs said the online iTunes store will sell episodes of hit shows "Desperate Housewives" and "Lost" for $1.99 each, making stop watch and a screen lock. them available the day after they air on television for viewing on the new thin," Jobs told assembled journalists iPod's 2.5-inch color screen.

Analysts consider Apple's muchanticipated introduction of a video shows and music videos downloaded iPod a test of whether consumers would embrace video on such a small screen. Over-the-air TV services are already available for cell phones but the quality remains substandard.

"It's never been done before, other unencrypted videos on it. where you could buy hit TV shows and buy them online the day after they're shown," said Jobs whose other company, Pixar Animation Studios Inc., has a long relationship with ABC's parent, The Walt Disney Co.

Competing portable video players have been available for several years but very little compelling content has been available, and Apple's move comes amid fledgling introduced newer, thinner models initiatives to offer original video of the all-in-one iMac desktop programming on the Internet.

"This is the first giant step to more people online," said Robert Iger, Disney's chief executive. "It is the future as far as I'm concerned. It's a great marriage between content and technology and I'm thrilled about it.'

The new video iPod, available in black or white, will be able to play video and podcasts. A 30-gigabyte version will sell for $299 and a 60-gigabyte, $399. Extra features on both versions include a clock, a calendar that Jobs said never looked better, a

There is no way to know where your significant other is at all times of the day. This is where the element of trust comes in when it comes to your partner and your relationship. Cheating is something that at one point or another will come into your mind when you are in a monogamous relationship; them cheating on you or vise-versa.

Infidelity, when one of the partners in a to conclusions, stay objective and realize relationship is cheating, can be the death that people change over time and may blow of a relationship. It is a sign that something is seriously wrong between interested about certain things. partners.

Being Played

A change of behavior in your partner might be a good indicator that something is wrong and may be your first clue that your partner is cheating on you. A mate having an affair will display changes in his normal patterns of behavior. But it is better if you attempt direct observation of on two or three unusual behaviors.

Additionally, suspecting your mate of having an affair may just be a result of your own issues and insecurities and less likely the result of your partner's behavior. If you have a history of special emotional insecurities, such as a very low self-esteem, overly strong feelings of

Now if you do decide to tell you could forgive you and you could both go on with your day.

Infidelity arguably is the most sustain. The news of an affair can shake a mate to his or her very core. The causes of infidelity are complex and varied. Affairs can occur in happy partnerships as well as in troubled ones. Although enough from the relationship, sometimes the involved partner is not giving enough. We all love a bit of attention. An exchange of admiring glances or a bit of light-hearted flirtatious banter can brighten the day, raise self-esteem and strengthen social bonds.

Flirtation at this level is harmless fun. There is, however, a fine line between harmless flirting and disloyalty to your partner. If what you're doing is fun and enjoyable but not emotionally charged, then you're probably safe.

However, if you have strong feelings for that person, then you are in trouble. Your feelings are a clear indication of when something is important to you.

In a perfect world, there would never be infidelity, and there would be peace on earth, but alas - the world and the people in it are far from perfect. Cheating hurts whatever side of it you are on, so my advice would to steer clear of "playing" if you can.
