Couple ‘lucky to be alive’ after train hits their car

MIAMI (AP) - Eighteen months after a Federal District Court jury convicted a Pennsylvania State University security guard in a murder trial, the man stood trial again today in a second murder charge.

Charles D. Stevens, convicted of murdering a man in a Florida city in 1977, was retried in Pennsylvania today.

Judge Edward O. Covell told state court officials to proceed with the trial of the same trip, which Theodore Draper, the state's lead prosecutor, said was the only one the jury could go with.

A defense attorney for the state had presented evidence that a man in a suit and tie in the jury box has to be considered a possibility.

The state says bail similar to the case for the second trial was set at $10,000 and the jury is expected to continue with the trial.

For the defense, Margaret Goodfellow, 34, of Pittsburgh, who was found not guilty of murder in the first trial, said that she had been tried by a jury that was not as knowledgeable as the current jury.

Carter makes offer on behalf of 'essential' energy legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) -- President Carter, moving to mend fences with a liberal Democratic Party, today called for a new energy policy that would be "in the public interest and not a matter of political expediency." The move was seen as a bid to win over Congress to his program of energy conservation and increased use of renewable energy sources.

Carter planned to meet with environmental groups and liberal Democrats today to offer his proposals and outline a plan to Congress, which he said was "in the public interest and not a matter of political expediency." The move was seen as a bid to win over Congress to his program of energy conservation and increased use of renewable energy sources.

Carter was also expected to announce plans for a new energy policy that would be "in the public interest and not a matter of political expediency." The move was seen as a bid to win over Congress to his program of energy conservation and increased use of renewable energy sources.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said Monday that the Carter administration was making a "serious offer on behalf of essential energy legislation." Computer can be property, in your home

By BARBARA MAYER

If you have a nice, little home computer system that you would like to sell, why not advertise it? Many people are interested in buying computer equipment, and you may be able to unload your system for a good price.

According to a number of computer experts, there are a number of advantages to having a computer in your home. For example, you can use it to keep track of your finances, balance your checking account, or even type up a letter or report. And if you have children, they can use it to learn how to use a computer, or to do their homework.

Convenience is key

Another advantage of having a computer in your home is that it can save you time. For example, if you have a lot of mail, you can use your computer to sort through it and file it away. If you have a lot of bills to pay, you can use your computer to keep track of them, and even automatically transfer funds from your bank account.

Express your individuality

If you have a home computer system, you can use it to express your individuality. For example, you can use it to create your own music, or to design artwork. And if you have children, they can use it to create their own art projects.

Talk is cheaper than you think.

How to save up to 60% on Long Distance.

If you’re one of those who thinks a Long Distance call is a luxury, read on.

The trick to saving money while keeping in touch with family or friends is knowing when to call, and calling One-Plus.

Call between 11pm and 8am.

Before you groan about how you can’t stay up late or see straight in the morning, think about it.

You’ll be saving up to 60%!

If you’re a night person, you probably don’t start counting sheep until after 11 pm anyway.

And if you’ve got friends and family to call out west, it’ll be a perfectly civilized 9 or 10 pm when their phone rings.

Dial One-Plus and watch the savings add up.

Even on weeknights, save up to 35%.

Sometimes you can’t wait for the weekend. Or you don’t want to. But you can still save plenty Sunday through Thursday.

Call out of state any time before 8 am and you can talk all day if you want—just remember to dial One-Plus.

Reach out on the weekend and save up to 60%.

Now this is a stroke of good luck: a really cheap Long Distance phone call just when you may want it most. Call any time between 11 pm Friday and 5 pm Sunday and really save. For instance, dial One-Plus and you can make a ten-minute call to Atlanta for only $1.55. That’s a significant discount, but still save 60%. In-state calls are also greatly reduced. Just remember to dial One-Plus.

Take advantage of the Holiday discount and celebrate.

Along with the flag-waving, fetes and parades, pick up the phone and call Long Distance. Our regular evening discount rates apply all day on Christmas, New Year’s Day, Labor Day, July 4th and Thanksgiving. If the holiday falls on a weekend, you get the lower rate. Isn’t this the perfect time to ring up friends and family?

Reach out. Reach out and touch someone.

Councilmen face stiff fines for saving diesel

SKAGWAY, Alaska (AP) — Towardlak and 10 other councilmen in the town of Skagway, whose city council voted to cut down trees in their city to save money, were presented with fines totaling $3,996.64 for the alleged violation of the city's regulations.

On July 1, the council voted to cut down the trees in the city to save money. This decision was made after the city council unanimously agreed that the trees were making the city look too green and that it was more cost-effective to cut them down. The councilmen, however, argued that the trees were essential for providing shade and beauty to the city.

In a letter to the councilmen, the city council cited regulations that prohibit cutting down trees without proper authorization. The councilmen, who voted against the decision, are now facing fines of $3,996.64 for each of them.

A spokesperson for the city council stated, "We understand the councilmen's concern for the environment, but the regulations are in place for a reason. The trees were not properly authorized, and therefore the councilmen are responsible for the fines."
Subcommittee votes subpoena

By JAY LYENES

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee has voted to issue a subpoena for documents from the federal government on the possible cause of the oil leak in the United States by the EPA.

However, the subcommittee agreed that the agency is not in violation of any laws and that the investigation should be conducted by the Treasury Department.

The vote was 9-1, with one member who is a member of the committee present.

The vote to issue the subpoena is a result of the government's response to the subcommittee's request for documents.
