He's coming home, and now theme will be 'Jailhouse Rock'

By KAY HORD
Staff Writer

"Won't you come home Bill Bennett," began a July 3, 1979, story in The Reporter-Telegram after a model prisoner escaped from the Midland County Jail, using his grandmother's funeral in Luling to gain his release.

According to the story, Bennett was released June 17 from the jail — about eight months before his one-year sentence was finished — to attend the funeral.

The only problem was that his grandmother wasn't dead — she was alive and well in Houston — and Bennett never returned.

Well, Bill Bennett's finally coming home, according to Midland County Sheriff Dallas Smith. Orange County has notified the Midland sheriff's office that they have Bennett in custody.

"Now I'm singing songs more like 'Jailhouse Rock,'" Smith said Tuesday.

Bennett was in jail serving a one-year sentence for a misdemeanor car theft conviction.

"This girl called the county judge and said his grandmother had died in Luling and wanted to know if he could be released to go to the funeral," the sheriff recalled.

"The judge called and talked to the jail officers and they said they thought he would come back if he was released. So the judge issued the order on the fact that the officers felt he would return.

"Well, Bill didn't return, and Bill's grandmother hadn't died. And obviously, he hadn't gone to any funeral," Smith said.

Shortly after the escape, Tom Green County Sheriff's office in San Angelo issued a warrant for Bennett's arrest after he reportedly took a car belonging to the mother of Bennett's girlfriend.

But Bennett soon will be on his way back to Midland, and he is going to serve all of his sentence, Smith stressed.

"He was a plumber and had been up there quite some time. Guys who get a long sentence are allowed to work if they want to, and they get credit for the days worked.

"But we're going to be hard pressed to see why he should work anymore," Smith said.

Bennett's time off previously accumulated for good behavior has been canceled.

Bennett was arrested in Orange County for reported driving while intoxicated in an allegedly stolen vehicle.

"So we may not get him back for a few days.

"I'm kind of worried about stressing that Bill is coming home for fear he'll escape before he gets here," said Smith. "But we're going to call and tell them that his grandmother in Luling is just fine. She's healthy, alive and doing well."

New violence erupts in New Mexico prison

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — New disturbances broke out overnight in a cellblock of the ravaged New Mexico State Penitentiary where maximum security prisoners were housed following a deadly weekend riot, officials reported today.

Inmates lighted fires and flooded cells Tuesday night, but State Liquor Director Jim Baca, acting as a prison spokesman, said there were no injuries.

Jill Marron, the governor's news secretary, confirmed the problem was in a cellblock where hard-core criminals were being held. She said the group included men believed to be ringleaders of the weekend revolt.

"They set mattresses, paper and blankets on fire," she said.

Ms. Marron said officers entered the cellblocks to extinguish the fires and "bring the situation under control."

She said the inmates involved were in separate cells when the disturbance began.

Meanwhile, authorities have acknowledged that they knew inmates were being killed and mutilated soon after a 36-hour state prison uprising began, but put off storming the facility to protect guards being held hostage, officials say.

The death toll in the weekend rebellion at the New Mexico State Penitentiary has been revised several times. Gov. Bruce King's office said Tuesday that at least 36 inmates died — some of drug overdoses and a few from fire, but most at the hands of other prisoners.

Warden Jerry Griffin said 33 bodies had been found, but a King aide said that count did not include three bodies found in a burned prison gymnasium that some convicts said was used as a torture chamber.

Authorities said about 50 inmates were unaccounted for, but said that did not mean they should be presumed dead or missing. A number still refused to identify themselves Tuesday.

Col. Bill Fields, commander of the National Guard troops called to the scene early Saturday, said there was "some talk" of storming the penitentiary when officials learned inmates were being killed.

"But our primary concern was that they had the hostages and we wanted to do everything we could to get them out alive," he said.

The siege ended Sunday afternoon when a Special Weapons and Tactics team and about 60 National Guardsmen seized the ravaged prison without firing a shot.

Fields said he was aware some inmates had been tortured as early as 7:30 a.m. Saturday when a wounded prisoner was released.

"A doctor told me he had been cleavered across the head and his hands were almost chopped off. It gave me a pretty good indication," he said.

Medical Examiner James Weston said a team of anthropologists would search for more victims in the prison gymnasium and a dormitory considered unsafe to enter Tuesday because of fire damage.

Weston said one prisoner had been beheaded and another arrived at the morgue with a rod through his head. He said it appeared both mutilations occurred after death. He said other mutilations were confirmed, but most of the dead had been beaten and stabbed.

"I would say the injuries indicated there was a great deal of rage," he said. "It's not so much mutilation per se, it's more what we would call overkill. They inflicted more injury than necessary to kill."

Authorities have said much of the violence apparently was directed against informants, but prison psychologist Dr. Marc Orner said racial hostility and personal grudges also appeared to be factors.

Attorney General Jeff Bingaman has promised a complete investigation and said inmate ringleaders could face the death penalty under a section of state law allowing capital punishment for "anyone found guilty of killing an informant."

Griffin said Tuesday he thought the guards' lives were spared because there was "a mutual truce" between them and the prisoners.

Iran's Bani Sadr raps militants

He says they're 'government within a government'

By The Associated Press

Iranian President Abolhassan Bani Sadr today angrily denounced the Moslem militants holding the U.S. Embassy hostages in Tehran as "dictators who have created a government within a government."

Bani Sadr's attack, his strongest yet on the embassy militants, came after they broadcast allegations that the minister of information and national guidance, Nasser Minachi, had "close links with the CIA." Minachi was arrested by revolutionary guards without government authorization at about midnight last night.

The minister had denied the allegations before being seized at his home.

The new tension between Bani Sadr and the militants arose as Iranian officials gave conflicting signals on whether the establishment of a U.N. investigation of the ex-shah's regime would lead to the release of the approximately 50 embassy hostages.

It was announced Tuesday night that Bani Sadr had been chosen chairman of Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, strengthening his position and raising hopes among those who expect him to try to get the American hostages released.

The new president, stung by the arbitrary arrest of Minachi, told the Tehran daily newspaper Kayhan that although the militants may not realize it they are paving the way for lawlessness in the country.

"How could you expect a government employee to go to work feeling secure," he said. "When there is no legal or judicial security in the country. That will undoubtedly lead to disorder."

Bani Sadr also attacked the state-owned television network for acting without prior government approval in giving the embassy militants air time

Tuesday night to broadcast their allegations.

The militants found documents in the embassy files "proving the existence of close links between Nasser Minachi ... and both the U.S. Embassy and the CIA," Tehran Radio reported in a broadcast monitored in Kuwait.

The students went on to accuse Minachi of having used his position as head of Iran's human rights committee in pre-revolutionary days to travel to Washington and establish links with the U.S. government.

Until today, Bani Sadr's criticism of the militants had been confined to statements to the effect that the new government alone must make decisions for the country.

U.S. officials are now more optimistic than ever that Bani Sadr will be able to bring about the release of the captives, and there is speculation former U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young may be tapped as a go-between.

Iran's economic counselor in Washington, Karaman Movasaghi, speculated Tuesday the hostages might be released March 21, the start of the Iranian new year. He said the coming formation of a government by Bani Sadr and the Revolutionary Council's agreement to a U.N.-sponsored international commission to investigate the regime's charges against the shah were "plus points as far as the situation goes."

Other official Iranian signals were confusing, however.

Tehran Radio quoted an unnamed Foreign Ministry spokesman as saying, "It is almost certain the commission's work will have a profound effect on the hostage crisis."

But the influential secretary of the Revolutionary Council, Ayatollah Beheshti, sounded a different note.

Asked by reporters whether the hostages might be freed without the ex-shah being returned to Iran, Beheshti replied, "I do not think so, and my belief in this regard is still not changed," Tehran Radio reported.

The hostages were spending their 95th day of captivity today. They were seized Nov. 4 by militant students who took over the embassy and demanded that the U.S. government return the deposed shah to Iran for trial.

A group of 49 Americans sympathetic to the embassy militants' cause was to arrive in Tehran today at their invitation, but it was not known whether Bani Sadr would meet with them.

The militants invited the Americans to Tehran to use them as a publicity pipeline to the U.S. public, replacing the TV coverage they have been denied since the expulsion of all American reporters from Iran.

Clements says well will be shut off

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements gives crews at a blown-out Mexican offshore oil well a 90 percent chance of shutting off the runaway flow by Thursday or Friday.

The governor said Tuesday he had heard from sources at the Mexican well site that two wells being drilled diagonally to cut off Ixtoc I have hit their mark.

"Hopefully, if everything goes right, they'll start pumping cement tomorrow or the next day. And I would anticipate the well will be killed then," he said at a news conference.

The well blew out of control in the Bay of Campeche June 3 and more than 100 million gallons of crude oil have polluted the Gulf of Mexico in the world's worst oil spill.

South Texas beaches wore patches and ribbons of thick ooze last summer and scientists predicted a repeat this spring if the well were not capped by March.

The governor said his estimate of a 10 percent chance of failure to cap the well would be "due to some kind of mechanical breakdown or weather problem beyond someone's control."

Clements refused to identify his sources of information except to say they were in Mexico.

The second directional well reached its target this week, Clements said.

The two wells first pumped salt water into Ixtoc I, then a dye which spewed out to the surface letting drillers know they had reached the well.

Mud mixed with acid is being forced into the well and will be followed by cement, he said.

"We are confident that if it is killed in next few days or few hours, there will be no recurrence on the Texas coast," he said.

Clements cautioned he was not absolutely certain the well will be shut off.

Those other Midlanders thank Midland, Ontario

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — The folks in Midland want to thank the folks in Midland for Canada's rescue of six U.S. diplomats who had been hiding in the Canadian embassy in Tehran until they escaped Iran last week.

So next week, residents of Midland, Ontario, will be receiving several thousand "thank-you" notes from residents of Midland, Mich. The U.S. city of 30,000 also will honor the mayor and five residents of the Canadian city north of Toronto at a dinner Saturday night.

An unidentified Midland resident will pick up the tab for a charter jet that will fly the six Canadians to the United States.

Moreland A. Lynn, mayor of the Canadian city, said his nation was "glad to help in any way we can. I think that being Canadian we are a little modest because it was anything that a good neighbor would have done."

Tass says China trained some Afghans

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass today said Chinese advisers were being sent across the border into Afghanistan along with thousands of Afghan rebels trained in China to fight the Soviet-backed Afghan government.

"We have facts indicating that Chinese advisers and instructors often accompany their charges on their bandit raids," Tass said in a dispatch from its correspondents in Kabul, the Afghan capital.

Tass said the Afghan rebels in the province were armed with American-made weapons and said two of them taken as prisoners were carrying photographs of themselves dressed in Chinese army uniforms.

"When questioned the bandits testified that these pictures were taken at one of the special bases for training anti-Afghan bandit (rebel) formations in the Chinese province of Xin-jiang," Tass said.

It quoted a spokesman for the Afghan Ministry of Interior as saying the Chinese had turned its approximately 50-mile-long border with Afghanistan, in the northeastern province of Badakhshan, "into a source of constant tension."

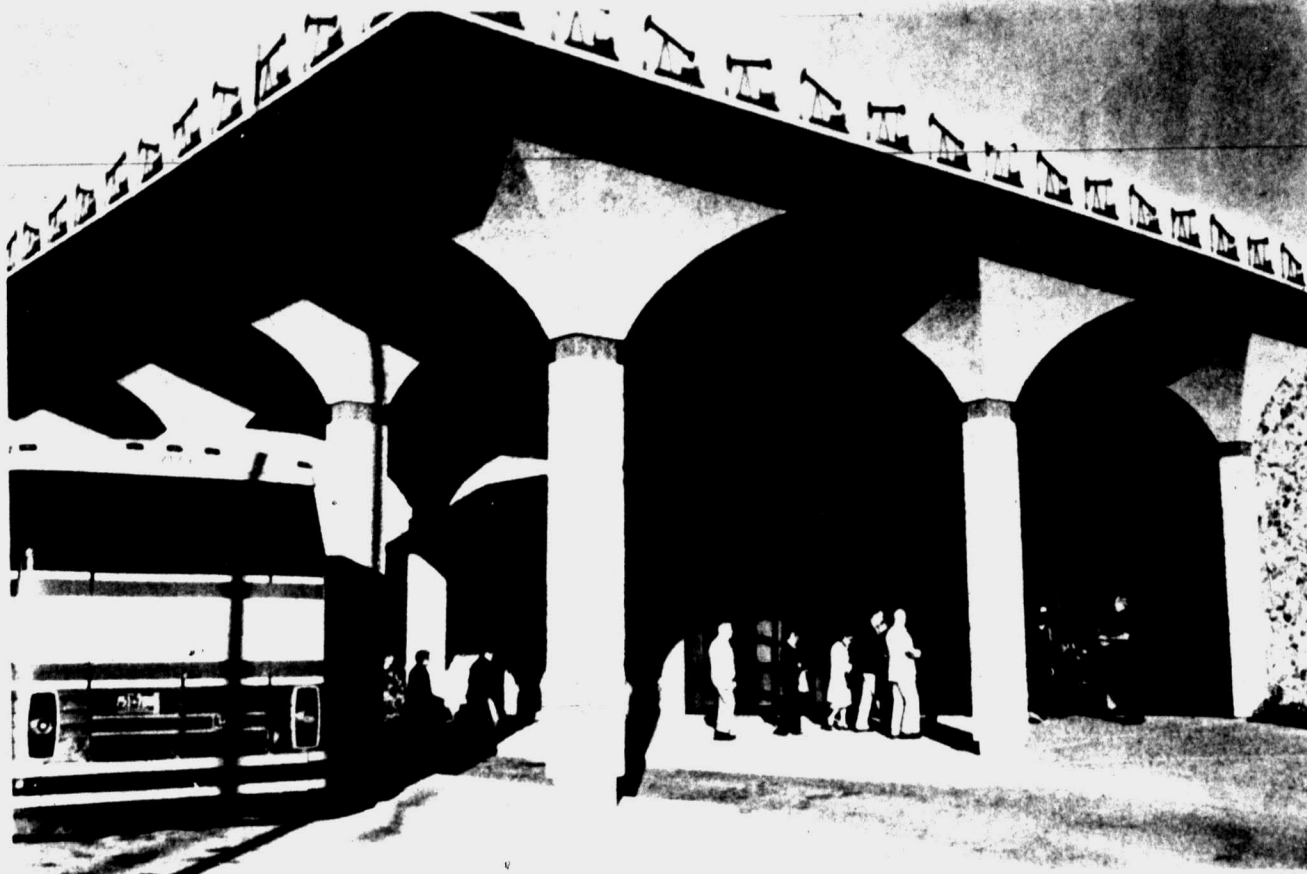

Tass quoted the ministry spokesman as saying "armed gangs" were being systematically smuggled across the frontier. "These gangs kill innocent people, burn peaceful villages, blow up bridges and spoil roads," it said.

Tass said "a number" of rebel bases had been set up in Chinese territory after Afghan rebel leaders received the consent of Chinese officials. "Thousands of bandits and terrorists (the anti-communist rebels) are being trained there so as to be smuggled later on into Afghanistan," Tass alleged.

Tass also said the rebels were continuing attacks in Badakhshan province, part of which borders China. It said rebels were being "liquidated" by Afghan troops but did not mention whether Soviet forces were involved.

On Tuesday, Western diplomatic sources in India reported the rebels had launched new attacks against Soviet troops in the remote province, inflicting casualties on Soviet units there.

An estimated 85,000 Soviet troops have been in Afghanistan since late December following the execution of former Afghan leader Hafizullah Amin, who was replaced by Soviet-backed President Babrak Karmal. The United States, China and dozens of Western allies and Third World nations have called for a Soviet withdrawal.

Justice will withhold evidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department today refused to turn over to congressional ethics committees evidence that the FBI has amassed on eight members of Congress allegedly implicated in the bureau's political corruption inquiry.

Assistant Attorney General Philip Heymann conveyed the refusal to the House ethics committee by reading a letter from Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti.

The letter said sharing of evidence with the ethics committees could endanger criminal prosecution of guilty persons and result in the leaking of other information that might be harmful to innocent parties.

"If this committee were to begin a full investigation before we have had a fair opportunity even to complete our criminal investigations, a number of guilty individuals could go unprosecuted or unpunished and innocent ones may be more severely prejudiced," the letter said.

Citing difficulties presented by "simultaneous investigations," Civiletti's letter asked that the congressional ethics panels forego their probes pending completion of Justice Department prosecutions.

The letter said the department would then be willing to fully cooperate with congressional investigations which can lead to disciplining of members found guilty of wrongdoing or improprieties.

Earlier today in a CBS-TV interview, Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., chairman of the Senate Ethics Committee, said Heymann told him Tuesday night that FBI evidence would not be made available for congressional investigations.

Heflin, a former appeals court judge, said he was "torn between a lot of responsibilities and obligations."

"There is an obligation to clear this matter up immediately if we can," he said. "We've got to protect individual rights. But I think the American people need to have their faith restored in the American political process."

Heflin said his committee might go to court to force the Justice Department's cooperation in its inquiry, but he said he hoped some settlement could be reached without legal action.

In a related development, FBI agents will meet Thursday with members of New Jersey's Casino Control Commission following the resignation of a commissioner alleged to have taken $100,000 from agents posing as aides to Arabs seeking an Atlantic City gambling license. The official, Kenneth MacDonald, has denied accepting any money.

Also under scrutiny is an alleged boast by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., the only senator among the eight congressmen linked to the probe, that he saved the developers of a new casino $3 million through the intercession of commission chairman Joseph Lordi.

Williams' wife Jeannette is a consultant to a New York firm that is majority owner of the proposed project and once served on the firm's board.

At this point, officials said, the House and Senate ethics panels lack independent information on which to conduct effective probes of their own.

Midland College to sponsor 'Free Enterprise Day' forum

A "Free Enterprise Day" forum at Midland College is slated for Feb. 20 according to Dr. Robert Hollmann, chairman of the Cultural Studies Division at Midland College.

Area high school and Midland College social science students will be involved in the forum.

The theme of the day-long forum will be "Oil, Energy and the Future of Free Enterprise." Chairman of the board of Atlantic Richfield Oil Company, Robert O. Anderson, will address the participants.

Also speaking at the forum will be Joseph A. Tierney, director of personnel and industrial relations for Michelin Tire Corporation.

A panel discussion consisting of Ed Leede, managing partner of Leede Exploration, Roy Campbell, president and chairman of the board for Ecor Corporation, and Deane Stolz, president and chief executive officer of the Tipperary Corporation, will discuss the forum's theme.

Tony A. Martin, president of Midland National Bank, will moderate the panel discussion.

"This program is being presented to increase the awareness of free enterprise, its role in this country and its importance to our future. Dr. Hollmann stated. "We anticipate making this an annual event, in order to reach successive groups of future adults and business leaders in this area."

Midland policeman seeks Justice of Peace nomination

Luis B. Salinas, 47, a Midland policeman for 18 years, has filed for the Republican nomination for Justice of the Peace, place 1, precinct 1.

The position currently is held by John Biggs, who has filed for re-election in the Democratic primary.

Salinas, a senior patrolman in the special services division, said he is running because "it is time for a change. Time that a younger generation break the tradition of the justice of the peace office that has been set for years."

The justices of the peace function on a 24-hour day, Salinas noted, and are called out at all hours. "I think a younger generation can cope with this," he said.

He has been a law enforcement officer for 24 years in Midland and Raymondville and has attended a number of law enforcement schools and FBI seminars. He also has an associate degree in police science from Midland College.

He was involved in the community baseball program for young boys for 10 years and also has been active with the East Side Lions Club.

He made the decision to run, he said, after Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr.

Luis B. Salinas announced the city's decision that police officers did not have to resign from their positions to seek elected office.

Salinas will face Charlie Sprayberry and A.L. Sisk in the Republican primary.

Peace justice post sought by Midland businessman

A.L. "Al" Sisk, 35, has filed as a Republican candidate for Justice of the Peace, place 1, precinct 1.

The post currently is held by John Biggs, who has filed for re-election in the Democratic primary.

Sisk, who runs a retail sporting goods shop, said he has had "an interest in law enforcement for quite some time."

"I have preached involvement over the counter for quite some time," he said. "And sometimes involvement means more than just being a concerned citizen."

The longtime Midland resident served 11 years in the U.S. Army from 1961 to 1972, serving overseas in India and Vietnam. He was discharged as a sergeant first class.

While in the Army, he completed courses in basic administration, personnel administration, stenography, Vietnamese language and welding.

He also has completed a four-week course in farrier science conducted by the Animal Science Department of the New Mexico State University in Las Cruces, two resident courses at the General Motors Training Center in El Paso, 12 hours at Community College in El Paso and 16 hours at Midland College.

His work experience has included four years as a personnel management and administrative specialist, seven years as a supervisor in personnel management, finance, briefing and liaison and training, three years as a diesel mechanic, two and a half years as a retail sporting goods manager, three months as a detention officer for El Paso County, and a year and a half as owner of his retail sporting goods shop.

Sisk is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amateur Radio Relay League, National Rifle Association, Texas State Rifle Association and Midland Shooters Association.

Small chance for showers in forecast

The spring like weather enjoyed in the Permian Basin the past few days may really become spring like on Thursday.

According to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport, in addition to spring like temperatures, Thursday's forecast also includes a chance for spring showers. But it's only a small chance — 20 percent.

The forecast is calling for increasing cloudiness tonight, becoming partly cloudy on Thursday with a 20 percent chance for rain.

Tonight's low temperature should be in the middle 30s and the mercury should climb into the middle 60s on Thursday.

Southerly winds should blow at 10-15 mph tonight.

Tuesday's high temperature in Midland was 58 degrees, 20 degrees shy of the record 78-degree reading set in 1951.

This morning's low reading was 29 degrees — chilly, but not as cold as the record low of 18 degrees set on this date last year.

Around the area this morning, weather-watchers reported clear skies and cool temperatures — and just a little frost in some communities.

Clear skies and mild temperatures dominated the Texas weather scene today.

Forecasts called for mostly clear skies with afternoon highs expected to range from the middle 50s in North Texas to the 70s in South Texas. A few readings were expected to reach the middle 80s in the lower elevations of the Big Bend area in Southwest Texas.

Some fog was reported in East Texas and along the coastal plains before dawn. Scattered light showers were reported during the night in South Texas and just off the lower Texas coast, but there were no reports of significant rainfall.

Charlie Sprayberry

Midlander files for peace justice

Charlie Sprayberry, Midland real estate salesman, has filed to run in the Republican primary for Justice of the Peace, place 1, precinct 1.

The position is currently held by John Biggs, who has filed for re-election in the Democratic primary.

Sprayberry, 39, has lived in Midland 4 1/2 years. He is a 30-year resident of the Permian Basin area.

He was awarded a bachelor's degree in business in 1966 from the University of Texas at El Paso.

In announcing his candidacy, Sprayberry noted that the Justice of the Peace court is one of the original courts mentioned in the 1876 Texas Constitution.

"The Justice of the Peace court is for the convenience of the people," Sprayberry said.

"I feel that the position needs a responsible and fair person to guarantee the rights and obligations for the fair and equal representation in an impartial court," he added.

Sprayberry, who has been active in working with Midland youth, noted this is the first time he has run for a public office.

He is the father of two sons and lives at 129 Barbara Lane.

War hero 'Long John' Smith dead at 84 after brief illness

DALLAS (AP) — Retired Army Col. John A. (Long John) Smith, whose Army division captured the first German city in World War II, died Tuesday following a brief illness. He was 84.
Smith, a close friend and polo playing companion of Gen. George S. Patton and humorist Will Rogers, was a native of San Antonio. He retired from the Army in 1949.
He was a leader of the 3rd Army Division in World War II and liberated five Belgian cities in 10 days in 1944 before crossing into Germany in 1945 to capture the first German city.
He also served as chief of staff of the 3rd Armored Division, a unit assigned to Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' First Army, which joined Gen. Patton in breaking through to rescue U.S. Army forces trapped in Bastogne, Belgium, during the Battle of the Bulge in late 1944.
In addition to his exploits on the battlefield, Smith was an avid polo player and captained the world champion U.S. Army polo team in the mid-1930s and was ranked as one of the top polo players in the world at the time.

First Drink
Scott Baio (left) and Lance Kerwin star in the drama special, "The Boy Who Drank Too Much," airing Wednesday, Feb. 6, on CBS. Baio portrays a star high school hockey player who is an alcoholic and Kerwin plays his best friend.
"The Boy Who Drank Too Much" is an important commentary on today's high instance of teen-age drinking. Many teenagers state that they take drinking for granted. Peer pressure, as this special shows, plays a major role in teen-agers' reasons for taking that first drink.

An unacceptable trade

How far do the leaders of Iran think they can push the United States of America?

Pretty far, they must think.

The situation involving the approximately 50 Americans held hostage in Tehran since Nov. 4 seemed to thaw a bit, perhaps, when it was announced earlier this week that the Iranian government had agreed to an international commission to consider charges against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

According to the Revolutionary Council, "The international investigation commission will consider the shah's crimes, his violation of human rights and the return of his wealth to Iran."

It appeared promising when Foreign Ministry spokesman Nasr-Allah Salami said the commission "will be effective in solving the hostage crisis."

But did you notice the stipulation added to that comment by Iranian President-elect Abolhasan Bani Sadr?

Bani Sadr said, in effect, that the United States must help Iran get the shah back for trial before the American hostages will be freed.

Ridiculous! Is Bani Sadr mad? Does he think the people of the United States have no concept of right and wrong any more?

Ever since the Americans were taken hostage on Nov. 4 the Iranians have acted as though the United States is to blame for the entire situation. From time to time it's seemed as though there would be a break in the situation, but unrealistic demands always were added by the Iranians.

It's obvious that the Iranians have only one thing in mind at this particular time — pushing the United States for befriending the shah in earlier times and for allowing him entry into this nation for medical treatment.

Now they want the United States to drag him to their doorstep before a world audience; they want the United States to grovel at their feet in return for the freedom of the hostages.

We want the hostages freed unharmed; there's no question about that. But how far are we willing to go to achieve that goal?

Perhaps the Iranians are playing on the past wounds afflicted upon the United States. They've seen us back out of the Vietnam War, licking our wounds and calling it a "stalmate" although we suffered severe damage to our national pride and respect.

They've seen us go through the agony of having an incumbent president resign with the stain of wrongdoing on his hands.

Now, perhaps, they think the United States will be brought to its knees once again — this time by international blackmail. Maybe even some Americans question whether the United States has the courage now to stand up to this kind of blackmail and to tell the Iranians that if they want the shah, they'll have to be the ones to drag him back to Iran.

But the U.S. has not lost all its respect from the nations of the world. It is true respect has been lowered but it would be lowered more if this nation allows itself to be subjected to this type of blackmail.

U.S. technology aided Soviet invasion

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Any suggestion that American officials and businessmen helped the Soviet Union invade Afghanistan would raise cries of outrage from the White House and Wall Street alike.

Unfortunately, it happens to be true. Both the military trucks and the transport jets that disgorged Red Army troops and supplies in Afghanistan during Christmas week were built with the indispensable technological know-how provided by profit-hungry U.S. firms and approved by high-level U.S. officials.

In an incredible replay of pre-Pearl Harbor days, when American businessmen sold the Japanese war machine scrap metal that later rained down on U.S. and allied troops in the Pacific, we have been selling the technologically backward Russians U.S. computers and other sophisticated equipment that have enabled the Kremlin to threaten our economic lifeline in the Middle East.

For years I have warned against the openhanded giveaway of American technology — the one field in which the United States was clearly miles ahead of the Soviet Union. There was one momentary success: A May 24, 1977 column stopped the shipment to Russia of a Control Data computer, which was more than a decade ahead of the Soviets' own technology.

I also published warnings against the sale of other sophisticated equipment to the Russians, including IBM computers. But the warnings were drowned out by eager corporate salesmen and an administration eager to believe the Russians. The CIA has now learned that the IBM computers were used to build military trucks, which hauled Soviet troops into Afghanistan.

Over the objections of Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and members of the National Security Council, President Carter personally approved the sale of $144 million worth of sophisticated equipment, ostensibly to be used by the Soviets for deep-well oil drilling. Experts cautioned that the American machinery could easily be converted to the manufacture of anti-tank ammunition.

To quiet critics of the deal, Carter appointed a special task force of technological experts, headed by Fred Bucy, chairman of Texas Instruments, to study the sale. To the administration's consternation, the panel opposed the sale. But it went through anyway.

According to Dr. Miles Costick of the Institute on Strategic Trade, the Russians also acquired their know-how to build wide-body jet transports from American firms. The Soviets' technique was simple: They kept after the three U.S. aircraft firms bidding on a contract to submit more and more detailed information — until the Russians had enough data to build their own planes.

Costick also said the Soviets went so far as to send their technologists to U.S. plants wearing special shoes that picked up traces of the special alloy metals used in construction of American products.

Armored cars and amphibious vehicles produced at the Gorki automobile plant were built with technical assistance from the Ford Motor Company. Truck chassis used for anti-air-

ART BUCHWALD

U.S. in Canada's debt following Iranian rescue

WASHINGTON — As soon as the news broke about the Canadian rescue of the six American diplomats in Tehran, everyone who had a friend in Canada wanted to pick up the phone and thank them personally.

I called my pal George in Toronto. "On behalf of all the people of the United States, I want to thank you for what you did to save our diplomats. You may have lost an embassy for a while, but you've gained a friend for life."

"Don't thank us," he said, "we thank you." "How can you thank us when you were the people who stuck your necks out while the rest of our friends kept insisting the hostage situation was an 'American problem'?"

"If you'll forgive me, you Americans don't really understand what makes another nation feel good. For years you people have been going around the world aiding other countries for self-serving or altruistic reasons. All you've gotten in return is resentment and envy. No self-respecting country enjoys being on the receiving end of someone else's largesse. By doing something for you we have restored our national pride."

"I assure you," he continued, "that after our recent adventure, the Canadians are twice as pro-American as the Americans are pro-Canadian."

"But you can't be. Your act of bravery, in one of our darkest hours, has every loyal American — man, woman and child — in your debt."

"Exactly," said George, "that's why we feel so pro-American. For years Canadians have been in America's debt and frankly it's been a pain in the ass. For the first time we don't feel inferior to you."

"I see what you mean," I replied. "But still you people went beyond the call of duty. Did you see Foreign Minister Ghotbzadeh on TV? He was fuming and said Canada will pay dearly for smuggling out the diplomats. He called it a 'flagrant violation of international law, a betrayal of Iran and a brutal act of espionage.'"

"It was the icing on the cake for us. Ghotbzadeh is a wit." "All the same, you people didn't have to do what you did. Iran had no quarrel with you."

"For heaven's sake, man, stop being so grateful! A little groveling can go so far. If you were up here you would realize how happy the Canadians are that they could spit in the Ayatollah's face. We rarely get a chance to play even a small part on the world stage and, believe me, it feels wonderful. There's nothing better for a Canadian's spirit than to pull an American's chestnuts out of the fire. All of us would have given up three embassies if we had to — for this opportunity."

"When you put it that way I guess we did do you a favor by letting you rescue our diplomats. Well, if I can't thank you, what can I do?"

"Just don't become bitter," George said.

"How can I become bitter?" "People do when they are beholden to somebody. We Canadians have felt that way for years. Now you owe us one and we don't want you to sour on us."

"There's something wrong with this conversation," I said. "I called to thank you. You say YOU should thank ME. And now you tell me not to become bitter for what you've done."

"That's correct. Just let us enjoy the Iranian caper for what it is. It may be quite a while before we have an opportunity to help out our little brothers to the south again, so allow us to savor the moment as long as we can."

Mark Russell says

I always knew that the Canadians could do the job since I first saw that old movie where Nelson Eddy rescued Jeannette MacDonald from the evil marauders up in Saskatchewan.

I called the Canadian Embassy in Washington to congratulate them for getting six of our people out of Iran. There was so much excitement going on, they were speaking English.

It's about time we showed Canada a little more respect. Without Canada where will our draft dodgers go?

Iranian Foreign Minister Gotsy-dreck said that had we only asked, he probably would have let the six Americans go. If you believe that, you'll also believe that the ayatollah was once the pastor of a little Presbyterian church outside of Tulsa.

Fauntroy leads stumbling quest for D.C. statehood

WASHINGTON — Without occasional comic relief, this tenses-up city would be impossible. We got some last week when our man in Congress, Walter E. Fauntroy, a nonvoting delegate at that, got into a hubbub over a report that he was ready to denounce the Palestinian Liberation Organization (PLO) in exchange for votes for the so-called D.C. Voting Rights Amendment by Jewish members of the Maryland General Assembly.

After a week of wrangling, it is uncertain who promised whom what, but all parties seem offended, and the republic has new evidence that the District of Columbia hardly deserves to be considered a candidate for virtual statehood.

Somehow, Fauntroy is the leader of the movement designed to grant D.C. two elected congressmen and a pair of U.S. senators. Despite Fauntroy's wide travels and extensive lobbying, most state legislatures are not too keen to bestow such status on this federal enclave. After all, we are only a city and possess few characteristics of the 50 legitimate states. For openers, we don't have cows. There are some chickens here.

Anyway, Fauntroy was confident that the General Assembly (state legislature) of next-door Maryland would ratify the D.C. Amendment, euphemistically called "Voting Rights," last year, and to his astonishment it failed by only one vote in the House, though passed by the Senate.

Awake he would need every last vote this session, Fauntroy vigorously lobbied the Maryland Assembly halls, but, bam, ran into the charge that he had to do to the PLO on his much-publicized visit to Lebanon, and had even sung "We Shall Overcome" with Yasser Arafat. Zounds!

Anxious that he couldn't even overcome Maryland, Fauntroy held a private meeting with four Maryland legislators of the Jewish faith and, according to the Washington Post, agreed to draft a statement criticizing the PLO in return for their votes.

Now it must be pointed out that 21 of the 24 Jewish members of the Maryland Assembly voted for the amendment last year, and that the four who met with Fauntroy were not speaking for all 24.

David Shapiro, a member from Baltimore, said he never favored the D.C. Voting rights measure, but voted for it last year because of the "alliance of blacks and Jews." But with Fauntroy singing with Arafat, he couldn't support it again unless Fauntroy put into focus where he and the country should stand on the PLO.

Another Jewish delegate complained that even in private sessions, Fauntroy refused to "repudiate the PLO's anti-Americanism."

Still, there was reason to believe that Fauntroy wanted to strike a deal with this minority cluster in order to get his precious votes. But the very idea of such groveling appalled not only the ardent advocates of virtual statehood for D.C., but the Baltimore-Washington area's major Jewish organizations as well.

"News of such a deal was shocking to us," said Amy Goott, community consultant of the Anti-Defamation League's D.C.-Maryland office. "The PLO question is an unrelated issue. We have strongly supported the amendment from the start. We agree with Fauntroy on that issue."

Well, by the end of the week, Fauntroy was vehemently denying that he had agreed to recant in order to get votes and placed the blame for an offer of a deal on the four Jewish legislators. He argued that he had criticized the PLO before for its terrorism (he has also criticized Israel on the same score) and claimed he was only trying to explain once more his efforts to stop violence in the Middle East.

Alas, Fauntroy's performance is what we probably can expect if D.C. is given the privilege of near-statehood. Presently, D.C. citizens elect a nonvoting delegate in Congress (Fauntroy), a mayor, a city council and a school board and vote for President. The voter turnout is far below the national average, and the politics are so lopsided Democratic that D.C. Republicans can find plenty of room in a broom closet for meetings.

I am for the D.C. citizenry electing two representatives to the U.S. House who can vote and, by process of re-election, being able to vote in elections of U.S. senators in Maryland. This would give them all the voting rights of citizens in other states and would avoid the infernal problem of statehood being granted to this federal turf.

If Fauntroy continues to perform on behalf of the D.C. Voting Rights Amendment as he has in this latest episode, editorialists like me won't have to fume about the absurdity of the nation's capital becoming the 51st state. The 50 real states won't let it happen.

Police pay hike bid awaiting council discussion

By KAY HORD
Staff Writer

A police petition requesting a 20 percent pay raise is apparently being temporarily withheld from city officials, pending discussions by the City Council next week on a blanket raise of approximately 7 percent for all city employees, according to City Manager James Brown.

The petition is being withheld at the officers' request, said a spokesman in the Police Department.

Police Sgt. Jerry Wade emphasized Tuesday afternoon that the petition was not being handled by the police union.

"This was requested through normal channels, not through the union," he said.

According to several officers, the request is the result of a visit by some Midland officers to San Angelo, where officers have recently been given "nice raises."

Those officers said several councilmen had discussed the raise with police and were considering a package deal which would include a 7 to 7 1/2 percent raise with increased educational benefits.

They said they were optimistic this deal would be approved by the council.

"A raise plus the educational benefits would give them an out to satisfy us, since they can't give us a 20 percent raise without giving all city employees a raise," one officer said.

However, James Brown this morning said that the petition had not been presented to him. Apparently the possibility of a raise for all city employees has "held up" the petition.

Brown said he understood a petition for a raise had been submitted to Police Chief Wayne Gideon, but that it had not been presented to the city and that he had not even been aware of the amount requested.

"I understand a petition was submitted to the Chief, and he has apparently talked to them. And they are apparently going to hold that up temporarily to see what comes out of the council meeting," Brown said.

Brown said the city had been conducting salary comparison studies for city employees.

"We will have them hopefully by council meeting time," he said.

Midland police officers received a 7 percent raise in 1979.

Cronkite says he's ready to accept new assignments with CBS network

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Cronkite, who for years has been telling Americans "that's the way it is" as anchorman of the CBS Evening News, says he wants to move to other assignments for the network.

Cronkite, 63, said he wants to take on other assignments for CBS. "It's just not in my plans to continue with the Evening News," he explained. "I'd like to do some deeper things."

Cronkite helped put — and keep — the CBS news program at the top of the ratings a decade ago. He first took the anchorman position in 1962 when CBS expanded its evening news show to a half hour.

In addition to his week-night appearances on the Evening News, Cronkite interviewed leading figures of the times, traveled with presidents on major foreign trips and covered the major events of America's space program.

Cronkite, in an interview with The Washington Post published today, said he plans to leave the Evening News program no later than November 1981.

Prison riot fulfills charges

By ROB WOOD

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas and New Mexico prison inmates have, in the past four years, filed complaints in federal court charging inhumane treatment and unsanitary living conditions.

Today, while Texas prisons are quiet, the New Mexico State Penitentiary has been reduced to a blood-spattered, smoldering hulk — a reminder that violence is an inmate's constant companion.

In 1977, a class action suit filed by New Mexico inmates charged the prisons were overcrowded and prisoners were receiving improper treatment.

Eight Texas inmates brought a long list of charges against the Texas Department of Corrections in October, 1978.

Both suits were similar but the New Mexico suit, on which no action has been taken, proved to be chillingly prophetic with its charge that overcrowding led to incidents of prison violence.

The carnage that exploded in the Sante Fe facility over the weekend left 35 prisoners dead. Some had been castrated, some had been dismembered, some had been tortured with blowtorches. Fifteen are still missing.

Even though Texas prisons have nearly doubled their inmate population in the past seven years — from 17,000 in 1974 to 29,000 today — the only recent incident occurred in 1978 when 1,300 inmates rioted two years ago in support of the suit filed by prisoners.

Following the incident, W.J. Estelle, TDC director, said "overcrowding could lead to more violence even though 90 percent of the inmates want to avoid further disturbances."

"Overcrowding is relative," a TDC spokesman said Tuesday. "Of course, we have more prisoners than in the past, but we are able to absorb them into the system."

He said some TDC inmates were sleeping on mattresses placed on the floors, and that cells originally built for one person were now housing two.

During the Houston trial William Turner, attorney for the prisoners, said TDC inmates were "constantly in fear of assault and punishment." Leonard Ortega Diza, 28, serving a 15-year armed robbery sentence, testified his jaw had been broken and eardrum ruptured when hit by two prison officials.

Congressmen to run unopposed

WASHINGTON (AP) - Seven of the 24 Texas congressmen, including three of the freshmen elected two years ago, are running unopposed in their bids to return to the Capitol.

The number could diminish, however, if an application postmarked before Monday's filing deadline were to arrive at the secretary of state's office in Austin.

The congressmen without opponents in the May primary or the general election are Democratic Reps. Sam Hall of Marshall, Marvin Leath of Marlin, E. "Kika" de la Garza of Mission, Richard White of El Paso, Charles Stenholm of Stamford and Kent Hance of Lubbock and Republican Rep. Bill Archer of Houston.

Leath, Stenholm and Hance won their seats in 1978 during the big shakeup that saw nine new faces come to Washington. Eight were freshmen and the other was Rep. Ron Paul, a Republican from Lake Jackson who had served a partial term two years before.

Observers see little likelihood that the delegation will undergo as big a shakeup this year.

Two Texas seats are open at the outset of the 1980 electoral haul, representing the biggest difference from two years ago when retirements opened six seats.

This time the only incumbents not seeking additional terms in Washington are veteran Rep. Ray Roberts, a Democrat from McKinney, and freshman Rep. Joe Wyatt, a Democrat from Victoria.

"The last election was a very active election," freshman Rep. Phil Gramm, D-Texas, said Tuesday. "That pretty well flushed out everybody who was interested."

Gramm, for example, came out on top of five opponents in the Democratic primary and runoff two years ago before defeating his Republican opponent for the 6th District seat.

By the primary filing deadline Monday, the congressman from College Station was unopposed on the Democratic side. Two candidates had filed for the district's Republican primary.

Most observers pick two replays of tight races in the last election as having the most potential for hot contests this year.

Rep. Jim Mattox, a Democrat from Dallas, defeated Tom Pauken in the 5th District race last time with 51 percent of the vote. Pauken is running again.

The 22nd District, which runs along the Gulf Coast from Houston to the Brazosport area, has seen extremely close races three times in a row between Paul and former Rep. Bob Gammage, a Democrat.

Paul first defeated Gammage in a 1975 special election, Gammage won in 1976 and Paul reversed the results again in 1978.

Gammage has filed for another stab at Congress, but he has to contend with opposition in the Democratic primary first.

Some Washington observers also forecast potentially tough races for Rep. Bob Eckhardt, a Houston Democrat, and Rep. Abraham "Chick" Kazen Jr., a Democrat from Laredo.

Both longtime congressmen face primary and general election tests, as does Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, a Democrat from Austin.

All three are Washington veterans, with Eckhardt and Kazen here since 1966 and Pickle since 1963.

One Democratic congressman, who asked not to be identified by name, called it "very difficult" to knock off an incumbent in a Texas primary. Wyatt and Rep. Martin Frost, a Democrat from Dallas, did it last time but it had been 22 years since a similar feat.

The Republicans doubled their number in the Texas congressional delegation from two to four in the last election.

Gov. Bill Clements, among others, has spoken of a Republican push to take over in the 4th District being vacated by Roberts.

J.L. "Jim" Gully, a Tyler drilling contractor, was the only candidate to file for the district's Republican primary. The Democratic side had two candidates, oil company attorney Jerdy Gary of Denison and Rockwall attorney Ralph Hall.

The 14th District, opened by Wyatt's decision to step out of the race, has a full slate of candidates in both parties.

Name added to May 3 ballot

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Frank Steed Jr., Houston certified public accountant, was added to the May 3 Republican primary ballot Tuesday.

His mailed application, dated before the 6 p.m. Monday deadline was received and recorded at State Republican Headquarters.

State Democratic headquarters said it received no more applications Tuesday for either statewide or congressional candidates.

Bastrop facility won't take inmates

BASTROP, Texas (AP) — U.S. Rep. Jake Pickle says he has convinced federal Bureau of Prisons officials not to accept any New Mexico inmates at the medium-security facility here.

Weekend rioting at the maximum-security New Mexico State Prison at Santa Fe left at least 39 prisoner dead and caused an estimated $50 million in damage.

Pickle, D-Texas, said the bureau's decision Tuesday not to accept any of the New Mexico inmates at the Bastrop facility came after he voiced his concerns about security to J.D. Williams, the assistant director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons.

"In our discussion I pointed out to him my feelings that the Bastrop facility was not built nor was it capable of handling inmates like those from the New Mexico facility," said Pickle.

"After consultation the bureau agreed with this point of view," said Pickle.

The bureau had announced Monday it would transfer 400 of the New Mexico inmates to its federal facilities in Bastrop and Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The Federal Correctional Institute at Bastrop was built to hold young male offenders age 18 to 25, said Beeler Gausz, information officer for the facility. It was built for 472 inmates and currently houses 228.

Cincinnati wants subpoena power for concert inquiry

CINCINNATI (AP) — City Council's Law and Public Safety Committee wants a subpoena ordinance to help it investigate the Dec. 3 stampede in which 11 people perished outside Riverfront Coliseum prior to a rock concert.

The committee recommended making a subpoena a criminal offense, punishable by up to six months in jail and a $10,000 fine.

The recommendation, which was to be discussed by council today, was approved by the committee Tuesday following a Coliseum attorney's refusal to make a commitment to answer 49 questions the committee is asking groups involved in the incident.

The committee had set Tuesday as the deadline for answering the questions, most of them seeking to determine factual circumstances of the crush and who made certain crowd control decisions.

But Vice Mayor David Mann said Coliseum representatives asked Tuesday for a two week extension of the deadline, and during that time they would decide whether to answer the 49 questions.

"I couldn't agree to the extension on those terms," said Mann, who heads the committee.

Midlander jailed in case of assault on peace officer

A 31-year-old Midland man was in City Jail this morning for aggravated assault on a peace officer.

According to Officer Albert Grindstaff, he and Officer Phillip Maxwell were called at approximately 7 p.m. Tuesday to stand by while Jennifer Anders retrieved some belongings from Room 3, 500 S. Lee.

On Officer Grindstaff's arrival, he met Miss Anders, Officer Maxwell and a man also living at that address.

As Maxwell, Miss Anders and Grindstaff left, the man reportedly shoved Grindstaff out of the door. Grindstaff reported that he turned to arrest the man for shoving him, at which time the man swung at the officer, striking his glasses and causing the frame to cut into Officer Grindstaff's face just below his left eye.

Tryouts scheduled for production of Midland Community Theatre

The public is reminded of a third and final tryout session scheduled tonight to fill parts in Midland Community Theatre's second production of its 1980 season.

The production is a British farce titled "No Sex, Please, We're British." It will open in March at Theatre Midland.

Tryouts to fill the 10 male and female roles in the comedy will be held at 8 p.m. today in the downstairs Redfern Room of Theatre Midland, 2000 W. Wadley Ave. Newcomers to the city and area have a special invitation to read for parts, and MCT "old hands" also will be welcomed. Persons do not have to be MCT season members to try for parts in the comedy, it was stressed.

Reporter slips into nuke plant control room

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A bogus guard at Three Mile Island — actually a young reporter looking for a story — says he wandered unchallenged into the nuclear power plant's unlocked reactor control room.

According to a copyright story in The Guide, a small Harrisburg area weekly newspaper, the reporter also took pictures of the control room, chatted with operators and left without being detected.

Robert Kapler, 26, whose career as a reporter began with The Guide last November, worked at the plant from Jan. 2 to Jan. 19 using phony identification to get a job as a security guard.

Plant officials went to court to stop his stories, but Dauphin County Judge John C. Dowling rejected their arguments on Monday and on Tuesday The Guide devoted its entire front page to the episode.

"TMI: it's a Paradise Island for the saboteur," said one headline. "I waltz into unlocked control room of Unit 2," said another.

Unit 2 is the facility that was severely damaged last March in the most serious accident in the history of commercial nuclear power. Its control room is where vital reactor functions are still maintained.

The Guide published photographs by Kapler identified as the interior of the control room and as an unlocked control room door with the knob missing so that a piece of rope was used to pull it open.

The photos were taken, said the Guide, with a concealed Minox spy camera — "the kind the CIA uses." The newspaper also detailed the plant security operation, which allowed Kapler to get a job as a security guard without his background being checked.

Kapler's adventure drew international attention. He was asked to appear on national television and a deluge of phone calls from around the United States and Canada hit The Guide's tiny local offices.

"We had to give him a raise," said Guide editor Richard Halverson, the paper's only other full-time newsman.

Kapler reported the plant goes to great lengths to protect against outside threats, even carefully logging the numbers of airplanes that get too close. But he said it "is doing little to protect vital areas from potentially hazardous inside forces — like saboteurs."

He said in the control room, he encountered two control room operators and other workers, but was not noticed for nearly 15 seconds until one of the operators casually looked at him.

"Howyadoin', I say in a friendly voice. He looks away and sighs, 'Not bad,'" said Kapler's story.

Egypt scraps economic boycott against Israel

CAIRO, EGYPT (AP) — The Egyptian parliament has approved a law ending 30 years of economic boycott against Israel.

The law passed Tuesday night in effect cancels the boycott law of 1955 which formally imposed sanctions against Israel and any companies which had dealings with it. The Egyptians had been observing an unofficial boycott before 1955.

The sanctions were to have been lifted by Jan. 26, the date set by the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty for establishing normal relations. But the government of President Anwar Sadat had asked for a delay pending parliamentary approval.

Authorities abandon their search for bodies in Louisiana forest

DERIDDER, La. (AP) — Authorities have called off their search for bodies in a pine forest where the partially frozen body of a young woman was found in a shallow grave.

Meanwhile, officials in Omaha, Neb., have filed second degree murder charges against a man being held in the woman's death, Chief Deputy Joe Bartlett of the Beauregard Parish Sheriff's Department said Tuesday.

Bartlett said Dennis L. McCabe, 32, originally of Lake Charles, La., was named in a murder warrant in the fatal shooting of the unidentified woman whose body was found in an area supposedly described by McCabe.

Bartlett and Sheriff M. Bolivar Bishop said their investigation was moving cautiously because of conflicting reports and McCabe's reputation as a braggart.

"We have so many conflicting reports," said Bishop. "This guy told somebody there were several bodies."

"He told someone there were three men and a woman, but I don't really feel there's anything else there. There's no other evidence of any diggings there."

"He has a reputation as a braggart. He's told people the Mafia is after him and all that," said Bartlett. "Even all his relatives write off his stories as fabrications."

Authorities said the young woman apparently was shot once in the head with a small caliber weapon. They said unseasonably cold weather helped preserve the woman's body and it was determined she was white, about 20 years old and probably was killed sometime around Thanksgiving.

Bartlett said two firearms were found in the vicinity of the woman's shallow grave, but he would not elaborate.

rate on earlier reports that a spent .22-caliber shell casing may have been the death weapon.

Bishop said his investigators would question McCabe when he is taken later this week from Omaha to Carson City, Nev.

Nevada authorities earlier charged McCabe with murder in the slaying last August of his father-in-law, Gene Peoples, whose body was dumped in an irrigation ditch at Fallon, Nev.

Bishop said he expected an autopsy, being conducted in Bossier City, La., might produce an identity for the woman whose body was found in the remote Dry Creek area.

"We're getting calls from all over and getting some indication it may be somebody from Nevada," said Bishop. "Nothing concrete, but the description fits."

Bartlett said parish authorities got involved after a Lake Charles policeman, who he did not identify, told them he overheard McCabe bragging to a group about four persons he killed and buried in a south Louisiana pine forest.

Deputies went to the area with shovels and flashlights Sunday — "mainly out of curiosity" — and found the woman's body, said Bartlett.

The wreckage of several grain-laden box cars is seen near Denison, where the cars broke loose while waiting on an incline during a switching operation. The cars slammed into a switcher engine, killing the engineer and injuring two crewmen. (AP Laserphoto)

One crewman killed, two injured when loaded grain cars derail

DENISON, Texas (AP) — It took nearly 12 hours to cut the body of an engineer from the wreckage of a massive train derailment that also injured two crewmen, destroyed 59 grain cars and spilled more than $1 million worth of corn on the ground.

Officials with the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad said 79 loaded grain cars rolled down an incline at a rail yard and smashed into a switch-engine early Tuesday.

More than 50 of the 130-ton cars derailed on impact, gouging up several hundred yards of newly repaired track and spilling corn as much as six feet deep in places.

Officials at the scene said the wrecked cars carried about 240,000 bushels of corn, with an estimated market value of $1 1/4 million.

Cleanup crews were to work through the night, hoping to have the track cleared by this afternoon, company officers said.

Chris Putsche, general transportation supervisor for the railroad, said the switch engine was on a routine run to pick up some cars a few miles north of the Ray Yard, when the grain cars began moving.

"For some reason," he said, "the cars of grain rolled out of the yard, overtook and slammed into the switcher." He said the runaway cars traveled about a mile before the crash.

"There apparently were two impacts," Putsche said. "The first they survived and it caused some of the cars to derail. In the second impact, the big pileup occurred. This is just conjecture, of course."

Investigators said they would check several possible causes for the accident, including a leakage of air from the cars' automatic brakes.

The grain cars were parked in the yard until an engine picked them up. The Ray Yard is located just west of Denison and just south of the Red River that divides Texas and Oklahoma.

"All we know at this point is that the grain cars were parked at the 'Y' in the Ray Yards waiting for power to take them south," said Katy northern division manager, M.L. Janovec. "They broke loose and rolled down the track, gaining momentum as they rolled toward the river."

The dead engineer, Jimmy Derischweiler, 31, was crushed beneath the engine car and buried under dozens of grain cars.

Peace Justice Charles Odle pronounced Derischweiler dead at the scene about 3 a.m., but workers were unable to remove his body until shortly after 2 p.m.

The two crewmen were pulled to safety shortly after the wreck.

Tracy Badgett, an engineer on another train, said he was talking by radio to the victims just as the cars hit. He told witnesses at the scene they said, "We're all right, just bruised," just after impact.

But the grain cars began to jam up, crushing the manned engine and shooting the other engine southward down the tracks where automatic emergency brakes brought it to a halt.

Gacy trial begins today in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A jury brought in from out of town is being asked to find John W. Gacy Jr. guilty and send him to the electric chair for the sextorture slayings of 33 young men and boys in the worst mass killing in U.S. history.

Defense attorneys intended to ask the seven men and five women on the jury during opening arguments today to find the defendant innocent by reason of insanity.

Judge Louis B. Garippo of Cook County Circuit Court told the jurors that the trial will last six to eight weeks and possibly longer.

Gacy, 37, a former remodeling contractor, is accused of killing more people than anyone in the nation's history. He was indicted on charges of murder in the deaths of 33 young men and boys and charges of deviate sexual assault and taking indecent liberties with a child.

The remains of 29 bodies were unearthed on his property, 26 of them dug up from a crawl space under his ranch-style home. Four other bodies were found in rivers.

Twenty-two of the 33 bodies have been identified, mainly through dental charts. All were strangled except one who was stabbed.

The jury was impaneled last week in Rockford, 75 miles northwest of Chicago, because of extensive news coverage in the Chicago area.

The jurors, who range in age from 21 to 71, were sequestered in Chicago and were to be permitted visits from friends and relatives on Sundays. The trial will be held six days a week.

'Hermit' convicted of murder

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. (AP) — Ronald Bristlewolf, a Black Rock Desert hermit, was found guilty today of three counts of first-degree murder in the shooting deaths of three persons who strayed too close to his dugout home.

The 10 women and two men on the jury deliberated nine hours before returning the verdict at 4 a.m.

Bristlewolf sat stern-faced, as he had throughout the two-week trial, when the judge polled each member of the panel on each count. He was returned to Humboldt County Jail to await a penalty hearing before the same jury on Thursday.

He faces a possible death sentence. Nevada executed inmate Jesse Bishop in the gas chamber late last year.

Defense attorney Marty Wiener said he will appeal the convictions.

Bristlewolf, 44, who had his last name legally changed from Gress in 1973, had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to the June 1978 shootings of a prospecting Longmont, Colo., couple and a fellow desert recluse, trapper-pro prospector Pete Cachenaunt, 75.

The partly decayed bodies of the three victims were found about 150 yards from Bristlewolf's remote dugout home, 120 miles north of Reno.

As spectators packed the courtroom and spilled into the hall, Special Prosecutor Mills Lane charged Bristlewolf killed Richard Weese, 40, and his 31-year-old wife, Judy, because he felt they "posed a threat" to his occupancy of the dugout near a hot springs.

And he said Cachenaunt "was executed to shut him up" when he happened onto the scene two days later.

Deputy Public Defender Martin Weiner said all three psychiatrists who testified said Bristlewolf had suffered from paranoid schizophrenia. Two said he was probably legally insane at the time of the killings, Weiner said.

Midland youth reports aggravated assault

David Craig McCartney, 17, of 4716 W. Storey reported an aggravated assault to police at 12:18 a.m. today.

The assault reportedly occurred between 10 and 11 p.m. Tuesday at the rental storage units at Andrews Highway and Holiday Hill Road.

McCartney told police that he and a friend were playing music in one of the storage units when they heard someone knocking or kicking on the door.

When they went to the door, a man outside asked them why they were playing music inside the storage unit. They explained that they were renting it from the previous owners, police reports said. McCartney told officers that he and his friend observed a pistol in the waistband of the man's pants.

According to McCartney, the man then got mad and pointed the pistol at the two youths. McCartney said he asked the man to put down the pistol, at which time he became angry and struck McCartney once across the mouth and twice on the back of the head with the pistol.

Dental visits necessary for denture wearers

EDITOR'S NOTE: The 32nd annual National Children's Dental Health Week is being observed this week. As part of the week's activities, The Midland Reporter-Telegram, in cooperation with the Permian Basin Hygienists' Study Group, is publishing six articles on dental health. This is the fourth in a series.

QUESTION: Since I wear dentures, is it really necessary for me to visit a dentist?

Although your dentures retain a relatively permanent shape, the shape of your gums and bones change constantly. The bone and gum ridges which support the dentures can recede or shrink away. This can make the dentures loose or less stable, impede your ability to chew, and increase the chances of developing aging lines and wrinkles.

Further, poorly fitting dentures can harm your mouth. Constant irritation over a long period may contribute to the development of sores or tumors.

In order to prevent or correct problems such as these, it is essential to have your mouth examined on a regular basis by a dentist. In an oral exam your dentist can discover problems with jaw joints, the tongue and the ridge supporting the denture. He can also check the health of your whole mouth, look for tumors and precancerous sores, look for general health problems that have symptoms in the mouth, and determine the adjustments that may be needed to keep your dentures working more properly.

Don't neglect your mouth. Your oral health and your general well-being depend on each other. Protect them both.

Seven students to be presented in Catoico Court

Renee Ramsey will be crowned queen when the Catoico Court is presented at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Midland High School Auditorium.

Other members of the court are Claire Elizabeth Aldridge, Catharine Baimbridge, Nita Montae Bedford, Susan Elizabeth Cowden, Milby Hartwell and Dru Anne Perry. The train bearers are Susan Kay Shoemaker and Bertha Villarreal.

Purpose of the Catoico Court is to present the seven senior girls who most represent MHS and its ideals. The girls are elected by the student body and each selects a senior boy to escort her upon her presentation.

Catoico is a contraction of the words cattle, oil and cotton.

Ms. Ramsey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Ramsey. She will be escorted by Brent Burchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Frank Burchard.

She was named treasurer of the sophomore class, Student Council vice president and a Packbacker squad leader. She was also Junior Lion, Junior Rotarian and Junior Class favorite. She is a member of the National Honor Society and French Honor Society and lettered two years in varsity track. She plans to attend Texas A&M University this fall.

MS. PERRY IS THE daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. "Wes" Perry, Jr. Her escort will be Christopher Shawn Mowles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy D. Mowles.

She is vice president of the senior class and member of the Packbackers and President's Cabinet of Student Council. She was a junior varsity cheerleader, varsity cheerleader, Key Club Calendar Girl, in the 100 Club and a Symphony deb for four years. She is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students" and this year was elected to the Homecoming Court and as Key Club Calendar Girl of the Year. This fall she will enter Texas Christian University in Fort Worth and major in dance.

Ms. Hartwell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartwell, will be escorted by Eric Fry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon G. Fry. She has earned four academic letters, is a member of the National Honor Society and is listed in "Who's Who." Her offices include National Honor Society treasurer, Girl Scout treasurer, secretary and treasurer of the Latin Club. She participates in honors classes, is a member of the newspaper staff, Young Republicans, FCA, FSA, 100 Club, JETS, Junior Council, Student Council, Presidential Classroom and SITCA.

MS. HARTWELL HAS BEEN elected Howdy Week Favorite, Most Representative Girl, Junior Varsity cheerleader, varsity cheerleader for two years, a member of the Homecoming Court and a Key Club Calendar Girl. After graduation, she plans to attend the University of Texas at Austin or Vanderbilt University.

Ms. Cowden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Holt Cowden. She will be escorted by James Kyle Raybourn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Porter.

She is a varsity cheerleader, member of the National Honor Society, Junior Classical League and a Student Council representative. She has earned an academic letter, was a two-year letterman on the varsity tennis team and a Key Club Calendar Girl for two years.

She plans to attend Texas Tech University and is interested in majoring in interior design and fashion design.

Nita Bedford, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilory G. Bedford Jr., will be escorted by Stephen Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy C. Floyd.

She was junior class treasurer, a varsity cheerleader, elected to the homecoming court for two years, was a Key Club Calendar Girl and Junior Rotarian.

MS. BEDFORD WAS ALSO a member of Student Council, Latin Club, 100 Club, listed in "Who's Who", Society of Distinguished American High School Students and is a member of the varsity tennis team.

WTRC earns over $20,000

ABILENE — More than $20,000 was raised from the sale of 114 handmade quilts and afghans donated to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center for Rehab '80.

No full-sized quilts were sold for less than $100 and most sold for $300 or more and at least one quilt went for $2,000. Afghans sold for about $100 apiece.

Quilting clubs, senior citizens groups and individuals from West Texas and Oklahoma contributed the quilts and afghans to WTRC, which aids handicapped children and adults.

Rehab '80, the tenth annual telethon benefiting WTRC, raised more than $800,000 in gifts and pledges. This year's budget for the facilities in Abilene, San Angelo and Snyder is about $2.7 million.

DEAR ABBY

Bingo player's husband is Mac the Strife

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Mac and I have been married for 30 years. We have a great marriage, except for the resentment he shows when I go out every Monday evening to play canasta with the girls, and bingo on Friday evenings in the basement of our church.

I've asked Mac to come along and play bingo, but he refused. He didn't mind my going out for four years because he was working second shift. But now that he's back on first shift, he wants me to sit home and listen to him snore in a chair after supper.

Abby, I never worked when my kids were growing up, so I think I have earned two nights a week out.

Am I wrong or selfish? Should I give up my canasta and bingo, or put up with Mac's complaints?—WILLING TO PLEASE

DEAR WILLING: Offer Mac a compromise. Tell him you will spend only one night each week away from him provided he spends the other night doing something with you (Playing honeymoon bridge, Scrabble, or going to a movie.) HE is being selfish to expect you to sit home and listen to him snore.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl. Last year my Mom and Dad split up. I live with Mom, and Dad lives in an apartment with Marge, his girlfriend. When Dad and Marge started living together, they didn't hide it. They had me over to their apartment as if they were married. When I said, "Dad, does this mean that Ricky (he's my 17-year-old boyfriend) and I can live together when we're of age?"

Then Dad said, "No! If you can support yourself totally when you are of age, then you can live any way you like, but as long as I'm expected to kick in with money for your support, I will have something to say about it."

Abby, how come it's OK for Dad to live with somebody outside of marriage, but not for me?—DON'T GET IT

DEAR DON'T: With your Dad it's a matter of money, not morals. As long as he's providing the roof over your head, he wants a say about who's sleeping under it.

DEAR ABBY: A reader asked, "How long should a hostess hold up a meal for a tardy guest?"

You replied, "15 minutes is long enough."

I agree. The question and your reply reminded me of the rule I always had when I was in the corporate entertaining world: "NEVER EARLY, AND NOT MORE THAN 15 MINUTES LATE."

It was such a steadfast rule that, one evening, in order not to arrive 15 minutes early at the home of friends who had invited us to dinner, my wife and I proceeded to drive around to kill time.

We got lost, and drove around for 45 minutes before finding our way back! I spent the entire evening apologizing!—NEVER EARLY CONFIDENTIAL TO WANTS TO KNOW BUT HATES TO LOOK STUPID: Ask anyway. There is no such thing as a "stupid" question if it's sincere. Better to ask and risk appearing "stupid" than to continue on your ignorant way and make a stupid mistake.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby in care of this newspaper.

Study says aspirin won't prevent second heart attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Regular use of aspirin by heart attack victims doesn't prevent a second attack and the practice should be discontinued, according to a major study.

The study, released this week, said nationwide trials at 30 medical centers indicate aspirin should not be given as a preventive to those who have suffered a heart attack.

The $17 million Aspirin Myocardial Infarction Study, sponsored by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute, was designed to test the theory that regular administration of aspirin could reduce mortality among heart attack patients.

Several preliminary studies indicated this might have been true.

"The difference in death rates was not statistically significant between the 2,257 patients who took the equivalent of three aspirins a day and the 2,267 patients who took a placebo (fake drug)," said the institute director, Dr. Robert I. Levy.

"In fact, there were slightly more deaths due to recurring heart attacks in the group which took the aspirin," Levy added. Scientists indicated, however, that this might have been due to chance.

While mortality was slightly higher in the aspirin group, the study found that the number of later non-fatal heart attacks was slightly lower in this group as a whole. But the fewer heart attacks did not increase survival figures.

Another negative side effect of the aspirin therapy was a marked increase in stomach and intestinal problems. The study found that 23.7 percent of the aspirin group had symptoms of peptic ulcers or intestinal irritation, compared with 14.9 percent of the placebo group.

"On the basis of these findings," Levy said, "the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute would advise physicians not to give aspirin on a sustained basis to heart attack patients as a means of preventing another myocardial infarction."

The study, which followed each patient for three years, noted that it did not attempt to evaluate the theory that aspirin may be of value if given immediately after a heart attack. The volunteers, men and women aged 30 to 69 years old, did not enter the trial until at least two months after having a heart attack.

Some scientists who advocate aspirin therapy said the study used too large a dose of aspirin and started patients on the drug too long after their first heart attack.

Dr. Philip W. Majerus of Washington University in St. Louis said the benefits of aspirin probably come from its inhibiting blood cells called platelets, which promote clotting.

Too much aspirin may actually restore the blood clotting ability, Majerus said.

The study also did not address the theory that small doses of aspirin taken daily by healthy men would reduce the frequency of first heart attacks and strokes.

However, findings of the study did provide some evidence supporting earlier work indicating aspirin reduces the frequency of stroke and related problems, the institute said.

The five-member band, First Crossing, will perform along with other groups at Monday's Southern Nights Charity Ball sponsored by the Junior League of Midland Inc. The Fort Worth group features Marsha Hodges, center, as vocalist.

Several bands to perform at Charity Ball

Entertainment for the Southern Nights Ball, Junior League's annual charity ball event, will be provided by a variety of groups to appeal to a large cross-section of people.

The lavish affair is set for 8 p.m. Monday at the Midland Country Club.

To perform will be Mal Fitch and His Orchestra, First Crossing, Whiplash Disco and Doug Day.

Funds from the event will go to the Community Trust Fund of the Junior League of Midland, Inc. which benefits numerous projects. They include adult basic education aides, audiometric screening, creative playground park, cultural arts program, cardiopulmonary resuscitation instruction, dental clinic, Directory of Community Services, docent program of Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame, exhibit and docent program of the Museum of the Southwest, Family Life seminar, Getting Around Midland, media spots, mural arts, Partners in Reading program, Perinatal Clinic, Pickwick Players and docent program of Theatre Midland, Sara Woolridge Clinic and the Student Art Festival.

Mal Fitch is well-known throughout the state for his performances at big private events and charity balls.

He has performed at many governor's inaugural balls, innumerable debutante balls, and is the number most often called when Texas firms decide to stage a grand spectacular—at the grand opening of Loews Anatole in Dallas with Diahann Carroll, the Mal Fitch Orchestra shared billing with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

Whiplash Disco is an entertainment group composed of Jimmie Jenkins and David Haze, a professional drummer and an experienced disc jockey. The show is performed through a sound system and includes stage lighting, spotlights, footlights, strobe-lighting and a mirrored ball that showers color on the dance floor. A drum set with assorted percussion equipment and an elaborate stereo sound system complete the stage set up.

Music format ranges from disco, top 40 and rock, to easy listening and country-western.

Whiplash specializes in dances and has had extensive experience in performing, playing over 200 dances in Texas and New Mexico since 1977.

Jim Hodges, the leader of the band, owns the only 24-track recording facility in Fort Worth, recognized as one of the best studios in Texas.

The lead female vocalist is Marsha Hodges. Richard Roddy provides a solo act.

Officers of the organization are Joe White, president; Joe Holley, vice president; William Hetzler, program coordinator; Jack Crane, public relations; Mrs. Sharon Mearse, secretary; and A. W. Brumbelow, treasurer. They are all of Odessa.

The group would like to enlist more Midland members, said Savage. Interested persons can call him at 682-9355.

Mended Hearts form club here

It's not a club for broken-hearted lovers, but for those with mended hearts.

The newly-formed Permian Basin Mended Hearts Club, an organization for persons who have had heart surgery or who are planning an operation, will meet Thursday at the Women's and Children's Hospital in Odessa.

The meeting begins at 7:30 a.m.

The organization is a part of the American Heart Association. Serving on the organizational steering committees have been local physicians, nurses and other interested persons.

The objective of the club is three-fold:

- to help and assist people who have had or will have surgery or other kinds of heart problems. This is to be carried out through counseling by qualified volunteers.

- to provide educational programs each month.
- to provide information to the community about the heart and surgery or treatment connected with the heart.

"When a person has been told by his physician that surgery or treatment is necessary, we in the Mended Hearts Club would like to help cushion the blow and provide living proof that the treatment does work for most people who have experienced it," said John D. Savage, a member and spokesman for the group.

Officers of the organization are Joe White, president; Joe Holley, vice president; William Hetzler, program coordinator; Jack Crane, public relations; Mrs. Sharon Mearse, secretary; and A. W. Brumbelow, treasurer. They are all of Odessa.

The group would like to enlist more Midland members, said Savage. Interested persons can call him at 682-9355.

Your horoscope
By JEANE DIXON

Thursday, February 7, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: You can begin a useful new career for yourself; luck plays a role. You are a liberty-loving individual whose personal freedoms may be enhanced by a change in family member's attitude. Someone may prove both helpful and a deterrent in achieving financial goals. All in all, you should expect an exciting and fruitful year—Your chances of falling in love are especially good between April and August. This is Leap Year, you know!

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your career quietly inches forward. Trust your intuition. Friends involve you in spontaneous gathering. One of them has something to celebrate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Calmly thread your way out of an entanglement involving money. Your cash reserve needs protection. Give loved ones a little encouragement and they will become more open.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Friend or acquaintance has story to tell that will be both illuminating and cheering to you. Romance could become more meaningful as result.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You will make better progress by finishing current projects. Verification comes via messenger or telegram. Emphasis now is on getting to the heart of matters.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Change in relationships, residence will bring new pleasures and some difficulties. Strong sense of humor helps you over rough places. Short trip may be in plan.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Spotlight on drive, creativity. Move ahead—others will be happy to get on your bandwagon. Do homework religiously. Superiors will be impressed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Access to restricted information can help beat out competitors. Take nothing for granted where romance is concerned. Luxury can be featured.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Assert yourself. Get to heart of matters. Basic issues take precedence at work and on domestic front. Someone who opposed you makes gesture of reconciliation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be alert to feelings of others. Diplomacy helps spread sunshine in life of someone close to you. You may encounter opposition from mate, partner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You find great truth in old adage "It's not what you know but who you know." Raise or promotion is in sight. New business venture looks highly profitable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Sweet encounter can trigger a new romance. Take advantage of new opportunity—it could be travel or chance to meet people. Be realistic about possibilities, however.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Differences in personalities reveal truths about working relationship. Welcome this knowledge; it will allow you to plan future more accurately.

Abused spouses receive support at workshop

By SANDI BREEDEN
Lifestyle Writer

Changing the laws concerning family violence was a unanimous concern among members of a panel discussing "Legal Aspects of Domestic Violence" during the Reality Therapy-Family Workshop held at Midland College.

"It is election year and all crimes are ultimately political crimes," said Ralph Noyes, an attorney with the West Texas Legal Services in Midland. "This is the era of pressure...make our voice heard."

"They prosecute people for stealing cows. They ought to prosecute for family violence," he added.

Others on the panel were Susan Eggart, Region VI Technical Advisor on Family Violence, John Kleinhans, captain with the Midland County Sheriff's Department, and Lalo Camarillo, sergeant with the Midland Police Department Crime Prevention Unit.

THE WORKSHOP WAS sponsored by Midland College and The Permian Basin Center for Battered Women and Their Children.

Camarillo agreed with Noyes, saying, "We need to change our laws. There's nothing we (law enforcement officials) can do with family violence these days."

Lack of legal support from the judicial system concerning family violence — specifically wife beating — was another main topic during the panel discussion.

"As long as a woman is married, the state is basically not interested (in the family violence problem)," said Noyes. "The courts and prosecutors view marriage and anything in it as a civil matter. They do not want to referee a marriage."

Camarillo also explained the role of law enforcement officers as it pertains to family violence.

"We have to be present during a beating to charge a person for the beating," he said. "Another problem we have is a lot of times the complainant fails to follow through with the complaint for whatever reason."

NOYES SAID THAT legal precedent was one reason for this, adding that "So many charges are dropped because people do not have past occurrences to go on as far as charges being carried out. If we could successfully prosecute one of these beaters, we would see 100 more that would think twice before they beat their wife."

Kleinhans said understaffed law enforcement agencies and lack of funds contributes to the problem of family violence. "A police officer gets to a family disturbance at the height of emotions. It takes an hour to get the people calmed down enough to rationalize the situation. During that time, someone else's home is being robbed and those owners want to know where the law was."

Kleinhans said that law enforcement agencies are understaffed and there is not enough money to adequately do the job. "There should be a strong, social service available in which to refer these battered women," he added.

Why a woman often stays in a situation where she is beaten was explained by Ms. Eggart, who is closely involved in working with a center for battered women in Houston.

"The woman's resources are limited and she feels isolated. Even her parents tell her that 'It's your bed; lie in it,'" said Ms. Eggart.

DIVORCE DOES NOT solve the problem for battered women either, according to Ms. Eggart.

"A husband will often follow his wife after she files for divorce. She then goes to a district attorney and says, 'I don't want to run anymore. And the district attorney tells her to get a gun and protect herself,' said Ms. Eggart.

Ms. Eggart also explained that the law does not protect the battered woman.

"Women do not have anything legal they can do for protection. A piece of paper (a temporary restraining order) does not protect a woman from her husband's gun," she said.

The Texas legislature recently passed Title IV which provides the same protection as a temporary restraining order, with one difference, according to Ms. Eggart.

She explained that a temporary restraining order can be filed only after filing for a divorce. Title IV allows a woman to file what amounts to a temporary restraining order without filing for a divorce.

A question and answer session followed the panel discussion, during which members of the audience from Midland, Odessa, Lamesa, Big Spring and Hobbs, N.M., participated in a lively discussion.

One member of the audience asked if a beaten wife who has shot her husband would have a better chance in court if she has filed a temporary restraining order or Title IV. Kleinhans answered that these protective legal moves do not exempt a woman from being arrested and indicted by a jury.

Five sessions were also held during the workshop and were conducted by local professionals. "The session on 'Reality Therapy' was chaired by Glen Walton, a local certified reality therapist.

WALTON SAID REALITY therapy is dealing with life as it is. "Reality therapy recognizes that people have two basic needs," he said during the first session. "One is the need to give and receive love, and the other is the need to feel worthwhile about your self worth."

Other sessions were held on "Crisis Intervention" with Bill Mims, emergency service coordinator with the Permian Basin Community Centers for Mental Health-Mental Retardation in Midland, serving as chairman.

Susan Eggart conducted sessions on "The Dynamics of Domestic Violence," "Volunteer Training" and "Family Violence."

Steve Thomas, a member of the Midland College faculty and a private marital and family counselor, conducted a session on "Therapeutic Alternatives."

The entire workshop emphasized that family violence is finally becoming a well-known problem. According to Ms. Eggart, a woman is physically abused every 18 seconds.

She urged better legislation to protect these battered women. "We support violence in our homes and society," said Ms. Eggart.

She said that tradition says that the home is a man's castle, and believes that this should be expanded to include the wife, too. "Why is it that the woman has to leave the home if there is family violence?" she asked. "Men have to realize that this is not the way to spend a Saturday afternoon."

John Kleinhans, far right, emphasizes a point during a panel discussion on the "Legal Aspects of Domestic Violence" during a Reality Therapy-Family Violence Workshop held Friday at Midland College. Other members of the panel are, from left, Ralph Noyes, an attorney with the West Texas Legal Services in

Reagan changes his tune, says debate not 'divisive'

By WALTER R. MEARS

HOOKSETT, N.H. (AP) — Ronald Reagan, having decided to debate his rivals for the Republican presidential nomination, is likely to make it a doubleheader by also meeting George Bush one-on-one before New Hampshire's primary election.

Reagan, the pre-season favorite who lost his first 1980 outing, said he is now ready to face the other six Republican candidates because he has decided it will not divide the party after all.

That was his excuse for shunning a debate last month in Iowa: debates divide the party.

He also has decided a role in New Hampshire's debates is essential to fuel his campaign for the GOP presidential nomination.

"I think it became necessary," Reagan said Tuesday.

The former California governor wound up a 10-stop, round-the-clock campaign burst at a birthday party with about 200 supporters at a Chinese restaurant Tuesday night in Hooksett. He is 69 today.

Reagan said his years should not be an issue; that he has his health and his faculties, along with the experience age brings.

"Someone asked me how I felt about my birthday and I said, 'Considering the alternative...' The rest was drowned out in applause and laughter.

Reagan's opponents are not making an overt issue of his age, but they don't miss a chance to draw attention to it. Bush, who beat Reagan in the GOP's leadoff competition Jan. 21 in Iowa, makes the point by emphasizing his own vigor, his 54 years, and his dedication to jogging.

But debating was the exercise of the day Tuesday in New Hampshire. All the candidates save Reagan had agreed earlier to meet as they did in Iowa and the former California governor said Tuesday he'll be there, too.

"On Feb. 20 in Manchester, I'll be debating," Reagan declared at his birthday party.

The 90-minute debate is sponsored by the League of Women Voters and is to be televised nationally by the Public Broadcasting System.

It will match Reagan, Bush, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., of Tennessee, former Texas Gov. John B. Connally, Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois and Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas.

In addition, two more debate proposals are awaiting answers. Foster's Daily Democrat of Dover, N.H., wants all the GOP candidates to debate and The Nashua Telegraph has invited Bush and Reagan to a two-candidate meeting Feb. 23, three days before the presidential primary.

Reagan aides said both invitations are under consideration, but that the two-man debate is the one they are most likely to accept. John P. Sears, Reagan's national campaign manager, said chances are better than 50-50 that confrontation with Bush will take place.

Reagan insists he shunned the Iowa debate only because he feared it would split the party, although his strategists acknowledge the decision had a lot to do with his role as the leader of the Republican pack at the time.

It was Reagan pushing for a debate four years ago when he was trying to overtake then-President Gerald R. Ford for the GOP nomination.

Although he acknowledges he was wrong in saying debates would be divisive this year, Reagan insisted he will adhere to his position that Republicans should not speak divisively of other Republicans.

"But I think the people do, I guess, have a right to find out just what the candidates believe and if we differ, where we differ, and also to learn more about us," Reagan said.

Baker renewed his New Hampshire campaign today in Nashua, gaining the endorsements of two Republican governors — Richard Snelling of Vermont and Robert Ray of Iowa. Ray's endorsement in New Hampshire was curious since the Iowa governor maintained a facade of neutrality during the campaign in his own state.

Bush, campaigning in Boston, gained the endorsements of former Attorney General Elliott Richardson and former Assistant Attorney General William Ruckelshaus.

Crises no excuse, say debate organizers

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Crises abroad no longer provide valid reasons for President Carter to avoid confronting his challengers, say debate organizers here.

"We hope the president will be as willing to debate now as he was four years ago when he was the challenger," read a joint statement by the organizers, Executive Editor Walker Lundy of the Tallahassee Democrat newspaper and Florida Economics Club president Stan Tait.

The statement said avoiding rivals "may be good politics for the individual candidate, but we don't believe it's good for the country." A March 5 debate is planned for Democratic presidential hopefuls. A Republican debate is scheduled March 6.

None of the invited candidates have yet responded to invitations sent last week. Florida's primary will be held March 11.

Carter, Baker winners in campus primaries

BY CRAIG HORST

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — President Carter ran away from the Democratic field while Sen. Howard Baker captured a majority of Republican delegates as University of Missouri students went through an elaborate simulation of political primaries.

Carter captured 893 delegates on Tuesday in the Democratic primaries to outdistance California Gov. Jerry Brown, who had 478. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy finished third with 380 delegates.

In the Republican primaries, the senator from Tennessee garnered 1,087 delegates, swamping second-place finisher George Bush, who won 344. Illinois Rep. John Anderson netted 50 delegates, while former California Gov. Ronald Reagan got none.

About 80 students participated in the mock primaries, which are part of a program organized by the school's political science department. The students will meet again Monday for national conventions and will hold a general election a week later.

The students studied population characteristics and past voting records of the states they represented. They were told to vote as they believed their state would vote.

Student campaign staffs for each contender were in close contact with the national campaign organizations, which provided posters, buttons and position papers for each candidate.

Richard Hardy, a political science professor who organized the event, said the program was intended to show students how the process of electing a president works.

"I don't know if you could take this as an accurate prediction or not," he said. "But this is a real educational process for these kids in the convoluted year-long procedure of selecting a president."

Hardy staged a similar simulation in 1976 at the University of Iowa which accurately predicted the nomination of Carter and former President Gerald Ford. It also predicted Carter's eventual victory over Ford in the general election. That event was staged after the Iowa caucuses, from which Carter and Ford emerged victorious.

The evening began with campaign speeches for each candidate. Jeff Burden, student campaign manager for Brown in the mock event, said the conception of Carter as a "manifestation of California culture, of hot tubs and beautiful blondes" was misleading.

Steven Mitchell, Kennedy's student manager, blamed Carter for inflation and the energy crisis. Carter spokesman Thomas Capino, meanwhile, said Carter was the far-sighted leader America needs.

Reagan supporters played down the former governor's conservatism and age, while the Baker organization — which Hardy said was the strongest on campus — praised their candidate's leadership qualities.

Bulldogs thump Eagles

Midland High stays on the heels of Odessa Permian

By BOB DILLON
Sports Writer

It wasn't a thing of beauty, but it was still a Midland High victory. The sluggish Bulldogs led the entire game here Tuesday night in Chaparral Center, taking a 71-65 victory over the Abilene High Eagles in a District 5-4A basketball game that saw a 15-minute delay when one official failed to show.

Maybe that was a factor for both teams as they started very cold from the field before finally starting to find the basket in the second period. The victory keeps the Bulldogs in the race for the second half championship after sharing it with Odessa Permian in the first half. Permian took an easy 95-56 victory over Big Spring to stay in first place with a 3-0 record while the Pack is still breathing down the Panther's necks with a

2-1 reading.

IT WAS Midland's 26th victory against six losses going into its game with the San Angelo Bobcats in the Chaparral Center Friday. It was the Bobcats that kept Coach Jack Stephenson's Purple Pack from winning the first half outright. Midland High took a first quarter lead of 15-12 over Abilene High and then held on to a 38-32 lead at halftime despite a long buzzer shot by the Eagles' P.W. McGee. The Bulldogs again got balanced scoring with 6-foot-9 junior Hebert Johnson paving the way with 19 points. Next came Darrin Matlock with 18 followed by Anthony Carroll and Perry Bolger with 15 and 13 points, respectively.

ABILENE'S ATTACK was led by McGee with 16 while teammates Tye Sassin and David Russell followed with 14 and 10, but Russell fouled out of the contest with 3:53 left. The amazing thing about the game was the fact that the Eagles only hit one free throw all night long and only went to the charity line three times and one of those was a technical foul when Johnson hung on to the rim after a dunk shot. Adam Burch was at the free throw line all three times during the game and hit the only free toss for the visitors, who are now 1-2 in the second half of the race. Midland had six fouls with three of those on Johnson while Abilene committed 13 fouls.

THE EAGLES did make things interesting in the third period when the Key City team came within four points, 52-48, going into the final eight minutes of action. Midland did outscore the Warbirds, 19-17 in the final period to post the important victory.

The Bulldogs held on to a 66-61 lead with 2:44 left and Stephenson called time out and told his crew to go into a delay, not a stall, but delay to try and score and it paid off as Midland hit five free throws the rest of the way to ice the win.

MIDLAND'S BULLPUPS took a 71-67 victory over a strong Abilene junior varsity in the preliminary game with Don Sharnowski, Mike Velasco and Jim Gunnels paving the way with 16, 14 and 10 points, respectively. High for Abilene High was Bill Judie with 13 markers.

Lee nails Cooper as Rabb sinks 20

ABILENE — Danny Rabb fired in 20 points here Tuesday night to trigger the Midland Lee Rebels past the Abilene Cooper Cougars, 59-51, in a District 5-4A basketball game in the Cooper Gymnasium. The victory keeps coach Paul Stueckler's Rebs in a tie with Midland High and San Angelo for second place in the second half of the race with a 2-1 loop reading, just one game behind league leading Odessa Permian. Joining Rabb in the double figures were David Keys, Norris Lane and Tim Walker. Keys, the hero in the first meeting between the two teams in Midland, tallied 12 points while both Lane and Walker chipped in with 10 each as the Tall City team overcame a cold second period when it was outscored by the Cougars, 19-6. That big second quarter surge, gave Cooper a halftime edge of 29-23. Lee came back, however, in the second half to outscore the Key City five, 36-33 to take the win. It was Lee's 15th victory against 13 losses while Cooper is now 12-12 on the year and 1-2 in the second half of the race. Ken Henry ripped the cords for 23 points for Cooper while Reggie Cruise added 14 more. In the junior varsity contest, Coach Randall Smith's Lee JV took an exciting 72-71 overtime victory with Marty Walker paving the way with 12 points. The Rebs had no less than 13 players in the scoring column. Big gun for Cooper's JV was Greg Dusekas with 19 points. Lee travels to Big Spring Friday for a date with the winless Steers.

MC falls to eighth

Midland College slipped from sixth to eighth this week in the National Junior College Athletic Association basketball poll, despite two victories last week. Western Texas College, who has been the only team to defeat the 21-2 Chaps, continues to be the top ranked team in the nation among junior colleges. Kankakee is ranked second with two losses and Three Rivers is third with three setbacks this year. Broome, Casper, Hiwassee and Westark are also ranked ahead of MC. All have one loss with the exception of Westark, who is unbeaten but ranked seventh.

Panthers, Bobcats post 5-4A basketball victories

Odessa Permian and San Angelo posted District 5-4A basketball victories Tuesday night. The Panthers, behind the 25-point performance of 6-foot-6 senior Brad Kerley, bombed the Big Spring Steers, 95-56, while San Angelo took a 75-59 victory over the Odessa High Bronchos. It avenged a 52-51 overtime loss to the Bronchos in the first half of the race.

Joining Kerley in double figures for the first place Panthers were Duane Adams and Scott Wynne with 14 and 10 points while teammates Robert Roland and Greg Leonard were chipping in with 12 and 10 points more as the Black Cats were chalking up their 20th victory of the season against eight losses. San Angelo's Bobcats got a 20-point output from Charles Bishop while Hercules Miller added 13 more. The win gives the Bobcats a 19-11 season record and a 2-1 loop mark to share second with Midland High and Midland Lee in the second half of the race.

Big guns for the winless Steers were Dickie Wrightsil and Fletcher Johnson with 13 and 11 points, respectively. The Steers are now 5-20 and 0-3. Odessa's Rayford Wright led the Bronchos' attack with 21 points while MIKE Cobb added 13 more. OTIS is now 7-18 on the year and 1-2 in district play.

Gorman has stories to spin for fans

Tom Gorman kicked Leo Durocher out of 32 games, but the one-time National League umpire turned author and after dinner speaker, says his nominee as No. 1 umpire baiter would have to be the late Fred Hutchinson, the violent tempered Cincinnati Reds' manager.

Gorman, who is in Midland for Thursday's celebrity chocked Sports Banquet at Midland Country Club, recalls in his book "Three and Two", ghosted by Chicago writer Jerome Holtzman, after yielding a three-run homer in the ninth, Joe Nuxhall, "walked right out in the street in full uniform and went straight to the hotel."

Meanwhile, back in the clubhouse, Hutchinson was swinging a bat and screaming, "Where is that damned left-hander?"

Gorman adds of Fred, "What a sore loser. I actually saw him cry once while he was arguing with me. I couldn't believe it. I told him it was only a game."

When an arm injury shortened his pitching career, Gorman turned to umpiring in 1950 and the memories and stories began to pile up during his 25-year career in blue. He umpired Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette no-hitters and Don Larsen's perfect game in the 1956 World Series. He was hit the next pitch out of sight. As he rounded second, he yelled, "Hey, Maglie, I'm sorry."

As a result his stockpile of tales is inexhaustible. Back in the days of baseball's fiercest rivalry, Sal Maglie of the Brooklyn Dodgers was giving the New York Giants' one of his typical shave jobs, well, maybe a little closer than usual. Anyway it prompted Gorman to go out to the mound, where Maglie admitted the ball had "gotten away from him."

"Tell that to your confessor," retorted Gorman. "Hey, Tom," Maglie called as the umpire headed back to the plate, "Tell Willie I'm sorry." "Willie," Gorman relayed the message, "Maglie says he's sorry." "Is that right?" Willie said and then hit the next pitch out of sight. As he rounded second, he yelled, "Hey, Maglie, I'm sorry." Gorman stresses that his book is about seldom heard incidents, it isn't a Jim Bouton "tell all" tale. "It's about baseball on the field, not off the field and in the lockerrooms. Bouton's book hurt the game." "Where would we have been without baseball? I mean, why knock the game. None of us are angels. But why write about it?" And while Gorman had his verbal scuffles with Durocher, particularly during the years he managed the old New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, "He'd be my manager if I had to pick the best. He knew the game. But he couldn't manage today. You gotta be a child psychologist to handle these guys today. Leo'd never last."

Russian athletes arrive at Lake Placid

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — In a swirl of fur coats and hats, about 90 Soviet athletes and coaches have checked into the Olympic Village and some planned to start practicing today for the 1980 Winter Games which start next week.

The group arrived on two buses from Montreal Tuesday night, after a daylong flight from Moscow. Preceding them was the head of their National Olympic Committee, who said President Carter's call for boycotting the Moscow games could "destroy the Olympic movement."

"We don't want to boycott anyone and destroy the Olympic movement," Sergei Pavlov told a brief news conference, through an interpreter. "Our sportsmen are here to participate. We want to see the Olympic movement strengthened." The Soviets have been traditionally tough in speed skating, hockey and Nordic skiing. About an hour later, some 87 athletes and coaches crowded into the credentials area, which turned into a sea of bobbing fur coats and hats. The official Soviet uniform was said to be made from nutria, a small, furry animal. The men's are dark, with round hats called "shapkas." The women's outfits are blonde, with more stylish hats. As the Soviets arrived in the reception area, their bags were collected in midroom, and sniffed by Jicki, one of nine German shepherds who check for explosives. At one point, the dog showed interest in a canvas bag. A state trooper checked it, and found nothing more potent than a small bottle of vodka. And, following the custom, the biathletes had to put their rifle bolts and ammunition in lockers outside the secure area. The Soviets were then walked through metal detectors before being sent to their rooms. Stanislav Licarev, an official with the speed skating team and one of the few participants speaking English, said his team would start workouts today. He said others in the group included cross-country skiers, and those for the biathlon (skiing and shooting). The Soviet hockey team and figure skaters have yet to arrive.

Big Spring woos MC's Delnor Poss for AD position

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Sports Writer

Delnor Poss, who has been the athletic director of Midland College since April of 1977, confirmed Wednesday that he has applied for a similar position at Big Spring High School. Poss was scheduled to meet with Big Spring's screening committee today. It has also been reported that Big Spring football coach Ron Logback has also applied for the Big Spring athletic director's post and has already met with the committee. Poss told The Reporter-Telegram that he was asked to apply for the position, but he stated, "Nothing is cut and dried yet. I think they have narrowed the list to around five people and I haven't made a commitment with them." Poss joined Midland College in February of 1977 as head basketball coach. He replaced Chester Story, who was fired in mid-season when Midland College found out that a former basketball player had been given course credits he didn't earn. Poss then became athletic director at the end of the basketball season and Jerry Stone was brought in to coach the basketball team. Poss, a native of San Angelo, owns a home in Big Spring and has long ties with that city. He served as a basketball and football coach there. Currently, Poss has an apartment in Midland. "Yes, I have a home in Big Spring and that is one of the factors involved, but I'm still going to have to sit down and make a decision. It's going to be a tough one," Poss said. "Everyone at Midland College has been so good and fair to me over the last few years and this really makes it difficult. In fact, I didn't apply for the job until just last week." "I told Dr. (Al) Langford (president of Midland College) that I had applied for the job in Big Spring and he has been very gracious about it. And that's going to make things even tougher for me to decide because Dr. Langford has been so good to me." One of the first jobs of the new AD in Big Spring will be to find a new football coach for the high school. Big Spring has not won a District 5-4A football game in the last five years. Big Spring has not won a district basketball game this year. "I think everyone knows that Big Spring has some problems that need to be worked out. I've been with that system and know some of the problems. When I was a football coach there we had records of 3-7, 8-2, 7-3 and 5-4-1, but that was when Cooper, Lee and Permian were just babies. Things are a lot different now as we all know." Since Poss has become athletic director at Midland College, the Chaparrals have become national powers to be reckoned with in nearly every sport. This season, for instance, the MC basketball squad has run to a 21-2 record and nationally ranked for the first time. Under the leadership of Poss and Stone, the Chaps have made junior college basketball a spectator sport in Midland. Fans have turned out in record numbers this year to see the team play. "Regardless of the decision I make, Midland College will continue to make great strides in athletics," Poss said. "The school is committed to a solid program and my leaving or staying won't change that."

Uneducated Ali supreme diplomat

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Muhammad Ali: Diplomat. Roving ambassador. Uncle Sam's prescription for wooing the Third World. Laughable, you say. How can a high school dropout whose career has been limited to the confines of a 20x20-foot boxing ring and who couldn't pass an elementary army examination invade the subtle and devious councils of high diplomacy? Well, he has. He has got his nose bloodied worse than in any of his 59 professional fights. He has been shunned by some dignitaries, battered by a cynical press and scoffed at by friends and foes alike. But he's still in there punching.

FOR WHICH we have only seven words:

"Ali! Ali! Ali!"
"Go get 'em, Ali!"
President Carter and the U.S. State Department are being roundly booed for even considering such a ludicrous idea. Moscow's subsidized press, generally close-mouthed, is delirious in reporting Ali's problems in trying to lure African nations into the American orbit on the proposed pullout of the Moscow Olympics. Some say his informal tour is holding the United States up to ridicule. Bosh. The whole thing is terrific. Okay, so Ali doesn't have a degree in statesmanship from Georgetown University. He is not versed in the intricacies of international politics. He is not equipped for the hypocritical, wheeling and dealing gooble-degooble that goes on behind the closed doors in loftiest chambers. He's just Ali, a charmer who has a feel for basic, corn-pone philosophy, a sort of a modern Pied Piper with a magnetism for the plain, ordinary people of the world.

THIS PUCKISH, garrulous ex-pugilist can't possibly do more damage to our foreign policy than some of the slick talkers in pin-striped suits have done in the past.

Ali has a natural appeal to the underprivileged and the oppressed. Yet in his capacity as a three-time winner of the world heavyweight championship — perhaps the world's most recognizable personality — he has been able to hobnob with princes and potentates.

He can stop traffic on any main thoroughfare in the world — whether it be in Moscow or Madagascar. He is lionized by blacks and Muslims. What was wrong with selecting him for this sensitive assignment? They say the president is fidgeting in the Oval Room. The State Department is getting heart burn. Whose idea was it? Washington buck-passers are passing the buck. Ali remains undaunted.

THIS IS the black man who 13 years ago defied the government and refused army induction for the unpopular Vietnam War, protesting: "I am 90 percent preacher, 10 percent fighter."

He was upheld by the Supreme Court. Labeled a slacker and stripped of his title, he hung on and the country ultimately came around to his side. Ali regained his crown twice after that.

The world was his oyster. He kidded Morabutu in Zaire. He danced with President Marcos' wife in the Philippines. He carried his WORLD (World Organization for Rights, Liberty and Dignity) to the United Nations. His zeal has been inexhaustible.

He never pretended to be a statesman. He is just himself — the best in the world with his fists, changeable as a chameleon at times, bombastic, reflective but always earthy.

IN THE 1960s when blacks were striving to crash white neighborhoods, he said, "I don't want to live next door to anybody who don't want to live next door to me." So he built a mansion in the Pennsylvania hills.

Speaking of high finance, he said, "Nobody can claim money. It belongs to God. It's just lent us to do good with it."

He's so fresh and basic it's disarming. He is naive — at times a wide-eyed little boy, the next moment sharp as edged steel. He is an actor, always on stage. Thus his inconsistencies.

His fault, if any, is saying what people want to hear. He can be hypnotic with his charm.

Education or no, he is the diplomat supreme.

Fresno State cancels games

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Two of Fresno State's six remaining conference basketball games will be canceled so the school will not exceed the NCAA's 27-game limit, Pacific Coast Athletic Association Commissioner Lew Cryer said Tuesday.

Fresno State earlier had been banned from the PCAA's upcoming tournament because of a preseason scrimmage against Merced College. It recently came to light that the Bulldogs also held two scrimmages against Fresno Pacific College.

The Prince of Wales in control again

DETROIT (AP) — The Prince of Wales Conference has an absolute lock on National Hockey League All-Star competition and Buffalo Coach Scotty Bowman thinks it's likely to remain that way for a good long while.

"You look around this room and I don't know of any coach who wouldn't look like a master with the talent that's here," Bowman said after his Wales squad had skated to a 6-3 victory over the Clarence Campbell squad in the 32nd NHL All-Star game Tuesday night.

"I mean look; there — in various stages of undress — you see the one-and-only Gordie Howe, Guy Lafleur, Marcel Dionne, Danny Gare and on and on. This conference is loaded.

"You don't do much as an All-Star coach. You certainly aren't going to change any styles. I just tried to make sure that everybody got plenty of skating time."

Despite all that firepower, however, the Wales squad trailed 3-2 going into the final nine minutes of the game before 21,002 — the largest crowd ever to see a pro hockey game.

Then, in the span of 4:26, the Wales squad exploded for four goals — the fastest four All-Star goals ever by one team — and it was over.

Pittsburgh's Ron Stackhouse started the Wales comeback with a goal off Philadelphia rookie goalie Pete Peeters to tie it at 3-3. Minnesota's Craig Hartsburg slammed home what proved to be the winner one minute later.

"It's been a dream of my life to be in an All-Star game," said Hartsburg, who was named to the Wales squad as a last-minute replacement for injured teammate Gary Sargent. "When I saw it go in I couldn't believe it. How often do you get the winning goal?" Detroit's Reed Larson and Quebec's Real Cloutier added insurance goals for the Wales squad.

"I thought we had 'em there, then all of a sudden it's like we made 'em mad," Philadelphia rookie defenseman Norm Barnes said of the Campbell collapse.

An unassisted goal by Montreal's Larry Robinson, followed 21 seconds later by a goal off the stick of Minnesota's Steve Payne, got the Wales squad off and running in the first period. But the Campbell squad chipped away with a first-period goal by Philadelphia's Reg Leach, a second-period goal by Atlanta's Kent Nilsson and a goal by Philadelphia rookie Brian Propp early in the third period.

Not surprisingly, the Detroit crowd saved its longest and loudest cheers for Howe — its favorite son who almost certainly was playing in his last All-Star game. The 51-year-old legend responded by setting up Cloutier's goal to notch his ninth assist and 19th point in All-Star play — both records.

"Maybe it's true that absence makes the heart grow fonder," Howe said of the 2½-minute ovation that began even before his name was announced before the game. "I love Detroit, too. They know that."

Ranked Rangers rip Grady, 92-25

Greenwood, the No. 2 ranked Class B team in the state, ran its overall record to 25-2 and improved to 5-0 in District 13-B Tuesday night by defeating Grady, 92-25.

Tommy Somers scored 23 for the Rangers while Vendell Woolfolk added 20 and Homer Lopez 15. Grady was paced by Ron Deathridge with seven points.

Greenwood travels to Ira Friday while the girls take on Ozona in Ozona.

The Greenwood girls took a 58-26 non-district nod over Crane to make their record 22-7. Lisa Mobley scored 16 and Missy Duke 12 for the Rangerettes.

Andrews, the fourth ranked AAA team in Texas, traveled to Hobbs, N.M., and took it on the chin, 128-108, to the New Mexico powerhouse.

Brian Templeton led Andrews' attack with 32 points while Van Isenbach poured in 20, Jerry Aliniz 17 and Van Pearcy 14 more as the Mustangs are now 25-3 on the year going into their District 2-AAA showdown battle with Odessa Ector in Andrews Friday night.

Hobbs, now 15-2 on the year, was led by Webb Williams who had 20 points.

In District 5-A action, Stanton upped its second half league mark to 5-0 with a 92-51 blasting of O'Donnell. Bobby Mims meshed 22 for the Buffs. David McReynolds had 20 points for Stanton and Lewis Henry 19. Derrick Looney was also in double figures with 11 while Craig Eiland had 10.

Reagan County took a step towards claiming the second half District 9-A championship with a 73-32 blitz of Eldorado. James Phillips scored 15 for the Owls, 21-5 overall. Donald Williams added 14 and Byron Bitner added 10 more.

In District 6-A play, Marfa dumped McCamey 93-57 while Rankin beat Clint 59-47.

Terry Turner led Rankin's win over Clint with 22 points and Sam Cobb added 20 in a two-pronged attack. Brant Myers had 13 points in the Red Devil victory.

Billy Ray Terry pumped in 31 points to lead the Badgers in the loss to Marfa and Terry Harris added 10. Marfa was paced by Roger Sanchez scoring 33.

McCamey stands 10-12 and 2-1 while Rankin is 16-6 and 2-1.

A nonconference tussle saw Crane defeat Jal, 90-65. Mark Pahl flipped in 25 points to pace the Golden Cranes and Wayne Chisum added 19 and Greg Lewis had 18. Kim Harrelson had 14.

Girls games saw Iraan defeat Sanderson, 51-23, Stanton beat O'Donnell, 58-55, as Brown had 22 points; McCamey beat Ozaona, 60-30, as Mary Ybarra hit for 18 points; Clint beat Rankin, 42-28, and Eldorado beat Reagan County, 49-46 in overtime.

Hernandez may seek arbitration

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Keith Hernandez says he and the St. Louis Cardinals are "very close," but the All-Star first baseman, seeking a multi-year contract, may still be headed for arbitration.

"Without naming names, three or four of the unsigned might go to arbitration and Keith could be one," Cards' General Manager John Claiborne said of the 13 players with whom he has yet to come to terms.

"Last year, though, we had five file and signed all before arbitration. We are very pleased with the progress we have made so far, and we hope to have everyone signed by the time we go south."

In addition to Hernandez, the co-winner of the National League's Most Valuable Player Award with the Pittsburgh Pirates' Willie Stargell, contract terms must be hammered out with All-Star shortstop Gerry Templeton.

The 26-year-old Hernandez and the 23-year-old Templeton last year combined for 421 hits. A meeting between Templeton's agent, Richman Bry, and Claiborne was set for today.

Actually, however, only two Cardinals in addition to Hernandez and Templeton are eligible to file for arbitration. They are Silvio Martinez, a right-handed starting pitcher, and Will McEnaney, a left-handed reliever.

Templeton threatened a year ago to submit to arbitration after he was offered a pay cut. He filed for the action, then signed a contract believed to be for $130,000 before his arbitration date.

Templeton, after dipping to a .280 average in 1978, totaled 211 hits in 1979 and became the first switch-hitter in history to total 100 hits from each side of the plate. He batted .314.

Bob Lanier is ready to help Bucks' cause

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bob Lanier, running with surprising ease for one who has been sidelined for six weeks, held the ball high near the top of the key, then rifled it through a maze of defenders.

Marques Johnson, target of the pass, caught it in mid-leap as he broke for the basket. Johnson dumped the ball through the net as the other players paused for an instant, savoring the grace and beauty of the move.

"Way to go, Bob," someone yelled. "Great pass. All right." The practice Tuesday was Lanier's first with the Milwaukee Bucks since they acquired him the night before from the Detroit Pistons for Kent Benson and a first-round draft choice.

The seven-time National Basketball Association all-star's showing fed talk that the Bucks just may have traded themselves into a championship.

"There might be an analogy related to this in that quite a few years ago the Bucks picked up Oscar Robertson, who became the catalyst of a great team. Hopefully, the same thing can happen here," Bucks Coach Don Nelson said.

Robertson and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Bucks to the NBA title in 1971.

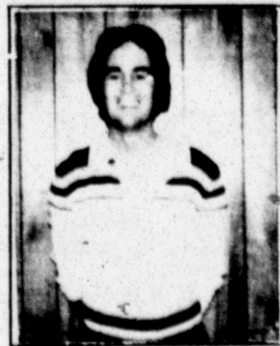

"This doesn't give us a championship," Nelson said.

Gentlemen gun down NTSU's Mean Green

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Centenary forward George Lett dominated a see-saw battle with 30 points and 17 rebounds as the Gentlemen took an intersectional basketball win from North Texas State, 81-76, Tuesday night.

Lett scored 20 of his points in the second half, as Centenary frittered away a 13-point halftime lead, then rallied from a 10-point deficit for the win.

Kenneth Lyons led North Texas with 23 points. His second-half shooting and rebounding let the Mean Green take a 48-38 lead early in the second period, but the Gentlemen bounced back to tie the game with seven minutes left.

Joining Lett in double figures for Centenary were Cherokee Rhone with 22 and Steve Burkhalter with 13.

David Vasher added 18 points to the NTSU total.

Centenary raised its record to 8-11, while North Texas dropped to 8-13.

Lou Carnesecca should be pitcher

By The Associated Press

If Lou Carnesecca were a baseball pitcher, he'd be a cinch Hall of Famer. The St. John's University basketball coach makes a habit of winning 20 games every year.

Carnesecca's eighth-ranked Redmen did it again Tuesday night with an easy 89-73 triumph over the University of Baltimore, making loud little Looie a 20-game winner for the seventh year in a row and 10th time in his 12 seasons at the helm.

"I never expected to be 20-2," said Carnesecca, whose overall record is 252-87. "We have a chance to be something good."

St. John's was the only member of The Associated Press Top Twenty in action Tuesday night. The Redmen had a 17-game winning streak snapped by third-ranked Louisville on Sunday and Baltimore, in its second season as a Division I school, was just what the doctor ordered.

"We're a tired club," said Carnesecca, whose team has played 10 games in 23 days. "It was obvious tonight. We didn't have any quickness. It just wasn't there."

Little Looie said he would give the Redmen a day off today since they don't play again until Saturday.

"They need a day's rest. That's why I substituted after five minutes, to keep them fresh. The players were looking at me to come out and you never see that. They always want to stay in. They must be tired."

"I saw it in the Niagara game (eight days earlier). We were lucky against Rhode Island (a one-point victory last Friday) but it caught up to us against Louisville."

Wayne McKoy scored six of his 18 points during a 10-0 burst in the first half as St. John's went from a 10-10 deadlock to a 20-10 advantage. McKoy was joined in double figures by five teammates. Reggie Carter and freshman David Russell each had 14 points, Curtis Redding had 13 while Frank Gilroy and Ron Plair each added 11.

Elsewhere: —Michael Burns had 28 points and 14 rebounds to help offset a 41-point effort by San Diego State's Eddie Morris and lead Nevada-Las Vegas to a 98-86 victory for its 12th win in a row.

—Robert Byrd's two layups in the last 1:41 capped a rally from a 10-point deficit and helped Marquette beat Creighton 81-71.

—Andre Smith scored 21 points and tipped in a rebound in the final two minutes to put Nebraska ahead for good as the Cornhuskers defeated Kansas 61-56 in a Big Eight contest.

—Robert Taylor, who kept the game going with a 15-foot jumper at the end of regulation and a layup as the second overtime ended, drove the length of the court for the winning basket as Harvard edged Dartmouth 77-75 in three extra periods.

—Dave Blatt's two free throws with three seconds left gave Princeton a 65-63 victory over Rutgers.

—Chad Kinch, playing with a pulled groin muscle, scored 26 points and led North Carolina-Charlotte past Alabama-Birmingham 73-68.

War whoops greet torch

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP)

To the sound of war whoops and the clang of church bells, the Olympic Torch moved through the small towns along the Hudson River's east shore in a big way.

Nowhere was the celebration bigger than in the tiny Columbia County hamlet of Livingston where several hundred people and representatives of the Six Nations of the Iroquois Confederation welcomed the torch runners to the traditional boundary of their lands.

Although the torch didn't arrive until nearly 5 p.m., the party at the firehouse on Route 9 started at noon.

Indians, wearing native winter dress including feathered head-dresses, burned campfires and displayed Indian crafts such as tanned leather and wood carvings at four teepees pitched next to the firehouse.

They danced, partly to keep warm, and played native instruments, amplified on modern stereo equipment.

"We like to say that Livingston has 2,000 people, 20,000 dairy cows and 200,000 fruit trees. This is something big for us," said Merle Platner, chairman of the committee that put together the "biggest welcome for the torch between Albany and Poughkeepsie."

The spiritual leader of the Six Nations, Tahtadaho, gave the invocation and blessed the torch flame. A glowing coal from the Council Fire of the Six Nations, carried by Tahtadaho, was used during his incantations.

He called the torch, "The symbol of brotherhood."

"Side by side we shall amuse and entertain and the creator and maker of all life is pleased in our doing."

The torch was carried by one of the 52 Olympic runners, the Rev. Stephen Ganzkow-Wold, 26, of Grand Forks, N.D., and a 17-year-old St. Regis Indian, Jerry McDonald, also known as Kion Kwa Ron Ni.

Iceman gets hot; Spurs get burned

By The Associated Press

The Iceman is hot over his contract, but it's the San Antonio Spurs who are getting burned.

George Gervin, nicknamed the Iceman because of his impassive court demeanor, wants to renegotiate his contract with the Spurs which calls for $350,000 a year. San Antonio owner Angelo Drossos says no renegotiations until the season is over.

Gervin, who leads the National Basketball Association with a 33.6 average and is gunning for his third straight scoring title, called in sick Tuesday night, telling the team doctor he had a stomach virus. The Spurs, without Gervin, dropped a 123-115 decision to the New Jersey Nets.

The Spurs lost the game in the third period, when the Nets poured in 43 points to take a 94-88 lead. New Jersey reeled off seven points in the final 12 seconds of the period, including a three-pointer at the buzzer by Mike Newlin.

"That seven-point streak was the key," Nets Coach Kevin Loughery said. "The momentum carried over into the last quarter."

Gervin has missed the last four Spurs practice sessions. He missed the team's flight to Houston last Wednesday, paying his own way on a commercial flight. Spurs Coach Doug Moe says he hasn't talked to the high-scoring guard since the All-Star Game, in which Gervin scored 34 points and was chosen most valuable player.

Moe contended, "We didn't lose it because Ice wasn't there. We lost it because we played stupid."

The Nets' big guard, Newlin, scored 30 points, including 17 in the decisive third quarter.

The Spurs trailed by 13 with 4:51 remaining in the game but rallied to pull with two before Eddie Jordan sank a pair of free throws in the final minute to clinch the victory.

Recently acquired John Shumate led the Spurs with 21 points and Mike Evans, starting at guard in place of Gervin, had 19.

Jazz 116, Bulls 106
Adrian Dantley scored 47 points as Utah beat Chicago and climbed out of the Midwest Division cellar for the first time since the opening week of the season. The loss dropped the Bulls six percentage points behind the Jazz.

Sonics 123, Cavs 121
Dennis Johnson scored 34 points, including two free throws with two seconds left, as Seattle remained one-half game ahead of Los Angeles in the Pacific Division.

Lakers 116, Knicks 105
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 22 points, 17 rebounds, seven assists and five blocked shots and held Knicks' center Bill Cartwright to 3-for-18 shooting, telling the Lakers ended New York's five-game winning streak. The Lakers outscored the Knicks 40-15 in an 11½-minute stretch of the second and third quarters to take command.

Pacers 109, Bulls 106
Julius Erving scored 31 points, including two free throws with three seconds on the clock, as Philadelphia spoiled George McGinnis' return to Indiana. McGinnis, acquired from Denver last week, had 14 points and 13 rebounds for the Pacers.

Blazers 105, Kings 99
Tom Owens' 24 points led Portland over Kansas City. The Kings closed to 102-99 on a three-point goal by Ernie Grunfeld with 23 seconds left, but the Blazers' Ron Brewer sank a free throw with 12 seconds to play and a layup with three seconds left to clinch the victory.

Williamson snubs team

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — John Williamson, the hot-shooting guard the Washington Bullets acquired in the hope he can lead them to the National Basketball Association playoffs, has not yet reported to the team because of contract problems.

No one on the Bullets knew when Williamson, picked up Monday night from the New Jersey Nets in a trade for Roger Phegley and a draft choice, will report, a club spokesman said Tuesday.

The problem is that Williamson says the Nets promised to renegotiate his $185,000 annual contract at the end of the current season.

Nets' wheeling still needs results

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — The wheeling and dealing that was supposed to turn the struggling New Jersey Nets around this week has not materialized, unless, of course, you place a high value on the John Williamson-Roger Phegley trade.

New Jersey, reportedly in the running for Portland forward Maurice Lucas, seems content, for now, to remain intact. The Trail Blazers are supposed to be offering Lucas, and two No. 1 draft picks for rookie Calvin Natt. The Nets are reluctant to part with Natt, their best player, and understandably so. Natt is a super prospect with a great attitude.

"We're not shopping Calvin Natt and we never have shopped Calvin Natt," New Jersey Nets General Manager Charlie Theokas repeated Tuesday. "We've received many inquiries about Calvin's availability and it's rather common knowledge Portland is one of the clubs."

"We're just sitting back, listening and talking," he continued. "I've talked with just about every club in the league recently and we're listening to offers."

A Nets source said Milwaukee backed out of a trade that would have sent center Rich Kelley to the Bucks for two No. 1 draft picks. The source said the Nets were prepared to make the deal but the Bucks decided against it.

The Williamson deal might have reached a snag because "Supe's" agent, Irwin Weiner, claims the Nets failed to tell Washington of an agreement to renegotiate his contract at the end of the season. Theokas said such an arrangement was never made while Williamson is wondering about Williamson's whereabouts.

Monday's trade came as no surprise — the Nets have wanted to trade Williamson for quite a while. The only problem — there were no takers.

Williamson returned last month from a 20-game hiatus after a battle of the bulging belly, and pleaded his allegiance to the Nets. He was begging for one more chance. He said if he was financially secure, he would retire before agreeing to a trade. He wanted to stay in New Jersey.

When the Bullets offered Roger Phegley, the Nets jumped at the chance. They feel as if they got something for nothing.

"I was behind the deal, fully 100 percent, definitely," said Nets Coach Kevin Loughery. "I was surprised Phegley was available. I think John, when he's ready both both mentally and physically, is one fine basketball player. But it's been a year he just hasn't been ready."

Spill gives 'horror show'

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Three jockeys were injured and a mount had to be destroyed in a three-horse spill at Bowie Race Course which one racing official described as a "horror show."

Miraculously, none of the jockeys were seriously injured in the mishap that occurred in the fourth race Tuesday.

Only seconds after the horses left the starting gate and had run the length of the backstretch, the three jockeys, Tom Kupfer, Phil Grove and Jimmy Fazio, were lying conscious, but immobile, with the bodies of their mounts strewn nearby.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — All efforts to settle differences between the U.S. Auto Club and the breakaway Championship Auto Racing Teams "have been terminated," according to CART.

CART chairman Pat Patrick said Tuesday that USAC rejected CART's proposals to unite the sport under a joint racing series.

Last week, USAC sent a two-page directive to Goodyear's Leo Muhl, a neutral mediator in the talks, saying it couldn't accept the proposal of a six-man committee — three car owners from each organization — to make all rules and decisions.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Heavy drinking menaces health

Dear Dr. Solomon: I have tried a number of methods to stop drinking, but without success. I am a professional person with a fairly good income, and the habit has never interfered with my job or any other aspect of my life. What I am concerned about is possible damage to my health. Would a diet that is otherwise nutritious and well-balanced offset the effects of the alcohol? — Mr. D.W.

Dear Mr. W.: What you are asking is whether you can have your cake and eat it, too — or, in this case, whether you can abuse your body without having to pay the consequences. In both instances, the answer is "no."

Studies have shown that even in people on satisfactory diets, large amounts of alcohol cause fat to accumulate in the liver. On the other hand, there is no such effect when an equivalent amount of calories in carbohydrates is substituted for the alcohol. The probability is that you do not have a nutritious, well-balanced diet while ingesting a large amount of alcohol. Alcohol is high in calories — a two-ounce martini contains 150 calories — and blunts the appetite. Therefore, the more a person drinks, the greater the possibility of malnutrition. This is compounded by the fact that alcohol metabolism actually increases the need for some nutrients.

The serious consequences of drinking — fatty liver and hepatitis — are completely reversible if alcohol is removed from the diet. However, this is not true of cirrhosis. I don't know if Alcoholics Anonymous is one of the methods you tried in your effort to stop drinking, but I suggest you consider it. The life you save will be your own.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I have read that a Senate committee on nutrition has recommended increasing to 50 percent our intake of carbohydrates. I understand carbohydrates now constitute a little more than 20 percent of our caloric intake. If this recommendation were followed, wouldn't it mean an increase in weight problems? — Rite.

Dear Rite: When part of a well-balanced diet, natural carbohydrates — fruits, vegetables and grain products — provide energy to the brain, muscles and body tissue, leaving protein to do its job of building and repair. Natural carbohydrates also contain a significant amount of protein.

Carbohydrates are thought of as fattening because they are associated with junk foods — table sugar, candy and other sweets, as well as cakes and cookies made from refined white flour. But natural carbohydrates are nourishing without being fattening. Fruits and vegetables have a high water content and, together with the bulk from whole grain, provide lasting satisfaction of appetite. Junk foods, although high in calories, do not. Whereas junk foods provide only "empty" calories, natural carbohydrates help assure an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)

Human rights most troublesome problem for Argentina's regime

By RICHARD BOUDREAU

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentines suspected of political opposition seldom disappear any more, but human rights remains a troublesome issue for the country's military government.

The officers who seized power in March 1976 face little serious opposition by labor and political leaders, and less apparent dissent in their own ranks than a few months ago. But they worry openly about continuing international condemnation of methods used to defeat a guerrilla insurgency in the late 1970s.

"The war has been left in the past," President Jorge Videla told a businessmen's luncheon recently. "Its memory ... is an historical reality but ... cannot be the Sword of Damocles hanging over the present or, much less, the future of Argentina."

This theme is repeated in speeches by other officers fearful that the so-called "anti-Argentine campaign" abroad will lead to a rising chorus of demands at home for avenging the presumed deaths of thousands of "desaparecidos" — those who have disappeared after being arrested.

The government's immediate headache is a still-unpublished report by the Inter-American Human Rights Commission of the Organization of American States that, for the first time, names lower-ranking officers accused of torture.

The military, stung last November by Pope John Paul II's appeal for information on the "desaparecidos," also faces a U.N. Human Rights Commission hearing this month in Geneva, Switzerland, and a critical U.S. State Department report on human rights recently sent to Congress in Washington.

Bitterness here over Washington's human rights campaign is one reason President Carter sent a special envoy last month to improve relations. Argentine officials told the envoy, Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, they wanted the State Department report toned down so it can be used to refute charges by the Inter-American commission.

The commission's report, according to sources who have read it, blames top Argentine officials for an "institutional decision" to fight terrorism with methods that violate the Inter-American Human Rights Convention.

The 400-page document is said to give the dates, times, police stations, military facilities and names of officers involved in more than 50 cases of alleged torture detailed by prisoners and ex-prisoners during the commission's two-week inspection here last September. These and other cases of torture, disappearances, secret executions and burials, and prison conditions take up more than 300 pages in the report, the sources said.

The charges are said to be so detailed that the government, rather than reply to each one, has reportedly based its official response on the commission's alleged insensitivity to terrorist acts that provoked a "state of internal war." The commission devoted five pages to guerrilla violence.

"I feel cheated," Foreign Minister Carlos W. Pastor told reporters after reading the report, "because it undoubtedly isn't as fair, balanced and objective as it should have been."

In an effort to discredit the report in Argentina, officials have given copies to friendly civilian politicians so they can criticize it when it is published in April.

Sources close to the Foreign Ministry said it had even asked Argentine ambassadors to find out how many missing persons reports are filed with the police in foreign cities such as New York, so the military can back its claim that many of the 6,000 "desaparecidos" listed in the rights commission report simply ran away from home.

The number of disappearances reported to human rights organizations here dropped from nearly 700 in 1978 to 44 last year, and there has been only one case since September — that of a school teacher forced into a car by two men in Cordoba Dec. 11.

Diplomats and other political observers attribute this trend to tighter control of the military by moderate allies of Videla, who accept growing control over security cases by the civilian courts. One "hard-line" army general opposed to obeying judges went to jail last October for staging a rebellion, and another was forced to retire during the year-end round of army promotions.

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

A Classic Crime

By Alfred Sheinwold

"Present-day crimes don't intrigue me," Sherlock Holmes complained. "Where would you see nowadays a crime like Lord Grenoe's in the Nicheo Cup finals forty years ago?"

"His Lordship ruffed the ace of diamonds, drew trumps and led the ace and queen of clubs," Holmes reminisced. "West held off, of course, but took the next club and got out with his last club. Grenoe never got to dummy and eventually lost a spade. Down one."

LOOKS NORMAL "It all looks normal to me," Watson protested. "Where did Grenoe go wrong?" Readers should search for this classic crime on their own before reading on.

South must ruff the first diamond with a high heart. Then he leads the ace and king of hearts and continues with the deuce of hearts.

West must win even if he has brilliantly dropped the nine and ten of trumps. Any return is then sure to put dummy in the lead to run the diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION Partner bids two hearts (forcing to game), and the next player passes. You hold: ♠ J 10 4 ♥ 6 5 ♦ K Q J 10 3 ♣ J 10 2. What do you say? ANSWER: Bid two no-trump. Don't make a positive

Winter boosts home fire risks

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

An unattended fireplace. A carelessly placed electric heater. An oven door left open for heat. These are the things that tragedy is made of during the winter months.

More than 6,000 persons died in fires in 1978, according to the National Safety Council. More than four out of five were killed in residential fires.

Fire prevention officials say there is a definite increase in the number of fires in the winter. People spend more time indoors and turn to makeshift sources of heat to keep warm.

According to statistics collected by the U.S. Fire Administration, more than 10 percent of all residential fires are associated with heating devices.

Some fires are caused by carelessness. People try to use a blow torch to thaw frozen pipes, ignoring the danger of igniting nearby beams. They forget to shovel a path through the snow to the hydrant at the curb; if there is a fire, the time the firemen have to spend digging out the hydrant can mean the difference between a minor accident and a major disaster.

The National Bureau of Standards says that many people also underestimate the time it takes a fire to spread. According to the bureau, you may have only two minutes from the time a fire begins until the room is engulfed by what's known as the "flashover." If you have any doubt about your ability to put out a fire quickly and easily, leave the house immediately. Don't wait to call the fire department. Use a neighbor's telephone.

Here are some of the things you can do to avoid trouble:

PORTABLE ELECTRIC HEATERS — Look for a model with a broad, solid base and an automatic cut-off switch that will turn the heater off if it tips over accidentally. Check to see if the heater has been tested by one of the major laboratories and make sure the test applies to the entire unit — not just to the cord.

Find out if your heater needs a separate electric circuit. Don't try to take shortcuts and assume you will be safe. Have an electrician install proper wiring before you use the heater and always follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Keep heaters away from curtains, furniture and walkways and do not use them to dry clothing. As a general rule, if a wall or nearby object feels hot to the touch, it is too close to the heater. Warn children not to poke fingers or toys through protective guards and keep a close eye on toddlers whenever they are in the same room with heaters. Avoid using electric space heaters in bathrooms. Never touch one with wet hands.

KITCHEN STOVES — Never use a gas range or oven to heat your kitchen. It could produce potentially dangerous levels of carbon monoxide.

Do not leave oven doors on any kind of stove open. Children can burn themselves on heating elements.

NON-ELECTRIC SPACE HEATERS — Make sure there is proper ventilation. Many fuels, including kerosene, propane and coal, produce deadly fumes. You also need to get fresh air to prevent suffocation that can be caused by a heater consuming oxygen as fuel burns.

Be careful not to overfill oil units. Cold oil expands as it warms up and can cause burner flooding that results in flare-ups. Never try to refuel the heater while it is on.

Never try to quicken a fire with kerosene or gasoline. Use only the proper fuel. Don't try to make do with substitutes.

MISCELLANEOUS — Do not use a charcoal grill inside or try to burn charcoal in a wood stove. The vapors are dangerous. Do not use too much paper to start a fire in your fireplace. The leaping flames may look nice and warm, but they could ignite soot in the chimney. Burn logs, not trash, in wood stoves and fireplaces. Allow ashes to cool before disposing of them.

Board of education to accept dual enrollment ban

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — The Board of Education will not appeal a federal judge's decision which struck down an 8-year-old dual enrollment plan with a Catholic school system.

The unanimous vote Monday night followed similar action last Friday by the Grand Traverse area Catholic schools' Board of Education.

On Jan. 23, U.S. Circuit Court Judge Albert Engel ruled that an arrangement which kept a Catholic high school open by allowing public school teachers to conduct classes there was unconstitutional. The dual enrollment plan was intended to prevent overcrowding at public schools.

Catholic schools' President Don Miles told the public school board that his panel decided any effort to overturn Engel's decision would be unsuccessful, and that the time and money spent in court would not justify the results.

Traverse City School Superintendent Vern Oxender said the financial impact of both boards' decisions would be minimal on the public school operation.

Engel ordered an end to the dual enrollment program by Sept. 1. The two school districts had 30 days, or until Feb. 22, to appeal his order.

The decision affects 425 parochial school students who took public school classes in an annex at their school. The students paid $1.

Miles said a limited number of Catholic students still will require shared time programs and that those students would be bused to the public schools.

Official may refuse to issue Georges Bank drilling permits

BOSTON (AP) — A Massachusetts environmental official says he will refuse to issue permits for offshore oil exploration in the Georges Bank unless he is convinced that the byproducts of the drilling will not pollute fisheries.

John Bewick, the state secretary of environmental affairs, told a U.S. House subcommittee Monday that he has asked the federal office of Coastal Zone Management for funds for a "technical review" of the environmental impact of drilling.

"I'm not yet convinced that the muds can be safely disposed of," he told the subcommittee on oceanography of the House Marine and Fisheries Committee.

Under terms of the federal Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972, Bewick, as a representative of the governor, could refuse to issue permits if he found the drilling violated the state's Coastal Zone Management Plan.

The state plan, adopted two years ago, says drilling shall be permitted only if potential damage to traditional fishing grounds is "evaluated and avoided" and "disposal of drilling muds and cuttings does not damage spawning areas and fishing resources."

However, if Bewick refused to issue the permits, he could be overruled by U.S. Secretary of Commerce Philip Klutznick if he found the offshore drilling was in the national interest.

The subcommittee meeting was the last in a series of regional hearings on the Coastal Zone Management Program, which expires Sept. 30. Congress must decide whether to re-enact the program and whether any changes are needed.

The long-delayed sale of drilling rights in the Georges Bank, about 100 miles southeast of Cape Cod, was held in Providence Dec. 18. Environmental groups had blocked the sale for almost two years, arguing in court that the drilling would harm the area's prime fishing grounds.

Oil company executives said they hoped the drilling could start late this summer.

Texas Pacific reclassifies producer

Texas Pacific Oil Co. Inc. of Midland reclassified as a gas discovery its No. 1 Ellen A. Word, opener and lone producer in the Word (Wolf-camp) field of Terrell County, 33 miles northeast of Sanderson.

Operator reported a calculated absolute open flow potential of 362,000 cubic feet of gas per day, with gravity of the condensate at 36 degrees and gas-liquid ratio of 129,130-1.

Production was through perforations ranging from 3,260 to 3,448 feet. The pay was treated with 5,000 gallons and fractured with 19,500 gallons.

The discovery originally finalized in 1979 through the same perforations, for 5.5 barrels of 36.2-gravity oil and no water.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 23, block R3, G&SF survey.

Cobb completes Devonian gas opener in Pecos area

Dalton H. Cobb of Midland has re-completed the No. 1 Charles J. Walker as a Devonian gas discovery in Pecos County, 3/4 mile west of depleted Ellenburger gas production in the Linterna pool, which has no active producers.

Operator reported a calculated absolute open flow of 10,611,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations ranging from 18,766 to 19,004 feet, which was acidized with 20,000 gallons.

Scheduled as a 19,500 wildcat re-entry project, operator drilled to 20,562 feet and plugged back to 20,380 feet, with 5.5-inch liner from 15,434 to 22,257 feet.

The following tops were picked on ground elevation of 2,895 feet: Devonian, 18,743 feet; Fusselman, 19,070 feet; and Silurian, 19,015 feet.

WORLD BRIEFS

Marine authorities give names of dead

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. military authorities released the names Wednesday of two Marine fliers killed in separate aircraft accidents in the Far East in the previous week.

The pilot of a Marine A-4 Skyhawk that crashed during a training exercise Monday in South Korea was identified as Maj. John E. Day, 38, of Pensacola, Fla.

First Lt. James O. Hensley III, age not given, of Huntsville, Ala., was killed Friday when a Marine CH-46 Sea Knight helicopter slipped off the deck of the U.S.S. Okinawa, an amphibious assault ship operating in Pacific waters.

Hensley was the co-pilot of the helicopter and was listed as missing and presumed drowned after a nine-hour search failed to locate him.

Five other Marines aboard the helicopter were rescued, although the craft sank immediately, a spokesman said. The pilot, Maj. Wallace R. Creel, whose age and hometown were not given, was injured and listed in stable condition aboard the Okinawa.

The big twin-rotor helicopter was assigned to an air group flying in support of the 1st Marine Brigade, based in Hawaii. Hensley is survived by his wife, Karen, of Kailua, Hawaii.

Day's single-seat jet was participating in a close air support exercise involving U.S. Marines at "Nightmare Range," a training area 40 miles north of Seoul.

He was based at the Marines' Iwakuni Air Station in Japan. He is survived by his wife, Carolyn, and four sons who live at Iwakuni, the spokesman said.

He said the causes of both crashes were under investigation.

Mugabe unhurt in attack

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Marxist guerrilla leader Robert Mugabe escaped injury early today when a grenade exploded outside the security wall of his home, but one of his political associates was badly hurt in a rocket attack on his home two hours before.

Four and a half hours after the attack on Mugabe's home, the British governor, Lord Soames, threatening political parties with severe penalties in an effort to check the growing wave of violence in advance of the parliamentary elections Feb. 27-29.

Police said they arrested two black men suspected of hurling the grenade that exploded harmlessly near Mugabe's home in a Salisbury suburb about 3:30 a.m. They said they did not immediately know their names or political affiliation.

Turkish envoy shot in Switzerland

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Gunmen in a passing car shot and injured the Turkish ambassador to Switzerland as he was being driven to work today, Turkish diplomatic sources reported.

They said Ambassador Dogan Turkmen was shot while being driven to the embassy. He was taken to a Bern hospital where doctors said his injuries were not serious.

Gunman says one hostage dead

MILAN, Italy (AP) — A gunman held seven Italians hostage under threat of death in the offices of Ralston Purina's Milan subsidiary today. Meanwhile, two gunmen on a motorcycle killed an Italian policeman guarding the Lebanese Embassy in Rome.

The gunman in Milan claimed to have killed one of the employees of Purina Italia shortly after taking over the offices Tuesday. One of the hostages confirmed the killing but police ringing the building were skeptical.

At least nine persons have been killed in political violence in Italy so far this year — the bloodiest toll ever for the period.

Bomb hoax on Clark's plane

CHARLOTTETOWN, Prince Edward Island (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Joe Clark's chartered campaign jetliner returned to Charlottetown Tuesday night after the pilot was notified of a bomb threat. But after a 90-minute search, no bomb was found and the threat was pronounced a hoax.

Capt. Rick Morrow said the plane had been in the air for 25 minutes on a flight to Ottawa and was at an altitude of 14,000 feet when he received a radio message reporting a bomb threat.

Officials said an anonymous telephone caller told the Air Canada office in Charlottetown that a bomb was aboard the craft. Clark was taken quickly from the plane to a Royal Canadian Mounted Police vehicle and driven to a hotel.

Korean hot line reopened

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North and South Korea today resumed their eight-year-old reunification dialogue after an 11-month delay and agreed to reopen the Seoul-Pyongyang hot line.

The direct phone link between the two capitals was installed in 1972 in a mood of detente but the line was cut by the North in August 1976 after communist troops axed two U.S. officers to death in a dispute over tree-pruning.

The hot line will reopen as of 10 a.m. Thursday, officials said. Both sides also agreed to hold future meetings alternately at North Korea's building in Panmunjom and in South Korea's Freedom House facility in the joint security area of the truce village.

Assad delays Syrian withdrawal

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian President Hafez Assad delayed the withdrawal of most of his troops from tense Beirut after snipers wounded four persons, Moslem militiamen clashed among themselves and Lebanese, Palestinian and Saudi Arabian leaders appealed to him to wait.

Assad said he told former President Suleiman Franjeh that he would postpone the pullout "for some time," until the Lebanese Army could enforce the 38-month-old armistice that ended the 1975-76 civil war between Christian rightists and an alliance of leftist Lebanese Moslems and Palestinian guerrillas.

Franjeh, the leader of one of the three biggest Christian factions and a staunch supporter of the Syrian military presence in Lebanon, rushed to Damascus after the Syrian government without prior warning announced it was withdrawing the 5,000 troops policing Beirut to the Bekaa Valley, 40 miles to the east.

Others who pleaded with Assad to reverse the order were Lebanon's Moslem premier, Salim el Hoss; Yasser Arafat, the leader of the Palestine Liberation Organization, and Saudi Arabia's second deputy prime minister, Prince Abdullah Bin Abdul Aziz.

Two more Soviet dancers defect

TOKYO (AP) — Two lesser members of one of the Soviet Union's leading ballet families left for the United States tonight after defecting during the current Japanese tour of the Bolshoi Ballet.

The defectors are 31-year-old Mikhail Messerer, an occasional solo performer with the Bolshoi and a nephew of the Soviet Union's leading ballerina, Maya Plisetskaya, and his 71-year-old mother, Soulamif Mikhailovna Messerer, a teacher with the troupe.

Three other Bolshoi dancers defected during the company's tour of the United States last summer. They included Alexander Godunov, one of the stars of the company.

Ali says Nyerere right

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Muhammad Ali, President Carter's special envoy in black Africa, says Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere was right in refusing to meet him if Nyerere "thought that I was coming as a tool of America."

The former boxing champion made the comments in an interview to be published Thursday in Nairobi's Daily Nation, eastern Africa's largest-selling daily.

It quotes Ali as saying, "I am glad that he didn't talk to me to show the world that he doesn't like the message that I had." Ali went on to defend his diplomatic role in seeking African support for a possible boycott of the 1980 Moscow Olympics. He said he believed a boycott would make the Soviets aware they were wrong to invade Afghanistan, and thus would help prevent nuclear war.

Ali told the Daily Nation his only purpose in coming to Africa was to try to prevent nuclear war. "I am not here to be pushed around to sell American policies," he said in the interview.

Spanish Embassy in San Salvador under siege by leftists; Right-wing terrorists kidnap three Communist political heads

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Right-wing terrorists kidnapped three Communist political leaders and said they would kill them if leftists occupying the Spanish Embassy did not pull out by Wednesday night.

The rightists also said they would burn the embassy if their demand was not met. About 20 members of the Feb. 28 Popular Leagues, or LP-28, took over the embassy without a fight Tuesday, taking the Spanish ambassador and eight other persons hostage. They demanded that Spain break relations with El Salvador's military-dominated government and that the government release four LP-28 members they claimed were arrested Sunday.

The government denied holding the four leftists. Meanwhile, police reported another leftist leader machine-gunned to death at his home Tuesday night, and about 100 radical high-school students were holding Education Minister Eduardo Colindres and hundreds of others hostage at the Education Ministry.

The students invaded the ministry Tuesday demanding a 40 percent reduction in the tuition fees charged by private colleges, expanded enrollment at free public universities and the dismissal of some Education Ministry officials. A spokesman for the students said they ranged in age from 13 to 18, and their occupation was peaceful. But it was not known if they were armed.

The government, mindful of the consequences of the police attack on the occupied Spanish Embassy in neighboring Guatemala last week, said the ruling junta assured the Spanish government in a telephone call to Madrid that security forces would not intervene in the embassy siege here.

There was no immediate indication of what the government might do about the threats from the ultra-rightist Organization for the Struggle Against Communism. It said in a communique to local newspapers it had taken Mario Avinada Carranza and two other unidentified leaders of the Nationalist Democratic Union, the Communist-front party, from their homes.

Pat O'Brien still hearty despite age, pacemaker

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He has marked his 80th birthday and a pacemaker in his chest keeps his heartbeat regular. But Pat O'Brien is still vigorous enough to inspire the Notre Dame varsity to go out and win one for the Gipper.

The Milwaukee-born actor who made his film debut in the 1931 "The Front Page" was preparing for yet another dinner-theater engagement with his wife Eloise. This time they were heading for Scottsdale, Ariz., for a six-week stand in "Second Time Around." They have had similar runs in New Orleans, Louisville, San Antonio, Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Dallas.

"It's occupational therapy for me," O'Brien remarked in the memento-filled den of his Brentwood home.

"People tell me when I'm on the road, 'You don't need this; why don't you stay home and enjoy yourself?' Well, I do need it. There's some altruism involved; you're bringing enjoyment to people who need it. But it's selfish, too — there's a lot of fun in making people laugh.

"I love the theater, always have. You get a different audience every night, and each one has different reactions. You lose a laugh one night, then you try to get it back the next time out.

"I try not to make it sound like sour grapes because I'm not offered any movie parts. Let's face it, I don't get the movie offers. But I still prefer the theater. I had my 80th birthday last November and I went on the stage when I was 20. That's 60 years in the theater, and I'm always eager to get back."

The O'Briens average six months in the theater each year. During the six months at home, Pat spends time with his dwindling circle of pals — Jimmy Cagney, Ralph Bellamy, Lloyd Nolan. O'Brien is a popular guest on the TV talk shows and recently played Ron Howard's great uncle on "Happy Days." Pat's last movie was Burt Reynolds' "The End," in which he played husband to Myrna Loy.

"That was fun," he remarked. "It was the first time Myrna and I had appeared together in 46 years. She was loaned from MGM and I was loaned by Howard Hughes to do 'Consolation Marriage' at RKO."

The O'Brien mantle is decorated with numerous awards, including an Emmy and the Carbon Mike, which he received from the Radio Pioneers. No Oscar. Astonishingly, Pat has never been nominated for an Academy Award, not even for his most famous role in "Knutie Rockne, All American" (in which he exhorted his team to score victory in memory of George Gipp, the fallen player acted by Ronald Reagan).

"It seems a shame," I commented.

"I think so, too," Pat said with an Irish grin.

Such a lapse of recognition doesn't bother him. He gets plenty on the road. "So many people remember the old pictures," he said.

Does he himself watch old movies on TV?

"Oh, sure," he admitted. "Like Bob Hope says, I like to switch the dial and watch my hairline recede."

The titles are memorable: "Ceiling Zero," "Boy Meets Girl," "Angels with Dirty Faces," "The Fighting 69th," "Torrado Zone," "The Iron Major," "Fighting Father Dunne," "The People Against O'Hara," "The Last Hurrah," "Some Like It Hot." Oddy, his favorite is the 1935 "Oil for the Lamps of China."

"For my next picture, Jack Warner bought a best-selling novel and changed the title to 'I Married a Doctor,'" Pat recalled. "I asked him why the hell didn't he keep the original title, and his reply was: 'Who wants to see a movie about a street?' The book was 'Main Street' by Sinclair Lewis.

Pat O'Brien is one of the town's legendary story-tellers, and he practices his craft at the end of each play. "Mostly I tell Irish stories, but also some Jewish, Negro, English, Scotch," he said. "But nothing that hurts, and nothing off-color. I would never tell an audience a story that I wouldn't tell at my own dinner table."

During a Chicago run five years ago, O'Brien collapsed and doctors advised an operation for a bleeding ulcer. The actor refused, curing the ulcer with medication. Later he had a heart irregularity, and a specialist suggested a pacemaker. "That's what you went to medical school for," said O'Brien, assenting.

Houston residents seek treatment after gas cloud

HOUSTON (AP) — A foul-smelling cloud of sulphur dioxide gas that leaked from a chemical plant drifted across a residential area, prompting about 100 persons to seek medical treatment, officials say.

Officials today were investigating what caused the leak of gas from the Stauffer Chemical Plant. The cloud floated along a four-mile path across south Houston on Tuesday night.

Ken Kirksey, superintendent of the plant, said the gas was sulphur dioxide and "it's non-toxic. It's more irritating than it is toxic."

Residents of the area complained of headaches and nausea. Officials said no one appeared to be seriously injured.

"We only transported one person to the hospital by ambulance for treatment because of the gas," said fire department spokesman Dale Everett. "But we understand a lot of people went on their own."

Before the gas dissipated late Tuesday, a police department dispatcher said, officers advised persons living in the area to leave their homes if they became uncomfortable.

Everett said a company used by the fire department to determine the toxicity of chemicals termed the gas "very irritating" and advised persons exposed to it to seek medical treatment.

Kirksey said the leak occurred shortly before 6 p.m. Tuesday, and that it took workers about 30 minutes to stop the leak.

"We don't know what caused it," he said, "but we're investigating."

An city health department spokesman said the company would be required to submit a report on the incident.
