Hostage talks at 'delicate stage'

By The Associated Press

Iran's Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said today he hoped the hostage crisis will end soon and added that Iran will cooperate with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim "in this matter," Tehran radio reported.

There was no elaboration on Ghotbzadeh's statement. A U.N. spokesman in New York said Monday that negotiations over the hostages' release are at a "very sensitive stage" and that Waldheim is in constant touch with U.S. and Iranian officials.

Waldheim has attempted to arrange freedom for the 50 Americans since they were seized at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran 101 days ago. He has also proposed an international commission be set up to investigate Iranian charges against the deposed shah.

The radio said Ghotbzadeh declined to give a timetable for the Americans' release. But in what could be a related development, the radio quoted Ghotbzadeh as telling ABC News that an international commission being set up to investigate deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi will "probably" meet in Tehran within a week.

Ghotbzadeh said he was leaving for Athens tonight to begin a five-day European tour, the radio said. A broadcast monitored in London said Ghotbzadeh will also visit Italy and France. It was not known if his trip was connected to the arrival in Tehran of an international commission.

The radio reported that President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, meanwhile, repeated his offer to free the hostages within a few days if America would admit its "crimes" in Iran since it helped the deposed monarch regain his throne in 1953. "If America agrees to our view this may be possible," it quoted him as saying in an interview with French radio and television.

When his offer was first made public in an interview published Monday in the French newspaper Le Monde, the State Department said there will be no profession of guilt from the U.S. government.

Iran's revolutionary patriarch, the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, leveled a strong warning to the Soviet Union to refrain from aggression against Islamic countries, the radio reported in a broadcast monitored in London. It said the warning came in a message sent to Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev and quoted him in part as saying:

"Any aggression against Third World countries and Islamic countries, particularly in this region, is against the norms which should constitute a proper basis and foundation between nations."

The portion of Khomeini's message broadcast by the radio, monitored in London, did not mention by name the Soviet armed intervention in Afghanistan, an overwhelmingly Moslem nation to the east of Iran and, like Iran, to the south of the Soviet Union.

Clayton promises backers he'll vindicate himself

HEREFORD, Texas (AP) — Calling his implication in a federal bribery investigation "political assassination," Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton promised backers he would vindicate himself.

"I am convinced there is some kind of a plot. There is something big that I don't know yet, but I am going to get to the bottom of it," Clayton told a capacity crowd of about 35 supporters from two counties in his Panhandle district Monday night.

Clayton goes before a federal grand jury in Houston Wednesday. He has admitted accepting a large cash "campaign contribution" from a Houston union leader who brought a man posing as a Prudential Insurance Co. agent to his office in November.

But Clayton said he took the money only to avoid embarrassing the union man, L.G. Moore, and intended to return it. The "sting" was part of an FBI operation called Brilab, for bribery-labor.

"We will vindicate ourselves from this political assassination," he said.

The speech was Clayton's first public appearance since the allegations surfaced last Friday. It was one of five appreciation dinners in his honor that were scheduled before the allegations became known.

"With the events of the past few days, there was a question in my mind whether to appear here tonight," Clayton said. "But I believe in the system and I am proud to be here. Even with my reluctance I could not pass up this opportunity to be with home folks."

Speaker's race changes

Suddenly the candidates multiply

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Until Friday night, it looked like a two-way race for House speaker in 1981, with moderate-to-liberal Rep. John Bryant of Dallas challenging incumbent Bill Clayton.

Suddenly, legislators and lobbyists are thinking about the chance of a speaker election in August, with Clayton out of the picture, and candidates are multiplying.

Rep. Lynn Nabers, D-Brownwood, said Monday he thought Clayton would resign before the August special legislative session if an FBI "sting" operation against Clayton results in an indictment.

Clayton faces a grand jury in Houston on Wednesday. He has admitted accepting a large cash "campaign contribution" from a Houston union leader who brought a man posing as a Prudential Insurance Co. agent to his office in November. But he said he took the money only to avoid embarrassing the union man, L.G. Moore, and intended to return it.

The "sting" was part of an FBI operation called Brilab, for bribery-labor.

"I don't think Billy wants to hurt anybody, and he would do anything he could to keep from hurting anybody. I don't believe he would do anything to hurt the House members," Nabers said.

Nabers said he spent the weekend lining up support for a speaker's race in the event Clayton either resigns or decides not to run, after all, in 1981. House members elect the speaker, or presiding officer, from their ranks.

There were reports that former Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes was drumming up support for Nabers. Barnes said that while he supported Nabers, he had been too busy with John Connally's presidential campaign to seek votes for Nabers.

Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, agreed with Von Dohlen that Clayton probably would resign if indicted.

Von Dohlen recalled the 1971 legislative session in which Speaker Gus Mutscher was the target of allegations he conspired to accept a bribe. The session was tumultuous, from start to finish, with continual political jockeying and attacks on Mutscher, who responded with an attempt to use the redistricting bill to eliminate some of his enemies from the Legislature.

Clayton "would not put the House through that sort of ordeal," Von Dohlen said.

Von Dohlen has shown interest in running for speaker when Clayton no longer wanted the job but said Monday he is not seeking pledges of support in view of the changed situation.

"I'm not working on anything. I'm watching, as everybody is, to see what will happen," he said.

Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, also has accumulated expressions of support from conservative House members.

"I feel comfortable that if Bill gets out, I will pick up enough support to win," said Lewis.

He said he would attend a meeting Wednesday afternoon of the House Urban Caucus, which is taking the position that lawmakers should refrain from early commitments to speaker candidates if Clayton leaves the picture.

Lewis said he favors that position and also warned about counting Clayton out prematurely.

"I haven't talked to a one who is ready to throw him in the grave yet," he said.

Bryant's staff claims he has picked up support since news of Clayton's problems with the FBI hit the streets Saturday morning.

Bryant issued a statement saying, "There's a human element here that transcends political considerations, and I don't believe that one person's problems should be the basis for another person's candidacy."

Several lobbyists and legislators said the use of clandestine tactics against Clayton would harden resistance to Gov. Bill Clements' bill legalizing wiretaps in drug cases. Wiretap legislation is one reason Clements plans to call a special session.

Clements warns public not to crucify Clayton

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Gov. Bill Clements says he hopes the public will not jump to conclusion and "crucify" Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton because Clayton has been linked to a federal bribery investigation.

Clayton is being investigated in connection with allegations that he accepted $10,000 from some men who wanted help in securing an insurance contract with the state. The money was paid in connection with what the FBI calls Brilab, a "sting" operation in which money was allegedly paid to various officials in several states for help in obtaining insurance contracts.

Clayton is scheduled to testify Wednesday before a federal grand jury at Houston.

"I see no point in trying him by television or in the press," Clements said Monday night following a speech here.

Although he acknowledged that Clayton was under a "cloud" of suspicion, the governor said it would have no effect on his plans to call a special legislative session in August.

"I'm hopeful that we will dispose of the cloud shortly," the governor said.

Clements pointed out that it was not up to him to decide whether Clayton should remain as speaker while the investigation continues.

U.S. won't accept 'cosmetic' pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will view anything less than a complete withdrawal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan as insufficient, President Carter's national security adviser says.

Although a "cosmetic" withdrawal of Soviet troops is anticipated, and may come about sooner than originally thought, it would not be "a solution to what is a serious problem," Zbigniew Brzezinski said Monday night.

Carter, Brzezinski and Defense Secretary Harold Brown briefed about 100 members of Congress on recent developments in Afghanistan and Iran and on other foreign policy issues at a White House buffet supper Monday.

There, and in a conversation with reporters as he left the White House, Brzezinski put on the record an earlier report that a "cosmetic" withdrawal of Russian troops was anticipated.

The State Department has estimated there are 90,000 Soviet soldiers in Afghanistan, which Soviet troops began occupying in late December, and administration officials have said that number is greater than is militarily necessary for their mission.

Thus, the officials have said, a slight withdrawal would have no impact on the military situation in the Southwest Asian nation that has been a key state between the Soviet Union and the oil-rich Persian Gulf region.

A weekend report by administration officials said the withdrawal was anticipated as part of a Soviet effort to defuse western opposition to the occupation.

Carter has set a deadline of Feb. 20 for the Soviet troops to leave Afghanistan. If they don't leave by then, Carter is urging a U.S. boycott of the Summer Olympics in Moscow unless the Games are relocated or postponed.

Senior administration officials said Monday night that the Feb. 20 deadline remains unchanged. But it was understood that a later withdrawal of all the Soviet forces would lead to a reconsideration of the U.S. position.

"I think it is very probable that before too long, the Soviet Union will engage in what might be called a peace offensive by removing a token number of troops from Afghanistan," Brzezinski said. "This would be designed to show the Soviet Union is reducing its troops."

But, he said, "it is very important that all the Soviet forces be removed and that a genuinely neutral, non-aligned Afghanistan be made possible."

Casino shake-up proposed

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Brendan T. Byrne has proposed a wholesale shake-up of New Jersey's scandal-linked Casino Control Commission, and advocates of casino gambling in other states say their campaigns have been hurt by the FBI's Abscam investigation.

Byrne said Monday he wanted to "begin restoring public confidence" in the state's casino operations following accusations of improper attempts to influence the awarding of casino licenses in Atlantic City.

Byrne recommended that commission members be full-time state employees and that increased restrictions be imposed on former lawmakers taking casino jobs. He proposed that commissioners be subject to immediate dismissal if they refused to testify with any court, state or federal investigative agency.

The governor also urged an end to temporary permits, which allow the enormously expensive casinos to begin taking in gambling revenues before licensing investigations are completed.

Last week, commission vice chairman Kenneth MacDonald resigned his $18,000-a-year, part-time position amid published allegations that he shared a $100,000 bribe. MacDonald has denied the allegations and no charges have been filed.

Joseph P. Lordi, the commission's $600,000-a-year, full-time chairman, was cited in a purported boast by U.S. Sen. Harrison Williams Jr. — taped by the FBI — that he helped a casino developer save $3 million.

New Jersey residents approved casino gambling in 1976 and revenues are expected to reach $5 billion a year within several years. The state gets 8 percent of the top, and the industry's success has prompted other states to consider competing for casino dollars.

Gov. Hugh Carey says the Abscam allegations "constitute a setback" for New York's casino movement, and Louisiana advocates of a state-owned casino say the allegations are going to hurt. A Pennsylvania state senator postponed hearings on casino legislation.

"If New Jersey wanted to make sure New York didn't get casinos, they are going about it in the right way," said Dr. Gerald Lurch, who led a state study that recommended casino gambling for New York. Bryne's proposal was expected to hurt three casinos slated to open this year, Great Bay, Golden Nugget and Playboy.

"I wonder if we're overreacting to what are, at this time, merely newspaper accounts," said William Downey, executive director of the Atlantic City Casino Hotel Association. "There have been no indictments. I think it's possible to get caught up in the whole swirl of alleged misconduct."

Abscam is the FBI code name for the 16-month operation in which undercover men posed as representatives of an Arab sheik willing to pay bribes for political favors. In New Jersey, the favor was a casino license.

County inks rental subsidy pact

By SUSAN TOTH
Staff Writer

Midland County Commissioners signed a formal contract Monday for the low-income rental subsidy program which was begun in December, but at the same time asked the Midland Housing Association to look into county participation in a low-interest home mortgage program.

Commissioners agreed to a final contract with the Midland Housing Association to coordinate renting the 20 units of low-income housing funded through a federal Housing and Urban Development grant.

Only four of the 20 units approved are currently occupied because of the difficulty in finding housing in the county and the low rent ceilings required by the federal program, according to Betty Sheeler, MHA member who is coordinating the rental subsidy program.

Mrs. Sheeler said she would report to the court on two programs — funding of new construction for rental properties in the county and a program similar to the low-interest mortgage bonds sold recently by the city of Midland.

Commissioners also agreed to advertise for bids to pave several streets in Precinct 3 with a portion of a $230,000 Community Development Block Grant approved last June. Approving the rental subsidy program was a requirement for receiving the federal grant.

The county will advertise for bids to pave 3,022 feet each on Stokes and Wolcott streets, 1,782 feet of Summit Street, 1,412 feet on Longview Street and 775 feet of South Terrell from Gist to the existing pavement.

In other business, the commissioners agreed to pay Texas Electric Service Co. $10,067 to move 27 poles from the south side to the north side of Andrews Highway, allowing room for the North Loop expansion.

Commissioners agreed to purchase two Pinto hatchbacks from Rogers Ford for $8,663.68 for the county tax office. They also heard an hour-long presentation on two postage meters before putting off the decision on which to buy until May when Pitney Bowes, the current county supplier, would have a machine comparable to the other bidder, Friden Equipment.

South Africa Foundation official explains stance

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Stressing the importance of South Africa's position between the Western World and the Middle East, J. Andre Visser spent half an hour Monday explaining his country's stand on world affairs and internal events.

South Africa has been unduly criticized and punished by other countries for its apartheid policy, he charged.

Visser's organization consists of people of all races, all backgrounds and all denominations "who became aware of how badly people think of South Africa. This foundation tries to give an objective and unbiased view of the situations in South Africa without defending the government's policies," he explained.

"The apartheid policy of segregation 'is not a matter of black and white,' as past events in the U.S. have been, Visser claimed.

MEANWHILE, THE U.S. "has advocated punitive action toward South Africa without understanding the full situation," Visser contended.

With the continuing internal conflicts in Iran and the Soviet Union takeover in Afghanistan, Visser said the rest of the world is looking closer at South Africa's strategic location.

Carter to ask Congress to initiate nuclear waste disposal program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter plans to ask Congress today to start laying groundwork for the nation's first nuclear waste disposal plan, according to a published report here.

The president will seek permission for federal purchase of a permanent repository for radioactive waste and a storage pool for burned-out nuclear fuel, The Washington Post reported in today's editions.

By 1985, Carter wants to select a permanent waste repository from 11 possible sites, the Post reported.

world going through the Cape," he said. "The U.S. will import 60 percent of its oil around the Cape," the deputy director pointed out.

The country on the southern tip of Africa has no oil and must buy its supply on the world spot market. But to avoid complete dependence on that supply, Visser said his country is using its coal supply in coal gasification plants. And sunflower oil is being utilized in some machinery.

SOUTH AFRICA'S MINERAL reserves are necessary for continued production in the U.S., he contended, listing his country's supplies of chrome, titanium, manganese, uranium and platinum.

"The other major supplier of those minerals is Russia, and Visser said if that country gets its hands on South Africa's supply, it will put the Soviet Union in the position of controlling the world market.

Although Visser refuted the idea of Russia invading South Africa, he described the Soviet Union as "solidifying its hold on countries bordering South Africa — they are doing it in Mozambique, Rhodesia and Angola."

"During the Russian Revolution, Lenin said the way to Europe lies around South Africa, and the Russians have never forgotten that," Visser added.

SOUTH AFRICA IS taking steps to normalize relations between the races, he said. And a major black newspaper polled its readers and found that 57 percent were in favor of the current prime minister.

There will come a time when South Africa will have one man-one vote governments, Visser said he foresees a time when "all people in South Africa will have a vote for their assemblies. I foresee a supreme National Council that will govern the country."

Valley, N.Y., the Post reported.

Spent fuel from nuclear power plants includes material, such as plutonium, that can be removed through reprocessing. Radioactive waste is what remains after such material is removed.

Carter also reportedly plans to tell Congress he wants to scrap a research program to bury military nuclear wastes in a New Mexico salt mine. The government has spent $90 million developing the site for the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant, about 30 miles from Carlsbad.

Search begun for missing woman

By KAY HORD
Staff Writer

Police are concerned about the welfare of a 19-year-old Midland woman who was last seen Feb. 2. Her car was found abandoned 1.8 miles south of Interstate Highway 20 on the Rankin Highway Feb. 4. Kristy Booth is a white female, 5-foot-7½, 120 pounds with reddish-brown shoulder-length hair and blue eyes. When last seen she was wearing blue levis and a blue denim coat with plaid cuffs and collar. The coat was later left at Dimensions, 411 Air-park. According to police, she left home at 7 p.m. Feb. 2 on her way to work at the Great Gatsby. Detectives have tracked her whereabouts slightly further that night, placing her at Dimensions at 10:30 p.m. Friends said she left her coat and shoes at the table while dancing and never returned to the table. She has not been seen since.

Kristy Booth

intended to leave. And her vehicle being found abandoned — it's out of the ordinary for her to behave in this manner. We are at this point concerned about her well being," he said.

Capt. Ray also said they had nothing more to go on at this time.

"If they would just call the Police Department, just get some word to us. Of course, the ideal thing would be for Kristy to come in and talk to us, but anything we can get we are trying to get right now," he said.

Detective Mike Roberts, who has been assigned to the case, said he had been contacted by Deputy Sheriff Jim Atwater and Texas Ranger Charlie Hodges and that there was full cooperation between the agencies on this case.

Esophageal speech hard to master

Dear Dr. Solomon: One of the workers in the plant where I am employed has undergone surgery for cancer of the larynx. I understand this is the voice box, and I am wondering whether he will ever be able to talk again. Is there any particular cause of this type of cancer? — Hal.

Dear Hal: Persons who have their larynxes surgically removed can learn to speak again, but the new method is rather difficult to master. Those who are highly motivated, however, can overcome the problem by learning esophageal speech. According to Dr. Stanley J. Martinkosky, director of speech pathology at North Carolina Memorial Hospital, more than half of such patients learn the new method well enough to have useful speech; of these, 30 percent become good speakers. In fact, 10 percent of patients learn to speak again without outside assistance.

Although the larynx (commonly called the voice box) is used for speech, its main function is keeping food and water from entering the lungs. When the larynx is removed, the tube leading to the lungs is shortened and turned into the throat. Air is inhaled and exhaled through an incision made in the neck (called a stoma).

The new method of speaking uses air that is deliberately trapped at the top of the esophagus, or food pipe. Patients can learn to control this air, producing a lower, husky-sounding voice, somewhat like that of a person with a sore throat. A good speaker can articulate six to 11 syllables on one air change, but it may take a person up to six months to learn to speak in useful phrases. Part of the difficulty is attributable to the tension people feel after they have been told they are suffering from cancer.

An artificial larynx has been developed, but it still has a number of drawbacks. Unlike a normal voice, which can change in tone and volume, the sound of the artificial larynx is that of the instrument. Nevertheless, with the natural use of the tongue, the artificial larynx does help produce speech. This is particularly important for patients who are not able to read or write and would otherwise have no effective means of communication. The artificial larynx serves to relax many patients by permitting them to communicate soon after surgery.

Surgical removal of the larynx has additional consequences beyond depriving a person of speech. Patients cannot go swimming, since water would enter the stoma and go directly to the lungs; they must be careful even when taking a shower.

About 4,000 people, most of them men, have their larynxes removed each year as a result of cancer. Most of these patients were heavy smokers. In fact, Dr. J. Patterson Browder, assistant professor of surgery at the University of North Carolina, says that he does not recall having seen a patient with cancer of the larynx over the last five years who was not a heavy smoker.

CHARLEY REESE Carter has proven inept handling hostage crisis

Charley Reese

ORLANDO, Fla. — The prevailing political wisdom is that you don't attack the president during the middle of a foreign crisis.
Sen. Ted Kennedy, however, has discovered that if you don't attack the president, then nobody is going to discern a reason for replacing him. President Carter, who is extremely vulnerable to attack on any number of issues, has gratefully welcomed the foreign crises and retired to the Rose Garden.
I suspect that if we wish the American hostages to be freed before the November elections, we had better start attacking the president. Otherwise, President Carter, who demonstrated in 1976 that he will do and say anything for a vote, will keep the crisis going for purely domestic political reasons.
This presents a dilemma for the average person. We do instinctively rally round the flag when we are presented with an external threat. This is a good instinct. When the hostiles attack, it's better to circle the wagons than to string them out.
Frankly, though, this natural instinct provides an unscrupulous leader with an opportunity to manipulate the people and we, the people, must be wary of this tactic. As a matter of fact, Ted Kennedy's brother, Jack, did the same thing in 1962. Reports of Soviet missiles in Cuba surfaced in the late spring and summer; President Kennedy did not choose to create a missile crisis until October, just prior to the congressional elections. He saved a lot of Democrat seats as the circle-the-wagons syndrome went to work.

So while we should and will (because we have no choice) support the actions of the president in his dealings with a foreign aggressor, we should at the same time not allow this to override our common sense. If we found ourselves on an airplane with a drunk pilot, we would all cooperate to get this plane safely back on the ground, but only a fool would take off again with the same pilot at the controls.
The Iranian crisis certainly is the fault of President Carter. In the first place, he sent Gen. Robert Huyser to Iran with the express mission of preventing the shah's army from crushing the revolution and to tell the shah to get out. His minions in the State Department have now publicly admitted this. Thus he repeated exactly the process which ousted Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza. He ordered him out and withdrew American support from his army. The only difference is that in the Iranian situation, he lied to the American people about Huyser's mission.
So, first off, President Carter shares part of the responsibility for the installation of the Khomeini regime.
Secondly, he was clearly and repeatedly warned by both the State Department and the CIA that if he allowed the ousted shah to come into the United States that our embassy and its personnel would be endangered. These warnings have also been publicly documented. Yet, he did nothing to protect the embassy and then allowed the shah to come in.
Therefore, the fact that our embassy is occupied by terrorists and 50 of our citizens are in captivity is directly and indisputably the fault of President Carter.
Furthermore, he has contributed to the crisis by repeatedly appeasing terrorism. The PLO, which is the world's foremost terrorist organization, has made tremendous gains in prestige because of the sympathetic attitude of the Carter administration.
I don't know what could be more encouraging to terrorists the world over than for the U.S. president's brother to become a registered agent for Col. Khadafi, the murderous godfather of terrorists and dictator of Libya.
President Carter's lack of reaction to an earlier invasion of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and to the murder of a U.S. ambassador in Afghanistan were also clear signals to any terrorists looking for an opportunity that the safest target in the world is the United States.
Finally, let's look at how he's handled the hostage situation. His only claim to success is that so far as we know the hostages are not yet dead. Of course, they are not free either. Since November, the United States has suffered the continuous illegal occupation of its embassy, the continuous illegal imprisonment of its citizens, and a continuous stream of insults and abuse from a crazy old man and his band of incompetent hoodlums.
President Carter is either hopelessly incompetent or worse, but either way he is a clear and present danger to the national interests of the United States and to world peace. If he blunders us into war, I hope he does so in August and that the first missile lands on the Democrat National Convention. Even a holocaust should provide some justice.

Full investigation needed

Watergate and Koreagate haven't even been forgotten and already some of our nation's highest elected officials once again are embroiled in another scandal.
That's disheartening. With the wounds of the previous scandals yet unhealed the nation now must go through the throes of another scandal.
This time it's being called "Abscam" and it involves a townhouse in Georgetown, an Arab shiek in flowing robes and a cast of members of Congress who allegedly visited the townhouse and then left, their pockets stuffed with currency.
Of course, the implicated members of Congress are presumed to be innocent unless and until the facts prove otherwise.
But enough information has been leaked to indicate that the Federal Bureau of Investigation is conducting an in-depth probe into the allegations. Additionally, the House Ethics Committee was called into an immediate special session and the Senate Ethics Committee plans a quick inquiry.
It is a national disgrace anytime a congressman places himself "up for sale." We have suffered enough demoralization in the past; we don't need more. Furthermore, congressional corruption is the ultimate white-collar crime and should be dealt with as such.

It's difficult to understand why a member of Congress would get involved in unethical or illicit activity. They are paid $57,000 a year plus numerous fringe benefits and perquisites.
Such activity can only be attributed to greed.
Vigorous prosecution and swift justice can serve as a deterrent to this type of criminal activity by our elected officials.
That should be the course in the Abscam investigation. The probe should be vigorous and thorough. If any members of Congress are found guilty of crimes because of their actions in the Georgetown townhouse they should be punished to the full extent of the law.
Perhaps in this manner we can restore some self-respect to members of Congress and some confidence to the American electorate.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Was Rep. Crane victim of a smear?

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Scandals are always good for evanescent headlines, but if they are really to stick in the public craw, two considerations can be helpful. The indiscretions, if at all possible, should involve sex, and the target chosen for disgrace should possess a certain oomph capable of kindling prurient public interest.
Both conditions were met in a bannered story which appeared on March 8, 1979, in New Hampshire's largest newspaper, the Manchester Union Leader. The headline was titillating: "The Two Faces of Phil Crane: Clean-cut Conservative? Or Party Playboy?"
The story portrayed Crane, the darling of the young conservatives, as a womanizer whose second ambition was to become president of the United States. His first ambition, the story suggested, was to bed down with 1,000 different women.
A grim Crane, his teeth clenched, responded: "I was aware of dirty tricks in politics. But such dirty tricks, misrepresentations, vile innuendos and distortions of truth designed to inflict injury on my wife and children was an experience no one can be prepared for."
Rep. Phil Crane, R-Ill., is a ruggedly handsome man, square-jawed, open-faced, with thick dark hair. He is trim and muscular, conveying an impression of physical strength.
His wife Arlene, recalling their first meeting, bubbled: "He was gorgeous, absolutely gorgeous." She is a tall, beautiful brunette, electric with energy, with a strong will and a quick tongue. She is unabashedly ambitious and occasionally abrasive.

I have little taste for the political dogmas of Phil Crane, little patience for the pomposities of politicians and, as a consequence of a strict Mormon upbringing, little sympathy for the antics of boozey Washington wives. I was more than a little startled, therefore, to receive a personal appeal from Arlene Crane to investigate the alleged sex scandal.
I cannot, as she has urged, either confirm the newspaper's charges or clear the Cranes. There is a limit to what an investigative reporter can dredge up. The available sources seldom have all the details, leaving too few facts to form a complete picture.
But from the sources I could reach in Washington and Illinois, I got quite a different picture of the Cranes than the one etched by the Union Leader.
I found only a trace of truth in the titillating charges. It's true, for instance, that Crane is a huggler, who is quick to embrace the women he knows. But aside from one disgruntled divorcee, I found no one who regarded it as a sex act but rather as an effusive gesture common among politicians.
I could find no basis to the newspaper's charge that Crane is a heavy imbibor who frequents the cocktail circuit and often gets drunk. Associates agree that he drinks freely and openly. But the beverage is beer. He has no reputation as a drunk.
I picked up rumors about Arlene Crane's supposed sexual proclivities. But the whispers appeared to originate with women who had been offended by her abrasiveness and non-conformity. She is headstrong and independent, with a social life of her own.

She certainly is not the whiskey-soaked, party-roving woman that the Union Leader alleged. But she is high-strung, and her emotional highs might have been mistakenly attributed to liquor. Associates say she does not drink excessively.
The charge that the Cranes are "deeply involved in the Washington cocktail circuit," commented Washington society columnist Betty Beale, is "laughable." The Cranes, she reported, "are only rarely glimpsed" at Washington soirees. They are more likely to be found after dark in their suburban Virginia home, bringing up their eight suburban children.
My conclusion is that the Cranes are the victims of a political smear.
FLYING HIGH: As commander of the U.S. Air Force in Europe and NATO air forces for Central Europe, Gen. John W. Pauly can commandeer any kind of aircraft he wants for his frequent travels. Disdaining commercial airlines, which might be a lot cheaper, the general flies such gas eaters as a C-140, which costs the taxpayers $1,730 an hour to operate, or a C-135, which is the size of a 707 and costs $2,137 an hour to fly.
While the general doesn't obviously use the government's expensive jets for pleasure flights, on at least one occasion last year the justification for a long trip seemed a bit shaky. Pauly flew all the way from Ramstein, Germany, to Los Angeles to deliver a speech at Vandenberg Air Force Base and another at a town meeting. He also attended his daughter's graduation, which by a strange coincidence, took place at the same time and place.
IN YOUR EAR: The Red Chinese gave Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., quite a needling on his recent visit, but the congressman took it in stride. What happened was Wolff sprained his ankle, and the Chinese medics prescribed acupuncture treatment.
And where did they stick the needle? In his ear, of course. Furthermore, it worked.
SOVIET CLAUQUE: Although most of the so-called Third World has denounced the Soviet Union's rape of Afghanistan, the Russians have received slavish support in their bloody enterprise from the Palestine Liberation Organization.
Swallowing the preposterous Soviet propaganda line whole, PLO officials have defended the Russian aggression as a reaction against "pro-American elements" that were trying to seize control of Afghanistan. The PLO has even gone so far as to proclaim the Soviet invasion of its tiny neighbor "an important asset" to the world community.

Scouts deserve thanks

The Boy Scouts of America was established 70 years ago this month and since that time the organization has contributed vastly to the development of young men.
Former Boy Scouts have gone on to become astronauts, presidents, scientists and some of the finest citizens of this great nation.
Through the Scouting movements, youngsters are taught the qualities of morality, loyalty and patriotism that are so beneficial to them throughout their lives.

Many successful individuals have attributed their success to the training they received early in life through the Scouting program.
In this era when traditional moral standards are too often scorned, the image of Scouting continues to be one of respect for the Almighty, country and family.
Scouting continues to produce individual skills and to hone leadership abilities.
Scouts and the leaders who contribute so much of themselves to the character-building program deserve our thanks and respect.

INSIDE REPORT:

Warlike photographs of Brzezinski conveyed mood

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Evans Novak

WASHINGTON — There was nothing unintentional about those warlike pictures of Zbigniew Brzezinski along the Afghan-Pakistan border last week, despite all the "warmonger" criticism that has been heaped on President Carter's national security adviser.
Brzezinski's purpose: to show that the new mood of the U.S. and Jimmy Carter is confident in what Brzezinski thinks may be an escalating confrontation with the Soviet Union. That means conveying an image of self-assurance to such critical countries as Pakistan.
The pictures, showing Brzezinski squinting down the barrel of a Pakistani border guard's submachine gun, were supplemented with a tough running commentary. At one point, he gestured toward Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, and suggested that a strengthened Pakistan might run the Russian invaders out of their neighboring country.
Brzezinski is excoriated by liberals for talking and acting "provocatively," but intimates say he could care less; talking boldly to convince the world of a changed U.S. is well worth the criticism.

nosed inner circle who engineered Carter's miraculous 1976 nomination: White House aides Hamilton Jordan and Jody Powell, media expert Gerald Rafshoon and political operative Tim Kraft, who shares campaign duties with Strauss but actually runs it day to day.
Rafshoon has heatedly insisted that the radio commercials are not "negative," but in fact they question Kennedy's integrity. That worries Strauss, who is looking past Carter's highly probable renomination to a tough general election campaign when the Kennedys will be badly needed.

REBELLIOUS REAGANITES

Ronald Reagan's rightward movement in recent campaigning, stressing his differences with George Bush on gun control, welfare and abortion, can be traced to a near rebellion by his faithful supporters following defeat in the Iowa caucuses.
One influential conservative whose protests particularly shook the Reagan campaign was Cleveland industrialist Fred Lennon, a major Reagan fund-raiser. Lennon mirrored the protests of other conservatives by contending that Reagan was muting the principles that had built his faithful following. Lennon was so intense — in a private letter to Reagan and a personal chat with Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada, Reagan's national campaign chairman — that some Reagan aides thought he was about to drop out.

Lennon and his fellow conservatives have directed heavy fire against Reagan campaign manager John Sears, but Sears will not be purged. "Reagan likes to have Sears around," one anti-Sears Reaganite insider told us, "and this is Reagan's campaign." Nevertheless, Reagan's rightward move represents a repudiation of Sears' carefully wrought strategy.

HUMAN RIGHTS FOLLY

Fury among President Carter's Pentagon and national security staffers greeted a front-page New York Times story last week that sharply rebuked for human rights failures two countries Carter is ardently wooing: Pakistan and Argentina.
The newspaper's account was based on the annual human rights report to Capitol Hill, naming many alleged offenders in addition to Pakistan and Argentina. Its timing raised questions about the commitment of some high State Department officials to Carter's tough talk against Moscow since the Afghanistan invasion.

What infuriated Pentagon and national security aides was the failure of Patricia Derian, assistant secretary for human rights, to alert them that the routine report was being sent to Congress. The timing coincided with two major Carter efforts: persuading Pakistan to cooperate with the U.S. against the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and persuading Argentina not to sell feed grains to the Russians denied them by Carter's grain embargo.

PROFESSOR JODY POWELL

When the White House unexpectedly asked political consultant Greg Schneiders to hurry to Maine three days before the Feb. 10 Maine Democratic Party caucuses, he demurred: His regular weekly lecture at a Georgetown University political science class was the next evening.
"That's all right," White House press secretary Jody Powell told him, "I'll teach that class myself."
Trapped by Powell's offer, Schneiders accepted his assignment to Maine and flew to Bangor on the first available plane. The dispatch of Schneiders, a former Carter aide, for last-minute help in the Maine contest between Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy looked to some like a distress call. In fact, Carter's top political aides were plotting something else: using Schneiders and others to promote a big voter turnout at the traditionally skimpy caucuses in hopes of beating Kennedy badly enough to wound him mortally in the Feb. 26 New Hampshire presidential primary.

BROADSIDES

If Tom Blewett had his way, he'd have a truck steering wheel in his hand rather than a pool rack. But fate took him out from behind "the wheel" and into the pool hall — The Pastime Club — at Stanton (Staff Photo by Ed Todd)

'Jack of all trades' now runs Stanton pool hall

STANTON — Tom Blewett isn't doing what he likes best.

"Trucking. I guess it's my first love."

Instead, he's running a pool hall — The Pastime Club. It's a living, just barely.

He used to be a pawnbroker, but that wasn't his calling.

"You have a tendency to be a little bit hard" in the pawn business. "He (his father) used to get after me for being too hard."

"You see so much and you hear so much that you don't have the sympathy that you should have. You see so many people who are broke and up against the wall."

Blewett tried cafe work, but that wasn't his choice of a life's work, either.

"I'M A JACK of all trades and a master of none." His druthers, of course, is trucking, which he did for years until an industrial accident put him off the road a few years ago and the trucking company he operated "broke me."

So Blewett, who lives in Big Spring and who has "knocked around the country" as a trucker, got ahold of the pool hall last year and is doing all right for himself.

"I get along with something (the pool hall) like this," he said. "I like people."

His trade is both in teen-agers and older people, mostly boys and men, who have the option of playing pool, foosball, snooker, pinball, dominoes and 42 and, of course, the jukebox. Occasionally, a "high roller" will strut in and try to upset the day's game. Or sometimes women — singly or in pairs — will stagger in, and when that happens, Blewett is always wary. But he keeps tabs on the man-woman temperament to head off any flare-ups. And Blewett's place, like the whole of Stanton and Martin County, serves nothing stronger than cold, soft drinks.

BUT UNLIKE HIS ROLE in the pawn business, Blewett conscientiously remembers first names of his customers to better business relations.

"In the pawn business, I trained myself to forget names. In this business, I've trained myself to remember names. A person's name is the sweetest thing he'll ever hear." Quite naturally, Blewett is in this business for the same reason he was a pawnbroker — to make money, such as it is.

"I'm mercenary," Blewett admitted. "I'm after the dollar."

The Pastime Club, which is flanked by an old lumberyard and a shoe shop, is housed near the courthouse and in a single-story, stuccoed building, which years ago was a laundry. The dominant features inside the pool hall are the football-flavored wallpaper, movie posters and 1940-ish big-time pool tables that look as if they would almost last forever.

"No, they won't," said Blewett. "Just like everything else, they take a lot of abuse."

And that — abuse — certainly is one thing Blewett has no use for. He talks to his customers on a first-name basis — friend to friend; it's good for business. Likewise, discretion is good for business.

"YOU HEAR A LOT of things in here. You see a lot of things in here, but you have to forget them."

The last thing a businessman wants to do is embarrass his customers, Blewett has learned in his 50-odd years of living.

Blewett recalled what his late father, a cattle trader who "went broke in that other Depression," said about the treating of people on the other side of the pawnbroker's counter: "Pop always said to leave a way out. Always leave a man a way out."

Though admittedly he's after the dollar, Blewett treats his customers square in his dealings, which is mostly exchanging small change — quarters, nickels and dimes — for dollars and "shooting the bull" with his customer-friends.

"I'm honest with them," he said. "I guess I'm more dishonest with myself than I am with anybody."

Blewett knows as well as any odds-making gambler that "you can't beat the house" in the long run.

And he knows that pool, "a game of science," is catching on across the state and nation. More and more pool shooters are putting pool tables in their houses. And that's not too good for his line of work.

"You know," he observed, "they (pool halls) are going out of business all over the state."

But, like Blewett said, whether he's running a pool hall, pawn shop, cafe or, if he could, driving a truck, "I'll survive."

Indeed, he dearly wishes he were hauling down the highway like he did for years and years.

"You see them trucks on the highway and say, 'It don't bother me,' but it does."

Nevertheless, he'll make it. He'll survive.

Texas gas at record price levels

Gasoline prices in Texas have zoomed to record heights during the past month, according to a survey by the American Automobile Association. And those soaring prices are also found in the Midland-Odessa area.

The survey shows motorists will be hard pressed to find a gallon of any grade of gasoline selling for less than $1 anywhere.

For the Midland-Odessa area, self-service stations surveyed showed regular selling for an average of 106 cents per gallon, unleaded for 110.1 per gallon and premium for 111.6 cents a gallon.

At full-service pumps, the price went up to 111.7 cents a gallon for regular, 115.3 for unleaded and 116 cents a gallon for premium.

AAA contacted 15 stations in this area. Of that number, 53 percent close at 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, 33 percent close at 6 p.m. on Saturday and 40 percent are closed on Sunday.

The survey discloses that the price of full-service gasoline jumped an average of 8.5 cents per gallon since AAA's survey a month ago. The price of self-service fuel has increased an average of 7.5 cents.

A spokesman with AAA said these increases far exceed the rate of price increases recorded during last summer's fuel shortage.

Availability of gasoline on weekday nights has remained about the same. But availability declined somewhat on Saturday night. The number of stations remaining open on Sunday increased by 4 percent during last month.

Motions continue in Permian suit

Pretrial motions and hearings are continuing in the class-action suit filed in 238th District Court May 14 against the Permian Corp. for allegedly paying producers for less oil than the corporation received.

The suit was brought by W.R. Davis for himself and on behalf of the class comprised of all sellers of crude oil to the Permian Corp.

In his original petition, Davis contended Permian Corp. had been paying producers for oil based on erroneous calculations of the amount of oil being received.

The calculations are based on "tank tables" which were derived from physical measurements or "tank strappings" of various leased oil storage tanks.

The suit contends the original strappings were incorrect, which led to the tank tables showing less oil in the tanks than actually was delivered.

"By using such erroneous tank tables, Permian has taken from Davis and other sellers substantial volumes of crude oil in excess of the volumes for which Permian has made payments, and Permian continues to do so," the suit claims.

Further, the suit contends Permian has falsified business records and public filings and taken other steps "for the purpose of fraudulently concealing the fact that it has been consistently and knowingly taking from Davis and other sellers more crude oil than it has paid for."

Davis hired an independent engineering consulting firm to take new tank strappings on 51 of the lease tanks in question in 1978, according to the petition, and found 44 of them, or 86 percent, contained more crude oil than reflected in the tank tables being used by Permian.

"In short, in 86 percent of the tested cases, Permian was receiving more crude oil than it was paying for," the suit contends.

The original petition requests the court order Permian to account to Davis and all other members of the class for all oil taken from each of them without payment because of the erroneous tables and return of the "purchase price due and unpaid for such oil as shown by the court-ordered accounting."

In its answer to the suit, Permian Corp. denied each allegation, noting the company "has properly paid plaintiff and other sellers for all oil purchased according to custom and usage in the industry."

Moreover, the answer points out Davis is the former owner of Permian Corp. and contends "many of the tank strappings of which he complains were made under his ownership and guidance."

"To the extent that such tank strappings made by W.R. Davis are inaccurate, defendant had no knowledge thereof. In fact, to the extent that such tank strappings are inaccurate, that fact was fraudulently concealed from defendant by W.R. Davis," the answer contends.

No hearing date for the suit has been set.

Dade County policemen named in brutality suit

MIAMI (AP) — A Dade County policeman who was fired after being charged with murder in the beating death of an insurance executive has been named in a $1 million police brutality suit stemming from another incident.

In a suit filed Monday, Rufus Levarity, 36, charged that Officer Alex Marrero and a second policeman handcuffed him to a chair and beat him on Jan. 24, 1979.

Marrero faces trial March 10 on second-degree murder charges. Prosecutors say he beat Arthur McDuffie to death in December after the 33-year-motorcyclist ran a red light and led police on a chase. Several other officers face lesser charges in the case.

Parents learn about Midland's drug scene at PDAP

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series on Midland Palmer Drug Abuse Program. It deals with experiences and thoughts of a set of parents who decided to face the fact two of their four children were a part of the local drug scene. They tell how they learned to cope with this through the help of PDAP and its parents group. Because PDAP is a strictly anonymous organization, the parents will be referred to as Mr. and Mrs. X.

Like the 58 kernels of unpopped popcorn left in a silver mixing bowl on the serving table at a Valentine's party Saturday night — where only eight kernels could be found popped outside the bowl — there are many parents who haven't "popped" to the fact their children might be on mind-changing chemicals.

Could it be that the eight kernels represent how many parents know their kids are off drugs?

In the corner of the room at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, a lonely, green ash tray had been placed on the floor with three cigarette butts in it. Close by were a brown coat and a tan coat. Whose were they? Could it be the missing coat belonged to someone who had smoked a cigarette, then put on their coat and left?

There had been coats for both parents and children at this party. Maybe it was an adult or a child that knocked an eraser off the chalk board to leave chalk dust on the floor. Yet both youths and parents could see that love had been present in the room with red crepe paper and valentines strewn about.

MR. AND MRS. X attended this party. They were there because two of their children had been doing drugs and the party was one of the many activities held by the Midland Palmer Drug Abuse Program to provide a teen life that is drug free.

"Drugs here have gone beyond being an epidemic. It's a pandemic, I guess. You're weird" to the dopers "if you don't use drugs. The dopers in the schools today are not what we think of as dopers. They're clean cut, well-groomed children of the community members and church leaders. That's a frightening thought, but that's reality," said Mrs. X.

These parents came to PDAP to get help for their children, but also learned there is an important part to the help they needed. That is the word "love." To them it is a thing that helped bring their children out of the dope scene.

"I came to get help for our son, and I've learned and I've grown. I didn't think I needed it, but they teach us what should be taught in our churches. That's unconditional love," said Mrs. X.

"If the kids smoke — cigarettes, that is — they (PDAP) let them smoke," said Mrs. X. She went on to explain that if their language "is bad, at first they don't try to correct it; rather, they let loving words take the bad words from their mouth."

IT IS THIS LOVE that has brought this family as far along the road to success as it has, they said. The parents admit you grow to love these people (at PDAP).

The fact the program is a learning process for the parents can be seen in the words of Mr. X. "I always thought the only pushers were the dirty little men on the street corner. We find out now that the way the majority of the kids support their habit is by dealing. Both parents agreed that many of the kids deal in drugs with each other.

What about communications between parents and children?

Mr. X admitted that before drugs came on the scene, communications were good, but after their arrival, "It was always 'You don't understand me, get off my back.' You just really couldn't talk with them."

But these communications between parents and children may have been broken down somewhat, Mr. X admitted, because the parents really didn't know enough about the drug scene.

"You can tell your child don't get in with the child that does drugs, but that hardly leaves any kids to get in with," he also admitted.

Of the four children in this family, the drug problem has struck two of them. When PDAP first came to Midland 5½ months ago, the family never suspected they would need the program. But one month after the program opened, they found out they did.

"PDAP IS THE ONLY DRUG-FREE environment in town, and I am including church groups," Mrs. X said. "We used to ground our children and tell them they couldn't go anywhere but to church activities." They later found out they were getting their drugs at the church from other kids, she added.

What does this mean to Mr. and Mrs. X, the average parents of Midland?

Both agreed they believe the statement that 80 percent of the junior high and high school kids are using some type of drugs regularly.

For the parents, there may be the problem of understanding why their children got on drugs in the first place. Both Mr. and Mrs. X agree PDAP can help. "PDAP really helps parents understand the problems of drugs, what the symptoms are and to understand what is really going on," Mrs. X said.

For instance, Mrs. X didn't "know that marijuana is something that builds up in your body and takes a long time to get out of your system. You can't just quit and say 'you're all right,' said Mrs. X. She added it takes a while for the body to get back to normal.

How many people really know facts such as these?

PDAP is trying to get this information out to the public and offers group counseling and discussion for the parents. It provides answers to parents concerning their role in dealing with their child's drug problem and in helping the parents to learn to communicate more effectively with their children.

THE PARENTS FOLLOW THE 12-step program patterned after Alcoholics Anonymous just like the kids do.

Mr. and Mrs. X admitted their daughter had been on drugs for three years, the sixth through ninth grades, before they found out the "frightening" news.

"After she had been in the program, which stresses honesty and coming clean on where you really are," she told her parents she had been on drugs.

But the lure of the streets was still too much for the son, who left the program after his sister came in. The parents readily admit they kept their sanity through the parents group when the son rejoined his old friends — only to return after six weeks of being "back on the streets."

The son and daughter both are drug-free through PDAP's help.

"You have to love them enough to let them get out there and hit their bottom. It's called 'tough love,'" Mr. and Mrs. X pointed out.

As Carol Burnett said while her daughter was going through the PDAP in Houston, "You have to love them enough to let them hate you."

That love spills over into the parent group, only in a different way. "If one parent has to go to court with their child, another member of the parent group will go to court with them to give support," said Mrs. X.

Parents can learn more about the program and the parents group and help they can receive through meetings at 7:30 p.m. each Thursday at the First Baptist Church and 11 a.m. Saturdays at the First United Methodist Church.

PDAP'S 12 steps

- One — Admit that mind-changing chemicals have caused at least a part of your life to become unmanageable.
- Two — Stick with winners, positive people so that you may grow.
- Three — Realize that a Higher Power, expressed through our love for each other, can restore you to sanity.
- Four — Make a decision to turn your will and your life over to the care of God, as you understand Him.
- Five — Make a searching, fearless and honest appraisal of yourself and past behavior.
- Six — Admit to God, yourself and to another human being the exact nature of your wrongs.
- Seven — Become willing to allow our Higher Power to help you change your way of life and humbly ask for His help.
- Eight — Make a list of persons you have harmed and be willing to make amends to them all.
- Nine — Take responsibility and make direct amends to such people, whenever possible, except when to do so would injure them, others or yourself.
- Ten — Continue to look at yourself and when wrong, promptly admit it.
- Eleven — Seek through prayer and meditation to improve your conscious contact with our Higher Power, that we have chosen to call God, praying only for knowledge of his will for you and the courage to carry that out.
- Twelve — Having had a spiritual awakening as a result of these steps, carry your love and understanding to others and practice these principles in your daily life.

AT WIT'S END Home management efficiency

By ERMA BOMBECK

I can't remember when housework became "home management efficiency," but I could swear there's no difference.

All my life, I've been searching for a way to achieve Phyllis Diller's lifelong dream: a stove that flushes.

In my catch-all drawer, I've got a collection of household hints, beauty and time savers so weird they're guaranteed to get you committed to the ha-ha home of your choice.

In fact, I have just gone through all of them and would like to initiate my annual Bombeck Clean-off. Mrs. America Beauty and Efficiency Pageant and Self-Righteous Spit-Up Bowl. Here are the favored entries wearing their "original" quotes.

ILLINOIS: "For formal affairs, weddings or just ordinary dress-up occasions, here's a hint. If you're wearing a long dress on a rainy or sloshy day, cut two holes in an extra large garbage bag and step inside. Pull it up to your waist and you'll have no problem with splash marks."

NEW JERSEY: "Home repair jobs are made easy. Did you know that you can substitute pancake mix for plaster to fill nail holes in a wall before it's painted and revive old Christmas decorations by coating them with clear nail polish?"

GEORGIA: "Smart hostesses are going 'all out' these days by wearing OHIO: "You've certainly heard of the wondrous things a compost does for your soil, but suppose you live in an apartment and have no place for one. Ah, but you do. You can make an outfit to match the walls of their homes. You'll be a real show stopper and receive prolonged "bravos" for your originality and creativity." (Don't forget to smile so people can find you.)

OREGON: "Children with busy social lives prefer a little privacy when on the telephone. A family in Portland installed a phone in a walk-in closet. Now talkers aren't heard by the rest of the family and the unsightly telephone message board is easy to hide."

Nominations close April 1. The winner will be given a scholarship to a baking soda factory and will be crowned in Atlantic City, Bert Parks willing.

ARIZONA: "Once a week, we plan an international meal for the whole family. We plan the entire menu to reflect foreign countries. We then make a map of the area, research its interesting facts and appear at dinner in the costume of the country. It's fun, educational and rewarding."

ARKANSAS: "The upcoming Alice Girard calligraphy class to be held at The Museum of the Southwest, Feb. 18-22, was also discussed at the meeting."

ANYONE interested in joining this group should call Kae Homan at 683-8515.

DEAR ABBY

Poem draws crowd

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: Recently I published a poem sent to me by the participants of the Long Beach, Calif., Senior Day Center. Its message, I thought, was worthy of sharing with my readers. The essence, and closing lines, are: "Just give me one flower today, pink or white or red. I'd rather have one blossom now, than a truckload when I'm dead."

The author was unknown, and I asked if any of my readers knew who had written it.

Are you ready for a random sample of my mail today?

DEAR ABBY: I read the poem in the Macon Telegraph News, and recognized it immediately as the poem written by a prominent Macon, Ga., dentist. He was R. Holmes Mason, now deceased 34 years. Dr. Mason was dedicated to his family, church and profession. — E. H.: MACON, GA.

DEAR ABBY: The author of the poem you published in the Los Angeles Times was written by my brother, Herman B. Stokes, now deceased. The name of the poem is "A Rose." It was set to music by Hallmark about 10 years ago. I was deeply touched when I read it. — THELMA STOKES: L.A., CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I read in the Tulsa Tribune the poem whose real title is "A Flower for the Living." It was written many years ago by my mother, Lela Snider, who lives in Okmulgee, Okla. She sent it to her sister, Mrs. Myrtle Acock, who lives in Ramon, Calif. Myrtle had copies made and sent it to her friends. Since then we have seen it published several times, always with "Author Unknown." My mother is 76, has had many strokes and is confined to a wheelchair. She never misses your column. Her eyes are bad, so she has someone read it to her. — AUTHOR'S PROUD DAUGHTER: TULSA

DEAR ABBY: My husband noticed the poem in your column in the State

Paper of Columbia, S. C. The version you printed is slightly different than the original, titled: "Kindness Through Life." It was written by Austin K. Snyder. According to my husband, Snyder was a professor at the U.S. Naval Academy, and this poem appeared in "Shipmate," a publication of the U.S. Naval Academy Alumni Association in Sept., 1977. — VIRGINIA MCMILLAN: MYRTLE BEACH, S. C.

DEAR ABBY: In the mid-40's I cut out the poem you ran in the Pocatello Idaho Tribune. The title is "The Stained Glass Window." And it was written by Anna Mae Armstead, a local lady. — W. A. OGLE: POCA TELLO, IDAHO

DEAR ABBY: The poem you printed has been around for as long as I can remember and I am in my 60s. It was written by none other than the beloved, homespun, philosopher-poet, Edgar Guest. I am sure I saw it in a published collection of Edgar Guest's poems. I don't have the book anymore because I foolishly let someone borrow it, and I can't for the life of me remember who. — C. G. K.: CHICAGO

DEAR ABBY: I am enclosing a postcard which I have had since 1930. On it is the poem you ran with "author unknown." The postcard was "designed" by four nobles of Medinah Temple (Shriners) who were called the Four Horsemen, namely, Billy Jackson, Charley Kuhn, Charley Wackerhagen and Fred Raven. — MRS. HENRY A. SOLOMON, SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS

DEAR READERS: Are you confused? Well, so am I, and as if this weren't enough, my syndicate in New York advised me that they received a telephone call from a 91-year-old reader of the Dallas Times-Herald claiming that HE was the author of that poem and he wanted to know where in blazes Abby found it!

Address comments and questions to Abby in care of this newspaper.

Animals painted at meeting

When the Midland Porcelain Art Club met recently at the Midland Woman's Club, Mrs. Melvin (Evalena) Simmons was the artist demonstrator for the day. She demonstrated the painting of animals, using deer as her subject during the morning session. In the afternoon, she presented and demonstrated wipe-out techniques for painting pinecones and acorns.

Mrs. Simmons is a well-known china painting artist in the Midland-Odessa area, where she has taught and demonstrated for the past several years. She is a demonstrator each year at the Texas State Porcelain Art Convention and is an active demonstrator with the International Porcelain Art Teachers Association.

"I am pleased that porcelain art is again being recognized as a fine art, as it was before the early 1900s," said Mrs. Simmons, who gives freely of her time and efforts to stimulate interest, appreciation and skill in the decoration of fine china.

Thirty members of the Midland Porcelain Art Club were present for the meeting, which also included the election of officers for 1980-81.

Newly-elected officers include: Mrs. H.K. (Ruballe) Thomas, president; Mrs. W.F. (Myrtle) Shepherd, first vice president; Mrs. E.A. (Ferrol) Voliva, second vice president; Mrs. Robert (Shirley) Edwards, recording secretary; Ms. Faye Kelley, corresponding secretary; Ms. Stella Maye Lanham, treasurer; Mrs. James (Ann) Johnson, historian, and Mrs. James E. (Nita) Riddles, auditor.

It was announced the Texas State Porcelain Art Convention will be held April 10-13 in Arlington. Delegates attending will be Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Vada Woodell, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Jim C. Johnson, Mrs. Voliva, Mrs. Roy C. Jones and Mrs. Johnson.

The luncheon meeting had a valentine theme. Attending as a guest was Mrs. Billie Jean Stewart of Odessa, while Mrs. J.R. Long was winner of the special prize, a piece of china painted by Mrs. Simmons.

The next meeting of the club will be March 1 in the Woman's Club. At this time, Mrs. Cecil Jones of Lovington, N.M., will be guest artist. She will demonstrate the painting of chickens.

The club will have its annual exhibit and tea at the Woman's Club March 30, it was announced. Each member will exhibit china painted during the past year, with some items for sale to the public, which is invited to attend.

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Aquarians are often more interested in helping others than in helping themselves. This is certainly true of former First Lady Bess Truman, who celebrates her 95th birthday today, and it is likely to be true of you, too. Luck plays large role in the year ahead!

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Transactions with public institutions are favored. Inner strength, determination moves you forward, and career is affected in positive way.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be assertive in reaching out to achieve those goals which are most important to you. Your ideas are sought, and if you have none, you set a limit on your chances to advance professionally.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Concentrate on major task at hand, and stop worrying about trivial ones this morning. Go along with mood of partner, co-worker and you will accomplish more.
CANCER (June 21-July 22): Although energy level may be low in the morning, vitality will return by afternoon. Be careful about revealing personal matters to gossip associates. A business association may have to be dissolved.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Garner support of certain individuals in the interest of furthering your career, even though you may not be keen on doing it. Sacrifice will begin to pay off if you can avoid emotional entanglements.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do not begrudge others their time in the spotlight; your day will come. Early part of day is most advantageous where money is concerned. Stick to your schedule so you do not miss any appointments. Telephone call reveals good news.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Show associate that you are happy for his or her good fortune. Your intuition will prove to be reliable so act on it without hesitation. Profit is possible in ways you least expected.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Try to restrain your impatience with co-worker who thinks and reacts at a slower pace than you do. Telephone call may be temporarily disturbing but later information will prove encouraging.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Co-workers may be a little reserved in their manner. Chances are it has nothing to do with you. Check legal aspects of a special project to save later embarrassment.

H. Eugene Knight, pilot of the Capricorn, testified Monday the "unknown vessel" was already west of the Sunshine Skyway Bridge over Tampa Bay and coming toward the 586-foot tanker when he radioed.

"No response," he told a Marine Board of Inquiry investigating the Jan. 28 collision that was the Coast Guard's worst peacetime disaster. No one aboard the Capricorn was hurt.

Knight, 39, said he "never took my eyes off" the cutter which was "seven or eight ship-lengths" away when he first spotted it.

About the time of Knight's second radio call from a walkie-talkie, the Blackthorn failed to start a slight right turn from one leg of the channel to the next, he testified.

"I decided he was going to make the course change," the pilot said. "I decided...that it had to be a critical crossing."

Knight said he ordered a slight left turn and then "hard left rudder" to avoid the cutter as it continued to move in the Capricorn's path.

He said he pulled two whistles to indicate the left turn and seconds later pulled the four-whistle "danger signal."

He said he also stopped the engine.

As the two boats collided, Knight said, he could see a red light appear on the left side of the Blackthorn, indicating it had made its right turn too late. Within minutes, the cutter sank.

The Blackthorn, in service as a buoy tender, had just set out for its home port in Galveston, Texas.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Coast Guard cutter Blackthorn failed to answer two radio calls from the tanker Capricorn before the two vessels collided, killing 23 seamen, investigators have been told.

The lawyers argued it was unfair for the Coast Guard to investigate an accident involving its own vessel and objected that the Blackthorn's captain and officer of the day have been given special rights at the hearing because of the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Oman to give U.S. access

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oman, a strategically important nation at the gateway to the Persian Gulf, has agreed to give American air and naval forces increased access to military facilities, U.S. officials say.

The decision, which follows a U.S. mission to Oman last week, is part of the Carter administration's drive to bolster the American military presence in the Persian Gulf-Indian Ocean region.

U.S. officials, who asked not to be identified, said the United States also won an agreement to store fuels and military equipment in Oman for use by American forces in an emergency.

Oman's cooperation was seen as important because the pro-western nation is located at the narrow entrance to the Persian Gulf, through which passes more than 60 percent of the Western world's imported oil supply.

The U.S. officials said Monday night they were unaware of the outcome of similar negotiations with Kenya and Somalia.

However, The New York Times, in today's editions, said those two nations also have agreed to administration plans for giving U.S. forces increased access to their military bases.

The newspaper, quoting unidentified government officials, said leaders of those two countries also accepted a proposal that would let the United States store limited amounts of equipment and fuel in their countries.

In return for Oman's cooperation, U.S. officials said the United States agreed to increases in military aid, although the amounts have not been specified.

The officials said the plan includes U.S. construction of some facilities, including oil storage tanks.

"I think the city wants concerts, certainly Electric Factory does and the fans do," said Thomas Gould, an attorney for the Ronstadt concert's promoter, Electric Factory Concerts of Philadelphia, on Monday. "Now it's a question of slowly working our way back into the business, and that's what we're looking at with this next concert. We've had some problems with groups that wouldn't come in,

Games begin on schedule

By HAL BOCK

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Hounded by continuing political problems and haunted by logistical nightmares, the Games of the XIII Winter Olympiad began on schedule today in this picturesque map-dot village nestled in the Adirondack Mountains.

The official opening of the Games, complete with the ceremonial parade of nearly 1,300 athletes, is scheduled for Wednesday. But the hockey competition got a jump on the other sports with six games on today's schedule.

For American athletes the 1980 Games could yield a record winter medal haul. The United States won 10 medals in the 1976 Winter Games at Innsbruck and never has captured more than the dozen it won the last time Lake Placid hosted these Games in 1932.

But stars like champion speed skaters Eric and Beth Heiden, cross-country skier Bill Koch, figure skaters Linda Fratianne and Charlie Tickner and skiers Phil Mahre and Cindy Nelson could make this a memorable Olympiad for the United States.

Most of the hockey interest centered on the awesome Soviet Union team, considered almost certain to win the hockey gold. The Russians opened against Japan tonight. In other games, Norway met Czechoslovakia, Canada played Holland, the United States faced Sweden, West Germany opposed Romania and Poland took on Finland.

The young American team, composed largely of college players, got a close look at the Soviets in a 10-3 thrashing last Saturday in New York. Coach Herb Brooks thought he detected some extra verve in the play of the Russians, brought on, perhaps, by the current world political situation.

"The Russians have always been subtle physically before," said Brooks. "I've never seen them quite as physical as they were against us. When Khrushchev said that they'd bury us, I didn't think he meant the American hockey team of 1980. They vented a lot that seemed to be inside them in that game."

Midland Boxing Club comes of age in finals of GG

By RICHARD VINCENT Sports Writer

ODESSA — A little more than a year ago, they were a rag-tag bunch working out at Pringle's Pawn Shop. Uniforms were something to be looked at in sporting goods catalogs. And that old intangible, respect, was just another word stuck somewhere in a Webster's dictionary.

Monday night at the Ector County Coliseum in front of an estimated 6,000 witnesses, however, the Midland Boxing Club came of age.

The occasion was the 34th annual Regional Golden Gloves Boxing tournament and the one-year-old MBC came away a winner on several different counts. Emilio Menchaca, a scrappy 119-pounder, fought a fine fight to defeat Ismael Juarez in their regular high school division tussle while 147-pound Chris Parker defeated teammate Rick Sessions in their high school football division bout and 185-pound Clyde Smith captured his football division fracas.

During the four nights of action, MBC won 35 bouts and lost 17, a far cry from the 4-28 mark coach Rick Fleetwood said his then-young team accrued in last year's fight-fest.

Also, MBC was presented the Joe Valadez Memorial Trophy for overall sportsmanship.

Asked about the award, Fleetwood laughed, then said, "Well, you know, usually when you get the sportsmanship trophy, you haven't won anything else. But I am proud of 'em (his fighters). I don't think anybody matched us as far as number of fighters and number of wins."

Topping the MBC victory list during Monday night's card was Menchaca, who successfully defended his crown. "He was super," said Fleetwood. "He pressed in the first round, laid back in the second and pressed again in the third, just like we wanted him to."

Of Smith's triumph, Fleetwood said, "Clyde just outmuscled him (Ruben Mendoza), jabbed him."

And of Parker's victory, he said, "Rick gave him a good fight. I thought they might brother-in-law it."

All, however, was not peachy keen. Greg Russell, a virtually inexperienced 116-pounder, was defeated by Robert Dominguez, 62-pound Edward Bara was defeated by Anthony Cortez, 100-pound John Martin lost a TKO to Timmy Garcia, 136-pound Cedrick Green dropped a TKO to Hector Sanchez ("Cedrick got kneed but the referee didn't see it," said Fleetwood) and light heavy-weight Eddy Elliot, the only MBC hope in the open division, lost an extremely unpopular decision to Jimmy Brown.

The Elliot loss was a bitter pill for Fleetwood to swallow, and it kept the fighter, making only his third appearance since a five-year layoff, from a spot in the state meet. "Eddy was robbed," said Fleetwood firmly.

Did Fleetwood think, overall, that MBC got a raw deal? "I felt like we had three bad decisions," he said, mentioning bouts that resulted in setbacks for Steve Spencer and Sugar Ray Jackson.

But despite his mild displeasure with the officiating, Rick Fleetwood was a happy man Monday night. His team, still in its infancy, had reached another milestone. The fighters were proud of their snazzy blue and white uniforms. And soon, with a big assist from the Boys' Club, they'll have a place of their own to practice.

You've come a long way, Midland Boxing Club.

Malaysia against move

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia has told the United States that it could not possibly be associated with the move to hold the Moscow Olympics elsewhere, Deputy Foreign Minister Mokhtar Hashim said Tuesday.

This was conveyed to the U.S. Charge D'affaires, Loyal Breckon, who called on Mokhtar at the foreign ministry.

Lee girls win district

Reb-Belles top Permian for second straight title

ODESSA — Midland Lee's girls reign as District 5-4A basketball champions!

For the second straight year, Coach Shirley Stephenson's Rebels have won the 5-4A crown, this time outright, after beating cross-town rival Midland High in a playoff last year.

Gale Wilson ripped the cords for 26 points here Monday night to spark Lee to a 50-42 victory over Odessa Permian in the Permian Fieldhouse to nail down the coveted championship.

"We don't know who we will play in bi-district," said an elated Stephenson afterwards. "Lewisville is winning District 6-4A so I assume that it will be our opponent in bi-district play sometime next week."

Stephenson was pleased with Wil-

"Leshia Watkins only scored four points for us, but two of those were awfully important late in the game," added Stephenson.

Lee took a narrow 14-12 first period lead and it was 23-20 in favor of the Panthers at halftime. Then came the big third period when the Rebels outscored Permian, 16-6 for a 36-29 lead going into the final period.

Wilson was the only Rebel in double figures while Merna Smith led Permian's offense with 14 markers. Two players on each side fouled out of the game.

Although Lee wins the overall title without a playoff, Coach Stephenson feels like it was tougher this year. "The district had better balance and there were several good teams," Stephenson remarked.

Pack girls end season with victory

By BOB DILLON Sports Writer

Midland's girls wound up the basketball season with a bang!

The Bulldogs gunned down the Odessa Bronchos, 69-44, in the MHS Gymnasium Monday night to wind up the 1979-80 campaign in impressive fashion.

Margaret Christian, Jana Trolinder and Sandra Rock, all finished in the double figures to pace the easy District 5-4A victory. Christian poured in 22 points while Trolinder added 20 and Rock 11 more to the potent MHS attack.

Teresa Adams flipped in 18 for OHS before fouling out of the game with 6:29 left while teammates Laretta Johnson and Jodi Weatherwax added 11 each.

The first half was nip-and-tuck, but the Bulldogs broke open the game in the third period when they outscored the Bronchos, 18-6 and then came back with 17 more points to OHS' 11 in the final period for the easy victory.

Trolinder and Rock displayed some great outside shooting while Christian made most of her points from close in. For Rock, Christian, Trolinder and Martha Meroney, it was their final game in a Bulldog uniform since they are seniors. Lucy Miller and Rock fouled out of the game for MHS. Miller, although only scoring four points, played some outstanding defense and came up with a couple of key steals when the game was close.

The margin of victory could have been more if MHS had hit a higher percentage at the free throw line. The Bulldogs cashed in only 11 of 22 charity tosses while OHS hit 10 of 16 free throws.

Midland made it a clean sweep for the evening by storming past the OHS, 65-32 in the junior varsity contest. Connie Caton and Rosetta Christian were the big guns for MHS with 14 and 12 points while Karen Wallace scored 12 for the OHS JVs.

Coach Jane Young's varsity winds up the season with a 19-11 overall record and 3-4 in the second half of the race, the same record they had during the first half while OHS is now 13-13 on the year and 4-2 in the second half with a makeup game set with Abilene Cooper on Thursday night.

The MHS JVs, meanwhile, wind up 13-11 on the year.

MHS GIRLS (65) — Trolinder 8-4-2-20; Rock 5-1-5-11; Meroney 1-0-1-2; Miller 2-0-5-4; Christian 9-1-2-22; Armstrong 0-0-2-2; Littlefield 0-0-2-0; Hogan 2-0-2-4; Larremore 0-0-0-0; Smith 2-0-1-4. Totals: 29-11-21-69.

Badgers, 81-75

AMARILLO — Midland College beat Amarillo College for the third time this season here Monday night.

Taking advantage of their four-corner game with a 66-65 lead and 4:20 left in the game, the nationally-ranked Chaparrals scored their final 11 points from the free throw line to take an 81-75 victory over the Badgers in a Western Junior College Conference game.

MC has now beaten Amarillo twice in conference action and once in the Badgers' own tournament.

Midland took a 66-65 lead for good on a fast-break layup by Tim Shelby with 4:20 left after the game had been tied 10 times in the second half.

Robert Tate, 6-foot-4 sophomore from Chicago, Ill., gunned in 29 points for the Chaps to pave the way to their 23rd victory in 25 outings and their 12th WJCC win in 13 games.

Rebels assume role of Spoiler in 5-4A

By BOB DILLON Sports Writer

Midland Lee could really be the District 5-4A spoiler tonight.

Coach Paul Stueckler's Rebels entertain the league-leading Odessa Permian Panthers in the Chaparral Center and a victory over Mojo would not only keep Lee in contention for the second half crown, but Midland High too.

Permian brings a 3-0 record into tonight's game while both Lee and MHS stand 3-1. The Panthers had their game with Abilene Cooper iced out last Friday and that game won't be made up until Feb. 21, which is after the second half race winds up.

Permian and Midland tied for the first half crown with 6-1 marks so if the Panthers go ahead and win the second half, they will move into the Class AAAA state playoffs. That is why tonight's game is the biggest of the season for Permian, Lee and Midland.

While Permian and Lee are squaring off, Midland travels to Odessa to take on Odessa High in the Broncho Fieldhouse. Other games find Abilene at San Angelo and Big Spring at Abilene Cooper.

LEE FACES the task of shutting down the high-scoring Black Cats who have three players scoring in the double figures in Brad Kerley, Scott Wynne and Duane Adams. Kerley is the leading scorer with a 26.6 average with 241 points in nine games while Charles Bishop of San Angelo has scored 255 points in 11 games for an average of 23.3. Kerley missed the Permian-OHS game to wind up the first half when he was down with the flu and there is still the makeup game with Cooper.

Besides Kerley, Wynne is scoring at a 20.1 clip per game and is the No. 3 scorer in the league while Adams is averaging 13.8 per game.

The Panthers are averaging 83 points a game in 5-4A play while Stueckler's crew is scoring at a 61.4 clip and the Rebels lost to Permian in Odessa, 92-78 the first time around.

Tim Fisher, Danny Rabb and Tim Walker are also in the double figures in league play for the Rebels. Fisher is averaging 14.5 per game while Rabb and Walker own 11.2 and 10.9 averages, respectively.

MIDLAND IS led by Herbert Johnson who is scoring 19.5 points per game. Teammate Perry Bolger is next with a 13.3 average and Anthony Carroll is scoring 11.2 per 5-4A outing.

The Bronchos are led by Rayford Wright and Mike Cobb. Wright is averaging 12.4 per game and Cobb 10.1 for the Red Hoses.

Permian brings a 20-8 season record into the game while Lee is 16-12. Midland is 27-6 and OHS 7-18 and in league play 1-2 with last week's game with Abilene being postponed.

Radio Station KBAT will carry the play-by-play of the Lee-Permian game with the varsity tip-off set for 8 p.m. There will also be sophomore and junior varsity games at 4 p.m. and 6:15 p.m.

Robinson gives trade permission

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Robinson, the Pittsburgh Pirates' part-time slugger, says he's given permission to Pirate management to be traded to the Houston Astros, but that's as far as a possible trade has gone.

"I don't know where I stand, but if Houston still wants me I want to play for them," the 36-year-old Robinson said. "I want to play everyday and help bring them a pennant."

The veteran Robinson, with 10 years major league experience and five years with the same team, has veto power over any trade the Pirates try to make.

Robinson said his agent told the Pirates on Jan. 24 he'd approve a trade to Houston, but Pirates General Manager Harding Peterson said no such notification had been given.

"First of all, I have to decide whether I even want to trade Bill," Peterson said. "Two, he then has to give us his okay. Neither Bill nor his agent has given us that okay yet."

A deal by the Astros for Robinson likely would send unhappy Astros pitcher Joaquin Andujar to the world champions.

Midland, Lee golf teams face rebuilding season in '80

By RICHARD VINCENT
Sports Writer

Of the four golf teams at the Tall City's two high schools, really only one of them — the Midland Lee girls — is not in what you'd call a rebuilding situation.

In fact, with all but one player returning from last year's team which placed third in the region, the confidence of the Lee girls' team is such that, even though they've yet to tee up the ball for competition, talk runs a gamut ranging from a district championship to a berth for the state tournament.

"We're probably looking a little ahead, but we have high hopes of making it to state," said Paula Ferguson, Lee girls' coach. "We have pretty good confidence and all the girls want to do a good job."

The reason for the unabashed optimism is the holdover situation. Ferguson retains four solid players — senior Michelle Marburger (second in last year's district medalist chase), junior Penny Sutcliffe, senior Christi Orwig, and senior Roxi Barrett — leaving just one vacancy. Sophomore Ellie Mee, according to Ferguson, will play in place of Barrett Thursday and Friday when the Rebels open the season at the San Antonio Invitational. Senior Martha Whitton completes the unit.

Just how confident are the Rebels? Well, when asked who she thought would be district contenders, Ferguson said, "Us and Midland. And we plan on winning it."

Midland High girls' coach Mary Baird will try and do something about that prediction, however. And, although three seniors from last year's district championship team walked the graduation plank, the cupboard ain't exactly bare.

"We're expecting to do pretty well district-wise," said Baird. "It may be between Midland High and Midland Lee."

Senior Patty O'Neill, a two-time letterwinner, and experienced junior Ann Coombes, will form the nucleus of Baird's outfit. Three juniors — Teresa King, Nica Foreman and Kathy Wood — and a sophomore who'll join the team after the basketball season — Janice Littlefield — also are looked to for big things.

The Bulldogs also will be playing in San Antonio, one of three tournaments before they host the district lidlifter with Lee March 13.

Tim Peden, Lee boys' coach, openly admits his team is rather inexperienced. "We just have one senior, about eight or nine juniors and about eight or nine sophomores," he said. "It's kind of a rebuilding year."

Mark Leonard, the lone senior on the Lee roster, and lettermen juniors Mike Smith, Nickey Hernandez and Trail Lelly are Peden's main men.

The Rebel boys began the season

Jan. 25-26 with a sixth place finish at the San Angelo Invitational. "They shot about what I thought they would," said Peden. "But I think we're capable of shooting better."

Which is what they're going to have to do if the district race, which begins March 14, is as tight as Peden sees it. Where do the Rebels fit in? "I'm hoping it, to finish third or fourth."

Thursday and Friday, Lee and Midland High will be in the Odessa Invitational. And Bulldog coach Ed Nixon would like to see his crew turn in a steady effort.

"We're kind of up and down, not too consistent," said Nixon, whose Purple Pack notched eleventh place at San Angelo.

Nixon has seven monogram winners back from last year's district champions, but none of that group is what you'd call battle-tested.

Joe Sloan is regarded as the top returnee and he's joined by Randy Minnix, Jeff Howes, Stacy Rainey, Eric Fry, Steve Wheat and Brad Hughes. Robert Upham was another holdover, but left the team for reasons Nixon wouldn't reveal.

"There's a lot of potential there," said Nixon, "if we can just get it together and eliminate those double and triple bogeys. Those are what hurt us at San Angelo."

"If we can get our heads screwed on right, we'll be okay."

DePaul continues atop poll

By TOM CANAVAN
Associated Press Writer

Ray Meyer and DePaul may have received a scare last weekend, but this week's Associated Press college basketball poll was just another cakewalk.

Meyer's Blue Demons were the unanimous choice Monday for the top spot in The Associated Press college basketball poll for the fourth straight week. DePaul was tabbed No. 1 on all 58 ballots and received a perfect score of 1,160 in the voting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

But that was the easy part. DePaul faced a tougher challenge in upping its record to 20-0 last Saturday —

Dayton. It took a basket by Clyde Bradshaw with three seconds left before DePaul emerged with a 65-63 triumph.

DePaul wasn't the only team to find a niche to its liking — the next five teams in the poll also remained unchanged.

Second-ranked Syracuse collected 1,047 points in outdistancing Louisville for the runner-up slot. The Cardinals, who posted victories over Cincinnati and Providence last week, were third with 1,012 points.

Oregon State, which nipped Arizona State in overtime last week, was fourth with 959 points, followed by Kentucky, 898, and Louisiana State, 874.

St. John's moved up one spot this week and took over the No. 7 position from Maryland with 774 points. The Terps were next with 749 points while Ohio State and Clemson rounded out the Top 10.

The Buckeyes, ranked 13th last week, collected 628 points following triumphs over Michigan and Michigan State. Clemson, which jumped from No. 16 to the Top 10 after upsetting Maryland last week, got 462 points in edging North Carolina for the No. 10 spot.

North Carolina headed the Second 10 for the third consecutive week. Notre Dame, No. 9 last week but upset by North Carolina State, was 12th followed by Brigham Young, Missouri, Purdue, Duke, Weber State, Arizona State, Kansas State and Iowa.

Griffith's long shot saves Louisville

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It was a long shot. Well, not as long as Les Henson's — but just long enough for Louisville. "The play was just to get it to Darrell Griffith and let him do what he could with it," said Louisville Coach Denny Crum.

Spinning around at the baseline, Griffith went high in the air and hit a 20-footer with one second left in overtime to give the nation's third-ranked college basketball team a 56-54 victory over stubborn Virginia Tech Monday night.

In other action Monday night involving the nation's Top Twenty teams, eighth-ranked Maryland halted Boston University 99-76; 11th-ranked North Carolina defeated Georgia Tech 60-50; and No. 12

Notre Dame turned back San Francisco 78-66.

Griffith wound up with 14 points for Cardinals, one behind team leader Wiley Brown, who scored 15. Virginia Tech's Dale Solomon led all scorers with 27 points.

Albert King scored 32 points, including 16 of 17 free throws, to lead Maryland's victory over Boston University. King's first free throw of the game gave him 30 in a row, then he missed his next attempt before dropping in the next 15.

Michael O'Koren scored 17 points to lead North Carolina past Georgia Tech. The Tar Heels scored only two field goals in the last 10 minutes, but hit 20 free throws in that time.

Georgia Tech, competing in the Atlantic Coast Conference for the first time this season, broke a string of 11 conference losses last Saturday with a victory over Virginia.

Tracy Jackson scored a career-high 23 points and Kelly Tripucka added 20 in Notre Dame's victory over San Francisco. The Irish took a 20-point lead, then held off a second-half rally by the Dons.

"Our offensive execution was excellent, especially in the first half," said Notre Dame Coach Digby Phelps. "Tracy really played well, and we rotated people to give everybody the necessary rest. The game got physical in the second half, but that's just part of the game."

In other games, Greg White scored 20 points to lead Marshall over Tennessee-Chattanooga 67-55; Kenneth Lyons scored 23 points as North Texas trimmed the University of San Diego 88-73.

Hampton wins Bears' Brian Piccolo award

Defensive end Dan Hampton has been named winner of the Brian Piccolo award as the Chicago Bear rookie who best exemplifies the qualities of the late running back.

Atlanta Falcons quarterback Steve Bartkowski, who injured his right knee while playing basketball during the weekend, will undergo tests Thursday to determine the extent of injury, a spokesman for the NFL club said.

Rice forward Ricky Pierce, a sophomore from Garland, led the Owls to back-to-back victories and earned the Southwest Conference Player of the Week award. He polled five votes in balloting done by SWC coaches.

Mike Pollio, an assistant basketball coach at Old Dominion University since the 1975-76 season, will leave April 1 to become head coach at Kentucky Wesleyan College.

Five Toronto Blue Jays will take their contract negotiations to arbitration, Pat Gillick, vice-president of the American League team, said Monday.

Putting down rumors he had a change of heart, Waco Richfield quarterback Alfred Anderson, the No. 1 bluechip Texas schoolboy footballer, said Monday he is definitely going to Baylor and will prove it Wednesday morning.

Kerrville Tivy High School lost its football coach and athletic director

Monday night. Bob Boyd announced he plans to resign to take a similar post with the Alice Independent School District.

In five years at Tivy, Boyd compiled a 35-17-1 record, including a zone championship last year, a share of one in 1977 and a district title in 1978.

Joe Niekro, whose fluttering knuckle ball helped him win 21 games for the Houston Astros last season, has been named winner of the Bill Enis Award as the Houston Athlete of the Year by the Houston Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association.

Niekro, runnerup in the National League's Cy Young voting last season, was presented with the award at a banquet Monday night that toasted and roasted Houston Oiler Coach Bum Phillips.

Doug Collins, who has resumed workouts with the Philadelphia 76ers following bone spur surgery, said his absence from the game helped his head as much as his feet.

Faced with the end of the offer by Marvin Davis to buy his team, Charlie Finley says he's now ready to talk to local owners who want to purchase the Oakland A's.

The American League, in a meeting last week, told the Oakland Coliseum Commission it had until this 5 p.m. PST today to decide whether to accept $4 million being offered by baseball to free the A's from their stadium lease so they could be moved to Denver.

Pitcher Mike Krukow has signed a contract for the 1980 season, leaving only three other pitchers and one outfielder from the Chicago Cubs' 25-man major league roster unsigned.

All-state running back Freddie Wells says he will enroll at Texas Tech next fall. Wells, a 5-9, 200-pound running back who rushed for more than 1,300 yards last fall in leading Lewisville to the Class 4A semifinals, said he made the decision Monday.

Midland still has six more tough games left in conference play and the next one is Thursday when the Chaps entertain the Howard College Hawks in the Chaparral Center. They then have to travel to Frank Phillips on Feb. 18 and square off with dangerous Odessa College in Odessa, Feb. 21 before returning home for the big showdown with Western Texas on Feb. 25.

Skaters can thank Henie

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

LAKE PLACID, N. Y. (AP) - While the price of gold has rocketed to the heavens, the Olympic gold medal has ridden its coat-tails.

For figure skaters especially, and a few others on a smaller scale, the gilded medallion can be an "open sesame" to instant riches.

"The gold medal in itself is not a guarantee," says Dick Button, former Olympic and world men's figure skating champion and a leading authority on the specialty.

As this little Adirondack community prepares for the formal opening of the XIII Winter Games Wednesday, a trio of Americans is thrust into the spotlight as potential Dick Buttons, Peggy Flemings and Dorothy Hamills. Movie and ice show promoters are queuing up with checkbooks un-sheathed.

These candidates for theatrical and commercial stardom are Linda Fratianne, the dark-haired, blue-eyed ice ballerina from Northridge, Calif., reigning world champion and favorite in the ladies' singles, and the graceful, daring tandem of Randy Gardner and Tai Babilonia, conceded an excellent chance of upsetting the Soviet Union's almost flawless pairs champions, Aleksandr Zaitzev and Irinia Rodnina.

"Fratianne is very pretty, with a Latin Sophia Loren beauty," said Button. "She photographs wonderfully. She moves like liquid."

"Tai is cute as apple pie and extremely talented. Her partner, Gardner, has great ability - a super athlete. They are a brilliant, innovative pair who perform beautifully as a team."

"All any of them needs to do is get their act together and they can attain instant fame."

Button should know. It happened to him. It has happened to a long line of U.S. figure skaters, principally the female gender, as well as Olympic gold medalists in other sports. Leaping readily to mind are Mark Spitz, the swimmer with the wedding cake handsomeness who won an unprecedented seven golds at Munich in 1972,

Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner are U.S. hopes in pair skating competition of Winter Olympics at Lake Placid. The duo reigns as national and world champions, but they face big test from Russians. (AP Laserphoto) and Bruce Jenner, the blond "All American Boy" who captured the decathlon at Montreal four years ago.

"You must remember they didn't make it automatically," said Button, who won his first Olympic gold medal while in prep school in 1948 and repeated while getting his law degree at Harvard in 1952.

Button gave skating exhibitions while working on his law degree, later did TV specials, finally became a successful TV commentator and head of his own production company.

He was chosen as one of the U.S. flag-carriers for the opening ceremony which he must rush off to do TV commentary for ABC-TV, an assignment he has handled for years.

"Sonja was the first," Button said, recalling the captivating Norwegian who won three Olympic gold medals in 1928, 1932 and 1936, the middle one here in Lake Placid. "She was short and stumpy, too fat, but she was adorable. She had dimples, a great smile and an enormous personality."

Henie moved easily from the ice to Hollywood where she entranced movie goers with romantic roles played in a winter wonderland setting. American mothers became so hypnotized that they couldn't wait to put their offsprings on flashing blades, resulting in U.S. figure skating success.

Starting in 1956 with Tenley Albright, the United States produced ladies' champions four of six of Games. Carol Heiss, the New York baker's daughter, won in 1960, Peggy Fleming in 1968 and Dorothy Hamill four years ago in Montreal. The skain was interrupted by Holland's Sjoukje Dijkstra in 1964 and Austria's Beatrix Shuba in 1972.

Albright elected to become a surgeon in Boston. The pretty Heiss did a movie, "Snow White and the Three Stooges," later married another skater, Hayes Alan Jenkins, and settled down to the role of mother in Akron, Ohio. Fleming and Hamill became highly successful show skaters, as did Janet Lynn, a bronze medalist in 1972.

"Peggy is an example of what one needs to become a star," Button said. "Not only did she have the basic ingredients - classic beauty, talent and grace - but she got her act together. Everything fell into place. She projected. People never tired of her."

were Shelby, Chucky McGill and Charles Johnson with 14, 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Amarillo had four players in the double figures with Mark Summers and Vic Mitchell leading the way with 19 each. David Bradley chipped in with 12 and Kevin Parker 10 more for the Badgers who are now 17-9 on the year and 6-7 in conference play.

Midland held on to a narrow 34-33 lead at halftime and Amarillo came back to take a 51-50 lead with 12:18 left in the game and even held on to leads of five points until MC made its move with 4:20 remaining.

The Chaps hit 11 of 12 free throws in the final minutes to pull out the victory to stay one game behind Western Texas which is 13-0 in WJCC action and 25-0 on the year and still rated as the No. 1 junior college team in the nation.

Western Texas beat Clarendon 88-76 while Howard College, MC's foe Thursday, downed NMMI, 82-77.

Gare proves big plus

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - With 37 goals this season - and nine in the last six games - Danny Gare has been a big plus for the Buffalo Sabres, leaders of the Adams Division of the National Hockey League.

His goal at 6:33 of the third period tied Monday night's game against the St. Louis Blues, breaking a lead the Blues had held since the last seconds of the first period. Rick Dudley and Ric Selling went on to finish the job for Buffalo, giving the Sabres a 4-2 victory in Monday's only NHL action.

(Assistant coach) Roger Neilson came in after the second period and told us, 'Let's get the puck on the net. This guy gives out quite a few rebounds,' Gare said. 'So when I got the puck, I just spun around and let her go.'

Observed Neilson later: 'The Blues were checking real well, and they made us look bad. We got the win just on hard work.'

The loss only was the fifth for the Blues in their last 22 games.

'We played well enough to win,' said Coach Red Berenson. 'This club has a future and is starting to show it. Our best players are young players. We should have put the game away in the second period. We had lots of good chances.'

Buffalo, according to Blues goalie Mike Liut, 'didn't get many chances the whole game. They just made two brutal goals in the last period. I made bad plays.'

John Van Boxmeer gave the Sabres an early lead at the 1:05 mark with a shot from the right boards just inside the blue line.

The Blues went ahead before the end of the first period on goals by Larry Patey and Tony Currie, who scored on a power play with two seconds left in the period.

A close-in shot by Gare tied the score early in the third period. Dudley put Buffalo ahead by jamming the puck past Liut, after skating around behind the net.

Problems remain, but Games begin on time come familiar to North American fans in the last eight years in games against National Hockey League teams. Brooks smiles at matching them up against his young American team.

"Eight years ago, they were playing against Team Canada," the coach said. "I've got six or eight kids on my team who were playing peeewee hockey eight years ago."

With the opening ceremonies just 24 hours away, the Taiwan issue remained clouded. Athletes from that nation, demanding to compete as the Republic of China under their own flag and with their own anthem, planned to carry their suit against the International Olympic Committee into the New York State Court of Appeals today. On Monday in a middle-level court, Olympic officials got reversed an original ruling supporting the Taiwanese position.

THE IOC had ordered the changes to clear the way for participation in these Games by athletes from mainland China. That triggered the original suit by the Taiwanese. If the higher court also supports the IOC, it could send the Taiwan team home.

While the Taiwan question weaved its way through the judicial network, American Olympic officials presented to the IOC President Carter's case for moving, postponing or cancelling the 1980 Moscow Games because of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

"I couldn't say if we won any points or lost any," said Robert Kane, president of the United States Olympic Committee. "I was pleased, however, that their questions indicated at least that our points were being understood. That's been difficult to get across, even in our own country."

THE USOC point, which has seemed to be little more than semantics to some but is important in the lexicon of the IOC, is that the United States opposes any Olympic boycott.

"Boycott has hostile connotations," said Kane. "We are for staying within the system to continue our relations with the IOC, to take part in the deliberations and discussions and perhaps the decision-making."

Kane said he agreed with the president's position. "It seems illogical and incongruous that a nation which is invading its smaller neighbor and killing and plundering should host a festival which is intended to further peace and international goodwill in the world," he said.

Kane called the question of the Moscow Games the most difficult crisis situation the IOC has ever faced. "We are trying to preserve the Games, not destroy them," the American official said.

And while the philosophical questions of Taiwan and Moscow dominated the political side of the Games, the more practical problem of logistics plagued the world press assembled to cover this event.

The carefully-constructed transportation plans to move people around the Olympic area venues seemed to have collapsed completely on Monday. Only 80 of the expected 300 busses were on duty because of a labor dispute and waits of more than two hours for transportation were routine. The press corps from Switzerland, Italy and France filed official protests over the situation.

"We have had a problem with transportation," said Ed Lewi, press coordinator of the Lake Placid Organizing Committee. "A couple of contracts had to be clarified. Our labor problems seem solved one day but then the next. The last word I have is that they are solved and we will have 300 busses available Wednesday."

Credentials were another problem with limited access for events such as hockey, speed skating and figure skating leaving some members of the media vying with one another for seats.

For the athletes, however, all the problems were strictly peripheral. As the start of the Games approached, they occupied their time in the Olympic Village where a disco and first-run movies kept them busy. But they were aware that their moment in the world's sports spotlight was approaching.

Accounting office believes DOE showing incompetence

By MIKE SHANAHAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carter administration officials are being asked what actions they plan to counter rapidly rising heating oil prices in the midst of an overabundant supply of the fuel.

Recent studies have shown that heating oil prices — especially those charged by refiners — have been rising far more rapidly than can be explained by increases in imported crude oil prices.

A General Accounting Office report to be aired at a House energy subcommittee hearing today says, "It appears the Department of Energy is not on top of this situation and is not in a position to say what current heating oil prices are equitable."

"We believe that the Department of Energy's inattention to the escalating heating oil prices... borders on indifference and incompetence," the GAO said.

Hazel Rollins, who heads the Energy Regulatory Administration, was called to testify today before the subcommittee chaired by Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., a consistent critic of Carter administration energy policies.

In some areas of New England, heating oil prices have hit $1 a gallon, at least double the price of a year ago.

One study done by a House consumer subcommittee said consumers may have been overcharged by as much as $3 billion over the last year.

Heating oil prices have been decontrolled since 1976. Liberals like Moffett have urged that controls be reimposed as a means of preventing "price gouging" by some refiners and retailers.

Opponents of decontrol say prices should be permitted to seek their natural levels to insure a steady supply.

Moffett said Monday, "DOE's failure to assure equitable heating oil prices is inexcusable, irresponsible and simply unconscionable."

The consumer subcommittee study found that from September 1978 to September 1979 heating oil prices rose by 800 per cent.

It said there has been little federal scrutiny of the increases by either the Energy Department or the White House Council on Wage and Price Stability.

Last summer, President Carter set a goal for a reserve of 240 million barrels of heating oil to make sure there would be an ample supply for New England and other regions which rely almost exclusively on oil to provide residential heating.

Discoveries have been finalized in Coke and Crockett counties, and a Rannels County field has been reopened.

Harrison Interest, Ltd., of Houston recompleted as a Clear Fork gas discovery and suggested field designation of Pierce (Clear Fork) at the No. 2 J.S. Pearce, former Canyon gas producer, 2.5 miles north of Clear Fork oil production in the Ozona multipay, six miles northwest of the VIP (Clear Fork) multipay, 21.5 miles southwest of Ozona in Crockett County.

Operator reported a calculated absolute open flow potential of 245,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 2,661 to 2,678 feet.

Gravity of the condensate is 40.1 degrees, with gas-liquid ratio of 22,000-1. The pay was fractured with 22,000 gallons and plugged back to 4,500 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,510 feet from east lines of section 5, block 2, I&GN survey.

Baja Energy Inc. of Abilene completed No. 1 Chapman as a Strawn oil discovery in Coke County, five miles southwest of the Millican (Strawn) field, seven miles southeast of the Jameson (Strawn) field and 15 miles southwest of Robert Lee.

A re-entry project, it reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 240 barrels.

rels of 42-gravity oil and no water, through an 18/64-inch choke and perforations ranging from 6,771 to 6,783 feet.

Production was natural with gas-oil ratio of 400-1.

Deepened to 7,005 feet, 4.5-inch casing is set at 7,000-feet, the plugged back depth.

Operator picked the top of the Cisco at 4,606 feet and the Strawn at 6,764 feet on ground elevation of 2,536 feet. Originally drilled by Devon Oil & Gas to 6,950 feet, it was abandoned in 1952.

Divorced newspaperwoman lets children go to father, describes own emotions in daily newspaper column

EDITOR'S NOTE — When Peggy Morgan, 36, a staff writer for The Courier-Post of Camden, N.J., divorced her husband recently, she told her 16-year-old daughter and 12-year-old son that it was their decision which parent they wanted to live with.

When, "in a spurt of passion," they told her they were leaving to join their father, she described her emotions in her weekly column.

The children now are living with their father, Donald Morgan, in his home in Delanco, a small town in southern New Jersey.

By PEGGY MORGAN
Camden Courier-Post

HADDONFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The children say they are leaving, to live with their father and fill up the house he wants to buy. After two years with me, it is his turn, they say.

My daughter tells me this, her flushed face tortured with tears that burn down cheeks still baby plump. She has always cried inconsolably at leave-takings.

She is bigger than I am now. Her common sense and equanimity often make me feel neurotic. In the night of years, she flew over me. She is more my mother than my mother is — than I am for her. But now she is grievous with choice and decision.

She is a child of 16.

If I had only left the divorce undone and unsaid any talk of custody and support, we might have lived unchanged a little longer. But another love tugged me from sole fidelity to the children.

The legal ties chafed sloppily. They bound another woman, a chrysalis I had cast off. I felt twice unfaithful. It is a war of loves.

"Let them go... Let them have him," said my friends — some mothers, some not. God knows I hadn't been much of a mother the past few years, possessed by work, searching through sad bars and desperate parties — though I found nothing there and tried to live without — for adult love, when the children's should have been enough.

I juggled home and career and social life, as the magazines say, but the bouncing balls fell all over the floor, spilling sobs and screams and guilt, which the magazines never hear.

I was often sorry I fell into motherhood, for which I have no natural talent. It was too hard. It was harder than bleeding words into stories and that is hard enough.

Their father had the knack of a parent. He never had to think about his response or reaction or parental actions.

When the children were in the mountains this summer, alone I embraced the silence. I hugged it to my shoulders like lynx. I came home to no disarray, no laundry, no din from dueling radios, trumpeting stereos or turbulent televisions, no bickering to break up and no charging through the flat like bulls, no air-raid squawks of Mom to quicken blood. Plus, no tree-trunk thuds of sneakers pounding up the stair-steps; no hungry mouths crying that I never cooked.

I ate strawberries over the sink and petted the lynx.

I also double-locked the door and burned a night light. My old windows and maimed screens and rusty locks chattered and whispered. The attic crouched overhead with tigers from forgotten nightmares.

At 2 a.m., groggy with sleep, I heard the awful agitated breathing of my first obscene phone call. The tiger leaped alive and raped my luscious quiet. I was glad when the kids came home.

I am almost certain my son should be with his father. I do not share his passion for football, hamburgers and the sun. I disapprove. I want him to write poetry, not howl.

I went crazy with his colic in the cradle and only less crazy since. When he slams doors and bellows, I understand why the only gift my father ever wanted was peace and quiet, a request I and my six siblings noisily belittled and disbelieved.

My 12-year-old rakes my nerves like needles on splinters. He is hyper, distempered, impatient with imperfection, which is all around him. He is my mirror image. But when he broke my blue wind-chimes, he bought me a gold bracelet with his lunch money. When he is not hollering, he is melting glacial hearts.

My daughter, my friend, will be harder to relinquish, that miraculous mistake of a baby, the one who slept or smiled, who grew easily, who didn't itch even with chicken pox. She was the best baby ever born and the first, and her first year of life, till lately, I remembered as my happiest. I was only 20 then.

She can fix washing machines and cook for herself, a witty ballerina who has always known when to leave me alone. With pride, she has applauded my making something from the nothing that was my life, even as it intrudes on ours. She could juggle it all, just like in the magazines.

They haven't left yet. Plans can crack. In any case, my aging babies are nearly grown and gone. I cannot hold them long.

West Virginia train crash kills one, injures four more

ORLEANS ROAD, W.Va. (AP) — Two Chessie System freight trains collided head-on early today in Morgan County, killing one person and injuring at least four others, authorities said.

Two tanker cars containing hydrochloric acid overturned when 50 cars derailed in the accident, but no leaks were reported.

Barbara Jean Hopkins, one of the train crew members, was killed in the collision, according to Lloyd Lewis, a spokesman for Chessie.

Four men were taken to Morgan County Hospital in Berkeley Springs. One was then transferred by helicopter to a hospital in Hagerstown, Md., according to Ed Zadai, hospital administrator.

The accident occurred about 5:45 a.m., according to Vera Leclercq, a Chessie System spokeswoman in Baltimore.

One train had two locomotives and 125 cars, 49 of them empty, the spokeswoman said. The other train had two locomotives and 42 cars, she said.

Another Chessie spokesman, J.H. Griffin, said the derailment was expected to delay Amtrak passengers riding the eastbound Shenandoah.

He said the Shenandoah travels from Cincinnati, Ohio, and usually arrives in Washington at about 9 a.m.

Former activists lead new protests

By The Associated Press

Anti-Vietnam War activists Tom Hayden, Daniel Ellsberg and David Harris led a new series of protests on California campuses, this time arguing against reinstatement of the draft.

The three men who were familiar figures in the 1960s appeared in Sacramento, Berkeley and San Diego on Monday, addressing an estimated total of 6,500 persons on three state school campuses.

Harris spoke to the largest crowd, about 3,000, telling UC San Diego students that "our Bill of Rights and our Constitution are the only things we should fight for — the rest is garbage."

Hayden, one of the Chicago 7 defendants, told 1,500 people at Sacramento State that the government "is trying to use you as a chip in an international game of military poker; you are pawns in a game of nuclear brinkmanship."

At the UC-Berkeley campus, Ellsberg told about 2,000 students that the draft was "irrelevant because any war in the Mideast would no doubt rely on nuclear weapons rather than combat soldiers."

Lee Rebels plan on full schedule

By Leigh Anne Jones, Karen Fidler & Gina Bard

Well Rebs, you better hold your breath and plunge in because this week promises to be one of the busiest and most exciting.

First off, everybody bundle up and come on out to see our mighty Rebel roundballers panic those puny Permian Panthers and punch them out for a victory. Varsity action starts at 8 p.m. at Chap Center.

And by the way; if you didn't see either the fabulous females or the macho men roundballers do their stuff this past week you really bombed out. Both girls and guys ran over Big Spring by tremendous scores. Way to go sure shooters!

Wednesday morning we don't want any of you dynamic Rebelettes to miss your squad meetings, so set that alarm nice 'n early or either wash your hair tonight, and be at school tomorrow morning at 7:45 a.m. Debra, Carol, Tori, Shelli and Karen will all be waiting for ya'll.

SENIOR WOMEN: Tomorrow night, yes, Wednesday night, in the Y.C. there will be a short, important meeting about Sr. Girls' Party. If you have any names you want to add to the guest list, bring them at this time. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m.

Finally Thursday morning — Valentine's Day! We all hope everybody has a great day. NHS will be doing all they can to make it enjoyable by delivering written and singing telegrams plus carnations. Let that loved one know: Sweetheart, I'm attracted to you like bubble gum to a tennis shoe. Who knows, you might get a date to Coronation after all. P.S. If you have any extra money left send Karen, Gina and Leigh Anne a Valentine. We're desperate.

Last, but not least, Friday, but don't blow school off (yet), you've got to go anyway. Our bite the dust basketball players will be doing the ir stuff against Abilene High here at Chap Center. Everybody come and support the basketball sport. Also our truckin' tractors will have their first practice track meet in Andrews. Good luck guys. Come, chant, and cheer our guys to victory on Friday.

Spectacular Saturday arrives at last. The night of the 1980 Coronation ceremony which will begin at 8 p.m. Come see our breathtaking celebrities: Roxi Barrett, Lee Andrews, Gina Bard, Gary Butler, Melinda Cravens, Ed Ellis, Karen Gravitt, Tim Fisher, Phyllis Peete, Warren Kyle, Jennifer Rankin, Eddie Pleasant, Debra Steele and Steve Waldron receive their great honor. A dance will immediately follow in the Youth Center. Everyone is invited and you don't have to have a date! So everybody come to the 1980 Coronation "Gone With the Wind."

A big hand for our Lee Speech Department. The Lee speech and debate teams won the sweepstakes trophy for the fourth time in a row at the Tascosa, Amarillo High School Invitational Speech and Drama Tournament. Way to go Drama Dynamics and Speech Specialists. Keep it up!

Our mighty red-eyed Rebels have really slashed by all their competition so far this year. So, if you have a chance, go see the Wizard Wytlaw and Magnificent Malson lead the wet 'n wild swimmers to a year of success.

Please wish all the girls on the golf team good luck as they travel to San Antonio for a golf meet. Go get 'em Orwig, Watson and Barrett.

Last Friday night the Y.C. discoed down for a dance honoring the Senior Class of 1983. Everybody had a great time and the Sr. girls in the Junior Council would like to thank Lee Freshman School for their support. Also we will sponsor a dance for Alamo Junior High on Feb. 22, so the classes of '84 and '85 can rock and shake and make your body ache!

Congratulations to all the members of the Lee choir who did so well at their contest last week. Keep up the sweet sounds singers.

Also, good luck to our Ag department at their livestock show in San Antonio this week.

SENIORS: The Senior dinner will be Thursday, Feb. 21, at the new Holiday. Tickets are on sale now for $10 each. Get yours from Sr. class officers Larry Linne, Blain Huddleston, Jill Mutschler, Cheryl Owens, or Tram Nuyen. Get yours FAST.

Say Rebs, have a great week, but keep up with that homework! Be sure and send your sweetie a valentine and come to Coronation Saturday night.

Until next week,
Karen, Gina & Leigh Anne

Postscripts: If you missed Young Life last night be sure and come next Monday. It's great fun, really. Don't forget our wild women dribblers play Abilene High Thursday night. BE THERE.

BC comments: There were many who did not bother to come out and do their part last Saturday, but you can thank Lori Womack, Leigh Anne Jones, Carol Lookabaugh, Sherry Carpenter, Kristi Barron and Cris Darling, oh yes, and Greg for doing YOUR work!
