Debate continues over when Iranians will free hostages

Associated Press

Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh today said the international commission to investigate charges against the deposed shah may be formed within a few hours, but the American hostages in Tehran will not be released until the panel finishes its work, according to an Italian news agency.

But former Irish Foreign Minister Sean MacBride said today "the commission could hardly begin its work until the hostages have been released. Either they are released before the commission meets or they could be released concurrently with the setting up of the commission."

Transfer of the hostages to a third party, perhaps a neutral country, has been mentioned as a possible step in the release process.

Ghotbzadeh, speaking to reporters while visiting a museum in Rome, was quoted as saying U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim telephoned him at 3 a.m. to discuss composition of the commission. The panel to investigate the regime's charges against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi has been regarded as a key step toward freeing the hostages in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, who began their 104th day in captivity today.

"The conversation lasted an hour. Now one is waiting only for their acceptance. For us, the names aren't important. What is important is that the commission is formed," Ghotbzadeh was quoted as saying by the ANSA news agency.

However, he added, "the hostages will not be freed until the commission makes public its results," according to ANSA.

Ghotbzadeh had told a news conference Thursday that he hoped the commission would finish its work in 10 days to two weeks.

The foreign minister left for Paris after a 24-hour stay in Rome. Earlier he spent an hour at the Vatican for talks with Secretary of State Cardinal Agostino Casaroli. "We spoke about the Iranian revolution and the force of religion in the world," he said. He did not see Pope John Paul II, whose pleas for the Americans' release were ignored by Iran last November.

MacBride, interviewed in Dublin on NBC's "Today" program, said the commission would not have the power to call such witnesses as U.S. officials or the ex-shah himself, but could receive reports only from the Iranian government.

"The role of the commission would not be to try the United States or to try anyone," MacBride said.

Objections to the former Irish Republican Army leader reportedly have surfaced in U.S. government circles because of his sympathy for leftist causes.

Asked to comment on holding the Lenin Peace Prize, as well as a Nobel Peace Prize, MacBride said, "I might add that I also hold the American Medal for Justice, which was awarded to me subsequently. I think that I am pretty well balanced from that point of view."

President Carter, discounting speculation that the approximately 50 Americans could be freed over the weekend, said he did not expect the issue to be resolved before the end of the month.

Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, speaking to reporters in Tehran Thursday, reiterated his three demands on the United States for release of the hostages: acknowledgment of alleged U.S. crimes against the Iranian people during the shah's reign; a pledge not to meddle in Iranian affairs; and agreement not to block efforts to return the shah and his wealth to Iran.

Alli Reza Nobari, governor of Iran's central bank, was quoted as saying in a telephone interview with the Washington Post from Tehran Thursday that "the unfreezing of $6 billion in Iranian gold and dollar deposits in American banks and branches is one of the conditions involved in release of the U.S. hostages."

Tito not expected to survive illness

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslav officials are giving public signals they do not expect 87-year-old President Josip Broz Tito to survive the heart and kidney problems that cropped up following the amputation of his left leg last month, even though his condition was reported somewhat better today.

"A certain improvement in the overall health condition of the president, which came about in the morning hours on the 14th of this month, continues to hold," the latest medical bulletin said. "Intensive medical measures are being taken toward maintaining and stabilizing the tendency."

Tito was reported in critical condition Wednesday and no improvement was reported on Thursday. Usually reliable sources insisted Tito remained conscious and aware of his surroundings. But unconfirmed reports claimed he had lapsed into a coma and could die shortly.

Subdued music is being played on Belgrade Radio and diplomats said tree plantings had begun on a street over which foreign dignitaries presumably would drive in the event of Tito's death.

They also said there had been increased activity recently around the Defense Ministry building in Belgrade.

Belgrade's influential newspaper Politika gave front-page display today to President Carter's promise to consider "any kind of aid" Yugoslavia requested.

The pledge was made in a White House news conference Wednesday. Reporters raised the issue of sending American troops to defend Yugoslavia from the Warsaw pact, but Carter avoided a direct answer.

Tito, who has run Yugoslavia since the end of World War II, pioneered his own maverick brand of communist rule after breaking with the Stalinist Kremlin in 1948.

There has often been speculation that the Soviets might try to reassert control over Yugoslavia after Tito's death, but both Yugoslav officials and Western experts have been discounting prospects of any Soviet-bloc military move against the eastern European nation.

Yugoslav officials have, however, returned to the military rhetoric which marked the earlier days of Tito's hospitalization, before the release late last week that ended what appeared to be a swift recovery from the amputation.

A weekly publication of the Yugoslav army noted that the country's armed forces had always won out against "outside pressures or against opponents of Yugoslavia's development."

In a military system largely designed to repel invasion by the Soviet-bloc Warsaw Pact, the military weekly said every Yugoslav soldier "is convinced that defense of the country against any aggressor would be successful."

Because of Tito's worsening condition, Premier Veselin Djuranovic cut short a visit to East Germany and returned Thursday to Belgrade, while Foreign Minister Josip Vrhovec put off a trip to India and three other countries.

A movie about Tito's World War II Communist partisan role replaced an evening variety show on Belgrade television, and a regularly scheduled cartoon show was scratched from its spot just before an evening news show.

Firemen 'lawbreakers' Chicago mayor takes hard line

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Jane Byrne and the firefighters union have taken hard-line positions in a strike that has left a makeshift corps of officers, trainees and suburban companies guarding more than three million persons against mid-winter blazes.

"They're lawbreakers, and I won't have anyone sitting down with them," Mrs. Byrne said Thursday, refusing to consider the resumption of contract talks until the firefighters return to work.

"There is a little macho, ... you know, male chauvinism in this," she said. "They do it hoping that a woman will get hysterical and strike out and do certain things. It won't work with me."

Chicago Fire Fighters Union leaders defied Judge John Hechinger's temporary back-to-work order and said they would continue to do so.

The city put pressure on the strikers in other ways, canceling medical insurance payments, threatening to begin disciplinary proceedings today that could lead to firings, demotions or transfers and stepping up plans to hire 250 firefighters by March 1.

The strike, the first by firefighters in the nation's second-largest city, began before dawn Thursday.

There were no major fires Thursday, although a non-striking lieutenant was credited with saving the life of an elderly man whose heart stopped because of smoke inhalation.

Non-striking firefighters joined supervisors, Chicago Fire Academy cadets, other city workers and, at times, suburban departments in providing protection. Mrs. Byrne said she would not hesitate to call on the National Guard or suburban departments, but had no immediate plans to do so.

There are about 4,350 uniformed firefighters and 1,000 supervisory personnel. The union claims 97 percent of the firefighters walked off the job, but Mrs. Byrne said up to 1,500 had reported for duty.

The firefighters, who always worked under a handshake agreement, are negotiating their first contract.

The key issue is a no-strike clause. The city insists that contract disputes go to binding arbitration. The firefighters want the right to strike after a contract expires.

The union wants six firefighters on all trucks, and the city has offered five-man crews. The union also wants to represent all supervisors except the commissioner and a top aide, but the city wants to exclude supervisory personnel from the union.

The union wants an additional 4 percent in raises, on top of the 6 percent provided in the city's 1980 budget. Pay, however, was not considered a major stumbling block.

The strike was the city's third public employees walkout this winter. It came three days after school teachers ended a two-week walkout to protest layoffs and delayed paychecks.

They go for the gold

DALLAS (AP) — Police say two robbers who assaulted Mar-salis Brown, 19, beat the side of his face with a brick to knock loose a $200 gold tooth.

Brown said he was attacked by two men in their 20s in South Dallas Wednesday. He said he heard one robber tell the other, "Let's get the tooth."

Brown said while he was on the ground one of the bandits held a knife to his throat while the other men smashed the outside of Brown's mouth until the tooth fell out.

Marine's top NCO says military needs quicker response capability

By SUSAN TOTH
Staff Writer

America's military forces need more money, better pay, more ships and quicker response capability, according to Sgt. Major Leland Crawford, the highest ranking enlisted man in the Marine Corps.

Crawford, in Midland Thursday to address the Midland Chapter of the Marine Corps League, added in a press conference that the military does not need women in combat roles.

While he acknowledged women could play a significant role in support duties, he said he did not support drafting women or using them in combat situations.

However, he added "as a sergeant major in the Marine Corps, I don't make a lot of rules. I enforce them. President Carter is the commander in chief of the armed forces. I am a member of the armed forces. If he says we draft women, then we draft women."

More money for better weapons and better salaries is the major need Crawford saw for the military now. It is difficult to entice young men into the military when they can make higher salaries in the private sector, Crawford said.

"Recruiting today is a very hard job in all four branches of the service," he said.

While the Marine Corps has been an all-volunteer service for most of its history, he said, recruiting for Marines is particularly difficult, "because we have not lowered our standards.

"We're 185,000, and I'd rather keep our load 185,000 than lower our standards and raise our numbers to 200,000," Crawford noted.

The recent turmoil in the Middle East, however, has helped recruiting efforts for the military.

According to local Marine recruiter Sgt. D. Hernandez, the last 30 days has been the best month in the past year for bringing young men into the corps.

"Wake this sleeping giant up," Crawford said, and the world will see a return of the patriotic, pro-military spirit prevalent during World War II.

"Don't cut this younger generation short," he noted. "Since I've been a sergeant major, the esprit de corps and pride I've seen in the young Marine is just as strong as in World War II and Korea. They're anxious to go."

To get those young Marines into areas where they're needed quickly, however, a system of rapid deployment must be developed and implemented, he said.

More ships to get the amphibious forces deployed must be used, he said. "Whoever controls the seas, controls the world."

To be effective in a war, he noted, "we have to be able to get in there fast. But with the types of ships and aircraft we have today, we can't get in there fast."

Fed boosts discount for banks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board today increased its bank discount rate by a full percentage point to 13 percent.

The sharp increase in the discount rate, which the Federal Reserve charges for loans to its member commercial banks, reflected the board's concern over the nation's worsening inflation rate.

The Federal Reserve announced the boost just an hour after the Labor Department reported that wholesale prices increased 1.6 percent in January.

The board said in an announcement that it "has been particularly concerned that recent economic developments, including the large increase in the price of imported oil, are adding to inflationary pressures and may lead to further destabilizing pricing decisions."

"These developments underscore the need to take such measures as may be required to maintain firm control over the growth of money and credit," the board said.

The discount rate usually sets a pattern for the trend of interest rates throughout the economy.

The last time the board raised the discount rate was on Oct. 6, when it rose from 11 percent to 12 percent. The 13 percent is a record, as was the 12 percent.

The new increase represents another attempt by the board and its chairman, Paul A. Volcker, to try to control inflation by making money more expensive to borrow.

Losses of rich to boost insurance

Burglars concentrating on silverware in Texas households

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — People of average means will pay more for homeowners insurance because of silverware thefts from the rich unless the State Insurance Board does something, the board was told Thursday.

meowners coverage of silverware, goldware and pewter. He suggested $5,000 but said he was "not hung up on that amount."

rich homes could cause everybody's premiums to rise.

"Silver is at $37 an ounce. When gold was $32 an ounce it was buried at Fort Knox," said John F. Knight of Republic Insurance Co. in Dallas.

There already is a $500 limit on homeowners coverage of jewelry and a $500 ceiling on payments for gold and silver bullion. Again, added coverage can be bought.

"The have-nots, as respects silver, are subsidizing the haves," Knight said.

Because of this, he said, burglaries of silverware are on the increase, with insurance companies paying for huge losses covered by homeowners insurance.

James C. Burford of Aetna, also speaking for the TIAA, told of a $67,000 silverware claim in West Texas, where the homeowner's policy provided only $36,000 for all his household goods.

But homeowners rates result from the total loss experience of insurance companies, and Knight said large losses from silverware thefts from

Two Navy pilots die in Texas crash

PORT O'CONNOR, Texas (AP) — Two Navy officers tried to bail out after their TA-4J jet hit a radio tower near here, but fell to their deaths with their parachutes streaming behind them, an eyewitness said.

It was like a Roman candle," said Weaver. "It made an arc straight up and then came down, whistling and spinning around and around, and exploded in a big ball of fire."

He warned there needed to be restrictions on coverage of contents of hunting cabins and lake houses, which often are filled with cast-offs from an owner's primary residence.

Thursday's crash was the second fatal accident in two days involving planes from the Aircraft Training Squadron 25 at the Beeville Naval Air Station, Navy officials said.

The concussion "nearly knocked me off my feet," said Weaver.

"A TV set that might be five or six years old and was bought for $200 — if something happens to it, you might have to replace it with a $600 or $700 set," he said.

City prepares for bond sale

Midland City Council met briefly Thursday to approve the formal statement prepared for the sale of $7.5 million in city bonds scheduled March 11.

City officials plan to go to New York next week to get a rating for the bonds. The statement approved Thursday was basically a sales package for the rating firms and potential buyers outlining the financial structure and condition of the city government and the city as a whole.

City officials said they expect to retain the same bond rating they have had in the past, AA on general obligation bonds and A on revenue bonds.

"The chutes came out, but it was too close to the ground," he said.

"They ejected out sideways instead of straight into the air," said Dewayne Weaver, who witnessed the crash.

Brilab probe put off until March

HOUSTON (AP)—A federal grand jury probe into alleged insurance kickback schemes arising from the FBI's undercover Operation Brilab has been delayed until March when Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton will testify.

Union official L.G. Moore, another vital link in the investigation of alleged corruption in labor and politics, has gone to the federal courts in an effort to quash the grand jury subpoena.

The legal action is expected to delay Moore's appearance until March, even if the request to void the subpoena is rejected.

U.S. Attorney J.A. "Tony" Canales has indicated he will excuse the grand jury after today's session and recall them sometime in March.

The grand jurors have listened to testimony from at least 11 witnesses, including several labor leaders, and now need to hear Moore and Clayton before ending the probe.

In a written statement issued in Austin Thursday, Clayton said Canales had agreed to delay his appearance until next month.

And, he indicated the FBI has tapes of conversations, presumably made during a meeting with Moore and Joseph Hauser, an FBI informant posing as a Prudential Insurance Co. representative.

Clayton has acknowledged he received "a political contribution" of $5,000 from Moore during the Nov. 8 meeting in Austin.

He has insisted the money was put in a safe place so it could be returned to Moore, the regional director of the Operating Engineers International Union.

Clayton said, "Frankly, my lawyers have been persistent in their advice that I cannot hope to fairly and fully present my testimony this week.

Because of the extreme difficulties that we all face in our attempt to recall many events over the last 100 days as accurately and completely as possible, my lawyers have asked for additional time prior to my appearance before the grand jury, and the U.S. attorney has agreed."

Attorneys for Moore first asked U.S. District Judge Carl O. Bue Jr. to quash the subpoena. This request was denied. An appeal was filed and Judge Reynaldo Garza of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals granted a temporary delay in Moore's appearance.

The federal panel heard only one witness Thursday—James Middleton, secretary-treasurer of the Laborers Local 18 of Houston.

One of Middleton's lawyers, Michael J. Hinton, said his client had received a substantial offer from Houston Port Authority commissioner John Garrett to change the union's insurance coverage.

Hinton said Middleton turned down the offer.

The union official spent about 30 minutes before the grand jury. He said not one word after being excused, letting attorneys do all of the talking.

Hinton said he could not reveal the amount of the offers made to Middleton but "one offer was small, another was substantial. It was extremely large, it was up there."

Garrett, president of a Houston paving contract firm, testified Wednesday but refused to comment on his appearance. His attorney, Ray Montgomery, said, "There will be no comment until after the grand jury has completed its investigation."

Garrett and Moore served together on two state commissions and are directors of the First National Bank of Deer Park.

Two other union officials said they told the grand jury they had been offered kickbacks or illegal political contributions for help in switching insurance coverage to Prudential.

Bergland says grain shipments watched by 'sting' operation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland told it, the United States is involved in an international "sting" operation to monitor shipments of grain to the Soviet Union that might do justice to an old James Bond movie.

Bergland, almost casually, disclosed the undercover "sting" plan during a luncheon interview with reporters Thursday. At first, some thought he was kidding.

Bergland was asked about slippage in the partial embargo of grain sales to the Soviets that President Carter announced on Jan. 4.

"We've thought about it, and we have a sting operation going," Bergland said. "And I'm not going to tell you any more than that, but it is at work and it will be very interesting to watch."

Asked for more details, Bergland replied, "I have nothing more to say." But he added that the "sting," or undercover, operation was set up "just to see how the world behaves" under the sales boycott plan.

Bergland was asked if the sting involved only the Agriculture Department.

"No, this is beyond that," he said. "This is an international effort...this is really super, high-secret stuff. I can't talk about it."

A reporter suggested that because it apparently involved international operations it be called "inter-sting."

"Good term," Bergland commented. "We've had to take these unusual actions to prevent leakage, or else the whole thing (the boycott) would collapse," he said.

The president ordered the suspension of further grain deliveries in retaliation to the Soviet Union's occupation of Afghanistan.

Graham is former director of Defense Intelligence Operations and Deputy Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. Hance was selected for the American Security Foundation's award for his support of rebuilding America's military strength and national defense.

Rep. Kent Hance announces co-sponsorship of measure for better intelligence work

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. Kent Hance has announced he is co-sponsor of a bill calling for stronger intelligence operations by the United States.

The bill, HR 6316, by U.S. Rep. Bill Young, R-Fla., provides for measures to strengthen the Central Intelligence Agency and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, primarily in the areas of counter-terrorism.

"This legislation applies primarily to our foreign intelligence-gathering abilities and in connection with foreign terrorists inside the United States," said Hance.

"As we have seen in recent months, our intelligence network as it concerns foreign affairs has not been as adequate as we would like it. A stronger CIA foreign intelligence program could have helped us tremendously with our present problems in the Middle East."

The bill has three major sections. It will:

—Request the CIA report its covert activities only to the House and Senate intelligence committees, instead of to the eight congressional committees which now receive that information.

—Change the law so that foreign agents no longer would have access to information relative to the operation of our government through the Freedom of Information Act.

—Make it a federal crime to reveal the identity of undercover agents or informants of the CIA, intelligence agencies of the Department of Defense or the foreign counter-intelligence or counter-terrorist components of the CIA.

"I feel it is vital that the American people understand the state of our intelligence operations," said Hance. "The truth is that the CIA and our other intelligence agencies have nearly been put out of business in recent years. It is time we tell the American people just how serious the political attacks on our intelligence operations have been."

"We need to stress again and again that an effective intelligence operation is vital and essential to maintaining a strong America," Hance continued.

Allowing foreign agents access to important information relative to government operations through the Freedom of Information Act must be changed, in the congressman's opinion.

"We have just witnessed in the Middle East the problems when we have poor intelligence resources. The CIA simply has not been effective in recent years," Hance remarked. "Apparently, there were abuses of the power the CIA once had. However, we have gone too far in restricting the CIA at the expense of our national security."

The proposed legislation still allows the American people to retain adequate controls over intelligence agencies. At the same time it restores enough authority to allow the intelligence agencies to gather information on the state of foreign affairs, terrorism and national security, he explained.

Leftists take bank, 500 hostages

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Leftists seeking control of this Central American nation have seized a bank in downtown San Salvador and local radio stations said they snared at least 500 hostages.

The militants who took over the Agricultural Development Bank late Thursday afternoon identified themselves as members of the Popular Revolutionary Bloc, El Salvador's largest leftist alliance. They said they were demanding better loan rates for small farmers.

Witnesses said the occupation was peaceful. Reporters, often invited into occupied buildings in the past, were barred from the bank and there was no official confirmation of the hostage count. Nor was there any indication how many leftists were involved in the takeover or if they were armed.

Members of the bloc also have occupied the offices of the water and sewer administration in the capital since Wednesday, demanding better services for the poor.

A second major leftist group, the Popular Leagues of Feb. 28, or LP-28, ended its two-day occupation of the Panamanian Embassy on Thursday, but continued its 11-day-old takeover of the Spanish Embassy.

Panamanian Ambassador David Perez Ramos and two other hostages were freed unharmed after the government released 23 persons in response to the group's demands. At a news conference after his release, the ambassador said the takeover was more "a form of dialogue" than an occupation.

While the leftist power struggle in the cities remained generally peaceful, there was violence in the countryside Thursday. A government spokesman said leftist guerrillas ambushed a national guard convoy near Zacatecoluca, about 42 miles west of the San Salvador. Four guerrillas died in the clash but there were no government casualties, the spokesman said.

Both the Popular Revolutionary Bloc and LP-28, which takes its name from the date of a bloody 1977 clash in the capital between government troops and leftists, are trying to install a communist government to replace the centrist civilian-military junta that seized power four months ago from a right-wing military ruler, President Carlos Humberto Romero.

Leftists said several groups would get together for a demonstration in the capital today. The centrist Christian Democratic Party, whose members fill two of the three civilian seats on the five-member ruling junta, said they hoped bring out 100,000 supporters today at a rally designed to offset the leftist rebellion. However, few observers believed the Christian Democrats could organize anywhere near that number of supporters.

In Washington, the Carter administration announced a plan Thursday to prop up the junta in El Salvador in a bid to block a communist takeover. U.S. officials said the administration was considering a $49.8 million aid package, including $5 million in military credits. Also under study was a plan to send small U.S. military training teams to help the government cope with spreading violence, the officials said.

Midland County grand jury indicts four men for robbing local grocery, drive-in restaurant

The Midland County grand jury returned indictments for four counts of aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon against two men charged with the robbery of a local grocery store and a drive-in restaurant. Michael Charles Burton, 26, 1903 Nash Ave., and Julius Watson, 18, 307 E. Hickory Ave., were indicted on two counts each in connection with the Jan. 28 robberies of the J.L. & Sons Grocery and the King Bee Drive-In.

Police said the man with the pistol forced the cook to lie on the floor. The other man went behind the counter and made the cashier empty the register and safe contents into a plastic trash bag. The grand jury also returned an indictment of indecency with a child — sexual contact against James Lloyd Farmer, 19, of the 1500 block of Colorado Avenue. Farmer was arrested Feb. 2 in Dennis the Menace Park. According to police, they received a call to investigate a suspicious person in the park. When the officer arrived, he saw a man breathing into a plastic bag. As the officer approached, the man grabbed a child and attempted to use him as a shield and fondled him at the same time, according to police reports at the time.

FBI to quit loot search

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Anyone who wants to take a chance on finding some of the loot from the nation's only unsolved skyjacking should look somewhere other than the banks of the Columbia River, FBI agents say. Jack Pringle, assistant agent in charge of the Seattle FBI office, said agents expected to halt today the search for more of the ransom that had until this week been missing since D.B. Cooper parachuted from a jet with $200,000 strapped to his waist nine years ago. "Not a thing" was found Thursday as agents finished sifting the sands on the northern bank of the river, said Pringle. He said any decision on extending or moving the search to other areas would not be made until early next week. Ken Moore, the Seattle agent in charge of the digging, said the money probably was washed downstream into the Columbia, most likely from the Washougal River or from one of several smaller streams in the area in which Cooper probably landed. The FBI said a geologist had concluded that several thousand dollars found Sunday by a young boy had been deposited on the Columbia River beach after 1974.

Scientists say Soviets could aid world's nuclear troubles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of U.S. scientists says the world would benefit if Soviet scientists discussed how they handled a major accident involving radioactivity that is believed to have occurred east of the Ural Mountain more than two decades ago.

The American scientists said any information the Soviets made public could help other nations cope with such accidents.

The Soviet government has never offered an official explanation of what happened, although several Soviet scientists have voiced suspicions that a nuclear accident did occur.

"It seems rather apparent that the Soviet nuclear program has had to contend with a catastrophe involving reprocessed nuclear wastes," says a new report by scientists at the Energy Department's Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

The scientists speculated that the accident involved nuclear waste storage methods which have since become obsolete.

They said the incident, which probably did not involve nuclear explosives or reactors, apparently occurred in late 1957 near Kasli, a town east of the Urals.

They say there may not have been any casualties, but there are indications some 400 square miles may have been rendered unfit for human habitation or food production.

The region was the deletion of the names of 30 small towns from maps of the area. In addition, lakes in the area were not stocked with fish for food production, although other nearby lakes were stocked.

The Oak Ridge scientists submitted their report in December 1979, but was not brought to public attention until copies were delivered to news media Wednesday by Critical Mass, an anti-nuclear citizen group.

Reagan will talk about hostages after release

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Ronald Reagan says that once the American hostages are home safe from Iran, the Carter administration's handling of the situation, including the events leading to the takeover of the U.S. Embassy, should become part of the presidential campaign debate.

"I think the American people, once they're back and safe, have a right to know what steps were attempted and know the whole story," Reagan said Thursday at a news conference.

The former California governor, returning to New England to resume his New Hampshire campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, detoured briefly into Vermont to speak at a testimonial dinner for former Vermont Gov. Deane Davis.

Arriving in Burlington, he was asked whether he felt the United States had anything to apologize for its past relations with Iran and the regime of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

"No," he replied. Reagan then added that he believes the Carter administration "is responsible for it taking one hundred and some days to get them (the hostages) back."

When pressed to elaborate on that statement, Reagan said, "There were virtually daily warnings" before the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

"We could have closed the embassy and taken our people out or we could have beefed up the security force," he said. "We could have done any one of a number of things and we could have prevented this situation."

Discussing the questions he thinks should be part of the public debate upon release of the hostages, Reagan said, "It might be interesting to know in that case how much warning our government had, how much it ignored."

Earlier Thursday, Reagan expressed concern that the administration might "give too much away in its honor" to win release of the hostages.

Later, he said he was referring particularly to Iranian demands that the United States "apologize and accept guilt for all kinds of crimes."

Asked if he thought creation of an international commission to investigate allegations against the deposed shah was too high a price to pay for release of the hostages, Reagan replied that if the Americans were released before such a commission met, "that sounds like a pretty good deal."

Asked how he would feel about a commission if the hostages were not released before it began its deliberations, Reagan replied, "I don't know if we should be interested if it isn't going to bring the hostages back."

He also said, "Frankly, I don't think the commission is of any great moment."

Pinto called 'reasonably safe' at trial

WINAMAC, Ind. (AP) — Ford Motor Co.'s Pinto sedan was "reasonably safe" and should not have been recalled because of alleged fire hazards, the former head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration told jurors hearing the automaker's unprecedented criminal trial.

Douglas W. Toms, head of the federal agency from 1969-73, testified Thursday the 1973 Ford Pinto did not depart from acceptable manufacturing standards.

Ford is charged with three counts of reckless homicide in the August 1978 burning deaths of three young women whose 1973 Pinto exploded when hit from behind. The six-week-old trial is the first criminal prosecution of a manufacturer in a product defect case.

The state contends Ford recklessly designed the Pinto, knowing the fuel tank was subject to explode in rear-end collisions, but that the automaker sold the cars anyway without making repairs and without warning the public.

In June 1978, Ford recalled 1.5 million 1971-1976 Pintos and Mercury

Bobcats after NHTSA crash tests showed the fuel tanks leaked fuel in moderate-speed, rear-end collisions.

"I was amazed that they did that based on the data," said Toms, who now heads an Indiana recreational vehicle company that does substantial business with Ford.

Before the trial recessed for the weekend, Toms said fires from rear-end collisions cause only 100 to 200 of 55,000 traffic deaths a year. A rear impact also is the "safest crash because the passenger is protected by the seat back."

However, he said, rear-crash safety was a "high priority" during his tenure as NHTSA administrator. He acknowledged he had only a passing familiarity with the 1973 Pinto, but he said the car's fuel tank conformed to safety standards that his agency considered but never adopted because of concerns over testing accuracy.

The standard would have required auto fuel systems to withstand a 20 mph rear-end collision by a moving vehicle without fire risk. Toms said that during his tenure with the agency, no automaker in the world designed a car specifically to withstand more than 20 mph rear impact. The NHTSA later adopted, effective with 1977 model cars, a 30 mph standard for rear-impact collisions by a moving vehicle.

Prosecution witnesses have said there was a 30-35 mph difference in speed between the Indiana Pinto and the van that hit it. The defense has argued that the Pinto was stopped and the van was traveling 50-55 mph.

Mom charged in son's death

ODESSA — A 17-year-old Odessa mother has been charged with murder in the death of her 5-month-old son here.

Bond was set Wednesday at $5,000 for Karen N. Garcia.

According to police the woman took the child to Odessa Medical Center on Tuesday, saying he had fallen off the bed and injured himself. The baby was unconscious and had severe head injuries, officers said.

Gilbert A. Garcia died on Wednesday.

After further investigation, the mother was charged in the death.

Odessan charged in accident

ODESSA — Cecil L. Richards, 48, of Odessa and formerly of Midland, was charged Thursday afternoon with felony failure to stop and render aid. Bond was set at $5,000.

The charges stemmed from an accident Wednesday in which a 20-year-old Odessan was pinned between the bumpers of two vehicles.

The accident occurred at 2:45 p.m. on the East Highway 80 service road near East Loop 338.

Police said Robert Steve Urrutia, 20, was involved in a collision with a car driven by John Bennett Crain, 44, of Odessa. Urrutia stepped out of his car and walked to the back to examine the damage. Richards, who owned the car being driven by Crain, also stepped out, but he then got back into the car and started the engine, reports said.

When Richards started to drive away, the car lurched forward, pinning Urrutia between the bumpers. Richards then drove off southbound on 338. Odessa police stopped and arrested him a short time later.

Urrutia was treated and released from Medical Center Hospital for cuts and bruises to his legs and injuries to his right hand.

Was Mobil 'crude' for not sticking to advertising oil?

CHICAGO (AP) — Once again King Edward VIII, who in the Queen's withering words "gave up all for that," is raising irksome questions of free speech and public and private morality.

This time the issue is not the head of the Church of England marrying an American divorcee and to the devil with the Archbishop of Canterbury, which the crown coaxed the British press into withholding from the pub-environmentalists rather than pushing its other crude wares.

Several stations around the country have canceled the series rather than expose their viewers to Mobil's little dramatized fables pointing up their side of the energy crunch and oil company profits.

Being obstinate and of an independent nature and a bit of a stutterer, not unlike the lovelorn King, I stammeringly confess that I find these little parables delightfully droll if somewhat silly, which is not easy for me to say.

admen are rather amusing, as when one of the animated characters protests that government hunting regulations prevent him from pursuing "the herd shot around the world" and later bemoans pricing policies that render "a profit without honor in this country."

Prose-wise, as they say on Mad Ave., this is easier to digest than the encomia for living bras, sink trap

It is my opinion, which millions have often silently clamored for, that 60 years of broadcast advertising and five centuries of printed come-ons have rendered the public virtually con-proof.

holding the audience.

Even the ingenious image makers at Mobil don't expect the home folks to stand up and give three cheers for an oil spill the minute their spiel is projected on the screen.

But censoring the message denies audiences in some parts of the country the enjoyment of a really fine series and increases the danger of polluting the airwaves with something far more lethal, like a rerun of "Yolanda and the Thief" or an old Dennis Morgan movie.

If you haven't caught up with "Edward and Mrs. Simpson" yet, Edward Fox, who played the jackal in "The Day of the Jackal," projects an amazing reincarnation of Edward VIII, right down to the nervous half-smirk and the quavering voice that quickly climbs to alto range under stress.

Novelist Simon Raven's script is even crisper than his distillation of a half dozen Anthony Trollope novels for "The Pallisers" series.

Great stuff. History made palatable, served up as a rich royal pudding with a dash of spice and vintage brandy set aflame.

It almost wants to make you go out and help clean up an oil spill just to keep the generous folk at Mobil happy.

cleaners and various cures for psoriasis, diaper rash and loose upper plates. But regardless of taste or quality, the question remains: is Mobil being moral in using the media to deliver a message from the oil industry rather than showing up those authentic mileage tests of its latest high octane on the Utah salt flats?

Is the nation in dire danger of buying a big bundle of wet wash from big business's brain washers between scenes of refined turmoil in the British royal house?

One argument against censoring hard core pornography is that adults are adult enough to make up their own mind in a free country, which is why adult movies now consist entirely

Yugoslavs increase defense as health of Tito worsens

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The National Defense Council called for intensified defense preparations as President Josip Broz Tito's condition worsened.

The council, drawn from the same group that will run the nation if the 87-year-old Tito dies, met Wednesday and "discussed the implementation of a program of development of the Yugoslav armed forces and the level of their capability," the official Tanjug news agency said.

"The need was also stressed for intensifying efforts in implementing the tasks for development of the armed forces and the country's defense preparations according to established plans."

Despite the council's emphasis on readiness, there was no evidence of special military activity around the capital, as there was during the amputation of Tito's left leg last month. There were reports, however, that government offices were again on 24-hour call.

The defense meeting was chaired by Lazar Kolijski, who would become chairman of the Presidency Council in the event of Tito's death. The Presidency Council, which includes representatives from the six republics and two autonomous provinces, would succeed Tito as head of state.

Meanwhile, the official Tanjug news agency said Premier Veselin Djuranovic would end the visit to East Berlin he began Wednesday. The trip had been scheduled to last until Friday, and cutting it short was another indication of Tito's failing condition.

Tito's eight doctors said his "general state of health" worsened Wednesday and included a "further weakening" of his kidneys and heart. "Intensive measures of treatment are being administered," they said.

The bulletin was the grimest since Tito was admitted Jan. 12 to a clinic in the Slovenian capital of Ljubljana, 300 miles northwest of Belgrade. Doctors there removed his left leg Jan. 20 to prevent fatal gangrene stemming from blocked arteries.

Tito had been reported making a marvelous recovery until Sunday, when doctors first said he was suffering from "kidney and digestive problems." A bulletin the following day spoke of "a weakening" in the heart.

Most Yugoslavs in the capital appeared to be taking the news of Tito's illness calmly, although some expressed fears that the man who had led their country since World War II might be near death.

Foreign diplomats said they had received no information beyond that contained in the medical bulletins. One diplomat added, "That's gloomy enough."

Cronkite to step aside in '81; Rather to take anchorman slot

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Cronkite, for many years one of the nation's most trusted television newsmen, will step aside early next year as "CBS Evening News" anchorman for a man he calls "the new champion" — Dan Rather.

"We — and you — will be in the best of hands," the grandfatherly Cronkite said Thursday in reporting the network's decision moment before signing off with his familiar "And that's the way it is..."

CBS News' selection of Rather to succeed America's best-known broadcast journalist climaxed years of speculation as to who would guide network television's No. 1 nightly news program after Cronkite. Rather, as did Cronkite, will double as anchorman and managing editor for the "Evening News."

"I can't think of anybody in this entire business," Cronkite told a crowded news conference Thursday afternoon, "who is as qualified as Dan Rather for this job."

CBS News President Bill Leonard said Rather, perhaps most-recognized for his tough questioning of President Richard M. Nixon during the Watergate scandal, had signed a new, long-term contract with the network. He would not discuss terms, nor would Rather.

in the three-way evening news competition, has made great strides in recent years to challenge CBS' supremacy, and was known to be a strong bidder for Rather.

HAD THE JOB gone to Mudd, or someone else, Rather said he would have remained at CBS. "This is a team, this is a family, and we all understand that," he said.

Indeed, Mudd was generally regarded in the early 1970s as Cronkite's heir-apparent, but Rather had become the favorite in recent years.

Leonard, Cronkite and Rather all issued what amounted to pleas for Mudd to remain with CBS News. Leonard said he had flown to Washington Thursday morning solely to break the news to Mudd.

"All I can say is that it was an extremely close call," Leonard said of his choice of Rather over Mudd. He said the network's highest executives, including CBS' founder and president, William S. Paley, had concurred in his selection.

Cronkite, a former foreign correspondent for United Press (now United Press International), joined CBS News in 1950. Millions of Americans associate his presence with coverage of the space program and political conventions.

RATHER, like Cronkite raised near Houston, joined CBS News' Dallas bureau in 1962, and almost immediately distinguished himself with his coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

He moved on to the White House in 1964, was transferred to the network's London bureau the next year, and returned to Washington in 1966. He covered the White House — with time out for a stint in Vietnam — through Watergate.

LEONARD said Cronkite would continue as "Evening News" anchorman, a position he has held since 1962, at least through the presidential inauguration in January. He said Cronkite, 63, would retain an active role with the network after that, covering hard news and special events and working on documentaries.

"I've inaugurated every president since Harry Truman, and I want to do one more," said Cronkite, who in a 1974 Phillip-Sindlinger survey was chosen TV's most trusted and objective newsman. A 1972 Oliver Quayle survey gave him a "trust index" of 73 — 17 points higher than President Nixon.

Leonard said the choice of Rather, clearly over CBS News colleague Roger Mudd, was in the making for some time. But the announcement was sudden, probably hastened by a desire to keep Rather at CBS.

Rather, a correspondent for "60 Minutes," CBS newsmagazine, and TV's top-rated prime-time show this season, acknowledged he had "listened carefully" to other proposals. There was one report he had been offered $8 million for five years, a figure neither he nor network executives would confirm.

Poland dumps Jaroszewicz, economic policies

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Piotr Jaroszewicz has been fired as Poland's premier, apparently because of discontent over his economic policies.

His ouster became public when the eighth Polish Party Congress omitted Jaroszewicz from its list of Politburo members. His removal from the politburo automatically meant he lost his post as premier.

Jaroszewicz, 70, who became premier ten years ago, suffered a heart attack early in 1979 and returned to his desk after a long convalescence.

His ouster was not entirely unexpected. Observers noted his conspicuous silence at the congress where he was scheduled to speak Tuesday, but did not.

Several other speakers indirectly accused him and his government of mismanagement and held him responsible for Poland's precarious economic situation.

Another indication that Jaroszewicz had fallen from party favor was television transmissions from the congress showing party leader Edward Gierek in close-ups, ignoring Jaroszewicz who sat right next to him.

DEAR ABBY

Tissue issue no bowl game

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What would you think of a daughter-in-law telling you at the dinner table that she thought you used too much toilet tissue? She said this right in front of her husband, my son! I told her I would be happy to buy her some more toilet tissue if she was low on it, but she insisted she had plenty — she just resented my extravagance! This same daughter-in-law informed me shortly after her baby was born that I would have to telephone a week in advance for an appointment to see the baby. Meanwhile, her mother runs in and out whenever she feels like it. I am not a difficult mother-in-law, Abby. I have another daughter-in-law with whom I get along beautifully. I am so upset about the way I have been treated that I am considering selling my property and using the money to travel and enjoy myself instead of leaving everything to my two sons. I am a widow (only 56) and am considered quite well-to-do. The other son (with the nice wife) says I should sell everything, travel, and live it up. The son with the dreadful wife says, "Don't sell. Keep it. You'll get more for it later." What should I do? If my husband were alive, he would leave nothing to the son with the terrible wife, since he never liked the girl. Your advice is needed. — NO NAME, PLEASE DEAR NO NAME: If it's necessary to sell your property in order to travel and live it up, sell it. Just keep enough to insure your future security. (P.S. Widows would be wise to discuss their financial matters with the trust officer of their banks, rather than with their children.)

DEAR ABBY: Please do us lawyers a favor and publish this. I vowed that if one more "friend" called me at home for free legal advice, I'd write another DEAR ABBY! The cheapskate who calls a lawyer at home asks if he has "a minute," and usually ends up talking half an hour. He calls us at home because he's afraid he'll get a bill if he calls the office. The cheapskate tries to make it sound like a "personal call" — "How's the family, etc.," but he always wants some legal advice. My free advice today is: "Do NOT call your lawyer at home except in a real emergency. DO call your lawyer's secretary for an appointment and expect to pay for the advice. — LEGAL EAGLE DEAR EAGLE: You could cure your cheapskate callers quickly by billing them for legal advice dispensed from your home as well as from your office. DEAR ABBY: When a 17-year-old boy asks a girl to a school dance, how long should he be kept waiting for her answer? The boy is our son, and the girl has kept him dangling for a week. I think she's keeping him dangling, hoping she will get a better offer, and if she doesn't get one, she'll go with him. So, how long should he dangle? — HIS MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: If he's been dangling for a week, he should consider himself cut down and free to ask another girl. Wedding bells in your future? Whether your lifestyle is bridal gown or blue jeans, Abby lays it all out for you in her booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby in care of this newspaper.

Saturday, February 16, 1980 YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Aquarians are generally strong individualists. You will score your biggest successes in the year ahead when you can work alone and at your own pace. You thrive on freedom and are lucky enough now to get a good share of it. Financial situation soon shows improvement. Traveling will be beneficial to your future in many ways. A new romantic interest this spring may not receive the immediate approval of family members, but this is an area where you must follow your own instincts. ARIES (March 21-April 19): Change of environment will be good for you and your mate. Partner will really welcome chance to alter routine, see you in different setting. Splurge a little but guard against going overboard.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You may be offered a chance to earn extra cash, but home projects completed in the restful atmosphere may prove more valuable than money in long run. Affection and consideration are helpful in mending romantic rift. GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your restless mood today should be translated into visiting or traveling with friends, seeking both pleasure and new inspiration. Contact them early in order to finalize arrangements, and share expenses. CANCER (June 21-July 22): Long range money commitment may be unwise. You may not have all the facts concerning condominium, home, property, investments. Get in touch with family friend who does know. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Maintain your composure and your life will remain on an even keel. Improve appearance. Avoid discussing politics with family member who disagrees with your view of the candidate. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be independent in thought and action, but consider what is best for most members of the family. A wish may be fulfilled this weekend, you could be called upon to teach a class. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A busy, but fun-filled day. Whatever you tackle should turn out well, but you may have to give yourself a push to get started. If you do not, someone else will! SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Solo efforts today may include working on hobbies, shopping, attending movies or taking long walks. Projects involving manual dexterity are preferred over intellectual endeavors. Good time to repair household items. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Change schedule to accommodate someone you love. Children need more tender loving care so give it freely. Do not accept a sudden financial proposition if it appears to have some flaws. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): When dealing with favorite person, it is sometimes better to leave certain things unsaid. You are ahead if you maintain the status quo. New information may not be accurate so be skeptical until truth is known. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Day favors weekend shopping and catching up on routine necessities. Spruce up or repair household things. Advice from a neighbor or old-

Good to the last drop—yours Copley News Service Ten months ago, a friend of mine decided to improve his health and dietary habits. In one month he gave up a pack-and-a-half-a-day, 26-year cigarette habit and eliminated meat and coffee from his diet as well! After three weeks his craving for cigarettes was completely gone and never returned. Likewise, he was not bothered by a desire to eat meat again. However, he could not lose his craving for coffee. Three months later, still yearning for a cup, he began the caffeine habit again. He was rewarded for his previous effort, however, and reduced a former 12 cups a day to two. Very few people consider coffee a drug, yet they will withhold it from their children. So, obviously, they must realize that coffee is habituating and addictive. (If you don't believe it's addictive, try going without it for a week.) Unfortunately, it's also not without serious side effects. A cup of coffee (or leaf tea) contains anywhere from 100 to 150 milligrams of caffeine. This caffeine not only works on the central nervous system, it also stimulates the release of glucogen which is sugar stored in the liver. This increases the blood sugar level and is one reason why coffee seems to give a "lift." The effect of coffee in releasing stored sugar puts stress on the endocrine (hormone producing) system, including the liver and pancreas. Remarkably, many people do not realize that coffee can produce the same symptoms as "anxiety neurosis." Dr. John F. Greden, a psychiatrist at the University of Michigan Medical Center warned in the American Journal of Psychiatry, "The syndrome of caffeineism reads like a classic description of an anxiety attack." This syndrome can include nervousness, irritability, agitation, headache, rapid breathing, twitching, insomnia and even ringing in the ears and flashes of light. Because it so closely resembles anxiety, doctors often will prescribe a tranquilizer to combat the symptoms which leave the patient on a coffee-tranquilizer treadmill (while paying for further therapy).

Minority med school enrollment up

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Last year, 12 months after Allan Bakke made his historic entrance to medical school at the University of California at Davis, the first-year class of 100 included exactly one black.

That lonely statistic would seem to bear out predictions by university officials that minority enrollment would plummet if the U.S. Supreme Court ruled against racial quotas at professional schools. But other statistics tell a different story — that applications from blacks to the Davis school surged in 1979, and that overall minority enrollment actually increased at Davis and at UC medical schools as a whole.

"Last year (1978) we really felt the Bakke decision in admissions," said Vicki Saito, information officer for the Davis medical school. "This year, we felt it less."

"I talk to students all the time," said Gary Perkins, head of the information office at the largely minority Extended Opportunity Program on the Davis campus, "and it's (the Bakke decision) meant some real hesitations. ... It's created much more of a pessimistic attitude.

"On the other hand, it's probably created other things more positive. Students realize they're going to have to be 200 percent better now because of the added barriers."

Bakke, a white engineer, entered the medical school 15 miles east of Sacramento in September 1978, under a Supreme Court ruling outlawing a Davis program that reserved 16 of the 100 places in each class for low-income minorities.

The court also ruled, however, that a school could use an admissions program that gave preference to race as one of several factors to promote diversity among students.

Such a program has since been adopted by Davis, and was already in effect in varying degrees at the other four UC medical schools: UCLA, Irvine, San Diego and San Francisco.

In fact, according to John Steward, dean of student affairs at Stanford University medical school, a nationwide study last summer of the 120 medical schools with white majorities showed that UC Irvine had the highest proportion of black, Hispanic and American Indian minorities, 22.5 percent. UC San Francisco was also among the top 10 with 16.5 percent.

Stanford, which at the time ranked fourth with 19.5 percent, dropped its separate admissions committee for minorities after the Bakke decision.

Instead, it adopted a program in which minorities get no express preference but the admissions committee includes members of minorities who are sensitive to differences in students' backgrounds, Steward said.

The first class to be admitted under Stanford's new system, last fall, had 22 percent blacks, Hispanics and Mexican-Americans.

Bakke's first-year class of 100 at Davis included four blacks, two Mexican-Americans, no American Indians and 14 Asians. The year before had included four blacks, eight Mexican-Americans and 15 Asians.

At all five UC medical schools, first-year minority enrollment in 1977 and 1978 dropped from 28 percent to 27 percent of the total. Discounting Asians, minority enrollment dipped from 16 to 14.5 percent.

But last fall, system-wide minority enrollment in the first-year class was 29 percent of the total. Not counting Asians it was 16 percent.

At Davis, while only one black enrolled out of six who were accepted, nine of 16 Mexican-Americans entered, compared to two of 18 the year before. There were also one American Indian student and 14 Asians, for a total of 25 minority students, compared to 20 in 1978.

Another sign that the impact of the Bakke case may be easing, Ms. Saito said, is the number of applications for admission at Davis.

Applications from blacks, which fell from 163 in 1977 to 131 in 1978, numbered 174 last year, she said. Applications from Mexican-Americans fell from 147 to 135, but she said that was offset by some energetic recruiting by Mexican-American students, who persuaded many of those who were accepted to enroll.

Ms. Saito said other reasons for changing enrollment patterns at Davis were the medical school's decisions to drop its pass-fail grading system, to give letter grades and to replace its unusual schedule of only four hours of required classes a day with a more conventional schedule of longer hours.

She said those changes, approved by the faculty to strengthen the academic program, may have discouraged some prospective students.

Chrysler may not need federal help

NEW YORK (AP) — Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca says his company may not need any of the $1.5 billion in federal loan guarantees approved by Congress because the automaker may be getting needed help from its bankers, The New York Times reported Thursday.

"We may be set," Iacocca said Wednesday in a telephone interview from Washington, noting that the banks are "showing some movement" toward providing financing concessions.

Iacocca qualified the optimistic assessment by saying sales of Chrysler autos would have to hold at January's levels, when the company sold 10,000 more units than the conservative target it set while seeking the loan guarantees.

Big Brothers, Big Sisters to launch volunteer drive

Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Midland will launch an all-out recruiting effort to reach adult volunteers next week as part of Big Brothers-Big Sisters Appreciation Week.

Some 42 children from one-parent homes already have been matched with adult volunteers, according to Julie Wolfe, executive director of the agency, but another 18 still are on the waiting list.

"As we enter the '80s, increasing numbers of children grow up in single-parent households. Nearly 8 million children across the nation today live with only one parent. And their needs are often more than one individual can meet," she noted.

"For more than 76 years, Big Brothers-Big Sisters has been concerned with helping these kids make it. Friendship, understanding, a sense of self-worth are the gains of the child.

"For the Big Brother or Big Sister, the reward is in knowing they've given a kid a chance — maybe kept him from getting into trouble," Ms. Wolfe noted.

Volunteers who choose to be Big Brothers or Big Sisters spend only a few hours a week with a Little Brother or Sister doing almost anything, from seeing a movie to taking a walk to just talking, she noted.

The recruiting program for more adults will be part of the activities planned as Midland joins communities across the country in recognition of the important role a Big Brother or Sister plays in a young person's life, she said.

As part of the week's activities, Mayor Ernest Angelo has signed a proclamation declaring Feb. 17-23 Big Brother-Big Sister Appreciation Week in Midland.

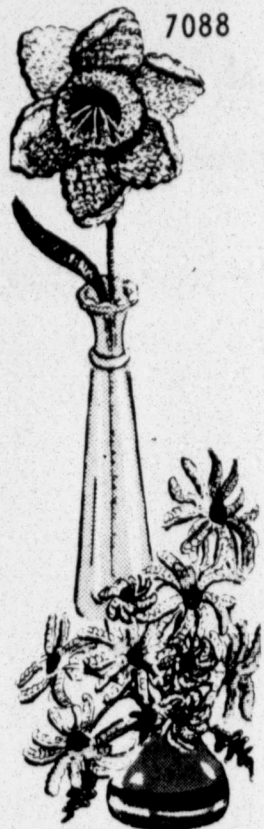

Further information about the program may be obtained by calling Julie Wolfe at 683-4241.

ENGINEERS

GULF SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY, one of the operating companies of the GULF OIL CORPORATION, has a job opening for an engineer desiring to join a reservoir and formation characterization group. This group provides special well and reservoir evaluation services to GULF's worldwide production operations. The position requires a degree in Petroleum, Mechanical, Electrical or Chemical Engineering. Responsibilities for the job include maintaining and operating custom designed logging units, and performing unique transient pressure tests. The successful candidate would be in charge of designing, conducting, analyzing and reporting the test projects. Onsite work at worldwide locations may consume up to one half of the engineer's time. The group is based at our Southwest Houston Location, away from the Downtown congestion. Qualified applicants are invited to submit their resumes to the address below. The interviews will be conducted in Odessa, Texas.

More room; better gas mileage ratings than Cadillac.*

Continental's fuel efficiency ratings are up 41% over last year.

This remarkable improvement is the result of extensive research and development that has dramatically reduced size and weight with no sacrifice in interior space and comfort.

17 EPA EST. MPG. 24 EST. HWY. MPG.

That's better EPA Est. MPG than Eldorado and Seville.

In fact, no large eight-cylinder car beats Lincoln's EPA Estimated MPG. And Continental sedan offers more luggage space and more front and rear passenger room than Cadillac sedan.† Its miles ahead.

*Based on EPA Interior Volume Index, excluding Fleetwood Limousine.
†Excluding diesel engines.
Based on a comparison of standard engines.
††Compare this estimate to the estimated MPG of other cars. You may get different mileage depending on how fast you drive, weather conditions and trip length.

Strong second-half surge saves struggling Irish

NEW YORK (AP) — For a while there, New York City looked like Upset City to North Carolina and Notre Dame.

There was Rutgers leading the 11th-ranked Tar Heels by five points at the half. And there was Fordham ahead of the 12th-ranked Fighting Irish by eight at intermission.

The expected outcomes eventually materialized at Madison Square Garden Thursday night, but not before the underdogs had their bite of glory in the Big Apple.

Especially Rutgers. "Playing North Carolina and playing in the Garden helped us get up for the game," said Rutgers Coach Tom Young after his team's 73-70 overtime loss to North Carolina. "But we're still a young team and our youth hurt us down the stretch."

The Tar Heel victory came in the first game of a double-header, preceding Notre Dame's hard-fought 86-76 victory over a sky-high Fordham team.

Losing 37-32 at the half, the Tar Heels got moving after intermission behind Mike O'Koren, who scored 15 of his game-leading 24 points in the second half. The Tar Heels appeared to have the game wrapped up in the last few seconds, but then Daryl Strickland hit a long-distance shot at the buzzer to send the contest into overtime, tied at 67.

"I thought we had the game won in regulation," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. "We played good defense at the end, and I know that Rutgers didn't get the shot they wanted."

Strickland's shot set the stage for a low-scoring overtime and Smith's team finally put the Scarlet Knights down with the help of Dave Colescott's go-ahead basket with 2:35 left.

"Down the stretch, we didn't play like a normal Carolina team plays," added Smith. "We just played good enough to win."

Notre Dame was not up to its usual standard of play, either, allowing Fordham to hold a 37-29 lead at the half. But the Irish were a dramatically different team in the second half behind the inspired play of Orlando Woolridge and Kelly Tripucka.

Woolridge scored 12 of his 23 points to key an 18-6 burst at the start of the second half that propelled Notre Dame into a 47-43 lead with 13:46 remaining. The Irish held their advantage the rest of the way, several times taking 12-point leads.

"Orlando really turned it on in the second half," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps. "And we played a great second half of basketball. We needed this win to carry us the rest of the season."

Fordham Coach Tom Penders, struggling through a desultory 9-14 season, saw a lack of inspiration in his team after intermission.

"The halftime hurt us," said Penders. "We had the momentum going in the first half, and the intermission sort of slowed us down a little. I was worried about a Notre Dame flurry that would take us out of the game — and sure enough, it happened in the second half."

While North Carolina and Notre Dame managed to stave off upsets, two other Top Twenty teams weren't so lucky, as No. 9 Ohio State was shocked by Minnesota 74-70 and No. 15 Purdue lost a 57-54 decision to Northwestern.

Elsewhere, third-ranked Louisville stopped West Virginia 90-78; fourth-ranked Oregon State turned back Washington 82-73; No. 17 Weber State defeated Nevada-Reno 57-55 and No. 20 Indiana trimmed Iowa 66-55.

Kevin McHale scored 20 points and Mark Hall sank seven free throws in the final two minutes to lead Minnesota's upset of Ohio State. Mike Campbell scored 21 points, including a free throw with 13 seconds left, to lead Northwestern over Purdue.

Darrell Griffith scored a career-high 35 points to pace Louisville over West Virginia.

Mark Radford's 19 points triggered Oregon State over Washington. David Johnson scored 20 points, including two free throws with four seconds remaining, to seal Weber State's triumph over Nevada-Reno. Indiana beat Iowa as Butch Carter hit three key baskets in the closing minutes.

Bucks closing gap on Kansas City

By The Associated Press

Marques Johnson and the rest of the Milwaukee Bucks are beginning to feel bullish despite what Coach Don Nelson called their "matador" defense in the first half Thursday night.

The Bucks pulled away after the intermission for a 120-103 victory over the Warriors that left them just 2 1/2 games behind first-place Kansas City in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division.

In other games, the Seattle SuperSonics defeated the Denver Nuggets 93-84, the New York Knicks nipped the San Antonio Spurs 128-124, the Indiana Pacers shaded the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-114 and the New Jersey Nets crushed the Utah Jazz 137-96.

In winning its fifth consecutive game, Milwaukee was led by Johnson's 25 points, 20 by Junior Bridgeman and 14 apiece by Dave Meyers and Bob Lanier.

"It was good to see the real Marques Johnson back. He needed a game like this," said Coach Don Nelson. "We were like two different clubs. In the first half, everyone played matador defense. We weren't talking on defense. Our offense was terrific, but I didn't have one player who wanted to play defense. That point was gotten across at halftime."

SuperSonics 93, Nuggets 84

Guards Dennis Johnson and Gus Williams combined for 18 third-quarter points as Seattle recorded its seventh consecutive victory. The Sonics, who shot only 35 percent in the first half and trailed 52-45, regained their touch in the third quarter and outscored the Nuggets 16-2 over the final six minutes.

Knicks 128, Spurs 124

Toby Knight and Ray Williams led a late New York rally. Knight scored 12 of his 32 points and Williams nine of his 24 in the last quarter. Bill Cartwright led the Knicks with 30 points as the lead switched hands 35 times and the score was tied on 29 occasions. George Gervin led the Spurs with 32.

Pacers 118, Cavaliers 114

Johnny Davis scored 22 points and James Edwards added 19, including a crucial tip-in with 30 seconds to play, as Indiana handed Cleveland its sixth loss in the last seven games. The Pacers jumped out to a 72-46 halftime lead by shooting 62 percent but the Cavaliers pulled within two points with 49 seconds to play before Edwards' tip-in.

Nets 137, Jazz 96

Mike Newlin scored 24 points as the Nets overcame a horrendous first quarter and rolled up their highest point total of the season. After trailing 31-20 early in the second quarter, the Nets outscored Utah 117-65 in the final 35 minutes although they didn't take the lead until the start of the third quarter. Besides Newlin, four other Nets scored 16 or more points.

Ellenberger indicted

Former University of New Mexico basketball Coach Norm Ellenberger has been indicted by a federal grand jury on mail fraud charges in connection with the preparation of junior college transcripts for Lobo athletes...U.S. Attorney R.E. Thompson said the indictment handed down Thursday charged Ellenberger and John Whisenant, a former assistant basketball coach at UNM, with taking part in a scheme to defraud the school's dean of admissions, the Western Athletic Conference and the NCAA...Ellenberger, 48, was indicted on five counts of mail fraud, one count of interstate travel in aid of racketeering enterprises and one count of wire fraud...Whisenant, 35, who came to New Mexico in 1972 after three years as head basketball coach at Arizona Western Junior College, was indicted on four counts of mail fraud...Whisenant resigned at the end of the 1978-79 season...The indictments stemmed from a grand jury investigation that began Dec. 13...

Nicklaus plans scenic course

"Good dirt, running water and beautiful oak trees" will frame Jack Nicklaus' 18-hole golf course in the Central Texas hills, the golf superstar says...Nicklaus told a news conference Thursday his new course, 25 miles from Austin, would include "one of the most photographed holes in America"...The seventh hole is the showpiece, Nicklaus said, describing a par 3, 150-yard hole that plays over a 15-foot waterfall to an elevated green with water behind it...Nicklaus said the $3 million Hills of Lakeway course also will have a three-hole course which Nicklaus claims is the first facility ever constructed specifically for teaching golf...The 180-acre Lakeway course — par 72 and 6,900 yards — should be completed by the spring of 1981, he said...Nicklaus designed the course as part of a residential development which limits golfing membership at the course to 600 property owners...Nicklaus said he would build a house near the course...Nicklaus said Hills of Lakeway would not be suitable for PGA tournament golf, which must accommodate large crowds, but could be used for events such as the NCAA championships or television specials...He said the course will have Bermuda grass fairways and bentgrass, medium-sized greens...The 18th hole, he said, is similar to the final hole at Pebble Beach, Calif., "with a smaller ocean" — actually a creek...Nicklaus, winner of 17 major golf tournaments, heads the Golden Bear Co. of Palm Beach, Fla., which designs, constructs and maintains golf courses around the world...

Walls, Dickey showdown on tap

The 60-yard dash tonight featuring Texas' freshman Herkie Walls and Texas A&M's senior Curtis Dickey headline the seventh annual Southwest Conference Indoor Track and Field championships...Dickey, a two-time NCAA indoor 60-yard champion, has already beaten Walls once this year...Dickey's best time has been 6.12 seconds...Walls has run a 6.08...Arkansas was a big pick to successfully defend its championship at Tarrant County Convention Center...SMU's Michael Carter, only a freshman, will draw a big crowd...He has a world best loss of 66-feet, 10-inches this winter...The pole vault could be another crowd pleaser with A&M's Randy Hall who went 17-feet at Monroe last week...Texas freshman Desmond Morris has cleared 7-feet, 2-3/4 inches in the high jump, best ever in the SWC...The meet, sponsored by the Fort Worth Coaches Association, got underway at 1 p.m. with the first triple jump ever held in the SWC...The finals were scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m.

The Facts May Startle You! CLM-The New Engine Treatment.

Independent tests by Hauser Laboratories revealed startling facts about CLM, the new engine treatment:

- Fact: CLM's unique round, micro-sized metal particles work like millions of tiny ball bearings plating and protecting your engine, old or new.
- Fact: CLM increased gas mileage by 9.4%—and some customers have written us about increases up to 33%.
- Fact: CLM cut carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions by 30 - 50%.
- Fact: CLM radically cut oil consumption, especially the smoky burning of oil. Hauser found that one test car that previously "ate" 1 quart of oil every 250 miles, used only 1 quart of oil in 1000 miles after the addition of one bottle of CLM—a decrease of 600%.
- Fact: CLM gives your engine more power, with an immediate increase in cylinder compression and idle—which increase engine horsepower.
- Fact: CLM prevents engine wear. After 10,000 miles of tests under load, the least possible engine wear was observed. Due to conditions and make of engine, your results may vary from the above tested results.

Put a bottle of CLM in your crankcase every time you change your oil, and save money, gas, oil, maintenance, upkeep—not to mention polluting emissions.

Everyday you drive, you save!
