NEWS IN BRIEF

Disturbance noted

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) -About 70 inmates in a punishment unit at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary set fire to cell furnishings, shouted obscenities and hurled objects at guards Friday evening.

Deputy Warden Richard Carswell said a few guards suffered "minor injuries" when they were struck by objects thrown by prisoners.

They were all locked in their cells during the entire disturbance," Carswell said.

Carswell said officials were concerned with trying to keep the situation calm Friday

All 777 inmates at the state's maximum security prison were locked in their cells when the disturbance began shortly after the evening meal Friday and all inmates were accounted for, Carswell said.

Treaty ratified

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet parliament has formally ratified a treaty with Afghanistan dealing with the "temporary stay" of Soviet troops in that country, the official news agency Tass said Friday

The terse Tass announcement in Moscow was believed to be the first public reference to the existence of a treaty on the Soviet presence in Afghanistan. Tass did not say when the treaty was signed, but Western and Asian diplomats in Moscow said the accord may have been concluded during the mid-March visit of Afghan Foreign Minister Shah Mohammad Dost, who discussed the presence of Soviet

Strike to end

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla (AP) - Striking security guards at the Kennedy Space Center reached a tentative agreement Friday with Wackenhut Services Inc., officials said.

The guards were expected to approve the settlement Saturday and return to work at 10 p.m. Sunday, said Al Scholar, president of the United Plant Guard Workers local union.

Hostages freed

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) -Guerrillas released two more hostages from the occupied Dominican Republic Embassy on Friday, leaving 23 captives still

The freed men, both foreigners and private citizens, were identified as William Barquero Montiel, a former Nicaraguan ambassador to Colombia. and Manuel Lozano, a Spanish importer who sold liquor and other supplies to a number of embassies here.

Nurse pleads

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) -Jani Adams, an intensive care nurse accused of tampering with the life-support gear of a terminally ill patient who later died, pleaded innocent Friday to a charge of murder. She was ordered to stand trial beginning June 23.

Miss Adams, who has been suspended from her job at Sunrise Hospital near the Las Vegas Strip, appeared nervous as she entered her plea in Clark County District Court before Judge Michael Wendell. The 32-year-old nurse had been indicted Wednesday by a grand jury that was investigating reports a "Death's Angel" was responsible for the deaths of one or more patients at the hospital. She is free on $15,000

Claims filed

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) - The state Department of Finance said Friday it has received 26 notices of claims against the state resulting from the Feb. 2-3 riot at the New Mexico State Penitentiary in which 33 inmates died.

These notices were filed by representatives of 15 of the inmates who were killed during the uprising and by 11 inmates who allege they were injured.

U.S. clergymen prepare Easter rites for hostages

By The Associated Press

Three American clergymen left for Tehran Friday to hold Easter services for American hostages held by militants inside the U.S. Embassy. A plan to transfer the hostages to Iranian government control appeared mired and there was no word Friday of any attempt to revive it. A spokesman for the embassy militants said American and Iranian clergymen had been invited to pay an Easter Sunday visit to the hostages, who on Good Friday spent their 153rd day as captives. One of the clergymen, the Rev Darrell Rupiper, a Roman Catholic from Omaha, Neb., said he hoped the trip would be "beneficial to the hostages and, hopefully, it will serve to bring about reconcillation between America and Iran

Rupiper said he was invited to Tehran with the Rev. Jack Bremer, a Methodist from Lawrence, Kan, and the Rev. Nelson Thompson, a Kansas City, Mo., Methodist. All three are members of the American-Iranian Crisis Resolution Committee, and Rupiper and Bremer recently traveled through Iran under committee aus-

"Our primary mission is the Easter service and any pastoral relationship that may work out with the hostages," Rupiper said later at an airport news conference in New York. Bremer added of It is not our primary mission to secure the release of the hostages at this point. However, we will enter into any dialogue of reconciliation that the committee has engaged in the past months.

The ministers carried letters of 'seasonal greetings of hope, new life, patience and perseverence" from the hostages' families. They said they would arrive in Iran Saturday evening and expected to be there four or

Rupiper added he thought America should "admit complicity in the crimes of the shah promise not to place any obstacles in the extradition of the shah for trial" and promise not to "mingle in the internal affairs of Iran in the future "

The militant said Iranian television might film the visit, as it did services by three American clergyman last Christmas Those churchmen said they saw 43 Americans at the embassy and three others held at the Foreign Ministry since the Nov. 4 embassy takeover.

New anti-American propaganda poured from Iran as newspapers, radio, clergy, and government officials joined the militants in criticizing President Carter for what they called his "rejection" of a demand by the Revolutionary Council to clarify U.S.

The rhetoric came the day after the council delayed a proposal that it request the embassy militants to turn over the hostages to the government. Iranian leaders reportedly wanted Carter to agree that the Iranian Parliament, or Majlis, has the right to decide the fate of the hostages, as decreed by revolutionary leader Ayatellah Ruhollah Khomeini.

The issue of the hostages will be decided by the unified will of the nation through the Islamic consultative assembly (Majlis) which shall decide on it, shall announce their decision and act on it," a leading Iranian clergyman told a Sabbath Prayer assembly

'American threats (to)...take economic or political reprisals against the Iranian government will not have the slightest effect," Hojatoeslam Ali Khamenei said in his weekly sermon at Tehran University Tehran radio said: "It seems that the U.S. president has rejected the Iranian Revolutionary Council's call to clarify his stand candidly.

The Foreign Ministry said Carter was engaged in a war of nerves, and an embassy militant declared: "We didn't expect the great Satan of America to do anything but make

About 200 Iranians demonstrated outside the embassy to protest what they said was U.S. pressure to tre the Americans before the Majlis convenes. The nation is between first and second round parliamentary elections, and the Majlis is not expected to convene before June.

In exchange for the hostages' freedom. Khomeini and the militants are demanding the return of ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi from Egypt, where he is undergoing cancer therapy and recovering from surgery to remove his cancerous spleen on of Christians, many of them shouldering heavy wooden crosses, moved in solemn procession up the Via Dolorosa to Calvary this Good Friday to commemorate Christ's Passion.

Pilgrims of Roman Catholic, Greek Orthodox and other Eastern faiths jostled around the sites revered by Christendom as the scenes of the Crucifixion and Resurrection. By an unusual conjunction of the Gregorian and Julian calendars Holy Week for the major Christian faiths coincided this year, along with the seven-day Jewish holiday of Passover Israeli officials said 30,000 people came to the Holy Land on organized pilgrimages and were among a record 95,000 Christians and Jews here for the holiday season.

Williamson said tankers currently are not under control of the port. Under the Pelican Island plan, he said, supertankers would be required to adopt safety measures that would reduce the risk of collisions and catas.

Pelican Island flanks the north side of the harbor portion of the Galveston Channel. The STOP group contends supertankers would be operating within a few hundred yards of homes and the vast University of Texas medical complex. The JOBS group contends the chances for a supertanker explosion are one in 67 million.

STOP also fears a financing plan under which Galveston Wharves fear a default would make the city responsible for the bonds. JOBS spokesmen, however, say Pelican Island would hold the lone responsibility.

The Pelican plan would include major storage facilities in the Texas City area with pipeline links with refinery-petrochemical complexes in the Houston, Freeport and Beaumont

The Texas Deepwater Port Authority has all but abandoned its hopes for building a $750 million offshore terminal 27 miles south of Freeport. Tentative use agreements from major oil companies covered less than half the 1.4 million barrels a day needed to finance $1.25 billion in bonds.

The state agency took over the project after the Seadock consotrium bowed out because of what it termed onerous federal regulations.

OCAW workers back at jobs in refineries in two states

DENVER (AP) - More than 1,700 workers who had been striking were back on the job Friday at Mobil refineries in two states after ratifying a contract.

That left 12,000 members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union continuing a strike against oil companies that began Jan. 8. Union locals conduct negotiations with the companies, then submit the pacts to OCAW headquarters in Denver for approval. The Mobil refineries where workers returned Friday are in Beaumont, Texas; Cicero, Ill.; and East St. Louis, Ill. But workers at four other Mobil plants have not ratified contracts. Those plants are in Paulsboro. N.J.; Buffalo, N.Y.; El Segundo. Calif.; and Ferndale, Wash.

In Ferndale, where 200 union members are employed, ratification was being held up by a dispute over six employees who were fired or suspended following confrontations on a picket line, said Dick Bailey, employee relations manager for the Mobil

In all, about 43,000 union members have settled with oil companies in the longest nationwide refinery strike.

Most of the workers refusing to ratify work at Gulf and Texaco refineries, where workers were disciplined after alleged incidents on picket lines, union officials said. Also striking were 2,500 workers at refineries owned by Chevron, the only major oil company that has not settled with any union locals, officials

The settlements have been modeled on an agreement reached by the union and Gulf. The agreement calls for an hourly wage increase of 52 cents in addition to a 5 percent raise retroactive to Jan. 8. Under the agreement, refinery workers would receive a 10.5 percent wage increase next January. Workers had been averaging $9.55

Red Sovine, 61, dies after auto accident

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Country music singer Red Sovine, best known for his 1976 hit song "Teddy Bear," about a crippled boy befriended by truck drivers, died Friday after a traffic accident, authorities said. He Witnesses said a van driven by Sovine ran a red light and collided with a car at 10:40 a.m. CST in a residential section of southern Nashville, said patrolman William Bay of the Nashville Police Department. The driver of the car was only slightly injured.

Lamar Jackson, director of public affairs at St. Thomas Hospital, said a preliminary autopsy showed Sovine died of massive internal injuries abdominal bleeding related to a la-cerated spleen and liver along with fractured ribs and breastbone.

The autopsy did not indicate if Sovine had a heart attack before the accident, although later test results may answer that question, Jackson

Jackson said Sovine died shortly before noon in the hospital's emergen-

'Teddy Bear' was a sentimental recitation about a crippled boy who complained of loneliness while talking to truck drivers on a Citizens Band radio at his home. The boy, whose "handle" was "Teddy Bear." subsequently was visited by truck drivers who gave him rides.

During the million-selling song, one of the first about CB radios, Sovine's voice cracked.

"I'm very sentimental," he said in an interview when the song was popular. "To do a recitation well, you have. to get all wrapped up in it. I still cry sometimes when I do it, especially if the place is quiet.

Most of his records were about truck drivers. His other hits included 'Phantom 309." "Little Rosa" and 'Giddy-Up Go.

Sovine's real name was Woodrow Wilson Sovine but everyone called him "Red" because of his hair.

Cloudy skies expected Easter

With a little luck, those April showers may be coming our way tonight or Sunday. Such predictions, even though at a less-than-encouraging 20 percent, come from the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. No rain has fallen over the Midland area this month. And so far this year, only 0.78 inch of rainfall has been recorded. Normal rainfall for the first quarter of the year is 1.74 inches, said the weatherman. Normal rainfall for the year is 13.51 inches. Low cloudiness is to greet earlyrisers on Sunday and may put a damper on sunrise Easter services for some worshipers. The high temperature today is to be in the mid-70s, and the low tonight is to be near 50. High Sunday is to be in the upper 70s. Friday's high temperature reading was 69 degrees, while the record high low was 39, and the record low for the date is 28 degrees in 1970. Sunset today will come at 7:11 p.m.. and sunrise Sunday will be at 6:31 ents told a news conference. "Some will be made by the federal government and some we can make ourselves.

Clements also said his investigative group, headed by Budget Director Paul Wrotenbery, would be probing probation procedures used by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles and parole commissioners:

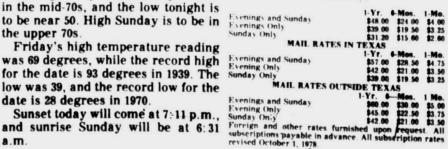

"There needs to be some corrective measures but I don't want to talk about that now," Clements said.

A coalition of social activists said earlier in the week that a million Texans might go hungry, and some might die, if President Carter carries out his budget-cutting threats that might stop the food stamp program about June 1.

"I think the food program has been abused in Texas and we are going to look into it," Clements said. "We will see if we can identify these abuses and make some changes."

Child care regulations could cost some jobs

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — New federal day care guidelines might force 3,000 low-income Texans to quit their jobs, the commissioner of the Texas Department of Human Resources said Friday.

The new regulations go into effect Oct. 1.

Jerome Chapman said U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials say the guidelines add $90 a year to the cost of keeping a child in a federal-state funded day care center.

However, the commissioner predicted the additional cost would be even greater and would reduce the number of children in the program by 3,000, or 20

"This is a blow to those mothers who have been progressing toward economic self-support," Chapman said. Texas now has 15,079 children in subsidized day care centers, accord-

Working parents whose income is less than 56 percent of the state median income can place their children in the day centers while the parents work or

"This is going to be disheartening to the parents who are earnestly trying to work themselves out of poverty and into self-sufficiency," said

The revised federal guidelines require more day care workers per child, raising the ratio from one adult per four children to one for every three children.

The centers will have to provide breakfast for the children if requested by the parents. Health assessments and immunizations are also required. The present average daily cost per child under two years old is $12.42. Under the new rules, the cost will go to $18.53 per child, according to

"I think it is absolutely incredible that the secretary of HEW signed these regulations right after Congress found out it had overspent its budget ceiling by $10 billion, and right before the President made his announcements that this country is in a financial crisis," Chapman said.

"This is particularly damaging to people who want to be in the work force, off welfare, and enjoy the satisfaction of paying their own way,"

Project announced to aid handicapped

AUSTIN - "The handicapped have historically been shoved into a corner, and they are not going to stay there anymore.

Those are strong words from Stephen Hinshaw, a Midland native who was recently named coordinator of Affirmative Action for the Handicapped, a new project recently announced by the Texas Merit Sys-

The Merit System designed Affirmative Action for the Handicapped to help assure that qualified handicapped persons have equal opportunity to both hear about and be selected for state jobs.

Hinshaw and his staff are responsible for identifying where any artificial barriers in recruitment and selection of the handicapped might exist, making recommendations for reasonable physical accommodations, needs, and developing a workable model for the agency to implement.

The project, unique to the Merit System, is emphasizing the handicaps of the visually, hearing and mobility impaired, and also for individuals with "hidden handicaps" such as epilepsy, diabetes, recovered alcoholics and drug abusers, and the mentally retarded and mentally restored.

Hinshaw brings a special awaremess to his role as coordinator as a consumer, a consultannt in awareness training on the handicapped to both the public and private sectors, and as a board member of the Epilepsy Association of Texas.

He is a product of Midland High School, and a of The University of Texas at El Paso, where he received both bachelor's and mas-

Market chain suggests end to use of coupons

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

A Washington, D.C., supermarket chain says manufacturers should stop issuing grocery coupons and should lower prices instead.

Giant Foods, one of the 25 largest chains in the country, prepared a 20-minute film pointing out what it claims are the disadvantages of coupons. It showed the film to the Grocery Manufacturers of America, whose members issue many of the billions of coupons distributed each year, and may show it to consumers in the future.

'We prepared the film to stimulate dialogue," said Barry Scher, a Giant spokesman, "We recognize there are tremendous problems handling coupons.... Hopefully, there are alternaof coupons, wouldn't it be better to use the promotional dollars to lower prices to all consumers?'

Paul Kelly, a spokesman for the manufacturers association, said that coupons do not increase prices. He said that coupons are used - like other promotional tools - to boost business. Increased business keeps costs - and prices - down, Kelly

"They are highly popular with con-sumers," he said, adding that coupons provide a direct saving. Shoppers do not have to rely on retailers to pass along benefits the way they do with reduced-price deals manufacturers offer to stores. Coupons "transfer a price reduction immediately to the consumer," Kelly said. W.F. Dobson, a spokesman for the Procter & Gamble, Co., also defended coupons. "We believe they're a proven way to efficiently encourage people to try our products," Dobson said. Coupons are "a very focused form of direct advertising" that "coincidentally offer consumers a real opportunity to save money," he added.

A.C. Nielsen Co. estimates that manufacturers distributed about 81.2 billion coupons last year, up about 11 percent from 1978. Millions more coupons were issued by individual stores. According to Nielsen, about 4 percent or just over three billion of the manufacturers' coupons were redeemed. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that up to 90 percent of all families use coupons at one time or another. Dobson said studies show that half of all households with an

Giant, which was one of the first stores to put a ceiling on some prices in response to a request from Esther Peterson, President Carter's special adviser on consumer affairs, present ment rate reached 5.8 Travland with the Texas ment rate was the highms manufacturer and issues its own store coupons.

The chain has no plans to stop accepting or issuing coupons, but Scher said "we certainly would" like to see the practice end.

Giant claims there are several problems with coupons, including misredemption. Scher said fraudulent use of coupons in 1978 cost the industry an estimated $140 million, representing about 20 percent of the $730 million worth of coupons re-

Would an end to coupons actually mean lower prices? "It's very difficult to answer," Scher said. "We think there would be savings for consumers if coupons were ended."

Kelly countered: "If you say get rid of coupons, you're saying get rid of promotion. If you say get rid of promotion, you're saying get rid of advertising." Carrying the discussion one step further, Kelly said, you could argue that there should never be product sales since these sales are also a form of promotion.

No one is certain, but a growing number of economists think it will climb still higher — much to the chagrin of business borrowers.

Banks use the prime as their base interest rate on loans to their most credit-worthy corporate customers. The prime is especially important because interest rates on almost all loans to businesses are scaled upward from it. Many loans already outstanding have provisions to adjust their interest rates in

By ROBERT BURNS

NEW YORK (AP) - The prime rate has been the talk of the financial

An anaylysis

Wednesday, economists predicted the record rate would send chills through the business community and have corporate treasurers searching harder to find ways to cut their loan needs

That was the aim of the Federal Reserve Board when it imposed stricter credit controls on March 14 in hopes of slowing inflation. The theory is to force businesses and individuals to reduce their demand for goods and services by reducing the amount of credit — and money — available

Bankers attribute the prime's unprecedented rise to their increasing costs of acquiring funds and their efforts to discourage borrowing. Some banks believe a slowdown in lending may be difficult to achieve because many corporations have standby credit agreements assuring they will be able to borrow money if needed. It is hoped high interest rates will dissuade some of those customers from borrowing. During the prime's surge of more than three percentage points in the last five weeks — its sharpest climb in history — loan demand remained surprisingly strong. Economists were waiting for signs of a slowdown, and it now appears their wait may soon be over. "The best way to characterize the demand here is 'flat," said George

Jurkowich, a spokesman for Chase Manhattan Bank, the nation's thirdlargest. "It certainly is not as strong as it was earlier in the year." At other major banks, however, business loan activity remains heavy. At Chicago's Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co., a spokesman called demand "very vigorous," Economists say many businesses are experiencing sales or profit declines, which sap their internal funds and force them to seek bank financing to cover inventory costs and tax obligations. In addition, some businesses are fearful of severe tightening in other sources of financing, such as commercial paper. These corporate IOUs, in very large amounts of at least $100,000, are exchanged in the "money market," where interest rates are as high as 161/4 percent for a five-day debt and the companies compete with banks for short-term credit,

Normally, when businesses face increased interest costs on their loans, they are able to pass them on to consumers. That is not necessarily true in times of a slowing economy. At F.W. Woolworth Co., where interest expenses rose 30 percent in its last fiscal year, the nation's fourth-largest-retailer has had to absorb part of the higher cost through smaller profits, a company official said. 'Competitive conditions make that the only practical thing to do," said spokesman Roy Garosalo.

When profits fall at businesses, especially smaller ones, the lack of funds can result in a greater dependence on bank financing, economists

But, "for some small businesses the prime rate is now out of reach," said David Jones, an economist for Aubrey G. Lanston & Co., a New York securities firm.

That leaves them with basically three choices: either pass along the higher costs, cut back on spending or go bankrupt - it's that serious now,

Working For Better Schools

James Ramsoure is never satisfied with "average" as a standard for Midland's Public Schools. He is constantly working to make our schools better and more effective...and he does a good job for all of us. James Ramsoure believes that schools must stress the basic, fundamental skills of reading, language and mathematics, and develop a sound vocational program which fits the needs of those students who do not plan to go to college. He believes we will never have the quality schools Midland deserves unless we are constantly working to be better than we are, and do better than we are doing.

Dollar 'steady'

NEW YORK (AP) The dollar held steady in extremely light trading Friday as most major European markets closed for a long Easter holiday weekend

Major bullion markets in Europe and the commodity exchanges in New York also were closed for Good Friday.

The lack of European trading slowed trading volume significantly in New York and banks wound up their trading sessions early.

Commercial demand was dampened by the long holiday weekend and the New York transit strike. The combination of those "killed the market," according to one New York trader.

Activity was not expected to return to normal until Tuesday. Major European dollar markets are closed Monday for the long Easter

The current keeper of the temples, Keo Pich, says only a major international effort can halt the decay of Angkor, a square mile of delicate friezes and powerful towers and galleries that were built in the 9th through the 13th centuries.

But such a project seems most unlikely - the Vietnam-backed communist government in Phnom Penh is not even recognized by the United Nations. Keo Pich, an energetic, 36-year-old archeologist, has no technical assistants, no documents and not the complex, in the company of high-ranking guests,

Hunts facing suit for silver gamble

NEW YORK (AP) - A lawsuit claiming damages or "many thousands" of industrial silver users says the silver-buying venture of the wealthy Hunt brothers was a scheme to artificially drive up the price. The class-action suit against Nelson Bunker Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt of Dallas was filed late Thursday in U.S. District Court by Wander & Co., a Manhattan jewelry maker.

Wander contended in court papers that the Hunts "devised a plan and scheme" to artificially boost the price of silver starting in January 1979. Wander said the scheme was carried out by buying silver futures and demanding delivery rather than liquidating contracts, then using the bullion as collateral for oans to further futures trading.

"Each purchase of a silver futures contract was made at an increasingly higher price," the complaint said. "By their purchases, the defendants amassed more than 100 million ounces of silver.

The suit alleged that by demanding delivery and 'hoarding' the silver, the Hunt brothers intended "to aggravate the world's shortage of silver and drive up the price."

Wander also said the Hunts furthered their scheme with untrue "widely-circulated statements questioning the sanity of any person who would be willing to sell silver for dollars" and untrue "bullish statements concerning the prospective value of silver."

The plaintiff noted the price of silver climbed from $6 per ounce in December 1978 to more than $50 by last Jan. 21. It later dropped as low as $10.80, costing the Hunts hundreds of millions of dollars, some of which they have yet to repay.

The lawsuit asks monetary damages for all silver product and by-product industrial users who bought the metal during the period at alleged artificially high prices.

Meanwhile, papers filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission show that members of the Hunt family were buying $2 million in stock in a major silver producer last week at the same time they were delaying payment of debts resulting from the plunging price of the metal.

The purchases of stock in Gulf Resources and Chemical Corp. were disclosed in a filing with the SEC which showed a subsidiary of Placid Oil, a Hunt family operation, bought 118,600 Gulf Resources shares between March 25 and March 28.

The price of the stock last week ranged from $16.25 to $24.125, with the low coming during the panic that followed revelation that the Hunt brothers had falled to meet a silver margin call of more than $100 million from Bache Group Inc., a major brokerage firm partially owned by the family.

Vietnam-wounded paraplegic builds career as hero historian

EDITOR'S NOTE - Terry Van Meter is a Vietnam rest of my life. I'd probably still be listed that way if I War-wounded paraplegic. But don't waste time feel-ing sorry for him. He doesn't. He says he has too every person with a handicap has to do — help much to do, as a military museum curator, to hide themselves when everybody else has given up." behind the handicap.

By TAD BARTIMUS

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP) — When Terry Van Meter was growing up, he dreamed of making military history. Now the 36-year-old paraplegic contents himself with preserving it.

Van Meter's desire to follow Patton and Pershing into American legend was shattered Aug. 28, 1968, in a hot and noisy jungle clearing halfway around the

A North Vietnamese machine gun sliced his spinal cord. For 45 minutes he lay crumpled but conscious, pinned down in the middle of a vicious firefight. Two years in hospitals and a dozen operations helped him survive bullet wounds in his neck, lung, spleen, left kidney, and shoulder, and grenade fragments that shattered both collar bones, ribs and one hand.

For the past 12 years, Van Meter, the new curator of the U.S. Cavalry Museum, has been fighting the odds and winning. He allows himself no self pity or regrets, believes that a man's life is what he makes it, and sheds no tears for what might have been.

'There are two directions in life - you can regress or progress," says Van Meter, a handsome 6-foot-4 former paratrooper from Sturgis, Mich. "You can either sit in a corner and feel sorry and bitter for the rest of your life, or you can pick up the pieces. I've got too much to do to hide behind this handicap."

He calls himself "a blessed man" and gives much of the credit to his wife, Jacquie. She was an Army nurse at the Valley Forge, Pa., hospital where he was flown to recuperate. They fell in love and got engaged just before she, too, shipped out for Viet-

He spent the year she was gone learning to stand up on braces and crutches. "She said, 'If you can stand up to get your medal, you can stand up to get married," he says. He stayed on his feet throughout the entire 45-minute ceremony in 1970.

The Van Meters now live in nearby Manhattan, Kan, with their 5-year-old son and infant daughter. Terry drives the 15 miles back and forth to the museum in a car modified with hand controls. He works out in the base hospital every day, and says, "For a man in my condition, I'm in good condi-

His immediate goal is to make the Cavalry Museum "one of the best west of the Mississippi River, be it private, public or military. We hope to preserve a unique period of this country's history, and expose as many people as possible to it."

The three-story museum is housed in what originally was the post hospital. It was built in 1855 of native limestone, has 20-foot ceilings and tiled fireplaces in nearly every room.

It does not have an elevator. Van Meter gets to the second and third floors in his wheelchair via a pulley device on the stairway bannister.

Close by is the house where Lt. Col. and Mrs. George Custer lived during their stay at the prairie reservation that was the gateway to the West following the Civil War. Monuments to great American Army leaders who passed through on their way to glory dot the post, which now is the home of helicopters instead of horses.

Van Meter's association with the museum started accidentally in 1975, when he went to work as a parttime volunteer cataloging some of its 10,-

'When I got out of the hospital I didn't know what to do," says Van Meter, who was retired as a captain after fighting to remain in the military. "I'd always planned to make the Army my life, travel around the world and retire as a general. At Norwich University, I'd majored in business administration but my real love was ROTC. As I floundered around trying to find a new direction, an Army general who'd been good to me all the way through said, 'Terry, do what you want to do.'

"His words opened a new concept to me. I decided to become a writer of the history of the infantry in

He picked Kansas State University in Manhattan for post-graduate study because it was one of only three offering a master's program in military history. It also was close to an Army hospital where Van Meter could have two more operations.

Van Meter doesn't actively campaign for more benefits for disabled veterans, and has serious misgivings about recent statistics which indicate Vietnam veterans are more disturbed, percentage-wise, than the men who returned from World War II and Korea with a handicap.

"I think if we keep hearing that the Vietnam vets are a lost society, we'll start believing it, and that's Van Meter says the job at the museum challenges him and keeps him close to the Army he loves. He retains many mannerisms from his military career, even down to answering the telephone: "Mr. Van Meter speaking, SIR!'

He was named curator last Sept. 14, and says he doesn't know how long his civil service assignment will last. But during his tenure, he hopes to greatly increase museum exhibits and attract more visi-

Money for salaries, supplies, staff travel and major artifact acquisitions comes from the Department of Defense budget. Last year's operating budget was $50,000. Extra funds come from book and post card sales and donations.

MOSCOW (AP) - The semi-official Soviet news agency Novosti said Friday the United States was supplying Afghan rebels with "chemical weapons" that affect eyesight and breathing and can cause death in large Details in the report indicated the substance involved could be American-made riot-control gas.

A Novosti report from Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan, said grenades with "a somewhat peculiar look" were discovered by a Soviet-Afghan patrol after a recent firefight with those it described as "40 members of a terrorist band trained by CIA instructors

It said the rebels' grenades were "filled with toxic CS substances" and were labeled "CS 517, made in Carlsberg, Pennsylvania 15681 USA." The designation "CS" has been used previously in the United States for riot

Foreign bird disease detected

WASHINGTON (AP) - A foreign disease of birds, one that can riddle U.S. poultry flocks if not curbed, has been detected in a yellow-naped Amazon parrot in California, the Agriculture Department said Friday. E.G. Ongert of the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service said the parrot was being treated at a veterinary animal hospital in Norco, Calif., when it was diagnosed as having exotic Newcastle

Ongert said the area around the hospital has been checked by agency inspectors and that "possibility of spread" of the disease is remote. The parrot was reported to have been among birds bought "from an unknown dealer operating from a truck" and that efforts are being

The first anniversary of Bhutto's death brought violence when a large number of people from many parts of the country gathered for memorial prayers at his grave in Larkana, described by a visitor as resembling an armed camp with heavy police and military contingents.

Police fired on mourners who threw stones at the cars of Bhutto political associates on their way to the grave, saying they had betrayed the Bhutto family, according to the newspaper Jang Report. It said two persons were killed and eight injured.

An Open Letter To All Midlanders from Alyson Ann Allison and James N. Allison, III

April 3, 1980

1980, we would like to state our feelings.

An Open Letter to All Midland Residents: Concerning the Reporter Telegram's page one editorial on April 2,

We have always felt that the voters are capable of making up their own minds and yoting their convictions in city elections. We still feel this to be true. .

In reference to the candidates in this particular race, we feel that THANE AKINS is especially well qualified to serve as Mayor of the City of Midland. He has the experience which makes him capable of holding the office and furnishing the leadership which is so necessary at this time of Midland's growth and development.

He has served on the planning and zoning commission and has been a member of the City Council for the past four years. He knows Midland's problems and we feel Mr. THANE AKINS is capable of taking the lead and solving them. He is free of political ties and is a free and conservative thinker, while at the same time, having an open mind as to the needs of all Midland residents. He is honest, conscientious and compassionate and THANE AKINS' record speaks for itself.

All of this makes the editorial position of The Reporter Telegram all the more appalling to us.

Ship captain charged with negligence

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - The captain of the freighter Mason Lykes has been charged with negligence by the U.S. Coast Guard following a collision between his ship and an empty tanker in Galveston Bay.

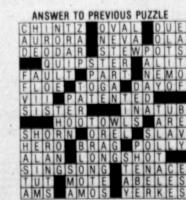

Lt. Ann Bennet, a member of the Coast Guard team investigating the collision, said Thursday the charge had been filed against Capt. H.G. Guice of New Orleans, skipper of the 540-foot freighter, owned by Lykes Shipping Co.

She said Guice was charged because he "failed to navigate with due Midland County Republican Women's caution," and because the captain failed to take several steps to prevent Midland Health & Welfare Association, the collision between his ship and the 789-foot tanker, Amoco Cremona. En Amie Review Club, noon, Midland Lt. Bennet added that the charges did not mean the captain or crew of Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, the Liberian-registered tanker were blameless. UTPB Alumni Writers' Forum, 7:30 Because the ship is registered in Liberia and the accident occurred in international waters, charges cannot be filed against the tanker.

Stayner, 14, who lived for seven years with kidnap suspect Kenneth Parnell, was to receive a $15,000 reward collected from more than 100 Ukiah residents when White was abducted Feb. 14.

Andrew Reese, an attorney representing the reward committee, said Stayner and his parents were to drive

UKIAH, Calif. (AP) - Steven up from their home in Merced, 200 miles to the south, to get the reward at a small ceremony in a downtown city park.

> White was expected to attend. The two boys had not seen each other since they hitchhiked into town March 1 from Parnell's mountain cabin 40 miles west.

Parnell was to appear in Merced Muncipal Court today as his attorney attempted to close his April 9 preliminary hearing to the public. The 48-year-old drifter is charged in both the 1972 abduction of Stayner and the Valentine's Day abduction of White.

Each Easter Oaklawn Park Baptist Church presents a special service dealing with the crucifixion. This program concludes with a man on a cross. Special lighting and sound effects take you near as possible to the feet of the cross. You truly have the feeling that you were there when Jesus was crucified. YOU WILL NEVER FORGET IT, that we guarantee. In addition a cat-of-nine-tails will be demonstrated to show you its destruc-tiveness and a crown of thoms will be displayed. When you leave Sunday you will have the greatest understanding of Christ's suffering that you have ever had! DON'T MISS IT. Sunday School begins at 9:45 A.M.

It would also not be an exaggeration to say that Gold, rabbi at Tifereth Israel Synagogue in San Diego, Calif., is proof that, though first impressions may last, bad first impressions need not warp.

One of the major achievements of Gold's life is that he not only overcame a childhood fear of Christians who went out of their way to be un-Christian to him but lived to see the day when he would embrace Christians as his brothers.

Gold's first impressions of Christianity were not especially endear-

Very early in life, Gold came to think of Christians more as agents of the devil than emissaries of the Prince of Peace.

Somehow, however, Gold managed to survive He will tell you that the grace of God probably had something to do

He was named "Shalom" because Aaron was highly respected as a lover of peace, a quality Gold's father esteemed as one of the manliest of

"My father wanted me to develop the kind of high character and personality that would make me, too, a pursuer and lover of peace among men, and subliminally I think it had a lasting effect on me," Gold said in an

The love of peace and reconciliation instilled in him by his father, said Gold, andoubtedly motivated him to pursue doctoral studies in marriage and family counseling at Columbia University, for example.

It also made it easier for him to believe the best about Christians he met in America after seeing firsthand the worst about Christians as a child

'Some things drummed into you by a parent as a child can stay with you and affect your whole life," said

"I really think my father's explanation of why he gave me the name 'Shalom' has remained with me ever since, and that I've tried throughout my life to be a pursuer and lover of peace. I certainly think that accounts for my participation in the ecumenical movement.

It would have been difficult, however, to see any kind of ecumenical future in store for the dark-haired little Jewish boy who spent the first six years of his life in southeastern Galicia, the Polish province where he

Then there was the priest who greeted students at the door of the local public school each day, reserving for Jewish students a very special kind of welcome.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Asbury Methodist hosts missionary conference

Asbury United Methodist Church, 106 W. Dakota St., will host a missionary conference April 11-13. Speakers will be Dr. and Mrs. Harold Greenlee, the Rev Paul Haines and the Rev. Paul Rucker. The Friday program begins at 7 p.m. with a covered dish dinner. Afterthe Saturday morning adult meeting there will be a noon luncheon for youth. The Saturday evening program will begin at 6 p.m. with an international dinner. Greenlee, a language specialist and professor of New Testament Greek, has for the past several years had special assignments with Wycliff Bible Translators. An ordained minister, he earned his doctorate at Harvard and has done post-doctorate work at Oxford University.

His wife, Ruth, is a nurse and she has led Bible studies for women. Haines, who graduated from Asbury College and Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky., is a missionary to Korea Rucker, a graduate of Marion College and Ball State University in Indiana, is a pastor and teacher in Indiana. The public is invited to attend.

Sunrise Service set

The Midland Association of Churches, in cooperation with the Ministerial Association, is once again sponsoring the annual Easter Sunrise Service Sunday at 6:30 a.m. at Resthaven Memorial Park. The service will be held at the east end of the cemetery and is open to the

The preacher for this year's service is the Rev. Clifford Blackburn of St. Ann's Catholic Church. Others participating in the service will be the Rev. Bob Ford of St. Mark's Methodist Church, the Rev. Charles Lutrick of First Methodist Church, the Rev. Gordon Garlington of Grace Union Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Les Harmon of the First Alliance Church, the Rev. John Long of Memorial Christian Church and the Rev. Laymon Martin of the People's Baptist Church.

The Easter Sunrise Service is a memorable way to celebrate Easter.

21st Lectureship Sunday

The Lee Street Church of Christ will host the 21st annual West Texas Lectureship beginning Sunday and running through Thursday. Visiting speakers will come from the surrounding West Texas area and from out of state. Daily sessions, to run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., will be in the North Side Church of Christ, 715 N. Lamesa Road, because of the expansion project currently under way at the Lee Street church. Evening sessions beginning at 7:30 p.m. will be held in the Lee Street Church of Christ activity center behind the church building at 101 N. Lee

A special program featuring singing groups from the surrounding area will be performed from 2:30 to 5 p.m. Sunday in the Carver Cultural Center auditorium on the corner of Illinois Ave. and Carver Street. All sessions are open to the public.

Telecast wins Angel award

"It Is Written," a syndicated religion telecast, has won an Angel award from Religion in Media at ceremonies in Hollywood. The program is seen on 65 television stations in the United States, 23 in Canada and about 35 more in Austrailia. Cost of broadcasting the program, seen locally on cable channel 11 from 10 to 10:30 a.m. Sundays, is supported in part by the Midland

Seventh-day Adventist Church. The program, produced at the Adventist Media Center in Thousand Oaks, Calif., an arm of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, took first place in the national television art category at the award ceremony. Religion in Media was established to honor presentations of religious and moral value in all forms of media. "It Is Written" was one of 51 Angel winners in 1979.

Sacrament highlights service

The Sacrament of Holy Communion, celebrating the resurrection of Jesus Christ, will highlight the 11 a.m. Easter worship service at Grace Presbyterian Church, 2801 N. Garfield St. Special Easter music will be presented by the church's adult choir, directed by Charlotte Hickman. A service of confirmation and commissioning will be featured during the 11 a.m. service, as members of the 1980 Communicants Class are received into the membership of the church. Youth being received into membership are David Bosecker, Sarah Metz and Lara Rennick.

Visit the wide variety of shops and boutiques in San Miguel Square and fill your shopping list with an exciting array of jewelry, sporting goods, clothing, ... anything you'd like. You could win all the merchandise on your list absolutely free! Here's how to play:

- 1. Pick up an official "Spring Shopping Spree" list from any of the friendly merchants in San Miguel Square. No purchase is required to participate. You must be 18 years of age or older to be eligible.
- 2. Browse through the Square and choose ten articles of merchandise (one from each of ten different stores) that you would like to win. Enter the merchandise, name of store, and retail cost for each item in the blanks provided on the official shopping list. Then ask a salesperson in each shop to initial your list next to the item chosen in their store. IMPORTANT: Any list missing the salesperson's initials beside any item of merchandise will automatically be disqualified.

After you've selected ten items from ten differen San Miguel Square shops, have a merchant total your shopping list and deposit it in the official entry box located by the cash register in every shop in the Square. REMEMBER: All ten items of merchandise must be entered on the shopping list in the same day. However, you may enter as many shopping lists as you like during the month long "Shopping Spree." All shopping lists must be deposited in an entry box before 1:00 p.m., Saturday, April 26, 1980.

4. On Friday, March 28, 1980, the President of the San Miguel Square Merchant Association selected at random a dollar amount between $1,000 and $1,500, and sealed it in an envelope. At 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 26, 1980, that envelope will be opened, revealing the sealed amount in dollars and cents. The shopping list whose total amount is closest to the selected amount entitles that participant to win all items listed, absolutely FREE! In case of a tie, the shopping list with the earliest date will be declared the winner.

Slaughter of DES-fed cattle delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal authorities have ordered a delay in the slaughter of cattle from 30 feedlots that are known to have used illegally the cancer-causing drug DES to stimulate the animals' growth.

As many as 200,000 head of cattle may be involved in a far-reaching investigation by the Food and Drug Administration and the Agriculture Department, officials said Friday.

Although the crackdown now centers on the 30 feedlots in California, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Texas, a background paper provided to The Associated Press said the problem may be much more widespread. "Evidence is beginning to accumulate that illegal implants (of DES in cattle) may be in use in Pennsylvania and Ohio. On the basis of present information, 200,000 cattle throughout the nation may ultimately be involved in the illegal DES operations.'

THE DRUG - diethylstilbestrol was used for many years as a feed additive or as implants for cattle. Once absorbed by the animal, DES stimulates growth, thus increasing weight and the chance of profit to owners.

It was banned in 1979 because of evidence that it causes cancer in animals and humans. All manufacture and shipment of DES was to have ceased last July 13; all use of DES in animals was to have ended by Nov.

FDA Commissioner Jere Goyan and Assistant Agriculture Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said their order to delay slaughter of the cattle was directed at 30 feedlots "that we know have implanted cattle with

TWO COMPANIES, Walco International, Inc. of Porterville, Calif., and Schmidt-Allen of Denver, Colo., are known to have sold DES implants after the FDA ban was imposed last year, officials said.

Both companies have agreed to recall existing stocks, officials said. Maxine Farmer, vice president of Schmidt-Allen, said that company was not advised of the July 13 cutoff

"Our problem is we felt that we got no instructions as to when the cutoff date was," she said. "We thought the user could use it (DES) up to Nov. 1, and thought we could sell it until

Comment from Walco International was not immediately available.

THE GOVERNMENT estimated that between 70,000 and 200,000 cattle received illegal implants and said some of the animals already had been Callers to the clinic are being re- slaughtered. Consumers may have immediate health threat. "The hazard posed by DES in beef is not from a few exposures, but from continuous exposure over a number of years. FDA and USDA scientists have assured us there is no appreciable health risk to the public from the consumption of beef' under the government plan, Goyan and Ms. Foreman said in a statement. Their agencies are requiring the 30 feedlots to have the DES implants surgically removed by or under the supervision of a federally accredited veterinarian. The cattle are to be held for at least 35 days after the implants are removed so the DES can be excreted from the animals' bodies. If the kidneys or livers are to be used for human consumption, the animals must be held for 63 days since those organs retain DES longer.

THESE MEASURES "will provide an adequate margin of safety for the American public from this incident," the two officials said.

The National Cattlemen's Association described the federal government's response as "impractical and cumbersome." The industry group did not condone illegal use of DES, but pointed that "the number of cattle involved in this incident represents a small proportion of the nation's total annual beef production."

The FDA and the Agriculture Department also will increase their surveillance of DES manufacturers and feedlots to determine if other illegal uses of the drug are being made.

Penalties associated with violations of this type range up to three years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each

ACCORDING TO THE background paper obtained by The AP, the investigation found that one supplier of DES implants - Walco International Inc. of Garden City, Kan., one of 40 Walco distributors nationwide made 57 illegal shipments of DES implants after July 12, 1979, to feedlots in Kansas and several neighbor-

Further it said, FDA reports show 58 feedlots "have implanted steers after the Oct. 31 cutoff date" and that one-third of the approximately 69,-500 head of cattle known to have been implanted with DES are ready to go to slaughter.

"Additionally, at least 60 other feedlots in California, Colorado, Kansas and Texas have been identified as recipients of DES implants between October 1979 and February 1980," it said. "FDA investigations are ongoing to determine the activities at the

Poisoning suspect charged with extortion

using poisoned food in an attempt to extort money from a supermarket was arraigned Friday on charges connected with extortion attempts against three other stores.

Richard Quincy Williams, 46, was charged with obstructing, delaying and interfering with commerce by extortion and with threatening physical violence to employees and customers of two San Diego Safeway supermarkets and a La Jolla jewelry store

U.S. Magistrate Ralph J. Geffen set bail at $15,000 rather than the $250,000 bail suggested by Assistant U.S. Attorney Rick Flam. "I don't see a great flight risk and I don't see a great weight of evidence against him," Geffen said. Williams was held in Los Angeles County Jail and was ordered to appear in federal court April 9 when a decision will be made on whether to set a preliminary hearing date or move him to San Diego for a grand

A similar poisoning March 22 in the Portland suburb of Beaverton was disclosed this week by Oregon authorities.

Williams, acquitted March 21 in Riverside County of poisoning food for extortion at a Sun City Safeway store last May, was seized Thursday at his trailer home in Winchester, 80 miles east of here

"We're absolutely sure he is our man," FBI agent John McGinley told a news conference Friday in San Diego. "This case is related to the extortion attempts in Beaverton, Ore., and Sun City

McGinley said there was "a good chance" that accomplices were involved in the case, but he declined to elaborate on that possibility. He said the best indication that more than one person might have been involved came from a tape recording of an extortionist's telephone call to Sa-

McGinley said bail of $250,000 had been recommended for Williams. If convicted, Williams could face a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison, a $10,000 fine or both, police said.

Enough cyanide to kill a family was found last Saturday in pickles in a San Diego Safeway with a hand-lettered extortion note signed "The Poison Gang" attached. The next day, cyanide-dosed teriyaki sauce was found in another Safeway store there.

McGinley said the FBI was led to Williams soon after a telephone call came Sunday from a Riverside County sheriff's deputy who knew of Wil-

The poisoned jar of Vlasic Polish Dills was discovered in San Diego after a man telephoned the store claiming five other items on the shelves also had been tainted and saying he would identify them in exchange for 50 diamonds.

An item-by-item check revealed no further evidence of contaminated food, store officials said

The ransom demand was later increased to 100 diamonds, and a caller threatened to spike food in "every Safeway store in the area." Lab tests to show whether cyanide also was found in a jar of salad ressing in Palm Desert. Calif. were described by McGinley as incom plete. Agents were awaiting results from the FBI's lab in Washington. In Beaverton, a slight trace of cyanide was found March 22 in a jar of pickles in an extortion demand for diamonds.

M-Cubs could have potent attack, but pitching is?

Sports Editor

MESA, Ariz. — When asked in the morning if his present Midland Cubs roster was one he'd be willing to live with in the Texas League race, Manager Randy Hundley agreed with the visitor it would be competitive in

Later in the day, Chicago Cubs Farm Director C. V. Davis intimated Randy had better be satisfied since the club was pretty much the one that will break camp for Midland next week, "except for the pitching."

That is a song that has been sung before only to have last minute changes make what was supposed to be almost totally unrecognizable. However, the player movements that have been made in the last day or two hint that this year it may be so.

For example, Steve Davis was optioned to Syracuse of the International League while first baseman Gary Krug, in Midland for parts of the last two seasons, will join pitcher Chuck Rogers in the AAA Mexican

"Karl Pagel will play first at Wichita and Jim Tracy will move to the outfield," Davis explained, "We didn't want to return Krug to Midland, so we sent him to Mexico. That leaves first base open to Joe Rogers, incidentally, won his first three games in Mexico. Jesus Alfaro, a .350 hitting shortstop at Midland last summer before breaking his leg, will be the utility infielder at Wichita with Dan Rohn at second, Mike Turgeon at third and Steve Macko at short.

"We want Bill Hayes to catch at Wichita," Davis went on, "so Mike O'Berry (who joined Midland Thursday) will go to Midland.

O'Berry had been on the Chicago roster until this week and last year the Alabaman, except for three weeks in Pawtucket, played all season with the Boston Red Sox before coming to Chicago in the Ted Sizemore

"Defensively, he's a good one. We just want him to get a fresh start at the bat, someplace where he won't be overmatched and can gain his confidence," Davis explained.

So, at the moment, the Cubs infield will have Hicks, Dave Owen at short, Scott Fletcher at second and Steve Messmer or J. W. Mitchell at third with Javier Fierro as the utilityman.

The outfielders are Mel Hall, Randy LaVigne, Tom Grant and Dave Stockstill. They bring some impressive statistics with them, Hall batting .315, LaVigne .326 and Grant .304 at Geneva while Stockstill hit .283 with 27 homers and 101 RBI at Wausau in the Midwest League.

Hundley, nevertheless, has his fingers crossed on the pitching. "We walked 17 at Casa Grande Sunday, and then Mel Wright and Steve Viskas pitched the shutout Wednesday at Tempe.

Then on Thursday, Tom Spino, 9-9 at Quad City, and Kent Hunziker, who had pitched in the Padres and White Sox systems, combined for a 6-5, 10-inning victory over Oakland's West Haven club as Midland came up with two runs in the ninth to tie it and then won it in the tenth when Hall walked and Hicks tripled.

DH Todd Winterfeldt had opened the ninth with his second double and O'Berry singled to touch off the tying rally.

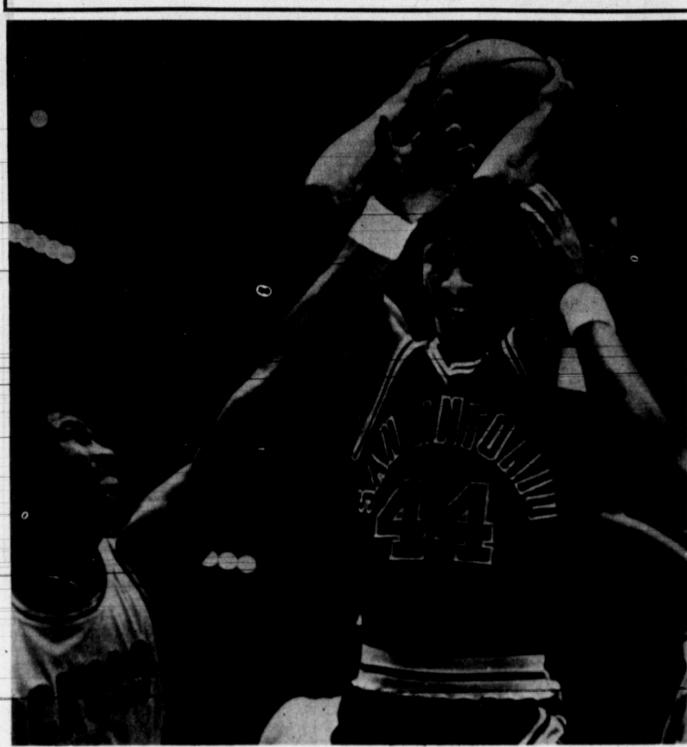

The teams had agreed to play 14 innings to give pitchers much needed work and one of Midland's pitchers was Frank MacCormick, who once was one of the brightest prospects in the Detroit system and later pitched in the majors for Seattle, where he was done in by chronic wildness.

Pitching coach Les Moss, former Detroit manager, hopes to salvage him, "He has the kind of arm you hate to give up on." Warming up, he's magnificent, but put him on the mound and everybody ducks, which was the way it was Thursday.

Randy Clark, 16-5 with a 2.53 ERA at Quad City, showed so much promise that he was invited to spring camp by Chicago, but hurt an ankle before the season and hasn't thrown a ball this spring. And at the moment, no one seems to know when he will be ready to throw again. Still, while pitching remains the question mark, Moss feels the strong arms in camp make pitching the organization's trump suit - all they have to do is get the ball over the plate.

'Bird' sounds off after demotion

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) - Mark Fidrych had his best outing of the spring in a minor league intrasquad game Friday, then blasted Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson for demoting him to Tigertown.

Several of the Tigers showed up early so they could see Fidrych, "The Bird," make his 10 a.m. start in a game with his new teammates on Evansville (Ind.), the Tigers' Triple-A farm club.

Tigers pitching coach Roger Craig also was on hand but Anderson was not - a fact which seemed to rankle Fidrych. "I noticed that Sparky wasn't there," Fidrych said bitterly as a trainer iced his shoulder and elbow in the clubhouse. "I don't know, maybe he's off his feed. I couldn't care less.

Fidrych was sent down to the Evansville club a week ago after a new soreness developed under his right arm. Anderson said at the time he made the move so Fidrych could get plenty of work since it appeared there would be an immediate and total strike by the players' union.

"All this is doing is cutting into my pension time," Fidrych said. "They thought there was going to be a strike. OK, fine. But now there ain't no real strike, only a sort of half a one. They did the same thing with me a couple of years ago when they sat me on the bench for a month and a half.

"This thing is nothing but business with them and it's costing me money. I might be wrong, but I'm pretty sure I haven't lost any money for the Detroit Tigers.'

Anderson refused to be drawn into a squabble with the popular righthander. "I'm not going to get into any of that stuff in the press," he said We sent Mark down to pitch himself into shape and when he's ready to pitch in the major leagues we'll bring him back up.'

Craig was clearly pleased as he watched Fidrych throw. "He's had good velocity on his pitches maybe 80 percent of the time," Craig said. "Before, it was more like 20 percent. He's throwing some good pitches and his motion looks free and easy.

"The big test will come Sunday when he's supposed to throw on the sidelines. We'll really be anxious to see if he has any pain then."

Fidrych threw about 50 pitches Friday and said he felt no pain. "I'm going to go back to warming up for 30 minutes just like I did in high school," Fidrych said. "That's what got me here, and I've been thinking

it's a pretty good idea.'

Yanks refuse to play intrasquad tilts

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

Baseball's exhibition games strike has created plenty of confusion in spring training camps, but nowhere was it more apparent Friday than in the Fort Lauderdale, Fla. base of the New York Yankees.

On Thursday, Yankee players rejected a management bid to have the team play intrasquad games that would give pitchers game conditions under which to work.

On Friday, owner George Stein-brenner, who had taken out extra insurance on his players against injuries in such games, addressed the team. Then Reggie Jackson, the Yankees' player representative, took an informal poll and it appeared the club would play intrasquad games this

But Jackson apparently did not talk to enough of his teammates because later Friday the Yankees reversed themselves again and decided not to play the intrasquad games.

Caught in the middle of the muddle was pitcher Ed Figueroa, recovering from elbow surgery. Figueroa, who needs all the work he can get in training camp, threw 95 pitches on the sidelines following the team vote to ban intrasquad contests. When the team decided to go ahead with the games, it did Figgy no good, since he already had thrown his quota of pitches. So, the second reversal didn't affect him.

Figueroa solved all the confusion by deciding to fly home to Puerto Rico Friday night, planning to spend Easter with his family. But another player who tried to leave his team in Florida had less luck. Houston's Enos Cabell was collared at the Orlando, Fla. airport by teammates Joe Morgan and J.R. Richard, who ran through the terminal in uniform searching for the Astro third base-

Cabell was the only Astro player who decided to leave the team's Cocoa, Fla., camp, planning to return to California to visit his family. Richard and Morgan, however, had other ideas.

"It tripped me out," said Cabell. 'When I saw Joe and J, man, I couldn't believe it. Neither could anyone at the airport."

Morgan and Richard drove the 45 miles from Cocoa to Orlando to catch Cabell, but didn't know what flight he was on. When they got to the airport, in uniform, they launched a search mission. They located their teammate five minutes before his plane was to leave.

"Me and J.R. are his friends," said Morgan. "We thought he should stay along with the rest of us. I told him if I'd done all that running around the airport, making a spectacle of myself with my uniform on, and found out he wouldn't come back, there was gonna be a fight, right there on the spot."

In player moves Friday, the Yankees signed veteran catcher Johnny Oates, who had been cut by Los Angeles, assigned outfielder Garry Smith and infielders Roy Staiger and Brian Doyle to their Columbus farm club in the International League, and placed pitcher Don Gullett on the 60-day disabled list.

Philadelphia cut four veterans pitchers Rawly Eastwick and Doug Bird, outfielder Mike Anderson and infielder Bud Harrelson - and placed pitcher Warren Brusstar on the disabled list.

Hogs upset Texas, 2-1

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Scott Tabor allowed just four hits to pace Arkansas to a 2-1 win over Texas in a Southwest Conference baseball game

The win gives Arkansas a 7-5 record in the conference, while the loss drops Texas to 11-2 in SWC play.

Arkansas scored a run in the fourth inning when Todd Zacher walked, advanced on a force out and an error and scored on a sacrifice fly by Kevin McReynolds

Keith Creel, who didn't allow a hit in six innings, surrendered four hits to Arkansas in the ninth when the Razorbacks scored the winning run.

Texas' only run came in the sixth when designated hitter Burk Goldthorn doubled to score Ricky Nixon.

Tech dumps Rice, 15-4

HOUSTON (AP) - Bobby Kohler and Larry Selby collected four hits apiece Friday to spark Texas Tech to a 15-4 thumping of Rice in Southwest Conference baseball The Red Raiders shelled three Rice pitchers with 19 hits. Jimmy Zachry, Scot Methery and Rusty Laughlin claimed three runs batted in apiece in adding to the Raider total. Kohler cracked a two-run homer in his first trip to the plate and Tech was off and running, getting nine runs off Owl starter Rick Kelley, 3-3.

Reliever Rich Pring surrendered three more runs before leaving the game in the sixth inning, after he was struck in the face by a batted ball. Jamie Miller scattered 10 hits in recording his first SWC victory. The win moved Tech's SWC record to 4-9, while the Owls fell to 6-7.

Wedman, Birdsong go wild

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) -Forward Scott Wedman scored 32 points and guard Otis Birdsong added 30 Friday night as the Kansas City Kings survived a third quarter rally by Phoenix to down the Suns 106-96 and even their best-of-three National Basketball Association playoff series at one victory apiece.

Birdsong scored 11 of his points in the final period, including six during a string of eight unanswered points that gave the Kings a 98-87 lead with 2:26 left. The Suns could get no closer than nine the rest of the way.

The Kings, snapping a six-game losing streak to Phoenix, led by as many as 23 points in the second period before the Suns rallied in the third quarter with a 28-9 surge to take a 73-71 lead. But Phil Ford, who finished with 18, connected on a three-point play to give Kansas City a one-point lead going into the final quarter and Phoenix trailed the rest of the way.

A pair of free throws by Phoenix's Walter Davis cut Kansas City's margin again to one at 88-87 with 4:59 left in the game. But Birdsong connected on three straight baskets, Reggie

show zany season

—If any player ever lived up to his nickname, it was "Downtown" Freddie Brown. In the NBA's first year with the three-point goal rule, the long-range bomber of the Seattle SuperSonics led the league in threepoint accuracy (39 of 88, a percentage of .443).

THOSE WERE among the more intriguing numbers to be found among the 13 pages of final regularseason statistics issued by the NBA this week.

There were the usual figures, like George Gervin of San Antonio winning his third straight scoring crown with a 33.1 average and Rick Barry of Houston winning the free throw shooting title at .935.

But there were also more esoteric stats, and those are usually more intriguing.

While Dawkins, Philadelphia's muscular young center, led the league in personal fouls and shattered glass, it is a measure of his increased maturity that he fouled out of only eight games. The leaders in disqualifications were Wayne Rollins of Atlanta and two Indiana players, James Edwards and George McGinnis, with 12 apiece

Nixon's iron-man status is not surprising since he has missed just one game in his three pro seasons. But he was only one of 55 players who appeared in all 82 of their teams' games

THEN THERE was Billy Paultz, who gets this year's overtime award for having played in 84 games - he was traded from San Antonio to Houston in midseason and played in two extra games in the transition. As for the three-point goal, the rule seemed to gain in popularity as the season wore on. More teams began to work plays designed to produce three-point shots into their regular offenses, perhaps picking up on the success enjoyed by the Boston Celtics, whose Chris Ford finished second behind Brown in accuracy with a .427

On a league-wide basis, 5,003 threepointers were attempted and 1,403 were made, a .280 percentage. That's an average of 5.55 attempts and 1.56 successful three-pointers per game, well below the averages of 7.85 attempts and 2.31 made per game in the nine-year history of the American Basketball Association, where the overall accuracy mark was .293.

Brian Taylor of San Diego, who had experience with the rule from his ABA days, led the league with 90 successful three-pointers, but ranked fifth in accuracy at .377.

HOME TEAMS won 588 of 902 games, a .652 mark, down slighly from last year's .665. Los Angeles tied the league record for most home victories with a 37-4 mark, while Phoenix was 36-5 and Boston 35-6. Boston, Los. Angeles, Milwaukee, Philadelphia and Seattle all had winning records on the road, while Detroit was a dismal 3-38 outside the Pontiac Silverdome.

The 10 leaders in assists were all guards, emphasizing how much players at that position dominate the ball. Only two non-guards had more than 400 assists for the season: Kansas City center Sam Lacey with 460 and Seattle forward John Johnson with Don Buse of Phoenix did not rank among the assists leaders, but he may have been the league's most effective ballhandler with a ratio of more than 3.5 assists for each turnover (320 assists, 91 turnovers).

Michael Ray Richardson of New York led the league with 832 assists, but he was also on top with 359 turnovers for a ratio of 2.3.

SPEAKING OF turnovers, three other players handed the ball over 300 times or more: Reggie Theus of Chicago, 348; Earvin "Magic" Johnson of Los Angeles, 305, and Moses Malone of Houston, 300.

In a turnover of another sort, a total of 20 players competed for the Utah Jazz at one time or another, while 17 played for the Detroit Pistons. It's no coincidence that those teams staggered to 24-58 and 16-66 records, respectively, but you can't accuse their front offices of standing pat.

The defending champion Seattle SuperSonics, on the other hand, used the same 11 players all year. And the Boston Celtics used just 12 players adding Pete Maravich in midseason and shuffling others on and off the injured list - in posting the league's best record, 61-21.

Richard, Morgan help Cabell return to Astros

COCOA, Fla. (AP) - The Houston Astros 25-man roster remained intact Friday because J.R. Richard and Joe Morgan, taking a scene from an O.J. Simpson commercial, charged through the Orlando, Fla., airport in time to keep third baseman Enos Cabell from leaving training camp. Cabell, the only Astro player who planned to leave spring training while the players are on strike, had intended to return to California to see his family before reporting to Houston for the start of the season.

But the site of the 6-foot-5 Richard and the 5-8 Morgan, still dressed in their 'Astros' uniforms running through the airport terminal was enough to keep all the Astros in training camp. They were an odd couple to the delighted airport patrons but they got their message across to the Astros third baseman "It tripped me out," Cabell said. "I was going back home to be with my family. I figured as long as we weren't being paid here I'd spend some time with them. I hadn't been with them in about two months. "But when I saw Joe and J, man, I could believe it. Neither could anyone at the airport. Richard and Morgan got permission Wednesday from Manager Bill Virdon to retrieve Cabell and left the training facilities for Orlando, about 45 miles away. They only knew that Cabell was on a plane leaving at 12: 40

"We didn't know which airline, so we had to run around the airport, from airline to airline, looking for a flight that left at that time for L.A.," Morgan said.

Cabell had said earlier he was leaving because he was his own man and for personal reasons.

'They said we're a team and they wanted me with them," Cabell said. "I had checked out of my condominium and everything. I was gone. This just shows you how close we are on

Cooper maintains golf lead

BIG SPRING - Abilene Cooper maintained its firm grip of the District 5-4A boys' golf tour lead Friday at the Commanche Trails course here while neither Midland High nor Midland Lee gained much ground on the Cougars.

After four rounds, the Cougars own commanding 1,277-1,301 over San Angelo. Odessa High is third with 1,310 followed by Odessa Permian (1,313), Big Spring (1,318), Abilene Cooper #2 (1,326), Midland High #1 (1,347), Abilene High #1 (1,348), San Angelo #2 (1,368) and Midland Lee #1 (1,385). Lee #2 is fourteenth (1,-433) and Midland High #2 is fifteenth

The Midland JV had a 344 total, led by Ross Bassinger's 79 and Brad Hughes' 82. Also, Phillip York had 89, John Heard 94 and Roger Taylor 97.

Mike Smith, who's played outstanding recently, kept it up with an 82 and Kevin Lunday recorded the same score to pace the Rebels to their 336 total. Leo Gallegos wasn't far back at 85 while Mark Leonard had 87 and Trai Kelly 90.

For the Lee JV (347), Emil Hale garnered a nice 81 that was complemented by Brett Gardner's 85. Also, Kelly Cook had 87 and John Keesey and Rob Marburger 94s.

Abilene Cooper's John Slaughter continues to lead the medalist race, and after a 71 Friday, he was at 301

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) -Craig Stadler completed a threeunder-par 69 with birdies on two of his last three holes and established a two-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the $250,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"Just kind of a mediocre round," Stadler said with a shrug after posting his 36-hole total of 136, eight under par after two trips over the 6,984-yard Forest Oaks Country Club course.

Stadler, who scored his first career victory in the Bob Hope Classic that opened the 1980 season, escaped without a bogey in the occasionally gusting winds and said he "got about as much out of the round as I could."

MHS, Lee gymnasts capture state berths

Three Midland High boys' gymnasts and one Midland Lee girls' gymnast will be heading for the state meet April 17-19 after superb showings Thursday at the region meet at Odessa Permian. The Lee girls placed third with 171.65 points while the Midland High boys were third with 240 and the Lee boys fifth.

According to Mark Townzen, girls' coach for Midland High and Lee, state qualifiers must finish in the top six and have scores of at least

Lee junior Dayna Dixon, fifth all-around (58.85), earned state berths in three events. She was third on the balance beam (16.2, including a personal best of 8.1 in the optional competition), fourth in floor exercise (15.65) and fifth in vaulting (15.9) Kyle Raybourn led Midland High, grabbing spots at state in vaulting and on the parallel bars. Also representing the Bulldogs will be Max Lonidier, floor exercise, and Tom Hurt, who won the pommel horse. There were those, however, not so forunate. One was Lee's Patricia

Johns, fourth all-around (59.8). She was fourth on the uneven bars (14.1) and sixth in floor exercise (14.7), but neither score was good enough to Other Lee participants were Lori Brewer, seventh floor exercise, Pam

Gordon, (7.3 in optional vault), and Risa Reddell, tie for seventh in vault. The lone Midland High girls' competitor, Janie Enmon, was ninth on Townzen seemed quite satisfied with the showing of his team. "Our score jumped almost 10 points from last week (the Rebels scored 161.75 at the District 5-4A meet in Abilene)," he said. "I was pretty pleased with the kids. I guess it's our best meet ever." Townzen said Dixon becomes one of only a handful of Lee gymnasts to qualify for state. And, "if she keeps improving like she's been, it looks pretty good," he said.

John Hicks, Midland and Lee boys' coach, said things went "just the way we expected."

Those Bulldogs that didn't make state were Mark Stanley, sixth on pommel horse, and Mike Collins and Mark Brown.

Jesse gave living testimony

CHICAGO (AP) - "Jesse Owens was a champion, what a champion, Dr. Archibald Carey lauded Friday in delivering the eulogy at the funeral of the winner of four gold medals in the 1936 Berlin Olympic Games.

'His medals were a testimony to his achievements and that acclaim he earned for himself," said Carey, a close friend of Owens. "He lived in a land in which big people are big and little people can become big. Jesse was a prize example of that.'

More than 2,000 people from all walks of life, including the worlds of sports, politics and entertainment, packed Rockefeller Chapel at the University of Chicago in paying a final tribute to the memory of Owens, who died of lung cancer Monday at the age

Remarks lauding the character of Owens and his lifestyle were made by former Brooklyn Dodgers pitcher Joe Black, entertainer Dick Gregory, former Ohio State track Coach Larry Snyder and Robert Kane, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

But Carey made one particularly poignant point.

Carey related that Jesse had been telling a certain story and was unaware that it hurt certain people.

"Friends asked me if I could do anything about it," related Carey, "so I got in touch with Jesse and talked to him about it. I was amazed at his reaction. Instead of defending himself, Jesse proceeded to make a campaign to correct the matter.

"It was characteristic of Jesse, said Carey. "He was the spirit of chagrin. It pained him when someone join together in the memory of one whose performances lifted mankind.' Snyder, who coached Owens at Ohio State and the Olympics in Berlin, said "Jesse was always known as a fronhe could do if he had to come from

"In 1935 in the Big Ten meet, we told Jesse to correct his stride in the 220 low hurdles. He only had a sevenfoot stride and he would reach the hurdles with the wrong foot.

"He reached the first hurdle with the wrong foot and the second with the wrong foot. By the time he corrected his stride, he was 18 yards behind the leader, Bob Osgood, with less than a hundred yards to go. He showed us what he could do. He won the race." Black concluded his remarks in a

'Weep not, weep not, he's only resting in the bosom of Jesus. Gregory, who related as a child he decided to scratch Owens, who was recalled "Jesse outran a horse, I unable to warm up because of the loved it, I loved it," concluded by saying "I love you, I love you, I love

wavering, breaking voice by saying

Kane related a story of a 14-year-old boy on a plane asking him about Jesse Owens and after Kane had answered all the questions, the boy said Wow, what a great man, I'd give anything to have known him.'

Kane added, "I'm proud the Olympic flag is on that casket." Throughout the city, on a cold, blustery day with snow flurries swirling around, flags were at half mast.

Carey added that "This is Good Gloria Owens Hemphill, one of Friday, the day the Son of God was Jesse's daughters, said: "This is the put to death. So it is on this day we proudest moment of my life. Few experience being a legend in their own time."

In the 1936 Olympics, Owens made shambles of Hitler's theories of Aryan superiority as he won gold medals in the 100 meters, 200 meters, the broad. trunner so we always wondered what jump (now is known as the long jump), and with the 400-meter relay team. He set world records in the 200 meters and the broad jump.

As great as he was in the Olympics, Owens had even more spectacular success in track a year earlier. It was on May 25, 1935, in the Big Ten track meet at Ann Arbor, Mich., that he broke three world records and tied a fourth in a span of 45 minutes.

It is still considered as one of the all-time great feats in sports annals and nearly didn't come off because Owens had suffered a back injury when he fell down stairs while wrestling with a fraternity brother at Ohio

In fact, Coach Larry Snyder had

Owens insisted on attempting to run the 100-yard dash in which he tied the world record of 9.4 seconds. Ten minutes later, he soared 26 feet, 81/4 inches in the broad jump (now the long jump), bettering the world mark by six inches. It was a record which was to stand for 25 years.
Twenty minutes later, Owens ran the 220 in 20.3, snapping the world mark by three-tenths of a second, and 15 minutes later he set a world record of 22.6 in the 220-yard low hurdles.

Jesse Owens, who set a world broad jump record in the 1936 Berlin Olympics with this jump, became a symbol of the struggle against tyranny and racism. He died Monday at 66 and was buried Friday. (AP Laserphoto)

Angels are still best bet to retain AL West crown

Last in a Series By The Associated Press

Gene Autry, the Cowboy, the good guy in the white hat, owner of the California Angels, finally triumphed over the bad guys in the American League West last season. A half-pennant won't be enough satisfaction this

"I think we have the best team in our division and we should win again - providing we play well," says Manager Jim Fregosi. "We gained a lot of experience by going through a pennant race and a championship series It's part of maturing, part of growing up. I feel the team is ready to go all

The Angels were plagued by injuries last year but still scored 866 runs, most in the majors in 15 years. The ringleader was Don Baylor, who hit 36 homers, drove in 139 runs, scored 120 and won the Most Valuable

FREGOSI'S MAJOR worries concern outfielders Dan Ford (knee surgery) and Joe Rudi (Achilles tendon) and the pitching staff - free agent Nolan Ryan has gone home to Texas and the Houston Astros, while Frank Tanana and Chris Knapp missed much of 1979. Hopefully, Tanana and Knapp will join Dave Frost and Bruce Kison, who jumped the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, in the starting rotation.

In the bullpen, rookie standout Mark Clear slumped badly after a superb start and only the late-season acquisition of John Montague from Seattle enabled the Angels to fend off Kansas City.

California made a major off-season trade, sending first baseman Willie Astros keep Aikens to Kansas City for outfielder Al Cowens. The presence of seven-time AL batting champion Rod Carew at first and Baylor for DH made Aikens expendable. Other key Angels are catcher Brian Downing (at .326 the top right-handed hitter in the league), second baseman Bobby Grich and third baseman Carney Lansford. At shortstop, Fred Patek and Todd Cruz came from Kansas City to battle with veteran Bert Campaneris and young Dickie Thon.

KANSAS CITY stuck with Whitey Herzog through three division championships — and no pennants — then fired him for finishing three games out. The new boss is long-time Baltimore coach Jim Frey:

Frey was hit with an immediate problem when All-Star catcher Darrell Porter left the team to be treated for alcoholism. Porter is not expected to be released until late April. Until he returns, the catching burden will fall on John Wathan and Jamie Quirk.

Aikens has been handed the first base job while U.L. Washington taking over for Patek at shortstop. The other infielders are standouts, third baseman George Brett and second baseman Frank White. Speedy Willie Wilson (83 steals), Amos Otis and Clint Hurdle, the heralded phenom flop of 1978, form the outfield. Veteran Hal McRae is the DH.

Dennis Leonard, Paul Splittorff and Larry Gura are capable starters but the key to the Royals' season probably will be how well Renie Martin and Dan Quisenberry man the bullpen with Al Hrabosky gone.

THE TEXAS RANGERS have a new owner and a new starting pitcher. The former, septuagenarian Eddie Chiles, may be only slightly older than Gaylord Perry, who admits to 41.

The Rangers finished five games out last year despite one horrible stretch in which they lost 30 of 40 games. A healthy Jon Matlack, who missed most of last season with elbow miseries and won only five games, is a must. Ferguson Jenkins, Steve Comer and Doc Medich are the other starters, but one of them could lose out to fireballing Danny Darwin. Jim Kern and Sparky Lyle form a top-flight relief corps.

Texas will have centerfielder Mickey Rivers from the start, but the New York Yankees gave up on him because he didn't put out all the time. When he comes to play he can spark any offense, especially one that also boasts outfielder Al Oliver, third baseman Buddy Bell, first baseman Pat Putnam, DHs Rusty Staub and Richie Zisk, catcher Jim Sundberg and second baseman Bump Wills.

To guard against deep slumps in the Texas summer heat, Manager Pat Corrales will try not to use anyone in more than 130 games.

The Minnesota Twins keep losing free agents. Nevertheless, they finished only six games out last year but now must find a replacement for Dave Goltz in the rotation. There are serious questions behind starters Jerry Koosman and Geoff Zahn and bullpen ace Mike Marshall.

The Twins have a fine young catcher in Butch Wynegar, a solid infield of Ron Jackson, Rob Wilfong, Roy Smalley and John Castino, and a budding star in outfielder Ken Landreaux.

LIKE MINNESOTA, maverick Bill Veeck's Chicago White Sox have stayed away from the millionaire free agent market. Nevertheless, they have managed to develop an outstanding young pitching rotation— all left-handed— of Ken Kravec, Richard Wortham, Ross Baumgarten and Steve Trout - plus Ed Farmer in the bullpen.

Elsewhere, however, there are too many questions, except for Lamar Johnson at first base or DHing, Alan Bannister and Jim Morrison somewhere in the infield, Chet Lemon in centerfield and Claudell Washington in left. Veeck is counting on a heralded young right fielder named Harold Baines whose nickname is "Cooperstown."

Prediction: California, Kansas City, Texas, Oakland, Chicago, Min-

10 pitchers

COCOA, Fla. (AP) Houston Manager Bill Virdon has pared his roster to the 25-man limit and once again the Astros will break camp with 10 pitchers. Pitchers Ric Williams and Bert Roberge along with outfielder-first baseman Danny Heep and utility infielder Jimmy Sexton were among the last players trimmed from the major league

Rookie righthander Dave Smith made the team following in impressive spring and the pitching staff also includes unhappy Joaquin Andujar, still rumored on the trading block.

There had been earlier speculation that Virdon would keep only nine pitchers.

"There are two reasons why I say early in the spring I might keep Virdon said. nine," "One, it really can go down to the final week. like this, where you give a lot of thought to keeping an extra player. Two, when the pitchers know I might keep just nine, there's very little messing around. They know they have to do well to

MARTIN L. ALLDAY 2409 Humble Midland, Texas 79701

This Saturday, you will have an opportunity to select a new Mayor for our Dear Midlander:

city. I hope you believe I am the best candidate to represent you as Midland's Mayor during the next two years.

The 1980's are to be years of great opportunities for Midland. The oil industry will continue to grow, and the "Headquarters City" of the Permian Basin will be a vital part of that growth. Midland's quality of life and sound business atmosphere will attract more community-minded, clean industries. We must take advantage of these times and extol Midland as a city of excellence and pride.

My friends know I am a responsible conservative. Through the years, my actions have often demonstrated that I deplore "federal control" of our local government. Also, I dislike the idea that we pay our tax dollars to the federal government. Also, I dislike the idea that we pay our tax dollars to the redetal these funds for our parks, streets and sewers. Fundamental Four ... Finish: The easiest way to define finish is the time the player has turned toward the target and his weight has all been transferred to the left side. Once a golfer has taken his grip and stance, then aligned himself with the target, he should think only of pushing the club away from the ball, then finishing. The best way to teach someone the golf swing is to have them watch the touring professional on television, then mimic the take-away and finish. # American hostages in Tehran: A crisis of contradictions

By CHARLES HANLEY Associated Press Writer

For five months the crisis over the hostage-taking in Tehran has evolved in a fog of contradiction - misstatements of "fact," threats later disavowed, promises and predictions fall-

The U.S.-Iran confrontation is again at one of those turning points when reality is hard to pin down. Will the hostages be surrendered to the custody of Iranian authorities? Or will the militants refuse at the last · minute to hand them over, as they did a month ago?

Here is a record of inconsistencies, on both sides and many subjects:

A SOLUTION

"We have no need to take hostages .... From the first day I was of the opinion that they must be released." Acting Foreign Minister Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, Nov. 25.

"The American government must issue a declaration acknowledging the crimes it committed in Iran ... as well as our right to begin proceedings against the shah .... The problem of the hostages can then be easily re- cil meeting on the Iranian situation. Sadegh Khalkhali, Dec. 21. solved." Bani-Sadr, Jan. 28

"I emphasize to you that the hostages will not be freed until the shah is extradited." Bani-Sadr, April 1.

HOSTAGE TREATMENT

"They are dealing with them very nicely." Foreign Ministry spokesman, Nov. 4, after the militants seized the embassy hostages

"They have promised not to blindfold them anymore," Iranian spokesman, five days later.

Treatment of the hostages was "harsh and inhumane" in the earlyweeks, some were tied to chairs, they were bound and blindfolded. U.S. lawyer at World Court, March 19, based on accounts from released hostages.

U.N. BUSINESS?

"The U.S. government strongly believes that the Security Council should not meet to discuss any issue relating to Iran while diplomatic hostages are being held." State Department spokesman Hodding Carter,

THE MILITARY OPTION

"I've decided to ... forego the military options altogether." President Carter, March 27.

"The military options are not per-manently excluded." Unnamed senior Carter administration official, a day later.

TRIALS AGAIN

"If the United States decides to continue the crisis ... the trial of the spies here will begin." Ghotbzadeh,

"For the 100th time" a trial of the hostages is not being considered. Ghotbzadeh, Dec. 22.

"He said we are going to 'turn the screws a little tighter' every few days." Anonymous congressman after meeting with President Carter,

New economic sanctions against Iran "would be unlikely." State Department spokesman David Passage, March 18.

'You ought to see some results." State Department spokesman Hodding Carter, March 27, disclosing the United States is preparing new sanctions against Iran.

Army amputee now making new film about handicapped

By DALE PULLOCK The Los Angeles Times

HOLLYWOOD -There's a joke going around the set of "Inside Moves," Richard Donner's new movie about a group of handicapped people currently filming in Los Angeles: Harold Russell, the handless actor who won two Academy Awards for his first and only film in 1946, "The Best Years of Our Lives," calls his agent every day to ask about work. "Nothing yet, Mr. Russell," answers the agent. The only problem, the joke continues, is that Russell has been making the same call for 34 years.

Harold Russell is finally working again, and he didn't even need an agent. He was in Berkeley, Calif., making a speech about the handicapped, when he was contacted by director nonner, whose last movie was "Superman.

Russell feels "Inside Moves" could be as influential a film as "The Best Years of Our Lives" and set a precedent for Hollywood portrayals of various handicaps.

"This is a picture about people who might not be handicapped to look at, but they all are. I think it has all the ingredients of a picture that's. going to be significant," the film's publicist.

'He was, himself, a mediocre play-Segovia still recalls 81 years later. "His tone and his sense of pitch were so poor that I rejected the violin as a musical instrument, and besides that he had a terrible temper. He would pinch me whenever. I played a

During a recent visit to Washington, Segovia showed once again, demonstrating to the world through most of the 20th century: that the classical guitar, in the hands of a good musician, is a uniquely satisfy ing instrument.

He likes to compare it to "a small orchestra - an orchestra seen through the wrong end of a pair of binoculars." He goes on at length about the guitar's variety of colors and the capacity for harmony and counterpoint, which enable it to play nusic beyond the reach of the violin or the cello. Ask him about the piano, and he will tell you the description he heard from a friend long ago: "a large, rectangular monster that screams when you touch its teeth."

He describes the sound of the guitar in a phrase he has used many times: 'not voluminous, but luminous."

AFTER A LIFETIME of missionary activity by Segovia - now multiplied a hundredfold by his students and the students of his students people do not find it extraordinary to hear the guitar played as a classical instrument. But in the early 1900s, in the Spanish province of Jaen, where Segovia was growing up, the idea was shocking: The guitar was an instrument played by gypsies in taverns. And when the Segovia family became aware that young Andres wanted to be a professional guitarist, they were as shocked as they would be if he had chosen to be a bookie or a pimp.

Segovia is as much the gentleman as the artist, and he phrases it a bit more gently: "My family recognized that I had received from heaven the vocation for music, but they wished it was for instruments that were considered more noble than the guitar." At the age of 87, he is still in love; his instrument is "she," and he speaks of her as a woman:

You know that the guitar has femiine curves, and this influences her behavior. Sometimes it is impossible to deal with her, but most of the time she is very sweet; and if you caress her properly, she will sing beautiful-' He spends more than five months each year traveling with her, living in hotel rooms and airplanes ("I have a very sedentary life at the rate of 1,000 kilometers per hour," he remarks style. wryly), pays for her air ticket, puts her on the seat next to his own and calls her "Miss Segovia."

AT HOME or on the road, they spend five hours together each day not continuously, but in four segments of about an hour and a quarter each, interrupted by meals, shaving, a stroll or other activities to stave off fatigue. He believes that longer hours than that are useless, and he states baldly that "artists who say they practice eight hours every day are liars or asses." Part of his daily practice, he says, is to "look through the stack of new music sent to me by composers." He holds his hand out horizontally as he says this, the palm downward, about a foot and a half above the floor, and touches an imaginary stack of new music for the gui-

This new music is perhaps the most Andres Segovia has meant. When he came on the scene, the classical guitar repertoire was pitfully small and virtually unknown: a few neglected pieces by known composers such as Boccherini and Paganini and the work of good but relatively obscure 19th-century guitar specialists such as Sor and Giuliani. Today the guitar repertoire is large and rapidly growing. Nearly all of it in this century was written for Andres Segovia, and now it is being written for his students.

"I have recorded more than 300 pieces," he says with obvious and justified pride - not in himself, but in his instrument. "I do not commission new works," he says, "but once they hear how their music can sound on the But by then it was too late - young guitar, composers are eager to write Andres had fallen hopelessly in love. for it It has been a long way from his > boyhood enthusiasm to his present stature. When it became clear that he was serious about the guitar, friends began to help him find long-forgotten pieces of guitar music, and someone gave him an instruction manual. A flamenco guitarist showed him what he knew, but that did not take long and did not bring him very far, and there was nobody in Jaen who could teach him how to play his chosen instrument properly in the classical

"I BECAME my own professor and my own student," he recalls. "Nobody can imagine the difficulty of learning without a teacher. I began to decipher the works of Tarrega, Giuliani and Sor. I observed a friend who was studying the piano, watched his fingers at work, and applied piano techniques to the guitar as well as I ould . His aunt and uncle, with whom he was living, found that his constant attention to the guitar was interfering with his school work and threatened to break his instrument. Instead, he had a friend take the guitar away and leave it in a neighbor's home, where he would go to practice on the pretext of doing school

"Finally," he recalls, "when I was 16 and had a little bit of a repertoire, my friends pushed me to the stage it was in 1909 at the Centro Artistico in tangible sign of what the life of Granada. A friendly notice was printed in a small, provincial newspaper, and natively I thought that I had become world famous.'

He quit school and went to Seville to continue his guitar studies and give concerts. Warmly welcomed by music lovers there, he found that his welcome had worn out a year later and decided to become what he has been ever since: a traveling performer. When he invited his flancee to go with him to Madrid - and eventually "the four corners of the earth" - she asked him to stay, marry and get a regular job, playing the guitar for his own pleasure in his spare time. When he said that he had to go, she bade him farewell with a gypsy curse that he might lose his hands.

WHILE HE plays in large halls and makes himself audible to large audiences, Segovia refuses to use any kind of amplification. "It alters the beautiful sound of the guitar, nullifies it, renders it acid and metallic," he says passionately. "From a loudspeaker, you can still appreciate the artistry of the performer, the agility of his fingers, but you do not have the true sound of the instrument. I tell my students not to use amplification. Julian Bream does - but this is not for artistic reasons. It is for commercial purposes, which I cannot accept." After a career of more than 70 years, Segovia is able to look back with a satisfaction that he takes no pains to disguise. "I assigned myself four tasks for my career," he says. "To redeem the guitar from its flamenco associations, to develp a real musical repertoire for it, to travel to all civilized countries and play there in order to gain a following for it, and to influence conservatories to take the guitar into their curriculum at the same dignified level as the piano, the violin, the cello or the voice. I believe that all four of these tasks have been fullfilled. Did you know, for example, that in Japan alone there are now 2 million students of the guitar?"
