Carter touring volcano area

VANCOUVER, Wash (AP) - Geologists said today that Mount St Helens has begun rumbling again, indicating renewed movement of molten rock within the volcano.

Meanwhile, President Carter took off in a helicopter from Portland. Ore, in rainy, cloudy weather this morning to look at the devastation from Sunday's eruption which he called "one of the most devastating explosions our nation has ever seen... The bad weather hampered the search for 90 people still reported missing in the area

Two seismographs on the volcano detected "seismic noise" from 5 p.m. Wednesday to 1 a.m. today, said Craig Weaver, a U.S. Geological Survey scientists at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Carter told reporters as he arrived in the Northwest on Wednesday night he had come to express "my admiration for the courage and for the calmness that the people have shown in the face of one of the most devastating natural explosions our nation has ever known.

But state officials told him they needed money. Rep. Mike McCormack. D. Wash., whose district includes the volcano, said the president was told that cleanup of ash-laden cities in eastern Washington could cost between $150 million and $200

As poor weather hampered helicopter searches Wednesday, the mountain was quiet. Scientists, however, worried that cascading mud could raise the bed of the nearby Cowlitz River, resulting in flooding, and kept watch on a giant mud logjam at the top of the Toutle River that was holding back the waters of Spirit Lake.

Meanwhile, states of emergency in several eastern Washington counties hard hit by the volcano's ash fallout were extended for health reasons.

Ron Edgar, a chemist with the Spokane Air Pollution Control Authority, said the ash — which shut down businesses and schools and stranded some 5,000 travelers — was similar to the substances that cause lung ailments in miners and stonemasons. Officials said air particulate levels here, normally 80 micrograms per cubic meter, were measured at 11,000

Conference formed a three-member committee including Iran's foreign minister today to work for a withdrawal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan and unanimously condemned the United States for its attempt to rescue the 53 American hostages in Iran.

The conference of foreign ministers which began Saturday termed the aborted American military action "armed aggression" against Iran, expressed "outrage" at Egypt and other Mideast states for allegedly helping the American attempt and deplored the imposition of economic sanctions against Iran by any country.

It also appealed to Iran "to continue to work toward a solution of the question of the hostages in the spirit of

The Afghan crisis committee was authorized to take any initiative it considered necessary including visits to the Soviet Union and Afghanistan, conference spokesman Kacem Zaheri said.

"But we are not going to beg the Soviet Union to ne gotiate The committee is led by Agha Shahi, foreign affairs adviser to Pakistani President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq and the conference's host. The other members are Ghotbzadeh and Habib Chatti of Tunisia, the secretary-general of the Islamic Conference.

Apparently reacting to criticism by pro-Soviet delegations, Chatti said at a news conference that opposition to the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan does not make the Islamic Conference any more or less pro-American. The Palestine Liberation Organization, Libya, Syria and North and South Yemen opposed the resolution on Afghanistan.

The resolution called for the immediate, unconditional and total withdrawal of Soviet forces from the Central Asian Moslem country. But it omitted the harsh language used in a resolution at another conference in January demanding a Soviet pullout.

Bangladesh Foreign Minister Shamsul Haq said the committee could meet with "groups" in Afghanistan, indicating it would not meet officially with the communist government of President Babrak Karmal. The January conference refused to recognize the Karmal government because it was installed by the Soviet intervention

Schools open in Miami; Tampa unrest continues

MIAMI (AP) - Schools reopened today as Miami's riot-torn northwest side remained calm except for an isolated shooting incident. But in Tampa, a police officer was shot in the face as he tried to barricade a street where rocks had been thrown.

Estimates of the overall financial toll in two nights of violence rose to near $200 million

Meanwhile, Miami authorities suspended one city policemen in the alleged bludgeoning of a suspected woman looter during the riot. Both the policeman and the woman are mated 616,000 jobless Americans filed initial claims for unemployment insurance during the week ending May 10, the highest number since at least 1967, the government said today.

U.S. jobless highest since at least 1967

The Labor Department's report provided another ominous sign that the economy is falling into a serious recession with unemployment to rise higher than official Carter administration forecasts.

The Labor Department said the seasonally adjusted figure for initial unemployment insurance claims filed during the week ending May 10 compares with 595,000 initial claims filed the week before. Only once before has the number of initial claims for a week exceeded 600,000 during the 13 years that the Labor Department has been collecting seasonally adjusted data. That was during the week ending April 19, when 607,000 initial claims were Initial claims for jobless benefits have been averaging about 600,000 a week for the past four weeks.

Last month, the nation's unemployment rate jumped from 6.2 percent to 7 percent, the highest level in 21/2 years and the largest one-month jump since the last recession five years The Carter administration officially predicts a short and mild recession this year, with unemployment peaking at 7.3 percent next year. But some administration economists say privately that the rate could hit 7.5 percent this month and surpass 8 percent by the end of the year. Each one percentage point rise in the jobless rate equals 1,030,000 peo-

The construction and auto industries have been hit first and hardest by the weakening economy, and layoffs in those sectors have been major reasons for the sharp boost in unemployment during the last month.

During the latest reporting period, increases in initial jobless benefit claims were the largest in Illinois, Michigan, North Carolina and California, because of layoffs in the construction, auto, textile, tire and service industries, the Labor Depart-

Mobil cuts gas prices by 3 cents per gallon NEW YORK (AP) — Mobil Corp., Mobil engaged in a verbal battle saying the action was necessary to comply with the Carter administration's price guidelines, today cut the wholesale price of its gasoline nationwide by 3 cents a gallon. John Flint, a Mobil spokesman, said the 3-cent reduction applied to gasoline and jet fuel. He said prices of heating oil and other distillate products including diesel fuel were being reduced by "up to 3 cents a gallon." The reductions, effective today, come on the eve of the Memorial Day holiday weekend, traditionally a time of increased driving. The price cut also comes during a week which saw all major suppliers of crude oil to the United States raise their prices, guaranteeing that retail prices of U.S. gasoline will rise by as much as 3 cents a gallon.

Flint said Mobil's latest cost estimates indicated the reductions were needed in order to comply with the price guidelines during the current with the Carter administration earlier this year after the Council on Wage and Price Stability said Mobil had violated the guidelines. Mobil claimed the charges were political, but last month it agreed to forego $30 million in increases it would otherwise have been able to impose before the end of September.

Carter, " Kennedy told about 300 union members.

As he did in Ohio, the heart of the

He said Carter made it clear from the start of negotiations with other countries that he was not going to take strong enough measures to protect U.S. jobs and that the other nations therefore did not bargain seriously. "In a Kennedy administration, we're never going to give the trump card away," he said. Much of Kennedy's schedule Wednesday and today was devoted to appearances in areas that do not fit in to the widespread impression of a

Planning for water

Texas' population will increase about 40 percent between now and the turn of the century, according to an estimate by the Texas Department of Water Resources.

With that population increase, largely a result of migration by Snow Belt Americans to the Sun Belt, will come a greater demand on the state's water resources.

That tremendous growth will boost the state's population to 18.9 million people by the year 2000. according to TDWR, compared to current estimates of 13.5 million residents.

TDWR says that already the statewide water system is considered inadequate to meet total statewide needs in the decades following the turn of the century.

What will we do? Water, as we all know, is essential to human life. Perhaps we individuals living here in the semi-arid Permian Basin region are more aware than others of the importance of water because we live almost daily at the mercy of the desert sands and drying winds.

TDWR updates its population projections regularly as part of a planning process designed to identify potential water supply shortages in order that water development can be implemented in time to meet the ever growing

Hope still exists for the Class of 1980

WASHINGTON - The class of 1980 is having a tough time finding jobs. Therefore, they have to lower their sights on what kind of positions they will accept. This is not only a burden on them but also on their parents who like to brag about what their children are doing.

I realized this when I attended a commencement exercise and overheard a group of parents discussing their children's plans now that they were graduating from college.

'What is your son going to do?" one of the mothers asked.

"He's getting a degree in economics, so he'll be driving a taxicab. We think he's very fortunate to get a position as a taxi driver right out of school. "You must have pull."

Well, his father did know a man who owned three taxis. At first my son said he wanted to get a taxi job on his own, but after pounding the pavements for a few months he realized it isn't what you know but whom you know in the taxi business that counts.

"What is your daughter Gertrude going to do?"

Flood of Cubans causing concern for refugee officials By BENJAMIN SHORE

Copley News Service

WASHINGTON - The steadily growing flow of Cubans eager to get off their island nation and settle in the United States has raised serious questions here over the practicality of the modernized U.S. refugee law passed two months ago.

The Cubans streaming into Florida call themselves refugees, while the U.S. government must call them illegal aliens.

Yet no one here expects any of these Cubans to be sent back to Cuba the way illegal aliens from other nations are treated.

"We live with a lot of contradictions in a complicated world," said Victor H. Palmieri, U.S. coordinator for refugee affairs, in a meeting with Palmieri noted that under the 1962 refugee law that has just been revised, Cubans were specifically listed as a special case because they were fleeing a Communist society which the United States wished to embarrass by granting them haven.

The sweeping revisions of the law. approved by Congress on March 4, eliminated ideological factors but clearly stated that political, religious or racial persecution were grounds for entry into the United States as a

States finds itself in a legal bind. The advantage enjoyed by the Cubans has not been extended to Haitians, who have been sailing to Florida from their country and asking for political asylum on the grounds that to be sent back would mean persecution by the regime of Haiti's president-for-life, Jean-Claude Duvalier. Yet the United States has sent more than 200 Haitian "boat people" back, and a 1979 State Department report stated that the returnees suffered no persecution.

The Haitians have fought U.S. immigration officials to a standstill in federal courts in Florida, freezing deportations temporarily and focusing more public attention on their

"They're just coming here looking for work," one INS official said. They're illegal aliens.'

Palmieri concedes that under the new law, the Haitians and the Cubans must be treated identically. They must be processed individually, not as a special class, and the test of obtaining refugee status or political asylum is the same, he said. "If impoverished and desperate people around the world, victimized by repressive governments as well as by failing economies, flee, the crucial test has always been whether they are subject to persecution upon return on account of their political or religious beliefs," Palmieri said.

The United States now must try to distinguish between "people fleeing because they are seeking greater economic opportunity, and people fleeing persecution," he said.

Congress, in its March action, brought U.S. refugee policy into conformance with U.N. policy, committing the United States to the practice of letting refugees stay if their act of fleeing would mean persecution upon return

A State Department official, asked about the ease with which the United States can be taken advantage of, conceded the theoretical point but said it is rarely seen in practice.

"A Soviet coal miner who is unhappy with his life and yearns to escape to the West to live a more exciting, freer life is unlikely to ever get out,

"This Soviet citizen is not being persecuted by Soviet standards as he goes about his daily routine, but there is no doubt that he would be persecuted if somehow he got out and was sent Palmieri said much the same, agreeing that what most Americans would consider persecution in some form is the normal, legal way of life in other nations.

The State Department official, who requested not to be identified, added: "Just because there are nations whose people do not enjoy the social and economic advantages found in the United States is not sufficient grounds for letting them float up on our beaches and proclaim themselves

But no one here expects any Cubans, except possibly non-political criminals, to face deportation back to Cuba. However, the United States likely will seek other countries to accept many of them for final settle-

Anderson announced on April 24 he would stop competing for the Republican presidential nomination and mount a tentative independent effort which would depend upon his abilit; to get on the ballot in enough states for the genera election. In the second stage, Anderson would remail in the race at least through the late summer or early fall, campaign sources have said.

Since his April announcement, Anderson has gotten more than enough signature in Michigan, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Utah and Kansas.

Asked at a Los Angeles news conference Wednesday if he would continue the campaigr, the congressman said

Well, there isn't any question realy in my mind that I am going ahead.'

He said there is a chance of "unexpected reverses," which might derail the effort, but at this point Anderson indicated the second state has

Bush says he still has chance

COLUMBUS (AP) - George Bush, who is reassessing his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, says he still believes he has a chance to prove himself a winner and "jar loose" Ronald Reagan's commanding lead in delegates to the GOP

Bush said Wednesday the obstacle remains money and his ability to raise it amid a widespread perception that Reagan has the nomination locked up.

The former U.N. ambassador said Ohio, New Jersey and possibly California are "absolutely winnable" if enough money can be raised to mount "the right kind of battle.

In the aftermath of his upset victory over in the Michigan primary on Tuesday, Bush on Wednesday campaigned in four Ohio cities, arguing against projections by the ABC and CBS television networks that say Reagan already has the 998 delegates needed to gain the GOP presidential nomiation.

Bush has given up his chartered campaign plane and pared down his staff and will move on to scheduled events in New Jersey today via com-

PRICES MAY VARY AT INDIVIDUAL STORES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders say the United States can celebrate the Fouth of July this year with a new multibillion-dollar synthetics fuel program that could ease U.S. dependence on foreign

"Let it be our declaration of energy independence," House Majority Leader Jim Wright said of the synthetics fuel bill approved Wednesday by a House-Senate committee.

Wright was echoing President Carter's call when the president first proposed the synthetic fuels program last year.

The majority leader said the bill, long delayed in the congressional process, could clear both houses of Congress during the last week in June and be on Carter's desk by July 4.

The bill is a principal element of Carter's overall energy program. A second major element — an Energy Mobilization Board that could cut through red tape delaying energy projects - won approval in a separate conference committee last month. It could go to a final vote next week and reach Carter's desk in early June. The centerpiece of the compromise approved Wednesday is a $20 billion, five-year program of loan and price guarantees designed to encourage private industry to build plants for converting coal or oil shale into synthetic fuel.

Sponsors say such plants could be producing the equivalent of 500,000 barrels of oil a day by 1987 roughly 8 percent of the current rate of oil imports or 4 percent of total daily U.S. oil consumption. With additional federal assistance later in the decade, the synthetic fuel program aims at a production level of 2 million barrels a day by 1992.

Other parts of the bill include a $1.45 billion program to encourage the building of gasohol distil-leries and the production of biomass energy from municipal wastes; a $1.75 billion fund to subsidize loans for solar and energy conservation projects; and a $750 million program to develop geothermal resources - the underground heat emanating from the center of the earth.

"I think this is the most significant piece of legislation we're going to pass this year, and possibly this decade," Wright said after the final conference

Committee ready with compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a hard-fought com-promise finally at hand, House and Senate negotiators face a bigger battle ahead as they try to sell the full Congress a 1981 budget that outlines a huge increase in defense spending and projects the first federal surplus in 12 years.

Even as the $613.3 billion spending plan awaited final approval from the conference committee, strong opposition appeared to be building in the House against its guns-over-butter priorities for fiscal 1981. On a 10-6 vote Wednesday, House negotiators accepted a Senate proposal for $153.7 billion in defense spending. That is $5.8 billion above the figure settled on earlier by the full House and almost $20 billion more than this year's defense budget. The additional defense money would come from a wide variety of cuts in domestic programs favored by the Five liberal-to-moderate Democrats, representing an influential swing bloc of House votes, opposed the deal, along with one conservative Republican.

The dissenting Democrats, who were promptly dubbed the "gang of five," vowed to join with other Democrats, upset with cuts in domestic programs, to fight the budget when it reaches the House floor next Wednesday or Thursday.

Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., House Budget
Committee chairman, conceded that House approval would be "very difficult."

Silver boom under eye of House subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP) - A House subcommittee is investigating how last year's speculative boom in silver prices fueled runaway inflation and still af-fects consumers, from camera buffs to hearing-aid

Deputy Treasury Secretary Robert Carswell, who was to testify at hearings today, says silver and other precious metals accounted for aimost one-third of the 1.6 percent rise in wholesale prices last January.

That jump triggered a series of anti-inflation moves by the Carter administration and the Federal Reserve Board, including higher interest rates and emergency credit controls.

In recent weeks, the House Government Operations subcommittee on consumer and monetary affairs has received stacks of letters complaining about silver-related price increases.

Police seeking suspect in theft at grocery store

Police are looking for a black male, approximately 30 years of age, 5-feet 10-inches tall and weighing 150 pounds, who reportedly stole $582.22 in currency and silver from an E-Z Way Grocery at 1101 E. Scharbener Dales W. bauer Drive Wednesday.

According to reports, officers were dispatched to the grocery at 10:05 p.m. A store employee told officers the man entered the store with a woman who appeared to be around 50 years old. The woman asked the clerk for something and when he turned around to get it for her he heard a noise behind

The clerk told officers he turned around and saw a cigarette display which had been knocked over by the man. The man immediately ran from the store. The clerk reported that he noticed a money bag was missing. The bag had been on a counter behind the cash register. The clerk ran outside to see if he could see where the man had gone, but did not see him. The woman drove away from the store.

Refugee tide appears to ebb, officials hope

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The wave of Cuban refugees arriving on the "Freedom Flotilla" appears to be ebbing, and officials believe the number of boats at Cuba's port of Mariel finally is dwindling.

"We do see a faint glimmer at the end of the tunnel," said Cmdr. Samuel Dennis, chief of Coast Guard operations in Key West.

Only 28 boats with 1,150 passengers arrived here Wednesday, and officials believe there may be only 500 boats in Cuba.

A Havana radio broadcast, monitored in Miami, with different but still dwindling figures, reported there were 697 American-based boats at Mariel as of there were 697 American-based boats at Mariel as of late Tuesday.

Nearly 68,000 Cuban refugees have arrived here in the 33 days of the boatlift.

Despite a string of Coast Guard cutters blockading the Straits of Florida to stop boats trying to leave for Cuba, four small boats slipped through on Tuesday while cutters were busy on rescue missions, Dennis said. Radio Havana reported that 10 boats slipped through

Two Cuban-American representatives, mean-while, were in Washington trying to win permission to continue the boatlift.

Miami businessman Wilfredo Navarro and Frank Sturgis, a former Cuban security chief who later was charged in the Watergate burglary, met Wednesday with U.S. Sen. Richard Stone, D-Fla., Minority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and White House official Luis Lauredo.

They hoped to meet with State Department officials today, but admitted chances were slim for getting permission to send 20 large shrimp boats chartered by "United Cubans" to pick up more

"We just are asking them to let us go free our people ... just don't interfere," Navarro said. They say they will organize mass demonstrations if they are refused permission to send the boats to over the world.

Tom Casey of the Federal Emergency Management Agency said Wednesday in Miami he hopes the committee will help speed refugee processing.

"I'm not happy at the progress in processing of refugees into permanent resettlement," he said.

"The Intergovernmental Committee has arrived at Eglin (Air Force Base in northwest Florida) ... We hope to see substantial progress. These are peoplemovers. They are a world-wide travel agency."

ROME (AP) - A 25-year-old Libyan accused of attempted murder in Rome was quoted today by police as saying he was "sent by the Libyan people to kill opponents" of Libya's radical government, which is believed behind a string of eight murders of Libyan dissidents in Europe in the past two months. Police said Monsur Mezaroni Belgazem was picked up outside a Rome restaurant Wednesday night minutes after a gunman fired three pistol shots at the Libyan-born proprietor, Salem Mohamed Fezzani, a naturalized Italian who has lived in Rome since 1959.

The 45-year-old Fezzani escaped injury by diving to the floor as the shots rang out. Police said they were looking for a second man seen fleeing the restaurant with Belgazem.

The attempt came as gunmen murdered two more of Libyan strongman Moammar Khadafy's exile foes in

Federal grand jury indicts Alpine's ex-police chief

D.A. "Ace" Moseley, about 44, former Midland police narcotics detective and ex-police chief at Alpine, was indicted Wednesday afternoon by a federal grand jury in Midland for conspiracy to possess and to distri-buted 1,100 pounds of marijuana in late February 1979, when he was still Alpine's police chief.

Moseley, who resigned from the Alpine police department in May 1979 and who has since returned to the Midland area where he works in the oil field, was released this morning under a $10,000 bond set by U.S. Magistrate J. Michael Cunningham of Midland. Moseley was indicted on two counts: conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute marijuana, and with possession of 1,100 pounds of the controlled substanced. He is to be arraigned before Magistrate Cunningham at 10 a.m. on May 30. Maximum punishment that could be exacted for the offense is a fiveyear prison term and a $25,000 fine.

Moseley had been on the Midland police force for slightly more than eight years when he resigned in January 1975 to become chief at Alpine, a scenic town of some 6,000 people near Big Bend National Park.

Just before his resignation last year, Moseley told The Alpine Avalanche that he was leaving the Southwest to return to the sea to be captain of a shrimp boat off the Gulf Coast.

"It's been life-long dream of mine to be a boat captain," Moseley, who was born in the Caribbean Sea re-gion, had said. "It's something I've been wanting to do, and I'm not getting any younger. The worst thing that could happen to be is to go broke, and I'm already that." HOLDS ANY CHAIR TIL FATHER'S DAY

Reprieve' for Mennonites nearer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final reprieve of more than 500 Mennonite settlers near Seminole, Texas, from possible deportation is edging closer. A House subcommittee approved a bill Wednesday to grant them permanent resident status. Following the House judiciary subcommittee's action, Sen. Lloyd Bent-sen, D-Texas, said he was hopeful the bill could be signed into law this

A spokesman for Bentsen, who asked not to be identified, said the approval of the House subcommittee on immigration, refugees and inter-

Black man hospitalized in racially torn Georgia

black man was shot while driving his car in rural Johnson County early this morning near this east-central Georgia town troubled by racial tensions, authorities said.

The name and age of the man, who was listed in stable condition at a local hospital, was not immediately

Johnson County Sheriff Roland Attaway said the shooting occurred in a rural area outside of Wrightsville, which has been the scene of recent heated racial disturbances.

It was not immediately known whether the shooting was related to the racial strife.

Two Justice Department attorneys involved in an investigation of allegations that Attaway has violated the civil rights of blakes were sent to Wrightsville on Wednesday.

Lawyers Ross Connealy and Ri-chard W. Roberts declined to discuss specifics of the inquiry, saying FBI agents were conducting the investigation into allegations that Sheriff Roland Attaway had violated blacks'

Meanwhile Tom Perdue, executive secretary to Gov. George Busbee, announced Friday's meeting after talking with a group of whites Wednesday and later with a group of blacks.

'Some people said it would be the first time in anyone's memory that blacks and whites in this county have had a joint meeting to solve their problems," he said.

"It's very possible it could turn out to be a wasted effort. But something good is bound to happen. The way we have been going is not the way.

In the most recent disturbance, one woman was stabbed Monday, three persons were wounded by gunfire and 38 persons were arrested.

Local and national leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, who have led marches and rallies in this rural town in east-central Georgia, reacted cautiously to Purdue's initiative. The Rev. E.J. Wilson said the protesters would probably attend the meeting. The black leader, who faces disdemeanor charges stemming from last month's rallies, was freed on bond Wednesday after those charges were referred to a grand jury.

"But if we go, we are going in big numbers," Wilson said.

national law had been the bill's biggest remaining hurdle.

In 1977, members of the spartanlike religous group from Canada and Mexico paid $2.6 million for 6,400 acres in arid West Texas hoping to start a farm-based community. They later were faced with deportation after entering the U.S. on temporary visitors' visas. Bentsen said the Mennonites had believed after making numerous inquiries that purchasing land would make them permanent residents.

"It was only after they made major investments in land and arrived here that they discovered they might not be allowed to remain," the senator said in a statement.

The bill sponsored by Bentsen would allow 653 Mennonites to remain in the U.S. as permanent residents.

A similar measure passed the Senate two years ago but died in the House when the 95th session of Congress ended. The bill again passed the Senate last year and since has awaited clearance by the House subcommittee before it could proceed to final pas-

The Immigration and Naturalization Service delayed deportation proceedings pending congressional ac-

Bentsen claimed that his bill would not set any immigration precedents because the Mennonites' situation is unique.

"The individuals covered by this legislation have made extraordinary good faith efforts to comply with American law. They have in many cases invested their life savings in their journey to America and have received the strong support of their neighbors in the Seminole area," he Bentsen said most of the immigrants from Mexico came to the U.S. because of generally difficult economic conditions and the possibility their land would be confiscated.

Bob Clark, the former mayor of Seminole, said in a telephone interview that the permanent resident status would give the Mennonites time to 'glue everything back together' after their land was repossessed last

He said most of the Mennonites have remained and have jobs throughout Gaines County, expecting to save enough money to purchase land in the future Clark said the financial difficulty arose because fewer Mennonites immigrated than expected, making the interest payments too heavy for the families who arrived.

The news of the subcommittee vote was "super," he said.

RANKIN — Kimberley Danelle Rose and Allen Brant Myers have been named valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of the 1980 graduating class of Rankin High School.

Miss Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Rose Sr., has a four-year grade average of 97.84. She is president of the Red Devil Band, National Honor Society and is a senior representative of the student council.

The valedictorian has lettered in basketball and golf and has represented Rankin High School in University Interscholastic League golf, informative speaking, news, editorial and feature writing competitions.

She is the recipient of the coveted Rankin High Merit Award for outstanding achievement. Besides state and church scholarships, Miss Rose was presented the Valedictorian Award, Magna Cum Laude Award, American Legion Award and the the Scott Russom Memorial scholarship.

While attending Hardin-Simmons University Miss

Rose plans to study X-ray technology.

Allen Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilborn Myers, carries a four-year average of 96.93. The salutatorian was the captain of the Red Devil football team. He was a member of the Rankin High School bas ketball team and was a regional qualifier in track as a pole vaulter.

He is vice president of the National Honor Society and senior class treasurer. Myers was first cornet in the band.

Besides the Rankin High Merit Award, he is a recipient of the Salutatorian Trophy, Magna Cum Laude Award, American Legion Award, Rankin Booster Club Scholarship and the President's Special Awards Scholarship to San Angelo State University.

Other graduates receiving Cum Laude Awards for achieving a four-year average of 90 or above are David Adler, Sam Cobb, Rodney Johnson, Karrie Ratliff, Kim Ratliff, Ronda Shankle and Sam Wilkes.

A number of students were presented scholarships. They are Marilyn Plagens, Rankin Study Club scholarship; Marcus Pittman, Beta Sigma Phi scholarship; YoVanna Marshall, Rankin Lions Club scholarship; Ronda Shankle, Upton County Pecan Growers Association scholarship; Sam Wilkes, Dub Day Memorial scholarship; and David Adler, Scott Russom Memorial scholarship.

Firm's use of training grant outlined in hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Happy Hour Training" and limousine trips to National Airport were two uses a private corporation allegedly "ound for money it received from a District of Columbia training grant, according to congressional testimony.

The testimony Wednesday came in a House manpower and housing subcommittee hearing on evaluating the federal government's effort at accounting for job training funds spent under the $10 billion-a-year Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

An audit of the D.C. Institute for Careers in Tourism disclosed the questionable funding practices. The institute was a subcontractor that used city money in 1977 and 1978 to train 28 tour guides. It is no longer receiving government money.

According to the report, the institute allegedly used more than $100,000 of a $4(00,000 training grant for such purposes as "Happy Hour Training" at two local restaurants, limous ine trips to and from National Airport and the purchase of a $178 leather briefcase.

"Happy hours at the Red Lion and Black Tahiti, limousine trips to and from the airport for (the) executive director's trip to Jamaica — it's hard to believe this could be allowed to happen," said Rep. M. Caldwell Butler, R-Va.

The group was formerly headed by Eric Sewell, whose attorney, Robert Watkins, said his client would have no comment on the report. Watkins said the amounts were only questioned costs and have not been found to be improper.

Libel damages awarded

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) -- A jury has awarded $1 million in libel damages against the Oklahoma Publishing Co. to unsuccessful U.S. Senate candidate George Miskovsky.

The Oklahoma City lawyer was seeking $25 million, claiming OPUBCO cartoons, editorials and news stories in The Daily Oklahoman and Oklahoma City Times libeled him during his 1978 campaign for the Democratic nomination.

Jurors returned the verdict about late Wednesday night after more than five hours of deliberation.

It allows $35,000 in actual damages and $965,000 in punitive damages.

OPUBCO lawyers said they will appeal the case.
The award "will have a purifying effect," Miskovsky said. "I have no ill will at all. I am grateful to my lawyers. We're satisfied with the verdict."

Jim Standard, managing editor of the newspapers, said, "We think it is a great loss to freedom of the press in this state."

Edward L. Gaylord, publisher of the papers, testified through deposition Wednesday he thinks Miskovsky "took too seriously" a cartoon printed during the 1978 campaign.

Holding graduation in church may violate rights, judge says

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A school board's decision to hold high school graduation ceremonies in a church building may violate the religious freedoms of students of other faiths, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Court Judge Ray
McNichols issued a temporary restraining order Wednesday forbidding the Fremont County School Board from holding tonight's ceremony in a Mormon Church stake center at Ashton, a community of 1,200.

Board members promptly voted to hold the ceremony in the 412-seat school auditorium. School officials had said up to 1,000 people might attend graduation ceremonies and the board voted last month to move North Fremont High School graduation to the church building to accommodate the crowd.

Friday, the American Civil Liberties Union filed legal action seeking a temporary injunction.

In a small community, requiring students of other religions to attend an activity in the church of the majority "holds the potential to advance a particular religion," the judge said in an oral order.

Attorneys said the decision could have far-reaching implications in an area where the Mormon Church predominates. One parent said up to 80 percent of the high school students at Ashton are Mormon.

School Board attorney Terry Crapsaid if McNichols issued a broad decision, it could stop the common practice in small eastern Idaho communities of using Mormon church buildings for public functions such as basketball games, debate and speech tournaments.

"If it excludes all use of church building, obviously we will have to ask for appellate review," said Crapo.

McNichols said it appeared school officials "can't possibly avoid religious entanglement" by using a church building for a public activity.

ramid parties' sweep California

By GLORIA OHLAND

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The word had spread like wildfire — for a mere $1,000 outlay, an investor could make $16,000 in less than a week. The hopeful gathered — 250 of them — sitting two to a chair and lining the greasy walls of a dilapidated Van Nuys

It was a "pyramid party," the latest in a seemingly endless chain of endless chain schemes that has put dollar signs in the eyes of hundreds of Southern Californians.

The craze also has police worried about possible involvement of Mafia figures, robbers stalking the pyramid winners and even one shooting.

It's a misdemeanor to participate in an endless chain scheme, and the penalty is a fine of up to $500 or a jail term of up to six months. As in chain letters, the problem with pyramid schemes is that once they fall apart, those who have invested but not collected are left with nothing.

In Orange County, authorities were told that four gunmen held up one Anaheim party May 14, and another man was robbed of his $8,000 winnings and then shot by a bandit last Friday after leaving a Costa Mesa pyramid party. Anonymous callers are beginning to flood police with complaints. "My wife just pulled all our savings out of the bank and went off to a pyramid meeting. What are you guys going to do about it?" demanded one caller whom police termed typical.

Banks all around Los Angeles report sudden sizable cash withdrawals — an unusual $75,000 in one day at one suburban branch - and runs on $50 and $100 bills.

"I've never seen anything like it — everybody knows it's the pyramid," said one bank official, who asked to remain anonymous.

It's a misdemeanor to participate in an endless chain scheme, and the penalty is a fine of up to $500 or a jail term of up to six months.

"So what?" said one eager, anonymous winner at the party Tuesday night in Van Nuys. "What's a $500 fine? I've already made $16,000. And you can get a misdemeanor taken off your record.

As in chain letters, the problem with pyramid schemes is that once they fall apart, those who have invested but not collected are left with nothing.

In Northern California, San Jose police said Wednesday they are belatedly getting complaints from people who have lost thousands of dollars. "The schemes are all burnt out up here," said

Officer Jack Morris. Many of the complaints have been second-hand or anonymous. The Costa Mesa shooting was reported by the victim's minister, said police Lt. Jack Calnon.

He said participants may be reluctant to speak out for fear of prosecution

At a party Monday night in Burbank, 13 people out of 118 attending were arrested. Among those nabbed was a man identified by police as a low level Mafia figure. But investigators declined to give his name for fear of jeopardizing pending investigations. Even the shooting didn't seem to worry the party-

"Well, it's scary. I mean it's just so incredible seeing all that money, all those hundred dollar bills changing hands. It's so incredible. That's why I just can't get too scared," said one woman.

Like the chain letters spawned in the '30s by the Great Depression, pyramid parties promise profits to people who can persuade two others to join for $1,000 apiece. Each pyramid has room for 64 participants. New recruits entering the bottom 32 slots give half their $1,000 to whomever recruited them and the other $500 to the one on top.
When the top pyramider collects the $16,000, the next two people begin their own pyramids and the cycle continues until nobody new is willing to join. Despite the euphoria, Tuesday night's party was a tense, businesslike affair. The doors were locked and flanked by burly guards. On a table in the middle of the garage was a neat stack of white envelopes to be filled with money. A hush fell as the host gave his sales pitch.

"I've made money — a lot of money. I've reinvested. My children have all made money. My employees have all made money," he said. "I can't get any work done in my office because everyone is on the phone all day calling friends and neighbors and they're all making money.'

But UCLA mathematics professor Thomas Liggett put the odds of winning at one in 32.

Los Angeles Police Lt. Bill Mossman said, "When the victims start calling and we hear the howls of pain, then we'll know the worst is over," he

Because the chain scheme is illegal, many of Southern California's "pyramid parties" are held in secret places — like garages and secluded camps. (AP Laserphoto)

Writing test results 'valid'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Writing tests given all out even reading them.

Texas ninth graders yielded valid results even The Texas Assessment. though grading methods have been criticized, State Education Commissioner Alton Bowen says.

"The Texas Education Agency feels confident the results accurately reflect student achievement on the writing skills measured and can be used as the basis for planning improvement in local instructional programs," Bowen said Wednesday.

Both fifth and ninth graders - 450,000 of them were tested on basic skills earlier this year in the first statewide attempt to measure student Results are in the hands of school districts and will be released locally in June, Bowen said.

'Each district will use the results to strengthen instruction so that students acquire certain minimum competencies before they finish high school," Bowen said.

He said the results also would help teachers and principals identify individuals and groups of students who need special attention.

"The Legislature gave us precisely the right direction when it required tests to be based on specific objectives developed for Texas students rather than some vague national norm," Bowen said.

Testing was designed to show whether each student had learned specific skills or acquired knowledge deemed essential by course planners, rather than to measure Texas youngsters against those in other states.

Special grand jury to convene

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) -Federal prosecutors hope to convene a special 36-month grand jury next month to investigate the 1978 attempted slaying of a prosecutor and the assassination six months later of a federal judge.

The special panel would be armed with additional legal powers and authorized under laws allowing the investigation of organized crime, U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd said Wednes-

Boyd stressed that doesn't mean the investigation is focusing on organized crime. But he did not rule out the possibility that organized crime figures might be subpoenaed.

One reputed organized crime leader testified last October before a regular federal grand jury investigating the sniper slaying of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. and the attack on then-Assistant U.S. Attorney James

That panel completed its 18-month term this month.

Justice Department officials in Washington must grant permission for the new special panel, but the authorization is expected in time for a June 12 session.

Boyd said as many as eight witnesses could be subpoenaed for that session. He refused to identify them, but added, "They'll be of great inter-

There have been no arrests in either case despite a massive federal investigation of international scope.

Kerr was heavily involved in a widespread investigation of international narcotics smuggling centered in El Paso. Wood, 63, had earned the nickname "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences in many of those same drug cașes.

Boyd said he believes both attacks were ordered by those with a multimillion-dollar stake in drug traffick-

The regular grand jury was concentrating on the Wood slaying last October when it heard testimony from more than 30 witnesses. Among those witnesses were mem-primarily on the Bandidos. FBI documents released in court have pinpointed several current Bandidos and one former club member as prime suspects in the case.

According to the documents, Kerr selected those men from a police lineup as closely resembling his attackers. His memory had been enhanced by hypnosis.

Odessan second in Poker Series

Unger, who has proven he's no slouch at poker Reno. either, tops the field of five players in what may be the final day of the $730,000 "Hold 'Em" game that ends the annual World Series of Poker.

Unger, 26, ended the third day of play Wednesday with $307,500. Seven players, including television actor Gabe Kaplan, were knocked out of the high stakes card game.

Two of the five players, Doyle "Texas Dolly" Brunson and Johnny Moss, formerly of Odessa, both Texans now living in Las Vegas, were in second and third place and were each seeking their third win today in the annual event at Binion's Horsehoe Rrunson had $162.000, while Moss had won $122.50 Jay Heimowitz, 42, of Monticello, N.Y., was in fourth place with $72,500 while Charles Dunwoody of Houston trailed with $65,500.

Brunson, 46, a poker room manager at a Las Vegas Strip hotel, won the Hold 'Em game in 1976 and 1977, carting away $560,000 from the tables at Binion's. In the interim, he wrote a 605-page book on poker that has become part of the game for serious players.

The 73-year-old Moss won the game in 1971 and 1974 and was voted the winner by the rest of the players in be first game in 1970.

Kaplan, of the "Welcome Back, Kotter" series, had been in the lead when the game resumed Wednesday. But he lost $203,000 in about five hours, including one $50,000 pot to Moss when the Texan's diamond flush beat Kaplan's three fours. A poker buff who has entered several of the igh-stakes games in the past, Kaplan beat 38 other contenders to win $190,000 last Feb. 7 in the

Sears' Midland Park store on schedule

Sears, Roebuck and Co. announced today that construction of its new store in Midland Park Mall is moving along on schedule toward a July 30 opening

Mack Harris, manager of Sears operations in Midland, said the one-level structure will have 118,-200 gross square feet of space including a 13stall, 7,200 square foot attached Automotive Center. The store also will have approximately 650 parking

The Midland project is one of nine stores the company plans to open in the Southwest in 1980 and part of the company's national expansion pro-gram over the next five years, which includes 239 retail stores at a cost of $2 billion.

The new Sears complex will replace the existing company unit on Cuthbert Avenue and Midkiff

"With this new store Sears will be keeping pace with the growth of the Midland area, by increasing our selling space and offering a more complete line of merchandise in a new, modern facility," Harris

"The Midland metropolitan area has shown good growth in retail sales, with a total retail sales figure of $169 million in 1972 and an estimated $400 million in 1979. In 1970 the disposable personal income for Midland County was $282 million; the 1979 estimate is over $640 million." Midland also has one of the highest income per household figures, over $24,400, according to 1979 estimates.

"The new Sears store, with almost double the lling space, will be much more convenient for our customers," Harris added, "and the developer, Melvin Simon and Associates, is putting together an enclosed mall that will be a beautiful addition to our

Ingrid Hays, 63, of 2602 Country Club Drive, remained in critical condition this morning in Medi-cal Center Hospital following a car-pedestrian accient Tuesday morning involving a police car.

According to reports, Ms. Hays was walking cross Cuthbert Avenue at the intersection of Ward Street about 4 a.m. when she was struck by the car driven by Officer Ronald Wayne Gray. She had apparently been shopping at Albertsons.

Gray said the woman just seemed to appear out of nowhere. He swerved to the left, missing the woman with the front of the car, but a right hand door caught her knocking her into the curb.

She was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital for head and chest injuries and then transferred to Odes-

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Gin Rummy ace Stu Amarillo Slim Poker Classic at the Sahara Hotel in play an equal session of poker .... but I learned

The game began Monday with 73 players who bought in with $10,000 each. It will end when one player holds all the chips. Half of the $730,000 goes to the last surviving player; the rest is divided among the next four finishers.

Unger, now of Las Vegas, is a rookie in this year's game. He said he learned to play gin rummy while still in his teens, taking on all comers at a number of resorts in upper New York State. He said he finds it difficult to find a gin game now.

"It was a case of being forced to take up poker," he said. "The only way I could get a session of gin was to cards and the five on the table takes the pot.

Hold 'Em is a seven-card, no-limit game. Each player is dealt two cards face down, and, on the strength of their hole cards, make initial bets and raises. The dealer then deals three cards - face-up on the center of the table to be used in combination with each player's hole card. Following more bets, a fourth card is turned face-up on the table and additional bets are made.

The fifth and final card is dealt face up as well, with the final bets being made at that time. The player who can make the best hand with his hole

Asthma researchers spot new chemical that complicates

WASHINGTON (AP) - Scientists have identified a chemical that attracts white blood cells into the airways of the lung, adding to the breath-constricting complications of chronic asthma.

Dr. David M. Center of Boston University Medical Center said Tuesday that the chemical factor is secreted by cells in the lungs of rats called mast cells. The chemical attracts white cells called lymphocytes.

Although this chemical factor has not yet been isolated in humans, Center said it probably is present in the mast cells of human lungs. Similar chemical factors that attract other types of white cells have been found in humans, he noted. "If we can inhibit the release of these factors, or mediate their effects on white cells, it may give us a new way to treat asthmatic attacks," Center told the annual meeting of the American Lung Association. Center said a number of things can stimulate mast cells to release chemical factors, including antibodies caused by allergic reactions, trauma and some drugs. An estimated 2 million to 5 million Americans suffer in varying degrees from asthma, a family of respiratory conditions resulting in restricted airways in the lungs.

Symptoms include excess mucus secretion clogging narrow air passages, smooth muscle contraction and, in the case of chronic disease, a buildup of white cells that further narrow airways.

Along with the chemical that attracts lymphocytes, Center said he also found another chemical factor that immobilizes the white cells once they arrive in the lungs.

This inhibiting factor prevents the white cells from passing through the lungs once they are drawn there by the other chemical and this contributes to the buildup, he said.

"This inhibiting factor may be another way to approach a treatment," Center said in an interview. "If it can be blocked, then the lymphocytes could pass through the lungs without accumulating."

Both the attracting and immobilizing factors have very useful functions in the body, Center said.

The attracting chemical calls the infection-fighting white cells from other parts of the body to an inflamed site where they are needed. The immobilizing factor then makes sure they stay there to do their job.

"Asthma is an inflammatory lung disease in which white cells are attracted to the site," Center said. "But in this case, they may do more harm than good.

'Clean liver' to receive award at Shasta College

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — Clean living has its own rewards for women of Shasta College who plan to attend the University of California at Berkeley. The Helene-Marie Bacon Bogg Fund offers $300 a semester to a young lady from the two-year college who can prove that she neither smokes nor drinks.

A sharp contrast to the doom and gloom picture of constantly rising college costs is the $135 million in college financial aid that went unclaimed last year, says S. Robert Freede, president of a New York-based research organization, Scholarship Search.

"There are all kinds of reasons private individuals or groups set up scholarship money for college. Morality is just one of them," he says.

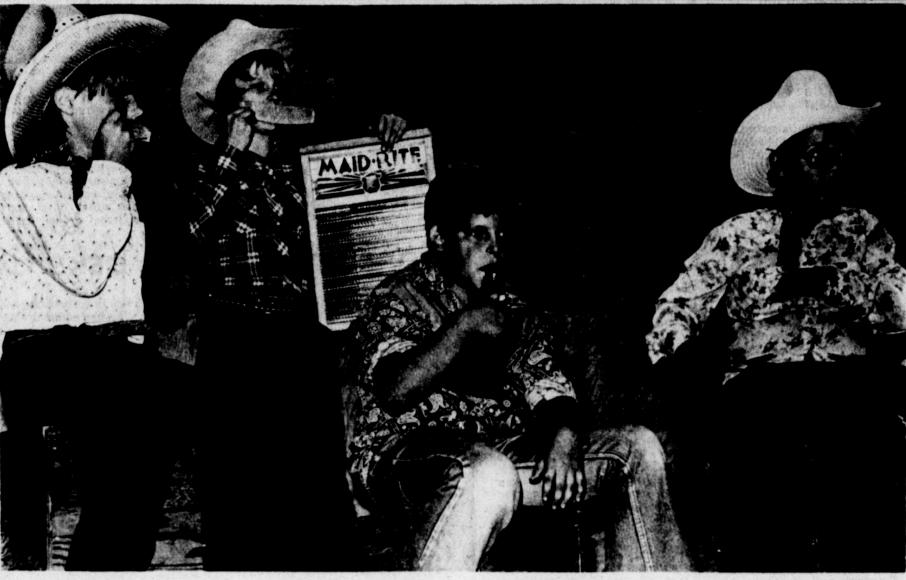

"Our computer has more than 250,-000 items in it and we know about scholarships given out on the basis of religious affiliation, economic background or college major. The usual stereotypes of income level or intelligence alone don't really hold up," Freede said.

This past week, I got my teeth cleaned, took my driver's test and went to confession at church.

I knew that no one had ever been this wonderful before. In fact, I could barely stand to fall asleep and be gone from me for seven whole hours.

As I told my friend, Mayva, "I am cleansed. Just one of these pious acts would put me in a state of grace for a month . . . but all three of them in the same week should get me space on a medallion."

Mayva looked unimpressed and said, "As long as you've got three you try for the Sanctimonious Decathgood deeds going for you, why don't

She had to be kidding. I had never heard of the Sanctimonious Decathlon and doubted if there was one. Mayva insisted I was wrong. She said there was a series of 10 holier-thanthou events that had never been completed by anyone during a sevenday period.

He said the drug is no more effective than aspirin but is responsible for more deaths than any other prescription product. Abuse is made simple because Darvon is frequently prescribed and there are loose restrictions on refills, he added.

"That this narcotic drug - tantamount to legalized dope — is a serious public health problem is not arguable," Wolfe said in prepared testimony.

He cited other estimates from the Drug Abuse Warning Network that there have been about 79,000 hospital emergency-room visits involving Darvon in the number of cases of Darvon abuse and associated deaths over the past two years. Goyan was likely to argue that although the agency is monitoring this evidence closely, it is too soon to decide whether a ban is warranted.

The Merit Systems Protection Board, which monitors aspects of the 1978 Civil Service Reform Act, is conducting the scientific survey, as requested by Congress. The survey seeks to determine if sexual harass-

Congress ordered the survey after hearing public testimony that sexual harassment is widespread in the federal government.

The Merit Systems Protection Board was set up last year to monitor whether the federal civil service is operating under the merit principles established by the Civil Service Reform Act.

Use leftover beef, ham or pork to make hash

By MERLE ELLIS

It's standard practice at our house to buy more meat than we need for a meal. It's not an accidental thing. We do it on purpose, primarily to save money. There are many cuts of meat that you can buy at a much better price if you buy

Whenever I buy ham, for example, I buy a much larger piece than my family can consume at one meal. Ham is so good to have on hand for sandwiches, salads, etc. The same is true with roasts of beef and pork. There are so many wonderful meals to be made this way that it pays in time and money saved to plan for leftovers.

The problem that most people have when it comes to serving their families any kind of leftovers is disguising them so they don't look and taste like what they are. There is very little appeal in leftover roast beef if it is nothing more than warmed over roast beef. But, if you can present it in a totally different form, it can be a marvelous meal in its own right. The same is true of leftover almost anything: ham, pork, steaks, chops — you name it.

One of my family's favorites - when it comes to making delicious use of leftover anything - is hash. We save leftover pieces of roast beef and pork, bits of steak and any leftover pork chops, ham whenever we have it, and after they have provided all they can for sandwiches and casseroles, we use them for hash.

The simplest hash is the favorite one around our house. And when I say simple, I mean simple — as simple as 1, 2, 3. One cup of chopped onion sauteed in bacon fat, two cups of finely-diced leftover meat and three cups of finely-diced cooked potatoes. Toss it all in Grandma's old black skillet (greased first) and cook it until it's nice and crispy on the bottom, then top it with a few poached eggs. That's a favorite simple supper around our house, as well as a marvelous Sunday brunch.

For those of you who want something more sophisticated in the way of hash, here are some recipes that make marvelous use of leftover almost

Tasty, crisp celery was once used only as tea

By TOM HOGE AP Wine and Food Writer

For centuries, celery grew wild in Europe, and people made a bitter tea from it to drink as medicine.

Then one day a Frenchman planted some of this wild celery in his kitchen garden to have handy in case of illness. Soon he had a flourishing stand and it looked so appetizing he tried a rib. To his surprise, it was not bitter, but sweet with a tangy flavor.

In time, the people of France and other countries were using the vegetable in soups, stews and salads. It

Celery acquired a new role not chicken, or as a main course at lunmany years ago when a young woman sipping a Bloody Mary in a Chicago hotel lounge couldn't find a swizzle stick and used a rib of celery to stir her drink. She liked it so well that she told the manager and he began serving his Bloody Marys with celery. Celery makes an excellent hot vegetable cooked in broth with a little wine added. It can be served with an herbed white sauce, with Hollandaise or any of a number of other sauces. It's also good with melted butter. I always add chopped celery to fowl stuffing and put it in chili.

A final suggestion: Be sure to save the celery leaves. I find them preferable to lettuce in a sandwich, and they add zip to soups.

Here's a recipe for celery saute that should go well with roast beef or golden brown. Add celery pieces, green pepper bits, bouillon and white wine. Cover and simmer till celery is tender, adding more bouillon if necessary. Serve over toast triangles sprinkled with bacon bits. Serves 4-6. Good with chilled dry white wine.

Canal residents angered by temporary relocation

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) - As soon as the federal government agreed to move them out temporarily, some residents of the chemically tainted Love Canal area immediately headed for motels. But others say that's not good enough.

"Temporary relocation is pure hell," said one woman attending a packed meeting to hear news of the long-awaited relocations. "We don't need it. We don't want it. We want to settle our lives once and for all."

President Carter on Wednesday declared a state of emergency for the area, releasing money to evacuate 710 families and reimburse them for housing for up to a year.

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) - Edmund Muskie is a politician in a diplomat's job, and he thinks that's the way it should be.

He doubts his own skills as a problem-solver. He says it would be foolish to think he has suddenly developed a range of policies on all the world's problems.

And he has a sense of humor about himself.

Home in Maine last weekend, after his first diplomatic whirl in Europe, Muskie was treated like a conquering

"I WONDER if I was too hasty in ending my elective career," he quipped. "But maybe the message I am getting is that you're delighted I made the switch.'

If Cyrus Vance, Muskie's predecessor, had a sense of humor, he hid it well. Vance dashed off neither quips nor quotable phrases.

At first, following standard political practice, his speech writers supplied him with jokes, but Vance ignored them until they finally gave up.

Toward the end, as his own stock plummeted within the Carter administration, he stopped holding press conferences.

HE CURBED his travels, delegating assignments to Warren Christopher, his deputy. He was wrestled out of other assignments by Zbigniew Brzezinski, his principal antagonist in the White House.

Still, Vance worked hard at the job, he got his views to President Carter and he stood by them. He would not believe Brzezinski was undercutting

In fact, it was the president and not the national security adviser who often vetoed Vance. But his authority whittled away, and Brzezinski was constantly looking over his shoulder. Muskie doesn't intend to let that

EXCEPT FOR interpreters, he was alone for three hours in the Hofburg Palace in Vienna last Friday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Muskie's telephone call to Carter afterward was the only version the president was getting of the meet-

Brzezinski's deputy, David Aaron; the director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, Ralph Earle; and David E. McGiffert, an Assistant Secretary of Defense, all had turned up mysteriously in Vienna but were left in an adjoining room. There would be no "back-channel reports" to conflict with the one Muskie was EVEN HENRY Kissinger, a virtuoso at bureaucratic politics, could not accomplish that.

As a short-termer who will be out as secretary of state in January if Carter loses the election, Muskie can afford to be his own man and skip the cautious diplomacy that State Department professionals invariably apply to most problems. Muskie showed this at his first Washington press conference.

That morning, on the front page of The New York Times, was a story saying the United States was stifling its irritation over the French-Soviet meeting in Warsaw. That would have been the diplomat-

BUT MUSKIE thought he had been double-crossed in Vienna last week when the French did not inform him that President Valery Giscard d'Estaing was about to hold a summit with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev.

"I must say that I'm concerned that when I was being given a lecture on consultation, that the lecturer was not inclined to practice what he was preaching," Muskie declared.

Can he make a dent by January? Muskie's reply was quick and self-

Recalling his rapid decline as the potential Democratic standard-bearer in 1972, Muskie remarked: "I lost a presidential election in two months. It seems to me six months gives me a lot of time to do something more positive.'

MUSKIE THEN went on to explain how he intends to go about the job of secretary of state.

"I have a different way of approaching this job," Muskie said. It is to articulate American foreign policy and to not try to be anybody's carbon

His first contribution, he said, would be to offer "a clear sense of direction.'

Diplomatically, Muskie added: "That is not a denigration of Cy Vance, not at all. It is just that I am a politician."

'Paper hanger' turns over new leaf

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — When for mer Miamisburg policeman Wavil B. Lewis Sr. saw how easy it was to pass bad checks, he said he had to try it himself.

But, Lewis got hooked on the easy money, at one point 10 years ago, clearing as much as $40,000 in one

"It's like dope, checks are like dope. Once I started handing out this phony paper, and people began taking it and giving me money, it became so simple. Each time it became easier,"

Lewis' bogus check days are over. Today, he's the Rev. Wavil Lewis, 53, and he has just celebrated his fifth anniversary as minister of the Spiritualist Temple of the Burning Bush in Dayton.

"I had to investigate many checkpassing crimes as a cop," he said. "It seemed to me that in those days all we did was throw the bad-check complaints into a desk drawer and let them pile up. And what I learned about the activity as a policeman eventually led me to try it. Eventually Lewis quit his police job. Later he became involved in a robbery, was convicted, and given probation. ". . . That's when I found when you have a record. Things got tougher and tougher for me," he out how hard it is to do honest work "So I got me a road atlas and tracked down all the major cities in the United States. I put a figure on how much money I would clear in each city and I set out to become a master 'paper hanger,' the best there was.'

Lewis said he had started passing bad checks in Dayton supermarkets. "They changed clerks in those little booths in the supermarkets every six hours, and I made the rounds. I would buy groceries and cash a check for a lot more than the groceries were," he

"Often I accumulated a car full of groceries, and would go over to west Dayton, look for homes where there were signs of little kids, like toys in yard, and I would leave groceries on people's doorsteps.'

Eventually, Lewis was caught and convicted in Florida, where he served two years in prison — the flist six months on a chain gang.

After he was released from prison, he says, he went straight, got a job, married and moved to Dayton, where he became a car salesman. "I got arrested on a bad-check charge. Ironically, and I swear it is true, it was a bum charge. I was innocent. I was clean. But I got convicted, and I had to spend six months in the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus when I was innocent," he said.

Lewis got religion in prison, and in 1973 he was ordained as a Spiritualist minister. "I never did drink or smoke. I was a womanizer. But the church became a miracle for me that turned my life around," he said. Lewis has counseled other ex-convicts, helping them adjust to the world outside prison. He says he doesn't accept any money from the church for his services. He supports his family with a used-car dealer-

"I take no money from the church. This is my way of paying back God for what He has done for me," he said.

Canada's minister tours capitals

MONTREAL (AP) — Capitalizing on the federalist victory in Quebec's referendum, Canada's justice minister set out on a tour of provincial capitals to discuss constitutional reforms while opposition leaders in the French-speaking province called for early elections.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau said Wednesday he would set no pre-conditions in constitutional negotiations to give greater governing powers to the country's 10 provinces. He said his government wanted to assure basic human and language rights. "For us everything else is negotiable," Trudeau said. He also promised to disprove Quebec Premier Rene Levesque's predic-

Daoudy was a member of the five-man U.N. commission that visited Iran in March to look into Iranian grievances against the United States and deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi. The effort collapsed when Iranian authorities refused to let the commission talk with the captive Americans.

Meanwhile, Iran has won support from Islamic foreign ministers who unanimously condemned the aborted U.S. rescue effort last month.

A resolution adopted by the 39 Moslem foreign ministers, meeting in Islamabad, Pakistan, said the U.S. rescue effort represented "armed aggression" against Iran. The conference also deplored the imposition of economic sanctions against Iran by any country, a slap at the Western European nations that have decided to sanction Iran over the hostage crisis.

Back from the dead and frying fish

ATER Jesus appeared again to the disciples beside the Lake of Galilee. This is how it happened:

A group of us were there-Simon Peter, Thomas, "The Twin," Nathanael from Cana in Galilee, my brother James and I and two other disciples.

Simon Peter said, "I'm going fishing." "We'll come too," we all said. We did, but caught nothing all

At dawn we saw a man standing on the beach but couldn't

He called, "Any fish, boys?" "No," we replied.

Then He said, "Throw out your net on the right-hand side of the boat, and you'll get plenty of them!" So we did, and couldn't draw in the net because of the weight of the fish, there

Then I said to Peter, "It is the Lord!" At that, Simon Peter put on his tunic (for he was stripped to the waist) and jumped into the water [and swam ashore].

The rest of us stayed in the boat and pulled the loaded net to the beach, about 300 feet away.

When we got there, we saw that a fire was kindled and fish were frying over it, and there was bread. "Bring some of the fish you've just caught," Jesus said.

So Simon Peter went out and dragged the net ashore. By his count there were 153 large fish; and yet the net hadn't "Now come and have some breakfast!" Jesus said; and none of us dared ask Him if He really was the Lord, for we were quite sure of it.

Then Jesus went around serving us the bread and fish. This was the third time Jesus had appeared to us since His return from the dead.

Regardless of the Ways and Means Committee position, White House officials and congressional Democratic leaders were mounting a major counter effort based largely on delaying tactics — to knock the bill off

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. told reporters in advance of the Ways and Means meeting that even if the bill was approved there, the House Rules Committee was likely to "sit on it" for some time before scheduling a floor vote.

Government laywers told an appeals court Wednesday that the fee is legal and should not have been

In a written brief to the U.S. Court of Appeals, the Carter administration asked for reinstatement of the plan blocked last week by U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr.

The appeals court has scheduled arguments in the dispute the first week in June.

Carter's plan was challenged by a group of House members and consumer and trade organizations. The government's 47-page appeals brief not only asked that presidential authority to impose the fee be upheld, but told the appellate court that Robinson lacked the technical knowledge to second-guess the administration's oil policy. "Technical economic decisions are best left to the executive branch officials and agencies with expertise in the field," the brief said. "They should not be subject to judicial second-guessing.

Robinson's decision said Carter's program was illegal because it sought to impose a fee on all gasoline, whether refined from imported or domestic crude oil. Carter had intened the plan to promote conservation and help reduce oil imports.

Energy commissioner asks for new policies

PARIS (AP) - European Common Market Energy Commissioner Guido Brunner called today for oil consuming nations to adopt more precise energy saving policies in the wake of the latest round of oil price hikes.

He praised President Carter's proposed oil import tax and said Congress should recognize its impor-

Addressing a ministerial meeting of the International Energy Agency. Brunner said: "We must not be deceived by the current relative stability of the energy situation." If major oil consumers fail to implement precise energy saving mea-hand" in the coming years, with a likely supply shortfall of 4 million barrels daily in 1985, he said. "This would create a bottleneck which would hinder economic and social developments in our countries and would present unsolvable problems for the poorest nations," he Brunner said the nine Common Market nations are currently in "a phase of growing economic tension, with a likely total growth of only 1.2 percent this year and a $20 billion deficit in their combined balance of

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices gained across a broad front in moderate trading today as several banks lowered key interest rates. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose 4.95 to 836.01 as of midday. Overall gaining stocks outnumbered losers by almost 2-to-1 on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board volume totaled 17.46 million shares, up from 14.28 million at midday Wednesday. Falling interest rates, which have helped the market advance in recent sessions, again were a focus of attention. Chase Manhattan Bank dropped its prime lending rate to 151/2 percent from 16½ percent. The prime is the base lending rate for corporate loans.

Morgan Guaranty cut its broker loan rate to 1 percentage point 13½ percent.

Declining interest rates have provided support to the stock market by lowering borrowing costs for busin-esses and also by attracting funds out of interest bearing investments and into stocks.

Oil issues were generally higher. Occidential Petroleum gained 1/4 to 24 1/4 as the most active NYSE issue as of midday. In less active trading, Atlantic Richfield gained 1% to 88%; Exxon rose % to 62%; Standard Oil Indiana rose 2 to 98. Mobil was unchanged at 69%.

Pullman jumped 1% to 331/2 in active trading. The government said today it would guarantee loans to two midwest railroads for repair of freight cars and locomotives.

The NYSE composite index gained .34 to 61.76. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index added .96 to 261.29.

Cotton

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Wednesday's base price cotton quotation for strict low middling 1-116 for Lubbock is 69.60 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No.2 were mostly lower at midday dealings today. The average price for strict low middling 1 & 1-16 inch spot cotton advanced 118 points to 77.97 cents a pound Wednesday for the nine leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.
Midday prices were $1.25 a bale higher to $4.05 lower than the previous close. Jul
79.00, Oct 76.50 and Dec 73.76.

BUSINESS MIRROR Housing problems undergoing change

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) -While the problems of housing tend to be divided these days between those who own (and wonder if they should) and those who rent (and probably wish they owned), other vast changes are occurring.

In fact, so much is evolving that you might say the contrast in the housing markets of the 1980s will be more marked than the changes in automobiles, to which so much attention is being given of late.

The demographics will differ, and so will the affordability, the size, the style, the availabili-ty, the financing, to mention a few areas of change. The house will change and ideas about the house will change.

You can begin your list anywhere, and proof of it is the lament for inflation made in a talk this month by Philip Kozloff, president of Citicorp Real Estate, a commercial (rather than home) mortgage banker.

"We learned in the 1970s," said Kozloff, "that inflation is real estate's best friend. It has been a fundamental underpinning of the prosperity we have enjoyed in real estate." Almost all mistakes, he said, were or will be bailed out by inflation."

Then he cautioned his audience about "indications of deflationary trends." A fall from double-digit inflation could cause problems, he said. Owners must be alert, so they can handle "the new challenge."

But if inflation recedes, financing costs might not. The conventional mortgage, in which payments are fixed for a period of 20 or 30 years, is likely to become less popular. The renogotiable mortgage, in which the interest rate is reviewed every three, four or five years, is in.

So is the smaller, more efficient house. Relatively unpublicized in the concern about higher prices during the 1970s was the fact that houses also tended to be more elaborate. An extra bath and a family room were added. Housing people now say sizes might shrink in te 80s.

Heating costs pose a problem, but those close to the industry report that an enormous amount of work is being done in this area. For one thing, the heat pump, which draws heat from air, is gaining acceptance. One of the drawbacks to the heat pump is that in cold northern areas it may be inefficient for at least three winter months, but there may now be an answer to that.

ergy from well or stored water, which retains some heat in even the coldest American climates. The demographics remain a problem for those wishing to buy. There are simply too many people seeking too few housing units. And, for various reasons, mainly financing, the supply of new units is below new need.

Jay Janis, who as chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board is charged with regulating most home mortgage lenders, estimates that 43 million people will reach age 30 in the 1980s, contrasted with only 32 million in the 70s. They will be seeking homes, he accurately observed.

Those figures alone don't define the extent of the problem. As Janis points out, the elderly are living longer, the divorce rate is higher, and the number of non-family households seems to build inexorably.

Increasingly, the only group with money to buy are existing owners who have built up equity. Of course, if they cannot sell their existing home they just won't have the down payment for a new

It is this predicament that forces regulators, lenders, sellers and buyers - groups that do not always see eye to eye to concur in saying that whatever problems afflict housing, financing is the basic one.

The demand is there, the willingness to buy is there, the technology for adapting to change seems to be there. And, it is believed, would-be owners have accepted the need to put forth more of their takehome pay.

Korea is "a sad country, a tragic country which has had more than its share of sorrow and sacrifice, but it is a friend and we intend to stick with them to the end.

Mansfield said after President Carter first decided to withdraw the U.S. Second Division from South Korea, Carter changed his mind and it now will remain there "for some time to come "Intelligence estimates of increased North Korean military strength persuaded Carter to change his mind, he said.

There are 38,000 American servicemen stationed in South Korea as part of the United Nations, peacekeeping force set up by the 1953 armistice ending the Korean War.

The Korean military leaders were attempting to contain the uprising but so far were not acting decisively to put it down. The thousands of paratroopers and other troops who Gen. Lee Hee-sung, the martial law commander, rushed to Kwangju pulled out of the city but took up positions

The army also set up roadblocks to the east and southeast of the area in an attempt to keep the uprising from spreading to the Yochon industrial area on the south coast.

Police inside Kwangju did not interfere with the mobs, which the martial law command said was armed with 3,500 weapons, including light machine guns, automatic rifles and revolvers, and 46,000 rounds of ammunition taken from military ar-

Cowens gives Texas stomach disorder

By The Associated Press

A stomach disorder kept California's Al Cowens from sleeping all week, but he slipped the Texas Rangers a knockout drop in the form of a pinch three-run homer Wednesday

The towering blast off Sparky Lyle was Cowens' first homer in a California uniform and capped a four-run seventh inning that enabled the Angels to defeat the Rangers 9-8, their third consecutive triumph in Arlington-Stadium where they won only once in each of the last three years. Two nights ago, Cowens was in the hospital. 'I had stomach cramps so bad I couldn't sleep, so I went to the hospital at 3 a.m.," he said. "I had to get some shots so I could sleep. He must have taken a quick medimakes him dizzy, but I imagine he feels a whole lot better now," California Manager Jim Fregosi said. In beating Texas, the Angels also Lefthander Jack Murphy, an off-season Maitre d', bartender, bouncer and part time student at St. John's in New York, has been bothered by arm trouble for the last two years, but there was no evidence of it Tuesday night as he pitched the Arkansas Travelers to an 8-2 victory over the Mid-land Cubs to square the Texas League series at 1-1.

Lefthander Tom Spino, 0-4, is Manager Randy Hundley's choice for tonight's 7:30 p.m. against Arkansas while Sonny Ruberto will counter with a lefthander of his own, Dave Johnson, who was 10-5 for the defending Texas League champions a year

Murphy, a native of the Queens, N.Y., gave up eight walks and needed Ryan Kworsaki's help for the final nine outs, but he was tough in the clutch, getting the Cubs to ground into three double plays.

Leftfielder Randy La Vigne's singled up the middle in the third after Murphy walked three batters, accounted for Midland's only runs. La Vigne, who had three hits for the night, also doubled behind a walk in the fifth, but unfortunately there was a double play in between.

Although he lasted until the seventh, Midland starter Randy Clark was done in by a four-run third as Jim Riggleman chased three runs home with a bases loaded double and then scored himself on a sacrifice fly by Gene Dotson. Riggleman's sacrifice fly in the first after a double by Dave Penniall and Fred Tisdale gave the

The Cubs, who left 18 batters on base in that 13-inning loss the other night, stranded 12 Wednesday, leav-ing the bases loaded in the seventh and eighth. In fact, in the seventh, two walks and an error loaded the bases and brought Hawaiian Kworaski out of the bullpen. Two strikeouts and a pop up and Ryan was out of trouble and on the way to his first save.

La Vigne went into the team slump after the last home stand, but if 15for-32 is any indication, he's out of it, raising his average from 258 to .300.

BRUIN BREWIN'S-To make room for centerfielder Jared Martin, the Cubs sent rookie Melvin Hall to Quad Cities. "He needs to get to play," said Hundley, "He's so young."...At 19, Hall was the youngest player on the Cubs' roster...Hall batted .266 for the Cubs...If the players decide to strike, two metroplex radio stations will be on hand to broadcast the Cubs-Arkansas game Saturday night. KFJC-AM, part of the Astros' network, will send Ken Carter to cover the game while KVIL-FM of Dallas will have Bill Mercer and Ted Davis in Midland for the play-by-

Negotiators face "I just feel real good up at the plate," said Dwyer, who has hit four home runs this season, all against Toronto in the leat three games

NEW YORK (AP) - With a strike deadline only hours away, baseball negotiators faced a nearly impossible task today, meeting for one last time in an effort to reach an agreement on a new contract that would prevent a play stoppage.

There was little hope that a strike could be averted after another round of fruitless talks Wednesday.

'Unless there is a complete change of heart, we're headed pell mell for a strike," said federal mediator Kenneth Moffett. "We're in deep trou-

Moffett said no progress had been made at Thursday's session when the players association presented a revised proposal to owner representa-

"Sitting at the end of the table and hearing the two sides, it sounded to me as if we were a month away from a deadline instead of 30 hours," the mediator said.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the union, said there would be no avoiding the deadline in his talks with management.

"A strike creates pressure," Miller said. "Removing the deadline creates no pressure."

Miller said player representatives of all 26 major league teams had been sent telegrams restating the will of the union's executive board which voted unanimously on April 1 to strike unless a contract is negotiated by May 23.

"Games Thursday night will be completed. The strike begins May 23." Miller said. "Nothing changes that except an agreement. But the two sides seem miles away from any settlement.

"We did not make any progress," Miller reported. "We have negotiated for six months and produced nothing even approaching an agreement. even with a strike deadline. That's the best shot for progress. Now they propose removing the deadline and then work for an agreement. They say if we reach one, it would be retroactive. Well I learned a long time ago that if you're offered zero retoactively, it's still zero.' Ray Grebey, chief of the management negotiating team, dismissed a player association proposal made Wednesday which Miller said had "substantially revised downward" a number of union demands.

"It contained nothing new or that we hadn't already talked about," Grebey said. "And there was a serious omission. It didn't deal with com-

Miller bristled at that description. "I love the way he obscures the truth," the union chief said. "It's true that the proposal dealt with no issues not discussed before. But he led you to believe it didn't change anything and that's misleading."

Miller said the players had offered reduced demands in the areas of minimum salaries, pension contributions and "split" contracts for players who perform both in the major and minor leagues in a single season.

"There were other important revi-sions and deletions," Miller said. "It produced virtually nothing in the way of movement."

The movement management still insists on from the players is accep-tance of a formula for compensating clubs losing "premium" free agents. The last proposal on that matter was made last week. At that time the owners suggested ranking players by pitching or batting appearances in order to determine whether they would qualify for compensation as free agents.

New York Islanders on verge of winning Stanley Cup

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Eight years ago, in their first year of National Hockey League competition, the New York Islanders won just 12 games. Tonight, they're on the verge of winning the Stanley Cup. All the Islanders have to do to become the second expansion team in

NHL history to earn one of sport's most prestigious trophies in beat the Philadelphia Flyers. The Islanders lead the best-of-seven championship series three gamesto-one but coach New York coach Al Arbour is trying not to take anything Maybe it sounds corny, but Arbour says bluntly, "It still takes four victories to win the Cup.

This, even though the Islanders' coach can almost taste the champagne that will fill the huge silver trophy for the winner.
Actually, Arbour's words aren't completely empty. In 1942, the Toronto Maple Leafs came back from a 3-1 deficit to beat the Detroit Red Wings for the coveted Cup. But it isn't likely, since history also shows that was the only time such a feat has been accomplished in an NHL final.

Arbour also recalls a 1975 playoff series in which his team trailed the Pittsburgh Penguins 3-1 in a best-of-seven quarterfinal and then won The Islanders also will be trying to create a new image for a franchise that just two years ago was in financial trouble. The Islanders had their problems during the season. They got off to a poor start, losing star defenseman Denis Potvin for 40 games because of an injury. The team actually didn't begin to jell until March after a trade that brought center Butch Goring from the Los Angeles Kings. They moved from ninth in the overall standings to fifth and finished third in the Patrick Division, 25 points behind the Flyers, who were the regular-season champions.

In the playoffs, however, the Islanders disposed of Los Angeles, the Boston Bruins and the Buffalo Sabres. It was a team reaching its peak. On the other hand, the Flyers had a dream season, but they're ever-soclose to a nightmarish finish.

Coach Pat Quinn's team set an NHL record, going unbeaten through 35 games, but experienced a mild slump in the final month of the season. The Flyers appeared to regain their sharpness in disposing of Vancouver, the Rangers and Minnesota en route to the showdown with the

In the first game of the final series, the Flyers lost to the Islanders and gave up the home ice advantage it took them 80 games to acquire. The Flyers still are hopeful. There is a good chance that winger Paul Holmgren and defenseman Jimmy Watson, both injured in the third game of the series, may be available tonight. Holmgren, if he plays, probably will have a brace on a damaged knee, while Watson would have extra protection for an injured shoulder.

Even if Holmgren and Watson do play, the Flyers are a team that has to shake a slump in its overall play.

"During the season we had some guys who could carry us through off nights. That's not happening now," Quinn said. "We just haven't had 19 guys ready to play every night."

The Flyers haven't been overpowered in this series, but they've made many individual mistakes on which a good team like the Islanders

Flyers' captain Mel Bridgman said if his team is to keep open its lifeline in this series it has to forecheck more effectively.

"We just have to go out there and play our game," Bridgman said. "We're a strong forechecking team and we haven't done much of it in this series. What we've done all year we haven't done against the Is-

The only expansion team ever to win a Stanley Cup is Philadelphia, one of six franchises admitted to the league in 1966. The Flyers have done

The Islanders entered the league in 1973, along with the Atlanta Should the Flyers win tonight, the series returns to the Islanders' rink in Uniondale, N.Y., for the sixth game Saturday. Should a seventh game be necessary, the scene would shift to Philadelphia on Tuesday.

Hey brother! Can you lend me a million bucks for Indy?

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) - It's not just coincidence that Jim Gilmore, the sponsor of A.J. Foyt's red-orange Parnelli race car, also is Jim Gilmore, owner of the Gilmore Broadcasting Corp. - a Michigan-based conglomerate that includes four television stations, three Holiday Inns, and a real estate business, among other things.

Nor is it mere chance that Roger Penske, whose blue-and-white Cosworth-powered cars are driven by Rick Mears and Bobby Unser, also is chief executive officer of the Penske Corp. - a giant lease trucking, diesel engine and automotive performance firm in New Jersey, whose 14 subsidiary companies last year had sales well over $200 million.

AND IT should come as no surprise that the Gilmore and Penske teams are two of the best in championship car racing today. That Mears last year won the Indianapolis 500 and the CART series championship. Or that Foyt, the legendary four-time Indy winner, finished second to Mears in that most prestigious of auto races and went on to win his seventh USAC series title

This year's edition of Indy is set for Sunday.

In the world of auto racing - more than in most sports - success carries a big price tag. The cost of making that elite field of 33 cars in the Indy 500 field is enormous. And that's not just because of the six-figure salaries commanded by drivers of Foyt's or Unser's caliber. All sports, these days, have their six-figure athletes.

There are also the cars, those low slung, tapered, turbocharged, aluminum tubes that Foyt, Unser, Mears and the rest drive down the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's long staightaways at speeds exceeding 200 miles per hour. The initial cost of one of those tubes, give or take a couple thousand, is $125,000. And that's not for the finished product.

"I haven't been able to develop a car for less than $250,000," says Midlander Jim Hall, owner of Johnny Rutherford's bright yellow Chaparral. "It's only after the third one that I can duplicate it for around

Like most sports equipment, cars break. A baseball player can replace a bat for $5, a top flight glove for $60. A set of football pads cost $25, a hockey stick $10.

BUT IF Mears' Cosworth engine explodes during practice at the Speedway. the replacement cost is $40,000.

So what is the total cost to be competitive at Indianapolis? To make that 33-car field and run for the $275,000 first prize?

"To do it right today, for just one driver, one car," said Foyt recently, "you've got to spend a million. It's the only way

Pat Patrick, who owns the Wildcats driven by Gordon Johncock and Tom Bagley, also owns Patrick Petroleum Co., an oil and natural gas firm with 126 wells in 18 states and Canada. The company had net earnings last year of $5.5 million. To be a top contender at Indy. Patrick

"This year, it'll cost me $1.2 million for a two-car team," Patrick says. 'That's total cost - driver's salaries, cost of cars, a 15-man team, crew, everything. Plus, we have a 12,000-foot shop in Indianapolis where we build our own cars. A dynamometer, lathes, paint shop. Don't get me wrong. If somebody were to come along with a better car, we'd buy it. But I've been that way, and I've found out you're better off building your

Patrick gave the following price tags on various items needed during the month of May: Cosworth engine, $40,000; Wildcat chassis, $100,000; gearbox, blowers and injectors, $50,000; dynamometer, $50,000; motor home and tractor trailor, $45,000.

Penske - whose three cars will be driven by Mears, Bobby Unser and Mario Andretti - figures his total tab for the month of May at $103,000.

That is, after building the car, what it costs him once he gets there. We have a budget for every race," Penske explains. "Our budget for Indy, for three cars plus one spare, would be in the engine area, $30,000; freight, $4,500; air fare, $5,000; per diem for crew, $6,000; motel, $17,000; car rental,$3,900; entry fee.$5,000; car parts, $4,000; painting, decals, $7,000; laundry, $6,000.

ALL THROUGH May, hundreds of thousands of people press the fences around Gasoline Alley, watching the crews prepare the cars in the two rows of small, green and white painted garages. What does it cost to bring

To start out, brand new, to go first class, everything would cost you $300,000," Patricks says. "And that's without any gas tanks, jacks or wrenches, which you'll also have to get. Just the bare essentials. That $300,000 would get you a brand new car, transmission, two spare engines, a spare turbocharger, a truck to haul it in, hoses. You'd be ready to go racing." He chuckled. "Of course, you'd still have to get somebody to drive your car.'

The good drivers get at least a $75,000 retainer plus 40 of the winnings for a season," says Penske.

Patrick agrees. "We give our drivers a decent salary, and 40 percent of what they win is theirs," he says. "Our drivers should make about There is one cost car owners at Indy have during the month of May that we all can relate to - fuel. "My last bill, racing fuel (methyl alcohol) was $1.40 a gallon," says Hall. "At Indy, we'll practice approximately the same amount of laps we run in the race (200), maybe a few more. With these cars, you only get 1.8 miles per gallon, so to run the month at Indy, you'll probably use 600 gallons at $1.40 per gallon. That's $840 just for the cost of your fuel

Any way you look at it, the cost of making the 33-car field that will take the green flag May 25 in the 64th annual Indy 500 is staggering. And, any way you look at it, it's easy to see that even the $275,000 first prize doesn't pay the bills.

Silas takes job with Clippers

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Paul Silas, 17 games shy of John Havlicek's ironman record for most National Basketball Association games, modestly describes himself as "an old journeyman who does the dirty work."

After 16 years as one of the NBA's most consistent performers, Silas has taken the plunge into the coaching ranks.

"There comes a time when you have to decide where you want your life to go," Silas said after being named player-coach of the San Diego Clippers Wednesday

Silas, who turns 37 in July, signed a three-year contract as coach and a one-year contract as a player. The NBA's No. 9 all-time rebounder, he spent the last three years with the Seattle SuperSonics, the 1978-79 NBA champions.

Terms of his San Diego contract were not disclosed.

Silas, who played a key role in the Sonics' championship, said the move represents "a big challenge because there's only been one player who was successful as a player-coach. That was Bill Russell - and he was his own best player."

He succeeds Gene Shue, who coached the Clippers through their first two years of existence. Shue left the club May 1, reportedly to take a head coaching job elsewhere in the Speaking at a press conference. Silas, the former Creighton star, said he plans to mix fastbreak basketball with a formidable defense.

However, he takes over a club riddled with question marks. Foot problems continue to jeopardize the career of All-Star center Bill Walton and the status of high-scoring guard Lloyd Free remains unclear. Unhappy with his contract, Free, the league's No. 2 scorer the last two years, is reportedly on the trade block.

Silas said a healthy Walton would make his coaching job easier, but, "Until I know he's healthy, I can not totally count on him.

LCC captures NAIA victory

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Lubbock Christian College went the route and host Sam Houston State pulled out victory in the eighth inning before earning their way into today's second round of the NAIA Area 2 baseball tournament

Tim Leslie and Kenny Toney hit solo homers in the bottom of the ninth to give LCC its 9-8 victory over Grand Canyon (Ariz.) Wednesday.

Sam Houston State, 40-14, trailed William Carey (Miss.), 1-0, but tied the game in the seventh and nailed down its victory with eight runs in the eighth inning.

Grand Canyon eliminated William Carey, 17-0, in a third game that was played Wednesday.

The loser of today's 1 p.m. game was scheduled to play Grand Canyon (Ariz.) later in the afternoon to narrow the field to two teams. The championship match of the double-elimination tournament will be at noon Friday, to be followed by another game if

The tournament winner advances to the 24th NAIA Baseball Championships May 28-June 3 at Nashville,

Grand Canyon won this tournament a year ago but was forced to stay home from the NAIA World Series because the team celebrated its victory with champagne in the dressing

Grand Canyon took a four-run lead over LCC into the fifth, before the Chapparals fought to take a 7-6 lead into the ninth.

UIL looks at transfer rule

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A University Interscholastic League committee has, in effect, recommended abolishing a transfer rule that has been both denounced as unfair and hailed as the savior of amateur athletics.

The recommendation Wednesday of a 21-member committee of legislators, coaches and school superintendents goes to the UIL's Legislative Council.

The council of 20 superintendents will decide Nov. 2 whether to present the committee's proposal for approval in April to more than 1,200 member schools of the UIL.

UIL Executive Director Bailey Marshall said Wednesday the council has in the past usually forwarded recommendations "by committees such as this one" to member schools.

IF APPROVED by a majority of the schools, the exemption for senior athletes that is now in the rule would be extended to grades 9-11.

Basically, the committee's proposal states that athletes who change school districts are eligible if the executive committees of both districts approve the transfer and the student's parents testify the transfer was not made for athletic purposes.

The current rule - which was adopted to halt recruiting among high schools - prohibits a student from participating in varsity football or basketball for one year following a transfer from one school district to another. Seniors are exempted.

The committee recommended that if rule is changed, the issue should be resubmitted to the schools in the spring of 1983, after administrators have had a chance to decide whether it is working.

Prior to the committee vote, Mary Keller, a lawyer for the Texas Civil Liberties Union, said she felt the original rule was designed 'to protect and not to punish - but the consequence of the rule has been not to protect but to punish." "It doesn't stop recruiting," she said. "It only forces it down to younger students who are at a more vulnerable age."

A father who unsuccessfully challenged the rule in court suggested lie detector tests could be used to prove a student-athlete who moves into a new district had not been recruited.

"The one-year rule shames the state of Texas," said Joe Sullivan of Austin, "because it has as its origin the presumption of guilt."

SULLIVAN SUED on behalf of his son after IBM transferred him from Vermont to Austin. His son, who sought to try out for the varsity basketball team at Anderson High School, now has finished his freshman year of college.

"A polygraph is reprehensible, perhaps, but acceptable in a case like this," said Sullivan. "A parent faced with an either-or situation would accept a polygraph test."

There have been complaints that the rule is discriminatory because it applied only to football and basketball, and Marshall said, "Why football and basketball? In Texas these are the big, pressure sports.'

UIL Athletic Director Bill Forney said the rule was first adopted in 1925 to curb illegal football recruiting by high schools. He told of a Breckenridge football team with 33 players, only seven of whom lived in Breckenridge. Basketball was brought under the rule in 1933.

Retired UIL Executive Director Rhea Williams said he once questioned a Breckenridge oilman about recruiting athletes by offering jobs to their fathers. The oilman, he said, "put his cowboy boots in front of us and asked, 'What in the hell are you going to do about it?' "

"There is not a rule in the (UIL) constitition that wasn't put there to correct an evil," said Williams, who himself lost a year of athletic eligibility when he transferred from Avery to Clarksville in Northeast Texas.

Williams noted a UIL committee similar to the current one had initiated the senior exemption from the transfer rule in 1971.

HIGH SCHOOL athletics in the United States, he said, "is the only amateur athletic program in the world, to my knowledge," he said, "and people have been eating, eating, eating away at the program, trying to make it semi-pro.'

Marshall said the rule has been challenged more in recent years because of increased mobility and heightened interest in athletics -Every parent, including myself, thinks his son will be an Earl Campbell or Magic Johnson."

Actually, Williams said, only 5 percent of Texas high school football and basketball players go on to compete in college ball.

The smallmouth bass in Texas! Four years ago, fisheries biologists were scratching their heads to find a fish to fill an empty niche in certain Texas reservoirs. Many Texas lakes are now facing largemouth bass declines, mostly due to the age of various reservoirs and lack of adequate largemouth cover. The older reservoirs in Texas were the main lakes biologists felt needed an extra game fish boost.

The Florida bass strain, which is a faster growing species of largemouth than the native Texas bass, was experimented with in the late 1960s and early 1970s. Results from several East and South Texas reservoirs found that Florida bass could survive Texas winters and reproduce naturally at an alarming rate. This was the first step of introducing the species to Texas waters.

At first, biologists considered the Kentucky "spotted" bass, another warm water species, but later reject-

TPWD fisheries biologist Joe Krai displays smallmouth bass taken from Lake Meredith.

As an alternative, northern smallmouth bass were stocked in a few Texas reservoirs. Not only did the fish grow at a rapid rate, but they reproduced naturally. Once this was discovered, they were heavily stocked. Meredith and Canyon are still considered the best smallmouth lakes.

One reason for stocking smallmouth was to give Texans a chance to catch one of the scrappy little things. Pound for pound, smallmouth will out battle most any freshwater gamefish. They perform some spectacular aerial displays.

Most anglers are puzzled on what baits to use for smallmouth. Just about any largemouth bait will work, but lures in smaller sizes are recommended. Small bucktail jigs, spinnerbaits such as shysters, plastic grubs and short plastic worms seem to be preferred

Normally, the smallmouth doesn't inhabit the same regions as other gamefish, but on occasions, anglers do catch smallmouth while plugging for largemouth or trolling for wall-

In lakes where this new fish thrives, best places to fish are near most any rock-type structure. Large boulders are prime areas for smallmouth.

The smallmouth bass is easy to identify from the largemouth. Verticle barring the sides, a jaw that doesn't extend beyond the back margin of the eye when the mouth is closed and a brownish coloration and white belly. The largemouth supports a definite lateral stripe and his jaw extends well behind the back margin of the eve:

Currently some of the best lakes in Texas - in addition to Meredith and Canyon - to catch the smallmouth are Amistad, Greenbelt, Mackenzie, Possum Kingdom and Lake Texoma.

The state record now stands at 5-pounds, 2-ounces, the fish coming from Canyon. But biologists don't feel this record will stand for a very long period of time.

Your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

Friday, May 23, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY: Two stars of the music world-Rosemary Clooney and Artie Shaw-share this birthday with you. You could hit a high note in career or business this summer if you will moderate the voice in which you press your aims. Ambition could get in way of progress if too obvious to associates! You respond well to intellectual and spiritual chal-lenges, and are due for an increase in both fame and fortune. Heed the advice of quietly successful friend. Become calmer and firmer in business negotiations. Show mate, romantic partner that you value love over applause.

* ARIES (March 21-April 19): Conservative approach is safest bet today. Emphasis is den reserves, resources if faced with unexpected challenge. Romance is looking rosier now TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Make greater effort to control impulsive extravagance. Buy essentials only and look for bargains. If you work at a steady pace others will do the same. Mate, partner would like to make bigger contribution to household.

GOREN BRIDGE

thought. If declarer did not have the ace of spades, what could possibly motivate him to bid five diamonds? It was much better to base the defense on the possibility that West might have the king of diamonds. The opening lead of the two of hearts marked West with precisely four hearts, so declarer is known to have three. The proper continuation by East, therefore, is a third heart. That forces dummy to ruff with the low trump and West's trump king now becomes the set ting trick. You might think that this is so obvious that it doesn't deserve a column all to itself, particularly since West is likely to score the ace of spades, if he has it, no matter what East does at the third trick. However, it seems counter to the grain of some players to permit dummy to trump anything! By presenting this hand, perhaps we may induce those wishful dreamers to rely on more realistic hopes.

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leaders!" # 'History of the World Part I' kosher Brooks film the filmmaker's most ambitious work, has started filming. Brooks doesn't plan to be as comprehensive as the Durants. Nor as serious.

Asked why he was undertaking such a monumental project, Brooks reasoned: "Blazing Saddles' was a study of hypocrisy in the Old West. Why not a 'Blazing History' to depict the greed, hypocrisy and corruption down through the ages?" Why not?

His films have always had the unmistakable Brooksian stamp — wild-swinging satire combined with small-boy humor. "History" may prove the quintessential Brooks. Unlike recent films, which he wrote in collaboration, he has composed this one alone. He is producing and directing, as well as starring in the three major sequences.

Brooks will appear as Comicus, a philosopher-hu-

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It took Will and Ariel at Hollywood General Studios, lately acquired by On "The Blues Brothers," starring John Belushi and Durant 40 years to tell the Story of Civilization, but Mel Brooks is planning to produce it in 16 weeks. How much will this cost? Brooks will only say: "The budget is bigger than the combined cost of my last three pictures: 'Young Frankenstein,' 'Silent Movie' and 'High Anxiety." That would seem in the neighborhood of $20 million, which would make "History" the highest-priced comedy film of all time — unless you count the Over on Stage 32 at the Paramount lot, Mel Brooks was deep into the Spanish Inquisition portion of his "History." The dungeon set would have gladdened the hearts of Douglas Fairbanks Sr. or Cecil B. DeMille. The granite block walls and massive chains looked like the real things, though crafted of plastic and rubber.

The set was filled with two kinds of players: beefy torture experts in studded leather and their wretched, ragged victims.

MHS CHATTER

Friday big day for Seniors '80

By BECKY, TRACY, ANGELA and AMY

Try to hang on, Sophs and Juniors; you only have one more week of school. As for Seniors, Friday is the big day. This week the Chatter is a joint effort. The Chatterers of '80 are writing with the Chatterers of '81. The new Chatterers will be Kathy Wood, Vicki Madden and Julie Guyton. We leave these three with the challenge of the YCC.

RASCO'S INSERTS: There was an error in last week's Chatter. There will not be a live band for the Twirp dance Saturday. It will be a Western and popular disco. It's the last dance of the year, so come out and enjoy it. Members of the Youth Center get in free; that is, new membership cards and old. All students of MHS and Midland Freshman School are invited. Girls, get your man and let's wind up the year with a blast from 9 until 1. (Non-members,

It seems that all year long when the YC announced that we were going to have a dance that someone else always came up iwth a "Let's Float a Keg Party" on the same night. Well, it seems it is happening again Saturday for our Twirp dance.

Now, if I were a concerned parent and my child told me he or she was going to the YC dance Saturday, I just might have to check and see if they really did go to the dance.

NEW JUNIOR COUNCIL members and the upcoming Seniors on the Junior Council, you have a few more duties to perform before the end of the school year. 1. All members need to bring two dozen cookies to the YC between 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday. Have them there not later than 4. 2. There is a set-up at 2 p.m. Saturday for the Twirp dance. 3. There will be a clean-up at 2 p.m. Sunday to get ready for the Baccalaureate reception. 4. The new officers of the Junior Council will be at the Youth Center by 6 p.m. dressed and ready to serve the Seniors and their parents when they all come over from the school at 7 p.m. (including Chatterers). 5. We also need four Junior Council members to work the dance. Please let us know Friday.

A BIG THANK YOU to the following for all their help as after-school workers for the past two months: Sheryl Hand, Terri Woodruff, Dawn Hancock and George Simpson. Could not have made it without you all.

THE TWO NATIONAL Honor Society scholarship winners are Paige Humes and Kyle Raybourn. Con-

Two more in the spotlight are the outstanding athletes, Dana Trolinder and David Simmons. The Spring Sports Banquet was the best ever.

Tickets for the All-Night Party are on sale today and Friday. They will also be sold at Bac. and Comm. practice. Don't miss this because the party is going to be a blast!

The Youth Against Cancer Car Wash will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Exxon Station on Wadley and Garfield. Great time to get in-

THE BOLD GOLD is going to take over Midland next year. Buy a Gold shirt and support MHS.

We said our goodbyes last week, so we'll close with a few "words of wisdom." Good luck to the Class of '80. May all your goals and desires come true. Good luck to the new Chatter writers; it will be fun Always Bulldogs!

Black students boycott classes, go on rampage

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) -Black students boycotting classes in Bloemfontein Township went on a rampage Wednesday and riot police moved into the area, police said. A black man was reported shot in the leg and several vehicles were damaged by thrown stones.

A police statement issued in Pretoria said policemen had not fired "a single shot" in the incident and the injury was under investigation. It said a few stone. throwers were held for questioning and bus service into the townships surrounding the nation's judicial capital had been

In Cape Province, some high school students of mixed race resumed a boycott of classes to support those in black townships.

A spokesman for the students indicated that in addition to grievances about the quality of education, another issue was the closing of Fort Hare University last week because of black students' participation in the boy-

Leaders of the boycott of schools by students of mixed race, known here as coloreds, suspended it last week to give authorities three weeks to respond to the grievances. The protest, started last month by mixed-race children demanding equal expenditure on education by the white minority government for pupils of all races, won
