Carter campaigns for Kennedy's support

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter, his path clear to renomination, turned to the Democratic Party platform today in search of reconciliation with his vanquished rival, Edward M. Kennedy, before a tough fall campaign against the Republicans.

Convention delegates convened at 11:20 a.m. EDT for their second session with the campaign platform the principal item on the agenda, and with Kennedy vowing to press his fight "for a truly Democratic plat-

Carter and Kennedy aides met early today to discuss procedures for negotiations that White House press secretary Jody Powell said would be held to try to resolve remaining platform issues.

But even while professing optimism about an eventual reconciliation, two top Carter aides reiterated there were still serious differences between the

Hamilton Jordan, the president's campaign manager, said in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show he is confident that "with hard work in the next few days," the party will come out of the convention unified. But he said of Carter:

"Both he and Senator Kennedy realize that some of the real differences between them cannot be lightly glossed over.'

And Jack Watson, who succeeded Jordan as Carter's chief of staff, said the administration was still adamant about rejecting Kennedy-backed minority platform planks calling for a $12 billion jobs program and wage and price controls.

However, former United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young hinted in a CBS-TV interview that the Carter forces might be willing to go ahead with a compromise that generally supported a massive jobs program but without specifying Kennedy's $12 billion price tag.

Kennedy's long-shot hope to take the nomination from Carter ended Monday night when the convention supported a rule binding delegates to abide by the results of state primaries and conventions.

"The effort on the nomination is over," Kennedy told a news conference at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel shortly after that vote.

Houston man sentenced after guilty plea in police shoot-out

Reese Bernard Ray of Houston pleaded guilty Monday afternoon to the charge of attempted capital murder of a peace officer in the Feb. 2 shoot-out with city and county law enforcement officers.

142nd District Judge Perry D. Pickett sentenced Ray, 43, to 15 years imprisonment at the Texas Department of Corrections. And it is possible that Ray could be a witness for the state in the trials of Johnny Darwin Eads, 38, of Irving and Ray Edward Hines, 50, of Woodlands, who were allegedly with Ray during the February incident.

The hour-long session ended all rumors that Ray's attorney, Percy Foreman of Houston, would try to show that Midland Police Officer Ron Grav and Ector County Sheriff's Deputy Gary Clingman provoked the shoot-out which occurred inside Midland and in the county.

The incident started in the early morning hours when Gray stopped and approached a 1972 Oldsmobile on Oak Street with Ray and the two other men inside the car, Gray testified.

Ray, driver of the vehicle, rolled down the car's window and produced a blue-steel automatic weapon, Gray

The policeman testified that after seeing the produced weapon, he returned to his police car and one of the three men jumped out of the passenger's side of the car and opened fire on Gray.

The city police officer returned fire five times with his service pistol when the vehicle left the scene and Gray began pursuit of the vehicle.

The chase led city and county law enforcement officers into a trailer park where the three men changed cars and drove off in a yellow 1979 Continental.

Clingman, then Midland County Sheriff's deputy, testified that while he was in pursuit of the 1979 vehicle, he saw Ray open fire with a pistol at him. The Midland County deputy returned fire four times with a shot-

After the arrest, while Clingman was transporting Ray to Midland County Jail inside the courthouse's elevator, Ray asked Clingman, "Are you sure you saw me fire at you?"

Clingman replied, "Yes, I did." Ray — "Are you sure you don't want to change your mind?"
Clingman, "No."
Ray — "Well, we'll see what Mr.

Census letter sent to Lubbock

By BILL MODISETT Staff Writer

Midland officials sent a letter to the Lubbock Regional Census Bureau office Monday afternoon citing apparent significant errors in prelimi-nary counts for the city and Midland County, and indicating that information provided by the city "suggests that the final count for the City of Midland should reflect a 1980 population well in excess of 70,000.

Mayor G. Thane Akins detailed the specifics of that letter during a statement preceding the 10 a.m. city council meeting today.

City, county and chamber of commerce officials have been working about two weeks, since the preliminary figures were released, collecting data to support the governmental entities' challenges to the unofficial fig-

According to the letter sent to Mitzi Jordan, Lubbock district office manager, officials did find 123 more Midlanders living in "group quarters" than census figures listed. But the big discrepancy came when officials evaluated the vacancy rate data.

The letter states that the 1980 R.L. Polk & Co. "Profiles of Change" data indicated a vacancy rate of 5.05 percent "which is consistent with local observations of housing availability" and which is significantly less than the 6.3 percent vacancy rate reflected in the census data.

Officials conducted a 3 percent "area probability sample" which was designed to determine the degree of

New prime minister says hostage debate could begin in 10 days

By The Associated Press

Iran's new hardline prime minister, Mohammad Ali Rajaie, said he should be able to form his Cabinet in 10 days, removing the last obstacle to parliamentary debate on the American hostages.

But he indicated no softening in attitude toward the 52 Americans, who spent their 283rd day in captivity today, saying his government would give unbending loyalty to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini Rajaie told reporters after receiving the approval Monday from the Parliament, or Majlis, that according to the constitution he has 10 days to form and introduce his Cabinet and that this period would be sufficient. The Majlis, which meets again Saturday, must approve the Cabinet just as it did Rajaie, and little opposition is expected. 'In forming the Cabinet, I would seek assistance and cooperation from all revolutionary foundations and rely on these institutions," the official Pars news agency quoted Rajaie as

He said so far he has not chosen any Cabinet member, but that the criteria for such selection would be those stressed by Khomeini, Iran's revolutionary leader and Shiite Moslem patriarch who has said the hostage debate cannot begin until a government

"The only condition I add is that a person who is appointed should accept the religious leadership of the Imam," Rajaie said. "In the private session of the Majlis this morning, I talked briefly about my programs and policies and said that I follow the Imam and this would mark one of the characteristics of my government."

He said President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr - pressured into nominating Rajaie by the Moslem fundamentalists who dominate the Majlis -"has no opinion on the selection of the Cabinet ministers and has given me freedom of action in this respect." But Rajaie insisted, "I belong to the masses and am brother with the president and together we will serve the Commissioners vote to help in officers' training

By SUE FAHLGREN

Staff Writer The Midland County Commissioners' Court issued what Sheriff Dallas Smith called "an intent-type letter" regarding a resolution for the continuation of funds for the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Academy. Proposed federal budget cuts would eliminate the funds for the academy through cutbacks in the Law Enforcement Assistance Adminstration (LEAA). Commissioners voted Monday to help pay memberships for officers' training and to set up building and payment schedules — provided other area counties and cities were interested in providing similar assistance.

Ector County commissioners, however, had voted not to participate in this program, Midland commissioners reported Monday.

The city of Midland and the city of Odessa had reported their interests in the program and offered to join in the coalition with the county, commissioners said. And Midland County Sheriff Dallas Smith said other counties and cities had contacted him with their interest in the continued funding of the 17-county officer training cenp.m. today to set the proposed tax rate for the next year. It is expected be $500 for initial training and $75 for advance officer training. The threemonth school would yield a "higher number of certified officers," according to Smith

Funds for the center have not yet been officially cancelled, yet county representatives want to provide for the possibility of the money loss. LEAA currently provides $122,681 annually for the academy.

"As long as these funds remain. we'll use them," Smith said.

In other county news, the commissioners will hold a public hearing at 5 the rate will remain the same as in previous years at 95 cents per $100 valuation of property, based on 32 percent of assessed valuation.

The proposed $6.68 million budget for the coming year will mean a 17 percent budget increase of the $5.69 million budget for 1980. The public hearing for the budget adoption was set for 1:30 p.m. Aug. 25.

The commissioners also adopted a change in the voting precincts to be-come effective in March 1981. The change will mean a new precinct in the northwest Midland-County area, around the current precinct line between Precinct 18 and Precinct 29.

Israel calls on Egypt to resume autonomy talks

By The Associated Press

Israel called on Egypt to resume stalemated Palestinian autonomy talks because of "the urgent need of solving the problems." Egypt said it was preparing a formal reply but claimed the Jewish state was creating "almost impossible" conditions. Osama el Baz, Egypt's undersecretary for foreign affairs, spelled out Egypt's terms for renew ing the talks, urging Israeli Prime Minister

Menachem Begin to halt moves aimed at further unification of Jerusalem and to declare a moratorium on the creation or expansion of Jewish settlements on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza

These would be considered "corrective acts" conducive to reopening the U.S.-mediated autonomy talks, El Baz told a news conference Monday. He spoke only hours after Israel released the text of a letter from Begin to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat urging resumption of the autonomy talks. Sadat suspended the slow-moving negotiations on home rule for the 1.2 million Palestinians living under Israeli rule after the Israeli Knesset, or Parliament, adopted a law declaring Jerusalem "in its entirety is the capital of Israel. Egypt sees that law as ruling out proposed future negotiations on the status of predominantly Arab East Jerusalem, Is-

Create no monsters

It was like something out of a midnight-hour horror movie: A prominent virologist at the University of California San Diego had accidentally cloned the wrong virus, one much more dangerous than the one he thought he had cloned.

Apparently, however, everything is under control and the genetic material Dr. Ian Kennedy. cloned was placed in storage at last notice.

The news item raises a real fear in light of recent rulings concerning genetic engineering (the creation of new life forms) and scientific information concerning clon-

What if someday a dangerous new life form is created in a scientific laboratory? What if, by way of an error, the wrong material is cloned and somehow escapes the laboratory?

Such is the kind of stuff of which horror movies are produced, right? Perhaps so, but could it also be a future news story if the proper precautions are not taken at this time?

On the one hand we recognize the fact that scientists must be given a maximum amount of freedom for research. After all, it is through such research that most of the modern-day medical breakthroughs have occurred. We do not want research to be hamstrung to the extent that future medical breakthroughs are pre-

But neither do we want to witness the creation of laboratory "Frankensteins" either by design or by error.

The idea of a real-life "Frankenstein" rising up from a laboratory table is, of course, a little amusing and a wee bit farfetched. The accidental creation of a killer virus that it allowed to escape from the laboratory in which it was created, however, is a much more believable occur-

Following the accidental cloning of the virus in the California laboratory, biologist Robert Sinsheimer, chancellor of the University of California Santa Cruz, commented, "This illustrates one of the kinds of concerns people have had - that scientists do make mistakes and accidents do happen. You don't always accomplish what you set out to accomplish. That's why some of us felt that that's a reason for maintaining more stringent guidelines."

A wise statement. Scientists are human and humans do make mistakes. But we should minimize the impact of those mistakes by requiring strict guidelines where scientific research is conducted.

CHARLEY REESE

Politicians, bureaucrats form dangerous coalition

The sum of bad government is the combination of the professional politician and the professional bureaucrat. The nature of the two beasts produces most of the ills that inflict our fair

It is important to understand that the problems are inherent in the natures of these two categories of people and not the result of accidents or incompetence by individuals. Unless you can see it as a structural defect, you are likely to go crazy trying to fix it by replacing individuals with clones.

But before we look more closely at these two beasts, let's remember what government is. It is nothing but raw power. The best way to fix that thought in your head is to put a loaded pistol in front of you and ponder its nature.

What you have is a machine with no consciousness, no morality, and no volition. The pistol is power. It will kill any living creature which happens to be front of the barrel when it goes off, but it can neither pick the target nor operate its own mechanism. Whether the power of the pistol is good or evil depends entirely on the human being who directs it.

Government has the same qualities. The power of government sits there ready to be used. For that reason, like a loaded pistol, it is always dangerous. You can enshroud a loaded pistol with ten volumes of laws and regulations precisely determining ownership and use, but if a man who intends you harm gets his hand on it, you are in deep trouble.

So, too, with government. It's too late after you have turned over the armed forces and federal police power to an individual to say, "Heck, I wish I hadn't done that." So far we have been lucky although our poor old Constitution has been battered and

But we have turned over government power to a pretty irresponsible if not evil lot and that's not smart. In our system, to keep the analogy going, politicians aim the gun of government and the bureaucrats pull the trigger. Lately, they've been shooting us in the foot with it.

The professional politician is the wrong guy to hand over government power to because he can't resist the temptation to use it for his own benefit. He is a man infatuated with the next election. He has his eye so firmly fixed on winning the next election that too often he can't see the country or the constitution.

Thé professional politician has a tendency to tell the voter in front of him what he wants to hear, to indulge in eyewash legislation, to go to the bathroom on tough issues, to seek scapegoats, and to tell whoppers. He quickly joins a new party called Them which excudes us.

Common sense tells you that a person with a business or profession who doesn't care if you re-elect him or her or not is more likely to tell you the truth and to stand on principle than a person whose life's ambition is dependent on winning 51 percent of the next

Because the professional politician is a careless legislator, the professional bureaucrats multiply. The bureaucrat seeks an ever-expanding caseload for that is the stairway to promotion and perks. That's why when you set up a bureaucracy to solve a problem, the problem gets worse, not better. Nobody in his right mind paid $40,000 to solve a problem is going to solve it. Instead, he is going to pick at it, worry it, fester it, expand it, and prolong it. There is only one cure for the professional bureaucrat. You can't fire him, but you can abolish his job, but to do that, you will have to eliminate the professional politician because he forms a natural alliance with the bureaucracy.

Start this fall. Check every election and when you find somebody with 10 years or more in any public office or combination of public offices, retire them. The experience you will lose is precisely the kind of experience you want to lose.

Castro's praise won't get Carter votes

NEW YORK - Poor Jimmy Carter. With friends like his, he hardly needs enemies. Now secret State Department documents and reliable intelligence sources reveal that the latest volunteer to board the Carter bandwagon is none other than Cuban President Fidel Castro, who has endorsed Carter for re-election.

So far, to the intense relief of Carter's campaign staff, the Marxist dictator has refrained from a strong public endorsement. The closest he has come was a blast at the Republi-

One conversation was between Castro and Carter's United Nations ambassador, Donald McHenry, at an informal reception July 18 in a former Managua country club. Delegations from 30 nations had arrived in the Nicaraguan capital for ceremonies the next day marking the first anniversary of the successful Sandinista revolution. One of those present at the reception said the 45-minute Castro-McHenry conversation was not ed - or at least appeared not to be. "People were mingling, and Castro and McHenry were at different sides of the room before they found themselves together," the source

In other conversations, some with Nicaraguans and one involving U.S. Ambassador Lawrence Pezzullo, Castro was even more explicit. A highranking intelligence source told my associate Dale Van Atta that Castro "passed along a virtual promise that he would cause no crisis during the next four months."

The source added: "We have taken that to mean the military improvements, and the heightened activity by the Russians in Cuba, would become less visible, or would stop.'

As I have reported in recent months, Castro and the Soviets have been beefing up the Cybans' military strength at an alarming rate in the past year, particularly in the missile

BORN-AGAIN BREZHNEV? According to Karl Marx, religion is the opium of the people. But the pragmatic atheists in the Kremlin don't boggle at the use of religion to serve their purposes when all else fails. According to intelligence sources, the Soviet bosses are believed to have employed an itinerant Syrian faith healer to work whatever magic he can on aging, ailing Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev.

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Elliott Levitas, D-Ga., has made a personal crusade out of the Environmental Protection Agency's "phantom cafeteria." This is the facility that was promised but never built for EPA's 4,000 employees in Southwest Washington nearly 10 years ago. But the congressman faces a formidable bureaucratic obstacle: The space earmarked for the pollution fighters' cafeteria has somehow been occupied by the Census Bureau.

- Terrible-tempered Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., has reportedly been using strongarm tactics on several colleagues in hopes of deflating legislation that would require airbags in automobiles. He has let it be known that he won't appoint any subcommittee chairman who favors airbags after he becomes Commerce Committee chairman next year.

INSIDE REPORT:

Brush-off indicates Carter's 'obsession' less than total

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Despite President Carter's self-defense in the Billy Carter scandal that freeing the hostages was an "absolute, total obsession," his administration rejected help offered by maverick Republican Rep. George Hansen of Idaho who was in Tehran and saw the hostages shortly after their seizure Nov. 4.

On Nov. 22, Hansen telephoned two high Carter officials: White House aide Frank Moore and Assistant Secretary of State Harold Saunders. He explained his success in having talks with then-Foreign Minister Bani-Sadr (now president) and establishing contact with both Ayatollah Khomeini and the revolutionary council. He asked if the administration felt he could be "helpful" in any way.

Not for 24 hours was there any answer. When it came, Hansen was simply informed by Saunders: We won't give up the shah; we want the hostages back, period. In light of that, President Carter's explanation Monday of using brother Billy in that long-shot intercession with the Libyan government is harder to understand. The president's "obsession" seemed to be considerably less than "total," considering the brush-off for Han-

BYRD'S SCARE

Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd's Aug. 3 call for an "open convention" came closer than President Carter's political operatives now care to admit to stampeding Democrats across the country. "A lot of us were badly shaken,"

one of Carter's most important and most loyal Midwestern supporters told us, "we figured somebody as savvy as Byrd would not make a move unless he lined up a lot of people to follow him." Had such a parade formed behind Byrd, defections of Carter delegates might have reached dangerous levels. But nobody followed Byrd. Particularly significant was the absence of any recruits for an "open convention" among the governors when their annual conference in Denver opened the day after Byrd's statement. Add to that Carter's impressive press conference of Aug. 5, and the sparks of rebellion were not permitted to become flames.

LAIRD FOR SHULTZ

A lobbying campaign for former Treasury Secretary George Shultz to be secretary of state in a Reagan administration is being conducted by former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, a formidable political figure in high Republican circles.

Laird, now a Reader's Digest senior editor, has never been close to the Reagan camp. Nevertheless, he retains influence among congressional Republicans, where as a Wisconsin congressman he was once the dominant power broker. He also became a close friend of West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt while serving as Richard Nixon's defense secretary.

Laird's support for Shultz is closely linked to his worry about the declining U.S.-West German alliance and his conviction that security of the West depends on re-establishing the Western alliance. Although Laird would find the widely-mentioned Gen. Alexander Haig suitable as secretary of state, he is aggressively pushing Shultz for the job.

When the U.S. reconnaissance ship, a modified Boeing 707, failed to respond immediately to the interdiction, the Libyan squadron commander ordered his pilots to load their guns - an order intercepted by the Americans. It was at that point that the U.S. ship quickly altered its course, took evasive action and escaped the possibility of a mid-air collision or an actual attack.

GOV. ADLAI?

Sen. Adlai Stevenson III is retiring from the Senate in frustration after 10 years, but perhaps not from politics. Democratic politicians in Illinois expect him to run for governor in 1982.

Stevenson almost surely can have the governor's nomination if he wants it, partly because nobody else is anxious to run against the highly-popular Republican Gov. James Thompson. He might be the one Democrat able to upset Thompson. "After all," one prominent Illinois Democrat told us, a Stevenson is a Stevenson.

A footnote: Another important Illinois Democrat who may return home to run for office is Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, No. 2 Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee. He has expressed interest in running for mayor of Chicago in 1983, but that depends on two factors prevailing then: the vulnerability of Mayor Jane Byrne, and whether Rostenkowski has become ways and means chair-

The class schedule is cramped. They study English, Chinese literature and grammar, economics, politics, world literature, French, history and geography.

The university school year runs from February to July and September to January with a month summer vacation between semesters.

Now a few lighter movies, even a few American films, such as "Cona trucker film starring Kris Kristofferson, are being shown.

College life is undergoing a dramatic transformation after a 10-year niatus when many universit shut down and students were picked only because of their politics, not because of their brains. It wasn't until year ago that college entrance exams were reinstated.

"We wasted a lot of time on ncompetent students," says Fu Piaa, director of the university, as he sits in a meeting hall beneath enormous pictures of the late Chairman Mao Tse-tung and current Chairman Hua Guofeng, with the Russian Communist lineup of Stalin, Lenin and Marx on a wall nearby.

'Several students," Fu adds, with voice of contempt, "had the level of unior high students. And some had no more competence than elementary school students."

Today that is changing, with the start of college entrance examina-tions and the end of the requirement that college applicants must have labored manually for two years after which they are recommended to universities by their political bosses.

Students are selected mainly because of test scores, teacher recommendation and physical fitness, but Fu admits, "political attitude is taken nto consideration."

Politics is a big part of Chinese education, contends Ron Fehd, a 33year-old American teaching English at Changsha University in southern

Named after Dr. Tomisaku Kawasaki, the Japanese physician who first recognized it, the illness has affected more than 20,000 people in Japan since 1967 and another 650 in the United States since 1976, the CDC said in its Morbidity and Mortality Weekly

Four "clusters" of cases have been observed in this country, including the 57 Massachusetts cases, which occurred between March 30 and June 28 of this year and accounted for the largest outbreak reported in the United States.

The others were in New York City, where 40 cases occurred from October 1977 to April 1978; Rochester, N.Y., which reported 23 cases between October and December 1979, and Los Angeles County, Calif., which had 20 cases between February and April 1980.

The Massachusetts cases were clustered in an eight-county area, and the mean age of the patients was 2.9 years, the CDC said. None of the children died.

The CDC has not recommended a treatment for Kawasaki disease, but the "currently accepted practice" is to give the patient aspirin to prevent cardiac complications, Ms. Lord

"The Japanese have found this to be effective," she said. "They have used high doses of aspirin while the child is acutely ill, although special care should be taken in treating young infants because this can be toxic.

The CDC report said studies of the illness are continuing. It encouraged doctors to report cases of Kawasaki disease to their local and state health departments.

Across the nation millions of young Americans are returning to their pressure-filled classroom lives they have managed to escape during summer vacation. This pressure, according to Dr. James E. Fulton, founder of the Acne Research Institute in Miami, Fla., is a very real enemy to the acne victim or acne-vulnerable teen-ager.

"Dealing with trying personal problems, studying for school exams, maintaining a job while going to school, and participating in competitive sports can result in severe stress and can require some curtailment of the youth's busy school-year schedule if he or she is acne-prone," says Fulton.

Parents must be on the lookout for signs of acne in their teens, then

U.S. beer market large

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The U.S. beer market is so large that imported beer, although highly visible, accounts for only 2 percent of the total.

The top imported brands can cost double the price of national U.S. brands in a six-pack. But, according to one Japanese importer here, "consumers select imported beers by brand name, not by price."

First subcompacts roll off assembly line

WAYNE, Mich. (AP) - Ford Motor Co. let a local union head drive the first of its new subcompacts off the assembly line, but in Canada, Ol' Blue Eyes wheeled out the first new $20,000 Chrysler Imperial.

John Barson, president of Local 900 of the United Auto Workers, on Monday became the first known union official to take roll-out honors. In a reference to Japanese competition before he started the white two-door Ford Escort, he said, "We will show them."

"I love it, I love it," singer Frank Sinatra said as he drove the Imperial off an assembly line in neighboring Ontario.

Ford says the Escort is the industry's first "world car." The Escort and companion Mercury Lynx, also being made in England and Germany, will replace the Pinto and Bobcat models.

Currently, Japanese cars hold 22 percent of the U.S. auto market. In the first seven months of this year, Ford fell to 16.5 percent from 23 percent in the same 1979 period and 28 percent in 1975.

With its new cars, Ford is making an effort to fight back. At the 4,160employee Wayne assembly plant, Ford has picked 248 "quality upgrade operators," or work team captains, who will instruct new employees, ensure that adequate tools and supplies are on hand for each worker and keep a general eye on quality.

One plant sign says: "Build it as though you are buying it."

The introduction of the Escort was the Detroit area's second new model roll-out of the day. Earlier, in Windsor, Ontario, Sinatra took delivery of the first new Chrysler Imperial, a luxury intermediate-sized car priced at around $20,000. Sinatra will advertise the car for Chrysler.

The financially troubled company is counting on handsome profit margins from 25,000 Imperials and sales of 600,000 "K-car" compacts rolled

Ford plans 480,000 of its new front-wheel drive subcompacts, one notch down from the K-car in size, for the new model year. Production starts in Metuchen, N.J., next month on the same two-door sedans and station wagons built in Wayne, and in St. Thomas, Ontario, early in 1981 on a

The Escort and the Lynx will get 30 miles per gallon on the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's city test and 44 mpg on the highway when equipped with manual transmission and 1.3-liter (79 cubic inches) engine, Ford says.

Universal thinks backlot tours won't be hurt by actors picketing studio

While some of televi- stars as Erik Estrada, sion's biggest stars Robert Blake and Keir urged tourists to stay Dullea. away, Universal Studio officials said they expected a planned week of picketing by striking actors to have little effect on attendance at the studio's backlot tours.

"It's slowed down traffic coming up the hill, there's no doubt about that," studio publicity Vice President Herb Steinberg said Monday as about 50 marching actors caused a major traffic jam with their most visible appeal yet for public support.

"But the tour is not affected by the picketing so far," he said.

Steinberg said the actors - members of the Screen Actors Guild and merican Federation of Television and Radio Artists - offered autographs and photographs to tourists who joined the picket lines instead of going on the tour.

Public workers strike in Boston, Grand Rapids

While Boston officials braced for the possibility that a strike by sanitation and recreation workers would spread, garbage piled up in Grand Rapids, Mich., as a strike by municipal workers entered its fourth day back-to-work order Monday and Mayor Kevin White met with city department heads to come up with a plan in case other city workers began a sympathy walkout.

"The possibility that others will go out lies there, but I have no fix on it." said John Harvey, state AFSCME communications director. "There are a lot of people considering it. That's

The two sides met Monday, but reported no progress.

About 1,000 employees of the Department of Public Works went on strike Thursday to protest what they said were politically influenced job appointments.

The city obtained a back-to-work order from Suffolk Superior Court on Monday and the city's chief labor negotiator threatened three-day suspensions if the workers were not back

Oilers, Rams lose openers

Ferragamo, Cavanaugh put on aerial show

By The Associated Press

While Houston said hello to Ken Stabler and Anaheim greeted the Rams, Doug English said goodbye to Detroit, and that really hurt the Stabler, making his first appearance with the Oilers since he was acquired from the Oakland Raiders in an off-season trade for Dan Pastorini, completed 9-of-15 passes for 58 yards. The left-handed quarterback played most of the first half in the Oilers' 21-7 National Football League loss to the Tampa Bay Bucs, leading them to their one touch-

Stabler, who led Oakland to the Super Bowl title in 1977, said he welcomed the challenge of playing with the new club.

"People have a lot of expectations about me," said Stabler. "But I welcome the challenge. I want to deliver what they want.

"I need to know the system a little better, but it'll come. I'm getting more comfortable all the time.'

But so was Tampa Bay Monday night as Jerry Eckwood connected on a 61-yard scoring play with halfback Isaac Hagins and second-year quarterback Chuck Fusina hit Gordon Jones with a 13-yard TD in the exhibition opener for both teams.

Earl Campbell scored the Houston touchdown with a 13-yard run. Touchdowns were the name of the game in Anaheim, where 62,356 fans watched the New England Patriots outlast Los Angeles 35-31 as the Rams played their first game at Anaheim Stadium. The Super Bowl runnerups left their longtime home in the Los Angeles Coliseum following last sea-

And the debut was quite a show, especially the performances by New England's Matt Cavanaugh and Los Angeles' Vince Ferragamo, both throwing four touchdowns.

Cavanaugh's final scoring strike, a 39-yard pass to Carlos Pennywell with 1:10 remaining, was the difference in the exhibition opener for both teams. The former University of Pittsburgh player, who will back up Steve Grogan this year, completed 20-of-34 passes for 350 yards.

"The game was important in a way," said Cavanaugh, "my playing time is going to be limited so I want to make a good impression when I do get a chance to play. Steve Grogan is the No.1 quarterback and until the coach decides differently, that the way it's going to be.

Not in the case of Ferragamo, who is battling Pat Haden for the Rams' No.1 job. The former University of Nebraska star, who helped the Rams get to the Super Bowl last season, hit on 9-of-11 passes including scoring tosses of 36 yards to Terry Nelson; 42 to Jeff Moore; 40 to Drew Hill and 13

"The quarterback situation is going to be competitive all year," said Ferragamo. "I don't want a knockout, I'll settle for a decision." If there was a knockout it came in the second half when the two teams combined to put 56 points on the board.

Monday's other knockout came in Detroit where English, the backbone of the Lions front wall, quit the team, saying he no longer had time to pursue his business interests across the Atlantic Ocean.

English, who had not been in contact with the team, wrote them a letter from Britain to announce his retirement. "I read Doug's decision with considerable regret," said Lions Coach Monte Clark. "No one will fill his shoes." In other NFL news, the Denver Broncos cut six players including two draft picks, No.8 pick Don Coleman and No.10 Virgil Seay, both wide receivers; the New Orleans Saints cut four players, including running back George Woodard, an 11th-round draft pick out of Texas A&M, and the Dallas Cowboys released eight free agents.

The St. Louis Cardinals cut three players, including eighth-round draft pick Dupree Branch, a defensive back from Colorado State. Also, the Seahawks announced that cornerback Cornell Webster, who returned a kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown in Seattle exhibition victory over Atlanta last week, returned to camp. The four-year pro had left camp for personal reasons. Tight end Raymond Chester ended thoughts of retirement and returned to Oakland's training camp, more than a week after leaving because of a bothersome knee. "After I had the knee checked, I found that it was the physical thing that was causing my psychological problems." Meanwhile, Miami Dolphins owner Joe Robbie met with Bob Kuechenberg, trying to get the four-time All-Pro lineman to end his self-imposed Kuechenberg is hoping to renegotiate the one season and option year left on his contract. According to Robbie, the veteran is looking for a five-year guaranteed pact at $500,000.

Leibrandt blanks Padres, 1-0

By The Associated Press Charles Leibrandt has shown he can win in the major leagues - especially if he pitches against the San Diego Padres.

The rookie left-hander of the Cincinnati Reds has a 10-7 record in his first full season in the National League, nicely padded by three victories over his personal patsy - the Padres.

Leibrandt, who has only given up four earned runs in 29 innings against San Diego this season, continued to torment the Padres with a 1-0 victory Monday night as Tom Hume provided late relief help.

"I've been struggling a lot lately, but I felt pretty good tonight," said Leibrandt. "This was probably my best effort since I shut out the Padres 1-0 earlier this year. Hume did a heck of a job in relief.'

The right-handed reliever gained his 20th save after replacing Leibrandt with one out in the seventh and runners at first and third. He got Ozzie Smith on a fly ball to right, and Rollie Fingers, the runner on third, was cut down at the plate trying to

They got three of them - from Reggie Jackson, Aurelio Rodriguez and Rudy May, who total nearly 40 years of major league experience among them.

Jackson slammed his 400th career home run, Rodriguez contributed a dramatic two-run blast in the bottom of the ninth and May threw a four-hitter as New York edged Chicago 3-1.

Jackson has been doing everything possible to keep the Yankees on top of the AL East. The homer came in the fourth off rookie Britt Burns, 10-11, and was Jackson's 31st, tops in the majors. He now has 84 RBI, tying him with Boston's Tony Perez for the major league lead.

"I hope that takes the pressure off the team," said Jackson. "I know it takes the pressure off me. I hit a homer a week for 30 weeks but it seemed to get harder for this one."

Rodriguez was elated with his contribution and even happier when management presented him with a bottle

"I feel great," he said. "I hit one home run here last year against the Yankees' Don Hood. The fans didn't like that one so much.

PAC-10 slaps five schools

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The presidents and chancellors of Pacific-10 conference schools have tackled the issue of widespread transcript and academic credit scandals in the conference - in effect creating a Pac-5.

At a meeting Monday in Denver, the panel of chief executives cut in half the number of schools eligible for the 1980 Pac-10 football crown and for postseason football competition. The panel dealt out a variety of penalties to the universities whose athletic programs have been cited with academic violations. Oregon was the hardest hit, receiving two years' probation.

The panel's unanimous ruling eliminated five schools - Southern California, UCLA, Arizona State, Oregon State and Oregon - from contention for any bowl berth, including the Rose Bowl. The panel decided, however, that all conference games played during the 1980 season will count in the standings.

Reaction from the affected schools ranged from bitter melancholia to apologetic acquiescence, but one voice said it didn't matter too much.

"We're sorry the five colleges have been ruled ineligible," said Bill Nicholas, chairman of the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena, "but those things happen. People will still come to the Rose Bowl game."

Elsewhere, however, comments were less sanguine. Southern Cal football Coach John Robinson: "We're very disappointed about the decision.

UCLA Coach Terry Donahue: "The incident for which we are being penalized occurred three years ago. I am embarrassed that the academic integrity of UCLA has been subject to question, and I feel very sorry for our players and coaches.

Arizona State Coach Darryl Rogers (whose school already has forfeited its 1979 victories after investigation found that eight players were ineligible because they had received credit for coursework they never did): ".. We've already been penalized more than any other school. Things that have happend to ASU have already done damage. Oregon State Coach Joe Avezzano: "We're just going to have to sacrifice for past mistakes ... I'm not sure we weren't on a runaway car ready to self-destruct, and I think that having someone come in and help clean up your house makes you more aware of the situation and puts everything maybe back in the proper perspec-

Manager Bobby Cox is on a threegame suspension handed down by National League President Chub Feeney for a spitting incident last week involving umpire Jerry Dale.

ATLANTA (AP) - Atlanta Braves

The Braves said the suspension means Cox will miss this week's series at Los Angeles, but he will be back for the weekend series at San

"First of all, if anybody says they're not going to miss the game of baseball, forget it. I miss it already, the first minute," said Cox, who was sitting in the stands with his parents watching the Braves defeat the Dodgers 3-2 Monday night.

"I probably expected it (the suspension), but it's still ridiculous," added Cox. "I told the truth and I like to think that justice would prevail but it didn't. Now I have to just drop it.'

Braves spokesman Wayne Minchew said the team "reluctantly accepts Feeney's decision," but later Monday, the Braves sent a wire to Feeney protesting that Dale was not suspended

In Cox's absence, Coaches Tommie Aaron, Bobby Dews and Cloyd Boyer managed the Braves

At a hearing Friday, Feeney heard conflicting reports of the Wednesday night incident from Dale and Cox and viewed television tapes.

Cox and Dale got into an argument after Dale ruled the Dodgers' Dusty Baker safe at second base, saying that Atlanta shortstop Rafael Ramirez had not touched the bag as he made a relay on a potential inningending double play. Ron Cey followed with a three-run homer that cinched a 6-2 Los Angeles victory.

Dale ejected Cox for throwing his cap to the ground as he argued that the umpire missed the call. For a time the two men argued jaw-to-jaw. Dale told newsmen that Cox "spit right in my eye the first time. Then he spit tobacco in my face and all over my

Cox admitted he spit at Dale, but said it was only after the umpire first "pulled his head back and spit in myface." Dale denied that he ever spit at

Hughes, Pearson may may play against LA

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) -Injured starters Randy Hughes and Drew Pearson returned to practice Monday and probably will play Saturday night at Anaheim Stadium in an exhibition game against the Los Angeles Rams, the Dallas Cowboys

Both were hurt in an intrasquad scrimmage Aug. 2. Hughes, a free safety, injured a shoulder he dislocated last year and Pearson, a wide receiver, suffered a hairline fracture of his collarbone.

The Cowboys, who beat Green Bay 17-14 Saturday night at Texas Stadium in their pre-season opener, break training camp at California Lutheran College on Aug. 22 and return to Dallas. Team officials cut eight free agent rookies Monday, slicing the team's roster to 73, including 31 rookies. National Football League teams have until next Tuesday to reduce their number of players to 60. The Cowboys released offensive linemen Dan Fowler of Kentucky, Bill Leer of Colorado State and Lyle Walker of Southeast Louisiana, fullback Curtis Bledsoe of San Diego State, quarterback Hoskin Hogan of Fort Hays, tight end Ron Forge of Tennessee State, wide receiver Roy Dean of Alabama A&M and punter Bob Pittard of McMurry.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON MS cause unknown

Dear Dr. Solomon: Although my mother has mul-tipe sclerosis, she has never been severely incapacitated. I would like to know what causes the disease, and what the prospects are for a cure. - Donna

Dear Donna: Multiple sclerosis is a neurological disease in which a substance called myeline, which insulates the nerve fibers, disintegrates. Scar tissue, which forms in its place, distorts or blocks the nerve impulses that affect walking, talking and other body

Most often the disease is progressive although, as in your mother's case, symptoms may be mild. The patient usually expereinces periods of exacerbation (worsening of the disease) alternating with periods of remission (stability or even improvement) that may last for months or even years. However, each time the disease worsens, the patients may suffer increased disability. Although research is continuing, there currently is no method of preventing or arresting the disease.

MS affects women more often than men, usually striking between the ages of 20 and 40. For some reason, it is much more prevalent in Northern than

Since there is no cure for the disease, treatment aims at controlling the symptoms. Braces may be used to help stabilize limbs, and physical therapy may help maximize the patient's ability to use his or her remaining capabilities. Excessive fatigue and emotional or physical stress should be avoided to the extent possible.

Dear Dr. Solomon: What causes bunions and what are their significance? - Mae

Dear Mae: Bunions have a number of causes, ranging from the shape and bone structure of the foot to joint disease, such as rheumatoid arthritis. The most common cause is wearing shoes with pointed toes, especially shoes that are short and have high heels. This combination causes a great deal of pressure to be exerted on the joint were the big toe

Long-term pressure of this kind can lead to a partial dislocation of the toe joint and a build-up of the surrounding tissue and bone. The area becomes swollen, red and tender, and eventually a bunion is formed. Although bunions may make it difficult to fit shoes properly, they usually cause no more than cosmetic problems.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Since when has marijuana been considered useful for medicinal purposes? I had thought this was a recent development, but now have been told its use goes back a hundred years. Is this true? - Ben

Dear Ben: One hundred years is a modest figure.
According to Dr. Sidney Cohen, professor of clinical psychiatry at the University of California, Los Angeles, marijuana has been used by physicians for thousands of years. Its medicinal use continued through the 1800s, but decreased in the United States early in this century.

Preparation begun on radiation trial

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - A federal judge has given lawyers 13 months to prepare for the trial of a suit against the federal government by people who ic testing in Nevada caused sickness and death.

More than 950 residents and former residents of Utah, Nevada and Arizona have filed claims against the government in connection with fallout from the tests, conducted in the 1950s and early 1960s.

Saying he wanted the cases to proceed as quickly as possible, U.S. District Judge Bruce Jenkins scheduled the trial to begin on Sept. 11, 1981.

The trial will involve 25 "representative" claims and the outcome will establish the technical basis for handling the remaining cases.

Jenkins denied a request from William Schaffer, a Justice Department lawyer, to require the plaintiffs to provide certification that illnesses were caused by radiation. Jenkins said the information might come up in pre-trial actions or in the trial.

Schaffer said that other than one study on leukemia in children, "There is no evidence whatsoever to suggest cancer rates in Utah were higher than anywhere else in the country or that they have been

Dale Harrelson, a lawyer for the plaintiffs, said investigations by the plaintiffs have determined the diseases could have been caused by radiation.

Better view of reactor sought in second entry

HARRISBURG (AP) - Technicians at the Three Mile Island nuclear plant hope to get a better view of the outside of a damaged reactor on Friday during a second foray into the reactor's containment

A four-man team will spend about 40 minutes inside the damp and dark building to gather radiation data and other information, the plant operators said in a statement Monday.

From their vantage point, one floor above the level where two engineers entered July 23, team members will be able to see the top of the reactor vessel and the control rod mechanisms.

The only other view of the area since the March 1979 accident which crippled the plant was through a remote controlled videotape camera. There was no evidence of damage when that view was taken in

The team will also retrieve some items, including pieces of broken glass. Plant officials said last week that glass absorbs radiation and the fragments will provide clues as to how much radiation was released in the building during the accident, the worst in U.S. commercial nuclear history.

Members of the team include William H. Behrle III and Michael L. Benson, the two engineers who made the initial reconnaissance last month. They will be joined by Martin Cooper, shift foreman for the plant, and Sam Griffith, a health physicist employed by Nuclear Support Services Inc.

Police investigating death of woman found in car

Police are investigating the death of a Midland woman, whose body was found this morning in the back seat of a car parked in the alley of the 4500 block of West Illinois Avenue.

The body reportedly was found by a woman at a nearby coin-operated laundry.
Officers said the woman apparently had been dead

since Saturday night. Peace Justice Robert H. Pine has ordered an autopsy.

Until the autopsy, police would not speculate on the cause of death.

You don't get a medal formaking an overtrick - just 20 or 30 points. And if you invest that amount to guarantee a contract, you will win the plaudits of the cognoscenti and your peers.

With 19 points in high cards, a five-card suit and two tens to give his hand body, North wasted no time in the auction. Since his hand was balanced even though he held a good five-card major, he simply raised partner's one no trump response to three.

There is something to be said for leading a short suit from the West hand in an effort to hit partner's suit. However, on this auction the lead of fourth-best from a weak five-card suit is not without merit-it is quite possible to strike partner with four cards in the suit, and either run the suit immediately, or establish the tricks the defenders need to beat the contract.

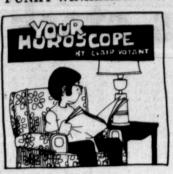

Declarer made a fine play to the first trick. He called for dummy's ten and East covered with the jack. If declarer wins this trick, the defenders will prevail, for the hearts can now be run. But South allowed the jack to declarer had to decide how to go about tackling clubs. If the suit broke 2-2, six tricks could be had, and declarer would romp home with an overtrick. However, South was a cautious fellow who realized that he needed only five tricks from clubs to make his contract. Also, West was the danger hand, and he should be kept off lead if it was at all possible. After winning the third heart with the queen, declarer led a low club, and when West followed low, he inserted the ten. East won the queen, but could do no harm to declarer. He exited safely with the queen of spades, but declarer had nine tricks for the taking, since all of his clubs were now good. Indeed, he could afford the diamond finesse for an overtrick.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

NEW YORK (AP) - While the rest of the nation learned from Edward M. Kennedy's own lips that he was out of the presidential race, the delegates at the Democratic National Convention sat blissfully ignorant, half listening to yet another speech.

Only an hour earlier, the delegates, alternates and guests who filled Madison Square Garden to the cheap seats had expended all their fervor on the rules voting that effectively sealed off the senator from his prize.

At 10 o'clock, when Kennedy marched into a room at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to announce he was out and it was over, many delegates who had been in their seats for six hours had wandered off.

The news took a surprisingly long time to dribble across the floor and even then the hour and the evening's exhausting fight had taken their toll. There was no crying by the Kennedy supporters, no jubilation from the Carterites. And another hour went by before a speaker,

Arizona Rep. Morris Udall, announced it from the

When Udall finally got around to delivering the keynote address, he started by congratulating Kennedy on fighting the good fight and by joshing Ronald Reagan, the Republican nominee.

"You remember Gov. Reagan telling the Young Americans for Freedom that he'll carry every state all 13," Udall said. "And if we have a nuclear attack, he'll ask Michael Landon to pull the wagons in a circle." Landon stars in the TV show "Little House on the Prairie," a turn-of-the-century dramatic series that is Reagan's favorite.

Udall also talked about "Reagan's newest movie contract - with 18th Century-Fox.'

While the roll of the states was being called in the faithful-delegate rule voting, an optimist made his way through the Arizona delegation passing out large "Udall '80" signs, apparently in the vain hope that Arizona Rep. Morris Udalld benefit from a Carter-Kennedy standoff.

When Kennedy withdrew, one delegate quietly crossed out the zero and with a pen changed it to a more realistic "84."

Guess who is the only man in America to address both the Democratic and Republican national conventions this year.

Clue: He is a Democrat. Clue No. 2: He is from Detroit. That's right, Coleman Young, the mayor.

Mayor Ed Koch, greeting the convention, recalled his own days serving in a Congress that was sometimes indifferent to the plight of the cities. He said every member of Congress should look at the problems and make a contribution to solving them.

NEW YORK (AP) - The "open" convention battle behind them at last, Democrats at the party's national convention say they believe even Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will unite behind President Carter for the fall war against Republican Ronald Reagan.

Kennedy has not said he will support the president - but after he lost the rules fight by a decisive margin of more than 500 votes, he called to congratulate Carter.

The Massachusetts senator then announced his decision to withdraw from the race. Work began immediately to mend fences between the two camps, said Carter campaign manager Robert Strauss.

Kennedy's withdrawal was "a magnanimous gesture on his part," said Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, a Kennedy supporter named by Carter to keynote the onvention. He called the move a "giant step toward

Finally Texas was in, but not New York. Again and again, convention secretary Dorothy Bush called "New York?" And each time, the state chairman

Convention focus turns to platform

By OWEN ULLMANN NEW YORK (AP) - They say Democrats love a good convention fight. Now that the battle for the presidential nomination is over, the delegates to the party's national gathering - many of them enthusiastic members of one special interest group or another - can squabble to their hearts' content over the party's 1980 plat-

The next day-and-a-half promise to be filled with passionate platform debate — and to provide the last bits of likely suspense in Madison Square Garden. There will be the long-anticipated showdown between the forces of President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy over economic policy. Women's groups will be pushing a strong plank in support of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment. Pro- and anti-abortion forces will tangle over two abortion planks. Delegates will try to repudiate Carter's support for deployment of the MX missile. And that's

With so many issues in dispute, the Democrats found they had to set aside part of Wednesday as well as today and tonight to squeeze in all the debate. By contrast, delegates at last month's Republican convention needed only one evening to adopt their platform. They didn't have a single floor

For Kennedy, his presidential campaign is over, but his fight to reshape the platform is not. So, he still planned to address the convention tonight to rally support behind an economic program that includes wage-price controls to fight inflation, a $12 billion jobs program to fight unemployment and an absolute pledge to oppose any government action that causes a significant rise in joblessness.

"I continue to care deeply about where this party stands, and I hope the delegates will stand with me for a truly Democratic platform," Kennedy said as he conceded a race he had initiated out of opposition to Carter's anti-inflation and other economic poli-pleaded for just a little more time. "If every roll call takes this long, no telling when we'll get home," the secretary finally said.

Every speaker, it seems, tries to outdo the others contrasting the Democratic convention with the one held in July by, as one speaker put it, "Our wealthy brothers who met in Detroit."

The theme is that half the delegates are women and that blacks are well represented too.

California assemblyman Willie Brown may have put it best: "We have reformed the hell out of our party," he said.

Jailed dissident leader allowed to see wife, lawyer

Jailed dissident leader Kim Dae-jung, who is to be court-martialed on charges of trying to overthrow the government, has been allowed to see his wife and a lawyer for the first time since his arrest May 17, Mrs. Kim said today.

However, Mrs. Kim said neither she nor her husband had requested that the lawyer act for them in the courtmartial, which begins Thursday. Kim could face the death sentence if convicted. U.S. officials have urged the government not to impose such a sentence.

"He's almost the same as a government lawyer," Mrs. Kim said in a telephone interview. "We didn't ask for him."

She said she did not know if Kim would accept the lawyer, whom she named as Ho Kyong-man, 41, a former army and government prosecutor who is now a freshman national assemblyman of the opposition New Democratic Party.

Mrs. Kim said she saw her husband Saturday and again today. She said, "he's all right," but did not elaborate. She said they have received no formal notice of the charges against Kim.

Kim is to be tried by four army generals on charges of inciting riots in Seoul last May, and funding and organizing the bloody nine-day rebellion in the southern city of Kwangju May 18-26.

Twenty-three of his followers, also arrested May 17 in an army sweep just hours after nationwide martial law was declared, will be tried along with Kim. They are charged with aiding, leading or taking part in the riots and Kwangju insurrection. None face the death penalty, but some could get life imprisonment.

Foreign embassy observers will be present at the court-martial, according to military sources, but the proceedings may be closed if "national security matters" arise.

The sources said a lawyer will be appointed for Kim if he is unable to find one, but did not say when.

Kim, 54, is a long-time anti-government spokesman in South Korea. He nearly defeated President Park Chung-hee in the 1971 election and later was a strong critic of Park's autocratic policies.

In 1973, while in self-imposed exile in Japan, Kim was kidnapped, brought back to South Korea, and placed under house arrest. The kidnappers have never been officially identified, but are widely believed to have been agents of the South Korean

In 1976, Kim was jailed for three years for his anti-Park activities. Released in 1978, he was kept under close house arrest until early this year.

by his intelligence chief, Kim was considered one of three top candi-dates in elections scheduled for next year. The other two also have been pushed aside - opposition leader Kim Young-sam under house arrest since May, and pro-government party leader Kim Jong-pil, accused of corruption and forced to resign his position Many observers believe military

Man completes faith conversion by piercing cheeks

By HARI MANIAM

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) - A West German businessman has completed his conversion to the Hindu faith by piercing himself through the cheeks with a quarter-inch thick, four-foot-long steel rod and pulling a chariot for two miles by ropes attached to his back and chest by steel hooks.

The man, who identified himself only as Ray, completed the Hindu vows Monday by pulling the chariot through the streets of Seremban City, 30 miles south of here, to the Maha Mariamman Temple where the hooks and the steel rod were

Britain opens annual grouse shooting season

By MICHAEL WEST

at-

LONDON (AP) - A bad day for Tetraonidae, a good day for gourmets - it's the "Glorious 12th" today, the opening of Britain's annual grouse shooting season. And for the third year in a row, the "Great Grouse Race" is on.

The object of the exercise is to rush grouse freshly shot on the moors of Scotland and northern England as fast as possible to London, 500 miles to the south and then be first to serve the birds at table a few

Some of London's best hotels were trying to beat Alan Peck, owner of the Onslow Arms restaurant 30 miles southwest of here and winner of the race held each Aug. 12 for the last two years.

Peck booked a plane and helicopter to fly 18 brace - 36 birds - to London's Heathrow airport. From there, six stunt parachutists were to take them on to his restaurant in West Clandon, landing on the restaurant grounds with catch in tow.

Peck's main rival, the London Ritz Hotel, was a combination of two planes, a helicopter and a Rolls Royce limousine in an attempt to snatch the The London Hilton claimed it wasn't interested —

"Winning depends on shooting the birds early. We don't like to shoot the grouse at dawn because at that time they don't have the strength to fly away," said a spokeswoman, suggesting it was the height of unsporting behavior to fire on sitting birds. But insiders hinted she was probably bluffing.

They said the Hilton laid on a Daimler limousine complete with two pluckers aboard to make the feathers fly as the birds were rushed to London, thereby saving vital time.

One purist on the subject of grouse, which belong to the Tetraonidae family of game birds, was quoted in the august London Times as sniffing: "Normal people don't eat freshly shot grouse. It should be hung for several days."

But there's no way that will stop plenty of others tucking in to a brace — two grouse, to the uninitiated of the strong-tasting, highly prized little birds cooked in wine and served with all the trimmings.

They'll pay around $23.70 for the privilege, and gladly risk breaking a tooth on bits of lead shot left in

Grouse shooting, allowed by law only four months of the year to allow young birds to mature, by tradition is a rich man's sport. It reached its opulent heyday on the vast estates of wealthy landowners in the Edwardian era at the turn of the British society won't publish suicide guide

LONDON (AP) - With its officials threatened with jail, Britain's euthanasia society has decided against publishing a suicide guide. Plans to publish the 30-page pamphlet were announced last fall by the group, which is called Exit, The Society for the Right to Die with Dignity.

However Exit scrubbed the plans for guide when lawyers advised the group's officials could be prosecuted, and that the professionals who helped draw up the booklet might lose their right to practice. Larry Hill, acting chairman of Exit, told reporters

Monday the decision "is a tragedy for which our so-called civilized society should be condemned, but I am personally not prepared to go to jail. "I don't believe our booklet would increase suicides among the young or others mentally disturbed. They have the means to do it anyway, they merely need the determination. We are concerned with people who wanted to know how to kill them-

The dictionary can influence a child's language attitude

By JASON SHARP Copley News Service

A child's first experience with a dictionary is an important one. It can influence his attitude toward language and reading the rest of his life.

It is with this in mind that book publishers in recent years have taken a new approach to making children's diction-

Dictionaries are first

At this time, children need more than the simple word books of the preschoolers. In the past, elementary dictionaries were patterned on adult dictionaries with straightforward entries and text, some illustrations, abbreviated introductory material and so on. No attempt was made to make the book interesting or attractive to the young student.

> today is to make the dicractive and interesting to the child as possible

> It may encourage his use of the dictionary, and in the long run, stimulate an interest in words and language, leading to greater writing skills.

> There is a serious effort under way to make dictionaries more appealing to the child, and thereby more useful," according to Dr. Frederick C. Mish, editorial director of G. and C. Merriam Co., which has just published "Webster's Beginning Dictionary" for the elementary grades. "These dictionaries are written with the child in mind.

"This trend is reflected in several ways," Mish says. "Perhaps the most important is the use of color. Research has shown that color draws the child's eye. makes him want to read more. In 'Webster's Beginning Dictionary' there are some 600 illustrations in full color."

Other children's dictionaries, such as the 'MacMillan Dictionary for Children," also make extensive use of color, particularly in illustrachildren's dictionaries is the introduction, or "front matter." These how-to instructions are more elaborate than in previous dictionaries, yet, through the use of color, wider spacing and modern typeface, they are easily grasped. The dictionary is in the child's language

The new dictionaries have also added material. "Webster's Beginning Dictionary," for in-stance, includes lists of U.S. presidents and vice presidents, a list of geographical names and other material. "The MacMillan Dictionary for Children" and "American Heritage's Children's Dictionary" have included essays on the origin of the English language. According to Mish, the new children's dictionaries are more fun and easier for parents and teachers to use in teaching children, especially on a one-to-one basis.

"Aw, there's never anything to do around

What parent hasn't heard that complaint from a child? Well, it's coming much less frequently these days, especially if there's a public library nearby.

According to the American Library Association, a majority of the nation's 7,000 public libraries are providing educational and entertaining experiences for children after school, in the early evening hours and on Saturdays.

While the number and range of programs vary from library to library, a sampling of programs around the country finds a wealth of activity available to the child who can walk or be driven to a branch or main

There are story hours for preschoolers and young teens, readers clubs with discussions of popular books, "how-to" workshops in the arts ranging from ballet lessons to cartooning, demonstrations in sewing and candle dipping, visits with authors and sports celebrities, summer job and career counseling for teens, photography and filmmaking contests, films, and lots and lots of books.

PROGRAMS are designed to be both educational and enjoyable for young participants, according to Gail Terwilliger, children's librarian at the Cumberland County Public Library, Fayetteville, N.C.

While we hope that boys and girls have fun at the library, we do not see ourselves as a recreation department. Our programs are planned to provide information, teach a skill or spark interest in a new area as well as to stimulate children to get into books,' she adds.

Thus, a staff librarian or volunteer with appropriate skills will conduct a special session, moderate a discussion or demonstrate skateboard safety, bicycle repair, tie dying and T-shirt decorating, a holiday craft such as egg decorating or handmade valentines.

Many libraries such as Seattle's King County Public Library also schedule stories for Cub Scouts and Brownie troops, visit day-care centers and nursery schools and give books talks in schools.

"PROGRAMS are varied in the branches and the main library," says Beth Greggs, children's librarian. "Children can attend any session that catches their fancy. And, they can participate in the photography and movie madness contests we sponsor each year.'

Participation is also the motivating factor in the Libary Center for Youth in Lancaster County, Pa. The center, in what used to be the library's children's room, includes a performing arts circle, an audiovisual tunnel, a craft project area and a youth art gallery displaying the works of stu-

Music has a place in a variety of disciplines, educators realize

By ALAN BUTLER Copley News Service

School music programs aren't confined to the band room anymore. In schools across the country, educators are realizing that music has a place in a startling variety of disciplines-- from mathematics to physical education.

"The increasing trend toward integrated arts programming has a very sound educational basis," said Gene Wenner, president of the American Music Confer-

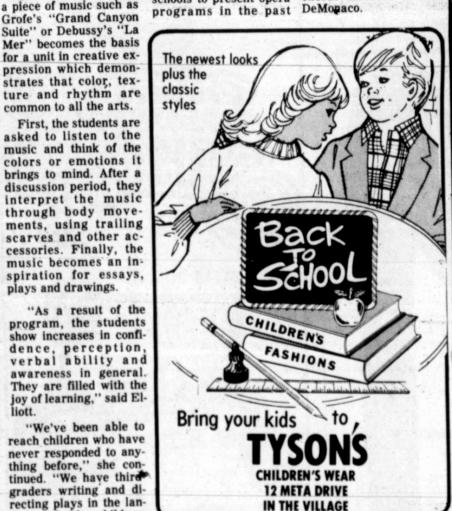

"Recent research has shown that students who participate in music programs, especially in the early grades, often demonstrate superior verbal skills and hand-eye coordination," Wenner said. "In addition, music can study more interesting, and of course has a natural affinity with the humanities curriculum.

In the Yuma, Ariz., school system, for examle, music is used to help kindergarten through sixth-grade students become more aware of their bodies and what they can do. It also helps them to become more familiar with all the arts.

"In addition to playing games, our physical edu-cation classes include in-clude units in creative movement to music, explained Marion Elliott coordinator of the integratred arts program for the district's 11 elementary schools and three junior high schools.

"Using music as a stimulus, the students are asked to do different things with their bodies. For example, we might

Most state boards and departments of education have enacted policles supporting metric and have set target dates for using metric as the predominant system. These policies were a reaction to the establishment of a metric education program in the U.S. Office of Education (USOE). Gifted children: natural resource being neglected

By GARY MOORE

Copley News Service
Gifted children are our nation's most neglected natural resource, and perceptive, supportive parents are needed to bring these children's talent to fruition, a National College of Education expert says.

"Approximately 3 to 5 percent of our school population is gifted — more than 2 million youngsters," explained Joan Smutny, a National College faculty member and pioneer in gifted programs. "The great tragedy is that thousands of these potential leaders go unnoticed.
"When a child is gifted, the parents usually know it. They notice an uncanny knack for grasning new concepts, a facility for creative and an uncanny knack for grasping new concepts, a facility for creative and critical thinking, an insatiable curiosity, and inventive imagination. 'Yet, because these children are often frustrated by standard education curricula, they may 'turn off' at school, and become 'underachievers.' A few may even be misdiagnosed as learning disabled. "Sensitive, perceptive teachers often come to the rescue, but if they don't, the gifted child's best ally is a parent who believes in him or her,

Parents who think their child might be gifted should see that he or she is tested at school or by a private counselor. A nearby university's education or psychology department may be able to recommend reputable testing facilities, Smutny said.

If evaluations indicate the child is, indeed, gifted, the parents should check out available programs, she added. "Some schools think independent study for the talented child is enough," Smutny said. "It's not. These children need to share their creative, innovative ideas with

The educator added that parents should remember that intellectual and academic talents are not the only marks of the gifted child. Creative, artistic or leadership abilities may also indicate the child is gifted. Parents investigating programs for gifted children should look for Individualized instruction and independent opportunities.

 An open, creative, challenging atmosphere. A quality testing program that accurately identifies gifted children. Such programs typically include written tests, parent-teacher conferences, and interviews with the child applying for the program. "We need a continuum of programs and activities for the gifted. These must be integral parts of the school — not just a shotgun effect," Smutny said. "More schools must serve gifted children at all levels. And they must serve all the gifts these children may have.

"The education of all of our gifted and talented children is like a sleeping giant," she said. "It's just now awakening, and in the years to come, we should see a marvelous expression of its potential."

Riding school bus adventure laden with hidden danger

By JOHN BUCHANAN Copley News Service

With more and more students across the country riding school buses, safety becomes a vital concern for students and parents alike.

The ride to school and home again can be safe and pleasant if driver and passengers follow certain

Waiting for the bus can be fun. Yet, the bus stop can also be a dangerous place. At the stop, precautions should be taken. Older children should help by watching over younger ones. Also, the children should wait on the curb until the bus has stopped and the driver has waved them

On the bus, children should keep the bus clean by keeping their feet off the seats, disposing of trash properly and remembering to take their belongings with them.

Safety is everyone's responsibility, including the driver's. All lights on the vehicle, particularly the yellow or red flashing lights, should be in working condition at all times. The driver should have someone check from outside as he works the lights from the inside.

In getting off the bus, it is a good idea to have a safety monitor help children off, particularly the smaller children.

The driver should describe for the students the emergency equipment he has to carry: first-aid kit, fire extinguisher and emergency reflectors.

Then, he should describe the emergency procedures, reminding the children that occasionally it is safe to stay on the bus in an emergency. The driver should show the children how to get the emergency exit door open, and explain to the children how to exit through the door one at a time.

The children should be aware of safety rules which will help the driver concentrate on his task of a safe ride to and from school:

-- Keep the aisle of the bus clear at all times. Never lower the window below the safe line or stick hands or head out of the window. .

- Do not play with the emergency door. - Be especially quiet when the bus approaches a railroad crossing so the driver can listen for a

Financial assistance available for many

By ANN MARSHALL Copley News Service

Families who are struggling and worrying about how to pay for their children's college education may be unaware of the many scholarships, grants and other types of financial aid offered by non-government

According to Mary Ann Maxin, executive director of the Student Assistance Council of America, many private individuals, corporations and clubs offer money to qualified candidates based on religion, heritage, residence, activities and achievements in and out of school, college major, career interests, parent's military service, clubs or union affili-

"More than $100 million has gone unclaimed because it hasn't been matched up with the proper students," Maxin said. "Many students don't bother to apply for financial aid because parents don't believe they qualify."

The idea that all scholarships are based solely on financial need or academic ability is a myth -a costly and crippling one to families concerned about the 12 percent increase in tuition costs this fall.

"Of course, grades are important, but many other factors are critical as well," Maxin said. "For example, citizenship is one of the major criteria for the American Legion scholarships.

"There are scholarships available from religious groups -- very large programs, in particular, for Methodists and Presbyterians. "Unions, too, provide scholarship moneys to their members, ethnic groups take care of their own, and most corporations have programs for the children of their employees. "Professional associations also offer scholarships to students intending to pursue careers in that profession," Maxin said There are also many unusual and offbeat scholarships. Babies, for example, while not college-bound immediately, are eligible for 150 scholarships at Rochester Institute of Technology in New York.

That is, if they were born on the right day, June 12, 1979, which commemorates the 150th anniversary of the institute. Being left-handed is sometimes a help, too. Juniata College in Pennsylvania offers a scholarship to left-handed students, while the sons and daughters of fishermen can claim funds at Tufts University in Massachusetts. "Parent's occupation does count," said Maxin. "So does your last name at two of America's leading academic institutions, Harvard and Yale. $1,000 scholarships are available to persons named Murphy, Pennoyer, or Baxendale at Harvard while Yale has similar funds for people named Leavenworth or DeForest.'

Homemade treats can ease kids into school mood

Copley News Service

It's always hard to get the kids back into the day-to-day routine of school. Who wants to return to books and tests after the freedom of long ummer days?

You can help ease your kids back into the regimen of studying and exams with some homemade treats. hese desserts can put the finishing touch to a school lunch. And, of course, they taste great with a glass of milk to satisfy those after-school or late-night munchies.

The first two recipes are sure to earn high marks. You start with a base of unsweetened cocoa: chocolate is, after all, practically everyone's favorite flavor.

COCOA APPLE BARS Three-fourths cup unsifted all-purpose flour One-fourth cup Hershey's Cocoa

1 tsp. ground cinnamon One-half tsp. baking soda One-half tsp. salt

One and one-third cups quick cooking oatmeal Two-thirds cup firmly packed light

brown sugar One-half cup shortening, melted and cooled

One and one-half tsps. grated orange peel Two and one-half cups very thinly sliced pared apples One-half cup raisins

Confectioners' sugar In large bowl, combine flour, cocoa, cinnamon, baking soda and Add oatmeal, brown sugar, shortening, egg and orange peel. Knead with hands to blend well. Pat half of dough into bottom of

Eye examinations should be among back to school items

Approximately 10 million schoolchildren wear glasses, and there are many who require some sort of vision

Beyond the new pencils, notebooks and other materials students rely on to get off to a good start in school, parents should consider even more meaningful "tools" such as an eye examination and, if required, a pair of frames their child will be comfortable with and wear.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Although Hurricane Allen hit land with less fury than expected, Texans who stayed with their battened-down homes were shaken up and may not try to ride out

"The calls I got from people who opted to stay at home said when the winds began to hit they weren't quite sure they made the right decision," said Brownsville city manager Neil

But those homeowners with second thoughts about riding out the storm had no choice once the winds and waves began lashing the

"I think people still have a very healthy respect for these storms," Haman said. "They realize they were very fortunate it didn't come in with the force it approached with. Most residents of the lower Rio Grande Valley - many of them time. Brownsville's largest shelter in town, the civic center, was under repair and unavailable, but the others were filled to ca pacity, Haman said.

The emergency operations center, where city officials worked, moved twice during the storm. The center opened in a small building at the airport but had to be shifted when a generator got | Stop of Midland and wet and the power went out, said Haman, who wore a hard hat throughout the storm.

Operations moved to the main airport terminal, but the officials decided they didn't want to spend the hurricane cramped in a small room with reporters and wound up at the police station.

On South Padre Island, city manager Kirby Lilljedahl said Clerk, MIDLAND although Allen turned out to be comparatively weak, there were COUNTY, TEXAS few complaints about the troubles of heading for the mainland to escape the storm.

"It appears a wall of water went over the island," Lilljedahl Their lives would have been in some danger here. It would not have been a very frendly place to be. The narrow island suffered some damage, but very little compared to what the predicted 170 mph winds would have Lilljedahl predicted island residents would be just as respectful of future hurricanes.
