After months of trying to get a visa for Maria Gatto of El Salvador, the Flores' only succeeded in getting a 90-day visit permit. But they settled on that and the family finally met each other Wednesday afternoon at Midland Regional Airport.

Although this was the first time Mrs. Gatto had flown, the small woman walked confidently off the plane and down the ramp to the main waiting room. There, she met her daughter and family she had never seen. Bursting into tears, she began hugging each one

His wife came to the United States about 10 years ago on a visa to go to college in California. The two met and married.

Since then, they have moved to Midland where they are the parents of four daughters ages 1, 6, 7 and 8. And there's another child due this month. "I just know it's going to be another girl," he laughed.

But through the years, Mina has never been back to her homeland. Al had never seen the mother-in-law he had heard so much about. And their daughters kept asking about a grandmother they had never known. Flores said his mother-in-law had been wanting to come for a visit for a long time. Recent uprisings in the country of El Salvador made the Flores family more concerned about getting Mrs. Gatto to Midland.

However, because of the internal troubles, getting a visa was impossible, he said. They accepted the visitpermit and will try to work on getting a visa from this end. And if one doesn't come soon, Flores said, he will file for extensions on the permit.

Sitting in the airport waiting area, Mrs. Gatto took a long look at each of her granddaughters. She held the youngest on her lap while the older ones huddled around her knees.

Cupping her hands around one of the girls' faces, Mrs. Gatto remarked. She looks just like one of my other daughters.

Mina isn't her only daughter. Mrs. Gatto left two other daughters back in El Salvador. If the family succeeds in getting a visa for Mrs. Gatto. Flores said he will try to bring the rest of the family to Midland. "She's afraid to go back," he said, referring to the political troubles in El

'We're very happy," he said, giving his new-found mother-in-law a kiss on the cheek

"I even tried to fix up my house to have it ready for her." And his wife, with tears in her eyes, added, "I feel very happy."

More Polish workers walk off their jobs

GDANSK, Poland (AP) - The communist government dumped its top labor negotiator today in a new sign that its efforts to contain the widespread worker unrest gripping the Baltic seacoast had stalled.

Polish radio described the situation at several major port cities as "exteremly serious.'

Dissident sources said the strike had spread to more than 300 factories and said 16 leading strike leaders were rounded up in Warsaw. The sources said the number of workers on strike in the Baltic area had grown despite the government's mediation efforts and that about 130,000 workers were taking part in the mass walkout, now in its eighth day.

State radio announced today that Deputy Premier Tadeusz Pyka had been replaced as chairman of a special commission dispatched here last weekend to negotiate with workers after they began walking off their jobs at the V.I. Lenin Shipyards and other enterprises. No explanation was given for the change.

Despite Pyka's efforts, sources in this Baltic port said more than 300 factories and plants in the area had now been shut down by the strike.

Pyka, a longtime ally of Communist Party leader Edward Gierek, was replaced by senior Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Jagielski, a longtime Politburo member who is considered the most liberal and influential of Poland's five deputy premiers. Pyka was a relative newcomer to the party's inner circle and a junior man among Poland's deputy premiers.

Jagielski went on state radio today to announce government negotiators had been sent to idled factories to meet with workers. The official news agency PAP reported the talks were under way with 47 individual strike committees but gave no details.

The special commission has been seeking to negotiate with individual strike committees rather than a central organization established by militants at the Lenin Shipyards in Gdansk.

Gdansk radio had reported negotiations were under way with committees that had apparently split with the Lenin Shipyard group. But Pyka's removal appeared to indicate the commission's strategy of undermining worker unity was failing.

Earlier, "extremely serious" conditions and widespread disruption were reported in the Polish city of Szczecin today as the communist nation's worst crisis in 10 years went into its second week.

The mayor of Szczecin, a port and industrial city of 400,000 people on the East German border, reported "the life of all families is disorganized; municipal transport is not functioning; normal functioning of hospitals, shops and fundamental services have all been disrupted, and people are still buying food in vast quantities.'

With 20,000 workers reported on strike in Szczecin two days ago, the local radio station said Wednesday and again today that workers in the steel and paper mills and other industries were joining the walkout. The broadcast said the strike had spread to a paper mill in Kozno and an auto equipment plant.

Gdansk Radio reported food supplies here were running low. The strike wave began last Thursday in Gdansk with workers demanding higher pay to offset increased meat prices, free trade unions and other political reforms. The government claimed Wednesday that the movement in Gdansk-Gdynia-Sopot industrial area was beginning to splinter. It said 47 strike committees contacted local officials and reached agreement with them on some of the issues. Another broadcast said representatives of some of the strikers and a government negotiating team led by Pyka reached a "common position."

Sources said the government was offering amnesty for strikers; representation in the official state-run unions; improved housing and health care; guarantees of special food supplies for the coastal area and pay increases for shipyard and port workers and professionals. But Communist Party chief Edward Gierek in a broadcast earlier this week rejected the strikers' demands for free trade unions and other major political reforms allowed nowhere in the Soviet the United States abstaining, the U.N. Security Council censured Israel's new Jerusalem law and called on the 13 nations with embassies in the Holy City to withdraw them.

The council resolution, adopted Wednesday by a 14-0 vote, declared the law was "null and void and must be rescinded.

The council ordered Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to report by Nov. 15 whether Israel obeyed the order, but as expected the Israeli government today rejected the U.N. move. Israel also expressed regret that the United States did not veto the resolution, rather than abstain.

Passage of the resolution "furnished additional proof that the United Nations has been converted into an instrument in the hands of Israel's enemies in their war against her existence and independence," said a statement issued by the Israeli Foreign Ministry today in Jerusalem.

Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir met with U.S. Ambassador Samuel Lewis and "expressed Israel's regret" at the American abstention, the Foreign Ministry said.

Referring to Secretary of State Edmund Muskie's statement to the Security Council, Shamir said the speech "contained convincing reasons for the United States to oppose the resolution Israeli Ambassador Yehuda Z. Blum, interviewed on ABC-TV today. said "we were clearly disappointed with the American abstention.

Blum told the Security Council during the debate that the Jerusalem law merely reaffirms the situation that has prevailed in Jerusalem for a long

The law, passed by the Israeli Knesset, or Parliament, on July 30, declared all of Jerusalem the undivided and eternal capital of the Jewish state. But all of Jerusalem had been Israel's capital since the Jewish state annexed East Jerusalem, the Arab sector and site of the city's Jewish, Christian and Moslem holy places, after capturing it from Jordan in the 1967 Arfab-Israeli war.

Blum said it was "an indisputable fact that although throughout the centuries Israel has known many rulers. it (Jerusalem) has been the capital city for only one people - that is the Jewish people. No amount of gainsaying, distortion and hostile resolutions can alter that undeniable historical

In an unusual move, Muskie appeared before the council to explain why the United States could not support the resolution. He said it was "fundamentally flawed" because it censured only Israel without con-efforts to undermine Israel's legitimate security needs.

Muskie, who interrupted a vacation in Maine for his first U.N. speech since becoming secretary of state in four months ago, also defended "the Camp David process ... and its ultimate goal of a just and lasting peace throughout the region." He accused the United Nations of "recourse to debates and resolutions that are not germane to the peace process and even harmful to it.

Zehdi Labib Terzi, the Palestine Liberation Organization's U.N. observer, called Muskie's speech "pontification" for political ends.

"I am sure the American administration is grateful to us for convening the session because it afforded their spokesman a platform for his electioneering campaign," said Terzi.

The PLO and its Arab supporters wanted a resolution calling for military and economic sanctions against Israel, but the Arabs accepted the lesser censure when it became clear they did not have the council majority needed to pass a sanctions resolution. Muskie confirmed that the United

Midland Memorial Hospital District Trustees voted to recommend acceptance to the Board of Directors of the proposed nearly $15 million 1980-81 budget Wednesday when the trustees met in their regular monthly meeting.

The directors were to vote on the budget acceptance today at their 2 p.m. public meeting when they will also set the tax rate for the district.

The proposed money subsidized by taxes in the hospital budget represents only $2.06 million of the total $14.97 million for the new fiscal year which begins Oct. 1, 1980.

The tax money will go to capital improvements, paying off bonds and indigent care. All of the operational budget, with the exception of indigent care money, will be paid for from revenues produced from charges to

In addition, the finance committee asked trustees to recommend a rate increase for patients beginning Oct. 1. Trustees approved the request to increase daily rates for semi-private rooms from $90 to $94; critical care unit rooms from $205 to $255; and post critical care unit rooms from $140 to $175. No increase is planned for regular private rooms which will remain at $104 a day.

OVERALL INCREASES on services at MMH will average 12 percent, according to finance committee spokesman Doug Scharbauer.

Assistant Administrator of Finance Robert Abernethy said this is the first patient rate increase in nearly two years at the hospital. At that time, in late 1978, the hospital's rates increased $10 across the board.

The capital improvements budget for new and repaired equipment for the next fiscal year will cost taxpayers $755,800, according to the proposed budget. Debt retirement on improvement bonds will cost another $826,460 of the tax money. The rest of the tax money, $480,000, will go to indigent care costs.

The new budget is based on a patient load average of 130 a day. That average represents an increase of 10 patients a day since last year's budget and five patients a day from the average in recent months.

Abernethy told the board the budget would not precipitate an increase in tax dollars because of the increased revenue from the hospital's resources. He explained the increase in utilization of the hospital (the patient day increase) and the patient charge increases would yield the necessary revenue for the operational budget

ABERNETHY SAID the rate increases would still bring the hospital's rates within "75 percent of the state average," according to Blue Cross-Blue Shield who worked out the new rates with the finance commit-

"So we're not overly high in that regard," Abernethy told the trust-

"It's a realistic budget," Scharbauer added. "By no means is it perfect, but I don't think we'll run into the problems we've been having (with the current budget).' However, problems with the current budget continued last month, as the finance committee reported a $9, 322 deficit for the month. The budget ed deficit for the month of July had creased security on the ground is THE FINANCE committee broke down the bad debt figure into $73. ting on the plane," Hector Gonzalez, 366.44 for in-patient care and $13 360.84. However, when Trustee Marshals, told a news conference at garet Purvis asked how many patients the bad debt figure represented, neither Scharbauer nor Abernethy was able to answer.

> The trustees also approved the finance committee's recommendation to ask the directors to charge off an additional $333,421.63 in old debts

> The "special write off" was a result of a recommendation from the hospi tal's auditors for updating the hospital's accounts and streamlining the bad debt situation, according to Scharbauer. It covers accounts for which there has been no payment for 150 days and over as of July 31.

> Scharbauer said the back accounts amounted to some $500,000. But the finance committee had only reviewed some 1,782 of those accounts to be written off and transferred to the hospital's collection agency

> 'There are 66 pages here," Schar bauer told the trustees of the report the committee has been working on, "with 27 to 28 (accounts) a page." He said each account was costing the hospital "roughly 60 cents a month" to keep "on the books." Combined, that figure became "$1,100 a month just to keep them on the books," Scharbauer said.

> NEXT MONTH, he said, the finance committee would probably ask for the remaining $200,000 in old, no-payment accounts to be written off.

'I guess these are accounts,' Scharbauer explained, "that we have scrutinized and we've really been more conservative with than we should have been by keeping them on the books."

But, he added, "With what (accounts) we have left, we'll be able to run more smoothly

Scharbauer said the new procedure would be a continuing one in that 150-day-old no action accounts would be included in the monthly charge-

"Instead of the 80s and 90s (thousand dollar write offs a month), we're looking for $120-$130,000 a month,' Scharbauer told the trustees.

Scharbauer told the trustees the finance committee expected to have a written policy change for the new write off procedure by the next board meeting on Sept. 17. "We would like to see it implemented by Oct. 1, 1980," Scharbauer told the trustees.

MRS. PURVIS ASKED for a recommendation from the board to the committee to look into "preventive procedures" to minimize the increasing number of bad debts for the hospi-

Trustee Roy Campbell echoed Mrs. Purvis and furthered the recommendation to include that the committee 'set goals and report each month how we're doing.

The suggestion was unanimously accepted by the board.

Already the billing department has begun eliminating a backlog of accounts from its records. The hospital had been operating with a backlog of over a month when the Tribrook management consultant firm made its recommendations to the hospital

Scharbauer reported that the first bills were now going out to patients within 14 days of their discharge from the hospital. He said the average for payment of all bills to the hospital was within 82.9 days. For inpatient charges, patients' payment average is 68.2 days, he said.

The finance commmittee also revealed figures of 1979-1980 budget ommissions and excess expenses as of June 30, 1980. Abernethy, who gave the report, said the figures did not necessarily represent cost overruns, but rather it was a "list of expenses in major areas we were off.

TOTAL FIGURE for the budget variances was around $600,000, Abernethy told the board, but the committee reported on only $460,000.

GARDEN CITY - A 2-year-old Garden City girl drowned in a small backyard stock watering tank Wednesday near her parent's home eight miles west of Garden City.

Kari Kohls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kohls, was dead on arrival at Midland Memorial Hospital at 7:14 p.m. Norman Kohls is the County Agent for Glasscock County.

According to Glasscock County Sheriff Royce Pruitt, the little girl was discovered in the water by her sister at about 6:15 p.m. near the Kohl's home.

She was transported to Midland by emergency vehicle after attempts at the scene failed to revive the young-

Police are investigating a report by Yellow Cab Driver Michael Philpot concerning a rather unexpected melodrama early this morning at Midland Regional Airport.

Philpot said he had driven to the airport about 12:10 a.m. to pick up a passenger. When he arrived, he found the passenger talking to a United Cab driver, officers were told. Philpot got out to assist the passenger, who was blind, and the United Cab driver allegedly pulled a switchblade knife. According to reports, Philpot got his jack from the car to defend himself.

When the other cab driver saw the jack, he went back to his cab and took a handgun from the glove compartment of his car, Philpot told officers. The driver reportedly laid the gun on the roof of his cab.

Iranian 'quiet game'

The 52 American hostages in Iran today spent their 292nd day in captivity. Not much has changed; we folks back home still have no reason to be optimistic that they'll be coming home before long.

Last November when they were first taken hostage, and for the first few months immediately following that devious event, the newspapers were filled with stories concerning Iran, Tehran, the revolution, the Moslem religion and the fanatical Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. News of the events in that far corner of the world where our countrymen and women lived out their captive lives filled the radio and television airwaves, too.

Since that time we've read about the election of President Bani-Sadr, the formation of the new Iranian Parliament, the fiery tragedy that claimed eight American servicemen's lives in Iranian desert.

We have read about the release of Richard Queen, one of the hostages, and about the death of the former shah whose life and reign was the catalyst, apparently, for this desert saga.

For months now we've awaited action by Iran's parliament on the fates of the hostages. We've been told time and again they will be tried as spies. But nothing ever

Most recently news from Iran has become sketchier, less certain, muffled. It's almost as if the two nations were on different planets instead of different sides of the same planet.

There is no doubt that some of the quietness stems from the fact that Iran is attempting to deal with the severe internal problems that the revolution has spawned. And, of course, those problems are aggravated by the international problems that nation faces from almost every side.

The quiet, in a way, is a relief from the maniacal screechings and wailings of the ayatollah, his hatred for the United States displayed vividly.

But we are concerned about the 52 Americans still in Iran, held for nearly a year. Their captivity undoubtedly is beginning to take a toll on them mentally and physically.

Chances are not much of consequence will transpire prior to the Nov. 4 general election. Following that event, either President Carter or his opponent, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, will have to renew, with emphasis, the attempt to bring the Americans home.

In the meantime, we'll play this uneasy "quiet game" and hope for the best.

Television coverage of 'nothing' sparkled

NEW YORK - As a member of the print media, no one stands in as much awe as I do of the electronic media. It is not when they have a good story that they're at their best — it's when they have no story at all and have to stick with it that they really shine.

All three networks excelled last week at the Democratic convention. I guess the highlight was Wednesday evening. I was watching one of the major channels and there was absolutely nothing going on. The network team rose to the occasion.

'Let's go now to Tammy Dumbarton. Tammy, you had an earlier report that nothing was going to happen in the next hour. Can you confirm that for us?"

"Yes, Lester. I've been talking to the Rhode Island delegation and they have told me they don't plan to do anything."

"That's very interesting, Tammy, stay with it. Let's go to Carlton Finks who is talking to a lady delegate from Delaware."

"Lester, as you know, nothing has taken place here for the last two hours and with me now is Mrs. Cynthia Grogan, a Carter delegate from Delaware who says she has nothing to say. Mrs. Grogan, is this true?"

"That's correct. On behalf of the entire delegation from Delaware I have no news to report."

"I'm sorry, Carlton, I have to switch to the Waldorf where Temple Star has the latest news on what is going on at Kennedy headquarters."

"Lester, I'm standing in the empty lobby of the Waldorf Astoria and over to my right, out of camera range, is the cashier's window. Sen. Kennedy checked out of here sometime today. He came down the elevators and walked out the Park Avenue exit with his family and got into a car."

"What do you think it all means, Temp?'

"Lester, it's too early to say, but I've talked to one of the senator's campaign aides who was closeted in the suite and he said none of it means anything. I'm trying to get confirmation on this now.

"You do that, Temp, and we'll get back to you. Now let's go to Eldon Lloyd who has been standing out on Eighth Avenue and can give us an up-to-date report on the situation there."

"Lester, the traffic on Eighth Avenue is moving very well. Three buses have passed by in the last half-hour going north, and about six minutes ago I saw a 1961 Buick. You don't see many of those around any more. There is something going on in Pennsylvania Station. I believe an Amtrak train is running late, but none of the Amtrak people will talk about it."

"Eldon, will you hold off on that Amtrak report? We've had a bulletin that they've run out of coffee in the Garden concession stand just below us. Ron Peterson is trying to get over there now. Ron, can you get to the stand and check it out?"

"I'm working my way over now, Lester. As you can see, the floor is jammed with people. Okay, here I am. Sir, is it true your concession has run out of coffee?'

"Yes, we have. Hi, Mom and Dad and Danny and Eddie and Sue and the guys at Feagan's Bar." What do you plan to do about

"Nothing." "I guess that clinches it, Lester. It could be the biggest nothing story we've had so far.' 'It certainly could be. Well, as you have seen and heard, there is nothing going on here, and we'll stay with the story until its conclusion. In a moment we'll be back with latest coverage of the Democratic convention on our 72nd hour in captivity.'

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Invasion would start Soviet war drums

WASHINGTON - If President Carter should go ahead with his plan to invade Iran in October, he would risk war with the Soviet Union. There have already been ominous rumblings out of the Kremlin, warning of Soviet retaliation if Iran should be attacked. A Soviet-American clash over Iran, of course, could become the opening skirmish of World War III. This is the awesome danger that Carter is courting for the sake of hyping his political appeal on election eve. The president is not unaware of the danger. He has directed the intelliestimate of how the Kremlin will react to a limited invasion of Iran. The first concern, of course, is what the Soviets will do. But there could also be ugly repercussions in the Moslem world

The Defense Intelligence Agency has been ordered to "study and report on possible Soviet military reactions to various scenarios in which the United States forces have invaded Iran." The assignment of the Central Intelligence Ageny is to gauge the political fallout.

Military analysts are confident at least that the Iranians cannot stop a U.S. assault. A three-star general told me that Iran's armed forces are in a "state of chaos." The Soviets, however, have a powerful military jugger-naut in the Persian Gulf area.

This includes 10 warships and 16 support ships, with others on the way. Seven airborne divisions and several air mobile brigades can also be rushed to Iran.

Analysts have narrowed down the Soviet response to four options: (1) military intervention; (2) diplomatic opposition; (3) official indifference; or (4) clandestine cooperation. My associate Dale Van Atta has sounded out key sources in the intelligence community. Here's how they appraise the Soviet attitude: - The analysts agree that the Soviets would rather deal with Jimmy carter than the unyielding Ronald Reagan for the next four years. This has already been signaled through their faithful ally, Fidel Castro, who sent word by diplomatic channels that he won't do anything to embarrass Carter before November.

- To reduce the danger of a confrontation with the Soviet Union, Carter is expected to sound out the Kremlin in advance about his October plan. There is a distinct possibility that the Soviets would bring heavy pressure on the Iranians to release the American hostages in an attempt to avert a U.S. invasion.

- The Kremlin might even be inclined to cooperate behind the scenes to help free the hostages by military means. Sources say that the Soviet KGB knows the location of each hostage and might help a U.S. rescue force secure their release. This would hand Carter a dramatic coup just before Americans go to the polls. The grateful Carter, in turn, might lift the grain embargo, reactivate the SALT II treaty and give the Soviets access to more U.S. technology.

- There is another, more sinister scenario. Intelligence reports claim that the Soviets have their own designs on northern Iran. Working through the communist Tudeh party, they are maneuvering to gain control of the northern provinces. They might condone a limited U.S. invasion, in the south, therefore, if the United States will keep hands off the north. This could result in partitioning Iran into Soviet and American spheres of influence. The analysts, however, say such an under-the-table deal is unlike

But one thing is certain. The president would be foolhardy to go ahead with an October invasion of Iran unless he obtains a back-channel understanding with the Soviets.

Footnote: Half an hour after the U.S. rescue team crossed into Iranian airspace on their abortive April mission to free the hostages, the Soviets were alerted. A U.S. reconnaissance plane detected communications signals "consistent with the Russians being placed on alert." Later, President Carter put through a hot-line call to the Kremlin to explain the mis-

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., is not above using his chairmanship of the House Ways and Means Committee to help him in a tough re-election fight. When a subcommittee chairman proposed hearings on residential insulation in Portland, Ullman OK'd the trip with the "recommendation" that it include a day in Bend, the biggest city in the eastern part of Ullman's district. The testimony was all old stuff, but the hearing showed the home folks Ullman cares about them.

- Channel 6 on the House's closedcircuit TV is usually devoted to educational programs for congressional interns and other newcomers. But twice in one recent week, the in-House channel was showing a movie, 'Harry's War." It hasn't been released to the public yet, but has drawn a rave notice from one critic already. He's Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, who arranged the showing. 'Spectacular entertainment value!' Hansen enthused in a note to his colleagues. The movie exposes underhanded tactics of the Internal Revenue Service.

- Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., recently argued against a proposal by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., to extend Secret Service protection to presidential candidates' wives from the present two months before Election Day to four months. He complained that members of Congress can't get special protection, and said it would cost an extra $500,000 to give an additional two months' protection to Keke Anderson and Nancy Reagan. An aide to Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., was heard to observe, "If one of those two women get harmed, Chiles is going to feel like a Class-A

HEMISPHERE REPORT

Lopez Portillo's comments on Mexico started conversation

"We will put up with nothing that may be done to Cuba," Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo said, "because we would feel that it was being done to our very selves." With those words, Lopez Portillo concluded a brief speech, thanking

President Fidel Castro for presenting him the Cuban dictatorship's highest decoration, the Order of Jose Marti. And with those words, the Mexican president stirred a flurry of excited diplomatic speculation in the United States, in the Caribbean, Central America and, even, Mexico itself. Does he really believe that the United States has designs on Cuba? Lopez Portillo did not say. But Castro seems to think so. And, Latin American Marxists are direly predicting that the United States is going to take drastic action against some of the left-leaning regimes in the Caribbean or Central America in advance of the U.S. presidential elections Two days after Lopez Portiffe spoke, Castro addressed a mammoth demonstration in Havana in honor of the visiting Mexican president and suggested that Mexico had dissuaded the United States from taking action against Cuba earlier this year.

Castro noted that Lopez Portillo had made known his plans to visit Cuba while the United States was waging "a ferocious campaign of calumnies against our country."

As Castro explained it in April, when the first thousands of the latest Cuban refugees began clamoging to be allowed to leave Cuba, "along with the publicity campaigns (the United States) began rapidly to arrange threatening military maneuvers against Cuba, which included land-ings at the (U.S.) naval base at Guantanamo (on Cuba's southeastern

"Precisely in those very days, and three months before the visit, in an unquestionable gesture of friendship and solidarity with our fatherland, President Jose Lopez Portillo an-nounced his visit to our country,"

Castro said. Coincidence or not, the maneuvers were canceled. The United States said that they were put off so that U.S. naval vessels could help with the boat-lift that eventually carried some 130,000 more Cuban refugees to the United States.

Castro also recalled that that was not the first moral or material support he had received from Mexico.

In fact, Castro has been getting Mexican help for over 25 years now, since 1955 when, after President Fulgencio Batista released him and other political prisoners from jail, he went to Mexico and began organizing the revolutionary group that eventually carried him to power in 1959. The last of the three days he was in Cuba, Lopez Portillo was asked if he thought his words could affect relations between Mexico and the United States. He said he hoped not. But then he went on to say "I am going to repeat again what I said a moment ago: We cannot put up with any country being treated out of order, with violence, with arbitrariness. .. In any case, Lopez Portillo ended the press conference on a more posi-Asked if any possibility exists that Mexico might play a part in re-establishment of relations between Cuba and the United States, the Mexican president replied, "Nothing would be more pleasing for us than to be useful for that or for any other proposal for conciliation, for harmony, that tranquilizes the area. (But) we have not been asked. ... What does it all mean, thoughtful Latins are asking themselves. Some say Lopez Portillo's words were nothing more than a reaffirmation of Mexico's 20-year-old policy toward Others say that his statement was a sop tossed to Mexican leftists who, otherwise, might have been moved to protest the fact that Lopez Portillo had just visited Brazil, which is governed by an anti-Marxist military regime that has no relations with Cuba, and Venezuela, whose Christian Democrat government's relations with Cuba are strained.

During those visits, Mexico agreed to increase its petroleum sales to Brazil sharply, and reached an arrangement wth Venezuela under which the two countries will jointly supply oil to all of the Central American countries, including El Salvador, which appears to be the current prime Marxist target in the area. According to Lopez Portillo, Mexico has no plans to sell petroleum to Cuba, as Cuba's needs are met under its pacts with the Soviet Union.

The two plainclothes lawmen, Midland narcotics undercover officer Mike Mann and Deputy Constable Tom McGinnis, said they had driven to the Nichols residence just south of Midland to serve a search warrant. They were going to look for marijuana allegedly growing in a flower bed and to search for other "contraband."

Both officers said that they identified themselves as lawmen, but that Nichols slammed doors on them. Mann told the court he was attempting to serve the warrant at the front door, while McGinnis was at the back door to prevent anyone from leaving Mann testified that he verbally identified himself as a police officer to Nichols' wife, Beverly Ann, 32, and had displayed his badge, identification and the search warrant.

McGinnis, donned in Western attire and wearing a badge, said he identified himself to Nichols. McGinnis said that Mrs. Nichols seemed "upset" and that Nichols was almost hysterical after the lawmen entered the house, where they eventually wound up in a "stand-off" with Nichols who forced the lawmen to

The couple was arrested, jailed and charged later that day after police, sheriff's deputies, Texas Department of Public Safety troopers and a Texas Ranger converged on the Nichols place with firearms and tear gas. The couple surrendered without incident.

Both are charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. Penalty for each count of the offense is a two-to-10-year prison term and a fine not to exceed $5,000.

Penalty for possession of a sawed-off shotgun is a two-to-20-year term in the penitentiary and a fine not to exceed $10,000.

Nichols, unable to post a bail bond, has been held in custody since the night of May 27. His wife was released under a property bond about three weeks later.

Prosecuting the case are District Attorney Vern Martin and assistant district attorney Jim Rex. Lead defense counsel is Jimmie D. Oglesby, who is being assisted by Bill Ward.

Both the state and defense rested their case Tuesday after only two witnesses - Mann and McGinnis testified on behalf of the state. The defense offered no witnesses, as Nichols sat quietly thoughout the daylong testimony.

Late Tuesday and on Wednesday, the court's presiding judge, Vann Culp, and the attorneys prepared the charge to be presented to the jury following closing arguments today.

The case is being heard by a fourman, eight-woman jury.

Ronald C. Sprague, an accountant from Bakersfield, Calif., who went to Libya to negotiate a $500,000 loan for President Carter's brother, Billy, holds up a prospectus from the Libyab Arab Foreign Bank during testimony on Capitol Hill Wednesday. He testified that the Libyans never answered his request for the money, but when he questioned Billy Carter's partner, Randy Coleman, about the $200,000 check, Coleman told him "You weren't supposed to know." Billy Carter testifying at Senate hearing today

WASHINGTON (AP) - Billy Carter faces a Senate committee investigating his financial dealings with Libya and his claim that he hasn't 'done a damn thing wrong" or influenced U.S. policy toward the radical North African nation.

The president's brother was called to the witness table today to defend his claims of innocence and his contention that he was never a Libyan foreign agent, even though he has registered as an agent of the Arab country.

But Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the special Senate investigating subcommittee, said testimony Wednesday raises "a possibility" that the $220,000 Billy got from Libya was a fee, not the loan Billy Carter says it

And the Senate investigators still want to know whether Billy asked the White House about the C-130 cargo planes Libya bought but President Carter's administration won't release because Libya supports international terrorists.

The testimony Wednesday came from a financial consultant who said Billy Carter instructed him to press Libya for payment of a $500,000 loan after Carter had already received the $220,000.

The consultant, Ronald C. Sprague, testified that he assumes the $220,000 was part of the $500,000 loan but said, "I don't know if it was this loan or something else."

He told the senators that when he learned of the $220,000 for the first time from a newspaper story, "I was as surprised as you are."
Sprague said he called Billy Carter's associate, Henry "Randy" Coleman, to ask why he had not been told of the $220,000 and Coleman replied, "You weren't supposed to Sprague said he replied "fine" and did not ask why he was not supposed to know. He said Coleman "led me to believe it was part of the loan."

Billy Carter got $20,000 last Dec. 27 and $200,000 last April 7, both from the Libyan diplomatic mission in Wash-Sprague said Billy instructed him to cable the Libyan National Foreign Bank on April 7 that Carter accepted its terms for the $500,000 loan and to send telexes April 11, April 14 and May 2 pressing for payment.

"If I had known (about the $220, 000), the (May 2) telex would not have been sent," Sprague testified. "I sent it on Mr. Carter's instructions."

The Justice Department said in a civil suit filed July 14 that Libya paid Carter the $200,000 in return of his conducting "a propaganda campaign" for that country and for promoting its image in America.

The $220,000 was one of two known financial dealings Carter had with Libya. The other was his effort to broker Libyan crude oil to the Florida-based Charter Oil Co.

Linking the two deals, Sprague tes-tified that Carter had told him he planned to repay the $500,000 loan with his fee from the oil deal.

Lions hear violin maker

The "labor of love" of violin making was the program topic at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Downtown Lions Club in the Midland Center.

The speaker was Denver "Slim" Petit of Big Spring, the veteran "old master" violin maker, who is recognized as one of the three best craftsmen in his particular field in the United States. He was introduced by Lion Norman Henry, program chairman for August.

Petit, a native of Nolan County who was reared in the West Texas ranch country, started his talk by telling "why I am what I am." He told why he did not follow in his father's footsteps as a top horse wrangler and trainer, and why he eventually started building violins.

"I'm a 100 percent born and raised West Texan," he said, "but I was interested in being something other than a cowboy — something like building violins."

He told how he learned the art of violin making, and described the process followed, along with the precision handwork essential, in building violins. He said a person must work alone in violin making — "there is no other way." He added that one has to be a craftsman to make a violin, "but one must also have a bit of artistry in him" in order to be successful.

Petit, who has taught a course in violin making at Howard College at Big Spring, displayed one of his instruments, along with pieces of wood from which his violins are made. He also explained the difference between a violin and a fiddle.

He concluded his performance by playing two tunes on one of his most recently made instruments.

national convention a day after an appearance by Reagan, Carter also took issue with the former California governor's accusation that the United States has become No. 2 in military strength under his administration.

"It should be clear that our work to keep America the strongest nation in the world is not finished," the president said. "There are no laurels on which to rest, no victories that are final, no challenges that have disappeared."

But he added that a "firm and steady course of diplomacy and defense preparedness" is his administration's aim.

Making his first post-convention campaign trip, Carter received a warm handshake and friendly words from his defeated Democratic rival, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, upon arrival at Boston's Logan International Airport.

It was a notable contrast from the cool behavior Kennedy exhibited on the Democratic National Convention podium in New York a week ago after Carter accepted the party's renomination.

His hand outstretched, a big smile on his face, Kennedy clasped the president's hand and said enthusiastically, "Welcome to Boston!" And the senator predicted that Carter would defeat Reagan in the November elec-

Chun backed for presidential spot

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Military strongman Gen. Chun Doo-hwan, virtually certain to be named president of South Korea next week, won strong endorsement for the post today from the nation's top military leaders and former President Choi Kyu-hah.

At a commanders' meeting, all the nation's top military figures issued a statement saying, "We are all agreed that (Chun) is equipped with excellent qualifications, unequalled by others, not only as supreme commander of the armed forces but also the nation."

Choi's statement said only that "the new leader should have support of all the nation as well as the military, and Gen. Chun Doo-hwan has that."

Choi resigned last Saturday to pave the way for Chun to take over the presidency. Acting Prime Minister Park Choong-hoon took over as acting president, pending next Wednesday's meeting of the electoral college, which is expected to name Chun president.

Chun has virtually run the country since Dec. 12 when he led a brief military coup. He has been named chairman of the standing committee

ODESSA — Class schedules and registration forms for the fall semester at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin are now available in the admissions office.

About 250 classes are listed on the schedule. Registration is slated Sept. 2-3 in the student lounge at UTPB. Students may enroll from 9 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 7 p.m. each day. UTPB Director of Admissions Ro-

UTPB Director of Admissions Robert Warmann noted enrollment will be by individual time assignment. Registration materials will be mailed to students. If the materials have not been received by Friday, they may be picked up in the admissions office beginning Monday.

Enrollment at UTPB is open to students who have completed 60 hours of coursework at any accredited community college, senior college or university.

Warmann said prospective students should notify the registrars at their previous colleges to send official transcripts directly to the UTPB admissions office. An application should also be on file to avoid delays in the registration process.

egistration process. Students who are not pursuing a degree, but who are interested in taking courses for enjoyment or more information in a particular field should obtain special registration forms for the ENCORE program.

"ENCORE students, by law, must meet regular admissions requirements, but will not be required to take exams or complete outside assignments," he said.

Further information about registration is available from the admissions office at 367-2210.

Aziz Hamid, 47, his wife, five children and elderly mother escaped Afghanistan on foot, fleeing from the Soviet invaders he said accused him of spying for the United States.

'In this country there is freedom," said Hamid, whose dramatic escape began more than a year ago in Kabul.

"I wanted to come here because it is a land of opportunity," he said. Hamid and his family are the first Afghani refugees to seek political asylum in the Dallas area. Hamid said the Russian secret police tortured him for two hours each night after his January 1979 arrest by sending electrical charges through wires to his toes and legs. "They were asking if I was con-nected with the CIA," Hamid said. "It was nonsense ... the actual reason was my grandfather, on my mother's side, was related to the former king of Afghanistan, Mohammed Zahir-

After two weeks of interogations, the secret police released him with orders that he was to stay home and not work for any government or foreign agency, Hamid said.

He said the Russians also confiscated his family's large land holdings. "We had 700 acres of land in the eastern part of Afghanistan, a mill, tractors, a farm house," he said. "We didn't have any income to live on. At that time we decided to leave the country. My life was in danger. Secret police were watching me.'

The family decided to escape, and late one night walked to a bus stop one by one - since the Soviets do not allow more than two people to walk together on Kabul streets - and traveled to Galwalabad.

They hid two days and three nights in a house they owned before leaving with Afghani guides who were to take them through the mountains to the Pakistani border, Hamid said.

"We hired a bus to take us near a town close to the boundary," Hamid said, "but it broke down. So we started walking.'

Aided only by two donkeys - one for Hamid's 75-year-old mother and for him because his leg wounds had not healed — the family trudged over the mountains with little food and no extra clothes, he said.

The reached the border on May 4, 1979 and stayed in Peshawar two months while recovering from the journey. Then they went to Islamabad to seek visas and political asylum from the American consulate.

The family spent three and a half months in Islamabad and five and a half months in Frankfurt, West Germany, before receiving permission to enter the United States.

After Russian invaders jailed and tortured him and confiscated his large land holdings, Afghan Aziz Hamid led his family 150 miles over rugged mountains to escape his Soviet-occupied homeland and settle in the "land of opportunity." Hearings to determine Ford transmission defect

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Michael Cannon died at the hands of the Ford Motor Co. There's no alternative to hat conclusion.'

Fighting back tears, Edward Can-non spoke emotionally of the death of his infant son as he addressed a government hearing Wednesday. The hearing will determine if Ford must recall 16 million cars and trucks because of an alleged safety defect in automatic transmissions. Ford denies any defect exists.

The National Highway Traffic Safey Administration made an initial finding in June that there is a defect that permits the transmissions to slip accidentally from park into reverse.

NHTSA Administrator Joan Claybrook said this has resulted in runaway vehicles and that her agency has received more than 23,000 complaints, including reports of 6,000 accidents, 100 deaths and 1,710 injuries allegedly attributable to transmission

The company labeled as "sheer fantasy" the government contention that the transmissions have a defect. It said the accidents were caused by the failure of motorists to put gear shift levers in the park position, and that most of the incidents occurred after drivers left their cars unattended with the engine running.

Cannon, of Nashota, Wis., was among several witnesses who claimed problems with their Ford transmissions led to deaths or injuries. He told how his 15-month-old son Michael drowned last April 15 when his 1977 Thunderbird bolted? backward out of a driveway, across a grassy area and into a pond.

He said his wife had backed the car out of the garage and left the engine running as she left it to close the garage door. Before she could get back, he said, the vehicle, with Michael in a child's seat, slipped into reverse and backed away.

He said a coroner's jury disagreed

He said a coroner's jury disagreed with a Ford suggestion that the young boy might have moved the transmission lever. He said the jury found a major perpetrating cause of the accident was a faulty transmission design and Ford's failure to correct it.

"I implore this agency to render a judgment in his case that will prevent the deaths of future Michael Cannons." he concluded, looking directly at Ms. Claybrook. The agency expects to make a decision in about three

The NHTSA finding covers Ford cars and light trucks sold after August 1972 and manufactured before October 1979 with five types of automatic transmissions, designated C-3, C-4, C-6, FMX and JATCO.

Former Transportation Secretary William Coleman, now a Washington attorney, represented Ford at the hearing and said the company wel-comed the opportunity "to answer publicly the erroneous charges made against its transmissions.

"Ford's transmissions do not accidentally jump out of or slip out of park into reverse, and there is no evidence that they do," he said.

JIMMY'S WHITE HOUSE

Carter offers Mondale an unusual compliment

By MAUREEN SANTINI

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, normally lavish in his praise for Vice President Walter F. Mondale, recently seemed to be complimenting Mondale at his own expense

Speaking to the Democratic National Committee, Carter sounded as if he still believed himself to be an outsider, and therefore suspect, with mainstream Democrats.

Whenever a group of Democrats, who comprise the so-called Roosevelt coalition, have had doubts, sometimes legitimate doubts, about me, not knowing me very well before, they've always looked and said, 'Well, if we can't completely trust Jimmy Carter to do what we think is best for our constituency group, labor and educators and others, we can trust Fritz Mondale to make sure that our desires and our hopes and ambitions are not frustrated.

It was unusual to hear a president say his running mate was considered more trustworthy than he.

The White House roof over the press room has been leaking. The leaks were so bad that pails had to be set out to catch the water near the podium where Jody Powell holds his briefing.

The jury's out, and postal questionnaires will decide

By LINDEL HUTSON

NOBLESVILLE, Ind. (AP) - Circuit Judge Richard F. DeTar says the jury is still out in the case of three alleged burglars aged 8, 11 and 13.

How long it stays out depends on the postman. DeTar is handing out questionnaires in this community just north of Indianapolis asking how he should treat the three, who are charged with breaking into a discount store last week and stealing guns, knives, ammunition and camping equipment.

The questionnaire reads, in part: "If I had three sons, ages 13, 11 and 8, with no past history of serious trouble, and they burglarized a store of substantial merchandise, I would...

His question also has been published in some local newspapers and DeTar said this week suggestions range from "tough to lenient." The motivation was to get the people, the parents, to talking, thinking, worrying about the situation. I want the parents to know I've got to have help from them in dealing with these kids. "If they can't handle things, then there's not much chance the juvenile system can, either," DeTar said.

He said the three youths don't have a previous record, so they can't be sent to a juvenile detention center.

"This was bigger than something like stealing a bike, and we're getting more and more of it," he said. "The schools do a fine job, but when they reach the end of their line and there is nothing they can do they reject them. They expel them. That puts them out on the street.

"If parents are not capable of managing them, they end up here and I've got to do something. The buck stops here. I've got to find something to do DeTar, who says he is "about 65" and has three children, all grown, says that when he was a youngster his parents "knew exactly where I was when it got dark out. Today, many parents, when their kids come home with more money than they left with, don't even ask them, 'Where did you get the extra money?'

He said some people have suggested bringing the children into court and trying to impress them with the workings of the judicial system. "And a lot of people say take them to jail for a while. But these ages... I can't do that. I can take them on a tour, but it's not like being locked up for two or "For the older ones, if I can legally put them in for, say, 72 hours, the silence and the echoes and the smell and the whole thing makes them come out and say, 'Boy, I don't ever want any of that.' "It's a great deterrent. But these kids are too young. I couldn't do

DeTar is asking advice be sent to him at Hamilton Circuit Court, Hamilton County Courhouse, Noblesville, Ind. 46060.

No hearing date for the three children has been set.

"Looking for something good to read?

"Want to read about the world? Your own neighborhood? Sports? Movies? How about music, travel, economics-even the weather?

"Well, you don't need a shelf full of books to find all those good things.

"They're all right here in these pages, fresh every day in your local newspaper.

"I'm Ed Asner-and I think there's something for everyone in the newspaper. It's even got television listings—so you'll never miss the best shows—like 'Lou Grant.'"

Nine Soviet sailors killed

TOKYO (AP) - A Soviet nuclear submarine caught fire in international waters off Okinawa today and at least nine crewmen were killed and three injured, the Japanese Maritime Safety Agency

It warned ships and aircraft to stay clear of the area because of possible radioactive contamination, but first reports, from a patrol plane dispatched to the scene 84 miles east of Okinawa, said no sign of radiation was found. The fire occurred just before dawn. The submarine had radioed for help but crewmen apparently were able to get the situation under control fairly quick-

As the damaged submarine lay virtually dead in the water, in calm seas, -a Soviet ship arrived in response to an earlier call for assistance. The vessel, identified as the training ship Meridian, took about 20 crewmen off the sub.

A british tanker, the 48,000 tanker Gari, was first on the scene in response to distress calls from the sub and stood by throughout the day. A Japanese patrol boat also reached the scene but the submarine's captain refused to allow the Japanese aboard his Japanese and U.S. officials said they could not speculate on the purpose of the clothing or the apparent separation of the crew members. A U.S. Navy source said he knew of no type of similar apparel aboard U.S. nuclear subs.

Officials at the Maritime Safety Agency's headquarters in Okinawa said the submarine was a 1960s-vintage craft of the "Echo 1" class.

According to the British publication Jane's Fighting Ships, the sub originally was fitted with missiles but they were removed in recent years. The vessel normally carries a crew of about 100 and is based at the Soviet Siberian port of Vladivostok.

Maritime Safety officials said they learned of the casualties from intercepted radio traffic between the submarine and the Meridian.

It was the second fatal mishap involving Soviet military craft in the vicinity of Japan in two months. On June 27, a Soviet reconnaissance plane crashed in the Sea of Japan, apparently killing all aboard.

Ex-con claims knowledge of Wood assassins' identities

SAN ANTONIO, Texas Chagra had anything to said Riojas "concocted" (AP) - An ex-convict says hired gunmen from San Antonio shot and killed U.S. District Judge

John H. Wood. Sonny De La Fuente. who appeared Wednesday before a special federal grand jury investigating Wood's assassination, told reporters the grand jury is attempting to verify information given them by Robert F. "Comanche" Riojas, a convicted murderer and heroin dealer.

The special grand jury also continued its inquiry into the harboring of Las Vegas gambler Jimmy Chagra after he had jumped bond following his conviction on drug smuggling charges last

Two of Chagra's relatives, his brother, Joe Chagra, and Jimmy Chagra's father-in-law, Leon Nichols, appeared before the grand jury Wednes-

Riojas has told federal authorities that the men who shot Wood are from San Antonio, De La Fuente said. He said Riojas also said he talked with them shortly before the attempted assassination of Assistant U.S. Attorney James

World cotton prices expected to increase

DALLAS (AP) — A puny Texas cotton crop paired with voracious international demands for the popular cloth is expected to boost cotton prices world-wide, agricultural experts predict.

After enduring a summer-long drought, infestations of boll weevils and the fury of Hurricane Allen, Texas farmers lucky enough to harvest a crop will be compensated for their troubles by increased wholesale prices, experts said. Hurricane Allen swept across the Coastal Bend earlier this month, destroying half of the 20 to 25 percent of that area's crop that still remained in the fields, Carl Anderson, economist at Texas A&M University, said Tuesday. The drought reduced yields from 389 pounds of cotton an acre last year to 308 pounds this year. Texas produces a third of the nation's cotton and brought in a bumper crop of 5.5 million bales last year. This year's crop dropped by more than

"Decreased supplies mean higher prices," said Rick Henderson of the Texas Department of Agriculture. "One economist is predicting 90-centa-pound cotton in the next three to four weeks."

Raw cotton sold for about 60 cents a pound last year. This week, prices are 75 to 80 cents a pound, Anderson said.

The shortage "is almost bound to have an effect on the price of manufactured goods. But I'd hate to put a dollar value on it, especially this early in the season," Henderson said.

The higher price of raw cotton "definitely has an increasing impact on the retail price," Anderson said. But he added the cost of services used in turning raw cotton into something usable also increased retail costs. "If you're looking for the real culprit it's inflation associated with energy, transportation costs, interest rates and all the other costs of doing business that are directly tied to our overall inflation-prone

While some farmers won't make the economic cut, the experts predicted those who do will plant cotton again next year.

The United States expects to export 9 million bales of cotton during the current marketing year, about twice what Texas will produce. Cotton represents about 10 percent of U.S. agricultural exports.

Soviet grain embargo defended

Bergland insists the move has hurt the Russians

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite heavy criticism from farm states, the Carter administration on Wednesday defended its embargo on grain exports to the Soviet Union.

Under Secretary of State Richard N. Cooper said the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan made it "inappropriate to maintain business as usual" on grain exports to Russia.

Cooper and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland insisted that the embargo has hurt the Soviets by reducing meat supplies.

"The availability of meat is a very sensitive internal issue in the USSR and is considered by Soviet consumers to be one of the most important measuring sticks in gauging improvements in their standard of living." Cooper told the Senate Banking Com-

"Reports have been growing of severe meat and dairy product shortages. News reports attributed work stoppages in May at auto and truck plants in the Soviet Union to food shortages," he said. Bergland also disputed claims by grain and corn producers that the embargo has seriously hurt U.S. farmers. "The net impact of the embargo on the U.S. farm and food sectors was relatively small, substantially smaller than previous and subsequent domestic crop supply and demand developments," he said.

Bergland said President Carter's Jan. 4 decision to embargo the sale of 17 million metric tons of grain to the Soviet Union in response to its military intervention in Afghanistan was "a hard one."

"Yet, we cannot say that (U.S.) agricultural producers would have been better off in the long run if the president had not acted as he did. Our farm exports will far exceed any prior years' records and will approach $40 billion in value this fiscal year," the secretary testified.

However, farm state senators continued to call the embargo a failure and to urge Carter to reverse him-

Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., said, "A grain embargo could never punish the Soviet economy as much as it does ours because of the many nations willing to step in to export their grain to Moscow to make up the short-

Sens. Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., and John Tower, R-Texas, made similar statements. Legislation by Dole to overrule Carter's embargo decision has 21 co-sponsors, but advocates say that passage is not possible this

Representatives of corn and wheat producers told the committee Tuesday that they have been hurt deeply by the embargo.

Committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., the only senator to defend the embargo in two days of hearings, said wheat and corn prices were higher on July 31 than the day before the embargo. He said the reasons for lower farm prices were this year's drought and other fac-

At the Agriculture Department, meanwhile, a new report said U.S. farm exports now are expected to be a record value of $40 billion in the fiscal year that will end on Sept. 30, a 25 percent gain from 1978-79.

The new estimate also is $2 billion more than Agriculture Department officials had predicted in May, due to an increased tonnage being shipped to foreign buyers and also because of higher prices for some commodities.

White House press secretary Jody Powell, noting the report, said agricultural exports showed the largest one-year gain in history.

However, he acknowledged farm profits will probably be down this year. "What this makes clear is that (decreased farm profits) is not a result of the embargo."

Record farm exports expected

WASHINGTON (AP) - Farm exports, led by massive shipments of grain and soybeans, are expected to be worth a record of $40 billion this fiscal year, a 25 percent jump from $32 billion in 1978-79.

Further, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday, exports in the new year that will begin on Oct. 1 may reach $40 billion to $45 billion.

For 11 consecutive years, farm exports have set annual records and have provided ample margins between those and imports of agricultural products.

This year's imports, as an example, are expected to be valued at about $17.5 billion, meaning an agricultural trade balance of around $22.5 billion. That would be a 42 percent increase from $15.8 billion in 1978-79.

In its previous forecast issued in May, the agency said 1979-80 exports were expected to be worth about $38 billion. Higher prices for some commodities and an increase in tonnage accounted for the $2 billion boost.

were projected at $18.7 billion, pointing to a trade balance of $19.3 bil-

Dewain Rahe of the department's Economics, Statistics and Coopera-

sion in import values was due mainly to "less sugar being imported than we were anticipating" last May.

Looking at export possibilities in 1980-81, analysts said a number of factors will bear on the situation in the coming year: -Weather developments that will heavily influence not only the northern hemisphere crops that are now maturing but also the yet-unplanted crops in the southern hemisphere.

-Reduced supplies of grain available for export in some other major exporting countries, including Canada, Argentina and Australia.

-A 1 to 2 percent increase in livestock production among countries that buy U.S. feed grains, requiring them to import larger quantities. -Slow economic growth in most major foreign markets that may limit their growth in demand for U.S. commodities for most of 1980-81. -Relatively little growth in agri-cultural production in the lower-income developing countries. Also, the report noted, prospects for U.S. harvests this year of cotton, corn and other feed grains have declined sharply because of drought from 1979 levels, pointing to "relatively tight"

162.1 million metric tons, up 18 percent from 137.5 million shipped to foreign buyers in 1978-79. In May, the forecast was 158.4 million metric

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and, as an example, is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 36.7 bushels of wheat or soybeans.

Officials noted a "continued record pace of grain, soybean and cotton shipments" this summer and prospects of those continuing for the balance of the 1979-80 fiscal year.

Grain and feed exports were estimated at a value of $18.3 billion this year, making up about 46 percent of the $40 billion total. Oilseeds and oilseed products were listed at $9.9 bil-

On a volume basis, wheat exports were shown at 36.7 million metric tons; feed grains, 71 million; and soybeans, 23.1 million. Collectively, those accounted for 80 percent of the total export tonnage.

The report was a brief summary of a larger one scheduled to be released later this month. It did not include a breakdown of exports by countries of

Cable TV industry pledges battle against piracy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cable television customers who use "black box" decoders to get pay-TV signals they are not entitled to could be prosecuted, an industry spokesman says.

Rinaldo S. Brutoco, chairman of the Subscription Television Association, said Wednesday at a news conference that his group was campaigning against the bootleg decoders.

'We will annihilate the pirates," Brutoco said. The news conference followed a ruling by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati banning the sale of decoders while litigation against three manufacturers of the devices continued.

Chartwell Communications Group and National Subscription Television-Detroit, two pay-TV concerns, have sued the manufacturers, Pony Electronics, Video Vend and Signals and Systems Inc.

The appeals court action overturned a ruling in Detroit by U.S. District Judge Robert DeMascio, who refused on Aug. 14 to issue an injunction against the manufacturers.

Refugees file suit against welfare agency

CHICAGO (AP) — A class action suit has been filed against the Illinois Department of Public Aid by four Cuban refugees who say the state agency wrongly denied them welfare benefits.

The men, who say they came to the United States in April to escape political repression in Cuba, have charged the department with changing state regulations in July to bar them from seeking funds under various assistance programs.

The suit was filed Wednesday in U.S. District

Mark Weber, a lawyer for the men, asked for a court order requiring the state agency to rescind the new regulations, allowing the Cuban refugees to become eligible for assistance.

But state officials contend the Cubans should receive cash assistance from the federal govern-ment under the Refugee Act of 1980. "We're trying to force the federal government to face up to its responsibility," said Laurel Loughnane, a spokeswoman for the state agency.

The rule change limited participation in the assistance programs to U.S. citizens, aliens admitted for permanent residence or aliens specially designated under the Refugee Act.

Since the status of the refugees is pending, they are not eligible for assistance, Ms. Loughnane said Wednesday.

The suit contends the state regulation violates international refugee treaties, the Refugee Act of 1980 and the refugees' rights to equal protec-

The men who filed the suit were identified as Guillermo Torres, 27; Gilberto Vincent-Castillo, 25; Daniel Kyle, 35, and Cristobal Ruffin-Cardenas, 23. The four were surviving through odd jobs and charity, Weber said.

The trial is being watched closely by other cities, especially New York, Newark, N.J., Philadelphia and Chicago, which have filed simflar lawsuits.

"If an adjustment were made, the undercount figures used for congressional districting and financial allocations would be much more equitable," Hill said.

He estimated an undercount of 67,000 people in Detroit's 1970 census meant a loss of $52 million in federal aid over the past 10 years.

Federal aid and congressional representation are based on census figures. Studies show that blacks are undercounted at the rate four times higher than whites. More than 60 percent of Detroit's 1.5 million people are black.

Poor distribution of census forms, defective or non-existing mailboxes and inadequate numbers of centers to help citizens with forms contribute to the undercount of blacks and other minorities, Hill said.

Baltimore challenging its census

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three U.S. Census Bureau offices must remain open while city officials finish counting heads they say were missed by federal counters, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Judge Joseph H. Young said Wednesday the city had proved "a need for relief," but he granted the federal government's request for a full hearing Aug. 29.

City officials claim federal workers missed "substantial numbers of the city's inhabitants' and had "substantially undercounted the city's population."
The census offices had planned to finish taking queries on Wednesday and wrap up all business next week.

Young ordered the offices to accept queries until Sept. 6 and not to close before Sept. 22. Both dates, however, are contingent on the results of next week's full hearing. The U.S. Census Bureau says Baltimore's population stands at 737,-557, but city officials believe the figure should be closer to 810,000.

The difference between the two figures could cost the city "mil-lions of dollars" in federal aid, the city says.

Nuclear leak is reported

LUSBY, Md. (AP) - A leak of radioactive air was reported Wednesday at the Calvert Cliffs nuplear power plant here.

The air apparently leaked Wednesday from a line running between the No. 1 reactor containment building and an auxiliary building, ac-cording to John Metzger, a spokesman for Baltimore Gas & Electric. Metzger said the accident resulted in the release of one-five hundredth of a millirem of radiation, about the dosage a person would receive from natural sources after being outside for 20 minutes.

apportion the 435 House seats among districts of almost equal size.

The Constitution orders a census of all "persons" in the country every 10 years and the Census Bureau this year tried to count the estimated 20 million illegal aliens in the nation.

The vote Wednesday was on an amendment by Rep. Joseph M. McDade, R-Pa., to a $9.7 billion appropriation bill for the Treasury Department and dozens of other agencies. The bill was passed 253-

"I am concerned that the Census Bureau is factoring 20 million aliens into the congressonal reapportionment," McDade said. An opponent, Rep. James A. Courter, R-N.J., said the amendment would mean a recount of the census with new questions. "We should use the information we have," he said.

Rep. Robert Garcia, D-N.Y., said it would delay reapportionment past the 1982 election and probably longer. The 1980 census has cost about $1 billion.

What's cooking?

Mrs. John Moseley's recipe for Heavenly Pie really does sound heavenly.

An active member of the community, she is past president of Petroleum Engineers' Wives; a member of the Midland Women's Tennis Association and the Midland Writer's Association.

She is also active in the United Methodist Women group at St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

Her family is composed of husband John, a reservoir engineer with MGF Oil Co.; Pam, 19, a sophomore at The University of Texas at Austin; and Karen, 17, a senior at Lee High School.

Her favorite sideline is writing. She has had a variety of poems and articles published in magazines and other publications. She is a former faculty member of the English Dept. at Midland College.

Her recipe for Heavenly Pie follows:

1 can sour pitted cherries, drained

HEAVENLY PIE

1 can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk 1/2 cup lemon juice 8 oz. Cool Whip 1/2 to 1 cup pecans

Add ingredients in the order they are listed; pour into two 8" graham cracker crusts. Chill for several hours.

"The original recipe calls for the juice from fresh lemons and 1/2 pint of fresh whipping cream," says Mrs. Moseley. "By substituting the juice from concentrate and the non-dairy whipped topping, I can keep all the ingredients on the shelf or in the freezer."

"These two products were not available 20 years ago when I got this recipe from Gail Wylie, a friend in Hobbs, N.M.," she adds.

Readers ask about vitamins

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY Registered Dietitian Copley News Service

Dear Readers:

Here is a letter that asks many questions that a lot of people may also be asking. I hope the answers will help you. Dear Shirley:

I hope you will help me with my vitamin supplements. I don't know which ones to take.

1. How much vitamin C should I take? Will it keep me from catching colds?

2. What about vitamin E? Do I need it, if so, how much?
3. Is it necessary to take bone meal for extra calcium?

4. Should I take multiple vitamins, or just the B complex?

5. Is it wise for me to add extra zinc to my diet?6. Is it necessary for me to take lecithin?

7. How much iron do I need?
Should I take more?

I know I am asking a lot of questions, but I really need to know the answers. I don't want to be deficient in my diet. Thank you. --Kathy from Los Angeles

Dear Kathy: Thank you for your letter. To answer your questions, let's take one at

1. The RDA (Recommended Dietary Allowance) for vitamin C is 60 mg, up last year from 45 mg.

mg. up last year from 45 mg.

About 20 percent of the population seem to get at least some help in warding off colds. The other 80 percent of the population report no improvements. You can easily get enough vitamin C by eating an orange or two.

Women on the pill need more, and tetracycline, aspirin and alcohol also increase the need. I do not suggest enormous doses because of the many and dangerous side effects of overdoses. Heartburn and diarrhea can occur, and some people have developed kidney stones from excessive doses. It also increases the need for vitamin B12, the anti pernicious-anemia vitamin.

Sometimes when the high doses are suddenly stopped, symptoms of scurvy appear. Muscle and joint pain, irritability, bleeding gums and weakness, although it may take months for these things to appear.

If you must take vitamin C, keep it under 500 mg. per day.

2. Vitamin E occurs naturally in wheat germ, egg yolks, liver, brown rice, and polyunsaturated oils.

A diet high in polyunsaturates increases the need far more vitamin E, but they also provide it in the polyunsaturated oils. There is no need to take huge amounts. You can take up to 400 I.U.'s per day. If you live in a highly polluted area, it may help a little.

 It is not necessary to take bone meal to get calcium. I do not recommend it. Sometimes it contains too much lead.

Drink more milk and use more dairy products, and you will get enough calcium. Green leafy vegetables and fish with soft bones are very high in calcium.

You need 800 mgs. each of calcium and phosphorous per day. They usually appear together in most cases.

Stress increases the need for calcium, and some people notice a calming effect when extra calcium is taken.

4. Women on the pill need more vitamin B6, folic acid, and riboflavin. Alcoholics and people on poor diets need more of the B complex

People's needs vary. You can take a multi-vitamin pill, but be sure that the quantities of vitamins A and D are not excessive — 5,000 I.U.'s for vitamin A, and 400 I.U.'s for vitamin D.

5. You do not need to add extra zinc to your diet unless prescribed. The RDA is 15 mg. Zinc aids in protein metabolism and wound healing, but only very small amounts are needed.

 Lecithin is not necessary to take in large quantities. It may possibly aid fat digestion, or in gallstone problems but it does not lower cholesterol, for which it was highly touted.

You get it in foods, so taking extra amounts is expensive, and unnecessary.

7. You need 18 mg. of iron daily, and it may be advisableto take a small supplement. It is hard to get it all in your diet. Don't take more than you need, because it can be toxic.

Bake Zucchini Brunch Bread

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

Some years ago an unsung cook thought of shredding zucchini and adding it to a sweet quick bread. Since then, various versions of the original zucchini bread have appeared. But when, a short time ago, I came on a recipe for zucchini bread new to me, I couldn't resist testing it. It calls for both nutritious bananas and oats. Good to serve at a weekend brunch.

ZUCCHINI BANANA BRUNCH BREAD

11/2 cups all-purpose flour

3 tsps. baking powder 1 tsp. salt

34 tsp. cinnamon 1 cup regular rolled oats

2 fairly large ripe bananas % cup sugar

3 cup vegetable oil 2 large eggs

1 zucchini (about ¼ pound), un-pared and shredded medium-fine (¾ cup slightly packed down)

1/2 cup chopped (fairly fine) wal-

On wax paper or brown paper stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon; stir in the oats. Into a medium bowl slice the bananas; with an electric beater on high eed, beat until finely mashed there should be 1 cup. Add the sugar and oil; at high speed beat to blend; add the eggs, one at a time, beating until blended each time. Add the flour mixture; at lowest speed, beat only until the dry ingredients are moistened. With a rubber spatula, fold in the zucchini and walnuts. Turn into an oiled and floured 9 by 9 by 13/4-inch cake pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean - 40 minutes. Cut in squares in pan, remove and serve warm with butter. If desired, loosen edges and turn out on a wire rack before cutting.

Pineapple, ice cream make frozen treat

All the delicious elements of a fountain special are combined with a favorite fruit concentrate to make this frozen treat-on-a-stick.

"Frozen Sodas-on-a-Stick" are easy to make and keep on hand for warm weather snacks to delight youngsters, especially after school. Just beat half a pint of ice cream with undiluted fruit punch concentrate. Then stir in a little water, undrained canned crushed pineapple and creme soda. Divide the remainder of the ice cream into paper cups and ladle in the pineapple mixture. Set a popsickle stick in center of each and freeze firm. Kids love them!

"Frozen Sundaes on-a-Stick" make another simple treat for the young crowd to enjoy. Spoon ice cream into paper cups, top with drained canned crushed pineapple and a little jam. Cover with ice cream, insert a popsickle stick and freeze.

FROZEN SODAS ON-A-STICK

- 1 pint firm vanilla ice cream
- 1 (6 oz) can fruit concentrate 1 (6 oz) juice can water (3/4 cup) 1 (1 lb. 4 oz) can crushed pineapple
- in juice or syrup 1 (12 oz) can chilled creme soda 12 (5 oz) paper cups 12 popsicle sticks.

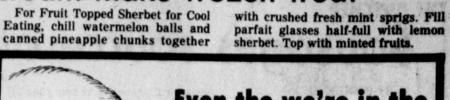

Beat half the ice cream with undiluted tropical punch concentrate until. smooth in chilled mixing bowl. Stir in water, undrained pineapple and creme soda. Cut remaining ice cream into chunks. Divide among 12 (5 oz) paper cups. Ladle in pineapple mixture. Place a popsicle stick in center of each, and freeze firm. Makes 12 (5 oz) frozen sodas.

For Frozen Sundaes-on-a-Stick, drain 1 (81/4 oz) can crushed pineapple well, pressing with back of spoon. Spoon 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream into 6 (5 oz) paper cups. Top each with drained pineapple and 1 tsp. jam. Cover each sundae with vanilla ice cream, using ½ pint. Insert popsicle stick in center of each cup and freeze firm. Makes 6 frozen sundaes.

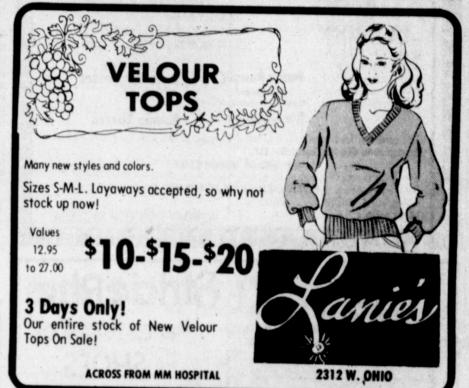

Some fun desserts to make with pineapple include Cool and Easy Dessert. Mix an undrained (1 lb. 4 oz) can of crushed pineapple with a pint of vanilla ice cream. Add a little flaked coconut and 2 tbsps. white creme de menthe. Freeze semi-soft, then pile into chilled sherbet dishes.

Chocolate lovers don't mind cost

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Bet you can't eat just one!

The chocolates at Mme. Larcele are imported from Belgium, Switzerland, France, Germany, Italy and Canada, and most sell for $14 to $16 a pound. Cream-filled French truffles cost as much as $20 a pound. There are also

U.S. chocolates for $8 a pound. But shop owner Ellie Larson says the price doesn't seem to deter customers, who spend an average of $200 to $300 daily in the store, and a lot more on weekends.

Mrs. Larson opened the shop in the St. Anthony Main development in August 1979 after spending five years teaching communications and writing to high-school seniors

'My husband and I came to St. Anthony Main for dinner one night. We had been looking around and thinking of maybe starting a business. When we came in here, we decided if we were going to do something, maybe this was the place to do it," Mrs. Larson said. St. Anthony Main is a complex of restaurants and unusual shops housed in several rejuvenated late-19th-century warehouses and factories on the Mississippi River near downtown Minneapolis.

Once Mrs. Larson and her husband, George, who is also a teacher, had chosen the location for their business, they had to decide what kind of business they wanted.

"We decided to look around and find something that wasn't available in Minneapolis," Mrs. Larson said. "I'd been interested in chocolate for a had owned a candy store before automatic candy machines ended their

Then came the job of deciding what chcolates to sell.

"I tried literally hundreds of different chocolates before deciding on the lines I wanted to carry," said Mrs. Larson, who traveled to the Eastern states and got samples by mail from all over Europe

"I based my selection totally on personal taste and the tradition behind the company," she added. "We're always searching and constantly changing and upgrading our

That line includes chocolates from two Belgian candymakers that are available only through two other outlets in the United States, Mrs. Larson

Mrs. Larson says she manages to keep costs down somewhat by doing all her own importing and not using middlemen. Special air space is reserved for the chocolate shipments, which usually arrive in Minneapolis 12 to 14 hours after they leave Brussels, Belgium.

"Many people said we were nuts that Minneapolis would never go for paying $14 to $16 a pound for chocolates. But people have been very eager to do business. And we do have some pieces for as little as 15 cents

Sausages source of good, nutritious and inexpensive meals

By MERLE ELLIS

Sausage of all kinds are frequently verlooked as a source of good, nutritious and inexpensive meals in this country - not so in the rest of the world. In Italian cuisine, for example, much use is made of sausage; not only as a meat item to be enjoyed as a main course, but as a flavor-enhancing addition to all manner of soups and casseroles. A couple of pounds of Italian sausage can be made to feed 10 or 12 hungry people, and that's pretty inexpensive eating in today's Mix the seasonings and sprinkle over the cubes of meat. Toss well. Sprinkle on the wine and toss again. Set in freezer to chill well before grinding. The meat grinds much better if it is well-chilled.

Rinse the hog casings in cool running water to remove the salt. Then soak them for a half hour or so in clear water with a little vinegar

For stuffing the links, you will need some type of "stuffer." There are several inexpensive hints for meat grinders (either hand or electric) that make the job a snap.

To stuff the casings, tie one end securely, fit the open end over the nozzle of the stuffer and pull the casing over the nozzle until you have reached the tied end. Poke a hole in the end of the casing with a needle to allow air to escape as you stuff the meat into the casings.

With the stuffing tube that fits on the front of the meat grinder, the meat is ground and stuffed at the same time; with the hand stuffing the tube, the meat must be ground first and then stuffed into the casings. Either way, the process is easy and the results will make some marvelous

She takes pride in the fact that she has always arrived on the party scene at the time her client and she agreed on.

Mrs. Rhymes started catering 15 years ago, after her husband had a heart attack and had to slow down. She has never had to do any commercial advertising. The first party she catered was so successful that it led to others; from then on her business grew.

he was receiving FBI pay. Weinberg is credited with developing Abscam, which stands for Arab scam. During the investigation, FBI agents posed as representatives of a fictitious Arab shelk to seek help from elected

The 55-year-old convicted swindler testified for the government in the trial of Myers, Philadelphia City Councilman Louis Johanson, Philadelphia lawyer Howard Criden and Angelo Errichetti, mayor of Camden, N.J. The four are accused of sharing $50,000 in return for Myers' assisting a fictitious sheik on immigration matters. They acknowledge taking the money but deny any criminal intent.

Under questioning by Richard Ben-Veniste, Cri-den's lawyer, Weinberg said he:

Ex-convict expects to get death sentence

DALLAS (AP) - An ex-convict was charged with capital murder in the brutal rape and strangulation of a 14-year-old girl, and said he expects the death penalty if convicted.

"I expect to get the death penalty since it's my second murder charge," Terry N. Turner said from his jail cell where he was being held without bond today. "If I can hurt someone with these hands, I deserve to be dead. I'm not upset about dying."

Tonna Longan's mutilated and partially nude body was found in a northwest Dallas back yard Sunday. Police said she had been raped, beaten and stran-

Turner, 25, said Monday he had been drinking and 'shooting up" drugs, and didn't remember anything.

Turner was released from the Texas Department of Corrections' Huntsville prison July 11 after serving four years of an eight-year sentence in connection with the aggravated rape and murder of 51year-old Opal Hughes in May 1976.

While police records show a rape charge was dismissed and replaced by a murder charge, district attorney's records show he pleaded guilty to both charges. TDC records show he was convicted of murder only.

Turner previously served time at TDC for marijuana possession.

When Turner was released from TDC after four years because of time off for good behavior, his mother, Mrs. Charles W. Turner, said she pleaded with authorities not to release him from prison. "I told them not to let him out because they were

Fishermen catch great white shark alive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A great white shark caught by fishermen in Bodega Bay is swimming at Steinhart Aquarium here, where officials hope to make it the first of its kind to survive in captivity.

"She's in great shape," said Steinhart Director John McCosker. "The fishermen have gingerly han-dled her. This is the best chance we've had to keep a great white alive." The female shark, which is 6 to 7 feet long and weighs 300 to 400 pounds, was put in specially designed tank 66 feet in diameter. Divers were swimming with the fish in an effort to get it used to the tank and the water, McCosker said. The shark was captured Tuesday in flounder nets by fisherman Al Wilson and his commercial crew. Wilson later put a rope on the shark, lashed it to his boat and brought it to shore in Bodega Bay, about 40 miles north of San Francisco.

Great whites cannot pump water over their gills as most fish can and therefore, must keep swimming constantly to force water through their mouths and over their gills to get the oxygen needed for life, aquarium officials said.

Because the movement is necessary, great whites are hard to keep alive once they are captured, officials said. The Steinhart got a great white last year, but the shark survived only a few hours before SPECIAL PRICES IN THIS AD GOOD THRU SATURDAY. AUGUST 23rd!

School probes cloning accident

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — University of California officials, concerned at the possible loss of federal funds, hope to complete an investigation of the accidental cloning of insect viruses in the lab of virologist Samuel Ian Kennedy by early next

A seven-member biosafety committee comprised A seven-member biosafety committee comprised of citizens and university staff members also is investigating why four of Kennedy's post-graduate students resigned in protest from the cloning project at the San Diego campus, officials said Tuesday. Unless the committee's report satisfies the National Institutes of Health that top security is being provided in the recombinant DNA research project, millions of dollars in federal funds for research could millions of dollars in federal funds for research could be in jeopardy.

"It's difficult to know what the public reaction might be," said Deborah Spector, a virologist who shares Kennedy's lab. "But we know from past experience that it's an extremely delicate public issue with respect to DNA research.

In essence, recombinant DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) involves transferring genetic material from one organism to another to create new life forms. DNA molecules contain genetic information which allows hereditary characteristics to pass from gen eration to generation.

Dr. Bernard Talbot, special assistant to director Donald S. Frederickson of the National Institutes of Health, said NIH investigators will be sent to Sen Diego if the report is inadequate. Kennedy's research project has received $60,000 from the agen-

Meanwhile, campus police said they are questioning several witnesses to the Aug. 9 theft of a bottle of rabies vaccine from the same laboratory in which the faulty viral cloning experiments were conduct-

A man who called reporters to say he took the rabies bottle, later found unopened, said he thought he was taking cloning material from Kennedy. At the time, Kennedy was already under investigation for possible violations of federal safety guidelines for recombinant DNA research.

The 37-year-old Scottish-born virologist claims somebody may have been trying for months to sabotage his work. Last October, he said he discovered the sindbis and semliki viruses in his lab had been mixed up while in storage.

A series of thre tening telephone child were made to his home before he accidentally chined a semliki forest virus instead of the less restricted sinbis while trying to produce an anti-installation. trying to produce an anti-viral gene, Cennedy said. Cloning a sen liki virus was prohibited under federal standards at that time but these restrictions were lifted later. His experiments were ordered halted after his graduate students went to Kennedy's department chairman.

There was no public word about their complaints. After the rabies virus was taken the locks on the DNA laboratory were changed and guards posted from 7 p.m to 8 a.m.

Although campus police said they have a tape recording of the man's voice claiming to have taken the rabies virus to "stop the experiments," no arrest has been made.

Among those on the biosafety committe are Dr. Donald Ramras, public health officer for San Diego County; Dr. Albert Johnson, a vice president of San Diego State University, and five others.

Kennedy is staying home for now to "catch up on paperwork."

SAT: to prepare or not to prepare?

NEW YORK (AP) - To prepare or not to prepare? That is the question more than a million high school seniors planning to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test for college admission will be asking this fall and

The SAT is one of two college admissions tests offered nationally. The other is the American College Testing Program. Different colleges have different requirements and some will accept scores from either exam.

How important are these tests? According to a major national survey of college admissions practices and policies conducted by the College Board and the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, test scores, while important, are not by any means the sole determining factor in admission decisions.

The survey showed that high school performance is the most important factor in the admissions process. Test scores, according to the survey, are used as a supplement to the high school record, to determine if students need special assistance in completing their college program, and, along with other data, to provide a profile of the school's student

Still, many schools, parents, and students are concerned about whether or not, and how, to prepare for the tests. For the SAT, the College Board offers the following advice to students who are planning to take the test:

— The SAT measures developed verbal and mathematical reasoning abilities that are involved in successful academic work in college; it is not a test of some inborn and unchanging capacity. Scores on the SAT are subject to improvement as educational experience, both in and out of schools, causes these verbal and mathematical abilities to — Development of these abilities is related to the time and effort spent; short-term drill and cramming are likely to have little effect; longer-term preparation that develops skills and abilities can have greater effect.

 While drill and practice on test questions generally result in little effect on test scores, preparation of this kind can familiarize students with different question types and may help to reduce anxiety about what to expect. Students can become more familiar with the test by using the explanations and full test in "Taking the SAT" which is given to them when they register for the test.

— Whether longer preparation, apart from that available to students within their regular high school courses, is worth the time, effort, and money is a decision students and parents must make for themselves; results seem to vary considerably from program to program and for each person within any one program.

Studies of special preparation programs carried on in many high schools show various results averaging about 10 points for the verbal sec-tion and 15 points for the mathematical over and above the average increase that would otherwise be expected from intellectual growth and practice.

In other programs, results have ranged from virtually no improvement in scores to average gains as high as 25-30 points for particular groups of students or particular programs. Recent studies of commercial coaching have shown a similar range

Students should satisfy themselves that the results of a special program or course are likely to make a difference in relation to their college admissions

Stuntman planning Atlantic crossing

GIESSEN, West Germany (AP) — A West German automobile dealer who describes himself as a stunt-man announced Wednesday he will attempt to cross the Atlantic "standing up" on a modified twin-en-

Czechoslovak-born Jaromir Wagner, 41, said West
German authorities approved construction of a special platform enabling him to stand atop the aircraft when it takes off from this central West German town just north of Frankfurt Sept. 27. Wagner said he plans to reach New York City in 38

He said he had to conduct six hours of test flights before authorities were satisfied the structure holding him on the roof of the plane was strong enough to endure the flight.

Wagner said he will wear a scuba-diving suit to protect him from sub-zero temperatures, a motorcycle helmet and special shoes to withstand speeds of more than 100 mph.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) - Almost half of the 9,000 South Texans who have sought disaster aid for damages caused by Hurricane Allen apparently are giving false information to relief workers, federal officials say.

The disturbing pattern was noticed Wednesday morning during a meeting of directors of the six federal aid centers.

Dr. Michael Criqui, an epidemiologist with the University of California Medical School, San Diego, reports that, on the basis of a study of 5,000 adults, cigarette smoking decreases the level of HDL in the blood. Moreover, he suggests that the HDL levels of smokers who quit eventually rise to the levels of persons who never smoked. His findings provide just one more reason for smokers to discard their cigarettes.

WASHINGTON -Rabbi Jan Kaufman of the University of Mary-land's Hillel Foundation has been asked the question toe many times. Her reaction is swift and tlunt when she hears, What is it like to be a woman rabbi?'

"I don't talk about being a female rabbi." she says, rapid-fire. "There's not one iota of difference between what I do and what my male colleagues do . . . In my job, (being a woman) is STILL, the question is to be expected. Only 29 women, including 25year-old Kaufman, have in the United States by what many consider to be the more liberal branches of Judaism, the Reform and Reconstructionist movements. Orthodox and Conservative seminaries, which strictly interpret Jewish law as stipulating that only men may become rabbis, do not ordain women.

Since 1972, when the first woman rabbi was ordained in the United States, publicity has followed - and, in some cases, hounded - the women who chose to break with Jewish tradition or parental expectations in becoming spiritual leaders.

Kaufman, who was ordained as a Reform rabbi in June 1979, says associate director at the University of Maryland's adults." Hillel Foundation, a program sponsored by the Jewish self-help organization B'nai B'rith providing social and religious activities for Jewish students around the country. Complaints about sex discrimination Kaufman admits have been made by other women rabbis are largely unfounded and can only hurt the women who voiced them, she says.

"I DON'T think there's any great conspiracy by men to keep women out' of leadership roles, Kaufman says. "I think women who harp about been ordained as rabbis the fact that they're women rabbis - like. 'Look at me, aren't I great?' - have a harder

> 'People will say, 'Oh, she's cute, but can she talk about anything but being a woman rabbi?""

Besides, Kaufman said, people don't like to hear complaints. "If you just do your job and are good at what you do. generally you don't have trouble being accepted."

Still, Kaufman has come in for her share of disparagement as a woman rabbi during her year at Hillel. Last fall, at the High Holiday season when the Jewish New Year and Day of Atonement are observed, one benefactor sent Hillel a smaller donation than usual because Kaufman had been hired. On another occasion, a woman called Hillel and asked to speak to "the rabbi." When Kaufman told the caller she was speaking to the rabbi. the woman muttered that women were too "flaky and emotional" to be rabbis and demanded, Where is the real rabbi?'

In addition, some students belonging to the Orthodox branch of Judaism, which disapproves of women being ordained as rabbis, treat Kaufman "as a joke They have a lot of contempt. They mock me. But I'm not sure whether it's because I'm non-Orthodox or because I'm a

SUCH incidents can hurt badly, Kaufman admits, but she finds that she must ignore the criticism. If she argued back, "that's all I would do. It would make me crazy,' she said.

Kaufman grew up in Baltimore and attended Hebrew day schools there but dropped out of Western High School because she says the teachers were not challenging her. Groucher College in Towson, Md., accepted her and she was graduated with a bachelor's degree at age 18. Kaufman also has a bachelor's degree in Hebrew letters from Baltimore Hebrew University. In her small, cluttered office at the University of Maryland's Hillel House, Jewish New Year cards are taped to the wall and a box filled with blue and white Hillel softball T-shirts lies near the desk. Kaufman drags her black-and-goldframed ordination certificate from Hebrew Union College — Jewish Insti-tute of Religion from the closet and hastily hangs it, slightly askew, on the wall, joking, "I guess I'd better get this up.

Officially, Kaufman's duties at Hillel include counseling, teaching non-credit courses and planning social and religious programs for stu-

Unofficially, Kauf-man's goal is to urge students to discover and. adopt Jewish traditions. "There's very little hostility to Judaism," she notes, "just a lot of apathy."

She encourages observances such as resting from work from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath, "as a spiritually enriching experience for one's life." Keeping the Sabbath and keeping kosher, she says, are important because "that's what keeps Jews together. They are the things that make us Jewish."

YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY: Actress Valerie Harper, who may be best known as TV's "Rhoda," shares this birthday. Your practical nature serves you well, and steady achievement should mark the year ahead. The cooperation of others will be easier to obtain, but continue to rely mostly on your own efforts. Avoid impulsive purchases and personal finances will improve. Romance will be happy but could take temporary back seat to career or business pursuits. ARIES (March 21-April 19): Working behind the scenes produces the best results today. Let others set the with mate, partner. Try to resolve any disagreements without delay, and concentrate on pleasing loved ones tonight TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You may not be able to cover as much ground as you had hoped. It may be necessary to draw more attention to goals you consider critical. Do everything possible to avoid conflict with mate, romantic partner. GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Nothing important should be signed until details.

can be checked by an expert. Favorable plans are shaping up which will affect your fortunes in positive way. Retain an optimistic view when it comes to money matters. CANCER (June 21-July 22): A good day for handling routine tasks. Luck is on your side. Problems with children will be easier to handle. Financial question is resolved without undue delay. Bankers are easier to deal with than you imagined.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Romance will be happy, but not too eventful at the moment. Differences with mate, partner could develop after lunch. Favorable agreements can be negotiated and plans can be more easily advanced.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Important money transactions should be postponed to a more favorable time. A lot can be accomplished at place of employment if you will settle down to work early in the day. Sense of humor helps personal relationship develop.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): ate when answering business correspondence. Hasty or inaccurate statements could cause trouble later on. Complete all routine chores before trying to slip off for the weekend.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): This should be a very lucky day as everything appears to be going your way! Share joy with loved ones by planning a surprise that is sure to please them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Change may be a major part of today's plan. Do whatever is possible to get other family members to participate in valid savings plan. Less talking and more listening would pay off at

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A low profile works best at place of employment right now. Check accuracy of details before presenting plan. You may feel drained this evening. Going to bed early could be very benefi-

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Others are watching, so put best foot forward. Efforts should be made to increase efficiency. Keep that wry sense of humor intact!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): At times today it will be very difficult to keep your temper. Do not let friends interfere with the way you conduct business. They mean well, but lack sufficient information to be of help.

It was only yesterday we issued a warning against senseless falsecards, but that does not mean that, in many cases, a falsecard is not man-

That has to be better than many 9 or 10 HCP belanced hands that may, at best, yield two or three

West led his fourth-best spade, and before playing from dummy to the first trick, declarer paused to survey his prospects. If the club finesse succeeded. declarer had plenty of tricks-11 to be precise. But what if the king of clubs was in the West hand? Obviously, if the defense was alive to the situation, they would then be able to, cash at least four heart tricks, perhaps five, to defeat the contract. Could anything be done to deflect them from finding the winning defense? Since declarer needed only four tricks outside of the diamond suit, he found an elegant way to convince West that he struck gold with the opening lead. Declarer played low from dummy and captured East's jack of spades with the ace!

Declarer crossed to dummy with a high diamond and led a club to the queen. West won the king and, completely certain from declarer's play to the first trick that East held the queen of spades, gleefully continued with a low spade, expecting to take four tricks in the suit. He was more than a little taken aback when declarer won the queen of spades and cashed out his minor-suit winners to make his contract with an overtrick.

Princess celebrates birthday

LONDON (AP) - Princess Margaret, divorcee sister of Queen Elizabeth II and the most controversial member of the British royal family, is 50 today, and an official birthday picture shows her looking light years different from the dumpy, doublechinned figure of two years ago.

"The new Margaret is a wow," says photographer Arthur Edwards of the tabloid Sun.

Sun columnist Judy Wade reckons Margaret lost 28 pounds over the last six months and says her rosepetal complexion "is so wrinkle-free that more than one titled lady is willing to bet her best tiara that a few tucks have been taken up under the royal

The Daily Mail's Nigel Dempster, ace of the London gossip columnists, reports that Margaret's seven-year friendship with boyfriend Roddy Llewellyn, 17 years her junior, is cooling off.

Llewellyn is not with Margaret for her birthday celebration at Balmoral Castle in Scotland, h Margaret has fascinated the tabloids for years, starting in her mid-20s when the beautiful, vivacious princess fell in love with Air Force Group Capt. Peter Townsend, a dashing Battle of Britain hero. She bowed to family and church pressures and gave him up because he had been divorced. Her spectacular wedding to handsome jet-set photographer Tony Armstrong-Jones after a secret love affair took place in Westminster Abbey May 6,

The marriage ended in divorce May 24, 1978. Armstrong-Jones, who was made the Earl of Snowdon after they married, has now remarried.

The couple's two children, Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, 16, and Viscount Linley, 18, are with their mother at Balmoral

Her Royal Highness Princess Margaret celebrates her 50th birthday today. She was photographed by Norman Parkinson at Kensington Palace, London. Daughter testifies against father in $1 million suit against church

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - For five years, Don Kieffer has been fighting to see his daughter. His wish came true in U.S. District Court here — but she was testifying against him in a $1 million suit he filed against the Unification Church.

Kieffer's civil suit contends the church recruited his adopted daughter, now 21, when she was a minor, exercised "mind control methods" over her and "wrongfully deprived him of his natural parental Jana Kieffer's court appearance Tuesday and Wednesday satisfied one of his goals: "to bring her into court and see if she's all right.

But she disputed his claims. "I don't think brainwashing goes on. ... You can't control somebody's mind. That's ridiculous," she told Judge Shane

She said she still is a member of the church founded by the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, a Korean industrialist and evangelist, and its affiliate, Collegiate Association for the Research of Principals.

Miss Kieffer left her New Hampshire home in June 1975, joining her divorced mother at the Unification Church seminary in Barrytown, N.Y. Gloria Kieffer had joined the church after she was divorced in 1973 from Kieffer, who won custody of their four children, including Jana and another child from her previous marriage whom he had adopted in 1962

Miss Kieffer said her mother introduced her to the church and she joined because "I just felt very insecure living where I was. I just didn't see anything happening to my life that I could look Kieffer refused his daughter permission to join the church, but he was "totally unaware of how to retrieve her. I tried to keep it as a family matter, tried to resolve it by writing to her and phoning her. But she seemed to be quite hostile to me.' When he tried to visit her in August 1975, he was told she wasn't there. "In early 1977, I met my first ex-Moonie and she just stood my hair on end with the story of what had happened to her," Kieffer said.

Legal action began that year after his ex-wife, then remarried, moved to Manchester and tried to contact his two younger children, Kieffer said.

Fearing she would try to bring the other children into the church, Kieffer sought to cancel his ex-wife's visitation rights and have his daughter produced in

The visitation rights were canceled in late 1977, but urt said it could not compel the church to produce Miss Kieffer.

After amending his suit to seek damages against the church, the trial opened here this summer. So far, ex-members of the church, a psychiatrist, and Kieffer's ex-wife have testified, and the trial is expected to last through the week.

Asked about seeing her relatives for the first time in five years, Miss Kieffer said, "The whole thing is just very upsetting."

lacocca bets Koch on loan repayment

NEW YORK (AP) - MALYOR EDWARD KOCH, who came out the oser in two recent bets, is trying to recoup from Chrysler Corp. chairman

The wager was initiated by Iacocca, who heard Koch say during the Democratic National Convention that a federal loan guarantee for the financially ailing automaker was "ridiculous.

Iacocca wrote: "I'll bet you a box of Monte Cristos (Cuban cigars) that we pay off our guaranteed loains before New York City does.

He referred to the more than $1 billion in guarantees given to save Chrysler from going under and the $1.6 billion in guarantees to keep New York City out of bankruptcy.

Koch's gambling fever recently cost him a bushel of apples in a baseball bet with Baltimore Mayor William Donald Schaefer over a series between the Orioles and the Yankees. He also lost a weight-reducing contest with the Queens Borough President Donald Manes and had to pay off with a dinner.

Koch said he wished the Chrysler chairman "the very best." 'I ride in a Chrysler so I want you to be around when I need spare parts," Koch replied. "I'm not going to bet you a box of Cuban cigars. I don't smoke and you shouldn't either. Instead, I'll bet you a bushel of Four children die in fire

DALLAS (AP) - Four children died early today when fire swept through their home, Dallas fire authorities said.

Three other children and the victim's grandmother were able to flee to safety before flames engulfed the brick home in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas, according to Fire Capt. Lewis Epps.

The victims were identified as Latoneal Hodge, 15, Feliesha Hodge, 14, Mark Hodge, 11, and Rhonda Hodge, 8. Three of the children were found huddled in a closet and the fourth was found in a bed, firemen said.

All four were believed to have died of smoke inhalation, he said.

Fireman Kenneth Pigg suffered apparently minor burns in a vain attempt to rescue the children, Epps said.

Epps said the grandmother, Loraine Adkins, was the only adult at the home at the time the fire broke out.

The county had hoped to insure meeting the payroll by getting state approval to borrow $20 million in tax anticipation notes. But the state Municipal Finance Commission did not act on the matter at its weekly meeting Tuesday and may not do so until next Tuesday.

workers strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) A strike by workers at tion and avoid layoffs city-operated power plants could result in blackouts if electricity demand gets too high 72,000 state workers last and the strike spreads, month of unpaid time off say officials of the city Department of Water and Power.

About 350 of the department's 7,200 employ-ees walked off the job at four generating plants Wednesday after voting Monday to reject a contract proposal.

The city had offered a 9 percent pay raise. The union, Local 18 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers wanted 18 percent.

The four plants struck, among six in Los Angeles, provide 60 per cent of the daily power needs for the nation's third largest city.

Supervisors took over Wednesday, but there are not enough non-union and supervisory person-nel to staff all the plants, said DWP general manager Louis Winnard.

The city can borrow electricity from power concerns in northern Califernia and Arizona and from Southern California Edison Co., which serves surrounding communities. But if a heat wave hits, those areas will not be able to loan Los Angeles their power, offi-

"Those would be power outages for two to five hours in a selected area, then it would rotate to another area," Ms. Wimmer said. "It's better to black out certain areas suddenly than to shortcircuit the whole city.'

Department officials say "brownouts," where power is reduced but not shut off completely, would not be feasible in Los Angeles.

The city obtained a court order Tuesday barring the union from going on strike until a hearing can be held Sept. 4. But the DWP workers, who earn an average of $9 an hour, walked out any-

"I'm not afraid of no court order. We don't want no 9 percent," said IBEW business manager Ray Taylor.

Mayor Tom Bradley accused Taylor of reneging on an agreement to hold off a strike pending intervention by a state mediator. "Ray Taylor knows that state law plainly designates public employee strikes as illegal," Bradley said.

The city is negotiating unions, including those representing police and firefighters, and has so far been adamant about keeping pay raises to 9 percent.

The letter read:

"Dear Mrs. Renaud:

It is with great pride that the Hartness Ballet School celebrates its 15th anniversary this year...

I believe it is desirable to enlarge our present Board of Directors to include someone like you who has a high commitment to dance. I am writing you to invite you to join a select group of individuals who have agreed to participate on a high advisory level.

I do hope you will consider adding your name and valuable guidance to this Board..."

It was signed: Rebekah Hartness, of the Hartness

Ballet Foundation, New York.

THIS IS THE SAME Rebekah Hartness who donated a new stage in the East Room of the White House and who has been awarded, among others, a Bronze Medal of Appreciation by the city of New York, the Marques de Cuevas Prize from the University de la Dance in Paris, a Congressional Record Citation and New York's Handel Award. Besides being the president of the Hartness Ballet Foundation, Inc., she is a member of the board of directors of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

And it's the same ballet school that trained such notables as Hector Mercado of "West Side Story;" Lynn Charles, prima ballerina of the Hamberg Ballet; Judith Jamieson of the Alvin Ailey Dance Theatre; Helgi Tomasson of the New York City Ballet and the noted dancer and choreographer, Dennis Wayne. It's a school that is under the competent direction of the previous director of Southern Methodist University's dance department, Nikita Talin, who has studied, taught, danced and choreographed around the world. The reply was "yes."

"I have always loved ballet," Zuma Renaud explained in a recent interview in her Midland home. "But, I became actively involved in ballet in 1950 through an 11-year-old child who was staying with us. We were living in Fort Worth and I was looking for something for her to do.

AFTER FINDING THE BEST ballet school in the area, Mrs. Renaud spent hours observing dance

"I now know immediately which students are going to be dancers and which are never going to called and asked. I said, 'She has only been taking ballet for a year and is really not advanced enough for you to teach.' Danilova said, 'Of course, bring her over.'

It has been Mrs. Renaud's experience that "most people who are on their way to the top or are on the top are much nicer than people who are nowhere." This knowledge is what prompted her to call someone she didn't know.

'All she (Danilova) could say is no and she didn't. And from this beginning developed a friendship that has lasted 30 years."

FIVE YEARS LATER, at the same Dallas dance studio where she had become acquainted with Danilova, Mrs. Renaud met Mia Slavenska, another prima ballerina assoluta. Unknown to them at the time, they were to play major roles in each other's

"I was absolutely fascinated by the way she taught," Mrs. Renaud said. At that time, Slavenska was staying at a hotel in

Dallas. Mrs. Renaud invited her to stay with her family in Fort Worth When Mrs. Renaud was asked to form the Fort Worth Civic Ballet in 1956, she immediately thought The Fort Worth Civic Ballet became the first of its kind in the country to have a permanent artistic director of the caliber of Slavenska, who was among the top five ballerinas in the world," Mrs. Renaud explained, adding, "And the first to do ballet in the round.' Casa Manana became the home of the Fort Worth Civic Ballet. For Mrs. Renaud, those years were filled with forming long-term friendships with and watching internationally known ballet companies.

'Seldom did we spend a Thanksgiving dinner that we didn't have some ballet company dining with "The ballet world at the top is a very small world.

The wonderful thing about the '50s and prior to that was that the companies didn't have large organizations. Many times the dancers themselves did their own costumes and lighting.

THEY HAD TO KNOW it all and they had tremendous training. The dancers of today haven't paid their dues as the older dancers did. 'Now those people who were stars are passing their knowledge on to this generation.' Today, Mrs. Renaud is involved in a Public Broadcasting System documentary special on Slavenska.

Mrs. Renaud "will stop at nothing short of excel-right, up to a certain point. Then it takes longer because it has to be redone." She has insisted on this documentary encompassing only the finest quality.

The Hartness Ballet Foundation, Inc., and the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television are sponsoring the film that is being produced by Renwood Productions, which is comprised of Mrs. Renaud and Sam Woodward, general manager of the Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra.

The film will present Slavenska in her role today as artist and teacher. It will also include film clips of her performing days.

Once again, opportunity and circumstance have brought these two friends together. And with both women's track record of adherence to quality, it should be an excellent production.

Married Anglican priests could join Catholic church within year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within about a year, Episcopal Church in the United States, has been informed of the action, Quinn said. Allin's office said married Anglican priests in the United States will be able to remain married, remain priests, and become Roman Catholics.

The U.S. Catholic Conference announced a Vatican-approved plan Wednesday under which Anglicans would be allowed to become Roman Catholics while maintaining some of their own liturgical tradi-

The plan would allow married Anglican priests to become Roman Catholic priests while remaining married

Catholic priests still could not marry, and the former Anglican priests would not be allowed to remarry if widowed and could not become bishops. There are only a few married Roman Catholic priests in this country now, mostly members of Eastern Rite churches. Wednesday's announcement was unusual because it made "such a large group" eligible for the married priesthood, said Robert Wonderly, a conference spokesman. The Rev. John D. Barker of Los Angeles, the leader of a small Anglican group that has sought union with the Catholic church, said Wednesday he hopes the first members of his group could become Catholic priests in not much more than a year. Russell Shaw, a spokesman for the Catholic Conference, responded that that seems "a reasonable amount of time.

"It's a hope that we would share, that this is not going to be delayed unnecessarily," Shaw added. Wednesday's announcement affects only the United States. The Rev. Lawrence Purcell of the Office of the Apostolic Delegate in Washington, the emissary of Pope John Paul II, said the pope's approval came in response to a specific request from the U.S. bishops. He said he was unaware of any similar actions in other countries.

Barker said his Pro-Diocese of St. Augustin of Canterbury is no longer within the Episcopal Church, although some of its 63 clergy are. Barker said the group recognizes the teachings of the Catholic Church and the primacy of the pope.

Shaw said the new plan is "very unusual, and yet there are some precedents, although not absolute parallels." He said some Eastern Rite branches of the Roman Catholic Church currently have married

The formal announcement came from Archbishop John R. Quinn of San Francisco, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. He said Anglicans in the United States will be able to seek a 'common identity" in the Roman Catholic Church. "Common identity," Shaw explained, means the Anglicans could become Roman Catholics while retaining some of the traditions of their former church, particularly in the liturgy. He said that "common identity" also includes possible Roman Catholic acceptance of married Anglican priests as Roman Catholic priests. Anglican priests who wished to join the Catholic Church would be reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the Vatican Congregation for the Doctrine of the The ban on marriage by Catholic priests has sparked considerable controversy in recent years. The archbishop's announcement added that this tradition would not change and that future candidates for priesthood would not be allowed to However, Shaw said the rule would not preclude a person who married and became an Anglican priest in the future from later seeking to become a Roman on the individual case. While the Anglican Church has some female priests, a Catholic Conference spokesman said the Roman Catholic Church's ban on women priests is not affected by the new plan. The plan was prepared in response to requests from both individuals and groups of Anglican background who expressed a desire to become members of the Roman Catholic Church while retaining some of their own liturgy and tradition. They must fully accept Roman Catholic doctrine and the authority of

Some Episcopal priests have been seeking admission into the Roman Catholic priesthood for several years, according to church spokesman Walter Boyd. He said they were among those dissattisfied with some decisions made by the Episcopal in 1976, including the ordination of women as priests and changes in the Book of Common Prayer.

the bishop is out of the country and would have no comment on the announcement.

Roman Catholic Bishop Thomas J. Costello, Auxiliary Bishop of Syracuse, N.Y., commented that "this new development will hopefully be an added incentive for continuing and intensifying the ecumenical dialogue which has been ongoing between our churches and which looks to ultimate union of the Anglican and Roman Catholic communions."

The Anglican churches, such as the Episcopal Church in the United States, developed from the Church of England, which separated from the Roman Catholic Church during the Reformation in the 1500s. The Episcopal Church has almost 3 million members in the United States, while Roman Catholics number about 50 million.

Cubs return one back

Midland's Cubs returned home a game out of first place in the Texas League West Division after beating Amarillo's Gold Sox, 3-0, on the combined seven-hit shutout pitching of Jon Perlman and Herman Segelke at Amarillo Wednes-

The Cubs open a 10-game home stand to wind up the season, facing El Paso and then San Antonio in Cubs Stadium. Manager Jim Saul's Diablos recently took 2-of-3 from the Cubs in El Paso and another such performance could prove disasterous. In fact, a loss at Amarillo Wednesday would have done serious damage to the Cubs' second half pennant hopes. The Sox would have taken a three-game lead on the road, which is what Manager Eddie Watt would have liked to Second baseman Scott Fletcher and first baseman Joe Hicks led the Midland attack Wednesday, collecting five of the eight hits given up by former Texas Aggie Mark Thurmond, 8-9, who went all the way. Hicks had three of the hits and Fletcher drove in two runs.

The Cubs spoiled the night for a Pack-the-Park crowd of 6,412 by pushing over a third inning run when J.W. Mitchell singled, moved to second on

Mike Shepston's sacrifice and rode Fletcher's

Fletcher again produced in the fifth with a run-scoring double after Shepston had doubled. Midland scored its final run in the sixth when Hicks doubled and Randy La Vigne doubled to

Perlman, 13-7, had a five-hitter going in the sixth when Doug Gwodsz singled, took second on a wild pitch and then after a walk to John Flannery, Manager Randy Hundley brought in Segelke, who once again performed nobly to pick up the save. Segelke pitched 3 2/3 innings of two-hit, no walk baseball to nail it down for the BREWIN' BRUINS-The Gold Sox took the season's series over Midland, 17-15, so the Cubs must win the second half outright to qualify for the postseason playoff against first half winner San Antonio....With two 6,000 night crowds, Amarillo drew more than 19,000 fans for its final homestand...Norm Churchill, 1-2, will go for Midland against Diablos, probably drawing Steve Brown as a mound foe. Brown has been tough on the Cubs this year, holding a 3-1 edge over the Bruins.....The Cubs finished 4-6 on the recent road trip...

NBA concerned over drug problem

By DICK BRINSTER NEW YORK (AP) - The use of drugs among professional athletes is in the opinion of many no more or less prevalent than the frequency with which the remainder of society seeks mind-altering escapes.

One official representing professional basketball players when asked about marijuana use said he's "not very concerned about that."

But Larry Fleisher, legal counsel to the NBA Players Association, joins league officials in being concerned about the use of cocaine among players. While he is unwilling to accept at face value a story by The Los Angeles Times that 40 to 75 percent of the league's players have tried cocaine, he is disturbed by the report. "I think most of them recognize the danger of it (cocaine), but some apparently do not," said Fleisher in discussing what some have said is the widespread use of cocaine by NBA players. "The description of the term 'widespread' varies. But it is being used. I'm sure it is.'

Oilers ready to kick the door down

PITTSBURGH (AP) - For two years running, the Houston Oilers have made it to the threshold of the Super Bowl and run smack into the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"We knocked on the door two years ago. We pounded on the door this year. Next year, we'll kick the door down," Oilers Coach Bum Phillips pledged after last January's loss here in the American Football Conference championship.

Phillips returned to Pittsburgh this spring to speak before Steeler fans at a local country club, and he told a story - a tall story.

It was about the day a huge card-board box with a Pittsburgh postmark was delivered to his ranch outside Houston. Phillips said he put his ear to the box to make sure it wasn't ticking, then he opened it.

'There was a door inside the box!' Phillips said.

"There was a note on top. It said, 'Ya' didn't kick the door in last year, and ya'all ain't gonna kick the thing in next year either!"

Phillips wouldn't admit the tale was a figment. But the fact is the Steelers and Oilers, both in the AFC Central Division, have met the last two years for the AFC title.

Each year, the Steelers have won the division and the Oilers have been a wild-card, and last January's 27-13 Steeler playoff win belied the closeness of a game in which a controversial call cost Houston a touchdown.

HOUSTON AND Pittsburgh may meet in the playoffs again this year. For sure, they'll meet Sept. 7 in Pittsburgh to open the season.

Every Oilers-Steelers game is something special, but the opener will mark the regular season debut of quarterback Ken Stabler and safety

Jack Tatum in Houston uniforms. They were Oakland Raiders in 1972 when Stabler scrambled for a late touchdown and Tatum knocked away a pass - only to have Franco Harris make the "Immaculate Reception."

Now, Stabler and Tatum aim to block Pittsburgh's bid for a fifth Super Bowl title and third in a row. Dan Pastorini, traded for Stabler, knocked on the door. The Oilers hope Stabler can kick it down. He's beaten Pittsburgh twice in five playoffs.

"Everybody is fired up about Stabler," said Oiler tight end Bob Barber. "Playing with him is going to give me added incentive."

It also gives added incentive to somebody else - the Steelers.

"Some people still don't consider us the best team," says Steeler cornerback Mel Blount.

"Instead of 'Who's going to beat the Steelers,' all I've been hearing is that this is Houston's year or San Diego's year. I think we'd all like to silence the critics once and for all."

Steeler fans are wearing T-shirts showing Joe Greene with four Super Bowls rings and a bare thumb. "One for the Thumb in '81," says the slo-

"This is a sort of second chance for us," says Greene. "We had the opportunity to win three in a row in '76 and didn't make it."

INJURIES could stop the Steelers, though they may be deeper than ever. It also remains to be seen how Terry Bradshaw performs amid personal problems; he's been sued for divorce by ice skater JoJo Starbuck.

But the key remains the total direction of Coach Chuck Noll. "I enjoy winning," Noll says. "If some people find that boring, we hope to bore the hell out of them." Completing the AFC are the Cincinnati Bengals, owned by Paul Brown; and the Cleveland Browns, named after Paul Brown. The Bengals were 4-12 last season and Coach Homer Rice was fired. So

Cincinnati starts anew under Forrest Preparing for the draft, Gregg went to Southern Cal to scout 287-pound offensive tackle Anthony Munoz. Gregg lined up and fired out at Munoz, who then knocked Gregg on "I knew right there we had to have the guy," said Gregg, who made Munoz his top pick. Gregg was NFL Coach of the Year in 1976 with Cleveland, but he quit the next year after the Browns faltered in

Astros exploit Bibby's wildness for victory

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

HOUSTON (AP) - Professor Joe Morgan of the Houston Astros recently gave a lesson on the art of taking pitches and he practiced his sermon well on Pittsburgh ace Jim Bibby Wednesday night en route to a 5-1

Morgan tied a club record with four walks as Bibby lost for only the third time this season. Noting Bibby's wildness, Morgan encouraged his team-mates to force Bibby to throw

"A lot of guys want to hit and I do too, but we are in the process of trying to win a pennant and anything that will help us win, that's what we want to do," Morgan said. "The guys are seeing that a walk will help get us on

Houston trailed the Pirates 1-0 on Dave Parker's first-inning single until the sixth inning when the Astros started flooding the bases. Danny Heep singled and Alan Ashby doubled before Bibby intentionally walked pinch hitter Dave Bergman to load the bases.

Bibby then walked pinch hitter Denny Walling to force home the tying run and signal his exit from the game. Relief pitcher Grant Jackson then walked Morgan to force home the winning run.

Enos Cabell then came up with a two-run single and Houston got one more runs in the eighth when Enrique Romo loaded the bases and then walked Cabell to force home the Astros' fifth run.

"He struggled the whole way, we were fortunate to get out of some of those innings," Pirates shortstop Tim Foli said of Bibby. "He was throwing good. He just couldn't get the ball over the plate."

Bibby walked the bases loaded in the third inning with one out but escaped without yielding a run when Jose Cruz and Cesar Cedeno popped out. The Astros left two more runners stranded in the fourth inning with two out when Morgan grounded out unassisted to first base.

"It's a morale lifter to beat a guy like Bibby because he's one of the best in the major leagues," Morgan said. "But we can't get caught up in some-thing like that. We've got to win our games no matter who's pitching."

The victory was Houston's sixth in a row and kept the Astros in first place in the National League Western Division. Pittsburgh remained two games ahead of Montreal in the NL East following Los Angeles second straight victory over the Expos.

Bulldog football fans hold Super Dog Night

Midland High Bulldog football fans are invited to attend Super Dog Night Saturday at Memorial Stadium at 7 p.m. to help kick off the 1980 grid season.

Super Dog Night will be a Midland High's first pep rally of the year and is open to the entire community. Tickets for the event are $2.50 per person, which includes the rally and a supper of "Super Dogs" and all

It will also be an opportunity to meet new MHS grid boss Pat Culpepper and his staff, who are entering their maiden voyage in District 5-5A warfare.

Culpepper is hoping for a large turnout, saying, "We need your help. We have found a few young men who are willing to work as a team. They need your support because the competition we face has been extremely successful against us in the past. But we have a new plan and there is high hopes. Help the Bulldogs regain their bite by

Yanks' boss rips Howser, Reggie

Yankees' owner George Steinbrenner criticized manager Dick Howser and some of his high-priced players, notably Reggie Jackson and Bob Watson, following the Yankees 6-5 defeat by Baltimore Monday, - it was their sixth loss to the Orioles in eight games spread over 10 days. Steinbrenner was upset by Howser's decision to let Eric Soderholm hit away after Bob Watson opened the ninth inning Monday night with a single. The Yankees trailed 6-5. "Here's Soderholm hitting .147 and he lets him hit away with a runner at first base. Bunt him over and then you tie the game. I don't go for the old axiom that you don't play for a tie on the road. You have to the tie the game first before you win. But our guy is a freshman manager and he made some mistakes. He knows his job rests on the bottom line, which is winning."...

Charles Dolan, New York cable television executive, has made the highest bid for the Chicago White Sox and it may be as much as $21 million, the Sun-Times reported Wednesday. Dolan has cable TV rights to baseball's Mets and Yankees, hockey's Islanders and basketball's Nets... Tight end Walter White, acquired only last week, failed to pass his physical with the St. Louis Cardinals. The 6-3, 234-pound White was obtained from the Rams in exchange for a draft choice...

For the first time in 23 years Pepper Rodgers, fired last winter after six seasons as coach at Georgia Tech, will be without a college football team this fall. The colorful 48-year-old Rodgers will still be involved, however, as a television color commentator for ABC. The thing he will miss most, he said, will be the winning. "I'll never have another feeling like that," said Rodgers, who compiled a 18-94-10 record in 13 seasons as a head coach at Kansas, UCLA and up the no-hit bid.

Spillner said.

The National Football League Players Association filed suit against Mike Trope and 24 other player agents, accusing them of conspiring to cause problems for the association. Trope had announced earlier this year that he and several other agents were forming a new players' union and that, when the 28 teams' training camps opened, they would canvass the teams for signatures. When they got enough, Trope said, they would seek an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board to determine which group would be the players' sole bargaining

Doug DeCinces' two-out single in the top of the 10th scored John Lowenstein with the winning run after the Orioles blew a three-run lead in the ninth. Mario Guerrero's eighth-inning home run, the second and last hit off Dennis Eckersley, gave Mike Norris his 17th victory. Eckersley didn't allow a hit until Mitchell Page opened the Oakland seventh with a single. He stole second as Dave Revering struck out and continued to third base when catcher Carlton Fisk's throw went into center field.

After a long argument, with Fisk and Manager Don Zimmer contending that Revering interfered as Fisk threw to second, Wayne Gross tied the score with a sacrifice fly.

Tigers 8, Brewers 6

John Wockenfuss slammed a three-run homer, Tom Brookens added a two-run shot and Lance Parrish homered with the bases empty to help Gerry Ujdur pick up his first major league victory. Sixto Lezcano, Sal Bando and Ben Oglivie homered for Milwaukee.

However, Bando grounded into a triple play after the Brewers cut an 8-2 lead to 8-5 in the eighth. Third baseman Brookens, who had a perfect 5-for-5 night at bat, also started Detroit's first triple play in 11 years.

Blue Jays 10, Twins 4 Ernie Whitt drove in three runs with a double and triple and Jackson Todd posted his first major league victory in almost three years. Whitt tripled a run across in the fifth inning as the Blue Jays took a 3-1 lead and then capped a four-run eighth with his two-run double to back Todd, who scattered 10 hits, including home runs by Ron Jackson and Mike Cubbage. Todd's last triumph came for the New York Mets against Montreal on Sept. 6, 1977.

AP Sports Writer Luis Salazar and Jerry Royster are learning to finish what they start. Salazar, of San Diego, and Royster, of Atlanta, both came up with two hits in one inning Wednesday night, starting and finishing winning rallies for their clubs. Salazar singled to open the fifth inning and then capped the six-run burst with an RBI-single as the Padres snapped an eight-game losing streak by beating the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5.

Royster led off the Braves' game with a single and then climaxed the seven-run first-inning explosion with a two-run single and Atlanta went on to defeat the Chicago Cubs 9-5.

"That's a first for me," said Royster. "I can't recall ever coming to bat twice in an inning before.'

Padres 7, Phillies 5 The Padres trailed 5-1 before sending 11 men to the plate in the fifth. Salazar singled and scored on Dave Winfield's 14th home run of the season. Willie Montanez singled, Craig

Stimac was safe on an error by Nino Espinosa, both runners advanced on an infield out and Tim Flannery was intentionally walked to load the Pinch hitter Broderick Perkins reached first on an error by shortstop Larry Bowa, Montanez scoring. Richards then singled in two runs and Salazar completed the six-run rally with his RBI-single.

Braves 9, Cubs 5 After Royster's leadoff single, Rafael Ramirez tripled and Bob Horner hit his 27th home run of the season. Chris Chambliss followed with a single, Dale Murphy doubled and both scored on a double by Glenn Hubbard. Then, after a walk to Bill Nahorodny and a sacrifice by pitcher Larry McWilliams, Royster drove in Hubbard and Nahorodny with his second single of the inning to make it 7-0. Royster says he likes the feeling in the Atlanta lockerroom.

"In the past we didn't know or care what the other teams were doing," he said. "This year we're watching all the other teams and trying to get in contention ourselves. We're relaxed now and I'm enjoying it."

Dodgers 5, Expos 1 Los Angeles' Jerry Reuss hurled a six-hitter, struck out five and did not walk a batter in raising his record to 15-4, but afterward he said he didn't feel well.

"To be honest with you, I really felt sick out there," said Reuss. "I didn't feel well at all and I just tried to go one inning at a time. I don't know if it was the 24-hour flu or food poisoning. I got dizzy a few times, but that was

Giants 2, Mets 1

The San Francisco Giants climbed to the .500 mark by handing the Mets their seventh straight loss behind the combined eight-hit pitching of Al Hargesheimer and Greg Minton.

"Getting to .500 is quite a feat," said San Francisco infielder Darrell Evans, "considering we were 10 games under .500 in April. Normally it would be a salary drive for us at this time of year, but we have the pitching and the bullpen to win the West."

But one bad note for the Giants came in the sixth inning, when slugger Jack Clark was hit by pitch from Mark Bomback, suffering a bruise on his left hand and being forced to leave the game. Clark ws scheduled for X-rays today.

Vikings cut Steve Niehaus

By TOM CANAVAN

Associated Press Writer It's a long jump between rookie of the year and all-pro. But Steve Niehaus discovered something else - it's longer fall it you miss.

Niehaus, the second player selected in the National Football League's draft in 1976, was one of 15 players released as Minnesota cut its roster to 59 players, one man below the maximun. The Vikings announced the cuts Wednesday although the moves were required to be made by Tuesday af-

Niehaus, an All-American at Notre Dame in 1975, was the NFL's defensive rookie of the year with Seattle in 1976. But he never lived up to his potential although he was hampered by knee injuries.

The 6-foot-4 defensive tackle was acquired by the Vikings last season in a trade with Seattle for veteran Carl Eller and a draft choice. He spent most of the season on the injured reserve list.

The Vikings also released running back Dennis Moseley, who led the Big Ten Conference in rushing while at Iowa last season. Minnesota added one player to its roster, punter Skip Johnston of Auburn, who had been released by Sesttle.

In other transactions, the Cleveland Browns picked up quarterback Pete Woods, who had been released by Denver Tuesday, and waived 12thround draft choice Mike Wright.

Miami signed veteran linebacker Larry Gordon to a four-year contract. The Dolphins also waived seven players including center Doug Lantz of Miami (Ohio), and linebacker Ben Long of South Dakota, a pair of 10thround draft choices.

St.Louis negated a trade with Los Angeles, returning Walter White to the Rams after the tight end failed his physical. The Cardinals also waived wide receiver Jeff Lee.

SPORTS IN BRIEF McEnroe upset by John Austin

By The Associated Press
TENNIS— Top-seeded John
McEnroe was knocked out of the $75,-000 Atlanta Open tournament in his first match, a 7-6, 6-4 upset by un-seeded John Austin...

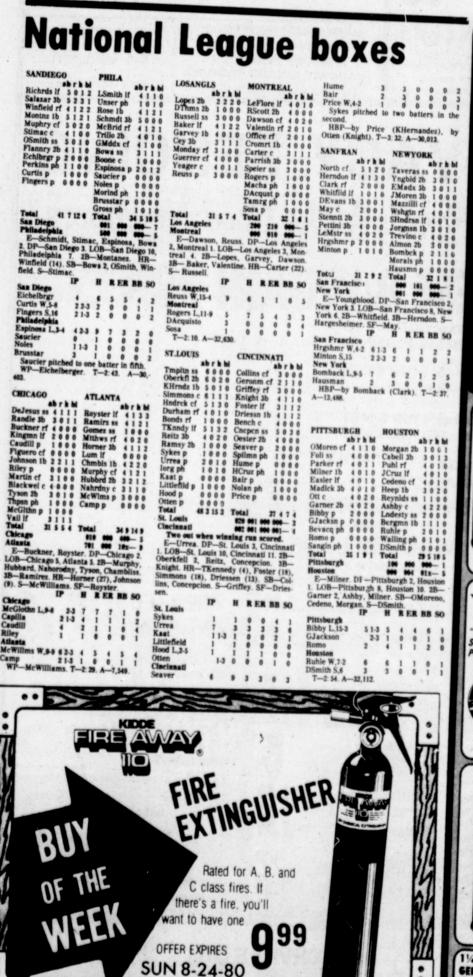

Martina Navratilova struggled to a 2-6, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Lele Forcod and advanced to the third round of a New Jersey tennis tournament.

FOOTBALL- The National Football League Players Association filed suit against Mike Trope and 24 other player agents, accusing them of conspiring to cause problems for the association. Gene Upshaw, president of the NFLPA, and 10 players along with the association itself filed the suit against Trope, Ernie Wright, Jerry Argovitz and others in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles. The 27-page suit charges that the agents have conspired in violation of antitrust law to corner the market on the players.

Brett's bat revives hope for first .400 hitter since Ted

By BLACKIE SHERROD Dallas Times Herald DALLAS - According to those who now him best, George Brett is brave, ustworthy, loyal, clean, unselfish and reverent and will play when

He is an honest laborer. He will get his uniform dirty for you and stick his nose in the way of a bad hop if that's the only way he can stop it. He doesn't manufacture ills when a flame-throwing left-hander is due to pitch for the By consensus of Baseball Men, he is the best all-around player in the game today and if anybody is entitled to hit 400, it should be him, by gum.

Usually, Baseball Men guard their heritage with grim jealousy. Modern players, they say, couldn't ride in the same Pullman with Ty and Honus and Shoeless Joe, so they don't wish to see their names get equal billing in the record books. They got nervous when Pete Rose, even with HIS oldtimey image, made a run at Joe DiMaggio's hitting streak. Some will never forgive Hank Aaron and Roger Maris for making the same paragraph as Babe Batting scientists have thought, for years, that Rod Carew would be the next .400 hitter, if such a human has not become extinct as the dodo bird. But Carew doesn't command the same respect as Brett.

THERE ARE critics who claim Carew is overly self-centered, that he babies his batting average with the tender care of an orchid gardener. If a tough left hander such as Ron Guidry is scheduled to oppose the California Angels, say the critics, Carew sometimes develops strange ailments that relegate him to the bench for an afternoon. Of course, you$hear this about several other hitters also, but not about George

Before the last Kansas City-Yankee series, Reggie Jackson explained why he was so eager for the games.

"They say they got a man hitting .570. I want to watch the man hit," he said, eyes wide in mock awe. "I've never seen a .570 hitter before."

Jackson was making his little joke, intimating perhaps that too much attention was being given one of those freakish batting spurts. Brett had collected 23 hits in 40 at-bats immediately after the All-Star game.

But now at this late date in the season, Brett still carries the most serious threat — by far — to a .400 average in 39 years. Ted Williams was the last, as you have been reminded repeatedly, with his .406 in 1941. When Brett began this series assault on Texas Ranger pitching with three straight singles, his numbers became .40683

BRETT GOT his first two hits on his first two pitches and you were reminded of the complaint from a Baltimore pitcher: "Not only ca,'t we get him out, we can't even get ahead of him in the count."

Two subsequent blanks left him at 404 after the series opener (Even after being blanked in the second game Tuesday night, he was still at .401), but memory can find no hitter since Williams at the magic figure as late as Aug. 20.

In 1977 when Carew staged his nearest miss, he had left the .400 plateau in mid-July and was down to .381 by now

Williams stood .405 on this date in "I had a high of .436 in June," Ted was to remember later. "Then down to .402 in late August, then up to .413 in September. When the weather got cooler, I slumped."

A .400 average wasn't the rarity then as today, but it had been 11 seasons since Bill Terry hit .401 for the Giants. And statisticians already had proclaimed it a relic of the past.

Neither was there the extensive media attention in Williams' day, but there was sufficient pressure to buck-le a man, especially one with the dogged pride and ego of Williams. Brett is performing in a brighter, broader spotlight but he doesn't seem consumed by that same fierce drive for immortality. If he hits .400, fine. If he doesn't, there will still be enough cheeseburgers and snuff to go

OF THE memorable .400 hitters of all time, because of the circumstances, Williams was the grandest of His is a tale often told, how he came to the last day with the numbers secure in his pocket.

"In the last 10 days of the season. my average had dropped almost a point a day," Williams once remembered. The Boston-Philadelphia game on the final Saturday was rained out and a doubleheader scheduled on Sunday. Williams' batting average was exactly .39955, which rounded off to three numbers as .400.

'The night before the doubleheader, Joe Cronin offered to take me out of the lineup to preserve my .400,' said Williams. "They used to do that. Jimmy Foxx lost a batting championship to Buddy Myer one year when he sat out the last game and Myer got two hits." (They still do it, Ted. Carew has spent a few closers on the bench to avoid risking a league leading average.)

In typical Williams reaction, Ted told the manager to hell with it, if he couldn't hit .400 all the way, he didn't deserve it. But he was so nervous, he stayed up all night walking the streets of Philadelphia, accompanied by Johnny Orlando, the Boston clubhouse worker. They stopped a couple times for ice cream for Teddy and scotch for Johnny.

SUNDAY WAS cold and wet and Williams was tired and miserable. There were only 10,000 in the chilled stands, drawn by curiosity of a .400 average.

When Ted first came to bat, the Philadelphia catcher, Frankie Hayes, said, "Ted, Mr. Mack told us if we let up on you, he'd run us out of baseball. I wish you all the luck in the world, but we're not giving you a damn thing." (This, too, has been known to happen, pitchers grooving the ball to the batters' sweet spot on the final

Williams singled his first time up. homered his second time, added two more singles. At the end of the first game, his average was .404, an admirable and excusable time for a hot shower and a celebration.

But that wasn't Williams. Ole bullhead insisted on playing the second game and got two more hits in four trips. In major league history, there have been 19 hitters who reached and clung to that lofty rung but none did it with such style. At the risk of being naive, you'd like to think Brett would do the same.

Captains defeat Mets, 4-3

By Associated Press Relief pitcher Nate Snell helped his own cause Wednesday night by tripling home the winning run in the 11th inning as the Shreveport Captains took a 4-3 Texas League baseball victory over the Jackson Mets.

In other Texas League games, Arkansas shut out Tulsa, 3-0; Midland blanked Amarillo, 3-0; and El Paso beat San Antonio, 6-2.

Snell's triple drove home Jerry Lane, who had walked, with the winning run in the 4-3 Shreveport victory. Snell, 4-4, was the winning pitcher. The loser was Jesse Orosco, 4-4. Frank Hunsaker drove home all three runs as the Arkansas Travelers shut out the Tulsa Drillers, 3-0. Hunsaker drove in 2 runs with a single in the first inning and doubled home the final Arkansas run in the sixth inning.

John Stuper, 6-3, was the winning pitcher. Dave Schmidt, 4-5, was the loser.

Daryl Sconiers got 3 hits, including 2 doubles. in 4 trips to the plate as the El Paso Diablos beat the San Antonio Dodgers, 6-2. Sconiers leads the Texas League in doubles

Rich Rommel, 4-4, was the winning pitcher. Charged with the loss was Ricky Wright, 7-9.

Mourning dove hunting during the state's North Zone season opening Sept. 1 may range from exciting to dismal. The North Zone covers approximately the northern two-thirds of Texas. In general, dove prospects are good in the eastern half of the North Zone and poor in the Biologists said that in terms of numbers of mourning doves statewide, the 1980 season may be outstanding. Jim Dunks, dove program leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said call count surveys showed an increase in the statewide breeding population for the third consecutive year.

A nationwide survey indicates a 12 per cent increase in the nation's breeding population of mourning doves, part of a 10-year upward

However, field biologists point out that the continuing drought in Texas, which is not quite so severe at present, may have caused many of the native birds to leave some areas before the season opens because of a lack of food. Birds migrating from the north may not stay long if

The Dallas-Fort Worth area seems to be the dividing line with East Texas looking much better because of recent rains and availability of waste grain for good. Shooting around watering and feeding sites may be outstanding in some areas because of drought conditions.

Biologist Hayden Haucke of Paris said the Northeast Texas dove situation looks better than last year with plenty of birds and ample food. By contrast, biologist Tommy Hailey of Breckenridge said just the opposite is true in a large chunk of the state roughly-bounded by Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Abilene.

and the second s

"There's little grain left for doves, only a little wheat stubble and maize. I expect most of that to be gone by Sept. 1, and a little croton weed will be all that's left," Hailey said.

Likewise, biologist Jim Dillard of Mineral Wells said from that city up through the dove hunting hotspot areas of Montague, Clay and Wichita counties no significant concentrations of doves have been observed.

Regional director George Litton of Waco said Central Texas looks a bit better. "We have quite a few birds right now. But the problem is that food plants have matured quicker during the drought and food may be real scarce by Sept.

The dove situation in the Panhandle-South Plains area looks pretty good, according to Vern Morse, manager of the department's Gene Howe Wildlife Management Area at Canadian. "We apparently had a good hatch of birds this year, and forage conditions also are pretty good. But as usual, most of the doves probably will migrate south by mid-September. This may happen even earlier this year since it's pretty dry in this area.'

Farther west, biologist Sam Browniee of Alpine said the extremely dry Trans-Pecos is not offering favorable conditions for doves, with the possible exception of irrigated areas near the Rio Grande.

These reports were mostly made before the rain from Hurricane Allen, which spawned thunderstorms in South and Central Texas. But rains will not help much in terms of birds that are now holding various regions. Migrating birds from the north could possibly stay longer as of recent rains, but if the food supply continues to be in short supply, then they will move on farther south, even into Mexico.

The Midland-Odessa region is reporting ample populations of mourning doves, but by Sept. 1, only migrating doves will be around, with a few native birds possibly staying tight.

It still looks like the watering holes will be the places to shoot birds this season. Recent rains have filled some watering holes back up, but all in all the entire region is dry. Late afternoon hunts around stock ponds, creeks and reservoirs will be the most likely places to find

The season begins Sept. 1 and continues through Oct. 30, a straight 60-days and bag limit is 10 birds daily and 20 in possession. Legal shooting hours in counties where there's no white-wing dove season, hours are one half hour before sunrise to sunset. Hunters interested in shooting white wings in Brewster, Cameron, Culberson, El Paso, Hidalgo, Hudspeth, Jeff DAvis, Kinney, Maverick, Presidio, Starr, Terrell, Val Verde, Webb, Willacy and Zapata counties, the seasons are Sept. 6-7 and 13-14 with shooting hours from noon until sunset.

Several methods to tell the true class of angler

By ANGUS PHILLIPS The Washington Post

There are several measures of how good a fisherman a fellow is. You can check his hooks to see how sharp he keeps them or eyeball his equipment to see if it's class A. You can watch his cast and see if he hits the spot he wants time after time, and if you're really lucky you might see him lay into a big fish and observe whether he flips his cork or plays the monster cooly and efficiently.

These are all good techniques but the best way of all to take the measure of an angler is to start asking questions.

Generally, the better he is the less he'll say.

I've had perfectly congenial halfhour chats with good fishermen sporting a good day's catch and lefgt scratching my head, knowing absolutely no more than I did before the talk began.

Here is a typical interview with a first-rate angler, conducted hypothetically on the banks of the Potomac

"Hey, that's a nice stringer of bass. Where'd you get 'em? "Down river.

(There are exactly 97 miles of Potomac river down river from the spot at which the interview is being conduct-

"What were they taking?" "Oh, a little bit of everything." "Been fishing long?"

"All my life." 'No, no, no. I mean today."

"Uh-huh."

"These fish - were they mostly in deep or shallow water?"

"Yes they were. Mostly." "Well, did they like a certain tide or certain time of day? Anything special like that?' "They seem to like a moving tide, either incoming or outgoing. Then again, they seemed to be biting good "Well, thanks a lot for the informa-

"My pleasure, buddy. Say, when did you say this is going to be in the

This fellow has just wound his way through a traditional fishing conversation, parrying successive thrusts with successively nebulous counterthrusts. Total knowledge shared:

This is a time-tested technique, one that fishermen have honed over the years to a current high-art state.

But there are alarming new developments on the scene, apparently fostered by the stunning success of fishfor-money bass tournaments.

I was a party to such a tournament recently on the Potomac. The boats zoomed out of Pohick Bay just after dawn and returned for the weigh-in at

My partner, Dick Martin of Baltimore, and I managed to boat only three largemouths, which put us both far out of the money.

Osborne sees end for frosh rule

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - The freshmen-eligible rule has been in effect for nine years in major college athletics, but Nebraska Football Coach Tom Osborne is among those predicting its demise beginning in 1981.

Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler has said he would bet that the freshmen-eligible rule will be eliminated by the NCAA next January.

On Wednesday, after Nebraska conducted its morning practice session, Osborne also expressed confidence that the rule will be changed.

"In June, Bo and I were among nine football coaches and 10 basketball coaches invited to an NCAA meeting in Kansas City," Osborne said. "I hink we were all amazed when those 10 basketball oaches voted unanimously against the freshmen-elgible rule. If anybody seems to have gotten mileage ut of it, they have.

According to Osborne, the nine football coaches ttending the meeting unanimously agreed that "elininating freshmen from varsity competition is the est thing for the athletes. There were two or three oaches, though, who thought their program needed reshmen eligible to fill in the blanks on the depth

Osborne sympathizes with those less fortunate programs.

"I'm in favor of eliminating the freshman-eligible rule," he said, "but along with that, I'd favor adding five initial scholarships a year and adding 10 overall. Instead of the 30-95 limits, I'd like to see it 35-110." More than ever, Osborne said, coaches are finding freshmen plunging into varsity competition "dis-

"The climate is definitely changing," he said.
"Making the adjustment to go to college and living away from home — then adding all that pressure on top of it — is just too much."

He said Nebraska han't had much of a problems with that, because "we recruit players with the idea that they'll play freshman football. They know the odds aren't good they'll play varsity."

Efforts at solar power still lagging behind promises

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - Jimmy Carter climbed on the White House roof one day last summer and became the first president to dedicate a water heater. He also announced a new government program to promote solar power. A year later, the solar water heater is working fine, but supporters of solar power are wondering what happened to much of the new program. On the roof that day, Carter set a national goal: By the year 2000, he said, the sun and other renewable energy sources should provide a fifth of the nation's

We are making a commitment to as important a goal as we can set for our nation," Carter said.

BUT TWO RECENT REPORTS from Congress' General Accounting Office and the Office of Technology Assessment label Energy Department solar efforts confused and mismanaged and say the administration still hasn't come up with a plan for reaching the 20 percent target. The administration also scaled back its budget commitment as solar power took a back seat to demands from the oil and coal industries for a gigantic Supporters still insist the future for sun power is bright. Yet heat from the sun doesn't contribute even 1 percent of America's energy. The government Transfer of all powers to Puerto Rico urged

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.N. Special Committee on Decolonization adopted a Cuban-Iraqi resolution Wednesday urging the United States to allow for the speedy "transfer of all powers to the people of Puerto Rico." The vote was 12-0, with 11 abstentions.

Venezuela, which had abstained from voting on a similar Cuban-Iraqiresolution adopted last year, joined the majority voting for this resolution. Chile, another Latin American committee member, abstained. The United States is not a member of the committee.

Like last year's resolution, the new one is not expected to be binding. The General Assembly merely took note of last year's resolution, which was adopted by an 11-0 vote, with 12 abstentions.

The resolution, formally introduced Tuesday by Cuban Ambassador Raul Roa-Kouri, "reaffirms the inalienable right of the people of Puerto Rico to self-determination and independence" and demands an end to all U.S. military activities on the Caribbean island-commonwealth of the United States.

The United States maintains that Puerto Ricans had exercised their right to self-determination by voting overwhelmingly in favor of commonwealth status in two plebiscites over the past 28 years. In a statement issued Monday, the U.S. Mission to the United Nations reiterated Washington's continued support for Puerto Rican self-determination, including the option of statehood.

At the same time, the United States cautioned the committee against interfering in the Caribbean island's internal affairs.

'It is essential that the people of Puerto Rico be afforded the greatest degree of fairness, freedom and impartiality in expressing their points of view in any future status plebiscite," the American statement said. "The United States therefore continues to oppose any attempts by the committee ... to prejudge Puerto Rico's future through recommending any action that, if carried out, would tend to limit the political status options open to the people of Puerto Rico.

Venezula's ambassador, German Nava-Carrillo, explaining the switch in his country's vote, said support for Puerto Rican self-determination and independence outweighed any reservations Venzuela might have had regarding certain committee procedural matters.

After the vote, Juan Mari-Bras of the Puerto Rican Socialist Party told a reporter the Venezuelan switch indicated that the issue of the Caribbean island's independence was emerging as a "Latin American issue." This, he said, will have to be taken into account by the United States in formulating its future policy toward the commonwealth.

Failure of the United States to act on the committee's resolution, he added, will prompt moves to bring up the question before the full U.N. General

The vote followed two days of committee hearings at which more than 20 speakers of various Puerto Rican nationalist and other special interest groups supported new moves toward changing Puerto Rico's commonwealth status

It marked the 11th time the committee has taken up the question since its

Hill to urge board to give Medicaid contract to Perot

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Former Attorney General John Hill says he will urge the State Board on Monday to end the fighting over Texas' $400 million-a-year Medicaid contract by giving it to H. Ross Perot. "I do expect to make a presentation, particularly about the underlying merits of the case - what is in the best interests of the taxpayers," said Hill, who lost a race for governor in 1978 and now handles some of Perot's legal business.

> · AN EFFICIENT, CONVENIENT. RELIABLE, PORTABLE SOURCE OF OXYGEN-WHENEVER AND WHEREVER NEEDED

Hill said he advised Perot to visit each of the three board members after they voted July 15 to give the contract to Bradford National Corp.

of New York City.
Department of Human Resources staff members and consultants said Bradford's bid would was $20 million to $50 million cheaper than Perot's. Perot made the visits, and the board reopened the contract on July 29. It will hold a public hearing Monday on the issue.

estimates only 60,000 homes have solar water heaters or solar space heat-

But when energy people talk of solar power they include an array of renewable resources with ties to the sun - wind power, water power, ocean currents, firewood and other vegetable matter - termed "biomass." Of those, only wood burning and power from hydroelectric dams account for any significant part of U.S. energy - about 6 percent last year. To meet the 20 percent goal, here is what the Energy Department believes will happen in the next 20 years: SOLAR - Compared to today's 60,000 sun-using homes, 47 million homes will have solar collectors to heat water and rooms. TWO MILLION HOMES will have photovoltaic cells - silicon disks developed for the space program that convert sunlight into electricity. About 50 utilities will be using devices similar to a $123 million "power tower" being constructed in Barstow, Calif. The tower, composed of 1,400 mirrors, will channel sunlight to boil water and run generators.

These will produce 5 percent of the nation's energy demand. BIOMASS - This covers everything from producing gasohol from corn crops to turning garbage into fuel. Many experts believe this will be the area of most growth.

Use of woodburning stoves is expected to grow from 3 million homes to 11 million in 10 years.

Gasohol - 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent ethanol produced from grain would supply 13 percent of the country's gasoline in 2000, replacing 1.5 million barrels of oil daily. The country currently imports 6 million barrels daily. Plants would turn a portion of the 50 million tons of manure from farms into

ALL BIOMASS FUELS would grow from the 2 percent of energy they supply now to 8 percent in 10 years. WIND - The handful of giant wind propellers in pilot projects would increase to as many as 25,000, producing electricity to meet 4 percent of WATER POWER - Many of the 50,000 small dams now idle will be fitted with generators to boost hydroelectric output 20 percent. A few small plants will generate electricity from ocean currents.

While the Energy Department doesn't expect its predictions to be exact, officials believe overall goals will be met, citing an Office of Technology Assessment report that puts the potential for biomass fuels at 20 percent in 2000 instead of the 8 percent DOE predicts.

"We didn't get the 20 percent figure by pushing every solar option to the limit. Some of our projections are relatively conservative," says Dr. Thomas Stelson, assistant secretary of energy for the solar program. "With the rising oil prices, we are much more optimistic about the future than a year ago."

ENERGY OFFICIALS MEASURE whether innovations pay off by comparing the cost of the energy they produce with the cost of an equivalent amount produced by a barrel of oil. With foreign oil at $32 a barrel, solar looks good. Oil would have to sell for $12 to $25 per barrel to be as good a buy as many solar technologies That compares with an estimate of between $32 and $40 a barrel for synthetic fuels from coal and shale.

Those figures did little to slow the synthetic fuels bandwagon, pushed by the administration. Congress agreed to spend $20 billion over the next five years and up to $88 billion by 1992 on "synfuels" — making the program the country's most expensive energy effort.

The program irked solar advocates, who say Carter's budget does not match his solar rhethoric. Carter cut his proposed solar research budget 3 percent.

Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., a solar proponent, called Carter's 20 percent solar goal "a sham and illusion.

In a memo establishing priorities for the next five years, Energy Secretary Charles Duncan indicated various renewable resource programs would receive 8 percent of the budget, compared to 19 percent for fossil fuels and 24 percent for nuclear research.

One Energy Department source said those figures reflect the clout of oil,

"If you are at the top of a mound of activity you tend to focus your attention on the things that can cause you the most trouble," he said, asking anonymity. 'The oil, coal and nuclear industries can cause trouble. The solar industry couldn't cause Secretary Duncan to blow his nose."

WITH ANNUAL SALES of $150 million, the solar industry hardly matches its competitors. But groups like the 35,000-member Solar Lobby rely on political leverage from highly visible support of Jane Fonda, Robert Redford and Eddie Albert, and from polls showing that 95 percent of Americans favor solar power

"Solar power used to be perceived as a long-haired, hippie-freak effort," says Richard Munson, coordinator for Solar Lobby. "But the constituency is now expanding from crazy backyard tinkerers to the Harvard Business

Despite setbacks, solar proponents have won battles. Biomass programs to convert grain crops into gasohol got a funding boost as part of Carter's effort to calm farmers angry about the Russian grain

Also, almost unnoticed in the synthetic fuels bill was a $3 billion Solar Energy and Energy Conservation Bank to provide homeowners and businesses

Congress also increased the maximum tax credit to homeowners for solar installations, but fewer than 5 percent have used the credit and a companion $300 credit for making homes more energy efficient.

One reason so few take the credits is the cost. A solar hot water heater costs up to $4,500 and solar space heating systems can cost $20,000. It takes up to 20 years to save enough on fuel to pay back that investment.

But solar advocates say costs will come down and the economics will look better with each increase in the price of other fuels.

THEY SAY DRAMATIC increases in solar power are inevitable as economic benefits become more apparent. "People are coming to grips with the fact that $2-a-barrel oil is a phenomenon of the past," says Denis Hayes, director of the government's Solar Energy Research Institute. The Energy Department is funding a National Solar Heating and Cooling Information Center to list contractors willing to provide references from previous customers. The toll-free telephone number is 800-523-2929.

market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - Investor enthusiasm for oil issues overshadowed concerns over rising interest rates and pushed the stock market higher for the second straight day today.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.29 at 950.60 as advances led declines 3-1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

NYSE volume jumped to 22.1 million shares after two hours of trading from 16.7 million at noon Wednesday.

Phillips Petroleum led the NYSE most-active, up 1/8 at 40%, while Mobil was ahead % at 72% and Kerr McGee up 2% at 78. Texaco, which announced an oil find in the German North Sea, was off 1/4 at 371/4.

Computer issues were higher, continuing Wednesday's strong gains. International Business Machines rose 1/8 to 67 and Texas Instruments climbed % to 120%. Sperry jumped 1 to 54%. Precious metals issues turned mixed after recording sharp advances a session before. Dome Mines rose 11/2 to 101/2 but Homestake fell 1% to 67%.

The NYSE's composite index rose 0.54 to 71.55. At the American Stock Ex-

TODAY'S ANSWER

BUSINESS MIRROR Most statistics are misleading

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Personal income rose $28.6 billion or 1.4 percent in July, but those who work for a living aren't likely to celebrate by going on a spending spree. They know they didn't get it. They have learned that statistics mislead when taken out of context. And they know also that they should suspect signs of good news when their own senses tell them that we are in an economic predica-

Suspicions aroused, they ask how personal income could go off so very sharply in its own direction while other economic measures fell?

When, for example, unemployment has been rising, and second-quarter economic output fell at a near-record rate of 9 percent, and corporate profits fell more sharply than in any quarter in 25 years.

When July's factory operating rate fell to 74.2 percent, the lowest since July 1975. When final sales were off. When some of the biggest and once most successful companies were struggling to survive. But most perplexing, when wages and salaries in the very same month of July fell $1.7 billion, and the income of farmers didn't rise at all. The confusion is cleared up — but not the problem — when a breakdown of the personal income figure shows that all but $4 billion of the increase resulted from what are called transfer payments. Transfer payments are aptly named, being payments transferred to people other than those who produced the income. To beneficiaries of Social Security, to recipients of welfare, veterans benefits, unemployment. Transfer payments leaped in July, mainly as a consequence of a 14.3 percent cost-of-living adjustment for Social Security recipients, an increase that wage-earners might be denied under wage-price The situation, that of non-productive members of society retaining or improving their standards while economic life deteriorates for others, may be only temporary, but it generates some serious question-How far, for example, can the country carry its propensity to profer growing benefits on a growing population of retirees without raising economic production, and the efficiency with which it produces goods? Isn't it futile to expect the latest increase in personal income to fuel greater sales and hoist the country out of recession? Especially when recipients of transfer payments generally have to use most of their payments for living expenses rather than discretionary purchases? Should Social Security benefits be allowed to rise at such a rate, particularly since retirees are shielded from some of the increases - such as higher mortgage rates - included in the living cost For the moment it is easy to put off such questions as not immediately relevant. It is more comfortable to dismiss them because the answers may involve a degree of pain. Almost every family gets some Eventually, though, it seems that such questions will force their way into consideration because those who earn the money and produce the goods might

It's been a long time brewing. It certainly dates back at least to the consumer revolution of the 1960s when, it seems to have been decided, the consumer deserved to be treated better than the producer.

Now, belatedly, it is realized that the nation cannot continue to consume unless it produces. And that if he doesn't produce it will have outrageous infla-

The latest economic statistics suggest that if the lesson has been learned it isn't yet practiced. It isn't so much a matter of denying transfer payments as one of increasing production to pay for them.

Simpson College ready, willing to exchange gasoline for class

By VAL CORLEY

INDIANOLA, Iowa (AP) - Want to attend college part-time this fall but the cost of commuting got you down? Simpson College will pay for your gasoline up to $40 per course.

Tom Westbrook, special programs director, says the private college just south of Des Moines is trying to attract additional part-time students and started the office of special programs to see if it could be

"I thought about the reasons why people might not use our facility, how we could make it easier to buy into our product," he said Tuesday.

When Westbrook decided that the cost of commuting would hamper the enrollment of potential students outside the Indianola city limits, he proposed paying for gasoline and promptly dubbed the the program 'You Take the Class, We'll Pay the Gas."

"To my knowledge, we are the only one doing it," Westbrook said. "It's an experimental program we hope will pay off in the long run by an increase of part-time students.

"Primarily, it's an incentive for people to become acquainted with our new offerings," he said.

Simpson, like most small private colleges, is looking for ways to increase income while the number of college-age students is declining. So it is trying to attract part-time students during the weekday as well as in traditional night and Saturday classes.

Besides the gasoline rebate, the United Methodistrelated school is developing other services previously not available to part-time students, such as career counseling and academic advising.

The size of gasoline rebates to part-time students will depend on how many classes the student is taking, where they live and how often they are required to drive to the campus

Westbrook said the gasoline rebate will vary from $5 up to $40 a three semester hour class. Tuition at Simpson is $250 for a three-hour class or $83.33 a credit

First word of the new program was announced Monday. And Tuesday, Westbrook said the telephone calls began.

"We've got a bunch of telephone calls, requests for classes (offered) and to find out what's going on," he

And Westbrook said he expects interest to climb once Simpson begins to advertise the program that starts with the Sept. 11 fall term.

The special programs director said Simpson did not expect the gasoline rebates to cost the school anything because of increased enrollment. "Hopefully, we're going to be making some bucks," Westbrook said.

College costs keep soaring

NEW YORK (AP) - One of the most important concerns of collegebound students and their parents today is not how to get into college, but rather how to pay for it. The costs of college have gone up each year as fast as the skyrocketing inflation rate and have risen approximately 90 percent in the past decade.

According to the annual survey of more than 3,200 colleges conducted by the College Board's College Scholarship Service, total costs for resident students this fall will increase 10.3 percent at private four-year colleges and 8.1 percent at public four-year colleges. These increases will bring average total costs at these institutions to $6,082 and $5,383 a year respectively.

Students who attend public twoyear colleges will have average expenses of $3,123 if they are resident students and $2,753 if they commute. These costs represent an increase of 16 to 20 percent over 1979. It is important to know that these costs figures include all expenses tuition and fees, room and board, books and supplies, transportation and personal expenses. While these costs may seem steep, especially if they are multiplied by two or four years of college, parents who pay the bills should remember that what a college costs is not always what they will have to pay.

According to Joe Paul Case, director of program administration for CSS, students and their parents pay, on the average, 56 percent of the college bill. The other 44 percent is provided by federal, state, institutional, and private financial aid programs and by other sources such as Social Security and Veterans' Administration benefits. Families don't have to be poor to qualify for these sources of financial aid, but they do have to prove they need it. Need is the difference between what it costs to attend a particular college and what the family can contribute toward meeting these

While costs at different colleges vary, what the family can contribute doesn't change. For example, if it is determined that a family can contribute $900 toward the cost of college, that family's financial need at a college costing $3,000 would be $2,100, but at a college costing $6,000, it would be $5,100. If aid is awarded to cover the full need at both colleges, the family would pay $900 whether the student decided to go to the higher- or lowercost college.

Families should not rule out any college, even the more expensive and selective private colleges, because of cost. Colleges have different policies toward awarding aid and have varying amounts of money available. A prestigious institution like Duke University awards financial aid to about a third of its students, for example. And Bucknell University, while un-able to meet the financial aid needs of all needy students last year, was able to award aid to virtually all who applied this year.

Parents of high school juniors - or younger students - can plan ahead and get an early estimate of their eligibility for aid by participating in the College Board's Early Financial Aid Planning Service. This new service analyzes a family's financial aid information, offers tips on sources of aid, and provides an estimate of financial aid eligibility. To obtain a free application form send a stamped, self-addressed business envelope to Financial Aid Planning, Box 1175, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Seniors who are planning to apply for aid now for the fall of 1981 can pick up a copy of "Meeting College Costs" from their high school guidance office. This free booklet, prepared by the College Board, has worksheets to help students estimate their eligibili-

Young couples worried after pair disappears

FORT ATKINSON, Wis. (AP) — Worried young couples in this southern Wisconsin community of 10,000 are double-dating, triple-dating or just staying home since Timothy Hack and Kelly Drew were reported missing 10 days ago. There has been no trace of the two 19-year-olds despite a widespread search, and officials say they suspect foul play.

The couple disappeared after attending a wedding reception at a dance hall on Aug. 9 for one of Hack's buddies.

The next morning, Hack's locked car was found in the dance hall parking lot with his jacket, wallet and checkbook inside

"People are afraid, even the guys are worried," said Sara Leslie, 19, a friend of Miss Drew. "It used to be just girls but when it happens to a couple...It even makes you scared to walk from the car to the house. This has got the whole town bugged. People say, 'Oh my God, it could have been my children," she said. The Jefferson County Sheriff's Department is working with agents of the State Division of Criminal Investigation, "but so far nothing has turned up," Sheriff Keith L. Mueller said Tuesday. The families of the missing couple have not received any ransom demands. Friends and relatives discount speculation that they might have run away or eloped. Hack and Miss Drew, sweethearts since they were sophomores, graduated from Fort Atkinson High School in 1979. Hack, active in the Future Farmers of America, recently won an FFA proficiency award in agriculture mechanics. Self-employed in custom combining, he also farmed with his father. Miss Drew worked as a hairdresser in Fort Atkinson since graduating from beauty school in June, and she also worked part-time at a local Dairy Queen "Kelly had just gotten a car, she had just finished school, and she had a new job," said Miss Leslie. "Besides, she told me she didn't want to get married yet because she had her whole life ahead of her.'

David Hack, Timothy's father, said, "My son cared too much for his car to leave it behind. Along with that, he left $100,000 in farm equipment including a combine he bought to use for jobs on other farms in the area....he had too much going for him in the coming weeks to just run

The Hacks speculate that strangers traveling on Interstate 94, near the dance hall, could have abducted the pair. Interstate truckers have distributed posters describing the missing ple and a reward, now more than $4,300, has been offered for informa-

Christopher Robin — He's surviving Winnie-the-Pooh

DARTMOUTH, England (AP) -The real Christopher Robin, says he was "embarrassed all my life" about being the boy in the poems and Winnie-the-Pooh stories of his fati. er,

A.A. Milne. "But that's all finished now," he says. "I had to get into the second half of the 20th century." Christopher Robin Milne will be 60 on Thursday. Stick-thin, gray-haired, bespectacled, still showing a trace of his childhood stammer, he is a bookseller turned writer, whose innate shyness doesn't start to fade until he has chatted for at least an hour.

The little boy pictured by his father kneeling at the foot of the bed to s ay his prayers in real life spent five years in the British army in World War II, saw half a dozen deserts, bu ilt bridges, defused bombs, survived shellfire that killed and mutilated all around him and took a hea dwound from shrapnel in Italy.

THE BATTERED teddy bear calle d Winnie-the-Pooh has survived too, bu t that bear of very little brain, as his creator said of him, now lives across the Atlantic. Pooh, Eeyore, Piglet and other members of the family are in a showcase at Dutton's, the New York publishers of the Pooh books.

Milne has been invited to visit the United States but has never gone. Would he go to see Pooh if he did? "No, I wouldn't," he said firmly. What would I expect to find that I don't already know? "I grew away from Christopher Robin when I was 8 or 9 years old. That was 50 years ago. But the tourists who come to the bookshop don't want to think of me as anyone else," he said ruefully. Just then, a voice winged between the shelves, bringing temporary halt to the interview. "There he is. Go and shake hands and you can say you've shaken hands with Christopher

"Let's go upstairs," said Milne, leading the way to the top of his Harbor Bookshop in Dartmouth, a plot of picture-book Devon on the River Dart estuary. The harbor wall is lined with contemporary Christopher Robins dangling fishing lines for crabs.

MILNE AND HIS wife, Lesley, came to Dartmouth in 1951 after an unhappy period in which he couldn't find a job to suit him. For a time, he'd sold lampshades in a London store. "I hadn't been trained for anything," he said. "My name was fanous all over the world but it made me miserable to be pointed out as the son of my father.

"I wanted to escape from his fame and from 'Christopher Robin.' We ran away from London and the bookshop we opened was a success. We have been happy here, even if it did mean wrapping up those four books for customers. Those four books - books which made Alan Alexander Milne and his only c'nild famous - sold and are still selling in millions, translated into more than 20 languages.

The first came out in 1924 - "When we we're very young" - a collection of 44 verses in which the boy and his nann y go to Buckingham Palace and the f amous bear — bought at Harrods whe n Christopher Robin was a year old - makes his bow.

In 1925, the Milnes moved from London to the Sussex woodlands around Cotchford Farm, and there A.A. Milne set his next book - "Winnie-the-Pooh" - in what the younger Milne still fondly recalls as the beautiful setting of "my idyllic child-

MORE POEMS followed in 1927 with "Now we are six," and more stories in 1928 in "The House at Pooh

"Right from the start, journalists visited us to interview my father and to see me," Milne recalled. "There were a lot of silly stories. I was teased anD boys 'ad cal out, 'Where's your teddy bear?"

His father died in 1956, his mother, Dorothy, in 1971. In 1974, when he was 54, the son finally exorcised Christopher Robin. "I did it by writing a book, 'The Enchanted Places,' which was the story of my childhood. I didn't know what I really thought until I stopped being him. Every child wants to grow

He said part of the reason for writi ng the book was a feeling he "had to provide something" after the shock of inding that his mother destroyed all h is father's papers and personal poss essions to keep people from prying i nto his private affairs.

He now thinks his mother may have b een right, "after what academics a re doing with the lives of people like J.M. Barrie, Lewis Carroll and Thomas Hardy.

When I see them psychoanalyzing Winnie-the-Pooh and my father, as if i'l was Shakespeare, I think it is all r ather foolish," he said.

Milne dislikes the commercializing of Pooh and said he gets nothing from it. He has just sold part of his share of the Pooh Trust, which receives the royalties from his father's writings, to the Royal Literary Fund, founded in 1790 to help writers fallen on hard

He is giving up bookselling to write more and to help care for his 24-yearold spastic daughter, Clare.

Men who don't register for draft to be prosecuted

DALLAS (AP) — Young men who did not register for the draft will be tracked down and prosecuted, Selective Service director Bernard Rostker told a veteran's organization.

Rostker, speaking at the annual national AMVETS convention Tuesday, said the draft registration went "extremely well." It was his first public speech since completion of the registration program.

The number of registrants has not been tabulated, but Rostker told the veterans he is confident the "vast majority" of young men required to register did so. 'We will endeavor to locate those who did not register, and if necessary they will be prosecuted," he said, "We believe that is the only fair thing to do. "Failure to register is not a trivial act. It is not a victimless crime," Rostker said. The victims, he said, are young men who registered and stand greater chance of being drafted because others refused.

"Specifically, there are young men who registered who will be drafted because other young men violated the law and refused to register," Rostker

"In the name of fairness, those who fail to register will be identified, and their records will be forwarded to the Department of Justice," he added.

In an interview prior to his speech, Rostker said figures should be compiled in about two weeks to determine how many of the between 3.8 million and 3.9 million men who were supposed to register did so. Young men who were born in 1960 and 1961 were required to register by appearing at post offices and filling out a form.

Rostker, a deputy assistant secre-tary of the Navy for manpower and reserve affairs before being named Selective Service director in November 1979, said once registration is completed Selective Service could issue 34,000 induction orders per day, beginning within hours after Congress approved the action.

"The last time we had registration not connected with a draft was in 1973. That year 77 percent of the men registered on time and 98 percent had registered by the end of a year," Rostker said.
