'Catastrophic' strike threatened in Poland by adamant workers

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Striking Polish workers, still adamant in their demands, resumed negotiations with the communist government today and raised the threat of a "catastrophic" nationwide general strike if they are not given free trade unions.

Poland's chief negotiator, seeking to defuse the 13-day-old crisis, insisted the government was doing all it could to solve economic problems and indicated a proposed reform of the state-controlled unions would allow the workers the right to strike, one of their main demands.

The threat of a general strike came just hours after the workers won yet another concession, forcing the government to restore telephone links between the strike area on the Baltic coast and the rest of Poland.

Strike leaders said that concession might soften their position on some items, but they remained firm in demanding trade unions independent of government control.

Florian Wisniewski, a member of the Inter-Factory Strike Committee, warned that continued refusal by the government to meet the demand might trigger a general strike, "and that would be a catastrophe."

It was not known whether the militant workers in Gdansk could orchestrate a general strike nationwide.

Some 20,000 workers at strike headquarters in the Lenin Shipyards here listened as Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Jagielski sought to limit talks to economic issues, leaving out the political items. The talks were broadcast by loudspeaker.

But strike leader Lech Walesa insisted that the discussion center on the demand for free unions, saying if that problem were solved, "then the others will not be so difficult" and some could be dropped.

Walesa told the strikers who occupied the Gdansk shipyards Aug. 14, "We are not waiting for small achievements but for big ones. We stay here for five years if need be."

In other developments, state-controlled Szczecin Radio reported the strike situation at that western port was "beginning to be worse," and residents were growing weary. It said street cleaners joined the strike.

Sources in Gdansk said the strike had now closed 480 enterprises, up from about 400 on Monday. Some estimated the number of strikers doubled to 300,000. Up to 200,000 more workers may be idled because of the lack of public transportation.

In Moscow, a Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman declared today that Soviet-Polish relations remained "good," and said the "events" taking place in Poland are an internal affair.

Polish-born Pope John Paul II, in a message celebrating a Polish feast day, assured his fellow Poles he was near them "in spirit and prayer," the Vatican said. Without direct mention of the strikes, the pope said the church needed strength "particularly in the present moment... for the good of the entire nation and the strengthening of its life in peace and justice."

Meanwhile, the government-controlled Central Council of Trade Unions began meeting in Warsaw, and informed sources said trade union boss Jan Szydlak, already fired from the Politburo, was certain to be stripped of his union job amid possible sweeping changes in the trade union structure.

The sources, who requested anonymity, said they believed the 40-member presidium of the Trade Union Council would be sharply curtailed and include many new members considered more acceptable by the strikers.

Negotiations in Gdansk recessed at mid-day today so both sides could further define what they meant by a "free trade union," and were set to resume later in the day.

Talks resumed after the government, which at first refused to restore communications from Gdansk, bowed to pressure from the strikers. Calls were placed successfully to Warsaw shortly after the concession was granted.

Sources suspect the strikers needed the telephones to coordinate with other strike committees in Szczecin, to the west on the East German border, and in Elblag, east of Gdansk near the Soviet Union.

The strike began when meat prices rose after the government's decision to abandon subsidies July 1. As the walkout expanded, so did the central strike committee's demands to include social and political reforms.

Polish 'events' purely internal, Soviets say

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman said today the "events" taking place in Poland are "purely an internal affair" of that country.

Responding to requests by foreign correspondents for a statement on Moscow's policy toward Poland, the spokesman said:

"At the present time, as before, Soviet-Polish relations are characterized by full mutual understanding and cooperation in all fields. As for the events taking place in Poland, they are purely an internal affair of that state." He did not elaborate.

The Soviet news media have taken a highly cautious approach to the situation in Poland, where tens of thousands of workers have gone on strike to demand more money, their own trade unions independent of the communist government and other economic and social reforms.

Soviet press accounts have been confined largely to reprinting official Polish speeches and communiques.

There has been no public indication that Moscow plans to intervene in the Polish crisis, as it did in the Hungarian uprising of 1956 and in Czechoslovakia in 1968 to end the liberalization program of the communist regime there.

On Monday, the Soviet news agency Tass charged that a "slandering propaganda campaign" over Poland by Western countries amounted to an attempt by them to "crudely and unparadonably interfere in the internal affairs of a sovereign socialist state."

Soviet newspapers have reprinted parts of an important speech by Polish leader Edward Gierek on Sunday night but excluded some of his promises on trade union freedom.

Versions of the speech published in the Communist Party daily Pravda and other papers all lacked a paragraph reported earlier by Tass on its service for non-Soviet subscribers. The Tass paragraph missing from Soviet papers quoted Gierek as promising "fully democratic and secret" trade union elections.

One newspaper, the large-circulation daily Sovetskaya Rossiya, also dropped from the Tass account Gierek's comment that workers' interests must always be the main goal of trade unions.

The newspaper accounts of Gierek's speech also ignored his references to major changes in Polish government policy and in the national leadership. Soviet newspapers previously published, however, formally worded Polish communiques on the government changes.

Two youth-oriented dailies today printed nothing about the Polish crisis. Western analysts here believe Soviet caution in reporting Polish developments reflects Kremlin concern over the effect of such news on Soviet readers.

County OKs 1981 spending plan

Budget 17 percent over last year's

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

The Midland County commissioners got no feedback from the public Monday, when they unanimously approved the county's $6.68 million budget for 1981.

The budget represents a 17 percent overall increase over 1980's budget of $5.69 million and reflects a 12 percent pay raise for the county's approximately 250 employees.

"Anybody have any comment?"

asked County Judge Bill Anders.

"Ms. Wallace, you?" he asked of radio newswoman Cathy Wallace.

"Nothing still," she said.

"Anyone at all?" the judge asked again of the sparse showing of the public.

"Anyone have any comments, discussion?" again asked the judge.

"Any of the commissioners?"

"This is almost as exciting as the tax hearing," commented Commissioner Durward Wright.

The commissioners then moved to another item on the agenda, setting the tax rate at 95 cents per $100 valuation, based on 32 percent of the fair market value. The rate duplicates that of the current tax year.

"Finally, someone," Laurence Lee — from the public spoke up.

"Sometimes the static tax rate doesn't mean there's no increase in taxes," said Lee.

"Absolutely no increase, from top to bottom" on real property taxes, assured the judge.

Property valuations, except for new businesses, new residences and for improvements, are unchanged from a year ago. Mineral valuations, however, increased substantially.

After the commissioners had carried out the bulk of their business, Wright recognized Lee.

"Mr. Lee," he said, "We appreciate your being our public today."

"Folks are either apathetic or else they agree with what we are doing," Wright suggested. "I hope it is the latter."

In other business, the commissioners — Appointed Louis W. "Willie" Stumberg to succeed Travis Harney as the Midland County agriculture extension agent. Stumberg will work with County Agent Charlie Green.

Stumberg, who currently is assigned to Coleman County by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, replaces Harney, who returned to his hometown of Wolfthorpe, near Lubbock, to teach school.

Listened while Bill Shaner, past president of board of directors of Meals on Wheels, thanked the commissioners' court for funding the program in 1981 with $11,700. "I want to thank you for continuing your support of Meals on Wheels," he said.

—Approved the 1979 delinquent tax roll.

—Approved discounts for early payment of county taxes: 3 percent discount if paid in October, 2 percent discount if paid in November and 1 percent if paid in December. In January, the net amount is due. After that, a penalty is exacted.

Unemployment rate lowest in the state

Midland's unemployment rate in July dropped to 3.6 percent, giving it the lowest rate in the state, according to a spokesman with the Texas Employment Commission.

And the commission reported filling 1,226 job openings in July, setting a record for a 30-day period.

The civilian labor force for Midland County jumped to an all-time high of 50,150 in July. This represents a monthly increase of 1.1 percent and a yearly growth of 7.4 percent, said the TEC spokesman.

Of this number, 1,820 were unemployed, down from the 2,450, or 4.9 percent, reported in June. Total employment was 48,330, which represents a 2.5 percent increase from June and a 7.7 percent jump for the year.

In July 1979, Midland reported 1,810 persons unemployed and 44,870 working for an unemployment rate of 3.9 percent.

The statewide unemployment rate is 5.6 percent, the national rate is 7.9 percent.

The TEC spokesman reported non-agricultural wage and salary employment in the county rose to 42,250 in July. This is an 8.6 percent increase over the same period a year ago.

The manufacturing sector reported a net gain of 20 jobs due to an increase in new orders. Non-manufacturing showed a net gain of 230 over the previous month.

Advances in employment also were recorded by mining, transportation, trade, finance and government. Construction employment declined slightly as some sub-contractors were between jobs.

The TEC office here reported placing applicants in hard-to-fill positions, such as civil engineer, computer operator, retail store manager, laboratory technician, arc welder, combination welder, electrician and plumber. Current openings are in the areas of oil and gas drafter, manager trainee, clerk typist, sales representative, secretary, cook, machinist and welder.

Endorsements in the name of Jesus Christ condemned

FORT WORTH (AP) — Endorsement of political candidates in the name of Jesus Christ constitutes a "serious abuse of both religion and people," three local ministers say.

While not mentioning any group by name, the three directed their criticism at conservative preachers who have urged Christians to become politically involved through such forums as the National Public Affairs Briefing last week in Dallas. Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan, the only candidate to speak, was given an implied endorsement there by Hurst television evangelist James Robison.

The three, who said they met with about 20 ministers before calling a press conference Monday, were joined in the audience by several clergymen, including Rabbi Robert Schur of Beth El Congregation.

"The impression is being given that in a political contest, God can be on one side," said the Rev. Albert Penneybacker, senior minister for University Christian Church.

Man dies here of injuries received in cycle accident

A 19-year-old Midland man, injured early Saturday morning in a car-motorcycle accident in Midland, died Monday night of injuries received in the accident.

According to reports, Stephen Squires of 305 W. Parker Ave. was injured when his motorcycle collided with a vehicle, driven by Mark W. Vincent of 3001 N. Midland Drive, in the 3200 block of West Wadley Avenue. The accident occurred at 2:20 a.m.

Police said Squires and Vincent were both westbound on Wadley, approaching the intersection of Whitney Drive. The intersection was wet from water run-off.

The two vehicles collided as Squires was attempting to change lanes. The motorcycle was knocked onto its side. It struck a curb and slid 131 feet along and on top of the curb, coming to rest in the right lane. At the point of impact, Squires was thrown from the motorcycle, landing on the hood of the car. He then rolled off the right side of the hood, landing 49 feet from impact.

The car left 40 feet of skid marks after impact, officers said.

Squires was taken to Midland Memorial with head injuries and was listed in critical condition Saturday night.

Alaska debating statehood status

Just 21 years after winning a hard-fought statehood battle, Alaskans were going to the polls today to decide whether their relationship with Uncle Sam has been a success. Meanwhile, voters in Alaska and two other states were casting their ballots in senatorial and congressional primaries.

Among the alternatives would be a return to territory status. Alaska was a territory before becoming a state in 1959. Another possibility was secession from the union, but there appeared to be few backers for that plan.

Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan, right, takes a question from reporters during a news conference in Los Angeles Monday. He and his running mate, George Bush, in trying to clarify their views on China policy, said they would end "petty practices" of the Carter administration in pretending the U.S. maintains no official ties with Taiwan. (AP Laserphoto)

Reagan backs away from issue of Taiwan, courts Teamster vote

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan hopes he has stilled the uproar over his policy toward Taiwan by backing away from his earlier calls to establish an official U.S. government liaison office on the island nation. The Republican presidential nominee said Monday he does not advocate granting formal government status to the private institute that represents U.S. interests on Taiwan.

by his side at a news conference, Reagan sought to patch over the apparent contradiction between his earlier Taiwan statements and Bush's attempts to reassure leaders in Peking last week. The official New China News Agency labeled Bush's trip a failure and said his assurances were canceled out by Reagan's repeated remarks.

Politics: Land of disenchantment

John B. Anderson, the unhappy Republican, has signed on an equally disenchanted Democrat as a running mate, but he still may be left a lonely bystander when it comes to the presidential debates of 1980. Anderson capped days of speculation by naming former Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin to the No. 2 spot on his independent ticket Monday.

resulted more from semantics than substance. Reagan, moreover, charged that Carter, not him, had been hypocritical on the issue. But Reagan and Carter appeared headed toward a meeting of minds on at least one score, namely that of restricting any White House debates to themselves.

Lucey, in Washington, declared Anderson has a real chance to win. "I am not a champion of lost causes or hopeless crusades," he said. "John Anderson's campaign has made tremendous strides." At the same time, said Lucey, "I am a Democrat today. I was a Democrat yesterday, and I expect to be a Democrat on Nov. 5."

Firms vie for $2 billion contract

Agency wants help in making a decision

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Human Resources has decided to hire a consultant to help it choose between a New York firm and H. Ross Perot's insurance company for Texas' $2 billion four-year Medicaid contract.

Staff members of the Department of Human Resources and a hired actuary, said Bradford's bid came out $20 million to $50 million less than Perot's over the four-year contract period.

thought the board was entering a binding contract. Nothing was signed, but the staff was instructed to work on contract terms with Bradford.

Oatmeal Festival slated Saturday

BETRAM, Texas (AP) — The third annual Oatmeal Festival, a sort of a protest of the methods used by mapmakers, is scheduled Saturday in this town located about 40 miles northwest of Austin.

The festival was begun three years ago to protest the removal of Oatmeal, Texas, population approximately 33, from state road maps.

Oatmeal's townspeople said if they could draw enough attention to their community, perhaps the mapmakers would put Oatmeal back on the map, according to Laura R. Draeger of the National Oats Co.

Highlights of the festival will include an oatmeal sculpturing contest, a world championship 3-minute oatmeal eating contest and an oatmeal bake-off.

Former Attorney General John Hill, representing Perot, called the conduct of the New York company's chairman "outrageous and irresponsible."

By a 2-0 vote Monday, with Raul Jimenez of San Antonio abstaining, the board delayed its final decision until Oct. 15.

Monday's four-hour board meeting was filled with angry charges and countercharges as Perot's National Heritage Insurance Co. and Bradford National Corp of New York City vied for the contract.

Bradford maintains it received a legally binding contract when the board voted July 15 to give its Medicaid business to Bradford.

"I did not feel I was awarding any contract," said board Chairman Hilmar Moore.

The board decided Monday to pay a consulting firm up to $100,000 to evaluate the bidding process, size up the bids and tell the board which one would be the least costly for the taxpayers.

National Heritage has held the group insurance contract to pay medical bills for 700,000 Texas welfare recipients since 1977 and says it has saved the state millions of dollars through cost control measures.

Bradford's chairman, Peter Del Col, asserted National Heritage's bid was "tainted" by Perot's one-on-one visits to each of the three board members after the July 15 action.

Moore interrupted Del Col to assert that Del Col had telephoned him at his home in Richmond about the contract.

"No, never. I don't even know where you live," Del Col shot back.

Moore said the man on the telephone called between July 15 and July 19, identified himself as Del Col and asked what was happening with regard to the contract.

"It was probably somebody from EDS (Electronic Data Systems, parent company of National Heritage)," Del Col said. He offered to take a lie detector test to prove he did not make the call.

Perot told reporters, "I am sure when the dust clears, somebody from Bradford called Hilmar Moore. I'm sure it was not Peter Del Col."

As for Del Col's assertion it probably was someone from EDS, Perot said, "We don't do things like that. Anybody who knows anything about EDS knows that."

Hill said it was clear from the record of the July 15 action that nobody

State agency goes airborne to locate illegal industrial sites

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Department of Water Resources has taken to the sky in search of illegal industrial waste dump sites, and the agency's executive director says the "search and destroy" missions are a big success.

"We think we found 15 with those escapades," Harvey Davis told the House Subcommittee on Hazardous Wastes on Monday. "We are catching bigger fish than I anticipated."

The initial flights in the rented planes covered Nueces, Jefferson and Liberty counties, and were completed last week. The plan is to find illegal dumps and abandoned dumps the state did not know about.

It costs about $500 per county to rent the plane, he said. The aircraft fly low enough to allow ordinary photographs to be taken. Davis also said TDWR is using "some sophisticated stuff from NASA."

He said the flights have been called "search and destroy" missions, although nothing is really destroyed.

Eventually, TDWR hopes to fly over the entire state. However, the first efforts will be aimed at the metropolitan areas, East Texas and the coastal region, according to Davis.

Once the sites are located, ground crews return for further study. Davis said the hardest part is finding out who used the site.

"We may know that one particular company was dumping there, but maybe there were 15 others using it," he said.

Bush to speak in Texas

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Vice presidential candidate George Bush has agreed to speak to delegates at the Republican State Convention scheduled here Sept. 5-6.

City councilman Van Henry Archer, chairman of the Reagan-Bush campaign in Bexar County, said that Bush would spend the night in San Antonio and then address a session of the convention on Sept. 6.

Bush's wife, Barbara, will arrive on Sept. 4 and spend the next day campaigning in San Antonio, Archer said.

It's a nasty rerun

Like the rerun of a movie you've seen before and didn't really enjoy the first time, a nasty little episode out of this country's recent past reared its head again not long ago when a hijacker informed the pilot and passengers aboard a jetliner that the aircraft was going, instead of its planned destination, to Cuba.

Then, like an uncontrollable rash, hijackings to Cuba spread like wildfire, three occurring in one day alone.

All of the hijackers apparently are Cuban refugees who came to the United States earlier this year illegally during a mass exodus and who now choose to endanger the lives of innocent people just to return to Cuba.

When hijackings were almost everyday occurrences in the early and mid-1970s, the United States was slow to react with tough meaasures. The result was the spread of airplane hijackings and increasing danger for anyone who chose to fly to their destination.

But when we got serious with hijackers, meted out harsh penalties and installed sophisticated airport security devices, hijackings dropped to almost nothing in a short period of time.

That should be our course of action in the present wave of hijackings, or skyjackings as air piracy became known in the '70s.

We have nothing against unhappy Cubans returning to Fidel Castro's island "paradise." But they should do so by legal means.

If they endanger the lives of innocent Americans in their efforts to return to Cuba, we should deal with them suitably and harshly.

This is one rerun we certainly don't enjoy.

Another record year

More good news for Midland! It isn't even September and already the value of building permits issued by the city — $95.4 million — has exceeded the new record of $94.3 million established for all of 1979.

City officials noted that this is the earliest in the year that the building permits total has surpassed the old year's record.

Last year, as we all recall, was a fantastic year for construction in the Tall City. New buildings, homes and offices seemed to almost spring from the earth. It also marked the third consecutive year during which the city's building permits established a new record.

And it can all be attributed to the unbelievably strong and stable Midland economy — an economy that is growing and finding new strength while the economy of the rest of the nation suffers spasms.

There's no doubt in our minds. This will be another record year for construction in Midland. And next year undoubtedly we will move into a period of yet bigger and greater growth.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Tuesday, August 26, the 239th day of 1980. There are 127 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Aug. 26, 1920, the 19th Amendment to the Constitution went into effect, giving women the same voting rights as men.

On this date: In 1316, artillery was said to have been used for the first time during the Battle of Crecy in northern France.

In 1847, Liberia was proclaimed an independent republic.

In 1937, Japan blockaded Chinese shipping.

In 1972, the 20th Summer Olympics opened in Munich, West Germany.

Ten years ago, demonstrations in behalf of women's equality took place across the nation, launching a campaign originated by Betty Friedan, founder of the National Organization for Women.

Five years ago, talks broke down between Rhodesia's white minority government and black nationalist leaders, with each side blaming the other.

Today's birthdays: Gen. (ret). Maxwell Taylor is 79 years old. Writer and editor Benjamin Bradlee is 59.

Thought for today: To speak kindly does not hurt the tongue. — a French proverb.

INSIDE REPORT:

Khomeini's dislike for Carter prevents hostage release

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A vendetta by Ayatollah Khomeini against President Carter is believed by U.S. intelligence sources to rule out any possibility of freedom for the American hostages before the Nov. 4 election — the first anniversary of the hostages' seizure.

Khomeini "nurtures a deep feeling approaching hatred toward President Carter," one intelligence report states. He calls him, publicly and privately, "the great Satan." That appears to rule out any possibility of a break in the hostage case before the election.

But the anti-Carter vendetta could boomerang. With the formation of a government in Tehran, Khomeini may press for public trials of the Americans, starting during the presidential campaign. They might create sympathy for Carter and boomerang on Khomeini's plot to humiliate him before the election.

THE 'STEALTH' STEAL

So secret was the Aug. 20 Senate Armed Services Committee hearing that Sen. John Stennis, committee chairman, excluded all but two highly-trusted staffers from the hearing room where top Pentagon officials unveiled the planned new bomber called "Stealth."

Stennis' well-meaning effort to keep details of the bomber secret exploded hours later. Many of its most intimate details were precisely explained on the evening television news and in newspapers the following day.

How come? The most credible explanation is the political one: Carter administration operatives, worried over attacks by Ronald Reagan against the president's decision to cancel the B-1 bomber, hoped that unveiling details of the "Stealth" would be a political counterpoint. Pentagon officials were both aghast and agonized by the premature publicity of a far-in-the-future bomber designed to penetrate all known Soviet defenses.

Evans

A footnote: Intelligence officials say the Soviet Union has targeted $100 billion in spending during the '80s on air defenses and that the premature disclosure of the "Stealth" will help them develop countermeasures.

ANDERSON'S VEEP

Rep. John Anderson's search for a suitable running mate seems to be bogged down following the reluctance of Boston Mayor Kevin White and Wisconsin Rep. Les Aspin to go to the altar with Anderson.

As we write this, the independent presidential candidate is desperately pressed to complete his ticket before Labor Day. If he waits longer, the polls that may decide whether he will share the debates with President Carter and Ronald Reagan could well

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Review of Iran raid reveals shortcomings

WASHINGTON — There was a moment of high danger last April as American commandos, huddled in helicopters, rattled toward Iran. Hundreds of miles away, Israeli intelligence specialists were routinely monitoring radio communications. They picked up some suspicious transmissions and easily detected the hostage rescue operation.

Acting quickly, they began sending out confusing signals to disguise the telltale U.S. transmissions. Incredibly, the Americans had overlooked this elementary precaution. But fortunately, the Israelis covered for them, or the ill-fated mission might have fared even worse.

This has been reported by a Pentagon evaluation team in their secret findings. The report speculates that the Soviets, their surveillance capabilities unmatched, must have detected the signals. But thanks to the Israelis, the Soviets may not have interpreted the sounds correctly.

The Pentagon planners also seemed not to anticipate that anything would go wrong during the rescue attempt, though it was a mission of mind-numbing complexity and split-second timing. So when the unexpected happened, as another top-secret report to Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, makes clear, the commanders of the operation had no preplanned responses ready.

Worse yet, there was such poor overall coordination that unit commanders made individual, sometimes contradictory, decisions. And when the officers on the scene sought guidance from the Pentagon on handling the unexpected developments, the top brass in Washington passed the buck right back to them.

"(It is) clear that there was very little planning for unexpected contingencies," the report to Tower states. "What do you do if you hit bad weather? What do you do if there is an emergency involving fire? What do you do if Iranians intervene? What do you do if you get down to five aircraft at Desert Site One? What do you do if some Iranians who observe the mission escape?"

All of these accidents — and more — happened. Yet no coordinated responses had been planned. Adding to the potential for confusion, the Senate report contends, was the fact that each unit commander — in charge of helicopters, transport planes and ground troops — "felt responsible for his part of the action and operated in isolation except when the force was married up for rehearsals."

The report explains: "Historically, it has been unwise to so fragment command. In this case, no one at Desert Site (One) was responsible for making decisions. The man who was, was in the White House, thousands of miles from the scene of the action."

CHARLEY REESE

Fall campaign will reveal the worst side of Carter

Charley Reese

If I had to summarize the Democratic National Convention in one paragraph, I would say it will be remembered as the convention which rejected a leader it loved for a non-leader it didn't like.

Sen. Ted Kennedy, despite moral and intellectual shortcomings, has the kind of personality, physical appearance, and speaking ability which can generate enthusiasm in people who share his political positions.

President Carter, on the other hand, cannot seem to generate heat in the hearts of people who are committed, ideologically or financially, to his re-election. It was typical that he would mar his own acceptance speech by shouting, at a rhetorically climactic moment, "We are the party of Hubert Horatio Hornblower?" And that the balloons in the ceiling would get stuck and that he would be booed by his own convention in his own acceptance speech and that he would be further humiliated by the striking difference in the demonstrations for him and for Kennedy.

The Carter people know this. They are good campaign strategists and that is why they have constructed their entire campaign around a not-Reagan position. Even Florida Gov. Bob Graham, in his nominating speech, spent most of it attacking Reagan instead of praising the man he was nominating.

As a general rule in politics, negative campaigns don't win, especially negative campaigns directed against challengers. Carter is trying to play Harry Truman but even though Truman was an incumbent president in 1948, there was a Republican Congress and Truman ran against the Congress.

Carter does not have that luxury. His campaign says, in effect, however bad things are now, they will be worse if you vote for Ronald Reagan. He must depend on volunteers to be motivated by their fear of a Reagan presidency rather than by their enthusiasm for his. That is going to be tough.

Reagan is not Barry Goldwater, and 1980 is not 1964 or even 1948. Unlike Lyndon Johnson, Carter cannot promise that he can work with a Democratic Congress because he has had a Democratic Congress for four years and still couldn't get anything done. Unlike Johnson, he cannot hold out the promise of a Great Society, because we've had the Great Society and it turned out to be ruinously inflationary, hideously expensive, destructive of liberty, and ineffective to boot. Unlike Truman, Carter cannot blame high taxes, inflation, unemployment, the recession, and a weak defense posture on the Republican Congress.

In short, he is reduced to trying to depict a man who spent his life playing nice guys as a monster and a maniac. This kind of campaign is going to expose Carter's worst side — his meanness and pettiness — when what he does most effectively is play the humble good guy.

I think the arrogance of Carter, Hamilton Jordan and Jody Powell has finally caught up with them. Anybody who believes that Carter who says Hornblower when he means Humphrey in a set speech he had practiced for days is going to chew up Reagan in a television debate has more ego than judgment.

Given a choice between two lunkheads, the Democrats would have been wiser to have chosen the lunkhead with charisma and only one drowning to defend.

SPOILING THE SPOILS: Win or lose in November, Jimmy Carter appears determined to leave his mark on the upper echelons of Washington bureaucracy — and leave few political spoils for a victorious Ronald Reagan.

A flood of presidential appointments to vacancies on various regulatory and advisory commissions has issued from the White House in recent months. If the Senate OKs them all, the agencies will be loaded with Carter people for years to come. Some figures: In May of 1980 Carter submitted 217 nominations, compared to just 42 in May of 1979; in June and July, he sent 379 nominations, compared to 220 in that period last year.

The president is also "piggybacking" many longterm nominations on short-term appointments to fill unexpired terms.

Seven arrested, eight hurt in police protest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Seven people were arrested and eight officers were injured as hundreds of people protesting a police officer's shooting of a black teen-ager pelted a police station and a fire truck with rocks and bottles, officials say. The violence erupted late Monday as 500 people marched on the police station in protest of the death of 17-year-old William Green.

City Managing Director W. Wilson Goode, a black, tried to address the crowd but was driven into the station by flying rocks and bottles, police said. Many of the station's windows were broken during the disturbance, police said, and a number of police cars were damaged along with the fire truck.

690 Detroit police officers 'out sick'

DETROIT (AP) — A wave of "blue flu" has spread through police ranks as officers called in sick to protest 690 impending layoffs.

Ninety officers phoned in sick during Monday's first two shifts, down slightly from the more than 100 who reported sick on both Friday and Saturday. On Sunday, 73 officers failed to show up for work. The layoff notices, issued last week by the city, are slated to take effect Sept. 5.

James Bannon, executive deputy chief of the department, said the absentee rate for the 16-hour period from midnight Sunday to 4 p.m. Monday was three times the normal rate for an entire workday.

However, Bannon said sick calls are tapering off because "we've served notice that we're not going to put up with it."

He said the department was unable to respond to 700 calls for emergency service over the weekend because of a manpower shortage. That was far more than the average 450 calls that go unanswered on a normal weekend, he said.

Bannon said the problem over the weekend was aggravated by a rash of phony telephone calls to the department's 911 emergency number.

The department is investigating whether there was a connection between the calls and officers who have received layoff notices. "We don't know who's making the calls," Bannon said Monday.

Bannon said the department had "several options prepared" in case of a blue flu epidemic. Units have been juggled to cover possible gaps in service and precinct commanders have been told to notify officers calling in sick that they won't be paid without medical documentation, he added.

Officers usually aren't required to provide proof from a physician to take a paid sick day.

Detroit had a $70 million deficit in the fiscal year ending June 30. Mayor Coleman Young has said the deficit this year could reach $100 million without drastic budget cuts that included the police layoffs.

Gasoline prices show decline

HOUSTON — A report by the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association shows gasoline sold at full-service stations in the Midland-Odessa area is above the state average. However, gasoline at self-service pumps fall below the state average.

Overall, prices of the most popular grades of gasoline have declined for the second consecutive month and availability has improved. And, the AAA noted, three out of four stations plan to be open for Labor Day.

In the Midland-Odessa area, regular gasoline was pegged at 121.1 cents a gallon at full-service stations. The state average was listed at 119.5 cents. Unleaded gas in Midland was listed at 124.2 cents while the state's average was 123.5 cents.

Self-service stations in Midland listed regular gas at 113.1 cents a gallon while unleaded was selling for 117 cents. The state averages were 113.6 for regular and 118.6 for unleaded.

The AAA survey showed that the average price of regular gasoline at self-service pump stations had fallen by one cent per gallon since mid-July. While self-service prices dropped over a month by a fraction of one cent, prices at full-service stations rose fractionally, the report said.

Half of the 426 service stations surveyed reported they will be open late on weekday nights, three-fourths will be open Saturday nights and more than half are going to be open Sunday with 75 percent planning to be open Labor Day.

Teens die after hours in cell

TRANSYLVANIA, La. (AP) — Two teen-age prisoners died shortly after they were removed from a tiny solitary confinement cell where they had been locked up for 15 hours, officials say.

District Attorney Buddy Caldwell said there was no initial evidence of abuse, neglect or foul play in the deaths Monday of Leroy Harris, 18, and Randy Moore, 17, both of Tallulah.

East Carroll Parish jail superintendent Ray Fortenberry said the two returned from a weekend pass about 2:45 p.m. Sunday and were put into the 5-by-4½-foot cell, which is 6 feet high, about 9:30 p.m.

"During feeding time one of them passed out in the hall and the other was rambling around like a wild man," Fortenberry said. He said they were not being punished.

Stock market rallies

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices climbed today as the spring-summer rally reasserted itself despite rising interest rates. Several banks raised their prime lending rates to 11.5 percent and rates on Treasury bills reached their highest levels in four months.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose 4.69 to 960.92 in the first two hours of trading, with advances outnumbering declines by a 7-5 margin among New York Stock Exchange issues.

Major banks had been expected to push up the prime rate — the rate on loans to the most credit-worthy corporate borrowers — in the wake of rising interest rates in the bond market. On Monday, the Treasury auction produced a rate of 10.25 percent on 26-week Treasury bills, the highest rate since April.

After peaking at 20 percent earlier this year, the prime fell as low as 10.75 percent at a few banks in late July, but has since been moving up. Chase Manhattan Bank was the first bank to go from 11.25 percent to 11.5 percent, a rate that was matched by a number of other banks during the day.

Big Board volume totaled 18.14 million shares in the first two hours, compared to 15.37 million shares at the same point Monday. The NYSE's composite index rose .26 to 72.29.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .25 to 333.73.

Chase hikes prime again

NEW YORK (AP) — Chase Manhattan Bank today raised its prime rate by a quarter percentage point to 11.5 percent — one week after it led the rest of the banking industry in a jump to 11.25 percent.

Although Chase offered no comment on its move, analysts viewed the rate boost as an effort to offset its rising cost of funds. That higher cost was underscored Monday when Treasury bills rose to their highest levels since April.

The prime — the rate banks charge on short-term loans to their most creditworthy corporate borrowers — had stabilized at about 11 percent earlier this month. But when open-market interest rates swung upward, banks responded by boosting their lending charges.

Last Tuesday, Chase raised its prime by a quarter percentage point to 11.25 percent and three days later the rest of the banking industry followed.

Wall Street analysts said they expected the prime to rise as high as 11.5 percent if open-market rates continued to climb.

On Monday the government reported that its auction of 26-week Treasury bills produced an average discount rate of 10.25 percent, up from 9.75 percent a week ago. That is the highest rate since April 28 when it hit 10.79 percent.

That rate is important to banks because it helps determine the rate they may pay on the popular six-month money-market certificates. The rates on those certificates, sold in minimum amounts of $10,000, will rise to 10.5 percent on Thursday.

The prime rate does not apply to consumer loans, but is considered a key barometer of trends in all kinds of interest rates. When the prime changes, other rates often follow in the same direction.

The prime peaked at 20 percent in early April before falling sharply.

Plutonium spill contaminates lab employee

CHICAGO (AP) — A spill in the U.S. Energy Department's New Brunswick Laboratory near here has contaminated an employee with a small amount of plutonium, department officials have disclosed.

The worker's automobile and apartment in Bolingbrook, Ill., also were contaminated by the radioactive substance, department officials said Monday.

Brian J. Quirk, a spokesman for the department's Chicago operations and regional office, said the federal Privacy Act prohibited disclosure of the employee's name or address.

Quirk said the contamination was discovered Monday during routine monitoring at the laboratory, which is owned and operated by the department on the site of Argonne National Laboratory.

A small spill of plutonium Friday in a controlled radioactive material handling area within the NBL was believed to be the source of the contamination, the department said. The incident is under investigation, officials added.

The contamination of the employee was external and did not cause serious radiation exposure, according to the department's news release, which added that there was no evidence of any contamination that could prove hazardous to the public.

Injunction filed against four in roofing-paving scheme

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

Four men who allegedly have violated fair-trade practices in a roofing-and-paving operation in Midland may be ordered to quit their method of operation, adopt lawful practices or go out of business if Judge Vann Culp orders a temporary injunction in a hearing at 4 p.m. Thursday in the 238th District Court here.

Culp on Aug. 20 approved a temporary restraining order, effective for 10 days, to put the practices in limbo. The court action was ordered at the request of Texas Attorney General Mark White.

The attorney general is alleging that the four men have been engaged in "unlawful" and "deceptive trade practices" and thus violated the Texas Consumer Protection Act while doing business as Longwear Roofing and D. Mesker Asphalt Paving.

The petition alleges that the defendants, John Costello, Danial (Daniel) "Danny" Thomas Mesker, Thomas Payne and John "Nikki" Marks, engineered a "common scheme" consisting of at least 12 violations of the Consumer Protection Act.

THE FOUR are accused of misrepresenting the quality, workmanship, effectiveness and guarantee of their material and workmanship and, in effect, of doing shoddy work in a fly-by-night scheme.

The men's business and residential address was listed as Overnight Space No. 5 at the Pecan Grove Mobile Home Park east of Midland.

The attorney general also is asking the court to order the foursome to make restitution in cases where materials and workmanship fell short of what was represented to the consumers by the men or their agents.

The attorney general, in a petition filed on his behalf by Assistant Attorney General John Steven Dwyre of Lubbock, is alleging that the defendants' deception acts included:

- Making solicitations at homes of prospective customers without informing them of their consumers' rights under state and federal law regarding home solicitations and without advising consumers of the three-day cancellation notice.
- Representing that the work and materials were guaranteed when "in truth and in fact, the defendants intended to leave the area without providing the consumer with means to have guaranty work performed."
- REPRESENTING that the work and materials are guaranteed but not having the resources to back the guarantees.
- Representing to do guaranteed work but without providing address and telephone number where complaints could be lodged.
- Representing that equipment for applying coating material applies high pressure when the pressure is "much lower."
- Representing that work will be accomplished in a workmanlike manner, when defendants over-sprayed, sprayed automobiles, eaves, walls, shrubs, curbs and stopping chalks.
- Representing that sealant "will seal or re-vitalize the asphalt or fill cracks when, in truth and in fact, it doesn't fill cracks or seal or re-vitalize the asphalt."
- Representing that the product will dry in two to three hours or 2 1/2 hours "when the product will not dry for days."
- Representing, but having no proof, that the product will last eight years, will seal the roof, will water-proof the roof, will cut down on energy costs by insulating the roof, will dry in two to three hours.
- Representing, but having no proof, that the coating material will extend the life of the roof or asphalt driveway or parking lot by several years.

—Representing that the coating process will increase the value of the property when the value is not increased.

—Representing that the coating process will beautify the property when the property of the consumer "is not enhanced."

THE TEMPORARY restraining order now in effect requires that the four men suspend their operation unless they can in every detail correct the flaws and misrepresentations and can demonstrate proof of their claims via an independent testing agency or laboratory.

The defendants also are ordered not to destroy or transfer any records, books, documents and are prohibited from spending any of the money taken in through their alleged scheme.

The petition does not state for how long the alleged unlawful practices have been going on, who filed complaints with the attorney general, how much work has been done in the Midland area and the amount of billing or where Costello, Mesker, Payne or Marks have operated outside of Midland. Dwyre could not be reached for comment.

The investigation is being conducted through the attorney general's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division, which is headed up by Assistant Attorney General David Bragg.

Militants threaten hostages

By The Associated Press

The Moslem militants holding 49 of the 52 American hostages in Iran say they will be put to death immediately if there is another U.S. military attempt to free them.

The militants added they are moving their captives again to foil a rescue attempt being planned to improve President Carter's chances for re-election.

"Since the issue of the American hostages is a key factor in U.S. policy as the presidential election approaches, the Americans are planning somehow to escape the mortal consequences of this development and to free the hostages before the crucial decision by the Islamic Consultative Assembly," said a statement from the militants broadcast by Tehran Radio.

"If world-devouring America embarks on the slightest military move before the fate of the spies has been decided, both the attackers and the spies will all be dispatched to hell on the spot."

The militants who seized control of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran last Nov. 4 said they were on "full alert" and were moving the hostages they hold to new locations. Those held in the towns of Shiraz, Gorgan, Zanjan and Qazvin have already been moved elsewhere, they said without elaboration.

What is Meadowpark?
Meadowpark, a project of Citizens Savings & Loan Association, will be a Planned Unit Development of attractive patio home and townhome clusters. Meadowpark will consist of up to 200 attached and detached patio homes and attached townhomes on nearly 60 acres in north Midland. The development is inside the city of Midland and receives all municipal services, including police and fire protection, and water and sewer services.

Meadowpark Owners' Association
Common recreation facilities and park areas are managed by the Meadowpark Owners' Association. Purchasing or building a patio home on your own lot automatically makes you a member of the Meadowpark Owners' Association. The Association provides management and maintenance of the common park areas, playgrounds, tennis courts, and swimming pool with deck area. Homeowners are assessed a monthly maintenance fee.

A low density development.
The cluster arrangement of Meadowpark restricts traffic flow on residential streets. On-street parking is prohibited, so that streets become areas for family activities.

Patio Homes and Townhomes
Lot sizes in Meadowpark will accommodate patio homes ranging in size from 1,576 square feet, up to a four-bedroom patio home with 3,600 square feet livable. A total of 17 floor plans are available in one and two story designs, or a buyer may employ his own architect/builder.

As a Meadowpark homeowner, you own the lot on which your home is located, all of the improvements on the lot, and an interest in the common areas and facilities.

Meadowpark homes will offer two or more enclosed patios, affording a relaxed, suburban lifestyle. General landscaping includes attractive entrances off of FM 868 (proposed Loop 250) and North "A" Street, berms for noise and visual barriers, trees, ground cover and grass. Clusters of live oaks and red oaks will be used at various locations.

Each Meadowpark residence is designed as an energy efficient home and will meet Texas Electric Service Company's strict "E-OK" rating.

What does it cost?
Patio homes and townhomes start in the low eighties and range up to $150,000. Of course, you may request additional features in planning with your builder which may affect the final sales price.

Citizens Savings & Loan Association serves as both developer and permanent lender, and you may wish to visit with one of our loan officers about interim financing and permanent mortgage for your Meadowpark home. We will be pleased to supply a list of reputable builders who will execute your selected Meadowpark plan.

Where is Meadowpark?
Meadowpark is located on 59.91 acres northeast of the intersection of North "A" Street and FM 868 (proposed Loop 250). Nearby are newly developing shopping centers and a regional mall, Midland College, schools and Midland Air Park. Country clubs are close by as well.

AT WIT'S END

Hot weather makes her mean

By ERMA BOMBECK

My husband and I were sitting around the table after dinner the other night when he broke the silence by asking, "What's your feeling about blowing up Jack-in-the-Box?"

I slammed down my coffee cup and shouted, "Can't we have one meal in this house without pressure? That's not a decision to make in a day. A person needs time to think about something that important. Give me a break!"

Now, for those of you reading this column in the cool pines of the mountains where the air is fresh and a little fire takes the chill off the house in the evenings you will understand a word of this piece.

But those in the South deserts, the plains of Texas, the East and the Midwest in temperatures that exceed 105 degrees will marvel at my self-control.

Excessive cold weather isn't pleasant. It makes you move faster, seek crowds for warmth and actually creates a camaraderie of discomfort.

But people in hot weather are sure they have been singled out by God for (a) not tithing, (b) not tipping, (c) not missing their children at camp. For their punishment they have been sentenced to Solar Hell.

Hot weather makes you mean. If everyone doesn't get into the car at precisely the same instant... four doors slamming as one... it will set you off.

If you answer the door and the people say hello and introduces themselves before entering, you want to grab them by the throat and drag them in.

If the weatherman gives the temperatures from around the country and doesn't mention your bedroom, you want to smash in the set.

I don't want people telling me to remember this next winter.

I don't want people making jokes about my potholder mitts that I wear to touch the steering wheel and turn the ignition.

I don't want friendly tips on how to keep cool by putting a cucumber over each eye or running my wrists under cold water.

When I'm hot, just let me wallow in self-pity, be irritable, and occasionally vent my anger on a stranger with dry underarms. ("You call yourself an American!")

As I crawled into bed, I said to my husband, "I've thought about Jack-in-the-Box and I think we should waste him."

"Good night," he yawned. I yelled, "What do you mean by a crack like that?!"

DEAR ABBY

Wear and tear hard on family's genes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to KNOWS TOO MUCH, who resented the tell-it-all aunt who had compiled the family history, exposing all the skeletons in the closet, you supported the aunt with, "Facts are facts!"

Come on, Abby. My family learned the hard way. Our family history was written around 1910 and contained all the "facts." That wonderful record, dating back to the 1700s, was so factual that it was "lost" for 70 years because a few grandmas gave birth a few months early.

I am now rewriting and updating our genealogical records, but omitting some current details. Those facts can be sealed in a safety deposit box to be opened 50 years after my death. In a few generations, an illegitimate baby, a suicide, a family feud, a prison record, etc. will be understood as human experiences. Right now, they may be regarded by some as an embarrassment. When those "facts" are revealed, I hope I hope I will not be regarded as a brittle old uncle who placed accuracy and truth above sensitive human emotions. Far too many valuable family historical facts have been lost because at the time they were considered embarrassing—FAMILY HISTORIAN.

DEAR HISTORIAN: You're right. While facts are indeed facts, keeping them buried until all the "horse thieves" are dead seems reasonable and fair.

DEAR ABBY: Is it considered good manners, upon being invited to a party, to ask, "who else are you having?"

This has happened to me several times, and I am always annoyed but don't know quite how to handle it, so I go ahead and recite the guest list.

When I extend an invitation I always give the details, such as what kind of party it will be, approximately how many are invited, etc., but I don't think I should have to tell who else will be there. What is your opinion?—L.A.

DEAR L.A.: It's NOT good manners to ask who else will be there. And you're right, you are not obligated to recite the guest list.

DEAR ABBY: Recently a local physician collapsed and died while jogging. He had no identification on his person, which caused much anguish to his family.

Your concern for people prompted me to ask you to please tell your readers who run and jog to carry identification with them. Thank you.—ROSEMARY SMALL, PRESIDENT, COUNTY MEDICAL AUX., SPOKANE, WASH.

DEAR ROSEMARY: Your request is reasonable and could benefit many. Consider it done.

Court rules man can sue doctor for mental distress

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A doctor may be sued when a misdiagnosis results in emotional or mental distress not connected with physical injuries, the California Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The case involved a San Mateo County man whose wife was misdiagnosed as having syphilis — an action which ultimately led to the couple's divorce, the man claimed.

The 5-2 decision by Justice Stanley Mosk also held that individuals also may sue for loss of companionship in such cases.

Prior to the ruling, negligent conduct could not result in recovery of damages for emotional distress unaccompanied by physical injury. But a plaintiff suffering shock to the nervous system or other physical harm due to negligence was entitled to recover damages for any physical harm and emotional distress.

The court reversed the dismissal of a lawsuit filed by Stephen Mollen on July 27, 1977, against a Kaiser Foundation hospital and Dr. Thomas Kilbridge, and sent it back for trial. Mollen had alleged that on Dec. 8, 1976, the physician negligently misdiagnosed his wife, then instructed her to have her husband tested for syphilis, subjected her to unnecessary doses of penicillin and caused her to suffer physical injury in addition to shock and injury to her nervous system.

He further claimed that the erroneous diagnosis resulted in his wife becoming suspicious he was engaging in extramarital sexual activities and that tension and hostility which arose between them caused the breakup of their marriage.

the hand. He cashed only the ace and queen of trumps, and his foresight was rewarded when East shuffled a high club on the second trump. Now declarer started to run the diamonds. West ruffed the third diamond and shifted to a club, but declarer was in control. He put up the queen and captured East's king with the ace. A trump to the king drew the last trump and declarer was in dummy to cash the two long diamonds, on which he discarded his club losers.

The defense was not particularly inspired. If East shifts to a low club at trick three, declarer is placed in the hot seat. He might decide to go up with the ace of clubs and rely on being able to draw the trumps, in which case he will go down. It is a sound principle of defensive play to put declarer to a guess before he finds out the bad news—in this case, the 4-1 trump split.

Gower Champion dead at age 61

NEW YORK (AP) — Gower Champion, winner of two Tony awards and director and choreographer of such Broadway hits as "Hello, Dolly!" died at the age of 61 just hours before the opening of his latest venture on the Great White Way.

Champion's death was announced Monday night as the curtain rang down on the opening performance of the new musical "42nd Street," which he had directed and choreographed. The announcement from producer David Merrick, as cast members wept, stunned the audience, and the theatergoers filed out in silence.

The Illinois-born Champion, a veteran of more than 30 years in stage and film, died earlier in the day at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center here. The hospital said he had been suffering for some time from a rare blood cancer.

Author of 'Storm' dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George R. Stewart, author of "Storm," "Names on the Land" and more than 30 other books, has died at the age of 85. Stewart, a professor emeritus of English at the University of California at Berkeley, died Friday in San Francisco following a long illness, university colleagues reported.

Soap opera author dies

ORLEANS, Mass. (AP) — Orin Tovrov, who wrote scripts for "Ma Perkins," radio's longest-running soap opera, has died at the age of 69. Tovrov, who also created and wrote "The Doctors" and "The Brighter Day" for television, was the first president of the Radio Writers Guild and organized the first strike in broadcasting in the late 1930s.

Grand jury investigates TV financing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The district attorney's office is hoping that grand jury testimony from the stars of the TV series "Starsky and Hutch" will help prosecutors piece together the puzzle of allegations that the show was part of a scheme to defraud investors in another program, "Charlie's Angels."

Deputy district attorney James Ferruzzo said that Monday's testimony by David Soul and Paul Michael Glaser had speeded his investigation, but did not elaborate. Ferruzzo said the two actors — who played policemen on the defunct "Starsky and Hutch" — were not targets of the investigation.

In fact, district attorney Al Bergate said the grand jury session on the allegations was informational only and said prosecutors had not sought indictments.

Soul and Glaser were called before the grand jury because "they obviously know about their own dealings" with Aaron Spelling and Leonard Goldberg, producers of both ABC-TV shows, Bergate said. "We think that whatever they know may fill in a piece of the puzzle," he said. Prosecutors are looking into allegations that actor Robert Wagner and his wife, actress Natalie Wood, who owned 43.75 percent of "Charlie's Angels," were cheated out of profits from that show.

ABC Spelling and Goldberg are alleged to have diverted income intended for "Charlie's Angels" to "Starsky and Hutch" in an accounting maneuver to hide profits.

Ronald Sunderland, ABC vice president for business affairs, testified Monday on the allegations, according to his attorney, Howard Weitzman.

The allegations surfaced when Jennifer Martin, then an ABC attorney, wrote memos last September to her superiors at ABC contending that license fees, typically $380,000 per episode of a one-hour program that were paid by the network to Spelling-Goldberg to produce "Charlie's Angels," were diverted to other series produced by Spelling-Goldberg.

Braniff announces new low rates

Braniff International announced Monday new low rates on special advance purchase tickets. For a flight from Midland Regional Airport to Dallas-Fort Worth, the cost will be $19 one-way.

These price reductions represent as much as an 82 percent discount from normal coach fares. The new fares are available now on flights within Texas and to other cities in the West and Midwest.

In addition to Midland, the $19 fare is being offered on Braniff flights between Dallas-Fort Worth and Amarillo, Austin, Corpus Christi, Lubbock, New Orleans, Oklahoma City, San Antonio and Tulsa.

A new $29 one-way fare is available between D-FW and Brownsville, Denver, Kansas City and Omaha, Neb. A $39 fare applies to a Houston-Denver flight while a one-way price for the Dallas to Los Angeles flight is $59.

To get these new discount prices, reservations must be made and tickets issued at least 14 days prior to travel. Reservations can't be changed and tickets are non-refundable.

Braniff also announced it will offer a $24 one-way discount fare between Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston effective Sept. 2. There are no advance purchase or other ticket restrictions on this fare.

The number of seats available at these new discount fares is limited.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Cold turkey best way to quit smoking

Dear Dr. Solomon: I am experiencing a great deal of difficulty in breaking a two-pack-a-day smoking habit, although I realize the health risks and seriously want to stop. I have tried to cut down on the number of cigarettes I smoke by cutting them in half, but I find I simply light up more often. Do you have any suggestions? — Eric

Dear Eric: Although a gradual withdrawal from cigarette smoking may sound like a reasonable approach to breaking the habit, apparently it is not as effective as a sudden and complete break. Dr. Murray E. Jarvick and Saul M. Shiffman, of the Neuropsychiatric Institute of the University of California-Los Angeles School of Medicine, report that smokers are better able to overcome withdrawal symptoms associated with efforts to stop smoking when they quit cold turkey rather than by degrees. As you probably well know, these symptoms include inability to concentrate and increased irritability, aggression and anxiety.

Persons who make a complete break with smoking find their withdrawal symptoms ease during the first few days, encouraging them to continue to abstain. However, those who attempt to cut down gradually find that the craving for tobacco becomes so severe as to doom the efforts to break the habit. In other words, a gradual reduction in the number of cigarettes smoked simply leads to a chronic state of withdrawal.

This approach should not be applied indiscriminately to other drug addiction problems. Although gradual withdrawal may not be a suitable method for ending an addiction to cigarettes, it can be effective in breaking other habits.

Dear Dr. Solomon: My teen-aged son has diabetes, but has had no difficulty following the routine established for him. However, he is puzzled over the doctor's stress on care of the feet. My son is very athletic and has never had trouble with his feet. Can you explain the reason for the doctor's concern? — Mrs. D.S.P.

Dear Mrs. P.: Although special care of the feet for children with diabetes generally is not necessary, such care be-

Everybody is talking about the incredible Home Spa water purifier. Tony Rogers, director and manager of Acme Marketing Inc., located at 3103 East 31st in Odessa, Texas. It is no surprise the Home Spa water purifier is one of the most efficient, economical, portable and simple-to-operate water purifiers on the market today. If it should crack, leak, chip or break within a five year period, it will be replaced free of charge. U.S. offers to step up aid, but OPEC, Soviets must do their share

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie offered to step up U.S. aid to developing countries to combat starvation and help meet rising oil bills. But he said the oil cartel and the communist countries must do their share or the American people will slow down the flow.

"No nation or group of nations has grounds to remain aloof from this struggle." Another major Western industrial power, West Germany, responded positively to the idea of global negotiations. Ambassador Ruediger von Wechmar said his government would support formation of a special U.N. body to deal with energy problems.

Refugee flow up despite blockade

Explosives in peacekeepers' beds

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The commander of Papua New Guinea's defense force in Vanuatu and two of his officers on the rebellious island of Espiritu Santo were forced to leave their hotels after explosives were found in their beds, Papua New Guinea's foreign minister reported.

Vanuata was the New Hebrides archipelago and was ruled jointly by Britain and France until it became independent on July 30. A rebellion supported by French settlers broke out May 28 on Espiritu Santo, the largest of the islands.

Six ships run trawler blockade

PARIS (AP) — Three freighters and three car ferries carrying thousands of vacationers ran a trawler blockade of striking French fishermen at Le Havre before dawn today.

Thursday night to drive off trawlers blocking the oil port of Fos-sur-Mer, near Marseille on the Mediterranean. On Friday night the fishermen declared a 48-hour truce, but they cut it short Monday by blockading Antifer, Le Havre, the third busiest port in Europe, and some smaller English Channel ports.

Rebels claim 3,600 killed in two months

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Moslem rebel forces in Afghanistan claim to have killed more than 3,600 Afghan government supporters in the past two months. A source from the Afghan capital of Kabul who has proved accurate in the past reported in New Delhi Monday that the rebels said they had been killing 30-35 Afghan Communist Party members a day in three provinces north of Kabul — Kunduz, Takhar and Baghlan — for a total of more than 1,800 in the two-month period.
