Young was only one of the many involved in concert

By GEORGIA TEMPLE Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — The original idea was simple enough — plan a benefit concert-but, once the idea was born and action initiated, simplicity vanished and Murphy's Law took over

Willie Nelson's Sunday 8 p.m. Jaycees-sponsored Big Spring concert is the result of people working together toward a goal — in this case the Texas Jaycees Campus for the Handicapped, and not the idea and pet project of one individual. This point was agreed upon in an exclusive interview Thursday at the Big Spring Prison Camp by John Allman, superintendent of the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp; J.D. Gregory, sponsor of the Camp Jaycees; Tommy LaRoux, Snyder Jaycees project chairman; Lynn Smith, president of the Texas Jaycees, and John Young, Athens physician and inmate friend of Willie Nelson whose involvement with the concert has aroused such controversy

'It seems like all the newspapers and publicity have centered in on John Young, and obviously John Young is a friend of Mr. Nelson's." Allman said "However, there will be possibly 50 Big Spring Camp Jaycees working on this particular project. And John (Young) is not the only inmate who has worked on preparation for this program. I can't give their names because of the privacy act, but they have definitely worked on this program

THE ORIGINAL IDEA was not Young's, explained LaRoux, but rath

"We (he, John Young and others) were returning from a Jaycees meeting one night," said LaRoux, " And I said maybe we could get Willie to put on a benefit show for the Texas Campus for the Handicapped. Wediscussed it for a while and John said he would check and see. That's where it originated from Young, who met Nelson at a golf tournament in Arlington 10 years ago, explained that "Willie sends me his itinerary Willie's wife Connie and I correspond almost weekly by letter and I noticed that Willie was playing Norman, Okla. Saturday and then was off the rest of the fall

Young explained that he then approached Gregory with the idea Gregory talked with Allman who took the idea to the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. After all the proper channels had been cleared, Young contacted Nelson

Due to a previous movie commitment, the only night which Nelson could perform was the Sunday after his Oklahoma concert

"THIS WAS DISCUSSED in the initial planning session with the police department, the city manager and the Texas Jaycees," Allman explained. "At that particular time it was agreed that there would be minor objections to it being held on Sunday, but we didn't feel that it would be a

When asked if they had actually heard any objections to the Sunday concert, Allman replied, "It is my understanding that some of the churches here in town are concerned that there is a concert on Sunday night. This is the only objection that I've heard

They still don't feel that this is a major drawback because, as Gregory explained, "Everything in Big Spring is going to benefit businesswise. Young was quick to respond to certain allegations that have been leveled at his activities lately

U.S. hostages reported 'well' on 300th day in captivity

By The Associated Press

The U.S. hostages in Iran are well but their situation has not changed, one of their captors said today as the 52 Americans spent their 300th day in captivity. President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr reiterated his opposition to spy trials for the hostages.

Sixteen more people reportedly were executed today in Iran, meanwhile, despite Amnesty International's appeal to stop the firing squads that have killed as many as 1,200 in the last 18 months. Tehran Radio said all 16 were convicted of drug offenses. Two Pakistanis were among the latest executed, and they were believed the first foreigners put to death for drug offenses

Tehran Radio said six Revolutionary Guards were killed in a clash with raiders in a section of western Iran where Kurds have been seeking autonomy. The broadcast described the attackers as "mercenaries in the pay of international imperialism" and said they suffered heavy losses.

Grid program irks minorities

Some may be left out in the cold

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Anger among minorities in Midland over a new recreation program splintering off from the YMCA surfaced Thursday during a special meeting of the Mexican American Advisory Group on Education.

An estimated 40 persons from the east and south side neighborhoods and school district administrative staff showed up at Crockett Elementary School to look at the situation for 214 hours. But the one person who could have answered many of the questions posed by the school district and citizens wasn't there - Gil Kin-

The crux of the problem is the new football program being organized under the name of Midland Youth Sports, Inc., by parents who worked with the YMCA program last year. As a result of the new organization, the YMCA might not have enough youths to sponsor its flag football programs, thus leaving the minorities out in the

for years to eliminate racial tension, a point that was emphasized numerous times by Oralia Corrales, president of the advisory group. Mrs. Corrales turned first to the school officials for an explanation of why the board approved allowing the new group to use four school fields all on the west side of Midland.

BOARD MEMBER Bill Jackson said the school district isn't giving money, people or anything else to the new program. Later questioning of Athletic Director Gil Bartosh revealed coaches had volunteered their time to train parents in teaching the youths football strategy.

However, Bartosh pointed out that when the parents telephoned him for assistance, he was under the impression they were with the YMCA. "No one mentioned to me it was a new program being started From the way they talked, Bartosh said, the parents implied they were trying to expand the type of plays the YMCA football teams used Two high school football coaches -

Spike Dykes and Pat Culpepper drew up some strategy and had a session with the parents.

"Three days later, we got a call from the YMCA that I was working with a new group. I wasn't aware it was separate." Bartosh said.

COMMENTS FROM YMCA representatives and parents in the audience revealed that organizers of the new group obtained last year's mailing list of Y football participants and mailed letters, asking them to join the new group.

So far, about 250 youths have signed up for the new program while the YMCA reported only 88. If the YMCA number doesn't increase, the representatives said, there might not be any football program this year.

One reason eited for the breakoff, said YMCA personnel and parents, is that several west side parents wanted their children to play competitive football. Presently, the YMCA philosophy is to teach youths to learn the game and give everyone a chance to

According to Bartosh, Dr. James Mailey, school superintendent, has recommended the situation be mediated by the city Parks and Recreation Department which has authority to use school fields after 5:30 p.m.

BECAUSE THE school fields approved for the new group are all on the west side - Fannin, Henderson, Rusk and Alamo schools — the parents and advisory group charged the school district with allowing segregated sports.

One young parent pointed out that even if children from the east and south sides want to join the new group there is the matter of transportation. "If both parents work how can they get their kids over there (west side) after school?'

She added that in the past years a lot of youths from south and east Midland went out for flag football and a lot of parents supported it. Now, if the YMCA can't sponsor the program, "what will it do psychologically to the teams left here?"

Despite Jackson's objections, Mrs. Corrales stuck with the theory that "the school administration is perpetuating the situation of segregation. It (the new program) doesn't involve the whole community. It emphasizes a certain segment of the community is going to be separate from the rest

Bartosh said Kinney informed him the new group would try to form a Louisiana Scattered thundershowers south half todas and early tonight. Otherwise partly cloudy today and tonight becoming fair on Saturday. Continued warm Highs in the low 90s north to the mid 90s along the coast. Lows tonight low to mid 70s.

Holiday forecast sunny

Today was the beginning of what promises to be a beautiful Labor Day weekend in Midland, with mostly fair and sunny skies

The high today was expected to reach the mid 90s and the tempera tures will continue to climb through out the long weekend. The high Saturday should be in the upper 90s, followed by highs both Sunday and Monday in the 90s

The low temperature tonight is expected in the low 60s. Thursday's low of 63 degrees came close to the record of 57 set in 1930, but the high for the day, 91, was a long way from the record set in 1964 of 102

The skies will remain fair to partly cloudy through Monday, in the extended outlook, with lows in the 60s. Winds should be 5-15 mph and southerly through Saturday

Minority parents hope to bridge education gap

By DAVID CAMPBELL Staff Writer

Minority parents expressed hope following Thursday night's session at Crockett Elementary with school administrators that the school district is doing something to help bridge the educational gap between whites, browns and blacks

But the parents remain concerned that their children continue to score lower than their white counterparts on national tests. Results of the California Achievement Tests showed that whites were scoring higher than their grade levels from second to 10th grade However, the tests revealed that as minority students progressed through the grades, they were getting more and more behind, Dr. Viola Coleman, a representative from the black community, said. According to reading test results, black and Mexican-American secondgrade students scored slightly above the second grade level. Their white counterparts scored above the thirdgrade level

By the time white students hit the 10th grade they were scoring on the 12th-grade level, while black and Mexican-American students were scoring at an 8th-grade level.

Blacks were making the same kind of scores eight years ago," Coleman charged. "They do not have any real language problem. Maybe they garry a little dialect.

'But, they do not fare as well as the Anglo," she said, noting the irony of the similarities between white and black students.

Assistant Superintendent of In struction Joesph Baressi explained the difference by saying that on the average, white students had a head start on the minority students.

This head start was perhaps a re sult of Anglo parents' higher education, higher incomes and greater accessibility of educational materials, including books.

Baressi made the analogy with run-

"In a track race, the man in front of me will continue to stay in front and maybe make larger gains," he said. "Although I cannot pass the runner, I can make some degree of gain which will close the gap. He said the school district is not pleased with the low score of minority students, but said that those students were not getting that far behind white Pointing to a handout illustrating district educational gains between 1977 to 1980, Baressi stated in some cases, minority students made greater gains than Anglos. Despite those gains, he said, minority students continued to score low.

However, parent Connie Madrid said the problem does not lie with the students, but with the school district. Before William Buttery became principal at Crockett Elementary, Mrs. Madrid claimed, the instructors did not teach minority students to read. Minority parents ended up teaching their children to read.

Because of this problem, Mrs. Madrid said she and other parents wondered what was being done to aid minority students.

After checking with programs on the East and West coasts, the district decided to implement the Waukegan, Ill., plan in seven kindergarten classes this year, explained Manuel Carrasco, director of elementary education.

Seven Title I schools are target schools where the Waukegan plan will be instituted.

The plan is highly structured andplaces a high degree of accountability on the student, Carrasco explained. But, the program includes motivational activities which encourage the student to increase his learning, Carrasco added.

The district has trained teachers and principals to implement the program in several classrooms. Each teacher must set a series of weekly goals. After each week, that instructor must evaluate and decide if the goal was met.

Bryant Saxon, director of research and program development, added that each goal is established for individuals and not for group accomplish-

The overall district goal with the plan, Carrasco said, is to increase a kindergarten student's test scores to the average first-grade level by the end of the year.

In this way, Carrasco continued, students would have an equal start before they entered the first grade. In another area, Baressi explained details of the two on-campus suspension centers at the high schools. Problem students in seventh through 12th grade would be assigned to centers for five to ten days, upon recommendation by the school's prin-

Each student must sign a contract describing the rules at the centers and what behavior he is expected to exhibit, Baressi said.

No talking with other students is allowed and the student is expected to do his school work in a study carrel. Students must provided their own lunches to be eaten at their seats.

Hours are scheduled so the student is isolated from regular students, Baressi noted.

An attendance officer will act as the school district liason officer between the school and parents and the school district and the local judicial system, said Garland Chapman, assistant superintendent

Transportation to the centers is provided by students and their parents. "It is an incovenience to the parent," he said, "but it is a way where parents and the schools can work together."

APPARENTLY, AN east side team was to play a west side team in Memorial Stadium on a Saturday morning, she recalled. The story at that time is that parents of the west side team objected to their children playing the east side team, saying they were too rough and undisciplined, Mrs. Madrid said. Reagan picks quality

The Ronald Reagan-George Bush ticket takes on even more respectability when you consider some of the appointments made to the team's advisory groups.

One which will assume increasing importance in coming years is the energy policy advisory group. The Reagan-Bush organization has five other advisory panels in the areas of national security, foreign policy, budget, business and the quality of advisers he is selecting, particularly in the field of energy policy. The Republican nominee apparently plans to reverse the trend of placing incapable, inexperienced people in positions of power in the government.

Reagan-Bush Campaign Chairman Bill Casey verified this when he said recently, "Governor Reagan has consistently sought out the most capable and experienced people to advise and counsel him on important issues regardless of their party affiliation and irrespective of individual political support. He is encouraged by the depth of practical experience, scholarly research and public service represented by the outstanding people who will be evaluating our national energy policies and programs."

There are those who will see a conflict of interest if policy advisers are closely affiliated with the industry for which they are formulating policy.

But it's a chance Americans will have to take if we want to get real expertise back into government.

It's essential that we revitalize the quality of policy-makers in Washington. It looks like Gov. Reagan has exactly that in mind.

In such times, we should be clear in our own thinking. In the question of political activism by homosexuals, the issue is not tolerance. If these homosexuals were asking only to be left alone to conduct their sex lives as they choose in private, I would support them. Except for protecting children and protecting adults from the use of force, government ought to stay out of people's bedrooms. But the activist homosexuals are as a group based on their sexual preference and given special considerations. That is nutty. That is government by special interest group carried to the extreme. They should go back into the closet.

Remember, the issue is not denying them rights. A homosexual or a lesbian has the same right to participate in the political process as anyone else, but when they choose to do so, as homosexuals, they are demonstrating their illness. They are saying, in effect, their politics is determined by their sex life and that is sick.

And what about the twits who refuse to register for the draft? They are cowards hiding behind intellectual arrogance. They claim they will serve, but only if the cause is righteous and who, pray tell, will determine if the cause is righteous? Ah, they will. Since they are demonstrating in civvies, I presume that they have concluded that just doing your share in maintaining a volunteer army is not a righteous cause. They will let the poor carry that burden. These spoiled children deserve public contempt. The righteousness of a cause is not easily determined by an individual and it is arrogance in the extreme to make that judgment.

It is like saying to your brothers and sisters and your mother and father: If someone attacks you, I will decide which of you is in the right and, Mom, if you are in the right, I will come to your defense, but not if you are

I say to these young people that if they will not share the burden of defending the larger family which is the nation, then they should hit the road and get out. They have no right to a free ride. They have no right to say to our fallen kin that they were stupid or criminal and we who love those who died for this country should not tolerate these little snots for a second.

Of course, this pretense of righ teousness is only a cover for their fear or laziness. They like a comfortable life. They don't want the hardship of military service. They are afraid of death. They don't want to fight with people who will try to kill them.

People who are afraid to die are not only cowards but fools. Do they think they can outrun death? Life is short and death will find them soon enough on a highway or in a bedroom or in a hospital. Only when you accept the fact of your death are you free to enjoy life for it is the shadow of death which gives life its radiance.

But in a decadent age, the streets are full of cowards and fools. Wise people will ignore them or, if they try to interfere, sweep them aside like

The next day, Jimmy Carter spoke to them, after which the legionnaires passed a resolution that Carter was not tough enough to stand up to the

The gun cache was transported to the New York-New Jersey area, where "these weapons will continue to be utilized as the need arises," the report states. It concludes that "handguns and silencers are being made available to members of the Genovese Family by the Purple Gang, and there is a certain amount of 'contract swapping.'

Non-veto of resolution on Jerusalem signals more woes

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - A warning signal flashed on for Israel when the press ignored Ronald Reagan's sharplynoned statement Aug. 21 attacking the Carter administration for not vetoing the U.N. resolution condemning Israel's Jerusalem takeover Israel is now suspected here of lanning other major moves against the Arabs under cover of the presidential campaign. The inability of Reagan and Democratic critics to make a headline political issue out of the non-veto argues for Israeli caution in its future moves. These include intensification of Israel's cross-border attacks against Lebanon and a bold attempt at outright annexation of the Golan Heights. But sharpened skepticism in the U.S. about Israel's unilateral actions in Jerusalem, the West Bank and Lebanon may undercut Israel's traditional use of presidential campaigns to leverage its influence here so as to advance its cause against the Arabs.

Reagan's statement saying that the non-veto "appalled" him was not reported in newspapers here and in New York City, surprising his political advisers. Equally surprising was a private letter from one of Israel's champions in Congress, Rep. Ben Rosenthal of New York, to Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie. Rosenthal praised Muskie for going to the Secu-

Novak rity Council in person with a hard-hitting statement attacking repeated U.N. efforts to pass "unbalanced and unrealistic resolutions" against Isra-

But Muskie's failure to veto the Jerusalem text was accepted by Rosenthal. "Within the context of the constraints operating upon our foreign policy," he wrote Muskie, "I understand the decision."

The new moves that U.S. officials believe are now being planned by Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government against Lebanon and on the Golan Heights should be judged by Israel against this rising skepticism in the U.S. American public opinion in support of Israel can un-dermine a president's most cherished policies, as many a president has discovered to his sorrow. But without the backing of public opinion here, Israel could find its chosen course a rocky one.

The legal move aiming at Israeli absorption of the Golan Heights, which is by far the most daring now under consideration in Jerusalem, is being pushed by Geula Cohen, the same member of parliament who successfully won passage of the bill annexing Arab East Jerusalem. The Golan Heights bill will come up for a vote when parliament reconvenes in October, and approval is by no means impossible. An editorial in the respected Jerusalem Post Aug. 1 asked: "Will Knesset (parliament) members again rush into folly, like lemmings to the sea, inevitably carrying the whole country with them?"

If the answer is yes, today's near-isolation of Israel in the world would become universal. If President Carter's decision not to veto the Jerusalem resolution could so easily escape public censure, annexation of the Golan Heights would inevitably face across-the-board condemnation

Intensification of Israeli raids on Lebanon, in concert with Israeliarmed Christian militia, would continue longstanding Israeli policy that the U.S. has repeatedly but vainly sought to stop. A new political ele-ment has been added, however, by Israel's open admission that U.S.supplied arms are used in these Administration officials will soon be summoned to testify on Capitol Hill whether the law prohibiting Israel from using American weapons except in self-defense is being broken. Some officials hope that will lead to a thorough congressional investigation to decide whether the cross-border attacks really are self-defensive or are aimed at territorial acquisition and the establishment of an independent pro-Israeli state in southern Leba-

For the Carter administration, the swing of public opinion away from automatic blessing of all Israel's actions is a two-edged sword. It makes it easier to resist Israel's demands, as in the Jerusalem resolution. But there is concern that as Prime Minister Begin feels more isolated, his propensity for dangerous unilateral actions increases. That could lead to a crisis extending far beyond the Middle East battleground.

State seeks injunction against accused roofers

Staff Writer

The four men accused of deceptive business practices in carrying out a roofing-and-paving business scheme may continue their operation but only if it conforms with the law, Assistant Texas Attorney General John Steven Dwyre said here Thursday in a hearing for a temporary injunction before 238th State District Court Judge Vann

The men, including a Midlander, are suspected of doing substandard sealing work on roofs and parking lots and of misrepresenting the quality of their work.

'If they can conform with the law they can continue their work," said Dwyre. "We're not trying to deprive anyone of their livelihood.'

The injunction would preclude the foursome from engaging in deceptive trade practices. If violated, defendants would face contempt-of-court charges and further action by Texas Attorney General Mark White.

The defendants may be ordered to make restitution and may be fined up to $10,000 each in the scheme that stretches to South Texas, Dwyre

Defendants in the case are John Costello, 53, and Daniel "Danny" Mesker, 27, both of Pharr in South Texas; John "Nikki" Marks, 29, of Midland; and Thomas Payne, 44, who was described as a "stocky, red-faced

Only Payne, whose whereabouts were not determined, was not represented in court an attorney. Counsel for Costello, Mesker and Marks lodged no objections against imposition of the injunction. The temporary restraining order was effected Aug. 20 by Judge Culp in the wake of an investigation by Midland County Sheriff's criminal investigators Sgt. Tommy Jones and Sgt. Les Hunter.

Several Midlanders had complained earlier in August of shoddy work in sealing roofs and parking pavements.

"I'm not a professional roofer in any manner," said Hunter, "but it looked like black spray paint was sprayed on the roofs" rather than tar, asphalt, or other sealants.

Complaints were lodged by Bill Conner, who indicated that the sealing work on the parking area at Conner's Grocery & Delicatessen was inadequate; by Pauline Grace, who testified that repair to her roof at 2909 Franklin Ave. was misrepresented, and by Raymond Nance, who said that similar work was done on his roof at 3101 Mariana Ave. Mrs. Grace said that a man. later identified as Costello, solicited roofrepair work after he had knocked on her door on Aug. 5.

"Been noticing that your roof man, who said he representing Longwear Roofing Co. of Big Spring, told

"I said, 'Yes, it does need work done on it.' " Her house roof is covered with tar and gravel.

The man, she said, told her that the repair work would be "reasonably priced," would make for a warmer house, carried an eight-year guarantee, would waterproof the roof, and that the plastic-like sealant used would be "better than tar."

She agreed to have the work done, but was dissatisified with it.

"It (the coating) was just in spots," she said. Mrs. Grace also said that the over-spray covered parts of shrubs. Nance testified that a similar experience happened to him on Aug. 4. He said Costello came to his house, 'said 'my roof looked-like it was in pretty bad shape.'

The roofer, Nance said, told him the high-pressure coating would add 15 years to the life of the roof.

Nance said he was somewhat apprehensive that that type of work could be done for $325, "but he (Costello) looked like a roofer, and he had good equipment.'

The roofer had claimed that the sealant would waterproof the roof. "But it rained that night, and it leaked like nothing had happened,"

Cubans storm Braniff jet

DALLAS (AP) - A Braniff International jetliner bound from Rio de Janeiro to Los Angeles was stormed early today by 150 apparently unarmed Cuban refugees during a stopover in Lima, Peru, an airline spokesman said.

The "attempted hijacking" occurred as people were board-ing the plane, and there were 16 passengers and one flight attendant on the jet, said Jere Cox, public relations director for Braniff International Airways in Another Braniff spokesman, Mike Kaeser, said that "at last report, there were no weapons on the aircraft.'

Cox said Peruvian government officials were "meeting on board the aircraft with a group reported to be Cubans to discuss demands." He said U.S. officials also were negotiating with the Cubans.

"The group did break through Peruvian security at the airport to board the aircraft," he said. Flight 920, which originated in Rio, was making a fueling stopover in Lima and had been scheduled to depart for Los Angeles at 12:20 a.m. CDT, Cox said. In April, 10,000 Cubans jammed the Peruvian Embassy compound in Havana after the Cuban government withdrew its security force.

Guard fires shots to sink casket during sea burial

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) - An honor guard fired shots at the coffin of a veteran after the casket did not sink during a burial at sea, the Navy says.

The incident occurred aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Farragut, 66 miles off the coast near here, Lt. Cmdr. Mike Cherry said Thursday.

Cherry said it was "very unusual" for a coffin to remain afloat during a burial at sea.

"It was a wooden casket with holes and weights," Cherry said.

"When the casket hit the water, it flipped-flopped and did not sink. At that point, the commanding officer was faced with the situation of not going off and leaving the casket floating and had the honor guard with M-14s shoot holes at or below the water

"The casket began sinking and the ship departed Cherry said relatives of deceased veterans fre quently request burial at sea. 'We've handled some 89 of them in the past 18 months," he said. The July 14 incident was the only time a casket did not sink, he added. He said the majority of the services are crema-

Cherry said the Navy decided it was "inappropriate to release the name of the deceased" in the July 14 incident.

U.N. council to vote on abolishing capital punishment

Could 'damn U.S. in the world's eyes'

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A draft resolution calling for the eventual abolition of capital punishment could "damn the U.S. in the world's eyes" if passed by a U.N. conference here today, according to the head of the American delegation.

The draft resolution, scheduled to be debated by 1,200 delegates to the U.N. Congress on the Prevention of Crime, declares that capital punishment "raises serious questions in relation to respect for the dignity of all human beings and for human rights, in particular the right to life.

The resolution, sponsored by Austria and Sweden, also calls for countries to "work toward the end" of abolishing capital punishment. Because the resolution labels the death penalty "cruel and inhuman," the United States cannot support it, said Ronald Gainer, the chief U.S. delegate and a Justice Department official.

"We would not like to be labeled a renegade country," he added.

Thirty-eight U.S. states have enacted or reinstated capital punishment since the 1976 Supreme Court decision rejecting the claim that death is an unconstitutional penalty

Today, 117 of the United Nations' 153 member states retain the death penalty law.

According to Amnesty International, more than 60 countries have carried out executions in the past five years. The London-based human rights organization and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have presented papers at the Caracas meeting calling for immediate abolition of capital punishment. Jack Greenberg of the NAACP argued that in the United States, the penalty had been applied in a discriminatory manner.

"Although only 11.1 percent of the United States' population is black, 47.3 percent of those sentenced to death are black," he said.

Chief U.S. delegate Gainer questioned the validity of Greenberg's statistics, saying that if the percentage of blacks sentenced to death were compared to the percentage of black offenders instead of the black population in general, statistics would show capital punishment was not applied with a racial bias.

Gainer said the United States was steering clear of formal debate on the death penalty issue and was concentrating instead on other agenda items such as the misconduct of multi-national corporations overseas. 'We can't have our corporations conducting business like that," he

The U.N. Congress, which opened Monday, runs through Sept. 5.

Supreme Court asked to review death penalty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A California appeal court decision overturning part of a voter-approved death penalty law is being appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court by state Attorney General George Deukmejian.

The appeal, filed Thursday, contests a Court of Appeal ruling that one of the state's "special circumstances" for murder charges is invalid. That circumstance, which makes the defendant eligible for the death penalty or a life term without a parol, was for crimes that are "especially heinous, atrocious or cruel.'

The July decision upheld rulings striking such special circumstance charges against two men one charged with sexually abusing and killing a 2-year-old girl and the other with killing a young woman during a robbery.

The California Supreme Court let the appeal court ruling stand on June 26.

The 1978 death penalty law, approved as Proposition 7, specified 19 kinds of special circumstances, such as murder for hire and murder during rob-

The Court of Appeal said a penal law violates due process "if it is so vague that a person of common intelligence must speculate as to its meaning." It said the words used in the law to define "heinous. "atrocious" and "cruel" are vague and uncertain. The decision under appeal does not affect other special circumstances categories.

Inevitable

It used to be thought that progress was inevitable ... But now we know otherwise.

We know that our standard of living can go down. America's world position can deteriorate. That scarcity can seem the only commodity with a future. Now, some say decline is inevitable -

It isn't.

Under the leadership of Ronald Reagan, America can recapture its destiny, can be productive again, can be respected again, and we can start living like Americans again.

That's the Reagan commitment. If he wins. But a Reagan presidency is not inevitable. Not unless you help make it happen. Find out how ... write to:

Six-week-old actors strike matches longest ever

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - The strike by 67,000 actors wound up its sixth week today, matching the longest such walkout in the history of the film-TV industry, as both sides struggled to reach agreement on a new three-year contract. Negotiators for movie and television producers and for the striking unions, the Screen Actors Guild and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, met late into the night Thursday.

The latest round of bargaining came only hours after the two sides recessed a marathon 17-hour negotiating session.

As the talks continued, idled actors - including film legends Gregory Peck and Charlton Heston - kept busy picketing outside Paramount Studios for a third straight day.

The strike has shut down production on nearly all fall TV network programming and left some 20,000 craftsmen and technicians out of work. Twenty years ago, a SAG-AFTRA walkout lasted six weeks.

Neither side indicated whether any progress was being made toward a settlement during the latest round of daily talks, which began nine days

The key bargaining issue has been continuing compensation to actors for work on programs made for pay TV, videodisc and videocassette.

There seems to be no disagreement on whether the actors are entitled to some kind of payments for such shows - similar to the way they now earn residuals for repeated broadcasts of programs on commercial

However, the crux of the problem revolves around when such payments should begin and how much they

The unions issued their last public position shortly after the strike began July 21: 6 percent of the producers' gross receipts from the first dollar

The producers, on the other hand, offered 3.6 percent of the gross for dramas, comedies and variety shows and 2 percent for other programming — talk shows, game shows and the like. The producers have contended those payments should be triggered only after a program has run for up to two years on pay TV or has sold in excess of 100,000 videodiscs or video-

Among those hard-hit by the strike have been the three major TV networks, whose fall programming production has come to a virtual standstill. Instead of the traditional fare an avalanche of brand-new dramatic and comedy series mixed with new episodes of old favorites — the networks have announced schedules that lean heavily on films, specials and

The "reality" series, such as "Real People" and "That's Incredible," have been able to continue filming because they are classified as newstype programs. Along with daytime shows, they are exempt from the strike, which affects only prime-time dramatic and comedy shows and some game and talk shows.

an individual, and this has been interpreted to include low-cost housing.

When the City Council on Tuesday voted not to increase the senior citizens' homestead exemption on paying taxes, Akins said he was disappointed. And he suggested the county's low interest bond program may help some residents in buying a

Another housing complex like Hillcrest Manor, located on Scharbauer Drive, can't be done by the city. Akins said, because the federal government changed its guidelines for such a project. The only way he could see to take federal funds is if the project could be done similar to Hillcrest Manor.

But depending upon the Department of Housing and Urban Development to provide low cost housing for citizens is wrong, he said.

"MAYBE WE CAN have a change in the administration this coming year and change the program back to what Congress had intended," the mayor said, referring to the presidential race.

Akins then proceeded to trace the housing problem in Midland to a lack of morality in the country.

As morals decline, so does the value of human life, whether for the unborn child or the elderly person, Akins said. And he proceeded to compare the United States today to the Roman empire which failed because the citizens' morals dropped.

"I believe it's Biblical and practical that the family be the first support of the aged," he said, describing how his grandparents had been able to work until they died.

He suggested senior citizens could be utilized in more part-time jobs, especially for the city. And others could volunteer their time to add a resource to Ada Spivey, chairman of the committee, sugggested the city use senior citizens in half-day jobs instead of hiring full-time workers.

Wayne Kohout, director of parks and recreation, said his department has been hiring senior citizens for part-time summer work. He added that studies show senior citizens work at a steady pace and have more output than any other age group

"I AGREE WITH what you say about moral responsibility," began Mary Hinkle, director of Casa de Amigos, as the question session began. "But I come into contact daily with people who are no longer capable of doing physical work. I do see children taking care of older parents, but it has to be a two-way street. Sometimes parents don't want to go live with their children. The biggest problem is that there isn't enough decent, low-cost housing available for people who come to Midland to work, she said before criticizing the city's recent action to sell revenue bonds to build hangars for airplanes.

Akins replied that comparing housing and hangars 'doesn't wash. Revenue bonds are paid back by revenue from airports. The person who pays the rent to put their airplane in there pays off the bonds.

Mrs. Hinkle said she was talking about housing for people who could pay $100 to $150 a month, people who didn't want handouts. However, Fred Kester of Midland Housing Authority which operates Hillcrest Manor, said the housing complex makes enough money only to pay operating costs. HUD paid for constructing the building "and there isn't enough income to pay back any principal and interest," he said.

Everett Spivey recalled watching a recent newscast which talked about low-cost housing going up in

"I ASK MYSELF, after attending these meetings for two years, why is it we can't do something. I'm not talking about a giveaway; I'm a taxpayer.'

Akins again put the blame on the federal government for not allowing Midland to take the funds without restrictions. There was no meeting of the minds on the issue by the time the meeting ended and Akins remained to talk on a one-to-one basis with questioners. Earlier in the session, Kohout had outlined progress on the new Senior Citizens Center at Circle Drive. If there are no delays, the center should be completed in October.

Some changes have been made as people have donated items and money, he said. For example, the main activity room will have several ceiling fans to cut energy costs and a mirrored ball for dances.

The City Council has allotted $14,051 to purchase furnishings for the center, although the department had hoped to get $19,000 from an agency. However, the agency ran out of money, Kohout explained.

Many reported missing following tidal wave

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) - More than 100 fishing boats and their crew were reported missing today in the Bay of Bengal following a tidal wave near the resort of Coxsbazar, near Chittagong.

Reports from the area said about 14,000 people were affected because of damage to homes when the surging waters reached shore Wednesday. Flood, protection embankments were broken and water covered fields, according to the reports.

Hostages will face tough readjustment

NEW YORK (AP) - Wrenched from their normal lives and held in isolation for at least 300 days, the American hostages in Iran face a tough readjustment on return — a kind of "Rip van Winkle syndrome," in the words of one hostage psycolo-

"By that I mean the psychological problems of returning to a world that's changed and to people who have changed," said Dr. David Soskis of Temple University in Philadelphia, chairman of the American Psychological Association's task force on terror-

"It's something we see in other settings: political prisoners, people who've been on intellgence assignments where they have assumed another identity, or military people who are stationed in remote areas," Soskis said Thursday.

On return home, these people share a difficult readjustment — everything from relearning how to drive a car to coping with changes in family and friends

Dr. Martin Symonds, director of the victim treatment program at Karen Horney Clinic in New York, compared it to "waking up from a bad night's sleep. You don't know where you

Former hostage Richard Queen reported being disoriented by his sudden release last month after 250 days captivity. His father said Queen seemed "a little like Rip van Winkle" at their reunion.

But Soskis, Symonds and others stressed that there was a crucial difference between a hostage's experience and that of the Washington Irving character who awoke after a 20year sleep.

'What is added is the change that has occurred in the person himself," said Soskis. "He has not been asleep all this time, but has been undergoing terrifying experiences that radically transform him.'

"You come back feeling you're encased in a plastic bubble of having undergone a very important experi-ence that is incapable of being understood by the people who should be closest to you," said Dr. Jeanne Knutson, a senior research associate at the Wright Institute in Berkeley, Calif., and expert on terrorism.

Ms. Knutson and Symonds said it was likely some of the hostages would feel bitterly that their country had abandoned them.

"We - the whole country - are going to be on probation with the hostages, because they will say, 'You could have done more.' ... It's a close parallel to the four-year-old kid who goes into the hospital for a tonsillectomy and the first thing he does as they're leaving the hospital is kick his parents," Symonds said.

The hostages' disorientation will be worsened by the sensory deprivation they suffer from their isolation, said Dr. Herbert Modlin, senior staff psychiatrist at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan.

"In complete sensory deprivation, within 24 hours any of us would become psychotic ... I presume the hostages are not in such an extreme situation, but still they're in a very limited environmet and psychological repercussions are inevitable," Modlin

Symonds cautioned that those who welcome the hostages home must be careful not to judge their behavior by "peacetime" standards.

"The one thing we can do for the hostages is to fully accept that whatever they've done, as long as they're alive, they've done the right thing,'

Nixon Bremer's first target, says new diary MILWAUKEE (AP) — The man convicted of shooting presidential candidate George C. Wallace also trailed President Richard Nixon and wanted to assassinate him, according it mentioned no one else in the Wal-lace shooting, and McManus said he refused to give law enforcement offito a recently discovered section of diary allegedly written by Arthur Herman Bremer. cials access to it.

Construction worker Sherman R. Griffin found the 148-page diary under a Milwaukee viaduct on Tuesday. It was wrapped in aluminum foil and stashed in a plastic briefcase circled with plastic adhesive tape. His lawyer, Jack McManus, announced the find Thursday.

A signature alleged to be Bremer's appears on page 56, McManus said. Above the signature was written, "Life has been only an enemy to me. I shall destroy my enemy when I destroy myself. But I want to take a part of this society that made me with me. I choose to take Richard M. Nixon."

Bremer, a Milwaukee busboy, was convicted of shooting Wallace during a campaign apearance in Laurel, Md., on May 15, 1972. The attack left the former Alabama governor crip-

Bremer, serving a 63-year sentence at the Maryland Correctional Institution in Hagerstown, Md., declined to be interviewed Thursday, prison offi-cials said. He becomes eligible for parole in 1982.

A 113-page portion of Bremer's diary, found in his car, has been copyrighted by him and published. The discovered pages predate the published diary, spanning March 2, 1972, to April 3, 1972, McManus said.

Griffin, his wife Carol, McManus and James Selk, a Madison journalist whose opinion McManus sought on the dairy's value, have read the document, which now has been hidden. The Milwaukee Sentinel and Wisconsin State Journal said they had obtained copies of two pages of the McManus said FBI officials wanted to scruntinize the manuscript for possible references to a conspiracy. But

According to the newspapers, the first page of the diary says: "Now I start my diary of my personal plot to kill by pistol either Richard Nixon or George Wallace. I intend to shoot one or the other while he attends a cham-

Wallace appeared to be the second choice as an assassination target, he added. The author never explained why Bremer fired at the Alabama governor rather than Nixon, according to Selk.

Wallace said in 1974 he thought someone had paid Bremer to shoot him, and he believed people involved in Watergate had been involved in the attempt on his life.

The diary also mentions plans for "mass murder" in downtown Milwaukee and plots against Milwaukee residents.

McManus considers the diary abandoned property, not lost property, and says he will try "to make them (his clients) some money if they are entitled to it."

"I don't know why this man (Grif-fin) should have that," said the convict's father, William Bremer. "If he had turned it over to us, we would have given him a considerable reward. ... It's my boy's property and, therefore, my property.

Some hostage families commemorate 300th day

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some of the families of the American hostages in Iran plan quiet commemorations of the 300th day of captivity. Others say there's no reason to treat the day as something special.

"Would you really want to commemorate a day when your husband or son was held hostage?" asked a Washington area woman whose husband was among those taken captive in Tehran Nov. 4, 1979, 300 days ago

"I will treat it like any other day. I will go to work. It isn't a day to celebrate in any way," said the woman, who requested anonymity.

"The 300th day — those numbers bother me," sighed Dorothy Royer, 79, of Houston, whose son William is a captive. "I don't need to be reminded that it's that long." But Mrs. Royer will, in her own way, commemorate the day. She is on her way to a vacation at her son's cottage in East Texas. Along the way, she planned to leave yellow ribbons on trees, lampposts and pillars.

At Tacoma, Wash., the fence surrounding Dave Schaefer's home is adorned with a yellow ribbon for each day his father, Air Force Col. Thomas Schaefer, has held captive.

"It's just starting to strike me now how long it really has been," Schaefer said. "Maybe the number 300...that's a long time. And to think that 300 days ago everything was normal."

The family of Richard Morefield, who was the U.S. Embassy's consul general, is trying "to live our lives normally and together as much as possible, as dad wants it," said his daughter, Betsy, of San Diego. The family planned a quiet dinner with friends, nothing more.

The families of several hostages gathered in Hermitage, Pa., for a 52-hour candlelight vigil. Hundreds of well-wishers were expected for the ceremony, during which 300 American flags were to be raised — one for

In Chicago today, public relations man Merton Silbar was kicking off a drive to raise $1 million to benefit hostages and their families.

Silbar said he is asking 5,000 corporations to donate at least $300 each - $1 for each day since the takeover of the American Embassy by militants demanding the return of the Shah of Iran. Silbar says the money his campaign raises will go to the hostages or to their families.

Texas International wants little bit of Love

DALLAS (AP) — When an expansive new regional airport between Dallas and Fort Worth opened in 1974, airlines shifted their flights away from the old facility nestled in Dallas' populous west side — that is all except Southwest Airlines.

Southwest vowed to remain at Love Field. And its competitors, Braniff and Texas International, among others, took the smaller airline to court trying to stop one commercial airline from having an entire airport to itself.

Several battles later, Southwest was allowed to remain at Love, and became a booming commuter carrier with approval from the Civil Aeronautics Board to fly to adjacent states from Love.

Now Texas International wants a piece of the Love Field pie and has asked the CAB to allow it to serve the Dallas airport beginning Tuesday with a competitive new fare program designed to compete for budget-mind-

That request has citizens living near the airport up in arms, protesting the same things that followed Southwest's move to stay at Love more noise and crowded skies over a heavily populated area.

The D-FW Airport Board and the cities of Dallas and Fort Worth quote the Wright Amendment, restricting commercial traffic at Love and prohibiting interlining — offering through service or ticketing.

Southwest has also filed a CAB objection to TIA's proposal on grounds of interlining.

TIA senior vice president James O'Donnell claims Southwest has become "fat and lazy and wants to maintain a monopoly." He maintained that TIA retained "full access to Love Field" when it filed a "reservation of right" notice with contract signed in 1979.

Soutwest officials say they do not object to TIA's competition, but they do object to "underlining." Pilots have complained tall buildings near Love Field force them to take off and land in a stair-step fashion, and that winds over Bachman Lake, north of the airport, present a hazard.

Southwest revised its landing approach procedures after it was reported last week that the airline's craft almost had midair collisions 12

D-FW controllers say that traffic over Love Field has reached the "saturation point" and say TIA traffic would make the situation even worse.

'They (Southwest) were getting into a lot of trouble with aircraft coming in and out of Addison and were having a lot of real close calls, said Charlie Phillips of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization at D-FW.

Workers prepare the ticket counter for Texas International Airlines at Love Field, Dallas. TIA hopes to have approval from the Civil Aeronautics Board to start flights from Dallas Love Field Sept. 2 in competition with Southwest Airlines. (AP Laserphoto)

FAA investigating near miss

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration is investigating a near miss between a small plane and a Piedmont jet on a flight from Norfolk to New York, authorities reported Thursday.

The incident at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday involved Piedmont Flight 270, on its way to LaGuardia Airport, and a Cessna, an FAA spokesman in New York said Thursday night.

The Piedmont 737 had climbed to 4,000 feet about eight miles northeast of Norfolk International Airport when

Cuban melee ends

FORT INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa. (AP) - A fight between two Cubans apparently set off a rockthrowing melee in a high-security detention area of this refugee resettlement center, scene of three disturbances earlier this month, officials say.

Seven people, including an immigration officer, were injured during the eight-hour disturbance by about 40 Cubans on Thursday. Eighty-five people from the camp detention area were removed to other prisons and detention centers in the cials said.

At the height of the disturbance, about 20 Cubans climbed to the roof of a top-security barracks for juveniles and jeered at security officers, pelting them with rocks and pieces of broken furniture while others inside set fires and broke windows, officers said.

State Department spokesman Carl White said the incident ended when clouds of smoke from burning mattresses convinced unruly Cubans to end a stalemate and relinquish control of the top-security barracks for young detainees.

Some were evacuated from the roof by cherry picker, he said.

White said an immigration officer sustained a knee injury, while one Cuban was treated at a hospital and four were treated at the post. One refugee could require hospitalization, White said.

Pentagon bringing political artillery to bear on GOP

By FRED S. HOFFMAN AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Harold Brown's early and two-fisted leap into the 1980 presidential campaign suggests the Pentagon may bring more political artillery to bear this year than in any election since 1964.

Although the campaign still is young, it already seems like 1964, when a Democratic administration used the Pentagon to fight off a Republican challenge.

Then, as now, the GOP made defense a major issue, with Sen. Barry Goldwater accusing President Lyndon B. Johnson's administration of allowing the United States to slide into weakness.

. Then, as now, the defense secretary rushed to counterattack in speeches and rebuttal press releases.

Then, as now, the administration unveiled sensational new weapons accompanied by the full blare of Pentagon publicity trumpets.

By tradition, the State and Defense departments have struck poses placing themselves above the political battlefield on grounds that foreign and security policies should be outside partisan considerations.

All, defense secretaries have encroached on this tradition in varying degrees during presidential campaigns, usually in the guise of speeches to "non-political" groups and in presentations to Congress.

Four years ago, Donald Rumsfeld used a Pentagon rostrum to call on Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter and the Democratic-controlled Congress to "match words with action"

by backing President Gerald Ford's moves to provide military strength while cutting waste.

Eight years ago, Melvin Laird got rough with Democratic candidate George McGovern. Laird, President Richard Nixon's Pentagon chief, accused McGovern of proposing "a white-flag surrender" defense bud-

But, based on his performance so far, Brown may outdo all his predecessors back to Johnson's defense chief, Robert S. McNamera. For example:

—The day after the Republican convention adopted a platform calling for military superiority, Brown appeared on TV to claim that the Carter administration had reversed a downward spin in defense spending under previous GOP administrations. Aides said Brown "was made available" to

—Shortly after the GOP convention, Brown delivered a slashing speech suggesting the GOP's "passion for military superiority" over the Soviet Union would increase danger of nucle-

—Brown became the first defense secretary in 24 years to speak at a party convention. He said he did so only because the Democratic Party platform plank supporting the MX missile had been challenged by some delegates. But it gave him an opportunity to underscore for the nation's voters the Carter administration's intent to strengthen U.S. nuclear

-Within hours of Republican candidate Ronald Reagan's speech to the American Legion convention last week, Brown's office rushed out a statement accusing Reagan of using "seriously misleading" figures on the size of the active Navy fleet. But it turned out that Reagan had cited the turned out that Reagan had cited the same figures Brown used in his annual report to Congress.

—Two days later, Brown called a news conference to announce a technological breakthrough that he said "alters the military balance significantly." It will, Brown said, enable U.S. bombers, other warplanes and cruise missiles to penetrate any Soviet air defenses.

Normally, the Pentagon would not go public on such a technological advance. Brown said he did so because there had been leaks.

—In recent weeks, administration officials let out word that Carter had formally approved a revised nuclear strategy placing priority on striking Soviet military targets, command centers and war-supporting industry while de-emphasizing possible attacks on Soviet cities.

Whether this disclosure had political intent is ambiguous.

Brown acknowledged the policy had been evolving for many years, starting before the Carter administration. It first was made public by Defense Secretary James Schlesinger in 1974.

But a senior defense official, asking to remain anonymous, conceded that politics "probably" played a part in the timing of Carter's formal directive in endorsing that policy.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Counseling important

Dear Dr. Solomon: My husband is recovering from a heart attack — a myocardial infarction, his doctor calls it — and appears to be making slow but steady progress. While the doctor seems to be very competent in his area of expertise, he has not taken any steps to counsel us about future sexual activity. My husband is reluctant to raise the question with him. Do you have any advice for me? — Mrs.

Dear Mrs. Z.: Counseling post-heart attack patients and their spouses about their sexual relations is an important part of a physician's job. Obviously wives play a major role in their husbands' physical and emotional adjustment following a myocardial infarction (MI); ignoring their sexual concerns does not mean the problem will go away.

I would suggest that you urge your husband to raise the question with his doctor, pointing out that you both need counseling. You may be interested to learn that in a study of post-MI patients conducted at the University of Maryland, it was found that in some cases, the closer emotional relationship that developed between husband and wife after the MI actually results in more satisfactory sexual relations.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Scientists constantly seem to be discovering that substances previously believed to be harmless are, in fact, hazardous. I'm wondering if this is true about the fluoride added to drinking water. Is there any evidence that fluoride might be dangerous, especialy to the kidneys? — Ms. V.I.

Dear Ms. I.: There is no evidence that fluoride added to drinking water in the amount needed to promote dental health is harmful to the kidneys or, for that matter, to any other internal organ. This conclusion is based in part of studies of people who for many years have lived in areas where the drinking water has a high concentration of fluoride.

Even after heavy, continued overexposure to fluoride, as may occur under industrial conditions, there is no sign of kidney damage. Neither has any difference in kidney function been detected when persons from communities with fluoridated water are compared with those from areas where the water is fluorida deficient.

Dear Dr. Solomon: What is the maximum age of patients who go to pediatricians? I have two children, 16 and 19 years old. Should they continue to be seen by a pediatrician, or should I begin taking them to my own doctor? — Mrs. A.V.

Dear Mrs. V.: There is no absolute age at which a pediatrician must give up a patient; some pediatricians continue with their patients into their mid-20s.

According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, the pediatrician's responsibility usually ends by

Kennecott settles

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Union officials say they hope a tentative settlement reached with Kennecott Corp. will provide a pattern for agreements with other companies involved in a seven-week strike by conner workers.

"We expect to see a domino effect," said Cass Alvin, chief spokesman for the United Steelworkers of America. The tentative settlement, the first of the strike, was reached Wednesday.

Bob Alkire, a spokesman for Kennecot, said the company would have no comment.

What will Capital be doing on Labor Day?

Working.

Building new plants. Starting new businesses. Funding innovation and growth. Developing more energy to fuel the economy.

And a principal result will be to create more productive and rewarding jobs in the private sector of the economy.

Part of the capital that creates jobs comes from the earnings of American industry. For example, because Conoco's earnings improved this year, we recently increased our capital and exploration spending to more than 2 billion dollars. That's a Conoco record. And as these funds help find and produce more energy, they will also create new jobs.

Throughout the economy, stronger earnings can provide the capital to create more and better jobs. So as we celebrate Labor Day, let's not forget capital.

It works, too.

Swollen pond breaks through volcanic debris

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) - A rain-swollen pond broke through a natural dam of volcanic debris, and water rushed downstream from Mount St. Helens, washing out a makeshift bridge and an unfinished dam. But the flow caused little damage along the Toutle River, authorities said. The rush of water Wednesday wiped out a temporary log bridge a mile east of the community of Toutle, said Jim Brady of the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

And about 75 feet of an incomplete 6,000-foot-long Army Corps of Engineers containment dam was vashed away when the pond near Spirit Lake

The wall of water rushed downstream at 35 to 50 mph until it hit an embankment near Camp Baker, where it slowed to about 10 mph. No injuries or major flooding were reported.

The volcano itself remained quiet with no earthquake activity reported early today, said Steve Bryant of the University of Washington geophysics department, which monitors the mountain. On Thursday dense clouds kept firefighters away from the base of Mount St. Helens, where fires ignited by the volcano's May 18 eruption continue smoldering under a blanket of ash. A small steam plume rose to the lip of the crater, which was shrouded in clouds until about mid-afternoon, Brady said.

GM recalling workers

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. sees signs that the long-awaited auto sales recovery is at hand and says it will recall 18,700 laid-off workers to boost production on six assembly lines. There is growing evidence of strength in the market, signalled by such indicators as improving consumer confidence and higher used-car prices, which normally portend higher new-car sales," F. James McDonald, GM executive vice president for North American car and truck operations, said Thursday.

A company source who insisted on anonymity said GM's car inventory, which stood at a slightly above normal 67 days' worth on July 31, had been falling and "we're selling more than we're building.

GM consistently is the most optimistic company and has been hurt least by the 17-month slump. A February recall of 15,000 workers was wiped out by a sales plunge in April. Car sales of the domestic manufacturers, down 23 percent so far this year compared with the same period of 1979 and 29 percent behind the 1978 pace, ran at an annual rate of about 5.9 million cars in the first 10 days of August and 6.9 million in the second 10 days. GM expects August as a whole to finish at 6.5 million, or 8.8 million including imports, and improve through the fall. Actual domestic sales last year were 8.3 million.

Altogether, the five major manufacturers said Thursday their indefinite layoffs totaled 241,350 this week compared with 243,350 last week, the fourth small decline in a row. The figures do not include GM's recalls, which are effective in October and November. Another 18,050 workers were scheduled for temporary furloughs next week, not including those at a GM assembly plant at Framingham.

Liz Carpenter will stay at capitol for only a year

WASHINGTON (AP) - Liz Carpenter — the brassy drumbeater for countless causes from Lyndon Johnson's War on Poverty to the Equal Rights Amendment — took drastic steps to make sure she doesn't renege on her pledge to stay here only one

For her return to Washington, Mrs. Carpenter said she pared her wardrobe down drastically — bringing only seven suitcases, or enough to get her through a year in her new job as assistant secretary of education.

With five months left before her self-imposed deadline for returning to Texas, she says, "I'm eager to get back to my Jacuzzi on the hill."

But then Mrs. Carpenter never intended to come back to Washington from that Austin hilltop home with the "spectacular view" in the first place, until Education Secretary Shirley Hufstedler sounded the call for her to head the new cabinet department's public affairs office.

"SECRETARY HUFSTEDLER CALLED me with persuasion I haven't heard since Lyndon Johnson used to occasionally pick me up by the ears and say, 'America needs you, I need you,' and I thought she was overdoing it but then, who am I to argue with a cabinet member," Mrs. Carpenter, 60, said in an interview.

Carpenter, 60, said in an interview.

The former press secretary to Lady Bird Johnson said she was enjoying her life in Austin too much to want to return to Washington, a city she first visited in 1942 and lived in for 32

Most of them were as a reporter watching the Texas congressional delegation, but she wound them up as a vice president at Hill & Knowlton, Inc., a large public relations firm.

Back in Austin since 1976, the widowed Washington veteran was working part-time at the LBJ Library and writing.

She wore a bright, red dress to her Senate confirmation hearing and cheerily told senators: "When this meeting was originally set for Valentine's Day, I went out and bought a red dress so I could ask you all to be my Valentines,"

MRS. CARPENTER WAS no less repressible than during the Johnson years when she said, "I taught LBJ how to pick up dogs" or told reporters she knew about the White House dogs because, "I'm in the doghouse most of the time."

At the confirmation hearing, she treated her nomination lightly by comparing her surprise to Franklin Pierce's when he learned he was nominated for president on the 49th ballot.

"Indeed, he only learned of it when his manservant happened into the town of Concord, N.H., and heard the news," Mrs. Carpenter said. "He rushed back to his master at Hillsborough and said, 'Ridiculous as it may seem, Mr. Pierce, you have just been nominated President of the United States."

She said she felt just the same.

Mrs. Carpenter joked then, and jokes still, about her unfamiliarity with the bureaucracy and its standard use of acronyms like FICE and BEOGS.

"I HAD NEVER met an organizational chart face to face," the new bureaucrat said. "Indeed, I had never known anyone over 10 years of age who drew squares and lines and shaded little boxes in crayons with the primary colors."

Joking aside, Mrs. Carpenter says she is deadly serious about the role she can play giving a human touch to the new department's image.

"I think that what I bring to these circles of young people is a sense of history and purpose and a reminder," she said. "It's as Lyndon Johnson said — education is the only valid passport out of poverty."

The assistant secretary does not want her staff or the department to speak about "post-secondary education" instead of "college." She prefers to hear a program described by what it does rather than with a Roman numeral title or an acronym.

Roman numeral title or an acronym.

"I'm not a management type. I'm from a more creative world," Mrs. Carpenter admitted. "Sometimes the danger is they think it's all management, and they get very swept up in the large phrases and they don't realize that what the whole government is about is people."

SHE SAID SHE tried to hire people with that purpose in mind, people who have some talent at explaining programs to the public.

"I think we are still struggling with it but I think we've made a lot of strides," she said. "You're always in reorganization it seems to me but we're about to get it all in place."

Plans for the fall include campaigning, mostly on weekends in Texas and elsewhere, as a "total immersion Democrat" for President Carter. "I hope to add some humor now and then. That's my fun and, my God, some of the things they do are laughable and yet also I think it's just a healthy thing to have in politics," she said.

Consul's opinions of U.S. now mellowing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chinese Consul General Hu Dingyi said he came to San Francisco expecting to see a Chinatown of cramped quarters and impoverished workers.

"Instead," the Chinese diplomat said, "Chinatown was so big and clean. And I met Chinese doctors, Chinese engineers, even a few Chinese lawyers."

After eight months as the head of China's West Coast consulate, Hu said his opinions, once staunchly anti-American, have mellowed.

"We can learn a lot from you," he said in an interview at the consulate, a converted Salvation Army compound.

The 58-year-old veteran diplomat said he now enjoys eating barbecued chicken, swimming in the pools of American friends and watching the "Today" show.

"And it is so beautiful here," he said. "You have

"And it is so beautiful here," he said. "You have mountains, you have ocean, you have sun. What more can you expect?"
Wooed by bankers and courted by businessmen,

Hu has enjoyed royal treatment since assuming his American post in a city with more than 70,000 Chinese residents, the largest Chinese community outside Asia.

In a typical day, he may attend a reception for visiting Chinese scholars, have lunch with Mayor Dianne Feinstein and dine with the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

He is one of the most powerful Chinese in this country, helping supervise the developing trade between China and West Coast cities from San Diego to Seattle.

Like Deng Xiaoping, China's vice premier, Hu was born in Szechuan province, a fertile area which Hu said looks like California.

Hu, short and stocky with greying hair, learned English as a child in Chungking — a move which later made him eligible for a diplomatic post.

He expected Americans to be surly, violent and deceptive after reading accounts of ill treatment of Chinese immigrants.

To his surprise, Hu said, Americans are friendly, frank and honest. He said they appear to be motivated by self-interest and greed, but such traits have a "positive side" because they encourage hard work. "We also have our own standards," he said. "We believe in the collective way of living."

Like a Chinese people's commune, the consulate has dormitories and a mess hall. Officials, cooks, chauffeurs and security guards eat together at a big table, Hu said.

"Our wives have no time for cooking and cleaning, because they are also diplomats. We share the work," he said.

Hu, who doesn't drive, often takes the bus to appointments. But he also is chauffeured in one of four new cars — a Ford, Buick, Cadillac or Oldsmo-

"We want to see which is best," he said, explaining why different models were purchased. "But they all burn too much gas."

Hu said he enjoys watching old movies and the news during his few off-duty hours. And like many Americans, he also enjoys going out for Chinese food.

"Basically, their food is good," he said of the restaurants he frequents, "although I think they add sugar for American taste. And lunch is so busy. You can't get a seat."

Donations to establish fund

BALTIMORE (AP) - Donations from people around the country who were rooting for 14-ounce Devon So-merville will be used to establish a fund in the name of the tiny premature baby, her mother says.

The baby, born two months premature and less than a foot long, died Saturday night at the age of five days. Officials said the cause of death was internal bleeding.

Had she lived, she would have become the smallest premature baby to survive in the United States, according to a spokesman for Baltimore City Hospitals.

Just hours before her death, hospital officials were remarking on her will to live. "She's incredible," said spokesman Lou Daugherty. "She's still fighting."

Doctors had given little hope that she would survive, however, and her size was a major factor in her death. "They are just not large enough to handle the stress," said Daugherty.
"There's just not enough formation,

that's the idea of being premature."

Devon was born Tuesday to Leonard and Linda Somerville of Leonardtown, Md. Mrs. Somerville said news of her tiny child had brought donations of money to the family, but she said she would turn the money over to the hospital for a fund in Devon's

He's known as 'Catfish King'

The Los Angeles Times

NICE, Calif. - Whenever "Catfish" George Powers goes fishing on Clear, Lake his boat is surrounded by a half dozen or so other boats.

They swarm around to watch him pull in the fish one after another. No one can figure out how Powers, 71, catches so many.

He caught more than 5,000 in 1975. He caught more than 3,000 last year.

And he only fishes from his 11-foot boat two hours each day from 10 a.m. to noon and never on Saturdays and Sundays.

Powers is so good he is known by legions of fishermen as the Catfish King of the West Coast. Catfish George worked in a pencil factory for 43 years, then retired eight years ago and moved to Nice, a tiny resort on Clear Lake, 90 miles north of San Francisco.

Since retiring, Powers devotes most of his spare time to catfish. He catches catfish. He cleans and fillets catfish. He and his wife of 50 years, Carrie (Catnip) Powers, eat catfish.

What the Powers do not eat they give to the mailman, the utility meter readers, the newsboy, neighbors, friends, relatives, to Catfish George's 88-year-old mother.

When he isn't catching catfish, Catfish is conducting catfish seminars from San Diego to Seattle.

He doesn't get paid. His transportation, lodging and meals are paid by the 243 Clear Lake resort owners who regard the fishermen as an attraction

"I try to teach people how to catch and clean catfish," says Powers. "I mean, really clean catfish. Most people don't know how.

"Catfish are one of God's most precious gifts to mankind. Catfish are the best eating fish in the lakes and rivers of America. But you got to trim the stink out of catfish.

"Most people don't like catfish because of the stink. The stink is nothing but the blood. Get rid of the stink and you've got heaven in the frying

Catfish George is always trying to inform people about catfish. He says it's his obligation. "It's my mission in my old age," he said. When boats gather around him on the lake, he tells

Governor makes soap opera debut

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gov. George Nigh planned to take a break this afternoon and put his duties as Oklahoma's chief executive officer on the back shelf long enough to watch an episode of a new television soap opera.

Nigh really isn't hooked on soaps, but like most folks, he isn't about to pass up a chance to see the other fishermen and women what to do.

"Gol dang it I try. They listen. But they don't practice what they're listenin' to," said "Catfish"

He says he fishes with the line not the pole.
"I set the hook with the pole on light 6-pound-test line, then lay the pole down in the boat and fish with the line," he said.

"You have to think like a catfish. Catfish are smart. They're full of food in Clear Lake. There's more feed in the lake than they'll ever need, But like most of us catfish are greedy. I slide the minnows right by their mouth gentlelike. Tease 'em. They can't resist...."

But no matter what he tells others, even when they are tossing their lines in the same hole no one pulls up anywhere near as many.

Every year Catfish and Catnip put on a huge fish fry with at least 300 pounds of catfish at their Baptist Church. They provide all the fish and do all the Clear Lake is filled with bass, crappie and bluegill, too, and most fishermen ignore the catfish.

Not George. It's only the catfish he's after.

Ford workers being tested for evidences of cancer

ALLEN PARK, Mich. (AP) - Ford Motor Co. is screening modelshop workers in the auto industry's second large-scale effort to determine why the workers get more cancer of the colon and rectum than normally would be expected, union officials say.

Ford's program began Tuesday and Wednesday with distribution of home test kits, according to Franklin Holbert, area vice president of the Pattern Makers League of North America, the union representing the

The company will give medical examinations to 555 patternmakers and modelmakers in its engineering labs and Rouge manufacturing complex in Dearborn, the Michigan Casting Center at Flat Rock and the engine plants in Cleveland, Holbert said Thursday. The engineering workers will start their tests the week of Sept. 8, and the others will be scheduled

General Motors Corp. on Aug. 18 began a similar program for 4,000 workers represented by the United Auto Workers in 21 cities. after studies showed the rate of cancer deaths among modelshop workers to be 36.4 percent, nearly twice the national average. Such colon and rectal cancers have not been linked to work. All the auto companies say they use no carcinogens in the shops, where mockups of cars and parts are made. Chrysler Corp. says it is preparing its own screening program. American Motors Corp. says it sends its work out to independent

The study that led to Ford's action was conducted by the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health. An examination of death certificates for 1,257 League members from all industries showed not only excess deaths from cancer of the colon but also excess deaths from leukemia among wood-model workers, something not found by the other two studies.

Ford did not make a public announcement of the program. A spokesman who did not want to be identified first said, "We want to await preliminary results before we say anything in detail." League members and supervisors are being included at first, with the possibility held open of expanding the screening to other workers less directly involved in the shops Holbert said Ford would have first results in two months.

Radiation source being sought

By The Associated Press

Officials at Argonne National Laboratory outside Chicago are trying to pinpoint the source of small amounts of radioactive promethium found on the hands and shoes of a security guard at the facility.

Meanwhile, in Alabama, a routine inspection at a nuclear plant near Athens turned up three bags of radioactive clothing in a regularly inspected trash bin, officials said.

An Argonne spokesman said Thurs day the quantity of radioactive promethium 147 found on the guard was not harmful and added that traces of the substance also were found at the lab's security headquarters and in several security patrol cars.

The isotope is used in the manufacture of gunsights that allow marksmen to see in the dark, according to spokesman Dan Giroux, and may have escaped from the sights of guns

Parents awarded damages

BROWNSVILLE (AP) - A federal jury has awarded $30,000 in damages to the parents of a youth who claimed he was slugged by a McAllen policeman in 1976.

Jurors decided Wednesday that former policeman B. T. Wilson used excessive force in arresting Eddie Longoria, 15, and unjustly struck him later at the McAllen police station.

The teenager died in a car accident in 1978, but his father continued the civil suit. The case is one of several police brutality actions filed against the department in the last two years.

The FBI is investigating the police department, which has been without a chief since Jack Caldwell resigned in June in a dispute with city commissioners.

Witnesses being sued

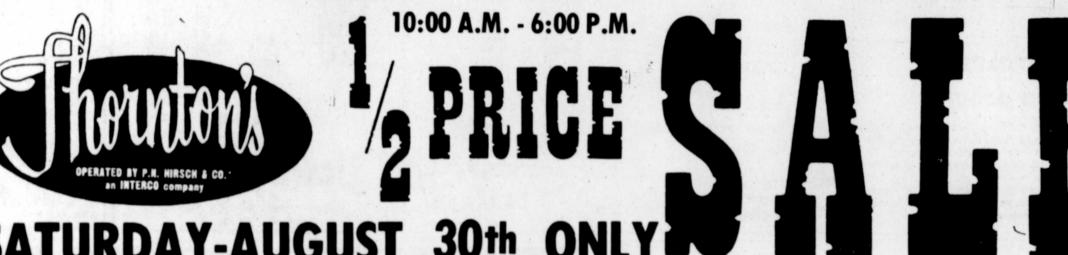

EDINBURG (AP) - A former foreman of a large Hidalgo County ranch has filed $9 million lawsuit against seven witnesses who testified against him in a cattle theft trial last year.

Pete Stout, once foreman of the Monte Christo Ranch, was indicted in 1979 in the alleged illegal sale of 167 ranch cattle.

Stout testified at the trial that he owned the cattle along with an El Paso cattle dealer, J. T.

YMCA hosts fall classes

The Alamo YMCA is offering a wide range of recreation and fitness classes for youth and adults this Adults can register for such classes s fitness fantasia on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. or Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10 to 11 a.m. Evening classes will include fitness fantasia on Monday and Wednes-day 6 to 7 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday from 7:45 to 8:45 p.m. Fees will be $5 for Alamo Y members and $20 per month.

A new program offered at the Alamo Y this fall will be the fitness testing. A trained fitness specialist will conduct a fitness evaluation of the student which will measure cardio-respiratory endurance, percentage of body fat, flexibility, muscular strength and endurance. With the results of these tests, the Y specialist will help the student design a personal fitness program.

Members may take the test for a $15 fee. Members and non-members should take two fitness tests - one at the beginning of the program and one at the end of the program — and an eight week progressive conditioning starter fitness program. Cost for members will be $35. Non-members cost will be $50.

For the youth, Alamo Y is offering gymnastic classes for beginner and intermediate students. Classes will be at the following times: beginners (3- and 4-year-olds), 2:45-3:15 p.m.

Tuesday and Thursday; beginners (5and 6-year-olds), 3: 30-4: 30 p.m. Tues-day and Thursday; beginners (6 and over), 3:30-4:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday; advanced beginners and intermediates (6 years old and up), 4:30-5:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday; advanced (6 and over), 4:30-6 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

All gymnastic classes will run on a monthly basis with new registrations taken at the beginning of each month. Fee is $6 for members and $17 for non-members each month.

Registration for this session of fitness fantasia and gymnastics classes will be Sept. 2-8. Interested persons may contact Guy Fish at 694-2528, or come by Alamo Y at 901 N. Midland

Gas-saving gadget endorsed

WASHINGTON (AP) - A gadget that cuts off a car's air conditioner when the vehicle accelerates has become the first product aimed at cutting gasoline consumption to win government endorsement.

The device, marketed under the name "Pass Master," can provide a "small but real fuel economy benefit," the Environmental Protection Agency said Wednesday.

Motorists could realize up to 4 percent fuel reduction while using their air conditioners on cars equipped with the device, the agency said. That would translate into a .8-miles-pergallon improvement for a car that normally gets 20 miles to the gallon with the air conditioner on.

The agency cautioned that the 4 percent figure was a maximum amount and could be less depending on a motorist's driving habits, the type of car and the type of air condi-

But still the Pass Master, which sells for less than $15, is the first of 40 products to pass the EPA's tests as making any "statistically significant" improvement in a car's mile-

Some of the devices that have flunked include various gasoline and oil additives, devices designed to put additional air or water into the fuel mixture and gadgets to improve the carburetor's fuel-mixing ability, the EPA said.

The Pass Master, which is connected to an engine's intake manifold, cuts off the air conditioning compressor during heavy acceleration, allowing a car to speed up without the extra power demand from the compressor.

Dutch discover they also have Love Canals

LEKKERKERK, Netherlands (AP) - The Dutch are discovering that their nation, carved out of the sea and famous for its canals, may now be laced with poisoned landfills, in situations similar to Love Canal in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The nation woke up to the dangers of chemical dumping in April when the government ordered the evacuation of all 871 residents from the six-year-old Lekkerkerk West housing development here.

Drums of toxic chemicals, buried in rubble used to fill in four canals under the site, had leaked and contaminated the drinking water.

Since then, towns across the Netherlands have reported their own suspect dumping sites almost daily - a problem aggravated by crash development that devours any sort of landfill to make use of below-sea-level terrain.

On Aug. 20, authorities in Utrecht in the nation's center closed a 29-acre city park after discovering toxic chemicals in landfill used to build the park. City officials are trying to decide whether the fouled ground should be hauled away.

The central government in The Hague has responded to the discoveries by launching a nationwide search for hazardous dumping sites and is working to toughen controls on waste disposal and soil pro-

Lekkerkerk West, on the outskirts of a 700-year-old farming village 10 miles east of Rotterdam, has become a ghost town behind a chainlink fence.

Workers in white suits, some wearing gas masks, are dragging 100,000 tons of dirt and muck from under the foundations of the 268 row houses. Some homes may have to be demolished to rid the place of toluene and xylene, toxic byproducts of paint. The same two chemicals were found in the Utrecht

After the evacuation at Lekkerkerk, the government promptly bought the homes from those who owned them for the equivalent in Dutch guilders of $82,500 to $108,500 and gave fenants the equivalent of two years' rent. Many of the displaced families live in a nearby trailer park set up by the government. Some have bought new homes. Few want to return. 'I don't know yet whether people will have faith in these houses when this is cleaned up," says Mayor Hans Ouwerkerk. "Mostly it's an emotional prob-

He stresses that the health danger is far less serious than that suspected at Love Canal in upstate

Just a couple of dozen casks were buried here under the foundations, and no sickness has been linked directly to the leaking wastes. At Love Canal, a company acknowledged dumping 21,000 tons of chemicals, mostly chlorides, into a canal for 10 years, and residents have complained of headaches, miscarriages and other ailments.

Researchers say the chemicals found in Lekkerkerk West can cause headaches, coughing, nausea and dizziness when inhaled or swallowed. The wastes at Love Canal could cause birth defects and other serious genetic problems, U.S. studies found.

But the waste problem still alarms the Dutch. Their nation was built by pushing back the sea and is famous for its dikes, lowland canals and windmills that once drained them. About 60 percent of the 14 million residents live below sea level. Land reclamation is a way of life and landfill is precious.

Lekkerkerk is typical, a town nestling below a dike that holds back the River Lek and now a bedroom suburb for the industrial Rotterdam metropolis.

"The farmers had open ditches, and the industries had a lot of waste, so what was easier than filling in the canals with the waste?" said Jan de Koning of the Heidemij engineering firm, a consultant in the Lekkerkerk excavation.

"From the late 1950s to the early '70s, there was a boom in Holland. But there wasn't enough knowledge of the hazards of waste disposal."

Carter's action unprecedented; DOE postpones Grace contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter Thursday directed the Department of Energy to postpone the signing of a $12.6 million contract with the W.R. Grace Co. on grounds that the firm is out of compliance with federal wage and price guidelines.

The company, a multibillion-dollar international chemical company based in New York City, was scheduled to sign on Friday a contract for a two-year design effort to plan a $3 billion synthetic fuel facility to covert coal to gasoline at Baskett, Ky.

Officials of the Council on Wage and Price Stability said the company failed to comply with the price standard set by President Carter two years ago.

White House spokesmen said Carter's action in ordering the contract signing to be postponed was unprecedented. A W.R. Grace statement issued in New York called Carter's action arbitrary and said it plans an appeal. We feel that the corrective action proposed by the Council on Wage and Price Stability was fair, and should have been accepted by W.R. Grace," the White House said in a statement. "As the president said in announcing the wage and price guideline program, we will make every effort within legal limits to deny government contracts to companies that fail to meet our wage and price standards," the statement said.

"We do not feel that we can proceed with the awarding of a federal contract to a firm which refuses to come into compliance with our anti-inflation program," the statement said.

The latest attempt to bring W.R. Grace into compliance took place Thursday morning in a meeting between Alfred Kahn, the chairman of the Wage and Price Board, and Felix Larkin, chairman of the board

Deputy White House Press Secretary Rex Granum said it is hoped that the giant project is not slowed down because of the decision, especially in view of the fact that there are other firms which can take over the de-

"At this point it is a matter of a brief delay to determine if W.R. Grace is going to get into compliance," Granum said. Grace said it "intends to exhaust the council's appeal procedures since it considers the council's position erroneous, without merit, contrary to the public interest and inconsistent with the stated policy of the council and the Carter administration.'

The statement also said, "If the government is unwilling to proceed with the signed agreement, there will be no adverse affect on the company, but the long-term best interests of the country will not be intensified today as talks aimed at ending the 15- for free trade unions, the main stumbling block in a day-old strikes stalled with both sides appearing unwilling to budge on the worker's key demand trade unions free of government control. Meanwhile, the number of idle enterprises continued to mount.

Sources on the workers' strike committee said the number of strikebound enterprises in the tri-city region around Gdansk had swelled to 627, well above the 480 figure which the strikers claimed three days

One strike committee member, who asked not to be named, claimed workers in the vital coal and steel centers in Silesia had threatened to strike in support of the Gdansk workers if the government does not meet the trade union demand by Monday, the unofficial end of a "cooling off" period proposed by strike leader Leszek Walesa on Thursday.

In West Berlin, the Working Group for Human Rights claimed today several hundred ethnic Poles in the communist East German port of Rostock had called in "sick" in a "solidarity action" with the workers across the border in Poland. The West German group had no information that other East German workers had joined them and the report could not be independently confirmed.

Hours after strike leaders here called off scheduled talks with the government Thursday night, the government negotiators postponed a fourth face-toface bargaining session scheduled for today, saying without explanation that they were "not yet ready to meet the Baltic area strike leaders.

Sources on the Joint Strike Committee, which represents an estimated 300,000 workers on Poland's industrial north coast, said the talks, which had been tentatively set for midday, could resume later today. It was not known if the government's postponement would cancel the later meeting.

GDANSK, Poland (AP) - The Polish labor crisis law Jagielski, for a "direct answer" on their demand settlement of the strike.

Word of the government's postponement came amid growing signs that the strikers are losing patience with what they consider government stalling on the trade union issue.

The (strike) presidium is tired of the haggling and would ask the government for a straight answer on the key demand to set up a free trade union or not," said one committee member.

The claim that miners and steelworkers in the southwestern area might join the walkout could have far-reaching consequences for embattled Communist Party leader Edward Gierek. The district is regarded as Gierek's main power base and the coal mines and steel mills have been relatively free of labor unrest.

Nevertheless, transport and industrial workers in the region's largest city, Wroclaw, have joined the strike, idling 56 enterprises. The workers there have said they would return to work on orders from the Gdansk committee

Walesa, chairman of the Inter-Factory Strike Committee, called Thursday for a temporary halt to the spread of work stoppages in order to give the government time to reach a settlement. But another strike leader, Andrzej Gwiadza, said the time for compromise may have passed.

"Perhaps we could have reached some understanding with the government commission earlier," Gwiazda said. "But we are very hard-pressed by the plenum of the strike committee.

Walesa is considered a moderate among the strike leaders, and it was unclear whether all his colleagues would go along with the idea of briefly The sources said they would press the chief gov- halting new walkouts, which government negotiators

Brezhnev criticizes U

MOSCOW (AP) - In a sharp attack on the United States, Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev today denounced what he said were "extremely dangerous" U.S. moves to isolate the Soviet Union in an effort to protest its military intervention in Afghan-

In a a wide-ranging policy speech televised from Alma Ata in Soviet Central Asia, the 73-year-old Brezhnev said his nation "will never be isolated" by embargos or boycotts.

'The U.S. administration has intended to organize something like a boycott of the U.S.S.R. to demonstrate its dissatisfaction with the policy of the Soviet Union ...," Brezhnev said.

He referred to the Carter administration's embargo of U.S. grain shipments to the Soviet Union and the boycott of last month's Summer Olympics in Moscow. Both sanctions were imposed early this year to protest the Soviet deployment of an estimated 85,000 soldiers in Afghanistan to prop up that nation's Marxist government in its war with anticommunist Moslem rebels.

Brezhnev said the measures had been useless against Moscow, had harmed only American businessmen and farmers and failed to wreck the "excellent success" of the Moscow Olympics.

Deriding what he said were U.S. attempts to isolate the Soviet Union politically, Brezhnev cited his meeting in Warsaw last May with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing and his talks in tling," Brezhnev said,

Moscow in June with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt

He claimed Soviet aid for Afghanistan showed a "natural concern about its security," and said his government "doesn't leave its friends in peril.

'The Soviet Union is for a political settlement of the (Afghan) situation. The only road to this lies an the end to counter-revolutionary intervention and agreements between the government of Afghanistan and its neighbors - first of all, Pakistan," Brezhnev said.

The Kremlin leader called on Western nations to respond to Soviet proposals for new arms limitation

At his meeting with Schmidt, Brezhnev proposed early talks with the West aimed at limiting the number of medium-range weapons in Europe and tied to negotiations to limit U.S. nuclear bombers and submarine-launched missiles

The Soviet news media has repeatedly accused the West of stalling on the proposal, but U.S. spokesmen say the Western allies will shortly be prepared to open new negotiations with Moscow

"On the whole, one can, perhaps, say there is a gradually growing awareness that none of the now existing serious problems in the world is amenable to a solution from a position of strength, by sabre-rat-

Culpepper, Dykes set to evaluate elevens

If you want to catch a glimpse of the Midland Bulldog and Midland Lee Rebel football teams tonight, you will have to either travel to San Angelo

Coach Pat Culpepper's Bulldogs take on Class AAAA Brownwood on the Angelo State University campus with the junior varsity teams set to start at 6 p.m. followed by the varsity scrimmage at 8 p.m. Lee Coach Spike Dykes sends his Rebels against another AAAA outfit in the Andrews Mustangs in Mustang Stadium with the JVS to start at 6 p.m. and the varsity to follow. Both Brownwood and Andrews have been in pads two weeks to the two Tall City teams one week and also have had a scrimmage under their belts, so the two scrimmages should be good tests for MHS and Coach Gordon Woods' Brownwood team scrimmaged Wharton last week and won 4-1. The Lions have been a Class AAA state power for several seasons and now, like Andrews, move up to AAAA circles this fall. Brownwood opens its season Sept. 5 against Abilene Cooper in Brownwood while Midland travels to Amarillo for a date with the Tascosa

"We have three players that we will hold out of tonight's scrimmage with Brownwood. They are Mark Hewitt, Brandt Moffatt and Danny Salas. All three have back injuries that are not serious, but we will still hold them out of contact today, " said Culpepper.

"I am anxious to see what we can do on defense since we have really been stressing that in the spring and early fall workouts. I want to see if our youngsters like to hit, "added Culpepper. Culpepper went on to say that the offense was not handling the ball well yet, but is coming on. "I know one thing, we sure are tired of hitting each other and want to take on some new faces."

Andrews, meanwhile, tied Slaton 1-1 in it's scrimmage last week. The Mustangs have a great running back in Van Pearcy and quarterback

Keith Brooks, who runs the option and throws well too. Lee opens its season Sept. 5 in Midland's Memorial Stadium against the always-tough Killeen Kangaroos while Andrews takes in the Seminole

'We are to the point that we need to face some strangers," Dykes said Thursday. "We've seen each other enough and we need to face somebody

"I think the kids are excited about playing Andrews. I know I am. I ieel like I've lived here all my life and we haven't played a football game yet. Playing someone else is kind of like waiting for Christmas before I had to

In other scrimmages involving District 5-5A teams, Cooper went up against Snyder Thursday night in Abilene and won 3-1 over the Tigers while San Angelo Central's Bobcats journeyed to Fort Stockton and took a 2-1 win over the Class AAAA Panthers.

Tonight, Odessa Permian tries Hobbs, N.M. in Odessa; Odessa High is at Monahans; Abilene High travels to Stephenville for it's scrimmage with O.D. Wyatt of Fort Worth and Big Spring faces Lamesa

Italy stages upset in Amateur Baseball

TOKYO (AP) - Italy upset the United States 12-5 on 16 hits, including a two-run homer by Gerolamo Mondalto in the first inning, on the sixth day of the 26th World Amateur Baseball Championships. It was their first loss against four victories. The loss puts the United States in a third place tie with Japan, which lost to South Korea 6-4 earlier

The United States plays The Netherlands Saturday at Yokohama City. Meantime, Cuba defeated Canada 15-1 and became the only country to remain undefeated.

Cuba, seeking its 16th world championship, collected 15 hits, including a solo homer, in a game that was called after the seventh inning because of the lopsided score.

For the Canadians it was their fourth defeat against two victories. In other games, Puerto Rico defeated Colombia 11-4, Australia topped Mexico 10-9 and Venezuela nipped The Netherlands 4-3.

New Coach Spike Dykes was impressed with the turnout and expressed his feelings. "I am

Cubs edge Dodgers

Cubs Manager Randy Hundley hopes an extra day's rest will pay off for Jon Perlman, 13-7, who goes against the Dodgers Brian Holton, 14-9. Holton is 4-2 against Midland this year and three of his wins have come in head-to-head combat with Perlman, who is 2-3 against the Dodgers.

"WE'RE GONNA win this thing, but we're gonna need help," says Hundley. El Paso must beat Amarillo to give the Cubs a shot at the flag. A tie would give the Gold Sox the pennant on the basis of a 17-15 edge over Midland in the season's series.

A loss Thursday would have been disasterous and the Cubs appeared headed in that direction going into the seventh behind 5-2. Then Randy La Vigne singled, Dave Stockstill hit into a force out and Dave Owen singled. When Bradley Thorp, who had relieved starter Doug Rau to start the sixth, walked Mike Shepston, Orel Herischer was brought in to face Scott Fletcher. A walk to Scott forced in a run, which prompted Manager Ducky LeJohn to summon Jim Nobles from the bullpen.

J.W. MIRCHELL then hit a hot grounder to third baseman John Shoemaker, who, thinking double, maybe triple, play was looking at the bag and the ball went through his glove and into the outfield as two runs score. Tom Grant then drove in the game winner with a single.

The drama was far from over, however. When Churchill got into trouble in the eighth, Segelke came out of the bullpen to snuff out the threat and then an error and single Tom Beyers promised more trouble at the start of

Dale Holman fouled off a half dozen pitches before Segelke got him swinging on a 3-2 pitch and catcher Shepston's throw to third caught Alex Taveras trying to steal. Segelke then got Mike Zouras, who had homered in the Segelke saves one for Churchill fourth, on a swinging 3-2 strike to end the game and earn his 12th save.

'Mitchell made a big play at third in digging the ball out on that steal attempt," Hundley said. "And that was a big play in the sixth," he added referring to Tom Grant's strike to Shepston to cut down Larry Fobbs, trying to score from second, for the MARK BRADLEY had doubled and Fobbs singled to make it 5-2. Then Taveras singled and Grant's throw saved the day for the Cubs.

The game marked the first time lefthander Rau was permitted to go 60 pitches or five innings since rotor cuff surgery last winter and even Hundley agreed he looked good. The best thing about his performance was that the Cubs knew they wouldn't have to look at him the entire game. When the ex-Aggie left, he was ahead 4-2, the Cubs' runs coming on La Vigne's 16th homer, coming after Gary Krug pluncked a banjo single over short to open the fifth. On loan from the Los Angeles Dodgers, Rau was throwing at speeds ranging from 67 to 80 mph. and allowed only five hits, four coming in the fifth. Mike Marshall's 16th homer in the second gave the Dodgers a 1-0 lead and Zouras' 12th homer keyed a three-fun fourth in which Fobbs and Taveras delivered run scoring hits to chase starter Henry Mack.

Bobby Murcer powers Yankees to 6-5 victory

By The Associated Press Bobby Murcer has a special reason for wanting to win the World Series with the New York Yankees. Once acclaimed as the successor to Mickey Mantle in the Yankees' outfield, Murcer spent six full, fairly productive years in pinstripes in the late 1960s and early 70s. But the Yankees never won a pennant with Murcer, who finally was traded to San Francisco in 1975. "Back in the early '70s, we challenged once, but I thought we were a player or two away from winning," Murcer said "It turned out that the only player who went away was me, but the Yankees brought me back, and it means an awful lot to me to win and go all the way," Murcer said.

Now, getting a chance to play even sporadically, the 34-year-old Murcer has been a key to the Yankees' success of 1980. Thursday night, he hit his 12th homer of the season to break a tie in the seventh inning and give New York a 6-5 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

It was the ninth time this season he has notched the game-winning RBI, and this one helped the Yankees maintain their half-game lead over the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East.

"I think that we'll play better and play harder in the stretch and that we'll win this thing," Murcer said.

The Orioles whipped California 13-8. Elsewhere in the league, Boston edged Oakland 3-2, Detroit downed Milwaukee 11-7 and Texas defeated Kansas City 10-6. The Minnesota-Toronto game was suspended after 14 innings, tied 5-5.

Lou Piniella also homered for the Yankees, and lefty Ron Guidry, 13-9, picked up the victory out of the bullpen, relieving Rudy May, who began the season out there.

"It feels good to win," said Murcer. "I was looking for a good pitch to hit hard. I had to figure Jim (Seattle pitcher Jim Beattie) didn't want to walk me as the leadoff man in the eighth, I sounded off earlier when I wasn't playing, and I think I have proved my point."

Jim Palmer notched his 14th victory, going 61-3 innings before he needed relief help from Sammy Stewart. Roenicke, Murray and Rich Dauer each had four hits as Baltimore set another club mark with nine hits in the fourth inning to score six runs.

"It was a sloppy game, and it's tough to bear down in a situation like that," Dempsey said. "But we have to kick ourselves in the butts because we are still the ones chasing New York.

Pat Putnam and Mickey Rivers also homered for Texas.

Twins 5, Blue Jays 5 Toronto's John Mayberry stroked a pinch single to tie the game 5-5 in the bottom of the eighth, and the Twins and Blue Jays played 14 innings before the game was suspended. A 5 p.m. curfew was invoked because of a rock concert at Exhibition Stadium in

Midland's Brad Wright to guide Lobo fortunes

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) - Joe Morrison says he doesn't have a timetable for success, and the new University of New Mexico football coach concedes it will take a little time and a greater amount of talent to make the Lobos contenders again in the Western Athletic Conference.

What had been a 6-6 record for the 1979 season under former coach Bill Mondt turned into a 0-12 mark when the school forfeited the six wins for using an ineligible player.

Still, Morrison says he did not spend much time deciding to accept Bridgers' offer.

"I'd never been on the ground past Midland, Texas, but after visiting Albuquerque and looking at the facilities, I felt it was a good opportunity," said Morrison.

Morrison also is confident New Mexico can again be a winner in the WAC, a conference in which it last won a title 16 years ago.

"We walked into a similar situation at Chattanooga and it took five years to make the program their a winner. I don't think it will take that long here," Morrison said.

How much immediate success New Mexico can find this season will probably depend on how well senior quarterback Brad Wright runs the new I-formation offense that Morrison has installed. Wright played his high school football at Midland Lee.

Wright, a sensation as a sophomore when he led the WAC in total offense average of 218.5 yards a game, is coming off knee surgery that side-lined him for most of last season.

Wright gained a school record 2,403 yards two seasons ago as an optiontype quarterback, but says he is just as comfortable with the new offense which emphasizes a straight drop back passing attack.

"I think the offense will be potent," says Wright. "Our receivers have good speed and it will be up to me to get them the ball."

Wright's primary problem may be finding enough company in the back-

New Mexico goes into the season with only one veteran running back in senior Jimmy Sayers. Gone are halfback Mike Carter and fullbacks Jamie Fox, Alvin Cartwright and Mark Williams. Carter and Fox were both academic casaulties, while Williams, the brother of all-time school rushing leader Mike Williams, transferred to Texas Tech.

A year ago, Fox gained 534 yards, Carter 460 and Williams 335.

Also lost either through academics or other factors were talented wide receiver William Owens, lineman Jim Cook and defensive back James

Sayers, a 5-foot-10, 156-pounder, led the team in rushing and receiving last season, with 696 yards and 19 receptions. Battling for the other running back spots will be untested juniors Jim Brooks and Sam Parrish and freshmen Cary Clark and Michael

Junior college transfer Roman Gabriel, who passed for nearly 3,200 yards at College of the Desert Junior College in California will back up Wright along with returnees Jim Cappon and David Osborn.

The receivers include 1978 All-WAC selection Ricky Martin and Derwin Williams and Keith McGee, a pair of wide receivers who also played on the UNM basketball team last winter when the recruiting scandal depleted the original squad. Defensively, the Lobos will be young, although cornerback Sharay Fields, who led the nation with 10 interceptions a year ago and talented linebacker Bob Shupryt are back. Morrison says much of the team's depth will have to be provided by the 22 freshmen listed on the squad. "The freshmen will have to play and provide depth early in the year."

says Morrison. "But I think we have enough good athletes that we will be competitive. Finally, Morrison doesn't even get a break from the Lobo schedule. UNM opens Sept. 6 against threeime defending WAC champion Brigham Young, then goes on the road to Missouri and Texas Tech.

"Those three games will pretty much determine how we do the rest of the year," says Morrison. The schedule Sept. 6 - Brigham Young Sept. 13 - at Missouri Sept. 20 - at Texas Tech

The Lonier, handled by Ramon Apodaca

The Lonier, handled by Ramon Apodaca under 112 pounds, set a heated pace at the start of the seven furlongs.

Catonie, piloted by Larry Byers, took a big run at The Lonier in the stretch, appeared to have things sewed up, but was unable to fight back when The Lonier rallied on the rall.

The photo-finish camera was unable to separate the two noses. So the winner's

Jeffrey suffers head injury

WACO, Texas (AP) - Baylor junior quarterback Jay Jeffrey, the leading contender for the starting slot, suffered a concussion in practice Thursday night and will be out of the lineup for an indefinate period, a team doctor said.

Dr. Red Covington, who was on the scene and examined Jeffrey, said the quarterback was knocked unconscious for about 30 seconds and suffered a concussion.

"It's hard to tell how long he will be out. It could be three days or three weeks," said Covington. "His progress will be the key as far as telling when he will comeback."

Earlier Baylor head Coach Grant Teaeff said Jeffrey would be his starter if he had to make the decision

Jeffrey, the younger brother of former Bear quarterback Neal Jeffrey, was competing for the starting assignment against Mikee Brannan, last year's chief signal caller, and David Mangrum.

New England will battle Seattle on TV

SEATTLE (AP) - Steve Grogan will be th starting quarterback for the New England Patriots tonight as they visit the Kingdome for the first of two games with the Seattle Seahawks this season.

Grogan has been challenged this season at quarterback by Matt Cavanaugh. And while h has opened the last two New England games after Cavanaugh started the exhibition opener against Los Angeles, Cavanaugh led a fourth-quarter drive that fell just short of toppling Philadelphia last week.

"Steve is our No. 1 quarterback," said Patriots' Coach Ron Erhardt. "We've got to get him his work. If he wants to play the full game Friday night, he will get to." The Seahawks have had trouble scoring points without Jim Zorn at the helm during the exhibition season. But they will have him back tonight for both National Football League teams' preseason finale. The Seahawks are 2-1 in exhibition play but have scored only 31 points. In contrast, New England is 1-2 and has rolled up 81 points. "I'm excited about getting back in it," said Zorn, who suffered a chipped left knee in the first quarter of Seattle's exhibition opener against Atlan-

With Zorn and No. 2 quarterback Steve Myer, who also is injured, on the sidelines, No. 3 quarterback Sam Adkins has started the past two games for the Seahawks.

Seattle won 10-7 in San Francisco last weekend following a 24-7 loss to Miami. The Seahawks took Atlanta

The nationally televised (NBC-TV) game will start at 7:30 p.m. CDT.

The Seahawks have averaged only 207 yards a game in preseason play but Coach Jack Patera pointed out his club has had more than its share of injuries.

"Consider the people we've had out, not only at quarterback," he said. "Consider the bumps and bruises to quite a few people. There's nothing you can do about that.

"As a result, we haven't been nearly as cohesive as we could have

In New England's exhibition games, the Patriots beat the defending National Football Conference champion Los Angeles Rams 35-31 in their opener but then lost to Oakland 31-29 in the final nine seconds and Philadelphia 23-17 Sunday.

Gerulaitis upset after stunning loss to Hank Pfister

NEW YORK (AP) - Vitas Gerulaitis spent three of the most frustrating hours of his career on the stadium court at the U.S. Open Thursday night. He then spent 15 minutes venting his anger by blasting nearly everyone who played a part in his second-round defeat by little-known

Hank Pfister. "It was a joke," said the No.5 seed from nearby Kings Point, N.Y. after Pfister's 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 1-6, 7-6 victory. "It was the worst central umpire (Zeno Frau) for a match I've seen. They want this to be the biggest tournament in the world, then they have no net judge and roving judges on the line? With only one other match going Gerulaitis, who lost in the finals last year, then criticized the 6-foot-4 Pfister, who is ranked 40th in the world.

"Every time Pfister cried, they changed the calls for him," said Gerulaitis. "Why not ask me if they were good?

"On one of my serves, I hit almost an ace and he barely ticked the ball

that the guy (a linesman) stuck out his hand and it distracted him. He was lucky to reach the ball." Second-seed John McEnroe, who beat Gerulaitis in the 1980 final, returned to action today against Steve Krulevitz. Jimmy Connors, No.3 seed, opposed Butch Walts; No.7 Harold Solomon took on unpredictable Ilie Nastase of Romania; No.10 Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia battled Chris Mayotte; No.13 Brian Gottfried played Tim Gullikson, and No.16 Vic Amaya took on Rick Fagel in a night match. Martina Navratilova, the second-seed among the women, played Leslie Allen; No.5 Wendy Turnbull of Australia played her first match of the tournament, a night contest with Renee Richards, and Andrea Jaeger, the 15-year-old eighth-seed, also made her first appearance in this event, against Jeanne DuVall.

While Gerulaitis seethed about the officiating - one of his complaints during the match, to tournament referee Mike Blanchard, resulted in a judge being placed at the net — he also was unimpressed with Pfister, whom he'd beaten five times pre-

"He got a set and a half start on me because of them (the officials)," Gerulaitis claimed. "I played average, made some silly errors in the fifth set. He did play a good tie-breaker." Pfister called the win "my second biggest, next to beating Connors in Las Vegas in '78. And I beat Gerulaitis in his own backyard."

He did it despite serving erratically and losing his power in the third and fourth sets. But he was a demon in the final set as both men played specta-cularly. Pfister won the tiebreaker 8-6 when Gerulaitis, who had saved one match point with a dynamite serve, missed on a couple of backhands. "To beat him 7-6 in the fifth is a real accomplishment for me," said the 26-year-old Californian who has never won on the tour. "He got some bad calls early on, but otherwise I thought the officiating was excellent."

Tampa to face Taiwan Saturday in LL finals delayed basis by ABC at 5 p.m. as

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) - Put baseball bats in their hands, and the little Little Leaguers from Hua Lian, Taiwan, and Tampa, Fla., speak the same language.

"They hit the ball just like we hit the ball, so let's go out and play six innings," said Tampa Manager Vernard Felder, whose team will seek to halt Taiwan's dynastic reign Saturday in the championship of the Little League World Series.

In Thursday's semifinals, Taiwan's aluminum bats pinged away for 20 hits, including a record seven home runs, in a 23-0 victory over Canada. "We hit good today," Taiwan Man-ager Ching-Con Hsiaw understated through an interpreter. Not to be outdone, Tampa's free swingers rapped 20 hits of their own, including four home runs in their 16-0 victory over Kirkland, Wash.

"We will have to play very good to win the championship," said the Taiwan manager. Taiwan, which needed extra innings to edge a team from California last year, is bidding for its fourth title in a row, and its ninth in 12 years.

Tampa, which has never won the title, met Taiwan once-before in a 1973 semifinal game that was won 27-0 by the Far East champions. The five homers Taiwan hit in that 1973 game stood as a record until Taiwan went to work on Canada's pitching Thurs-

Canada was represented by a team from Trail, British Columbia. Although shut out, the losers managed four hits off 5-foot-10 Taiwan pitcher Sheng-Dean Chen. That is relatively sub-par for a Taiwan pitcher. One of them struck out all 18 batters in a game here last year.

But Chen offset his pitching lapse with two home runs in one inning. He led off the fourth with a homer and then hit another after Taiwan batted around in the inning.

His second homer was the longest of the day. The fence is 200 feet from the plate, and Chen's drive would have carried 300 feet had it not struck a hillside beyond the wall.

"Taiwan looked pretty good, but we think we can beat them," said 5-foot-2, 95-pound Tampa shortstop Tyrone Griffin, who had two of his team's four homers. Griffin also triggered a double play in the fifth inning to support the shutout pitching of Andre Mack. Tampa used another double play to escape a bases-loaded jam in the third inning. Saturday's 2 p.m. championship

veterans are AWOL

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) -Washington Coach Jack Pardee says he has begun plans to allow cornerback Jeris White to play in tonight's National Football League game against Tampa Bay as two veteran Redskins remain AWOL.

Former All-Pros Lemar Parrish and Joe Lavender, who walked away from Washington camp Tuesday, failed to make the trip to Tampa on Thursday.

White, a former Tampa Bay Buccaneer who signed a three-year contract last weekend, had been on inactive status, but Pardee has until 7 p.m. tonight, five minutes before kickoff, to complete the paperwork to ready White for the

The Bucs traded White to Washington in the offseason because he wanted a hefty raise that Tampa Coach John McKay didn't think he should get. Tampa Bay received a

The 33-year-old Vereen, whose nightclub act fuses his singing, dancing and acting abilities into an hour-long mini-musical, can be understandably blase about the glamourous side of success.

Millions of Americans were introduced to Vereen in 1977, when he played Chicken George in Alex Haley's popular "Roots" miniseries on ABC. A year later, TV audiences saw another dimension of Vereen as the slick con artist in "Tenspeed and Brown Shoe," also on ABC.

On Broadway, Vereen has won acclaim for his roles in "Hair," "Jesus Christ Superstar" and "Pippin," for which he won a Tony Award for his portrayal of Leading Player in 1973.

And the entertainer's earlier work in films was eclipsed by his dynamic dance steps in "All That Jazz," the introspective film directed by Vereen's longtime friend and sometime mentor, Bob Fosse. Vereen's dedication may have come easily, but it didn't come early.

"If you're going to be in theater, this is the way to start," he said, again forgetting - or forsaking the pitfalls of giving advice.

In a similar self-transgression, Vereen had a warning for stage parents. "There are many talented children who are seduced into dancing schools run by rip-off artists," he said. "Parents should be very leery and check out the dancing school first."

One of nine children raised in Brooklyn, Vereen is reluctant to talk about his own. He graciously de-

Stock market stable

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices stabilized in relatively slow pre-Labor Day holi-day trading today as the government reported a record increase in the index of leading economic indicators but fears of interest rate increases persisted.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues, down more than 5 points in early trading, recovered and was up .68 to 931.06 after two hours. But declines outnumbered advances by a 6-5 margin on the New York Stock Exchange today. During the first four days of the week, the Dow index fell 27.81. Utility stocks were mixed. Texas Utilities rose 1/4 to 1714. Virginia Electric Power was unchanged at 11, and American Telephone & Telegraph was down 1/8 to Precious metals stocks. which had remained strong earlier in the week, showed losses today. Homestake Mining dropped 11/4 to 78 and ASA fell % to 56%.

Big Board volume totaled 15.31 million shares in the first two hours of trading, compared to 17.52 million shares at the same point Thursday. The NYSE's composite index rose .07 to 70.42.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .49 at 323.78.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Fall: season for new beginnings

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Earlier than usual, perhaps symbolically so, the Labor Day weekend will soon be here and gone, thus commencing the season of toil and tension, the time when things undone suddenly Vacations are over, school begins, and soon will come the fall sales, politics, a new symphony season, business meetings, personal reassessments, the World Series, football and falling leaves.

Caught in the mood of hyperactivity, retailers will try simultaneously to move old swimsuits and tennis rackets at end-of-season sales, and seek to push winter fashions, skates and skis at preseason dis-

The boss will be back, feeling guilty about his summer idleness, especially after he sees the books and realizes performance is below projections. He'll lay down a new discipline, same as the year be-

The spirit of experimentation will be rampant. New Year's resolutions are for dreamers, but don't plans hatched in the late summer and early fall have a determination behind them that forces results?

The season brings out the cleverest programs of political aspirants and the sharpest promotions of those who would sell us automobiles. It is a time when people are receptive to - vulnerable to something new.

A time, you might say, when people want to be done with the past: with programs that bring inflation, with cars that burn up gasoline, with stocks that go nowhere, with attitudes that produce no results. A new begining - that's what people want around this time of year, and while they might not get it they do get the promise of it. That much can be ascertained by just a casual glance at the daily newspa-

That glance will show, for example, that President Carter has still another new economic program to deal with the nation's ills, the others apparently having been forgotten or lost in the recession.

New York City has reaffirmed its goal of economically stability. The Red Sox restate their intention of winning the pennant. The Federal Reserve promises again to fight inflation to the death.

New beginnings, or promises of them, can be found almost anywhere else, too.

You can be certain as the day of the week that various chairmen and presidents will promise that next year's profits will tell a different story, and that stock analysts will promise 1,000 points on the

You can be sure that advertising agencies will present programs they promise will crack the mar-ket wide open, that Hollywood will promise the greatest picture since when, that a new glamor stock will emerge.

It's all there in the cards. It happens every year at this time, because this is a time for action, a time for new politics and business breakthroughs, a time when, finally, we can get the past off our backs.

You know it as well as anyone, because you've been as much a part of the post-Labor Day mood as any politician or institution. This is a time for finally doing all those things you know must be done. Knowing this, why is it then that this great burst of post-Labor Day energy that looks like the greatest constructive force ever loosed on an economy, withers away into promises of "wait 'til next year?"

Retarded pair seeks return of daughter

EAST DETROIT, Mich. (AP) - Stephanie Diesing was 3 months old when police found her, alone in an East Detroit house except for a watchful dog. Her parents, both mentally retarded, had gone to a dentist appointment.

The child, suffering from malnutrition, was ordered placed in the care of her paternal grandmother. That was 11 months ago.

On Wednesday, David and Dorothy Diesing kept another appointment: They went to court to ask a judge to give them back their daughter along with a new chance to prove themselves as parents. Before the hearing, their attorney, John Devers

Jr., had told a reporter: "They're afraid that Stephanie doesn't know them, that they will be strangers in her life. They have become very concerned about the time Stephanie has been out of their home.

In a 15-minute juvenile court meeting, Macomb County Probate Judge Robert Spier extended the hearing an additional 90 days. He said a final decision on Stephanie's custody would be issued when the Diesings have completed an American Red Cross child care course and resolve a dispute with their landlord.

Devers said the Diesings have been withholding rent because of the landlord's alleged refusal to make repairs on their rented house.

"The court and the Diesings are very happy that somebody finally has come up with a program to serve their needs," Devers said. "They want to do it because they feel it will benefit Stephanie.

Last October, Spier removed the child from the Diesings' care on a negligence charge. Officers had found the child after the Diesings' dentist, worried when he saw his patients arrive together but without their baby, inquired of her whereabouts. Told she was home, freshly diapered and guarded by the family dog, he alerted police. The Diesings' case has highlighted the issue of the rights of retarded citizens, who are entering everyday society in ever increasing numbers: Michigan's "mainstreaming" of developmentally disabled persons has caused a drop in population at institutions from 12,515 in June 1966 to 4,887 in June 1980.

"There's a general assumption that retarded peo-ple can't raise a family. I think that's simply not true," said Terry Hunt, assistant executive director of the Michigan Association for Retarded Citizens.

Nevertheless, the experts also agree that retarded people need help to learn proper child care procedures. And Devers said that help was hard to find the available classes don't address the most ordinary procedures which retarded individuals must

"We're talking about getting down to basic parent-ing skills," said Bob Slaine of Life Consultants Inc., a Macomb County agency that provides services to the mentally retarded. "There's no type of curriculum or program to educate the developmentally disabled on parenting."

A solution was found with a Red Cross babysitting course normally aimed at youngsters aged 9-11. It covers such matters as nutrition, hygiene, cooking and home safety, says Red Cross spokeswoman Jane

Congress may rewrite Carter's economic plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congressional Democrats, while defending President Carter's new economic revival plan from partisan Republican attacks, already are debating how to rewrite the package once it reaches

Carter, pressured from all sides to develop a tax-cut plan before the Nov. 4 election, Thursday unveiled a proposal for $27.6 billion in tax reductions for individuals and business, effective in 1981.

The president said his proposal would lead to "a more productive, more competitive and more prosperous American economy," while not rekindling the fires of inflation. He claimed it would create 1 million new

But he said Congress should wait until next year to enact the program to avoid election-year pressures that might result in economically unwise

"I will not accept a pre-election bill to cut taxes," he declared. Key features of Carter's plan would reduce 1981 income taxes to offset the increase in Social Security taxes that will take effect Jan. 1. and provide new incentives for business to invest in modern equipment. At the same time, however, it would push the 1981 budget deficit to more than $35 billion, a major break from the president's March proposal to balance the budget to fight inflation.

The plan was promptly denounced by Republicans. who charged it was an ill-conceived economic ploy intended to buy votes. GOP presidential nominee Ronald Reagan called the program a

"If you analyze it carefully, it is the first step into trying to help bail out Social Security with general tax funds," Reagan said in Middleburg, Va. He said simply returning in one tax what people pay in another "just doesn't make sense. That just is not a tax cut.' Reagan has proposed an immediate $37 billion tax cut, including a 10

Democrats, while praising the plan as a step in the right direction, also said it needed improvement. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who was Carter's chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the president's proposal 'offers real hope to American workers and significant prospects for economic renewal." But Kennedy was clearly not fully satisfied. "I will work to strengthen and enact this program," he said. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the congressional Joint Economic Committee and leading advocate of tax cots to spur business investment, was even more obvious in his intention to revise Carter's recommendations While praising them as "positive proposals," Bentsen said: "Frankly, think he could have done more. Bentsen played a major role in developing the Senate Finance Committee's bill, approved last week, for a $39 billion tax cut for business and individuals.

AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland and Du Pont Co. chairman Irving Shapiro, co-chairmen of the Economic Revitalization Board created by the Carter program, also tempered their support.

Carter's package proposes: -A $12.6 billion tax credit to offset the 1981 increase in Social Security

-A tax deduction to reduce the "marriage penalty," a quirk in the tax law that requires some working couples to pay more taxes when married than when single.

Philly policeman may face trial

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - A 17-year police veteran no relation to the mayor, sparked two nights of will be dismissed in connection with the death of a black teen-ager, officials say, and the police department has recommended his prosecution on homicide charges in a shooting which triggered two nights of violence in a predominantly black neighborhood.

The arrest of Patrolman John Ziegler, 34, could come today, Mayor William Green said. The announcement Thursday followed a meeting between the police department and district attorney to decide the precise charge.

Ziegler has been suspended for 30 days, as required under civil service regulations, with the intention of dismissal, said the mayor and Police Commissioner Morton Solomon.

The shooting Sunday of 17-year-old William Green,

Crime boss sentenced

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - A federal court has sentenced reputed Kansas City organized crime boss Nick Civella to four years in prison for illegally trying to have his nephew transferred to a minimum security prison.

A federal jury in Springfield, Mo., convicted Civela on July 18 of conspiring to offer a warden $5,000 to have Anthony Civella transferred to the warden's minimum security prison in Texas. Anthony Civella was in federal prison at Texarkana, Texas, serving a three-year prison on a gambling conviction.

Attorneys for the elder Civella said Thursday they will appeal the bribe conviction.

violence in the neighborhood near Temple Universi-

But after his burial Thursday, the area was quiet as 100 young men and women patrolled their neighborhood to head off violence.

"It seems pretty quiet. There are no roving bands," said city Assistant Managing Director Edward Robinson at the community patrol's headquarters in a neighborhood church. On Monday, there was a rock-and-bottle attack on the police station where Ziegler had been assigned. And on Tuesday, three news photographers were attacked at the community patrol headquarters. Angry youths on Wednesday again headed for the police station after Green's funeral, but were turned

Police have said Ziegler's service revolver fired accidentally Sunday while he was using it to strike Green after the youth crashed a stolen car. Several witnesses said the officer intentionally shot the teen-ager after pistol-whipping him. An autopsy showed the youth sustained two skull fractures, according to Dr. Kenneth Carpenter, the assistant medical examiner who performed the autopsy.

Medical Examiner Marvin Aronson said the head injuries were not severe enough to cause death, but would not comment further on the autopsy report. Green was buried Thursday in suburban Collingdale. His mother, Alberta Johnson, led to the edge of the grave by a nurse, put a red carnation on the bronze casket before it was lowered into the earth.
