BIG SPRING — Clad in T-shirts and shorts, dress shirts and slacks, from 6 to 60, they waited for the man. By 7 p.m. it was obvious that those who wanted a good seat were wise to have come when the gates opened at 5 p.m. By 7:30 p.m., the hodge-podge crowd had settled back into a mellow mood.

Willie would be here soon. Down on the football field, those who had planned ahead had come with bedrolls, blankets and lawn chairs. Behind the scenes, people milled around stopping to chat here and there.

As one Willie Nelson roadie (member of the road crew) explained, "We were supposed to get one-half of the net, but if Willie plays for free, I do too. We all do. Besides, he pays me enough on the other gigs."

All the proceeds from Sunday night's Snyder and Big Spring Jaycees-sponsored Willie Nelson concert go to the Texas Jaycees Campus for the Handicapped near Gonzales, Texas.

At this point, a passerby asked where he could find the beer. The roadie's reply: "No beer and no booze."

"Who decided that?" came the response. "We all decided," the roadie said. "If they're going to raise all this —, we're going to be real good guys." He was referring to the controversy over the involvement of one of the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp inmates in helping secure Nelson's performance.

His comment was also in reference to the reaction of some Big Spring church groups to a Sunday night concert.

There was one incident Sunday morning in which members of Nelson's party reported that one of their Big Spring motel rooms had been broken into, reportedly with a crowbar. However, Big Spring police Saturday night said that no break-in had been reported.

Because of the incident all the members of the Nelson party reportedly checked out of the motel and spent the day in their buses. They planned on heading home immediately after the concert.

As the time drew close to 8 p.m., the question kept floating through the air, "Where's Willie?"

"He'll be here," another Nelson roadie replied. "He said he'd be here in time for 'Whiskey River' and he always is."

Arriving in a blue limousine a little after 8 p.m., Willie and his wife, Connie, were immediately surrounded by cameras. Connie, climbing out on the other side, was asked by an observer, "Is it always like this?"

She laughed and said, "Ever since 'Honeysuckle Rose.'"

U.S. leaders comment on Labor Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a sampling of comments on Labor Day 1980:

PRESIDENT CARTER: "We must rebuild our aging industrial base. We must save and invest more in new tools and factories and new jobs for American workers. We must rebuild our transportation networks. We must restore our competitive edge in world trade and expand exports. We must invest in our human capital by providing workers with needed skills.

"But most important, we must do all this in a way that expands economic and social justice in our country."

AFL-CIO PRESIDENT LANE KIRKLAND: "On this holiday that honors those who do the work of the world, American trade unionists are deeply conscious of how much the workers of Poland need our help and support and the support of free men and women everywhere. We call on the government of the United States, on all our fellow citizens and on all the organizations of free workers in the world to join us in expressing that support as fully and as forcefully as possible.

"If we fail to defend the freedom of others, we increase the risk of losing our own."

LABOR SECRETARY RAY MARSHALL: "We have come a long way toward improving the lives of working Americans. These advances have not been easy and there is much unfinished business yet to be done. We cannot rest on our gains but must forge ahead with a new sense of purpose to confront the challenges of inflation and unemployment which plague not only this nation, but the entire industrialized world."

TEAMSTERS PRESIDENT FRANK FITZSIMMONS: "We hope for the freedom of the hostages (in Iran) and continued freedom for people everywhere. Faith and hope are the keystones to the American spirit that has forged the greatest free nation on earth and the greatest labor movement in the world today."

CORETTA SCOTT KING AND MURRAY H. FINLEY of the Full Employment Action Council: "Despite their urgent pleas for productive work, too many of our brothers and sisters will spend this Labor Day just as they spend other days — without a job and the paycheck and dignity that go with having a job.

"As we celebrate the first Labor Day of the 1980s, we call for renewed commitment by our nation's people and leaders to make the achievement of full employment a reality. The right to a decent job at a decent wage is a fundamental human right."

REED LARSON, president of the National Right-to-Work Committee: "This Labor Day ... we honor the more than 80 percent of wage earners who have chosen not to join a union, as well as the one in five who have been unionized ... The National Right-to-Work Committee wishes especially to remember those forgotten Americans — Americans who are even today being forced to contribute to a union against their will as a price for keeping their jobs."

HOWARD SAMUEL, president of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department: "The last few years have witnessed the greatest business assault on trade unionism since the American Plan of the early 1920s ... Despite the black clouds overhead and a few thunderheads on the horizon, it could fairly be said on this Labor Day that the American Labor movement is on the edge of a new renaissance. We have faced serious challenges before, but seldom as well equipped as we are today."

The Coalition of Working Women Groups: "Traditionally, Labor Day has been a time when laborers, mostly male, met and discussed common problems as a show of strength and solidarity. On Labor Day 1980, women workers will focus public attention on the status and concerns of America's working women."

Agreement ends strike

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Government negotiators and Polish strikers reached a final agreement Sunday, ending the labor crisis in Gdansk and setting out sweeping political and economic reforms unprecedented in a communist bloc nation.

"We will go back to work with energy," said one of thousands of workers at the Lenin Shipyard strike center here. The tired but exuberant throng roared in approval, and then began the cautious process of realizing their victory and restoring the nation's reeling economy.

The agreement, signed by strike leader Lech Walesa and chief government negotiator Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Jagielski, finished a crisis that had dragged on for 18 days, involving more than 350,000 workers in Poland's industrial north, and had spread to more than 20 Polish cities by Friday.

Jagielski bowed to a last-minute demand by the workers and agreed that political dissidents arrested for allegedly encouraging the strikers would be freed by Monday.

Sources in Warsaw said four of the 29 dissidents who had been jailed during the strikes were released at 5 p.m. — 10 minutes after the signing ceremony in Gdansk. They said the four, Miroslaw Chojacki, Jan Ajsner, Seweryn Blumsztajn and Jan Cywinski, had been charged with belonging to an organization planning criminal acts, an offense punishable by up to five years in jail. The sources said they did not know if the charges were still pending.

Jacek Kuron, leader of the Committee for Social Self-Defense, called KOR, was among the dissidents remaining in custody, the sources said.

The strike settlement also requires authorities to review all cases of political prisoners within two weeks.

In Moscow, the Soviet news agency Tass distributed an angry statement that made no mention of the settlement and blamed the strikes on "anti-social elements." The article was broadcast on Soviet television hours after the agreement was signed. It did not speak of any possible Soviet-bloc intervention, but stressed Poland's impotence to the bloc as a member of the Warsaw Pact military alliance.

In the port city of Szczecin, where a similar agreement was reached Saturday, the local radio station said some dockworkers had returned to their jobs along with factory workers in Elbag.

Strike committees in other cities had sent delegates to Gdansk, and Sunday's agreement was expected to set the pattern for an overall settlement, although there was no official word on how that would be worked out.

Carter warned son Chip to leave drug raid area

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — The White House says that President Carter told his son Chip to leave the Panama City area in 1977 after learning that a U.S. Customs Service drug raid was to be conducted nearby.

But a White House spokesman stressed that Chip Carter was not involved in the drug raid, did not know any of the persons later arrested and was in no way involved in any drug trafficking.

Customs agents arrested 18 persons on smuggling charges and seized three tons of marijuana on July 21, 1977, in Mexico Beach.

The Panama City News-Herald later reported that the Secret Service had gotten Chip Carter to leave the area — where he had been vacationing — because of the upcoming raid.

But the White House spokesman, who asked not to be identified, confirmed a report by sources that it was a telephone conversation with President Carter that prompted Chip Carter to leave his vacation beach cottage two days before the raid and travel to Plains, Ga.

The decision to tell Chip Carter to leave was made, the spokesman said, after Customs officers told the Secret Service agents assigned to protect him and his family about the planned raid.

Sources close to the investigation said in recent interviews that three days before the raid Chip Carter had chartered a boat belonging to a man involved in the planned raid as a Customs informant. The source said Chip Carter apparently did not know the boat owner and his boat were aiding in a drug investigation.

The sources, who asked to remain anonymous, said Larry Chambers, then agent-in-charge of the Panama City, Fla., Customs office, called the Secret Service office in Pensacola, Fla., after learning of Chip Carter's presence in the Mexico Beach area.

Chambers was then contacted by the White House, the sources said, and had a conversation with Robert Dickerson, then acting Commissioner of Customs.

The sources said President Carter was called in from the tennis courts and overheard Dickerson's conversation with Chambers. The president then decided to tell his son to leave the area, the sources said.

Midland infant dies in I-20 crash

An 8-month-old Midland baby was killed and her 21-year-old mother injured Sunday morning in an automobile accident on I-20, three miles east of mile marker 137 in Midland County.

Carly Christine Crawford, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Allen Crawford, was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Robert Pine at 10:53 a.m. Saturday.

The baby's mother, Diana Katherine Crawford, was treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital for cuts and abrasions.

The Crawfords, both of Route 1, Box 73-A in Midland, were traveling west on I-20 near Lamesa Road when Mrs. Crawford lost control of her 1979 Toyota.

The car struck a guard rail and skidded across the westbound lanes, according to a Midland Department of Public Safety spokesman. The automobile then struck the median guard rail and rolled 1½ times, landing on its roof.

DPS officer David Jones investigated the accident. The Crawford infant was transported to Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home, where services are pending.

Texas toll at 20

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A truck accident claimed four lives in Houston and three children died in single-vehicle wrecks as the Texas highway death toll climbed to 20 less than halfway through the Labor Day weekend.

The Houston mishap took the lives of Nettie Blakes, 41; Ethel Blakes, 18; Roy Dell Callicutt, 15 and 2-year-old Kevin Kirkwood, all of Liberty, said DPS spokesman Richard Grimmer.

In addition, a 15-month-old Vietnamese girl was killed in an auto-pedestrian accident in Amarillo and an 8-month-old girl died when the car she was riding in went out of control and overturned in Midland County.

The body of an unidentified motorcycle accident victim was found in Grapevine on Sunday.

Pedro Pichardo, 32, was killed in a two-car collision late Saturday night in El Paso.

Grimmett said most of the accidents could be attributed to excessive speeding.

"We have a large number of (DPS) troopers working with local officers and we have several unmarked patrol units on duty to keep an eye on the speeding drivers and those who have been drinking."

The DPS has predicted 45 Texans would die in traffic accidents during the holiday weekend.

The death toll began at 6 p.m. Friday and will continue until midnight Monday.

No containment time given for fire

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A fire blamed on boys playing with matches burned out of control for a sixth day Sunday after consuming more than 21,000 acres of brush and timber and causing an estimated $250,000 damage to homes on Mount San Jacinto above Palm Springs.

Authorities would not predict when they might contain the blaze, which was being battled by more than 1,000 firefighters and which has led to 14 firefighters receiving minor injuries. "It's about 40 percent contained now, but we're not predicting full containment," said California Department of Forestry fire information officer Fred Snow.

"(The containment) is not concentrated on a particular side, which is sort of our problem — (the fire) really depends on what the wind does," Snow explained.

High winds and dry, hot weather have hampered firefighting efforts in the rough terrain of the Mount San Jacinto area, which looms over this desert resort community, about 110 miles east of Los Angeles in Riverside County. Temperatures in the area hovered near 90 degrees Sunday.

On Saturday, the fire damaged or destroyed six winter homes in the Andreas Canyon on the eastern flank of the mountain.

"Basically that (damage) was caused by 60 mph winds whipping through the canyon. They made our air tanker drops pretty ineffective," Snow said.

Damage to the homes was estimated at $250,000. An additional 17 homes in the area, worth about $650,000, had been considered in danger but were no longer threatened, Snow said. Nobody was in any of the homes at the time the fire struck, authorities said.

Snow said Sunday the fire was "burning pretty high now," and did not directly threaten Palm Springs, which spreads along the eastern base of the mountain.

However, it had reached the 8,000-foot level of the 10,786-foot peak, consuming brush and valuable timber along the way.

In addition to the erratic winds, which grounded air tankers and helicopters Friday, Snow said the inaccessible, steep, rocky terrain has slowed containment efforts.

"It's all hand crew work," Snow said, with the 15-person crews being flown in by helicopter or transported up the mountain by the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway. That popular tourist attraction was closed to the public early in the course of the fire and was being used exclusively to move crews and equipment.

Assisting the approximately 43 hand crews, were two command aircraft, 13 air tankers, nine helicopters, 10 bulldozers, more than 45 engines and six water tenders carrying about 2,000 gallons each.

Snow said the smoke was "laying down" early Sunday, which indicated the winds had died somewhat. "But they usually pick up later in the day," he added.

Until Saturday, the smoke cover from the fire was so thick that officials could not get useful aerial photographs to estimate the acreage affected.

Campers and hikers planning to enter San Jacinto State Park were advised to check with the U.S. Forest Service office.

"We want to discourage the tourist trade and the gawkers," Snow said.

Murder suspect's friends don't believe he's killer

NEW YORK (AP) — Word that a 21-year-old stagehand had been charged with murdering a violinist at the Metropolitan Opera House was greeted with disbelief both backstage and in the terraced high-rise that he calls home.

Many people who know Craig Crimmins said they did not believe he could be the "phantom of the opera" who left the body of 31-year-old Helen Hagnes Mintiks nude, bound and gagged in an airshaft July 24.

They say Crimmins could never have grabbed the woman, forced her to the roof, stripped and sexually assaulted her, tied her up and then hurled her — still alive — down an airshaft, as police claim.

Authorities, however, say the evidence assembled against Crimmins is "not inconsiderable." Among the most significant pieces is a partial, bloody thumbprint found on the roof, some 18 inches from the victim's dress, which matched Crimmins' fingerprints exactly, according to the New York Times and the Daily News.

Neighbors who met Crimmins in the elevator or the laundry room of the 20-story apartment building where he lived with his father and teenage sister in a middle-class Bronx neighborhood described him as a "always a gentleman" "polite" and "a good kid."

"He's a sweetheart," stagehand Phil DeHaven, 29, said Saturday, shortly after Crimmins was arrested and charged. "He doesn't have a bad bone in his body. I can't see him committing something like that. It's not in his nature."

Others say Crimmins, a high school dropout and heavy beer drinker, was drunk the night of the crime and he couldn't have committed the attack. "He was so bombed when he came back (from a break before the 8 p.m. performance) he couldn't walk 10 feet," stagehand Kevin O'Neill said.

Crimmins himself told police he was sleeping off his intoxication in the Met basement the night of the crime, which is why he missed a 9:30 p.m. cue, and left work ill the next morning.

But Chief Detective James Sullivan said Crimmins bears a close resemblance — down to a pencil-thin moustache — to an artist's sketch used in questioning hundreds of performers and Met employees about the crime.

A ballerina who may have been the last person to see Mrs. Mintiks alive described to police under hypnosis the man she saw with the violinist on a backstage elevator the night of the murder.

From the start of the investigation, police have zeroed in on employees who know their way around the maze of backstage hallways and levels, and who would not have aroused the victim's suspicion in "the chance encounter" they believe led to the murder.

The victim was tied up with a clove knot commonly used by grips to lash scenery together, and police have said a knife may have been used at some point in the crime. Most grips carry four-inch folding knives.

Detectives say they began to suspect Crimmins about two weeks ago, when cross-checking index cards of employee interviews. Crimmins' alibi, they say, didn't jibe with the accounts of other employees.

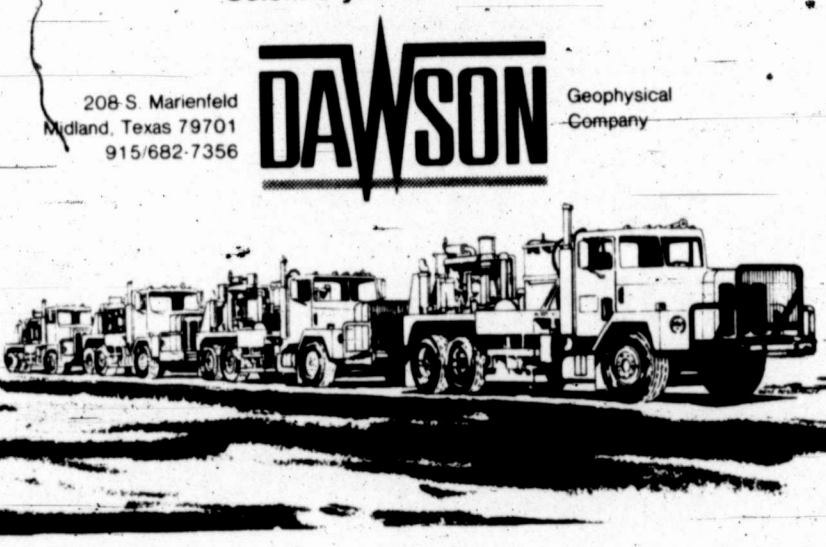

Crimmins was ordered held at the Rikers Island prison without bail. Assistant District Attorney Charles Heffernan said he would begin presenting evidence to a grand jury this week.

Karen Carpenter weds real estate developer

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Singer Karen Carpenter was married Sunday afternoon to industrial real estate developer Thomas J. Burris of Newport Beach, Calif.

In a ceremony attended by about 450 guests, the 30-year-old Ms. Carpenter sang an original song to her husband composed for the occasion by her brother and musical partner Richard Carpenter and his writing partner John Bettis, said Frank Lieberman, a spokesman for the singer.

A medley of the Carpenter's hits was also sung by a 50-voice choir, Lieberman added.

Gov. Mike Curb as head usher, singer Olivia Newton-John, performer-composer Herb Alpert and his wife Lani Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Riddle and other entertainment and political celebrities, Lieberman said.

Ms. Carpenter was introduced to the 39-year-old Burris several months ago by mutual friends. The couple planned to spend their honeymoon in Mexico and the South Pacific island of Bora Bora before settling down in Beverly Hills.

This was Ms. Carpenter's first marriage and the second for Burris, a member of Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan's finance committee, the spokesman added.

Larry Flynt to be retried

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt will be retried in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court in December on charges of pandering obscenity, Judge Robert Kraft has announced.

Flynt, who is expected to be present for the Dec. 8 trial, was convicted in 1977 of organized crime and pandering obscenity in a case involving the July 1975 through May 1976 issues of Hustler.

Kraft's decision on the trial date was announced Friday.

The organized crime conviction was overturned by the 1st Ohio

District Court of Appeals after the law was declared unconstitutional in 1979 by the state Supreme Court. The same appeals court also reversed the obscenity conviction and returned the case to a lower court because of errors it says were committed by Judge William J. Morrissey.

The appeals court said Morrissey talked to the jury outside Flynt's presence, rejected defense efforts to submit other magazines that "depict sexual matters" and failed to instruct the jury on the specific definitions of sexual conduct prohibited by Ohio law.

"There were so many errors, we had to have a scorecard when we got to the appeals court," defense attorney Paul Cambria said.

Cambria said he didn't know whether Flynt will be healthy enough to testify at the upcoming trial.

"We're hopeful he'll be able to be here," he said. "His physical situation is so severe it's hard to determine."

Flynt was shot and paralyzed while on trial on obscenity charges in Georgia in 1978.

Ex-airline hostages are finally returned

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ten of the 15 people held hostage aboard a Braniff Airways jetliner in Lima, Peru, returned here Sunday aboard the same plane which was seized by Cuban refugees for 23 hours, at Lima's Jorge Chavez Airport.

The returning travelers, met at Los Angeles International Airport by family members and friends, said their captors did not mistreat or threaten them during the ordeal.

The incident began Friday when about 400 Cubans smashed through glass doors at the Lima airport and swarmed onto the runway. The Braniff jetliner, en route to Los Angeles, was taken over by 168 Cubans who demanded to be flown to the United States.

The Cubans, who had stormed the Peruvian Embassy in Havana earlier this year in an effort to leave Cuba, had been living in refugee camps since they arrived in Peru.

They claimed living conditions in the camps were intolerable and demanded to be resettled in the United States.

The Cubans surrendered after Peruvian government negotiators gave them a choice of giving up or being declared air pirates and running the risk of being barred from the United States.

Screenplay resembles real casino bombing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An unpublished screenwriter says he wrote a scenario that closely resembles the real-life extortion bombing of Harvey's Casino in Stateline, Nev.

Jim Massey, 25, said Saturday in a telephone interview from his home in Longview, Texas, that he told the FBI about his 121-page script, titled "Getting Even," after a friend read him news accounts of the tense hours before a slickly packaged bomb tore through three floors of the Lake Tahoe resort on Wednesday.

In the script, two men and a woman demand $3 million in $100 bills from casino owners, Massey said.

The FBI, investigating the Harvey's bombing, was hunting a team of two men and a woman who obviously were explosives experts. The extortionists demanded their payoff in the same way as Massey's characters did.

Massey, who handles customer complaints in his father's electronics business, said he had described the script "to anybody who was willing to listen."

John Kent, a reporter at KSAT, a San Antonio television station, said Massey mailed him the script in January. "When I got it, I really never read it closely and kind of stuck it in a closet," he said, without showing it to anyone else.

But after recent developments, Kent said, he reread the script and decided there were "amazing" similarities.

Kent said one of the extortionists was modeled on him. He said he hadn't seen Massey, a boyhood friend, for several years.

Massey's "extortionists" decide to bomb casinos in Tahoe and Las Vegas after the casinos realize one of the men is beating the house at keno and change their system so the man can't win.

Unlike the real-life extortionists who demanded a helicopter be used to deliver the money, Massey's characters use a boat at Lake Mead, near Las Vegas.

Bombing leads to more casino scares

By The Associated Press

The extortion bombing last week at Harvey's Resort Hotel-Casino in Stateline, Nev., has been followed by smaller-size threats or scares at other casinos, authorities said Sunday.

In Atlantic City, N.J., a bomb scare Saturday night at the Brighton Hotel-Casino forced a section of the gambling floor to be roped off while authorities searched the area.

A hotel spokeswoman said Sunday a package had raised the suspicions of employees, but turned out to be a container of sand routinely used to weigh down ash trays and similar receptacles.

"No one was evacuated. It was just a bomb scare," said Barbara Gillespie, assistant hotel manager.

Casino security personnel were informed of the suspected bomb at 8:05 p.m., she said. Atlantic City police and fire units, including a bomb squad, were called at about 9:30 p.m., and the street on which the casino-hotel fronts was blocked off.

A casino spokesman who asked to remain anonymous had said Saturday night that a phone caller tipped police to the existence of a package the caller said was a bomb.

Casino officials would not comment Sunday on that report, however.

In Kingman, Ariz., a "lonesome" employee of the Riverside Casino in Laughlin, Nev., was being held Sunday on charges of making a telephoned bomb threat to the casino, officials said.

Ross Millitt, 34, was being held in the Mohave County Sheriff's Jail after his arrest Saturday, pending an appearance before a U.S. magistrate there Tuesday.

Casino security chief Bill Richardson said Sunday that Millitt had told the Mohave County, Ariz., sheriff's office early Thursday he had overheard two men planning to bomb the casino.

On Friday, Richardson said, Citizen's Utility Co. telephone operators in Kingman, received a phone call in which a man said a bomb was set to explode at the casino on Saturday; but did not give a time. In a second call, Richardson said, the man said the bomb would go off at 2 p.m.

Richardson said Millitt was asked to undergo a lie detector test. During that test, at 1 p.m. Saturday — the deadline security had set for evacuation of the casino — came the admission that there was no bomb, Richardson said.

Millitt "said he was just lonesome and he wanted to get some attention," Richardson said. "He did get some attention."

The bomb at Harvey's, disguised as an office copying machine and wheeled into the casino last Tuesday, caused an estimated $3 million in damage when it exploded as authorities tried to disarm it.

The bombers, attempting to extort $3 million, left a three-page letter saying that "in the event of a doublecross, there will be a time, sometime in the future, when another attempt will be made."

FBI agent Joseph Yablonsky said Sunday that fingerprints taken from the bomb before it exploded have failed to provide any leads.

Fingerprints fail to supply FBI with casino bomb suspect

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Fingerprints taken from a bomb at a Lake Tahoe casino before it exploded last week have so far failed to provide any leads to the bombers' identities, the FBI says.

But agents remain hopeful that the extortionists in last Wednesday's blast at Harvey's Resort Hotel-Casino will be tracked down through the prints.

"That would be a great thing," said Joseph Yablonsky, the FBI man heading the team of more than 50 agents investigating the bombing. "We don't have that, but if we did that would be almost enough to make an arrest because that would be pretty conclusive. We haven't rung a bell yet," he said Sunday.

The extortionists who planted it had demanded $3 million in exchange for instructions on how to deal with the bomb. Officials say they tried to comply, but through a mix-up the money was not delivered.

The prints had to be shipped to Washington for analysis, and the prints of "the good people who touched this thing" — hotel security guards — had to be ruled out first.

Meanwhile, the Sacramento Union reported Sunday that the search may have narrowed to a former casino employee living in the Stateline area. The paper gave no supporting information.

Lt. Jim Enearl of the Douglas County Sheriff's Department said Sunday, "I don't think it's narrowed to that at all. It couldn't have; they're still sending teams out when leads are reported over the hotline."

Yablonsky said, "As far as leads go, we don't have any concrete, definitive situations going... There's nothing except good, hard legwork going on."

The bomb was detonated Wednesday afternoon after bomb experts failed to learn how to dismantle it. The large blue steel box, said to have contained 1,000 pounds of TNT, was discovered early Tuesday after two men posing as computer technicians brought it to the second-floor executive offices at Harvey's. The hotel was evacuated, and no one was injured in the explosion.

The three-page letter left with the bomb threatened another attempt "in the event of a doublecross... We have the ways and means to get the bomb in."

Girls take time off before competition

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — With the serious competition two days away, the 50 contestants at the Miss America Pageant took it easy Sunday with thousands of Labor Day weekend vacationers in this seashore resort community.

But, unlike the tourists who flocked to the warm beaches, contestants spent most of the day in the Convention Hall getting acquainted with each other and giving countless interviews and photographs.

A lucky handful got outside to pose for photographers at an Atlantic City maritime park, to roller skate on the Boardwalk and kick up the water in a casino hotel pool.

The pageant officially begins Monday morning with a brief "registration" ceremony in which the contestants are introduced formally to state pageant officials, the national staff and the news media.

The ceremony is the first opportunity for contestants and their state supporters to size up the competition. The dress will be businesslike and, despite hot and humid temperatures, strictly the latest in fall fashion.

Judging in the critical seven-minute interview begins Tuesday and continues into Wednesday. The contestants then rotate through preliminary talent, swimsuit and evening gown competitions on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

The nationally televised finals are Saturday night.

Miss California, Robin Jelene Brooks, 23, of Claremont, captured a bit of pre-pageant publicity Sunday by daring to jump into a casino hotel pool during a swimsuit photo session. Miss Florida, Caroline Dungan, 21, of Bradenton followed.

Misses California and Florida were among 11 contestants at the traditional Sunday morning photo session. And, as usual, most plunged only a toe into the pool for fear of messing their makeup and hair.

"I'd figure I'd go ahead and jump in," Miss Brooks said. "I'm going to the beach this afternoon anyway."

This year's composite Miss America contestant is 20½ years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, 113 pounds and has brown hair and brown eyes.

Twenty-four of the 50 women plan to sing for their talent competition. As it seems every year, there is also one ventriloquist and one baton twirler.

Swimming is still the sport most preferred by the women. Racquetball also has taken its place among the favorite sports, but tennis and jogging are still popular.

Pope accepts invitation to visit Britain

LONDON (AP) — Pope John Paul II will become the first reigning pontiff to visit Britain in a trip tentatively planned for the summer 1982, more than four centuries after King Henry VIII's dispute with the Vatican split the English church from Rome.

The pope has accepted an invitation from British Cardinal Basil Hume, the Roman Catholic information service said here Sunday. The announcement already has aroused angry reaction from some militant Protestant clergy.

Enmity between the Roman Catholic Church and Church of England lasted long after Henry's break with Rome in 1534, when Pope Clement VII refused to grant the king a divorce. In later years, many people from both sides were burned at the stake.

The ill-feeling is not yet entirely gone, although many Protestant leaders quickly praised the visit as a step toward for ecumenism.

John Paul's travel plans were incomplete, but a church spokesman said they would not include a trip to Northern Ireland, where 2,053 people have died in 11 years of sectarian violence between its half-million Catholics and 1 million Protestants.

The Rev. Ian Paisley, the fiery Northern Irish Protestant leader, denounced the pope's British trip. "The blood of the martyrs cries out against this visit," he said.

One of the province's leading Catholic politicians, Gerry Fitt, welcomed the trip and added: "It's a sad comment that Northern Ireland has been isolated from this visit."

Militant Scottish Protestant pastor Jack Glass of the Scottish Reformed Church called the pope's visit to Britain "the greatest betrayal since Judas Iscariot." He said it was "a vile abomination" and that thousands of Protestants would take to the streets if the pontiff set foot in Scotland.

be normal for a head of any other church coming to this country."

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Robert Runcie, called the adverse Protestant reactions "negative and fearful." He added: "We need to listen to one another and help each other if Christ's voice and spirit are to be heard and felt in the world today."

The announcement indicated the purpose of the trip is to bring the Catholic Church closer to other Christian churches in Britain. "The pope stressed the great importance he would attach to the ecumenical aspect of the proposed pastoral visit," the announcement said.

There are about 5 million Roman Catholics in England, Wales and Scotland out of a total population of 56 million. The dominant churches, both Protestant, are the Church of England and the Church of Scotland. The Church of England is a state church, with Queen Elizabeth II the temporal head with the title, "Defender of the Faith."

"Naturally if the queen is in England at the time of the visit, she will receive the pope," a Buckingham Palace spokesman said. The Queen's paying a state visit to Italy in October and will visit the pope at the Vatican Oct. 17, he added.

The 1701 Act of Settlement, still in force, insures the Protestant royal succession by barring the heir apparent from marrying a Catholic if he or she wishes to ascend to the British throne.

That law recently became a hotly debated issue following rumors that Prince Charles planned to wed Catholic Princess Marie Astrid of Luxembourg. Buckingham Palace denied the rumors, but anti-monarchist lawmakers seized the issue and demanded a constitutional revision to elimi-

Iran's prime minister names Cabinet

By The Associated Press

Iran's prime minister on Sunday named a new Cabinet — the country's first since the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran almost 10 months ago. U.S. officials hope the appointments will speed the release of the 52 American hostages.

Several of those named by Mohammad Ali Rajai, the Iranian prime minister, were educated in the United States and other Western nations. Many, including some who lived in the West, have close ties to the hard-line Islamic Republican Party that controls Parliament.

The British newspaper Financial Times said in a dispatch from its Tehran correspondent that President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr was not happy with the selection.

It said the proposed Cabinet "became the center of a political storm. The list, comprising largely unknown men and including only six present ministers, is dominated by supporters of the hardline Islamic Republican Party. This is at odds with Bani-Sadr."

Other British press reports said two foreign journalists were freed in Tehran Sunday after 17 days of detention. The two men, who were forbidden to leave Iran, were Tony Allaway of the London Times and Ralph Joseph, a Pakistani journalist, the reports said.

Hossein Musavi Khameneie, nominated to become Iran's minister of foreign affairs, was described by the official Iranian news agency Pars as being a member of the central committee of Islamic Republican Party and the editor of the party's newspaper. He was reported to have been arrested in 1973 by SAVAK, the shah's secret police, for activities against the then all-powerful monarch.

Another appointee, Seyyed Asadollah Lajevardi, named minister of commerce, was reported by Pars to have been tortured in prison for his political activities against the late monarch.

The news agency said Rajai announced the appointments in a letter to Hashemi Rafsanjani, speaker of the Majlis, or Parliament. Parliament is expected to act on them this week.

"The Council of Ministers (Cabinet) is now ready to be introduced to the Majlis," Pars quoted Rajai's letter as saying. "I take this opportunity to announce the list of my colleagues. I am ready to establish the government programs. I would like to obtain a vote of acceptance from the deputies at the first possible opportunity."

The speaker had been quoted as saying the legislators would spend this week considering the Cabinet appointments; then begin the hostage debate. No new defense minister was named.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, Iran's revolutionary leader, has ordered the Parliament to consider the hostage issue, but the debate has been postponed repeatedly. Bani-Sadr last week spoke out against spy trials for the hostages, but many members of Parliament are thought to favor such trials.

The last Iranian Cabinet was headed by Mehdi Bazargan, who resigned as prime minister shortly after the storming of the U.S. Embassy and the hostage-taking last Nov. 4. American officials have maintained that the absence of a government structure in Iran has blocked negotiations for the hostages' release.

Three leaders reported arrested

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Three Afghan rebel leaders were captured by Afghan security forces in a northern Afghanistan province bordering the Soviet Union, the official Kabul Radio announced Sunday.

"These foreign agents and mercenaries were terrorizing the people of the area for a long time," the government-run radio said in a broadcast acknowledging rebel activity in Kunduz Province.

EPA tests home water filters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special filters attached to water lines under the sink seem most effective in removing chloroform and other chemicals from drinking water, the Environmental Protection Agency said Sunday.

The agency tested 31 different water filters ranging in price from $10 to $400 and reported that the line-bypass units seemed most effective.

The filters were tested for their ability to remove chemicals called "trihalomethanes." These include chloroform and other potential cancer-causing substances that can be formed in water treated with chlorine.

Tests were also run on the ability of the filters to clean the water of "non-purgeable total organic carbon."

That, the agency said, serves as a measurement of the ability to remove organic compounds, mostly natural materials, from drinking water.

According to the study, some 99 percent of the trihalomethanes were removed by two of the filters, the Continental Water Filter Model 350 and the Everpure Model QC4-THM.

Both are line-bypass filters which attach to the water line under a sink. These filters deliver drinking water to a separate faucet, while allowing non-filtered water to proceed to the regular faucet for other uses.

In addition to those two, the Aqualux Water Processor, Model CB-2, cleared 98 percent of the trihalomethanes from the water. This, too, is a line-bypass filter.

The Continental also turned in the best results at removing organic compounds, clearing out 87 percent of them. Its closest competitor, the

Major accidents keep officers busy

Midland police officers were kept busy Sunday with a rash of major automobile accidents in the city.

There were six major accidents Sunday with one death and seven injuries. The accident involving one of the injuries and the death was handled by the Department of Public Safety (see story, Page 1A).

Midland police investigated the five other accidents. The first accident occurred at 12:59 a.m. Sunday at 1811 E. Front Ave. in front of Koko's Lounge. Preston L. Jones of 706 N. Baird St., Apt. B, was injured when he was involved in a collision with John L. Joiner of Lubbock. Jones was treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital.

At 1:22 a.m. Rebecca Susanne Daniel of 489 Ranchland Drive was involved in a collision with Felicia Nottingham of 1604 Hodges Road. Miss Daniel was treated and released from MMH.

At 2:13 a.m., Midland police investigated a major accident/hit-and-run complaint at Midkiff Drive and Wall Avenue in the Denny's parking lot. James Ray Jackson of 4628 Princeton Ave. told police he was run over by a yellow vehicle that left the scene. There have been no arrests made in the case.

Later, at 7:55 a.m., Juan Miguel Flores of 702 N. Lincoln St. was taken to MMH emergency room when he was injured at the corner of Cuthbert Ave. and N. Big Spring St. Flores' car reportedly struck a curb there. He was treated and released from the hospital.

Shortly after 4 p.m., two men were injured on the 1000 block of S. Fort Worth St. James Clayborn Koen of 1206 S. Moran St. and Hugh Cupper of 2400 S. Terrell St., who was riding with Koen, were both injured when their vehicle was involved in a collision with a car driven by David Ebb Hinchliffe of Lubbock. Both men were treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital.

In other police news, Mike Dodd of 1019 N. Main St. reported a burglary at his home. According to police, Dodd found his home being burglarized when he returned home and was then attacked by an unknown assailant. Reports indicate Dodd was uninjured.

At 11:26 p.m. Saturday, Larry Robledo reported a man in a passing vehicle shot at a crowd of people at a large party at 509 N. Terrell St. No injuries were reported.

Roy Verickson of 1300 Cottonflat Road No. 33 reported a theft at his home of jewelry amounting to $1,100 and $350 in cash. The jewelry included a horseshoe ring worth $500, a gold and silver ring valued at $300 and a $300 Seiko watch.

A Yellow Cab dispatcher reported to police that a cab driver was robbed of $95 by two men at Illinois Avenue and Lee Street. The suspects were described to police as being two black males in their 20s.

Just before 6 a.m. Sunday, an automobile burglary was reported at a Town and Country drive-in grocery. An 8-track tape player, 15 tapes and a Cobra 40-channel-CB valued at $170 were taken in the burglary.

Another burglary was reported at 3206 Camarie Drive. Taken from the residence where the owners had been out-of-town were three diamond wedding rings, a Colt pistol and a Browning rifle. Police report entry was gained through alley windows.

At 10:30 a.m., vandalism of Cloth World at the Town & Country Plaza was reported to police. A 27-inch by 80-inch plate glass window, valued at $150, had been broken.

Shortly after 1 p.m. Sunday, Herbert Blankinship's 1978 Chevy van parked at Midland Regional Airport was reported as having been burglarized. Taken from the van was a Pioneer stereo radio and two stereo AM/FM speakers. Total value of the items was estimated at $340.

No rain in forecast for basin

The rest of the Labor Day long weekend will be partly cloudy, but there should be no rain.

The final rainfall amount for August was only .93 of an inch, which brings the year-to-date total rainfall to 6.01 inches. According to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport, the normal year-to-date total after August for Midland should be 9.58 inches. So, Midland is a little over 3½ inches behind in rain so far this year.

With a normal rainfall expectancy of 13.5 inches for the year, it looks as if organic compounds, mostly natural materials, from drinking water.

the city will be well below the normal amounts this year with not many months left to catch up.

The temperatures will remain in the mid-90s for a high today and Tuesday. Sunday's high of 95 was much cooler than the record high set in 1952 of 104 degrees.

The low today should be in the upper 60s. Sunday's low of 70 was a lot warmer than the record low of 1955 of 56.

Winds will continue to be southerly today and tonight, 10-20 mph.

Everpure, removed 55 percent of the organics.

Agency spokesman Lawrence J. O'Neill said the agency had also been concerned that filters might trap bacteria, allowing them to grow within the filter and increasing the amount of bacteria in drinking water.

And indeed, he said, this was the case in a few instances, but the increase in bacteria was not significant.

"We didn't find that any of them posed a hazard in terms of bacteria," O'Neill said.

Many of the filters were tested beyond their manufacturers claims, the agency said. It noted that, in most cases, the claims were limited to improved taste and odor removal.

Honing the strike force

After an extensive review of last April's abortive attempt to rescue the American hostages in Iran, a high-level military review board has pointed some fingers at the military planning process.

The rescue attempt, as you'll recall, ended in failure in an Iranian desert when three of the helicopters assigned to the mission failed to reach the desert rendezvous point. Eight servicemen died when, in the confused hurry to leave the site, a helicopter and airplane collided.

The military review board sifted through the evidence and found gaping holes in the nation's planning for such a mission. True, the board conceded that the mission failed "mainly because of bad luck and unforeseen circumstances."

But the board also cited the fact that no unified command had been established to direct joint operations of the counterterrorism force involving units from the various branches of the armed forces and that there had never been a full-scale dress rehearsal of the complex mission.

Further, the review board noted that command arrangements were fuzzy and confused, and staff work was piecemeal. No comprehensive scenario for the rescue was ever drafted for review by the joint chiefs.

But it's also true that with less timidity on the part of the Carter Administration to use "force" in dealing with terrorists, the size of the operation might have been such that it could have overcome some of the problems inherent in the "bare-bones" style of assault force sent.

Of course, such is the advantage of hindsight. It's relatively easy from this vantage point to pick out earlier mistakes and areas needing improvement.

But now, to face some hard, cold facts about the future and this nation's use of a counterterrorist force of some sort.

Terrorism has mushroomed throughout the world during the past few years and threatens the people of virtually every nation on the Earth. The problems of dealing effectively with terrorists are compounded when the actions of the terrorists are condoned by a government, as they are in Iran.

If a nation does not learn to deal with terrorism swiftly and effectively, as Israel has, for example, it will be doomed to continual humiliation and harassment.

This nation's counterterrorist forces had rocked along without centralized direction, according to the five generals who comprised the review board. Now the Pentagon has announced the formation of a counterterrorist joint command.

That's a good step. But more bugs undoubtedly need to be ironed out of the attack system, as evidenced by the fact that the April operation had never been put through a full dress rehearsal.

It's time for such a rehearsal now. Our nation's freedom from terrorism could well depend on our honing of this counterterrorist strike force to a razor sharpness.

With the strike force adequately prepared, the United States should never be forced to suffer at the hands of terrorists — internally or externally — again.

"DON'T YOU TURKEYS KNOW A DOVE WHEN YOU SEE ONE?"

CHARLEY REESE

Weighted United Nations just an excuse for war

It is time for the United States to bring the United Nations to heel and to level with the American people. The world organization died shortly after its birth from built-in defects.

Whenever I hear an upper middle class housewife or an academic type prattle on about the United Nations as a force for peace, I am reminded how elegant and well-educated some stupid people can be.

All you have to do is read the bloody charter and the true nature of the United Nations becomes as visible as a wart on the tip of a beauty queen's nose. It was nothing more than moon beam stew to disguise the fact that the World War II winners intended to rule the world at gunpoint. It was a continuation of the wartime alliance in disguise.

The charter places all of the power, including the power to declare and wage war, in the Security Council. The so-called Big Five allies — the United States, Great Britain, France, Russia and China — were given five permanent seats (a majority vote) plus the veto. Can it be any plainer what the intentions were when those five countries cooked up this scheme in the waning days of WWII?

But what happened? Two of the world powers, Britain and France, derived their power from empires and when their empires were lost, they both became second rate nations of no real consequence. The third ally, China, was knocked off by a revolu-

Charley Reese

The last two, the Soviets and the United States, became hostile rivals. The alliance died and with it, the United Nations.

The skeleton has been propped up because each rival super-power saw it as a convenient propaganda forum and as a weapon with which to club the other. Far from being a force for peace, the United Nations has become an excuse for war. We have scored a few points using it, but on the whole the Soviets have out maneuvered us.

For one thing, thanks to men like Alger Hiss, the charter stacks the deck in favor of the Soviets. We get one vote. They get three by counting the Ukraine and Byelorussia as separate countries which must be a bitter pill for imprisoned Ukrainian and Byelorussian nationalists. The Security Council bureaucrat in charge of military operations is always a communist. In addition, the Soviets have infiltrated their agents throughout the bureaucracy of the main body and its subsidiary organizations. And finally, we American taxpayers pay 25 percent of the entire bill.

This absurd situation is made more insane by the admission of any fly-speck of dirt which chooses to call itself a nation. A 112-vote majority in the General Assembly represents 9 percent of the world's population. Upper Volta has the same vote as Sweden.

There is only one threat to world peace and that is the rivalry of the United States and the Soviet Union. The United Nations, however, does not have time for that. It is too busy condemning, castigating and insulting the United States, Israel, and South Africa.

If the black African nations, egged on by the Soviets, wish to pursue a vendetta against South Africa and if the Arabs, egged on by the Soviets, wish to pursue a vendetta against Israel, then let them pay for it themselves, but let's end the farce of saying a country the size of Delaware is a threat to world peace or that South Africa's internal racial policies are going to start Armageddon.

Two important points: Only about 30 of the 152 member nations are democratic. The rest are dictatorships, rather than contribute to peace, now is used as a sanction for war against the remaining industrial democracies by the communists and the Third World dictators.

We should get out, but the Congress is too yellow to do something so obviously in the national interest. We should at least force the Congress to reduce our contribution to one-one-hundred and fifty-second, instead of 25 percent. Then we should appoint an ambassador who is not an eunuch.

Scandalous Flynn story gets Higham sued

WASHINGTON — Charles Higham's titillating biography of the late Errol Flynn meets all the criteria of "light summer reading." But now gossip lovers can look forward to a heavy winter sequel — a libel suit against Higham by Flynn's two surviving daughters.

What upsets them, of course, was the author's shocking claim that the swashbuckling movie actor was a secret Nazi and a not-so-secret bisexual, who would stop at nothing to get his kinky kicks. These sensational charges have helped sell the book and have enriched Higham.

Defaming the dead is not actionable in United States courts. But it is in Quebec, and that's where San Francisco attorney Melvin Belli has filed suit.

The flamboyant "King of Torts" said he took the posthumous defamation of character case "to show authors and publishing houses that they have a responsibility to people and not profits." Belli added: "This sort of smut sells books. But there is certainly something very wrong with attacking someone who can't fight back."

One Flynn intimate whom Higham did not contact for his research was David Niven, who once shared bachelor digs with Flynn in Hollywood. Higham explained that Niven was abroad and could not be reached. But my reporter Carol O'Connor had little trouble locating Niven in southern France and interviewing him by phone.

"Whatever Flynn was, he was most definitely a heterosexual," said Niven. Asked about Truman Capote's claim that he once had sex with Flynn, Niven replied, "Isn't it convenient that Errol isn't around to shove Capote's teeth down his throat?"

As for the Nazi charge, Niven said: "Everyone in those days knew someone who knew someone who supported the Nazis. Obviously, there was support for the Nazi cause. Otherwise, they wouldn't have been able to annihilate six million Jews. But just because Errol knew someone — that doesn't make him a Nazi."

Niven found it "absolutely reprehensible that anyone could make a living from defaming the dead." His view was echoed by actor Tony Curtis, who cracked: "Tell Higham I'm working on a book about him. But I'm not going to have it published until after he's dead."

Angriest of all is Rory Flynn, the actor's 32-year-old daughter. "Higham tricked us and used us," she said. "He told us he really loved Daddy and wanted to do a sensitive book... Then he turned around and printed all that trash."

She added: "Higham better stay out of my way. If people thought my father was tough, they should know that a mad Flynn is very dangerous."

Footnote: Higham refused to comment on the lawsuit. But he stuck by his claim of Flynn's Nazi sentiments which indirectly support the charge. "The man to me is guilty of high treason," he said. "I felt a moral need to tell the world what Errol Flynn was really like."

are about to subsidize the nation's hotels, restaurants and other tourist-oriented businesses to the tune of $9.5 million.

In an unprecedented power grab, tourism industry lobbyists have all but succeeded in pushing through Congress the National Tourism Policy Act. The Senate version of the bill would set up a "tourism corporation" to stimulate travel to this country by tourists from abroad. The House version calls for the idea to be "studied."

Although the corporation itself would be non-profit, its obvious goal is to bring greater profits to the tourism industry. The taxpayers would be footing the bill for promotional activities that private industry would otherwise have to pay for — yet the corporation would be privately operated, not under government control. Thirteen of the 15 directors of the corporation are to be "senior executive officers of tourism corporations."

The Office of Management and Budget sent a sizzling letter to House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., in an effort to block the bill. "The corporation would be a federally funded private special-interest group," the OMB contended. "This arrangement invites corruption and conflict of interest."

The OMB also found it "extraordinary" that the board would be empowered to deal directly with foreign governments — a task historically handled by the Executive Branch.

"The Constitution provides for only three branches of government," the OMB reminded O'Neill. "The corporation would virtually take on the trappings of a fourth."

Yet under pressure from hometown businessmen, members of Congress are expected to pass the tourism money grab overwhelmingly.

BAYH AT BAY: Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., gets no brownie points from right-wing enemies for his chairmanship of the committee investigating Billy Carter. On the contrary, the National Conservative Political Action Committee, which has put Bayh on its hit list, is using the "Billygate" investigation as a club to beat Bayh with.

"Can Birch Bayh Judge Billy Carter?" asks a recent NCPAC ad in the Indianapolis Star. It then alludes to Bayh's supposed "relations with unregistered foreign agents" in the so-called "Koreagate" scandal. No mention is made of the fact that Bayh was absolved of any impropriety in that congressional corruption probe.

INSIDE REPORT:

'Carter depression' speech signaled change for Reagan

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Evans

Novak

COLUMBUS, Ohio — An important new chapter in the education of Ronald Reagan as presidential candidate unfolded here Wednesday when he zeroed in on the "Carter depression" in the urgent advice of old pro, fourth-term Ohio Gov. Jim Rhodes.

Deleting a quotation on military strength from the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Reagan cleansed his text for the Ohio Teamsters union of virtually everything not directly tied to the nation's economic crisis.

To evoke MacArthur would have backtracked Reagan into the same quicksand of Vietnam and China he has spent two weeks trying to escape. The "Carter depression" moved him for the first time since the Republican presidential convention to promising dry ground for waging a successful campaign against the president.

Even to consider invoking Gen. MacArthur's name in this recession-torn state with a 10 percent jobless rate would seem to defy common sense. Yet, just such lack of common sense has dogged the early innings of Reagan's campaign. His toughly-worded attack on Carter economics has now given him the offensive on an issue ripe for exploitation.

Signs of party discomfiture have been coming in loud and clear demanding that offensive. At a closed-door meeting of Reagan surrogates in Washington on Tuesday, Maryland Rep. Bob Bauman, a conservative hard-hitter, demanded of Reagan campaign manager William J. Casey: "If we're supposed to be speaking for Gov. Reagan, you have to let us in on the take-off."

A similar complaint was voiced by Rep. Sam Devine, Reagan's Ohio campaign chairman. He told an applauding House Republican Policy Committee this week that Reagan's path to the White House has only one direction: through the "disasters" of high inflation, interest rates and unemployment. After Reagan's Teamsters speech here, Devine confided: "I think they're waking up."

Republican strategists in Ohio, a state Carter barely carried in 1976, and in recession-rocked Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Pennsylvania are convinced the election will be won or lost in the steel and auto mills of the industrial heartland. As Rhodes told Reagan: "Everything is unsettled today. It's all out there to be had."

Following Rhodes' earlier lead, the governors of these five states elaborated the message for Reagan here Wednesday evening.

They warned that the Carter strategy of painting Reagan as a dangerous cold warrior has been more successful since the Democratic convention at Madison Square Garden than Carter could have hoped for. This August setback, when voters' minds are on Labor Day vacations, not the presidential campaign, can be erased — but Reagan was told only if he attacks, attacks and attacks again on inflation, unemployment and high interest rates. "Our people are angry and they are going to gang up on someone in this election," one governor told us. "Reagan has to make Carter the target."

The unanswered question is: Does Reagan have the fortitude to follow this prescription? The major changes he agreed to write into his Teamsters speech cheered even skeptical Jim Rhodes. In addition to hanging "Carter depression" on the president, Reagan for the first time tried to personalize the economic issue. "After four years of Carter's little pills," he told the Teamsters, "ask the steel workers in Youngstown if they like the way things have changed; ask the unemployed autoworkers in Cleveland and the rubber workers in Akron."

Getting voters to ask those questions, and demanding answers from Jimmy Carter, could relieve him of that excess baggage accumulated in China, Taiwan, Vietnam and other areas far from the minds of the Ohio Teamsters and their blue-collar buddies.

The unfairest tax

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Americans think the federal income tax is far worse than state or local levies, but they also think Washington gives them more for their money than other levels of government.

Those are among the findings of a new study by the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, a non-partisan group with headquarters in Washington.

The study, released in mid-August, was made before the current round of tax proposals, including President Carter's. It is based on a survey of 2,025 adults representing a sample of the U.S. population. The commission has been conducting similar studies annually since 1972.

Over the past eight years, the commission said, the focus of public dislike of the tax system has shifted from local property levels to the federal income tax.

In 1972, 45 percent of the people questioned said the property tax was the worst or least fair levy. Nineteen percent — less than one person in five — said the federal income tax was the worst; 13 percent selected the state income tax; 13 percent named the state sales tax; and the rest said they didn't know.

In 1980, only 25 percent — one person in four — said the local property tax was least fair. Thirty-six percent — more than one in three — said the federal income tax was worst. The state income tax was named worst by 10 percent and the state sales tax got a negative rating by 19 percent. Ten percent said they didn't know which tax was worst.

This is the second year in a row that the commission has found the federal income tax described as the least fair. In 1979, 37 percent of those surveyed said the federal levy was the worst.

The commission said there are several reasons for the unpopularity of the federal income tax. Many people feel the federal tax is too high and removes people's incentives to earn more, the commission said. Income tax liabilities at the federal level also tend to rise more quickly than other tax liabilities because inflation pushes people into higher brackets.

At the same time, the commission said, "The widespread publicity following the passage of California's Proposition 13... and the enactment of state and local spending lids in other states, have helped reduce aversion to the local property tax to its lowest level since ACIR began polling in 1972."

The federal income tax is least popular among upper-income Americans. Forty percent of the survey sample with incomes of $25,000 a year or more said the federal tax was least fair; only 25 percent of those with annual incomes under $7,000 named the federal levy as the worst.

While they may not like the federal tax system, Americans apparently think they are getting something for their money.

When asked which level of government they believed they got the most from in exchange for their tax dollars, 33 percent — one person in three — said the federal government. Twenty-six percent — a little more than one in four — said the local government gave them the most for their money and 22 percent — about one in five — named the state government. The rest of the people said they didn't know.

The commission said support for the federal government was strongest among elderly men, non-whites, retired people and city dwellers. The commission also said that local governments have lost favor in the north central and western regions. It said there was "no verified explanation" for the loss, but added: "Debate over state-local tax limits so prevalent in the West may have focused anti-government sentiment on the local level."

Almost half those surveyed — 45 percent — said they favored keeping taxes and services at present levels. Thirty-eight percent said they would prefer to see taxes and services decreased; 6 percent voted for increased taxes and services; and 11 percent had no opinion.

The commission was created by Congress in 1959 to monitor the operation of the American federal system. It has 26 members — nine representing the federal government, 14 representing state and local governments and three representing the public.

Carter campaigns 'mud-gunning': Lexalt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of Ronald Reagan's presidential campaign, calling his own candidate "incapable" of dirty campaign tactics, said Sunday that President Carter's past political campaigns were full of "mud-gunning... personal attacks, innuendo and outright smears."

Sen. Paul Laxalt made the accusations in an "open letter" he said he sent to editorial writers asking them to help "keep this campaign a clean one and not let fear tactics go uncriticized or unchallenged."

Laxalt, a Nevada Republican, quoted extensively from books, magazine articles and newspaper stories and editorials in an effort to show that the president had used unfair campaign tactics in the past.

He cited a comment earlier this summer in which Patricia Harris, secretary of health and human services, said that when she hears Reagan she "sees a specter of white sheets."

Laxalt said that as far as he knew Carter had not been challenged over the black Cabinet secretary's not too veiled reference to the Ku Klux Klan while campaigning for the president. "Nor was he questioned about the federal funds used to pay for Mrs. Harris' trip and those of other Cabinet officers who engaged in blatant partisan attacks this summer," Laxalt said.

Spokesmen for President Carter said they planned no response to the senator's comments, but they have maintained in the past that political trips by administration officials are not paid for with government funds.

Laxalt went on to say, "We've done some research on the Carter campaigns of the past. We'd like you to know something about the record of personal attacks, innuendo and outright smears."

The letter then traces Carter's political career back through his campaigns for governor of Georgia in 1966 and 1970, his primary and general election campaigns for the presidency in 1976, and the campaign this year.

In it Laxalt says that Carter unfairly maligned his opponents, including Sens. Henry Jackson and Hubert Humphrey and Rep. Morris Udall in the 1976 primaries and then-President Gerald Ford in the general election.

Among Laxalt's accusations, which he quotes from a 1976 article in Harper's magazine, is that in Carter's 1970

Georgia campaign his campaign organization distributed a picture of his opponent with a black athlete in areas with segregationist voting records.

Laxalt says the Carter forces denied any knowledge of the leaflet and quotes White House Press Secretary Jody Powell as saying it may have been distributed by an "over-eager supporter."

But he also quotes others, among them Bill Shipp, an associate editor of the Atlanta Constitution, as saying that Carter's then press secretary, William Pope, had distributed the leaflet.

Laxalt also said that Carter had suggested during this year's primaries that it was "unpatriotic" of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to challenge the president for the Democratic nomination.

"Mr. Carter has made it clear that he intends to keep up this sort of personal invective in the race against Governor Reagan," Laxalt added. "Besides countenancing Mrs. Harris' smears, Mr. Carter said in his acceptance speech that he knew Governor Reagan didn't want war but then went on to say he wasn't so sure — maybe Governor Reagan did want 'to fight' the Russians, maybe he did want war." What Carter said in the speech, referring to Reagan, is "he doesn't seem to know what to do with the Russians. He's not sure if he wants to feed them or play with them or fight them."

Carter also said he was not claiming Reagan wanted "an unwinnable nuclear arms race" but that he did "question the disturbing commitments and policies already made by him and by those with him who have now captured control of the Republican Party."

Laxalt went on to say that "the Reagan campaign is not going to spend its time responding to fear tactics and personal innuendo" and that Reagan himself is "incapable of similar tactics."

He again urged the editorial writers to "examine the history of the Carter campaigns on your own. I think you'll find there a record of unrepentant mud-gunning."

Moore denies allegation

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Chairman Hilmar Moore of the State Board of Human Resources said Friday he did not appreciate comments by a lawyer implying that Moore might be pushing an old friend for the job of analyzing Medicaid contract bids.

The Medicaid contract became controversial after the board voted July 29 to reconsider its award two weeks earlier to Bradford National Corp., a New York data-processing firm. The board has delayed a final decision until Oct. 15.

National Heritage Insurance Co., a subsidiary of H. Ross Perot's computer empire, now administers the lucrative Medicaid contract, which expires in a year.

The board decided this week to pay a consultant up to $100,000 to help it choose between Bradford and National Heritage for Texas' $2 billion four-year Medicaid contract.

Moore said Friday he did not appreciate comments by Bradford lawyer Sander Shapiro that one consulting firm should not be hired to do the bid analysis because of Moore's acquaintance with the head of the firm.

Moore said Thursday he had gone to a military-service school with Jack F. Ward, president of J.F. Ward Associates, a consulting firm in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The board interviewed consulting firms for the job Friday but no decision was made.

Anderson returns home to make his first campaign visit

ROCKFORD, ILL. (AP) — John B. Anderson returned to his home town Sunday, making the first campaign visit here since beginning his independent presidential campaign more than four months ago.

Accompanied by his vice presidential running mate, Patrick J. Lucey from neighboring Wisconsin, Anderson received a warm and friendly welcome from a constituency which had re-elected 10 times to the House.

Even the Democratic mayor of Rockford, Robert McGaw, said if Anderson were elected president, "it would be the best thing that could happen to Rockford."

The mayor was an alternate delegate to the Democratic National Convention in New York City and had been committed to voting for President Carter's renomination.

It was a family day for Anderson, beginning with a motorcade in Madison, Wis., continuing with a visit to the First Evangelical Free Church in Rockford, and then with a rally along the Rock River attended by about 1,500 persons.

Anderson was accompanied by his wife, Keke; his father, Alvin, who will be 95 on Sept. 9; and his youngest daughters, Susan, 8, and Karen, 16.

After attending services in the same church in which he grew up, Anderson told the rally that President Carter's newest economic plan fails to address the short-term inflationary problems faced by the country.

"It is pic in the sky," the Republican congressman said of Carter's program, and the crowd responded with applause.

Reflecting the economic pinch Anderson's campaign is now suffering, volunteers at a campaign appearance in Madison on Saturday passed fried chicken buckets among the audience seeking small contributions.

At the rally in Rockford, paint cans with Anderson stickers were similarly circulated.

As Anderson's running mate, Lucey, was speaking, a station wagon with horn blaring drove by, with a large "Italians for Reagan" sign affixed to its side.

In his speech to the crowd, Lucey several times invoked the name of the late President John F. Kennedy, reflecting the former Wisconsin governor's long association with the Kennedy family and his plans to link that connection to Anderson's independent drive for the White House.

Anderson on Saturday released a 317-page platform which calls for a voluntary wage-price-incomes policy in which business and labor would get tax breaks for curbing inflation.

Anderson said that platform marks not the usual party document rarely followed the newly elected president, but rather "a contract with the people," which he pledged to follow should he be elected.

From Rockford, Anderson travels to Chicago for a full day of campaigning in the city's suburbs on Labor Day.

Zimbabwe unrest causing whites to flee

SALISBURY, Zimbabwe (AP) — Former Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith is traveling the countryside urging restless whites not to flee in the face of mounting lawlessness and anti-white broadcasts over media controlled by the four-month-old black majority government.

About 1,500 whites leave Zimbabwe each month, and most of the remaining 200,000 live in fear or uncertainty about their future under Prime Minister Robert Mugabe's government.

Mugabe has made an effort to reassure the whites, whose technical skills are needed to help restore an economy devastated by a seven-year guerrilla war.

But moderates fear that Mugabe is unwilling or unable to control the armed guerrillas who assembled at special camps after the January cease-fire. They also question his ability to restrain the radical elements in his party or hold together the guerrilla alliance.

Smith, who chose to remain as a minority-white member of the new Parliament, says he is "deeply concerned" about the flight of whites from Zimbabwe, which has a population of about 7.2 million blacks.

At meetings around the country, Smith has urged whites — particularly the 5,500 farmers who bring in most of the country's foreign exchange and produce its food — to remain.

Most of the 31 white farmers remaining in the rich Mtoko area about 85 miles northeast of here reportedly have been trying to sell their farms since Libyan-trained guerrillas from a nearby guerrilla camp allegedly killed two policemen, twice attacked the local police post with machine guns and assaulted black and white residents.

"There's a terrible feeling of insecurity," Mtoko Farmers' Association Chairman Tony Hutchings told the Sunday Mail newspaper. "Many feel we can't carry on."

The men suspected of the police killings were believed still to be inside the camp, where about 1,000 guerrillas loyal to Mugabe are gathered. An estimated 22,000 guerrillas, most still armed, are now in 12 camps around the country.

Whites ruled the former British colony of Rhodesia for nine decades until British-sponsored elections last February resulted in an overwhelming victory for Mugabe's Zimbabwe African National Union.

Now whites are alarmed by anti-white broadcasts on the radio and television by ZANU political commissars, widespread post-war violence and doubts about their future.

The arrest of Edgar Tekere, secretary general and No. 3 man in the ZANU hierarchy, on a charge of murdering a white farmer near Salisbury has aggravated fears.

Whites are not the only victims of violence. Most victims, according to police, are blacks.

Gibson Magaramombe, a minister of health in the former white-backed government of Bishop Abel Muzorewa, claimed Sunday he was punched and kicked last week by youths who drove off in a government Mercedes Benz car.

Police confirmed the case was being investigated.

Hardly a day goes by without ZANU militants appearing in courts round the country on charges of kidnapping, assaulting or intimidating political rivals. Many have been jailed by magistrates, most of whom are still whites.

Frightened residents complain of commando-style exercises

BRISTOL, Texas (AP) — A small group of men who gather near this small Ellis County community for the "fun and relaxation" of commando-style military training exercises has brought complaints from frightened local residents, authorities say.

But investigators admit they cannot prove any wrongdoing.

The group, called Special Combat Operations Team, is led by Dallas weapons dealer Ricardo Cleofas Lopez, 40, who denied in a recent interview that he and his commando team are doing anything wrong.

"SCOT is both a non-political and non-subversive organization," he said. "We're just out there training in the event of disasters, riots, strikes or economic collapse."

"We're just a bunch of guys who gather together to get training — mainly middle-class Americans that can see fun and relaxation in good training."

But Ellis County residents and law officers do not see the "fun" in what Lopez' group does.

"They're preparing for a revolution," said Paul Martin, police chief of nearby Ferris who claimed his officers have information that Lopez' trainees have included members of the Brown Berets, a militant Mexican-American organization.

Ellis County Sheriff's Lt. Virgil Crow said he investigated the group and its privately owned, 250-acre training camp for several months.

"We did everything from checking their gun dealer licenses to taking down license plate numbers of those participating in the war games," Crow said. "They just weren't doing anything illegal."

"There's just nothing illegal about shooting machine guns on private property."

Local resident Johnny Hart recalls a time when he and a friend were fishing along the Trinity River and heard automatic weapons fire.

Two Arabs sentenced for land sale to Israelis

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Two Arabs living in Jerusalem have been sentenced in absentia to death for selling their land to Israelis, the Jordanian government said Sunday.

An announcement said the sentences were handed down by a Jordanian court last week against Hilwa Khalil Hammoudah, a Jerusalem woman, and Ahmed Hassan, of East Jerusalem.

Israel captured East Jerusalem from Jordan in the 1967 Mideast war, and annexed it. A controversial new Israeli law affirming the united city as Israel's capital has angered the Arab world.

Mrs. Hammoudah is the first woman ever to be sentenced to death for selling land to Israelis, officials here said.

The announcement also said an unidentified third person, a man, was sentenced in absentia to 10 years in jail and fined $17,500 for selling his land to Israelis. Two other men were arrested and sentenced to prison terms of 10 and seven years, respectively, and fined $17,500 on similar charges, it said.

Palmer Drug Abuse Program celebrates year anniversary

By SANDI BREEDEN
Lifestyle Writer

At the center of each table was a cake covered in white icing, decorated with a black monkey's fist and one candle — the Palmer Drug Abuse Program was celebrating its first year in Midland with a banquet in the Midland Hilton ballroom Saturday night.

And a celebration it was. About 350 people joined the "Celebration of Sobriety" and enthusiasm was not lacking.

It was a year ago June that some Midlanders started raising funds to have PDAP in Midland and by September, 1979, $55,000, the needed amount had been raised. And according to finance committee chairman Ron Britton, the program has enough funds to sustain itself another year if it doesn't receive any more donations.

"The program needs help through the next year," said Britton, "but I assure you we have enough to keep open for another year without any help."

BRITTON TOLD THE audience he would not bore them with financial statistics, but gave the indication that $55,000 is still the local budget.

While young people dressed in tuxedos and long dresses, and wearing that all important monkey's fist, which is given to a member of PDAP after remaining sober for 30 days, clapped and chanted while their local and national leaders were introduced, it was obvious they were sober and very happy to be that way.

Ed Leach, executive director of PDAP, gave a report on the national headquarters. Leach said, "The drug problem is so horrendous that we (PDAP) received requests from 150 cities last year asking for PDAP. Seventy-five percent of the youth is getting high on marijuana — it's the third biggest industry according to the U.S. Department of Commerce."

Expanding on the drug problem, Leach said, "During the height of the media attention, we were getting in excess of 400 calls a day from people in serious trouble, not just people calling to say hello."

Leach said that since the Midland program had opened, PDAP has opened offices in Los Angeles and Bartlettville, Okla., and will open in Lea County, Fla., next week. St. Louis, Mo., and Buffalo, N.Y., will also have offices opening soon, he said. "Places rapidly putting pressure on us include El Paso, Phoenix, Portland and Pittsburgh," added Leach.

"WE'RE GROWING AS rapidly as we can without hurting what we have," he explained. "For all of you in the PDAP program that want to be on the staff, you will be able to," he stressed.

The highlight of the evening was obvious when guest speaker Bob Meehan, founder of PDAP, was introduced. Applause and chants of "We love you Bob" echoed the ballroom for about five minutes. And when all was finally quiet, Meehan softly replied, "I love you."

And the words "I love you" represented Meehan's speech. "You're hearing the words 'I love you' floating around and you may think we don't know what we're saying," said Meehan to persons at the banquet who have never attended a PDAP program.

gram. "Believe me, we do," he added.

Meehan then gave the history of the program and then looked at the audience and said, "If it weren't for you, I wouldn't be sober." Meehan said he was "on the streets" for 12 years and in "the joint" three times before he became sober and has remained that way for nine years.

"We're all scared," he said, "but the words 'I love you' get me through."

SPEAKING OF THE drug problem of today, Meehan said young people are in trouble. "What we have today is the majority of young people under foreign influence — chemicals. They are brought up believing that is a better world. Anyone could take over the United States without a shot being fired, through drugs," he stressed.

"I just want to strike with the urgency of staying sober and helping others get sober," he added.

"One out of every two marriages ends in divorce today," said Meehan, who is married and has a son and daughter. "But one out of 1,153 marriages of people who pray together ends in divorce," he said mentioning spiritual guidance, which PDAP believes in, for the only time.

"PDAP is full of logic and simplicity," said the founder explaining its success. "We want to make the people understand that without dope, they can get busted."

Meehan then made a promise to the audience. "We've got to remember what drugs were really about — being scared and lonely. Well, I was promised I would never have to be lonely and they were right. And I would like to make that same promise."

THEN SPEAKING TO members of Midland's program, Meehan said, "The pioneer days in Midland are over. You are now an established program and what it's going to take now is to continue to expect a miracle and it will happen."

"Somebody here tonight won't be here next year," he softly said. "Make a commitment that it won't be you, simply because I love you."

Bob Savage, director of Midland's program, then presented Meehan with a miniature gold derrick and jokingly said, "For those who don't know, us junkies and alcoholics love watches and gold."

Also recognized at the banquet were Meehan's wife, Joy, who founded the parent group of PDAP and the local leaders including Savage, Lou Detwiler, assistant director; Beverly Altrin and Gwen Temple, parent coordinators; Michele Savage, program assistant and Kathy Linscombe, secretary.

Midland's counselors were also recognized. They are Morgan Granberry, senior counselor and Sara Cross, counselor, with the younger group, and Willie Linscombe, senior counselor and Lisa Sheridan, counselor, for the older group.

Plaques were presented to local churches who have shown support to the program. They include First Baptist Church, First United Methodist Church and Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity. St. Nick's Episcopal Church was also recognized for its support of the program.

Dr. Daniel Vestal, pastor of First Baptist Church, closed the banquet saying, "You can't tell people by how they look, talk or dress. You have to look a lot deeper. That is something PDAP has shown Midland."

"PDAP has also shown there's nobody incapable of giving and receiving love," he continued. "PDAP has also shown in order to deal with drugs, you must have God and I'm grateful to PDAP for that."

Sex survey results still pouring in

DEAR READERS: TIRED IN LINCOLN, NEB., WROTE: "At age 50 and after 30 years of marriage, I would like to forget about sex altogether. I can't believe I'm the only woman who feels this way. Please poll your readers, Abby, and if they're honest, I think you'll find I'm right."

As of today, I have received: TOTAL RESPONSES: 227,606 Agreed with TIRED: 114,005 DISAGREED: 113,601

Pulled from the mail, some interesting comments:

"TIRED should be grateful her husband is normal. My husband and I, dedicated Christian Scientists, were programmed against "sensuality" (sex). After the birth of our only child, at age 37, my husband wished to return to the celibate life—married, but no sex. I suddenly came to my senses, divorced him, and now I am married to a normal Presbyterian." — ANONYMOUS

"I'm also tired. Tired of living with a slob. I have to nag my husband to shower and use a deodorant. I don't think he knows where his toothbrush is. So if he can live without a toothbrush, I can live without sex." — I'M 53... HE'S 58.

"TIRED is gonna be surprised when she finds out there's sex after death, 'cause if there isn't, how could it be heaven?" — EVY IN ST. PAUL

"We took a poll at our office. Nine women agreed with TIRED, and six disagreed. (Five out of those six were under 30. What do THEY KNOW?)" — THE OFFICE GANG IN CHICAGO.

"I'll be 85 soon, my husband is 90, and we still make love regularly. This is my second marriage and his third. I wholeheartedly disagree with TIRED. Poor thing. Her husband must be a poor lover." — ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.

"I'm 69 and my husband is 79, and I have been pretending for years that he satisfies me. He doesn't, but he'd be crushed if he knew, and besides, it takes less than a minute." — FIRST CLASS ACTRESS

"After 35 years of marriage to the same man, I equate sex with any other bodily function—like blowing one's nose. I'm with TIRED." — BORED IN TEXAS.

"Just before I was married (at 19), my mom gave me a little pep talk about sex. She said, 'Honey, sex is a man's game, and women aren't supposed to enjoy it, they are just men's playthings. So pretend you're enjoying it and put up with it to make him feel like a man.'

"I said, 'But, Mom what if I LIKE SEX?'"

"She said, 'You're just like your father!'" — ALLENTOWN, PA.

"Tell TIRED IN LINCOLN, NEB.,

if she's still faking it after 30 years she can send her husband to Milwaukee. I'm 62 and my husband is dead, but I'm not." — WILLING IN WISCONSIN

"So TIRED submits to sex as a favor to her husband. Tell her if she wants to do something 'nice' for the man she loves, to bake him a cake!" — ALASKA LADY, AGE 56

"Thanks for asking for this survey. I thought I was the only 50-year-old woman who was tired of sex. I'm also tired of cooking." — WINNIPEG.

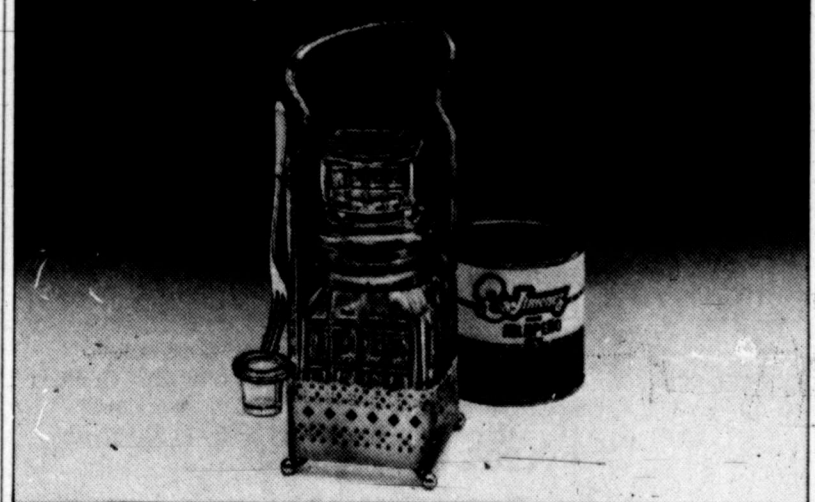

"Would you believe after 25 years of marriage my husband still sets the alarm for 6 a.m. so he can have sex before breakfast? You'd better believe I am also tired!" — HOUSTON

"Ask TIRED IN NEBRASKA if she wants to negotiate a trade. I'm 53, my husband's impotent, and I'm hungry for love in Iowa." — SIOUX CITY

"I'm 82 and my wife is 80, and after 50 years of marriage, we still enjoy our conjugal relationship. Abby, why are you asking only the women? Please take a survey to poll men. It will open your eyes, Dearie." — SEATTLE

DEAR SEATTLE: Thanks, but not for a while. I'm "tired" from the deluge of mail precipitated by TIRED IN LINCOLN, NEB.

Famed Krakatoa volcano not dead

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Before Mount St. Helens, there was Krakatoa.

Recorded as the greatest volcanic eruption in modern history, Krakatoa blew apart 97 years ago this week, killing some 36,400 people and scattering its effects around the globe.

Today, the volcano in the Sunda Straits between Java and Sumatra still rumbles occasionally and sometimes belches smoke and ash.

Observers who flew over the volcano this week reported seeing wisps of gray smoke curling from its cone, which appeared to be 700 feet tall. The smell of burning sulphur could be detected in the aircraft.

What remains in the calm blue-green sea are bits of the original Krakatoa Island, two other lush green islands and "Anak Krakatoa" (the child of Krakatoa), which rose from the sea in 1929.

Anak Krakatoa is a forbidding black except for the white crests of waves splashing the dark shoreline and green clumps of trees finally sprouting in the rich volcanic soil near the shore. Dirty yellow deposits are piled in the crater's mouth and on its flanks, spat fitfully from inside the earth.

Krakatoa became famous not so much for its death toll — the eruption of Mount Tambora east of Bali in 1815 killed 92,000 people — but because its powerful explosions were heard thousands of miles away and blew dust so high it circled the Earth for months.

The volcano had been quiet for years when a series of minor eruptions started jolting the island in May 1883. The big bangs started on Aug. 26, 1883, when a cubic mile of debris was spewed into the atmosphere.

By the next day all of West Java was shaking. Four enormous explosions sent a cloud of dust and ash almost 50 miles into the air, blacking out the sun over 300,000 square miles of what was then the Netherlands East Indies.

A 1977 computer analysis by scientists at the Numerical Meteorology Research Unit in Melbourne, Australia, estimated that 27 million tons of debris was hurled into the atmosphere.

Dust caused odd atmospheric phenomena around the world for months and is supposed to have inspired the poet, Lord Alfred Tennyson, to write:

Had the fierce ashes of some fiery peak
Been hurled so high they ranged around the globe?
For day by day, thro' many a blood-red eye,
The wrathful sunset glared...

For a year after the eruption, sunlight reaching the Earth was reduced by 13 percent.

The noise was heard as far away as Japan, Australia and Sri Lanka, where sound waves arrived four hours after the blast.

The blast was so powerful that three-fourths of the 11-square-mile island disappeared. Where Krakatoa had risen 2,000 feet above the sea, a 900-foot-deep pit suddenly gaped beneath it.

The island collapsed, into the chasm, followed by billions of gallons of water. This generated a spectacular tsunami — a tidal wave, a wall of water cresting higher than 100 feet.

Within an hour, the terrifying wave crashed onto the lowlands of Java and Sumatra. It was here where most of the deaths were recorded.

The wave then swept around Africa into the Atlantic. Some 32 hours after the eruption, water in the English Channel rose measurably.

Professor J.A. Katili, Indonesia's director general of mining and a leading expert on Krakatoa, says Krakatoa is now in a development phase.

"It is building up for another major eruption in several hundred years," said Katili in an interview.

Katili said Krakatoa's location "at the bend of the arc" in the Java Trench helps explain the huge explosion. This 3,000-mile arc stretches along Java and the west coast of Sumatra, where massive, shifting portions of the earth's crust known as the Australian and Pacific Plates overlap.

Writing best way to talk with deaf

Dear Dr. Solomon: I am employed as a social worker in a county welfare office, and occasionally am called upon to deal with a person whose hearing is severely impaired. To what extent can I assume that these people understand me because they are able to read my lips? — Chris.

Dear Chris: A deaf person can read only from 10 to 40 percent of the sounds of spoken English by looking at the lips of a speaker. The best way to communicate with a deaf person is by writing on a pad; this eliminates any guesswork and helps put the person at ease. Of course the problem also can be overcome through use of an interpreter.

Dear Dr. Solomon: If one is to believe the conversation at cocktail parties, it seems that an increasing number of people treat themselves instead of going to a doctor. Is this generally true or are my friends the exception that proves the rule? — June.

Dear June: According to Drug Topics magazine, seven out of 10 people who responded to a survey said they frequently treat themselves. This held true for women more than for men. The reasons given for the trend included a desire to save both time and money, as well as the trust they placed in their pharmacists' recommendations.

Dear Dr. Solomon: To what extent can cancer be inherited? My mother and an aunt have both had the disease, and I wonder what this means for myself and my children. — Ruth.

Dear Ruth: Although the most common types of cancer are not inherited, there may be a tendency for its development within some families. That means that a specific type of cancer will occur among members of a particular family more often than among the population at large.

Such tendencies have been found in cases of cancer of the breast, colon, stomach, prostate and lung, as well as in leukemia. Members of a family in which any of these cancers occur should take precautionary measures, including periodic complete physical examinations.

Dear Dr. Solomon: A very close friend of mine is being married in her future husband's home town, which is about 400 miles from where I live. I would like to attend the wedding, but I am half-way through my first pregnancy. Is there any reason I should not fly or drive there? — Mrs. D.B.

Bunker Hunt discusses silver collapse

DALLAS (AP) — Nelson Bunker Hunt, one of the world's richest men, now wishes he had dumped some of his extensive silver holdings instead of trying to ride out vast fluctuations in the price of the precious metal, the Dallas Morning News said Sunday.

In an interview in the newspaper, one of his first since the price of silver fell from more than $50 an ounce to less than $20, Hunt said he and his brother Herbert "should have unloaded" some of their silver in late March instead of letting the market crumble around them.

"I think at $50 (the price an ounce of silver reached on Jan. 21) the market got too high and it caused a lot of problems," Hunt told the newspaper in the copyright interview.

"On my side," he said, "I wish the market had never gone over $20. That would have been much better. Because, you know, we didn't sell anything, we didn't buy anything.

"But the fact that it went high caused everybody to start screaming and yelling. So looking back, we should have unloaded some of it," he said.

Hunt blamed the governors of the nation's commodity exchanges and speculators who disrupted trading for the collapse.

He told the Morning News he may have underestimated the determination of commodity exchange regulators and government agencies to break him and his brother.

Hunt confirmed that he met in Europe with New York commodities broker Norton Waltuch and some overseas investors suspected by the U.S. government of trying to corner the silver market.

At the time, Hunt and the foreigners together controlled more than 85 percent of the world's available silver, the newspaper said.

When the year began, Hunt and his brother personally owned or had rights to 57 percent of all new silver produced in the free world and two major commodity exchanges altered their rules because of those vast holdings, hoping to choke-off the rise in silver prices, the newspaper said.

Hunt said that action dried up the market, left fewer traders willing or able to buy silver and stranded the Hunts with vast holdings they could not sell.

When the market collapsed, the Hunts had to float a $1.1 billion loan to help cover their silver investments, but Hunt said public disclosure of that fact did not embarrass him.

"Now, it didn't bother me none. Actually, there's no secrets in the world anyway," he said.

"This is an age of informers we live in. The IRS has got their informers. The FBI have got their informers... the CIA and so forth. A person is just kidding himself if he thinks he's got any secrets."

"I talk to people, but I never worry about what they're going to do, or write, or print. I don't care," he said. "When you get to this point in life you don't really give a damn. I'm the same way about buying a few silver contracts."

Anita's orange juice contract has expired

MIAMI (AP) — For the first time since 1969 entertainer Anita Bryant is not under contract to promote Florida orange juice, but officials said it hasn't been decided whether the controversial singer will be rehired.

"We haven't determined what we're going to do," Florida Department of Citrus Executive Director Bernie Lester said Sunday, the final day of Miss Bryant's $100,000 annual contract.

That contract was with the production company headed by Bob Green, Miss Bryant's former husband and manager. She was divorced from him Aug. 15. "Because of the situation with the divorce and so forth, it had to expire," Lester said, adding, "We didn't try to set any particular date on continuing the relationship."

Miss Bryant has been paid the guaranteed $100,000 for her television and radio commercials, personal appearances and other promotions involving Florida orange juice during the past year, said Lester.

He and Florida Citrus Commission Chairman Arlen Jumper met with Miss Bryant in early July in Tulsa, Okla., where the former Miami Beach resident moved after separating from Green.

"We discussed at the time that we wouldn't do anything prior to September," Lester said in a telephone interview from Lakeland, Fla. "Our reason for talking with her was to determine her interests.... We left it that we would consider what future course we may want to take, and also she wanted to determine what she may be interested in pursuing."

Miss Bryant, the 1959 Miss Oklahoma and third-place finisher in the Miss American Pageant, garnered nationwide headlines in 1977 when she led a successful campaign to repeal a controversial Dade County, Fla., homosexual rights ordinance.

Fishermen block highway

PARIS (AP) — Striking fishermen took their dispute to France's highways Sunday, slowing down traffic on a major highway leading to Paris. The protest occurred on one of the busiest weekends of the year, as thousands of Frenchmen returned from their August vacations.

Police reported a few incidents involving motorists who tried to pass the fishermen's parade of 80 vehicles that was traveling 30 miles an hour — less than half the speed limit. They also reported one traffic jam a mile long.

The fishermen set out from Boulogne, the English Channel port where the strike began more than two weeks ago, and went as far as Bapaume, 72 miles northeast of Paris before turning back.

Talks aimed at ending the dispute resume Tuesday when a national reconciliation committee meets. The fishermen are protesting high diesel fuel prices and plans that would eliminate jobs in the fishing industry.

Government maritime authorities called a meeting Friday to explain measures design to help the industry. Later, both fishermen and shipowners denounced the proposals as inadequate.

Fishermen lifted their blockade at Boulogne on Saturday. Two small ports on the Breton coast, Lorient and Concarneau, remained closed but maritime traffic was normal elsewhere.

McEnroe, Connors advance

NEW YORK (AP)—John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors posted third-round victories at the $654,082 U.S. Open tennis championships Sunday, a day in which the Czech influence on the tournament became apparent.

Three players from Czechoslovakia and one Czech expatriate were among those advancing to the fourth round. Martina Navratilova, Hana Mandlikova and Renata Tomanova were among the 16 survivors in the women's division, while Ivan Lendl represented the Eastern European nation among the men.

There were three upsets on the sixth day of play, two in the women's section. Fifth-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia was surprised by Barbara Hallquist 7-5, 6-1, and 12th-seeded Virginia Wade of Britain, the 1968 Open champion who now is 35 years old, lost to Lucia Romanov of Romania 4-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Among the men, 16th-seeded Victor Amaya was eliminated by Pascal Portes of France 6-3, 2-6, 7-6, 6-3. A paid crowd of 17,823 attended the day session, the third straight sell-out.

McEnroe, the defending champion and No. 2 seed, beat Rick Meyer, a local player who is ranked only No. 173 in the world in the latest computer listings, 6-1, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2. Afterward, he complained about his right ankle, which he sprained two weeks ago.

"When you come back after being hurt, you don't run and jump as much as you should. It's laziness," he said. "I'm in good shape, I just have to stretch out more. But I'm still in the tournament, and that's the important thing."

McEnroe said the cement courts at the National Tennis Center, resurfaced since the 1979 Open, were slower this year.

"That makes it worse for me because you have to play more long points, which puts more strain on my ankle," he said. "If this is the U.S. Open, they should make the courts suitable for the Americans — speed them up. That's my humble opinion."

Connors, the third seed, overpowered Terry Moor 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

"After the first five or six games, I started hitting the ball more solidly and with better timing," said Connors, who won this event in 1974, 1976 and 1978. "Once I did that, my whole game picked up."

"I'm pleased with the way I'm playing," he added. "I'm just strolling along, playing my game. If I'm hitting the ball well enough to win like this, that's good. With each match I'm hitting the ball better and better."

Harold Solomon, seeded seventh, had to struggle before wearing down Russell Simpson of New Zealand 6-7, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2.

The 20-year-old Lendl, who is seeded 10th and won the Canadian Open two weeks ago when Bjorn Borg had to withdraw from the finals, overwhelmed little-known Thierry Tulasne of France 6-2, 4-0, 6-1.

Jimmy Connors posts easy win over Terry Moor.

Bobby Unser wins, but Rutherford clinches title

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—Bobby Unser completely overpowered the field in his overall Penske PC-9 Sunday to win his fourth California 500 championship car race at Ontario Motor Speedway.

The "Albuquerque Cowboy's" year-long nemesis, Johnny Rutherford, finished a distant 8.53 seconds behind, but still clinched his first national championship.

The victory in the $290,000 event, Unser's fourth triumph of the season, was never in doubt after the early going as Unser pulled away seemingly at will each time Rutherford or teammate Rick Mears — the three-place finisher — made a move.

Mears was a lap behind at the finish, followed by Al Unser, Bobby's younger brother, seven laps down, and fifth-place Tom Gloy, running his first Indy car oval race for the Penske team, nine laps back.

The winner averaged 156.372 mph. That's the fastest race since 1974 when Unser averaged 157.017.

Rutherford, who has won five races and finished second three times this season in his Jim Hall-prepared Chaparral but today could not catch Unser's metallic blue ground effects racer built by team owner Roger Penske.

The 42-year-old Texan roared from the outside of the front row into the lead on the first lap, passing both Mears and Unser,

TED BATTLES

BATTLE SCENE

It's time to stifle a yawn and bid a fond farewell to the time of year NFL owners like best, the ugly exhibition season. For the owners it was time to stuff the financial coffers at a minimum overhead. What's amazing is that the fans pay the full tariff for these sham battles, although you can hear an occasional whimper of protest as pressure is brought to bear on the grotesque twisted arm behind the back.

There was a time when the big city fans wouldn't buy the make believe games, unless they were under the guise of an all-star contest, and the pros used to take their preseason games into the hinterlands. In fact, Midland played host to a couple back in 1960 and 1961 in the fledgling where-can-we-scrape-up-a-buck days of the old American Football Conference.

The Kansas City Chiefs, still the Dallas Texans, squared off against the Denver Broncos and Oakland Raiders, a couple of well-received games that packed Memorial Stadium. But those days are gone forever. Now that NFL ties the exhibitions into regular season games in season ticket packages, they don't need us rubes anymore.

THE NFL doesn't begin skirmishing with live bullets until next week when the players who haven't been battling for squad berths get serious as the more generous paychecks begin on a regular basis.

Still, Texas-Arkansas in Austin tonight, courtesy of TV's big bucks, offers something special in the way of a kickoff game for 1980.

Rescheduling the game for the season's end as the Hogs and Horns did in the classic battle of 1969 is one thing. Opening the season with what ordinarily would be a mid or late season bell-ringer is something else. Even with the money involved, it's surprising Lou Holtz and Fred Akers agreed to it. After all, it means someone is going to start the Southwest Conference season behind the eight-ball without even the benefit of a non-conference tuneup.

Rebooking a non-conference game of this stature is one thing, but a conference showpiece game just proves that TV dollars in this era of troubled athletic budgets can work wonders.

IF NOTHING else, Akers' injury list already smacks of mid-season with the apparent loss of speedster Rodney Tate and the possibility that Jam Jones, although ready, will not be full throttle. With the devastating defensive losses through graduation, the Longhorns were supposed to be relying heavily on a souped up offense this season.

Holtz, on the other hand, has 10 defensive starters back, although he notes, "They weren't all that good last year. It's kinda like the measles. You're not sure you want them again."

Before it's over, Holtz may be thankful for his defense. Not only is his offense bereft of last year's glamor, but he's experimenting with the I offense in hopes of adding an inside-the-20 scoring punch that the Vee couldn't generate last year.

It should help in breaking in Tom Jones, destined to replace all-SWC Kevin Scanlon at quarterback. The I puts less pressure on the quarterback than the Vee.

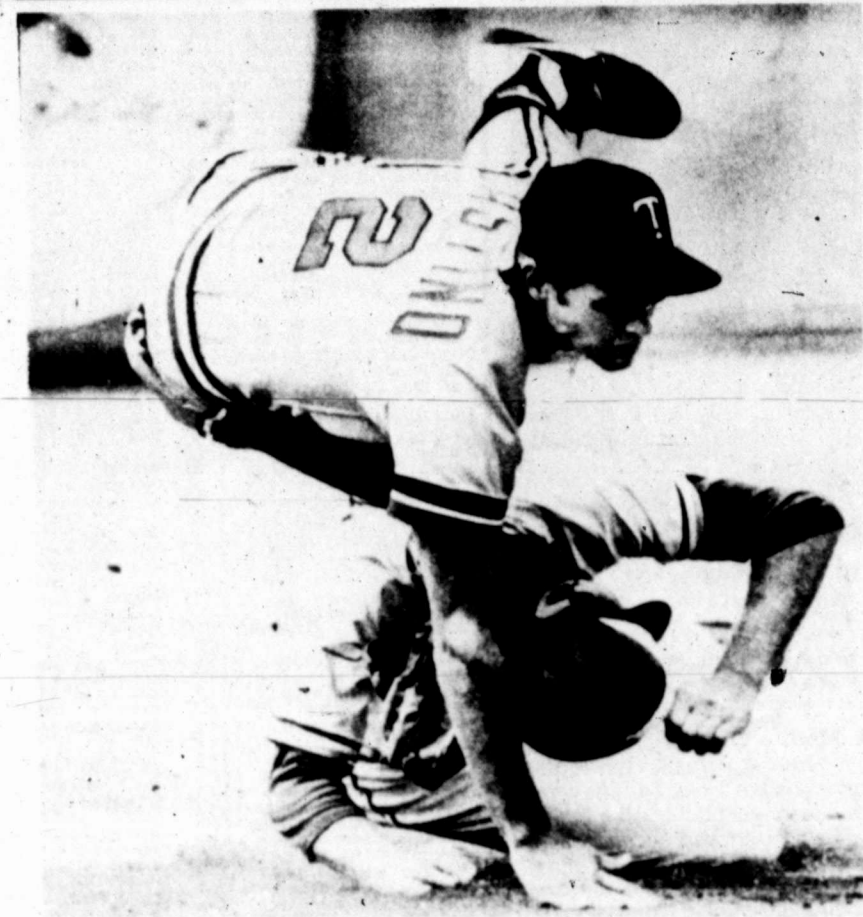

The prospect of losing the opener doesn't bother Holtz that much as Lou optimistically expects the Hogs to contend for the championship. "If everybody loses four or five games, we have a heckuva shot at the title."

"While a Texas-Arkansas game as the first shot fired may not appeal to Akers or Holtz now, perhaps it will later, for Fred a welcome open date after Oklahoma an for Lou that break in the schedule the week before Houston.

Boyd's sizzling 69 leads Green Tree golf

Aussies beat France

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The yacht Australia, behind slightly at the start, pulled ahead Sunday to beat France 3 in the second day of America's Cup challenger trials on hazy Rhode Island Sound. The victory, in 18 knot southwesterlies, gave Australia a record in the final best-of-seven series of 2-0 against the French yacht.

The two 12-meters are vying for the right to challenge the New York Yacht Club's 129-year grip on sailing's most-prized trophy. The club selection committee Friday tapped Dennis Conner end Freedom to defend the cup.

Longhorns in Austin

To Holtz it's like playing Irish in Rome

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—It's been 14 years since the Arkansas Razorbacks have left Memorial Stadium with the warm feeling of victory.

And Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz feels the experience of again meeting the Texas Longhorns on their home grounds is like "playing Notre Dame in Rome."

Monday night, the Razorbacks play the Longhorns in the earliest football game in Southwest Conference history. And it's in Memorial Stadium.

"I don't see where playing the game (early) is any disadvantage for us," Holtz said with tongue-in-cheek. Holtz guided his team to a 17-14 victory over Texas in Little Rock last year.

"Since 1966," Holtz continued, "we've played them in the middle of the season and we've played them at the end of the year (in Austin) and the results have been the same. The worst thing that could happen to us is they'd beat us again."

As far as Arkansas fans are concerned, it's the worst thing that could happen, period.

It's the 62nd meeting of the old rivals, and Texas has won 46 times. There's never been a tie.

More importantly, 16 of the last 21 Arkansas-Texas games have had a direct bearing on the outcome of the SWC race.

Texas is a 1½-point favorite for the nationally televised (ABC-TV) game. A near capacity crowd of 80,000 fans is expected. For once, because of the late night, early week kickoff, the game was an easy ticket.

Holtz has been playing the Texas fight song at practices and even dressing the scout team in burnt orange jerseys to get his team ready.

He has unleashed a string of taunting one-liners for the Razorbacks.

Upstarts vie for MCC title

Either Larry Snyder or Craig Campbell will wear the 1980 Midland Country Club crown after today's final round of the 31st annual MCC club championship tournament.

The two upstarts advanced to today's finals after defeating two former champions on Sunday in match play. Snyder, who ousted defending champion Andy Shapira on Saturday, turned around and won a 1-up decision over two-time MCC champ Dr. Dean Strack Sunday. Snyder has waded through some tough golfers.

Meanwhile, Campbell, who is playing top notch golf this year and who won the MCC medal title this summer, defeated two-time MCC club champion Randy Geiselman, 3-2, on Sunday to gain the right to meet Snyder today in the final round.

Play in the fifth flight ended Sunday with Fred Goodman taking the title. All other flights end today.

Sunday's match play results at MCC are as follows:

Two share RHCC lead

Jamie Winkel came from six strokes off the pace and Jerry Willenburg came from five strokes down Sunday to tie for the second round lead in the Ranchland Hills Country Club's annual club championship golf tournament.

Winkel fired a 74 Sunday for a two-day 150 while Willenburg had a 75 to match that total.

First round leader Mike Mullins almost fell apart with a Sunday round of 81 after taking a four stroke lead Saturday with a 70. Mullins is now tied for second with Cappy Paulding, both at 151. Paulding had a disastrous 79 Saturday, but came back with a 72, the best second round of the field, Sunday.

Cub rally nips Astros, 8-7

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Tim Blackwell wasn't thinking about any season sweeps or anything else, "I was just thinking of winning the game."

Blackwell's bounding single off the glove of Joe Morgan scored Scot Thompson from third base with the winning run Sunday to cap a three-run, ninth-inning rally which lifted the Cubs to an 8-7 victory over the Houston Astros.

If the Cubs had lost, they would have been the first National League team in modern league history to have been swept in a season series. They had lost their first 11 games of the year to the Astros.

"I was watching the ball all the way and I was talking to it, trying to get it to go through," said Blackwell. "No, I didn't want extra innings. Our record in extra innings (2-12) isn't very good."

Morgan thought he had a chance to make the play but "I was playing him up the middle because Blackwell hasn't pulled a ball all series. I went to my left and when it hit the grass it came up funny. Still, I could have got him if I controlled the ball."

Ivan DeJesus and Bill Buckner singled to open the rally and Cliff Johnson singled to score DeJesus before Larry Bittner tied the game with a base hit that scored Buckner.

With runners on first and third and two out, Blackwell singled off loser Frank LaCorte, 8-4, scoring pinch-runner Thompson from third.

Dick Tidrow, 6-5, was the winner. The Astros jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a single by Terry Puhl and Jose Cruz's eighth homer. Enos Cabell hit his second homer in the third inning.

The Cubs scored in the first on a single by DeJesus, a walk and a single by Bittner and tied it in the fourth on a two-out single by Tim Blackwell and run-scoring doubles by Mike Tyson and pitcher Rick Reuschel.

But in the sixth, Dennis Walling reached on an error by DeJesus, Luis Pujols walked and the runners advanced on an infield out before pitcher Phil Niekro singled home two runs. Rafael Landestoy then singled across another run.

Chicago's Dave Kingman slammed a two-run pinch double in the eighth before Houston retaliated with Puhl's run-scoring single in the ninth, setting the stage for the Cubs' ninth-inning rally.

Dodgers sweep Expos; Reds rally to top Pirates, 5-4

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ron Cey, Rick Monday and Joe Ferguson slugged successive home runs in the second inning and Ferguson added another in the eighth as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Montreal Expos 7-2 Sunday for a sweep of their doubleheader.

Jerry Reuss hurled a four-hitter in the opener to win 2-0 and post his sixth shutout of the season.

The victory was the Dodgers' 11th straight over Montreal and moved them to within one game of Houston in the National League West. Montreal, which started the day in a virtual tie with Pittsburgh in the East, dropped to third, percentage points behind Philadelphia.

After Ron LeFlore and Warren Cromartie hit bases-empty homers the first two innings off winning pitcher

Don Sutton, 9-4, Cey led off the second with his 21st home run. Monday followed with his seventh and, after catcher John Tamargo dropped Ferguson's foul popup, Ferguson hit his sixth. Derral Thomas and Sutton followed with singles. Dave Lopes walked and, one out later, Dusty Baker singled home two runs.

Ferguson, who drove in three runs in the second game, doubled home Monday in the fifth and homered again in the eighth.

Ray Johnstone and Baker singled home the Dodgers' runs in the opener, which started the day in a virtual tie with Pittsburgh in the East, dropped to third, percentage points behind Philadelphia.

Foster, who went 3-for-4, led off the sixth with a solo homer to cut the Pirate lead to 4-2. It was the third homer in three games for Foster and his 21st of the season.

After Blyleven, 7-10, walked Dan Driessen on four pitches and struck out Johnny Bench, Ray Knight hit a line drive to right field that was dropped for an error by Dave Parker.

Driessen took third on the error and Knight reached second. They scored on consecutive singles by Paul Householder and pinch-hitter Harry Spilman.

Householder took third on Spilman's hit and scored the tie-breaking run as Dave Collins forced Spilman at second.

Braves 6, Cardinals 2
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Chris Chambliss snapped a 2-2 tie with an RBI double in the sixth inning and doubled home an insurance run during a three-run rally in the eighth, leading the Atlanta Braves to a 6-2 triumph Sunday over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pitcher Phil Niekro triggered a run-scoring rally in the fifth, which produced a 2-2 deadlock. While hurling his 10th complete game, the 41-year-old Niekro, 12-14, weathered George Hendrick's two-run homer for St. Louis.

Dale Murphy's 25th homer of the year, a two-out blast in the second inning and St. Louis countered on Hendrick's two-run homer in the fourth.

Niekro, making his 499th career start, gave up seven hits, fanned three and walked one in posting his fourth straight triumph and Atlanta's 11th victory in its last 14 games.

Padres 10, Phillies 3
SAN DIEGO (AP) — An error by outfielder Garry Maddox and Ossie Smith's run-scoring double highlighted a five-run sixth inning which allowed the San Diego Padres to come from behind and beat the Philadelphia Phillies 10-3 Sunday.

The Padres were trailing 3-1 entering the sixth when Gene Richards led off with an infield single, then stole his 51st base.

Luis Salazar and Richards were both safe on fielder's choices and Jerry Mumphrey followed with a run-scoring single off loser Bob Walk, 9-4.

Willie Montanez's sacrifice fly tied the game 3-3. Ron Reed replaced Walk and Craig Stima's fly ball to center fell in front of Maddox for an error, allowing Mumphrey to score the tie-breaking run. Ossie Smith then doubled home another run and another run tallied on a ground out.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Terry Whitfield's bloop single to left in the sixth inning scored Larry Herndon and cracked a 4-4 tie as the San Francisco Giants defeated the New York Mets 9-4 in the second game for a sweep of Sunday's doubleheader.

Whitfield also belted a two-run single as a pinch hitter to provide the key blow in the Giants' five-run sixth-inning rally that powered an 11-4 victory in the first game.

Reliever John Montefusco, 4-6, won the nightcap while Greg Minton got his 17th save.

The Giants' winning rally began with a leadoff single by Larry Herndon, who went to second on a balk and to third on Max Venen's sacrifice. Whitfield, who had six hits in the doubleheader, then blooped his game-winning hit off loser Dyar Miller, 0-1.

Saints to go with Erxleben

The New Orleans Saints' kicking game rested with Russell Erxleben after a trade that sent Rick Patridge to the San Diego Chargers for a future draft choice.

The New York Mets promoted six players from their Triple-A Tidewater farm club to the major league roster effective Tuesday. They are right-handers Juan Berenguer and Mike Scott, center fielder Mookie Wilson and second baseman Wally Backman. Two other players, third baseman-outfielder Hubie Brooks and catcher

John Riggins, ninth leading rusher in NFL history, was retired by the Washington Redskins after he walked out of camp July 27 in a contract dispute. "We gave him every opportunity to decide to play football with the Redskins this season," a team spokesman said.

Darrell Waltrip will have the pole position for today's 31st running of the Southern 500, but Cale Yarborough, in the second position, and with four Darlington victories behind him, may be the man to beat.

Marshall Brant, power-hitting Columbus Clippers first baseman, was named the MVP of the International League while teammate Bob Kameymer was named MVP pitcher. Tommy Cruz, ex-Yankee, belted his 19th home run of the season Sunday to lead the Nippon Ham Fighters to a 3-0 victory over the Nankai Hawks in Japanese baseball. Markku Alen of Finland led from start to finish and won the Rally of the Thousand Lakes world championship auto racing event Sunday in Helsinki.

Nick Price captured the Swiss Open Golf Championship Sunday, setting a 72-hole course record while outdistancing a field that included American Johnny Miller by firing a six-under-par 66-267 while Miller was fifth at 273. Birds blank Angels to trim Yanks' lead to 1 1/2 games

BALTIMORE (AP) — Scott McGregor allowed three hits while beating California for the sixth consecutive time and pitched the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-0 victory over Angels Sunday. The triumph halted a slide by the Orioles, who started the day 2 1/2 games behind first place New York in the American League East after losing four of five previous games.

McGregor, 16-7, has won seven of his last nine eased out of trouble in the third inning after Rick Miller drew a leadoff walk and reached second when McGregor fielded Tom Donohue's sacrifice bunt and threw too late for force.

Mariners 1, Yankees 0
NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Milbourne's infield grounder scored Reggie Walton from third with the game's only run. Mario Mendoza's sacrifice advanced Walton to third, and Milbourne then hit a slow chopper toward second baseman Willie Randolph. Randolph was unable to field the ball cleanly, allowing Walton to score and Milbourne to reach first on the error.

Shane Rawley, 7-6, who gave up only one hit and struck out six in 32-3 innings of relief, was the winner.

Brewers 11, Tigers 6
DETROIT (AP) — Cecil Cooper, Don Money, Dick Davis and Gorman Thomas each belted home runs to power the Milwaukee Brewers to an 11-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers Sunday. Mike Caldwell and Reggie Cleveland, 9-8, combined on an eight-hitter as the Brewers won their second straight game following a seven-game losing streak.

The Brewers broke the game open in the fourth, as Sixto Lezcano hit a leadoff single, took second on Money's grounder and raced home on Jim Gantner's single. Charlie Moore singled, sending Gantner to third, and Jerry Ujdran Davis, who entered the game in the sixth after Lezcano was involved with a shouting match with Ujdran, hit his fourth homer of the season in the seventh for a 9-6 lead, and Thomas belted his 32nd of the year with Cooper aboard in the ninth for the Brewers' insurance runs.

Red Sox 5, A's 1
BOSTON (AP) — Rookie Glenn Hoffman drilled a two-run homer Sunday as the Boston Red Sox extended their winning streak to seven games with a 5-1 victory over the Oakland A's. Rookie southpaw John Tudor, 6-8, needed eighth-inning relief from bullpen ace Bob Stanley, who earned his 13th save, and 12th since July 29. Mike Norris, 18-8, was the loser.

Blue Jays 7, Twins 1
TORONTO (AP) — Lloyd Moseby and Alfredo Griffin hit two-run doubles in a five-run sixth-inning Sunday as the Toronto Blue Jays defeated the Minnesota Twins 7-1.

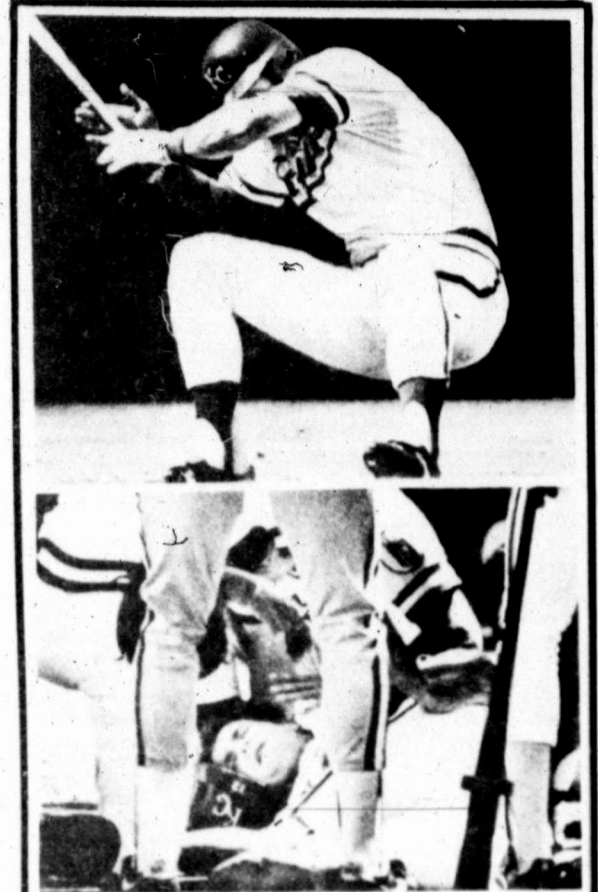

Jim Clancy, 13-10, threw a five-hitter to tie a club pitching record for most victories in a season. The right-hander struck out three and walked eight in registering his 11th complete game of the year. Jerry Koozman, 11-12, took the loss. The roof fell in on Koozman in the sixth when nine batters came to the plate.

Griffin extended his hitting streak to 18 games, a club record.

White Sox 10-8, Indians 9-7
CLEVELAND (AP) — Wayne Nordhagen rapped four hits and Ron Pruitt drove in two runs and scored another to spark the Chicago White Sox to an 8-7 victory and a sweep of their Sunday doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians.

In the first game, Chet Lemon hit an eighth-inning, three-run homer to highlight a five-run rally and boost the White Sox to a 10-8 triumph.

In the nightcap, Steve Trout pitched 6 2/3 strong innings to raise his record to 8-12, and Dewey Robinson and Ed Farmer pitched in relief with Farmer, gaining his second save of the day and 24th of the year. Chicago's Lamar Hoyt picked up the first game victory, his sixth in eight decisions. Harold Baines knocked in three runs with a double and sacrifice fly and Ed Farmer notched his 23rd save.

Kansas City's John Wathan falls away after being hit in the helmet by a pitcher from Rangers' Ken Clay. Wathan was carted away in a stretcher, but x-rays showed no serious injury. (AP Laserphoto)

White's single beats Rangers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Frank White singled to drive in Clint Hurdle in the bottom of the ninth inning and lift the Kansas City Royals to a 4-3 victory over the Texas Rangers Sunday.

"I've been a sucker for a high and fast ball. I just decided to look for a low pitch. And it just happened to be a fast ball down and over the plate," said White after drilling reliever Danny Darwin's first pitch into left center field for the game-ending hit.

It was the 11th game-winning hit for the Kansas City second baseman, second only on the team to George Brett's 12.

The victory enabled Kansas City to stretch its lead in the American League west to 20 games over the second-place Oakland A's. The Royals, finishing the season with a 10-3 advantage over the Rangers after splitting a four-game series, have not lost a series since July 2.

KANSAS CITY reliever Dan Quisenberry, 11-5, pitched the final 1-3 innings for the victory. Sparky Lyle, 3-2, took the loss.

The Royals' George Brett was held hitless in three at bats with a pair of walks as his major-league leading batting average slipped to .403.

Kansas City starter Paul Splittorff held Texas scoreless until the eighth when Billy Sample hit a two-run homer, his third of the year, and Richie Zisk lined a solo shot, his 19th of the year, to tie it.

White gave the Kansas City lead when he hit into a fielder's choice, stole second and scored on Willie Wilson's single in the second. The Royals added a run in the fourth on Rance Mulliniks' double, which followed a walk and stolen base by White.

In the fifth, Amos Otis drew a walk, stole second and came home on Quirk's single to make it 3-0.

Pooley gains first PGA win

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Don Pooley, following tradition by getting his first Professional Golfers' Association tour victory at the B.C. Open, fired a 3-under-par 68 Sunday to win the $275,000 tournament by a stroke over Peter Jacobsen.

Jacobsen shot 67, but started the final round two shots behind Pooley and was unable to make up ground. For the tournament, Pooley shot 13-under-par 271.

The first prize of $49,500 put him at nearly $150,000 in a year which he nearly missed because of lack of success in 1979. Jacobsen's share was $29,700.

Carner holds 2-stroke lead

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — JoAnne Carner carded a 69 Sunday to move into a 2-stroke lead over Nancy Lopez-Melton after a rain-delayed third round at the LPGA Rail Charity Golf Classic.

Carner's round included four birdies and one bogey and brought her 54-hole total to 11-under-par 205.

Lopez-Melton, who shot 71 with three birdies and one two bogeys, is back at 207. The two women will play in a threesome together as the chase for top prize in the $125,000 tournament winds up Monday over the 6,278-yard, par-72 Rail Golf Club in Springfield.

Sandra Palmer, Lori Garbacz and Connie Chillemi are tied for third at 6-under-par 210.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Guard your reputation in social situations, and be very discreet about past romantic involvements. There is absolutely no need for co-workers to know all about your private life!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Some personal plans could collide with the wishes of others today. A compromise is the best solution. More talk and less action may be the right formula to save a relationship. Play a waiting game.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): If traveling for business, be sure to double check schedules, reservations. People at a distance may be unpredictable. Look behind the surface if offered a deal that sounds "too good to be true."

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Tend to duties with extra care to avoid any misunderstandings. Pace may slow down considerably in afternoon, so some delayed results can be expected.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Try not to lend or borrow money from friends today. Budget cutbacks are necessary to curb expenses. New work methods will help you make up difference to boost profits.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Lawyer or accountant gives excellent advice regarding investment program. This is not a good time to sign agreements or contracts, but mate or romantic partner brings happy news.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Give full rein to creative impulses, but move slowly and carefully if someone should ask you to solve a mutual problem. Adjustments may have to be made regarding household budget.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Consultation with lawyer could avert legal action. The emphasis is on specifics concerning payments, collections, budget, and income. Neighbor or close friend proves to be a valuable ally.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A hectic day in which it is best to keep your nose to the grindstone. Routine tasks take on a greater importance. Travel arrangements may come under discussion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Handle money with great care. Speculation of all types must be avoided. Stick up for your rights and insist that others share the work load.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Some fortunate trends have a healthy impact on business and financial affairs during morning hours. Show extra consideration towards friend who has a personal problem.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Confidential matters require immediate attention. Now is the time to take the initiative where investments are concerned. Ask good friend to plan a special treat for the person who means the most to you.

♠A94 ♠AQ104 ♠K93 ♦8
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♦ Dble. Pass 1
Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—You have a useful hand, but remember that partner's response to your takeout double was forced and his strength is limited with 9-10 points, he would have jumped, and he could have a complete bust. Therefore, you can do no more now than raise to two hearts. That tells partner you have a better than minimum takeout double, and invites him to bid again if he is maximum.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J104 ♠K876 ♠A ♦98532
Partner opens the bidding with one spade. What do you respond?

A.—This is a reasonably good hand. However, it is a whit light for a response at the two level in clubs, but too good—and too unbalanced—to make the discouraging bid of one no trump. The obvious choice is a raise to two spades—and that applies whether you play four- or five-card majors.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J6 ♠AKJ72 ♠AJ62 ♦95
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—When you have a two suited hand, it is usually more important to tell partner about your shape than to let him know that you have a five-card major suit. Therefore, you should choose two diamonds as your rebid. If the diamond suit were unbidable and your hand were weaker, we would consider rebidding two hearts.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKQ6 ♠K98 ♠6 ♦J10872
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♥ 3 ♦ ?

What action do you take?

A.—East has made matters awkward with his preempt—but then, that's what he set out to do. There is no question that your side belongs in game, perhaps even in slam. Three hearts is an underbid, and either three spades, four clubs or four hearts could lead to an inferior contract. Probably the most versatile bid available to you is a cue-bid of four diamonds. That should, at least, get you to the best strain even if the level might not be high enough.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ10973 ♠AQ82 ♠KJ7
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 3 ♦ Pass 4 ♦ Pass 4 ♦ Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Even though partner did not cooperate with your slam effort, you should not abandon hope—he might still have the right cards to enable you to fulfill a small slam. Cue-bid five clubs. If partner shows some signs of life by cue-bidding either five hearts or five diamonds, we would venture six spades.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK6 ♠AK95 ♠J92 ♦A74
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Dble. Pass 1 ♦ 1 NT Pass Pass 2 ♦ ?

What action do you take?
A.—Pass. Quite likely you can defeat two spades because you have book in your own hand. However, you won't get rich by doubling two spades and, if either opponent has a singleton heart, you might rue a penalty double even if your partner contributes a trick to the defense—a possibility which is by no means certain.

Ship may be Spanish vessel

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A sunken treasure ship found off the Louisiana coast may be the flagship of a three-vessel Spanish flotilla driven off course by a hurricane in 1776, an archaeologist says.

Dr. Sherwood Gagliano of Baton Rouge said his research indicates the ship was the cargo vessel, El Constante, heading toward Havana, Cuba, with a load of goods from Mexico and South America.

He said some of the pottery brought up from the ship was made in the Philippines and then taken to Mexico.

"They look like they were some kind of early touristy junk," he told the Delta Chapter of the Louisiana Archaeology Society at a meeting Thursday.

Gagliano's company, Coastal Environments Inc., was hired to lead the excavation of the ship, discovered in July when a 100-pound copper ingot came up in a shrimp's trawl.

He said the El Constante and her sister ships were lost in a hurricane Aug. 21, 1776, and the wreck of the 40-foot vessel could have protruded from the water for a period of time. Local residents may have named a nearby bayou, Rio del Constante, after the wreck, Gagliano said.

The wooden vessel was discovered about 1 1/2 miles off southwest Louisiana's Cameron Parish by Gulf shrimpers Curtis Blume and Steve Smith during the winter of 1979.

The men have set up a company, the Free Enterprise Salvage Inc., with Lake Charles businessman John D. Bailey and Berry Brothers Construction Co. of Berwick, which will cooperate with the state in recovering articles from the ship.

Gagliano said the only thing holding up complete excavation of the site is a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers.

He said he is optimistic the permit will soon be issued, so excavation can begin within two weeks.

Peter Noone making a comeback

By the Associated Press

He isn't making a comeback, Peter Noone says. He's making a fresh start. For one thing, he's using his own name.

The last time that Noone, now 32, was traveling the rock 'n' roll hustings, it was as part of Herman's Hermits and everybody called him Herman.

Now, he has put together a band called Tremblers which had a debut record, "Twice Nightly," on Johnston Records, associated with Columbia.

Herman's Hermits hadn't been on the best-selling charts in America since 1970 when the group came to do an oldies tour in America in 1974. It shook him up to be on an oldies tour, Noone says, and he didn't like the fact the other jobs offered were to entertain older people in cabarets. He wanted rock 'n' roll or nothing, so he chose nothing.

He co-hosted a TV variety show in London and made two single records of David Bowie songs. Noone says he thought it was the start of a solo career for him. But one of the records was banned in England. The lyric, a fellow telling his mother he's in love and wants to settle down was interpreted as his saying he's in love with his mother.

Also, Noone didn't enjoy working solo. He came to realize he likes the energy of being part of a group. He's the driver of Tremblers, he says, but not the leader. When three of the five want to do something, that's the way it goes, he says. He may try to convince them of his way but without a "you're fired" threat behind it.

Noone has been married for 12 years to a French woman. In 1975, they moved near Cannes. "I spent a lot of time playing music for pleasure. I learned to play better guitar and piano, having nothing better to do. I'm not a beach person. I never sit in the sun; I just get sunburn," says the fair-skinned Noone, who has blond hair and blue eyes.

"I had a period of getting healthy again. The road is bad for your health. But I like the road. I'm a road freak. I missed it. That's all I'd ever done. I'd never had a natural job. I was in a man's situation at 15, making business decisions when guys are supposed to be worried about their homework and asking for a date.

"I went through a period when I never wanted to see the road again. I thought I'd like to be a businessman. The only business I knew was rock 'n' roll. So I'd have to get a job with a record company. That's why I went to Los Angeles in 1978."

But in Los Angeles, Noone went to hear a rock band and realized he wanted once again to be on that side of the record business. He thought about Mick Jagger, older than himself and still a Rolling Stone, and he started to put together Tremblers. He and his wife immediately moved to Los Angeles.

Herman's Hermits never lost money for a promoter, Noone says. "We weren't pretentious. Our music was never done with a sneer or a sly grin. We were always wide open. I think that's the basis of rock 'n' roll."

Asked whether he expects Tremblers to be successful, Noone says, "It will be. Definitely. We're a working band. We drive to the gigs. We're prepared. We play 11 songs the audience never heard. I never sweated as much in Herman's Hermits as I am now. We had 20 hits to do and they paid to see us.

make it louder."

Noone says, "The music of the '60s was light and fresh. There were all these cute English pop bands around. We were a '60s band and '60s people. We were never prepared to face any other decade. Now I'd like to think I'm an '80s person."

"In the '70s, music got a bit pretentious, all smoke bombs and going on airplanes. I thought rock 'n' roll bands should be amplifiers and fun. The '60s were great for me and the '80s are great so far. The '70s was not my decade."

"I went through a period when I never wanted to see the road again. I thought I'd like to be a businessman. The only business I knew was rock 'n' roll. So I'd have to get a job with a record company. That's why I went to Los Angeles in 1978."

But in Los Angeles, Noone went to hear a rock band and realized he wanted once again to be on that side of the record business. He thought about Mick Jagger, older than himself and still a Rolling Stone, and he started to put together Tremblers. He and his wife immediately moved to Los Angeles.

Herman's Hermits never lost money for a promoter, Noone says. "We weren't pretentious. Our music was never done with a sneer or a sly grin. We were always wide open. I think that's the basis of rock 'n' roll."

Asked whether he expects Tremblers to be successful, Noone says, "It will be. Definitely. We're a working band. We drive to the gigs. We're prepared. We play 11 songs the audience never heard. I never sweated as much in Herman's Hermits as I am now. We had 20 hits to do and they paid to see us.

Ron Ely doesn't plan to model himself after veteran Bert Parks

EDITORS NOTE — For the first time in 25 years, the Miss America Pageant has a new master of ceremonies. Ron Ely's mission is to suggest smooth and suave.

By PETER BOYER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ron Ely, the shiny new cornerstone of the Miss America redevelopment project, won't reflect many of the characteristics of the friendly, familiar institution he's replacing, Bert Parks.

Where Parks, emcee for the Miss America Pageant for 25 years, slipped occasionally into the carnal act, Ely's mission is to suggest smooth and suave. He won't be reviewing Parks' old tapes for helpful hints.

Ely hasn't even watched a Miss America Pageant lately.

"When I accepted the job, I realized that it had been a very long time since I'd seen one," Ely said. "But I feel quite confident that what I have will endure, that what I am will be sufficient to do the job."

When Parks was fired last winter, he became something of a national hero, just as an old landmark suddenly finds friends when it's about to be razed. Johnny Carson, on whose show Parks hadn't exactly been a regular, initiated a "Save Bert Parks" campaign.

Ely, known chiefly at the time as a former TV Tarzan, figured to emerge the heavy.

"I don't really see how I could be," Ely said the other day. "I wasn't involved in any of that. Bert Parks' option wasn't picked up. It's as simple as that. They wanted to update the pageant, contemporize it. It had nothing to do with his age."

"It's just that some of the hokey, vaudevilian quality has been eliminated. And, certainly, that was some of the consideration where Mr. Parks was concerned."

Perhaps regretting that last opinion, he added quickly, "But Mr. Parks' 25 years certainly can't be overlooked. He made a contribution."

Ely's own career has experienced a blooming of sorts since he was hired as host for the pageant, to be broadcast live by NBC at 10 p.m. EDT Sept. 6. "Face the Music," Ely's first go as a game show host, is one of the biggest syndicated TV hits of the season.

He trusts he will adapt to the beauty pageant business with similar ease.

"The Miss America pageant is a formula show in a sense, because it requires a certain element — the selection process," Ely said. "The host really just moves the show along, keeps it paced."

No more tips for Alabama

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — For a group that played for tips as recently as July 12, the four-piece band Alabama has done well.

One month after playing without salary, the band had the No. 1 song on the national country charts, a kick-up-your-heels piece called "Tennessee River."

Alabama, which has earned glowing reviews as one of the best country-rock groups to come along in several years, has played for tips in Myrtle Beach, S.C., every summer except for one during the past nine years.

"It was not as bad as it sounds," rhythm guitarist Randy Owen said in a telephone interview from Louisville, Ky., where the band was performing. "People from up and down the coast come to Myrtle Beach, so it was good exposure."

And, he recalled, sometimes the tips were extravagant. "Sometimes we got $100 to do one song," Owen said. "One time a lady gave us $100 to play 'Room Full of Roses.' She gave us another $100 to do it again and gave us another $100 to play it one more time."

"One guy promised us $10 if we would play 'Wildwood Flower' backwards. So we turned our backs to the audience and played it. He loved it."

The group, which got its name from the fact three of the members are from the Fort Payne, Ala., area, first received national attention with their song "My Home's in Alabama," which reached into the Top 20 early this year.

They signed with RCA Records in April after being turned down "by every label in Nashville" down through the years, Owen said. Three different times during the past 10 years they almost gave up the music business, but their perseverance is finally paying off.

"Our goal is to be country group of the year and have a No. 1 pop single," Owen said.

"We prefer to be country first and crossover second," he said. "We don't try to classify what we put out."

"I've always been a big fan of Credence Clearwater Revival. They had four-piece stuff like we do. They'd be doing this kind of music now."

Much of their music is rock-oriented three-part harmony, reminiscent of Credence Clearwater Revival's "Proud Mary." "Younger people see us and realize there's something to country music other than what Mom and Dad say," Owen said. "Tennessee River" is a simple song that younger people enjoy. It's a happy song about going to the river and fishing, that kind of thing.

Joe Jackson doesn't like life on road and public attention

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It wasn't a good day for rock star Joe Jackson.

At his best, the tall, 26-year-old native of Portsmouth, England, looks like a young, stretched-out Don Knotts. But as he sat under an umbrella at the deserted poolside area of his West Hollywood hotel, the gangly, Cockney-style magnetism he exudes on stage was gone.

He said he was feeling ill and looked it. He said he doesn't enjoy life on the road and the smothering public attention accorded rock stars — an attitude evident in some of the lyrics in his recent songs — and proceeded to prove that too, glaring menacingly at a young man who tried to take a snapshot from 15 feet away.

And things didn't improve any when he was asked about Spiv Rock, the name he coined for his act when he first burst on the American music scene less than two years ago.

Spiv is a British slang term for a petty criminal, the kind of lowlife that hangs around sleazy racetracks or tries to sell hot watches on city streets. And on his first two albums, Jackson portrayed himself in the smart-alecky rebel mold favored by many punk New Wave bands.

The self-taught pianist, singer and songwriter — who started his career playing in pubs at 16 — dressed in cheap black suits, porkpie hats and pointy white shoes. On the cover of his second album, "I'm the Man," he was pictured opening his suit coat surreptitiously to display a lining full of merchandise.

His music was perfectly in tune with the image — too much so, he now feels. But its peppy appeal was undeniable.
