Bush to join effort to 'crush' Carter

By GARTH JONES

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) -Texas Republicans begin a state convention today dedicated to the downfall of President Jimmy Carter on Nov. 4.

Joining them tonight and Saturday in efforts to keep Texas' key 26 elec-toral votes from going to Carter a second time will be George Bush, the vice presidential nominee and adopt-

Presidential nominee Ronald Reagan will be in San Antonio 10 days from now, part of a major campaign drive through South Texas. State GOP Chairman Chet Upham will rap the convention to order in midafternoon, standing in for Rep. Tom Loeffler, R-Texas, whose congressional duties kept him overtime in Washington.

Keynote speaker is Gov. Bill Clements, Texas' first Republican governor this century who says Carter's defeat is the prime aim of his admin-

Following Clements to the speakers stand will be former Texas Gov. John B. Connally, who lost his presidential nomination bid to Reagan and Bush. He and Clements have been teaming in an intensive grass roots campaign throughout Texas' non-urban areas.

"Texas has been the eye of the storm in every presidential election this century and it is the battleground against this time," Upham told the State Republican Executive Committee Thursday afternoon in a pre-convention meeting.

"We are going to have more operations going in Texas and more volunteers working than ever before," Upham promised. "We have a struc-ture in place that is better than it has ever been before in Texas," said Ernest Angelo, Midland, state campaign director for Reagan-Bush. In its Thursday meeting, the SREC did its part by opening party ranks to Cubans, Puerto Ricans and other Hispanic peoples who want to join the battle for Reagan-Bush.

Without dissent, the 62-member governing body voted to designate the National Hispanic Assembly of Texas as an ad hoc committee to work for

Unemployment figures down during August

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate edged down to 7.6 percent in August, signaling a slowing of the recession, but wholesale food prices surged upward for a second straight month to forewarn sharply higher supermarket costs, the government reported today.

In companion reports, the Labor Department said significant improvements in manufacturing for the first time this year helped lower the jobless rate from July's 7.8 percent rate.

Department analysts interpreted the unemployment dip as a positive sign that economic activity is improving following a sharp drop in output earlier this year. Unemployment has remained fairly stationary since May.

At the same time, however, the department said wholesale, or producer, food prices at the finished-goods level spurted 4.4 percent last month, the steepest increase in seven years. That jump followed a 3.8 percent rise in July. Government analysts attributed the large increase to the unusually hot and dry weather that has devastated crops and livestock throughout much of the Overall, wholesale prices jumped 1.5 percent in August, following a 1.7 percent increase in July. Last month's increase, if compounded over 12 months, would equal an annual rate of 20.2 percent. That compares with an actual increase of 14.6 percent increase in wholesale prices for the past year.

Department analysts said the higher food prices would be passed on to consumers at the retail level quite soon And further increases may be coming later this year, the department said, because wholesale food prices at an intermediate level of production jumped 9.7 percent in August, the largest rise in nearly six years. That increase will take longer to work its way up to the consumer level.

If there were a good sign in the producer price report, it is that prices for non-food items continued to moderate, suggesting an easing of inflation outside of the food sector.

Producer prices for non-food goods rose 0.7 percent in August, compared with a 1.1 percent increase in July.

The Labor Department refers to its wholesale prices report as the Producer Price Index for finished goods, which surveys items ready for sale at retail, such as an assembled car. The department also measures prices for goods at an intermediate stage, such as rolled steel, and at a crude stage, such as iron

The Producer Price Index stood at 249.0 in August, meaning that it cost $249 last month for a basket of goods and services that cost $100 in the 1967 base

The number of unemployed people in the country dropped by nearly 200,000 in August to 8 million, while non-farm employment as reported by businesses rose by 200,000, the first increase since February.

The jobless rate among workers in manufacturing industries, which were hit hardest by the economic slump, fell a full percentage point to 9.3 percent after rising steadily throughout the year.

In another sign of economic improvement, the government said the average work week in the manufacturing sector rose by 30 minutes, the first increase since January. "As best as we can tell, this is some kind of an indication that things seem to be looking up," said Deborah Klein, a Labor Department employment analyst.

Janet L. Norwood, commissioner of the the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said in testimony prepared for the Joint Economic Committee of Congress today that "the labor market deterioration which occurred early this year has, at least temporarily, abated."

"Today's figures confirm the improvement in labor market indicators which I reported to you on Aug. 1," Mrs. Norwood said. She noted that the sharp rise in wholesale food prices "suggests that retail prices will be higher in the months ahead," but she said she was encouraged by the "dampened price increases" for non-food items at every stage of production.

Carter courts Jewish community

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has told America's Jews that the seeds of trust sown by his administration upon the deserts of the Mideast already have flowered into the only peace ever known by Israel, and "We will stay the course, no matter how difficult.

"I cannot assure you we will always agree with every position taken by the government of Israel," the president said Thursday night in an address to B'nai B'rith. "But whatever differences arise, they will neves affect our commitment to a secure Israel.' Carter was received warmly but without jubilation by the Jewish service organization, as he defended policies which Ronald Reagan and John B. Anderson had attacked before the same audience.

Reagan, the Republican candidate. had said a night earlier that Carter put Israel in danger with weak and confusing policies. Anderson, who appeared just hours before the president, said Carter was using the Mideast for political purposes.

Reagan, campaigning in the South on Thursday, also accused the Carter administration of playing fast and loose with national security for political gain. In Jacksonville, Fla., Reagan said the president's political operatives had engineered leaks about the "Stealth" project to thwart enemy radar, thereby breaching one of the biggest military secrets "since the Manhattan Project."

Anderson, meanwhile, received financial news which could boost his bid to become a major contender this fall. The Federal Election Commission ruled 5 to 1 that the independent challenger is entitled, retroactively, to a share of public funds if he gets at least 5 percent of the vote Nov. 4. Presumably, that at least will help him borrow between now and then.

The president told the B'nai B'rith convention Jerusalem should remain undivided with free access to the holy

"I was there searching for peace in the city of peace. My prayers were answered in the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty," he said. "We will make certain that the future of Jerusalem can only be determined through agreement - with the full concurrence of Israel."

Israel's insistence that Jerusalem is its permanent capital caused the Israeli-Egyptian peace talks to foun-der. The agreement to resume them was reached only Wednesday.

"Once again we have found a way to move towards peace," Carter said. "The talks will resume. And I will personally join in the search for peace - if necessary in a summit meeting, which Prime Minister (Menachem) Begin and I discussed this morn-

In his speech to B'nai B'rith a day earlier, Reagan had said Carter refuses to brand the Palestine Liberation Organization a terrorist group. With-out alluding to the charge, the presi-

"We oppose an independent Pales-tinian state — and unless and until the PLO recognizes Israel's right to exist and accepts (United Nations) Resolution 242, we will neither recognize nor negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization. As I have repeatedly stated, it is long past time for an end to terrorism."

U.N. Resolution 242 guarantees Israeli security, but at the same time calls for Israel's withdrawal from occupied territory.

At one point, Carter departed from his text to declare that "We have never threatened to slow down or cut off aid to Israel and I can assure you that we never will.

Permit pushes construction rate above 'magic' mark

Mack Sellers of Castle Construction walked into City Hall Thursday afternoon to take care of some business matters. When he left, the Inspections and Permit Department was in an uproar.

By taking out a permit about 1 p.m. to build a $66,000 house at 2900 Wydewood, Sellers put the total amount of construction in Midland this year over that magic figure of $100 million. It was only two weeks ago that Midland broke last year's record of $94 million. Sellers' permit pushed the total to $100,017,635.

There are almost four months left in the year and considering the rapid rise in building permits this year, few people are willing to lay bets on where the final figure will stop.

This should boost Midland's economic indicators higher than they have ever been, despite the recession in the rest of the nation. Local economists have cited a rise in housing construction because of an increasing number of persons moving to Midland Midland Park Mall has contributed its share to the construction figure this year.

And the numerous high-rise and smaller office buildings going up around the city have boosted the figure to its $100 million mark. In fact, noted one person in the Permits Department, one high-rise office building has not been issued a permit on its main structure - only on the foundation. This should help put the year's total far above the dreams anyone could have had at the opening of this year.

Section of Midkiff to be closed

Drivers who traverse Midkiff Road between Illinois Avenue and Storey Avenue will have to find an alternate route come Monday.

The contractor hired by the city of Midland will begin work on rebuilding that section of Midkiff. The entire project will eventually include rebuilding Midkiff up to Golf Course Road, according to Fred Baker, director of

During the time this road work is being done, Baker said the intersection of Illinois Avenue and Midkiff Road will be removed and rebuilt. "The intersection will remain opened as long as possible to reduce traffic delays to vehicles using Illinois Avenue," he explained.

After this section of Midkiff from Illinois to Storey is completed, work will be suspended until after Jan. 1 to allow access for persons shopping in the Town and Country Shopping Center area.

Rebuilding of Midkiff will involve tearing out the existing road. Instead of the present 1½-inch asphalt and 6-inch base, the street will be deepened for a 12-inch base and 8-inch asphalt top, Baker said. The increased depth will allow the street to handle increasing loads of traffic.

Summer hanging on in Basin

September usually signals the be-ginning of fall, but apparently Mother Nature is going to let Midlanders enjoy summer weather awhile

Skies should be partly cloudy this weekend with the mercury climbing into the middle 90s, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. Overnight low Saturday should be in the low 70s.

The high Thursday of 92 was slightly cooler than the record reading of 99 set on that date in 1937. And today's overnight low of 66 was 10 degrees above the record low of 56 set in

Date reportedly set for new Middle East summit

By The Associated Press

Authoritative Egyptian sources say President Carter will bring President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin together in Washington for a summit meeting beginning Nov. 20, but there was no confirmation from the White House.

The sources, who declined to be identified, said the United States proposed they meet 16 days after the U.S. presidential election for the top-level attempt to conclude the deadlocked negotiations on a plan for autonomy for the 1.2 million Palestinians in territories Israel captured in the 1967 war. Begin and Sadat agreed to the date, the sources said.

Begin is planning a separate visit to Carter the week after the election during a private visit he is to make to the United States. A presidential spokesman said Carter learned of the trip during a telephone conversation with the Israeli leader Thursday and invited him to the White House.

Carter told a meeting of labor leaders in Washington that Begin telephoned to congratulate him on the success of his Mideast envoy, Sol Linowitz, in getting Egypt's agreement to resume the autonomy nego tiations with Israel and the United States. In a surprise announcement in Alexandria Wednesday, Linowitz said Israel and Egypt agreed to resume the negotiations within a few weeks and to hold a summit meeting with Carter after the U.S. election.

Sadat suspended the autonomy talks last month and proposed a summit after the Israeli Parliament adopted a controversial law declaring state for foreign affairs, said after Linowitz's announcement that the talks prior to the summit meeting would be "preparatory talks" only and not a "resumption of negotiations" on the autonomy plan. He said substantive negotiations cannot resume until Israel modifies its stand on East Jerusalem and freezes the expansion of Jewish settlements on occupied Arab territories. But Linowitz, after meeting with Ghali Thursday, insisted the talks would deal with autonomy issues, and State Department spokesman John Trattner said in Washington they will not be talks about talks. They are substantive."

Depression in Gulf may get stronger

MIAMI (AP) - A tropical depress ion in the Gulf of Mexico that churned toward the Louisiana coast may strengthen as it moves over the warm waters, forecasters say.

Meanwhile, forecasters were keeping close watch on a tropical depression that formed off the African coast

At 6 a.m. EDT, the center of the Gulf depression was located less than 100 miles south of the Louisiana coast and nearly 200 miles southeast of Galveston, Texas.

It was moving to the west about 10 mph and is expected to continue on that path for the next 24 hours, officials of the National Hurricane Center here said. Highest sustained winds

The disturbance could become a tropical storm, forecaster Gil Clark said, if it continues along its current westward path across the warm Gulf waters. The Hurricane Center has warned small craft from Biloxi, Mississippi to Port Arthur, Texas to remain in port.

A second depression, with maximum winds of 35 mph, was located just west of the Cape Verde Islands and was moving westward at 15

"It has the potential to develop into a (tropical) storm - it's got the whole Atlantic ahead of it," Lawrence said of the Cape Verdes depression. "But it couldn't be any farther away from the United States than it is.

Some of the most vicious storms of the Atlantic hurricane season, which peaks in late August and early September, have formed off the Cape Verdes. A depression becomes a tropical storm when its sustained winds reach 39 mph. A hurricane has winds of 74 mph or more.

Meanwhile, a depression about 200 miles north-northeast of Puerto Rico had weakened by Thursday evening into a disorganized area of cloudiness and showers, forecaster Joe Pelissier said. The Hurricane Center had said earlier this week that depression appeared likely to attain tropical storm status, but its maximum winds reached only about 35 mph.

Entrapment will be Clayton's Brilab defense

HOUSTON (AP) - Defense attorneys for Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton plan to ask prospective jurors in the upcoming Brilab trial if they believe entrapment is a valid defense for a public official accused of accepting a bribe.

Austin attorneys Roy Minton and Charles Burton filed a list of proposed questions Thursday they say they want U.S. District Judge Robert Conor to ask when jury selection begins next week.

Do you agree with the proposition that government inducement to commit an offense may include persuasion, fraudulent representations and pleas based on need, sympathy or friendship?" one proposed question

The attorneys also want O'Conor to ask jurors if they "believe that elected public officials ought to be held to much stricter legal standards than ordinary people.

Other proposed questions asked if jurors "believe that most people who give big political contributions expect special favors for themselves," And if jurors "believe that whether they like it or not, politicians have to accept big contributions if they are to have a chance to get elected

Clayton and Austin attorneys Randall B. Wood and Donald W. Ray were indicted June 12 of federal extortion, racketeering, fraud and conspiracy charges.

The Indictment alleges Clayton accepted a $5,000 bribe from Deer Park Labor leader L.G. Moore to help secure a multimillion-dollar state employees health insurance contract. Prosecutors allege Moore also offered Clayton an additional $600,000. Clayton has acknowledged accepting the money, but said it was a "political contribution" that he intended to return Moore and FBI informant Joseph Hauser, posing as an insurance man, reopen the state contract for bids. Moore also was indicted on extortion, racketeering, fraud and conspiracy charges on June 12.

bustling around. In the den, which was decked out with an old "Magic Circle" wash board and Old Whittemore cotton corders and other rustic and country items, some of the "younger women" were busily quilting: Eula Lea, 81; Icie Davis, 76, and Eva Pearl Moore, 72.

Mrs. Cooper was slowly stirring

"There ain't no one who has had as much fun in the same length of time that I have," she assured her listener and herself.

She reflected on her past.

"My husband (Thomas Franklin Cooper) was more of a cowboy than a farmer," she said. "Horses was what he fooled with. Of course, he farmed some, but he liked the other the best. He was one of them kind who always had a 'ready word.' "

T.F. Cooper has been "gone" about 14 years.

Mrs. Cooper's dear friend, Mrs. Cole, was quick to respond with a witty "ready word."
"You know," she said, "that Arkansas is the only state mentioned in Didn't know that

"Noah looked out of the 'ark and saw,' " she quipped.'

What the women were doing at Mrs. Allen's home in west-central Midland was for a good deed unto themselves and others. Their quilting, piecing, crocheting and home sewing-room chores - on Tuesdays throughout the year - are to make knick-knacks and quilts for sale to raise money for SAM - Senior Adult Ministry of the Nazarene Church. The SAM women's handiwork is being sold piecemeal today and Saturday at the Dellwood Shopping Mall.

Here's the payoff: the funds from the sale will pay their expenses to the Nazarene International Retreat of Golden Agers at Glorieta, N.M., in mid-September.

The older women do have some helpmates in their cause. One is George Hughes, a 75-year-old retired salesman who is the gals' "professional driver." Another is a bona fide youngster, Barbara Rice, 28. She has been helping some SAM women out. One of her chores was in posting signs about the sale over much of the city. But for the moment, she was stranded - without a car to get around.

"We ain't got no way to get around," she said.

"We'll go walking," suggested Mrs. "Baloney," reponded the youngster. "These feet weren't made for walking." Mrs. Cole, like the other pleasantlyaging SAM members, is delighted to be walking around, particularly at 'There ain't nobody going to catch me," she said. "They broke the mold when they made me. 'Thank goodness," jested Ms.

Appearing before a special session parliament, Premier Jozef Pinkowski pledged that his government would raise wages, freeze meat prices and increase consumer goods in hopes of improving living standards.

His remarks came during a twohour speech before the Seim, or parliament, in which he outlined the government's plans for implementing the controversial settlements negotiated with striking workers in the Baltic region and the Silesian coalfields. The last of the strikers returned to work today.

Pinkowski said that "for the sake of social and national good" the governent would implement agreements made with striking workers ending weeks of labor unrest.

We expect from the crews of those factories and works (which struck) that they will also keep their promises, particularly, making up production losses," Pinkowski said. His speech was reported by the official PAP news agency.

Pinkowski said meat prices whose doubling last July triggered the labor crisis - would be frozen until next fall, effective immediately. There was no indication at what level the prices would be frozen.

Water deliveries behind '79

BIG SPRING — At the end of June water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District were running 3.56 percent behind the previous year. Then came unprecedented municipal demands in July and August and the system is now 4.82 percent ahead of last year, according to figures compiled by the district.

The water district provides water from Lake Spence as a backup system during the summer.

During August, CRMWD delivered 1.93 billion gallons of water, or 16.6 percent more than in August 1979. In July it had delivered 2.263 billion gallons, a gain of 32.61 percent, the figures show. For the two months, the total was 4.193 billion gallons, the best two back-to-back months on record. Through seven months, CRMWD deliveries stood at 11.892 billion gallons.

Oil companies had reduced deliveries as a conservative measure. Through August, oil company demands amounted to 1.223 billion gallons, or 792 million gallons less than for the same period a year ago. In 1976 when there were no restrictions on oil companies, the district delivered 4.423 billion gallons during the first seven months.

In August, the figures show Midland used 411 million gallons, up 4.93

Safety devices to be required in gas space heaters

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government will require safety devices in an inexpensive type of heater that has been blamed for dozens of carbon monoxide deaths.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission voted 3 to 2 this week to require that unvented gas space heaters made after June 15, 1981, have devices that shut the heaters off automatically when carbon monoxide reaches hazardous levels.

The heaters now average about $180 and the devices will add $10 to $17.50 to that, the commission staff said.

The carbon monoxide problem does not exist for vented heaters because they carry away the carbon monoxide that is produced by combustion.

The commissioners were not sure that manufacturers could produce heaters with the required device by the effective date, but set the deadline anyway to prod manufacturers to develop the shutoff devices.

"If we keep the heat on, then we are most likely to get progress," Commissioner Stuart Statler said.

Commissioner Edith Barksdale Sloan asserted: "Right now we are permitting sales of devices that we know are dangerous. At some point, we have to say, 'You no longer can produce this product.'"

Commission staff members have linked gas from the heaters to 73 deaths in five years through carbon monoxide poisoning or asphyxiation.

The safety device is not available now on unvented heaters sold in the United States, but staff members said it probably will be developed and tested in time for the deadline. If not, the heaters would be banned unless the commission later approves an Commissioners Sam Zagoria and David Pittle voted against the redecided later, after more information is available about the safety devices.

"Testing on these devices will be finished in February," Pittle said. "I would like to wait until then to see if they work before requiring them.'

Fate of the flame

Unbelievable as it may seem, a blow seems to have been struck in recent weeks in Poland for the cause of workers' rights and basic human freedoms.

The strikes there by shipyard workers and later by Polish coal miners wrested from the Communist Party in Poland concessions unlike any seen before. Deputy Premier Aleksander Kopec termed the agreement with the striking coal miners "an act of historical importance." That it was.

Workers in Poland now truly can claim rights previously unknown and unenjoyed by their counterparts in any Soviet bloc nation.

The coal miners gained an agreement promising an end to weekend work shifts, safety improvements and better pay. Shipyard workers in northern Poland earlier had been promised by the Communist Party a new labor law granting them the right to strike and to organize free, independent trade unions.

While our initial reaction is to herald the newfound liberties granted Polish workers by the government in that nation, there is a basic feeling of skepticism that's hard to ignore. After all, the communist record on keeping promises is not a good one, dating back to Lenin's revolutionary vow that the people would have "bread and freedom." Little of either, history attests, has been forth-

And, of course, there's the question of the other Soviet satellite states. Surely as the workers in the other states learn of the freedoms granted to Polish workers, they, too, will demand more. Is the Soviet Union prepared to grant the same freedoms to the other satellite states? And what of the workers in Russia? Surely they would want similar conditions.

Then there is the matter of the addictive nature of freedom. Like the old saying goes, "How you going to keep 'em down on the farm, once they've seen the

Now Polish workers have some freedoms, some rights. Soon they'll likely want more freedoms, more rights. They'll make demands for those privileges,

The events of recent weeks in Poland, it goes without saying, hold the potential to set the entire Soviet empire ablaze with either change or renewed repression.

Only the future will disclose the fate of that spark of freedom ignited by Poland's workers amid the shackles of communism.

Arthur Jones not tied by civilization's mores

Some people manage to avoid being corrupted by civilization. They are the people who can look reality in the face and survive the experience. Arthur Jones is one of them.

If you could find Lake Helen, Fla. which is a small town 30 miles or so north of Orlando, and if Jones were there and not flying his jet, and if he would see you, you would be in for a number of surprises.

You would, for example, eventually find yourself in a long room with a concrete floor where both walls are stacked high with cages containing very large and healthy specimens of poisonous snakes, scorpions, and spiders. Jones is trying to see how large he can grow poisonous snakes. He has one rattlesnake which weighs a bit over 21 pounds which is 50 percent larger than the biggest liar has ever claimed to have seen. He also has a collection of crocodiles and deadly

Now, if you are thinking that Jones is an eccentric hermit, you are mistaken. Also at Lake Helen, you would find the world headquarters of Jones multi-million business.

He is the inventor and manufacturer of the Nautilus exercise machines on which most of the professional football teams train. He has been called a mechanical genius and he must be, for his machines have been spectacularly successful not only in weight training but in the rehabilitation of orthopedic injuries.

But there is more at little Lake Helen. There is a fantastic complex of television production facilities. In fact, when the last set is completed in 1982, Nautilus will have the largest and most modern television production facility in the world with nine studios and more advanced gadgetry than you can find at any network.

Nautilus already employs about 70 people and is working around the world producing shows in the areas of sports, medicine and physiology. So now you think you have the picture. Arthur Jones is your typical business tycoon with a hobby of collecting animals. Sorry, wrong again. Arthur Jones has been shot, stabbed, axed, mauled by a lion. He has survived assorted crashes of assorted vehicles and airplanes into assorted obstacles. He has flown in over 53 countries. He has fought in wars, declared and undeclared, for principle and for money. He has been a film maker, pilot, animal importer and several other things in several places, but mostly in Africa and Latin America. He has killed a number of men and even more animals and it is all written on his face. You would never mistake Arthur Jones for a Wall Street banker and, if you have any experience with that small breed of dangerous people, you would never pick a fight with him.

I wasn't kidding when I said he had been uncorrupted by civilization. Jones carries with him none of the baggage of fears, inhibitions, rules, customs, old beliefs and superstitions most of us pack about. He is one of the few truly free men I have ever met.

Not that he is the kind of man you would seek out if you were feeling low and wanted to be cheered up. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale would probably commit suicide after an hour with Jones. If there is a man who professes to have a lower opinion of the human species or a bleaker view of the future, I have yet to find him.

"You want to see the future?" Jones says in his typical snarl. "Go to Calcutta. That's the future."

"There are two scenarios - one good and one bad," he says. "The good one is that we push the button first and the bad one is that they push it first."

"The only things in life that are worthwhile are younger women, faster airplanes, and bigger croco-

Jones is a duplicate of his favorite author, Mark Twain - an idealist with no illusions. He sees people and the world as they are, but he knows how they could be He knows because he is that way. I will probably be barred from the premises for suggesting there is a decent bone in his battered body, but there is a primeval integrity about the man. He is one of only two men I've known on whose casual word I would bet my life and sleep soundly.

INSIDE REPORT:

Carter passes out guns, but holds back on the bullets

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - While publicly taking a tough election-campaign stance on defense, President Carter has privately ordered a delay in one of the most sensitive areas of national policy: an overdue increase in the production of nuclear explosives for warheads to power America's expanding arsenal. In response to Ronald Reagan's tough rhetoric, the president has given maximum publicity to the new 'Stealth" aircraft and the new nuclear targeting policy to show progress against Soviet power. The delay over expanding nuclear fuel production suggests procrastination in hopes that the Soviet threat will somehow ease. That raises questions about how much the Carter team's view of the Kremlin really has changed.

This other face of the administration's defense policy also points to an election-year political dilemma. The delay in nuclear explosives production betrays a fear that expanded production would antagonize the antinuclear and environmental lobbies. But the delay itself generates fear about the reaction of defense-oriented congressmen.

That second fear was reflected in a "top secret" directive on Aug. 7 signed by Zbigniew Brzezinski, Carter's national security adviser. The tip-off was this instruction: "All responses to press inquiries about special nuclear materials should be low-key and ... limited."

Brzezinski's memorandum went to the secretaries of state and defense, the CIA director and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It informed them that "a formal ... decision" to expand nuclear fuel production will be "deferred" until an international conference on nuclear proliferation in Geneva has ended. That will not be for weeks.

The decision to delay means the detentists have won the backstage debate between them and the defense community, a debate waged in Congress and within the administration. Their victory means in essence that there is a high probability of running out of nuclear explosives for the new weapons systems. The administration is authorizing rifles but not the bullets they can fire

The "bullets" necessary were spelled out last spring in a classified document written by the Joint Chiefs of Staff for Secretary of Defense Harold Brown, setting production targets for new weapons-grade materials. These targets were required by Carter's recent decisions to build the MX mobile missile and the Trident II submarine-launched missile and most important - to put warheads on new nuclear weapons for Europe to compete with existing Soviet sys-

"Carter has approved these new systems with much fanfare," one defense expert told us, "but the delay in new production of weapons-grade fuel does not give the Joint Chiefs a Chinaman's chance in hell to put warheads on them.

In its report on the authorization bill for the production of warhead fuels last May, the House Armed Services Committee said that Carter was planning major new nuclear weapons for which there would be no explosives. "Is there a commitment to a nuclear weapons program?" the committee asked Pentagon officials have tried to argue this case in congressional testimony short of publicly breaking with the White House. On June 18, James P. Wade, Brown's assistant for atomic energy, testified cautiously that "additional resources" are needed. Congress has been unsuccessfully pressing Carter for several years to gear nuclear plants in Hanford and Richland, Wash., for production of modern, weapons-grade nuclear fuel. But when, after months of procrastination, Carter finally took the lead in modernizing NATO nuclear weapons and ordered full-speed on the MX and Trident missiles, defense-oriented congressmen believed the impasse was broken.

Brzezinski's directive makes clear they were wrong. It revealed that a July 24 session of the Presidential Review Committee formally decided to defer new production facilities. The directive went on to warn that

'responses to press inquiries ... should be low-key and limited to the following points: Present production is "adequate for the near term" "long-term requirements are under review but are difficult to predict"; if higher production is needed "appro-

In yet another gesture to politics, the directive orders that all responses to congressional inquiries "should be cleared" by the Defense and Energy Departments, the NSC and the Office of Management and Budget. Having put the development of "Stealth" on the network news, Jimmy Carter wants to keep his other defense face shrouded from public view.

The statement now reads: "We have no credible evidence to indicate that any U.S. servicemen are alive in captivity and being held against their will in Southeast Asia." RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) - War clouds gathered swiftly over the placid French Riviera in that early autumn of 1939.

When Senegalese troops set up road blocks along the Corniche, William Somerset Maugham knew that the end of his inflexible well-ordered life at Villa Mauresque was at hand (breakfast tray with newspapers at 8, bathe, go over menus with cook, write in den until 12:45, cold dry martini followed by lunch, nap at 2:30, then golf, tennis or correspondence depending on the weather, dinner at 8, preceeded by another cold, dry martini...)

On Sept. 1, Germany invaded Poland. Jean, the chauffueur, was called up by the French army. Ernest, the butler, returned to Switzerland for mobilization. The harbormaster at Villefranche ordered all foreign yachts to leave, as air raid wardens patrolled the docks, blowing their whistles if a light shone through a porthole. One day Maugham saw an anti-aircraft battery nestled in the rocks at Cape Ferrat, and soon after soldiers were bivouaced on the golf course at Nice. There were rumors all winter long and stronger still by spring that the Italians would occupy the Riviera. On June 4, the evacuation at Dunkirk was completed. Two days later, Francois, the gardner, wept as Premier Paul Reynard announced on the radio that France had accepted defeat. Maugham wept too. He went to see John Taylor, the British consul at Nice, and was told all 1,300 British residents on the Riviera were to be evacuated. Two coal barges, the Saltersgate and the Ashcrest, entered the harbor at Cannes to receive the expatriate refugees.

Maugham took one last look at his art collection, locked the door to the writing room, packed the one suitcase he was allowed to take on board and chose three books from his library. What were the three books?

Ted Morgan, who gives this fascinating vignette (and many others) of a famous author at a crisis time in history in his splendid "Maugham, a Briography" tells us Maugham chose:

Ever since reading this anecdote, I have been wondering what books I would choose from the rickety bookcases here at Hardscribble House (a time ever came for me to board a coal barge in Norwalk Harbor and head for the hills or a refugee camp or a nuclear shelter or whatever the crisis

I think I would leave Plato behind. He gave me enough trouble in second year Greek back in Cathedral College in Brooklyn and could not become at this late date a boosom buddy in exile. "Henry Esmond" is among the missing. He was borrowed one day by a neighbor's daughter who came to pick weeds and never returned the garden shears either. And, winding up Maugham's list, refugee life no doubt will have terrors enough in store for me without inviting any of the Bronte sisters along.

My first choice among books to salvage from the sudden wreckage of life's well-ordered routine, to begin a new life with, to carry off to war or exile or wherever would be my old college edition of Shakespeare, the one put out by Scribner's and edited by Thomas Marc Parrot of Princeton University. It not only contains all 23 plays (which confinement in a camp or nuclear shelter will finally provide time to read in toto) and all the sonnets but has excellent, informative, delightfully readable notes, asides and dissertations on Shakespeare' London, Shakespeare's theater, acting companies of the day, etc.

Next, for pure escape in a place where there probably will be no other means of escape, I would tuck the Complete Sherlock Holmes into my single alloted suitcase. Life had gifted me with a poor memory where plots are concerned, so even though I've probably read all the stories a half dozen times or more I approach each as if for the first time, never knowing in advance what singular thing the dog did or said in the night time in "Silverblaze" or what dastardly fate befell the Norwood builder. The great detective has seen me through many a long plane ride, boring weekend, bout of insomnia and similar crisis, and he will be most welcome fellow passenger on that coal barge to destiny. What better way to face a new adventure, to turn the key and lock up the past than in excited contemplation of the problem of Thor Bridge or the disappearance of Lady Frances

Finally, to let me know that things could be worse, to help me find the courage to endure whatever is to come at the end of that uncertain journey, to remind me what depths of repression and heights of heroism man is capable of, I would reverently lift from the shelf the entire series or as much as my carryall could carry of Solzhenitsyn's "The Gulag Archipela-

Wino may be 'better nourished' than businessman, psychologist says

MONTREAL (AP) - The streetcorner wino who lives on a steady diet of alcohol is often better nourished than the businessman who lunches on martinis, steak, vegetables and cake, says psychologist Saul Miller.

'The businessman is consuming very rich food — what I call 'ex-treme' food — and a steady diet of meats, alcohol and sweets could be worse than the wino's steady diet of alcohol," Miller told a meeting of the American Psychological Association on Wednesday.

"Extreme food leads to extreme behavior," he said.

The wino's diet is not much healthier, Miller added, but at least he is not exposing his system to the socalled extreme foods.

Miller, 38, teaches psychology at Mississippi State University. A native of Montreal, he said he consumed his share of beer, marijuana and junk foods when he attended McGill University in the early 1960s.

He said he also used to smoke cigarettes and drink scotch and still indulges in "the occasional glass of wine." But he said he keeps to a strict diet of vegetables, salad, bread and

Reagan called the disclosure a "grievous blow" to national security and said it gave the Soviet Union a 10-year head start to find ways to nullify the new U.S. technology, which he said would not be ready until Brown, in testimony on Capitol Hill Thursday, said press reports about the technology, known as "Stealth," made it impossible to keep it secret any longer.

Reagan charged that Brown "has breached one of the nation's most closely held military secrets in a transparent attempt to divert attention from the administration's dismal defense record.

Carter seeks Jewish vote

- In a two-pronged appeal for the political support of American Jews, President Carter is emphasizing his personal role in the search for Middle East peace and portraying Ronald Reagan as a threat both to Israel and liberal causes.

In a speech Thursday night to a convention of B'nai B'rith, the Jewish Service organization, Carter said, "Our course in the Middle East has brought the first real peace that region has known in the 32 years of Israel's existence.

The president spoke 24 hours after Reagan told the same audience that the very existence of Israel is endangered by the foreign and domestic policies of the Carter administration.

And earlier on the same day Carter spoke, independent presidential candidate John B. Anderson told B'nai B'rith that the administration's announcement on Wednesday of the impending resumption of Middle East negotiations between Israel and Egypt "smacks of campaign rhetoric.

Hoffman returns with one-liners

NEW YORK (AP) - Abbie Hoffman, once the clown prince of the Yippies, emerged from an open but fugitive existence with one-liners, a commitment to "coalition politics" and a plea for Americans to "stick to your principles.

The former anti-war radical said he was "excited, exhausted and enthusiastically optimistic. ... I am not coming back cynical, disillusioned," he Hoffman turned himself in Thursday to the state's special narcotics prosecutor after six years as a fugitive wanted on cocaine charges and bail jumping. Judge Milton Williams freed him without bail.

For the past four years, he had lived in upstate New York as Barry Freed, a free-lance writer and St. Lawrence River environmental activist who once took his cause before a U.S. Senate subcommittee.

Hoffman, a Chicago Seven defendant and founder of the Youth International Party, or Yippies, whose antics made him one of the bestknown protesters of the 1960s, dismissed suggestions that his reappearance was a publicity stunt to promote his new book, "Soon to be a Major Motion Picture.'

Hoffman, 43, said he was simply tired of running.

'I was scared every day. I was a hunted animal. I never looked a policeman in the eye," he said.

Other reasons for his surrender, he said, were that his son America, also known as Allen, had visited him this summer and was back in school, that his lawyer was free to take his case and that attitudes had changed toward cocaine since his arrest.

He had jumped bail in 1974 rather than face trial and possible life imprisonment on charges of selling cocaine to undercover officers

Hoffman spent most of his fugitive years as Freed in Fineview, N.Y., a tiny community in the Thousand Islands area of the St. Lawrence River.

Quakes rock volcano area

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) - A swarm of small earthquakes that shook an area near Mount St. Helens was not necessarily caused by the volcano, officials said today.

Five quakes occurred in a nine-minute period starting at 8:45 p.m. Thursday, said A.B. Adams, a spokesman for the University of Washington Geophysics Department. They were centered about two miles deep in the Elk Lake area about eight miles northwest of the volcano.

'They were definitely not volcanic - at least at this time that's what we're saying," Adams said. One earthquake measured 2.5 on the Richter scale - the largest quake since July 23 — said Adams. There was another small earthquake in the same area this morning, six minutes after midnight, he said.

He said the quakes "probably" were not related to a deformation detected on the volcano Thursday. Scientists measured an almost imperceptible movement, about 2 centimeters a day, which could spell an eruption-in-the-making, officials said.

were times to turn people against each other, Hoffman said the '80s were times for "coalition politics" to bring people together.

"Abbie Hoffman would not have disagreed or done anything different than Barry Freed did," he said. "And Barry Freed would not have disagleed with or done anything different than Abbie Hoffman did.'

During his double life, Hoffman said he learned that people should "stick to your principles.

"There were too many people of the '60s turned sour in the '70s turned rich in the '80s ... I am well aware that I am entering an age of cynicism. I want to change that."

In an upcoming magazine article, Hoffman said he hated the "schizophrenia" of his double life. "I have visions of my tombstone with several names on it," he wrote in the October issue of Quest-80. He had several close calls, and once was arrested when he failed to pay a hotel bill.

He also missed the funeral of his father, who died three weeks after he went underground. "We never really made our peace, although we had tried. He was a conservative. Republican kind of businessman who worshipped the country."

The judicial proceeding Thursday was technically a return of the war-rant issued for Hoffman and not an arraignment on any particular charge. His innocent plea to the 1973 cocaine charge stands and a formal. bail-jumping complaint was not pre-

On another matter, the attorney general said he withheld U.S. intelligence information on Libyan payments to Billy Carter from his own investigators for two reasons.

One, he said, was that the information could not be used in court without jeopardizing a U.S. intelligence source. The other, he said, was that he believed then and believes now that such information is so sensitive it should not be passed on to anyone unless the need for it is essential.

Couple tries to trade baby for used sports car

FLEMINGTON, N.J. (AP) - A New Jersey couple who allegedly tried to trade their 14-month-old son for a $8,800 used sports car were being held today in lieu of $100,000 bail each, authorities say. James M. Green, 29, and Pamela Spencer Green, 21, of Frenchtown, a tiny community on the Delaware River across from Bucks County, Pa., were being held in Hunterdon County Jail in Flemington 🕊 until they could post 10 percent of the bail, said Municipal Judge Jeffrey Martin.

The Greens, formerly from Arkansas, were offiering the wellare of child and selling a child, Martin said. If convicted, each could be sentenced to from three to five years in jail and fined $7,500 on each offense, said the judge.

Authorities alleged the two tried to trade the baby to a car dealer in exchange for a 1977 Corvette.

Officials said the Greens couldn't afford to pay $8,800 for the car, so they suggested trading their son to Italo Patinella, owner of Patinella's Auto Sales on Patinella notified the state Division of Youth and Family Services, which investigated the incident with the aid of the State Police and the Hunterdon County Prosecutor's Office.

The Greens were arrested by State Police on Wednesday as they left the car dealership where Patinella had signed the car over to them. The child, whose name has not been made public.

'Zoo-Mass' efforts to break its jinx fail in face of city water shortage

By RICK HAMPSON

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — This was supposed to be the year that UMass stopped being "Zoo-Mass," the year the University of Massachusetts erased its reputation as a jinxed campus plagued by everything from a crumbling library facade to Instead, he spent the day presiding over the evacuation of almost 20,000 students from the sprawling campus.

The water crisis was the latest in a series of mishaps to befall UMass, a campus that shot up in the 1960s.

"We were trying to get over the 'Zoo Mass' image. We hoped this would be the year," said one upperclassman, who asked that his name not be used. "Well, maybe next year."

"You have to face it. The place is falling apart," student leader Howard Goldman said at a student rally last year.

In addition to its physical defects, the campus has been troubled by vandalism and rowdiness. Police took more than 20 people into custody on various offenses on Halloween, 1978. More than 10 people were treated for lacerations from broken

Police patrol nearly empty campus

By TRUDY TYNAN

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) - Campus police patrolled empty dormitories at the University of Massachusetts today, guarding the possessions of students who went home or celebrated in apartments around town when a critical water shortage brought a halt to classes just one day after the new school year began.

Students weighted down with bags and backpacks stood in lines three blocks long Thursday waiting for buses to take them home to await the resumption of classes - probably Monday. By nightfall, fewer than 1,000 of the 11,000 resident students were left on the sprawling, high-rise campus.

The decision to close the school had come after the take in students with nowhere to go. town of 11,500 virtually ran out of water Wednesday night, less than 48 hours after students reported for the new year. Amherst officials said supplies had been exhausted by too much heat, too little rain and too many users.

The scene on campus was "pretty crazy," said student Richard Woodlock. "You look out the window and everyone is running everywhere," he said. "You see them running one way, then you see them running back the other way. It's like nuclear issue for more than 10 years. A new well designed to eliminate water shortages will be ready at the end of the month, said Public Works Superintendent Stanley Ziomek, but until then the town will pump water in from neighboring Hadley. Ziomek admitted that there had been another, less severe, shortage in 1978, which had sent water pressure plunging in some dorms. "The town has

UMass spokesman Daniel Melley said students were sent home because it would take several days before Amherst could tap the water from Hadley and restore pressure.

School officials said up to 70 percent of the school's 51 dormitories were without water when the decision was made to evacuate. Several smaller dorms were kept open for students unable to leave campus, and off-campus residents took in others for weekend

Officials of nearby Amherst College and Hamp-shire College said they had no plans to send students home. Town residents were asked to cut back on

Freshman's 'fears' fulfilled

By JAMES SIMON

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) - Freshman Rodney LaFlamme sat glumly in the University of Massachusetts Campus Center, waiting for his parents to arrive from Oxford, Conn., and give him a ride

"Everything had been going so smoothly - the first day of classes was fine, and the lines weren't too long for the bookstore and for changing classes," he said Thursday night. "Everybody had warned me things could be pretty chaotic at the start of

LaFlamme's fears came true earlier in the day, when UMass officals, faced with a lack of water in 70 percent of the school's dorms, canceled classes until Monday and ordered all students to leave campus.

Within hours of Chancellor Henry Koffler's noontime announcement, lines for Boston and Worcester buses stretched for blocks. Banks of telephones in the Campus Center went on the blink when hundreds of students tried to tell their parents they'd be home for an unexpectedly long weekend.

By nightfall, the campus was almost deserted. There were none of the flying Frisbees and blaring stereos that usually herald the resumption of classes. Instead, huge numbers of campus patrolmen were stationed outside darkened dorms, guarding the possessions of students who had moved in University officals said as many as 1,000 of the 14,000 dorm students would be allowed to remain on campus because of extenuating circumstances, such as living in a distant state. "Almost everybody was happy as they left. It gives us a little more breathing room before serious studying starts," said Dan Buckley of Amherst, who helped staff the jammed campus information desk

Miss America pageant 'boring'

First winner now has mixed feelings

By PETER MATTIACE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - These days, Margaret Gorman wants nothing to do with the Miss America Pageant. Once upon a time, the still blonde and vivacious 75-year-old had everything to do with the nation's most famous beauty contest.

Miss Gorman was the very first Miss America, crowned on Atlantic City's Steel Pier in 1921. Today it takes hours of coaxing - standing on her doorstep, wilting daisies in hand, while pleading for an interview, sending candy in a futile effort to obtain a current photograph - just to get her to talk about the

And then what she says is none too complimen

"I never cared to be Miss America. It wasn't my idea. I am so bored by it all. I really want to forget the whole thing," she insisted.

"Would I do it again? Oh, never in my life!" Nevertheless, the former Miss America may tune in to see her 53rd successor crowned Saturday night. "That is, if I don't go to sleep. It can be so boring, she said

Miss Gorman lives in comfortable, anonymous retirement in a three-story brick house just off Wisconsin Avenue in Washington, D.C. Her husband, a real estate man she asked not be identified, died 23 years ago.

"I am a very private person. I don't like publicity. good, bad or indifferent," said Miss Gorman. Miss Gorman and her husband had no children, but three generations of her sister's family affectionately called her 'Margee'' and recently gathered for a 75th birthday celebration.

Her niece, Carol Sotelo, compared her aunt's style to that of the flamboyant and outspoken late actress Tallulah Bankhead. It's an apt comparison.

"Write this down, young man," said the former beauty queen in arch tones. "Life has been extremely, I say extremely, kind."

Kind or not, Miss Gorman is reluctant to recall the sizzling August day in 1921 when two Washington Herald reporters came to her family's Georgetown home to seek out their newspaper's entry in Atlantic

City's first "Inter-City Beauty Contest."
Selected from hundreds of photographs mailed to the newspaper by Washington families, Margee Gor-man — just days short of her 16th birthday — was found in the cool shade of a nearby park, shooting marbles in the dirt. She confirmed the story in the interview, but added with an elegant wave, "I wasn't a tomboy, you know.

A few weeks later, the pixyish Margaret defeated a half-dozen other contestants, including a flashy New York City showgirl, in a series of festive events on Atlantic City's beach and Steel Pier.

Miss Gorman, at 5-foot-1, 108 pounds and with a 30-25-32 figure when crowned, is still the smallest Miss America ever. One of Miss Gorman's prizes was a 2-feet-tall silver engraved "beauty urn," which recently featured an arrangement of daisies in her vesti The grand prize, a 3-foot-long golden mermaid statue—"emblematic of nothing, I may add!" Miss Gorman declared— is kept in Florida by brother after 59 years. Miss Gorman held it to her shoulders; it still falls to below her knees. Four years after her crowning, Miss Gorman married and became a Washington socialite of sorts, in the '20s and '30s. Still, her beauty queen notoriety haunted her for "My husband hated it. I did, too, after a while,"

she said. "We were so glad when that thing ended." The pageant was suspended for lack of local interest between 1928 and 1932.

Today she calls the pageant "cheap" for not reimbursing her $1,500 in expenses for her 1960 return to Atlantic City for a reunion and a Boardwalk parade, one of her last public appearances.

"Why should I like it? It would cost them $25,000 to get me back there now. Isn't that what they paid Bert Parks to sing that song?" she said.

Miss Gorman won't share her innermost thoughts, but her relatives said they believe she appears bitter - a word Miss Gorman insisted does not describe her feelings - because she feels used and stereotyped as a beauty queen.

Doctors using light to help treat children's tumors

LOS ANGELES (AP) — University of Southern California doctors are using a beam of light to activate a cancer-killing chemical in hopes of finding a safer, more effective treatment for tumors that attack the eyes

The "whole new mode of therapy" may not significantly affect cure rates, which already exceed 90 percent, but it could save many young victims from blindness and spare them from the side-effects of radiation, Dr. A. Linn Murphree said Wednesday

He said the experimental drug works its way into tumor cells and, when triggered by a beam of light, attacks the cancer.

The tumor, called a retinoblastoma, grows inside the eyeball. A common treatment is to remove the eye, Murphree said in an interview. The victims are rarely older than 21/2

When both eyes are cancerous, he said, "we usually take out the worst eye and try to salvage the remaining eye (with radiation)...but all of us have had cases in which radiation has not been effective and in which we've had to take out the second eye and leave the kid blind."

Murphree said that may be avoided with the experimental therapy, which "has been used successfully in treating other types of tumors.

Murphree said he and Dr. William F. Benedict, both of USC and Children's Hospital of Los Angeles, have so far tested the treatment only on human tumors grown in the eyes of laboratory mice. He said it could be ready for human trials in about a

DEAR ABBY

Mama's boy may remain just that

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know you advise women to pay careful attention to how a man treats his mother if you want to know how he will treat his wife. But how about this?

I am a 34-year-old woman who is dating a man who is 36. He is twice divorced (no children) and lives with his 70-year-old widowed mother. This is my first big romance.

I can understand his feeling of obligation to his mother, but he can't be away from her more than 30 minutes without phoning to tell her where he is and when he'll be back. We seldom go anywhere without her, but when we do, he's constantly phoning to keep in touch. Incidentally, she is not an in-valid. She's in good health but has never tried to make a life of her own. Her son is her whole life.

I have deep feelings about this man, but his attachment to his mother bothers me. He says he loves me, but I can't cope with his mother-son rela-

Los Angeles celebrates Bicentennial birthday

By YARDENA ARAR

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With mariachi music, speeches and a mass singing of "Happy Birthday," the city of Los Angeles launched a two-year Bicentennial celebration with the news that it may have supplanted Chicago as the nation's second-largest city.

Kick-off ceremonies Thursday on Olvera Street - where the city was founded Sept. 4, 1781 - also featured a religious ceremony and presentation of gifts by the city's 15 councilmen for preservation in a large Lucite time capsule shaped like a lollipop.

As Southern California's famed sunshine triumphed over its equally renowned smog, speakers ranging from Eddie Albert to Vice President Walter Mondale reflected on the city's progress in the 200 years since 44 settlers gathered on the banks of the now-vanished Porciuncula

They called their new village El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora La Reina De Los Angeles de Porciuncula — "The City of Our Lady, the Queen of the Angels of Porciuncula.

Its name has since been pared down, but "we're now almost 3 million people — by the census count, the second largest city in the country,

"Preliminary figures for Los Angeles - and these are really preliminary - were 2,878,039, and they (census officials) expect by the time they finish counting to be over 2,900,000," said Jules Mersel, head statistician for the Los Angeles Community Analysis Bureau. "Chicago has lost population on that first count, so right now in the current counts we're No.

No. 1 is New York, with over 7 million.

Chicago officials dispute Los Angeles' claim and speakers at the ceremony attended by several thousand dwelt instead on the diversity of Los

"I have ceased to be amazed by Los Angeles," Mondale said. "What can you say about a city where a sidewalk stand sells kosher burritos? "I can only say, 'L.A.'s the place," he added, echoing the Bicentennial

Los Angeles' Spanish and Mexican heritage was highlighted at the ceremonies, which began with the arrival of a mule-drawn flower cart, a mariachi band and children dressed in fancy traditional Spanish garb. Guests of honor on the gaily decorated outdoor stage included Dona Margarita Lopez Portillo, sister of Mexico's president, and Spain's ambassador to the U.S., Jose Llado.

FCC flooded by postcards protesting nonexistent show

By NORMAN BLACK

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Communications Commission is being deluged with pre-printed postcards from around the country protesting a network television show that doesn't exist.

Within the last two weeks, the commission has received more than 7,000 postcards condemning purported plans by ABC to air "Adam & Yves," a comedy show whose leading characters would include homosexuals.

The postcards are identical, with a picture on one side of two children in front of a TV set under the headline: "ABC Presents: Perverted Filth. Don't Let This Happen." The other side of the card includes a one-paragraph protest message and then space for signatures. FCC officials say they are at a loss to explain what prompted the deluge of mail or even who mounted the

ABC officials say they considered an "Adam & Yves" program two years ago but dropped it from active development and have no plans for production. "It's never been on the schedule," said one ABC official, who asked not to be identified. "The whole thing is moot and we have no idea what's prompting these cards.'

The postcards, all addressed to FCC Chairman Charles D. Ferris, carry a message which reads: "I hereby condemn ABC's proposal to air the homosexual comedy series, 'Adam & Yves,' or any similar program, and notify you that I've sent a protest to ABC for placement in their public Charles L. Gray of the FCC's broadcast bureau said the commission would like to find out what organization is generating the mail so that a response can be sent. The commission does not have the resources to respond to every postcard, he added.

The FCC, however, has been answering people who write their own letters instead of using the postcard. In that response, the FCC points out that it is prohibited by law from "censoring broadcast material and from interfering with freedom of expression by broadcasting."

Teacher strike delays start of classes

Philadelphia youngsters got an extra day of vacation today when school officials, hoping to settle a contract dispute with teachers, delayed the start of classes until Mon-

Meanwhile, students in Rochester, N.Y., were attending only morning classes because of teacher strikes.

There were walkouts over pay disputes in more than 60 school districts in 9 states, canceling or curtailing classes for some 500,000 children, according to the National Education

Closed-door, round-the-clock talks continued in Philadelphia, where summer vacation was to have ended today, as negotiations for the school board and 11,000 striking teachers sought to resolve a dispute over pay raises and the rehiring of 2,300 laid-off instructors.

Schools were rescheduled to open for 220,000 students on Monday, with bus transportation but no lunch if the strike still was in progress, said superintendent Michael Marcase.

Elsewhere in Pennsylvania, 67,000 pupils in 16 districts and one vocational school were idled in walkouts by 3,600 teachers.

Leaders of the 2,300-member Rochester Teachers' Association were ordered to appear Monday at a contempt of court hearing before state Supreme Court Justice David

About 2,000 teachers paraded around the school board's offices and were joined by 100 students, carrying a banner reading, "Students support a fair shake for our teachers."

The striking teachers want a 22 percent pay increase in the next two years. The school board is offering 14 percent. Starting base salary was $11,700 under the contract that expired Monday.

A strike by non-teaching employees in Columbus public schools entered its second day, but the school board planned no legal action as long as students and teachers were not prevented from entering buildings.

About two-thirds of the 2,500 members of the Ohio Association of Public School Employees, which represents bus drivers, janitors and cafeteria workers, stayed off the job Thursday. The walkout has mainly affected busing. About 40,000 of the school system's 73,000 students are supposed to ride buses to class during the second year of court-ordered desegregation. Four school districts in Washington state were struck by 1,600 teachers, and more than 30,000 students were affected.

About 15,700 Rhode Island youngsters were at home in Woonsocket and Cumberland, and in North Providence, where teachers honored a janitor's walkout.

A teacher's strike in Sierra Vista, Ariz., was in its third day, with 5,700 students affected.

Production workers strike major California wineries

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Workers who process, bottle and package about half the nation's domestic wine struck two of California's largest wineries today in the industry's first union walkout, the union said.

The union struck E&J Gallo Co. and United Vintners at midnight Thursday, when a three-year contract with the 23 members of the Winery Employers Association expired, said Harry Priest of Local 45 of the Winery, Distillary & Allied Workers Priest said Gallo in Modesto and United Vintners in Escalon were struck because "they are the largest and the most vulnerable." The strike also was expected to affect Gallo facilities in Fresno and Livingston and United Vintners facilities in Stockton, Clovis, Fresno, Reedley and

Union leaders said more than 1,500 employees would not report for work

There were no immediate plans to expand the strike to any of the other 21 association members, Priest said.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Washington not only source of money advice

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - Although it might seem so at times, the financial decisions of people aren't always governed by what Washington says or what well-known money men advise or what the stock market is doing.

Some of the most widespread advise being offered today, for example, is to balance your finances in order to ride out the latest recession, and millions seem to follow that advice. Consumer credit is down. But to the publisher of the Financial Freedom Report, a publication

'designed for the highly motivated individual who is seeking to establish his own financial freedom," borrowing is in vogue. In a "bulletin" in the latest issue, publisher Mark O. Haroldsen, who founded the magazine in Salt Lake City several years ago, advises "You should be borrowing money now from your local bank." The suggestion is consistent with Haroldsen's philosophy of continued inflation, using other people's money and paying as little income tax as you can. Borrowed money, he says repeatedly, is yours tax-free. And during chronic inflation, he points out, you repay in cheaper dollars.

How widely this advice is followed is hard to say, but Haroldsen and others like him have mailing lists in the thousands, which is evidence that the practices of many people are contrary to conventional wisdom. Conventional wisdom also promotes the notion that there isn't much you can do to lower your income taxes other than to hope, pray and cajole Congress into granting a tax reduction. Many people don't believe that. The evidence comes from the popularity of tax avoidance seminars, in which attendees are taught how to take every possible deduction and how to set up businesses in which assets can be quickly depreciated. Tax avoidance seminars now seem to be sweeping the country. In Mill Valley, Calif., Bill Greene uses his front lawn to tell people how it's done. He says his privately printed book, "Welcome to The Tax Revolt," is selling well, even though most sales are by mail order.

Tax avoidance, of course, is not tax evasion, but it really isn't tax avoidance either. More accurately it is tax deferment because, at least in theory, the taxes eventually are going to come due and collectible. However, that day can be postponed a long time. To illustrate, an income property can be depreciated, giving an annual tax deduction for 10, 20 or probably 30 years. Then, in theory, taxes are due.

However, if proceeds from that sale are immediately put in trust until reinvested in a similar, costlier income-producing property, the tax man might allow deferal until the new property is fully depreciated.

There's little new about the concept; the Treasury Department grants tax deferrals to owners of U.S. Savings Bonds and to investors in various promotions, including cattle feeding and oil drilling. What is new perhaps is the popular packaging and promotion of avoidance.

Even the elderly are doing their own thing. Have you heard of "desaving?" Perhaps not, but you probably have heard of the reverse mortgage, and the two terms mean roughly the same thing. The reverse mortgage, in which the elderly would mortgage their fully paid home, receiving monthly payments on an annuity basis related to their expected lifespan, have the endorsement even of regulators. Still, they seem to be ensnarled in red tape and stalled by the current money difficulties that most savings banks are experiencing. But desaving, a less formal arrangement, may be catching on. Under desaying, the homeowner might make his or her own arrangements and keep the plan as simple as possible. One method, for example, is to merely borrow money with the house as collateral, and use it as needed. Isn't that using up capital? Of course, but with the owner's lifespan limited by natural forces, how long will that capital be needed? And isn't inflation likely to replace at least part of what is spent? One more: Has your neighbor told you about the latest stock he bought? It's going on all over: People buy shares for under a dollar and hope they'll rise to $2 or so, reasoning that the downside risk is minimal, the upside unlimited. Moral: For good or for bad, many people today seem to be doing their own financial thing, not waiting for someone to give them the official line but, out of necessity, experimenting and sometimes winning.

The wooden steamer chest was found Tuesday night in her attic and examined the next day. The bodies, deteriorated to bone, hair and some tissue, were wrapped in newspapers dating from 1923 to 1933, said Cambria County Coroner John Barron. "She just wanted the air cleared.

The boarder, a friend of the family who was not identified, was unaware of the bodies before opening the letter, Barron said. "He had nothing to do with it," the coroner added.

Draft audit requested

WASHINGTON (AP) - The draft registration issue, which occupied Congress for months earlier this year, may be heading back to Capitol Hill. This time, though, the question would be not whether young men should register but how many have done so.

Selective Service Director Bernard Rostker said Thursday he would welcome an independent audit of preliminary figures showing that 93 percent of men born in 1960 and 1961 had registered by Aug. 22.

An audit was urged by the Rev. Barry Lynn of the Committee Against Registration and the Draft, who said he was skeptcal of the figures.

Rostker's deputy, Brayton Harris, said any audit should be done by an agency such as Congress's General Accounting Office, and Lynn proposed the same agency

But whether an audit is conducted at all would be up to Congress.

The question arose as anti-draft groups challenged Selective Service figures for compliance in the initial two-week registration period in July. Rostker told a news conference that current registrations are running about 10 percent ahead of those for 1973, the last full year of registra-

Eventual compliance in 1973 topped 99 percent, and Rostker said he anticipates that late signups this year will result in similar totals.

"Basically, 19- and 20-year-olds are patriotic, law-abiding citizens who heeded the call of the president and Congress," Rostker said. "The very great majority registered as re-

With 3.88 million men in the eligible age group, Rostker said, Selective Service now has received 3,593,187 signup cards. He conceded that some of these were sent in by women, peopeople, but he said a spot check has indicated those account for only about 1 percent.

The renewed registration is costing about $2 per youth, Rostker said. "We have accomplished this at quite a reasonable cost and have substantially increased national security," he added.

Fly for 'Love,' 'Kisses' or 'Peanuts'

DALLAS (AP) — You can fly to Houston from Dallas for "Love," 'Kisses" or "Peanuts," but finding the cheapest fare may not always be easy, a consumer spokesman says. Air Florida's "Kiss Miss" promotion is the latest entry in the intrastate fare war, competing with estab-lished Dallas-Houston routes offered by Southwest and Texas International

The first passenger to show up in the "Kiss Miss" line on certain Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport flights gets a kiss and a free ride to Houston. Company officials say the purpose of the campaign is to promote their Houston-Miami service.

TIA this week started its "Peanut Fares" bargain flights from Dallas Love Field to Houston Intercontinental Airport for $24, to attract passengers who might not fly otherwise.

To boost the flights, TIA offers promotions including free television sets and free liquor - an idea borrowed from Southwest Airlines, the only major commercial carrier at close in Love Field from 1974 until this week. Southwest has used the word "love" in most of its advertising and promotions to emphasize its convenience for Dallasites.

Southwest President Howard Putnam says his airline has just lowered its Houston fare to $24 to match TIA. "The consumer is getting lower prices and that's a plus," said Putnam, but he adds, "passengers think we're stupid. Airlines cry about costs going up - then they give seats away. The passengers also are confused about who flies what to where and for how much, according to Hal Salfen, director of consumer affairs for the Airline Passengers Association. "It's crazy ... there's no question about it," Salfen said.

Salfen said he eventually expects to see resentment on the part of frequent business travelers who, he says, make up the cost of the discount tickets.

"The business traveler who cannot make reservations two weeks in advance will be upset when he finds out that he's paid $167 for a seat next to a person who has paid $27 for the same ticket," Salfen said, summarizing his opinion of the discount war this way: 'For the frequent traveler, a real disservice; for the occasional traveler, a bonanza. The regional price wars have forced major airlines, struggling with de-clining passenger lists and rising fuel costs, to start discounts, too.

We have done so reluctantly, in order to remain competitive," said David Lobb, an American Airlines "The main thing is we don't want to be undersold," he said. "We're trying to fill empty seats rather than (discount tickets for) someone who already is flying."

He said American, which lost $76.7 million in the first six months of 1980.

will continue discounts.

"It's a case now of just hanging in there," he said.

Have the promotional possibilities been exhausted? Not quite, said Put-

"We could probably pay people to ride with us," he joked.

TIA planning new air shuttles

MIAMI (AP) - East- petitor to the Eastern ern Airlines may get some competition on its popular Northeast air shuttle routes from nior vice president for Texas International Airlines, an aggressive Houston-based company that once tried to take over National Airlines and also had designs on Trans World Airlines. Miami-based Eastern now enjoys a virtual monopoply on the popu-lar New York-Washing-ton and New York-Boston air shuttles.

In a prospectus filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, TIA's parent holding company, Texas Air Corp., disclosed plans to form a new airline that would focus on "short and medium haul flights from New York's La-Guardia and Newark airports serving the northeas' U.S." beginning in ear. y 1981.

TIA also has won the right to take off and land at LaGuardia 40 times per day and is negotiating with federal officials for slots at Washington's National Airport.

The prospectus and applications for landing slots prompted airline industry analysts and officials at Miami-based Eastern to predict that Joedicke said. Texas Air Corp. Chairman and President Frank Lorenzo has designs on the shuttle

"We are aware of the speculation that we will serve as a low-fare com-shuttle and we refuse to confirm or deny it," says Jim O'Donnell, TIA's se-marketing. But airline industry analyst Robert Joedicke says there's little doubt TIA plans to take on Eastern.

"I think that's what they have planned, among other things. said Joedicke, an analyst with Lehman Bros. Kuhn Loeb in New York.

"You only need three and possibly a fourth jet as a backup to one leg of the shuttle," he said. "And since they're also proposing service out of Newark, I wouldn't think (a New York-Washington shuttle) was all they had in mind."

Since TIA doesn't have to apply for landing slots at Boston's Logan Airport, Lorenzo can keep his plans for the New York-Boston market under wraps for the time

"He's not locking himself in and is only telling as much as he has to. But with what he has said, he could provide pretty fancy service in terms of hourly service or more than hourly service,"

House trims bill to reduce spending

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House, unwilling to accept a cut in pensions for federal workers and members of Congress, is sending House-Senate negotiators a trimmed, $9.1 billion bill to reduce spending and raise new revenues.

While approving the measure once heralded as the key to balancing the 1981 budget, the House balked Thursday at a proposal to save $756 million by adjusting federal pensions for inflation once instead of twice a year. Rep. Robert N. G'aimo, D-Conn., House Budget Committee chairman, said the twice-a-year, cost-of-living adjustment was the "least justifiable federal program" and called pressure from federal employees' unions to keep it "disgraceful." "Anybody else in this land is lucky if they get any adjustment for inflation," Giaimo said, noting that only 3 percent of private pensions have even a once-a-year escalator. Social Security benefits also are adjusted only once a year. However, on a 309-72 vote, the House approved an amendment by Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., to drop the proposed change in the pension program from

The House then approved the reconciliation bill, 294-91.

Reconciliation, an unprecedented order to congressional committees to cut spending programs and raise new revenue, was mandated by Congress when it approved a balanced target 1981 budget last

The $9.1 billion House bill, which now goes to conference with the Senate, contains $5.2 billion in spending cuts and $3.9 billion in new tax revenue, largely from faster collection of corporate

The Senate-passed version, which contains the once-a-year cost-of-living adjustment for federal retirees, totals $10.6 billion, the full amount ordered by Congress last June.

Although most economists agree that the recession has made balancing the budget virtually impossible, Democratic leaders said passage of reconciliation was needed to hold the expected 1981 deficit to about

House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, called the bill "a significant effort on the part of Congress to make good on its promise for a balanced budget" in fiscal 1981, which starts Oct. 1.

The Democratic leadership successfully fought to permit only three amendments to be proposed to the Democratic leaders had argued that without the restriction on amendments, the House might bow to pressure from powerful special-interest lobbyists and knock a number of the savings proposals out of the bill.

The House also approved on voice votes the two other amendments. One removed a proposal to count as new revenues $300 million from a fund which will collect money from companies to clean up oil spills and other

Edison's lab reopened following housecleaning

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Thomas A. Edison's old laboratory has been reopened by the National Park Service following a housecleaning of toxic and explosive chemicals, officials say.

"There were two categories of chemicals," Ray Kremer, acting manager of the Edison National Historic Site, said Thursday. "There were 5,500 items of chemical stock, which were used in whatever was going on in the lab at the time.

Nuke plant fails to report leak

CHICAGO (AP) — Commonwealth Edison neglected to inform federal officials that between 300,000 and 400,-000 gallons of water contaminated by radioactivity are recorded as missing from its Dresden nuclear generating station, the Chicago Sun-Times reported today.

Utility officials blame the water shortfall on faulty devices measuring the water supply and do not believe any water has leaked from the plant, the paper said.

"There also were another 5,500 items that were the results of experiments, including 32 cases of 26,700 vials from botanical and X-ray experiments," he said.

Park service officials barred the public from the building that housed the laboratory after the discovery of thousands of vials containing chemicals that either were dangerous or had evolved into a volitile form.

After Edison died in 1931, the laboratory was left untouched until January when the dangerous articles were found

An $85,000 contract was awarded to Rockwell International to inventory and supervise the removal of the materials, Kremer said. The lab, one of six buildings normally toured by about 55,000 people each year, was reopened Wednes-

Kremer said 33,800 different containers were tested. Of those, he said, 17,300 were left intact, including 3,300 results of X-ray experiments; 2,900 had their contents removed; and 13,-000 vials were destroyed. Most of those destroyed were very tiny containers of old experiments, Kremer

The dead inmate, whose body lay in the yard for several hours as the disturbance raged, was identified as Lenny Alfson, 23, of Skagit County, a white inmate who entered the prison in 1979 on a conviction for auto theft.

Refugees killed in wild gunbattle

- A gunbattle prompted by a quarrel over money to bring Cubans to the United States has left two refugees dead and a third in critical condition, police say.

Four men, described as Cuban nationals who arrived in America in the "freedom flotilla" boatlift, Thursday opened fire on Julian Basto, 46, whose brother owns a truck repair shop in this small Miami suburb, according to Dade County police spokesman Jim > Basto allegedly fired back. Two men were wounded, police said. A fourth man ran from the scene but was captured by police three hours after the incident.

Basto was taken into custody.

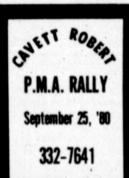

"It was over money that was supposed to be paid to bring some Cuban refugees back from Cuba to Florida," Babb said. "Apparently, there are some people in Cuba who were supposed to have been brought back but weren't brought Babb said Basto's brother reportedly ferried refugees from the Cuban port of Mariel in the illegal sealift that began in April.

The spokesman said it wasn't clear if the three victims and a fourth companion — all refugees who had arrived here recently - had paid to have relatives brought from Cuba or were trying to raise money to do Witnesses said the vic-

Things you should know about gold jewelry:

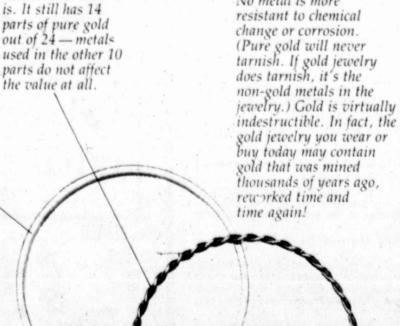

How gold is your jewelry? "Karat" expresses how much pure gold is in a piece of jewelry. The number of karats tells how many parts out of 24 are pure gold. So 24 karat gold is pure gold; 14 karat gold has 14 parts pure gold (out of 24), 10 parts other metals (mostly copper and silver). The number of karats is stamped on the jewelry, followed by "k," the abbreviation for "karat."

> What can go 50 miles to the ounce? Gold is one of the softest metals known, which is both a curse and a blessing. It means that 24 karat gold is too fragile to make jewelry — 14 karat and 18 karat are much sturdier. But it also means that gold can be worked into almost any shape or form. One ounce of gold makes a single wire 50 miles long! Or a thin sheet with an area of 100 square feet.

Jold is a fascinating metal - nothing can match its combination of extreme rarity, remarkable beauty, extraordinary workability, and virtual indestructibility.

Now that Kruger has shown you something about gold jewelry, let us show you some gold jewelry. Come to Kruger - vou'll see hundreds of chains, bracelets, earrings, rings, and more.

What color is your gold? Karat gold appears in any number of colors yellow, white, pink, green - even blue, purple, and black. Color depends on what other metals are mixed with pure gold to make the jewelry. So 14 karat gold always has the same value, no How old is your gold? matter what color it No metal is more is. It still has 14 parts of pure gold out of 24 - metals 14 karat gold, 18 karat gold; some even with 24 karat gold. For men and women. For dressing up or dressing down. For yourself. For a special gift. Whatever you want gold jewelry for, come to Kruger for your gold jewelry.

Bulldogs, Rebels picked to win

Well, fans, it's that time of year again, time for the 1980 high school football season and this year should be an exciting one.

Both Midland and Midland Lee should be highly competitive and this corner is anxious and ready for the

It's hard to believe, but this will be my 18th year to cover 5-5A football. My how time flies when you're having

Looking back at last year's picks, it will be awfully hard to duplicate it. Last season, I hit 343 games correctly while missing 66 for a percentage of 84.1 in Class AAAAA circles which is the best ever for me

You can't look back on yesterday, though and it's another season, so

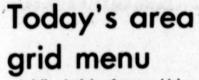

MIDLAND LEE opens the season here tonight against the Killeen Kangaroos in what shapes up as a fine football game. Killeen always is tough and Lee is a lot better than the Rebels showed in their scrimmage with Andrews last week. Going on a feeling that Coach Spike Dykes' debut will be a happy one with his Rebels posting a 20-14 victory here in Memorial Stadium. Killeen has that long bus ride to the Tall City this morning and that might be the difference.

MIDLAND HIGH, under new Coach Pat Culpepper. hit the road earlier today for a trip to the Panhandle and a game with the Tascosa Rebels in Dick Bivins Stadium. The Bulldogs have plenty of size and if they can overcome some weaknesees in the secondary and keep eveybody healthy, there's no reason that the Purple Pack can't have a great season, Going with Culpepper's crew to take a 27-7 victory over the Rebels to get the 1980 season off with a bang.

ODESSA HIGH opens against a good Amarillo Golden Sandie crew tonight in W.T. Barrett Stadium and the Bronchos could be a darkhorse in the District 5-5A race this fall. Going with the Red Hosses to take a narrow 14-13 victory over the Panhandle out-

ABILENE COOPER will be back to defend it's 5-5A title again this fall and the Cougars take on the Class AAAA Brownwood Lions in Brownwood. It usually is a good battle and this one tonight will be no exception. Going with Ray Overton's Cougars to post a 28-13 win over the Lions.

ABILENE HIGH will have it's hands full tonight in P.E. Shotwell Stadium in Abilene with the Raiders from Wichita Falls Rider. The Eagles have some talent, but may be in for a long season in 1989. Going with Rider

Brewers rally for eight runs to down Royals By The Associated Press

Dan Quisenberry has put out a lot of fires for the Kansas City Royals this

But Thursday night, he personally fanned one into a roaring blaze.

Before it was over, the Milwaukee Brewers rallied for eight runs in the ninth inning to pull out a 9-5 decision over the American League West lead-

"I can remember when Texas came in here and did the same thing against Quis," said Kansas City Manager Jim Frey. "After that, we went about three weeks without allowing a run. This was the type of situation in which we have gone to him all year."

Quisenberry, with a major leagueleading 31 saves, was brought into Thursday night's game after starter Larry Gura — leading 5-1 — had given up singles to Don Money and Dick Davis at the start of the ninth.

Sal Bando and Charlie Moore followed with run-scoring base hits and then after Paul Moiitor flied out, Robin Yount and Cecil Cooper each singled home a run to tie the game. Quisenberry intentionally walked Gorman Thomas to load the bases, but Ben Oglivie followed with a tworun single. Money and Davis each singled in another run before Ken Brett came in to finally stop the

"We should have been doing this all year," said Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger. "I think we have a great come-from-behind club. We haven't done it much this year, but knew we could do it. After a couple of hits in the ninth you could feel something might happen. And, of course, something did happen.'

Elsewhere in the American League, New York beat California 5-3; Oakland turned back Baltimore 7-1; Seattle trimmed Boston 7-4 and Toronto nipped Chicago 3-2.

Before Quisenberry, 11-6, lost it for the Royals, they had built a 5-1 lead with the help of a solo homer by Frank White in the fifth and a two-run blast by George Brett in the seventh. Brett had a 1-for-3 night to drop his major league-leading average to

McEnroe, Connors capture tough U.S. Open victories

NEW YORK (AP) - John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors each took catnaps during their quarterfinal matches at the U.S. Open Thursday but both woke up in time to dispose of their opponents and march on to a semifinal battle against each other.

McEnroe, the defending champion and No.2 seed, had difficulties in the first set with Ivan Lendl before subduing the No.10 seed from Czechoslovakia, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5 in a night match. Earlier in the day, No.3 seed Connors took a hike in the second set but recovered for a 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0 triumph over unseeded Eliot Teltscher.

Now the two American stars can look ahead to their match Saturday. The other men's semifinal will fea ture top-seed Bjorn Borg and unseed-

Phillies down Dodgers, 3-2, behind Walk

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Once upon a time, Philadelphia rookie righthander Bob Walk landed in jail for throwing at Houston's Cesar Cedeno - from the left-field pavilion at Dodger Stadium.

"Yeah, they hauled me off for throwing stuff," said Walk, a native of suburban Newhall. "We always sat out in left field. That's where the rowdies sit."

Thursday night at Dodger Stadium, the 23-year-old Walk did his pitching from the mound, and for seven innings was headed for his first major league shutout. He settled for his 10th win in 14 decisions, a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles as 36-year-old Tug McGraw preserved the triumph with his 17th save.

The loss ended the Dodgers' sevengame winning streak, but they remain atop the National League West, one-half game ahead of Houston. The Phillies have a one-game lead in the NL East over Pittsburgh and Montre-

In the only other games scheduled in the National League Thursday, Montreal blanked San Francisco 4-0 and San Diego edged New York 3-2.

The Phillies took a 3-0 lead on home runs by Mike Schmidt (No.36) and Greg Luzinski (No.17), but when Walk gave up a leadoff single in the eighth to Dave Lopes, he was replaced by Warren Brusstar.

After Brusstar got the first out, Dusty Baker followed with his 27th homer, and the Dodgers were within a Brusstar gave up two more singles before McGraw took the mound. He retired pinch hitter Joe Ferguson on a popup to shortstop and gave up a single in the ninth before getting 42year-old pinch hitter Manny Mota, in his first at-bat all season, to ground to shortstop for the final out. Shortstop Larry Bowa threw the ball into the dirt, but first baseman Pete Rose was able to dig it out.

"There's something about this game that still gets me excited," said McGraw. "I nearly had a seizure when Bowa threw that ball into the dirt. I could feel the tension and I'm sure it had to do with the donnybrook I McGraw and the Dodgers' Bill Russell were principals in a brawl on Aug. 25 in Philadelphia.

"Looking back, it was not a very proud moment in my life," said McGraw, who hit Russell with a pitch just after Ferguson had singled home two runs on what was supposed to be an intentional walk. "In fact, I'm very embarrassed." Los Angeles starter Jerry Reuss was in search of his seventh straight victory. But Schmidt tagged him for a two-run homer in the first, the eighth home run Schmidt has hit off the left-hander.

"It may have been the eighth, but it was the first one this year," said Schmidt. "Le is trying to adjust, he's a student of the game. But I hit what I Luzinski hit his homer in the seventh and Reuss, 16-5, left after seven innings. Bobby Castillo finished up for the Dodgers.

Rookie Bill Gullickson fired a shutout as he pitched Montreal over San Francisco. The 21-year-old Gullickson, 7-4, struck out seven and walked two. The Expos scored their first run off Al Hargesheimer, 6-7, in the fifth inning on Chris Speier's RBI-double. In the sixth, Montreal added two unruns. Rowland Office and Gary Carter, on base with singles, scored when Cromartie hit a two-out fly ball to left-center field which went for a double when left fielder Terry Whitfield and center fielder Bill North both watched the ball fall in front of

In the eighth, Parrish doubled to score Carter, who had singled and stolen second

Padres 3, Mets 2

Pinch hitter Gene Tenace singled home the winning run in the ninth inning as San Diego handed New York its sixth straight loss.

Neil Allen, 5-8, the third Mets pitcher, walked Barry Evans leading off the ninth. Chuck Baker followed with a single that sent Evans to third and Tenace, batting for San Diego starter John Curtis, 7-8, bounced his single just inside the third base line to send Evans home with the winning run.

The Padres had tied the game 2-2 on Broderick Perkins' leadoff homer in the sixth. Perkins is hitting .467 in his first 18 games since being recalled from the minors.

Abe Lemons will appear before jury

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - University of Texas basketball coach Abe Lemons and assistant coach Barry Dowd have been subpoenaed to appear before a federal grand jury Sept.

The grand jury reportedly is investigating how Lloyd Davis, former president of the People's National Bank in Lampasas, spent money. Davis, a Texas alumnus, retired from the bank about two years ago.

"I'm not implicated in any way," Lemons said Wednesday.

He said Davis is "a good friend" who has leased him cars and bought a meal for the Longhorn basketball team to celebrate its championship victory in the 1978 National Invitational Tournament at New York.

'There has been nothing secret about Davis' support of the basketball team," Lemons said. "I've written the bank and thanked them for their hospitality and the car." Darrell Royal, Texas athletic director until this year, said he was unaware of Davis' generosity but said there was nothing wrong with it so far as the university is concerned. Alumni may buy coaches cars and help pay for trips, he said, "as long as you don't do it for those players.'

Purdue, Irish in headliner

By The Associated Press

No easy opener for ninth-ranked Purdue or 11th-rated Notre Dame. They go head-to-head in one of the more intriguing matchups scheduled for the first Saturday of the 1980 college football season.

The two Midwestern behemoths were not slated to meet until later in the season, but the game at South Bend, Ind., was moved ahead for a national television appearance. And, in this nonconference warm-up, Purdue's biggest motivation could be the chance to serve notice to Ohio State and Michigan that last year's 10-2 record was no fluke and that their longtime domination of the Big Tenmay be in jeopardy. Purdue, with quarterback Mark

Herrmann leading the way, came back from a 20-7 deficit to win last year's meeting 28-22 and start the Irish on a slide that wound up with a very disappointing 7-4 mark.

IP H RER BB SO

Actually, the first week of the college season got an early sendoff Monday night when 10th-ranked Texas outmanned No.6 Arkansas 23-17. And, in a meeting of unranked schools, Northern Illinois will play at Long Beach State in tonight's only contest.

Elsewhere Saturday, Alabama's second-ranked Crimson Tide will kick off the season for Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant at Birmingham against Georgia Tech.

But, ironically, Alabama's fans are already waiting for Notre Dame, even though the two teams don't meet until Nov. 15.

"The only game they're talking about is Notre Dame," says Charley Thornton, assistant athletic director for public relations. "It's like they don't realize we have nine previous

The reasons for the hard feelings against the Irish by Alabama backers are two bowl game victories against the Tide which cost Alabama national championships, and two other seasons in which Notre Dame won national titles over undefeated Alabama squads. In other games Saturday, 13thranked Florida State travels to Baton Rouge for a meeting with dangerous Louisiana State, No.15 Stanford plays at Oregon, 16th-ranked Georgia takes goes to Tennessee and No.18 Penn State opens its season at home against Colgate.

Sting sets two tilts

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The Chicago Sting of the North American Soccer League will play two games against Mexican second division clubs here next week.

A spokesman for the Toluca Football Club said that the Sting will play the Toluca Grey Bears Sunday, and the Nezahualcoyotl Coyotes Wednesday, Sept 10 in Toluca

Red Miller choses Robinson as quarterback

By The Associated Press

Perhaps Red Miller got tired of watching Craig Morton stand there and, with no way to run, get decked by half a ton of angry linemen. Or perhaps he got tired of devising the offense ostensibly by himself. Or maybe it was the near-fight with Morton on the sideline during the final minutes of the Broncos' playoff loss to Houston.

Whatever it was, Miller made couple of decisions in the offseason. One was to get another quarterback, one who could run away from trouble.

Enter quarterback Matt Robinson, formerly of the New York Jets - and, for a brief time, the Jets' No.1 quarterback before bruising a thumb in a wresting match with a teammate, hiding the injury and losing the job back to Richard Todd.

And enter offensive coordinator Rod Dowhower, formerly of Stanford University, where he was head coach in 1979. During 1966-72 he was an assistant coach at San Diego State under Don Coryell (now head coach of the explosive San Diego Chargers). He was also quarterback coach for one year with St. Louis' "Cardiac Cardinals," also under Coryell.

So he knows about offense. And so, it would appear, do the Broncos, who buried the Green Bay Packers 38-0 in their final exhibition game. "We're capable of playing that way every week," Miller said. If they, indeed, play that well, they'll be shoo-ins for the American Conference West title.

But first, there's the small matter of the regular season, starting Sunday with a game in Philadelphia against the Eagles, a consensus selection to surge past the Dallas Cowboys and Washington Redskins and win the National Conference East title.

Sunday's other games are Oakland at Kansas City, Houston at Pittsburgh, Baltimore at the New York Jets, San Diego at Seattle, Chicago at Green Bay, Cleveland at New England, Atlanta at Minnesota, Miami at Buffalo, the New York Giants at St. Louis, San Francisco at New Orleans, Tampa Bay at Cincinnati and Detroit at Los Angeles. Dallas visits Washington Monday night.

"If we're as good as people think we are we'll get a chance to show it against a playoff team," Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil said. "We'll get an opportunity to prove it against one heck of a team."

"Now I feel I'm physically in the

The Raiders, in Oakland once again (and maybe only for 1980 before moving south to Los Angeles), should have a pretty interesting quarterback battle going for part of the season. Dan Pastorini, acquired in the trade with Houston when Raiders' boss Al Davis sent Ken Stabler packing to the Oilers, has been hard-pressed all through the preseason by journeyman Jim Plunkett. And, of course, the Oilers, who believe they've now got the key to the AFC Central title in Stabler, will find out in a hurry whether he'll make a difference. Stabler leads the Raiders into Pittsburgh, where the Steelers have beaten them in the last two AFC championship games.

With Robinson gone, Todd is now totally in command as quarterback of the Jets, and he's got a potent arsenal. Along with Wesley Walker, Derrick Gaffney, Bobby Jones, Mickey Shuler, Jerome Barkum and the rest of his veteran receivers, he also has rookie Johnny "Lam"

Bartkowski practices in knee brace

SUWANEE, Ga. (AP) - Steve Bartkowski, his faith strong and his injuries healed, practiced Thursday for Atlanta's National Football League opener at Minnesota with a brace on his right knee.

The exercise, however, was only to help him get used to wearing a brace if he needs it again.

The Falcons quarterback, who suffered his third knee injury in six years in a charity basketball game during the off-season, is fully recovered and had one of his better exhibition seasons. He completed 32 of 50 passes for 418 yards and three touchdowns without an interception.

"I feel I can play in this league now," the five-year veteran said. "There's the best team around me that I've ever had and I have a good feeling."

"I began to panic," after the third injury, he recalled in an interview. 'My faith was really tested. I thought to myself, 'Here we go on the old rehabilitation trail again. "The way I look at it now, it turned

Ex-Dolphins like kicker Garo Yepremian, safety Neal Colzie, running back Gary Davis and cornerback Norris Thomas keep surfacing to put points on the in Tampa Bay. Saudi Arabia to reduce production

By The Associated Press

Saudi Arabia, the world's largest oil exporter, has decided to reduce production beginning next month, it was reported today. The move, which had been widely expected, will trim the oil "glut" that has begun to ease gasoline prices in the United States.

The Financial Times of London said Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani notified the British government of the decision during a meeting last week with Lord Carrington, the foreign secretary.

In Beirut, Lebanon, the independent newspaper Al Bayrak said the Saudis were "seriously considering" such a cut

Neither Al Bayrak nor the Financial Times said how much Saudi Arabia plans to decrease production, but the Yamani has repeatedly said the Saudis would reduce production by 1 million barrels a day, to 8.5 million barrels a day, if other oil producers agreed to quarterly price increases.

The current world-wide excess of oil production over demand is estimated at nearly 1 million 42-gallon barrels a day. That excess supply has pushed crude oil inventories in the United States to a record 391.4 million barrels, nearly 100 million barrels over what the government considers to be the minimum acceptable level.

"It might bring supply a little below demand, and inventories might work themselves down, particularly if the economy comes back early next year," said Warren Shimmerlik, an analyst with the Wall Street firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc.

"It should take some of the pressure off the market for crude and eventually for products," Shimmerlik said. This week, several major oil companies reduced posted prices on domestic crude oil by as much as $2 a barrel, and most companies have cut gasoline prices several times in the last several months.

Saudi Arabia exports about 1.35 million barrels a day to the United States, about 8 percen

Solar, wind information stressed

AUSTIN - Witnesses testifying at a recent statewide public hearing of the Solar Advisory Committee of the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council stressed the need for the dissemination of understandable information about solar and wind energy in the state.

Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace, chairman of the solar advisory panel, called the hearing to allow public comment on its proposed recommendations to TENRAC.

The recommendations are aimed at accelerating the use of solar and wind energy in Texas through tax, financial and other incentives and the inclusion of solar facilities on state buildings constructed in the future.

Leon Barish, chairman of the Austin Renewable Resources Committee, told the group that "information (dissemination) and education are the most important things to be done." He said that Texans must be made aware that the implementation of solar energy is now technologically and economically feasible.

Barish also emphasized the need for low interest loan programs for the installation of solar energy facilities.

Various witnesses testified that a great deal of technical information on solar energy has been published, but little has been done to explain and interpret it for the layman.

Ray Reece, representing a solar energy advocacy organization, suggested that an awards program be set up for journalists who consistently report on the use of solar energy. Other witnesses stressed information transfer through public school sys-

The proposed recommend on for the use of solar energy facilities on state buildings constructed after Aug. 31, 1981, also drew comment.

Dr. Gary Vliet, chairman of the Texas Solar Energy Society, explained that specific criteria to determine the effectiveness and usefulness of solar energy for new buildings must be set forth.

An Austin architect, Mac Holder, told the committee that utility bills in some buildings he has designed using solar energy have been reduced by 75 percent per unit area when compared to conventionally built structures.

Holder said building height limitations in residential areas pose a serious problem to the use of solar energy facilities on houses. He added that solar easements - the right to receive solar energy across another person's real property for efficient use of solar energy devices - are especially necesary.

One witness, however, testified that solar energy has not worked well for all buildings.

Ralph Lotta of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation said cooling with solar energy has proven uneconomical at one of the agency's units in El Paso. He credited the problem to the narrow temperature band necessarily maintained for MHMR clients but was unable to provide more information.

Another witness testified that Texas is not alone among states without provisions for funding solar energy implementation.

Thirty states have no programs for public financing solar facilities, according to Jack Reynolds of the State Comptroller of Public Accounts of-

In addition, Reynolds said, another survey of 23 major lending institutions in Texas showed no legal barriers to loans for solar energy facilities. However, loan officers agreed that there seems to be little demand for such loans. The solar committee's next meeting will be Sept. 3 in the Senate Chambers of the state Capitol.

GM to recall million cars

DETROIT (AP) - More than 1 million General Motors Corp. cars will be recalled to fix a pollution control device, the automaker has

GM said Wednesday it will ask owners of 1,034,000 Chevrolet, Pontiac, Buick and Oldsmobile models produced in the 1977 and 1978 model years to take the cars to dealers and have exhaust recirculation valves fixed.

The cars affected were GM's entire production in those two years with the 3.8-liter, or 232-cubic inch, V-6 engine. It was GM's largest recall to fix a pollution problem, though not an industry record. Ford Motor Co. once recalled 1.4 million cars for a similar Tests by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency showed excessive nitrogen oxide emissions because the valves get clogged with exhaust deposits, GM said.

Chewing tobacco carries own dangers

Dear Dr. Solomon: I feel as if I've gone from the frying pan into the fire. I finally convinced my 18-year-old son that smoking is stupid; now he has started experimenting with chewing tobacco. He explains that chewing the stuff will not cause lung cancer, and that many professional athletes indulge in the practice. Dear Mr. M.: Chewing tobacco may not cause lung cancer, but it does produce harmful changes in the tissues of the mouth that can lead to a condition caled oral leukoplakia (also known as smoker's tongue or smoker's patches). This is a disease characterized by white, thickened patches on the inner lining of the cheeks, gums and tongue.
