Texas Tech to establish medical residency training program here

Staff Writer

A joint effort to establish a Family Practice Residency Training Program in Midland was announced Monday evening by Texas Tech University President Lauro F. Cavazos.

The program, which is currently in the formative stages, would be similar in nature to other medical training programs in Amarillo, Lubbock, El Paso and, ultimately, in Odessa.

It is being developed through the efforts of Texas Tech School of Medicine, Midland Memorial Hospital and Midland County Medical Society. The residency training program would start with four residents and, after three years, would expand to 12 residents, Dr. Cavazos said. One of the "fringe benefits" for Midlanders will be expanded medical service. The thrust of the program, of course, is "family practice.

Midland was chosen for the program, said Dr. Cavazos, because of the amount of "community support" present here and because the city has "a first class medical facility" — Midland Memorial Hospital.

There will be "a long lag time" in the start-up of the program, according to Dr. Cavazos, who is also president of Texas Tech's Health Sciences Center. If work on the program began today, he said, it still would be at least 18 months before it could begin because the university would have to attract staff and develop the program.

Texas Tech also hopes to acquire the start-up costs for the program from House Bill 282, the university president said.

For the meantime, however, there will be a lot of planning and recruiting of faculty members. From the people of Midland, Dr. Cavazos said, the university needs "a lot of support."

In his announcement to business and civic leaders in the Petroleum Club, Dr. Cavazos noted that Texas Tech is aware of "the whole issue of health care" in the West Texas area. Physicians trained by the university's medical school serve an area of 128,000 square miles, or roughly a third of

Dr. Cavazos said that in West Texas there are only about 70 physicians per 100,000 population, leaving this area on the short end of the stick. That physician shortage is a problem the university has committed itself to

He noted that most physicians will choose to practice where they receive their residency training. Residency training programs take a lot of cooperation, he said

But speaking of Midland's potential, he added, "You've got a magnificent hospital out there.'

The need in West Texas now is to retain physicians, he said, thus the start of Midland's residency training program.

Following Dr. Cavazos' announcement, Chamber of Commerce President Ray Moudy commented, "This is certainly a momentous occasion for Midland.

In addition to Dr. Cavazos, others present for the announcement included several members of the Texas Tech board of regents.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., declined to comment on specific contingency plans today after his Energy Committee was given a secret briefing by administration officials including representatives of the CIA.

Jackson said various published reports have said it could take as long as a year to restore destroyed or damaged oil facilities. But he said "there is greater confidence now that we can see restoration earlier."

Bush, Rosalynn in Texas

Make separate stops in Cowtown

FORT WORTH (AP) - Taking his cue from a popular bumper sticker, George Bush said he was "mad, too," during his first Texas campaign stop in two weeks, and just on the heels of First Lady Rosalynn Carter.

Bush was introduced to a political rally at Texas Christian University by Fort Worth oilman Eddie Childs. whose peppery, conservative radio commercials outlining complaints about the federal government have spawned big sales of a bumper sticker that says "I'm Mad Too, Eddie."

Those were Bush's exact words when he reached the podium at the Monday rally.

"I'm mad, too, Eddie, and I want to tell you why," said Bush, explaining he was angry at President Carter for trying to depict Bush's running mate, GOP presidential candidate Ronald Reagan, as the "war" candidate.

"I've heard Carter say that a vote for Reagan is a vote for war," Bush said. "Well, let me tell you something about peace and war.

"Ronald Reagan has the opportunity to be the real peace president. His policy, his approach is realistic, not naive. It would not take Ronald Reagan three and one-half years to understand that you do not trust the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Carter defended her huse, band's statement and also suggested that putting Reagan in the White House could increase the risk of

"Jimmy Carter is the president of peace," she said during a news conference. "Not a single U.S. serviceman has lost his life in combat since he has been in office.'

Pausing, she continued. 'Mr. Reagan has said some things that need to be looked into."

When asked for an explation, she said, "Well, he has proposed that American troops be sent into about a dozen places. Bush said he also is "mad" about Carter's economic policies, which he said have not checked inflation and have put the price of a new house out of reach of most young familes.

"Jimmy Carter has failed the family in the United States," he said, insisting that the economy and Carter's handling of it should be the No. 1 issue in the campaign.

"The federal deficit — it was just announced this week — will be $65.2 billion for fiscal year 1980. He (Carter) promised to have the budget balanced by 1980. Instead, we have a deficit of $65.2 bililion.

"I'm mad about that and so should every other American be." Sharing his anger with those he meets on the campaign trail is a job he relishes, Bush said.

Clements gets applause from Texas educators

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - National Democratic Chairman John White says he expected Republican Gov. Bill Clements to get a warm reception in their "debate" before an audience of Texas educators.

"It was the governor's crowd. I knew that before I came," White said after he and Clements appeared before 2,000 delegates to the joint convention of the Texas Association of School Boards and Texas Association of School Administrators.

Although the event originally was billed as a debate of the Democratic and Republican platform planks on education, the appearance amounted to separate speeches - with no question or answer sessions or time for rejoinders.

Judging by the applause, Clements was favored by the educators, who generally oppose federal intervention in school operations.

Clements received a standing ovation after he called for the return of state and local control over school

Speaking first, White assailed the Republican platform planks on busing, prayer and collective bargaining by teachers.

"We (Democrats) think we ought to look to the future - not turn back to the past," said White, a former Texas Agriculture Commissioner.

Government may shut down

WASHINGTON (AP) - Federal officials, although still expecting a lastminute reprieve from Congress, are preparing to shut down virtually the entire government tonight, except those activities needed to protect "life and property."

The unprecedented step will become necessary if Congress fails to complete action on an emergency spending bill in time for President Carter to sign it before midnight.

House-Senate negotiators arranged to begin meeting today to work out differences between the two chambers' versions of the bill.

Robert Havel, spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget, said federal agencies already have plans for closing down operations Wednesday although adding that some details "are still being ironed

Havel said late Monday it is not yet clear just which federal officials could continue working under the "life and property" exemption, although adding, "We're still hoping the bill will be completed."

The "life and property" rule apparently would allow much of the military to continue to function, as well as federal prisons, veterans' hospitals and many police activities.

But, unlike previous years when one or two agencies have been threatened with shutdowns, this year's stopgap spending bill covers nearly the entire federal government and its five million civilian and military em-

The bill's scope is unusually broad because none of the 13 regular appropriations bills has been enacted into law as fiscal 1980 ends tonight atmidnight.

Also, government officials are confronted with a ruling issued by Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti in April saying they cannot legally spend money unless specifically authorized to do so by Congress.

That spending authority expires to-

Congress failed to move quickly Monday to approve the stopgap spending bill, despite a Senate concession on the troublesome issue of public financing for abortions,

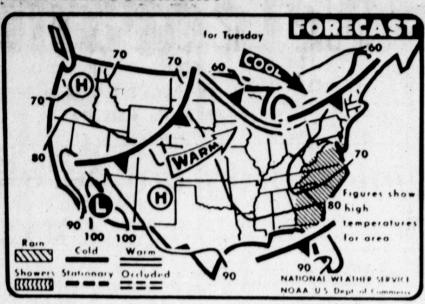

Before approving the spending bill early Monday afternoon, the Senate accepted, 47-37, a House proposal to let states make restrictions on Medicaid abortion payments even tougher than federal regulations.

The federal government currently pays for abortions only when a woman's life is in danger or in cases of rape or incest.

The Senate approved those restrictions again but also agreed to permit states to limit Medicaid abortion payments to just cases where a woman's life is in danger or even to bar such payments altogether.

The House, however, delayed appointing negotiators to the House-Senate conference committee for several hours, forcing postponement of its first meeting until today.

The major issues facing the committee were spending levels, with the House higher than the Senate; low-income fuel aid, with the House version more favorable to northern states than the Senate's; and abortion, with the House wanting to allow payments only when a mother's life is in danger.

Warm, sunny days ahead

Midlanders may be exposed to some good ol' Southern comfort sunshine and warm weather for awhile after surviving a veritable New Orleans monsoon and London fog for the past week.

Midland's 11-day, drought-breaking September rain brought in an official 9.70 inches, which set a record for monthly rainfall in the Midland-Odessa area since the early 1930s, when weather reports were recorded by the National Weather Service here.

The previous record was in September 1932, when 8.18 inches fell. The next highest rainfall was 7.73 inches in July 1975.

The average rainfall for September is 1.54 inches, according to a weatherman with the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

Total for the year stands at 15.7 inches, slightly more than 2 inches above the average yearly rainfall of High on Wednesday should be in the upper 80s after an overnight low expected to be in the upper 50s.

Monday's high temperature was 75 degrees, which lags behind the record of 102 degrees for the date in 1977. The overnight low of 56 degrees trailed the record low of 42 degrees for a Sept. 30 in 1936.

Carter hopes New York loves him too

At the heart of the effort is a fear that Anderson could win enough Democratic votes that Ronald Reagan would take New York's 41 electoral votes, the second-largest prize in the Nov. 4 sweepstakes.

Carter did everything he could on Monday during a four-hour visit to New York to appeal to the state's voters, declaring his staunch support of Israel, his love for New York and his ties with organized labor.

The trip was his first political journey in a stepped-up schedule that will have him traveling four and possibly five days out of a ten-day period.

Joel McCleary, the New York state coordinator of Carter's campaign, predicted that the president would win in New York because he was "at least even, if not ahead, upstate,' normally a Republican area.

But McCleary said there was "a huge undecided factor" among the Jewish community, a key voting element in New York politics. He said the Carter organization has Carter visited the city to address the annual convention of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, a liberal labor organization with important ties to both the Liberal Party, which has endorsed Anderson, and the the Democratic Party.

Testimony under way in bar shooting

By ED TODD

James Allen "Frog" Johnson testified Monday afternoon that he shot ssailants, killed wounded their mother and a bystander in a barroom brawl after two brothers attacked him with chairs and backed him into a corner at Price's Bar in southeast Midland on May 17.

"I was scared," said the 31-year-old Johnson.

Johnson, who was exonerated of murder and aggravated assault suspicions by a grand jury, was indicted for carrying a prohibited weapon in a bar licensed to sell alcoholic beverages. He is being tried by a sevenwoman, five-man jury in Judge Vann Culp's 238th State District Court.

"IT'S ALL RIGHT to kill a man," Johnson's defense attorney, Kevin Bartley of Odessa, wryly told the jurors before the trial started Monday afternoon, "but whether you should you do it in a bar is the question."

Johnson, testifying in his own defense after Assistant District Attorney Rob Sutphen had presented the state's case against him, said he had gotten into a running feud with the fatally-wounded victim, Wilbur Williams, 28, earlier in May following a dispute while they were "shooting dice" at a car wash.

After a toss of dice, Williams allegedly grabbed $50 belonging to Johnson, who said that Williams hadn't fairly won the money. A fight ensued, Johnson said he won the brawl and blackened Williams' eye. For several days afterward, Johnson said he had heard that Williams, supposedly

ONCE IN THE BAR, Johnson said his date, Aletha Sarge, took a .22-caliber from her purse and gave it to him. Johnson put the pistol in the back pocket of his blue jeans, he recalled. Johnson said he was sitting at a table when Williams walked over to him and "was talking nice" to him, but said he didn't appreciate the swollen eye Johnson had caused in the scuffle at the car wash. Johnson said he didn't much like Williams' unfairly taking his $50.

The barroom brawl started after Williams' brother, Leroy Jackson, came over and supposedly hit Johnson with his fist. The brothers then picked up chairs and attacked Johnson, who said he stumbledand fell backward, became cornered, and in self-defense pulled the pistol and fired about five rounds

Williams was fatally wounded, and injured were his brother, and their mother, Sarah Lee Moore Brown, and a bystander, Charles Patterson. dolph Whitley Jr., Price's Bar's

"THEY WERE jumping on 'Frog'...with some chairs," Whitley said. They had pushed him to the wall ... hitting and hitting at him...There wasn't no way they were going to stop."

Bar owner Jesse Price said he heard some rumbling, started to use the bar's telephone to call police, but changed his mind when he heard the gunfire and "I went out of the bar then...I'm afraid of gunshots."

"Have you heard them before in your bar," Bartley asked Price.
"Yes, I have," he said of the 16 years he has owned the tavern. Price said neither Johnson nor Williams previously had caused disturbances in the bar. "He ain't never been no trouble in there," Price said of Johnson.

"Sure, he (Williams) ain't been no trouble, either," he said.

MRS. BROWN, another witness and a victim of the gunfire, said she and her son, Wilber Williams, were seated at the bar and that her other son, Leroy Jackson, was dancing with Williams' fiancee when Johnson walked into the bar.

Prosecutors to play more Brilab tapes

HOUSTON (AP) - Prosecutors say they have 13 more secret Brilab tapes to play before closing their briberyextortion case against Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and Austin attorneys Donald Ray and Randall Wood. The three were indicted June 12 by a grand jury on charges of extortion, bribery, conspiracy and racketeering in an alleged insurance kickback scheme, one of the many investigations by federal agents in the farreaching Brilab operation.

Most of the evidence presented so far has consisted of tapes made by FBI informant Joseph Hauser, now serving a 30-month sentence for insurance bribery, and FBI undercover agents Larry Montague and Michael Wachs.

Once all of the tapes are heard, prosecutors say they plan to call several witnesses including Russell 'Rusty' Kelley, Clayton's administrative assistant. In the recordings heard Monday, Clayton said he believed a multi-million dollar-a-year state employees insurance contract would be reopened for bids and "we may have things about turned around." That conversation with labor leader L.G. Moore, was intercepted by an FBI wiretap.

The speaker also said on the tape it would be necessary for the representatives of Prudential Life Insurance Co. to return to the State Capitol in Austin and outline their program. Those representatives were, in fact, Hauser, Montague, and Wachs. During the recording played Monday, Clayton was asked by Moore if he needed any help.

The 20-year house veteran said, "I may need you to get the word" to some legislative candidates who supported him for speaker. The West Texas millionaire is locked in a tough fight for a fourth two-year term as

Later on the tape, Moore talked with Kelley and asked how much money would be needed to support legislative candidates pledged to Kelley said he didn't know.

Moore suggested $10,000 and Kelley answered, "that sounds very reason-

Moore was indicted with Clayton, Wood and Ray, but will be tried at a later date.

In earlier tape recordings Ray said three members of a board that handled state employees insurance "are subject to political pressure." Ray told Moore that three of the six

State Employees Retirement Board members "can be manipulated." The board selects insurance policies for state employees.

Wood, Ray's law partner, was heard to tell Moore that the only way to get the state health insurance contract was to come up with a lower bid and better benefits and "You are not going to be able to buy this con-

Limited med school enrollment urged

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) - Predicting a surplus of 70,000 doctors by 1990, a panel of medical experts today urged that medical schools limit enrollments and encourage new doctors to forgo glamorous surgical specialties in favor of general practice.

The Graduate Medical Education National Advisory Committee also recommended extra federal financial rewards for practice in areas with a shortage of doctors.

The voluminous report, to Secretary of Health and Human Services Patricia Roberts Harris, was being released at a news conference today by Dr. Alvin R. Tarlov, a University of Chicago medical school professor who chaired the panel.

"There will be too many physicians in 1990. There will be substantial imbalances in some specialties," the panel predicted. "There will continue to be a marked unevenness in the geographic distribution of physic-

The panel said the nation had 375,-000 active physicians in 1978, almost 44,000 fewer than it needed.

But by 1990, it forecast, there will be 536,000, a surplus of 70,000. And at the turn of the century, the number will grow to 643,000, or 145,000 more than needed, the report said.

The ratio of physicians to population, which was 171 per 100,000 in 1978, will jump to 220 per 100,000 in 1990 and 247 per 100,000 in 2000, it said.

With 67,000 students now in the nation's 126 medical schools, the report said no new schools should be opened. And it recommended that by 1984 the schools cut new enrollments at least 10 percent from the 1978-79 class or 17 percent from this fall's class.

At the same time, however, the panel urged caution not to thwart efforts to enroll more minorities.

But it said the number of foreign medical school graduates allowed to practice in this country should be severely restricted. The 40,000 to 50,-000 foreign graduates expected to begin practice here in the 1980s account for the bulk of the projected surplus, the report said. It said that to encourage students to become primary-care physicians rather than surgical specialists, the early phase of medical school should emphasize "a broad-based clinical experience" and put "a more vigorous and imaginative emphasis ... on ambulatory care.'

The report said medical graduates over the next decade should be urged to enter either specialties where shortages are expected by 1990 such as child psychiatry, emergency medicine, preventive medicine or general psychiatry - or the primarycare fields of pediatrics, internal medicine and family practice.

It also urged that government fees for general practitioners be the same as for specialists, who now are paid

The report said 95 percent of the people in any given area should have to travel no more than: -Thirty minutes for child care.

adult medical care and emergency medical service. -Forty-five minutes for obstetrical

-Ninety minutes for general surgical services.

The panel also predicted the number of physician assistants, nurse practitioners and nurse midwives will rise from 10,000 in 1978 to 40,000 in 1990 and said their growing numbers compound the potential doctor surplus. It recommended an extensive examination of those roles.

The report, which runs more than 1,000 pages, could have a major impact on federal policies on physician training and reimbursement through Medicare, Medicaid and other pro-

Nurses dispute guidelines suggested for supervision

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - For almost two years, doctors and nurses have been uncertain about the kinds of patient care purses may offer without a physician's direct supervision.

The House Health Services Committee voted 6-0 Monday for a proposed solution, but nurses responded it left too much control in the hands of the doctors.

The committee's bill would authorize doctors to delegate performance of various medical acts but hold physicians responsible if something goes

An attorney general's opinion in late 1978 questioned the legality of "standing orders" that enabled nurses to operate family planning, venereal disease and well-baby clinics without a full-time doctor.

Former Attorney General John Hill said if a doctor delegated a medical function to a nurse, the physician had to supervise and control the nurse's performance.

Last year, nurses unsuccessfully pushed for a law setting up a Joint Practice Commission to issue rules for nurses to operate under physic-

Rep. Mike Ezzell, D-Snyder, committee chairman, said the report issued Monday "should go a long way toward resolving the issues.'

Nurses, however, object because the proposed bill would give the Board of Medical Examiners authority to decide whether an act involves the "practice of medicine" and to determine whether a medical act can "be properly or safely delegated by

The language they passed ... gives the physicians' board the authority to decide what areas of health care they wish to keep as medicine," said Claire Jordan, executive director of the Texas Nurses Association.

She said her association hopes for more favorable treatment from a Senate committee that also is exploring the problem.

Ms. Jordan said that since Hill's opinion was issued, "some nurses" have continued to perform illegally" while others have been forced to curtail the tasks they are allowed to

In Dallas, she said, a VD clinic attempted to have a doctor see each patient, "but the lines got so great they just gave it up as an absurd

Eleven-year-old pays medical bill

(AP) — Eleven-year-old Morgan representative Bob Kurtzo heard about the boy and Rowe, who lost his left arm and much of the use of his mentioned him to the Bear Archery Co. in Gainesright arm in an accident, spent five years selling bottles and newspapers to raise money. Now, with a little help from some strangers, he's paid off his $30,000 medical bill. . .

"I thought I'd be grown before I paid it off," said the boy as he handed South Georgia Medical Center a $17,713.22 check

Rowe was injured when he fell off a tractor at his father's fence company here. He was dragged under the machine, which destroyed his left arm and mangled his right.

After 31/2 months in the medical center and in Atlanta's Scottish Rite hospital, he set out to pay his bills. He scoured roadsides picking up cans and bottles. He collected and sold newspapers.

"He has gathered hundreds of cans, thousands of cans, I don't know how many," his mother, Lucille Rowe, said by telephone from their Gainesville, Fla.,

"He started out with Coke bottles. Then he read...about recycling cans. I thought he'd give up after a while, but he's kept up. He's still doing it.' First, he paid off the $455 ambulance bill. Then he put $2,500 down on the hospital bill. His family raised another $9,000 toward the hospital bill. Then, in July, Reynolds Aluminum Co. recycling ville, which makes aluminum arrows.

The archery company donated its scrap metal to benefit Rowe. And as the boy's story made headlines, contributions from 2,000 people began pouring Donations totaled about $25,000, according to Nancy Ward, a Bear Archery representative. Money not needed for hospital bills was being set aside for the youngster's education, she said.

Kitchens are hot, too

This year's presidential campaigning has not been spared its share of dirtiness and, all-in-all, the final two months before the election may bring one of the hardest fought campaigns ever.

For the most part, it seems, the name-calling and finger-pointing has been limited to the two major party nominees, President Jimmy Carter, the Democrat, and Republican challenger Ronald Reagan. Independent candidate John B. Anderson, it appears, has been virtually spared of the illwill to this point.

But for Reagan and Carter, the campaign has begun to heat up. Each man has had his share of misstatements and slips of the

For Reagan, his biggest boo-boo to date was the much publicized statement about the birthplace of the Ku Klux Klan. Reagan had made the statement that President Carter was opening his campaign in the city that gave birth to the klan

The president immediately jumped on the Republican's statement, saying that Reagan was attempting to bring a racial issue into the presidential campaign. Reagan later apologized to the state of Alabama, the South and the Alabama community of Tuscumbia

Then there was Carter's now famous statement that the choice in November would be one between war and peace, esentailly.

The president had told a labor convention "What you decide on that day, you and those who listen to your voice, will determine what kind of life you and your families will have, whether this nation will make progress or go backward and whether we have peace or

The statement was interpreted to indicate that Reagan is someting of a war-monger who cannot be entrusted with the delicate job of keeping the nation at peace.

While such muckraking is to be expected in a presidential campaign, some elections tend to bring more of it than others. There may be a logical reason why more name-calling is transpiring in this election year, though

Both major party candidates, Anderson and most Americans attach great importance to the 1980 presidential election. Most seem to feel that we must have strong, competent leadership during the next few years to ensure peace and the prosperity of America and her people

Both major party candidates obviously believe they are the man to perform that task. So does Mr. Anderson.

According to the latest polls, Carter and Reagan are neck and neck at this point. Further, Anderson's candidacy is expected to draw votes away from Carter and the Democratic Party and to help Reagan and the Republicans. Anderson is expected to get the vote of many disenchanted Democrats who refuse to cross party lines and vote Republican, but who might support an independent.

But those who think the campaign will get less volatile are simply fooling themselves. Chances are it'll get even rougher as the election nears.

That won't necessarily be bad. After all, we want to see which candidate is the best qualified to lead the nation and how better to test someone's temper and discipline than a heated political conthat he was in power, he supported the United States at every opportunity. He offered us his country when we said we needed a jumping off point for a Cuban invasion. He voted with us in the United Nations. He made it clear Nicaragua was available as an alternative site for a cross-ismus canal if anything happened to the Panama

Unlike the dictators in Cuba, Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union and Red China, Somoza allowed his people to come and go as they pleased. He allowed an opposition party and elections even though like some American politicians he may have stacked the deck when it was time to count the votes. He allowed a free press and religion and both the press and the church criticized him

In fact, if he had acted like a communist dictator, not one which allows any of those things, he would no doubt still be alive and in power and presumably in favor with the U.S. State Department.

You, as an American citizen, ought to question your government. You should ask it why we publicly insulted Somoza, called for his overthrow, cooperated with his enemies, cut off military and economic aid and refused him political asylum, all in the name of human rights. You should ask that question because your government has embraced, provided aid, publicly praised dictators with infinitely worse human rights records than So moza. You should wonder why Sen. Frank Church, the dumbo from Idaho, would stand in the Senate to castigate Somoza but fly to Cuba to praise Castro who is infinitely crueler and who hates you and your country.

The Carter Administration betrayed Somoza. Whether it was cowardice, stupidity or treachery to American interests I don't know, but they sold out Somoza just as surely as Judas sold out Jesus. For a great nation to treat a small loyal ally so treacherously is a disgrace.

Leftist hogwash to the contrary, what you have in Nicaragua now is an incipient communist dictatorship which hates the United States and allied with our enemies. For that you can thank Jimmy Carter and American liberals.

As for me, I am not ashamed to say that I am sorry Somoza is dead. Whatever his faults, he certainly earned a few kind words from at least one

Nukes add new twist to Mideast conflict

WASHINGTON - Behind the battle smoke along the Iraqi-Iranian border. Iraq is secretly developing nuclear weapons, which could add a frightening new incendiary in the midst of all those oil barrels and powderkegs.

The Defense Intelligence Agency has concluded that Iraq will become the first Arab nation to build a nuclear arsenal. The Iraqis don't have nuclear weapons that could be turned against the Iranians today, but they are expected to produce "a number of nuclear warheads by 1985.

It's more likely these warheads would be used against Israel. An Iraqi nuclear arsenal, according to one topsecret Pentagon analysis, would have "a potential for threatening Israel," which already is "stockpiling nuclear

This could create "a classic unstable nuclear balance" in the turbulent Middle East, which could lead to a nuclear exchange, warns a related document from the Pentagon's secret

But at least one top analyst believes Israel won't wait around for the Iraqis to produce nuclear weapons. "This most pressing problem for the United States," he writes, "is not the prospect of a nuclear conflict involving Israel and Iraq ... but rather the prospect of a preemptive Israeli strike, with conventional weapons, against the (Iraqi) reactor.

The world can thank the French for introducing this terrifying incendiary into the Persian Gulf oil region. In order to ingratiate themselves with their oil suppliers, the French are shipping enriched, weapons-grade uranium to Iraq. All it takes to build a

Iraq already has an ugly array of Soviet-made missiles, which can be armed with nuclear warheads. A nuclear missile bombardment, of course, would devastate tiny Israel. This threat reportedly has spurred the Israeli intelligence service, Mossad, to sabotage nuclear reactors that France was building for Iraq.

chairman of the Senate Select Intelligence Committee, under White House pressure has turned thumbs down on a Republican request for an immediate, all-out probe of the mysterious disappearance of a trusted U.S. agent in Moscow in the late 1970s

The affair is shrouded in deepest secrecy. But newspaper accounts have mentioned the No. 2 staffer for President Carter's National Security Council, David Aaron, According to the published reports, unnamed Republicans have accused Aaron of in advertently leaking the existence of the spy, a Soviet citizen, to an Eastern European diplomat.

Aaron and NSC spokesmen flatly deny all such allegations. Sen. Malcolm Wallop of Wyoming, a Republican member of the Senate Select Intelligence Committee, wants a complete investigation. But Chairman Bayh is trying to stall it at least until after the election. In a private letter to Wallop, he turned down the request, but agreed to a closed-door discussion by the committee.

Those just happen to be the "big nine" states (plus Connecticut) that will determine Carter's fate. De-George made clear there is no time to waste. He asked for a list of grants no later than Sept. 19.

COURTING ISRAEL

President Carter is sending a preelection, high-level military team to Israel to discuss military security in the upheavals now buffeting the Middle East. The visit is timed just before the Nov. 4 election in hopes of softening Prime Minister Menahem Begin's bitterness against Carter for not vetoing anti-Israeli resolutions in the

SIMON AT PENTAGON

William Simon, the hard-charging treasury secretary under Presidents Nixon and Ford, is boning up on military subjects as part of his undisguised hope to become Ronald Reagan's secretary of defense.

As an early and enthusiastic Reagan booster, Simon can lay claim to a Cabinet post if Reagan wins. But Reagan's national security advisers wince at the thought of Simon taking over the Pentagon. They predict he would quickly fall in love with the military - then later fall out of love in a messy breakup.

A footnote: Democratic Sen. Henry M. Jackson would please Reagan's advisers as defense secretary, and might accept that post though he would much prefer being secretary of state. Another Pentagon possibility well thought of in the Reagan camp is

Koch, whose animosity toward

President Carter publicly surfaced before the Madison Square Garden Democratic National Convention last month, is described by intimates as receptive to Reagan's overtures. That doesn't mean, however, that Koch is considering backing Reagan over Carter on Nov. 4.

Reagan's hope is to impress Koch with his programs to help New York and other major cities solve their mounting problems. He is due in Manhattan next week, and again on Oct. 16-17 to attend the Al Smith Dinner and confer with Cardinal Terrence Cooke.

A footnote: Carter's uphill fight for New York's Jewish voters will be masterminded by a harsh critic liberal operative Ethan Geto, State Attorney General Robert Abrams' political aide who helped launch the successful Draft Kennedy Movement. Carter, desperate for New York's 41 electoral votes, has let bygones be bygones. Geto's next-to-impossible mission: Sell Jimmy to Jewish voters.

'The significance of this list lies in the considerable number of these sites and the fact that many of them may contain impoundments posing a significant contamination risk to groundwater," the panel said.

However, Moffett said, problems with individual listings do not affect the overall importance of the list in focusing attention on the problem of chemical contamination. He said he hoped citizen concern would force local officials to take the problem seriously.

"We felt that the sites are generally known to the states, but there appeared to be a roadblock in that we don't see any action," Moffett said.

In some areas, he said, "the whole issue is sort of poohpoohed" by local officials who fear public alarm or who do not know what to do about contaminated water. "We have had many communities that have had their drinking water

'Buttoned-up' homes may be dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) - The same energy-saving methods that prevent winter heat and summer air conditioning from leaking from a home or office may be sealing in pollutants, a congressional report says.

Those pollutants, according to the U.S. General Accounting Office, may increase the risk of respiratory illnesses and, in some cases, cancer.

A report issued Monday by the GAO questioned the wisdom of the federal government's energy saving program, which grants tax credits to those who insulate their homes and offices. "In attempting to resolve the nation's energy shortage, the government may very well be advocating solutions which will adversely affect public health," the report concluded.

"Efforts to button up homes, schools and office buildings to decrease their energy use permits less air to enter or escape. Pollutants produced indoors are trapped and their concentrations increase," the GAO report said.

DEAR ABBY Doors open and close for neighbor boy

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: NO OPEN HOUSE wrote to say that her neighbor who lives alone has his 9-year-old grandson visiting him all summer. She said, "I don't want to sound like an old scrooge, but the boy spends most of the day at my house, playing with my two, ages 8 and 10. He helps himself to snacks, argues with my children and behaves like a typical 9-year-old. I don't want to be rude, but six hours a day, every day, is a little wearing. How do I handle this?" Your reply warmed my heart. You said, "Please don't turn the boy away. If he gets unruly, discipline him as you would your own children. I realize that six hours a day can be wearing, but a 9-year-old who has been sent to his grandfather's all summer probably needs loving care and acceptance more than most children, so please be extra patient and understanding.

What a lovely, compassionate person you are. Bless you, Abby!— CAROLINE G., PHILADELPHIA

When I am in a restaurant or store with parents whose small children are misbehaving and causing a fuss, the parents will say, "If you don't behave yourself, I am going to call that cop over here, and he will take you away and lock you up!'

The parents may not realize it, but they are putting the fear of the police into their children's heads and making the law officer out to be a bad man-to be hated and feared. It's hard enough for us to gain the respect of children today without having this kind of image to fight.

A child who is lost needs to know that the police officer is his friend and is there to help.-CPL. JOHN ADDIS, CLARKESVILLE, GA.

DEAR CPL.: Thanks for a valuable suggestion. Being lost is traumatic enough, but the child who has been followed, bullied or molested needs to know that he can get help and protection from any police officer in sight.

DEAR ABBY: I read your advice urging joggers to carry identification. Why just joggers? EVERY-ONE should carry identification.

In spite of repeated warnings from my mother, the most my father ever had in the way of identification was his initials in his hat! Because his work kept him within earshot of our home, he thought he was safe.

But it finally happened. We spent many agonizing hours trying to locate him, during which time he died in a hospital.-RUTH IN CINCY.

DEAR HELOISE:

In these times, when making ends meet is rough, especially for new parents like us, I've found a wonderful way to make sure baby eats a nutritious meal, and save money at the same time.

Canned baby foods are so expensive. So instead of buying them, I buy fresh and fresh-frozen vegetables. I prepare them in just a little water, cooking until Jennifer Dorn, chair of the caucus, said in the report "that despite the fact that Congress has passed numerous civil rights laws which apply to the private sector, such protections do not exist for congressional employees.

She said Congress has 'chosen to exempt itself" from the Civil Rights Act, Equal Pay Act, the Equal Opportunity Act, and other employee protection laws.

Legislation has been proposed to establish a special Fair Employment Relations Board to settle employee grievthe average salary for pared to $21,745 for female workers on House men.

TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN RESOURCES

TITLE 20 SOCIAL SERVICES PLAN

The final 1981 social services program for Texas has been prepared by the Department of Human Resources in cooperation with citizens throughout the state. The plan is available for public review.

COMPREHENSIVE ANNUAL SERVICES PROGRAM RLAN FOR TEXAS (CASPP)

October 1, 1980 to September 30, 1981

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN PROPOSED AND FINAL PLAN-The proposed Title 20 plan was published June 16, 1980. Public comments were accepted through July 31. Changes in the final plan show updated estimates of the number of people to be served and program cost. A summary of the major differences between the proposed and ORGANIZATION STRUCTURE - The State Office organization section and charts have been updated to include changes made in DHR's organizational structure to improve service delivery and reemphasize the agency's attention toward clients.

FEES FOR SERVICES

Family Planning: The proposal to charge a fee for family planning patients has been withdrawn from the final CASPP. Comments reflected considerable disagreement with the concept and process

Day Care: The weekly fee for one child receiving day care services has been raised from 1.5% of the gross monthly income to 2%. The increase will generate more income, thus providing more funds to raise quality of care where appropriate and to serve more children. The day care fee schedule has been revised to reflect the in-

SERVICE DEFINITIONS - The Alternate Care for Aged, Blind, and Disabled program has been changed to Alternate Care for Aged and Disabled Adults (ACAD). (Blind individuals are included in the disabled category.) The congregate component of the Congregate and Home Delivered Meals will not be deleted as proposed. Adult Day Care is changed to Day Activities and Health Services to show added optional health components. These components increase the capability to provide services for persons who would have been eligible for care in nursing (ICF II) facilities.

PROGRAM EXPENDITURES - Estimates of program expenditures in the proposed CASPP were based on a $2.5 billion national ceiling. The figures in the final CASPP are based on a ceiling of $2.7 billion. Although Congress has not passed an appropriations bill for 1981, the department is optimistic that the Title 20 ceiling will be no less than $2.7 billion approved for 1980. This will mean some increases in every program area, but with the greatest emphasis on day care and family planning contracts.

CATALOG OF SERVICE - Clients certified eligible for Alternate Care for Aged and Disabled Adults services on September 30, 1980, will remain eligible for these services. ACAD eligibility/priority system has been simplified to include fewer categories.

PURCHASE OF SERVICE PROVIDERS - The list of Title 20 contract agencies has been updated to include contracts in effect as of July

Moore, Fry feud heats up

DALLAS (AP) — The Jerry Moore-Hayden Fry word feud is headed toward the American Football Coaches Association Ethics Committee January meeting in Miami.

Moore, furious over Fry's charges that he supplied Nebraska with information about Iowa before the Hawkeyes took a 57-0 drubbing two weeks ago, spoke by telephone Monday with Cornhusker Coach Tom Osborne, a member of the committee.

"Tom is on the Ethics Committee and we will sit in there together on this," said Moore. Fry also is a member of the com-

Joining Moore in protest was North Texas Athletic Director Andy Everest, who like Moore was a former assistant under Fry

"I would hope that the situation is indeed brought before the committee," said Everest. "We certainly don't have anything to hide.

Moore said Monday "I just wouldn't do something like that and I talked to Tom about it this morning. I've lost a lot of respect for Hayden. In fact, I've severed my friendship. It (Fry's statement) was totally uncalled

Moore said he was writing the captains of the Iowa football team and Athletic Director Bump Elliott to tell them how he felt. Fry said Moore supplied Osborne with volumes of information about Fry's coaching tendencies. Moore was an aide to Fry at SMU and went to Nebraska in 1972. He succeeded Fry as head coach at NTSU when Fry moved to Iowa "We came here so quick that we left six years of game films from North Texas State, plus the last two at SMU," Fry said. "You break down eight years of game films, throw the information in a computer, and you can get a pattern of tendencies in a

Fry said he felt like a "gutted snowbird" when he found out where the information came from.

"I did not send Nebraska any SMU film and only sent them the last two games of the 1977 season just like I would honor a request from any school," said Moore. "I spent two days at Nebraska in the spring and Iowa never came up.

"I was loyal to Hayden and worked hard for him. I guess this is a case of who do you believe.

He added, "How can you give some-one 57 points worth of information?" Everest added " it is grossly unfair of Hayden to publicly state or to imply that Coach Moore was in any way

In the late stages of a pennant race, you'll take your heroics from anybody. Montreal's anybody Monday night was seldom-used catcher John Tamargo while Philadelphia's savior was stellar second baseman Manny

Time running out, but Birds keep on swinging

By The Associated Press

BOSTON (AP) - Time is running out, but Manager Earl Weaver and his Baltimore Orioles are still swinging away like true champs.

'The lid remains ajar," Weaver said Monday night after the Orioles kept their American League East title hopes alive with a 5-2, 4-3 doubleheader sweep of the Boston Red Sox.

"We're not out of it - we're not quitters," said slugger Eddie Murray who became only the fifth switch-hitter in major league history to crack 30 homers in a season in deciding the nightcap.

Weaver continued to try to psyche the New York Yankees, whose division lead was trimmed to 31/2-games "They can't close it tomorrow," the Baltimore manager said, "People would forget the 1964 Phillies forever

Weaver was thinking of Philadelphia's collapse 16 years ago, when the Phillies blew a six-game lead with just 12 to play.

However, with just five games to play, one fewer than the Yankees, the Orioles are four behind in the vital loss column. New York's magic number is three, meaning any combination of Yankee victories and Oriole defeats will bury Baltimore's 1979 league champs.

"They've won more and lost fewer than us," Weaver said. "Thinking about losing is not a good feeling. They're making us watch the scoreboard. But, heck, watching the scoreboard, that's the fun of it. It's just that those guys for the last month have been losing up to the ninth inning and all the time winning.

With the doubleheader sweep of the Red Sox, the Orioles boosted their September record to 20-9. Since mov ing to within one-half game of New York on Aug. 27, they have won 22 of 33 games. The Yankees, though, have gone 24-7 in the same stretch. That has only one definition: Baltimore is not blowing any title. The Yankees are winning it on their own. Right-hander Dennis Martinez, plagued by arm trouble earlier in the season, allowed only five hits, including a ninth inning leadoff homer by Jim Rice, in boosting his record to 6-4 in the first game. Murray rallied Baltimore from a 3-2 deficit with an opposite field homer into the screen after a one-out triple by Ken Singleton in the sixth. With his 30th homer, Murray joined Singleton, Mickey Mantle, Reggie Smith and Rip Collins as the only switch-hitters to achieve that pla-

Buckeyes, Huskers close in on Tide

By The Associated Press

Ohio State and Nebraska closed in The Associated Press college football poll while all three major teams from the State of Florida appeared together in the Top Twenty for the first time

The Crimson Tide of Alabama, shooting for an unprecedented third consecutive national championship, defeated Vanderbilt 41-0 and received 36 of 65 first-place votes and 1.254 of a possible 1,300 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Ohio State, a 38-21 winner over Arizona State that knocked the losers out of the Top Twenty along with four other teams, received 22 first-place ballots and 1,245 points. Nebraska had seven first-place votes and 1,181 points for a 21-7 victory over Penn State that dropped the Nittany Lions from 11th place to 17th.

Last week, the count was 34-26-2 in first-place ballots and 1,215-1,183-1,053 in total points with 63 voters participating. While the top three teams remained the same, there was plenty of shuffling below then as Miami, Fla., Florida and Baylor all made the Top Twenty for the first time this season while Stanford and South Carolina reappeared after a week's absence. Washington, Michigan, Auburn, Maryland and Arizona State all dropped out.

Southern California defeated Minnesota 24-7 and climbed from fifth to fourth with 1,061 points. The Trojans replaced Oklahoma, which lost to Stanford 31-14 and plummeted from fourth to 12th.

Texas, a 35-0 winner over Oregon State, jumped from seventh to fifth with 1,004 points while Pitt remained in sixth place with 992 points after

The Bulldogs were followed by Missouri, up from 12th to ninth with 755 points for a 31-7 triumph over San Diego State, and North Carolina, 14th a week ago but 10th after a 17-3 victory over Maryland. The Second Ten consists of UCLA, Oklahoma, Miami, Arkansas, Stanford, Florida State, Penn State, South Carolina, Florida and Baylor. Last week, it was Penn State, Missouri, Washington, North Carolina, Arkan-sas, UCLA, Michigan, Auburn, Maryland and Arizona State.

Miami, off to its best start (4-0) in 26 years, made the Top Twenty for the first time since 1974 by edging Florida State 10-9. Florida, winless a year ago, boosted its record to 3-0 by downing previously unbeaten Mississippi State 21-15 and Baylor is 3-0 after defeating Texas Tech 11-3.

Andrews' next foe is unbeaten Pecos, which slithered by Fort Stockton 10-0 on a 26-yard run by Bobby Johnson and a 20-yard field goal by District 6-A, after a week off, plunges into conference play this week with Rankin, among Texas' top 10, favored to win, but facing one of its toughest challengers in the opener at Iraan. Greenwood, 2-1, is at Sanderson; Balmorhea goes to Grandfalls, and Buena Vista is at Wink.

With a couple of hundred players on and off the tour, that isn't much wealth to spread around, so the nomadic existence of the participants is also a spartan life. Grogan to Morgan combo proves to be aerial magic act

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) - When Stanley Morgan of the Patriots is covered man to man, look out. And when New England quarterback Steve Grogan throws it his way, for-

Thus far this National Football League season, the Patriots have been able to count on either a 30-yard gain or a quick six points from Mor-

Grogan and Morgan performed their aerial magic again Monday night before a national television audience to lift the Patriots to a 23-14 National Football League victory over the Denver Broncos, avengingan embarassing 45-10 defeat at Mile High Stadium last year.

We felt we owed them something from last year," said defensive lineman Richard Bishop, a free agent holdout playing in his first game since coming to terms with the club last

Grogan, who came into the game as the American Football Conference's top-rated passer, hit on 17 of 24 passes for 209 yards and one touchdown. Morgan grabbed three tosses for 83 yards and a score. In four games, Morgan has caught just 10 passes, but they have accounted for 336 yards and

The victory hiked the Patriots season record to 3-1, and improved their dismal Monday night mark to 2-7.

Trailing 14-10 in the third quarter, the Patriots faced a second-downthree situation at the Broncos' 45yard line. When Grogan noticed Morgan had drawn single coverage from Steve Foley, he knew it was time for the bomb.

"I saw Stanley was covered manto-man." Grogan said. "I just threw the ball up there for him. No one else in this league could have caught it." Morgan, running full speed, snared the ball with his fingertips at the goal line for the go-ahead touchdown. Foley came up in a bump-and-run and then had me man-to-man," Morgan said. "I ran a post and Grogan put it out there for me to run under. He put me to the test. I really had to run for it.

As the Grogan-Morgan show continued to roll, the New England defense played its best game of the season, holding Denver to just 170 yards, 52 in the second half.

Grogan said he and the club are coming into their own after several roller-coaster seasons that often left him hearing boos from the hometown

"I think there's much more unity, emotion and all those other cliches on this team this year," Grogan said. "It's really fun to be out there ... personally, I quit playing for the crowd. It used to be when the crowd was up, so was I, and when the crowd was down, I was, too.'

"I'm very pleased with the defense," said New England Coach Ron Erhardt. "That's the big thing. And it's just going to be nothing but better each week

It was an especially gratifying victory for Erhardt considering last year's debacle at Denver. "This is the sweetest. There was more to this one," he said.

Denver Coach Red Miller said of his team's 1-3 mark for the season: "This is very unusual for me. I'm not used to it and I don't know how to react to Asked about his club's offensive woes, Miller said, "We couldn't take the pressure off our defense. We weren't throwing the ball with authority. We weren't generating anything in the second half, and that's what cost us the game. It was poor play selection, and I'll take the blame for Broncos quarterback Matt Robinson threw only 12 passes, completing eight for 83 yards and his first touchdown of the season, a 17-yarder to Haven Moses in the first quarter.

"I've been through rough things before, but this one hurts the most not just one game, but a string of three games," Robinson said.

Rookie running back Vagas Ferguson accounted for the Patriots other touchdown on a slicing, two-yard burst in the second quarter to give the Pats a 10-7 halftime lead.

Denver running back Otis Armstrong carried three tacklers with him when he scored on an eight-yard run early in the second half to close out the Broncos scoring.

Schmidt's week has dual meaning

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - This last week of the 1980 baseball season has a double meaning to Michael Jack Schmidt

The 31-year-old Philadelphia Phillies' third baseman not only has a chance to be on a division winner, but he also has his first crack at the National League Most Valuable Play-

Schmidt admits the MVP opportunity has crossed his mind.

While he's concentrating on trying to bring the Phillies home a winner in the National League East, Schmidt was quite willing to speak about his chances at the prize individual award.

"I realize I've got a chance. I'm not ignorant to that fact. I'm having a pretty fair year," Schmidt said in his matter-of-fact manner.

Schmidt, who has won his league's Gold Glove for third basemen four consecutive years, is having his best offensive season in the eight years he's been in the major leagues.

At last glance, he led the league in home runs. RBI, total bases and slugging average.

This team has a chance to win a National League pennant and the (MVP) award usually goes to a guy on the winning team. I think I'm one of the contenders for that title," Schmidt said.

"It would be the greatest honor of my life," said the oft-booed 203-pound

Schmidt said he was aware of the other Phillies who could be considered MVP candidates, naming Bake McBride, Steve Carlton and Manny

'Maybe we ought to cut it up in four or five pieces and spread it around," Schmidt guipped.

Green thinks Schmidt has an excellent chance to win the MVP award if he finishes the season strong. 'He certainly can throw the neces-

Green's only criticism of his third baseman was the manager's feeling that Schmidt doesn't practice intensively enough.

Schmidt disagreed with Green on this subject.

Lopez loses *two goals

DALLAS (AP) - Nancy Lopez-Melton wasn't unhappy after picking up the second-place check at the Ladies Professional Golf Association's $150,000 tournament, but she still appeared miffed about her hopes of accomplishing two self-appointed goals.

Lopez-Melton lost her bid to win the title for the second straight year Monday when Jerilyn Britz dropped a 5-foot birdie putt on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff with the defending champion "I had my sights set on being No. 1 money winner and player of the year and I felt a successful defense of my Dallas title would do it," she said after settling for the $14,700 runner-up prize. "Now I must win at San Jose and Japan to clinch the money

Lopez-Melton blew a 1-shot lead with a bogey on the 17th and final hole of the second round of the rain-plagued tournament, which was cut to 35 holes after the third round was cancelled and water left the 10th hole unplayable.

Britz, the defending U.S. Open champion, and Lopez-Melton finished regulation play with 1-under-par 139s before halving the first playoff hole with par-4s. But on the second playoff hole, the par-4 12th, Britz hit a 7-iron to within five feet of the hole and rammed her putt into the middle of the cup to claim the $22,500 first prize. Britz admitted she was nervous before the head-to-head tangle with Lopez-Melton. But I calmed down," she said. "When I had to make the putt, I said to myself 'if it goes all right, if not, all in non-conference play last week with five victories in six games - and a quick look at the statistics tells the Baylor is producing more than twice as much yardage as it allows per game and each game the Texas Longhorns gain about 170 yards more than their foes.

Baylor still stands tall in the numbers game, leading five of the six team stat categories. It rates third in pass defense, taking a back seat to TCU

The Bears defense swarmed Tech, allowing the Raiders only 102 total yards Saturday (minus-36 rushing, 138 passing). That performance catapults Baylor into the SWC total defense lead, with the Bears yielding just 180 yards per game, only 75.3 by

The Bears' offensive numbers dropped some in the defensive display at rainy Lubbock, but their 502 yards per game still paces the conference, as does their 309 yards per game rushing and 193 yards per game pass-

Texas' 3-0 start is complemented by the stat form - the Horns are second to Baylor in total offense (436 yards per game), rushing (275.7), total defense (264.3) and rushing defense

The Horns also boast the conference's only 100-yard rusher with A.J. Jones averaging 139.3 yards per game. With his 119 yards vs. Tech, Baylor's Dennis Gentry hiked his norm to 94.7 yards.

There are new individual leaders in passing efficiency, receiving and punt returns. And a new kicking hero at

Robert Hubble (6-8, 247), who has played some tight end for the Owls. kicked a school record 52-yard field goal in the second quarter during Rice's 17-7 victory over LSU.

Owl quarterback Robert Hoffman, who completed a 15-yard pass to Frank Wilson for the go-ahead TD against LSU, is the new efficiency leader with 147.5 rating points.

TCU's Bobby Stewart caught three key passes from Kevin Haney in Horned Frogs' field-goal drive against Georgia. Stewart is the new receiving leader with 13 catches for 190 yards in three games.

Houston's Lonell Phea has caught 12 in three games. SMU's Anthony Smith, who tied a conference seasonArlington, is third in receiving with 11 grabs in three games.

Baylor freshman Gerald McNeil returned eight Tech punts Saturday and now leads the SWC with an 11.1 yard return average.

McNeil is the only freshman statistical leader and kickoff return leader Thomas Brown of Arkansas the only sophomore, leaving the rest to juniors and seniors.

Rushing leader Jones, a junior, also tops the tandem chart (154.7 yards per game) and scoring (12 points per game). Hoffman and total offense leader Jay Jeffery of Baylor (157.7) are also juniors, as is interceptions co-leader Mike Hatchett of Texas.

Fall breaks

Olson's wrist

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - Billy Olson, an Abilene Christian University senior whose pole vault of 18 feet, 71/2 inches is the best by a college athlete this year, broke his left wrist in a fall Monday, university officials said.

Olson was vaulting over a rope in the gymnastics room, when he fell from about 13 feet and missed a pad, officials said.

Doctors at Hendrick Medical Center said Olson dislocated his left elbow and broke his left wrist in three places.

Dr. Carlton Hodges who performed surgery on Olson, said he would not know the full extent of the injuries for about

Austin tops Henrickson in starless indoor meet

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) - That only five of the world's 25 top-ranked players showed up for this year's U.S. Indoor Women's Tennis Championship may worry promoters, but Ann Henrickson isn't complaining.

The 20-year-old native of a St. Paul suburb was the only amateur to qualify for the tournament, probably because so many top players bowed out. So, though she was soundly thrashed 6-2, 6-2 by Tracy Austin in the tournament's first round Monday in Bloomington, the chance to play before home-town friends perhaps overroad the defeat.

The UCLA junior was not the only player to lose decisively Monday. The day had many one-sided, two-set, mismatches. The only seeded player to play Monday besides top-ranked Austin was No. 4 Dianne Fromholtz of Australia, who easily defeated 18-yearold Christane Jolissaint 6-1, 6-3.

Billie Jean King and Wendy Turnbull, the tournament's second and third seeds respectively, will see first round action tonight.

Henrickson obviously was nervous in front of the modest crowd of fewer than 2,000 spectators. She lost 14 quick points to Austin before winning her first.

The Offer is made solely by the Offer to Purchase dated August 22, 1980, as amended, and the related Letter of Transmittal and is not being made to, nor will tenders be accepted from, holders of securities residing in any jurisdiction in which the making or acceptance thereof would not be in compliance with the securities, blue sky or other laws of such jurisdiction.

Announcement of Amended Offer to Purchase for Cash Any and All Shares of Common Stock

C & K PETROLEUM, INC.

$35.00 Per Share Net

AKI OIL & GAS COMPANY

A Wholly-owned Subsidiary

ALASKA INTERSTATE COMPANY

The offer by AKI Oil & Gas Company, a Delaware corporation (the "Purchaser"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Alaska Interstate Company, an Alaska corporation ("Alaska Interstate"), to purchase any and all shares of common stock, par value $0.10 per share (the "Shares"), of C & K Petroleum, Inc., a Delaware corporation (the "Company"), at $35.00 per Share, net to the seller in cash, has been amended to extend the time during which the offer will remain open to 3:00 P.M., New York City time, on Wednesday, October 15, 1980. The Offer to Purchase dated August 22, 1980, as so amended, and the related Letter of Transmittal together constitute the "Offer.

Upon the terms and subject to the conditions of the Offer, the purchase of and payment for all Shares properly tendered prior to 3:00 P.M., New York City time, on Wednesday, October 15, 1980, will be made as soon as practicable after the tender thereof. All tenders will be irrevocable.

> THE OFFER HAS BEEN EXTENDED AND WILL EXPIRE AT 3:00 P.M., NEW YORK CITY TIME, ON WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1980, UNLESS FURTHER EXTENDED.

The Board of Directors of C & K Petroleum, Inc. has concluded that the Offer is in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders and, by the unanimous vote of all Directors present (with one Director absent), has recommended that each of the Company's stockholders accept the Offer.

The expiration date of the Offer may be further extended from time to time by oral or written notice to the Depositary of such extension, which extension will be promptly announced.

On September 26, 1980, the Purchaser purchased 3,834,592 Shares pursuant to the Offer, being all Shares validly tendered as of such date, and purchased 1,397,357 shares of the Company's common stock from three principal stockholders of the Company pursuant to Stock Purchase Agreements with such stockholders. Such purchases gave the Purchaser ownership of 5,231,949 shares, or approximately 93%, of the Company's currently issued and outstanding common stock.

After the purchase by the Purchaser of such shares on September 26, 1980, the three outside members of the Company's Board of Directors resigned and were replaced by nominees of Alaska Interstate. The Company's Board of Directors, as reconstituted, met and called all outstanding 9% Convertible Subordinated Debentures due December 1, 1999 (the "Debentures") for redemption on November 14, 1980. The Company's Board of Directors believes that the redemption of the Debentures is in the best interests of the Company because, to the extent such Debentures are converted prior to the redemption date, the Company will not be required to make any additional interest payments thereon. Extension of the Offer will permit holders of the Company's Debentures who elect to convert such Debentures into Shares prior to the expiration of the Offer, to tender such Shares for purchase pursuant to the Offer. No interest on the Debentures will be payable to Debenture holders who convert their Debentures into Shares.

The waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976 expired on September

After giving effect to all of the above, all other terms and conditions of the Offer remain the same The Announcement of Amended Offer to Purchase and the Letter of Transmittal, which are being mailed to stockholders of the Company, contain important information which should be read before any decision is made with respect to the Offer. A tender may be made only by a duly executed Letter of Transmittal. Separate Letters of Transmittal and a copy of the Announcement are being sent to holders of the Debentures, which will permit surrender of such Debentures for simultaneous conversion and tender pursuant to the Offer, Southern National Bank, Houston, Texas, is the Depositary (and Co-Conversion Agent for the Debentures) and Chemical Bank, New York, New York, is the Forwarding Agent in connection with the Offer

Fractured finger slows Cowboys' Danny White

Dallas Cowboys quarterback Danny White suffered a fractured finger on his left hand during the team's 28-7 victory Sunday against Green Bay, but the injury was not expected to keep him out of action, team officials said. White was listed as a probable starter for Sunday's 3 p.m. kickoff against the New York Giants at Texas Stadium and was expected to practice this week with the middle finger in a splint. The team also listed running back. Ron Springs, and rookie offensive guard Norm Wells as questionable for Sunday's game.

A paid crowd of 115,547 for the weekend series against the Cincinnati helped the Houston Astros sei a single season attendance record with 2,165,-622, topping the 1965 mark of 2,151,470. The Astros have averaged 28,875 per game with a series with Atlanta still to go.

SMU Coach Ron Meyer said he has no use for coaches' television shows, the gravy to many a football head mentor's livelihood. "They cause more trouble than they are worth," said Meyer, who had one of collegiate football's most innovative shows until this year. "(Houston Coach) Bill Yeoman has taken the Cougars to the Cotton Bowl the last three out of four years and you've never seen him on a show have you?... 'It can hurt you on recruiting just as much as it can help. You don't think it helped our recruiting last year after we got waxed by Tulane did you? My show was seen in the Houston area last year and we didn't recruit as well down there as we normally do. Figure that one out."

Bum Phillips, Houston coach, said he'd been waiting just like everyone else for return artist Carl Roaches to break a big gain - and everyone finally got a treat in Sunday's 13-10 victory over

'He's had some that almost broke and I guess we were all in the same boat just watching to see when he would break one," Phillips said, referring to Roaches' 68-yard punt return that set up the winning field goal in the fourth quarter.

Five-time Wimbledon champion Bjorn Borg has been voted the 1970-80 athlete of the decade by a nationwide panel of sports writers, polling 179 first-place votes and 4,791 points. Previous recipients of the award, Muhammad All for 1968-78 and Jack Nicklaus for 1969-79, were

Coach Fred Akers said officials erred on penalties that rubbed out two long punt returns by Herkie Walls in Texas 35-0 win over Oregon State Saturday. "In a close ball game, the kicking game becomes the difference." Clipping calls canceled returns of 2, 43 and 29 yards by Walls. "Some penalties were just blown by the officials," Akers said. "It's unfortunate that the punt returns were called back, because they shouldn't have been. ... I can't criticize our players for the blocks they threw.'...

Ohio State-UCLA will top this week's ABC TV schedule while regional games will include New Mexico-Wyoming, Indiana State-Wichita State, NW Louisiana-NE Louisiana and Alcorn-South Carolina State. Kickoffs are 1:30 p.m.

A large section of artificial turf at Indiana State University's Memorial Stadium was des troyed by a fire caused by vandals who poured gasoline on the field and ignited early Sunday morning. A patch 30 yards long and from 14 inches to eight feet wide was destroyed.

Leading indicators rise in August for third month

WASHINGTON (AP) - A government barometer designed to indicate future movements in the economy rose in August for the third month in a row, the Commerce Department said

The Index of Leading Indicators increased 1.9 percent to a level of 131.0. The July increase, originally calculated as a record 4.6 percent, was revised downward to 3.7 percent because orders for new plants and equipment fell short of expectations.

An increase in the average work week was the biggest contributor to the August improvement. Hitting the August index hardest was the layoff rate, which indicated more Americans were losing their jobs.

As the economy moves to the bottom of a recession or begins recovery, factories often allow workers to put in more overtime before laid-off employees are rehired.

The layoff rate had posted significant gains in June and July; in fact, it was the biggest contributor to the July increase. The average work week had declined in June and held steady in July - the only indicator not to show an improvement in July.

The three months of improvement in the overall index still leaves it considerably below the year-ago level of 140.1. The index fell 12.6 percent from October through May and now has recovered 6.6 percent in June through August.

The index is made up of 12 separate indicators and is designed to predict monthly declines or increases in the overall health of the economy.

There is no hard and fast rule, but many economists believe a threemonth improvement in the figures would signal an end to the recession which began last January.

In addition to the increase in the average work week, other upward signs were provided by a change in sensitive raw-material prices; an increase in total liquid assets; more building permits; a rise in the total money supply; higher prices for common stocks; and companies receiving slower deliveries from suppliers, meaning suppliers have more work than they can handle.

Other declines, besides the layoff rate, were slight drops in new orders for goods and orders for plants and

Carter approves comprehensive aid for steel industry

WASHINGTON (AP) President Carter, hoping to stimulate a crucial segment of the economy and bolster his re-election campaign in major industrial states, has approved a comprehensive aid package for the sagging steel industry. Carter was announcing the program at a news conference today.

In advance of that sesion, the plan was said to include federally backed loan guarantees for plant modernization, relaxation of certain environmental laws and reinstatement of the trigger price mechanism for imported steel.

Rapidly rising wage rates, dwindling product demand, a lag in capital investment and import competition from Japan and Europe have combined to stag-ger major producers. The nation's top steel producers have been closing plants and laying off workers for the last year because of a reduction in demand and falling profits. Some congressional Democrats have publicly warned Carter since last spring that he stands to fare poorly in industrial states in November unless he comes up with a program to restore some of the lost jobs in the steel industry.

At the heart of the plan is the administration's agreement to reimpose trigger prices at a level about 12 percent higher than when they were suspended in March.

Under trigger pricing, steel that is imported below a base figure, or "trigger" price, sets in motion an investigation to determine if the steel is being "dumped," or sold at unfairly low

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market recorded sharp losses Monday, the third straight day of declines, and traders attributed the slump to rising interest rates and strife in the

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks plunged 18.17 points to 921.93, the largest tumble since the blue-chip average dropped 19.71 on March 24.

Declines outnumbered advances by an 11-1 margin in the overall tally on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board volume was 46.41 million shares, compared with 49.46 million on Friday. The Dow slipped from the start of trading, with two weak afternoon rallies failing to stop its slide. Only one of the 65 stocks on the Dow averages rose during the day. Pan American World Airways closed up 1/4 at 5. Four others were unchanged, and 60 declined in price.

Last week, the Federal Reserve raised the discount rate — the interest it charges for loans to banks — from 10 percent to 11 percent. After the close of trading Friday, the Fed reported another surge in the nation's money supply, which investors per-ceived will lead to further hikes in lending rates.

Employed, idleness rate both increase

The number of people in Midland increased in August, but the unemployment rate also went up, according to figures released by the Midland office of the Texas Employment Com-

Midland's unemployment rate went from a low of 3.6 percent in July to 4.4 percent in August. This puts Midland down the list behind Odessa, which had the lowest in the state with 3.9 percent; San Angelo, 3.9 percent; Abilene, 4.1; Austin, 4.1; Bryan-Colege Station, 4.1; Amarillo, 4.2; and Wichita Falls, 4.3.

For the same period, the state unemployment rate was 5.8 percent while the national jobless rate hit 7.5 percent.

The number of people working in the county hit 48,760 in August, up from 48,390 in July. The figure for the same time a year ago was 45,970. Midland's total work force in August including 2,220 in the jobless ranks was 50,980, which is an all-time high for Midland, reported the TEC.

This represents an monthly increase of 1.6 percent in the number of people employed and a yearly growth of 10.9 percent.

Wage and salary employment in Midland County rose to 42,390 for August, according to the TEC. Manufacturing posted a small advance due to an increase in the number of orders for fabricated metal products. Nonmanufacturing showed a net gain of 90 over the previous month because of growth in several sectors. Advances were recorded by mining, construction, trade and services. Wage and salary employment expanded 3,310, or 8.5 percent, from August 1979, said the TEC. Largest increase in the factory sector was in non-electrial machinery. Gains also were recorded in construction, transportation, communications, utilities, finance, insurance and real estate. The TEC reported the Midland of fice assisted in filling 836 of the 1,125 job openings received in August. Hard to fill jobs are warehouse manager, core analyzer, carpenter, equipment operator, lathe operator, secretary and laboratory technician.

Current job openings include geological drafter, petroleum engineer, geologist, bookkeeper, clerk typist, general sales representative, secretary and machinist.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Occupational illness is high

Dear Dr. Solomon: There has been a great deal of publicity recently about the risk of cancer in industrial workers. It got me wondering about how widespread this is. Are there any statistics that show the number of workers affected by exposure to industrial hazards? And can anything be done about them? — Mrs. L.H.

Dear Mrs. H.: The National Institure for Occupational Safety and Health compiles the kinds of statistics in which you are interested. Of the almost 100 million workers in the labor force in the United States, about 100,000 die each year from occupa-tional illnesses, and almost 400,000 new cases of occupational disease are reported. These figures probably are understated because the connection between-employent and disease is not always apparent.

The industrial hazards include exposure to carcinogens and job-related stresses such as noise and crowding. Over 2,000 chemicals used in industry are reported to be potential carcinogens. Workers are thus exposued to such health problems as cancer, lung disease, birth defects, genetic changes which may be transmitted to future generations, reduced fertility and sterility, among others.

Some types of employment are more dangerous for workers than others. Employees of companies manufacturing certain pesticides have been found to have an infertility rate two to three times that of the general population. Despite these known risks, nine of every 10 American industrial workers lack adequate protection from at least one of the most common hazardous chemicals.

The protection of workers from industrial hazards requires the cooperative efforts of management, labor and government. Special equipment and the necessary training can help. Furthermore, financial incentives in the form of low-cost loans or tax benefits might encourage employers to make the work environment a safer

Dear Dr. Solomon: The office in which I work recently established a no-smoking policy. Since then, one of my colleagues has begun using snuff. I would like to know how this compares with cigarette smoking from a health standpoint. - Mt. T.J.J.

Dear Mr. J.: According to a report in Lancet, a British medical journal, snuff lacks many of the harmful side effects associated with cigarette smoking. Although it gives tobaccodependent people the nicotine they require, it does not cause tar, carbon monoxide or nitrogen oxides to enter the blood, and it is not inhaled into the lungs. This eliminates the risk of cancer, bronchitis or heart disease associated with cigarette smoking.

Apparently, snuff as a substitute for cigarettes is nothing to sneeze at.

In times like these, it's best to stay unmarried

Now I will try to answer your other question. What about girls who are not yet married? Should they be permitted to do so? In answer to this question. I have no special command for them from the Lord. But the Lord in His kindness has given me wisdom that can be trusted, and I will be glad to

Here is the problem: we Christians are facing great dangers to our lives at present. In times like these I think it is best for a person to remain unmarried.

Of course, if you already are married, don't separate because of this. But if you aren't, don't rush into it at this time. But if you men decide to go ahead anyway and get married now, it is all right; and if a girl gets married in times like these, it is no sin. However, marriage will bring extra

The important thing to remember is that our remaining time is very short, and so are our opportunities for doing the Lord's work |. For that reason those who have wives should stay as free as possible for the Lord;

Happiness or sadness or wealth should not keep anyone from doing God's work.

Those in frequent contact with the exciting things the world offers should make good use of their opportunities without stopping to enjoy them; for the world in its present form will soon be gone.

Pope urged to be more tolerant

VATICAN CITY (AP) — American Roman Catholic bishops called on Pope John Paul II to take a more tolerant attitude toward the millions of Catholics who violate the church's ban on contraception.

"We cannot credibly treat the problem of contraception without clear and honest recognition of the grave demographic problem of our times," Archbishop John R. Quinn of San Francisco told more than 200 Catholic bishops holding a month-long synod on the role of the Christian family in the modern world.

Speaking on behalf of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops of the United States, Quinn said Monday:

"A very large number of men and women of good will do not accept the (church's) teaching on the intrinsic evil of each and every use of contraceptives."

Asserting that these people cannot be dismissed as "obdurate, ignorant" people of bad will, he called on the Vatican to sponsor "a completely honest examination" of the birth control issue resulting in a new church doctrine of "responsible parent-

Quinn was not pressing for specific change in the church's rejection of contraception but rather for a more sympathetic attitude toward couples who feel they must use the mechanical and chemical methods of birth control banned by the church.

"Pope Paul VI took a very compassionate view toward people, who, for one reason or another, couldn't live up to the teachings of the church," Shaw said.

The only method of birth control accepted by the Catholic Church is the rhythm method of abstinence from sexual relations during the fertile period before a woman's menstrual period.

Quinn cited a Princeton University study which concluded that nearly 71 percent of American Catholic women used birth control methods condemned by their church.

KELLER, Texas (AP)
— Fire department investigators and Lone Star Gas Co. officials are investigating the origin of two separate explosions in Dallas-Fort Worth suburbs that razed homes but ignited no fires.

The blast in this Fort Worth suburb killed a 62year-old woman.

Lone Star Gas official Warren Faulks said he is not certain natural gas is the culprit, although the investigation focuses on that possibility.

Faulks said the shifting and swelling of the soil, triggered by this summer's drought, could have caused a break in the gas lines that would eventually have lead to an explosion.

Margaret J. Lee died Sunday when a giant explosion rocked her twobedroom home in Keller, authorities said.

Another explosion of unknown origin demolished an Arlington home Monday, injuring four neonle

Ms. Lee, a widow who lived alone, was pulled from the wreckage of her house by Keller police and firemen. She was pronounced dead on arrival at a nearby hospi-

Police speculated she may have died from a concussion or heart attack, although she sustained lacerations and body bruises.

Keller Fire Chief Chuck Blankenship estimated about 70 percent of the home was leveled, and said only the bathroom and garage were left standing.

"The walls blew out.
No heavy stuff, like a refrigerator or stove, was blown out," he said.
"We are trying to figure out just where the explosion occurred now. We are trying to recontruct the floor plan to determine where it might have happened."

Mrs. Lee's home is located directly across the street from the Keller Independent School District Administration Building and the Keller Elementary School.

Officials think one responsible

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — Bavaria's interior minister says he now believes only one man was responsible for the bombing that killed 12 people and injured 213 at the Oktoberfest. The police released the leader of an outlawed neo-Nazi organization and five of his followers for lack of evidence.

Interior Minister Gerold Tandler said he believes Gundolf Koehler, the 21-year-old geology student who died in the explosion Friday night, was responsible.

Koehler was an active member of a banned neo-Nazi group called the Military Sport Group Hoffman, and police arrested the leader of the group, Karl Heinz Hoffman, 43, and five other members Sunday. But they were freed on Monday, and Tandler told The Associated Press: "Not the slightest evidence exists to believe that this deed was prepared, organized and executed by the Military Sport Group Hoffman."

U.S. unprepared for oil interruption energy and natural resources, said

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States remains unprepared for a significant interruption in oil supplies such as might result from the war between Iran and Iraq, a congressional report is quoted as saying. According to a source on the subcommittee that wrote it, the 50-page report concludes that well over a year after the nation endured long lines and ballooning prices for gasoline because of the Iranian revolution and its accompanying oil cutoff, planning for energy emergencies is still a low national priority.

Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., chairman of the House Government Operations subcommittee on environment, the document - work on which was begun long before the outbreak of fighting in the Persian Gulf - would be issued today. Moffett said the subcommittee found that to date, only one state, Nebraska, has drawn up a formal energy conservation plan. Other states are preparing plans but need technical guidance and funds from the federal government to complete them, he said.

According to committee sources, the report recommends:

-rewording the Emergency Energy Conservation Act to force states to submit their contingency plans prior to declaring any actual emer-

-sending states money for preparing emergency energy plans, and -making conservation a top priority for Energy Department officials. Moffett said U.S. energy planners had been lulled into a false sense of security by the current glut on oil markets. But he said one-third of the world oil surplus, which he estimated at about 5 billion barrels, could quickly disappear if the Iran-Iraq fighting continues for a month or more. Moffett called on President Carter to seek an international agreement on spot market oil prices. The objective, Moffett said, should be to avoid a sharp rise in heating oil prices just as winter sets in.

U.S. to utilize technology develpled by South Africa

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A vast jungle of pipes, storage tanks and giant towers emerging from arid bush country means energy survival for South Africa - and a sample of things to come in the United in supplies of petroleum imports.

Indeed, in Washington on Monday, the U.S. House Government Operations subcommittee warned in a re-port that the United States "faces the constant threat of a major supply disruption," because of its high dependence on imported oil and a lack of energy emergency planning.

But this is old news to South Africa, which now has probably the most advanced synthetic fuel operation in the world. It's been producing "synfuels" for the last 25 years.

Just this week, the state-controlled South African Coal, Oil and Gas Corp. - better known as SASOL - announced that a synthetic fuel plant using its technology will be built in North Dakota. A consortium of American companies is to build the coal-to-oil facility near low-sulphur coal fields in that state.

The U.S. Congress passed legislation in June for a $20 billion program to launch a synthetic fuels industry. The program's goal is to produce the equivalent of 500,000 barrels of imported oil a day by 1987, or about 4 percent of today's daily U.S. oil con-SASOL officials expect their technology to be deeply involved in the American program. The Los Angelesbased Fluor Corp. has an agreement to market SASOL know-how in America. Long before the rest of the world discovered that cheap oil wasn't cheap anymore, South Africa had a The most industrialized country in Africa, it had no oil deposits of its own. It has lots of coal - an estimated 61 billion tons - and thus needs imported oil for only a fourth of its energy needs. But this oil goes for public and private transport and the economy would collapse without it. The white minority government committed itself to a synthetic fuel industry just after World War II and used some Nazi technology to start its first oil-from-coal plant, SASOL 1. By 1955, the plant, located 40 miles south of here, was producing gasoline and 20 other petroleum products. The technique, developed in Germany during the war, uses steam and oxygen under intense pressure to convert coal to carbon monoxide, carbon

DALLAS - Billy Jack Lancaster, 56, president of ARCO Oil & Gas Co., died this morning in a Dallas hospital. He was a former resident of Midland.

A native of Cross Plains and a graduate of Longview High school, Lancaster had been with the company since being graduated from The University of Texas at Austin in 1948 with a B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering.

He joined the company in its engineering department in Dallas in February 1948 and remained in Dallas throughout his career with the exception of two tours in Midland, in 1950-56 with the Engineering Construction Department, and 1961-63 when he was North Permian Basin District manag-

He was named vice president and manager of the research and engineering department in February 1968, with headquarters in Dallas, and was promoted to senior vice president for Atlantic Richfield Co. in June 1973. He was named president of ARCO Oil & Gas Co. in January 1979

Lancaster joined the U.S. Air Force in 1943 while a student at The University of Texas at Arlington. As a fighter pilot based in England, he was shot down while on a straffing run of an airfield near Regensberg, Germany, receiving wounds from shell fragments and being taken prisoner.

He was freed when American forces captured the hospital he was being treated in. While in the service, Lancaster was awarded the Air Medal and the Purple Heart. Funeral services are pending.

Survivors include the widow, Marie Lancaster; two daughters, Mrs. Lynda Lancaster Gustafson, and Deborah Lancaster, and a grandson, Derek Gustafson.

Maine hunters kill 636 moose

GREENVILLE, Maine (AP) - The first moose-hunting season in Maine in 45 years has ended, with the kill of 636 animals far higher than conservation officials had been expecting.

'No matter where they hunted, they saw moose," Glenn H. Manuel, commissioner of the state Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, said Sunday. Manuel had predicted that 475 moose would be taken.

oil almost indistinguishable from natural crude.

The South African government keeps a tight security wrap around details of the process and how much it costs. It is assumed that production of SASOL fuel costs far more than natural oil. But South Africa is less concerned about cost than it is about getting fuel.

Iran was South Africa's traditional petroleum supplier until the fall of the shah. The shah's father, when he was in exile during World War II, was given refuge in South Africa and close ties were formed between the two

The revolutionary Iranian government of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini cut off oil sales to South Africa last year, joining other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries which refuse to sell oil to the white minority government because of its apartheid race segregation policies. South Africa now buys oil on the spot market, where the cost can be twice as high as current OPEC prices. But South Africa, as the world's largest gold producer, has plenty of money to spend. In fact, it is understood that the government already has 18 months of oil supplies stored in secret tank farms and unused underground mines

When OPEC sharply escalated oil prices in 1973, South Africa began constructing SASOL 2, a synthetic fuel plant occupying 1,850 acres that has 10 times the capacity of SASOL 1. It has already begun production and will be operating at full capacity within two or three years.

Last year, in light of the Iranian revolution, the launching of SASOL 3 a carbon copy of SASOL 2 — was announced. It is being built alongside SASOL 2 and a workforce of 22,000 is on site. SASOL 3 should be operating by 1984. SASOL 2 and 3 are located near rich coal deposits 120 miles southeast of Johannesburg. With all three synfuel plants in full production, SASOL is expected to provide between one-third and half of South Africa's daily consumption of imported oil, estimated at 270,000

At every gas station in South Africa, customers can fill up at the blue and white SASOL pumps alongside pumps offering regular fuel from imported oil. The price is the same — the equivalent of $2.77 a gallon. The government subsidizes the SASOL prod-

SASOL is now so much a part of the motoring scene in South Africa that customers usually just fill up at whatever pump happens to be available. Vehicle performance is the same.

While authorities jealously guard exact figures, it is known that SASOL plants are also providing jet fuel, diesel oil and a wide range of what is known as "stockfeed" - raw materials for the plastics and fertilizer industries here.

SASOL is considered to be a decade ahead of anybody else in the sythetic fuel field

"Of the first $100 million allocated by the U.S. Department of Energy for design work on synfuel projects, said SASOL chairman David de Villiers last week, "$60 million will go to projects with which SASOL is involved, either as consultant or potential licensor."

Some may return to work next week

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - As actors and producers approach a settlement in the 10-week-old actors' strike, some television shows not affected by striking musicians could be back in production next Monday, industry officials say.

Producers said Monday they hadn't decided when work might resume, but said startup could begin soon on such shows as CBS' "Archie Bunker's Place" and "WKRP in Cincinnati," NBC's "Sanford" and 'Diff'rent Strokes" and ABC's "Barney Miller."

The American Federation of Musicians went on strike after the actors did and negotiations in that strike are to resume Wednesday. The musicians' strike affects filmed programs, not taped shows.

"We don't know yet which shows will go back into production," said Dick Moore, a spokesman for the American Federation of Television and Radio Actors. "They have to clear it with the union and they have to be shows the musicians are not strik-

'Playing for Time' to be broadcast despite protests

be broadcast nationally this evening. (AP La-

NEW YORK - CBS says it has no intention of canceling tonight's broadcast of "Playing for Time," despite the burning in effigy of starring actress Vanessa Redgrave and reports of concern among

There has never been any doubt in our mind about running it," Gene Mater, vice president of the CBS Broadcast Group, said Monday. "There are only two issues involved: Whether politics are more important than an artist's ability, and whether special interests can dictate whether a show will go on, despite its value to the audience."

The show, already one of the season's most acclaimed television productions, is based on the concentration camp memoirs of Fania Fenelon. Miss Fenelon, whose father was Jewish, was a survivor of the Nazi death camp at Auschwitz.

Miss Redgrave, who plays Miss Fenelon in the production, has been an outspoken advocate of the Palenstine Liberation Organization. An effigy of the actress was burned Sunday in Hollywood by protesters urging a boycott of CBS' made-for-TV film. Jewish organizations have been in the forefront of the protest. The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith said Miss Redgrave's leading role in the drama would "distract public attention from the film's commendable, original goal, which was to illuminate one episode in the monumental tragedy of the Holocaust."

Meanwhile, in an interview in her Paris home, Miss Fenelon said she would sue CBS on "moral" 'They are breaking my heart," she said. "It is the ruin of my life." Although it declined to identify advertisers, the network said the three-hour dramatization by playwright Arthur Miller was fully sponsored. CBS does not normally list in advance advertisers who pay for 30- or 60-second commercials. However, there were indications that the network and ad agencies connected with the show were taking precautions to avoid pressure on the advertisers. Industry sources also said the 30-second spots were sold for considerably less than normal prime-time program rates.

Some ad agencies were apparently concerned about the show's content - Miss Fenelon and several other women survived Auschwitz by playing in an orchestra for their Nazi captors - as they were about the casting of Miss Redgrave, an Oscar-win-

Reverend Wendt trying to teach people all about death

Copley News Service

The Rev. Bill Wendt is trying to convince people to buy their coffins early.

"Use it as a wine chest, hope chest or to store books. Become friendly with it," said the director of the St. Francis Center in Washington, D.C., during an interview

Wendt, who for 18 years was the rector of St. Stephen and the Incarnation in Washington, is excited about the potential of his new work in teaching about death.

'If people were more willing to accept the fact of death, they would change their way of living," said Wendt. "We see the work of the center as restoring the place of the church and the fami-

The center was established to develop ways of confronting people, young and old, with the fact of their mortality and teaching them how to deal with it.

Coffins are one of those ways. The center sells a kit for $150 from which one can assemble a plain pine coffin.

The plans alone can be purchasd for $2.50.

People call us bizarre for expecting them to keep it around the house, but we think it is bizarre to buy a coffin with an innerspring mattress," Wendt said "Monks in the Middle Ages used to sleep in theirs to remind them where they were head-

FDA agrees to take 3,000 medicines off the market

The Washington Post

The Food and Drug Administrat8on under pressure from two consumer groups, has agreed to remove from the market over the next four years nearly 3,000 prescription medicines whose effectiveness has not been proven. The agreement, reached last week, settles a lawsuit brought by the American Public Health Association and the National Council of Senior Citizens, William B. Schultz, counsel for the two groups, hailed the settlement as "an important consumer vic-

The 1984 deadline, if not delayed by further litigation, would mean that the last of these drugs would leave the market exactly 20 years aftr the original deadline set by Congress.

In 1979 alone, the public sp3nt at least $1 billion for those drugs, according to Dr. Sidney M Wolfe, director of the Health Research Group, which is financed by Ralph Nader's Public Citizen Inc. Wolfe cited, data showing that physicians wrote 36.6 million prescriptions for just four of them, for a total outlay of $191.1 million.

The APHA and NCSC filed the lawsuit in 1970 to compel the commissioner of the FDA and his boss, the secretary of what is now the Department of Health and Human Services, to enforce the 1962 drug-effectiveness amendments to the Food, Daug and Cosmetic Act. The amend ments required manufacturers to back up their claims of effective ness by October 1964.

THE LITIGATION continued through the 1970s, during which time the FDA removed more than 7,000 drugs from the market. By 1979, 482 remained, and the agency said it regard3d the program as "substantially completed."

In the same year, however, attorneys Schultz and Diane B. Cohn, both of Public Citizen's Public Litigation Group, filed a motion u4ging U.S. District Court Judge Wil liam B. Bryant "to reactivate the case because defendants are in violation of the deadlines established by the court ...

In reply, an FDA spokesman said the agency was moving as swiftly as its resources permitted to resolve the status of the drugs about which efficacy questions remained.

Some of them were in "industry-requested administrative hearings, which require hearing examiners, lawyers and witne ses," while othes were under "further test8ng," the spokesman

In the last 5 1-2 months, the FDA has hired three additional professional employe's to speed the process, and under the settlement, agreed to add five others.

IN ANOTHER KEY provision of the settlement, the FDA agreed to put "special emphasis on the most frequently pre-scribed products." Of the their manufacturers had not demonstrated them 422 drugs of unproved efto be more effective than fectiveness, 10 were on a their components used list of the 100 most-oftenalone. Such ratings were prescribed medicines in made initially by the Na-

Robins cough syrup. In 1979, physicians wrote 14.8 million prescriptions for two versions of Dimetapp, costing consumers $67 million -Butazolidin Alka, a Geigy antiarthritis drug

By the end of November, the agreement says, the FDA must sent a bulletin to hundreds of thousands of health professionals listing the products covered by the court order that have not been upgraded to "effective" status. The bulletin must disclose that the products remain on sale pending the outcome of certain administrative proceedings.

DESPITE THE agreement, the 1984 goal could be delayed by court challenges by pharmaceutic$l manufacturers.

The Washington Post

Life is not fair. If it were, we wouldn't have had to invent etiquette, or the steel wool pad, but as it is, what with people always wanting to help you cook and most of the time being right where it is you need to be and blocking the knife drawer and elbowing the starter button on the Cuisinart, it's absolute hell trying to make your dinner guest feel useful as well as decorative.

If you set him to hard a task, he'll be embarrassed and the evening will be ruined, if it's too easy, he'll be insulted and the evening will be ruined.

So you'll just have to feel your way into this part of the relationship, as if you were tasting melons. The first time you invite a candidate, let him slice a loaf of bread or chop the celery, then watch the way he handles the knife. Ask him to stir the sauce: Does he splash like a kid in a mud puddle or roll his wrist through like Jimmy Connors? Have him turn the chicken. Does he lift and lay it down or stab it with a fork and drop it?

If, as occassionally happens, your intended beloved is revealed as a natural sous chef, the two of you may look forward to delicious nights of tine a tine romance. If it develops that he cannot put his hand in a drawer without sacrificing his blood to your cultery, encourage him to investigate such complementary disciplines as bartending and massage.

Over the years, I have struck assorted bargains with regular dinner guests: One was merely required to keep the wineglasses filled and Linda Ronstadt on the stereo, another to keep the manhattans frosted.

Setting the table is a chore to be reserved for long intimacy. Otherwise it's a copout, like giving your uncle a tie with little water spaniels on it. If worse come to worst, let him run the garbage disposal.

Here are 10 chores to assign your dinner guest if he proclaims his expertise:

- (1) Bone the chicken breast
- (2) Beat the eggwhites.
- (3) Peel the broccoli. (4) Filet the bluefish.
- (5) Roll the pastry.
- (6) Collar the souffle dish.
- (7) Drop the fudge into cold water to form a soft ball.
- (8) Truss the turkey (9) Shape the bagels.
- (10) Wash the endive. Ten-things to assign the guest who
- can scrounge his own breakfast:
- (1) Clean the spinach.
- (2) Wipe the mushrooms. (3) Skin the chicken breasts.
- (4) Grate the zucchini.
- (5) Beat the frosting.
- (6) Stick a chopsick into the oil and
- see if it bubbles. (7) Pound the veal.
- (8) Chop the onions.
- (9) Separate the eggs.
- (10) Wash the romaine.
- (7) Flame the brandy. (9) Season the curry.

Despite the pain it caused, after the nation dug itself out from under, it was left with a higher base rate of inflation and a higher base level of unemployment than beforethe recess-

There's little reason to expect anything different this time around. Policymakers did not learn the dire lessons of the 1973-75 slump, and the result was to again engineer a recession as a way to fight inflation.

THE ONLY PROB-LEM with that approach besides the obvious objection that it doesn't work, is that it throws almost all of the burdens on the backs of poor people and working people. They're supposed to pay with their jobs for the rest of us to have a shot at lower inflation.

The escalating figures on unemployment bear this out. Those figures contain a hidden time bomb in that blacks and other minorities are hit hardest. This recession could deal a heavy blow to emerging middle-income black families.

Many in the so-called black middle class enjoy middle-income status only because of multiple earners in the family. If a youngster living at home loses his job or the mother is laid off, there goes the middle-income designation. Tha family drops down a big notch or two on the income

MOST SUCH FAMI-LIES rely for the bulk of their income on a male head-of-household. So heavy layoffs in basic industries where blacks have landed decently paid factory jobs mean that some black middleincome families drop into poverty or near-poverty with every plant ly well over 20 percent.

SO BLACKS EN-TERED the 1980 recession with levels of unemployment that already exceed anyone's definition of a recession. And the small, struggling black middle class is especially vulnerable. For black people, this recession may prove to be

On the corporate level, the high cost of housing is having another material effect, creating major policy changes in procedures governing transfer and relocation of personnel about the country. Consequently, fewer of them want transfers. The net result is that corporations are having to sweeten the money pot, be more selective of transferees, and reduce long-established programs of giving employees experience in other market sectors of the na-

The newly concluded eighth annual (1979) study conducted by Hagen Marketing Re-search Inc. for MLRM shows that the confusing state of the economy, and the outrageously priced costs of real estate have caused a decrease among corporate personnel who might seek or want transfers to other locales, for a career change or new life style or because of company necessity.

To overcome this unprecedented resistance, companies are having to liberalize their relocation benefits and become more selective about their transferees.

Essentially, 52 percent of the 607 responding firms said employees had trouble selling homes; more than twice as many companies as last year reported transferees experienced difficulties in financing a new home; almost a third of the respondents currently offer aid in arranging mortgage financing, while another 27 percent plan to estalish a financing assistance program

Brown Derby's 'Angel' saved historic landmark

The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES - Call Angela Stewart "Angel." All her friends and regular customers do.

Altogether an appropriate nickname for the wait-ress who singlehandedly blew the whistle on those hush-hush plans to tear down the original Brown Derby, a Los Angeles landmark. Several days after her victory, which resulted in the preservation of the Derby's brown plaster dome, Stewart reflected with some sadness that she wished she could have done more to save the restaurant

Even now it still rankles Stewart about how sum marily the owners dismissed their 62 employees without advance notice on a Friday at 5 p.m. "They gave us a bonus," she said, "to protect them from the labor board." "That's why it hit everyone so badly. Because everyone did their jobs right up until seconds before they closed the restaurant. The meat was cooking, the baked potatoes had been cooked, the soups...

"At a quarter to four they had one gentleman in the restaurant, who had ordered his dinner. It was trout. And all of a sudden he was told he couldn't have his trout, and whatever he had consumed up to that point was on the house, and please leave. What also bothered Stewart was that the owners, Gloria Daly of New York, her son Larry Anderson and son-in-law James Young, seemed to pick the one particular weekend to begin their demolition when few would notice - the weekend of the Jewish High Holy Day of Yom Kippur. "I really feel they took advantage of that - not only of the weekend but the fact that they knew everyone was going to be out of town or out worship-

But not Angel Stewart. She got to work on the telephone, rallying various media, indeed badgering

At first it did no good. Few had heard of her - but worse, when reporters called the Derby for confirmation, the response was quite the contrary. One reporter said he was told the Derby was merely being remodeled. Not only were they not closing, but they would be glad to take reservations for lunch.

Stewart said that got her even more determined to blow the lid. She called a newspaper friend to act as go-between, and he called reporters. She phoned the Hollywood Heritage and Los Angeles Conservancy, which she knew would fight to save the Derby.

And that brought the picketers and the TV cameras and the initial intervention of police and politicians to stop demolition.

Information revolution has U.S. corporations scrambling for the top spots

NEW YORK - On a recent morning Joan Fisher sat down for an hour before the small computer in the living room of her Coral Gables, Fla., home and ran through a checklist of errands that normally would have eaten up much of her day. She transferred funds from a savings to a checking account, studied ads for winter coats and ordered one for her son, then checked whether her husband's flight from New York would arrive on time. The Fishers are one of the 160 families in Coral Gables selected to test an 'electronic home information" system designed by Knight-Ridder Newspapers and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Sets of ovenware peddled from the back of an unmarked van stopping at offices in industrial parks are not quite the hot deal represented.

A secretary in one office became suspicious when a girl walked into the business and asked if anyone was interested in getting a 31-piece set of Corningware worth about $150 for only $20. Twenty boxes had been left over from a delivery, the girl said, and she was willing to sacrifice them at a low price just to get rid of them.

It just so happened that Barbara, the secretary, had an identical set of the $20 "bargain" ovenware purchased from an office peddler using a similar spiel about 10 months ago. It's been languishing in her garage ever since she read subsequent reports that this cheap Corningware replica might break and possibly explode when used in microwave and conven-

When Barbara asked the girl if the dishes were really Corningware, she was told "no" but they were very similar. In fact, the ensemble was called Primrose Dream, milk-white cookware that is similar in appearance to Corning's cornflower blue pattern except Primrose Dream flowers are green

Primrose Dream has been marketed from the back of vans throughout the United States over the past couple of years. The Arizona attorney general banned sales of this cheap ovenware last October and has filed a lawsuit alleging fraud against the dis-

Lawsuits also have been filed by North Carolina and North Dakota authorities alleging misrepresentations in the sale of Primrose Dream.

Last November the San Diego, Calif., County Sheriff's Department tested 21 pieces of a Primrose Dream set in a 450-degree oven and, without exception, each piece cracked under normal usage in cooking times of 45 minutes to an hour.

Last March, extensive laboratory testing of Primrose Dream by Corning Glass Works in Corning, N.Y., confirmed that the dishes cracked and broke at normal oven temperatures and exploded when used in a broiler. Breakage especially occurred when dishes were taken directly from the refrigerator to the oven, or vice versa or rinsed while hot.

Genuine diamond stud earrings for $5 a pair plus $1 postage - sounds of Abernathy and Closther Ltd. has been advertising lately. The Manhat-tan Better Business Bureau sent away for a pair and had them analyzed by a certified gemologist. Yes, they were genuine 10-facet round diamonds of very poor quality with a retail value of about -- $5.

Of course you could barely see the diamonds with the naked eye since they were about the size of a pin prick or a sharpened pencil point. The key thing to note in the diamond seller's ads or mailer is the designation .25 point, 10-facet round diamond. Since there are 100 points in one carat, one point would be one-hundredth of a carat and .25 point would be one four-hundredth of a carat.

To keep the little devils from sliding through a woman's ears, Abernathy and Closther wisely attached them to a mirror-like backing about the diameter of a one-carat gem. This backing was secured to a yellow metal post by prongs.

Since Abernathy is sending what its advertisement describes, U.S. Postal Service investigators in New York have not filed any complaints but are keeping an eye on the firm.

We do have a case open on them for investigating possible mail fraud they are being honest in the ads, but the thing that concerns us is people might not understand the grading of diamonds and are going to think they're getting one-fourth carat diamonds when they're not," said postal inspector Sherry Trueax.

Money 'leases' a novel variation of old scheme

The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES - Armed with a court order, federal agents moved this week to freeze assets of a group accused of fraudulently "leasing" millions of dollars from investors in at least 10 states.

The Securities and Exchange Commission alleged in a civil complaint that the so-called Morgan group, based in Claremont about 20 miles east of here, raised more than $5 million by promising returns of as much as 104 percent a year to investors it recruited.

Profits purportedly were based on fictitious trading in gold and silver markets around the world.

Actually, the suit charges, the "lease" of money was just a novel variation of the old Ponzi scheme, in which fresh funds from new investors are used to pay returns to earlier

According to SEC documents filed with its complaint, some investors were used to recruit others.

Jack Walker Wright, alias Robert Morgan (for whom the defendant group was named in the SEC papers) is one of seven individuals accused of securities fraud in the suit. The scheme allegedly began last November, when Wright was released after serving a prison term for interstate transportation of stolen securi-

It allegedly has operated in California, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Illinois, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon and Utah. Since last spring, state authorities in California, Arizon$ and Utah have issued orders for various of the defendants to cease operations.

The U.S. attorney in Arizona is conducting a criminal investigation, SEC papers disclosed.

Arthur Lewis, Los Angeles attorney for Wright, said he could not comment until he obtained a copy of the lawsuit. Other defendants, who could not be reached for comment, were J. Wayne Haws, Iris G. Eaton, William L. Teske, William Vaughn Ellsworth, Barry Eaton and Arvey Drown.

U.S. District Judge A. Andrew Hauk granted the SEC a temporary restraining order forbidding the individuals and four corporate defendants from operating the alleged scheme; from disposing of any assets of the firms; or destroying or concealing any books or records.

The SEC noted that assets rightfully belonging to the investors "are almost entirely in cash and readily transferred and dissipated."

The corporations named defendants in the action are National Charter Management and Financial Services Inc., Claremont; General Arizona Clearinghouse Corp., Phoenix; American Security Bank and Trust Co. (West Indies) Ltd., with a registered address in The Valley, Anguilla, West Indies; and General Finance Corp., Denver.

This 31-piece bakeware set was a "hot" bargain that left Donna Slater cold. After paying $20 for this Primrose Dream pattern cookware sold by a woman in an unmarked van, Slater learned that they can break under normal usage in the oven. (Copley News Service Photo)

Home buyer beware: Don't forget to prepare for those closing costs

Then the best advice for buyers and sellers alike is to beware and be aware of and prepare for closing costs the fees and other charges made at close of escrow on sale of a residential

These costs may be substantial and

A reputable broker will inform principals in a transaction of these closing costs, but even the broker can make only an educated guess of their

Fees and charges will vary, depending on the type of financing, the terms of the purchase agreement and other considerations.

Some of these fees are split halfand-half by the seller and buyer. Other charges are absorbed by the seller, still others are borne by the buyer. And for the novice, there may be some unpleasant surprises.

Let's look at a rundown of some items subject to fees and charges that might appear in a typical escrow agreement, and who pays them:

First off are escrow fees, which are based on the sales price.

Then, title insurance policy premiums of which there are two kinds -- an owner's policy and a lender's policy. Loan fees can vary widely depending on type of financing.

Other closing costs could include tax service for life of the loan, paid by the buyer, recording fees of trust deeds and other documents, paid by the buyer, a "user" fee of $10 paid by the buyer, a transfer tax of $1.10 per thousand dollars on the sale's price or equity, paid by the seller.

Then, at the close of escrow, there can be "interim interest" charges paid in advance.

Then there are taxes and hazard insurance required in an impound account on all FHA or VA loans and some conventional loans.
