'Mad' Eddie Chiles raps bureaucracy

By ED TODD

H.E. "Eddie" Chiles is advocating a sure cure for inflation and for shooting down the encroaching federal government that is breeding socialism and suffocating capitalism

Chiles is the free enterprise spokes man who popularized the "I'm mad"

"We need to make changes in government. We have the poorest management in Washington that we have in the world....We must get the big spenders out and get some people in who can tell the truth ... We need to get the federal government's hands off energy: coal, oil and gas, nuclear (power), electricity....I realized the American dream, but I'm afraid the American dream has been turned into a nightmare." - Eddie Chiles

lashing of the bureaucracy

On Tuesday, he called for major cuttings in government spending, returning to free enterprise and kicking out socialism, electing "conservative" politicians to public offices and retiring the big-spending liberals. f "We need to make changes in government," Chiles, 69-year-old chief executive officer of The Western Co., told 400 men and a smattering of women at the joint meeting of the Permian Basin chapter of the International Association of Drilling Contractors and the Permian Basin section of the American Petroleum Institute. The dinner was held in Ranchland Hills Country Club.

"WE HAVE THE POOREST management in Washington that we have in the world," he said. "We must change government. We must get the big spenders out and get some people in who can tell the truth

Chiles, a former Midlander who started his multi-million-dollar oilwell service company in 1939 at Seagraves, lashed out at the federal bureaucracy and proposed ways to return this nation to capitalism and free enterprise

His Fort Worth-based international company has annual sales approaching $400 million, has 4,000 employees, services on-land wells via cementing, acidizing and fracturing and operates 11 off-shore rigs.

Chiles' speech was an elaborate dissertation of his television and radio anti-big government spiels which he broadcasts over some 660 radio and television stations in 14 states. His free enterprise advocacy has ushered in the increasingly commonplace "I'm mad, too, Eddie!" white-and-

red bumper stickers. "I KNOW GOVERNMENT does not trust industry," Chiles told the audience that gave him rousing ovations

Ronald Reagan strengthened his virtually unbreakable grip on the Republican nomination and stands as the candidate the Democrats almost certainly would have to defeat to hold the White House. He captured Wisconsin's primary election on Tuesday, ran away with Kansas, and said that while he wasn't claiming to have the nomination clinched, "it does make for a substantial lead.

But he placed third, behind George Bush, raising quesions about his ability to build a third-party candidacy as some supporters urged.

The midwestern primary victories strengthened Carter and Reagan as they head for a Saturday election in Louisiana. Southerner Carter and conservative Reagan are strong there, and virtually certain to add to their towering leads in nominating delegates:

Carter emerged from the Tuesday primaries with a national total of 852 delegates, mere than half the 1,666-vote majority he'll need to win at the Democratic National Convention. Kennedy has 427.

Reagan's victories swelled his total

GOP nomination. Bush, the former U.N. ambassador who ran second in Wisconsin and third in Kansas, has 72. Anderson has 57.

Bush and Anderson said they would press their campaigns to overtake Reagan, but that will become ever more difficult as the competition moves to southwestern and western states in which the former California governor looms strong.

Kennedy's next target is the April 22 primary in Pennsylvania; he went campaigning there today after gaining the endorsement of the millionmember American Federation of State, County and Municipal Em-supporters in Milwaukee. Brown, who defeated Carter in five late-season primaries in 1976, said he would continue to work for the goals of his campaign. He emphasized that he was out for 1980. At 41, he may be back in four years. "I haven't dropped out," he said. "That implies I've dropped out of the process. I intend to participate in the process as governor of California."

Absentee vote sets record

A new record was set this year in absentee balloting for Saturday's school-city-hospital-college joint election as 2,770 persons marked their llot in the Midland Independent School District Administration Build-

Don Furgeson, school business manager, said another 90 ballots were mailed out. Recipients have until 1 p.m. Saturday to return these to the Administration Office.

In the 1979 election, 1,780 persons voted absentee. Furgeson attributed the high turnout to the fact that Easter falls on the day after the election and many people will be out of town. State law requires the election to be on the first Saturday in April, he explained. Polls for the general election will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday. Up for election is the mayor's seat, two City Council positions, two school board members, three Midland College trustees and two at-large positions on the Midland County Hospital District board of directors.

Also on the ballot is a $3 million school bond issue for repairs and renovation on various schools.

Estes, Neill uncontessted for two hospital seats

By DAVID CAMPBELL

Pat, Estes and Martin Neill are the two candidates running in an uncontested race for two positions on the Midland County Hospital District Board of Directors.

Both candidates, however, say they have taken a serious interest in the future needs of the district.

Completing and staffing expanded facilities at Midland Memorial Hospital and the Allison Permian Basin Cancer Therapy Center are the immediate future needs of the district, Mrs.

Neill indicated management of the hospital's operations would become the future need the district must the expertise to run the hospital are too great.' The challenge, according to Neill, would be to try and make the hospital profitable so it would not become a burden to the taxpayer. "But, that doesn't mean the hospital will always make a profit," he

Parking at Midland Memorial Hospital will become another challenge for the district, both candidates said.

Neill suggested building a new parking facility with revenue bonds to be paid from parking fees, if current parking becomes overcrowded. This way, he noted, the burden would not be on the taxpayers to pay for the

"We need to study with a professional the traffic pattern and future expansion of the hospital in its present location," Mrs. Estes noted, "and work out an overall development of the hospital."

Attracting physicians and nurses was an area where "there is an effective professional recruitment program," she said.

However, Mrs. Estes noted the district would be in favor of cooperating with Midland College to train nurses.

Regarding the Allison Permian Basin Cancer Therapy Center, Mrs. Estes said she thinks no tax increase will be needed to fund its operations.

"It would be an asset rather than a financial deficit," she added.

"I have a great interest in the running of the hospital and the district," Mrs. Estes said of her reasons for filing for the position, "I feel that I know the needs of our people in the district.",

Mrs. Estes is currently serving on the board, having been appointed after the resignation of Dr. Michael Burleson last year.

Neil said he is interested in the position because he has always had an interest in the hospital and knew of the complicated nature of operating a hospital in a taxing district.

"I realize the tremendous danger," he noted, "of Father Government

193/4 percent prime lending rate posted by third largest bank

NEW YORK (AP) - The soaring rime lending rate has jumped another notch, to an unprecedented 19% percent, as banks continue to adjust for the rising cost of their funds.

Chase Manhattan Bank, the nation's third largest, posted the new rate Tuesday, four days after it jumped to 191/4 percent. Other banks were expected to match the new rate

"The cost of money to the bank has continued to increase," a Chase official said, "and therefore to adequately cover our costs, the 19% rate was considered more appropriate now.

The prime — the rate banks charge their biggest and most credit-worthy corporate borrowers - has increased eight times since March 4 and 14 times so far in 1980 in reaction to the

Gang claims more grocery poisonings

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The "Poison Gang" that claimed responsibility for placing deadly cyanide in a jar of pickles and a bottle of teriyaki sauce in two Safeway supermarkets reportedly has struck again after raising its extortion demands from 50 to 100

The Riverside Press Enterprise in today's editions quoted an unidentified federal source as saying a Safeway store in Palm Desert had received an extortion threat Monday warning of a poisoned jar of salad dressing and had tried to meet the caller's demand.

The newspaper also said a man acquitted of charges involving a similar plot at a Sun City Safeway store in 1979, is being sought as a suspect in connection with the new poisonings.

The man who called the Pacific Beach Safeway store on Sunday to warn of the tainted teriyaki sauce demanded a payoff in diamonds and, threatened to poison food at other Safeway stores if his demands were not met, San Diego Police said. They refused to say if the caller set a time.

Police Lt. Ron Seden said "from all indications" the extortion plot appears to be the work of one person, although hand-lettered notes attached to the cyanide-laden foods were signed "The Poison Gang."

Authorities said the caller has not contacted Safeway officials since the call on Sunday. It was not revealed how police learned the extortionist had raised his demand to 100 dia

Safeway officials and law enforcement officers said there have been no reports of poisoned foods in the area since the weekend incidents.

Police refused comment about reported similarities between the incidents in San Diego and the extortion scheme in Sun City last May. The Riverside County extortionist originally demanded $50,000 and eventual ly increased the amount to $150,000.

In the Sun City case, police found a cyanide tainted box of cereal and an orange injected with the poison. Richard Q. Williams, 45, of Winchester, was acquitted in the case March 21.

COUGAR, Wash. (AP) — The ground around Mount St. Helens has 'tilted" upward, and scientists said if the swelling increases the awakening volcano might spew lava.

Meanwhile, volcanic ash fell in Vancouver, Wash., and Portland, Ore., areas, about 50 miles southwest of Mount St. Helens, after the smoldering mountain issued its most dramatic steam and ash plumes since it started erupting last week

Loggers outside Cougar, 15 miles southwest of the peak, reported heavy ash falling in the area "like snow."

One good indication of whether a lava eruption is likely is a phenomenon known as tilting, which occurs when a mountain swells under the pressure of magma - molten rock - moving beneath the surface. The ground near Spirit Lake just north of the mountain bulged upward about a half-inch Tuesday. The tilting on St. Helens so far has en "insignificant," said Don Mulneaux of the U.S. Geological Survey, it if it intensifies, it is a "good sign" at a lava eruption might be on the Mullineaux, who co-authored a 1978 port about the hazards of a Mount Helens eruption, repeated his asessment that a full-scale "pyroclasc" explosion — one which would hurl ock and lava from themountain as the least likely possibility.

"A series of small eruptions would e more likely than a large, cataclysnic event," he said.

Volcanic ash, already reported in everal towns around the mountain, as sent into the air in its heaviest uantities Tuesday

The ash, which resembles cement ust, could cause minor irritation to se and lung tissue and can corrode loth and metal if it is not washed off, aid Forest Service officials.

One steam plume shot 20,000 feet bove sea level and another followed mysterious explosion reportedly neard from Centralia, 50 miles to the west, to Goldendale, 70 miles to the east. But Forest Service officials were uncertain whether the blast came from the volcano or was an accidental "April Fools" sonic boom caused by military aircraft.

es shot to an alti tude of 16,000 feet at 12: 34 p.m., 11,500 feet at 12:54 p.m. and 16,000 feet at 7:48 p.m., said Lynn Robertson, U.S. Forest Service spokeswoman in Vancouver. The 7:48 eruption lasted 15 minutes. The ash fallout in the Vancouver-Portland area apparently came from earlier eruptions at 8: 15 a.m. and 9: 15 m., said Ms. Robertson

Observation flights Tuesday night carried instruments to try to identify gases responsible for the blue glow that has been reported in the mountain's craters. The blue flame observed in the two craters, which are expanding and merging into one as their sides cave in, is believed to be burning gas from magma within the volcano, said Mullineaux. Earthquake activity was reported lessening Tuesday, although there were three quakes Monday night and

Tuesday morning which registered at more than 4.5 on the Richter scale.

Carter told an AFL-CIO meeting Tuesday that no one in his administration apologized to the Iranian regime for any action during the reign of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, contradicting Tehran reports over the weekend that two messages he sent the Iranian government last week contained expressions of regret for American actions. Carter also warned that American patience is running thin.

Bani-Sadr's conditions for the release of the hostages have been U.S. acknowledgment of past interference in Iran's affairs, a pledge not to interfere in the future and a promise not to block Iran's efforts to get back the shah and the wealth he allegedly plundered. In his speech Tuesday, he said the hostages would not be freed until the shah was extradited, the condition set by the militants who seized the U.S. Embassy and its staff last Nov. 4.

The crowd of 200,000 at the Tehran rally responded with boos and angry shouts to Bani-Sadr's proposal to take control of the hostages. But a spokesman for the embassy militants refused to comment, saying they were "staying quiet" for the time being. A member of the Revolutionary

'Prophet' misses call for 'rapture'

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Millions of Christians remain on earth today, but the credibility of self-proclaimed prophet Willie Day Smith may have vanished.

According to Smith's Biblical calculations, he and millions of other believers were to have instantaneously and inexplicably disappeared from the earth Tuesday afternoon.

The occasion was the "rapture," the day when the Christian faithful are summoned to heaven to be with Jesus Christ.

The only known disappearance Tuesday was Smith, the Southern Baptist who broke with his background to become a non-denominationalist proclaimer of the end.

Smith, 47, locked himself inside his home in this Dallas suburb most of the day. When he finally emerged Tuesday evening, he shouted to one local reporter, "Stay off his property or I'll call the police. Stay off my telephone. Get out of this area."

Coast Guard Petty Officer Kenneth Harry said 35 crewmen from the tanker Amoco Cremona were plucked out of the water after the collision with the freighter Mason Lykes. It was not known immediately how many crewmen were aboard the freighter.

One injured crewman, apparently suffering from smoke inhalation, was taken to a Galveston hospital.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'Lenten Gag'

To The Editor:

Your series from the Newspaper Bible must be your idea of a "new twist" in journalism in which you endeavor to bring the scriptures to those of us who otherwise would not understand it (most of us do have a Bible.) But I wonder if the levity of your version or the modernization of your language makes it any more understandable, readable or reli-

If your newspaper, and the others around the country who are going along with the "Lenten Gag," were really trying to help us find the "truth," (in this case Christian) you would not be promoting John's Gospel, the latest and thus the most remote from the actual life of Jesus.

As a matter of fact if you really wanted to help us to find this Christian truth and the "true" gospel of Jesus you would send your reporters back to the original sources of which there are still many as yet un-reported. Even Matthew and Luke were not primarily interested in proving that Jesus walked on the water therefore he was chosen the Master, or performed many miracles, therefore he was the chosen Messiah. It just seems to me that there is too much reporting what the Bible said Jesus did to help us all get on the good side of God. If Jesus were to be resurrected following Easter Sunday he would no longer recognize his own greatness. I have always felt that the news media had other objectives than the reinforcement of the religious doctrines of its readers.

Last night I heard the great news from President Carter. The "windfall profits tax" is good for the country and will reduce our dependence on foreign oil.

We have already been told that approximately 15 percent of this "windfall" will go toward developing and producing more domestic energy. What happened to the axiom "a whole is equal to the sum of all its parts?" This "new math" is really confusing. Can we be made to believe that 15 percent of 227.7 billion dollars can produce more energy than 100 percent of it? Also, he failed to say whether this 15 percent is of the gross 227. billion dollars, or what is left after administrative costs of the "middle

Another confusing thing is that Mr. Jack Anderson stated in his column of March 10, 1980, and I quote, "his windfall tax proposal would leave half of the oil profits untaxed." This is untrue, and a request from Mr. Anderson for an explanation went unanswered. I assume from this that he had no defense. This is typical of the biased reports from much of the news media on the excise tax (possibly a confiscation of property.)

I hope that we remember this "new math" in November and vote accord-

Vote for change

To The Editor:

The time has come for the public to prove to our government we want a change. It seems the politicians only listen to us just before an election, so I suggest voting against all incumbents. A partial replacement will not make our point,

When an elected official starts telling the public what we can or cannot? do, such as President Carter telling the athletes they will not go to Moscow, then that official no longer understands his function. A quick inspection of our income tax returns makes it quite obvious that our representatives think the cure to all their problems is to raise more taxes.

Well, I am tired of the working people solving their problems. They have that backwards too. We have much to gain and little to lose, so vote for a change. "I'm mad too, Eddie!" John G. Merritt Odessa

What better way

As a concerned parent, teacher or taxpayer, are you alarmed about the many conspired programs that are infiltrating the public schools? What better way is there for the humanist (communist) to gain a one world government than through our children?

Many teachers who would otherwise speak out against such programs as immoral films, sensitivity training, busing, psycho-drama, free dress, third force, child advocacy and many other programs won't anymore than they will stop contributing to the United Way, as many people are forced to do, if they wish to keep their job. I'm just thankful we still have some Christian teachers and principals who know what's taking place in ne system and not afraid to admit

I say let's start by first protecting our children, cleaning up our school board by replacing them with Christians who are more concerned with morals being taught to our children and not afraid to get rid of all these mind-conditioning materials, immoral films and textbooks. Even if it means schools not having the government funds - I say who needs them! Are not our children more important than being subjected to all this government authority of replacing morals and God with no values at all - yo absolutes - and instead of education using psychology and picture shows?

Just wait...

To The Editor:

I refer to Mr. R. Phiffer's letter of March 30, to the editor. If he thinks the school district received a large increase in tax revenue from overevaluation of our property two years ago and several million dollars worth of new property construction on the tax rolls, just wait until he finds out that under Senate Bill 1060, House Bill 1161 our taxes are automatically going up some more in 1981.

Right now the tax office is in the process of re-evaluating again from county line to county line under these new tax laws. This law mandates that we will be taxed on 100 percent of this new evaluation, not 75 percent as we are now. In dollars and cents, this means that your local tax bill will automatically increase by 33 percent even if your house evaluation stays at its present figure, and the taxing agencies do not lower their rate. The school district will automatically receive a 331/2 percent increase in tax money and that should be ample to cover their long neglected mainte-nance needs without a bond issue. I haven't heard any school official or board member mention LOWERING the tax rate, have you? Perhaps they plan to purchase more land with their windfall profits in 1981.

Covering up?

To The Editor: Re: The recent statements by two school board candidates relating to school discipline

According to Mr. Ramsoure "in the 20 years I have been with the school district we have not had an incident of students attacking teachers or the use of foul language in our classrooms."

Either someone is covering the facts from Mr. Ramsoure or he needs some information. I taught for five years in our school district. These are a few of the things I have seen or have witnessed:

1. I heard the foulest language I ever hope to hear while I taught school. At the time I was teaching, some of the worst of it happened to have come from a Bible class. I found it almost impossible to control because there was little back-up for my position that foul language does not have a place in schools. Not all of it was directed at teachers, of course; but its mere presence is degrading.

2. On one occasion a small group of students "ganged" at my classroom door betweeen classes. While their teacher stood there, they refused to let me leave the class before their class began. I did discuss the problem about the other teacher, but the "taste" lingered on...

3. Students were eating, smoking, spitting tobacco all over the school. One administrator actually was perturbed because I asked him to put a stop to the tobacco spitting in the halls so that other students could make use of the trash cans and water foun-

4. The windows of my home have been bashed in. So have the doors. 5. My husband's car was pushed through our garage door, causing us to have major repair work done on

No 'power play

As a member of Penny Angelo's steering committee for her school board campaign last year, I take extreme offense at M.E. Burns' statement that Mayor Angelo "ran his wife" for that office in an attempted power play to take over the public schools." Perhaps M.E. Burns should check his facts before writing false accusations to the public!!

Penny Angelo was urged by many friends and supporters who felt that High area in particular was not (and still is not) proportionately represented on the School Board. If anything, Mayor Angelo hindered her decision and, therefore, hindered the beginning of our campaign planning. The Angelos agonized for weeks before Ernest finally gave in and said he would not stand in her way! In NO WAY was he attempting a "power play," as M.E. Burns accuses.

In fact, those close to the Mayor knew he was going to be very involved in the national elections and was not going to run for mayor again. Had we been at liberty to make those decisions public, the ridiculous rumor created by those in opposition that the Angelos were trying to run Midland would have been completely invalidated and probably had a great effect on the election outcome! To The Editor:

The American Automobile Industry is amazing! They have seen the energy crunch coming since the early seventies. They have seen the Japanese and Germans capture a little more of the market each year. And what do they do? They continue to produce large, gas-guzzling cars with a variety of options which add much to the basic car price. Instead, one would think they'd manufacture cars that would compete with the Datsun, the Honda, the Toyota and the VW on the open market; but they do not. And now they are going to the U.S. government, asking it to limit the influx of foreign cars, so the American consumer will have no choice but to buy what he has already indicated is a less than desirable

Instead of crying about a wrecked industry and the loss of thousands of jobs, it's high time the Mo-Town executives reassessed their own approach to the problem. For seven years the American car-buyer has been telling Detroit what they want, through their purchases of compact foreign models. And as soon as the auto industry awakens to the obvious, they'll start marketing attractive, reliable, economical automobiles that will recapture the American market. At least, they oughta.

I resent Thane Akins' implication that there is something "wrong" with being a lawyer. More than half of the 39 delegates who signed the U.S. Constitution were lawyers, which hardly prevented them from being outstanding leaders.

Eye for Midland

To The Editor:

I served on the Midland County Commissioner's Court from 1951 to 1967. During that time, I knew no one with a better eye for Midland's future than Martin Allday. Long before most people had even thought about building a county library or a local college or buying some choice land for rights of way, Martin Allday had seen these possibilities and was working hard to get them for Midland. He knew then and he knows now what is good for Midland. He worked then and he's working now to improve the lives of Midlanders.

In light of Martin's near perfect qualifications for mayor, I am not surprised that one of his opponents has felt the need to talk about an issue that has nothing to do with this campaign. What does surprise me is that this opponent has talked about an issue which does not even score him any points. Specifically, he has talked about who knows and who does not know the oil business. He's trying to say that Martin does not know it, but I know from experience that Martin does. On more than one occasion, Martin's knowledge of the ins and outs of the oil business has helped me a lot. Implications that Martin doesn't have that knowledge are plumb silly.

Martin Allday has been pushing for the betterment of Midland ever since he moved to town 28 years ago. Midlanders must feel darn lucky and proud right now that they have the opportunity to elect him mayor. Alvey Bryant

Telling it like it is

To The Editor:

I saw on TV last night where Martin Allday had listed on the required Candidate's Financial Report that he had received about $19,000 and that his opponent, Thane Akins, had received only $150. I checked with the City Secretary's office where these reports were filed and found out that almost 200 people had contributed to Allday but that Akins had reported only one contribution for $150!! That's "1" folks. Who do you believe? The same TV report indicated Akins had spent no money for his campaign!!

I understand that the election laws require a candidate to list all contrirequire a candidate to list all contributions received and expenses made. I admire Allday's political guts in listing all of his contributions — even down to the smallest amount. I may be politically naive, but I went a mayor who tells it like it is — up rront. That's the kind of guy Midland can trust and needs. I intend to vote for him on Saturday.

n Phiffer Midland

EDITOR'S NOTE: The television report was not up to date. Latest candidate spending reports, which were published in The Reporter-Telegram Tuesday, showed Martin Allday recieved $25,670 in contributions from more than 190 people while Thane Akins reported receiving $9,494, including a $2,000 personal loan and contributors totaling 28. This was not the final report, however. That will be issued following the election.

To The Editor:

I just spent some time in Washington, D.C., working for the independents' exemption from the windfall profits tax. While there, I was shocked by the way some Washingtonians treated oil men like me. Rather than carefully consider what we had to say, they treated us like greedy, thick-headed idiots, simply because we were "oil men."

When I returned to Midland a few days ago, I was equally shocked by the attacks one mayoral candidate—
Thane Akins— was making on another— Martin Allday. Rather than deal with legitimate issues, Akins discounts Allday's candidacy simply because Allday is a "lawyer."

More than anyone else, we in the oil business know how foolhardy and unfair it is to discount a man on the basis of his profession. We know that a man should be judged on his merits and not on some simple-minded conception of what he does for a living. I am confident that Midlanders in general and Midland oil men in particular will rise above Mr. Akins' empty attacks and cast their ballot for the best qualified candidate, Martin Allday, qualified candidate, Martin Allday, on April 5th. Those who know

To The Editor: During a time in which our nation is suffering from economic, moral and governmental woes, we are looking for a leader of highest integrity, moral responsibility and uncompro-mising leadership. This week we will have the opportunity to select such a man to lead our tiny section of the

Those of us who know Thane Akins recognize these qualities in him. Those who don't know him need only look to his record as community leader and city councilman. He can be seen as a man of utmost integrity who can direct the future of Midland with idealism tempered with fiscal responsibility. Having been associated with Thane and Jean Akins for the past seven years, I can confidently endorse him as the type of mayor Midland needs for the 80's.

Those who know Thane Akins will be at the polls Saturday casting their votes for him, and for Midland.

as "the Gov. Moonbeam factor." Gov. Moonbeam is a tag humor columnist Mike Royko first pinned on Brown, ridiculing his sometimes mystic musing about spaceship earth, his numerous friends and appointees from San Francisco's Zen center, and Brown's widely publicized romance with rock star Linda Ronstadt.

The Gov. Moonbeam theme was expanded in about two dozen Doonesbury comic strips and Johnny Carson television monologues.

"By the time Jerry Brown hit the presidential campaign trail in September, 1979, the dream publicity and attention had evolved into a huge, uncontrollable nightmare," wrote Charlotte Perry, who served three months as Brown's campaign press secretary.

'He drew crowds, to be sure, but in the same way that (comedian) Steve Martin draws crowds. By being eccentric - a wild and crazy politician. By being a celebrity," she wrote in a recent article.

In Wisconsin, the crowds weren't there, and neither was the press.

For two days last week, Brown's press entourage consisted of three reporters riding in a van behind his station wagon - a lonely caravan of two cars. While other candidates and their staffs stayed in the best hotels in town, the money short Brown was put up in private homes.

And today, Jerry Brown went back to his own home.

Permian, which got three of its run as gifts from the Rebels, finally earned one in the seventh, but it was only enough to give Lee partisans a slight scare. Mike Williams pounded a leadoff single and then flew to third when Fowler blasted a ground-rule double. Williams scored on a wild pitch by Koonce, but Fowler was left standing on third after Koonce fanned the last

Centerfielder Barry Corley, who collected three hits, made a big defensive play for Lee in the seventh with a running catch of what appeared to be a hit from the bat of Richard Hanfeld. But that seemed to be the exception rather than the rule on this day, one that saw the Rebels more lucky than

BEFORE YOU FILE YOUR

If you have not yet filed your 1979 Federal Income Tax return, you could be on your way to securing your own retirement as well as deferring until your retirement up to $1500 of your 1979 income tax. How? By opening or adding to your Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at First Savings and Loan in Midland. IRAs permit employees not now covered by a company retirement program to contribute to their own retirement up to 15% of their annual salary not to exceed $1500 each year. The amount you set aside each year can be deferred until age 591/2 or until you retire.

Fitness People at either First Savings location soon...at any case before you file for 1979. If you have already filed for 1979, there is time to start your IRA for 1980.

But to take advantage of the tax deferment for 1979, you must open or add to your IRA at First Savings before you file your tax return. Don't miss this golden opportunity to benefit from First Savings high interest savings and a deferment of your federal income taxes. See one of the Fiscal

Stock market mixed

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market turned in a mixed showing in quiet trading Tuesday as the rally of the past two sessions faded.

The New York and American stock exchanges operated on a normal schedule despite a transit strike in New York. But NYSE volume of 32.23 million was the second lightest of the year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, more than 45 points from its low last Thursday afternoon through Monday's close, slipped back 1.28 to 784.47.

The daily tally on the Big Board showed about nine gainers for every five stocks that gained ground.

The NYSE's composite index rose .18 to 57.83. Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials was down .16 at 115.15, but S&P's 500-stock composite index managed a

TODAY'S ANSWER

BUSINESS MIRROR 'Full employment is undesirable,' says economist

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - To one degree or another, all political candidates support full employment. They feel it is good politics, good economics, good common sense, and a worthy, achievable goal.

To Robert Theobald, economist and futurist, it is dangerous nonsense that could drive America into the poorhouse and ruin the lives of the people whose votes the politicians solicit.

Full employment, he says, "is both infeasible and undesirable." It is an effort that "must be abandoned if we are not to experience increasing economc breakdown." It is, he says, a recipe for disaster. We're seeing the results now, he states. Our insistence on jobs for all, he says, wastes energy, worsens inflation, lowers productivity, creates bu-reaucracy, encourages costly programs ... He could Theobald is an independent mind, a maverick perhaps, an intellectual, a long-range thinker - even a dreamer, some would say, but a practical man, too. He can upset and depress, exhilarate and irritate. He can also jar thinking from its ruts, and that keeps him in demand.

From his Wickenburg, Ariz., home he tours the ecture circuit, to promote ideas and help support his household, which he accomplishes also with income from writings and government and business consult-

And now, in the midst of the presidential election campaign, he is concerned about candidates offering "extremely dusty answers" to economic challenges, especially the challenge of jobs.

The country is in a crisis and all it is offered by candidates are self-serving palliatives, he says.

"Full employment was proposed as a means to an end (in the 1930s) by John Maynard Keynes," he observes, then adds unpopularly: "But full employment as defined by his disciples doesn't work

Keynes, he maintains, was seen as totally crazy by economists at one time. Then, says Theobald, Keynes was accepted. And now, he says, "you're crazy if you challenge him. He reminds audiences that even Keynes conceded his job-stimulation theories were valid only when there was no change in the quantity or quality of the labor force or machines, and no change in technolo-

But great changes have occurred, says Theobald. He names just two: An inability to find meaningful jobs for young people; and a swift rise in work-force participation by women. Machines and technology have changed, too. "The overwhelming trend has been the continuing decline in the percentage employed in the primary (agriculture, mining) and secondary (production) sectors." At the same time, Theobald says, there has been a growth of the tertiary (services) sector. "More than 50 percent of the work force now is employed in moving and processing information," he observes. As microelectronics develops there will be increases in the demand for information but, he argues, a decline in the need for information workers. "Machines will be more attractive for some iobs

Says Theobald, the question becomes: "What jobs

He doesn't suggest people must loaf. "This is not the same question as 'What work will need doing?" he says. "There is and will be no shortage of critically important work."

But what politicians and even economists insist upon, says Theobald, is that we continue to think in the old mold. That is, that life and jobs aren't changing, and that our approaches need not either.

'We must make our mining, agricultural and manufacturing activities as efficient as possible.

This will provide the resources base to do critical work in the areas of self-discovery and expression, in care of the young and old and sick, and in community support and development."

Many of these activities, he recognizes, are creative, diffuse, and on a volunteer basis. "How then could we structure jobs in these areas? Why should we want to turn this work into jobs?"

And, he asks: Why aren't our leaders giving thought to the questions, instead of simply spending futiley for a full employment goal that won't succeed and that could break the country?

What the country faces, says Theobald, is a "total, system shift," He explained: "Just as we changed patterns of production, consumption and rights to income as we moved from the agricultural era to the industrial, we shall alter them again as we move to the communications era." In the future, he believes, we must answer three challenges:

-To continue to achieve the greatest production while recognizing natural resource and environmen-

—To enable people to choose challenging work, and insure that unwanted toil is equitably shared." -To create a socially just distribution of income based on a person's contribution."

Joan Kennedy defends husband's aloof stance NEW YORK (AP) - In private, he's "adorable,"

Joan Kennedy says. But on the hustings, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy doesn't show his wife much affection, or even attention. "That's just his style," she told Newsweek in its current issue. "Did you ever see Jack Kennedy kiss Jackie in public? Or Bobby kiss Ethel? It's just their style, and I don't think it means any lack of love or warmth or anything."

New direction for utility firms?

By JILL LAWRENCE

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — By investing in conservation equipment and services instead of new power plants, the owners of Three Mile Island hope to save customers $1.2 billion over the next 30 years.

The shift is outlined in a 200-page energy plan that General Public Utilities Corp. filed last week with the Pennsylvaria Public Utility Commission and the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities.

"This alternate use of capital will mark a new direction for the electric utility industry," GPU said. "It can also serve as a model for the rest of the nation.

In addition to encouraging the conservation with energy audits, weatherization programs and solar demonstration projects, the company will try to per-suade its 1.6 million customers to use electricity during cheaper off-peak hours, when the demand is low.

GPU's three subsidiaries - Metropolitan Edison, Pennsylvania Electric and Jersey Central Power & Light - have been pressed for power since the country's worst commercial nuclear accident shut down the Three Mile Island plant a year ago.

While customers would pay for the conservation hardware and services called for in the energy plan, GPU says that price tag will be much lower than what it costs to build new power plants.

GPU believes its plan will halve projected growth in electricity demand by 1990, permitting the company to abandon the scheduled construction of three Jersey Central Power & Light to turn off the central scrapped construction plans, the company expects to save $2.08 billion over the next 10 years. The company plans to spend $580 million on the plan.

Through reduced energy costs and deferred or each hour.

In addition, GPU said an estimated 200 million barrels of imported oil would be saved and environmental pollution would be reduced because a large coal plant would not be built.

GPU said it will seek separate approval from regulators in Pennsylvania and New Jersey for each component of the plan, with time-of-day rates and storage water heaters a priority.

Crucial to program are off-peak rates, where customers receive discounts if they use electricity during weekends and from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m. on weekdays. The company hopes to increase time-of-day customers from the present 600 to 374,000 by 1990. Storage water heaters, which heat water during low-cost off-peak hours and discharge hot water during peak hours, are another important part of the plan. GPU said 40,000 customers now use the equipment and 296,000 units could be installed by 1990 at a cost of $107 million. Storage space heaters, which work on the same principle, are now used by 40 customers. The number could rise to 77,000 by 1990 at a cost of

A large scale solar demonstration program would offer $500 to 1,000 GPU customers who want to install solar hot water heaters, with 500 units installed by

Algeria steps up drive to get more money for its liquified natural gas

By WILLIAM GLASGALL

NEW YORK (AP) - Algeria has stepped up its drive to gain higher prices on its liquefied natural gas (LNG), which accounts for about 1 percent of U.S. natural gas consump-

The exporter, which also sells the highest-priced oil in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, told El Paso Co. of Houston it will "not continue deliveries" of the fuel at the latest price of $1.95 per thousand cubic feet, El Paso said Tuesday.

Algeria has sought more than $6 per thousand cubic feet from European customers recently. The country's LNG exports provided about 1 percent of U.S. natural gas needs last.

"It's too early to tell" if shipments will be cut off, Mackie said, adding, "no one...has walked away" from the negotiations. The Energy Deartment refused to comment on the Algerian

The Algerian government said Tuesday it has extended for 15 days the deadline for delivery to El Paso. and that it hoped a new agreement on price would be reached by April 15. Sources in Algiers, however, said Sonatrach could take unilateral action if no accord is reached.

The Algerian natural gas develop ments came as Iran raised its oil prices by $2.50 per 42-gallon barrel.

The increase raises the official crude oil to $33.50 a barrel, but is buying LNG for $1.95 per thousand expected to have little affect here because U.S. purchases of Iranian oil thousand cubic feet the United States ficials have been holding talks with have been barred by President will pay Mexico and Canada under

Iran also charges a premium of $3 a barrel on half the oil it sells under long-term contracts, meaning the average price paid by Iran's major customers for light crude will rise to $35 a barrel from the previous $32.50. Three Eastern utility systems buy

Algerian gas from El Paso - Columbia Gas System Inc., Consolidated Natural Gas Co. and Southern Natu-El Paso said the three companies

believe "a temporary interruption in the LNG supply pending the resolu-tion of outstanding issues between" Algeria and El Paso "would not affect operations" in their service areas.

LNG is natural gas which has been condensed in Algeria, shipped in specially built tankers and then re-gasified in the United States.

Under an amended contract that price of high-quality Iranian light expired Monday, El Paso had been recently concluded agreements.

President ready to sign compromise 'windfall' bill

11-month contest with Congress; President Carter is ready to sign a compromise $227.7 billion "windfall profits" oil tax bill that he called "the key to our nation's first comprehensive energy policy."

Long eager to put his pen on the legislation, Carter scheduled a special signing ceremony today in the East Room of the White House.

"You can leave the ribbons off this one in order to get it on down here,' Carter told Senate leaders last Thursday after the measure passed on a 66-31 vote.

"This is good news for the country and, I think, good news for the whole world," Carter told Senate Democratic Leader Robert S. Byrd of West Virginia and the bill's sponsor, Sen. Russell Long, D-La.

In addressing a conference of the AFL-CIO Building and Constructions Trade Department here Tuesday, Carter said the bill will be "one of the biggest construction projects in the history of the world. The bill is a compromise version of the $294 billion tax Carter recommended last April after deciding to phase out federal price controls on U.S. crude oil in an effort to spur domestic oil production and reduce reliance on imports.

Although often called a tax on "windfall profits," it actually would not apply directly to profits but rather to price increases above 1979 levels. Decontrol would allow U.S. prices to rise to world market levels and cost consumers an estimated $1 trillion in the 1980s. The tax, retroactive to

March 1, will take $227.7 billion of that "windfall" and, after other federal and state taxes, will leave the oil industry $221 billion it would not have had under continued controls.

Sixty percent of the proceeds from what technically is a federal excise tax, or $137 billion, is earmarked for income tax reduction, although specific legislation would be needed before any tax cut could be enacted. Another 25 percent, or $57 billion, would help the poor meet rising energy costs after 1981, with $3.1 billion authorized for that purpose next

The remaining 15 percent would be earmarked for energy and transportation development, originally the centerpiece project for Carter's major energy legislation.

In the fine print, the new law boosts to $4,000 the existing tax credits for homeowners who install wind or solar

An unrelated amendment will allow up to $200 of interest and dividends to be tax exempt in 1981 and 1982. Present law exempts $100 of dividends from tax, or $200 on a joint return.

Algeria tells El Paso not to expect current deal

NEW YORK (AP) - Algeria has informed El Paso Co. that it will "not continue deliveries" of liquefied natural gas (LNG) at current prices.

An El Paso spokesman would not say the company's 700 million cubic feet a day of LNG imports had been halted. But David Mackie added, one could conclude that unless something is worked out very quickly," a cutoff is "a distinct possibility."

Algeria provided about 1 percent of U.S. natural gas needs last year. LNG is natural gas which has been con-densed in Algeria, shipped in specially-built tankers and then re-gasified

Three Eastern utility systems buy Algerian gas from El Paso - Columbia Gas System Inc., Consolidated Natural Gas Co. and Southern Natural Gas Co.

El Paso said Tuesday the three utility companies believe "a temporary interruption in the LNG supply pending the resolution of outstanding issues between" Algeria and El Paso "would not affect opera-tions" in their service areas.

El Paso had been buying LNG for $1.95 per thousand cubic feet under an amended contract that expired Monday. Algeria has been demanding its European buyers pay $6.11, or more than triple the old El Paso price, but Mackie said the Algerians have not yet set a price on new sales of gas to
