Rain may slow search

90 still listed missing in volcano area

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A chance of rain dampened the prospects for a search for survivors of the Mount St. Helens volcano today and threatened to ground President Carter's plans for a helicopter tour of the mountain.

But rain was welcome in the communities to the east that have been nearly shut down as ash from the volcano lay down a gritty blanket up to seven inches deep.

Officials in eastern Washington extended emergency orders to prevent new health hazards from the material spewed out in the blast that killed 14 people, laid waste to thousands of acres of pristine forest and sent tons of mud and debris slithering down into nearby rivers.

The missing list from Sunday's eruption — an explosion estimated at 2,500 times as powerful as the World War II atomic bombing of Hiroshima, Japan — stood at 90 today.

Gray rainclouds hung over the mountain as Carter arrived Wednesday night to assess the devastation. The president has declared Washington state a major disaster area.

Carter told reporters he had come to express "my admiration for the courage and for the calmness that the people have shown in the face of one of the most devastating natural explosions our nation has ever known."

But state officials told him they needed money. Rep. Mike McCormack, D-Wash., whose district includes the volcano, said the president was told that cleanup of ash-laden cities in eastern Washington could cost between $150 million and $200 million.

As poor weather hampered helicopter searches Wednesday, the mountain was quiet. Scientists, however, worried that cascading mud could raise the bed of the nearby Cowlitz River, resulting in flooding, and kept watch on a giant mud logjam at the top of the Toutle River that was holding back the waters of Spirit Lake.

Meanwhile, states of emergency in several eastern Washington counties hard hit by the volcano's ash fallout were extended for health reasons.

Ron Edgar, a chemist with the Spokane Air Pollution Control Authority, said the ash — which shut down businesses and schools and stranded some 5,000 travelers — was similar to the substances that cause lung ailments in miners and stonemasons. Officials said air particulate levels here, normally 80 micrograms per cubic meter, were measured at 11,000 micrograms Wednesday.

Officials do not yet know how serious inhalation of the minuscule, dagger-like particles might be. "Particulate levels are going to go up as people become more active," Edgar said. "Health is the biggest reason for keeping the emergency status intact."

In other developments:

—Longview residents were asked to eat off paper plates as mud in the Cowlitz River clogged intake pipes to a water system serving about 40,000 persons. The city was getting water from neighboring Kelso.

—An Amtrak train was authorized to make additional stops early today to pick up stranded motorists in three eastern Washington towns — but they were going to have to stand for the eight-hour trip to Seattle because the train was booked solid, Amtrak officials said.

—Skamania County Sheriff Bill Closser disputed charges that restricted zones around the peak should have been enlarged before the mountain's eruption. "The bottom line is that nobody would listen," he said. "There was continuous harassment from the public, land owners, for access in the danger zones."

—Montana Gov. Thomas Judge scheduled a meeting today with officials in several cities to discuss his emergency orders shutting down businesses and schools during the ash fallout. Four of the state's counties remained under the restrictions Wednesday.

—Idaho Gov. John Evans mobilized the National Guard to help clean ash in eight northern counties and said he would seek a disaster declaration from Carter. He said he also was considering postponing Tuesday's primary election.

Islamic nations vote to condemn the U.S. for rescue attempt

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — The 39-nation Islamic Conference formed a three-member committee including Iran's foreign minister today to work for a withdrawal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan and unanimously condemned the United States for its attempt to rescue the 53 American hostages in Iran.

The conference of foreign ministers which began Saturday termed the aborted American military action "armed aggression" against Iran, expressed "outrage" at Egypt and other Mideast states for allegedly helping the American attempt and deplored the imposition of economic sanctions against Iran by any country.

It also appealed to Iran "to continue to work toward a solution of the question of the hostages in the spirit of Islam."

The Afghan crisis committee was authorized to take any initiative it considered necessary including visits to the Soviet Union and Afghanistan, conference spokesman Kacem Zaheri said.

"We shall go to Moscow if they invite us," Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh told reporters. "But we are not going to beg the Soviet Union to negotiate with us."

The committee is led by Agha Shahi, foreign affairs adviser to Pakistani President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq and the conference's host. The other members are Ghotbzadeh and Habib Chatti of Tunisia, the secretary-general of the Islamic Conference.

Apparently reacting to criticism by pro-Soviet delegations, Chatti said at a news conference that opposition to the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan does not make the Islamic Conference any more or less pro-American. The Palestine Liberation Organization, Libya, Syria and North and South Yemen opposed the resolution on Afghanistan.

The resolution called for the immediate, unconditional and total withdrawal of Soviet forces from the Central Asian Moslem country. But it omitted the harsh language used in a resolution at another conference in January demanding a Soviet pullout.

Bangladesh Foreign Minister Shamsul Haq said the committee could meet with "groups" in Afghanistan, indicating it would not meet officially with the communist government of President Babrak Karmal. The January conference refused to recognize the Karmal government because it was installed by the Soviet intervention.

Schools open in Miami; Tampa unrest continues

MIAMI (AP) — Schools reopened today as Miami's riot-torn northwest side remained calm except for an isolated shooting incident. But in Tampa, a police officer was shot in the face by a sniper as he tried to barricade a street where rocks had been thrown.

Following the lifting of a curfew in Miami, classes resumed for a quarter-million students in the nation's fifth-largest school system for the first time since the weekend of violence left 15 persons dead and Miami's Liberty City section in ruins.

It was the third night of scattered unrest in Tampa, where a white jury acquitted four white ex-policemen in the death of black businessman Arthur McDuffie, spawning the riots in Miami, his hometown.

Tampa Police Officer R.H. Cooke, 28, was reported in good condition today with a gunshot wound in the cheek after being shot in the face by a sniper as he stepped out of his cruiser in a black neighborhood where isolated rock throwing had been reported.

Police arrested Edward D. Powell, a 26-year-old black, who was charged with being an accessory after the fact to attempted first-degree murder. They were seeking others in the shooting.

Miami had a peaceful night until 3:25 a.m., when two Dade County officers were fired upon while sitting in their patrol car in the black northwest neighborhood, police said.

Police spokesman Tom Banks said the assailant, also in a vehicle, led the officers on a 10-block high-speed chase during which he fired upon a black bystander. No one was injured in the shootings, he said.

Taken into custody in adjacent Hialeah on attempted murder and aggravated assault charges was Raul Angel Oliva, 21, Banks said.

Also Wednesday night, a parochial school was firebombed in Coconut Grove on Miami's southeast side, causing $5,000 damages to an office and portable classroom, authorities said.

As classes began again, absenteeism was running higher than normal at one school in the riot area, Miami Jackson high, which is about 50 percent black, said Principal Percy Oliver.

Oliver said he wasn't convinced absentee students were afraid of violence. "They could be a little nervous. They just want another day off," he said.

Some 2,900 National Guard troops were stationed in school yards, fire departments and warehouses in case of more trouble. About 700 had been sent home.

"The community is still rife with tension and we're going to maintain the capability to move back in should problems arise," said Dade County Sheriff Bobby Jones. Earlier Wednesday, he lifted the curfew that had been in effect since Sunday over a 52-square-mile area.

Emergency bans on liquor sales were lifted, but orders against sales of guns and ammunition remained in effect countywide, as did orders that gasoline not be pumped into anything but vehicles.

President Carter, who has been asked by Gov. Bob Graham to declare Dade County a disaster area, planned to visit Miami soon.

U.S. jobless highest since at least 1967

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 616,000 jobless Americans filed initial claims for unemployment insurance during the week ending May 10, the highest number since at least 1967, the government said today.

The Labor Department's report provided another ominous sign that the economy is falling into a serious recession with unemployment to rise higher than official Carter administration forecasts.

The Labor Department said the seasonally adjusted figure for initial unemployment insurance claims filed during the week ending May 10 compares with 595,000 initial claims filed the week before.

Only once before has the number of initial claims for a week exceeded 600,000 during the 13 years that the Labor Department has been collecting seasonally adjusted data. That was during the week ending April 19, when 607,000 initial claims were filed.

Initial claims for jobless benefits have been averaging about 600,000 a week for the past four weeks.

Last month, the nation's unemployment rate jumped from 6.2 percent to 7 percent, the highest level in 2½ years and the largest one-month jump since the last recession five years ago.

The Carter administration officially predicts a short and mild recession this year, with unemployment peaking at 7.3 percent next year. But some administration economists say privately that the rate could hit 7.5 percent this month and surpass 8 percent by the end of the year.

Each one percentage point rise in the jobless rate equals 1,030,000 people.

The construction and auto industries have been hit first and hardest by the weakening economy, and layoffs in those sectors have been major reasons for the sharp boost in unemployment during the last month.

During the latest reporting period, increases in initial jobless benefit claims were the largest in Illinois, Michigan, North Carolina and California, because of layoffs in the construction, auto, textile, tire and service industries, the Labor Department said.

Overall, 3.4 million people were receiving unemployment benefits during the week ending May 3.

Misuse of funds case to go to DA

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Staff Writer

Permian Basin Regional Planning Commissioners decided Wednesday to turn a case involving alleged misappropriation of funds by a PBRPC employee over to the Ector County District Attorney's office.

After reviewing the evidence, the district attorney will decide whether to file charges or drop the case which involves the alleged misappropriation of $19,961 of the commission's funds.

The decision followed a 45-minute executive session when Gene Cummings, chairman of the commission, announced the audit's findings by Elms, Faris and Company, an Odessa accounting firm.

According to the audit report, on Dec. 4, 1979, one of two previously closed accounts for the PBRPC at First National Bank of Odessa was re-opened without proper authorization and $19,961 from a workmen's compensation premium return was deposited, in addition to $5,000 transferred from another account at that bank to the re-opened account.

The account's bank statements were sent to the employee's post office box address, the audit said.

Two checks, one for $4,590 and another for $15,371, were withdrawn from the account, the report continued. The $4,590 check was written to Energy Investments, Inc., on Dec. 10, 1979 and countersigned with a facsimile stamp of Ernie Crawford, executive director of the PBRPC.

The second check for $15,371 was written for cash on Dec. 19, 1979, with the facsimile stamp and endorsed with the employee's name in hand-writing.

According to Cummings, the money was invested in some oil ventures.

A final deposit of $2,000 from the Midland County Hospital District for the Emergency Medical Service program was made on March 20. On April 3, the account was closed with $6,000 in cash deposited, the audit results noted, adding the origin of the $6,000 was unknown.

Apparently, this is the first such incident at PBRPC, Cummings said. The incident was brought to the attention of Crawford by a bookkeeper who reported finding $342 in cash while

Penalty reduced in bill establishing registration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The penalty for failing to register for the draft, one of the rallying points of protesters a decade ago, would be reduced to 30 days in prison and a $5,000 fine under a bill approved by a House committee.

The measure, sent to the floor by the House Judiciary Committee on a 16-8 vote, would replace the current penalty, which provides a five-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine.

The chance would have no immediate effect on violators of President Carter's draft registration plan. The reduction was as an amendment to a criminal code revision bill that would not take effect for three years.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved a different version of the bill, which provides a maximum of a year in jail and a $25,000 fine for failing to register.

If both provisions are approved in their present form by the two houses, a conference committee will try to reach a compromise. The amendment was offered by Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., who had tried unsuccessfully to eliminate the jail sentence altogether.

Rep. Thomas Kindness, R-Ohio, supporting the amendment, said it was "not logical" to send people to jail for failure to register.

The reduced penalty would not apply during wartime or a national defense emergency. At such times, failing to register would be a felony, punishable by 40 months in prison and a fine of up to $250,000.

Balloon flight is now official

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The National Aeronautic Association has recognized the latest balloon voyage by Maxie and Kris Anderson as transcontinental because the pilot saw the Pacific Ocean after takeoff and the Atlantic Ocean before landing.

Controversy had arisen as to whether last week's flight by the Albuquerque father-and-son team from San Francisco to Matane, Quebec, which is about three miles from the Atlantic, qualified as transcontinental.

The NAA in 1978 said that it would consider a flight transcontinental if the pilot sighted the ocean after lift-off and the other ocean before landing, and submitted a signed statement indicating time and position.

The Andersons fulfilled that requirement, the NAA said Wednesday.

Anderson, 45, had submitted a statement saying the Kitty Hawk was in view of the Atlantic Ocean for almost one hour before landing May 12.

But the NAA also said the Andersons' 3,000-mile, four-day trip did not set a distance, duration or altitude record.

These are the only records the NAA and the Federation Aeronautique Internationale recognize, and "there is not a record category for transcontinental or trans-oceanic flights," said the statement signed by Everett Langworthy, NAA Contest and Record Board secretary.

Ted aims for 'Superbowl Tuesday'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, playing back and forth between his last-chance states, is working hard to convince voters in California they still have a say in choosing the Democratic presidential nominee.

Kennedy, who began his day Wednesday in Ohio, spent the evening in California. Those two states, along with New Jersey, are the key states holding primary elections on June 3, the final big round of primaries that the senator is calling "Superbowl Tuesday."

While President Carter's forces apply not so subtle pressure to push Kennedy out of the race, the senator is digging in, counting on California Democrats to give him a chance to overtake Carter.

"I do believe it would be difficult to deny a candidate the nomination if he wins California and makes strong showings in New Jersey and Ohio," the Massachusetts Democrat said in a local television interview here Wednesday evening.

The senator is taking this morning off, spending time with an old friend, former Sen. John Tunney, with whom he stays when in Los Angeles.

Kennedy's visit, his second recent trip to California, took him to a United Rubber Workers of America hall in the industrial Southgate section of Los Angeles.

He found a ready audience for his standard message criticizing Carter's economic policies.

According to Kennedy campaign material, Goodrich and Uniroyal tire factories in the Los Angeles area have closed and the local Firestone plant is about to be sold. Within a few years, employment at these plants dropped from 3,000 workers to 640.

"We wouldn't mind it being a mild recession if there is only one person losing his job and it was Jimmy Carter," Kennedy told about 300 union members.

As he did in Ohio, the heart of the nation's rubber industry, Kennedy criticized Carter for what he said was a failure to protect the American industry from foreign competition and said that Carter "has given away his trump card" in negotiations to limit rubber imports.

He said Carter made it clear from the start of negotiations with other countries that he was not going to take strong enough measures to protect U.S. jobs and that the other nations therefore did not bargain seriously.

"In a Kennedy administration, we're never going to give the trump card away," he said.

Much of Kennedy's schedule Wednesday and today was devoted to appearances in areas that do not fit in to the widespread impression of a sunny California.

To reach the rubber workers, he drove past miles of rundown factories and homes, their paint fading. Today, he is touring a hospital in Watts, the Los Angeles area devastated by racial riots nearly 15 years ago.

Kennedy spokesman Richard Drayne conceded that Carter's nearly 2-to-1 lead in delegates to the Democratic National Convention was making it difficult for Kennedy to convince voters that the contest was not over.

He said the senator would be hammering away at that point in his appearances today, Friday and Saturday in California.

Slight chance of storms

A slight chance for thunderstorms is expected in the Midland area as partly cloudy weather conditions begin tonight and continue through Friday.

The National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport is predicting a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms for tonight and Friday. However, the weatherman is also expecting warmer temperatures for Friday.

The predicted high for Friday should be in the upper 80s after a low tonight in the low 60s.

In 1953, the record high was 105 degrees as compared to Wednesday's high of 73 degrees. The record low for today is 48 degrees set in 1931 compared to today's 6 a.m. low of 52 degrees.

The weather service recorded a trace of precipitation overnight which does not affect the monthly amount of 1.75 inches or the yearly total of 3.40 inches.

Southeasterly winds should be 10-15 mph tonight.

examining records in the financial officer's office, the audit said.

The executive director consulted with the commission on April 16, Cummings said, and they decided a cash audit should be performed.

The FBI, district attorney and area law enforcement officials were notified, the chairman said, when the audit's findings were studied.

Cummings noted the employee assisted with the audit and made arrangements with the commission to pay back the money.

He said that the man presented a check to the commission Wednesday, but the amount of the check was not disclosed.

In other actions, commissioners gave favorable comment to Midland Independent School District's application for continuing a Head Start program at Bunche Early Childhood Center.

The school district requested $207,346 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare with the district supplying $70,949.

About 155 children, of which 90 percent will come from families below the poverty level, will be serviced by the program, the proposal noted.

The center, operated by 20 employees, should open more classroom space in other Midland schools currently housing the program.

Big Spring's Head Start program also received favorable comment from commissioners which would cost $321,397. The Big Spring School District would supply $60,602 with $260,795 coming from HEW.

The program should serve 215 children between the ages 3 and 4. Most of the money would be going to employment salaries and replacement of old equipment.

Other projects which received favorable comment include continuation of the regional police training project, Ector County Head Start Program and Fort Stockton's Neighborhood Center. Improvements to Yukon Road and 52nd Street in Odessa, an application to the Federal Housing Administration for the development of Cielo Vista housing subdivision and an application to the Urban Mass Transportation Administration to maintain the Midland-Odessa mass transit study.

Suit filed over seizure of porn film at Harvard

BOSTON (AP) — The Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts is suing the Middlesex County district attorney in federal court for arresting two Harvard students who showed the X-rated film "Deep Throat" in a college dormitory dining room.

The U.S. District Court suit filed Wednesday accused District Attorney John J. Droney of violating the students' First Amendment rights, their rights to due process of law and their right to be free from bad faith criminal prosecution.

The civil rights group asked the court to issue an injunction prohibiting prosecution of the students and requested unspecified monetary damages.

The students, Carl Stork of San Francisco and Nathan Hagen of Platteville, Wis., were arrested Friday night after the first showing of the movie in Quincy House.

The movie drew a crowd of about 100 students, mostly men, while a larger crowd, mostly women, protested outside.

The two students, co-presidents of the Quincy House Film Society, had planned to show the movie twice Friday and twice Saturday.

Last Friday, the district attorney's office sought an injunction in Superior Court to ban the showing. But Judge Charles R. Alberti, ruling the film was not obscene, turned down the request.

Droney then obtained a warrant from an assistant court clerk to seize the film. That evening, U.S. District Court Judge Joseph L. Tauro heard arguments over the telephone from an assistant district attorney and the students' lawyer. But before he could make a ruling, state police seized the movie and arrested the students.

They were arraigned on charges of disseminating obscene matter. Their trial is scheduled for Friday.

The Civil Liberties Union lawyers argued that the district attorney's actions "were taken in bad faith with the intention of denying the plaintiffs and others constitutional rights and with the knowledge that the film was not obscene as found by a Superior Court judge."

Refugee tide appears to ebb, officials hope

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The wave of Cuban refugees arriving on the "Freedom Flotilla" appears to be ebbing, and officials believe the number of boats at Cuba's port of Mariel finally is dwindling.

"We do see a faint glimmer at the end of the tunnel," said Cmdr. Samuel Dennis, chief of Coast Guard operations in Key West.

Only 28 boats with 1,150 passengers arrived here Wednesday, and officials believe there may be only 500 boats in Cuba.

A Havana radio broadcast, monitored in Miami, with different but still dwindling figures, reported there were 697 American-based boats at Mariel as of late Tuesday.

Nearly 68,000 Cuban refugees have arrived here in the 33 days of the boatlift.

Despite a string of Coast Guard cutters blockading the Straits of Florida to stop boats trying to leave for Cuba, four small boats slipped through on Tuesday while cutters were busy on rescue missions, Dennis said. Radio Havana reported that 10 boats slipped through.

Two Cuban-American representatives, meanwhile, were in Washington trying to win permission to continue the boatlift.

Miami businessman Wilfredo Navarro and Frank Sturgis, a former Cuban security chief who later was charged in the Watergate burglary, met Wednesday with U.S. Sen. Richard Stone, D-Fla., Minority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and White House official Luis Laurodo.

"We just are asking them to let us go free our people... just don't interfere," Navarro said. They say they will organize mass demonstrations if they are refused permission to send the boats to Cuba.

To handle the refugees already here, U.S. officials have asked for help from the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, a Geneva-based organization specializing in resettling refugees all over the world.

Tom Casey of the Federal Emergency Management Agency said Wednesday in Miami he hopes the committee will help speed refugee processing.

"I'm not happy at the progress in processing of refugees into permanent resettlement," he said. "The Intergovernmental Committee has arrived at Eglin (Air Force Base in northwest Florida)... We hope to see substantial progress. These are people-movers. They are a world-wide travel agency."

Times says Soviets have space weapon

NEW YORK (AP) — The Carter administration has an authoritative intelligence report that the Soviet Union has developed a ground-based laser weapon that could be used to destroy U.S. space satellites, The New York Times reported today.

Government officials said the intelligence estimate, prepared by the CIA and sent to President Carter last week, also reports that the Soviets are working a similar anti-satellite weapon that would operate from a space orbit and could be launched by the mid-1980s, the Times said.

Although officials do not see the new development as altering the current Soviet-American military balance, such a weapon could be troublesome because it could knock out satellites the United States depends on for communications, reconnaissance, and early warning in case of military attack.

A laser is a highly concentrated beam of light energy. In industrial use, it can cut through metal.

In Washington, three administration officials who normally would see such data told The Associated Press that they were unaware of any such new intelligence reports on Soviet laser weapons developments.

They pointed out that the normal first step along such a path would be development of a shorter-range weapon, such as a ground-based weapon capable of knocking down airplanes.

Two more Libyan exiles are murdered in Europe

ROME (AP) — A 25-year-old Libyan accused of attempted murder in Rome was quoted today by police as saying he was "sent by the Libyan people to kill opponents" of Libya's radical government, which is believed behind a string of eight murders of Libyan dissidents in Europe in the past two months.

Police said Monsur Mezaroni Belgazem was picked up outside a Rome restaurant Wednesday night minutes after a gunman fired three pistol shots at the Libyan-born proprietor, Salem Mohamed Fezzani, a naturalized Italian who has lived in Rome since 1959.

The 45-year-old Fezzani escaped injury by diving to the floor as the shots rang out. Police said they were looking for a second man seen fleeing the restaurant with Belgazem.

The attempt came as gunmen murdered two more of Libyan strongman Moammar Khadafy's exile foes in Europe.

Police in Athens found the body of Abu Bakr Abdel-Rahman on Wednesday. Authorities said the 23-year-old furniture factory worker from Tripoli had been virtually decapitated with a large knife 24 to 48 hours before his body was discovered.

Neighbors said Abdel-Rahman was a known critic of Khadafy. But Athens police said they had information he was an officer of the Libyan police. They refused to elaborate.

The hit men struck Tuesday night in Rome, killing the Libyan-born owner of a lumber trading company who recently took out Tunisian citizenship.

Investigators found the body of Mohamed Fouad Buhjar, 55, under his bed in a rooming house in downtown Rome. He had been strangled with a nylon cord and then stabbed repeatedly in the chest and stomach, police said.

Three other Libyan exiles have been murdered in Rome, two in London and one in Bonn since March 21.

Hope wanes for eight trapped miners

VAL D'OR, Quebec (AP) — Rescue workers wielding picks and shovels tore at the rubble of a cave-in that trapped eight gold miners night before last. But rescue workers said they had little hope of finding them alive.

"Nobody wants to say anything that might disturb the wives and families, but the chances of finding them alive look pretty slim now," one rescue worker said Wednesday as he left the Belmoral Mine 280 miles northwest of Montreal.

"We'll keep on digging all day and all night until we find them," another man said. "But I really wonder if they'll be alive."

Twenty-four men were working in the shaft when it collapsed Tuesday night.

Fee legislation headed for detour

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to overturn President Carter's dime-a-gallon gasoline fee may be headed for a detour instead of the quick passage once predicted.

Democratic congressional leaders are determined to apply the brakes to the measure while a judge's order blocking the levy is being appealed by the administration.

However, opponents of the fee said they were still confident of winning the House Ways and Means Committee's endorsement of their bill to block the levy.

The committee was to consider the measure today, but Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., said there was a good chance the panel would not be able to take a vote on it.

Regardless of the Ways and Means Committee position, White House officials and congressional Democratic leaders were mounting a major counter effort — based largely on delaying tactics — to knock the bill off course.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. told reporters in advance of the Ways and Means meeting that even if the bill was approved there, the House Rules Committee was likely to "sit on it" for some time before scheduling a floor vote.

Government lawyers told an appeals court Wednesday that the fee is legal and should not have been blocked.

In a written brief to the U.S. Court of Appeals, the Carter administration asked for reinstatement of the plan blocked last week by U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr.

The appeals court has scheduled arguments in the dispute the first week in June.

Carter's plan was challenged by a group of House members and consumer and trade organizations.

The government's 47-page appeals brief not only asked that presidential authority to impose the fee be upheld, but told the appellate court that Robinson lacked the technical knowledge to second-guess the administration's oil policy.

"Technical economic decisions are best left to the executive branch officials and agencies with expertise in the field," the brief said. "They should not be subject to judicial second-guessing."

Robinson's decision said Carter's program was illegal because it sought to impose a fee on all gasoline, whether refined from imported or domestic crude oil. Carter had intended the plan to promote conservation and help reduce oil imports.

200,000 demonstrators continue anti-martial law takeover in South Korea

KWANGJU, South Korea (AP) — A citizens' rebellion against martial law spread over the southwest corner of South Korea today after up to 200,000 demonstrators seized control of Kwangju, the capital of Cholla Namdo province and a city of 800,000 population.

Some 100,000 protesters turned out again today, listening to anti-martial law speeches. Acting Prime Minister Park Chung-heon, meanwhile, helicoptered to an army compound in Kwangju and urged citizens to return to their homes and jobs. "Nothing can be solved through rioting and violence," he said.

Park later appeared on national television to repeat his plea for order, warning that South Korea faces a "grave situation." He said continued unrest could prove harmful to people's lives and to the nation's economy.

At least 24 persons were reported killed, there were more than 300 injured, and 36 buildings were wrecked in four days of street battles in Kwangju as paratroopers and riot police were unable to quell well-armed demonstrators demanding the resignation of South Korea's new strongman, Lt. Gen. Chun Doo-hwan, and an end to martial law.

Other demonstrators burned the central police station in Mokpo, on the east 50 miles southwest of Kwangju; raided a police army in Naju, midway between the two cities, and cruised the highway linking the three cities in convoys of commandeered army, police and civilian vehicles looking for recruits.

Anti-government demonstrations also were reported in Kwangyang county, south of Kwangju, and nearby Kohung and Hwasun. There were unconfirmed reports that protests had broken out in 16 of the 26 cities and towns in Cholla Namdo.

In Tokyo, the U.S. ambassador to Japan, Mike Mansfield, said today the United States will continue to support the South Korean government "as long as necessary." Speaking at the Foreign Correspondents

Club of Japan, Mansfield said South Korea is "a sad country, a tragic country which has had more than its share of sorrow and sacrifice, but it is a friend and we intend to stick with them to the end."

Mansfield said after President Carter first decided to withdraw the U.S. Second Division from South Korea, Carter changed his mind and it now will remain there "for some time to come." Intelligence estimates of increased North Korean military strength persuaded Carter to change his mind, he said.

There are 38,000 American servicemen stationed in South Korea as part of the United Nations peacekeeping force set up by the 1953 armistice ending the Korean War.

The Korean military leaders were attempting to contain the uprising but so far were not acting decisively to put it down. The thousands of paratroopers and other troops who Gen. Lee Hae-sung, the martial law commander, rushed to Kwangju pulled out of the city but took up positions around it.

The army also set up roadblocks to the east and southeast of the area in an attempt to keep the uprising from spreading to the Yecheon industrial area on the south coast.

Police inside Kwangju did not interfere with the mobs, which the martial law command said was armed with 3,500 weapons, including light machine guns, automatic rifles and revolvers, and 46,000 rounds of ammunition taken from military armories.

The command said the demonstrators also commandeered 232 vehicles, including four armored personnel carriers and eight riot control vehicles equipped with tear gas launchers, and had destroyed or severely damaged 21 police substations, 13 government buildings and two TV stations. The streets were littered with broken glass, rocks, wrecked cars and gutted buses, and all offices and shops were closed.

Egypt referendum will give president unlimited terms

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — An overwhelming "yes" vote was expected in today's referendum on constitutional amendments that would enable Anwar Sadat to remain president for life, make Islamic teachings the "main source" of legislation, formalize the multi-party system and allow a little more press freedom.

Some 12 million voters registered in 25,000 precincts around the country had to decide either to approve or disapprove all four amendments as a package, an analysts predicted the vast majority would make red circles on their ballots indicating "yes." A black circle on the ballot meant rejection.

The polls opened at 8 a.m. and close at 5 p.m., and the results will be announced Friday. Voting was sparse in the first two hours of balloting in the northern Cairo suburb of Heliopolis, but two of three persons interviewed said they voted yes.

Abdel Salaam Abdel Rabou, an accountant, said Sadat's being able to serve longer would be "the greatest thing because he has brought us peace and is working for our welfare."

One voter who requested anonymity, said: "I don't care if it is Sadat or somebody else. My only concern is that people have enough to eat at reasonable prices." Egypt is wracked by 30 percent yearly inflation and recurring shortages of basic commodities such as soap and vegetable oil.

This vote is not an election but a referendum on the amendments. Elections will be held in 1982 at end of Sadat's second term.

Egypt's tiny leftist party, which has no representation in Parliament, circulated pamphlets calling for "no" votes. It charged the government with trying to impose the measures on the people. Egypt's minority Coptic Christian population expressed reservations about the Islamic amendment.

Sadat came to power in 1970 following Gamal Abdel Nasser's death. The present constitution, worked out in 1971 under Sadat's supervision, allows a president two six-year terms.

This amendment would allow a president an unlimited number of terms. It does not name Sadat.

In a speech to the Parliament last week, Sadat did not resist the proposed amendment that would allow him to be president for life but said he believed 12 years were enough.

The amendment was suggested by a member of Sadat's political group, the National Democratic Party, and was approved last month by Parliament, in which the party holds 347 of the 392 seats.

Sleeper train derailed

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — Nine of the 12 cars of the Aberdeen-London sleeper train derailed at 80 miles an hour today, but most of the 200 passengers escaped injury.

One of the cars toppled over on its side, injuring six of its sleeping passengers, but the other eight cars remained upright.

Only one of the injured required hospitalization, a 76-year-old London man listed in satisfactory condition at Edinburgh's Royal Infirmary.

The accident happened about 1 a.m. at Prestons, just outside Edinburgh, and blocked the main London-Edinburgh line in both directions.

The track where the train derailed was straight and the weather was dry. An investigation into the cause of the derailment was under way.

Gustav Husak re-elected

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Gustav Husak was unanimously re-elected today to a second five-year term of office as president of Czechoslovakia. He was the only candidate.

The election by members of the two chambers of Parliament took place in the Hradcany Castle, where presidential elections have traditionally been held.

Husak, 67, who is also Communist Party chief, was proposed Tuesday as candidate of the party's Central Committee. The proposal was adopted a day later by the National Front, the Communist-led mass organization.

In 1975 Husak replaced ailing President Ludvik Svoboda, who failed to complete his term of office.
