Soviets withdraw one troop division, tanks

MOSCOW (AP) - Radio Moscow announced today one Soviet troop division and 108 tanks were being withdrawn from Afghanistan and returned home. There are typically between 7,000 and 11,000 men in a Soviet division.

It was the first time the Kremlin has said how many of its troops were being pulled from the war-torn country at its southern border, where an estimated 85,000 Soviet troops were sent last Christmas.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said today that tanks, armored personnel carriers and infantry already had begun withdrawing in keeping with the Kremlin's an-nounced partial pullout from Afghanistan - a withdrawal that has been greeted with heavy skepticism in the West.

The official Tass news agency reported from the Afghan capital of Kabul on Sunday that "according to information from the command of Soviet military contingents now staying in Afghanistan, some army units whose stay in Afghanistan is not necessary at present are being withdrawn these days to the territory of the Soviet Union on agreement with the Afghan government.

In a followup labeled an eyewitness account from the Afghan capital, Pravda correspondent L. Mironov described suntanned Russian soldiers saying goodbye to grizzled Afghan villagers after battling anti-communist Moslem rebels for six months and "fulfilling their international duty."

"Early this morning from the city's outskirts a long line of tanks and infantry began to stretch out. The residents of the villages and towns came out to see them off. The Soviet and Afghan friends made their parting handshakes and embraces," Mironov said in a dispatch dated Sunday.

He said after all the farewells were said the Soviet troops and war machines began their 300-mile journey home by road.

President Carter said he and the other Western heads of state meeting in Venice believed the Soviet announcement "can only be judged as significant if it's accurate, if it's permanent and if it's the first step toward total withdrawal." He suggested it was designed to increase participation in the Olympic Games next month in Moscow but said the U.S. boycott was "irrevocable."

Zbigniew Brzezinski, Carter's national security adviser, told reporters, "It is much too early to label this as the beginning of a peace offen-sive." Secretary of State Edmund Muskie added: "Don't believe anything you don't see."

And the seven Western leaders attending the two-day summit in Venice called the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan "unacceptable" and demand-forces. Some 85,000 Soviet troops have been in Afghanistan since December helping the Marxist government battle anti-communist Moslem rebels.

Tass responded to the American statements in Venice with scorn, labeling them "slanderous" and an attempt to "camoflauge with verbiage U.S. actions aimed at heightening tension '

Without specifically mentioning Muskie by name, Tass said: "A spokesman for the U.S. State Department commented on the report from Kabul in a slanderous tone characterstic of him, concerning the policy of the Soviet Union in Southwest Asia." Leading diplomats here speculated ed the complete withdrawal of Soviet the partial pullback announcement was timed to cause dissension among Western leaders meeting in Venice and might be more cosmetic than real.

They also said it may have been intended to persuade some Soviet citizens the war is winding down. Few Soviet citizens know much about events in Afghanistan, and Red Army casualty figures have never been published.

Political issues overshadow Allied economic summit

By FRANK CORMIER

VENICE, Italy (AP) - The summit of Allied leaders ended today with agreement on energy and economic issues, but the meeting of President Carter and leaders of six other industrialized nations was overshadowed by more urgent political issues, especially the military situation in Afghanistan.

The allied leaders developed new goals to reduce oil imports, double coal production by 1990, and expand use of nuclear power and other alternate fuels, according to a draft of the joint accord that ended the two-day meeting. The participants also declared combating inflation to be their No.1 priority and ranked energy concerns second.

The economic and energy agreements amounted to ratification of almost identical goals set last month by the 20-nation International Energy Agency. There was little debate on the goals and agreement was so perfunctory the conference ended 21/2 hours early.

The economic summit was dominated more by politics than economy. On Sunday, as the Allied leaders met for the first time in a year, the Soviet Union announced it was making a partial withdrawal of troops from Afghanistan.

Carter and his colleagues had planned all along to issue a fresh condemnation here of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, but they speeded their timetable by 24 hours and issued their declaration Sunday. The Allies were cautious in discussing the Soviet move.

Carter said the Soviet announcement would have "very little significance" unless it signified a permanent and complete withdrawal of Soviet troops.

Accused gunman was to stand trial

DAINGERFIELD, Texas (AP) -Investigators say a man who burst into a church and sprayed the packed congregation with rifle fire was to have gone on trial today for incest, and had been turned down by several church members when he asked them to be character witnesses.

Five persons, including a 7-year-old girl, were killed. Ten other members of the First Baptist Church of this normally quiet East Texas town were wounded by the gunman during Sunday morning services.

Witnesses said the assailant had four guns, wore combat gear and yelled "This is war!" before opening fire. Afterward, he ran from the church and shot himself in the head. He was hospitalized in critical condition. Doctors said he would probably survive.

The sounds of the shooting were broadcast live on radio station KEGG, which normally carries Sunday services. Police confiscated a tape recording of the incident.

Capital murder charges were filed against Alvin Lee King III, 45, a former high school math teacher who holds a doctorate in psychology from East Texas State University. He quit teaching seven years ago and was a farmer at the time of Sunday's shoot-gation started falling in between the pews and some started jumping up and down. People were screaming and crying and taking on. Boy, was it pitiful.

Police said the gunman fired at random into the congregation with the M-1 rifle, hitting 13 victims and killing Gina Linam, 7, and Thelma Richardson, 78, who were both shot in the head.

Kenneth Truitt and J.Y. "Red" McDaniel, both 49, leaped up and tried to stop the gunman. They managed to wrestle him out of the church, but he shot both of them to death during the struggle.

"They just bear-hugged him out the door, and all the time I could hear a gun shooting," said church member Chris Hall, 28. McDaniel was shot in the stomach four times and died on the church steps. Truitt was shot in the side and died shortly after noon in a hospital.

The gunman ran across the street and shot himself in the head with his .22 caliber pistol. He was first taken to a Tyler hospital and then transferred to John Sealy n which has a criminal detention ward.

On Monday, the economic issues were made final.

The leaders of the United States, Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Canada and Japan estimated that over the next decade they could increase energy sources other than oil at the equivalent of 15 to 20 million barrels of oil a day.

They pledged to make "a coordinated, vigorous effort to realize this potential" by increasing use of coal, nuclear power and synthetic fuels.

A doubling of the production and use of coal, long a neglected energy resource, would mean boom times for the coal mining sections of the United States, which have a significant export trade.

In addition, the leaders agreed that oil conservation goals set a year ago at the last economic summit in Tokyo will be made obsolete because of an anticipated reduction in world oil output in the years ahead.

As a consequence, the leaders decided to call for a further oil import cutback of 4 million barrels a day, to about 22 million barrels, by 1985. Individual targets for each country were not set.

If all the goals are met, the seven nations expect that oil will be reduced from 53 percent of their energy demand to 40 percent.

Carter had personally assured his summit colleagues on Sunday that the United States will resist pressures for "premature or excessive stimulation of the American economy.

White House press secretary Jody Powell reported that Carter's pledge was welcomed by the other leaders.

The American president ate a breakfast of bread, milk and cheese with 12 monks at a Benedictine monastery today and then held individual, private meetings with Prime Ministers Pierre Trudeau of Canada and Margaret Thatcher of England before attending the final summit sessions. Other summit objectives were to include:

-Reducing health and safety hazards associated with nuclear power and minimizing risks of secret nuclear weapons production.

-Ending construction of oil-fired geneerating plants to conserve oil, and converting currently operating oil-fired plants to other fuels.

The summit schedule was derailed a bit Sunday by the Soviet announcement on its claimed withdrawal of troops from Afghanistan.

With the economic agenda routine, the leaders moved to discuss the Afghan situation. As Carter put it in chatting with American reporters, "this Soviet announcement can only be judged as significant if it's accurate, if it's permanent, and if it's a first step toward total withdrawal. A partial withdrawal of Soviet forces, of carefully selected units, would have very little significance.

Reading a statement on behalf of all summit participants, Italian Prime Minister Francesco Cossiga said that "the Soviet military occupation of Afghanistan is unacceptable now and that we are determined not to accept it in the future."

The summit statement said that Soviet intervention was incompatible with detente, "undermines the very foundations of peace," and that "we are resolved to do everything in our power" to bring about permanent and complete troop withdrawal. The Soviets have an estimated 85,000 troops in the Southwest Asian country.

Asked about the timing of the Soviet announcement, Carter said: "My belief is that it's much more associated with a desire to get Olympic participation than it is to modify the wording of the communique to be issued here in Venice. The Soviets want very much to have athletes come to Moscow. The Olympic boycott has hurt them very badly in world opinion and also within their own country.

Cossiga also read a joint statement that, without directly referring to Iran, promised that the summit participants are determined to combat "the taking of hostages and attacks on diplomatic and consular premises and personnel." The leaders said they would adopt policies "to deny terrorists any benefits from such criminal acts."

Police said the assailant was armed with M-1 and AR-15 rifles and .38-caliber and a .22-caliber revolvers, and wore a steel helmet and two flak jackets.

"We could have shot at him all day long," said Police Chief Jim Keene. Witnesses said the gunman kicked in the front doors of the church about 11:20 a.m. while the congregation of 350 persons was singing the hymn, "More About Jesus."

"Then those bullets were flying," said Arthur Greaves, 69, who was shot in the shoulder. "Some of the congreA Sealy spokesman said this morn-ing his condition was still critical as surgeons prepared to operate.

The fifth victim, Gene Gandy, 50, died of a gunshot wound to the stomach about 11 hours later in a hospital in nearby Pittsburg.

District Attorney Charles M. Cobb of Mount Pleasant said King was indicted last fall on charges of incest based on a complaint filed by King's 21-year-old daughter, Cynthia, who now lives in Dallas. The indictment alleges that the act took place in 1977. The trial was to have begun today in Sulphur Springs, about 50 miles northwest of here.

Sanjay Gandhi killed in crash India shaken by death of prime minister's son when it stalled and crashed into the trees. Sanjay, who had been taking private flying lessons, took off from a local airport for what was to have been a one-hour flight.

The plane crashed barely twotmirds of a mile from the airport and from the prime minister's residence where his mother lives.

Mrs. Gandhi sped to the scene of the crash, which was cordoned off by hundreds of police.

At the hospital, a solemn Mrs. Gandhi was seen trying to comfort the mother of instructor Saxena.

Gandhi started flying in 1976 and got his license the following year, during his mother's first administration as prime minister. He piloted small planes during the 1977 election campaign.

He resumed flying recently and would often go up for an hour in the early morning

"The life of a very enthusiastic young man of high quality and promising career has been snatched Vice President Mohammed away," Hidayatullah said. "The death of Mr. Gandhi, who was anxious to do a lot of good to the masses, has left every-body thunderstruck."

Speaking in the upper house of Parliament, Hidayatullah added that Sanjay was "more in love with the people and the country and we are much poorer after his departure."

The mention of Sanjay's name. stirred deep emotion among Indians. They ranged from deep dislike to blind adoration.

Even as he stood trial in a number of criminal cases, including one of assault and battery of a police official, he was considered by some political observers to be India's second most powerful political figure after Mrs. Gandhi herself.

Sanjay, a prematurely balding man who favored the homespun cotton clothes popularized by Indian independence leaders like his grandfather, Nehru, served as one of his mother's closest advisers.

Opposition leaders charged that she was grooming him as a successor, which Mrs. Gandhi denied. But the nickname, the "crown prince," remained in use by his numerous critics.

Sanjay's influence in national politics surfaced during the 1975-77 state of emergency proclaimed by Mrs. Gandhi, giving her and other officials extraordinary powers. Although he did not hold an official post at the time, he wielded enormous power.

He inspired a controversial birth control program which led to many allegedly coerced sterilizations and, ultimately, a voter backlash against his mother's regime. She was ousted in the 1977 general elections, after 11 years in office.

The transfer, announced Sunday, underlines Israel's determination to retain control of East Jerusalem, with its 100,000 Arabs and religious shrines revered by Christians, Mosems and Jews.

Meanwhile, Israeli security forces stepped up their search for Palestin-ian terror bombs as explosives went off today in Tel Aviv and Jerusalem.

A bomb blast in a Tel Aviv grocery store injured an elderly woman and two other customers, police said. No casualties were reported in the second explosion at a Jerusalem bus

Israeli authorities also reported the death today of a Palestinian woman, Taghreed Al-Butmeh. The 19-year-old Taghreed Al-Butmeh. The move, announced on the eve of a U.N. Security Council debate this week on the status of East Jerusalem, is expected to further complicate ef-forts to restart the Israeli-Egyptian negotiations on autonomy for the 1.2

million Palestinians living under Israeli occupation rule on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip.

Unlike East Jerusalem, Israel did not annex the West Bank and Gaza after the 1967 war. But Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has been fighting to make the future of East Jerusalem, highlighted by its for-tress-like walled city, an integral part of the autonomy negotiations.

Sadat broke off the autonomy talks in May after a bill was introduced in the Israeli Pariiament to declare uni-fied Jerusalem Israel's permanent capital.

TORONTO (AP) - Two mountaineers using hooks and ropes today were climbing the north face of the world's tallest self-supporting tower, the 1,822-foot CN Tower in downtown Toronto, apparently to commemorate the fourth anniversary of its opening, police said.

Police said the climbers refused requests to come down and that they left a note at the bottom of the tower saying they planned to climb to the top and then descend.

The tower cost $44 million to build and is made of 145,000 tons of reinforced concrete.

Lopez was driver of a vehicle involved in a collision with another vehicle driven by Ollie Bradford of Lamesa. A passenger in Bradford's vehicle was 82-year-old Fagen McKinley

The mishap occurred shortly after 11 p.m. in the 1200 block of South Elgin Street in Lamesa, police officers said.

Texas GOPs settle differences in caucus

HOUSTON (AP) - Listening to a call from state Republican leaders for unity in this election year, the 3,875 delegates to Texas GOP convention settled most of their differences in caucus, keeping them off the floor and leaving with no major divisions in their ranks.

There was a brief flareup over a tough anti-abortion resolution that eventually was approved. Some delegates grumbled about the fact they would be represented at the Detroit national convention by those pledged to George Bush, who has unofficially ended his campain for the nomination

But that was settled in a May primary when Reagan won 61 delegates and Bush 19. Bush has said he would ask his supporters to vote for Reagan on the first ballot.

Tower, R-Texas; Rep. Bill Archer, R-Texas; and former ambassador Anne Armstrong took turns in lashing out at President Carter and the delegates gave them each numerous cheers

Clements brought the loudest response from the crowd, which interrupted his speech at least 50 times.

The controversial anti-abortion resolution called for a constitutional amendment "protecting the unborn child at any stage of biological development

Lila Rehkop of Athens, a member of the resolutions committee, said she opposed the final version because it made no provisions for special cases and "there are exceptions to everything

Debate on the resolution, one of 19 passed by the convention, was sented their arguments The convention also extended a rule providing for presidential primaries every four years. The rule had been in effect only a temporary basis for 1980, but now is permanent.

Others resolutions opposed the Equal Rights Amendment, the lifelong appointments of federal judges, forced busing, and supported the reduction of taxes, and the right to bear arms. The delegates also called for the abolishment of the Department of Education.

A question that could have spoiled the quiet of the convention never came to the floor for debate. Some delegates wanted a resolution setting standards to be applied to potential vice presidential nominees, but later decided to scrap it.

Clements told the delegates, "We must seek what is right for Texas in Washington, because the man sitting in the White House today is not right for Texas.

'Not one Texan has escaped the disastrous impact of Jimmy Carter's policies. We cannot take any more of a man who answers challenges by creating more bureaucracies like the Department of Education and the Department of Energy

"We can take no more of a man who doesn't know what he is doing or where he's going, so I say it is high time that we tell him where to go right back to Georgia.

Tower said the president "has brought about the humiliation of the United States. Since Jimmy Carter has been in office, it has become more dangerous to be a friend of the United States than an enemy

Those dog days of summer have settled in the Permian Basin, bringing thoughts of those "hazy, lazy, crazy days of summer" and dreams of a beach nearby to spend those days

Hot days should continue through Tuesday, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. The mercury should drop into the low 70s tonight and pop into the low 100s on Tuesday, said the weatherman.

Normal temperatures for this date are 94 and 68, said the weatherman, which means that Midland has been hotter than usual. Adding to that is the unusually high humidity this month, he added.

Sunday's high of 99 still didn't catch up with the record 107 set in 1951. And today's low of 67 was still above the record 61 degrees set in 1957.

No chance of rain is in the forecast. Recently, Midland has only seen lightning displays while rain fell on other parts of the Permian Basin. Garden City, said the weatherman, received three inches of rain in two days.

Thunderstorms roamed the South Plains during the pre-dawn hours, and early morning pockets of fog settled on parts of East Texas today. But clear skies spanned most of the state.

Témperatures at 7 a.m. ranged from 66 at Amarillo to 82 at Corpus Christi and Galveston.

Forecasters predicted partly cloudy and hot throughout the state, with a few scattered rainstorms mainly in East Texas.

Nicaraguans gather to protest treatment

MIAMI (AP) — Nicaraguans, feel-ing slighted by the special status recently bestowed upon refugees from Cuba and Haiti, gathered in a Miami park to protest their treatment by the U.S. government.

'We don't want to go back," attorney Orlando Montenegro told the crowd of more than 1,000 refugees and other supporters at Miami's Bayfront Park on Sunday.

The attorney was one of approximately 20,000 other Nicaraguans who escaped to the United States last year when the leftist Sandinistas overthrew the government of Anastasio Somoza. Most of the exiles have settled in the Miami area.

Spicer Lung, administrator of the Humanitarian Committee for Nicaraguan Relief, said his fellow refugees feel slighted by special treatment given Cuban and Haitian refugees who have poured into South Florida in recent months.

More than 114,000 Cuban refugees have entered this country through Key West, Fla., in the "Freedom Flotilla' that began in April, while an estimated 25,000 Haitians have come to Florida over the past two years.

The Carter administration announced Friday that refugees from Cuba and Haiti would be allowed to remain in the United States under a six-month "parole" while legislation is drafted to establish their legal status.

Lung said the Nicaraguans are becoming increasingly concerned be-cause most of their visas to remain in the United States are to expire on June 30.

"We have been ignored in the public pronouncements - we want the same status as given Cubans and Haitians," Lung declared.

Officer kills teen-ager in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A sheriff's sear-gent shot and killed an East Harris County teen-ager early Sunday after the youth allegedly shot and wounded the officer.

Detectives said Sgt. Steve S. Graeter, 39, was shot once in the abdomen by 19-year-old Freddie F. Stovall Jr. after the officer stopped Stovall on a traffic complaint. Graeter then shot Stovall in the abdo-men, face and hand.

It was the fourth suspect Graeter has killed in 15 months.

Sheriff's detective A.F. Rossi said Graeter spotted Stovall, a recent parolee from Huntsville prison, as he was speeding by the scene of a fire.

The officer gave chase for several blocks before stopping Stovall and ordering him from the car, Rossi

The teen-ager initially refused, then apparently stepped out and began firing at Graeter, who returned the fire, Rossi said.

Sweetwater's prayers are answered with rain

"I've become a total believer. Amen," said City Manager Joe Benton as he looked out over his lawn Sunday, rain dripping from his face. A thunderstorm pelted this Nolan County town of 12,000 Saturday night

The rain ended a drought so severe that 500 persons had held hands, prayed and sang hymns on the grounds of the Nolan County Courthouse June 1.

The Saturday night deluge eclipsed overnight the less-than-five inches of rain that had fallen the previous six months here, bringing the annual moisture total up to nearly normal for this time of year in West Central Texas.

Black nationalist escapes assassination attempt today

SALISBURY, Zimbabwe (AP) -The Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, a veteran black nationalist, escaped an assassination attempt in which one of his supporters was killed, police said today. The attack occurred last Friday in the Chibuwe tribal reserve in the Sabi Valley of eastern Zimbabwe, about 200 miles southeast of Salisbury.

Sithole said he fled from a house as the bullets began to fly, hiding in the bush overnight. Police said they found the body of one of Sithole's supporters, whose name was not released, in the house.

Sithole alleged armed supporters of Prime Minister Robert Mugabe staged the attack. Sithole said the men, numbering about 17, arrived in ing in January House Speaker Bill Clayton's indictment on bribery charges and Republican Gov. Bill Clements' involvement in the race brought the speakership issue to the convention floor this veir. Clayton has said he would not seek a fourth term as speaker if his legal problems were unved by November.

One of his "inner circle," Rep. GIb Lewis of Fort Worth, says he will run if Clayton drops out.

Lewis, a conservative Democrat, and Bryant both claim enough pledges for the job. However, Lewis has angered some liberal and moder-fall here in more than a year. The city manager said that "while I wasn't at the prayer service because I was out of town, I will most certainly endeavor to be present at all prayer services for rain in the future."

Public water usage had been cut back drastically because of the low water in the city's reservoirs. The rain produce at least a two-foot rise in the level at Oak Creek Lake, at least 6 inches at Lake Sweetwater and a

Now is not the time to play "party politics" when the 1981 Legislature faces such tough issues as redistricting and state government financing, he said.

"I'm not going to get involved in any one (legislative) race. As presiding officer, you've got to be fair," he added.

Bryant said he asked the party's resolutions committee not to endorse him outright.

"I don't think it's the role of the party to choose a speaker," he said. As Texas becomes more of a twoparty state, the Legislature may one day elect majority and minority officers as does Congress," he added.

"That time is not far off, with the Republicans making the gains they are making, especially when they have the help of Gib Lewis and Governor Clements," Bryant said.

After eight SECTION tries, Bobby Unser wins

By MIKE HARRIS

LONG POND, Pa. (AP) - Bobby Unser says he never had a worried moment as he sped through the last miles of an amazingly easy victory Sunday in the Pocono 500.

Unser, a two-time Indianapolis 500 and three-time California 500 champion, finally ended the frustration of eight losing efforts at Pocono, winning the third leg of championship racing's triple crown for the first

"It feels good to win here - finally," the tall, rugged veteran said with a tired smile. "I've won just about every race there is, but I guess I was wondering if I'd ever win this one."

Unser, driving for racing entrepeneur Roger Penske, put his metallic blue Cosworth-powered PC-9 in victory lane for the second straight time.

IT WAS also the second time in a row he has outdriven Johnny Rutherford and his yellow Chaparral, the revolutionary ground effects car that easily captured the first two races this season.

Jays wipe out 5-1 Texas lead

SPORTS

GENERAL NEWS/MARKETS/OIL & GAS/ PAGE 1D

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Sunday was supposed to be Jerry Garvin's day off. And Toronto Manager Bob Mattick tried to give him one.

Then the Blue Jays made an incredible rally and finally had to call on Garvin to preserve a 10-inning, comefrom-behind 6-5 victory over the Texas Rangers Sunday night.

"I've been pitching a lot lately and Mattick told me I had the day off," said Garvin. "I was just sort of looking around at the stands and enjoying myself. Then Garth lorg hit his first major league homer. Things changed real fast after that."

lorg drilled a two-run homer off Ranger reliever Sparky Lyle in the eighth inning after Ranger starter Gaylord Perry had tired and taken himself out of the game with a 5-1 lead.

"We were glad to see him go," said lorg. "Perry was simply awesome."

Toronto scored three runs in the eighth, then tied it off Jim Kern in the ninth inning on a run-scoring single Paul Mirabella and Joey McLaughin all pitched before Garvin entered the game in the eighth inning.

Perry allowed only four hits while the Rangers piled up a lead as Bump Wills and Al Oliver each knocked in two runs and catcher Jim Sundberg knocked in anot her.

Ranger Manager Pat Corrales said, "Gaylord told me he was done. You couldn't ask for any more then what he did. You couldn't ask for more than a four run lead. But I still have to go to my bullpen. Right now the bullpen just isn't doing the job."

Kern's record dropped to 2-9 after a 13-5 season in 1979 which included 29 saves. Kern has two saves this year. Perry wasn't available for comment on his opinion of the Ranger bullpen's performance.

It was a costly victory for the Blue Jays who lost centerfielder Rick Bosetti with a fractured right arm when he was hit by a Bob Babcock pitch in the eighth inning.

The loss dropped the Rangers into fourth place in the Americ the homer.'

"Johnny did a heckuva job of driving out there, but I just had the faster car," the 46-year-old Albuquerque, N.M., driver said.

"I went out ahead of him by 10 or 12 seconds late in the race and I just tried to stay there. No sense being a pig about it.

"Then I came in and the crew gave me another 10 or 12 seconds (by turning up the boost)," Unser added.

Asked if he thought much about the car breaking down during those last lonely laps, with Rutherford nearly a mile behind on the 21/2 mile tri-oval, the winner smiled and said: "I never worry about that because there's nothing you can do about it.

"Besides, I don't drop out of many races. My guys normally do a very fine job of putting the car together and having it ready to go the full distance."

UNSER won $74,730, while Ruther-ford, who finished 21.33 seconds behind, took home $38,580 for second place.

Tom Sneva was third, two laps behind the leaders, while fourth-place Bill Alsup was six laps down and fifth-place Vern Schuppan was seven laps behind.

Only 12 of the 33 starters were still in action at the end as accidents and mechanical problems took a heavy toll.

Unser's teammates, Mario Andretti and Rick Mears, both went out with mechanical problems. Andretti's car suffered a broken transmission on te 105th lap, while Mears was running third when his car's engine failed on the 163rd lap.

Unser's average speed was 151.454 mph.

Diablos' 8-run sixth beats Cubs

BY TED BATTLES

The Midland Cubs seemed well on their way to the win column with their fourth straight when what has become traditional mid-inning turbulence struck Cubs Stadium Sunday night

In the previous games during this El Paso series, high winds or rains have interrupted play in the middle innings, but Sunday it was a rain of base hits as the Diablos rallied for eight runs in the sixth inning on the way to an 11-7 win, thwarting the Bruins' attempt to equal their longest winning streak of the season. Earlier in the season, Midland had won four straight against the Diablos at Cubs Stadium.

Although Midland and El Paso split the series 3-3, the Cubs' three straight did sew up third place in the first half of the Texas League West Division first half, the Cubs finishing one game in front of El Paso.

Tonight the same teams resume hostilities in El Paso as the second half of play opens. Steve Brown, 7-6, goes for the Diablos against the Cubs' Herman Segelke, 4-5, the 'same two starters in El Paso's 19-9 victory last Wesdnesday.

Sunday, Henry Mack appeared in rare form, taking a 5-1 lead into the sixth as the Cubs played superlatively behind the righthander from Winchester, Ky. The Cubs had scored twice in the third on successive sin-gles by J.W. Mitchell, Mike Shepston and Jared Martin plus a wild pitch. They added two more on solo homers in the fourth by Gary Krug, No. 1, and Randy La Vigne, No. 9, seven of which have come against El Paso. A walk and Jesus Alfaro's double produced another run in the fifth.

El Paso's only retaliation was Mike Bishop's league-leading 16th homer in the fourth, a'solo job.

Midland bailed Mack out of trouble in the fifth after Scott Carnes singled. Mitchell lunged to the line to grab Donnie Jones' scorcher labeled "doued" and Krug recovered the hasty row in time to tag the runner. Then Floyd turned 19-year-old today and still is looking for somebody who can beat him at 100 meters.

Stan Floyd stays unbeaten at 100 meters EUGENE, Ore. (AP) - Stanley

The Auburn freshman led an all-Georgia finish in the Oregon rain Sunday night to keep his big-time track and field record perfect.

The former junior-high miler, who is 12-0 in final competition this season, became only the fourth person to win the short sprint title in the national collegiate, amateur and Olympic Trial competition in the same year.

The others were Ralph Metcalfe in 1932, Jesse Owens in 1936 and Bobby Morrow in 1956.

"I really didn't expect none of this," Floyd said after he edged his teacher and Auburn alumnus Harvey Glance and Georgia junior Melvin Lattany at the tape in Sunday's feature event at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials.

Floyd's triumph and Willie Banks' victory in the triple jump finals Sun-day finally gave the athletes a chance to grab the limelight from the off-field controversy that has swirled around the Trials all week.

Former world record holder and gold medal winner Rod Milburn, one of six former professional track athletes banned from competition in the Olympic Trials, showed up here anyway Sunday and was told he couldn't

Jim Bibby awes Astros with his fastball, 2-1

Jim Bibby considers his fastball on a par with those of the Astros' J.R. Richard and Nolan Ryan, and he demonstrated it for them Sunday night.

Bibby and Grant Jackson combined on a four-hitter to lead the Pirates to a 2-1 triumph over Houston that broke the Pirates' six-game losing streak.

A season-high Astrodome crowd of 46,213 saw two Astros' strings broken - six wins in a row and 14 straight home victories. Despite the loss, Houston remained three games ahead in the National League West.

"I think I've matured as a pitcher," Bibby said. "I'm 35 years old, but I feel like I've got a 25-year-old arm. I've got good velocity on my fastball. I think I rank up there with J.R. and Nolan.

A's Keough can't spell word 'relief'

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

For Matt Keough, there's just no relief

The Oakland A's right-hander pitched his 12th complete game, high in the majors, in stopping the New York Yankees 5-2 Sunday. He ran his record to 8-7 and stopped the Yankees' nine-game winning streak, their best since they won 10 in a row 12 years ago.

Oakland Manager Billy Martin, facing the Yankees in New York for the first time since he was fired last year, has said that if the A's had a relief pitcher as good as New York's Rich Gossage, they would be leading the American League West instead of being 9½ games behind.

After his 132-pitch performance Sunday, Keough said he is a "little leg weary and a little arm weary. I'm not satisfied with myself the last few games. The West Coast to East Coast travel is tough. You can't sleep.'

In a conversation before Sunday's game with Yankees' pitcher Tommy John, who got a victory Saturday with seven innings of pitching, Keough said, "If I had Gossage in the bullpen, I'd get out after seven innings, too.'

But he doesn't, so Keough pitches on and on in every game he starts. On Sunday, Martin left him in although he gave up 10 hits and four walks.

'It's pretty easy (to face the Yankees)," a tongue-in-cheek Keough said. "Just get the five left-handers without hitting a home run."

Jeff Newman's two-run homer in the first inning and a solo blast by Tony Armas gave Keough the cushion he needed to cool off the Yankees, who were playing without second baseman Willie Randolph, who had a sore knee, and Bobby Murcer, whose father died.

start as Kansas City stopped Milwaukee. The Brewers took a 3-0 lead off Gale, but the Royals rebounded with the three homers and two RBI singles by Frank White.

"Gale gave us three runs on four hits the first two innings and then shut the door in our face until the ninth," said Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger. "It looked like we had him early, but he bounced back." Red Sox 6, Angels 3

Tony Perez, who leads the AL with 51 RBI, drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a single and Dave Rader hit his first American League homer to power Boston past the California Angels. The Red Sox were playing without Jim Rice, Carlton Fisk and Butch Hobson, all injured.

Mariners 7, Orioles 5 "It's tough for me to get into the lineup. I've got to realize my role and mine is a utility player," said Larry Milbourne, who entered the game batting only .123. But he broke a 5-5 tie with a two-run triple in the ninth inning and Tom Paciorek knocked in three runs with a homer and single to lead Seattle over Baltimore. Indians 11, Twins 6

Rookie Joe Charboneau capped a five-run sixth inning with a two-run homer and Cleveland rattled Minnesota for 19 hits. Charboneau's homer was one of six in a row for the Indians in their big inning, which also saw a two-run triple by Dell Alston and a run-scoring single by Mike Hargrove.

Tigers 7-6, White Sox 1-4

Detroit's double-header sweep handed Chicago its fifth and sixth losses in a row. Tom Brookens had a pair of doubles and two RBI to back the seven-hit pitching of Dave Rozema in the opener, which featured a triple play by Chicago. Two-run doubles by Richie Hebner and Jim Lentine and four Chicago errors led to five Detroit unearned runs as the Tigers won the second game.

Mets' Washington ends dreadful 1-for-17 slump

By JOHN NELSON

AP Sports Writer It had been a dreadful slump for a man who brought a .280 career batting average with him when he joined the New York Mets.

Claudell Washington had not had a hit since he singled in the ninth inning of a five-run Mets rally that beat the San Francisco Giants 7-6 a week ago Saturday

Hernandez homered for the seventh time this season in the sixth when the Cards scored six runs.

Expos 2, Padres 0 Right-hander Steve Rogers, 9-5, battled a balky arm and scattered eight hits for his second shutout of the season and 22nd of his career. The victory was Rogers' eighth in nine starts against only one loss.

Phils 4, Giants 3

Steve Carlton won his 13th game against only two losses, outdueling Vida Blue, who tried unsuccessfully for the second time to become a 10game winner. Carlton scattered eight hits, struck out eight ad walked three.

Mike Schmidt and Greg Luzinski drove in seventh-inning runs as the Phils rallied from a 3-2 deficit.

Cubs 3, Braves 2 Bill Buckner and Jerry Martin each homered in the sixth inning to rally the Cubs to their fourth victory in five games. Right-hander Dennis Lamp, 7-6, went 7 1-3 innings for the win, and Dick Tidrow earned his thrd save.

Jewish Defense League (JDL) members, some with automatic weapons, walk away from man-sized silhouette targets with swastikas emblazoned on them after target

JDL steps up weaponry classes

By JACKIE HYMAN

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The 32 people, some of them in their early teens, take turns aiming their guns. Those who've never fired before use .22-caliber rifles, while the more experienced shoot semi-automatic weapons.

Their targets are silhouettes of human figures. each with a swastika painted in the middle.

'We want to psych up the Jews a little," says Irv Rubin, national chairman of the Jewish Defense League. The militant group has stepped up classes in weaponry and martial arts this month in response to what Rubin sees as a trend toward anti-Semitic candidates attracting considerable votes.

He admitted he's drawn "a storm of criticism" from establishment Jewish leaders and that the JDL's gun classes have been opposed by the Jewish Federation Council in Los Angeles, an umbrella group for Jewish organizations. The JDL is not a council member.

"We believe in teaching all Jews to fire weapons effectively because, in view of the fact that the political situation is topsy turvy, with Klu Klux Klan candidates and neo-Nazi candidates running and amassing thousands of votes, we truly believe that a Holocaust can happen in the United States, Rubin said.

He cited California Klan leader Tom Metzger's nomination as the Democratic congressional candidate in a district that includes Imperial County and parts of San Diego and Riverside counties. In addition, North Carolina National Socialist

White People's Party leader Harold Covington recently received 43 percent of the vote in an unsuccessful bid for state's attorney general. Rubin said 35 to 40 members of the Jewish community attended a four-hour weapons class at the JDE offices in Los Angeles a week ago and 32 more participated Sunday. The classes are open to all Jews at least 13 years old, the age at which Jews become adults according to their religion.

He said some of the participants also were concerned about crime in general, but he doesn't believe any came just for that reason.

Rubin said there have been several desecrations of synagogues with swastikas in Southern California recently and attacks in Brooklyn. N.Y., and the Fairfax area of Los Angeles on orthodox Jews whose dress indicates their religion.

He characterized objections to the program as ghetto mentality in which the Jew turns the other cheek and gets hit by the other fist.

Former Dallas police chief dies

DALLAS (AP) - Former Police Chief Jesse 1963 Kennedy assassination in downtown Dallas. Curry, who was chief when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated here in 1963, died late Sunday of a heart attack.

Curry, 66, collapsed at home shortly before 11 p.m. Sunday and was prounounced dead on arrival at Baylor University Medical Center.

Mac McMurtry of the Dallas County Medical Examiner's office, said early today the cause of death was an acute heart attack. He said Curry, who was retired, had been in failing health during the last few months.

Curry and his 1,100-man force were praised for swiftly capturing accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald within 90 minutes of the Nov. 22, sleep."

But two days later a storm of police criticism erupted after Jack Ruby slipped into the City Hail basement and shot Oswald to death during a routine jail transfer as a national television audience watched

Three years later, on March 10, 1966, Curry resigned from the force and took over as chief of security for a large bank. At the time, he said tensions of the office were affecting his health.

"The worst thing that ever happened to us was Jack Ruby," Curry said. "I wake up every now and then at 2 and 3 in the morning thinking about Kennedy, Oswald and Ruby and can't go back to

Bert Kaempfert, composer, dies in Spain

PALMA DE MAJORCA, Spain (AP) - Bert Kaempfert, composer of "Strangers in the Night," 'Spanish Eyes" and "Dankeschoen," died at his vacation home here, the Spanish news agency EFE reported. He was 56.

The German-born Kaempfert died of cerebral thrombosis at his chalet in the town of Cala Brava, the agency said.

It said he had arrived on the island a few days ago with his wife Hannelore to begin a summer vacation. No time of death was given.

Earlier, West German television said it learned Sunday that the big band leader died of a stroke. Kaempfert, a West German who was not even listed in the German version of "Who's Who,"

Inflation and taxes go hand in hand to damage many people's plans for financial independence and a comfortable retirement.

Inflation puts you in a higher tax bracket without increasing your buying. power. And those higher taxes eat into the growth of your savings.

One answer is the Survival Kit. It defers federal and state income taxes on the interest your savings earn. The dollars that otherwise would go for tax stay in place to earn interest on themselves. Depending on your tax bracket, your savings can grow twice as fast.

The Survival Kit can offer you this lifesaving advantage in growth because it is a group annuity plan underwritten by American Life and Casualty Insurance Company. But it is nothing like the traditional annuity which holds funds at a low, fixed rate of return.

Instead, it combines the advantages of modern, high-return certificate savings, with the advantages made possible by this annuity plan. In addition to the crucial deferral of taxes. you gain surprising withdrawal privileges. a variety of valuable estate planning benefits, and the option of choosing between lifetime retirement income payments or any other form of withdrawal that meets your needs.

BUSINESS MIRROR 31,000 tenants paying rents to superlandlord

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) - One hundred million dollars a year in rents from 31,000 tenants pour into one office here. It is the headquarters of one of the country's superlandlords, the Robert A. McNeil Corp.

The McNeil Corp. manages real estate worth about $1 billion, made.up of apartment houses, office buildings, and shopping malls and centers. It is almost always in the market - to sell as well as buy

Together with its many partners, it is perhaps the country's largest owner of garden-style apartment buildings, which it customarilly sells at considerable profit after about 6 to 8 years of ownership, when it has used up the larger portion of the tax benefits that accrue to owners.

The McNeil company is a type of landlord that many Americans are only vaguely aware of, a syndicator who sells limited partnerships to investors, just as stock brokers sell shares in a manufacturing concern.

Investors become partners in the ventures, of which more than 20 are now active, by putting up a minimum of $5,000 through their brokers. Most have done well. Two ventures, now liquidated, returned 24 percent.

'We believe real estate to be a truly capitalistic form of business," eays Allen Cymrot, president.

By that, he said, he meant that "prices and costs should be determined by supply-demand, with reasonable (tenant) protection re-straints." The Robert McNeil Corp. avoids rent-control areas.

Not that tenants are to be viewed solely as rent-producers. A well managed building, says Cymrot, serves tenants well, and he laments that "landlords have permitted themselves to have a bad image.

"Many of the good things that landlords do don't get publicity," he said. "Such as providing a better way to live, and providing transportation to shops and care of children."

Real estate, said Cymrot is a business, and it must be operated as a business. His point became clear before he reached his conclusion: If the landlord doesn't make a profit, het can't provide housing. The Robert A. McNeil Corp., founded in 1949 as a single-office home mortgage company by its current chairman of that name, is run as a business. (Should it not be, it would run afoul of regulators.)

Central to the headquarters operation is its library, over which Cymrot puts no budgetary limit. It includes any items that might affect investments in 114 cities. His goal is 200.

"We study all the state capitals carefully," he says. "Capitals generally have good interstate highways, railroads, airports, good schools and hospitals.'

The presence of these is important to industry, and industry means jobs. Government mean jobs too, and stability as well. "It tends not to lay off," says Cymrot.

Among the more interesting areas to investor Cymrot, a former securities executive, are Tulsa, Tucson, Denver, Seattle and vicinity, Austin, Nashville, Raleigh-Durham, Charlotte, and Stamford, Conn.

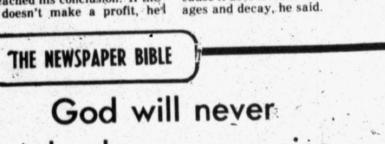

The future is reasonably predictable if you have sufficient information," he says, pulling maps and files from the library shelves. He hopes eventually to have the information available on video display terminals so senior executives will have instant access.

Since Cymrot's regional executives size up properties all over the nation, he pays particular attention to population shifts. "Tremendous changes are taking place," he says. What, for example?

"Well," he said, "prior to the latest census less than 50 percent of the Americans lived west of the Mississipi. Now we'll discover that more than 50 percent of the country live to the West of it.

He attaches great significance to the shift - changed attitudes, a different House of Representatives, a younger population to the west, less union power, which he associates with the industrial Notheast.

Whatever trends Cymrot and his staff are studying, one will never be out of mind. Rent control is anathema. It destroys investments, and because it does it leads to housing short-

go back on a promise

Now many of the Jews are enemies of the Gospel. They hate it. But this has been a benefit to you, for it has resulted in God's giving His gifts to you Gentiles. Yet the Jews are still beloved of God bccause of His promises to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

For God's gifts and His call can never be withdrawn; He will never go back on His promises.

Once you were rebels against God, but when the Jews refused His gifts God was merciful to you instead.

And now the Jews are the rebels, but some day they, too, will share in God's mercy upon you.

For God has given them all up to sin so that He could have mercy upon all alike.

Oh, what a wonderful God we have! How great are His wisdom and knowledge and riches! How impossible it is for us to understand His decisions and His methods!

For who among us can know the mind of the Lord? Who knows enough to be His counselor and guide?

And who could ever offer to the Lord enough to induce Him to act?

For everything comes from God alone. Everything lives by His power, and everything is for His glory. To Him be glory evermore. Romans 11:28-36

Book on poison ivy rash available

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID

WASHINGTON (AP) - You probably don't think of poison ivy in terms of an allergy, but that's just what it is. An itchy, uncomfortable allergy that afflicts millions every summer.

That red rash is a symptom of allergy to the poison ivy plant, reports the Department of Health and Human Services. Similar rashes bother people allergic to poison oak or sumac.

The rash usually develops with 24 to 48 hours after contact, but it can vary depending on sensitivity.

The department reports that the rash appears only where the sap has touched the skin and, contrary to common belief, scratching won't spread the lesions unless the poison hasn't been completely washed off.

Poison ivy and oak grow almost everywhere, making them hard to avoid, but wearing long trousers, gloves and long-sleeves will help in heavily weeded areas. Also, animals can carry the poison from these plants on their fur, so if your pet has been around these plants, give it a thorough bath.

The simplest way to avoid problems is to destroy the plants if they are in your yard. The Agriculture Depart-ment recommends chemical herbient recommends chemical heroi-tes for this, but they should be used in great care because they can also mage valuable plants and may be mful to b Uprooting the plants is also effective as long as you don't touch them. Uprooted poison ivy and oak plants should be buried, not burned or left for an unsuspecting trash collector.

Never burn these plents, even after they have been sprayed by chemicals, because the smoke can cause reactions not only on the skin but in the nose, throat and lungs.

For persons interested in more details of dealing with these plants, the government has available a booklet entitled "Poison Ivy Allergy."

It sells for $1 and can be ordered from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 203H, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Long lines for gasoline being replaced by unemployed

By BRUCE DALLAS

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) - Lines are still a problem in this middle class bedroom community northeast of Philadelphia, although they are now occupied by people seeking jobs, not gasoline.

Unemployment lines have replaced gas lines here, where about 3,000 people rioted at a busy intersection a year ago today during the height of the gasoline crunch.

Officials say there is little evidence of the riot, which resulted in nearly 200 arrests, hundreds of minor injuries and thousands of dollars of damage.

"It's like it never happened. It's not even spoken of that much," said Bristol Township police Lt. Richard Templeton of the two lawless nights in which cars were burned and service stations attacked at the intersection known as Five Points.

The problem began last June 23 when independent truck drivers who had been organizing caravans to protest high diesel fuel prices drew people to the intersection with their citizens band radios, said Bristol Township manager N. Michael Markl.

'They (the truckers) were the drummer and they brought them in. The people themselves were mostly curious. The weather was hot, there was a lot of beer and a combination of frustrations came out," Markl said

"It was a bit of a party, but it got nasty later in the evening," Markl said.

Police used dogs to disperse the crowd, but people regrouped the next night and began to burn cars and vandalize the stations.

About 150 officers from 36 municipalities, Philadelphia and the state police barracks were summoned to quell the riot. Police and clean-up costs totalled $73,-

"Why they came back Sunday, who knows. To me, it had a lot to do with the media," said Darrell Moyer, whose station took the brunt of the attack. His pumps were ripped out, 42 windows broken, and supplies and tools stolen. Although the station had $9,000 damage, Moyer was pumping gas again two days later. But while there is no visible trace of the vandalism and gasoline is now plentiful, there are repercussions. Four Bucks County residents filed a federal court suit Friday, charging that police officers beat them and violated their civil rights.

The attorney for the plaintiffs, Gary Green, said others who may have been "abused during the rampage," can join the suit.

Area officials maintain that the disturbance was a matter of happenstance.

"Quite frankly, Five Points just happened to be a location. It could happen anywhere," said Markl.

Yet. Five Points has always been a hub of the 17,311 look-alike homes of Levittown and other nearby suburban communities built after World War II, mainly for workers at the new U.S. Steel plant at Fairless Hills. Now it's a symbol of the hard economic times.

"There used to be seven stations and everybody was doing business," said Steve Laukin, who has operated a station at Five Points for 17 years. "We used to be open 24 hours a day - 2 a.m. was like 8 at night with all the traffic. Around 1970, after the muscle (high performance) cars died, that changed."

Now there are three.

U.S. Steel's Fairless Works, the largest employer in the area, has laid off 1,900 of its 8,000 employees and another 500 are working reduced hours, a spokesman said. The layoffs are the highest since the 1973 coal strike.

The Vulcanized Rubber Co. plant in nearby Morrisville closed suddenly two weeks ago, affecting about 200 workers. And American Can Co. recently announced it is shifting its operations to St. Louis, putting another 300 out of work.

.15 Carter likely to celebrate energy Independence on 4th

By CLIFF HAAS

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress is likely to give President Carter the chance to celebrate an "energy independence day" on the Fourth of July with final approval this week of a multibillion-dollar measure to develop synthetic fuels.

The legislation, which includes a variety of energy-related programs, features a $20 billion, five-year program to launch a domestic synthetic fuels industry as an alternative to imported oil.

Last week, the Senate passed the compromise bill 78-12, and House approval is expected Thursday.

Congressional leaders have said they hoped to get the bill to the president for his signature by July 4 as a demonstration that the nation is moving to become independent of foreign

Petroleum industry publication says nation's gas demand shifting rapidly

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Declining demand for gasoline in the United States has given refiners time to provide the higher octane unleaded fuel needed by many vehicles, the Oil & Gas Journal reports.

Demand has increased for unleaded premium gasolines, said the Journal in its Monday issue.

'While overall demand is dropping...components of gasoline demand are shifting rapidly. Most obvious is unleaded gasoline's swelling. share of the gasoline market," said the Tulsa-based petroleum magazine

"Even within that well-established pattern, refiners are having to adjust to some demand changes and regulatory snares.

Cars equipped with catalytic converters require higher octane levels than the standard unleaded grades, the Journal said.

"That has triggered strong refiner interest in unleaded premium. Development of that market may be delayed to a degree by knock limiting devices on automobiles and pricing problems for unleaded premiums that have octane ratings between those of leaded regular and premium grades. The lead phase-down, delayed last year, will resume in October unless the Environmental Protection Agency changes its rules, the magazine said. EPA allowed refiners to use a manganese substitute to boost octane from last June through October. To meet future octane requirements, refineries are expanding ca-

The secretary did indicate that he might delete three of the particularly controversial areas from the California sale including one off Point Reyes near the site of the congressional hearing. In fact, Andrus accelerated the decision schedule so that an announcement could be made before the November presidential election.

One of the goals of the 1978 Outercontinental Shelf legislation was to allow state and local governments to have a strong role in offshore oil leasing. Their concerns includes spilled oil, the impact on coastal communities, air pollution from tankers, pipelines crossing into state lands, onshore storage tanks, and the effects on industries such as fishing.

The mechanisms allow for the state governor to review each proposed lease sale at three different pointsc said Heath3r Ross, a deputy assistant secretary of the Interior in charge of coordinating the leasing program.

She described the process leading up to Andrus' announcement as "two years of jumping through hoops" but believes the result is a balanced program that serves the general national interest - environmental protection as well as meeting energy needs.

The plan is not written in concrete, she said. "It's a planning schedule...Itis the beginning of the process...It is only to get us looking at the right places.

Bering Sea. The plan carries out a 1978 congressional order to speed up the Outercontinental Shelf leasing program to increase domestic oil production and reduce America's reliance on imports from the politically unstable Persian Gulf.

There is nothing new about offshore drilling in the United States. The federal government has collected more than $15 billion in bonuses and fees during 50 lease sales since 1954. The oil companies boast that they have drilled 23,000 offshore wells and have produced 8.4 billion barrels of oil with only one serious incident - the Santa Barbara Channel oil spill off the coast of Southern California in 1969.

But the bulk of the drilling so far has be Mexico and off Southern California.

The new leasing program opens up millions of acres of frontier areas to . leasing for the first time, particularly in Alaska, and it offers one of the best prospects of finding another giant or super-giant domestic oil field of the dimensions of the Prudhoe Bay discovery in Alaska in 1967, now producing 1.5 million barrels of oil a day.

As with all such programs, it is a compromise. More lease sales were scheduled than environmental groups and state and local governments wanted. And fewer sales are scheduled than the oil companies and some members of Congress wanted.

Department of the Interior officials view the plan as pragmatic, consistent with the nation's energy goals, sensitive to state and local governments, and protectiveronment.

But announcement of the plan may only trigger a new series of battles. Consider, for instance, the contrasting views on the proposed lease sale schedule from Robert Clark, an aide to Alaska Gov. Jay Hammond, and Robert nz, a Shell Oil Co. vice president for exploration and production in the western states and Alaska.

Clark said that the sale schedule threatens one of the world's most

After the tour, Marin Country Supervisor Gary Giacomini eloquently described a fragile lagoon, Tomales Bay, and the view from Ten Mile Beach where one "could envision what would happen if there were oil platforms 15 miles from that beach" - all of this the most compelling testimony as to "how critical it is that we not sacrifce the most important coast in probably this entire nation."
