Senate rejects Reagan's plan for a tax cut

By JIM LUTHER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - While holding fast against the tax plan of Ronald Reagan and his fellow Republicans, majority Democrats have put President Carter on just a few weeks' notice to serve up a 1981 cut of his own or risk having one forced upon him by

That was the message Thursday, when Senate Democrats rejected the 10 per cent tax-cut bid by a virtually united minority and instructed its Finance Committee to write a more acceptable version by Sept. 3. The decision was yet another unofficial concession that there is very little. inee in waiting, of gimmickry and of playing Russian roulette with the economy. Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia decried the Reagan approach as a "Simple Simon, Tinkertoy' attempt to write major economic policy without benefit of full hearings.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., the assistant Democratic leader, said Republicans "are counting on the Democrats to save the country by voting down their rash proposal - so they can claim that the Democrats are against cutting taxes.'

The GOP proposal - which may be · considered several more times in the Senate this year - would reduce individual income tax rates by an aver-

Carter may well beat the Senate's timetable for advancing a tax cut. Though the president has consistently opposed any action this year on tax relief, sources within the chief executive's economic circle now say privately they expect a rather broad proposal to emerge in his mid-year budget revision, due no later than

Key advisers to the president say they want a multi-year tax cut to help spur investment and productivity through the mid-1980s, but they remain convinced it would do little in the short run to pull the country from the current economic slump. They would prefer enactment by the next session of Congress, with retroactivity to Jan. 1, on ground that moving sooner could set off a new round of inflationary expectations just as wholesale and consumer prices have moderated.

But that preference, they concede, likely will be overwhelmed by the rising pressures of an election year, and Carter could well be out with a comprehensive proposal at about the time the GOP meets in Detroit.

On a 58-38 vote, the Senate refused to attach Reagan's proposed $35.8-billion tax cut to a bill extending the federal debt ceiling. With the exception of Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., who voted with the Democrats to table, or kill, the proposal, the vote was along party lines.

"The people of this country will not forget" that it was a Democratic-controlled Senate that turned thumbsdown on the tax cut, said Republican Leader Howard Baker.

Reagan, in a statement issued in Los Angeles, said much the same thing, adding that the Senate vote to delay consideration of a tax cut "rivals Jimmy Carter's empty rhetoric for sheer cynicism.' Democratic leaders accused Republicans and Reagan, the GOP nommachinery and vehicles. The Republican plan would provide $35.8 billion in tax relief in calendar year 1981, with 11 percent of it going to business. The cost would be $22.3 billion in fiscal 1981, which begins on

The size, timing and details of the tax cut envisioned by Senate Democrats would be set by the Finance Committee.

Earlier this week, Alfred E. Kahn, the president's chief anti-inflation adviser, said for the first time that a tax cut in 1981 would be necessary and inevitable. And he suggested a figure of perhaps $25 billion.

Pressure on Carter to recommend tax reduction heightened on Wednesday when Reagan, in a coordinated effort with his supporters in Congress, called for an immediate tax cut for individuals and business to take effect next Jan. 1.

Senate Democrats hurried into a closed caucus Thursday and agreed that taxes should be cut starting next January. But in order to hear from the Carter administration, the public, business and labor, the Democrats agreed to give the Senate Finance Committee until Sept. 3 to produce a

In addition to endorsing a tax reduction, the Senate Democratic Caucus named a 21-man task force, headed by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, to develop a long-range economic plan that would promote vigorous growth without inflation.

House Democratic leaders, who are still to be heard from in the tax-cut debate, discussed tax policy for an hour Thursday with Treasury Secretary G. William Miller.

Rep. John Brademas of Indiana, the assistant Democratic leader, said much of the time was spent discussing "the irresponsibility of moving a major tax bill without any hear-

Nazi gets kick out of hearing

DETROIT (AP) - Police arrested seven people and dragged at least 10 shouting demonstrators from a city auditorium Thursday after protesters disrupted a City Council session on a request by the Ku Klux Klan and the American Nazi Party for a parade permit.

Some 600 people jammed the auditorium as William Russell, spokesman for a Nazi Party chapter in Detroit, asked the City Council to issue a permit for an Aug. 23 parade and rally in downtown Detroit.

Russell was drowned out by chants of "Death to the Nazis! Death to the Kian!" from people identifying themselves as members of the Revolutionary Socialist League and Detroit Anti-Klan Coalition

Detroit police officers ushered Russell and Klan spokesman Seth Klipoth from the auditorium as dozens of audience members stormed the front of the room. Anti-Klan and anti-Nazi protesters scuffled with police and were dragged out.

Order was restored and Council Chairman Clyde Cleveland reconvened

No decision was made on the permit. Detroit Police Inspector Edward Vaughn, sergeant-at-arms of the City Council, said the four men and three women arrested would be charged with disturbance of a lawful meeting, a misdemeanor.

During the hearing, city Corporation Counsel George W. Crockett Jr. told council members that "a refusal to grant these groups a parade permit at this time would be found unconstitutional as it violates their First Amendment rights."

He cited a 1977 dispute over a Nazi march in Skokie, Ill., and the U.S. Supreme Court's subsequent decision that "all people - including Nazis - have the right to assemble." Donald Loria, chairman of the Detroit branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, recommended approval of the permit because city ordinances and the Michigan and U.S. constitutions grant the right of free speech and assembly.

Most of those in the audience, while not members of the socialist or anti-Klan groups, loudly opposed allowing two groups which they said profess racism and religious hatred to parade through the city.

Russell said the Nazis and the Klan "are going to march, no matter what" the City Council decides. Revolutionary Socialist League spokesman Brent Davis vowed that members of his group would use physical means - force, if necessary - to stop the Klan and Nazis from marching. In Greensboro, N.C., a search for dispassionate jurors was continuing today as defense attorneys questioned 10 more candidates for the panel that will hear the murder and riot trial of six Ku Klux Klansmen and American Nazis. Prosecutors on Thursday grilled 31 candidates and sent 26 home most because they had made up their minds about the case. Five jurors approved Thursday and five others that prosecutors accepted earlier were to face defense attorneys today. Three jurors - two men and one woman, all of them white - have been seated so far on the final panel, which will be made up of 12 jurors and four alternates. The defendants are each charged with five counts of first-degree murder and one count of felonious riot in the deaths of five Communist Workers Party supporters who were shot Nov. 3 when gunmen drove past a communist-sponsored "Death to the Klan" rally here.

Jury candidates are being interviewed by prosecutors first. Those approved by prosecutors are asked to return another day to be either seated on the final panel or dismissed by the defense team.

Draft registration to start July 21 Men aged 19 and 20 will sign up

Carter will instruct 4 million men aged 19 and 20 to line up at post offices for a two-week peacetime draft registration starting July 21, an official is something I am not willing to do," Halperin said. ACLU Executive Director Ira Glasser said: "We think this lawsuit is now the best way to stop draft registration entirely. We believe that under the current rulings on sex discrimination by the U.S. Supreme Court, draft registration for men only is unconstitutional." An ACLU lawyer, Isabelle Katz

We will try to block it (from starting July 21), but we are realistic enough to know we may not be able to do that," she said.

However, lawyers have suggested that if registration is declared unconstitutional after being carried out the courts could order the destruction of registration forms, computer tapes and other records. Ms. Pinzler said the challenge may get a court hearing as early as Tuesday if ACLU lawyers succeed in joining a 9-year-old suit being heard in Philadelphia that day.

That suit by Robert Goldberg, a former Philadelphia man, seeks to have both the draft and draft registration declared unconstitutional because they don't affect women

Under the plan outlined by Rostker: 20-year-old men born in January, February or March will be required to pegister at local post offices July 21. Those born in April, May and June will be required to register Tuesday; those born in July, August and Sep-tember will have to register Wednesday; and those born in October, November and December will have to register Thursday. Friday will be a make-up day.

United Way board sets $1,150,000 goal

Midland's United Way Board of Directors Thursday approved a goal of $1,150,000 for the fall campaign. The goal represents a 12.3 percent increase over the amount the group raised during the 1980 campaign last

Governors want plans carried out

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) -Governors from states bordering Mexico and Mexico are calling for a permanent commission to carry out plans made at their historic two-day meeting here.

The plans include suggestions by Texas Gov. Bill Clements for both nations to relax border-crossing requirements for Mexican tourists and to beef up U.S. immigration staffs as one way to reduce delays and traffic jams on international bridges.

Gov. Manuel Bernardo Aguirre of the Mexican state of Chihuahua, said he would ask for formal action before the meeting ends today. "We must not let the things discussed here languish on the shelf," he said.

Without a permanent international border commission, Aguirre said "the excitement of ideas generated here may just fade into oblivion."

The meeting in this teeming metropolis, the largest Mexican city on the Rio Grande, marked the first time that the governors of states along the international border have met. All six Mexican governors were present during Thursday's opening session, and among American governors, only Edmund G. Brown of California was

The meeting, across the border from El Paso, Texas, attracted more than 100 reporters from across Mexico, and several dozen American newsmen who braved record heat wave to cover the event. The temperature has risen above 100 degrees for 17 straight days.

Clements said the 10 states sharing the international border should do more to promote tourism between the two nations. "As many as 40 percent of those who apply (to U.S. immigration offices) in Mexico for visas to the United States are turned away," Clements said. # Carter resting at Camp David WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter rested at Camp David today after an eight-day European journey designed to bolster relations with America's allies. But even as Carter was flying home from Europe, the French took issue with a major initiative of Carter's trip.

The president landed at Andrews Air Force Base Thursday night and declared that the partial troop withdrawal from Afghanistan the Soviets announced last weekend was "a token withdrawal (that) has relatively little strategic significance unless it is permanent and is rapidly followed by step-by-step withdrawal of all Soviet

He said the allies were agreed that "a major threat to world peace has been perpetrated by the Soviet Union in their unwarranted invasion and present occupation of Afghanistan. This major threat we all agree must be resolved by the withdrawal of Soviet forces, total withdrawal."

It was a theme Carter had stressed repeatedly during his four-nation tour, but he did not mention again his proposal to help set up a "transition arrangement" in Afghanistan if the Soviets remove their troops.

Just hours after Carter left Lisbon, Portugal, for the seven-hour flight home, French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing dismissed Carter's

At the economic summit, the seven leaders agreed to try to double coal production by 1990 and drastically reduce dependence on imported oil. But no specific targets were set, and the agreements themselves had been hammered out in advance. There was little, if any, controversy.

HOUSTON (AP) - A Pasadena optician has a date with death Aug. 9, almost five years after he was convicted of killing his 8-year-old son by poisoning his Halloween trick-or-treat candy

Investigators said O'Bryan's daughter and four other children also received the deadly candy, but O'Bryan quoted from John 13:7 - "what thou doest, do quickly" - before he was sentenced. He said he was innocent and the victim of "speculation, accusation."

He said his case "mocks the very justice of our system of justice." Marvin Teague, O'Bryan's attorney, and assistant district attorney Don Stricklin both said they felt the

Man denied bond in church shootings

DAINGERFIELD, Texas (AP) - Bond has been denied for Alvin Lee King III, charged with killing five people and wounding 10 during a worship service at the First Baptist Church here.

King remained in fair condition in the criminal detention unit of Galveston's John Sealy Hospital, where he is recovering from a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

State District Judge Bill Moye said King would be entitled to a rehearing when he leaves the hospital. At the hearing Thursday, District Attorney Charles Mac Cobb argued bond could be denied because at the time of the shootings, King already was free on bond stemming from a felony indictment of incest.

King was scheduled to go to trial Monday on the incest charge brought on behalf of his daughter. Cobb said the case would be presented to a grand jury as soon as possible.

King was in critical condition until Wednesday, when he was moved from the intensive care unit. He underwent brain surgery early Monday.

He shot himself in the head after he allegedly stormed the church during a worship service Sun-

A heavily armed gunman wearing a flak jacket and helmet kicked in the door at the church and yelled: "This is war!" before spraying the congregation with rifle fire.

Mother encouraged that her son is alive

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A Florida mother whose hopes that the son she thought was buried is still alive has received more encouragement that a hitch-

Photographers seized by Viets

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Two U.S. photographers and two International Red Cross officials, including one recently decorated by Queen Elizabeth II, were captured by Vietnamese troops along the embattled Thai-Cambodian border, where fighting continued for the fifth day today.

The Vietnamese approached the four as they were inspecting the abandoned refugee camp at Nong Chan and led them away Thursday. Why they were seized was not immediately known, but their capture came one day after Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach warned Vietnamese troops would halt a Thai-U.N. program to repatriate Cambodian refugees on grounds the returnees really are armed guerrillas battling to bring down the Hanoi-backed regime in Phom Penh.

The Red Cross said it has approached all parties - the Thais, Vietnamese and Cambodians - to secure the release of the captured who it identified as Robert Ashe, holder of the Order of the British Empire, and Pierre Perrin of France. The U.S. Embassy named the Americans as George Lienamann and Richard Franken, photographers and co-owners of the Bangkok-based Lensman advertising company who recently completed a book for the U.N. high commissioner for refu-

Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie had no immediate comment on the seizure but promised to give Thailand increased military supplies and prompt delivery beginning next week because of the border fighting, Thai Foreign Minister Siddhi Savatsila told reporters in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, after meeting with Muskie.

Perrin, the captured French citizen, is the medical coordinator for the Red Cross at the Thai-Cambodian border where the Geneva-based organization has an extensive medical and relief operation. Ashe was in charge of the distribution of rice and other supplies to Cambodians who daily flocked to Nong Chan from the interior of the food-short country. Ashe, 26, was awarded the Order of the British Empire earlier this month by Queen Elizabeth II for his "outstanding humanitarian work among Cambodia's suffering victims." He was uniformly regarded by all who knew him as one of the most effective relief officials at the border.

Before joining the Red Cross, Ashe was director of Project Vietnam Orphans, which was set up by his father, an Anglican minister. The organization, now called Christian Outreach, continues to aid refugees along the Thai-Cambodian border, and Ashe's two sisters work for it.

The aid operation at Nong Chan and most other border points was halted when Vietnamese troops attacked across the Thai border Monday. The attack was aimed at punishing pro-Western Thailand for allegedly encouraging guerrilla activity against the pro-Moscow communist regime Hanoi installed in Cambodia 18 months ago after toppling Premier Pol Pot, a communist loyal to rival China. Pol Pot's communist guerrillas, as well as anti-communist "Free Khmer" guerrillas based in Thailand, are battling the Vietnamese and Cambodian government forces. Fighting continued in the Nong Chan area today, with most other points along the border tense.

Meanwhile, more than 100 Thai students demonstrated in front of the Vietnamese Embassy in Bangkok, protesting the Vietnamese incursion and the presence of the Vietnamese foreign minister, who arrived in Thailand on an unofficial visit Wednes-

They carried placards reading "Vietnam: White Bear Is Your Big Brother" - a reference to Soviet backing of Vietnam.

Relatives of accident victim finally located

Police have finally located the relatives of Patricia Stalvey of Midland, who was killed Wednesday evening when the bicycle she was riding collided with a semi-truck, tractor-trailer on the Safeway parking lot at 2500 W. Illinois Ave.

According to Lt. H.M. Wicker, an aunt by marriage was located around 7 p.m. Thursday night. The aunt was unaware of any blood relatives.

Police had been searching for the woman's relatives since the accident. They finally got a tip from the Salvation Army, where the woman had been staying since she came to Midland Oct. 6. According to the Salvation Army, the woman had an ex-sister-in-law in Plant, Fla. Midland police contacted police in Plant, and officers there managed to locate the

According to Midland police, burial is being arranged by Safeway, even though the store had no liability in the death. Prior to that, friends of the woman in Midland were arranging the funeral.

"Everybody she dealt with here just loved her," said Wicker.

'Dallas' off screen plot has thickened

LOS ANGELES (AP) - As the plot thickened in the mythical mystery of who shot the chief villain in the television soap opera "Dallas," real-life mysteries surrounding the story also became more entangled.

A Los Angeles daily newspaer sday turned over to police an allegedly stolen copy of a secret "Dallas" script, while a New York weekly said it had received two offers to sell it copies of the episodes that tell who shot J.R. Ewing, an unscrupulous Dallas oilman.

Frank Dale, publisher of the Los Angeles Herald Examiner, said the script had been time age" from an unnamed "news source.

But, he said, the newspaper did not realize the script might be stolen until producers of the popular television series reported Wednesday that scripts dealing with the crime had disappeared. Dale declined to say when the script had been obtained or whether the newspaper had paid for it. Earlier in the day, a New York-based tabloid, The Star, said it had received two offers to buy copies of the secret episodes. "We got a call last week offering us a script and another call from someone else on Monday offering us a script," Malcolm Abrams, articles editor for The Star, said in a telephone interview. But he added, "We're not in the business of buying stolen property. On Wednesday, Lorimar Productions, which films the popular weekly series, reported that several scripts dealing with the identity of J.R.'s attacker had been stolen from Lorimar offices on the MGM lot in Culver City sometime between June 3 and June 24, while story editor Arthur Lewis was on vacation.

President's European trip caluclated to win votes

By R. GREGORY NOKES

Associated Press Writer MADRID, Spain (AP) - President Carter's eight-day European trip was laden with political overtones and seemed calculated to win votes at home. Carter, who faces a tough re-election challenge this fall, was to fly home late Thursday after a brief visit to Portugal, the sixth and last stop on the journey that also took him to Italy, Yugoslavia and Spain.

Throughout the trip, Carter emphasized the Soviet military intervention in " Afghanistan and other issues where tough talk could score points with American voters. He avoided mentioning the continuing stalemate over the American hostages in Iran, and made a display of harmony when he met with aillies during a two-day summit in Venice - even though he is known to be disappointed with several recent allied actions.

The American hostages were not specifically mentioned in a communique issued during the seven-nation summit, although the leaders condemned the taking of diplomatic hostages in general.

satisfied that the summit declaration made clear it was referring to the American hostages.

There was no mention of the allies' refusal to impose all of the sanctions the United States wanted against Iran, but it would have been extremely difficult to get strong enough wording in the communique to satisfy the American

In addition, little was said about the Middle East peace negotiations. The-United States and its allies have opposite views on the participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The president and his advisers contended they had obtained everything they hoped for in the economic and energy communique issued after the summit. But they hadn't hoped for anything they weren't sure they could get.

The United States would have liked specific commitments from individualnations to reduce oil imports and develop non-oil energy sources. Without specific targets, there is no way to measure the contribution of individual nations to the overall summit goal of drastically cutting dependence on imported oil by 1990.

major achievement that showed affect solidarity Carter later referred to the harmony of the seven leaders and called the summit the best of the four he has attended. During his visit to the Vatican, the president met with Pope John Paul II and repeatedly partrayed himself as a partner with the pape. Carter said he went to the Validan to continue work that began when the page wasted the White House

It is hard to overstress the importance of proper technique. Yet even so exact a science as this must be tempered at times with a bit of psychology. Given a bit of rope, the opponents will, at times, hang themselves, and any declarer who enters the fray ill-equipped to wage a deceptive campaign is at a disadvantage.

But you can go only so far in that direction. South, who became declarer at four spades, is a good friend of ours and an excellent player, whose only fault is that he would rather steal a dime than earn a dollar. It was only natural, therefore, that when he was confronted with this problem at the table, his thoughts immediately turned toward larceny. North-South reached a airly normal four spade contract that would have been a cinch on any lead other than mond. However, West got his side off to a flying start by leading a low dia-mond, and it seemed as if rer was faced with four promptly cashed Declarer had available a line of play which, though it offered a considerably less than even chance of success, was nevertheless superior to the one he took. It depended only on the hearts splitting 3-3 and trumps 2-1. After winning the ace of diamonds, declarer cashes three top hearts, and when both defenders follow, he continues with his last heart. If West ruffs, declarer diseards his diamond and eventually loses only one trump trick. If West discards, so does dummy, and East must ruff with his ace of trumps. Either way, South loses only two trump tricks and the ace of clubs.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No.2 were lower at midday dealings today. The average price for strict low middling 1 & 1-16 inch spot cotton advanced 100 points to 72.20 cents a pound Wednesday for the nine leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were $1.25 to $3.00 a bale lower than the previous close. Jul 75.30 Oct 72.55 and Day 71.75.

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) - A round of selling just before the close pushed stock prices lower Thursday, halting the rally that had carried the market to a four-month

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than 3 points in early trading, closed with a 4.09 loss at 883.45. In the last three sessions the average had climbed 17.83 points.

New York Stock Exchange volume remained active at 45.11 million shares, against 46.50 million Wednesday.

One exception to the general weakness was Standard Oil of Indiana, which climbed 21/4 to 611/4 as of the 4 p.m. close in New York. Late in the day the company reported an apparent gas discovery in the Overthrust Belt in southwestern Wyoming

Union Pacific, whose Champlin Petroleum subsidiary is one of several other partners in the well, gained 13/4 to 43,

The market's strength until late Thursday was ascribed to buying by investing institutions scrambling to add stocks that have fared well to their portfolios in time for their midyear reports.

Electric utilities, which fared well through most of the spring as interest rates tumbled, were heavily traded, with more than a dozen' blocks of 100,000 shares or more crossing the tape.

Allegheny Power was up 1/8 at 16%; Northeast Utili-ties rose 1/8 to 9% and Commonwealth Edison added 1/4 to 2234, but Niagara Mohawk Power slipped 1/8 to 13%.

Internorth, which estimated flat second-quarter earnings, dropped 2% to 31%. The daily tally on the NYSE showed losers outpacing gainers by about a 5-4 margin, and the exchange's composite index lost .28 to 66.44.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials was off .67 at 130.68, and S&P's 500-stock composite index slipped .53 to 116.19.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gave up .05 to 294.37. The NAS-DAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market closed at 159.00,

BUSINESS MIRROR

There's profit in the future

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Amidst the wailing that accompanies some of the worst economic news in years you can hear the roar of the bulls on Wall Street. Recessions, the bulls say, are a time for looking up, a time to think of the future, a time for investing. Forget the present, the bulls say - there's profit in the future "Incongruous as it may seem the market has repeatedly posted large gains during recessionary periods," a brokerage house economist reminds us. And, with unemployment rising, it takes remind-The explanation isn't hard to grasp when you consider that successful investors live way out in the future, using the present only as a reference point; And the future, they are guessing, will be better. Aubrey Zaffuto, economist at Schroder Naess &

Thomas, comments that the high expectations result in part from the reactions of businessmen and consumers during a recession. "For those who are not badly impacted, either by facing layoffs or sharply reduced demand, it is a period of saving. Both the consumer, who pulls in his horns a bit, reduces borrowing and increases his savings, and the corporate trasurer who tries to improve his balance sheet, contribute to a higher level of sav-"This increase in savings is usually associated with a dramatic rejuvenation of the savings institutions and hence housing, and the stock and bond markets. The rise in savings lowers interest John Wright, whose Wright Investors' Service endorses a conservative point of view, now recommends a fully invested position in equities "in anticipation of a higher level of stock prices by yearend.

"During the last six recessions," Wright comments, "the Standard & Poor's 500 average bottomed at a point which always occurrred well before the end of the recession, usually close to the halfway

Smart investors note that when short-term interest rates peak a major market bottom may also be reached, a correlation that is hardly a coincidence. The two, in fact, are facets of the same phenome-

High interest rates, for example, add to business expenses and also drain money away from stocks into bonds. When rates begin to decline so do business expenses. And funds are released for investing The explanation for those who dislike details is that a recession corrects imbalances and creates the mood for a new beginning. People and corporations get their financial houses in order for a big push. In the new perspective people are less worried about the worst that can befall them because, as is often the case, they have met the worst and they have survived, although often with wounds. The future offers an opportunity. Instead of balancing on a high rope and wondering if they'll fall, people find their feet planted on firm ground. They have fallen. The downward risk has been reduced, and the odds on rising, at least to where they were,

are in their favor. Timing remains the big question. Some of those who earn a living trying to see the future believe we haven't yet seen the bottom, and that the rec will last well into 1981.

But if you listen to the bulls, and it is hard to avoid hearing them, they will try to convince you that stocks are the bargain basement buys today because ecnomic conditions will begin improving later this

Man charged with second kidnapping

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - A man charged with kidnapping a Boise, Idaho, bank teller so he could get. a $300,000 ransom turned himself in to the FBI here and was charged with the March kidnapping of a baby that later turned up in California.

The FBI said Robert Eugene Morgan, 36, also known as Joseph David Becker, was charged Wednesday after a routine fingerprint check showed his prints matched those on a ransom note in the kidnapping of Steven Sherman Miller.

Morgan had been charged in Boise on Tuesday with kidnapping a 17-year-old bank teller, using a firearm in commission of a felony and demanding a $300,000 ransom.

The teller was released Monday after five hours of negotiations, but her abductor eluded police. He turned himself in Wednesday in Las Vegas on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecu-A check of Morgan's fingerprints showed they matched those in the abduction of the Miller baby.
