Convention concludes

SUNDAY

NEW YORK (AP) - With obvious relish, Jimmy Carter and Walter F. Mondale are plunging into their campaign against Ronald Reagan by portraying the Republican presidential nominee as "radical and irresponsible" and by raising the specter of "the final madness of a nuclear holocaust."

This rhetoric of attack brought cheers loud and long on the final night of the Democratic National Convention, but ironically not as deafening as those for Carter's defeated rival, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

After Mondale's and Carter's acceptance speeches, Kennedy joined the two candidates on the podium at Madison Square Garden on Thursday night. He was there for less than five minutes. He spoke not a word to the delegates who loudly cheered each time he waved with the understated clenched-fist gesture he used so often during his ill-starred presidential campaign.

Carter held his hand out. Kennedy grasped it. There was no embrace. No suggestion that this was a meeting between old friends. They looked rather like two generals who had fought a long war and were trying to bring about peace among their followers as well as between themselves. It was an extraordinary end to a political convention at which the loudest cheers were for the defeated Democratic candidate.

After a stop at today's post-convention meeting of the Democratic National Committee, Carter planned to fly to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md. He said early today that at some point he and Kennedy would meet in Washington.

There was no word yet when or where he would formally open his fall campaign. Four years ago, Carter and Mondale launched their campaign with a rally in Warm Springs, Ga., the resort where Franklin Delano Roosevelt often vacationed and where he died.

Carter campaign aides already have said the president will concentrate on the industrial states of the Northeast and upper Midwest, areas where Reagan also intends to make his principal effort.

Reagan believes his conservative programs are becoming increasingly attractive to blue-collar workers who traditionally have voted Democratic. In addition, the Republican nominee also expects independent presidential candidate John Anderson to be far more damaging to Carter in states like New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Michigan and Illinois. That Reagan strategy made it all the more crucial to Carfer to gain the s active support in the states where he has a strong following. With their internal party squabbles quieted by a truce, if not necessarily a lasting peace, Carter and Mondale lost no time jumping to the attack. Their acceptance speeches reflected a strategy that follows the 1964 Democratic campaign against Barry Goldwater, in which the conservative senater from Arizona was successfully portrayed as trigger-happy and as a radical who would try to repeal progressive programs dating back to Those themes were clear in Thursday night's speeches.

Carter referred to Reagan as talking about "a world of tinsel and make-believe.

He said the new leaders of the Republican Party "have now promised to launch an all-out nuclear arms race...There can be no winners in such an arms race - and all the people on earth could be the losers.

'The Republican nominee advocates abandoning arms control policies which have been supported by every Democratic president since Truman and every Republican president since Dwight Eisenhower. This radical and irresponsible course would threaten our security - and could put thr whole world in peril." Mondale sounded a similar theme, saying, "If there is one thing that concerns me most about the world our children will inherit, it is the fear that somehow, for some reason that no one will remember, the world will resort to the final madness of a nuclear holocaust."

Turning to Reagan's domestic policies, the Democratic ticket concentrated its heaviest fire on his proposal for a 30 percent cut in tax rates phased in over three years.

Carter called it "a bizarre program of massive tax cuts for the rich." He also noted that during the Republican presidential campaign, George Bush, now Reagan's running-mate, had called the tax cut proposal "economic

Less than an hour later, State District Judge James Wright granted a temporary restraining order against an exhumation and ordered a hearing on the matter for Aug. 22.

Two new ships approved for Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) - Defense Secretary Harold Brown is adding two ships to an austere budget proposed by the Navy, according to Pentagon sources.

But the tentative shipbuilding program taking shape for fiscal 1982 still would be smaller than the Carter administration projected to Congress early this year

The administration's record on building the Navy has been targeted by the Republicans, whose 1980 party platform accuses President Carter of 'dismantling" the fleet.

Like the other armed services, the Navy offered its budget proposals with top-level guidance ordering greater stress on improving the readiness of present forces rather than devoting so much of service funds to buying new military hardware.

several months ago in acccordance GOP platform attack on the administration's Navy shipbuilding performance prompted the change.

As it stands, with a number of decision points still to come, the Brown-approved Navy shipbuilding total for fiscal 1982 is three below the 19 new vessels listed by the Pentagon last winter in its long-range forecast.

However, Pentagon sources seek ing to minimize the cutback noted that two of the three ships lopped from the previously announced program are cargo vessels which would be loaded with military equipment and stationed in the Persian Gulf area or other potential crisis centers.

They said a design for a larger ship has allowed the Pentagon to trim the ultimate number of such depot vessels from 14 to 12.

The Navy was none too happy to have the cargo ships included in its shipbuilding allotment in the first place because such vessels, in the view of the admirals, contribute nothing to the fighting power of the U.S. fleet, which is about half as big as it was before Pearl Harbor. Friends of the Navy recently circulated reports claiming that the Carter administration was moving into position to make deep cuts in a Navy shipbuilding program already under fire from the Republicans.

Navy sources, who also declined to be identified, acknowledged that their service did not make a push for more ships than tentatively alloted by Brown because, as one officer put it, "it was a lost cause."

The program tentatively approved by Brown for fiscal 1982 includes a Trident missile-firing submarine, a new nuclear-powered attack submarine, two cruisers specially designed for missile defense of aircraft carriers, three frigates, four anti-submarine warfare ships, a tanker, a mine warfare ship, two salvage tugs and a

Second accused sailor cleared

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) - Navy prosecutors, contending homosexuality is the wrong lifestyle for cramped ships quarters, were opening dismissal hearings today for two more women accused of lesbian acts aboard the USS Norton Sound.

Earlier, a dismissal board said there were no grounds to dismiss two other women who faced the same charges

After a four-day hearing, the discharge board Thursday voted 2-1 to recommend retention for Seaman Barbara Lee Underwood of Orlando, Fla. Unlike the innocent verdict given last week in the case of Petty Officer Tangela Gaskins, the decision is subject to review and reversal by the Secretary of the Navy, Ms. Underwood's lawyers said.

Lesbian wins fight to be deputy sheriff

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) - A lesbian dispatcher for the Contra Costa County Sheriff's Department has won a court ruling in her fight to become a deputy sheriff.

Superior Court Judge Richard Calhoun on Wednesday upheld an earlier Civil Service Commission ruling that Denise Kreps' avowed sexual preference should be disregarded in evaluating her fitness

Calhoun ordered Sheriff Richard Rainey to complete final steps in processing Ms. Kreps' application. She finished 16th out of 181 applicants in written and physical tests for deputy's positions last Rainey had rejected her application, saying her lesbianism would create difficulties for her on the job. After the Civil Service Commission sided with Ms. Kreps, the sheriff brought suit to prevent her appointment to his staff.

Assistant Sheriff Warren Rupf said Rainey would meet with the county counsel to discuss whether to appeal the court's decision.

They said the hearing board did not specify whether they found Ms. Underwood innocent of the charges of misconduct. Because the decision was split, the review by the Secretary of the Navy is automatic.

Meanwhile, dismissal hearings were to begin today for Wendi Williams, 25, of The Bronx, N.Y., and Alicia Harris, 18, of Chicago. An additional six woman sailors also face hearings.

Ms. Underwood said after the verdict in her case that, "I guess the Navy saw that I was an asset to the Navy and a good sailor. They wouldn't retain me

The verdict "takes a lot of pressure off me now," she said; adding that she would still like to have a lifetime career in the Navy. 'The Navy is my life and my love," she said. "If they take that away from me, they may as well take American Civil Liberties Union attorney Barry Copelow said Ms. Underwood had offered to resign 'rather than go through all this.'

During her hearing, Ms. Underwood never addressed the question of whether she is a homosexual, but said specific instances of homosexual behavior alleged by witnesses never happened.

The defense team called a dozen witnesses in an attempt to prove that Ms. Underwood is both a competent sailor and a heterosexual.

One of those witnesses, Petty Officer 1st Class Thomas Boer, was asked by defense attorneys if he had ever known Ms. Underwood to engage in sex with men. "Yes," he replied, "with me.

In closing arguments, the prosecutor, Lt. Andrew Hiblar said, "The Navy is not attacking homosexuality. It's saying it's not a viable lifestyle aboard a cramped ship.

In addition to Ms. Harris and Ms. Williams, those whose cases remain to be heard are Fireman Louise Fitzmorris, 37, of Rumford, Maine: of Belle, Mo.; Carol Brock, 23, of San Jose, Calif., and Petty Officer 2nd Class Sharris Heusser, 25, of Pelican Rapids, Minn.

Key West has fiscal woes

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) With less than $1,600 in the city's bank account," Key West officials asked the governor to take over their finances and warned city workers there may be more layoffs on this troubled resort island.

The city's $5 million budget probably will run $600,000 into the red before its fiscal year ends Sept. 30, said city manager Ron Stack. He laid off 12 city employees on Thursday and said more layoffs would likely be necessary. After declaring a "financial emergency" on Wednesday, the Key West City Commission asked Gov. Bob Graham to take over the city's finances and said Key West may not be able to meet its Aug. 22 payroll.

BOSTON (AP) - The federal government began an investigation today of the fatal shooting of a black teen-ager by a white police officer after a Suffolk County grand jury's decided not return an indictment in the case.

BUSINESS MIRROR

New trend seen in car rentals

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - Anyone who rents cars knows his expenses have been rising. Daily insurance rates are up. Mileage charges of 35 cents are now common. And gasoline from the renter might cost $1.50 a

But when you complain to them, the renters can match you woe for woe.

"I've got two cars totaled out back," said one renter when the customer complained about $5-a-day insurance. He added: "And if you don't charge mileage the customer will run the car into the ground.

But apparently there is a way to save, and the Hertz Corporation's annual study of vehicle costs its stupifying statistical smorgasbord, as it has been called - inadvertently offers one possibility.

"Average passenger-car cost-per-mile jumped 3.8 cents or 16.4 percent from 22.6 cents in 1978 to 26.6 cents, in 1979," Hertz said this week. Cost-percar was up $260 or 12.4 percent from $2,092 to

It explained: "Expenses for new vehicles are substantially higher than the averages, but cost of older units is usually somewhat less.'

"The explosive rise in gasoline and diesel fuel prices," was cited as an important reason for the higher operating costs. But even though this category amounted to $104 billion, it wasn't the biggest

What was? Depreciation. "Depreciation continues to lead in total expenses, and in 1979 was up some $13.4 billion to $129.2 million, an 11.6 percent increase," the Hertz report stated. If this is so, there is reason to wonder why the big rental companies don't attempt to cut down on depreciation and other expenses.

Why should fleets consist mainly of current-year models when, as the Hertz report says, the operating costs of older units is often less?

And, if depreciation is the costliest operating factor, why offer current-year models on which depreciation is the greatest?

Local rental companies long ago discovered such economies, and some franchisers too. In Tuscon, Ariz. Tom Duck boasts that his Ugly Duckling Rental Co. will cover the country with franchised

In the New York metropolitan area, a Rent-A-Wreck outlet offers four and five-year-old cars for under $100 a week with 700 "free" miles. Most new-car outlets quoted prices more than double that Understandably, many business customers prefer new vehicles and they are willing to pay for them. But not all customers need new vehicles, especially when it is possible to rent used cars at much lower Used cars need not be without class and style, and they need not be dirty either. Those who rent them insist they are able to keep them in dependable working order for at least several years. They are able to charge less because, as Hertz suggests, they don't suffer the tremendous first-year depreciation that is incurred by the big national chains that offer new or slightly used vehicles. With most businesses and individuals looking for ways to cut expenses, it seems likely they will be taking a closer look at rental costs, in which first-year depreciation plays so large a role Many will decide it suits their interests to continue renting current models, but a good many also are likely to ask themselves if a slightly older vehicle at a markedly lower rental cost doesn't make sense.

Judge to study before granting Sioux payments

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - U.S. District Judge Albert Schatz says he will take some time studying evidence before deciding whether the federal government may begin paying more than $117 million to various tribes of the Sioux Indian Nation for South Dakota's Black Hills.

The payments were ordered in June by the U.S. Supreme Court as settlement for land taken by the U.S. government in 1877, but the Oglala Sioux tribe has filed suit for return of the land instead of a money payment. Assistant U.S. Attorney Jeffrey Viken of Rapid City, S.D., said no further work will be done on the payment matter until Schatz decides whether the lower federal courts have jurisdiction in the case now that the Supreme Court has ruled. The court ruled June 30 that the government must pay the Sioux $17.1 million for the 7.3 million Black Hills acres, plus interest of more than $100 million. The Oglala Sioux tribe charged it was not properly represented by the attorney who handled the case. Mario Gonzalez, representing the Oglala Sioux, said Wednesday, "The land is very sacred to the tribe and it may be lost forever. The Black Hills are not for sale Viken urged Schatz not to prevent the payments.

Reef's first rock dropped

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) - The first rock has been dropped to start a 4,000-ton reef that will be a home for fish in Lake Michigan.

"Once in place, this will be the first freshwater reef of its kind in North America," said John Trimberger of the Michigan Department of Natural Re-

State and city officials and anglers' groups held a ceremonial rock-dropping from a barge Tuesday. The reef was dedicated to Tom Hamilton of nearby Montague, who prepared a report two years ago which claimed a reef could attract 4,500 anglers to the area each year Trimberger said fishermen spend $12 million each year in the Muskegon area. The reef would generate an additional $96,000, according to state figures.

Guard recovering crude

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) -Barges and tugboats have ringed the Liberian tanker Mary Ellen grounded off the north end of Padre Island as the Coast Guard prepared to pump 510,000 barrels of oil from the ship. The tanker was tossed ashore four tried to outrun Hurricane Allen. 'They have to have the gear ready in the area to deploy and contain any spill. There's quite a bit of Coast Guard and Navy gear in the vicinity as a backup," said Coast Guard spokesman Dan Dewell. Elsewhere in the Aransas Pass channel, the Coast Guard on Wednesday began pumping oil out of the tanker Athenian. The 735-foot vessel, holding-350,000 barrels of oil, ran onto a sandbar created by churning storm waters when Hurricane Allen pounded the Texas coast over the week-

"They began transferring oil from the Athenian to Coast Guard barges and will unload until the ship floats free and clears the channel," Dewell

"We think he (the ship's captain) may be able to use his engines to get the ship out of there, but if not, we'll have to tow her," Dewell said. No oil spillage was expected with the Athenian, but oficials were more wary about the Mary Ellen, which miles south of Aransas Pass when it was damaged during the hurricane. "They are wary of an oil spillage since the ship suffered considerable damage during the storm. It looks like they might spend part of the day getting ready and wait until Friday to pump," Dewell said. Meanwhile, the Coast Guard also was concerned with a third grounded ship. Some 52 miles north, the Argonaut, a Greek-owned bulk carrier loaded with bauxite, was aground on a lone sandy strip in the middle of Matagorda Channel.

"It's not quite as critical," Dewell said. "The Athenian was in the middle of the water, and the entire channel was shoaled in, but the Argonaut seems to be on an isolated hump, or sand bar," Dewell said.

NEW YORK (AP) - Feminists threatened to walk out over abortion and the Equal Rights Amendment. Blacks vowed to bolt the convention over jobs. Some Kennedy delegates eagerly awaited a signal to leave the

But when the shouting at the Democratic National Convention subsided Thursday night, only 40 to 50 unionists - convention delegates and alternates — had been angry enough to walk out of Madison Square Garden in group protest.

Those who announced a walkout in advance and then went through with t were officers of the International Association of Machinists. They left the floor in protest Thursday night when President Carter arrived to accept his renomination.

Machinists president William W. Winpisinger, a Maryland delegate dged to Sen. Edward Kennedy, led the walkout to demonstrate his disaffection with Carter's economic and energy policies.

But walking out of the convention was no easy task for the machinists. When Winpisinger gave the signal, the arena lights had just been dimmed for a film that introduced the president, making it difficult to see. Moreover, every aisle was jammed with people and television equipment, making it very difficult to squeeze by. It took 20 minutes for the machinists to make it out.

Several machinists leaders charged that the Carter campaign intentionally packed the floor either to block the walkout or make it impossible for anyone else in the hall to notice.

"We think we have to manifest some discontent with what happened here in a civilized way," Winpisinger said before leaving. "We are walking out on him in the same way he walked

The head of the 900,000-member union said the protest was planned to be quiet and peaceful. "We're not trying to embarrass anyone," he said. "We'll say 'Cheerio,' and go get drunk."

Winpisinger announced more than year ago that he would not support Carter for re-election, citing the president's switch from opposition to sup-port for removing federal price controls from domestic oil and natural

Texans take to New York life

... But Lone Star love lingers on

By SOLL SUSSMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — "I Love New York," New York Gov. Hugh Carey sang in a rousing tone to the Texas delegation at its first Democratic National Convention caucus this week. "And I learned to love it when I was in Texas," he added jokingly. 'Well, I love Texas," retorted Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, jarringly off-key, when the Texas senator's turn came to take the microphone. "And I learned to love it when I was in New

But putting regional pride and competition aside, Texas delegates, alternates and assorted friends and relatives have taken to the streets of New York with some real flair and good

'I had a terrible time. Just awful," Joyce Peters of San Antonio, Bexar County's Democratic party chairman, said with the glee that travelers favor to describe their adventures.

She said her most difficult times have been getting cabs late at night to return from Madison Square Garden, the convention site, to the Texas delegation hotel.

"Last night, Calvin Guest (the former state party chairman from Bryan), Billy Goldberg (current state party chairman) and myself were flagging down cabs in the middle of the street. We were ready to buy a car," Ms. Peters said. But she was laughing.

A special bus runs between the convention hall and the New York Hilton, headquarters for the Texas, New York and Indiana delegations.

Those who don't catch the bus at the right times choose between catching a taxi, which can be difficult at peak times; riding the subway, dreaded by some, or walking the 20 blocks through midtown Manhattan.

At least, most do. Lucy Efurd, a Kennedy delegate from El Paso, said she and a friend missed the bus one night and, finding it hard to get a cab, decided to walk. They made some friends while they rested along the way. "We found some Good Samaritans. This couple was just leaving, they were at a Broadway show. We became friends and they gave us a ride to the hotel," she said

Was she concerned about safety in New York late at night?
"Do you believe that never crossed my mind? They were very, very nice people," Ms. Efurd said. Billie Veach, a Carter delegate from Burnet, pulled off a shoe and pointed to the blisters when asked about how she was getting around New York.

"I'm a country girl," she said. "We walk on grass in Burnet. All they walk on here is this cement.

Many of the delegates know New York from the 1976 convention or from previous trips.

Time spent exploring the city has been limited for some.

As assistant director of the state Democratic party, June Middle-brooks has spent a lot of her time taking care of convention business and logistics.

She said her only views of New York this trip were the hotel, the convention hall and, on business, the Plaza -"a beautiful hotel."

Paul Looney, a Kennedy delegate from Lubbock, put in more variety by taking in a New York Yankees baseball game, walking through Harlem and riding out to Coney Island.

When some delegates do get out to see the city, they-sometimes find reporters trailing behind them. Linda Shoemaker, a Carter delegate from San Angelo, said a television crew trailed her only sight-seeing excursion, a trip to the Statue of

"I don't really have any fears. I really like this city," she said. "We did take the subway last night, and four people got off at the wrong stop. They had to walk a few blocks to catch up."

W.D. O'Neill, a Carter delegate from Victoria, said the pace and the size of New York may make it different from Texas but he's figured it out

"Everyone seems to be going someplace in a hurry, and yet they're really not," he said. "It's not the same type of friendliness that we're accustomed to, but everyone has been very courteous.

Despite threats, few walk out.

By TOM RAUM

NEW YORK (AP) - Firecrackers interrupted President Carter's acceptance speech. Police struggled with demonstrators outside Madison Square Garden. Dozens of delegates and guests couldn't enter the hall. All in all, it was not a quiet night at the Democratic National Convention.

Dozens of delegates, reporters and guests with credentials for Thursday's closing session of the convention were barred from admittance when police sealed the building at about 9:45 p.m. EDT - not long before Carter formally accepted the party's presidential nomination.

At roughly the same time, about 100 members of the Communist Workers Party, many wielding sticks and carrying mace, tried to storm the arena. Six police officers were injured and treated for head injuries at a local hospital and six of the demonstrators were arrested, police said.

Guards at the Garden closed the doors after the number of people inside reached about 25,000, well above the arena's 19,600 seating capacity.

The overflow stemmed from a decision by convention officials to allow those without credentials into the hall, giving them tickets for a Friday session no longer scheduled in an attempt to pack the hall for Carter's speech, one Democratic official said. Thus, some with valid Thursday tickets were trapped outside once the hall

Inside Madison Square Garden, two disturbances - also apparently involving Communist Workers Party members - disrupted early moments of the president's acceptance

The first occurred when a woman standing about 75 feet from Carter to the left of the podium set off a long string of firecrackers, causing the president to pause briefly. She was seized by Secret Service agents and, after a brief struggle, was hustled from the hall.

A few minutes later, another woman, who identified herself as a member of the Communist Workers Party, stood up on a wooden divider in the press section and began shouting and gesturing. She was also forcibly

Texas League playoffs set to start Sept. 2

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The Texas League baseball playoffs will begin Sept. 2 to avoid a conflict with the Arkansaas-Texas football game on the night of Sept. 1.

The Eastern Division playoffs will be held in Little Rock on Sept. 2, 3 and 4 in a best of three competition. The Western Division playoffs will be held in San Antonio on the same dates. The overall playoff will begin at the home of the Eastern Division champion. If Arkansas wins, the playoffs will be held Sept. 5 and 6 with Sept. 7 a travel day. The best of five series would resume at the home of the Western Division champion on Sept.

If Jackson wins the Eastern Division, the overall playoff will begin Sept. 5 in Jackson but the teams will be idle on Sept. 6 because of a conflict with a University of Mississippi football game. The playoff would resume in Jackson on Sept. 7 and then continue at the home of the Western Division champion on Sept. 8.

he's with the Denver Broncos And on Saturday night, when the Broncos return to New York (well, actually New Jersey) to play the Giants in a National Football League exhibition, Robinson will be back on the bench, where he was for so much of his career with the Jets. "Matt is not my No.1 quarterback," Denver Coach Red Miller said most emphatically. "Craig Morton is until somebody beats him out."

Robinson appeaeted 11 of 17 pasp in that direction last weekend when he completed 11 of 17 passes for 145 yards in the Broncos' 17-6 victory over Cincinnati. But now he'll patrol the sidelines while Morton and Norris Weese, the one-two quarterbacks in Denver last year, get their shot at the

Saturday night's other games are Dallas at Los Angeles, St. Louis at Tampa Bay, Baltimore vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Buffalo at Detroit, Chicago at Cincinnati, New England at Oakland and San Francisco at San Diego. Tonight's games are the New York Jets at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh

"A lot of people have said 'You're a cross between Morton and Weese,' or they compare Richard and me," says Robinson, who managed to take away Todd's job at the start of the 1979 season, only to lose it when he failed to acknowledge a thumb injury that hurt his ability to throw. "I don't think you can compare people, espe-cially at quarterback, because everybody has their own idiosyncracles.

Nobody knows what you say in the huddle or what kind of leader you are in that respect, and that's the most important part of it. A lot of people don't realize - a lot of quarterbacks don't realize -that when you're in a game, 10 guys are looking to you for answers.'

Now Robinson is looking for an answer.

So is Vince Ferragamo, Los Angeles' No.2 quarterback last year, who stepped in when Pat Haden was injured and guided the Rams into the playoffs, past Los Angeles and Tampa Bay and into the Super Bowl.

Baylor accused of playing easy football schedu However, it's the season-opener

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports Writer WACO, Texas (AP) — The best way to get Baylor Coach Grant Teaff to miss a three-foot putt is to tell him he has an easy schedule.

It's a trick members have been using all summer on the greens of Waco Ridgewood Country Club.

Baylor does have three non-conference teams, Lamar University, West Texas State and San Jose State, who are not to be confused with Alabama, Michigan and Ohio State, outfits the Bears have been playing recent outside the Southwest Conference.

And the Bears do get league toughies Houston, Southern Methodist, Arkansas and Texas at home.

"We feel like repetition is very im-

MAPLEWOOD, Minn. (AP) - Beth Daniel, who won two championships during last year's rain-shortened LPGA Patty Berg Golf Classic at Keller Golf Course, already has successfully defended one of those titles and hopes to retain the other as well. Daniel, the 1979 Rookie of the Year on the LPGA tour, won the long driving contest last year with a blast of 221 yards and later in the week put together a three-day score of 208 for her first tour win, a four-stroke vic-due to rain, leaving Daniel with the $15,000 winner's check. This year it has been cut back to 54 holes. "I'll go into the tournament thinking that I won here last year and there is no reason I can't do it again," said Daniel, who won more than $97,000 in her first year. "In a 54-hole tournament, you have to go out and play well in the first round and establish yourself immediately, whereas in a 72-hole tourna-

"I don't think the longer hitters have an advantage at Keller, but you do have an advantage on the par fives, and I think you have to make use of that advantage.
