'Thank God for OPEC!' cries Oklahoma oil exec

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "Thank God for OPEC!" Robert Parker, chairman of Parker Drilling Co. of Tulsa told the Oklahoma Petroleum Council annual banquet Tuesday.

He said the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries "provided our incentives with their prices. They are doing for us what we can't do for ourselves politically."

"It's the prices of OPEC that make us go after more oil and gas, and our shortages have become surpluses," he said.

Parker cited a quote from the New York Times, saying the United States only had six years' supply of oil. The article was printed in 1926.

"When they predict that we're running out of oil, what they're saying is that they've found all they know how to find. The North Sea had 51 dry holes before any oil was found. The North Slope had 36 dry holes before the discovery well was drilled.

"Don't lose faith in the magic of incentives and the free enterprise system," Parker told the audience of oil and gas industry executives.

He presented William S. Martin of Bartlesville, Chairman of the Board of Phillips Petroleum Co., with the Oklahoma Oil Man of the Year award.

Robert C. Moore, vice president, public affairs, for Cities Service Co., Tulsa, was elected president of the council, succeeding Warren L. Jensen, vice president of Conoco, Inc., Ponca City.

Earlier, the council heard from the president of the American Arab Chamber of Commerce.

"Why would we be beaten back in trade by nations whom we defeated in war and pulled out of destruction, such as Japan, Germany, Italy and South Korea?" asked Dr. Atef Gamal-Eldin, of Houston.

"There is no doubt that our technology is superior to everyone else; our manufactured goods are the best and our prices are equal, if not lower, because of the depressed exchange price of the dollar," he said.

"What are the problems which plague U.S. contractors bidding on projects in the Arab world and handicap U.S. suppliers in the area?" he asked.

He cited lack of government supports for U.S. businessmen abroad, U.S. tax laws that increase the burden on companies operating overseas and citizens working abroad, and the Foreign Corrupt Practice Act of 1977.

He said the 1977 statute is "based on the moralistic idealism which we would honestly hope would be the basis of transactions all over the globe," he said.

"In fact, this law has in many cases hindered the abilities of U.S. companies to acquire foreign contracts worth billions of dollars.

He said adverse publicity has driven Arab investment money away. "An example was the story in Texas papers about the Saudi man who wanted to purchase the Alamo. When we researched, we found it a false story, and that name is non-existent in Saudi Arabia," he said.

OPEC summit meeting delayed

VIENNA, AUSTRIA (AP) — A summit conference of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, scheduled for early next month in Baghdad, Iraq, has been indefinitely postponed, the Iraqi embassy announced here today.

No reason was given for the postponement, but it was presumed to be the result of the continuing war between Iraq and Iran, both OPEC member nations.

The summit, which was to be attended by heads of state and government from the 13 member countries, was scheduled to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the organization's founding. Delegates also intended to endorse OPEC's long-range production policies.

The Iraqi embassy said a new date for the session would be announced "in good time."

Postponement of the Baghdad summit and prior meetings of government ministers from member countries appeared to further delay the group's longstanding effort toward agreement on long-term pricing and production policies.

A meeting of OPEC finance ministers, scheduled for Quito, Ecuador Oct. 6-7, was also indefinitely postponed at the request of the warring parties. That session was scheduled to decide on levels of OPEC aid to developing countries.

On Tuesday, Venezuelan Energy Minister Humberto Calderon Berti was quoted as saying a meeting of OPEC oil ministers scheduled for Oct. 14 in London was likely to be shelved as well.

Middle East rivalries and a glut on world oil markets last month prevented OPEC from reaching agreement on a long-term pricing plan at a tri-ministerial meeting in Vienna Sept. 15-17.

Bush concentrates on economic woes

By LANA CUNNINGHAM

Dig past the hostage situation in Iran, the lowered standard of national defense, the slips of the tongue, the faux pas in foreign policy.

Dig through all the mistakes of Carter's Administration lying discarded in a garage. Shimmering brightest at the top of the pile will be the country's economic problems, in the opinion of the Republican vice presidential candidate George H.W. Bush.

Bush, who made a three-hour stop Tuesday in his former hometown of Midland to fire up supporters at a political rally, focused on the country's economic ills and blamed Carter for the problems.

And because he lived in Midland during the 1950s, the vice presidential candidate left the stage in Midland Center to greet friends he hadn't seen in years.

"Inflation is up; interest rates have been at unprecedented highs," he told The Reporter-Telegram in an interview prior to the rally. "The economic condition is the number one issue in this campaign. It translates into jobs. Jobs and inflation will decide this election."

Speaking later to a crowd of about 1,400 area residents, who had lunched on the Chuck Wagon Gang's barbecue. Bush claimed Carter is the force behind all the country's economic woes.

"THERE'S NO sickness in this country," Bush said. "It's the lack of leadership in Washington, D.C." causing the lack of money and jobs.

Reagan's economic proposals call for cutting incomes taxes and increasing defense spending. When questioned how the two could go together, especially with the country's lower productivity today, Bush explained the plan is factoring in a certain amount of expected growth.

Productivity has dropped, he conceded, but because of an excessive tax burden and lack of confidence in the Carter administration. Reagan's plan "will stimulate investor confidence, will stimulate more research and development and will develop jobs in the private sector."

Reagan will take Texas in the election, he predicted, because the Republican nominee is "offering hope instead of despair to the American people."

Carter's remark the previous day that Reagan's election would cause racial alienation throughout the country prompted Bush to glue on the label of "Carterism" to the president's style of campaigning. "There's no other way to describe his use of divisive rhetoric. Carter is demeaning his office by the attacks he's made on his opponents."

Bush recalled the time when Carter accused Reagan of not understanding arms control with the Soviet Union. In that vein, the vice presidential nominee also looked back at Carter's record when the president claimed the U.S. had no reason to fear the Soviets.

"IT WON'T TAKE Reagan three years to understand the Soviets' intentions," Bush said, taking a jab at Carter. "Reagan understands what it will take to keep peace. But we can't get there unless the U.S. stays strong."

During an interview with The Reporter-Telegram, Bush said the Iran-

Sen. Bentsen says veto would be 'serious' error

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says it would be a "serious injustice" to deny permanent resident status to Mennonites because Americans have always welcomed refugees.

Bentsen sponsored a bill approved by Congress last week granting permanent resident status to 653 Mennonites settled in the West Texas town of Seminole.

The bill now is awaiting President Carter's signature, but a national Hispanic leader wants the bill vetoed until all immigration problems are solved.

"It would be a serious mistake if he (Carter) were to veto the bill," said the Democratic lawmaker.

"They (the Mennonites) had their land expropriated in Mexico, they thought they came to this country properly, their land was foreclosed — these are poor, hardworking people," Bentsen told a news conference here Tuesday.

"This country has opened its doors to so many refugees — the Vietnamese, the Cubans, the Haitians — it would be a serious injustice to veto that bill."

Ruben Bonilla, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said Monday the problems of illegal Mexican immigrants should take precedence over the plight of the Mennonites.

"If people support the Mennonites, why don't they support the Mexicans?" Bonilla said in a telephone interview from his Corpus Christi home. "Is it because they (Mexican immigrants) don't speak English?"

"What's good enough for the Mennonites is good enough for the Mexicans. The legislature is premature and favors the economic well-to-do at the expense of the poor and unrepresented," Bonilla said. "If we're going to grant amnesty to the Mennonites, then we should consider a general form of amnesty for the undocumented workers (from Mexico)."

But Bentsen said the Mennonites could not be described as "well-to-do."

Iran-Iraq war rages

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraq and Iran carried on relentlessly today their ground and air war while Western North Yemen was reported to have joined Jordan in expressing support for Iraq.

The United States has pledged to supply military hardware to neutral Persian Gulf nations that feel threatened by the Iraq-Iran war.

Iraq was reported to have received five shiploads of Soviet-made military spare parts and ammunition through Jordan's Aqaba port since the outbreak of the war 17 days ago. The Soviet Union denied offering military aid to Iran. Iraq claimed to have inflicted heavy losses on Iranian forces on the ground while the air war concentrated on supply lines.

Iraqi forces have stepped up air and artillery attacks on Abadan and battled holdouts in the port of Khorramshahr, seeking to complete their conquest of the Iranian side of Iraq's waterway to the gulf.

Iran sent air strikes for the second straight day against the Iraqi oil center of Kirkuk, 200 miles north of Baghdad, and the southeastern Iraqi city of Al Amarah, which controls the supply lines of Iraq's invasion force in the oil-rich section of southwestern Iran.

Iraq's military command claimed to have downed three Iraqi MiG jets, two near Dezful and one near Ahwaz in the southern sector of the 300-mile-long battlefield on the 17th day of the war. Iraq acknowledged the loss of two MiGs.

The Iranian communique reported by Tehran Radio said Iraqi forces concentrated an attack on Dezful's key military base and Shushat, 20 miles to the southeast on the road to Ahwaz, capital of Khuzistan province.

Iraq's military command, in a communique broadcast by Baghdad Radio, said its ground forces dealt "heavy blows to the enemy," which resulted in 48 Iranian troops killed and five captured.

Most of the casualties came, the communique said, when Iraqi troops attacked Iranian convoys carrying revolutionary guards and army regulars. Seven truckloads of militiamen and three of troops were "wiped out," the communique said. It did not pinpoint the battle sites.

Iraq said it suffered five dead and three wounded along with the destruction of two of its tanks. The Iraqis also reported that two Iraqi civilians were killed and 26 wounded in the Iranian raid on Kirkuk, which it said damaged oil installations and homes.

Hospital wrote off $1.25 million in bad debts

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a five-part series examining Midland Memorial Hospital's financial problems. This section deals with specific facts and figures surrounding the history of bad debts at the hospital.

By SUE FAHLGREN
Staff Writer

Since October of last year, Midland County Hospital District directors have written off almost $1.25 million in bad debts.

At both the August and September board of directors' meetings, assistant administrator of finance Robert Abernethy told board members about 9 percent of the yearly revenues was being spent on bad debts. He said that figure amounted to approximately $1.1 million yearly.

Totalling the monthly bad debt write-offs since October 1979, however, that figure comes to $1,249,386 through Aug. 31, 1980. With one more month's bad debts to come from the hospital before the end of the fiscal year, the "average" seems to be slightly off.

But, at the September board of directors meeting, President Ed Magruder said the average figure was

part four of a five-part series more valid than the monthly totals.

"THOSE NUMBERS are phantom numbers, really," Magruder explained to board members. "These are the real ones (the 9 percent figure and the $1.1 million average). If you added all those write-offs together, it would not equal this number," he said. "It may be less than this; it may be more than this."

Fact is, it is more. Abernethy was quick to add "part of that ($1.1 million) reflects getting rid of the old accounts."

The "old accounts" Abernethy referred to were accounts that had no-payment action for some five months or more. Some of those accounts were several months or even years old.

The accounts were gathered into two "special write-off" packages. The first, initially $333,421, was later raised to $346,411.

The 1,828 accounts in the first package ranged in outstanding cost from 41 cents to $7,713.28. The date of the patient's dismissal from the hospital ran from a recent Feb. 27, 1980, to a much-delayed Feb. 15, 1978.

Many of the accounts in the special package represented differences in what an insurance company paid on the account and what the patient still owed. An additional amount of the accounts were billing discrepancies with individual accounts, such as left off charges and additional charges.

THE SECOND CHARGE-OFF was a continuation of the first. Expected to be around $200,000, the total package came to only $105,042. During the September meeting when the second package was approved, directors found five accounts they believed could be paid, which they removed.

The total $1.25 million paid this year does not include the tax-paid indigent accounts. An additional $373,000 went to the indigent patient accounts through Aug. 31.

Originally, when the district was established, the taxing structure was set up to pay the increasing number of indigent patient accounts. The indigent accounts have since increased, yet not as significantly or to the extent that the bad debt accounts have increased.

In the newly approved budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, the allocation for bad debts is $1.53 million. The 1979-80 allocation was $1.17 million. The 1978-79 cost for bad debts was about $860,000.

Allocations for indigent care from the tax revenues for the coming year will be only $480,000, compared to a 1979-80 figure of $756,000. The total expenditure for the current year, however, has not been used. In fact, so far — including September — only $400,000 has been allocated for use on indigent patient accounts, with $80,000 used for other expenses.

However, Abernethy said the $756,000 was the general fund total, which was used for both indigent payments and equipment. At any rate, next year's allotment is much lower.

WHEN TOLD during the September board meeting about the leftover funds, Magruder said, "Inasmuch as we budgeted $756,000... and only used $480,000 of that money... (that) will leave us with $276,000 that we are able to spend for those same (patients and expenses) in the coming year or for unseen expenditures that may arise during the coming year."

The remaining funds, Abernethy said, will be "carried forward in the general fund."

Funds for indigents are kept in the general fund. Each month, if the finance committee feels it is necessary to have additional funds in the operational budget, the committee will seek approval from the trustees and the directors for a transfer of funds.

In a private interview, Bash said Jane Hall, supervisor of the admissions department, "knows that there are some people who are abusing the (indigent care) system." But, he said, the time it would take in man hours to find those few who had enough income to pay their own bills would make it non-cost efficient to do so.

In other words, if the hospital spent the time to track down and scout all the specifics of every person applying for indigent care, the number of dollars "saved" by weeding out the unworthy would be less than the money spent analyzing each applicant.

"You shouldn't spend $10,000 of tax money to save $3,000," Bash explained. Besides, he added, "the vast majority are truly indigent people."

WHAT IS A BIGGER, more time-consuming problem, Mrs. Hall said, is people who apply for indigency who do not qualify. She said a great deal of her time is spent filling out the paperwork for patients who know they do not qualify, "whereas, my time could be spent with those people I suspect may need help."

She said some of the people on the bad debt list either should have applied for the indigent program, or were too proud to do so.

"I have talked to some who would prefer that we take a loss than to ask for help," she said. "That would be a small percentage, but there are those."

"I have to be very, very careful with some people," Mrs. Hall continued, "to approach them (with) 'Do you need help?'"

Even at a cost of $400,000, though, the indigent patients in Midland cost taxpayers about $33,333 a month.

Mrs. Hall said of the indigent cost average, "I don't believe we will change those figures a great deal."

Bad debt payments, on the other hand, amount to about $104,115.50 monthly.

IT COULD BE argued that bad debts come out of the hospital's budget and are not paid by taxpayers. However, the majority of the hospital's revenue comes from those same taxpayers when they are patients at the hospital. And Midland Memorial recently had to increase those room and services rates at an across-the-board average of 12 percent.

"Where it appears to me we are now," Bash said, "is the district seems to be willing to pay for indigent care and capital expenses, but feel hospital users should carry the operational costs."

But, Mrs. Hall pointed to an additional situation that most people do not consider about bad debts: persons ineligible for indigent care who do not have insurance coverage and are not eligible for other assistance programs. She cited the case of an illegal alien Mexican boy of 11 who was recently severely burned in an accident in Midland. The boy needed intensive care for about 40 days at MMH. However, he had no money and was not eligible for indigent status. His tab was enormous, Mrs. Hall said, but there was no way to collect on it.

"If they're not eligible for any coverage or any assistance whatever," Mrs. Hall said, "and I know there's no way that we can get anything, I'll write on there (the chart) 'charge off immediately.'"

Abernethy explained, "Without insurance, 95 percent of the American public is medically indigent." Persons without insurance and who are ineligible for indigent care have it doubly rough.

AS FAR AS BAD debts are concerned, Abernethy and Bash explained that the monthly write-off figures are not actually written off that month. In fact, they explain, they are estimated months prior to that time.

"We have booked that write-off really prior to that time saying, 'we anticipate writing off X-amount of dollars,'" Abernethy said. "But, we would write that off at some point in the future."

"When we book a million dollars worth of revenue for that month," Bash clarified the statements, "obviously we have not collected that revenue yet — that's the charges we've made (to patients). At the same time," he continued, "we book $90,000 worth of bad debt. Obviously, we have not experienced that bad debt — that's just what we anticipate from that million dollars. That's an accounting procedure," he said.

"Then, when we get to the board (of directors) and we write off," Bash continued, "those are the previous revenues from many, many months back — some of them from three to 15 months behind us — that finally come to the point where they are to be written off."

Both men said they felt the public misunderstood the monthly write-off figures printed each month following the board meetings.

Capital punishment reinstated in Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's new military government hanged a leftist terrorist and a rightist terrorist in front of their families before dawn today, informed sources said. The executions ended an eight-year suspension of capital punishment in Turkey and aimed at deterring further terrorism.

At least 13 other Turks have been sentenced to die, and their sentences are expected to be upheld and their hanging swift now that the ruling five-man National Security Council is acting as Parliament. Some 2,000 people were killed in left-right violence this year under the ousted civilian regime.

The sources said those executed today were rightist terrorist Mustafa Pehlivanoglu and leftist terrorist Necdet Adali. They were hanged at Ankara's maximum security prison.

The two were among four men whose death sentences were given final approval by the ruling council Monday.

China accused

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vietnam accused China of hundreds of "armed provocations" in September in which "many" civilians were killed or wounded.

The claim was made by the Committee for Investigation into the Chinese Expansionist and Hegemonist's War Crimes in Vietnam.

Florida voters pass five amendments

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Voters passed five constitutional amendments that will cut business and homeowner taxes and put the state in the home-loan business, and Gov. Bob Graham hailed the vote as a "victory for the people."

Voters approved four tax break amendments by about 2-to-1 margins Tuesday, but Amendment No. 2 to set up a housing finance agency passed by a narrower margin of 57 percent to 43 percent — 803,353 votes to 595,905 in complete but unofficial returns.

Under the campaign banner "Five For Florida's Future," Graham stumped for the amendments and led a media blitz financed by $400,000 in contributions, mainly from the business community. The package, he said, was crucial to attracting new industry and giving more citizens a chance to become homeowners.

"I think it's a victory for the people," Graham said. "It's going to assist Floridians together in meeting personal concerns and statewide opportunities.

He said he campaigned so actively because if "Floridians don't understand a constitutional amendment they tend to vote 'no.'"

All five of the measures, some in other forms, previously had been on the ballot and failed. The portions that had posed problems were dealt with in the new amendments, Graham said.

Amendment No. 4 to increase the homestead exemption on non-school property taxes from $5,000 to $25,000 by 1982 was the most popular measure, rolling up a 1,208,100 to 283,614 vote margin, or 81 percent to 19 percent, in the complete but unofficial returns.

Eligible homeowners, those who have lived in Florida for at least five years and in counties where tax rolls have been approved by the state, are expected to save $100 in property taxes this year compared with their 1979 taxes.

Fourth senator loses seat in Florida runoff

MIAMI (AP) — By losing a vicious Democratic runoff, Sen. Richard Stone has become the fourth incumbent senator to suffer a primary defeat this year. The man who ousted him faces a tough race against the most successful woman politician in Florida history.

Reversing a 1974 runoff loss to Stone, state insurance commissioner Bill Gunter on Tuesday captured 574,238 votes, or 52 percent, to the first-term senator's 535,671 votes, or 48 percent.

Meanwhile, former Public Service Commission chairwoman Paula Hawkins scored a decisive victory in her bid for the Republican nomination against former Rep. Lou Frey Jr.

Mrs. Hawkins, who just missed winning the GOP nomination outright in the six-candidate September primary, captured 287,162 votes, or 62 percent, to Frey's 176,169 votes, or 38 percent.

Stone joins other losing senatorial incumbents: Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., who will run as the Liberal Party candidate in November; Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and Donald W. Stewart, D-Ala.

Gunter received congratulations from the White House and Gov. Bob Graham. But Stone did not contact him, and in Miami he told supporters he wouldn't concede until all absentee ballots were counted.

"Six years ago I made a concession speech," Gunter told supporters at an Orlando hotel. "Tonight I make a victory statement" but it was drowned in cheers.

Gunter, 46, waged a vitriolic campaign in which he painted Stone as a tool of special interests who waffled on tough issues and was too rich to identify with the common man.

But this morning, Gunter said, "I extend to Senator Stone and all his friends and family the hand of friendship. I ask for his support. I ask for the help of all his friends.

"Democrats have a way of airing their differences, but when the dust is settled, Democrats come together to unite," he said.

Both nominees have styled themselves as consumer advocates, friends of the little people. Gunter claims credit for winning insurance rebates for Floridians, and Mrs. Hawkins consistently opposed rate increases during her years on the utility-regulating PSC.

Although Florida has elected only one Republican senator since Reconstruction, Mrs. Hawkins has set precedents in her political career.

The only woman ever elected twice to statewide office, she also is the only Republican re-elected to statewide office in modern times.

A 53-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Hawkins also is a practicing Mormon.

"We have one more hurdle to overcome and then we're going to Washington and shake up that ghostly bunch of senators," Mrs. Hawkins said. "I will never join the club up there."

Frey, a former five-term congressman, pledged to support her.

Meanwhile, Florida voters gave nearly two-to-one approval to a package of five constitutional amendments designed to give tax breaks to new and expanding businesses and property-tax relief to homeowners. Gov. Bob Graham, backed by a business-financed media campaign, promoted the amendments as a means of competing with other southern states for job-providing industry.

In the only U.S. House runoff, Altamonte Springs lawyer Bill McCollum defeated Vince Fecthel, a state senator from Leesburg, for the 5th District Republican nomination. McCollum won 34,330 votes, or 55 percent, to Fecthel's 28,634, or 45 percent, in the sprawling, eight-county district.

Manufacturer donates large amounts to 'running mate'

By MIKE FEINSILBER

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the spring of 1979, David Koch, a manufacturer of pollution control equipment, wrote out a check for $1,000 to the campaign of Ed Clark, who was seeking to become the presidential candidate of the fledgling Libertarian Party.

Five months later, Clark won the nomination — and chose Koch as his running mate.

Since then, Koch has returned the favor, giving the Clark campaign — and his own — three out of every four dollars it has reported collecting, or over $1 million.

Specifically: On Oct. 15, 1979, Koch gave the Clark-Koch campaign $20,000. On Nov. 29, he gave $35,000. On Jan. 10, he gave $35,000.

On Jan. 15, he gave $100,000. On April 3, he gave $100,000.

On May 8, he gave $100,000. On June 9, he gave $100,000. On July 2, he gave $125,000.

On Aug. 1, he gave $300,000.

On Aug. 15, he gave $125,000. On Aug. 28, he gave $125,000.

To total it all up, records on file at the Federal Election Commission show that through Aug. 31, Koch has given the ticket $1,165,000.

Under federal law, individuals may give only $1,000 to a candidate for federal office. But candidates may give any amount to their own campaign, as long as they don't accept federal campaign funds.

So, unless the Libertarians had nominated Koch for office, they could not have accepted his contributions.

Ed Crane, communications director of the party, recalls that at the Libertarian Party convention in Los Angeles in September 1979, Koch circulated an open letter saying he was seeking the vice presidential nomination "because he was disturbed by the law denies independent parties the opportunity to raise substantial amounts."

But Crane and presidential nominee Clark say Koch was not picked as Clark's running mate because of his pledge in the letter to give a substantial amount — "several hundred thousand dollars," as Clark recalls.

Koch and his brother, Charles, of Wichita, Kan., are heirs to a large oil and industrial fortune. Charles Koch has spent several million dollars underwriting a variety of Libertarian projects, publications and think tanks.

David Koch — president of the Koch Engineering Co. of New York and Abcor Inc. of Wilmington, Mass., both makers of pollution equipment — was nominated at the Libertarian national convention Sept. 8, 1979, in Los Angeles.

The Libertarians believe in minimal government. They advocate laissez faire economics, a fortress America foreign policy and individual liberties — a mixture that brings together in common cause extreme conservatives, proponents of alternative lifestyles, ex-hippies and rugged individualists.

David Koch could not be reached for comment, but Clark, campaigning in Las Vegas, Nev., said Koch's promise to support the ticket financially had nothing to do with his selection as Libertarian vice presidential nominee.

Different priorities expressed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Presidential candidates are calling for lower taxes and a strong national defense. But the 9-year-olds in Mrs. Hodges' fourth-grade class say they'd have slightly different priorities if they were elected president.

Swimming pools in all classrooms, ice cream for all and a choice of playgrounds were on the minds of most youngsters when they wrote on the topic: "If I were elected president this is what I would do for children."

"I would sell free bikes," said Jeffery Reeves, who sounded like a businessman on his way up. "I'll let them have free rides at the circus."

"If I were president, I would be friendly to all the people that I saw," said Marcia Tasonya Gill.

"I'd make a park made of candy. I'd make a candy cane slide with the biggest hamburger in the world. And a giant ginger bread boy."

But Mark McCall came up with perhaps the surest vote-getter: "I will pass a law that adults don't have to pay bills (water bills, electric bills, etc.). The companies send you money, you don't send them money."

Python's future studied

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Officials are trying to determine the future of a 10-foot-long Burmese python left at the Kansas City Zoo last week amidst a mouth-watering array of monkeys, rodents and rare birds.

An alert zookeeper discovered the abandoned snake before it had an opportunity to avail itself of the surrounding tropical habitat, but officials note it could have made quick work of some rare zoo residents.

"I guess he didn't have time to eat," said an exasperated Ernest Hagler, zoo director.

Snake handlers were alerted to the intruder and the reptile was transferred to a makeshift cage while zoo officials determined its future.

Hagler said the snake had to have human help in getting into the tropical setting.

"It's really terrible that someone would do that," Hagler said.

Babies create big stir

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — There was a bit of excitement at Woman's Hospital in Jackson early Tuesday. It's not every day that Carter, Ragan and Ford make appearances.

Carter arrived first, a girl born to Debra Carter at 4 a.m. Seventeen minutes later, Teresa Ragan also gave birth to a girl. Then at 6:22 a.m., Donna Ford had a boy.

And who would handle the delivery of the Ragan baby?

None other than Dr. Charles Bush.

Restrictions on inhumane weapons debated

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — An international conference to reduce some of the horrors of non-nuclear war, including booby traps and fire bombs, is snarled by inability to reconcile military interests with humanitarian concerns.

The U.N. Conference On Restricting Or Banning Weapons Deemed Inhumane Or Excessively Injurious is scheduled to recess Friday after a month of meetings by military and diplomatic delegates from more than 70 nations.

The delegates have been arguing over restrictions on two types of conventional weapons, landmines and booby traps, and incendiary devices such as napalm and magnesium bombs.

An agreement in principle has been reached on broad regulations on the placement and removal of landmines and booby traps. For example, it would outlaw booby traps on children's toys, in food, on bodies, at gravesites and on religious objects.

However, several small non-aligned nations have refused to endorse the agreement until the conference completes work on its most controversial topic, restrictions against aerial bombardment with napalm or other fire bombs.

The United States, the Soviet Union and other major military powers have refused to consider an absolute ban on incendiary weapons, a proposal put forward by Mexico, Syria and several other developing countries that stressed the ravaging and indiscriminate effects of such weapons.

Though there is virtually no change of getting an incendiary weapons ban, observers believe there is slight chance of agreement on a compromise aimed at protecting non-combatants.

The U.S. delegation, saying it was motivated by humanitarian concerns, offered last week to accept proposals to prohibit aerial bombing of military targets in populated areas with incendiary weapons.

Despite the widespread use of napalm by U.S.

forces in Vietnam, Michael J. Matheson, the acting chief of the American delegation, claimed U.S. forces have not dropped incendiary weapons on urban targets since early in the Korean War.

The compromise offer was widely welcomed. Previously, the Americans said they would agree only to a ban on so-called "flame weapons," primarily napalm.

The Soviet Union has declined to go beyond a ban on "flame weapons" although the chief Russian delegate, V. L. Issraelyan, has hinted he might agree to a prohibition on the use of incendiary weapons against targets in cities and towns.

"If the Soviets do come around and go along with the American position, then there's a good chance we'll still be able to have an acceptable paper on incendiaries," said a Western military source.

"There's really not going to be any sweeping agreements at this conference," he added. "We might make a few steps forward, but nothing more. In arms talks, you really can't do much more than that."

Search continues for grizzly

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Preliminary autopsy results on the carcass of a slain 378-pound male grizzly bear didn't "show much of anything," according acting Glacier National Park superintendent Joe Shellenberger.

So, he said Park Service rangers on foot and in a helicopter would continue their search today for a bear that mauled a Texan to death.

Shellenberger said that final autopsy results on the bear would take some time, so he decided Tuesday that the upper portion of the Belly River drainage should be searched again for other grizzlies that may have attacked Laurence Gordon, 33, of Dallas.

The body of Gordon was found last Friday near the shore of Elizabeth Lake in the mountainous northeast corner of Glacier about 10 miles south of the Canadian border.

A search for the bear that killed him — possibly the same animal that treed three other hikers last week and broke into ranger facilities nearby — was launched on Saturday. The suspect bear was killed Sunday morning about six miles from where Gordon's badly mauled and partially eaten body was found.

Shellenberger said the preliminary autopsy showed only that the bear "was six to eight years old."

He said the rangers would search from the passes at the top of the drainage down toward where Gordon was camped.

Akers points out error by official

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Coach Fred Akers, whose penalty-plagued Texas Longhorns face Oklahoma in Dallas Saturday, offered fans a humorous glimpse of an officiating error Tuesday.

Texas has won four games without a loss despite averaging 119 yards a game in penalties. The Longhorns have been penalized 44 times for 476 yards, their opponents 19 times for 226 yards.

On one series in the Rice game, which Texas won 41-28, penalties pushed the Longhorns so far back they had first-and-46.

The play that touched off loud laughter at the Longhorn Club, however, occurred when a Rice runner barely pushed over the Texas 5-yard-line in the grasp of several tacklers.

An official rushed in and signaled a touchdown.

"I wasn't sure I wasn't in for a long night," said Akers. "It took two others to convince him he was wrong."

Two plays later Texas' William Graham intercepted a pass to stall the Rice drive.

In narrating the Texas-Rice game film for the Longhorn Club, Akers noted punter John Goodson, who started poorly this season, had four kicks for a 43-yard average, with a 53-yarder that stayed in the air an incredible 5.7 seconds.

The victory over Rice elevated Texas to No. 3 in the nation, and Akers said, "Anytime you're rated high, you're proud of it, because you've worked hard to be good."

He was asked if Colorado had mainly used passes to score on Oklahoma and Akers replied, "Yes, about all they did was throw the ball and return kickoffs."

Oklahoma scored 12 touchdowns and set an NCAA single game offense record of 876 yards.

A fourth game in the best-of-five baseball series would not begin until 3:15 p.m. After baseball, more than three hours are required to convert the Astrodome to a football configuration.

A fifth baseball game Sunday, if needed, would not start until 7 p.m., giving groundskeepers more time to make the switch.

A&M and Houston officials chose the late start option over suggestions the football game be played Friday night or moved to Rice University Stadium.

Longhorns leading SWC stats

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Longhorns, undefeated going into their Cotton Bowl showdown with Oklahoma this weekend, hold the lead in Southwest Conference individual statistics and are challenging the Baylor monopoly of team categories.

The Longhorns are conference leaders in rushing, passing, total offense, tandem offense (yards gained rushing and receiving) and scoring. Texas leads in rushing defense (94.5 yards per game) and passing offense (197), but unbeaten Baylor still leads in total offense (475 yards per game), total defense (222) and rushing offense (291).

Baylor and Texas also lead the conference in defensive efficiency, allowing 2.3 and 2.4 yards per carry. Seven teams in the SWC are allowing less than four yards per carry.

Texas' A.J. Jones is the big name in individual stats, and also in moving the football as the Rice Owls found out last week in Texas' 41-28 victory. Jones leads the SWC in rushing at 133.7 yards per game, in tandem offense at 159.2 yards and in scoring at 12 points per outing.

Jones is comfortably ahead in all three, with a 43.7-yard advantage over runner-up Calvin Fance in Rice in rushing, a 53.7-yard lead on Craig James of SMU in touchdowns, and a 12-point jump on Darryl Brown of Arkansas in scoring.

Jones' Ronnie Little took over the passing-efficiency lead after the Rice game, in which he set a school record by passing for 306 yards.

SMU is the only other team with more than one individual leader. Dick Blaylock leads in kickoff returns at 21.7 a carry. John Simmons is the punt-return leader at 11.9 yards an attempt and is tied for the interception lead with another defensive back who had a hot hand Saturday.

Texas A&M's Leandrew Brown intercepted three Texas Tech passes and recovered a fumble to set up three touchdowns in the 41-21 Aggie victory. He and Simmons each average an interception per game.

Houston's Lonell Phea caught six passes in the 24-12 loss to Oklahoma to regain the receiving lead he surrendered last week. Phea is now averaging 4.3 per game.

Desperate Sooners fans finally get 10 tickets

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The ad in the Dallas newspaper came to the point: "Save my marriage, need two OU-Texas tickets. Need not be together."

With the annual Oklahoma-Texas shootout in Dallas less than a week away, tickets for the football clash are selling for $75 to $200, a check in Oklahoma City and Dallas showed Monday.

Melvin and Judy Frick made their annual plea for tickets by placing an eight-word advertisement in the Daily Oklahoman.

"OU-Texas, Loyal OU family desperately needs tickets," the ad read.

"It's the family line that gets them. We needed 10 tickets for us and our children and we got the last of them this weekend," Mrs. Frick said.

She said the family bought two at $40 each, four at $30 each and four at the regular price.

Mrs. Frick advised fans who still need tickets after arriving in Dallas to meet chartered buses as they arrive at hotels. There are always people who have a few extras to sell at regular price, she said.

One Texan is asking alumni at both universities to carry their loyalty a bit far by trading class rings for tickets. The rings, re-sold for gold content, bring about $75.

Ticket brokers, operating legally in Texas, are asking and apparently getting $75 to $200 per ticket.

Brokers report prices and number of tickets sold have increased following OU's 82-42 record-setting victory over Colorado Saturday.

Tickets sank to a low of $35 following Oklahoma's loss to Stanford a week ago, brokers said.

New Mexico discoveries potential

Operators in Chaves County, New Mexico, announced completion of two discoveries.

Mesa Petroleum of Midland completed No. 1 Savage-Federal as an Abo gas discovery in Chaves County, 27 miles west of Boaz.

Operator reported the well finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 11,986,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 3,600 to 3,954 feet.

Wellsite is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 4-7s-25e.

McClellan Oil Corp., operating from Roswell, N.M., has completed another Abo gas discovery in Chaves County, 19 miles southwest of Elkins.

No. 1 P. J. Federal was finished to flow 1,476,000 cubic feet of gas per day on a 7/16-inch choke, through perforations from 4,334 to 4,514 feet.

Production site is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 6-9s-26e.

Blue Ridge Oil & Gas Exploration has finished two wells in the Adams-Baggett Ranch (Canyon gas) field of Crockett County.

No. 47 A. Phillips, a one-half mile west extension to the field, finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 3,600,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

Production was through perforations from 5,063 to 5,359 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 60,000 gallons.

Location is 1,320 feet from south and east lines of section 7, block 000, GC&SF survey, 25 miles south of Ozona.

No. 48 A. Phillips finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 2,375,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 5,120 to 5,354 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 60,000 gallons.

The extender, 5/8 mile west and 1/2 mile south, is 976 feet from north and 1,530 feet from east lines of section 7, block 000, GC&SF survey, 25 miles south of Ozona.

The Ozona, Southwest (Strawn gas) field of Crockett County gained its current ninth producer with completion of OJB Inc., Ozona, No. 1-18 J. W.

Henderson. The 2 1/2-mile south extender to the field, finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 141,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

Completion was through perforations from 10,220 to 10,549 feet which had been acidized with 24,500 gallons.

Originally scheduled as a 9,500-foot Canyon gas test, it was amended to an 11,000-foot wildcat and drilled to 11,019 feet.

Location is 1,744 feet from north and 1,683 feet from west lines of section 18, block M, GC&SF survey, 16.5 miles southwest of Ozona.

The following tops were picked on ground elevation of 2,269 feet: Clear Fork, 3,080 feet; Wolfcamp, 5,584 feet; Canyon, 6,109 feet; Strawn, 10,164 feet; and Devonian, 10,661 feet.

J. Cleo Thompson announced potential on the current ninth producer in the University 31 (Strawn detrital) field of Crockett County.

No. 2-34 University "E" finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 1,300,000 cubic feet of gas per day, with gas-liquid ratio of 434,902-1. Gravity of the condensate was 37.4 degrees.

Production was through perforations from 8,398 to 8,439 feet which had been acidized with 10,000 gallons.

Wellsite is 2,173 feet from north and east lines of section 34, block 31, University Lands survey, 11 miles west of Ozona.

San Andres oil production was extended one-half mile south in the Crockett County portion of the Farmer field with completion of La. C. & V. C. Inc. No. 1-13 University Lands "B."

Operator reported the well pumped 12 barrels of 34.9-gravity oil and 25 barrels of water, through perforations from 2,250 to 2,660 feet, which had been acidized with 3,000 gallons and fractured with 28,000 gallons.

The gas-oil ratio is 167-1. The location is 330 feet from south and 968.5 feet from east lines of section 13 block 50, University Lands survey, 12 miles southeast of Big Lake.

The operator is located in Metairie, La.

Wildcats, strikes reported in Permian Basin counties

Turner Petroleum Co. of Big Spring No. 1 Elmo Martin is to be drilled as an 8,100-foot wildcat 2 1/2 miles southwest of Coahoma in Howard County.

The prospector is 833 feet from north and east lines of section 16, block 31, T-1-S, T&P survey.

It is 1/2 mile south of production in the Hutto, South (Wolfcamp) field that produces at 7,421 feet.

HOWARD FIELD TEST Exxon Corp. No. 1 M. H. O'Daniel Estate is to be drilled as a 9,000-foot well, located at 7,585 feet. The plugged back depth is 7,535 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from south and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 17, block 27, H&TC survey.

SUTTON GASSER HNG Oil Co. of Midland No. 5-140 Bloodworth is a new well, the ninth, in the Sawyer (Leonard gas) field of Sutton County, seven miles west of Sonora.

It finished for a calculated absolute open flow potential of 1,540,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 1,567 to 1,650 feet after 750 gallons of acid.

Total depth is 7,604 feet, seven-inch casing was landed at 1,993 feet and hole is plugged back to 1,780 feet.

Location is 933 feet from north and 2,400 feet from east lines of section 140, block B, HE&WT survey.

Meado Co. No. 1 A. Sugg Unit 17, 31 miles northeast of Balmhart, completed for a daily pumping potential of 12 barrels of 43.9-gravity oil and 38 barrels of water, with a gas-oil ratio of 1,333-1.

Completion was through perforations at 8,902-6,895 feet after 4,000 gallons of acid.

Scheduled as a wildcat, it bottomed at 4,796 feet. Four and one-half-inch casing is set at 7,404 feet and plugged back depth is 7,085 feet.

Location is 1,740 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 17, block 27, H&TC survey.

Location is 933 feet from north and 2,400 feet from east lines of section 140, block B, HE&WT survey.
