Most Midland banks showed a seasonal decrease in deposit totals for the first quarter of 1980, but sizable one of the two larger banks pulled the totals to record levels again

New federal regulations, high interest rates and a general slowdown of the economy combined to cast a shadow over the consumer loan situation, even in Midland, where the oil and gas industry is still active. While most of the banking officials said money was still available for current customers, no one is actively seeking customers for loans. And most urge consumers to use caution in borrow ing at least through September when interest rates are expected to have come down slightly

Carter asks public for more patience on hostage issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter similar report, reported the new U.S. administration says it will be "restrained" in its efforts to free the American hostages in Iran and is urging the public to "stay cool, at least for a while," amid reports the same assurances have been made to Administration officials said the United States should know in a matter of days whether the Iranian government will make good its offer to take custody of the 50 U.S. hostages who have been held by militants in the U.S. Embassy at Tehran since Nov.

Meanwhile today, the militants announced that they have agreed to turn the captives over to Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, and two council members said the transfer could occur Saturday.

Iranian President Abolhassan Bani Sadr was quoted in Tehran as saying Carter agreed in a message delivered Wednesday not to talk publicly about the hostage situation in hopes the transfer will take place.

The New York Times reported in today's editions that Bani-Sadr said, We ask d Carter to say he will speak no more about this matter until Parliament convenes and he has sent us a note saving he accepts that The Washington Post, which had a message only repeated past U.S. assertions that the hostages should be freed as soon as possible and noted Iran's intention to have their fate decided by the new parliament.

White House press secretary Jody Powell refused to divulge the contents of the latest U.S. note to Tehran. He confirmed there have been "messages back and forth" but said none was "different from what has been said publicly.

Earlier Wednesday, Powell had read a statement that said: "We intend to continue to be restrained in our words and actions so long as real progress is made to resolve this crisis and bring our people home.

Bani-Sadr has said the government will take custody of the hostages if the United States issues an official statement promising to refrain from hostilities, propaganda or provocation against Iran until the Parliament takes up the matter, probably in mid-

Carter did not mention Iran in two public appearances Wednesday, and a White House official said the president has withheld public comment on the Iranian conditions for the hostage transfer in an attempt to avoid painting Bani-Sadr into a corner.

But the same official, who asked not to be identified, said Carter would not "make a statement that he isn't going to say anything about Iran.

Powell refused to say how long the U.S. restraint will last, and he insisted that it is too early to say that the latest effort to break the hostage impasse has failed.

"I would urge you all not to set a deadline for us," he said. "Let's stay cool, for a while at least. Let's see how this thing moves. Obviously, they'll do what they said they'll do or they'll not, and then we'll have to reach a conclusion.

The White House considers the transfer of the hostages to be a crucial step toward their eventual release. At the least, it is felt their living conditions would improve, with special medical care available and possible contact with relatives

Powell had said earlier Wednesday there still are conflicting signals from Tehran. The administration has received no official notification of Bani-Sadr's conditions and is "attempting to obtain adequate clarification of the position of the authorities there," he

Carter delayed any new political or economic sanctions against Iran on Tuesday, but Bani-Sadr reportedly said that action didn't satisfy Iranian demands that the United States refrain from provocation or propagan-

Iranian militants aaree to transfer of hostages

By The Associated Press

Militants holding American hostages inside the occupied U.S. Embassy in Tehran said today they are ready to turn their captives over to the ruling Revolutionary Council if Saturday, two council members militants.

Iranian President Abolhassan Bani Sadr, interviewed on American television, said President Carter had met his demands for the government to take control of the hostages, and that he would ask the council to make a decision later in the day

A spokesman for the militants said. We will accept any decision that the Revolutionary Council takes because it is the highest body in the country which is supported by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini." leader of the revo-

The militants had relied on Khomeini's support to defy an attempt by Bani Sadr last month to take custody of the Americans

Bani-Sadr, speaking to CBS and NBC News, said the Revolutionary Council would decide on the timing of the transfer, and that an Iranian Parliament to meet this summer would settle the fate of the Americans

He also said that the hostages would be allowed visitors, but that the council would decide whether their families would be able to see them. No family members have been allowed to see the hostages since militants seized the embassy 152 days ago.

Two members of the Revolutionary Council were quoted as saying the hostages could be transfered as early as Saturday. The Tehran newspaper Kayhan reported that council members Eztalah Sahabi and Ayatollah Mahdavi Kani discussed the issue with the militants.

Sahabi said he and another council member, Hashami Rafsanjani, are permanent go-betweens in discusrequested. The transfer could come sions involving the council and the Kani said that Khomeini would set tle any differences that might arise between the council and the militants. Khomeini generally has backed the militants, who demand the return of ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his wealth to Iran as the price of the hostages' freedom.

The shah, recuperating from removal of his cancerous spleen in a Cairo hospital, was visited today by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, who reiterated the former monarch would be staying in Egypt permanently. It appeared to be an indirect rejection of the militants' demands.

One group close to the militants has denounced moving the hostages. The group, known as The Struggling Moslem Movement, told a Western reporter in Tehran that President Carter has been using threats and flattery to try to force Bani-Sadr to take custody of the hostages.

New Yorkers still on foot; LIRR trains return to service

NEW YORK (AP) - Foot-sore New York commuters traipsed to work a third day today while leaders of the bus and subway union were ordered to court and a strike mediator reported negotiations that might resume.

Part Arthur to Part O'Conner: Southeast winds 10 to 15 knots, becoming northwest 10 to 15 tonight and northerly 10 to 15 Friday. Seas 3 to 5 feet.

Meanwhile, suburban commuters climbed aboard Long Island Rail Road trains that returned to service today after union officials ordered the rank-and-file to end its two-day strike

During the morning rush hour, police reported traffic was lighter than in the first two days of the strike but there were bumper-to-bumper delays at some entrances to Manhattan.

Meanwhile, a strike mediator said he hoped to meet later in the day with both sides in the strike by the Transport Workers Union against the Metropolitan Transit Authority

'There indeed has been movement," said mediation chairman Walter Gellhorn. "It is premature to talk of a contract, but there has been a clarification of issues. Gellhorn said he did not know if the two parties would meet face to face. MTA Chairman Richard Ravitch said he was ready to negotiate, but did not believe head-to-head bargaining would resume before Friday.

Union leaders warned New Yorkers not to expect a quick end to the mass transit collapse that has stranded 5.5 million daily passengers, filled up hotels and brought an additional 500,-000 persons into the borough of Man-

"It's going to take at least a week to get this out of their system," TWU local president John Lawe said of his membership. "They have the strike

Union leaders were due in court today to face contempt charges for calling the walkout in defiance of an injunction. The union leaders could be jailed. In addition, state law prohibits strikes by public employees and provides for fines for strikers of two days pay for each day off.

On Wednesday, traffic jams 14 lanes wide and extending for two miles were reported at major Manhattan entry points as commuters left behind by the walkout of 33,000 bus and subway workers streamed into the city. It was the first crowded day of the strike - Tuesday was the first day of Passover and other people just stayed home. Traffic accidents were up more than 40 percent, but reports of major crime dropped 23 percent.

Acknowledging new federal guidelines which restrict some banks to a 6 to 9 percent growth in loan totals. Fraser said officials at First National were not sure yet how those guidelines will be applied here. The bank's goal, he said, would be to take care of First National's customers and follow the federal guidelines, but, "the two of those seem a little inconsis-

AT THE MIDLAND NATIONAL Bank, deposits totaled $259,444,001, more than $17.95 million above the figure at the end of 1979 of $241,497,-437, and almost 21 percent more than the $205,385,295 recorded for the first quarter last year.

Loans and discounts at the bank were recorded at $147,284,211, slightly fower than the $147,997,066 at the end of 1979. The figure was up more than $11.4 million over the loan and discount tota! for the first quarter of 1979, however

The changes in both deposits and loans are "a sign of the times," according to Midland National president Tony Martin He attributed the deposit growth to the increased cost of oil and gas "plus the fact that, generally speaking, people are not committing any more funds to capital improvements than they have to

This continued increase in the cost of money is beginning to slow people down on expansion that requires credit," he noted.

"Midland is still in a very unique place in comparison to the general economy," he added, but noted "I think we are going to see a slow-down. The economy is being forced into a general recession period by the limits on credit and cost of credit

While the coming credit crunch caused by federal restrictions on loans made by banks can be hardest on consumers and small business people, Martin said Midland National would make money available to small businessmen, including farmers and ranchers, who are Midland National customers at less-than-profitable rates because "they simply cannot pay 19% percent for credit and survive," he said

END OF THE QUARTER figures at Commercial Bank and Trust Co. reflected the general pattern of the city's banks

Deposits totaled $78,294,339, just under $1 million less than the end of the year figure of $79,240,013, but more than $11.4 million over the comparable total for last year of $66,885

Loans and discounts were $52,939 239, almost 6 percent above the $49. 797.653 figure recorded for the final quarter of 1979. Loans and discounts were up 15.2 percent, or more than $8 million from the first quarter of 1979, however, of $44,881,790.

The decrease in deposits is a normal first-quarter change. Commercial Bank and Trust president Bob Southerland said.

What to expect for the next quar ters, however, depends basically on the federal government

The government in their policies is set to tighten down on the expansion of borrowing. I think we'll begin to see a leveling off as such versus an expansionary situation.

Principally where Midland will feel it is in the tightening up of the availability of money," he said "It can't help Midland's economy, but it may only level it out, at least for the next 90 days.

totalling $20,350,130 Monday. That was down 8.28 percent from the $22, 034,544 recorded at the end of the year, and down only 1.78 percent from the $20,712,053 set the first quarter of

Loans and discounts also showed a slight decline to $11,313,982, a 5.65 percent decrease from the $11,953,709 shown in December 1979. The numbers are down 18.45 percent from the first quarter figure for 1979 of $13,401,- Explaining most of the decline as seasonal ajustments, Western State president Giffert Alstrin noted "the basic problem in the whole banking industry is the government regulations not letting free enterprise do its

"I think the government is out to severely hurt the retailers," Alstrin said. "I think banks are going to continue to build liquidity (which means tighter credit for consumers). That's what government wants us to do and that's why they're coming out with these strange regulations.'

Metro Bank showed deposits of $5,-197,260, down 3.48 percent from the end of the year figure of $5,378,477, but up 56.6 percent over the first quarter figures of 1979 of $2,255,267.

AT WESTERN STATE BANK, de- 999, up 7.47 percent from the figure posits also showed a slight downturn, shown three months ago and up 56.1 percent from the year-old total.

> METRO BANK showed total loans and discounts of $3,473,589 in December 1979 and $1,647,743 in March

> Despite the expected first-quarter drop, Metro president Eddie Thomas noted, the bank has shown steady > growth since its opening in 1978. While he said he did not foresee any "alarming change," Thomas predicted a slowdown in the general Midland economy which likely will be reflected in all bank's deposits. There is not going to be money available," he said. "Each day there are stricter controls on banks, and the consumer will feel the effects before any other group. With the high interest rates and new regulations, "now's the time not to borrow money," he noted.

TEXAS NATIONAL BANK showed deposits of $15,745,422, down 2.11 percent from the $16,078,028 recorded three months ago but up 85.15 percent from the $2,337,829 recorded in March 1979, soon after the bank's opening.

Loans and discounts were $3,225, 339, up 23.75 percent from the $2,459, 322 in December 1979 and 98.7 percent from the $41,421 shown in March

Texas National president Bill Mewhorter said that percentage of change is no different from most first quarters, but summed up the feelings of most bankers here when he added 'we haven't had time on the first prime rate.

Five Cuban men drift near Miami

MIAMI (AP) - Guided by a copper figure of Our Lady of Charity and using bicycle pedals as a paddle, five Cuban men drifted on a flimsy innertube raft in the Gulf Stream for six days to reach the United States.

A U.S. Navy vessel picked up the men Wednesday about 17 miles east of Miami, and they were taken to a Coast Guard boat for the trip ashore, said Coast Guard spokesman Greg Robinson.

A Russian freighter spotted them shortly after they left Cuba, near Havana, but its crew let them go after the five convinced them they were trying to win a bet.

Sheriff's deputies were called to County Road 143 West Wednesday around 4 p.m. after a man was reported dead and lying by the side of the road. Percy Pink Herring, 72, of 118 E. Parker Ave. was a

I know it is the Thursday before Easter, but I do not know what Maundy means. — Mrs. M.A.

ANSWER: Maundy, also spelled Maunde, is derived from the Latin word, mandatum, or command, from Jesus' words in John 13: 34. It means a ceremony of washing of the feet of the

"If it was a hospital we had them in, I guess you could say they're in intensive care," Linda Lingo, assistant circus manager, said today.

So far they're doing pretty good, but we're still worried about infection," Mrs. Lingo said.

She said the circus truck had just undergone some welding repairs when the two elephants were inadvertently loaded Friday. The hot metal apparently ignited the hay bedding. "It was real funny but they didn't make any noise and nobody realized what was happening until someone noticed some smoke coming from inside the truck," Mrs. Lingo said. The elephants were placed under the care of three local veterinarians, who prescribed pain killers, anticeptic ointment and intravenous injections of 75 gallons of saline solution.

Their hides were soothed with 30 pounds of petroleum jelly. "We were most worried about Nellie," Mrs. Lingo said. "Her legs, her trunk and the inside of her mouth burned and we couldn't ge

A refreshing trend

Well, it finally looks as though President Carter and the Congress are getting serious about the nation's economic woes.

And they're striking at the heart of the problem - deficit federal spending.

President Carter sent his own plan to Congress this week to trim $17.2 billion from the 1981 budget. But the houses of Congress had beat him to the punch by rushing their own plans through.

What both houses of Congress are aiming at is a balanced budget - the only realistic way to combat this nation's rampant inflationary spiral.

It's easy to see how the United States economy deteriorated to the present state. The Congress spent and spent and spent money it didn't have and then paid for all those programs and services with freshly printed inflated dollars.

But all those new dollars only undermined the value of our currency.

Despite what you may have heard, there is only one cause for inflation. High interest rates, the increasing price of oil and food price increases, etc., do not cause inflation, although they do contribute to the upward spiral. Those costs actually are reflected in the cost-of-living.

But the cost-of-living and inflation are not synonomous. Cost-ofliving reflects the price consumers pay for the goods they pur chase. Inflation is the increase in the supply of money which results in a decrease in its value.

The major cause of the increase in the money supply and the resulting lessening of that money's purchasing power is deficit government spending.

Now, perhaps, the members of Congress have been shocked into realizing that fact by the prospect of 20 percent inflation.

Witness the frightened manner in which the Congress is reacting to the inflation situation. They're been taken three or more years taking actions that should have ago. As they say, it's better late... than never.

As Chamber of Commerce banquet speaker Douglas Kiker pointed out Monday night, there is a new breed of congressman in Washington these days - one who doesn't merely go along with the crowd because he's expected to or who supports the president because they both belong to the same political party. This new style of congressman is an independent thinker who goes his own way - or her way - and who doesn't always vote a certain way because it is the politically wise thing to do.

That's refreshing for a change. President Carter may not think so, but in times like these it's encouraging to see some public servants who put the good of the nation above their own political

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Burdens of state weighing on Jimmy Carter

WASHINGTON - The burdens of the presidency are weighing down heavily on the sagging shoulders of Jimmy Carter, White House sources say he has pulled deeper into his turtle shell as foreign crises and economic problems have become more confounding.

From dawn until midnight, he usually can be found alone, bent over stacks of presidential papers, boning up on interminable details, scribbling instructions to his subordinates, making decisions that affect the lives of all Americans.

Intimates describe him as a troubled man who broods over the crises he cannot control and the problems he cannot solve. He has become obsessed over the fate of the American hostages in Iran, these sources say, much the same as Lyndon Johnson fretted about Vietnam and Richard Nixon sulked over Watergate.

Carter often appears strained and fatigued, his face drawn, his eyes bloodshot. His personal physician, Rear Adm. William Lukash, acknowledged that Carter is showing strain but stressed that his health is sound. "You perceive the fatigue more in an intuitive sense than in anything physi-

Some aides have also sensed the quiet anguish seething within the president. He prays a lot. "I pray privately," he told a visitor, "and I do ask: Has the world's biggest job become too big for Jimmy Carter to handle? Other aides wonder whether the job is too big for anyone to cope with, whether world events are raging out of control.

Many presidential observers view Carter as a decent fellow who would make a terrific neighbor but who is out of his element in the White House. Unfamiliar with the leverage of power, he has a tendancy to tilt the delicate federal machinery. His solutions invariably cause new, often worse, problems which then demand even more drastic solutions.

don't bother to go after the prestigious passports. As a result, at least 350,000 diplomatic and official passports are currently "outstanding," according to a General Accounting Office investigation requested by Sen. Max Baucus,

D-Mont In a test check by GAO, the State Department alone was unable to account for 60 percent of the passport held by former top officials. Even when an agency does try to collect an ex-official's fancy travel document, it doesn't always succeed. A former head of the General Services Administration, for example, stailed for months after being askedto turn in his official passport.

WATCH ON WASTE: The Farmers Home Administration, which provides low-interest loans to needy farmers, decided six years ago it needed a fancy new computer to help it in this worthwhile task. The results have been anything but worthwhile. After an expenditure of $17 million, the computer, called UMIS, is still not in operation. Government inspectors discovered that so many technical bugs had cropped up in the UMIS system that it will take another five years to get it working, and the total bill will come to $42 million. The inspectors concluded that UMIS will probably never do its assigned task, and suggested that it would be better in the long run to junk UMIS and design a new computer from

That's easy for you to say. But do you realize how tough it is to run a grommet factory? You have to deal with unions, employee benefits, government regulations, late-paying customers, and surly clients. And all you make on it is a lousy 10 percent. But if you use the same money to buy notes, you're dealing with one guy at the bank, making one telephone call a day and the money just rolls in." "It does sound easier than making grommets," I admitted. "But if everybody stops making a product and invests in the money market, there won't be anything to buy. Won't that spur on inflation?

"Probably. But I'm not a financial expert, and I'm sure the economists in Washington have a good answer to that one. After all, if they didn't know what they were doing, they wouldn't be there.

Mark Russell says

In the city of the White Marble and Noble Intentions the people thought King James was weak. But that was before his daring raid on that most belligerent nation - Mobil.

"It's time the Mobilians know for certain that we mean business," said a White Marble spokesman. "Further economic sanctions plus keeping our athletes out of Mobil should be a warning to those other troublesome countries, Exxonia, Texacana and Gulfopotamia.

"This is the 150th day of noncompliance with our wage-price guide-lines by the Mobiltollah," said the spokesman. "We are throwing out the Mobil ambassador and never again will the flag of the flying red horse fly over the city of the White Marble."

And the people said, "He hath smote the Russians and the Iranians, and now, victory of victories - we havest the head of the Mobiltollah. Plus three oil changes and a new set of tires."

"What strength, what daring, what command," cried the people. "King James hast forsaken the cardigan sweater by the fireside for a suit of armor in yon Rose Garden."

And the king threw a celebration and sent for his entertainers, Willie Nelson, Johnny Cash and Walter Mondale. "Eat, drink and be merry," he cried. "For tomorrow - on to Reagania!"

HEMISPHERE REPORT: Fighting Guatemalan Marxist subversion is a lonely battle

By WILLIAM GIANDONI Copley News Service

GUATEMALA CITY - Fighting Communist subversion in Latin America was relatively easy at one time but not anymore.

Now a government, popularly elected or not, that goes all out against Marxist subversion risks drawing the wrath of the United States for violating the human rights of those who, literally, are trying to shoot it down.

Guatemalans well know this. In 1954, with a minimum of bloodshed and to the applause not only of most Guatemalans but also the rest of the free world, a small band of anti-Communist exiles toppled the Marxist-dominated regime of President

Elections have been held regularly since then, in 1970, 1974 and 1978. Military men won each time. Knievel sued over yacht alterations

MIAMI (AP) - Daredevil Evel Knievel faces a $100,000 damage suit over a luxury yacht that he says he can't afford to buy though he fixed it up by adding a teak deck, carpeting and extra bedroom mirrors.

Transit Charter Inc. contends Knievel's im provements damaged the 116-foot yacht and he broke a contract to buy it. The company con vinced a federal judge Tuesday that the motor cycle stuntman was liable for any damage to the luxury vessel.

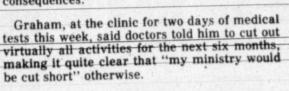

Judge William Hoeveler set a hearing later this month to determine the extent of damage to the yacht Knievel says he chartered in mid-1977 to take his family to $4 million. I just never recovered." Knievel's attorney, John Spittle Jr., said he withdrew from the case because Knievel didn't make good on promises to pay him. GREENWOOD - The race for Place 2 on the Greenwood Independent School Board has been termed the "heated race" in Saturday's Greenwood elections.

Midland fireman Leroy Ledford and 14-year incumbent Chris King are campaigning vigorously to obtain the position on the board.

In a candidate forum March 27, school board hopefuls for Place 1 said they hope the races will not involve

But that is exactly what's happen-

The biggest personality which looms in this race is the school district's superintendent, Mel Williams, whose contract was not renewed in

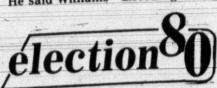

Some Greenwood residents have said they felt the decision to terminate Williams' contract was based on personal differences rather than professional evaluation.

In a prepared statement, Ledford hinted displeasure in the decision stating, "I do not believe that school board members should bring their personal feelings to the board and let this or any one group influence their vote on matters affecting the educa-

King also agreed that experience would be necessary in the selection. He said he would want "a man who would be concerned with the education, the community and the facilities" at Greenwood.

Expansion of the present facilities at Greenwood was another item both candidates endorsed for the future of the school.

More American couples find marriage 'too taxing

By JAY PERKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) - Twice, Angela and David Boyter divorced each other and twice they remarried. Finally, they ended their marriage altogether - finding it literally too taxing against marriage because of the higher taxes. Another couple married only to give their child a legitimate birth certificate and others, like the Boyters, divorced to lower their tax

- and simply lived together.

> The issue was brought to attention of the public last October when the Internal Revenue Service took the Boyters to U.S. Tax Court to argue that their divorces and remarriages were a "sham transaction." The case is pending. The Boyters, from Elliott City, Md., earn about $30,000 each as federal employees. They told the committee they have saved almost $15,000 in taxes over the past five years by divorcing to take advantage of lower tax rates for single persons.

"I ask you, is this the kind of behavior you want to promote?" the Boyters asked rhetorically.

The Carter administration says no, but officials told the committee they haven't decided what to do about the

Emil Sunley, deputy assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy, said the administration wants to make certain that single 'taxpayers are not hurt by eliminating the marriage penalty and that the tax code remains progressive, with higher income being taxed at a higher rate. So long as the tax code is progressive and the government taxes combined income, Sunley said, "the marriage penalty cannot be reduced without making the situation for single taxpayers even worse.'

He said the administration "believes high priority should be given to reducing" all penalties on married or single taxpayers.

The Treasury Department says the United States is the only industrialized nation with an income tax that does not distinguish between one and two-income families.

The marriage penalty occurs because the tax code treats income earned separately by two members of the same family as one income. Since the tax structure is progressive - that is, the higher the income, the higher the tax rate - each extra dollar brought in by a working spouse pushes the family's total income into a higher tax bracket. For example, Treasury Department charts show that two single persons each earning $5,000 a year would pay a combined total of $844 in taxes if they lived together without benefit of marriage because they are taxed on their individual incomes. If they married, however, their income is treated jointly and they pay taxes on $10,000. Since the tax rate on $10,000 is higher than on $5,000, their tax is $1,062 and their marriage has cost them $218 a year in higher taxes If each has an income of $30,000 a year, the marriage penalty is $3,754. Even if they filed separate returns while married, Sunley said no real tax is saved. "The option for a married couple to file separate returns is not a defense against the marriage penalty," told the committee

Texans may lose food stamps

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Some of the 1.1 million Texans who depend on food stamps might starve to death in June if Congress does not find $2.5 billion to pour into the foundering program, according to a coalition of social activists.

"Last month the federal government sent Texans $44 million in food stamps," said Velma Roberts of the Austin Welfare Rights Organization.

The food stamp flow will end in June unless Congess allocates the $2.5 billion for the system by May 15, she said. Food stamps again would be available after the federal fiscal year their families.

begins Oct. 1.

"The food stamp program is out of skyrocketing medical and utility to food stamps. Last year Congress expanded eligibility for the program, but did not appropriate any extra money to pay for those who were nearly eligible," Mrs. Roberts said at a Wednesday news conference at the Capitol.

She predicted hungry Texans might turn to crime to feed themselves and Tom Smith of the Community Nurition Institute, a non-profit organimoney. Inflation, unemployment, and Jzation that helps federal food program recipients remain abreast of costs have forced more people to turn developments, predicted some Texans would die if the food stamps are cut off.

"There are no plans in place for feeding the poor,' he said, adding programs used before the food stamp era have been "dismantled."

You hear about the elderly picking through the garbage. I think we'll see a lot more of that," he said.

Snow continued to fall from the northern Rockies to central Nebraska, and more snow was headed for the Midwest.

Storms due for much of nation

By C.W. MIRANKER Associated Press Writer

More bad weather was in store for much of the nation today after new rains soaked flood-plagued Louisiana and Mississippi, a woman died fleeing a Texas tornado and hail the size of golf balls pounded Oklahoma.

More snow hit the Rockies Wednesday, grounding a haylift to cattle in Colorado. Snow also halted helicopter rescue missions for snow-bound western Nebraska residents.

The National Weather Service said new snow was likely today in the Rockies and on the Plains and additional rain was forecast for the South through the upper Greet Lakes.

A drenching 8 inches of rain closed schools and businesses in New Orleans. Roads were inundated and more than 300 homes were flooded in St. Tamany, Washington and East Baton Rouge. National Guardsmen were sandbagging the swollen Pearl ported at or above flood stage.

In Wichita Falls, Texas, strong currents suddenly racing through an undergound drainage culvert swept away a 41-year-old woman and her 3-month-old grandson after a family abandoned their car and hid there when tornado sirens sounded.

The southwest part of the city was flattened by a tornado last April 10, and residents fearing another disaster ran for shelter.

"The first thing you do is get in a ditch and get out of the car," said Terry Crawford.

"The water suddenly rushed through and knocked us all down," said Gary Don Crawford, 14. The body of Oma Crawford was found in the creek bed, but the baby, Jerry Crawford, was missing.

In Kansas, where there was snow, thunder, lightning and heavy rains in different areas, most schools were closed for the week in the northwest. National Guardsmen were dispatched to a five-county area and a helicopter was sent to drop feed to stranded

Eisenhower, Patton star attractions

LISSE, Netherlands (AP) — General Eisenhower, the Queen of Sheba, General Patton, Rembrandt and Cordell Hull are among the star attractions as tens of thousands tiptoe through the tulips at Holland's annual spring bulb show.

The namesakes of Ike, Sheba and other notables are among the 4,000 varieties of tulips, hyacinths and narcissi on display at Keukenhof, the 70-acre showcase here for several million of the spring-flowering Dutch bulbs prized by flower lovers everywhere.

Last year, more than 800,000 people visited Keukenhof, in the heart of the bulb country just inland from the North Sea, during its six-week season. The sandy wet earth behind the dunes is perfect for bulb-growing, although recent advances by other flower-producing nations, notably Israel and South Africa, are keeping the Dutch salesmen on their toes.

The 6.000 Dutch bulb growers and 600 exporters put up $4 million for promotion last year. The industry spent $7.5 million for research at laboratories and experimental field stations.

Many bulbs now get heat treatments, for example, to ensure that they flower on time, and they are shipped overseas in climate-controlled

Each spring, 30,000 acres in the Lisse region bloom in symmetrical lakes of red, blue, pink and yellow. But the bulb growers care little about the flowers themselves, which are snipped off and used for the annual April flower parade. It is the bulbs still in the ground that the growers want. After three or four years of travel between fields and greenhouses. the bulbs are ready for harvest and export.

The bulbs flowering in gardens around the world this spring were harvested, shipped and planted last autumn. Dahlias, gladioli, begonias and summer-flowering varieties were shipped early this year for spring

In 1979, the highly automated industry produced 5.1 billion flower bulbs, 4 billion of which were exported to 88 countries. Export sales totaled $245 million, up 2 per cent from the previous year despite bad major projects, a rule designed to end deceptive food nutrition information in most food advertisements.

The commission has approved for publication in the Federal Register a proposal to end two of the three parts of the food advertising rule-making proceeding dealing with nutrition. A copy of the Federal Register notice was released Wednesday to The Associated Press.

'The commission is disposed to terminate Phases II and III of the food rule-making proceeding," the notice said. "In its place, the commission is interested in exploring a wide range of options with respect to the problems of food advertising." It asked for comment on this

Meanwhile, the FTC staff reduced the scope of its recommendation to the commissioners on the remaining part of the food advertising rule.

The actions come as congressional conferees are trying to reconcile bills passed by the House and Senate amid many criticisms of FTC "overregulation" of industry. Among provisions are ones that would end FTC consideration of rules over television advertising aimed at children and funeral homes.

The food rule was proposed in 1974 as an attempt to 'ensure that when the food industry chooses to use certain claims about the nutritional value of foods in selling its products, it does so in a non-deceptive and fair manner and does not exploit the public's lack of sophistication '

It was said then to result in part from a 1969 White House conference on nutrition at which experts told of problems with the American diet.

Interest rates causing squeeze down on the farm

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) - While David Wilson was trying to get his corn and soybeans to grow last year, interest rates were shooting up like Now Wilson, like thousands of American farmers, is heading for the bank to borrow money for his spring crop. He dreads the trip.

The cost of money farmers need to borrow to operate has jumped 50 percent in the past year. And farmers are borrowing more - fuel and fertilizer costs have risen 30 percent to 50 percent while crop and cattle prices remain low.

From now until fall, Wilson will borrow $13,000 a month for seed, fertilizer, fuel, machinery repairs and food for his table

Will he make any money? No way.

"All we're hoping for now is to hold our losses down enough to borrow money for next year and hope for better prices then," Wilson says. "We'll have to have better prices just to get back where we started."

Interest rates at banks in rural America have risen to about 17 percent, a spot check indicates. That's less than the 19-plus percent prime rate but still a hefty jump from the 10 and 11 percent available just a year ago.

"Farmers are not just crying wolf," says Roy Frederick, an extension economist at Kansas State University. "There really is a serious problem out there. This is the time of year when requests for operating money is at

"The average farmer will have to borrow way, way more than, say, a hardware store owner," says Bruce Frost of the Production Credit Association in Salina. "And the farmer can't raise the price he gets for

Wilson's loan, from a PCA, contains an escalator clause based on the prime rate and the interest he pays has risen from 10 percent to about 14 percent. He already owes the bank a third more than he did last year at the start of planting. He borrowed $27,000 for fertilizer and chemicals in December, hoping to escape price increases.

"But there's just no way to get ahead," laments Wilson. "You buy then and pay the interest, or buy now and pay the higher price.' Wilson farms about 900 acres near Osawatomie and grazes 300 head of cattle on 700 acres. For nearly 20 of his 39 years, he has fought to get ahead to avoid the constant borrowing.

"Our profit margins have been so slim that we've been forced to enlarge and increase our volume so those margins will pay us a living," he says. "That means we borrow more. And money borrowed has to be paid back every year."

The U.S. Agriculture Department says preliminary figures for Jan. 1, 1980, indicated farm indebtedness rose 18 percent from a year before to $161 billion. Farmers have relied more on borrowed money to operate their farms as production costs have outpaced market prices.

The USDA announced Tuesday that about half of a $2 billion federal loan program to help farmers is being made available by the Farmers Home Administration. Under a law signed by President Carter on Sunday, the program ceiling in the Emergency Agriculture Credit Act was raised $2 billion to $6 billion. The rest of the new funds will be held for emergencies and future needs.

Frederick says some farmers are selling their stored grain at today's low prices so they can avoid borrowing, adding "further fuel to the downward spiral of prices for grain."

The price of wheat at country elevators this week hovered around $3.30 a bushel. Three months ago, before Carter's Soviet grain trade embargo, prices were about 60 cents higher. Cattle prices, too, are weaker, reflecting reduced demand for beef from the financially strapped consumer. Agricultural economists predict the combination of inflation, high interest rates and low prices will slash net farm income by 20 percent or And Sam Forrer, a Ulysses banker says those shrinking profits and rising interest rates "are just another thing that could drive the farmer away from farming."

Livestock producers can see no large-scale price boom

A new analysis by the Agriculture Department shows that cattle and hog producers still have some way to go before striking it rich.

Market prices lately have been below yearearlier levels, and USDA experts say no largescale price boom is in

Although beef supplies have been smaller than a year earlier, the margin is narrowing. Also, sup-plies of pork and poultry are huge and are expected to continue that way for some time.

Market prices of U.S. Choice-grade steers by late March were down $5 per 100 pounds from a year ago and hog prices were down almost $15 per 100 pounds, the department's Economics,

WASHINGTON (AP) Statistics and Coop tives Service said Tues-

Moreover, the figures showed little chance of the situation for cattle feeders and hog producers improving much in the near future.

At that time, prices of Choice-grade steers in the first quarter were indicated in a range of $66 to $68 per 100 pounds and hogs at $37 to $39 per 100

In fact, livestock new report said, steers prices are expected to be averaged $66.90 or within substantially under the the earlier range foreagency forecast issued cast, and hogs at major less than two months markets.

USDA may buy grain directly from farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says if grain elavators don't start offering more wheat and corn for sale to the government at realistic prices he'll soon ask farmers to sell their grain directly to the government.

The Agriculture Department bought 16.6 million bushels of wheat last week and Tuesday announced grain right on the farms," Bergland said Wednesday.

A department spokesman, asked to elaborate, said purchase of grain directly from farmers has been discussed as an alternative but that whether it will be done depends on how grain offerings by elevators stack up in the near future.

The spokesman, Jack Keyser, said if the plan is put into effect it could involve the posting of prices for wheat and corn at county offices of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Farmers then could decide whether to sell their grain directly to the govern-

In any event, Bergland says the purchases will continue indefinitely, on an alternating basis for wheat and corn each week. The aim is to help her methods will be used.

San Angelo's city government must choose to become the investigator and prosecutor of housing discrimination against ethnic minorities or lose its $1.5 million Community Development Mayor Tom Parrett added "I resent it being done by force, more or less by coercion."

Fair housing practices are necessary, he said: "Barring a person from housing is passe - we are past that - but it's a sad little commentary on the times when such things are brought around by regulatory, bureaucratic law.'

Parret said he would have preferred "to handle a thing like that through the fairness of it... out of desire rather than through forced legislation," but said he sees no other choice in view of HUD's demand.

McCamey remembered for rattler derby days

McCAMEY — McCamey is a proud town kept alive by black gold and well remembered for its rattler derby

The derby was the Rattlesnake Derby, which has since gone the way of the dodo bird. But at one time it was about as big a round-up as the Fourth of July is a celebration.

"But nobody again has reached the skin-crawling heights achieved by oilboom McCamey in its heyday," wrote writer Ed Syers. "Most long-time citizens get a boot out of recalling the day that Slicker won the World's First Rattlesnake Derby in that West Texas Pecos River town.

But after the big oil fields were opened up and all the hustling, bustling, working and fighting and drinking died down, McCamey settled down to a quiet but proud oil town of 2,600 folks. There's still plenty of oil down under.

'We want it to blow'

KID VALLEY, Wash. (AP) - "We want it to blow," said volcano watcher Dick Evans from

"I want to hear it rumble," added Seattle resident Freddie Collins. "But I'm ready to

They are among hundreds of people at Mile post 33, the favorite volcano-watching spot on Spirit Lake Highway, 10 miles from Mount St.

From British Columbia, New York, Florida, Kansas, Texas and elsewhere, their cars and campers and pickup trucks stretch from the roadblock here back along the highway.

Armed with binoculars, cameras, fancy lenses and tripods some scrambled to a nearby bluff for a better view of the volcano that began shaking and erupting last Thursday. Others perched on rocks and tree stumps or settled in lawn chairs. Some had thermos bottles, others bought hot dogs and Hawaiian barbecued food from a mobile home fast-food shop.

The sightseers say they want two things: to getcloser to the mountain and to see some real pyrotechnics:

"Most persons would like to be closer," com-plained Russell Wiggens of Napavine. "If they would take down the barriers, and let people make up their own minds you'd see lots of people climbing all over the mountain. I'd be one. I'd take a chance.

"The authorities should warn people, but shouldn't stop 'em.

Volcano-watching is a family affair for many

"It's really neat for the kids," said Mrs. Howard Converse of Sagle, Idaho. "We just couldn't pass this up," Rich Wiggens, of Bellingham, Wash., brought his children Stacey and Jeff, and their grandfather Russell. "It's not an everyday experience," he said. It was a rewarding day Wednesday for the volcano watchers here: Plumes spewed from Mount St. Helens in the morning, and in the afternoon, violent eruptions shook the mountain, sending out billows of volcanic ash.

"I just never thought we'd see something like this in our lifetime," one man said.

"Howard, get more film out," a woman said. "Oh, super, wow," said another woman.

Seismic activity noted in volcano

COUGAR, Wash. (AP) — After a day of violent eruptions, Mount St. Helens was being rocked by harmonic tremors — a type of quake that has preceded eruptions at other volcanoes - and scientists were debating whether the 9,677-foot peak will spew lava in a major convulsion.

The new seismic activity Wednesday night apparently means magma — molten rock — is mov-ing to the surface of the volcano that came to life last week, said Dave Endicott, a spokesman for the University of Washington geophysics department in Seattle.

"It is the kind of seismic occurence often seen before an eruption," Endicott said. "It's impossible to say how deep the magma is ... let's just say we're watching this one real close."

Wednesday night's seismic readings showed very smooth curves, while previous quake readings have been very erratic, he said.

But Dwight "Rocky" Crandall, a U.S. Geological Survey geologist, was wary of comparing Mount St. Helens to other volcanoes. "As far as we can tell, it doesn't mean that (an eruption) is more imminent than it was before," he said in Vancouver. "It doesn't warrant special notification of emergency personnel ... we haven't reached that level of concern."

Scientists also were studying whether bulging in the ground around the mountain signaled a coming lava eruption. The half-inch bulge has been termed insignificant, but scientists say more tilting could mean the mountain is swelling under the pressure of molten rock moving toward the surface. The seismic change occurred a few hours after a series of violent steam explosions, the most severe to rock the mountain, ejected 60-foot-wide pieces of ice and blasted down a wall between the volcano's two craters, officials said. The crater now measures some 1,500 feet across, said Lynn Robertson of the U.S. Forest Service in Vancouver, Wash. Four chunks of ash-coated ice were found at the 7,600-foot level after the smoke cleared, she said.

Scientist were awaiting information from U-2 flights over the volcano Wednesday on locations of hot spots, mudslides and ash.

MESA, Ariz. — In a primitive state not long removed from territorial status, one expects the kind of annoying inconvenience that comes with having to remove the pits from your breakfast orange juice every morn-

But out here in the Arizona desert, the folks are hospitable, at times disagreeably so. Sunday, we weren't really complaining about the three-milesper-hour wind gusts and 77-degree heat that made a guy feel like he was suffocating.

When Milwaukee's Brewers and Chicago took the field at HoHoKams Park Tuesday, in what was to prove the final exhibition of the Cactus League season, the wind whipped out of the north and kicked up sand enough to turn the Superstitions. down the right field line some 40 miles away into a ghostly ap-

Before the day was over, a Permian Basin style sandstorm blew in from the opposite direction, cutting visibility to the outfield fences, dropping the mercury 30 degrees and causing rain. It was enough to make a West Texan feel right at home...although they needn't have bothered.

THE WIND-SANDSTORM not only blew away the game, but the remainder of the exhibition season with the accompanying news that the players had decided to sacrifice the rest of the Cactus league schedule to show the owners they mean business.

The players will open the season, as scheduled, next week, but it means the players are on their own until then, and since baseball is their livelihood, they just can't afford to take a week off: The Chicago Cubs management has ordered the players to clean out their lockers and have locked-up HoHoKams as a training sight. As a result, relief pitcher Bruce Sutter was trying to line up Arizona State University facilities in nearby Tempe for workouts and batting prac-

The minor league Cubs, meanwhile, will continue training as usual. Chicago made another major league roster cut Tuesday, and the only rookie to stay on the varsity was Carlos Lezcano, who hit .326 for Midland last year, and was No. 2 RBI man this spring with 10. Mike Vail, batting .431, led the club with 15 RBI.

Among those sent to Wichita were infielders Steve Davis and Steve Macko, catcher Mike Gor-

ALSO OPTIONED was outfielder-first baseman Karl Pagel, last year's minor league player of the year who discovered a .375 spring average, third best on the club, wasn't good

The rap against the University of Texas, Midland Cub-ex is that he didn't have a defensive position he could call his own. Because of his high strikeout ratio, the Cubs believe he must play regularly to be effective.

"He has no position," says Manager Preston Gomez. "I told him his best spot would be first base, but he has to learn the position...and make himself a better defensive player." Gomez feels it would be easier for Pagel, .316, 39 homers and 123 RBI at Wichita last year, to come to the majors as a regular rather than as a part-timer.

Karl, of course, is disappointed, and says, "They really haven't said anything about a trade. I'd just as soon make it here. I still like this organiza-

Dave Kingman, a columnist for the Chicago Tribune, provided most of the final game fireworks. The National League's home run king attempted to douse a couple of writers with a bucket of water in the dugout, citing a rule that media reps are not supposed to be in the dugout 20 minutes prior to a game. The media countered that as a columnist, King shouldn't be there

Later, in the press box, word came up that Kingman had called a post-game news conference, creating panic in the press corps. "What's he want to do, throw more water at us," snorted one scribe. Another guessed: "He needs a column and none of the players will talk to him." A Chicago-area announcer confided to a West Texan that he knew it was about his radiocasts. "Somebody must have told him that I never use his name. I just refer to the 'leftfielder.' Hell, if a guy can't even say a

Baseball negotiations continue today

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

It's back to Square One for most of the striking members of the Major League Baseball Players' Association taking batting and fielding practice and possibly playing some intrasquad games just like the pre-exhibition days of spring training.

And it's on to Round Two for negotiators Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, and Ray Grebey, chief bargainer for the clubowners, who were scheduled to hold their second session with federal mediator Kenneth E. Moffett today in New York.

Having decided to cancel the last" week of exhibiton games but open the season as scheduled next Wednesday and give the two sides until the Memorial Day weekend to reach a settlement, the players branched out from coast to coast, with those not involved in official or informal workouts promising to stay in shape on their own. Only two teams - the Montreal Expos and San Diego Padres - did not hold some sort of practice Wednesday. The Expos refused to work out under their coaches' supervision while the Padres voted to return to San Diego.

SOME PLAYERS were combining workouts with a chance for a rare April vacation.

After taking batting practice and doing his running, Boston star Carl Yastrzemski said he would work out today and Friday and then spend the

"I'll be back Monday and be ready to accompany the team to Milwaukee for the season opener," he said. For others, like Jack Brohamer of the Red Sox, a week without exhibitions won't make much difference.

"I'm going to sit on the bench, as usual," quipped the reserve infielder. 'That's how I stay in shape during the season."

With millions of dollars at stake in the ongoing negotiations, some petty differences crept into the picture, with the owners refusing to pay room and board — a contract requires a player to participate in exhibition games - which brought gripes from some players, who will have to shell out several hundred dollars to stay in

'Because we're going to work out, I think we should be reimbursed, but we won't be," said Baltimore's Mark

AND MINNESOTA'S Mike Marshall, the Twins' player representative, said he would return home "if my expenses aren't paid."

In addition, the April 1 deadline for the players' modified proposals has passed and they are no longer on the bargaining table. That means, for example, the time period of five years before a player can claim free agency reverts back to the initial proposal of four years and the minimum salary demand goes from a reduced $37,500 back up to $40,000.

Miller and Grebey also were at odds over the latest developments after the expressed by some players that the Players' Association's executive clear majority supported an opening

Easter weekend at his Florida home. board decided on Tuesday to call off the remaining 92 exhibition games and set a strike deadline of May 22.

Grebey criticized the Players' Association for not officially notifying the owners of the exhibition strike. "In all my years in this business, that's never happened before," he

Miller, meanwhile, rapped the owners' refusal to pay the players' expenses during the mini-strike.

"First, those expenses will be a part of any settlement," he said. Second, I'm perpetually astonished that businessmen can be so small. For a couple of hundred dollars they're taking the risk of alienating the players and making any settlement that much more difficult. It's lunacy ... unless they're trying to provoke a strike. In that case, it's very smart. They'll succeed."

THE PLAYERS' decision will cost the owners money from the final exhibitions - the scrapped three-game Freeway Series between the California Angels and Los Angeles Dodgers has been extremely lucrative - while the May 22 strike deadline was chosen because attendance generally begins picking up around Memorial Day. Also, the players will get paid on April 15, May 1 and May 15.

In Daytona Beach, Fla., about half of the Montreal Expos decided to return to their homes. The coaches were ready to supervise a workout but the remaining players said they would practice only if the coaches left, according to team publicist Richard Griffin. The coaches did not leave and there was no workout.

The Padres, meanwhile, voted to return to San Diego. A spokesman said they would look for a place to hold unsupervised workouts. In place of the Freeway Series, the Angels' players lined up California State University at Fullerton while the Dodgers will work out at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. The Dodgers voted to play a squad game with the Angels but the California club said no.

The Cleveland Indians said that players who work out daily will receive travel expenses to the club's opener in Anaheim, Calif., but any player missing a workout will have to pay his own way. Manager Dave Garcia said the workouts would be similar to those before the exhibition games started with batting practice and drills on fundamentals.

Houston's superb defense shackles Spurs in playoffs

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

The home teams took advantage of their home-court advantage as the National Basketball Association playoffs got under way, and they did it largely with defense. 'We had to win this first one because it's the key in a short series," said forward Caldwell Jones, who had 18 points and 26 rebounds as the Philadelphia 76ers turned off Washington's power game and beat the Bullets 111-96 Wednesday night in the opener of their best-of-three mini-se-onight was the most important added Jones. "Hopefully we'll get one more important one Friday night."

All three other home teams also won Wednesday night and can wrap up their first-round series on Friday

The best defense of the four opening games was played by the Houston Rockets, who held San Antonio, the league's highest scoring team, 34 points below its average and beat the Spurs 95-85.

"We decided to defend the fort," Houston Coach Del Harris said after his club circled its wagons to stop the run-and-gun Spurs in the third period. San Antonio went 5:41 without a point and was outscored 24-11 in the quarter as Houston overcame a 51-42 halftime

"Our guys dug in and fought in the third quarter and it paid off," added

George Gervin, the three-time NBA scoring champion, was held to 19 points - 14 below his average by Houston guard Tom Henderson. Gervin was asked if the Rockets had ever played better defense. "Not since they've been on this earth," he said dryly.

In the Western Conference, the Phoenix Suns beat the Kansas City Kings 96-93 in what Suns Coach John MacLeod called "typical of every game we play against the Kings, a tough defensive battle all the way."

When Flames need victory they love playing Rangers

By The Associated Press

"We've been struggling the last couple of games," said Atlanta Coach Al MacNell.

There's only one remedy for that: play the New York Rangers.

All the Flames have to do to beat the Rangers these days, it seems, is drop the puck on ice. Wednesday night, it was a 7-3 victory over their favorite "cousins."

"I don't know why we beat them so often," said Atlanta's Kent Nilsson. "We're both the same kind of teams. We're both skating clubs. Maybe it has something to do with confi-

Tradition certainly has been on the Flames' side in recent years, when they've commanded each season series. This season they hold a 3-0-1 mark over the Rangers

There hasn't been anything magical about it, though, according to Ranger Coach Fred Shero.

"Without second effort you don't win too many games," he said: "If you don't get the rebounds, you don't win, either. If you don't get the rebounds, you don't WANT to win. And Atlanta was very strong along the boards ... they were working.'

The victory, only Atlanta's second in its last seven games, reduced the margin between the eighth-place Rangers and ninth-place Flames to two points in the NHL's overall standings. Each has two games left in the regular season. The first eight teams goal of the season with 36 seconds left will have the home-ice advantage in in the second period, firing a slapshot the upcoming playoffs.

Canadiens 7, Red Wings 2
Guy Lafleur and Mark Napier each scored a pair of goals to lead Montreal past Detroit in a game that all but eliminated the Red Wings from the NHL playoffs.

Lafleur, who reached the 50-goal plateau for the sixth straight year, ignited a four-goal barrage in the second period that gave Montreal a commanding 5-2 lead.

The Red Wings, 2-8-2 in their last 11 games, went into the contest three points behind Edmonton, Vancouver and Washington, which were tied for the last two playoff spots.

Bruins 5, Maple Leafs 2

Peter McNab scored twice to reach 200 goals for his career, leading Boston over Toronto. The Bruins won for the fifth straight time since Harry Sinden took over as head coach.

Boston goaltender Gerry Cheevers appeared headed for his fifth shutout of the season and third against the Leafs until Ian Turnbull found the range with exactly one minute left in the game.

Penguins 6, Whalers 4

Mark Johnson and Gregg Sheppard each scored a goal in the final moments of the second period to help Pittsburgh beat Hartford. Johnson, who played with the U.S. Olympic gold medalist team, scored his third past Hartford goalie John Garrett.

Sheppard added a goal 18 seconds later to give the Penguins a 5-2 lead and their eventual winning goal.

Jets 5, Black Hawks 2

U.S. Olympic star Dave Christian scored his seventh goal since turning professional and assisted on three others as Winnipeg beat Chicago. Christian assisted on two goals by Morris Lukowich as the Jets, holders of the NHL's worst record, picked up their seventh road triumph of the season.

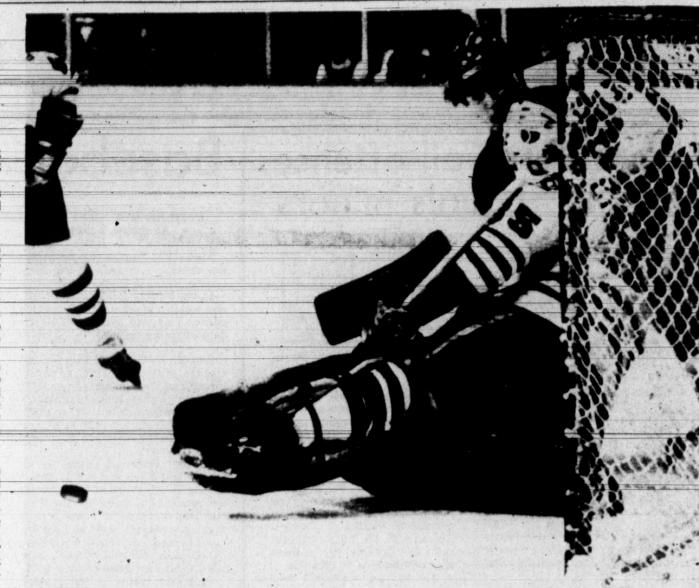

Christian, appearing in only his 13th game as a pro, scored one of two Winnipeg goals in the first period and the Jets scored two more goals in the second period as they gained only their 19th victory against 48 losses and 11 ties.

North Stars 1, Ollers 1

Wayne Gretzky's stab at a puck in mid-air in the second period deflected it past Minnesota netminder Gary Edwards for his 50th goal of the season, giving Edmonton a tie with the North Stars.

Gretzky connected on left-winger Dave Hunter's 40-foot drive two feet off the ice and his deflection handcuffed Edwards completely

USAC-CART dispute may be ending

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) - It appears that the tis as saying. "On Monday of this week, USAC's differences between the United States Auto Club and board of directors voted in favor of the latest peace worked out.

As a result, USAC and CART may be involved in the same race for the first time in 18 months, except for last year's Indianapolis 500, in the Datsun Twin 200 at Ontario Motor Speedway on April 13. A statement from the speedway said that the feud

Lake Powell is America's second largest man-made water playground, and almost certainly, it is the most beautiful.

In 1980, there will be something new at each of the lake's four marinas - Bullfrog, Hall's Crossing, Hite in southern Utah and Wahweap in

They accomadate a trend of a sharp increase in tour groups and foreign vistors, which began in 1979. Wahweap has added a fourth daily cruise to Rainbow Bridge National Monument, leaving at 11 a.m.

Visits to the world's tallest stone arch increased in 1979 despite a downturn in state and national park attendance. Nearly half of the 54,558 people, who took the 1979 Wahweap boat tours, saw Rainbow Bridge, a round trip of almost 100 miles.

Del Webb Recreational Properties, which operates Lake Powell's resorts and marinas, is planning a 100-room addition to Wahweap Lodge. The facility, six miles north of Page, Ariz., offers lodging, RV spaces and boat tours with a fleet of 78 rental houseboats and 65 powerboats.

Because Lake Powell is visited by people from every state, we have installed a nationwide toll-free reservations and information number -800-528-6154," said Al Early, general manager of the four marinas.

Boating and fishing are the major activities at the mid and upper lake marinas, which serve mainly residents of Utah, Colorado, California

Hall's Crossing is getting the biggest face lift with a larger marina store, larger fuel docks and additional houseboats. A new 75-space trailer and camper park will include a store, a laundry and showers. Fenced dry boat storage capacity is being expanded to 700 boats.

Five miles across the lake at Bullfrog Resort & Marinas, 14 and 16-foot Hobie Cat sailboat rentals will be available for the first time. Also at Bullfrog, dry boat storage is being expanded to 1,000 boats and the houseboat fleet is being refurbished.

The combined rental fleet at Bullfrog and Hall's Crossing includes 140 houseboats and 95 sailboats and powerboats.

On upper Lake Powell, just off Utah Highway 95, Hite Marina for the first time will offer mobile home housekeeping units. The National Park Service will install a paved road into the marina, and hopes to begin paving a launch ramp this year.

All Lake Powell resorts and marinas are open year round at 3,700 feet in a 78 percent sunshine belt. "Contrary to popular opinion, winter cruising on Lake Powell does not mean having to fight off winter weather," says Scott Bryan of the National Park Service. "Most days are mild. Temperatures in the 50s are common. A cruise to Rainbow Bridge is one good way to spend a winter's day.'

To promote off-season business, Nov. 1 to Apr. 1, Webb offers discounts on boat tours, rooms and boat rentals, ranging up to 50 percent. Discounts are offered year round to groups

At present, the Page airport is served by charters as well as scheduled daily airline service from Phoenix, Salt Lake City and Las Lake Powell is nationally known for crappie and largemouth bass fishing and the nation's three largest bass fishing organizations have conducted tournaments there. Rapid growth of striped bass is now creating excitement among fishermen.

Trainer also said that Leonard, who made a successful defense of his welterweight title against Britain's Davey Boy" Green Monday night, may also be matched with heavier fighters, such as junior middleweights.

"I had him fighting every six weeks the last two years," said Trainer. "He was sharp and ready to go. The four month layoff was too long." The Green bout was the 23-year-old Leonard's first since winning the World Boxing Council's welterweight title from Wilfred Benitez last Nov. 30. Trainer said a May fight with Cuevas, who holds the World Boxing Association welterweight title, "is a very real possibility. But what you like and what you get is two different things." He said Montreal, where Leonard won a gold medal in the 1976 Olympics, Hartford, Conn., or Las Vegas were prime cities for staging the bout, but, he added, he also would like to see Leonard fight either Cuevas or Duran in the Southwest, where there is a large Latin American population.

"It may be Dallas or Houston, some place that has a large Latin community," Trainer said. Those cities would be close enough to Mexico and California."

Trainer said he still would like to sign to meet Duran but "Leonard can't wait. He's a fighter and can't sit still. He has to make a living."

"Duran is a terrific fight from the public's point of view. The problem is, unfortunately, we can't make the fight with Duran. (Promoter) Don

Dear Dr. Solomon: I can understand the care with which physicians prescribe painkillers when the drugs are addictive. My question is: Aren't there any nonaddictive painkillers available to them? - Sid

Dear Sid: Scientists have been looking for an addiction-proof painkiller for 50 years, and their efforts may soon bear fruit. A promising new drug, which they hope will prove to be as strong as morphine but no more addictive than aspirin, is awaiting approval by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Its chemical name is zomepirac sodium, and it has been tested on more than 3,200 patients by about 200 physicians throughout the United

One study showed zomepirac to be superior to codeine in the ability to relieve pain following surgery; a second study demonstrated that the new drug is more effective than morphine in relieving pain from surgery and cancer; and a third study showed it is not addictive.

Dr. William H. Forrest, an anesthesiologist at Stanford University, reports administering either zomepirae or morphine to more than a hundred patients who had had abdominal, joint, or bone surgery. In a separate study, each patient was given a placebo in addition to the zomepirac or morphine. According to Dr. Forrest, the doses of zomepirac were more effective in relieving pain than either dose of morphine. The side effects from the two drugs were similar, and included drowsiness, dry mouth, nausea, disorientation, and euphoria.

Despite its strength, zomepirac does not appear to be addictive. A total of 166 patients with osteoarthritis took the drug for 12 months without becoming dependent on it.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I realize that a cure for cancer has not yet been discovered, but I wonder if we have made any inroads at all on the disease. It is my impression that cancer is a greater threat to life than ever. Is this so? - Ms. G.S.

Dear Ms. S.: It is true that the number of deaths from cancer in the United States has increased over the past 50 years. However, the percentage of older people in the United States also has increased during this same period, and the adjusted rate for the occurrence of cancer (taking into consideration our aging population) has not changed much.

There are some exceptions to this. Reported deaths from leukemia and related cancers of the blood and lymphatic systems have been increasing during the last 30 years. And lung cancer, which was a relatively rare occurrence 40 years ago, is now the main cause of death from cancer in men.

On the other hand, some forms of cancer have shown a marked decline. Deaths from cancer of the stomach in both men and women have been cut in half during the past 30 years; and deaths from cancer of the cervix also have decreased due, in the part, to detection of such cases at an earlier, more treatable stage of the disease through use of the Pap smear technique.

Carter, aides get cabin fever

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's staypolicy this campaign year has given White House aides — and perhaps the president himself incipient cabin fever.

After Carter lost primary elections in New York and Connecticut - but before Carter victories Tuesday in Wisconsin and Kansas — White House press secretary Jody Powell was asked several times whether the president would hit the campaign trail. Officially, the answer was: Don't expect it.

But Powell himself looked wistful, and he said he' been trying to think of a way it could be accomplished. Perhaps, he sugggested, Carter could take another trip down the Mississippi River — this time to herald his anti-inflation policies.

Speaking of the president's loss in the New York primary, Powell was asked what Carter had to say about his unaccustomed defeat. "He said he thought he knew where he could find another $300 million in budget cuts," Powell joked.

In general, the Carter campaign seemed a bit preoccupied with how it looked in defeat.

'When you lose, lose with grace," campaign chairman Robert Strauss told Carter supporters.

Then, less than 24 hours later, Powell told reporters there's a difference between being a good loser and being a graceful loser. "One you aspire to and the other you don't."

Carter said his New York loss to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was a learning experience.

"When I first came to Washington three years ago," Carter said, "a good friend of mine, a man whom I admire very much, came up to see me and said, 'Mr. President, I know that you are new in your office, and I want to give you some advice about foreign affairs.

"You've just selected Andy Young to represent you in shaping international policy. And let me tell you from the bottom of my heart that I know from experience, having been in Washington for many years, that nobody pays any attention to what hap-pens at the United Nations."

The good friend who gave him that advice, Carter said, was a senator from Massachusetts. Without quite saying so, Carter sugggested it was the same senator from Massachusetts who three years later made the administration's foul-up over an anti-Israel vote in the U.N. Security Council the central issue of the New York primary campaign.

Press secretary Powell, who has used his daily White House briefings to take occasional potshots at Kennedy, has shifted his sights somewhat to take in Republican Ronald Reagan, now the odds-on favorite to face the Democratic nominee in the general election campaign.

"As for Mr. Reagan," Powell said last week when asked to comment on some criticism the Republican candidate had made of Carter, "President Truman once said something about it being easier to make speeches than to make decisions. I'm sure he had the prospective candidacy of Ronald Reagan in mind when he made that comment." asked to comment on some criticism the Republican

"Prospective?" asked a reporter.

"Yep," drawled Powell, "He wasn't a candi well, I'm not sure, he might have been a candidate

MHS CHATTER Prom to climax school activities

By AMY DAVENPORT, TRACY BEEBE ANGELA TOMPKINS and BECKY WILSON

As the 1980 edition of the Bulldog school year approaches completion, volumes of activities are con-stantly being added to Midland High's Library of Memories.

Last week's "chapter" was filled with drama tragedy and history. Our Drama Department took "The Private Lives of the Master Race" to Abilene for the District UIL Drama Contest. Our Bulldogs brought home a first in one-act play competition, which enables them to head for State. The main characters: Kyle Raybourn, Linda Trolinder and Scott Morris. Congratulations to Mr. Buchanan and his stars.

"Bulldogs with a Cause" are the MHS girls golf team. They won first at the Amarillo Relays golf tournament Friday. Ann Coomes took away medalist honors. The girls were to travel to their last district tournament today in San Angelo and are ahead by three strokes. Good luck to all the team.

"Turning the Page" to more victories with the boys track team: Last weekend the Tracksters raced around the San Angelo track in a district meet. Cinder-stomping Bulldogs who captured gold medals were David Simmons in the discus (he set two meet records at the Hobbs Invitational), Bruce Fisher, Jerry Zachery, Jay Motter, Billy Taylor and James Lary. Way to go, guys.

THE "CLIMAX" HAPPENS Saturday, April 19. from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The Junior-Senior Prom is being held in the Midland YC, and the admission is FREE. All Juniors and Seniors and their dates are invited to attend; the dress is formal. So everyone come dance the night away since this will be the last big dance of this year. Let's make it great in 1980!

THE TIME IS MAY 1 at 7:30 p.m. The place is the Chaparral Center. The theme is the 1979-80 all-new two-hour production of Up With People. It is the energetic sound of 85 voices backed by the power of a 14-piece band. But there's more than just music. The performers do their own stage work, promotion and day-to-day logistics, and still have time to meet with heads of industry and government and community leaders in an exchange of questions and ideas.

Up With People has been seen in live performaces in all 50 states and 42 countries on six continents as well as on live television around the world. Super Bowl X, the Indy 500, at Carnegie Hall and with symphony orchestras add to the scope and dimension of this group's appearances. Up With People is a nonprofit international educational program with a twofold purpose: to build bridges of understanding and communication among peoples, cultures and countries, and to give young people a learning experience that not only broadens the intellect, but matures the person. Up With People's message is simple: "People are what matters. And that's an idea worth celebrating."

This show is a must to see. All seats are reserved, so hurry and get your tickets before the best seats are gone. Tickets are on sale at both Youth Centers, at the Chaparral Center, at both Music Hauls, the Record Center and Flip-Side Records in Odessa Make plans to attend and bring your friends. You'll be glad you did.

CONGRATULATIONS To Jim Kemper and Jennifer Ramsey for being elected Student Council president and vice president for 1980-81.

That about "raps it up" for this week. Keep your eyes and ears open for more information on upcoming events. Have a great Easter vacation, and we'll see you next week.

Your faithful columnists.

Amy, Tracy, Angela and Becky

POSTSCRIPTS: Good luck to all those trying out for 1980-81 varsity cheerleader. Keep the Bulldog pride going strong Anyone interested in organizing a Fellowship of Christian Students (FCS) contact Jimmy Storrie for more information.

Look out Dallas! Here come the Seniors of 1980. Have a great time, take lots of pictures, drink lots of milk and come home safely. The Up With People program is the yearly fund-raising event for the Midland and Lee Youth Centers. If this is not a success the centers will not have enough funds to operate next year. So everyone buy

A record sit-down crowd of 5,400 country music fans filled Cha-parral Center Friday night to hear a double-header concert by Barbara Mandrell and the Statler Brothers. Miss Mandrell captivated the audience with her friendly, easy manner. Originally from Houston, in 1979 Miss Mandrell won the Country Music Association's "Female Vocalist of the Year" award, was named the "Top Female Vocalist" by the Academy of Country Music and also was the "Top Female Vocalist" in the Music City News Cover

Music has always been a way of life for Barbara Mandrell.

Irby, her father and manager, sings and plays the guitar, Mary, her mother, plays piano and has taught music, her sister Louise now sings professionally and her sister Irlene played drums with Barbara for two years. With this background, it's not surprising that Barbara learned to read music before she could read the English lan-

Now 31, Barbara has been a professional entertainer since she was eleven-years-old. An multi-talented artist, Barbara plays the banjo, steel guitar, axophone, accordian, etc., as well as singing. For her, performing is an obsession.

"I more than like it; it's kind of an obsession - like food or drink, I've got to have it,"Barbara explains, her blue eyes zeroed in on whomever she's speaking with. In fact, in person, Barbara's eyes constantly

"During this tour we had two days off and I flew to LA (Los Angelos) and did five daytime versions of Hollywood Squares and three nighttime versions. Before that a week earlier I taped a cheerleader competition special that's going to be on. Larry Gatlin and I just co-hosted a special for home box office. In the next two months I'm getting ready to do Sha-Na-Na, and we're going to do a Bob Hope Special, and next week I'm doing a Tim Conway Show. I do almost as much traveling for television as I do my road dates. Then there's recordings and the interviews that go with it.

"I'M VERY, VERY BUSY right now, but that's what I wanted. I feel fortunate to be

With a schedule like this, it's not surprising that this petite blonde has to watch her weight. And it's not weight gain that she's concerned about, but loss. "I go till I can't go anymore and then I somehow find time to ney. "Until Christmas (1979), never in the nine years that our son has been with us, have I ever had to be really away from him. But it has been rough since Christmas.

It's a grueling schedule espe cially for a mother and wife. Barbara's four-year-old daughter, Jaime, travels with her while her nine-year-old son, Matthew stays at home in Nashville with his father, Ken Dud-

"YOU WORK AROUND IT and you work with it and you make it somehow be okay.

"There's always a way to arrange and finagle and do, but there's never enough time to do the personal things and the career things I want to do so all I can do is just try to juggle and do the best I can.

Since Matthew traveled with his mother from the time he was six month old until he started school, he is very familiar with her lifestyle.

"I don't think that my kids know that there is any other way of life. I think that they think that our life is very normal." Fortunately Ken is a very good father," Barbara said. Their relationship dates back to his playing drums for the group her father organized, The Mandrells. During part of the 60's, this group, which included Barbara, played United States military bases in Europe and Asia.

Their married life has always involved separations. Ten days after they were wed Ken, a Navy pilot, was sent overseas. After he left the military, he was the private pilot for the last three governors of Tennessee.

But now he devotes his time t doing the bookkeeping, the payroll, the accounting and the investments for their organization, Barbara said.

AS FAR AS COPING WITH the separations, Barbara said, 'Ken does lots better than I do at it. As hard as it is for me to believe this, he's really busier than I am. In fact, there's been many times when I'm home for a day or so and I can manage some free time, that I'll beg him

 Hey, stop what you're doing. Let's just do something. - He finds it very hard to do that. He feels that responsibility too for the things that he has to attend

Ken seldom travels with Barbara on her tours, she said, but "sometimes if I'm doing TV in LA, instead of my father accompanying me, if it's something I've done before and we don't feel there will be a problem where management has to step in then Ken'll go with me. We've done that lots of times.

UPDATED GLASSICS FOR EASTER

The first Easter of the eighties presents the challenge of planning and staging a traditional feast as economically, easily and elegantly as possible.

You can do it by substituting less expensive or simplified versions of classic dishes. In doing so, you'll shave not only dollars but precious minutes from the meal preparation.

Easter dinner should begin, and end, with elegance. For an Easter opening, you may offer Sparkling Orange Drink made wih orange juice and sparking water, club soda or tonic water. Or, if you want to splurge a little, combine the juice with champagne.

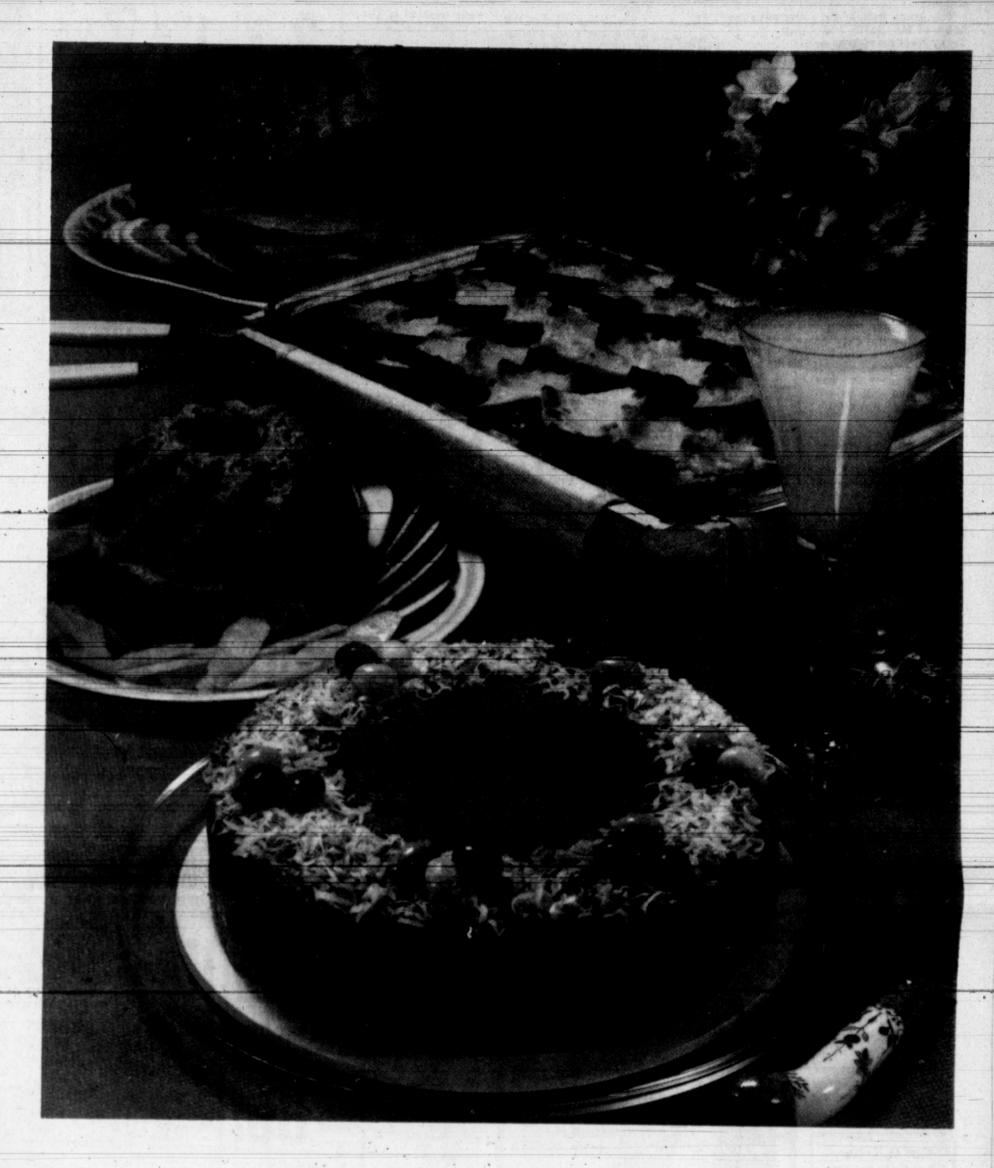

With the beverage, serve an easy-to-make rendition of the beautiful Russian Paskha, a sweet cheese mold. You can make it with supermarket simplicity by mixing farmer's cheese, finely chopped sugar-coated plain chocolate candies, butter or margarine and milk. Then shape it in a small mold or bowl. The four ingredients together form a nutritious delicacy that is a smooth companion to crisp celery, carrot sticks or sliced fresh fruit. Paskha is often imaginatively decorated so garnish it with a few chopped chocolate candies for a touch of color on top if you wish.

To follow the tradition of Easter ham, yet stay within your budget, serve economical Orange-Glazed Picnic Shoulder. Quick and easy orange-mustard glaze is a delicious alternative to pineapple, adding new flavor and color to your holiday feast.

The handsome Cheese and Spinach Strata accompanying the ham is based on a specialty which reputedly originated in New Orleans as a means of using up leftover bread and cheese. This hearty casserole can be easily assembled the night before. Chill, bake and even serve it in the same casserole dish which can go directly from refrigerator to oven.

Yeast breads have always been part of Easter tradition. This one - which requires no kneading - is so easy you'll want to add it to your own favorite recipe collection. Made with hot roll mix and just four other ingredients, this batter bread goes well with butter or your Easter Cheese

The most spectacular part of the menu is the finale. The elegant Double Chocolate Ice Cream Torte looks as if it came from an expensive pastry shop, but is actually made from just a few very homey ingredients. The secret confetti color and crunch of the torte comes from sugar-coated chocolate candies, which are melted wih shortening and formed easily into the fine milk chocolate torte shell. The chocolate shell is filled with softened chocolate ice cream or chocolate frozen yogurt. It's served on a round glass tray that can be used as an elegant serving picee or for microwave cooking as well. Decorate the torte with an Easter motif to finish your dinner with flair.

A tip for Easter gift giving

For a unique centerpiece, or an attractive Easter gift, fill a 5-inch domed Plant Helpers flower pot with sugar-coated peanut chocolate candies which resemble brightly colored miniature Easter eggs. Later, fill the glass pot with a plant.

Sparkling Orange Juice

Orange juice, chilled

Sparkling water, club soda, tonic water, or champagne, chilled

Aromatic bitters, if desired

Combine equal parts orange juice and sparkling water. Add a few drops of bitters. Stir; pour into glasses.

Easter Cheese Spread Mold

2 pkgs. (8 oz. each) Farmers cheese 3/4 cup finely chopped sugar-coated plain chocolate

1/3 cup butter or margarine, softened 1/2 cup milk

Combine all ingredients; beat at medium-high speed on electric mixer until well blended. Place in generously oiled 1-qt. mold or bowl; chill at least 2 hours or overnight. Unmold onto plate. Serve as a spread with celery, carrots, apples, or with warm Easter Bread, as desired. Makes about 3 cups.

Variation: Substitute 2 cups dry curd cottage cheese for Farmers cheese and reduce milk to 2 tablespoons.

Orange Glazed Picnic Shoulder

5 to 7 lb. smoked pork picnic shoulder Whole cloves

1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar

1/4 cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed 1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Place meat, fat side up, on rack in open roaster (12 1/4 x 8 5/8 x 2 1/4 inch). Insert meat thermometer into center of thickest part of meat, being sure that point doesn't touch bone. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until internal temperature reaches 130 degrees F. to 140 F. Approximately 40 minutes before cooking time is completed, remove meat from oven. With a sharp knife, remove skin from meat, leaving a collar of skin at bone. Score fat into diamond pattern; insert cloves. For glaze, spoon combined sugar, juice concentrate, and prepared mustard over ham several times during last 35 or 40 minutes of cooking. To serve, transfer to platter, garnish with curly endive or chicory and orange slices. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Cheese and Spinach Strata

1 pkg. (10 oz.) sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded 2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen chopped spinach, thawed, squeezed dry.

2/3 cup chopped onion

18 thin sliced firm-type white bread slices (about one

1-lb. loaf) 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened

4 eggs 4 cups milk

1 tablespoon prepared mustard

2 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper

Toss together 2 cups cheese, spinach, and onion. Spread bread slices lightly on both sides with butter; place 6 bread slices onto bottom of greased oblong bakind dish (13 x 9,x 1 3/4 inch). Top bread slices evenly with 1/2 cheese mixture, 6 bread slices, and remaining 1/2 cheese mixture. Cut remaining 6 bread slices diagonally into quarters; top casserole with overlapping bread triangles and remaining shredded cheese. Beat together eggs, milk, mustard, and seasonings; pour carefully over casserole. Cover; refrigerate at least 1 hour or overnight. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 60 to 65 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Let stand about 15 minutes. Place in a server and cut into squares. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Easter Bread

(not shown)

1 pkg. (13 3/4 oz.) hot roll mix

1/3 cup warm water 1/3 cup sugar

1/4 cup butter of margarine, melted

4 eggs, slightly beaten

Dissolve yeast (included in mix) in water; stir in sugar, butter, and eggs. Add mix, mixing until well blended. Spoon batter into greased 1 1/2 qt. round casserole dish or 2-qt. souffle dish. Let rise, uncovered, in warm place about 1 hour and 10 minutes or until double in size. Bake at 325 F. about 35-40 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 5 minutes; loosen edge with knife and turn out of casserole. Serve warm; spread with Easter Cheese Spread Mold, or butter or margarine, if desired. Makes 1

Double Chocolate

Ice Cream Torte

1 pkg. (15 oz.) plain sugar-coated chocolate candies 1/4 cup vegetable shortening

3 pt. chocolate ice cream, or chocolate frozen yogurt, softened

toasted coconut, if desired

Sugar-coated peanut chocolate candies, if desired

Line bottom and sides (2 inches high) of 1 1/2 qt. round cake dish or 9-inch springform pan with heavy aluminum foil. Melt together plain candies and shortening in 2 or 3 qt. easserole dish or heavy saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly with wooden spoon and pressing candies with back of spoon to break up. (Chocolate will be melted and small pieces of color coating will remain in mixture.) Spoon onto bottom of pan, spreading thick ridge of chocolate mixture around edge of pan wih back of spoon. Chill in refrigerator 15 minutes. Remove from refrigerator; spread the slightly chilled and thickened ridge of chocolate up onto sides of pan about 1 1/2 inches high with metal spatula, creating chocolate shell. Freeze at least 20 minutes or until firm. Fill with ice cream; freeze 3 to 4 hours or until firm. To serve, remove from freezer. Remove torte from pan using foil rim to lift out. Peel off foil; place on 12-inch tray or other flat serving plate. Garnish with toasted coconut and peanut chocolate candies, as desired. Makes one 8 to 9 inch torte.

Viewers saw film clips of the volcano Mount St. Helens in Washington, and President Carter and Gov. Edward J. King were heard speaking of their concern

At the end of the newscast Tuesday, reporter Jan Harrison held up a sign reading "April Fool." Some viewers didn't see the sign, and police said their switchboard was swamped with calls from frightened residents.

Jack Fitzgerald, the station's assistant news director, said the report was meant to be funny, but, "looking back, I would say it was a mistake .. to air the piece." Henning apologized on the 11 p.m newscast.

Those are some examples of the hundreds of questions that have been pouring into Common Market headquarters here from inquisitive members of the Europe an Parliament, its elected representative boby. The flood of written queries began last July when the first directly elected Parliament took office, began to familiarize itself with complex community, problems and make proposals to solve them.

Now the executive, the Common Market Commission - says the questions themselves are creating a problem: draining officials of their time and costing huge sums of money.

It cost $1.2 million in staff hours to research answers to the 1,002 written questions submitted by parliamentarians in the last six months of 1979, a recent commission report said

The cost includes $10 000 to print the questions and answers in the community's official journal in the Common Market languages, French, Danish, Italian, German, Dutch and English. The report implied the commission would rather spend its time making policy than answering questions about it.

Written questions are a useful way for parliamentarians to extract facts and figures or to divine community policy," the report said. "However, the brunt of this duty falls on the commission because it is the repository of most community inflation and because of its honest-broker role of acting purely in the community, as opposed to national inter-

Parliament has 410 delegates from the nine Common Market countries. It can't pass laws, but has veto power over the $20 billion annual community budget and can fire the commission, the way the U.S. Congress can impeach a president. Its main function is to relay to the commission and the member governments the concerns, hopes and fears of the 280 million community residents.

So the questions often are designed to spur the executive to take action, rather than just inform.

For example, British parliamntarian Lady Elles asked how many government forms community businessmen have to fill out each year to satisfy bureaucratic rules. The tone of her question was that whatever number the commission supplied, it would be too many. The commission answered it didn't know.

Sometimes the questions are 10 times longer than the answers. Dutch delegate H.J. Muntingh asked in detailed technical terms what steps the commission was taking to protect oil rigs in the North Sea from earthquakes. The commission answered in three sen-

Inflation, crunch portend hard times

By EDD TODD Reporter-Telegram Staff

Inflation and the energy crunch, which demands innovation ways to generate new energy forms, have hit Americans at about the same time and portends hard and costly times.

"Unfortunately, when you get in inflation, getting out of it is going to be painful," noted Randall Meyer, president of Exxon Co. U.S.A., in Midland on Thursday.

Meyer, head of the world's largest energy-producing company, and six of the Houston-based company's vice presidents were honored by the Midland Wildcat Committee in the Petroleum Club of Midland. And he noted that the nation is not running out of energy; it's just costing more and the budget and not increase taxes," Exxon's chief executive said.

Meyer admitted that the law of supply and demand put the inflationary factor into energy, particularly petroleum, and those prices rose and are still rising. But increasing energy costs is not the cause of inflation; it was just a byproduct, Meyer noted

Meyer said that in the "long pull" a relative shortage of fuel is "going to be a inflationary factor" but it's not the major factor "It's unfortunate that some people perceive energy as causing inflation," Meyer said. "Obviously, prices are going up, and people don't like the prices they're paying, but really they're necessary.

In turning to future energy needs, Meyer said that U.S. Congress' decontrol of crude oil was a "wise step" in giving oil companies incentives to explore for and to produce additional oil and gas from reserves which heretofore were virtually prohibitied from being tapped due to the high cost of finding and producing petroleum.

The windfall profits tax, just recently embedded in the taxing system, is history. And the tax somewhat may have crippled the industry's money power to explore for more oil

Fuel consumption peak in 1978, but, due to rising costs and to the conservation consciousness of the American peopele, fuel use has decreased since then.

"There is no 'quick-fix' solution" the energy problem." There is not any low-cost solution," he said. "We're not running out of energy, he said. "We're running out of lowcost energy, and you're going to have to pay a lot more.

Currently, Exxon is into research to supply energy needs into the 21th Century via solar energy, nuclear power, converting coal and shale into "synthetic" fuels.

Meanwhile, petroleum is the main stay of energy, such as that needed for transportation, in homes and in industry. And, to produce more oil and gas, the petroleum industry must gain access to lands heretofore off limits to exploration. Such land includes federal land, such as wildlife

New prime rate spreads through banking industry

NEW YORK (AP) — The 20-percent prime rate spread through the banking industry today, as large banks that had held back on Wednesday matched the record rate that some bankers hope will persuade businesses to cut back on borrowing. Citibank, the nation's second-largest bank, and No.

Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. joined in the increase that was begun by No. 6 Chemical Bank just one day after a 19% percent rate was set at Chase Manhattan Bank. Bank of America, the nation's largest, matched the 20 percent rate on Wednes-

The rate, which applies on loans to the most credit-worthy corporate customers, was 19 percent

The prime, which stood at 15% percent in mid-February, has been climbing sharply since the Federal Reserve Board imposed new credit controls on

The Federal Reserve wants banks to hold down the growth of lending this year to a range of 6 percent to percent. Some banks fear that may be difficult, since many corporations have standby credit agreements assuring they will be able to borrow money if needed. It is hoped high interest rates will persuade some of those customers not to borrow.

Thomas Johnson, Chemical's executive vice president, said his bank believes the new, higher rate is consistent with the government's anti-inflation pro-

"The rise in the prime reflects the cost of bank funding in the open marketplace as well as strong seasonal loan demand," Johnson said from the bank's New York headquarters.

The Fed has sought to make lending more expensive for borrowers as well as lenders in hopes of curbing inflation by slowing the growth of borrowing
