Lubbock hostages freed

Gunman demands his back pay

LUBBOCK (AP) — Two combat-trained Marines held hostage at a recruiting office by an armed man said they didn't take their captor seriously until he began firing shots.

The man, reportedly an ex-Marine, entered the U.S. Armed Forces Recruiting Office Monday afternoon and took four Marines captive, demanding $1,200 in back pay, police said.

After a 2-hour standoff with Lubbock police SWAT team members, the man was surprised and subdued by police. No one was injured.

David M. Vance, 32, of nearby Levelland, was charged with two counts of aggravated kidnapping late Monday. State District Judge Wayne LeCroy set bond at $250,000 on each count.

Vance remained jailed in Lubbock today. Staff Sgt. Adrian Swafford and Master Sgt. Peter Delandero, who remained behind, said they thought the gunman was "a nut" until two shots were fired. The man then ordered them to barricade a front picture window with a desk, chairs and a couch, they said.

"After he started making us barricade the place, we realized he meant business," said Swafford, a veteran of Vietnam.

One of the soldiers, Gunnery Sgt. Tom Chagnon, fled to safety at the beginning of the siege, but three others remained. Staff Sgt. Robert Rameriz was later released because his wife is pregnant, police said.

"He (the gunman) couldn't have picked two worse hostages — both Marines with combat experience," Chagnon said.

During their ordeal, Swafford said he was seated on the floor, the gunman holding his collar and pointing a 22-caliber rifle at his head.

Swafford said he shifted his position "to try to strike the gunman in the groin," but Delandero shook his head "No" when the rifle's safety was clicked off.

Officers said the man secluded himself in a small office in the northeast corner of the building, located in a shopping center, after taking the hostages. He would emerge occasionally and point the rifle in the hallway, they said.

Opponents fighting 10-cent gasoline fee which starts Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail gasoline prices may go up 10 cents a gallon Thursday — unless a federal judge rules against President Carter's plan.

U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. was considering a suit that claimed the gas fee is unconstitutional. The losing side is expected to appeal his ruling, which he promised by the end of today.

Carter announced the fee as a gas conservation measure, saying the higher prices would force drivers to use less gas and thus help cut U.S. imports, which now are 7.3 million barrels of crude oil daily. The fee is due to take effect Thursday.

But a coalition of congressmen, consumer groups and petroleum marketers filed suit, contending that the fee is actually a tax and thus Carter is unconstitutionally usurping the power of the House of Representatives to initiate tax measures.

While the tax was still awaiting the court ruling, the chairman of a House Ways and Means subcommittee today proclaimed the levy "dead."

Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, chairman of the trade subcommittee, put off until Wednesday a vote on legislation to block the fee, heeding a last-minute request by Treasury Secretary G. William Miller to testify.

But, Vanik told reporters, "I think the oil import fee is dead. We're just arguing about how to bury it."

Opposition to the fee was building rapidly in Congress. On Monday, the Senate voted overwhelming symbolic support for efforts to block it.

And Rep. James M. Shannon, D-Mass., the author of the House bill to block the fee, said some 130 House members have joined as co-sponsors.

The trade subcommittee was expected to give its approval to the Shannon bill today, but Vanik said that Miller wanted one last chance to testify.

He said the subcommittee would hear Miller on Wednesday, then immediately vote on the measure. The full Ways and Means Committee is scheduled to take it up on Thursday.

Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., an administration ally on the panel, blasted the stop-the-fee move as "stupid, childish and irresponsible."

And it also appeared doubtful that a two-thirds vote could be mustered to override a likely presidential veto should the blocking legislation be passed.

Lawyers for the group filing the suit also argued that the fee may not reduce oil imports and could be passed on to home heating oil and diesel fuel customers instead of just automobile drivers.

The Energy Department's general counsel, Lynn R. Coleman, told Robinson, "The argument that this fee is a tax is clearly incorrect. It's an import fee ... to reduce consumption of gasoline and hence to reduce imports. The fact that there is revenue raised doesn't mean it's a tax."

Administration officials said the fee would raise $10 billion a year. Coalition attorney Edward G. Modell said he is not challenging the amount of revenue, "although it is enormous," but is solely contesting the purpose of the fee.

Modell said the procedure for imposing the charge would give importers no incentive to reduce the amount of oil imported.

Carter's plan calls for importers to initially pay the fee to the government, and then be reimbursed by companies that refine crude oil into gasoline. The refiners would be permitted to pass the increase on to retailers who would raise pump prices.

Coleman argued that if refiners try to place the fee on decontrolled products such as heating oil, customers may balk because price competition would prevent them from passing the fee along.

Modell countered, "There's no guarantee the full burden ... will fall on gasoline as intended. The only way to ensure that is to apply price controls" to all petroleum products.

In Congress, the House Commerce Committee has already approved its own version of legislation to block the fee. And a floor vote in the House to roll it back seems likely by early summer.

On Monday, a House subcommittee investigating the fee won its battle with the administration for internal documents regarding the levy.

The administration delivered the documents to the House Government Operations Committee subcommittee on energy. Earlier this month, the panel recommended that Energy Secretary Charles Duncan be cited for contempt of Congress for failing to turn over the material.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Anthony Toby Moffett, D-Conn., said the documents include internal memos from Energy Department professionals challenging the workability and the legality of the fee.

Drug round-up nets 12 arrests

By KAY HORD-CRITES
Staff Writer

"Hey man, they bust you too?"

"Not exactly, man. I'm the heat."

"Son of a ..."

Confused, groggy and startled at being rousted out of bed at 5:45 to 6 a.m., 12 Midlanders, as of 9 a.m. today, had been arrested for selling drugs to an undercover officer.

Many of them seemed slightly confused at the legal label for their charge, until an arresting officer explained "you sold to an undercover narc." Then it became clear. After that the question was "who was it?" They soon found out, as the undercover officer was either out helping with the arrests or at the booking desk at the Police Department.

One of those arrested had a .38-caliber derringer in his boot. This morning's early round-up by four teams of Midland police officers began the last stage of a three-month drug investigation.

When completed, the round-up will involve approximately 18 people in connection with 23 to 25 cases of delivery of drugs.

The investigation began in February with a single undercover officer assigned to the narcotics department of the Midland Police Department. According to Police Chief Wayne Gideon, the undercover officer was an experienced policeman who is generally unknown — even to other officers.

He began the investigation with information gleaned from people in local bars and lounges and from areas where drug addicts were known to frequent, Gideon said.

Officers began arresting the 18 Midlanders from addresses that ranged from west Midland to the east and south sides. Felony arrest warrants had been sworn out for all 18.

Eleven of the cases involved delivery of marijuana. Three involved delivery of cocaine; one, delivery of hashish; three, delivery of methamphetamine; two, delivery of amphetamines; and two, delivery of pre-ludes, also known as Phentatrazine.

"We know we have a problem in some areas. I think it will be obvious where we have been directing our efforts," Gideon said regarding the cases filed before and signed by the district attorney. All of the cases were filed against those who delivered the drugs, not users.

"We are making a very diligent, professional effort to prevent drug abuse in the city, not only through prevention but through investigation and arrests," Gideon added.

The cases were filed before Municipal Judge James Fitz-Gerald, who began setting bonds this morning.

According to Gideon, Fitz-Gerald set the bonds because Peace Justice John Biggs has been "completely covered up" since Peace Justice Robert Pine has been hospitalized.

No estimate was available this morning on the cost of the investigation or the amount spent by the undercover officer for drugs.

However, Gideon said the investigation is continuing.

Carter, Reagan favored in today's primaries

By the Associated Press

Defying the numbers that read Jimmy Carter versus Ronald Reagan for the White House, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and George Bush pressed their never-say-never presidential challenges in the Maryland and Nebraska primary elections today.

Party leaders and pollsters say Kennedy and Bush could wind up even more behind the frontrunners when the votes were counted. But the challengers said in advance that they wouldn't stop running before the national convention roll calls that install presidential nominees this summer.

President Carter entered the day's primary competition 347 delegate votes away from the majority he needs to clinch Democratic renomination against Kennedy.

Reagan was 220 votes short of a Republican majority. Bush was far behind.

The Maryland primary was for 59 Democratic delegates and 30 Republican nominating votes. Nebraska was apportioning 24 Democratic votes, 25 Republican.

The polls closed at 8 p.m. EDT in Maryland, 9 p.m. EDT in Nebraska. A sampling of county election boards in Maryland indicated a light to very light voter turnout, which some officials attributed to rainy weather and others to a general lack of interest in the contests.

There were no early reports from Nebraska.

Carter and Kennedy, Reagan and Bush, and an assortment of minor and dropout candidates were on the ballot in both states. In addition, Democrats could cast uncommitted ballots, a potential protest vote that concerned the Carter camp.

Maryland and Nebraska were two of the states Carter lost to late challengers in 1976. California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. beat him in Maryland. Brown is on both of today's primary ballots, though he dropped from the campaign six weeks ago. Sen. Frank Church of Idaho edged Carter in the 1976 Nebraska primary.

By the time Carter started losing late-season primary elections in 1976, his grip on the nomination was too secure to be shaken. His position this time is at least as commanding, though Kennedy insists nothing is settled.

Carter now has 1,319 of the 1,000 delegates needed to win nomination. Kennedy has 734. Another 54 are uncommitted.

New security measures considered at courthouse

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

Sheriff Dallas Smith, urging the Midland County commissioners to "take some (security) steps before it does become a problem." Monday recommended that a sign-in, sign-out procedure be used at the courthouse to prevent any pilfering of county and personal property.

"We have had a few articles missing lately," Smith told the commissioners, "and we'd better (take) security measures."

But the commissioners, wishing to consider who might be exempted from the proposed measure, unanimously tabled the motion on the recommendation of Commissioner Charlie Welch.

"Maybe before we rush in we ought to consider" the proposal more, agreed Commissioner Durward Wright.

"I PERSONALLY like it," said fellow Commissioner Win Brown. "Some of the buildings around town are going to this (security system)."

The sheriff's proposal was prompted after between $500 and $600 in fines paid by defendants to the county was taken in early February from a locked secretary's desk in County Attorney Les Acker's office, after between $50 and $60 was taken from the justice of the peace's office and, as best as Smith can determine, a camera is missing from the sheriff of office.

However, Acker said, a now-fired, after-hours cleaning person who admitted taking the money from the desk has agreed to make restitution. No charges are being filed, he said.

"We've got it settled," Acker said in a 10 minute recess in the two hour meeting. "We'll be recovering the money in about three weeks."

Earlier, in arguing for security measures, Smith noted that the two downtown banks use a sign-in, sign-out procedure from which no one, including the banks' executive officers, are exempted.

"I'm going to sign in and out," Smith said, "and they (his deputies) will have to, too. The benefits and

Omaha's sleepy voters may want new recording machine

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — If Omaha's half-cent sales tax passes today, it just might be due to the voters' desire to buy the city a recording machine that works — at least one that doesn't wake them up in the middle of the night.

All over town late Sunday night and early Monday phones were ringing. When bleary-eyed residents answered, they heard Mayor Al Veys. "I'm sorry to inconvenience you..." the voice began.

A tape recording machine had gone haywire and was urging Omahans at 2, 3 and 4 a.m. to vote for extension of the half-cent sales tax.

"It goofed," Veys said Monday in the light of day. "It played all night long ... I'm very sorry it happened. I hope people will not make their judgment on the half-cent sales tax based on an error in the calls."

Possible tornado, hail reported in Big Lake

Rankin and Big Lake were the victims of a rain and hail storm early today and the possibility of a small tornado hitting Big Lake was voiced by a spokesman in that town.

According to officials in both towns south of Midland, the storm hit shortly after 7:30 a.m. Hail covered the lawns like a snow in Rankin and about half an inch of rain fell. The hail stripped leaves off the trees and a spokesman said it knocked down her tomato plants.

The Reagan County sheriff reported "a heck of a hailstorm" with wind and rain that caused damage to several buildings.

He said all the glass had been sucked out of the Dairy Queen and looked like "a small tornado" had hit it. High winds and hail stripped leaves off the trees and broke out some of the glass in the courthouse, he added.

Clouds were moving out of the area to the east, the sheriff reported.

Despite the ominous skies toward the southeast early today, those threatening clouds were to lighten up to partly cloudy for tonight and Wednesday, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

Cooler temperatures should prevail on Wednesday, however, said the weatherman. High expected is near 80.

Winds should be northeasterly tonight 5-10 mph.

Monday's high of 83 degrees fell short of the record temperature of a sizzling 99 degrees set in 1963. Today's low reading of 53 was warm in comparison to the record 39 set in 1971.

I would like to know the name of the family park which is being built on Holiday Hill Road and when it is supposed to open? — Mrs. J.A.

ANSWER: The name of the park is Wild River Canyon. The date of completion has not been released, as yet.

ATTENTION MRS. CARTER: Here is another version of the origin of the expression, "Seventh son of the seventh son." One reference was possibly Biblical, Ruth 4:15, as reported recently. Mr. Glen Cain called Answer Line to report that his ancestors were Irish and that the expression started in Ireland and is related to superstitious beliefs.

According to Cain, the seventh son of the seventh son in a family possesses mystical traits, such as being able to foretell the future, "witch" for water, etc.

Another reader of Answer Line telephoned to give similar information to that offered by Cain, and said she had also heard the expression, "Oldest son of the oldest son," as the son possessing psychic powers.

HERE'S ANOTHER ATTENTION: This time for J.C., who wanted to know what has happened to former Midlander Doug Russell, who won a Gold Medal in swimming at the 1968 Olympics held in Mexico City.

The information given in Answer Line earlier that Doug is in Amarillo is erroneous. He did reside there for a while.

However, we have the "truth" now. Doug's mother, Betty Jane Russell, 684-8706, Midland, has newspaper articles from the San Diego Union on Doug, who is the Heartland swimming coach in San Diego, Calif.

Doug's team recently won its first Junior Olympic championship. Fourteen-year-old Bob Cleary, a St. Augustine High freshman, set a Pacific Southwest Association record in the 50-yard freestyle, as well as eclipsing meet records in all seven events which he entered.

I am an artist.

Do I need a license to sell my works?

How do I pay taxes on paintings I sell?

Can I sell them alongside a public road or intersection? — J.R.

ANSWER: Yes, you will need a sales tax permit from the State Comptroller, says the State Bar of Texas.

In most instances, when you apply, a bond will be required, based on your estimate of yearly sales.

This permit will authorize you to buy your supplies without paying a sales tax, since you will be reselling and collecting the tax for the payment to the state.

As for selling your works along a public road or intersection, you will need to check the local ordinances. There is no state law prohibiting the sale of such items along the road, but you may not go on the roadway to solicit or sell.

Supporters' claims Bryant has speakership votes questioned

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Questions have arisen over claims by Rep. John Bryant's supporters that he is over the top in his race for speakership of the 1981 Texas House.

Bryant, D-Dallas, is running against all comers, including Speaker Bill Clayton, who seeks an unprecedented fourth term in the job.

On Sunday, Bryant announced that Rep. Bill Caraway, D-Houston, had dropped out of the speaker's race and swung his support to Bryant. He also announced that Rep. W.S. Healy of Paducah — a conservative with 25 years in the House — was backing him.

The Healy announcement was considered significant because Healy has a reputation of never backing losers.

Healy and Carlton Carl, Bryant's chief aide, said Bryant had 80 or 81 firm pledges of support among the 150 persons expected to be seated in January as state representatives.

But Caraway and Healy later indicated they would reconsider if Clayton's candidacy was alive when the House elects its speaker by majority vote in January.

Clayton says he would drop out of the race only if he is indicted as a result of the FBI's Brilab (bribery and labor) investigation and not "vindicated" by a jury before the House votes.

As of Monday, Clayton said he was very much in the race and had polled some of his supporters to learn if Bryant's weekend blitz had softened his support.

"The speaker still feels very confident. He talked to a lot of his supporters, and they still seem very firm," said George Works, Clayton's press secretary.

Chrysler has good news, bad news

By GUY DARST

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Chrysler Corp. gathered today for the good news and the bad news.

First the bad news. Chrysler is closing another assembly plant. The shutting down of the truck plant in Fenton, Mo., near St. Louis, is Chrysler's second such closing this year.

The good news, of course, is the final approval over the weekend by federal officials of the $1.5 billion in loan guarantees the company has been seeking since last summer.

In remarks prepared for the shareholders, Chairman Lee A. Iacocca again called for limitations on Japanese imports through a "gentlemen's agreement" with the Japanese to stop shipments to the United States of all vehicles they produce on overtime. Iacocca said such an agreement would reduce exports from Japan by 300,000 to 400,000 vehicles a year without requiring the layoff of a single Japanese worker.

He said he would ask that the Small Business Administration, the Federal Reserve Board and the auto industry work out "some mechanism" to provide inventory financing for dealers. "I will bring it up at the automotive summit tomorrow," Iacocca said.

Chief executives of auto manufacturers meet with President Carter at the White House on Wednesday. Iacocca said Chrysler dealers reported their sales would have been 25 percent higher for the first quarter of this year if adequate wholesale and retail financing had been available.

Achievement of the guarantees, he said, "represents an outstanding accomplishment against extraordinary odds."

Fraser's election first for industry

DETROIT (AP) — The election of United Auto Workers President Douglas A. Fraser as a director of the Chrysler Corp. at the automaker's annual meeting marks a first in the history of U.S. industry.

Fraser was to become the first worker to rise to a directorship in a major U.S. industry when Chrysler's stockholders meet today in Rockford, Ill.

It's quite a change for the man who went straight from high school in 1935 to work in a Chrysler-DeSoto plant as a metal finisher.

However, it's not as if Chrysler were welcoming a complete stranger to its boardroom. In his 27-year UAW career, Fraser spent four years as a representative on Chrysler matters and headed the union's Chrysler department as a UAW vice president for seven years until he became president in 1977.

Chrysler executives have the highest respect for Fraser, mentioning his knowledge, experience, intelligence and integrity, and uniformly express themselves as "delighted" that he will join the board.

Unions in the United States have almost never sought a share of control of the companies they deal with. The UAW is a rare exception — Fraser demanded a union seat on the board in negotiations with Chrysler in 1976 after the automaker's since-sold British subsidiary offered its unions a directorship.

In his prepared remarks, Iacocca did not mention the management's nomination of United Auto Workers union President Douglas A. Fraser to the company's board of directors but did call on stockholders to "understand and appreciate the dedication of the Chrysler work force and the sacrifices they have made."

After the annual meeting a year ago in Syracuse, N.Y., directors voted the usual 10-cent dividend on common stock — something analysts had not expected from a company that reported a $53.8 million loss for the previous quarter.

Since then, nearly $1.5 billion has been lost, beside which the $6.4 million cost of that dividend could be considered a drop in the bucket.

As a result of those losses, the stockholders have seen the hypothetical value of their investments — "book value," or net assets per share — shrink by 58 percent from $41.05 share to $17.35 per share.

The real value of their investments — what they're worth on the market — has fluctuated from $8.50 a share the day after last year's meeting up to $11.13 and down to $5.50.

Chrysler stock closed Monday at $7.50 per share.

Government gone crazy

Sunday was Tax Freedom Day in Texas, observed most notably by Texas 13, Inc., a statewide organization dedicated to putting a brake on government growth and spending, and to securing tax relief for all Texans.

The observance was billed as "a day of mourning and a day of joy for every American taxpayer," according to Waggoner Carr, former Texas attorney general and one of the board of governors for Texas 13, Inc.

The statistics cited by Mr. Carr in his letter serve to solidify our belief that government is becoming too large, too expensive and too removed from the people it is supposed to serve.

For example, the statistics indicate that each American worked from Jan. 1 until last Sunday just to pay his or her taxes — federal, state and local — this year. Last year, we had to work only from Jan. 1 until May 8 to satisfy the tax collector. In 1978, it was from Jan. 1 until May 6.

That's an outrage! It's unbelievable that our government is so expensive that we must work almost five months out of the year just to support it.

Periodically, Texas 13, Inc., makes its Turkey Awards to those government agencies and officials that are guilty of excessive, wasteful spending.

This year, according to Texas

13, Inc., the Turkey Award goes to "all the taxpayers for letting their government get so expensive that it requires them to work almost five months this year to feed its insatiable appetite for tax dollars."

Common sense in this nation seems to have gone awry. Our leaders appear to have lost touch with reality. We must bring things back into their proper perspective.

Our forefathers conceived our government in the interests of supporting the common good, of making life more pleasant wherever possible. They did not intend to make the people of this great nation subservient to the government.

But are we not leaning in that direction? Are we not approaching the point at which we will spend our days working to support the "common good"?

That doesn't fit in well with the idea of free enterprise and of being able to make one's own way through this life being indebted to no man.

We must turn things around. We must reduce governmental waste and bureaucracy. We must allow workers to retain more of their paychecks, instead of supporting government.

If we do not do this, the greatest nation on this earth will be crushed underneath its own weight.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Tuesday, May 13, the 134th day of 1980. There are 232 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On May 13, 1607, English colonists landed near the James River in Virginia, and set to building what became Jamestown — the first permanent English settlement in America.

On this date: In 1846, Congress declared war on Mexico.

In 1915, the United States protested to Germany the sinking of the British liner "Lusitania" and the loss of American lives.

In 1940, Queen Wilhelmina and Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands fled to London ahead of Nazi invaders.

Five years ago, American Marines, warships and planes were placed on alert in the western Pacific following the seizure of the merchant ship "Mayaguez" by Cambodian gunboats.

Repair work the primary task of Secretary Ed Muskie

By DON COOK
(c) 1980, The Los Angeles Times

PARIS — Edmund S. Muskie takes over as U.S. Secretary of State as American power and the conduct of U.S. foreign policy are at their lowest ebb in the post-World War II era. Repair work will be his first, indeed his permanent, task.

It is well that the travel schedule Muskie inherits from Cyrus R. Vance will bring him face-to-face almost immediately with the realities and dimensions of the problems ahead. If the schedule holds, Muskie will fly to Europe May 12, after a visit to Washington by the British foreign secretary, Lord Carrington.

The first step on the new secretary's schedule is to be Bonn, to see Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher. He will then go on to Brussels, where a special meeting of foreign ministers and defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is to take place on May 14, to take stock of alliance policies as the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan enters its fifth month. Then Muskie will travel on to Vienna for his first meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The French, typically, will not be participating in the NATO meeting in Brussels. Despite continuing irritation in Washington with France's long-lasting pursuit of independence within the alliance, Muskie would do well to add a stop in Paris to see President Valery Giscard d'Estaing and Foreign Minister Jean Francois-Poncet on his way back to Washington.

Given the complexities that lie ahead, he is going to need all the help he can get, and a frank and searching talk with the French at the outset of his tenure would probably turn out to be more positive and helpful than Muskie might anticipate.

What will Muskie find in Europe after the shattering events of the last few weeks? What is the starting point for this vital rebuilding of confidence in the United States as a great power?

First and foremost, the new secretary of state will find the Europeans unanimously opposed to any further use of force or blockade measures against Iran in an effort to free the American Embassy hostages. It ought to be clear anyway, from the abortive attempt to rescue the hostages by a military operation, what the risks of this course of action really are. This was what Chancellor Schmidt had in mind when he referred recently in a speech in Hamburg to "another Sarajevo" — the shot that killed the Archduke Franz Ferdinand in 1914 and lit the fuse for World War I.

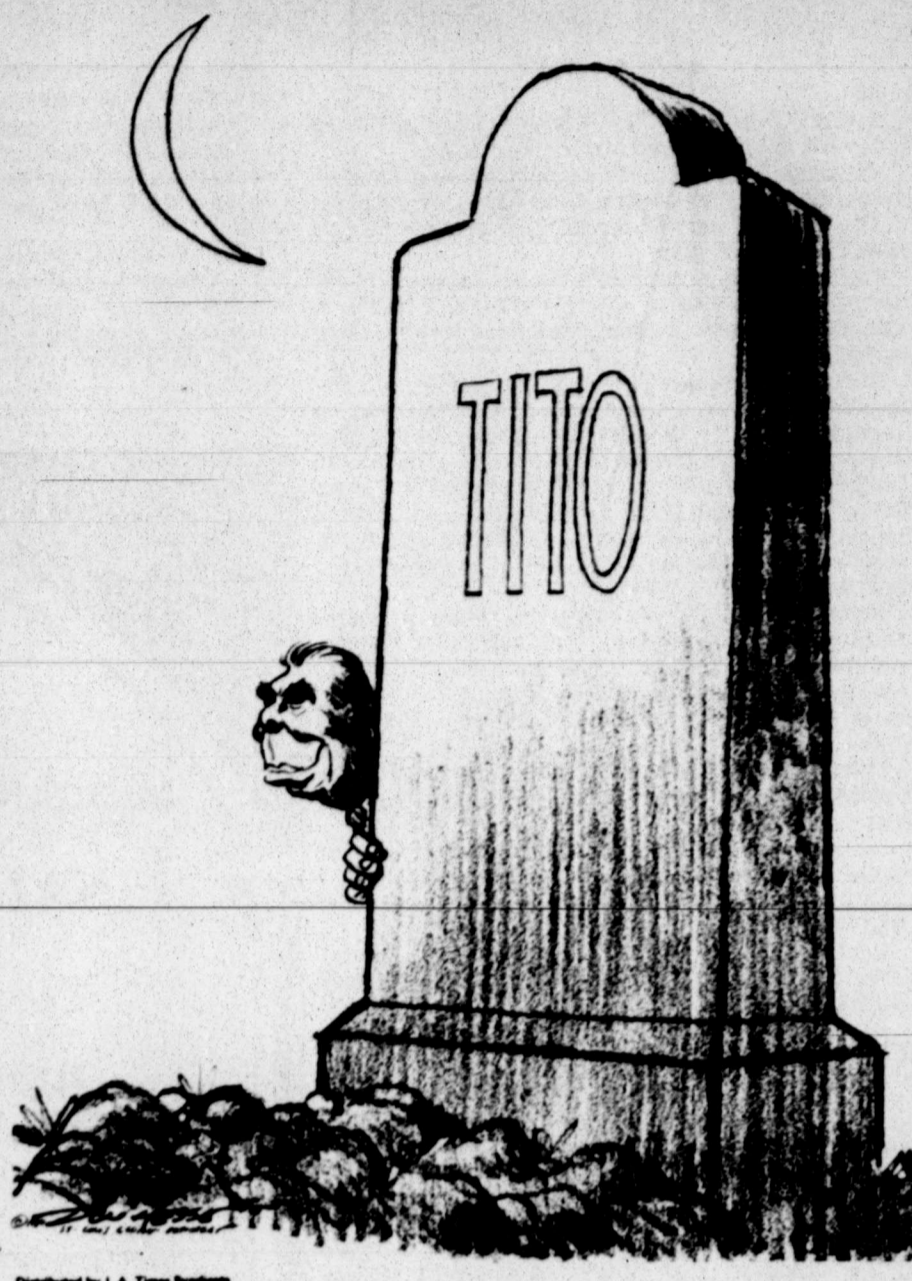

It will be clear to Muskie, if it is not clear before he leaves Washington, that if President Carter and the Pentagon allow themselves to be driven by desperation to turn to the force option, and mine or blockade Iran's Persian Gulf ports, they will not have their European allies with them. Such a split would have devastating consequences for the whole future of NATO and the world leadership position of the United States.

Therefore the most reassuring message that Muskie could bring with him to Europe would be clear word that the president of the United States now rules out any use of force in the Iranian crisis. It would be a starting point for getting Europe and the United States back on the same track.

The Europeans have been against the force option all along, not because they are indifferent to the problem of the hostages but because they have never believed that it would work, and they really do fear the uncontrollable consequences.

To take a small point, Lloyd's of London has already informed the British government that if American mines are laid around the Iranian ports, then no ships can be insured for voyages in and out of the Persian Gulf, whatever their destination, except at war-risk premiums.

The second great European concern is that Carter's foreign policy has been misfocused because of the overriding political concern about the hostages, to a point where the Iranian problem is crippling the far greater diplomatic task — which is putting together an effective world position against the

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Vance urged Israelis to pull back troops

WASHINGTON — If Israeli officials sensed a pro-Palestinian tilt in the Carter administration's United Nations vote against Jewish settlements, they received another jolt last month.

The Vance cable hit the Israelis where they live — in their arsenal of U.S. military hardware. Vance warned Defense Minister Ezer Weizman that "illegal use" of American weapons might impede further shipments of U.S. arms to Israel.

By law, the president must slap an arms embargo on any nation that is found to be using U.S. weapons for anything but self-defense. But such laws can be — and have been — interpreted broadly if other considerations warrant it, as in the case of King Hassan of Morocco and his aggressive "defense" against Algerian-backed guerrillas.

By the same token, the president can choose to interpret self-defense in such narrow terms that retaliatory or preventive military action would be considered "illegal use" of U.S. arms.

The Israelis, apparently nervous about the Carter administration's perceived anti-Israel tilt, promptly withdrew their troops from Lebanon.

Prime Minister Begin has denied that the troop withdrawal had been "demanded" by the United States. He sought to save face by announcing that U.S. Ambassador Samuel W. Lewis had merely tried to "clarify Israel's intentions." He made no mention of the tough-talking communications from Vance three days before the troops were pulled back.

Israeli sources told my reporter Ron McRae that the U.S. demand influenced Weizman's threat of resignation on April 17. Weizman had been outspoken in his opposition to Jewish

CHARLEY REESE

Fifth column in U.S. threatens our survival

Charley Reese

There is a fifth column operating in the United States. Whether out of conviction or stupidity there are people, fellow citizens, who work to advance the final victory of the Soviet Union.

Some of them are writers, academics, preachers, editors, politicians, and bureaucrats. A few are communists. Most of them would prefer the name liberal. Their distinguishing characteristic is that they are against their own country.

They can thrive because we are a free society and nervous about curbing dissent. If we do not find a way to deal with this fifth column, we will be defeated by the Soviet Union.

The liberals rarely come right out and speak in favor of the Soviet Union, but they help it. They speak against our allies. They prefer Allende, the Marxist leader of Chile, to Pinochet who overthrew him; they prefer Mugabe, the Marxist leader of Zimbabwe, to Muzorewa; they prefer the Ayatollah to the Shah; they preferred Castro to Batista.

They always argue that the communists are on the right side and that our allies are dictators and that if we are going to win the "friendship" of the world we have to quit supporting dictators even though the dictators are loyal to our interests.

Well, look at the pudding. We pulled the rug out from under Batista and helped Castro take over Cuba. Do you think Communist Cuba has been good for the United States? They said if the Soviet Union had eastern Europe it wouldn't feel threatened and be so aggressive. Do you think the Soviet Union is not aggressive? They said our allies in Southeast Asia were the bad guys and the communists were the good guys. Well, our allies are all gone in Southeast Asia. Do you feel more secure?

We must recognize that we are in a global struggle with the Soviet Union and that what is important is the survival of the United States. That is more important than whether or not a foreign ruler can meet the liberal standards of good government.

We must recognize the reality of revolution. Revolutions are not mass uprisings of the people. They are carefully constructed events by a minority of determined people who employ a combination of arms, money, and propaganda to seize the reins of power.

In Vietnam, Laos, Angola, Mozambique, Zimbabwe, Cuba, Nicaragua, Ethiopia, Yemen, Libya, Afghanistan, and Liberia, the revolutions have been guided by the Soviet Union. They have not resulted in paradise for the people. They have resulted in tyranny directed by tyrants who are loyal to the Soviet Union.

If we refuse to recognize this fundamental fact, we shall soon find ourselves totally isolated from the resources we need to survive.

In a recent issue of "One World," a magazine published by the World Council of Churches, there are glowing articles about the Sandinistas in Nicaragua with not one word about the torrents of anti-American propaganda and warm Sandinista endorsements of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

In the same issue another article cleverly paints the U.S. as the villain in Puerto Rico.

You can see the fifth columnists at work berating and undermining the American military; savaging American allies and praising Marxist revolutionaries; emphasizing American mistakes or faults and ignoring those of the communists.

The easiest way to spot them is to watch Moscow give the signals. Moscow doesn't want the neutron antitank warhead produced; watch the American fifth column oppose it. Moscow wants the American military to remain weak; watch the fifth column head for the streets to oppose a draft or a bigger defense budget.

Look at the Republic of South Africa, an absolute vital U.S. ally. Moscow's southern Africa strategy requires Marxist control of that mineral-rich nation. Just look at the continuous hate campaign conducted in this country, by Americans, against South Africa.

Okay, so South Africa with 16 million blacks who speak a different language and have a different value system than the 3 million whites practice segregation. So did we in this country until just a few years ago. There is no way a fair person can justify the hate campaign conducted against the South African government on just moral grounds.

If we intend to survive, we had better wake up and face the enemy in our rear. The Arabs have a proverb: "The friend of my enemy is my enemy." In the present crisis, we had better live by it.

Barbara Buckley

It's suspense time for Miss Texas

By PATSY GORDON
Lifestyle Writer

BILOXI, Miss. — Thursday is the big day for Miss Texas, Barbara Buckley of Midland.

Thursday night is the Miss U.S.A. Pageant competition. The preliminaries are over, but, in a telephone interview Monday afternoon, Miss Buckley said she won't know until pageant night whether she was in the top 12 or not.

"It's been exciting like you'll never believe," Miss Buckley excitedly revealed.

Her mother, Rita Buckley, Mrs. Hoy Harrison and a bosom friend, Carolyn Cox Berry are leaving Midland Wednesday to attend the festivities. Mrs. Buckley's six brothers and one sister, located throughout the United States, also will be in the cheering section.

The pageant will be televised on KOSA-TV at 8 p.m. Midland time, with Bob Barker as master of ceremonies.

For the evening gown competition, Barbara wore a Guy Rex creation, "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

Entering the Miss Texas-USA Pageant was a first for Barbara as far as pageants go, but if she is declared Miss USA Thursday night, she will have a chance at the Miss Universe title.

Since she has been traveling all over Texas the past several months, "I've known what it will be like to be Miss USA."

"It's been hectic here, but I feel like I did real well. I hope people will pray for me," said Miss Buckley.

The Angelo State University drama student gets to dance with Donny Osmond in the show's production number. From now until pageant night, she and the other contestants will be rehearsing for the TV show, rated in the top five of all specials seen this year, Barbara pointed out.

In an interview with Miss Texas last fall in Midland, she said she had "learned a lot and grown within myself by watching and learning from people," since the Miss Texas Pageant last August.

She would like to do modeling "if someone wanted me to" to supplement income and learn to be comfortable in front of a camera.

If Barbara wins the Miss USA crown, she will live in New York City with the current Miss Universe.

The brunette beauty philosophized a bit. "I have been forced to become older all of a sudden, but I don't want to lose all of the little girl in me."

I must remember I'm a small town girl and keep the common touch, no matter how far I go. I believe I will go far because of this chance to better myself.

"I'm a firm believer in positive thinking. I will never limit myself again because if you want to do something you can."

DEAR ABBY

How about U.S.A.?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Back in 1956, Reader's Digest ran a story that went something like this:

A man from the Midwest wrote: "My wife and I were waiting for our plane in the Seattle-Tacoma airport terminal when a friend from our hometown spotted us and came over to say hello. After visiting for a few minutes, she said she had to leave us to join the group of women with whom she was traveling. I asked her what kind of group it was, and she replied, 'They're a group of widows who book tours together. I waited three years for my husband to die so I could join them.'"

After reading the above article, my wife said, "That's not for me." I agreed. Result: Since 1956 my wife and I have seen Hawaii, England, Belgium, Germany, Italy, France, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Scotland, Ireland, India, Japan, Hong Kong and Taiwan.

At 73, we are glad we read that article and did something about it. — JOE CARROLL IN L.A.

DEAR JOE: Wonderful. But how much of the good old U.S.A. have you seen?

DEAR ABBY: Please print my letter for all of those brides-to-be who may not be aware of a problem that could ruin their wedding. For months my fiancée and I planned the most important day of our lives. Every detail was covered (we thought), but our wedding was ruined because nobody suggested that we use the church nursery for small children and infants. It would have cost us an extra $25 at the most to hire a "sitter" for these youngsters.

As it was, it cost us a lot of heartache and tears. As you can guess, one of those egotistical new mothers was present. No sooner had she planted herself and her 4-month-old son in the center of the third row when the baby started to cry. I was told later that she tried her best to quiet the child, but not until we had said our vows and turned to make our way down the aisle did this mother get up with the child and exit.

The tapes we made of our wedding were ruined because of the baby's crying. I find it hard to look at that child today — much less his mother. To make matters worse, they are now part of our family, and I will be reminded of this episode every time I see them.

Please print this, Abby. Maybe new mothers will think twice before bringing an unpredictable child to a wedding. And future brides will insist that infants be left in the nursery. — IT HAPPENED IN DALLAS

DEAR HAPPENED: I'll print your timely letter, but somewhere some new mother will be sure HER baby will not cry. But, alas, he will.

DEAR ABBY: If you could give the young parents of today just one piece of advice, what would it be? — NEW MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Start early! Be consistent. A child must learn that no means NO! It doesn't mean maybe. And maybe doesn't mean yes.

Your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY: Bobby Darin—who was born this date—helped usher in rock 'n roll. You may suffer from anxiety at times, but financial and personal affairs will prove more than gratifying throughout the rest of 1980. Romance is likely to make the months of October, November and December especially joyous, and a major uncertainty will be eliminated. Some changes in certain areas of your life are clearly indicated, but do not make any sudden shifts. Think carefully about ways in which you can improve your lifestyle by simplifying it. Loved ones gather around and offer their support!

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Deal with temporary cash shortage by revising budget in logical manner. Discussions with associates are fruitful. Special friendship could evolve into a romance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Tenacity is rewarded today where business or career is concerned. Profits increase and so does your self-esteem! Take more interest in hopes, ambitions of offspring.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Plan more and talk less.

Change in appearance or employment may be something you want to think about now. Hobby can be source of extra income if you decide to advertise your talents.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): No day for signing legal papers, documents. Let mate, romantic partner know in advance what you have in mind. Those who mean the most to you are sometimes very difficult to understand.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Romance could take on greater significance. Follow your intuition where a financial offer is concerned. Someone may be trying to test your loyalty. Steer clear of shady propositions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Unveil plans you have been keeping under wraps. Money problems may soon be thing of the past. Mate, spouse is in sensitive mood. Be careful not to say anything that could be misconstrued.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Goals that previously eluded your grasp are now within reach. Member of opposite sex may issue ultimatum. Keep calm. Be sure you know all the facts before giving your answer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov.

21): Stay in background until ready to make major announcement. Try to improve communication lines between yourself and a difficult associate. New ally can help you decide when to make your move.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Element of luck works in your favor. You handle tricky situation with dispatch. Others are impressed by your performance. Unexpected expenses can make dent in savings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be fair but firm when mediating dispute involving associates or subordinates. Invest extra cash wisely. Seek professional opinion regarding personal matter. Take no chances where health is concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Prominent individual will respond best to straightforward approach—Career move could cause family upheaval. Soothe loved ones by sharing confidences, discussing alternatives.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Antagonism can suddenly surface in business situation. Self-confident attitude will only add fuel to fire of jealousy. Refuse to be goaded into losing your temper.

The club finesse. West won and exited with a club to declarer's ace. After agonized thought, declarer cashed the king of diamonds and ran the jack. Down one.

South bemoaned his misfortune—his line of play had a 75 percent chance of success, yet it failed. But before you shed a tear for South's fate, consider that the hand can be made without relying on anything so crude as guesswork. If South refuses to take any finesse, he cannot be defeated!

After drawing trumps, declarer should cash out the hearts. Now he simply plays the ace and queen of clubs, and he does not mind which defender wins the trick. If the defenders continue with either hearts or clubs, declarer will ruff in one hand while discarding a diamond from the other. And if the defenders shift to a diamond, they will resolve declarer's problem in that suit. Either way, declarer will lose only one club trick.

Rubber bridge clubs throughout the country use the four-deal bridge format. Do they know something you don't? Charles Goren's "Four-Deal Bridge" will teach you the strategies and tactics of this fast-paced action game that provides the cure for unending rubbers. For a copy and a scorepad, send $1.75 to "Goren-Four Deal," c/o the newspaper, P.O. Box 259, Norwood, N.J. 07648. Make checks payable to NEWS-PAPERBOOKS.

LEE YOUTH CENTER CHATTER

Jr.-Sr. Prom a real success

By DEBBIE FOSTER, JANET LANDENBERGER, and MARTHA WENTWORTH

Sugar and Spice and everything nice sang with hard work and dedication by the junior class and three upper classmen added to the success of the Junior-Senior Prom Saturday night. We would like to thank the band Alexandra, who performed with excellence and provided music to dance to. Special thanks goes to Sam Hollis for taking those great prom pictures. Listen up BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE: Your beautiful pictures will be ready in about two weeks. The prom could not have been a success without the help of the Junior Class officers, Susan Bicknell, Tracy Smith, Debbie Brown, Janet Landenberger, Tracy Reeves, Debra Foster, Martha Wentworth, Marla Wentworth, Emily Murrah, and Nancy Snyder. We hope that many memories were made out of this 1988 school year prom.

Last Wednesday students were called from their second and third period classes to hear campaign speeches for various offices from their fellow classmates. This competition was really stiff and the votes were really close, but the ones who slipped ahead of the rest were: for the sophomores; Gay McClelland, Julie Gallagher, Cathy Olsen, and "mean, mad" Ralph Clinton. Leading the 1988-89 Senior class into a superior senior year were Debbie Brown, Kevin Bradshaw, Mel Douglas, Elaine Kimbro, and Glenda Giles. Congratulations to all these winners and a lot of luck for the future. Friendly faces and sparkling smiles were recognized also last week as class favorites were voted on.

The two favorites for the sophomore class were Phil Holt and Tina Green. The trendy ones for the Junior class were Leslie Griffin and Jimmy Norton. The two all-around Seniors were Lee Andrews and Jill Mutschler. Congratulations favorites!!! For all of you who missed the Rebel Review Thursday night, you missed some spectacular singing and toe tapping. The highlight of the program came when an unknown streaker zipped through the audience and made wide eyes out of everybody with his sexy legs. GREAT SHOW, Mr. Wright. Dixie was well represented last week at the State Track Meet by Rebel Rambler Keevin Harper. He gave the competition a run for their money and finished well.

Until next week From the Good-bye Girls: Debbie Foster, Janet Landenberger, and Martha Wentworth

P.S. Congratulations goes to David Simmons of M.H.S. for placing in the discus at the State Track Meet. HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Tracy Reeves (May 15).

Thanks to Leslie and Tracy for their help!! Sheldon, who was the lone golf cart rider Saturday night?

B.C. COMMENTS: Thanks to the following: The prom decorations were completed. Sara Stone, Scott Stovall, and Stephanie Martin. Leslie Griffin took charge Saturday seeing that the decorations were put up, and getting the band set up. Scott Collins, Cliff (Vulc) Collier and Tom Williams hung the murals. Clean up was different. We jaitors of the Junior Class, directed by Secretary Leslie Griffin set the Youth Center in order on Sunday. Thanks Doug Fox, Greg Collins, Tracy Smith, Susannah Purvis, Debbie Brown and Janet Landenberger.

Thanks to Tina Harrington, Katherine Kinney and Kelly Enis (next years Super Sophs) who were hostesses for the prom, and to Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Stovall who chaperoned.

IMPORTANT FS! The Junior Council will meet this Friday morning at 7:15 in the Youth Center for the purpose of electing officers for the next year! This includes the new members, the former 100 club - So everyone be there. We'll have donuts.

THE NEWSPAPER BIBLE

Live forever? Here's how---

WHEN Jesus had finished saying all these things He looked up to heaven and said, "Father, the time has come. Reveal the glory of Your Son so that He can give the glory back to You.

For You have given Him authority over every man and woman in all the earth. He gives eternal life to each one You have given Him.

And this is the way to have eternal life—by knowing You, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, the one You sent to earth!

I brought glory to You here on earth by doing everything You told Me to.

And now, Father, reveal My glory as I stand in Your presence, the glory We shared before the world began.

I have told these men all about You. They were in the world, but then You gave them to Me. Actually, they were always Yours, and You gave them to Me; and they have obeyed You.

Now they know that everything I have is a gift from You.

For I have passed on to them the commands You gave Me; and they accepted them and know of a certainty that I came down to earth from You, and they believe You sent Me.

My plea is not for the world but for those You have given Me because they belong to You.

And all of them, since they are Mine, belong to You; and You have given them back to Me with everything else of Yours, and so they are My glory!

John 17:1-10

Princess film gets heavy viewer response

By The Associated Press

Thousands of viewers called public television stations across the country following broadcast of a program about the execution of a Saudi Arabian princess for adultery — some worrying the Saudis would play rough with oil supplies in response to the broadcast and others defending free speech.

"I've been here eight years and this is the most number of calls we've gotten on a program," said Caroline Kowalski, a spokeswoman for television station KAET in Tempe, Ariz. The station received about 400 telephone calls Monday with negative calls outnumbering positive ones, she said.

A few of the 130 stations that broadcast the show — titled "Death of a Princess" — reported receiving bomb threats, but all turned out to be hoaxes.

The two-hour film dealt with the execution of an Arabian princess who took a commoner as a lover. The airing of the film in Great Britain last month prompted the Saudi government to expel the British ambassador. The Saudis complained the film was inaccurate.

The Public Broadcasting Service supplied stations on the network with a news segment on reaction to the film and a panel discussion on the program, as well as the film itself.

In Atlanta and San Francisco, federal judges on Monday rejected attempts to prevent the airing of the program.

U.S. District Judge Robert F. Peckham in San Francisco said a court order blocking the airing of the film would mean "turning our backs on 200 years of heritage."

A three-judge federal appeals court panel overturned a lower-court decision requiring a Houston TV station to broadcast the program. KUHT-TV had decided not to show the program.

The Saudi government had complained about the broadcast to the State Department, which passed the objections on to PBS.

At television station

KUED in Salt Lake City, Station Manager Bruce Christensen said he received 12 to 14 telephone calls after the show, all positive. Before the show was aired, there were about 50 calls, he said, and they ran 2-1 against showing the film.

Lillian Roth dead at age 69

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress-singer Lillian Roth, whose best-selling autobiography "I'll Cry Tomorrow" detailed her struggles against alcoholism and mental illness, has died at a nursing home.

Miss Roth, who died Monday, was 69. She had been in a coma at Roosevelt Hospital for weeks after suffering a massive stroke at her Manhattan apartment in February.

Her book, a best-seller in 1954 written with Gerold Frank, recounted how she was pushed into show business by her parents at age 8, her early successes and failed romances, her bouts with depression and drinking, and how she made a dramatic comeback.

In 1956, the book was made into critically acclaimed movie that starred Susan Hayward.

Miss Roth was born in Boston on Dec. 13, 1910, to the former Katie Silverman of Boston and Arthur Rutecki, a Russian immigrant. Her acting career began at the age of 6 with a New York City film company. By time she was 8, she was hailed as Broadway's youngest star and won the featured role in the play "Shavings."

In her teens, she performed in Earl Carroll's "Vanities of 1928" and Florenz Ziegfeld's "Midnight Follies." Miss Roth then went to Hollywood where she acted in "The Love Parade," with Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier, "Animal Crackers," with the Marx Brothers and other films.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Early detection is important

Dear Dr. Solomon: You often mention the importance of early detection of disease so that treatment can be started with no unnecessary delay. Wouldn't this apply particularly to a disease such as cancer? While I can appreciate that research on treatment is important, it seems to me that more should be done in the way of preventing or, at least, detecting it at a very early stage. Is anything being done in this regard in relation to cancer? — Jo

Dear Jo: It is generally agreed that preventive, early detection, and treatment are all important if cancer is to be conquered. Probably the simplest preventive, but one which has not been adopted to any significant extent, is for people simply to stop smoking.

In relation to the early detection of cancer, scientists at the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas are seeking to develop a blood test that will permit doctors to detect the disease at a much earlier stage than is now possible. They are using this method to monitor the progress of lymphoid cancers, a type of cancer of the lymph nodes.

Dr. Ellen S. Vitetta, a member of the research group, says they have reached the point where they can almost predict the remission or recurrence of lymphoid tumors when blood samples from patients known to have lymphoid cancers are tested.

The researchers are using a new tool, the fluorescence activated cancer sorter, to detect a tumor cell population of less than one percent in a blood sample of otherwise normal cells. The tool uses a laser beam that causes the surfaces of certain treated cells to glow. The intensity of these cells helps the scientists distinguish between those that are normal and those that are tumor cells.

Dear Dr. Solomon: The last time I went for my annual checkup, my doctor introduced me to a young man whom he identified as a "physician's assistant." The assistant checked my blood pressure, recorded my height and weight, and asked me some questions about how I had been since my last visit. I have no complaint with what he did, but just what is a physician's assistant, and how long have they been around? — Lou

Dear Lou: A physician's assistant is a person who works under the direction and supervision of a licensed physician, and who performs many of the tasks for which a doctor's special skills are not necessary.

Divers end search for disaster victims

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Divers have ended their search for bodies in the submerged wreckage of the Sunshine Skyway and authorities say more vehicles could remain under water.

Thirty-one bodies have been recovered. "That's it. We figure we've got one, maybe two, still missing and we feel they'll probably float up," said Cal Henderson, a spokesman for the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Department.

A Marine Board of Inquiry was to convene today to investigate the collapse of a 1,400-foot section of the bridge, which pitched eight vehicles into Tampa Bay Friday. The bridge was struck during a rainstorm by the Summit Venture, a 608-foot freighter.

Steel girders and concrete roadway collapsed, hurling a Greyhound bus with 23 persons, six cars and a pickup truck into the 50-foot deep shipping channel.

The fact-finding board is a joint venture of the Coast Guard and the National Transportation Safety Board. State and local agencies conducting their own investigations will also attend the hearings.

Tampa Bay pilot John Lerro, who was at the helm of the Summit Venture when it hit the bridge, is certain to be called as a witness in the inquiry. So are some of the members of the 35-man crew and skipper H.C. Liu of Taiwan and Hong Kong.

Lerro had two other accidents in the past five months, according to Coast Guard officials.

They said he rammed the same bridge, causing $40,000 damage, on Feb. 16 when he was guiding the Jonna Dan. And he was at the helm of a freighter that struck a dock at a terminal last December.

The state Department of Professional Regulation, which licenses harbor pilots, has dispatched a three-member review panel to the Coast Guard hearings to investigate Lerro's role in the accident.

Five vehicles were freed from the wreckage beneath the bridge Monday and hoisted aboard a barge. Divers recovered six more bodies, three bobbing on the surface and three trapped inside the crushed vehicles.

Grand jury probing TMI safety violations

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A federal grand jury has begun hearing testimony on alleged safety violations at Three Mile Island prior to the 1979 accident that shut down the nuclear power plant.

The grand jury, due to hear about radiation releases that allegedly exceeded federal limits, will sit for "the better part of the week," U.S. Attorney Carlon O'Malley said Monday.

"It's unlikely we'll be finished by then," he said. He declined to say how many people had been subpoenaed or how long the investigation might last.

It is known that at least 13 people have been subpoenaed to testify before the 23 U.S. District Court jurors, who were selected Monday.

One witness is Harold W. Hartman Jr., a former control room operator at TMI, who has already testified under oath before the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Hartman told the NRC that, a year before the TMI accident, the plant was leaking cooling water through safety valves at rates higher than permitted by the NRC.

He has said he was not at TMI on March 28, 1979, when the plant overheated, leaked radiation and came within an hour of a meltdown, the nation's worst commercial nuclear accident.

The U.S. Justice Department has named two special prosecutors to assist with the grand jury investigation. The two attorneys, David Watson and Frank Bowman, work in the department's criminal division.

O'Malley said the Federal Bureau of Investigation is not involved in the probe "as of the moment."

The jurors were chosen from a pool of 35 persons, after answering several questions posed by U.S. District Judge Sylvia Rambo.

Reactor problems investigated

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and Commonwealth Edison are investigating two unrelated reactor problems that occurred at the utility's Zion and Dresden power stations.

The problem at the Dresden plant, located in Morris, about 65 miles southwest of Chicago, involved the shutdown of one of the plant's three reactors after a monitor alarm went off, officials said.

The problem at the Zion plant involved several thousand gallons of low-level radioactive water flooding the floor of a reactor building, Jan Strasma, an NRC spokesman, said today. The flooding Monday night was caused when an employee hooked a hose to the wrong valve, and it ruptured, Strasma said. He said both incidents could be characterized as minor since "there wasn't any hazard to people's health or the environment." No one was injured in either incident.

Strasma said the temporary hose that burst at the Zion plant, about 40 miles north of Chicago, was in a reactor building that had been shut down for refueling since May 2.

Eight employees were in the area at the time the hose burst and they did receive some minor contamination but, he said, it can "be removed in routine cleaning."

At Dresden, Strasma said, one reactor shut down automatically because an alarm went off.

OWN YOUR OWN HOME TODAY!

Southland's new Made-to-Please financing plans make it possible for you to own a home of your own, today. Because the Made-to-Please plans are based on the size of your family and your yearly income. That means a couple earning from $14,665 to $16,470 a year can afford to move in a Southland home costing $38,500. And, assuming a down payment of only $1,200, their monthly payment will be just $250!

If your family is larger and your income is higher, we have a financing plan that's "Made-to-Please" for you. For more information, call Southland Or, better yet, come in on out to our offices today, at 1017, Midliff Rd. And together we can work out a plan to get you your very own home!

$1,200* TOTAL DOWN PAYMENT $250* TOTAL MONTHLY PAYMENT

*Southland's new Made-to-Please plan is FHA 235. Based on a cash price of $38,500 and a down payment of $1,200 financed at an annual percentage rate of 13%, the resulting monthly payments will be $250 for 360 months for a family of two with an annual household income of between $14,665 and $16,470.

THESE DAYS, YOU CAN'T AFFORD NOT TO OWN YOUR OWN HOME.
