Tornado hits

By The Associated Press

A tornado churned through parts of Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania late Friday, knocking down a number of rural buildings, trees and power lines, but causing no serious injuries, authorities said.

Two children suffered minor cuts and bruises when their mobile home in Carroll County, Ohio, was demolished by the twister, according to the Carrollton Fire Department. Several unoccupied buildings near the residence were also damaged, a spokesman said.

Robber captured

LODI, Ohio (AP) - A 62-yearold career bank robber, who boasted of 55 bank jobs before he broke out of federal prison in April, was wounded and captured in a hail of gunfire Friday night after holding FBI agents at bay for nearly nine hours.

FBI special agent John Dunn said Edward "Fast Eddie" Watkins, who at times held a revolver to his own head, was felled as authorities tried to use a trained police dog to disarm him.

About a dozen FBI agents stood or crouched behind automobiles within about 10 feet of Watkins for hours before the capture. He had been the object of an intense manhunt since April 29 when he escaped from the federal prison in Atlanta. The standoff began about noon when the FBI closed in on Watkin's car and shot out the tires. The gunfire broke out at about 8: 40 p.m.

Driver impaled

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) -A Merced County man was listed in fair condition Friday in Memorial Hospital after surgeons removed a two-inch-thick branch from his chest.

Tibursio Gonzales, 21, of Planada, was impaled by the threetraffic accident on U.S. 101 near Cotati, 10 miles south of here.

A spokesman for the state Highway Patrol said that when Gonzales' tractor-trailer rig drifted onto the road's right shoulder, an overhanging tree limb jutted into the truck's cab and entered Gonzales' chest at an angle.

It went through his body, emerging near his left shoul-

The branch caused no major blood vessel damage and missed Gonzales' heart.

Suit filed

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) - A number of oil companies doing business in Connecticut filed suit Friday in U.S. District Court seeking to block the imposition of a gross receipts tax approved by the General Assembly this year.

The measure would impose a 2 percent levy on gross revenues of oil companies operating in Connecticut.

The suit, filed by Mobil Oil Corp. and a number of other oil companies, seeks a declaratory judgment and injunctive relief.

It asks that the section of the act which prevents the tax from being added to the price of petroleum products sold in Connecticut be declared invalid, according to a Mobil statement.

Inmate arrested

HELENA, Okla. (AP) - A 16-year-old inmate of the Helena State Training School for Boys was arrested Friday in connection with the death of a school employee, whose body was found earlier in the day.

Ed Moore, assistant district attorney for Alfalfa County, said the youth was being held on a first-degree murder complaint. Moore refused to reveal the boy's name because of his age.

Maxine Fullerton, 56, of Hele-na, was found dead in a school laundry room. Moore said preliminary reports showed she was sexually attacked and then stabbed several times, choked and beaten on the head

The school was sealed off after the body was discovered.

Court seats, nominations 'up for grabs'

By The Associated Press

Three high court seats and three congressional nominations are up for grabs when voters return to the polls for Saturday's runoff election. At stake statewide are Democratic nominations for the Place 1 seat on the Supreme Court and Places 2 and 3 on the Court of Criminal Appeals. Democratic congressional hopefuls in two districts, the 22nd and 14th, and Republican candidates in the 10th will face off for the chance to win a trip to Washington during the November general election.

The low key judicial races received little attention during the original May 3 elections when presidential candidates stumped the state to grab the public eye.

The hottest race of the medium-cool campaigns is the contest to replace retiring Supreme Court Associate Justice Zollie Steakley.

Judge Jim Wallace, 51, of the Houston Court of Civil Appeals vies with Judge John D. Phillips, 63, of the Austin Court of Civil Appeals for the high court vacancy.

The two were thrown into a runoff when Wallace got 45.68 percent of the vote on May 3 and Phillips, 33.28. Wayne Scott, a St. Mary's University. law professor, missed the cut with 21.04 percent.

The Court of Criminal Appeals race for Place 2 is between incumbent Judge W.T. Phillips, 67, and Austin attorney Michael J. McCormick, 35. McCormick received 40.59 percent of the May vote, Phillips ran second with 32.82, and Dallas lawyer John E. Humphreys, 55, lost out with 26.58.

In Place 3, incumbent Judge Tom Davis, 58, collected 41.33 percent of the vote for his runoff against Austin attorney Edith Roberts, 47. Ms. Roberts got 31.16 percent, beating Houston lawyer Walter Boyd's 27.50 per-

No Republicans filed for any Criminal Appeals positions, but Places 1 and 4 on the Supreme Court will be bi-party contests in the November

The Democrat congressional contest in District 14 that runs from Corpus Christi north into Central Texas is between Nueces County Judge Bob Barnes, a 20-year veteran of county government, and state Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado, Patman edged Barnes in the first bout, polling 35 percent to Barnes' 31.

Perennial comeback candidate Bob Gammage is trying to retake the Democrat nomination in Houston's district 22. Gammage won the nomination in a 1976 special election.

Inflation cools as unemployment hits 7.8 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate rocketed to 7.8 percent in May, the highest since President Carter took office, as the deepening recession took its toll on jobs but continued to cool inflation, according to government data released Friday.

Separate reports on jobs and wholesale prices released by the Labor Department reflected the sharperthan-expected falloff in the U.S. economy, which is predicted to decline through the rest of the year.

The 0.8 of a percentage point increase in the unemployment rate in May equalled the rise in April and produced the largest two-month jump in joblessness since World War II, the Labor Department report said.

It meant that nearly 8.2 million people were out of work last month, compared with 7.3 million in April and 6.4 million in March. The jobless rate had not been at a 7.8 percent level since November 1976, the month in which Carter was elected to office. And it was 0.4 of a percentage point higher in May than it was in January 1977, when Carter was sworn in.

Meanwhile, inflation at the wholesale level continued to slow, signaling the likelihood of further price moderation at food, drug and other retail outlets in coming months.

The Labor Department's Producer Price Index for finished goods rose a modest 0.3 percent last month, down from the 0.5 percent rise in April and the smallest monthly increase in more than 21/2 years.

President Carter, speaking to state Democratic leaders invited to the White House Friday afternoon, reiterated his contention that "we have turned the corner on inflation." He did not mention the unemployment figure. The index "is the lowest we've had since 1977," Carter said. "And we hope that during the summer we'll have good statistics to present to the American people as a demonstration of our good stewardship.

"We do have a serious problem with a recession that's upon us, but we're taking the proper action to minimize the damage to our people."

Food prices advanced 0.1 percent in May, compared with a drop of 2.8 percent in April, the report showed. Prices on energy-related products went up 0.8 percent last month, for the smallest rise at wholesale since the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries began its dramatic 1979 crude oil price boost. Consumer goods excluding food and energy rose 0.4 percent, compared with 0.6 percent in

On another front, the Federal Reserve Board reported Friday that consumer installment debt fell nearly $2 billion in April as Americans paid. off more than they borrowed for the first time since May 1975.

The decline in consumer debt had been expected in the wake of the slow consumer borrowing by establishing controls on credit, including retail and bank charge cards.

The Federal Reserve Board has since halved the credit controls, but many analysts do not believe the easing will result in an immediate resumption of consumer borrowing.

Americans had increased their outstanding debt by $1.4 billion in March and $2.3 billion in February.

"The news on the inflation front is indeed encouraging," Janet L. Norwood, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, told the Joint Eccnomic Committee of Congress.

On the other hand, she acknowledged, "Since the onset of the recession in January, the unemployment rate has risen steeply and ... unemployment has risen for every major demographic and age group of the about 6,500 residents, officials said. The train operated by Kansas City Southern & Louisiana and Arkansas Railroad Co. derailed about 2:30 a.m. as it headed into Dallas from Shreveport, La.

Leaks developed in one tanker containing liquid propane and and two containing styrene monomer, a colorless liquid used to make polystyrene plastic.

Police went door-to-door to rouse residents near the accident. Police had said that a total of 8,000 residents were evacuated, but later revised the figure to 6,500. The evacuation ended after about 12 hours.

By mid-afternoon, workers had succeeded in plugging leaks in the propane tank car and one of the tank cars carrying the styrene monomer. They were trying to right the second car containing 40,000 gallons of styrene monomer, so it could be drained of the chemical.

Firefighters poured water on the cars, and bulldozers made a dam to contain the diluted styrene.

New Mideast peace declaration due?

By The Associated Press

A new Middle East peace declaration may emerge from a summit meeting next week of European Common Market countries despite objections by the United States, according to sources in Bonn, West Germany.

The sources said the Common Market members were preparing a declaration calling for the right of the Palestinians to self-determination to be discussed at Thursday's meeting in Venice, Italy.

A London newspaper, the Guardian, said the Common Market would produce a declaration that would formally recognize the Palestine Liberation Organization. The Bonn sources denied this report.

There have been reports that French Foreign Minister Jean Francois-Poncet would like to see the Common Market summit meeting seek direct involvement of the PLO in further peace negotiations.

U.S. President Carter has expressed concern that any European initiative could undermine further the stalled Egyptian-Israeli talks on Palestinian autonomy.

Israel's foreign minister, Yitzhak Shamir, received assurance Friday that Denmark opposes any move to give the Common Market an active role in the Middle East on the basis of a new status for the Palestinians, official sources in Copenhagen re-

Shamir stopped in Copenhagen on a European swing that took him earlier to the Netherlands and Belgium. Shamir's mission had been described as an attempt to talk the Common Market countries out of any move at this time to amend the United Nations resolution referring to the Palestinians as refugees.

In Copenhagen, the Israeli foreign minister met with Kjeld Olesen, his Danish counterpart, and also had talks with Prime Minister Anker Joergensen.

According to the Copenhagen sources, Olesen said he did not foresee any declaration from the Common Market summit giving recognition to the PLO. The Danish view is that the Common Market cannot extend recognition to any government or organi-

The Common Market already has already come out in favor of a "homeland" for the Palestinians, but Olesen was quoted as expressing strong doubt that the West European countries were prepared now to intervene further in Middle East developments by calling for "a Palestinian state."

The vice president of Israel's Parliament, Moshe Meron, said if the Common Market should decide to recognize the PLO, Israel would not go to war. He told reporters in Vienna, Austria, however, that any nation recognizing the PLO would be encouraging terrorism. Meron was in Austria to address a meeting of the Austrian-Israeli Society.

'Small tremor' felt near Kermit

Oil company officials keep eye on growing crater

KERMIT, Texas (AP) - Oil company officials watched nervously Friday as a sinkhole larger than four football fields gobbled more West Texas land.

A Winkler County sheriff's spokesman said two roads leading to the giant chasm were closed to crowds of spectators

The sinkhole, measuring about 400 yards by 200 yards, was jiggled by a small tremor early Friday, but seismologists in Golden, Colo., said it was not large enough to be measured. A strong gas smell accompanied the tremor and returned when a 16-foot by 20-foot chunk of earth fell into the hole about 8 a.m., deputies said. While sinkholes are not uncommon in West Texas, "it's a lot bigger than anything that I've ever seen," said Pam Muller, assistant earth sciences professor at the University of Texas-Permian Basin at Odessa. She said acid formed naturally by carbon dioxide in the air and rain slowly dissolves the limestone common in the area. As the limestone dissolves, an underground cave or area of spongy rock is formed, she said. If the topsoil caves in, a sinkhole is formed.

Gurgling muck that rose in the crater at one point had receded to 30 or 40 feet, they said.

Workers for Petro Lewis Corp. completed a cement cap below an oil well about 100 feet from cracks stretching from the sinkhole.

The plug extends to 2,100 feet.

"We could lose the complete well if the crater would expand," said District Superintendent Jim Harrison. But when you lose that well, if you didn't have that zone capped down there, you would have expulsion of oil and gas into the crater."

The well produces 40 barrels of oil a day, he said. Cracks extending from the sinkhole also were 300 feet from a highway and 1,110 feet from a Shell Oil Co. tank

Shell officials said they might pump the 122,000 barrels of oil from the tanks if the crater continues to grow. The sinkhole, only three yards wide when discovered Tuesday morning, broke some pipes leading to the tank farm as it expanded. Flow from those pipes was shut

Bible among 'banned' books

WHITEVILLE, N.C. (AP) - The Bible is listed as an adult book at the Columbus County Library and under a recently adopted policy, children can't check it out without their parents' permission.

Last month, after a dispute over adult books, the library's board of trustees decided not to allow children 17 and under to check out adult books without their parents' permission, according to librarian Amanda

"We didn't change the classification of the Bible," Miss Bible said

The controversy over children's access to books for adults began in April, when Elaine Cumbee complained that her 12-year-old daughter checked out the novel "Wifey" by Judy Blume. Ms. Blume is a well-known children's author, and "Wifey" was her first book written for adults. It contained explicit sexual passages. A number of other people, including several ministers, favored restricting access or banning some books.

Miss Bible said that in the absence of any guidance on how books should be classified in carrying out the new policy, the board decided to use its existing classification system, which listed the Bible as an adult book.

Mrs. Cumbee said she couldn't believe the Bible would be restricted. "It would be blasphemy to keep the Bible from children," she said.

Override buries Carter's gasoline fee

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate on Friday joined the House in burying President Carter's dime-a-gallon gasoline fee with the first override of a Democratic president's veto by a. Democratic-controlled Congress in 28

The Senate brushed aside Carter's veto by a crushing 68-10 vote, far in excess of the two-thirds vote needed for an override. The House cast a 335-34 override vote against the veto Thursday night.

The vote forces into law over Carter's objections a ban on imposition of the fee the president announced last March to encourage less driving and save imported oil.

The fee had been scheduled to take effect on May 15 but was stayed by a federal judge's order. The administration is appealing that order, but the override appears to make the legal issue an academic one

Meanwhile, the U.S. Court of Appeals postponed oral argument on the government's motion to have the gasoline fee declared legal by the courts. Argument was scheduled for Monday, but the appeals judges instead directed that the government and those challenging the fee file legal papers informing the court of the present posture of the case in light of the congressional votes.

On May 13, a U.S. district judge ruled the fee was invalid because federal laws only permitted the president to regulate imported oil. The fee would have applied to gasoline refined from both domestic and imported crude oil.

The fee was challenged in the courts by a coalition of consumer groups, members of Congress and petroleum

Carter, whose previous 21 vetoes all were sustained, became the first Democratic president to be overridden by a Democratic Congress since Harry S. Truman's veto of an immigration bill was overridden in 1952. However, Republican Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, Richard M. Nixon and Gerald Ford had a total of 19 vetoes overridden

A resolution repealing the fee had passed the House and Senate earlier this week by overwhelming margins and made it unlikely that Carter could win a veto confrontation.

But he vetoed it anyway on Thursday, acknowledging the political unpopularity of the fee while urging lawmakers to rise above politics and let him imposé it.

Fund for jobless workers headed for fate of similar aid programs

By OWEN ULLMANN

WASHINGTON (AP) - A special benefit fund that aids 600,000 jobless workers was headed for bankruptcy Friday and other federal programs faced a similar fate as they became hostages in a bitter congressional impasse over a new budget.

House leaders have blocked a way for providing emergency funds to the unemployment benefits account in an effort to increase pressure on Congress to break its stalemate over the shape of the 1981 budget.

"This is pretty outrageous," said one official at the Labor Department, which has been pleading in vain for Congress to keep the Federal Unemployment Benefits Account solvent. 'Some (in Congress) think it's silly to hold 600,000 people hostage to get a budget through that is not palatable to the House. Meanwhile, other government programs running short of money for 1980, including disaster relief aid and benefits for ailing coal miners, may run dry soon without infusions of cash from Congress.

With the House and Senate mired in a dispute over levels of defense and social spending for fiscal 1981, it is unclear when more money for the current spending year will be made available. Any movement toward a compromise is not considered likley before late next week at the earliest.

The jobless benefits fund has been providing supplemental unemployment benefits to 334,000 workers, most of them in the auto industry, who have been laid off as a result of increased sales of imported goods.

The fund also has been paying benefits to 265,000 former federal employees, postal workers, military personnel and CETA public job holders, all of whom are not eligible for regular state benefits.

Regular benefits, which are now going out to about 31/2 million jobless people, are paid from a different fund and are not in danger of running out, Labor Department officials said. However, checks from the special fund, which have been averaging nearly $100 a week, are expected to stop flowing Monday at the latest.

Robert A. Schaerfl, a Labor Department official who has been monitoring the fund, said half or more of the states were expected to run out of money on Friday. "It now appears that as many as a third to half the states will have money through Monday," he added.

Officials have been juggling funds around from state to state so everyone runs out at about the same time, said Schaerfl.

He added that recipients already have been told that payments would be interrupted for at least two weeks to a month, and longer as the congressional budget stalemate drags on. The Labor Department said Louisiana, West Virginia and the District of Columbia have deided to keep payments flowing by using their own funds until they can be reimbursed by the federal government. Connecticut officials will do the same, but only for former federal personnel.

The department has exhausted its original appropriation of $450 million in 1980 because of larger-than-anticipated layoffs in the auto industry. Now, the agency is seeking an additional $1.1 billion to last through the fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30.

The request is included in a $14.4 billion supplemental spending bill the administration has sent to Congress.

But Congress already is over its self-imposed 1980 budget ceiling and, under a law it passed in 1974; cannot consider further increases unless it first raises the budget ceiling. A proposal to raise the ceiling is contained in the 1981 budget package.

Congress could waive the 1974 law and provide emergency funds to keep programs operating, as it has done recently for the food stamp program and the Federal Trade Commission. But House leaders have refused to schedule additional waivers in hopes of forcing a settlement on the new

Calm may signal another. eruption of Mount St. Helens

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) -Mount St. Helens has settled into a sullen calm that geologists said Friday might signal another eruptive blast in the making.

Tim Hait, a U.S. Geological Survey spokesman, said scientists don't know what to make of the volcano's quiet. He noted that the mountain had settled into a period of ominous calm before its devastating May 18 explo-Hait also said at a briefing that he doesn't know what effect a powerful lunar tidal pull will have on the volcano next Friday - Friday the 13th. At 10 a.m. that day, the moon will be at its closest point to the mountain since May 17, the day before the volcano's explosion.

'I guess another one of these things is coming up on the 13th. I can't really speak to that except to say we'll all have to watch to see what happens," Hait said.

Geologists, he said, don't expect another blast to equal the concussion of the May 18 explosion, which had a force estimated at nearly that of a hydrogen bomb. But scientists would not be surprised to see smaller lateral blasts shoot from the mountain, more flows of hot material from within the volcano and a lava dome forming in the crater, he said.

16-year-old Midlander detained in burglary, theft of automobile

A 16-year-old Midland youth is in custody in connection with the theft of an automobile and a burglary with intent to commit murder.

According to police, the youth was offered a ride home Thursday night from a bar in the 200 block of North Lee Street. The man offering the ride tossed his car keys to the youth so he could go ahead and unlock the doors.

The man told police he walked back into the bar and when he came back out a few minutes later, he saw the youth driving off with his car.

The man's house key was on the key ring he tossed to the youth, and the youth knew where the house was located, the man said. Shortly afterward, the man's mother awoke when she felt someone touching her. She reported that the youth attempted to stab her with a butcher knife but she rolled out of the way, and the youth

Oregon legislators reject part of grant aiding refugees

U.S. Congress, Oregon legislators on Friday rejected part of a federal grant to help Indochinese refugees learn English

The Legislature's Emergency Board, which handles budget matters between sessions, voted 12-3 to refuse $3.4 million next year to pay for teaching refugees the basic language skills they need to obtain and hold a

The board, however, did accept $600,000 to fund the adult refugee education program in the community colleges through September.

In taking the action, members of the board said they were unhappy about a proposal before Congress to eliminate the states' portion of federal revenue-sharing. The proposal, part of the attempt to balance the federal budget, would cost Oregon $13 million, most of which normally is used for basic school support. "How is it," said Sen. Ed Fadeley,

D-Eugene, "that there is $3.4 million for adult education for these refugees and you (Congress) do not have state revenue sharing funds to send to Oregon to educate our own children?"

"I think we need to pause and ask the question - whether the question is ever heard or answered - 'Just what are the values (of Congress)?" Fadeley said.

But one member of the board, Rep. Vera Katz, D-Portland, said her colleagues were being hypocritical.

"It has been the state legislatures that have attacked Congress for overspending," Ms. Katz said, "and it's been state legislators - including some sitting around this table - who have demanded the budget be balanced."

Bob Clausen of the state Department of Education said he was extremely disappointed by the board's action but said he hoped the legislators will change their minds in September and continue the program.

More boats cross Florida Straits

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) - More stragglers from the Freedom Flotilla began making their way across the Florida Straits on Friday, following the 90-mile route that has led more than 110,000 Cuban refugees to the United States in the past seven

The Coast Guard reported that about 15 boats left the Cuban port of Mariel early in the day, with the first of them expected to reach Key West by nightfall.

Based on earlier estimates, the Coast Guard says about a dozen or so boats remain in the harbor that once was jammed with ships of all shapes and sizes, from working shrimp boats to sleek yachts.

'I wouldn't even hazard a guess about when the last ones are going to leave," said Coast Guard spokesman Joe Amato.

Radio Havana said some 50 boats are still at Mariel.

'We're not sure how many boats remain, but we know it's better than a few weeks ago when we had 2,000 boats there," said Coast Guard spokesman Mike Kelly.

Small groups of Cuban-Americans waited Friday at Key West for the last boats, quietly fixing canvas and cardboard shelters against the approaching rainstorms.

Most were gloomy, admitting they had little hope their relatives would arrive.

"I've been here 33 days, though," said Jose Macias of Miami. "I can wait a couple more.

Eustguio Robaina of Hialeah said he had spent a month in Mariel harbor, but the boat he helped charter was loaded up with prisoners selected by Cuban authorities, instead of the relatives he and others had hoped to bring out.

"They said my relatives would be put on the next boat, but the next boat never came. I'm very depressed," he

More than 2,400 boats have returned to Florida from Cuba, although the total includes an unknown number of boats that made more than

Lightning bolt restores man's sight, hearing

FALMOUTH, Maine (AP) — A 62-year-old man, blinded in a traumatic accident nine years ago, regained his sight after he was struck by lightning near his home, his wife and doctor said Friday.

Doctors confirmed that Edwin E. Robinson, a former truck driver could see for the first time since he became blind as the result of a spectacular highway accident nine years ago.

"It (his sight) isn't completely restored," said Robinson's wife, Doris. "But he can see straight in front of him, which he hasn't been able to do in nine years.

"You read about things like this, but you can't really believe them," she said.

Robinson was knocked to the ground by lightning Wednesday when he took shelter beneath a poplar tree near his house in this Portland suburb during a thunderstorm

"It sounded like someone snapped a whip. The accident nine years ago. The spiral design next thing I knew, I came to, face down in the water in the background in evidence of the last at the foot of the tree," he recalled. His wife said

"When I got up that evening, I was sitting in the chair in the front room. I could see the plaque on the wall, and I could see the clock. But the clock kept fading in and out," he said.

His wife found him in his bedroom. "I can see you! I can see you! I can see the house! I can read!" she quoted him as saying. She also said he was able to hear perfectly without his hearing Dr. William F. Taylor examined Robinson on Friday and confirmed he had regained both sight and hearing. Calling it "one for the books," Taylor said the rubber-soled shoes Robinson was wearing when struck by lightning may have saved his life.

Robinson's ophthalmologist, Dr. Albert Moulton of Portland, attributed the dramatic event to trauma. "It was traumatic when he lost his sight, so maybe his sight was restored by this trauma. Anything is possible," said Moulton. Mrs. Robinson said she was being deluged with calls from friends and well-wishers who heard about her husband's recovery. She recalled that when he lost his sight in a 1971 car-truck accident, "it was considered a miracle" that he survived. He suffered an apparent blow to the head when his truck overturned. After wearing a hearing aid since the accident, Robinson said, now he said, "I can put both hands over my ears as tight as I can hold them, and I can still hear what people say." He said he felt "great," despite the feeling of exhaustion that still lingered from the lightning

The only bad thing, he joked, was being able to see how badly his house needed new paint and repairs to a leaky roof.

"Now I can see it," he said. "It never bothered me

WASHINGTON (AP) — The public often is the victim rather than the beneficiary of the Food and for the applications - including 11 for so-called Drug Administration's lengthy testing process for new drugs, congressional investigators said Fri-important drugs - was about 20 months. Under existing law, the FDA, which regulates all U.S. drug testing and marketing, is required to approve new drug applications within 6 months unless an extension is agreed to by the agency and the applicant.

'The lengthy approval process delays the therapeutic advantages of important new drugs to the public and, according to industry officials, adds substantially to the cost of developing new drugs," said the report, which was based on a 3-year study of 'The FDA is strangling in their own bureaucratic bog," Rep. James H. Scheuer, D-N.Y., who requested the report, said at a news conference.

Scheuer said "it seems pitiful to me" that children and adults "can suffer and die needlessly" before the FDA is able to reach a decision on approving new and beneficial medication. The report added that a number of important new drugs were approved in certain foreign countries in less time than in the United States. A survey of six countries showed the average approval time for 14 selected drugs in the United States was 23 months, the report said. Only Sweden, at 28 months, took longer. The average approval times in the other countries were: Great Britain, 5 months; Switzerland, 12; Canada, 16, and Norway,

The report noted that the Department of Health and Human Services has directed the FDA to reduce the processing time for drug approval applications by 15 to 25 percent and legislation is pending in Congress to speed up the procedure

In addition, the report said, FDA is taking actions to streamline its approval activities. "However, even if FDA meets its goal to speed up the process, the average time for approval of new drugs will still take about 15 months," the report In response to the report, FDA spokesman Wayne Pines said the agency has a "priority system" to allow needed drugs to get onto the market more quickly than usual. And in a separate statement, the FDA said its approval process must balance speedy approval of new drugs with the responsibility to protect the public from drugs that are not safe or effective.

The FDA said, "The system is deliberate and thorough, but those important new drugs that genunely advance medical care tend to be approved today at about the same time - generally within a few months - in most developed countries of the Pines added that once the agency approves a drug for sale, it may take several years to get it off the market if it is later found to be dangerous.

Less can cost you more, study of air routes reveals

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Less can be more in the airline business these days.

The distance from Denver to Portland, Ore., for helf that from New York to Los example, is less than half that from New York to Los Angeles. But the cheapest available fare is almost one-third more.

The $99, coast-to-coast fare introduced by four major airlines on Friday and Saturday points up the fact that passengers on competitive routes often pay less money to go further.

The Associated Press selected several cities and routes at random and checked to see how fares compared with the promotional offerings between the East and West Coasts.

The cheapest United Airlines fare from Denver to Portland — a distance of just over 1,200 miles — is the night-coach, super saver, with an advance purchase requirement and other restrictions. It costs $261 round-trip, including tax. From now until the end of June, however, you can get a one-way, nighttime ticket between New York and Los Angeles - a distance of more than 2,700 miles — for $99 on Eastern, American, United or Trans World Airlines. There are no advance-purchase or minimum-stay requirements; the same fare applies between New York and San Francisco.

Eastern, which only recently began flying the transcontinental route, was the first to announce the special $99 fare. American was second. Its $99 fares took effect Friday night. United and Trans World Airlines are matching the new prices, effective Saturday night.

Travelers between Denver and Portland aren't the only ones who pay more for less. The cheapest roundtrip fare between Cleveland and Los Angeles which are about 400 miles closer to each other than New York and Los Angeles - is $303, according to United Airlines. That's $105 or about 50 percent more than the coast-to-coast round trip at $99 each

Florida patrolman indicted for abuse

MIAMI (AP) - A white former Florida Highway Patrolman has been named in the first indictment handed down by a federal grand jury investigating civil rights cases involving area law officers.

Relatives of a sexually abused black girl say the indictment of the former patrolman was what the child needed to recover from the experience. And one Miami black leader said the indictment Thursday was what the community needed to recover from last month's race riots.

The federal grand jury, investigating cases that helped spark the rioting, indicted Willie T. Jones on charges of illegally arresting and sexually abusing the 11-year-old girl.

"It's the first step in 1,000 toward justice. I'm so relieved. They believed us," said the girl's mother. Jones and his lawyer were unavailable for com-

Jones pleaded no contest to similar charges in state court in January 1979 and was sentenced to three years' probation. He was permitted to resign his post with no mention of the incident or his arrest in his personnel records.

Black community leaders charged racism. "It's nice to know that there is a higher authority that can take up the slack when the local system fails," said Marvin Dunn, community psychologist at Florida International University.

"I think the indictments will be well received in the black community — the timing couldn't have been better," Dunn said. "I think if the federal grand jury hadn't returned them, we would have had disaster all over again."

The child was living with an uncle in Homestead. Fla., at the time of the alleged assault in Jones' patrol car. Her uncle, who asked for anonymity to protect the child's identity, said, "She needed to know that something was going to be done."

Authorities said Jones would surrender today to U.S. marshals.

Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti ordered a special team of civil rights attorneys and FBI agents to begin the inquiry after rioting shattered a northwestern Miami black community.

In three nights of burning and looting that started
May 17, 16 persons lost their lives. Authorities estimated riot damage exceeded $100 million. The violence erupted after four white former policemen were acquitted in the beating death of a black businessman.

Tension already was high in the black community. Last year, a black homeowner was beaten when five officers looking for a drug suspect raided the wrong house. Last month, a nationally known black leader, former Dade School Superintendent Johnny Jones, was convicted of second-degree grand theft for trying to use $9,000 in school funds to buy plumbing fixtures, some of them gold-plated, for his vacation

One count of the federal indictment Thursday charged Jones with unlawfully arresting the girl on Jan. 9, 1979, in Homestead, and violating her constitutional right not to be deprived of liberty without due process of law.

The second count charged Jones with willfully assaulting and sexually abusing the girl in violation of her constitutional rights.

The trooper had contended he picked up the child because she fit the description of a youngster wanted for stealing candy in the area. Shopkeepers called before the grand jury reportedly testified that no thievery by a little girl had been reported to the

Biracial committee formed as town prepares for march

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga. (AP) - Five task forces here are beginning investigations of Johnson County's racial problems and alleged discrimination against black residents

And as part of a continuing protest of the problems, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference planned a march and rally at the county courthouse today. Each of the task forces has two chairmen - one black and one white - who constitute a biracial executive committee, Wrightsville businessman Jimmy Cook said.

"I don't want to be overly optimistic, but I am exceedingly pleased with the turnout," Cook said of a meeting to organize the task forces. "It was definitely a a success.

Cook, who has been coordinating the effort, said "some positive things that have happened in the county" include:

-Processing by the State Crime Commission of a $12,000 Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grant for Johnson County to hire a black deputy sheriff, and agreement by Sheriff Roland Attaway to advertise for the job as soon as he gets the -Agreement by the County Commission to extend the working hours of food stamp offices by six hours a

-Letting of contracts to pave three roads in or near black neighbor-

The Justice Department said Thursday a special grand jury would be empaneled in Savannah to investigate charges by protest leaders that sheriff's deputies have beaten black demononstrators, broken into homes and churches and jailed civil rights leaders without charges. Attaway has denied the accusations.

Tom Perdue, executive secretary to Gov. George Busbee, said state troopers would be at today's demonstration, and said he had asked the Justice Department to send moni-

Injured birds, animals get new chance to live by rescue serivce

By WILLIAM S. MURPHY The Los Angeles Times

FRESNO, Calif. - Birds and animals orphaned or injured in the High Sierra and the footbills of the San Joaquin Valley have a second chance for survival under a program sponsored by the California Department of Fish and Game.

Recognizing that rehabilitation efforts to save injured wildlife would tax the capabilities of an overworked staff of conservation officers, the department has enlisted volunteers throughout the state to care for animals in their homes until they are strong enough to return to their natural habitat. Cathy and David Garner operate the Fresno Wildlife Rescue and Rehabilitation Service Inc., under a special license from the state and federal govern-At their home now are two deer, a great horned owl, a barn owl and a 2-week-old weasel. Last year they cared for nearly 500 animals and birds. Among these were opossums, bobcats, foxes, coyotes and squirrels. "Here is a real tragedy," said Garner, a U.S.

Postal Service employee, as he removed the horned owl from its cage. "Someone shot him in the wing, and he was brought to us. We've healed the wound, but he'll never be able to fly again. That means he cannot hunt, and in the wilderness he has no chance of survival. Obviously, he can't be released. Zoos are crowded with owls, and it is against the law to keep them as pets. Hopefully, the Department of Fish and Game will permit some college or university to provide a home for him.

One of the two deer, both about a year old, was orphaned by a forest fire. Its mother died of burns shortly after giving birth. The deer had the run of the house when they were smaller, but now reside in the garage because of their size.

"We keep them separated from our dogs," Cathy Garner explained, "because we don't want them to lose their fear of them when they are returned to the wilderness. They have no fear of people, and this places them at a disadvantage. Fortunately, our Fish and Game Department is making arrangements to release them in Yosemite National Park. They won't have to worry about hunters there.'

Cathy Garner devotes considerable time lecturing about wildlife in schools. "Youngsters maim or kill many birds with BB guns," she said. "In rural areas here in the San Joaquin Valley, I tell them that the barn owl is the farmer's greatest friend. They keep the rodent population down. A barn owl will kill from 60 to 90 mice a night. Hopefully, the children get the message."

She is equally outspoken in her views about trying to make pets out of wild animals.

'People persist in bringing them into their homes," she said. "It's against the law to begin with, and its cruel to take them out of their natural environment.

The other day I received a call from a woman who was frantic. She had recently purchased a raccoon from a dealer. They are very smart animals, and she made the mistake of placing him in the bathtub. Raccoons are very dexterous with their paws. This one turned on the faucets and flooded the house

"He also raided the pantry and tore up the furniture. What can you tell a person like that? You can't turn the animals loose in the wilderness after they've been around people. They won't survive, and there is no way you can rehabilitate them.

She paused to feed a weasel with an improvised baby bottle. Barely 4 inches long, the weasel is thriving on a formula she devised. Ingredients are not divulged, primarily to discourage the public from making house pets of weasels.

Voters ignore Reagan 'age issue

By EVANS WITT Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter said the other day the voters will decide whether Ronald Reagan is too old to be president.

Perhaps ominously for Carter's re-election hopes, many Americans seem to have made the decision already. Their verdict - as of now - is that Reagan's 69 years do not make him too old to be president.

Thus, the "age issue" many thought would be the biggest stumbling block to the former California governor's campaign for the White House just isn't important to the electorate.

Only about one out of four Americans - 23 percent - said they thought Reagan's age makes him less able to handle the duties of the presidency, a recent Associated Press-NBC News poll found

But an overwhelming 70 percent said that his age makes no difference in how he would perform as the nation's chief executive.

Five percent said Reagan's age would make him a better president and 2 percent were not sure in the poll conducted May 28-30.

Reagan campaigned hard during the primaries to help push aside any concerns about his age and his ability to work hard in the Oval Office. Obviously, that effort succeeded to some degree.

Of course, in a presidential campaign that has already seen major swings in public opinion, these attitudes can change. The five months remaining until the general election might be marked by an incident that raises the "age issue" once again and makes it important in the voters' minds.

As of now, Reagan can take some comfort - and analysis of the poll results as well. The concern about his age is higher among Democrats than among either independents or Republicans.

Twenty-seven percent of Carter's party rank and file say Reagan is too old, while 67 percent say it from his mistake and the cadet's potential as an makes no difference.

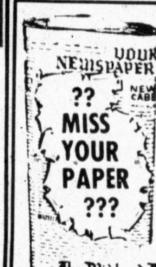

That compares to only 21 percent of the independents and 17 percent of the GOP who are worried about his age. Seventy-two percent of the indepen- treatment afforded those found guilty and those dents and 75 percent of the Republicans said it makes no difference.

Therefore, the two groups Reagan hopes to do best among in November - his own party and the independents - are the least negative about "the age issue."

Carter might take some comfort in that a quarter of the public is worried about Reagan's age. He probably shouldn't. As George Bush found out the hard way, that group isn't quite the foundation for success one might have

And Carter may face a general election problem

If the "age issue" won't work for Carter in the general election, the president's campaign staff might be thinking about the theme that worked so well for him in 1976 - trust.

In 1976, Carter the candidate said "Trust me." But he must now bid for re-election against a Republican opponent who is trusted more than he.

Only 40 percent of those questioned in the latest AP-NBC News poll said they trusted Carter a lot,

20 country singers, bands compete for big 'break'

By JOE EDWARDS

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (AP) - Hoping for a "break" in country music, 20 singers or bands get the chance of a lifetime this weekend.

They compete today and Sunday for $10,000 and the title "country music star of the future" at an outdoor festival which may attract 10,000

The 20, who already have won $1,000 each at 20 regional preliminary auditions, will compete for the $10,000 grand prize at the Wild Turkey Jamboree of Country Music.

The runnerup gets $5,000 and the third-place finisher receives $2,000. Three others collect $1,000 for honorable mention.

Ten of the 20 perform Saturday at the festival along with country music singers Marty Robbins and Lynn Anderson, the North Star Band and the Nashville Superpickers. # War makes victims of 500,000 Thais

By AMPORN TANTUVANICH

BAN NOI PARAI, Thailand (AP) - Border hostilities and the pouring of about a half million Cambodian refugees into Thailand has disrupted the lives of an estimated 200,000 Thais, making them unnoticed victims of a war that is not-their own.

Some of the more fortunate are living in special villages under the care of Thai troops, but a large number are scattered around the border area, hoping to return to their homes.

The Thais were forced to evacuate their homes because of the heavy influx of Cambodians and the war that raged in Cambodia, sometimes spilling across the border.

Thai soldiers who helped the villagers evacuate their homes now find themselves giving aid and shelter to remnants of the same Cambodian forces who shelled and attacked them only three years

Until late 1978 when Cambodia's energies were focused on its war with Vietnam, the 800-mile border was the site of bloody raids and massacres by the communist Khmer Rouge troops of Cambodian Premier Pol Pot. After the Vietnamese invasion of Cambodia in late 1978, Thailand adopted a policy of giving humanitarian assistance to Cambodians of all

Tae Rangkran, a resident of this remote border village, is among the survivors of a Khmer Rough incursion on Jan. 28, 1977. All his children were killed when some 300 Khmer Rouge attacked three Thai villages and killed more than 30 people before burning their houses to the ground.

"Yes, I know that our government is helping these Cambodians," he said. "But sometimes, I wish we could kill them all for what they did to us," he

The majority of the displaced Thais are those who were evacuated from their homes when Cambodian refugees swarmed to the Thai border after the Vietnamese invasion and fighting swirled along the

Sun-powered aircraft unveiled

By HALL DAILY

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The father of the first man-powered craft to make a sustained flight has unveiled the third generation of his revolutionary designs - the solar-powered Gossamer Pen-

And Paul MacCready on Thursday offered a preview of his next sun-powered craft, which he hopes will fly hundreds of miles.

MacCready, whose pedal-powered Gossamer Albatross flew across the English Channel in less than three hours last June, said solar cells will probably never be practical for general aviation. But he emphasized the project is intended to show the importance of finding alternative forms of energy.

"Rapid growth of the solar cell field would lessen our dependence on imported oil," the 54-year-old Pasadena aeronautical scientist said.

The Gossamer Penguin's propeller, powered by 18,000 photovoltaic cells mounted on a panel above the 72-foot-long wing, spun quietly in the land demonstration at the California Museum of Science and Industry.

"Legend has it that the sun inhibited flight by leiting the wax which held together Icarus' wings. MacCready said. "Now the sun will help us lift our wings - and our sights.'

The 54-year-old designer of the first sustained man-powered aircraft - the Gossamer Condor. predecessor of the Albatross - is now working on the Solar Challenger, which he hopes this summer to fly the 120 miles from San Diego to Los Angeles. Next year, he hopes it will fly from Paris to Lon-

"I felt that a long-distance flight with the Solar Challenger would focus attention on solar cells and help stimulate the public awareness and support which would speed their development and utilization," he said:

The Penguin flies about 15 mph at an average altitude of 12 feet. The 77-pound Challenger, which will have solar cells almost completely covering its wings, is expected to have a nine-foot propeller and cruise at 35 mph at altitudes of 200 to 5,000

The 68-pound Penguin has been flown with battery-power more than 50 times by MacCready's 13-year-old son, Marshall, and by test pilot Janice Brown, a 100-pound Bakersfield schoolteacher and veteran glider pilot, MacCready said.

The first official test flight for the mylar-covered, piano-wire controlled Penguin is to take place early next month at Edwards Air Force Base with Mrs. Brown at the controls, MacCready said. He said the Penguin cost more than $300,000 and the solar paneling for the Solar Challenger will cost Conceding solar-powered flight is not "all that practical," he said it may spur utilities, auto makers and home builders to use solar battery power.

The Thai Supreme Command said about 80,000 displaced Thais have been moved into 75 special villages under the care of Thai troops, while the rest are receiving food and other neccessities from international relief agencies.

Foreign royalty, government leaders and numerous celebrities have visited the United Nations-sponsored Cambodian refugee centers and the Cambodian encampments straddling the border. Very little of this attention was paid to the Thais and there is growing resentment by some in Thailand of international relief workers.

'There are 88 doctors and 345 nurses for the 130,000 Cambodians at the Khao-I-Dang holding center, but very few of these medical personnel are willing to work for the Thais in the border area," claimed a Thai relief officer.

The displaced Thais do not receive special financial help from the government, but Thai officials get assistance from two major international agencies the U.N. International Children's Emergency Fund and the World Food Program.

UNICEF has committed a million dollars for the affected Thai population in 65 villages in seven border provinces. As of April 15, the World Food Program had donated 6,000 tons of rice to the displaced Thais and is also developing a supplementary feeding program. The Food for the Hungry Program has proposed seven agricultural and animal-raising projects involving some $65,000.

Other volunteer agencies that have extended their assistance to the Thai border population include Catholic Relief Services, the YMCA, the International Rescue Committee, the Save the Children's Fund, the Church of Christ in Thailand and the community-based Emergency Relief Service.

But there is still reluctance among some agencies to assist the Thais in the border area. At a refugee conference last month, some volunteer agencies opposed a proposal for the setting up of a special body to help the displaced Thais, reasoning that "the Thais have their own government to take care of them." Some of the relief workers reminded their colleagues that they came to Thailand to help the Cambodians, not Thais.

"Let's face it, the affected Thais along the border will be forgotten when the Cambodian refugee problem is over or dies down," said a Western diplomat who asked anonymity. "The international community must plan long-range projects to help the Thais survive after the refugee problem is over and when the relief workers return to their countries."

Gulf & Western shows battery-motor system

NEW YORK (AP) - A new battery-motor system developed by Gulf & Western Industries Inc. could put peppier, inexpensive electric cars capable of 150 miles at 55 mph on one charge for about $3.45 - in American garages by 1985.

The system is "perhaps one of the most meaningful developments since the turn of the century," said G&W President David N. Judelson, who unveiled the new zinc-chloride battery and motor at a news conference Thursday.

"This is not a glorified golf cart," Judelson said, stressing that the battery-motor system would give electric cars a practical range and speed. "There is no other power source in the world that can do what this thing can

When installed in a compact car, the system would enable a motorist to drive 150 miles for about $3.45, compared to the $9.75 it would cost to run an otherwise identical car powered by a gasoline engine, Judelson said.

A car equipped with the system can accelerate to 30 mph in 9.8 seconds and has a top speed of 65 mph, Judelson said.

The battery system would need recharging for six to eight hours after every 150 miles. The system can also be used by utilities to store electricity during periods of slow demand for use during peak periods.

The new battery has a zinc-chloride base instead of the lead-acid chemistry of batteries presently used for auto starters and all electrical equipment on gasoline-powered cars.

G&W officials say 150,000 four-passenger cars powered by the new system could be produced by 1985 at a cost, in 1980 dollars, of $6,500 each or

By the year 2000, 6.6 million electric cars, or 39 percent of the projected U.S. total, could be rolling off assembly lines each year.

G&W demonstrated the new system, which has been under development for eight years, in two converted vehicles — a 3,000-pound Japanese-made Fujivan and a Volkswagen Rabbit — with rides through mid-town Manhattan.

A pilot plant opened by G&W in Greensboro, N.C., is currently producing the batteries and motors, Judelson said. G&W plans only to sell batteries and electric motors, not to manufacture electrically-powered

The few electric cars presently available have a range of 75 to 100 miles, and take longer to recharge and have slower accelerations than the G&W model.

The U.S. Energy Department and the Electric Power Research Institute, a utility group, have given G&W half of the $32 million spent to date for development of the system. The two groups have pledged an additional $11 million to the project.

G&W officials said the system would deliver even better performance in a vehicle that was specially designed for electric operation. A prototype of such a vehicle with a 200-mile range and a four-passenger capacity is expected in about nine

Church hosts musical

Spirit Wind 1980 will present the musical "Celebrate Life" at St. Paul United Methodist Church, 4501 Thomason Drive, at 7:30 p.m. Thurs-

'Celebrate Life," written by Buryl Red and Ragan Courtney, tells the story of Jesus as told through Gospel writers Matthew, Mark, Luke and

The presentation will be in the sanctuary. A nursery will be provided

This is second year of touring for the cast, which is composed of youth from throughout the Northwest Texas Conference. Directors for this production are Ann Peele Thomas, music director for the First United Methodist Church in Pampa, and Mark Gaskill, program director for the First United Methodist Church in Slaton.

The public is invited to attend.

Church seeking volunteers

Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity is seeking eight volunteers to teach English two evenings of the summer English programs for Cambodian refugees sponsored by local churches. It is not necessary to be a teacher and college students are welcome. The session will be held at Memorial Christian Church, 1001 Andrews Highway, July 22 and 24 from 6: 30 to 8: 30 p.m. Time spent on the project also involves a training session June 30 from 6: 30 to 8: 30 p.m. at Memori-

For more information or to volunteer call Nancy Rea at 682-5030, or Holy Trinity's office at 683-4207.

The Speers to perform Sunday

The Speers will perform in concert at the First Assembly of God Church, 100 W. Wadley Ave., Sunday at 7 p.m.

Since its beginnings in 1921, the group has won the Gospel Music Association's Dove Award seven times. Their repertoire includes old favorites as well as contemporary songs and arrangements. The public is invited to this free concert.

Full gospel meetings held

The public is invited to attend full gospel meetings each Sunday at the Affordable Inn, 3838 W. Wall St., at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. The meetings are to be held in the Colonial Room.

Area priests involved in changes

SAN ANGELO - Thirteen priests in the Catholic Diocese of San Angelo, which includes the Midland-Odessa area, are involved in personnel changes which went into effect June

Among those scheduled to retire is the Rev. John C. Lucassen, pastor at St. Anthony's parish in Odessa. He had served there since 1970.

Ordained to the priesthood in Trier. Germany, he came to the United tates in 1933 and was assigned at New Braunfels in the Archdiocese of San Antonio. He served for a time as assistant pastor in Beeville, and then was named pastor of St. James parish in Refugio, before coming to West Texas in 1948 where he served in St. Mary's parish in Odessa. He also served at St. Joseph's parish in Odessa and St. Joseph's in Fort Stockton prior to his pastorate at St. Anth-

Rev. Joseph Cain. Frey, pastor at St. Mary's parish in Odessa, has been named pastor at St.

Lawrence parish in St. Lawrence, near Garden City, and the mission of St. Thomas, Midkiff.

Colacicco, priest in charge of Our Lady of Lourdes in Andrews, has been named temporary administrator of St. Joseph's parish in Fort Stockton.

Chavez, pastor at Good Shepherd parish in Crane and the missions of Our Lady of Lourdes at Imperial and St. Isidore at Coyanosa, will become pastor at St. Anthony's parish in Odessa. Bridges, administrator at St. Joseph's parish in Fort Stockton, has been named pastor at St. Mary's parish in Odessa. In addition, he has been appointed Diocesan Superintendent of atholic Schools. Green, pastor at St. Patrick's parish in Brady, has been named pastor at Our Lady of Lourdes in Andrews. He is a member of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate.

Daugintis, pastor at St. James parish in Sanderson, has been named pastor at Good Shepherd in Crane. Cain, associate at St. Mary's parish in Odessa, has been named pastor at St. Ann's parish in Stamford with responsibility for the mission of St. George at Haskell. He is a member of the Canons Regular of the Order of the Holy Cross.

El Paso's procession returns

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A letter from Pope John Paul II and increasing local interest is bringing back El Paso's once famous Corpus Christi procession. The observance scheduled for Sunday honors the Eucharist during the Catholic feast day of Corpus Christi (body of Christ). The tradition was abandoned here in the mid-1960s.

In the early 1950s, El Paso's colorful procession was the largest of only four in the United States. It attracted 15,000 to 20,000 persons.

Jose Murillo, chairman of the event, said he believes El Paso had the only procession routed through the center of a town.

Midland church will present Mexico team

A team from the Diocese of Northern Mexico, headed by Bishop Romero, will be present Sunday at the 8 and 10 a.m. Sunday services at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, 1412 W. Illinois Ave.

There will be an opportunity for those interested to visit with them between services.

To whom are you enslaved

Do not let sin control your puny body any longer; do not give in to its sinful desires.

Do not let any part of your bodies become tools of wickedness, to be used for sinning; but give yourselves completely to God-every part of you-for you are back from death and you want to be tools in the hands of God, to be used for Sin need never again be your master, for now you are no longer tied to the law where sin enslaves you, but you are free under God's favor and mercy.

Does this mean that now we can go ahead and sin and not worry about it? (For our salvation does not depend on keeping the law, but on receiving God's grace!) Of course not!

Don't you realize that you can choose your own master? You can choose sin (with death) or else obedience (with acquittal). The one to whom you offer yourself he will take you and be your master and you will be his slave.

Thank God that though you once chose to be slaves of sin, now you have obeyed with all your heart the teaching to which God has committed you.

And now you are free from your old master, sin; and you have become slaves to your new master, righteousness.

I speak this way, using the illustration of slaves and masters, because it is easy to understand: just as you used to be slaves to all kinds of sin. so-now you must let yourselves be slaves to all that is right and holy.

In those days when you were slaves of sin you didn't bother much with goodness.

And what was the result? Evidently not good, since you are ashamed now even to think about those things you used to do, for all of them end in eternal doom.

But now you are free from the power of sin and are slaves of God, and His benefits to you include holiness and everlasting life.

For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. Romans 6:12-23

Device gives quadriplegic phone use

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (AP) - When Robert Marince wants to phone a buddy or check on his order at a pet shop, he can't just pick up a receiver

The 21-year-old Hopewell Township resident is paralyzed from the neck down. He became a quadriplegic in an auto accident three years ago.

But Rob is able to reach outside his bedroom walls by using a telephone device that he can operate independently. All he has to do is whistle and his calls go through.

"It keeps me active," Rob said. "It keeps me knowing what's going on." Lying flat on his back at his Beaver ing calls or "dial" regular and long distance numbers by whistling one of two pitches.

The homemade device consists of readily available parts, including semiconductor chips, spare pinball machine parts, microphones and two speakerphones. It works this way:

Rob whistles a low note, which produces the same effect as picking up the telephone's receiver. Orange digital numbers begin flashing in sequence on a display case. When Rob sees the digit he wants he whistles a second, higher, pitch that puts that digit into the memory bank. When he has selected all seven digits, the call

To invent the telephone device, Gary Marince, Rob's older brother, enlisted the aid of a friend. After 200 to 300 hours of trial and error, the device was put into operation in No-

Student trades cell for

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - Until six weeks ago, Mary Wilson left classes at Arizona State University to return to her home behind the bars of the state women's prison.

The 27-year-old Miss Wilson was the first person in Arizona allowed to attend classes at a state university full time while serving a prison term, according to the state corrections department.

Now in work furlough, she's living at home with her mother, Josephine Goodrich of Phoenix, attending school mornings and working afternoons as programming researcher for KUPD-FM radio.

Sentenced in 1974 to five years, for drug use and another year for a prison escape, she will finish her term in November. And her goals are set: total freedom from prison, a degree in broadcast journalism and a responsible job using her education.

"It was hard shifting from an atmosphere of people telling you what to do in prison to another where teachers expected you to think and do everything for yourself," she says. "But it's been well worth it."

Miss Wilson looks and dresses like any other female college student. She's attractive with long black hair and flashing dark eyes. And since going to school, she has changed her approach to life

'It was easy to see Mary was a very smart girl," says Chuck Poole, Phoenix prison recreation director. "She was rebellious at first, but she matured quickly and realized that a college education was her chance to make something of herself."

Miss Wilson maintained a B average in the two-year Rio Salado Community College curriculum. In January 1979 she asked to continue classes at ASU. Poole discussed the idea with Superintendent of Women's Corrections Jacqueline Crawford, who approved the plan.

Miss Wilson was required to maintain a C average in a minimum 15credit-hour class load, but had a 3.5 average her first semester. If she missed a class, her college career was

She also was required to be totally honest in anticipating situations, including requests for dates.

"We covered everything from someone recognizing me as a prisoner and making a big deal out of it to what to do if one of the guys would ask me for a date," Miss Wilson says.

Professor Dudley Melichar of the ASU Criminal Justice Department enlisted two students, Judy Mattingly and Sharon May, to act as big sisters to Miss Wilson. Melichar and the students met weekly to discuss Miss Wilson's progress.

Miss Wilson paid for her lunches and transportation through a 30-centan-hour job as prison newspaper editor; a grant paid for her tuition and books. She attended the spring 1979: session, both summer sessions, and expects to graduate next July with her hachelor of science degree.

Miss Wilson kept a low profile among ASU's 35,000 students until her criminal justice professor, Dr. Andrew Van Esse, asked her to address the class. "It was a unique opportunity to get an inmate's point of view of the corrections system," he said. "Besides, I couldn't think of anything more dramatic than to introduce an inmate

Alpines on his 28-acre farm. He has raised horses and cattle in the past, but says he likes goats best of

"Been raisin' goats since 1971," he said. "Let's forget all this stuff about tin cans. I like 'em better than 2-to-1 over cattle; goats are nicer to work with. They're cleaner and smarter."

"Have you ever tasted goat's milk?" he asked, rising from his chair. "It's delicious. Here, try a glass. He poured the milk from a chilled bottle. And, sure enough, it was delicious. Sort of like liquid ice Cyrus now drinks at least a quart of goat's milk each and every day. He attributes his health to the milk, which is naturally homogenized. "It's not like the milk you get in the stores," he said. "That stuff has all the enzymes, minerals and vitamins killed out of it by the heat of the pasteurization process. The only nutritional benefit you get comes from what's put back in later." He milks his goats each morning and says some of the nannies give five and six quarts a day.

A highway and railroad on the causeway across Johore Strait is Singapore's only land link with another country. In the first four months of the year, 169 persons were arrested at causeway checkpoints compared to 66 in the same period last year, according to official statistics.

The drugs seized so far this year, mostly heroin, opium, marijuana and pep pills, had a street value of more than $13,890. Official sources said the increase in ant traffic was mainly due to the crippling of major syndicates, which forced junkies to visit Malaysia for fresh The relatively small amounts carried by ants also reflects Singapore's mandatory death penalty for anyone caught with more than 15 grams of heroin or 30 grams of morphine. Death by hanging was imposed under the Misuse of Drugs Act in 1975, and five people have been executed so far, including a 19-year-old woman. Nine men and two women sentenced to die are awaiting a date with the hangman or the outcome of appeals. Routine checks led to 90 percent of the causeway arrests this year and the remainder from dogs trained to sniff out hidden drugs.

Na-na-na-na-na If this gets your goat, relax. We're talking The goats, about 15 on each side of the runway, were greeting their master. They included nannies,

"I keep my bucks in another building. My goats couple of males, called "bucks" or "billies" by goat are all registered. See those kids? They were born this past weekend," said Cyrus, pointing to several frisky fellows with mottled gray coats. "I'll be removing their horn bumps in a couple of days." A recent widower, Cyrus spends at least six hours a day working with his goats. He says it helps him avoid depression. And, besides, it takes a lot of time to give the type of care he provides. "I do everything for them," he said. "I worm them, give them their shots, trim their hooves and brush them. I also feed them and change their water twice a day. Notice the narrow slots in their feeding boxes? That allows them to get to the hay with their heads, but not their feet. Goats are very clean animals. They won't eat hay they've stepped

Cyrus says he sometimes helps his nannies give birth, and has saved several kids.

"If a kid looks like it's not going to make it, I'll pump their lungs and blow into their mouths. I got one kid, named Teena, that I saved by warming her coat with my wife's hairdryer."

He says he'll only sell his kids to people who plan to raise them as dairy goats.
"Goat meat's delicious," he added, "and I've had people call me about buying one of my kids for eating. But, I'd no more sell one to eat than nothing. I just like 'em too much for that.'

During hazardous wastes hearings in Washington Friday, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., gestures with a container of sample water from a residential well. (AP Laserphoto)

Kennedy hears complaints on toxic waste dump sites

WASHINGTON (AP) - People who live near apparently toxic dump sites told Sen. Edward M. Kennedy on Friday that government officials have been unable or unwilling to respond to their pleas for help.

"By and large the government is not interested," the Rev. Bruce Young of Woburn, Mass., testified at a hearing as Kennedy returned to the Senate from his campaign for the Democratic nomination for presi-

'Mostly what happened was that we got the royal run-around," added Skip Foss of Erwin, Tenn.

'Nobody has the money to help us," said Kathleen Benesch of Jackson

Township, N.J. Kennedy, D-Mass., charged that President Carter's Office of Management and Budget had eliminated funds to give the Environmenal Protection Agency the ability to respond to health effects of hazardous waste

"It is extraordinary that...health considerations were explicitly omitted from the administration's legislative proposal to deal with this problem." he said.

Kennedy's underdog quest for the presidential nomination came up briefly at the hearing when Young said to him, "I don't know whether you have ever had a big dream, sena-

Kennedy at first deadpanned but responded with a grin after a ripple of laughter swept through the standingroom-only crowd.

Young then went on to say that his dream was to bring about "an investment of money, time and resources to see if there is a cause-and-effect relationship between chemicals and leu-

"Amen," Kennedy said. Young and other witnesses described severe illnesses, including leukemia, that they believe stem from chemicals at dump sites near their homes.

One witness, James G. McCarthy of Jackson Township, wept as he pleaded for the health of his children.

"I am 33 years old. I don't care what happens to me in the future. But I have two children. Are they going to live? Somebody has got to help us," McCarthy cried.

McCarthy, who lives a mile from a landfill dump site, said 10 persons out of about 160 in his neighborhood have serious kidney ailments. He said he lost a young daughter to a rare kidney disorder and has had a kidney removed himself.

Young said 1,500 people live in an area of Woburn and adjacent Reading, Mass., which is affected by a dump where toxic wastes have been abandoned for 130 years. He said the wastes include animal hides that have been treated with chemicals.

The source is in a position to know the strategy that is evolving as Reagan focuses on the all-important vice presidential spot. Five weeks before the Republican National Convention, when Reagan says he plans to make his decision known, Republican officials both in and out of Reagan's campaign are lobbying for their candidates; in recent days there have been several trial balloons boosting one candidate or another.

Reagan spokesmen are attempting to dampen the

'Gov. Reagan stands for a strong America at home and abroad. I'm convinced his campaign for adequate defense and an end to inflation and unemployment will bring a turnaround in this country, and I look forward to working in his behalf and working with my fellow senators to achieve his legislative program.'

Baker, who called off his own presidential bid last March, also gets high marks in Reagan's cam-

'He's not as strong a contender as the other two. He's in the next tier, but he is one of the front-runners," the source said. "Baker has had other senators lobby for him, and then within an hour,

Anderson campaign wins 'major victory'

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal judge handed independent presidential candidate John B. Anderson a major victory Friday by striking down a law limiting special low postal rates to the the two major

U.S. District Judge Jack B. Weinstein in New York said a new law permitting low third-class mailing rates only for the Democratic and Republican national committees was unconstitional.

George Frampton, an attorney for the Anderson campaign committee, said the decision would save the Republican congressman several hundred thou-

Other Anderson campaign staff members have estimated that the decison will save Anderson $344,-000 in the mailing of 6.5 million pieces of mail.

"This will have a real impact," Frampton said. Although Anderson is a Republican, he is seeking ne White House as an independent. He would benefit from Friday's ruling because the law struck down by Weinstein had given preferential treatment to candidates of the major political parties in the cost of

Under the special rates, voted by Congress as part of the 1980 Postal Appropriations Bill, the two major parties are charged 3.1 cents per piece of third-class mail, while everyone else pays 8.4 cents per letter.

The suit was originally filed by the American Civil Liberties Union last Feb. 14 before Anderson began running for president as an independent.

Arizona takes College title

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Craig Lefferts, with stellar relief help from Greg Bargar, held off repeated Hawaii rallies and pitched Arizona to the NCAA baseball title with a 5-3 College World Series victory Friday night.

The Rainbows, the surprise of the tournament, threatened the veteran Wildcats until Bargar came on in the seventh and sent the last seven Hawaii batters down in order.

Six singles in the fourth inning scored three Arizona runs, giving the Wildcats a 4-1 lead. They made it 5-1 in the sixth by taking advantage of a Rainbow error after two consecutive Arizona batters were hit by pitches from Hawaii reliever Mark Olmos.

Although Hawaii kept threatening, leaving 10 men on base, Lefferts and Bargar shut the Rainbows down.

Lefferts struck out Jay Erdahl to end a bases-loaded threat in the fourth. After Hawaii closed to 5-3 in the seventh, chasing Lefferts, Bargar came on and got Kevin Williams to ground out to end the inning.

Arizona won the title the hard way, sent to the losers' bracket by an opening game upset at the hnds of St. John's. Then the Wildcats, with six seniors among their eight regular players, clawed back by beating Florida State, Michigan, Hawaii and California to gain a berth in the title game.

The Wildcats' big efforts in those games were Lefferts' 8-0 shutout of Michigan, a 6-4 victory over the Rainbows in 11 innings Wednesday night and an 11-10 win over California in a wild slugfest Thursday night.

Lefferts got the win to improve his record to 7-2. The loser was Hawaii starter David Smith, 11-2.

Freshman defeats Sanford

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Auburn freshman Stanley Floyd handed Southern California's James Sanford, the world's top-ranked sprinter, his second straight defeat in the 100-meter dash, winning in a swift 10.10 seconds Friday night at the NCAA Track and Field Championships.

Track and Field Championships.

The 48-year-old Floyd, from Putney, Ga., flashed past early pacesetter Jerome Deal, the 1979 winner from Texas-El Paso, at the 25-meter mark and led the rest of the way. He barely held off challenges from Sanford and Mike Roberson of Florida State down the stretch.

Floyd's victory was his second in two weeks at the University of Texas' Memorial Stadium. On May 24, he won the Quad Conference championship in 10.07, his career best.

Roberson, the 1979 World University Games champion, finished second Friday night in 10.12 and Sanford was third in the same time. Sanford, the favorite in this meet in both the 100 and the 200, also was beaten last week at Berkeley, Calif., by Carl Lewis of Houston.

Lewis, skipping the 100 in this meet, earlier in the day won the long jump title with a career-best of 27 feet, 4% inches in outdueling 6-foot-8 Larry Doubley of Southern Cal.

In the 100, Deal faded to sixth behind Calvin Smith of Alabama and Eric Brown of UCLA.

Eric Brown of UCLA.

"When I beat Deal at the Quad Conference meet, I figured I could beat Sanford, too," said the confident Floyd, who is 15-0 for the year.

"I had a fast start, as fast as I had hoped," added Floyd.

In the last final Friday night sophomore Suleiman Nyambui of Texas-El Paso and Tanzania captured his second straight 10,000 meter title, easily beating 1977 champion Sampson Kimombwa of Washington State and Kenya Nyambui, the NCAA indoor mile and two-mile champion each of the past two years, was timed in 29:21.85 in the 10,000.

After Friday's five finals, UCLA led with 22 points, followed by Texas El Paso with 21, Southern California with 18, and Auburn and Florida State with 12 apiece.

In the 110-meter hurdles final, Greg Foster of UCLA won his second NCAA outdoor title, grabbing the lead early from Rodney Wilson of Villanova and coasting home in 13.42.

"The time was very diappointing," said Foster, who won his first national collegiate outdoor crown in 1978. "I got out slow and I ended slow. I was hoping for a 13.2."

Last year, Foster, a senior from Maywood, Ill., smashed into the sixth hurdle during the final and did not finish, relinquishing the title to Renaldo Nehemiah of Maryland. Nehemiah, the world record holder, did not compete this year since he has dropped off the Maryland team.

dropped off the Maryland team.
Texas-El Paso's Thommie Sjoholm of Sweeden, the third-place finisher in 1979, captured the hammer throw title this time with a heave of 225-0. Matt Mileham of Fresno State, who fouled on five of his six attempts, wound up

second at 224-7

Lewis' victory gave him both the NCAA indoor and outdoor titles this year, a remarkable accomplishment for a freshman.

His winning jump, however, was aided by a prevailing wind of 2.2 meters per second, just over the allowable speed of 2 meters per second, thus nullifying any possible record

BY TED BATTLES

Time sure flies when you're having

It took three hours and 34 minutes, an hour of that time devoted to the first inning, but few in the Two-Bit Beer Night crowd of 1,380 seemed to mind since the Midland Cubs more or less hung on to beat the Amarillo Gold Sox, 13-10, at Cubs Stadium Friday

The Cubs jumped on Amarillo starter Steve Fireovid, 5-3, who pitched a four-hitter in his last start against Midland, for the bulk of the damage in a. 10-rup first inning.

Shortstop Jesus Alfaro, extending his hitting streak to 10 games, hit a two-run triple to right and then lifted a two-run homer over the angle in right-center to highlight a first-inning barrage that saw Midland parade 13 men to the plate and pound out nine of their 15 hits.

Dave Stockstill and Jared Martin contributed run-scoring triples to the carnage. In addition to Alfaro, Scott Fletcher also had two hits in the opening frame, both singles.

Lefthander Gary Pickert relieved Fireovid, who allowed seven of the runs, and surrendered Martin's triple, a single by Fletcher and Alfaro's homer before he got the side out.

After that it was primarily a question of whether Midland's pitching could hold the fort. Randy Clark, now 3-3, lasted six innings and gave way to Kent Hunziker who had to get a final out assist from Bob Blyth after surrendering a two-run homer to Frankie George and a run-scoring double to Brian Greer in the ninth. Blyth picked up his third save.

George's homer was a monsterous belt, the first of the season to clear the doubledeck green monster in center. The win opened a six-game home stand which continues at 7:30 tonight with Henry Mack, 1-5, going against Troy Dixon, 4-6. Mack, who struck out 16 in one game on the recent road trip, beat Amarillo 4-2 for his lone victory while Dixon lost his last Cubs Stadium start, 6-2.

It was a dismal beginning for the Gold Sox. Manager Eddie Watt has now seen his Amarillo club lose 10 of its last 14.

Randy La Vigne upped his Texas League-leading runs batted in total to 45 by singling to right to plate a run in the first and then yanked his sixth homer over the left field fence to lead off the fourth. As it turned out, that was Midland's winning run, although Martin singled home Dave Stockstill, who had singleds later in the inning

The Cubs added another run in the fifth when Tom Grant singled, was forced at second by La Vigne, who then stole second and scored when J.W. Mitchell knocked Pickert out of the game with a single off his ankle to plate the run. The ball riccocheted into foul territory between home and first and Pickert hobbled off the field.

BRUIN BREWIN'S—First baseman Joe Hicks collected two hits in three trips to make it 16 hits for his last 36 at bats, hopefully chasing a slump that had tormented him for three weeks. "I was making contact, but the difference is the balls are going through for base hits now."... The San Diego Chicken comes to Cubs Stadium Sunday at 6:30 p.m. and General Manager Bill Rigney, Jr., may have additional bleachers put up in the outfield to handle the crowd. The Chicken will perform during the game...

NCAA official hit in head by shot

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — NCAA official James Smith was struck on the forehead above his right eye by a 16-pound shot hurled by Texas A&M's Tim Scott Friday night just before the start of the shot put event at Memorial Stadium.

Smith, an employee for the Texas Employment Commission, never lost consciousness and was rushed to an Austin hospital.

NCAA officials announced over the Memorial Stadium public address system that Smith would be OK. Smith was struck on the final warmup tess by Scott, one of the favorites in the event.

Smith was distracted just before Scott's put when he glanced up at a gun that signaled the start of the nearby 800-meter race.

Despite spectators yelling, "Watch out, watch out," Smith could not evade the iron ball and dropped in a heap as University of Texas trainers rushed to his side.

NCAA officials postponed the event until Saturday night.

Johnson has his day in state playoffs

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Herbert Johnson of Waskom had the kind of day sluggers dream about Friday, and Austin Westlake edged defending champion De Soto, 11-10, in a bitterly contested game for the Class AAA schoholboy baseball championship.

Johnson's feat — a bases-loaded home run and two triples in three times at bat, with seven RBIs and three runs scored — was perhaps the finest hitting performance in a single game in the history of the 32-year-old tournament.

Westlake's Calvin Schiraldi, a tireless 6 foot 4½ inch senior took a cue from three other tournament pitchers by returning with only 24 hours of rest to beat a slugging De Soto team.

The game was marred by a near-brawl between the two teams in the fourth inning after Westlake first baseman Jeff Arrington slapped a hard tag on Brad Perrier of De Soto, and Jeff's brother, second baseman Jim Arrington, bumped Perrier.

Both benches emptied, led by a charging Kevin Smith of De Soto, who had to be restrained by other players and was escorted by a coach back to the bench.

The 21 rans by both towns were the

The 21 runs by both teams were the most ever scored in Texas schoolboy championship baseball

The AAAA championship was a late game.

Ronnie Conley, a shutout winner over Crockett on Thursday night, pitched five innings in relief Friday as Linden-Kildare edged La Grange, 8-7 for the AA

Linden-Kildare rallied from a 7-6 deficit to score two runs in the seventh and final inning, with the winning run scoring on a two-out throwing error by shortstop Greg Trlicek, the only La Grange mis-

Kenneth Jackson pitched his second shutout in two days for Waskom, which demolished Falls City, 13-0, for the Class A championship. The game was halted after five innings as a result of Waskom being 10 runs ahead. Waskom defeated Pottsboro in the semifinals Thursday, 11-0, in seven innings — scoring six runs in he last inning.

Johnson had one RBI in that game, giving him eight for the tournament.

Pitcher Darren Bean of Colmesneil also won his second low-hit game on two days in an 8-0 title victory over defending champion Palmer in Class B.

Linden-Kildare and La Grange each had 10 hits, but Trlicek's crucial error on a ball hit by Brian Caver scored Alan Coleman and made a winner of Conley, 13-1. Conley allowed five hits in five innings of relief after pitching a one-hitter against Crock-

Jeff Cook, who struck out 13 and allowed only one hit in La Grange's 6-1 semifinal victory over Aledo on Thursday night, was the loser, giving up three hits and two runs — one earned — in 3% innings.

Shearer's eagle lands Classic lead

ATLANTA (AP) - Australian Bob Shearer had to make eagle-3 on the final hole to finish off a round of 71 and retain sole control of the top spot in the second round of the $300,000 Atlanta Golf Classic Friday.

"I was just trying to get it close," Shearer said of the 30-footer on the 18th hole. "I got lucky and it fell in." He needed it.

The eagle put him one under par for the hot, steamy day and combined with his opening 63 for a 134 total for 36 holes over the leg-straining hills of the Atlanta Country Club course.

It left him a single stroke in front of on-rushing Larry Nelson, a resident of nearby Acworth, Ga., who was followed by a huge gallery of family and friends on his way to a 69 that left him at 135, nine under par.

"It's nice to look down the fairway

"It's nice to look down the fairway and see your mother on the left and your father on the right. You know that no matter whether you hook it or slice it, somebody is going to be there to kick it back in the fairway," he joked.

Jack Nicklaus, meanwhile, made a mighty effort to recover from an opening 78, the poorest effort of his comeback attempt. He fired a nobogey, 5-under-par 67 that wasn't quite good enough. His 145 total failed to qualify for the final two rounds. It was the first time he'd missed the cut since this tournament two years ago.

"It was a pretty good round of golf," Nicklaus said. "I played well and putted pretty decently. It's particularly nice after playing so poorly yesterday.

yesterday.
"My putting was much better, so I did accomplish part of what I wanted to accomplish in Atlanta. Besides winning the tournament." While Nicklaus got an unexpected weekend at home, defending champion Andy Bean was poised to make another run at the title he won last year with an incredible 23-under-par total.

He shot a 69 in the muggy heat and was only two strokes back at 136. "I'm eight under and we have two more days to play. It's just a matter of putting something with that score the next couple of days. I think I'll have to score better than that over the last two rounds, but we'll just have to wait and see," Bean said.

He was tied for third with Mike

He was tied for third with Mike Nicolette, who has just completed his rookie year. He had a 2-under-par 70.

Sammy Rachels was next at 67-137.

The group at 138 included J.C. Snead, veteran Gene Littler, Lanny Wadkins, Cal Peete and Bob Eastwood. Littler closed up with a 68. Snead and Peete had 70's in the heat that went past the 90 degree mark with matching humidity. Wadkins and Eastwood had 71's.

Shearer, a soft-spoken 32-year-old who has won various titles over the world but has yet to collect one in five full years of activity on the American tour, said he "didn't play all that well," after his 9-under-par first round heroics.

"For four or five holes there I had a relapse. I just couldn't get the game together."

One of his problems, he said, was that "I had trouble holding on to the club in this humidity." CHOOSE FROM THE BEST

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston's J.R. Richard struck out 13 to highlight a three-hitter Friday night and Art Howe and Terry Puhl each got three hits to lead the Astros to a 2-0 shutout of the San Francisco Giants.

Richard, 7-3, did not walk a batter. He retired 22 consecutive batters, starting after Milt May singled in the second inning for the Giants' second hit and continuing until Joe Strain singled with two out in the Jack Clark singled with two out in the first for the other hit off Richard, who fanned 10 or more for the 39th time in his career.

Jose Cruz and Rafael Landestoy combined to give Richard a 1-0 lead in the fifth. Landestoy tripled and scored while Cruz grounded to second baseman

The Astros scored again in the sixth when Joe Morgan got his second hit of the game and scored on a triple by Howe. Howe's hit bounced crazily off the left field wall and by the time Terry Whitfield chased the ball down, Howe was standing on third with his third hit of the game.

Reuss tosses blanks at Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) - Los Angeles left-hander Jerry Reuss surrendered just three Atlanta hits - the first with two out in the seventh inning — and the Dodgers rode home runs by Reggie Smith and Ron Cey to a 5-0 victory over the Braves Friday night.

Reuss, who finished with one walk and five strike-outs, saw his no-hit bid end when Jeff Burroughs doubled off the center field fence. Pinch-hitter Charlie Spikes and Bruce Benedict added eighth-inning singles for the other Atlanta hits.

Reuss, 7-1, allowed only two base runners before Burroughs double. The 30-year-old issued a one-out walk to Luis Gomez in the third and saw Chris Chambliss reach on a one-out error by second baseman Dave Lopes in the fourth.

Mets explode with big inning

NEW YORK (AP) - Lee Mazzilli, Steve Henderson and John Stearns each stroked two-run singles in an eight-run explosion as the Mets rode their biggest inning of the season to a 9-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday.

New York was trailing 1-0 when Mike Jorgensen opened the second inning with a walk against Bert Blyleven, 1-5. A single by Joel Youngblood and a walk to Elliott Maddox loaded the bases with one out. Then Doug Flynn singled for one run and pitcher Pete Falcone walked — forcing home another.

Mazzilli then drilled a single for a 4-1 Met lead. Frank Taveras singled, loading the bases before Henderson's hit made it 6-1 and finished Blyleven. Jorgensen lined out against reliever Rod Scurry but Youngblood walked, loading the bases again, and Stearns followed with the sixth hit of the inning for two more runs.

Throwing error helps Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) - Cincinnati's Dave Collins scored the winning run on the second throwing error of the game by San Diego third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez Friday night, boosting the Reds to a 4-2 victory over the Padres.

Collins, who reached first on a fielder's choice in made a bare-handed play on Dave Concepcion's weak ground ball and threw wildly past first.

Dave Winfield and Willie Montanez had RBI singles in the third and sixth innings, respectively, to hand Padres starter John Curtis a 2-0 lead.

But Curtis surrendered RBI singles to Ray Knight and Dan Driessen in the sixth, Collins scored the winner in the seventh and Don Werner's sacrifice fly in the eighth brought in the final Cincinnati run.

LeFlore, Carter sink Cardinals

MONTREAL (AP) - Ron LeFlore had three hits and three stolen bases, Gary Carter hit a two-run double in a three-run first inning Friday night, and the Montreal Expos won for the 16th time in 21 games with a 7-2 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Expos jumped on Bob Forsch, 4-4, in the first inning. LeFlore cracked a leadoff single, stole second despite a pitchout and went to third on Rodney Scott's sacrifice bunt.

St. Louis nicked Lee, 3-4, for runs in the fourth and fifth innings. A bases-loaded sacrifice fly by George Hendrick scored the first Cardinals run and and a throwing error by shortstop Chris Speier in the fifth allowed Gary Templeton to score from second.

Montreal made it 4-2 in the sixth inning as LeFlore doubled, stole third and scored on a sacrifice fly by

Philly rookies stun Cubs, 6-5

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Rookie Lonnie Smith collected three hits, including a game-winning triple Friday night, and pitcher Bob Walk gained his first major league victory as the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Chicago Cubs 6-5.

The Phillies led 4-2 in the fifth when former Cub Manny Trillo tripled and Walk drew a base on balls. Smith then was credited with a two-run triple when Chicago right fielder Mike Vail failed on an attempted shoestring catch of his drive.

The Cubs knocked Walk out of the game with three runs in the sixth inning to cut the lead to 6-5.

Larry Bittner doubled and moved to third on a single by Vail. Catcher Tim Blackwell then tripled home both runners before reliever Kevin Saucier came in to get the third out.

Walk gave up 10 hits, struck out five and, for the first time in three games since he came up from Oklahoma in the American Association, did not walk a batter. Mike Krukow, 3-6, was the loser.

The Phillies scored three runs off Krukow in the first on Smith's single, an RBI double by Pete Rose, Greg Luzinski's double and another RBI double by Larry Bowa.

Chicago picked up two in the third on a single by DeJesus, Biittner's double and Kingman's two-run

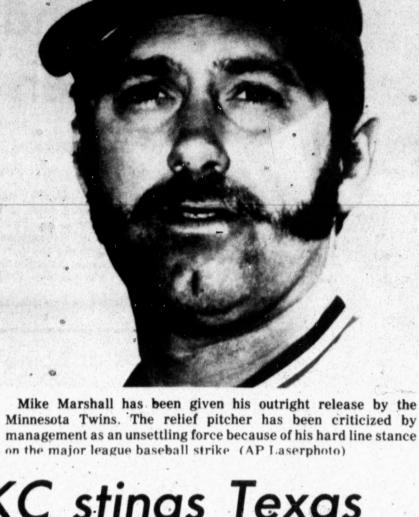

The Phillies added a run in the fourth when Smith doubled, advanced on a fly ball and scored on Mike Schmidt's sacrifice fly.

Rose, who twice was hit by Krukow pitches, left the game in the seventh with contusions of the right

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) - Geoff Zahn, offered as trade bait earlier in the week, fired a one-hit shutout as the Minnesota Twins stopped the Toronto Seventh. Christenson pitched to one batter in the Blue Jays 5-0 Friday night.

Zahn, a veteran left-hander off to a slow start this season, had a no-hitter going until John Mayberry slapped a clean single to left with two outs in the seventh.

Zahn, 4-7, had been offered by the Twins to Boston for third baseman Butch Hobson, a deal the Red Sox rejected. Zahn walked three batters and struck out six in his sparkling performance.

The Twins backed Zahn with a 12-hit attack. Hosken Powell and Rob Wilfong each drove in two 345125 runs for the Twins.

It's like opening day for Brewers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The uniform bearing No. 31 was familiar but the slender figure inside it wasn't as George Bamberger bounded up the steps in the Milwaukee Brewers dugout at 5: 10 p.m., CDT, Friday.

The impish grin, though, was vintage Bamberger as he acknowledged the hordes of media representatives waiting on the County Stadium field. Pens poised on notebooks, camera shutters clattered and television cameras zeroed in, recording Bamberger's every move on the night of his return as the Brewers' manager. "What it this, the World Series?" asked Brewers coach Larry Haney, pointing to the media people. "I'll tell you, it's two opening days in one year," General Manager Harry Dalton replied.

"This is worse than opening day," Bamberger said. "That's because on opening day the players and coaches are with you, know what I mean? This time I'm the center figure, especially when they're making such a big deal of it."

But the hoopla and media attention were fitting, for there are few more popular figures in Milwaukee than Bamberger, the amiable, backslapping manager who drinks beer with the fans and who led the Brewers from nowhere to pennant contenders two years ago.

The fans deluged him with get-well cards and many even donated blood in his name during his convalesence after heart surgery March 26. Now 23 pounds lighter and feeling better than he has in years, he is back on the

"Don't get me wrong," Bamberger said. "I appreciate it the way the people treat me here. In 34 years in baseball I have never been treated better. I got more friends in Milwaukee than in the rest of the United

"It's really nice they like to see me healthy again," he said. "But if I had my own way, I'd go out there, get a nice hand, acknowledge it and go about my business instead of having pregame ceremonies.

Bamberger's love for beer is legend, but he said limited consumption of Milwaukee's favorite liquid isn't the only restriction on his diet.

"One of my favorites is peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and hot chocolate, but that's no good for the diet," he said. "Milk and cheese, too. Too much cholestrol."

No one seemed able to conceive of some of Bamberger's crustier managerial counterparts, such as Earl Weaver of Baltimore or Billy Martin of Oakland, eating peanut bufter and jelly sandwiches. "I weigh 182 same as I coached for Weaver at Baltimore,"

Bamberger said, laughing. "Then I came here and got like Weaver, doing nothing and drinking beer and putting on weight."

"A guy the other day asked me what I did for exercise before my heart attack," he said. "I said if my pitchers were having a bad day. I'd walk a lot. You know, out to the mound and back. If they were pitching good, I wouldn't do no walking. Now I walk three or four miles a Bamberger smiled and joked as he accomodated interviewer after interviewer, but the pregame tension in the Brewer clubhouse was obvious. It was not unlike that of opening day.

"It's different tonight, no doubt about it," pitcher Lary Sorensen said. 'Everybody's hyper. But boy, were we glad to see George look so super. He really hasn't changed a bit, though. He's still got a good word for everybody and he's still got everything all planned out."

Weaver sent his former sidekick a congratulatory telegram. It was read during the pregame ceremonies, which were preceded by a two-minute standing ovation accorded Bam-

Genuine Risk to make history

NEW YORK (AP) - Genuine Risk will make thoroughbred racing history today in the Belmont Stakes when she will become the first filly to run in all three Triple Crown races.

The pretty chestnut's place in racing lore is secure with her victory in the Kentucky Derby, but her legend would be enhanced with a victory in the grueling 11/2-mile Belmont, a victory that also would fuel the controversy surrounding her second-place finish to Codex in the Preakness.

A claim of foul against Codex, who also will be in the Belmont, was disallowed and than an appeal of the stewards' ruling by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Firestone was rejected in a 3-1 vgte by the Maryland Racing Association.

But no matter what the filly, ridden by Jacinto Vasquez, does when she leaves the gate from the No.1 post next to Codex and Angel Cordero at about 4: 40 p.m., her's will have been aremarkable accomplishment.

"I would never have dreamed she could have endured this well through this difficult series of races," trainer LeRoy Jolley said Friday. "I just think she's a very good filly. I think her disposition is the greatest thing in her favor. None of the excitement or traveling seems to have bothered

Gerulaitis stuns Jimmy Connors

PARIS (AP) - Vitas Gerulaitis edged Jimmy Connors in a nerve-tingling four-hour tennis epic Friday and reached the final of the French Open Championships to challenge Bjorn Borg for his title.

Gerulaitis won 6-1, 3-6, 6-7, 6-2, 6-4 in a finely balanced match that had the 18,000 fans around the center court of Roland Garros Stadium standing and cheering as it neared its climax. Connors was in with a chance to win right up to the last shot.

Borg, by contrast, celebrated his 24th birthday by rolling over Harold Solomon 6-2 6-2 6-0. The one-sided contest was all over in one hour 40 minutes. But Solomon's coach, Paul Cohen, said afterward the little American baseliner was handicaped after hurting a back muscle in the third game of the opening set.

From then on, Solomon was like a lamb led to the slaughter. Often he made no attempt to chase the ball as Borg hit his top-spin forehands with tremendous power down both wings of the court. Borg, heavy favorite for the first prize of $53,000, has gone through six rounds to reach the final without dropping a set, or even come near to it. He is going for his fifth French Open title. "I wonder whether the people out there realized what they were looking at," Cohen said. "They were watching the greatest player who has ever played on clay." The Borg-Solomon duel was an anti-climax. The match of the day and one of the great matches of the two-week tournament — was the nipand-tuck Gerulaitis-Connors affair. Connors made a slow start and the first set showed no sign of the drama to come. It was over in 24 minutes. Connors gathered only nine points, and Gerulaitis won the last 11 points in a row.

But Connors broke service for a 2-0 lead in the second set, and the battle

While the left-hander attacked, pressing forward in search of volleys, Gerulaitis played a patient clay court game. He stroked the ball around the court, clipping the lines with regularity, and waited for Connors to make the mistakes. But the mistakes were fewer and fewer as the duel went on. Connors needed five set points before winning the second set. In the third set he led 3-1 but Gerulaitis came back with four games in a row to lead 5-3. In the next two games Gerulaitis had six set points, and Connors wriggled off the hook each

The set went to 6-6 and a tiebreaker and then Connors went away to win by seven points to three and took a 2-1 lead.

Gerulaitis regained the initiative to level at two sets all. "In the fourth set I played like a bum," Connors said.

But the stage was set for the dramatic final set, which swayed back and forth. Gerulaitis broke Connors' service twice to lead 3-0, but Connors hit a magnificent lob to the baseline and broke back at 3-1. From then on Gerulaitis struggled to keep his nose ahead. An ace took him to 40-0 and three match double-fisted backhands Gerulaitis wasted a fourth match point by double-faulting. Then he moved to match point again, and this time served his 13th ace of the match to clinch victory.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) - A year ago, in the midst of the bitter CART-USAC struggle, barely enough cars were entered in the Rex Mays 150 to make it a race.

Now that the intramural warfare in championship racing has ended, the picture has changed. Forty cars have been entered for Sunday's 150mile race on the one-mile Wisconsin State Fair Park Speedway track.

Instead of A.J. Foyt and a small group of nonames, Johnny Rutherford will head a field that includes five former Indianapolis 500 winners with a total of 14 Milwaukee victories among them.

Board proposes 1982-83 welfare budget

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas Department of Human Resources staff members proposed a 1982-83 welfare budget Friday that would increase state spending by over $200 million a year and boost average monthly checks from $33 to $44 per needy

"We have made no special provisions for the notion of a recession,' Deputy Comissioner Wes Hjornevik told the three-man Board of Human Resources.

The board will make its final decision on a budget to submit to the 1981 Legislature at its July 15 meeting.

Hjornevik laid out a budget that would spend $876.5 million in state funds in fiscal 1982, a 31.4 percent increase over the $667.3 million budgeted for 1981. Spending would jump again in 1983, to $1 billion.

When federal funds - the chief source of Texas' welfare expenditures - are counted, the budget would be $1.97 billion in 1982 and $2.26 billion in 1983, compared with $1.68 billion in will make more persons eligible, and Hjornevík predicted 44,000 persons would be added to the rolls as a result.

He said even with the increase, AFDC families' income in Texas, counting food stamps, will drop from 45.8 percent to 39.1 percent of the federal poverty level. Twenty-five percent of Texas children are poor, compared with 16 percent nationwide, but Texas spends less on welfare than the 50-state aver-

"If Texas is going to grow up, we are not doing it," Hjornevik said. Hjornevik proposed 847 new employees, mainly to protect abused children and operate a new program to keep old people out of nursing

States with oil economies differ on employment figures

By The Associated Press

Two states whose economies are closely tied to the fortunes of oil, Michigan and Texas, showed vastly different results in monthly unemployment figures released Friday.

Michigan, hard hit by auto industry layoffs, showed a jobless rate of 144 percent in May, according to the U.S. Labor Department. That was the highest rate among the 10 largest industrial states whose unemployment figures are released monthly by the department.

Texas, where oil drilling provides an economic boost, showed the lowest rate among the 10 states. 5.4 percent.

Nationally, the unemployment rate was 7.8 percent, up from 7 percent in April.

"This is where all the natural resources are," said Harry Hubbard, president of the Texas AFL-CIO. "There has been a considerable amount of industry moving in here because of the proximity to natural re-

City still lacks funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Although voters have tossed a fiscal-lifeline to San Francisco, of ficials say the city is still $20 million short of a balanced budget and will have to cut some services and lay off up to 850

Rudy Nothenberg, deputy mayor for the budget, said that because of budget measures approved in Tuesday's primary the city has 'averted a total catastrophe for one more year," said. Mayor Dianne Feinstein declared the election a "$32.2 million victory" and began to erase predictions made a year ago of impending financial doom from an anticipated $127 million deficit this year.

"I think the situation has been greatly en-hanced, but I don't want to take away from our long-range problems," Ms. Feinstein said in an interview.

The mayor, who has been waging a tough bat-tle to keep the city sol-vent during her first term, had asked residents to approve five municipal measures aimed at pumping $63 million in new revenues into the city's coffers. Three of the proposals were passed, one lost and another was thrown into the courts.
