Squeals of delight accompany amusement park opening

Before the squeals of excitement, there was a brief moment of hushed silence Wednesday as the gates of the Wild River Canyon amusement park opened for the first time to the public. A short delay for the water to be turned on to the Mine Mountain River. Ride left a period of anticipation for both the crowd and the park em-

"I've seen a live birth," Wild River spokeswoman Mary Kay Allman said in an analogy of the occasion. "And this morning as we were waiting for the water to be turned on was the same feeling. We have been in labor on this for some time and this morning it was finally born."

With only a few minor foul-ups, the first day began as a success. By the end of the day, slightly less than 2,000 persons had filed through the gates to have plastic bracelets clipped to their wrists for a full day of excitement at

The Mine Mountain flume was one of the more popular attractions on the first day. Children of all shapes and sizes climbed to the top of the water slide to choose one of three successively more difficult slides to manuever: Mine River, Snake River and (the scariest of all) Wild Fork.

"We just got here," one kid said as he ran by with a rubber mat in his hands. "It's pretty neat, though. It's better than what Oklahoma City has!" With that he was gone, whizzing head-first down the flume.

Ben Glenn, a lifeguard at the flume, said he expected the first day with kids at the park to be fun. "It'll be a blast!" he said. "The water's a little cold now, but you get numb after a while and don't notice," he laughed. Sixth-grader Kevin Witt said he had been at the park only 10 minutes, but he thought the flume was "good

'No, great!" his friend and fellow sixth-grader David Martin corrected. They planned to stay all day.

The morning was somewhat gray with raindrops falling occasionally, but to see kids at Wild River, one would never know it.

"If it starts to rain," Ms. Allman said earlier that morning, "there is no real covering, but the park will stay open." There are, however, several awnings over picnic areas, an indoor game arcade, a covered snack bar

Registration for the draft could start next month

rejected opponents' last scuttling amendment today and headed into a vote to renew peacetime draft registration as early as next month.

Every test vote pointed to Senate approval of President Carter's request for $13.3 million to register all 19- and 20-year-old men at post offices across the country.

Before the final vote, the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., that would have chopped the money to $4.7 million simply to improve the present standby registration plan.

If the House approves a minor amendment, the measure could go to Carter early next week.

Selective Service Director Bernard Rostker said "we're shooting for mid-July" to begin registering 4 million men over a two-week period - one week for those born in 1961 and the following week for those born in Men now 18 would register next year and 18-year-olds would register each year after that. Failure to register could be punished by up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Rostker said the president will issue a proclamation setting the date for renewal of registration.

During debate before the vote, Hatfield denounced registration as "the first step and a significant step" toward renewing the draft itself.

But Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., argued that registration would save up to 120 days in mobilizing military recruits in an emergency.

The Senate scheduled the vote on the plan today after opponents gave up their futile fight to derail it with a five-day filibuster and then an allnight session - the first in three years and the 14th round-the-clock filibuster in this century.

The Senate invoked cloture Tuesday, limiting debate to 100 additional hours. When Hatfield vowed to try to use them all, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., put the Senate in continuous session in an attempt to wear down opponents.

The difference between that and the all-night session in 1977 was that the last one was an out-and-out filibuster, with no end in sight, over deregulation of natural gas. This one was simply running out the cloture clock.

Hatfield forced senators to answer roll call after roll call and then his allies held the Senate floor with endto-end, hour-long speeches both for and against registration.

The talkathon played to an almostempty chamber.

Some senators spent the night on cots set up in the cloakroom or on couches in their offices. Many simply. went home, trusting an agreement that there would be no votes after 1

Carter announced in his State of the Union message last January that he intended to renew draft registration as one step to show U.S. resolve against Soviet military moves in Afghanistan.

He also asked Congress to authorize registration of women, but that was rejected by both the House and Senate. The American Civil Liberties Union has threatened to file suit challenging the constitutionality of the men-only plan.

Meanwhile, the House Armed Services Committee, assured by civilian and military leaders that the Army is in good shape despite a shortage of some key personnel, is calling on rank-and-file soldiers for their assess-

After his March appearance before the grand jury, Clayton said, "I answered every question. I did not hesitate in giving answers. I hope we were able to tell our story in such a way that they can see our innocence.

The grand jury heard tapes of conversations involving Clayton, labor leader L.G. Moore and Joseph Hauser, an FBI informant posing as an insurance company representative.

Clayton has acknowledged he received $5,000 from Moore last November at a meeting in which there was conversation concerning the $70-million state employees' insurance program. But he said he thought the money was a campaign contribution. Clayton said he put the money in a safe place and planned to return it to Moore, the regional director of the Operating Engineers and International Union. A package containing $5,000 was turned over to the grand jury by Minton.

The grand jury has questioned at least 14 witnesses, including several labor leaders, two current Houston city councilmen and one former councilman. The undercover operation began in Louisiana and spread to Texas and several other states. According to a spokesman for the Tom Green County Sheriff's Department, the three had been out fishing at Foster Park on Spring Creek in western Tom Green County when the boat "swamped." The father, John Hayslip, was a good swimmer and Kevin Hayslip, 14, was wearing a ski-belt type of life preserver, the spokesman said. It is unknown what caused Pringle's death.

John Hayslip told officers that, at one time, Pringle had hold of the

"I don't know whether he got a cramp or what happened to make him turn loose of the boat," Hayslip said.

"I turned around and he was gone. Officials said Pringle was a diabetic and could have had a seizure or panicked when he fell into the water. He drowned while apparently trying to swim to shore.

The boat capsized at 7:30 a.m. Pringle's body was recovered at 9:20 a.m., only a few feet from where he was last seen. The body was in eight feet of water, about 15 feet from the south shore of the creek. Capt. Roy Jones and emergency medical technician Cal Henderson of the San Angelo Fire Department boat rescue squad discovered Pringle's body.

Peace Justice Ruth Nicholson pronounced Pringle dead at the scene by accidental drowning.

Biggest recall of autos looms

WASHINGTON (AP) - The federal government appears on the verge of ordering the largest motor vehicle recall ever. Until it does, it is warning owners of 16 million Fords that the cars and light trucks, all with automatic transmissions, may suddenly lurch into reverse.

More than 98 deaths, 1,700 injuries and 6,000 accidents have been attributed to the transmissions, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration said Wednesday in issuing its warning and in notifying Ford of its intention to proceed with steps leading to a recall.

Only a hearing the agency has scheduled for July 21 seems to stand in the way of the recall. If ordered, a recall could cost the automaker, already suffering from depressed sales, several hundred million dollars.

In Detroit, a Ford spokesman reiterated the company's position that there is nothing wrong with the trans-

Subject to the recall would be vehicles sold after August 1972 and made before October 1979 with automatic transmission types C3, C4, C6, FMX and JATCO. The safety agency said most of the accidents reported to it were caused by runaway vehicles that shifted by themselves from park to reverse after they were left unattended with their engines running.

When the Mine Mountain had to be shut down for a few minutes, the park crowd moved to the Spillway Slide, where they could "shoot the rapids" on the man-made slope. Because they weren't expecting to open the slide, lifeguards were frantically blowing up innertubes for the kids. It didn't take long for the kids to start picking up the flat tubes and blowing some up,

Constable Merritt dies

Jack Merritt, 76, Midland County constable who farmed and ranched before he became a lawman more than 40 years ago, died Wednesday night in a Midland hospital following an illness. He lived in the Valley View community, just southeast of Midland.

Services are pending at Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home. Merritt was born in 1904 in Weath-

He farmed and ranched in the county and was a professional horse train-

In 1938, Merritt began his law enforcement career as a deputy constable under Raleigh "Big Lee" Lee. "He looked mean; he lived up to it," Merritt recalled in recounting his years in law work. In 1941, when Midland was still in the transition from a small cattle town to a growing oil town, the city did away the marshal-enforcement of the law and adopted the police-force system. That year, Merritt joined the police force and served under L.P. "Mac" McCasland, the city's first police chief.

In 1950, Merritt was elected constable for Midland County and held that position until 1960. Later, he "hired out" as a warrant officer for the city. And in 1969, he was appointed constable following the death of Constable Bill Morelan.

"I'm going to come to my office like I always have, if I live," Merritt said in an interview in 1976.

Over the years, the constable developed a reputation as a lawman who would rather - and did - lend a helping hand than pull a pistol and throw some poor fellow in jail.

Kermit crater water drinkable, study reveals

KERMIT — The clear green water in the Kermit crater is apparently quite drinkable, according to Mike Handren, a petroleum engineer with Petro-Lewis Corp. which has conducted a water sample study of the crater.

The chlorine content in the crater water is estimated to be about 2,000 parts per million, which is about four times that of normal drinking water, Handren noted.

Also, the sulphur content of the water was registered at 1,700 parts per million, the petroleum engineer said.

All of which means that "you can drink the water without any ill effects," he said.

Six water samples were taken from the crater last Saturday by the company's corrosion specialist, Del Sanders, Handren said. "We were company's corrosion specialist, Del Sanders, Handren said. "We were looking for salt water and ended up finding fresh water," he added.

Three samples were taken from the top of the water's surface and three from the crater's bottom which incidentially measured somewhere about 55- to 60-feet from the water's surface, Handren said.

A line was strung across the crater and, using a set of pulleys, Petro-Lewis was able to take the samples from about a third of the way inside the crater, Handren said.

However, the formation where the fresh water came from remains a mystery to Petro-Lewis' geologists, Handren noted. "Our geology people have been putting together a picture of the area's formations and they haven't come up with anything really definite," he said.

The petroleum engineer speculated as to what might have possibly caused the crater. There is a possibility that underground water might have leached out a 100-foot underground cavern in a salt formation, he said.

Handren bases that theory on the crater's depth from the edge of the crater to its bottom and also on salt mining techniques.

"People used to mine salt by drilling two wells — one to pump fresh water into the salt formation and the other to pump the salt water out," Handren explained.

The salt water would evaporate and leave the salt behind but might leave an underground cavern which could explain to the underground water's activity, he noted.

In other activities related to the crater, Atlantic Richfield Co., which owns the land, has now hired security men to keep sightseers and the general public away from the huge sinkhole, according to a Winkler.

County Sheriff's department spokesman.

Little pieces of earth are still falling into the crater, the spokesman reported. However, on Monday, a 50-foot slice of earth slid into the widening chasm, the spokesman said.

Cracks around the crater also widened somewhat Wednesday, with the largest crack being reported as two feet in width. That two-foot crack is some 300 yards from an adjacent Shell Oil Co, tank farm. Other cracks several inches in width have forced officials to close an oil-topped road located 100 feet north of the crater.

Hunt brothers deny charges made by their former aide

DALLAS (AP) — The Hunt brothers today denied allegations made by one of their former top aides that they tried to manipulate the world's silver

Nelson Bunker and Herbert Hunt issued a statement through their attorney saying they testified "candidly and forthrightly" before a congressional committee about their silver dealings.

In a related action, a New York congressman asked the Justice Department to look into differences between testimony given by the Hunts and that of their former top aide, Bill Bledsoe.

Bledsoe said in congressional testimony released Tuesday that the Hunts worked together in a "concerted attempt to manipulate or control the world's supply of silver." Bledsoe, who left the Hunt empire last year to form his own consulting firm, also said the Hunt brothers had an "intent to mislead" Congress.

A Hunt family attorney responded with a brief statement attributed to both Hunt brothers.

"I do not intend to engage in a war of words in the press concerning certain allegations made by William Bledsoe regarding recent events occurring in the silver market. The Hunt Energy Corp. is presently involved in litigation with Mr. Bledsoe in which it has alleged that Mr. Bledsoe violated his fiduciary duties while an employee of Hunt Energy Corp.,"

Demos fight over platform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stand-ins for President Carter and Massachusetts Sen. Edward Kennedy squared off today on economic issues in the final round of hearings to shape the Democratic party's

The two candidates are backing sharply different solutions for the nation's economic ills of high inflation, rising unemployment and a deepening recession

Kennedy supports a $12 billion spending program to curb the recession and create jobs, while advocating mandatory wage and price controls to cope with inflation.

Carter so far has warned against anti-recession spending, saying it could worsen the fight against inflation, which has been the chief focus of his economic policies. He strongly opposes mandatory controls as unworkable and disruptive.

However, Carter has indicated some flexibility in his policies in recent weeks as the recession has worsened. He told the nation's mayors in Seattle Tuesday that if the recession continues to deepen "we will take other steps which may be necessary."

Carter has admitted surprise that the recession is worse than expected. Administration economists say the downturn will make it impossible for Carter to deliver on his March 14 commitment to balance the budget in 1981.

Whatever position Carter takes on economic issues, they are likely to dominate in the preparation of the party's platform even among those members of the platform committee who may question his stand.

Carter has rolled up substantially more delegates than he needs to win the party nomination, and the platform is traditionally written to reflect the views and policies of the party's presidential nominee.

Also likely to be debated at the platform hearings are the party's position on defense spending, Middle East peace negotiations, relations with the Soviet Union, human rights, abortion rights, gay rights, draft registration — which Carter supports and Kennedy opposes — and energy issues.

Carter was represented at the hearings by Stuart Eizenstat, his chief domestic adviser, and Zbigniew. Brzezinski, his natinal seculrity adviser.

Kennedy's representative was Peter Edelman, his chief issues adviser. Edelman told a reporter Wednesday he hops there won't be a great deal of argument on the shape of the platform, but added, "There obviously is a lot more we have to see before we're clear just how much room there is for agreeement on various of these matters."

"What we're interested in seeing is a platform that is a Democratic party platform," he said. "It's very hard at this point to characterize what the outcome is going to be, except it's certainly our hope to see a platform that will be one in large part that Sen. Kennedy can run on as the nominee."

Besides the candidates' representatives, a long list of Democratic lawmakers also were scheduled to testify, including Sens. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin.

National interest groups are scheduled to testify before the platform committee on Friday and Satur-

The three days of platform hearings here are the final hearings prior to the preparation of the platform. Drafting of the document will be done by a special platform drafting subcommittee here on June 17-20.

Welcome investigations

U.S. Sen. John Tower has been sion to Tehran by former Attorney General Ramsey Clark, calling it "seditious."

There are more than a few Americans, including ourselves, who agree with the senator and who would not blink an eye at being a little harsher in our termi-

As we noted before, perhaps Clark's actions do not constitute treason. The senator agreed, saying, "Treason is a very serious charge and requires, I think, evidence of intent to betray the coun-

Sen. Tower, we think, did echo the sentiments of many Americans when he said, "I think he acted against the best interest of the United States in ... his Tehran mission."

The senator also noted that the attendance of Clark and nine others at the "Crimes of America" conference in Tehran gives the impression that the "United States will go to almost any lengths to secure the release of the hostages even to the extent of accepting guilt for ... past association with the Iranian government."

That's something we cannot stomach. We are not saying all the dealings of this government are lilly white and above reproach. They aren't obviously. But one has only to look to the integrity of the nations with which we are critical of the now infamous mis- dealing in order to find the justification for our actions in the broader scheme of things.

> Ramsey Clark apparently didn't see things that way and now he seems to have gotten himself into something of a pickle. Worst of all, he's a "repeater". He did this once before, you'll recall, when he went to Hanoi in 1972 to talk with the North Vietnamese about American prisoners of war.

Sen. Tower noted that, although he couldn't prove it with hard evidence, Clark's actions in Hanoi did not contribute toward settlement of the war. It's extremely doubtful that his Tehran comments will do anything to smooth the relationship between Iran and the American people, either.

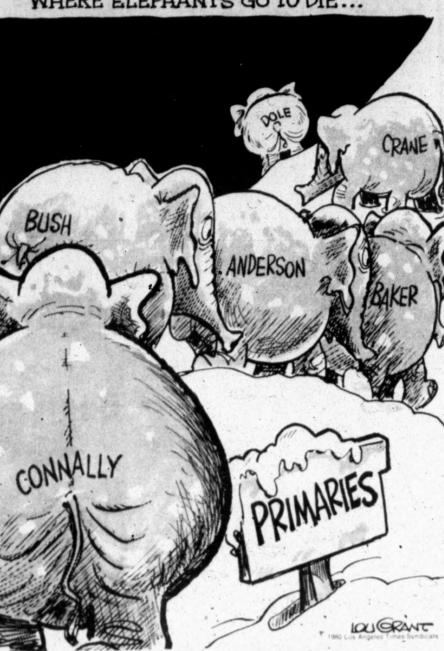

Now the Treasury Department has initiated an investigation to determine whether Clark and the nine others should be prosecuted for violating President Carter's ban on travel to Iran.

The Justice Department, too, has said it will conduct a criminal investigation of the trip to the Tehran conference.

The president insisted American athletes boycott the Olympics in Moscow due to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan on the grounds that attending would not be in the national interest. Neither were Clark's trip to Iran nor his comments there. We welcome both these investi-

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Thursday, June 12, the 164th day of 1980. There are 202 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On June 12, 1963, black civil rights leader Medgar Evers was shot to death in front of his home in Jackson,

On this date:

In 1630, the first governor of the Massachusetts Bay Company, John Winthrop, sailed into Salem harbor.

In 1943, the Trans-Canadian highway, linking Alaska to the lower 48 states, was opened to traffic.

In 1969, a 15-year-old New York boy who lied about his age to join the Marines was killed in Vietnam, the youngest American serviceman to die

Ten years ago: the U.S. began evacuating Americans from Amman, Jordan, as government troops battled Palestinian guerrillas in the city. Meanwhile, Palestinian terrorists burned down the Jordanian embassy

Five years ago: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi vowed to stay in office despite a high court ruling that she won her parliament seat illegally and must give it up.

Last year: Independent truckers were staging a wildcat strike for more diesel fuel and lower prices.

Today's birthdays: Banker David Rockefeller is 65. Former presidential candidate George Bush is 56. Singer Vic Damone is 52. Entertainer Jim Nabors is 47.

Thought for today: A bank is a place where they lend you an umbrella in fair weather and ask for it back again when it begins to rain - Robert Frost (1874-1963)

CIA subject of charges by former agent . WASHINGTON - Defenders of the

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Central Intelligence Agency have always responded to exposure of the agency's illegal activities and operational failures by stressing the importance to U.S. policy-makers of accu-rate information about what's happening in the world.

But now an authoritative CIA critic a respected employee who served 25 years in the agency - has challenged the very heart of the CIA's justification for existence. In a nutshell, he says the CIA does a rotten job of intelligence-gathering

The former agent, Ralph McGehee, has set down his disturbing critique in a book-length manuscript, and expanded on his views in an interview with my associate Dale Van Atta.

The CIA's primary function, McGehee concluded, is to provide "information" that supports the preconceived notions of an administration's top policy-makers - in other words, to tell a president and his advisers what they want to hear. This, of course, is worse than no intelligence at all, since it reinforces wrongheaded assumptions while suppressing accurate information that conflicts with the prevailing policy views.

The results can be disastrous for the United States - as in the cases of Vietnam and Iran, where the CIA systematically exaggerated the strength and popularity of the South Vietnamese government and the shah while minimizing that of their oppo-

Citing a personal example, McGehee told of his success with a low-cost, non-violent anti-communist program he directed in Thailand in 1967. His well-trained, 25-man Thai task force was able, by peaceful persuasion, to turn the pro-communist natives of one province completely around.

Jack Anderson

The program was discontinued by the top CIA brass, McGehee says, because it belied their view that the Thais were basically pro-American, but were being terrorized by at most 4,000 communist guerrillas. Yet McGehee had found at least that many in a single province, plus widespread support among the population - and had thwarted the communists without resort to heavyhanded counter-insurgency measures in vogue at headquarters. By contrast, McGehee told of a colleague in Thailand who claimed to have subverted a Communist Party official, and sent back glowing reports of disruptive activities within the party. The agent was given a medal and promotion. But his successor in the post found that the operation had been largely imaginary; the Thai defector had been lying. Nevertheless, the agent eventually became chief of personnel for the East Asia division, McGehee said.

"Ours was not an operation to produce intelligence," McGehee has reluctantly concluded. "Instead we produced only that information necessary to support CIA goals, operations and illusions." The CIA, he said, "is potential ruin lurking in a state of suspended animation.

A CHANGING WORLD:

Tough gun control legislation is needed right now

A criminal court judge in New York's Bronx the other day sentenced a man to the maximum one year in prison for having a handgun in his

This is good news to most Americans, except for militant gun freaks and the incredibly stubborn National Rifle Association, which has every right to support shooting for sport and self-protection but which also resists controls on weapons like cheap "Saturday night specials" that are used in holdups — and in increasing numbers of senseless murders. The Bronx judge's tough sentence comes amid many conflicting reports, some indicating action is being taken to protect innocent Americans against reckless and murderous use of weapons and others indicating guns are killing more and more people where no controls are in force. Massachusetts, which since 1974 has had a one-year mandatory jail sentence with no parole or furlough for anyone carrying a gun outside his home or place of business, offers proof that tough licensing and sentencing policies are in the public in-

The first year after the Bay State law went into effect, Boston homicides went down 5 percent, in the second year, they went down 15 percent. Assaults with guns fell by 19 percent in the first year, by 37 percent in the second (complete statistics are not yet available for subsequent years).

John Pinkerman

On the other hand, across the nation where gun controls are rare, handgun murders and accidental deaths rose to 8,000. In New York City alone, The Times of that city reports in an editorial entitled "Get the Gunmen Off the Street," that in 1979 there were 932 gun murders, 8,000 assaults and 24,000 robberies.

Even with such figures, New York state legislators, pursued by both professional and well-meaning gun supporters, are balking at tough gun laws. They are fighting against laws to reduce murders because they fear for the right of law-abiding persons to possess guns. Their argument is fallacious but jt has the vote-conscious legislators nervous The same legislative reluctance to stem murder by gun is apparent across the nation. It persists despite the fact that last year 105 law-enforcement officers were slain in the line of duty - by guns - and this was a 13 percent increase over 1978. All told, 95 percent of police murders involved guns. Across the nation homicides of all types involved guns in 63 percent of the slayings.

Some of those who fight gun control laws drive cars with bumper stickers proclaiming that "When guns are outlawed only the outlaws will have guns." This is pure nonsense. New York Police Commissioner Robert J. McGuire says that statistics prove that the home dweller is a gun victim far more often than is the person in a shootout with a criminal.

"More than twice as many persons in this city," he said, "die in home 'dispute' homicides inflicted by handguns than are killed in holdups There is Venice, Calif., proof of what McGuire said. A fireman, attempting to help a man trapped (asleep) in a fire, was shot when the man awoke with a start, grabbed a gun and fired, thinking the fireman was a burglar. Two teen-agers in Owatonna, Minn., armed with 50 guns, went on a shooting spree in a residential neighborhood, killing a 77-year-old man and wounding two other persons.

There is legislation before Congress, offered by Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., that would provide sensible gun laws, of no risk to the sportsman's love of shooting or the lawful home owner's belief in the need for protection. New York Gov. Hugh L. Carey supports such legislation and is pushing for tougher gun laws for his own state. Supporting both of them is highly respected Los Angeles County Sheriff Peter Pitchess. "Unless Congress bans handguns

the United States is going to suffer a tremendously higher rate of homicide," Pitchess said as he supervised a steel shredder's destruction of six tons of weapons seized in just one Pointing to the vanishing weapons, he said, "These guns were made for one purpose only - to kill people. These weapons have caused tremendous grief and disruption in the lives of many innocent citizens."

There is other evidence, if the above is not enough, that tough gun laws are needed - right now.

Speaker's race over, says Lewis

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The numbers game in the 1981 House speaker's race grew more intense Wednesday, with Rep. Gib Lewis claiming victory and Rep. John Bryant accusing him of deception.

"The race to succeed Bill Clayton is over," said Lewis as he laid out a list of 92 House members and candidates he said had pledged their support to him

"I am confident I am going to be elected speaker," Bryant said a couple of hours later.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, is running only as a second choice to Speaker Bill Clayton, who might abandon his quest for an unprecedented fourth term.

Bryant, however, is running for speaker against all comers, including Clayton.

Clayton said Wednesday he expected to be indicted in the FBI's Brilab investigation and was giving himself until "early fall" or "before it gets too cold" to be acquitted. Without such vindication, he said, he would quit the speaker's race.

The House elects the speaker on the opening day of a regular legislative session - in this case, January 1981 - and it takes 76 votes to win if everybody is

Bryant said Lewis' list was full of soft spots and accused him of "deception" and a "less than honest manipulation of House members and facts and fig-

For one thing, Bryant said, Lewis included 15 Republicans whose chance of election is poor because they are running against Democrat incumbents in traditionally Democratic districts.

Another 33 names are legislators or incumbents who have opponents in November, including seven Republican legislators targeted by the Democratic Party for defeat in November, he said.

Bryant said five are "pledged to me or someone else or uncommitted," including Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, who had been scheduled to endorse Bryant at a Wednesday morning news conference. Kubiak later issued a statement saying he was committed to Lewis. He said he signed pledge cards for both Lewis and Bryant because "I think the pledge card system is a farce. Others who Bryant said were uncommitted or pledged to others are Reps. George Pierce, D-San-Antonio, and Charles Finnell, D-Holliday, and candidates Larry Browder of Shepherd and Dave London of Leonard. Bryant also charged that eight persons named by Lewis were "stampeded" into signing on by Lewis' claim to have 90 pledges.

They are, he said, Reps. Bob Simpson, D-Amarillo; Bo Crawford, D-Beaumont; Frank Gaston, R-Dallas; Al Edwards, D-Houston, and Frank Tejeda, D-San Antonio; and candidates Dee Miller, Amarillo; John Gavin, Wichita Falls; and Bruce Gibson, Godley.

When only legislators and candidates who likely will be sitting in the 1981 House are counted, Bryant said, Lewis has about 62 solid pledges and Bryant has about 65.

He said it was "flat appalling" that Clayton was present for Lewis' news conference and caffed Lewis Clayton's "chosen successor." He said it was "very cynical" for Lewis to stage a "blitz" on the eve of Clayton's expected indictment.

Hospital settles malpractice suit

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) - Two children whose paralysis allegedly was caused by the treatment they received at birth in a Fresno hospital will receive millions of dollars in the settlement of a malpractice suit, court documents show.

And the parents of a third child who allegedly received the same treatment and died a short time after birth have settled another suit out of court for an undetermined amount, the records show.

Because the cases never came to trial, authorities emphasized there was no determination as to whether the allegations in the suits are true.

The three actions were filed against Valley Childrens Hospital and Guidance Center of Fresno.

How much money the children will receive from the complex settlement depends on how long they live because a portion of the settlement calls for annual compounded payments.

Dr. Anthony E. Labarre, chairman of the mathematics department at Fresno State University, said the total value of that part of the settlement would be more than $3.8 million for each child after 50 years. One source close to the case estimated the hospital's payments could reach $26 million if the youngsters live a normal lifespan.

Court documents filed here by the office of San Francisco attorney Melvin Belli alleged the hospital inserted a catheter in the infants' umbilical arteries to provide nutrition and needed medicines.

The treatment began a few days after the children were born in January, 1976. The children soon developed "chemical burns on (the) back and buttocks" further described in the documents as "bluish-black skin discolorations.'

On Jan. 20, 10-day-old Joseph D. Gallagher of Falmouth, Mass., was found to be paralyzed. One hour later, 10-day-old Brian M. Garcia of Fresno also was paralyzed, the documents said. The third baby, son of David and Edna Fleming, never was paralyzed. He died a few days later, records stated. Judge Blaine Pettitt, who presided over the final two settlement conferences, said Tuesday the Fleming case apparently was settled out of court. He described the settlement in the other two cases as the largest compromise he has ever participated in.

Both Belli and the hospital's attorney, James Barnum, declined to discuss the settlement. Hospital administrator Edward Glavis also declined com-

The agreement provides for cash payments of almost $1.3 million in both cases to be divided among the families and the attorneys. Additionally, both Gallagher and Garcia are to receive payments totaling $750,000 on five anniversaries over the next 50

Finally, each child will receive annual payments of $25,000, increasing and compounding annually at 4

The plaintiffs dropped all allegations against the hospital in exhange for the settlement. Records show the cases were dismissed May 28.

Armstrong has emigration plan

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A blueprint for mass emigration of Worldwide Church of God followers to a foreign land allegedly has been drawn up by controversial evangelist Herbert W. Armstrong, a former employee said. The plan parallels the emigration of the Rev. Jim Jones and his People's Temple followers to Jones-town, Guyana, Tulsan David Robinson alleged. But Robinson said it may be some time before full details of what he knows about the plan on Armstrong's operation are revealed. He said he expects a court gag order soon will bar him from discussing the church or its founder.

Robinson, a 57-year-old former Worldwide minister, has written a book about Armstrong and the California-based evangelical group. The book has become the center of a $2 million lawsuit involving conflict between freedom of speech and freedom of Five thousand copies of "Herbert "Armstrong's Tangled Web" are stored in a Kansas City, Mo., warehouse after a June 2 restraining order signed by Distrit Judge William Means preventing the book's Means granted the temporary injunction after two Worldwide Church members filed the lawsuit against Robinson, claiming publication of the book interferes with their freedom of religion.

Means was to have presided over another hearing on the matter Tuesday, but legal maneuverings have put it in another judge's courtroom Friday for a decision on whether Means' restraining order should

Meanwhile, Robinson said he fears Worldwide Church members are being "led into cultism" by Armstrong. Robinson alleged the 87-year-old church leader has drawn up plans to evacuate his followers to Petra, a small community in Jordan, to "await the end of the Robinson said Armstrong is looked upon by his followers as a God. He said followers are being taught Armstrong is infallible — and he said "they have gotten a lot of people ready to leave the country

Robinson said he has no quarrel with the membership of the Worldwide Church, but alleges "it is the leadership which has jumped the track into cultism, just like Jim Jones did. The lawsuit was filed by Washington, D.C. Worldwide minister Sherwin McMichael and Phoenix, Ariz., associate Henry Cornwall. The suit claims Robinson's allegations, both "true and false" against Armstrong, were intended to intrude on their private affairs and religious beliefs, jeopardizing church members' freedom of religion.

Bridge classes begin in Midland next week

Beginning bridge playes and intermediate-to-advanced players will have opportunites to sharpen their skills in two bridge classes beginnning next

Midland College is starting a new beginners class

Monday on the college campus. The classes will be held for four weeks from 7 to 9 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays.

Persons desiring to take this class should contact the Adult Education Office at Midland College by telephone, or go to the Adult Education Office about 45 p.m. Monday for registration.

Joe Salman will be the instructor. This class is for persons who have never played bridge and for those who have played some but need to sharpen their bidding and playing skills.

The intermediate-to-advanced players can sign up for classes at the Helen Y. Allison Bridge Center. These sessions will run from 7 to 9 p.m. each Monday for eight weeks. There will be a one-hour playing session following the instructors remarks each night.

Tony LaVigne and Betty Dickerson, both bridge lifemasters, will be the instructors. Registration will be conducted Monday night at the bridge center.

The classes are designed for persons who have completed beginning bridge and intermediate bridge courses at Midland College, and for those persons who have considerable time at the home rubber bridge table or in novice duplicate bridge groups.

Transportation Transition OK'd

By SUE FAHLGREN Staff Writer

The Board of Directors of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission approved a Transportation Transition Plan after a public hearing on the plan at Wednesday's monthly board meeting at the West Texas Education Agency building at Midland Regional Airport.

The plan, designed to improve accessibility of public transportation for handicapped people, received a unanimous vote for implementation from the directors.

In other matters, the board discussed and approved applications for a housing subdivision to be located in Odessa, an apartment complex to be located in Odessa, funds for a cotton warehouse in Seminole and funds for a personnel management system improvement for Big Spring.

They also reviewed plans for funding a summer youth program for Dawson, Martin and Upton counties, however no resolution was necessary.

The Henderson Heights Subdivision, slated to encompass some 27½ acres in Odessa, is to be developed by Ramcon Develop-

Pilot suffers seizure

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) - The captain of a twin-jet Frontier Airlines plane, with 72 passengers aboard, had to take the controls of his careening plane Wednesday night when his copilot apparently passed out during a landing attempt.

No passengers were injured, said Bob Schulman, Frontier spokesman. Schulman said the co-pilot of Flight 326, Pete Generoux, was landing the Boeing 737 "when he appeared to slump over. At this point it is believed he had some type of seizure of undetermined nature.

"Capt. Dan Whitman immediately took over, executed a missed approach procedure (regained altitude), then landed the plane without incident."

ment, Inc. of Odessa. The firm will develop 86 lots, initially building only 10 homes to be priced in the $40,000-$50,000 range. ... The PBRPC is requesting Federal Housing Administration approval of the area to provide accessibility to individual family financing. The start date for the project will be Aug. 1. The Housing America Mortgage Company, Inc., of Dallas won the board's recommendation for its Grandview Village apartment complex to be centered in Odessa. The company is seeking approval for mortgage insurance from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The complex will include 160 units in one-, two-and three-bedroom sizes, five percent of which will be accessibile to the handicapped.

The board will recommend to the Department of Housing and Urban Development that the city of Seminole receive $554,000, to be matched with private funds amounting to $3,466,350, for a cotton compress/warehouse facility. The board previously recommended funds for this project last November. However, the city fell short of the matching funds before the deadline

The proposed warehouse, developed by Cotton Pool, Inc., will have a 50,000 bale capacity plus additional storage space for cotton in the compress building. Further, there will be a downtown office building for the Cotton Pool's offices, rental space for the U.S. Department of Argriculture and meeting rooms for other agricultural groups.

The city of Big Spring won the board's backing on its proposal to the Texas Department of Commmunity Affairs for funds for a personnel management system improvement. The city is requesting $18,738 from TDCA, to be matched with private funds of $19,521, to revise its personnel policies, recruitment and selection and employee training sessions.

The board was briefed on plans for summer youth programs for underprivileged children in the Dawson, Martin and Upton County areas. The programs for approximately 1,000 children aged 8 to 13 will be run in neighborhood centers located in Lamesa, Stanton and McCamey through CETA. Omitted from the agenda until a later date was a proposal to adopt a revised budget for the PBRPC Area Agency on Aging.

Texas legislative committee studies early retirement plan for educators

By KEN HERMAN

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Decreasing enrollments threaten to leave Texas colleges with older professors who hang on too long and keep young teachers from getting jobs, a state representative says.

Rep. Gary Thompson, D-Abilene, is chairman of the House Subcommittee on Tenure. Thompson, 43, also is a tenured professor at Abilene Christian University.

"When one gets older, he finds it more and more difficult to keep up in his field," he said of older professors who do not remain abreast of new developments. He said falling enrollments mean no new jobs at state universities. It is difficult for universities to get rid of non-productive, older instructors, he

The subcommittee is looking at a plan that encourages professors to take early retirement. The Stanford University plan financially rewards professors for retiring at age 60, he said.

Thompson said it's dif-ficult for "newly mint-ed" teachers to find jobs in universities. They become "academic gypsies" who take jobs although they know they will be forced to move on after a few years, he

"There won't be any new members on some departments for 30 or 40 years," he said. "The situation will clearly become worse.

"It's a tragic situation for the young Ph.Ds, who in some cases are more highly qualified than the tenured professors," he son. Federal legislation

The Stanford system does not encourage qualified professors to leave their posts, he said.

The problem will be compounded in 1982 when it becomes illegal to require retirement at away with any mandaraises the mandatory retirement age to 70. "It means faculty members who are tenured will cling to their positions to age 70 or be-yond," he said, adding there is legislation pend ing in Congress to do tory retirement age.

NEW YORK (AP) — More than half of all Americans over 60 say they are living a "hand-to-mouth" existence because of financial pressures, according to a study released today.

The study was prepared by Research & Forecasts Inc. of New York City for Americana Healthcare Corp., which operates nursing homes in 11 states. It was based on interviews with 514 persons selected after almost 5,800 telephone calls to a random sampling of the non-institutionalized, over-60 population in the United States. Among the findings:

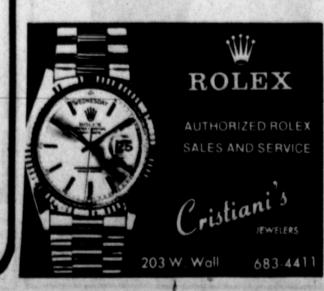

-Fifty-eight percent of those surveyed said they agreed with the statement: "My finances only permit a hand-to-mouth existence." About two-thirds said they were cutting back on everything and buying the least expensive foods, but just over three-fourths indicated they were still eating nutri-

-Health, economic security and a spouse with equal physical capability are the most important factors in determining how well people can manage. Based on these factors, the research firm divided the over-60 population into three categories: enjoyers, survivors and casualties. According to the surveytakers, 27 percent of senior citizens are enjoyers, managing to cope well with the aging process; 53 percent are survivors, coping well with some problems and poorly with others; and 20 percent are casualties, "crushed by the difficulties of old age."

—Almost seven people in 10 said they agreed with the statement: "Inflation is depressing me; it's as if it will never end." About the same number said they disagreed with the statement: "My economic future

-Despite their economic troubles, senior citizens are optimistic about life. Sixty-three percent said they always feel useful; 65 percent said they had a strong self-image; 61 percent said that things in general are worthwhile; and 52 percent showed a high degree of optimism.

It was the spinal injection that caused the only real trouble in the operating room. Because the deadening had spread higher on my wife's body than anticipated, Vicki began having trouble breathing.

Cool refreshers help as temperature rises

Summer is a perfect time to serve cool, frosty refreshers, made with sun drenched citrus and other fresh fruits. As the temperature and humidity rise, a flavorful fruit, an icy sorbet or a thirst-quenching lemonade is welcome indeed.

oranges are really sweet and juicy.
One word of advice when purchasing oranges, however. Don't let the green which appears on some oranges stop you from purchasing them. The oranges are fully ripe and juicy and were golden in color, but warm weather causes the skin to reabsorb chlorophyll and turn green again when fruit ripens and remains on the

Beans good way to cut costs, keep protein

By JEANNTTE BRANIN Copley News Service

How can we stay within our food budgets, with inflation still increasing faster than our paychecks?

Sue and Bill Deeming have a suggestion: Why not use the old bean? Beans are an economical source of protein and essential vitamins, and are tremendously versatile, say the Deemings in their new book, "Bean Cookery.

To prove the versatility of beans they include recipes for appetizers, snacks, sandwiches, soups, salads, dressings and sauces, hearty main dishes and casseroles, vegetables, breads and desserts. Because beans have been a staple around the world for centuries, the authors also list international reci-

They are among the richest sources of several Bcomplex vitamins, including thiamine (B-1), pyriodoxine (B-6) and folic acid. They supply important amounts of riboflavin (B-2) and nia-

"We don't think of beans as a poor man's food," said Bill Deeming. "We have a number of bean dishes that we are proud to serve to company."

The Deemings started cooking together soon after their marriage 10 years ago. Sue holds a Ph.D. in nutrition and has worked as a food reseacher for nationally known companies. Bill, a marriage and family counselor, enjoyed cooking, and especially favored foods of Arizona, his home state, and other states in the Southwest.

Although Sue had taught university classes in French and international cooking, the Deemings decided to zero in on bean cookery. "It seemed like an idea whose time had come," said Bill. "Young people today are suffering from inflation, yet they look at a sack of dried beans and

Church choirs present concert

The youth and handbell choirs of Midland's First Presbyterian Church will present a special "Homecoming Concert" at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the church's sanctuary, 800 W. Texas Ave.

The event will mark the return of the 60-member troupe of singers and instrumentalists from a Youth Choir Mission Tour to five southeastern states. And Friday's concert, like those presented on tour, will feature music ranging from sacred rock to classical hymns and contemporary anthems, accompanied by strings, handbells, woodwinds, brass, rhythm instruments, gui-

The youth handbell ensembles, the Westminster Ringers, have scheduled separate tours later this month. One group will attend the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers Festival in San Antonio; the other will represent FPC at a handbell festival at the University of Hawaii. The groups tour with six octaves of handbells.

The Midland Youth Choir is directed by Tom R. Roberts, minister of Music at FPC.

Roberts has toured with choral groups for 15 years in many states and European countries. He studied at Georgia State and Florida State universities and has worked with Robert Shaw and the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra. He is past Director of Music for the North Georgia Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church. Roberts also directs youth, singers, orchestras and handbell ringers throughout the country in summer camps, workshops and festivals.

Accompanist is Susan H. Roberts, staff pianist at FPC and wife of the director. Mrs. Roberts studied at Florida State University, where she was graduated with honors. She also directs the handbell program.

Texans urged to slow down

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)
- The U.S. Department of Transportation has sent Gov. Bill Clements a letter saying Texas' compliance with the 55 mph speed limit has been "less than desirable." It also threatens to cut $8 million in federal highway money to the state. In 1979, under federal law, states were to prove that at least 30 percent of their drivers comply with the speed limit.

Col. Jim Adams of the Department of Public Safety said Texas was "29 point something."

Label must tell beer, booze ingredients

WASHINGTON (AP) - Those secret family recipes used in liquors, wines and beers won't be secret anymore under new federal labeling reg-

Starting Jan. 1, 1983, manufacturers and importers of alcoholic beverages must disclose what's actually in the bottles and cans.

Generally they can do it either by listing ingredients on labels or by providing addresses where consumers can write to obtain a list of the

However, the regulations issued Tuesday by the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms require a listing on the label of any ingredients the government has identified as posing a health

A statement issued by the Treasury Department agency said such health threats are "generally because of allergic reactions

"Under this provision, Treasury is requiring that Yellow Dye No. 5 be listed by Jan. 1, 1983, on the labels of all alcoholic beverages in which it is used," the statement said. It added that Yellow Dye No. 5 has been found to "cause serious allergic reactions" among some people.

Michael Jacobson of the Washington-based Center for Science in the Public Interest, a consumer group specializing in nutrition and health issues, said the new rules "are at least a small improvement over what we had, which was secrecy over ingredients."

But he added that they are "possibly the weakest labeling regulations ever devised." Jacobson said his group initially petitioned for alcohollabeling regulations more than a decade ago.

a better crawtish Ihose

By WOODY BAIRD

CADE, La. (AP) - Cajuns here will tell you there's a world of difference between the puny "crayfish" found in ditches and creeks up North and his fat Southern cousin, the Louisiana crawfish.

Take size, for example: while the little yankee critters are often used as fish bait, fishermen here use fish to bait their crawfish traps

And taste. If biologist Don Gooch and his friends are successful, people from Maine to California will learn what folks hereabout have know for generations - crawfish make good eating.

"YOU COULD QUADRUPLE the production right now and sell every crawfish," Gooch said as he stood at the edge of his research pond inspecting a swarming catch of the bigclawed crustaceans. "People are calling for crawfish from all over the world

Gooch is director of the Crawfish Research Center at the University of Southwestern Louisiana, located in the heart of French-Cajun country. He and other scientists are trying to boost crawfish production, improve harvesting methods and even develop a better crawfish, one with a bigger tail but smaller head and claws.

Louisiana crawfish look like small lobsters and are at least three inches long when they hit the market. Often they're much larger.

THEY TASTE LIKE spicy shrimp and have been a delicacy in these parts for years. Fishermen plying their ancient trade in the wild Atchafalaya Basin and in the dark bayous of southern Louisiana are hard pressed just to keep up with local demand. So in recent years, crawfish have been grown in ponds, and some large restaurants even manage their own so they'll have a steady supply. That's where the scientists come into the picture. Gooch said crawfish farmers won't be able to expand their markets until they use more scientific production

"NOBODY CAN SIGN a piece of paper now and guarantee a certain supply at a certain price," he said.

Gooch is also trying to convince rice farmers they can make extra money by turning their fields into crawfish ponds during the off season.

"They have everything they need," he said. "Their fields are surrounded by levees and they can drain them if they need to. Rice stubble left after harvesting is an ideal forage for crawfish."

An efficient, educated farmer, he said, can get 1,000 pounds of crawfish an acre each year.

THE MARKET PRICE for crawfish varies considerably, but just now fishermen are getting about 60 cents a pound. In France, Gooch said, where crawfish also are a gourmet's delight, live crawfish sell for as much as $8 a pound Gooch said genetic studies won't be producing giant crawfish for some time, but harvesting can benefit from research immediately.

Using a specially designed pond, crawfish boat and traps, Gooch can cut a fisherman's work while increasing his catch.

For generations, Louisiana fishermen have used the same crude methods to harvest shallow water craw-

A FISHERMAN SLOGS through the muddy marshlands, pulling a small boat behind him. As he works his stand of crawfish traps, he empties his catch into the boat.

It's slow, hard work. Gooch and graduate assistant Charles Lutz ride in a flat-bottom boat equipped with a special outboard motor that runs in the shallow water of the experimental pond, which is equipped with levees and pumps to keep the water circulating. As they go, one man pulls up full traps and dumps the crawfish into a trough that feeds them into bags. The other man, meanwhile, is baiting traps and dropping them back over the side. They can run the 30-acre experimental pond in an hour.

"That used to be one full day's work for one man," Gooch said.

But Gooch said his harvesting methods, though far superior to the old way, still aren't good enough.

EVENTUALLY, HE SAID, rice farmers may lay out their fields leaying open strips every so often. When it's time to harvest the crawfish, fishermen will drop a line of special pellets that attract crawfish, return with a seine and scoop them up.

Gooch said one area of research that must be better explored is what to do with crawfish waste, especially if people begin to eat lots more craw-

About 80 percent of a crawfish is inedible, but the waste is high in lime and protein. Gooch said scientists are trying to find ways to make fertilizer or livestock feed from it.

31 refugees flown to federal prison

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) - Thirty-one Cuban refugees, some involved in the June 1 riot at the relocation center here, have been flown to a federal prison in Atlanta after being identified as suspected criminals or troublemakers.

They left the Fort Smith Municipal Airport Wednesday night on a chartered jet and will be held until officials in Washington decide whether to deport them, said Edwin Chauvin of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The 31 refugees were suspected of committing serious crimes in Cuba, and some were involved in the riot here, Chauvin said.

Bill Traugh, head of the Federal Emergency Management Agency at Fort Chaffee had said on Tuesday that the refugees would be held in the fort stockade for some time because it would not be economically feasible to charter a plane.

But on Wednesday, he said INS officials had "changed their mind and said, 'Let's get them out of here." "If he (Chauvin) says move them, we move them," he said. "After all, they're his prisoners.

Since all things in the world vary in size and quality, there is no such thing as an equidistant policy in international relations, Xinhua correspondent Peng Di wrote from Washington.

"There are aggressors and expansionists as well as victims of aggression and expansion," he wrote. 'How can you assume an even-handed attitude toward both of them? What if they do not reciprocate with the same kind of policy? What if they do not try to act in a way to your liking?"

Holbrooke, in a speech delivered in Washington June 4, brought stated U.S. policy into line with actual practice by rejecting the "even-handed" policy advocated by former Secretary of State Cyrus Vance just 18 months before. The United States then decided to sell some technology that could be put to

More U.S. servicemen arrested for drug use

BONN, West Germany (AP) — U.S. and West German police in the Nuremberg area have concluded another undercover probe of drug use by American GIs in West Germany, arresting 55 soldiers and three U.S. civilians, military ospokesman said

A spokesman for the U.S. Army in Stuttgart said most of the Americans were arrested for possession of hashish and investigations were underway to determine which of them should face courts mar-

The arrests in the Nuremberg area came on the heels of an announcement Tuesday that 89 soldiers were arrested in the Hanau area near Frankfurt on drug charges following a month-long German-American undercover investigation. Since late 1978, 373 soldiers have been arrested for drug offenses in

At least 48 of them have been charged with serious? drug offenses, the spokesman said, and the others face lesser, non-judicial fines or extra duty for possession of small amounts of "soft" narcotics.

The operation in Nuremberg ran from April 15 to June 7 and resulted in confiscation of nearly $2 million in illicit drugs, the spokesman said.

In addition to the Americans, 15 non-U.S. civilians were also nabbed in the operation. They included a Turkish citizen believed to have been the leader of a drug smuggling ring, Army officials said.

utive shutout and stretched his scoreless inning string to a club-record 31 Wednesday night, hurling the Astros to a 3-0 victory over the Chicago

It was the eighth straight victory for the Astros, leaders in the National League's West Division, and the fourth in a row for Richard. The next run he gives up will be the first one he gives up in the month of June.

Actually, his shutout string reaches back to May 26 when he blanked San Diego in the final four innings of a 4-1 victory. Since then, he's shut out San Francisco twice and the Cubs Wednesday night. Early in the season, he also blanked Los Angeles.

Perhaps the best description of what it's like to bat against Richard's aspirin-sized fastballs, came from Lenny Randle of the Cubs.

"He starts out throwing Alka Seltzers and ends up throwing Anacins," said Randle.

It's a nice feeling for Houston to know that Dallas isn't the only Texas town with a J.R. making news. Richard seems to be bringing his own version of South Fork to Houston.

Richard pitched a six-hitter and his eight strikeouts gave him 98 for the season. But he wasn't terriblly im-

Both Preston Gomez, manager of the Cubs, and Houston Manager Bill Virdon thought the big right-hander

"He's learned to cope with his erratic spells," said Virdon. "He doesn't fight it as much. That's the difference.

Ron LeFlore drove in his third run of the game with a two-out, ninth-inning single that delivered Chris Speier as Montreal beat San Diego. Speier started the winning rally with a two-out walk and moved up when reliever Elias Sosa stroked a single, setting the stage for LeFlore. When you win that many, it becomes a habit," Speier said of the Expo streak. "When you lose eight in a row, you start waiting around for things to happen. But this is the positive side of it." Mets 6, Dodgers 2

Mike Jorgensen, a defensive replacement an inning earlier, ripped a grand slam home run in the bottom of the 10th to lift streaking New York over Los Angeles. It was the Mets first grand slam since Lee Mazzilli hit one July 4, 1978, almost two years

The sixth victory in the last seven games for the Mets reminded Jorgensen of a remark Manager Joe Torre had made to his team. Reds 3, Pirates 2

Midland's TL hopes look up after series split with Sox

BY TED BATTLES Sports Editor

Midland rallied for three runs in the last of the sixth to take the first game of a doubleheader with the Amarillo Gold Sox, 7-4, at Cubs Stadium Wednesday night and then succumbed to the combined three-hitter of Gary Pickert and lefthanded rescue artist Daniel Boone in the second series split with the Gold Sox gave the restructured Cubs hope for the second half of the Texas League race, which looms just a couple of weeks away.

Actually, the twinbill and the 3-3

And one of the reasons for renewed optimism was Vinnie Valentini, the most recent roster addition. For a guy who hasn't had much work lately, Valentini pitched ably enough in the second half to win under ordinary circumstances at Cubs Stadium. He left with one out and the bases loaded in the seventh; the Cubs were behind

Revering keeps shooting at Birds

Y'win some, y'lose some.

In the bottom of the 12th inning Wednesday, Baltimore's Ken Singleton literally climbed the right field wall in Oakland and, with a magnificent catch, turned Dave Revering's 'sure" home run into just another

But in the 14th inning, he barely missed a second spectacular catch and Revering's leadoff drive to rightcenter field skipped off his glove for a

"Both of them were in the sun and were difficult to catch, and I came up with 50 percent," Singleton

Two intentional walks later, Tony Armas, hitless in his six previous at bats, strode to the plate for the seventh time in the game. On the first pitch to him from Sammy Stewart, Armas put the ball over the left field fence for a grand-slam homer that beat the Orioles 6-2.

Armas' home run made Oakland starter Mike Norris a winner for the seventh time in 11 decisions - not that the A's lanky right-hander was around to see the blast. He was in the clubhouse, communing with himself, trying, as he put it, "to solidify my thoughts" in case he had to pitch a 15th inning.

"The guys were getting down a little bit on themselves," Norris said after his heroic effort. "We had a couple of chances to score runs in previous innings and we left a couple of men on base. So I figured I'd get away from all those negative aspects.

Norris struck out five batters and walked just two en route to matching the A's record for most innings pitched in a single game.

Brewers 7, Rangers 1 Sixto Lezcano, in a moderate slump since his six RBI-game on opening day, drove in three runs with a pair of homers for Milwaukee, and Ben Oglivie added a three-run homer to support Lary Sorensen's five-hitter against the Rangers.

"I love to see Sixto get hot, and it looks to me like he's starting to," said Brewers Manager George Bamberger. "He'll get hot sooner or later. He's too good a ballplayer not to.

White Sox 7, Blue Jays 4 Chicago's Lamar Johnson cleared the bases with a triple in a four-run fifth inning that beat the Blue Jays

Yankees 9, Angels 7

Bobby Murcer's two-run pinch single with the bases loaded in the 11th inning gave the Yankees their victory. Bob Watson had two homers and Reggie Jackson added a mammoth solo shot for New York.

Rod Carew hit his first homer of the year and California teammate Freddie Patek had a two-run single in the three-run ninth which sent the game into extra innings.

Royals 5-5, Indians 0-8

Kansas City stretched its winning streak to eight games, riding Dennis Leonard's two-hitter (his second consecutive shutout) past the Indians in their twinbill opener.

But in the second game, Jorge Orta slammed a two-run homer in the seventh inning to put Cleveland ahead to stay, then added a two-run single in Frankie George greeted Herman Segelke with a game-settling two-run single to right. Unfortunately for the Palisaides, N.J., righthander, recently sent to Midland by Wichita, he drew Pickert

2-0, one of those runs unearned. Mike

Wright, in a lefty-lefty matchup, got Gary Ashby on a pop to short left, but as a mound foe. The former Emporia, Kan., State lefty took a one-hit shutout into the seventh on the way to his sixth win. Gary Krug opened the in-ning with a double and Manager Eddie Watt quickly brought in Boone, who was nicked for a triple by Chico Alfaro. However, after that, Boone slammed the door on the Cubs for his 14th save, third in this series.

Alfaro couldn't make up his mind whether to play the goat or the hero in the first game. Fortunately, he wound up the latter.

Chico dropped a two-out pop up in the sixth that enabled Amarillo to tie it 4-4, but then delivered a two-run single in the Cubs' three-run sixth that iced the win for Bob Blyth, Midland's third pitcher, who is now 4-3. Earlier, Alfaro's error let in a third inning run, but he promptly made amends in the home third with a two-run homer and finished the game with four rbi.

Midland scored two in the second off Frank Hirschy, 2-2, when Tom Grant singled, Dave Stockstill dou-bled and then scored on an error by shortstop John Flannery.

In the nightcap, Curt Reed poled his fifth homer to left in the second to give the Sox win the second and another run came home in the third without the aid of a hit, which, as it turned out, was enough for Pickert.

The Cubs head for San Antonio and a five-game series beginning tonight, returning home against El Paso to conclude the first-half with five games against the Diablos.

BRUIN BREWIN'S-Reserve in fielder Mike Wilson is being sent to Geneva of the A New York-Pa League and Midland will add infielder Jim Payne, who hit .259 at Wassau, Midwest, last year. are coming, and Billy Martin insists he'll be treating them as just another

"I'm not concerned about the Yankees. I'm not wearing pinstripes now. The only team I'm concerned about is the Oakland A's," says Martin, who wore the New York team's uniform as a player and later manager. He was fired, for the second time, by Yankees Owner George Steinbrenner November.

THIS WEEKEND, starting with a twinight doubleheader Friday, Martin will be thinking about how to beat

More than 100,000 are expected to be at Oakland Coliseum during the three days and Saturday's game will be a national television offering. The following weekend, the A's will visit Yankee Stadium and the crowds will Martin said last week he didn't expect to participate in the Yankees' annual Old Timers game June 21, explaining: "I guess I feel the way I do because of the way I was fired and everything." But he said early this week, when asked if he'd put on his old Yankee uniform No.1, "I haven't decided MARTIN ADDED: "I don't have any hate in me. Besides, George set me up pretty good with money before The A's, last in the AL West with a dance for 31 dates - less than half the season - to about 325,000. The team drew 306,000 all of last season. Martin, who grew up in nearby Berkeley, says the thing he wanted most when he took the A's job "was to see the fans come out, because I want to see baseball stay in the Bay

TWO BOOKS about Martin have been published recently and both concentrate on his New York years, as a player in the 1950s and as manager in

Tone switch causes TV cable confusion for Midlanders

Judging from the phone calls we have received at The Midland Reporter-Telegram and others we have talked to, Midland's Major League baseball fans are feeling a bit rejected this season. Displeasure has been voiced by Midlanders that there is not enough

Major League baseball being shown on television in this area. There have been several factors to cause this feeling, some from misunderstand-ABC, for instance, was disappointed with their Monday Night Baseball ratings from last year and decided to show only five Monday night games this season, all this month. ABC will skip July and will switch to a Sunday afternoon format in August as long as there are heated pennant races. That, however, will place baseball in a head-to-head confrontation with some National Football League games.

Also, KTXT Channel 39, which is seen locally on Cabel 4, showed in excess of 20 Houston Astros' games last year and the new schedule for this season stands at 15. Locally, KMID-TV Channel 2 of Midland has also reduced its number of Texas Rangers' broadcasts this year. NBC's Game of the Week, also seen on KMID on Saturday afternoons, has taken up some of the slack with a good schedule, including several double-However, the biggest thorn to the local baseball fans seems to come from the Tall City TV Cable Corporation's Channel 12, the USA Sports Network (formally Madison Square Garden Sports). USA purchased rights to televise Thursday Night Baseball for an estimated cabel television viewing audience of five million homes. Since the local cable company carries the USA network, which telecasts mostly NBA, college basketball and NHL games, most Midlanders thought they would also see the Thursday night baseball telecasts. In fact, a few games were shown on Thursday in the Midland area, but there was never any guarantee. It seems most Midlanders were hoping that the USA network would fill the void of reduced games televised this summer.

Tom Mixon, manager of the Tall City TV Cable Corporation, is aware of the problem, but stated this week that his local cable company has optioned not to carry the Thursday night package offered by USA.

"The Thursday Night Baseball package with USA is separate from their other package. They (USA) charge $7,000 extra for the baseball package and we have optioned not to carry it," Mixon said. We have carried a couple of the Thursday night games, but it was unintentional. We are set up on a tone switch devise with USA, and the signal didn't get through on a couple of occasions and the games were aired. But we do not offer that package to our viewers."

Midlanders also seemed to be confused since USA promotes its Thursday night telecasts during other sports events. Mixon said, "Yes, we know they advertise the games, but they do that to put pressure on the cable companies to buy their baseball package. Then they try to get an extra $7,000 to use it. We just felt like there was enough baseball from the other cable channels and we couldn't justify the expense.'

So baseball fans are going to have to take what they can get from the existing baseball schedule. You can also hope the tone switch doesn't work from time to time. The old tone switch did give us one extra Astros' game and one extra Rangers' game this year. We are grateful for any

And at least, Midlanders should be in good shape this weekend. Cable channel 4 will be carrying the Houston Astros and Philadelphia Phillies both Friday and Saturday at 6:30 p.m. and KMID will be airing NBC's doubleheader Saturday, beginning at noon. The Texas Rangers-Toronto Blue Jays contest will be one of the choices. In effect, Saturday will

And maybe, just maybe, that tone switch won't work tonight for USA's scheduled doubleheader.

Marburger signs

Michelle Marburger, a 1980 graduate of Midland Lee, has accepted a golf scholarship from Midland college for the 1980-81 academic year.

A top golfer for the Rebels, Michelle was the Region I medalist in Class AAAA when the Lee squad won second place and a state tournament berth. Marburger finished fourth in the state tournament medalist

"We think Michelle has great potential as a collegiate competitor,' said Midland College women's golf coach Susan Holland. "She played well her senior year, is familiar with the area golf courses and has done well against other good players."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marburger.

Pressure is on Tom Watson Most players agree that Baltusrol

Watson says he's ready for the U.S. Open championship, the one golf title he wants to win more than any other in the world.

Watson, the most outstanding golfer in the game the last three years, went into today's opening round of the 80th Open at Baltusrol Golf Club as the favorite among the field of 156. The entries include Jack Nicklaus, who won the Open here in 1967, twotime Open winner Lee Trevino, defending titleholder Hale Irwin and Seve Ballesteros, the Masters champion from Spain.

"I put a lot of pressure on myself," said Watson, winner of five tournaments this year and the leading money-winner at $359,525." "I can't treat the Open as just another golf tournament because I don't see it that

"It's the Super Bowl, the NBA championship and the Rose Bowl. It's impossible to say, 'It's just another golf tournament,' because it isn't." Watson teed off today in the 16th threesome over the historic Lower Course at Baltusrol, a demanding and long par 70 that plays between 7,013 to 7,076 yards, depending on the tee placements

Most of the players believe that even par 280 would be a good score during the four rounds, with Watson, Trevino and Nicklaus, among others, saying that one or two below par should win the $55,000 first prize in the $350,000 tournament.

The field includes 138 professionals and 18 amateurs. Among them are 10 former Open champions, including three-time winner Nicklaus and twotime winners Trevino and Irwin.

rewards accuracy from the tee, combined with length and pinpoint put-

Many put Trevino among the favorites because of his accurate drives, but he told newsmen he didn't think he had much of chance because he is putting poorly.

"I'm playing from tee to green as well as I ever have," he said. "But I'm having more trouble with my putter than I ever had. I would have to be most fortunate to win. Fplayed two rounds and didn't make one birdie. You can't win here without birdies."

Nicklaus also said he was having problems with his putting, although he said he had an excellent practice round Wednesday.

"I never know how I'm playing these days," he said. "I think I'm playing very well but we have to

Watson said he believes the course is ideal for Nicklaus, Ballesteros, Hawaiian Open winner Andy Bean, last week's Atlanta champion Larry Nelson, Kemper Open winner John Mahaffey and Dan Pohl, a four-year pro whose best finish was a second in this Nicklaus declined to handicap the players. "I don't like to talk about somebody else's game because I don't have any control over it," he said. "If I don't play well, I don't care who is playing well.'

vear's Crosby.

The tournament will be televised by ABC, with highlights tonight and Friday beginning at 10:30 p.m. CDT and live action from 1:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Webster dispute continues

NEW YORK (AP) — An appeals court has said U.S. District Judge Robert L. Carter exceeded his authority in overturning the award made by National Basketball Association Commissioner Larry O'Brien in the Marvin Webster compensation case.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit Wednesday sent the matter back to Special Master Telford Taylor - the arbiter who heard the initial appeal, before it reached Carter - to determine whether the award was "significantly excess-have to be made - presumably by O'Brien.

This is the latest move in a complex dispute that dates back nearly two years but which both sides regard as significant because it involves the boundaries of authority for the various parties.

The New York Knicks had signed Webster on Aug. 29, 1978, as a veteran free agent after the 7-footer completed his contractual obligation to Seattle. When the two teams could not agree on compensation, the matter went to O'Brien under the agreement reached in 1975 between the NBA and its Players Association. O'Brien awarded forward Lonnie Shelton, a first-round draft choice and $450,000 to Seattle.

This was appealed by the Players Association to Taylor.

Wickenheiser No. 1 in NHL

MONTREAL (AP) -A total of 210 young men ot a line on their futures Wednesday when the 21 National Hockey League teams staked claims to them in the entry draft of young talent.

It was the final day of the NHL annual meetings, and center Doug Wickenheiser of the Regina.Pats of the Western Hockey League, suddenly was a member of the Montreal Canadiens. "Just being in this building is a great feeling," the 19-year-old said of the Forum, site of the draft, after the Canadiens, using a pick acquired from Colorado Rockies, had made him the No. 1. "There are all those adorning the rafters of the Forum. Managing Director Irving Grundman hopes that Wickenheiser, a solid six-footer, will help hoist many more banners.

Stanley Cup pennants up there. There are 22 such flags

General Manager John Ferguson of Winnipeg Jets, meanwhile, held out against numerous attractive offers and, using the second choice in the draft, tabbed defenseman Dave Babych of the Portland Winter Hawks of the WHL as his best bet for future success.

"I think Dave Babych can become a franchise in Winnipeg," said Fer-guson. "There'll be a heavy load on the kid, but we think he has the potential to become the next Denis Potvin.

Exotic places ready for sportsmen

Looking for a place to find some of the hottest fishing action in the world? Or could you possibly be searching for a far-off tropical paradise in which top fishing and hunting abound?

There are many sportsmen in our sector of Texas constantly searching for new and exotic places to hunt and fish. These people want to do more than cast a lure for an Amistad largemouth or chase E.V. Spence stripers. So for those sportsmen, we'll list some favorite places that might be a welcome change of pace.

And, since most of the requests for information are for Mexico, we'll focus on that.

Lake Dominquez, on the West Coast, is noted as one of the finest black bass lakes in the world. Three to four-pound bass are common, and it's also common to catch 50 or 60 bass per day. Best times to visit Dominquez are from January through August.

Bill Chapman's Hunting and Fishing Service, one of Mexico's most reputed outdoor service agencies will handle all bookings. The United States booking agent handling most of Chapman's bookings is Joe Don Scott, Box 1180, Plainview.

Lake Guerrero is a 44,000-surface-acre reservoir 25-miles from Victoria. The lake is full of bass. For whitewing, blue rock pigeon and waterfowl shooting, this region perhaps offers the best possibilities.

Two of Guerrero's most respected outfitter services are: S&W Hunting and Fishing, Inc., Box 400131, Dallas, or La Retama Hunting and Fishing, Inc., Box 3763, Brownsville.

For those interested in battling sailfish, marlin, shark or dolphinfish, Mazatlan, Sinaloa, Mexico, is the place to go. This beautiful region on Mexico's West Coast is a perfect solution to catching giant billfish. Either the novice or the expert should have a good time. Accomodations in Mazatlan are as good as anywhere in the world. The Flota Bibi Fleet, Box 204, Mazatlan, run by Gil Aviles, is efficient. Then there's Costa Rica, known as the tarpon and snook fishing center of the world. Plus, light tackle enthusiasts have the opportunity to catch the machaca, the guapote or the mojarra. There is excellent service to San Jose, Costa Rica, by a number of U.S. gateways, such as Miami, Houston and New, Orleans.

KENNY REDIN'S

Fin & Feather

Now, looking at something entirely out of the ordinary, there's bass fishing in Cuba. Anglers can fish a series of lakes in Western Cuba. The Cuyuguateje lake chain which provides some of finest bass angling in the world.

The trip departs from Miami and is relatively inexpensive considering acomodations, food and transportation.

Tulsa takes AIAW golf lead

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) - The University of Tulsa, paced by Sharon Barrett's 3-under par 71, took the first-round lead Wednesday in the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women golf tournament.

Tulsa posted a team score of 298 to open up a 2-stroke lead over San Jose. State, which finished the first day with a team total of 300. UCLA, Georgia and defending champion SMU were all tied for third after the first round with 303s.

San Jose State's Patty Sheehan, the runnerup in the U.S. Amateur, carded the best round of the day with a 4-under par 70 over the demanding 6,225-yard, par-74 University of New Mexico course.

Defending individual champion Kyle O'Brien of SMU ballooned to an 80 to fall 10 shots behind Sheehan. O'Brien has been battling a back injury much of this season.

Sheehan was a picture of consistency, putting together 35s on both nines. Barrett, winner of the Dick McGuire Invitational earlier this year at the same UNM course, fired nine-hole scores of 35-36.

Cleveland defeats NBA

CLEVELAND (AP) - The city of Cleveland is patting itself on the back after winning its battle with the National Basketball Association to keep the 1981 NBA All-Star game at the Coliseum in suburban Richfield

"It was a community effort, and the community won," the Cleveland Plain Dealer editorialized in today's editions. "Take a bow.

The NBA board of governors had voted June 3 to move the 1981 event to Los Angeles as part of a plan to hold the annual game in a major media center such as Los Angeles or New

But Cleveland-area officials, including Mayor George V. Voinovich and U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, and Cleveland daily newspapers and hundreds of fans quickly made their displeasure known through letters and telegrams to NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien.

One Cleveland attorney even filed a lawsuit in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court, alleging consumer fraud, since the Cavaliers had marketed season tickets this year. A ticket to the All-Star game was included in the tickets' package deal. Management upheavals in the Cavaliers' front office were seen as "the real reason for the attempt to take the

All-Star game out of the Coliseum."

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) - In a twopronged review of the University of Colorado athletic department; the school's regents approved Wednesday a report finding it in violation of 50 NCAA rules and approved a pro-posal to balance the budget that includes the elimination of seven minor

The budget recommendations would generate $1.06 million to offset an expected $970,000 deficit in the 1980-81 athletic budget.

After three months of examining 132 alleged infractions, a university investigative committee found the school in violation of 50 rules involving recruiting, financial aid, alumni involvement, transportation matters, athletic workouts and academic matters. Another 82 allegations were either incorrect or unconfirmed, the committee said.

The committee said some of the violations were of the "peanuts and popcorn variety," but also noted "evidence of indifference, especially during the years 1974 to 1978.

Among violations verified by the committee were excessive recruiting visits, improper uses of university automobiles by prospective recruits and varsity athletes, and improper favors from alumni to varsity athletes. The committee also found that a coach had been overly involved in aiding a varsity athlete with a term paper. No improprieties with the hiring of Chuck Fairbanks as football coach were uncovered by the com-

In its widespread investigation, the committee found "serious deficiencies" with the administration of the athletic department, but made no recommendations for personnel changes. However, one committee member, business professor G. Dale Meyer, called for the dismissal of Athletic Director Eddie Crowder.

The nine-member committee began its investigation in March in response to allegations from the NCAA, most of which were said to have occurred in the period 1972-78.

The regents approved the committee's report and forwarded it to the NCAA for consideration. The NCAA is expected to issue its own report and possibly assess penalties this sum-

YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY: Funnyman Paul Lynde shares this birthday with you. Married Geminis need to show more consideration to their spouses now or they could face some real trouble. October and November will be especially trying months for personal relationships. An interest in the new, exotic and eccentric could turn you into a true travel buff. Although money does not interest you as much as ideas, a financial windfall is a distinct possibility this winter. Employment situation should show some real improvement by end of summer.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Higher-up seems more responsive than in recent past. Turn the tables on an adversary. Sympathetic associate may give you some valuable inside information. Make good use of TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Higher-up realizes that you work best under pressure and tould set some arbitrary deadlines. Aggressive associate may try to win you over to his way of thinking. Be politely attentive but noncommittal.

Actually, South opened one spade out of turn. As a result, the bidding reverted to 24 North, but North was compelled to pass throughout the auction. East took advantage of the situation to make a crafty pass, and South was on the spot. Since East did not open the bidding, it seemed quite likely to South that his partner, who had been barred by the bid out of turn, could have quite a good hand. Therefore, South elected to gamble on three no trump. East emerged from the

has been in love - regardless of whether you were ever married or not because the dream was there. And, for some, the dream is a reality. Nothing runs smoothly and marriages, even the best, are no excep-

He tells her "you are always late" and she's quick to respond, "you are always early." As is the nature of almost all fights, this one escalates. Each has made out a list of the other's faults.

And so it goes from there to the build-up. He is approaching 40 and explains to her that "men of 40 go to town, women go to pot." This is naturally well received and she, not to be outdone, informs him that "if I'm going to go to pot, this pot is going to be hot."

The entire play is carried by two people, which is a feat within itself. The protagonists are Daphne Pemberton as Agnes and Louis Kluck as Michael, who are in reality married to each other.

Both carry their roles well, at all times thoroughly convincing the audience that they are in fact Agnes and Michael.

Most of the lines are sung and these two have excellent voices. Hers is perhaps more suited to her role. The range expected from his, at times, seems to be strained.

For those interested in spending a delightful evening, performances are slated for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, this week and next, Reservations may be made by calling the box office at 682-4111.

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market lost ground today, pausing at its highest levels since last winter. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which closed Wednesday at a 31/2-month high, slipped back 2.73 to 869.97 by noontime today

Losers took an 8-7 lead over gainers in the mid-day tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

After moving ahead briefly at the outset, the market headed lower as oil issues, standout performers in the past two sessions, encountered some selling. Occidental Petroleum was down ¼ at 26¼; Texaco % at 37¼, and Exxon 1% to 67¼.

Knight-Ridder Newspapers led the active list, up % at 24%. A 424,000share block traded at 231/2 in the over-the-counter market. The NYSE's composite index slipped .25 to 65.92. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off 2.15 at 286.77. Volume on the Big Board came to 21.17 million shares at noontime, up from 18.04 million at the same point

TI may fly into Love,

DALLAS (AP) - Texas International Airlines may be on the verge of switching, at least a little bit, instead of fighting.

An airline official said Wednesday the airline is considering switching at least some flights from Dallas-Fort Worth Airport to Love Field.

TIA had fought lengthy court bat tles in a vain attempt to stop Southwest Airlines, one of their main competitors for Texas airline passengers' dollars, from flying out of Love tional is "looking very seriously" into resuming at least some service out of the Dallas airport.

the flights moved to Love Field would be strictly to cities in Texas.

Federal legislation passed earlier this year allows Southwest Airlines to fly out-of-state only to states joining Texas; thwarting attempts by the regional airline to fly to such cities as St. Louis and Chicago.

Howard D. Putnam, president of asked the how the airline felt about TIA moving some flights to Love

"Southwest was founded on free enterprise and we spent a lot of years fighting for it, and if somebody wants to come back to Love Field and compete with us, we'd love to have them,' Putnam said.

Youngsters exempted from sales tax

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - The state Legislature has decided to throw small fry like 13-year-old worm salesman Jody Gerard back and go after only big ones when it fishes for sales

The state Assembly on Wednesday gave final approval to a bill exempting "young entrepreneurs" under 18 from having to collect sales taxes on the first $600 they make a year.

The bill, passed several weeks ago by the state Senate, is expected to be signed by Gov. Hugh Carey.

The "Jody bill" got its start last July when two Department of Taxation and Finance agents were sent to Jody's Ulster County home to audit his pencil written records and make "no" vote of Rep. Steven sure the boy paid up 64 cents worth of Symms, R-Idaho, whose tax from his sale of worms to local

Egyptian, Israeli ministers bicker

By The Associated Press

While the White House announced plans for Egyptian and Israeli negotiators to meet in Washington in hopes of renewing the stalled Palestinian autonomy talks, the two partners in peace bickered publicly over which side was holding up progress.

In Cairo, an Egyptian Foreign Ministry spokesman read a prepared statement Wednesday accusing Israel of deliberately "creating more obstacles" to the peace process with its stated policy to build new settlements in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

TODAY'S ANSWER

BUSINESS MIRROR Americans secretly like having inflation

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

LOS ANGELES (AP) - After listening to the chitchat at social and sometimes business gatherings, Robert Parry wonders if Americans are really prepared to deal with inflation. Two questions predominate, he said.

The first is posed dutifully: "What are we going to do about inflation?" The second question follows almost before the questioner has finished wringing his hands. "Do you know," he asks in a more animated tone, "how much my house is worth now?"

Parry, senior vice president and chief economist of Security Pacific National Bank, believes that many Americans secretly like inflation, at least that inflation which pushes up the market value of homes.

When he delivers addresses on the economy, one of his chores as president of the National Association of Business Economist he sometimes conducts a revealing little test. Many people don't pass it.

'If I gave you a little black box that contained a button, and all you had to do was push the button to end all inflation immediately," he asks his audience, would you push the button?"

It is his opinion that many of them would not, an opinion verified by the stunning silence that often precedes any response. Many of those who pause before answering are owners of homes whose value has soared.

This is especially true in the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas, where median prices jumped last year to $83,000 and $90,000, respectively, far above the $67,000 national median for large cities. But housing isn't the only vested interest people have in inflation. Some day, says Parry, the nation must come to grips with many of its spending programs, including those for Social Security payments. If people are living longer, he asks, shouldn't we at least consider restricting benefits until a person is older? "Perhaps to 67?" he asks provocatively. "It would dramatically lower the costs.' And isn't it absurd, he asks, for Social Security to be indexed to inflation in a manner that permits a 14 percent increase July 1, while wage incrases are restricted to single digits by executive guidelines? He concedes it is unpleasant to think of cutting Social Security. Almost everyone, he recognizes, has a relative, friend or acquaintance receiving it.

But indexing just perpetutes inflation," he says. He extends the reasoning to state and local pensions that sometimes permitretirement in early middle age. "The costs are prohibitive," he says.

Someone has to say no. We just can't afford them. He paused. "I suppose I can say this as an economist, but I'm not running for office," he said, fingering what he sees as a prime cause. Politicians seeking office, he feels, often are in tion perpetuaters.

"Long term," he said, "the nation has to make tough decisions. We have to increase spending more slowly. We have to consider tax changes to stimulate saving and investing, and maybe to restrain spending. But, it seems, people like to borrow and pay back in cheaper dollars, politicians like to win votes, retirees like their pensions, and homeowners are overloyed at soaring market values, even if they might be unable immediately to convert those values to cash.

"Too many people have learned to live with rising prices," said Parry. "They have made decisions that require continued inflation.

The measure passed a major test Wednesday when Rep. Joseph Gaydos, D-Pa., switched his vote from "no" to "yes" after the time given members to vote had expired.

House leaders, who had not formally closed the voting, did so immediately, keeping alive by a 205-204 margin a key section that creates a new procedure for enforcing provisions of the 1968 fair housing act.

14 For all who are led by the Spirit of God are sons of God.

17 And since we are His children, we will share His treasures -for all God gives to His Son Jesus is now ours too. But if we are to share His glory, we must also share His suffering.

18 Yet what we suffer now is nothing compared to the glory He will give us later.

19 For all creation is waiting patiently and hopefully for that future day when God will resurrect His children.

22 For we know that even the things of nature, like animals and plants, suffer in sickness and death as they await this great

23 And even we Christians, although we have the Holy Spirit within us as a foretaste of future glory, also groan to be released from pain and suffering. We, too, wait anxiously for that day when God will give us our full rights as His children, including the new bodies He has promised us-bodies that will never be sick again and will never die.

Texas turtle man refuses to give up

By SUSAN STOLER

SOUTH PADRE IS-LAND, Texas (AP) -Earl Lippoldt can show you proof that it pays to go to top boss with a problem

He sent his business card along with a check for his December gasoline bill to the chairman of the board of Conoco Oil Co. He also enclosed a history of his efforts to save Ridley sea

Last week, he got a $1,000 check from the oil giant. It came as his program funds were running low.

The money will go to the Ridley Sea Turtle Patrol Inc., a nonprofit volunteer project formed to protect the endangered species.

"This is the first major corporate contribution. We hope there will be several to follow," said the retired Kansas farm-

Conoco regional representative Carlton Adams of Lake Charles, La., presented the check and said the company directors might approve a larger amount next year. The company "adopted" Lippoldt's program as part of its conservation

For five years, Lip-poldt has tried to locate Ridley nests, watch over the eggs 24 hous and protect the young turtles until they're ready to return to the sea. He sold his house and has estimate his personal contributions to the program at $100,000.

Between April and September, female Ridleys return by instinct to their own hatching site, lay large nests of 80 or more eggs in the sand, then feave.

When the federal government renewed his wildlife permit this year, it said he could no longer move eggs to safe locations, away from preda-tors, humans and high key to increasing the Ridley population. In 1977, it was estimated there were 2,000 Ridleys worldwide. Lippoldt said he thought of suing the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to restore his permit to its original form. The federal government now appears willing to negotiate the problem. His attorney, Larry Walsh of Brownsville, drew up an agreement following extensive telephone conversations with federal officials. He expects an answer soon on the compromise proposal.

In the meantime, Lippoldt hopes to gather more corporate and individual contributions. The money helps pay for gasoline, supplies and food neded when the turtle patrol begins aroundthe-clock watches.

He makes daily trips up the 235 miles of beach looking for turtle tracks. The Lippoldts found a nest this time last year so they're especially watchful this month.

Their turtle camp is a trailer, flag pole and some porch chairs about nine miles north of the more famous "Hotel Row" section of South Padre Island.

The area is undeveloped and frequented only by fishermen, bathers and those curious about the camp. So Lippoldt thought it unusual last month when he saw a well-dressed man carrying a briefcase along the beach.

The stranger was Joe Ladd, a well-known Houston disc jockey, who was stranded after his private plane crashed into some mudflats. After returning to Houston, Ladd gave Lippoldt plugs on the air to raise

JIMMY'S WHITE HOUSE

Getting quick response on White House calls

By JAMES GERSTENZANG Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - How do you get a quick response from the White House? Just say the magic words. These's days, those words are Sen. Kennedy.

An angered and frustrated staff member of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's presidential campaign found that out the night of June 3, when President Carter fin-ished the primary election campaign with more than enough Democratic National Convention delegates to seal his renomination.

The call from the senator himself was somewhat slower. The two candidates did not connect with each other until the next day.

Council suggests savings plan

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - An energy advisory council touted nuclear energy and suggested a way the federal government could save electric customers in the Southwest $29 billion over the next decade.

The Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council adopted a committee resolution Wednesday emphasizing "the need to fully exploit" nuclear energy a "proven domestic energy resource."

Another committee recommended re-examining national policy to determine if licensing and constructing nuclear power plants could be speeded up. It said a House proposal prohibiting funds for nuclear projects should be removed.

The second committee's recommendation, which also was adopted by the council, stated:

"Any project that has the effect of decreasing the dependence on foreign oil should be considered as being desirable from a public policy perspective because of the national security problems of higher oil imports.'

The electric utility resolution was directed at the 1978 federal Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act, which prohibits the use of natural gas as the fuel for electric power plants after 1989.

R.H. "Dick" Cory, a member of the council's Advisory Committee on Industrial and Electric Utility Fuel Use, told the council natural gas accounts for 75 percent of electric generation in Texas.

He said Texas' electric utilities are voluntarily converting from gas to coal-fired boilers, but to comply with the federal law would cost the Southwest $29 billion - including $17 billion in Texas - by the year

The Northeast and western regions would only have to spend $6 billion to $9 billion to convert to coal, Cory said, and federal funds would pay about one-half the

He said the average cost of electric utility service would increase by 10 percent in Texas by 1995 but would decrease by 5 percent in the Mid-Atlantic region and by -15 percent in the Northeast.

Also, Cory said, the federal law could result in the use of an additional 300,000 barrels of oil a day in the Southwest, rather than less oil as was the intent of the

The council's resolution says the Fuel Use Act should be amended so that "utility boilers that are not coalcapable without modification be allowed to burn natural gas or oil for the remainder of their useful lives or until a scarcity of natural gas can be demonstrated."

Council member Michel Halbouty of Houston, an independent oilman, said, "Washington doesn't know what in the hell it's doing" on energy, and Speaker Bill Clayton, another council member, added, "Can I sec-

expert predicted Wednesday Texas pounds to 6.4 mi

Halbouty said the Department of Energy proposes the conversion to coal, yet regulations of the Environmental Protection Agency prevent that conversion. 'The only way to convert to coal is to clean up the Clean Air Act," said Halbouty. General Counsel Lynn Coleman of the DOE predicted the next Congress would review the act.

"Our room to wiggle has just about run out," said Chairman John Blair of the Texas Air Control Board, also a council member. "In some places it is impossible to live with the act.'

Council member Ed Vetter, energy adviser to Gov. Bill Clements, said predictions that solar energy will provide 25 percent of the nation's energy needs by 2000 are "highly unrealistic."

Such forecasts, Vetter added, "give American people the luxury of sitting back and saying, 'I don't have to do anything about the Clean Air Act.

Clements told Coleman he would like to hear more "strong statements" from DOE that the American people cannot count on solar energy as an important energy source any time soon.

"Our perception is we say it almost every day," said "If you're saying it, you're whispering it," replied

Clements. "They (American people) are hearing what they want to hear and think as opposed to putting their nose to the grindstone.' Other recommendations of the Cory committee; which the council adopted, included the "timely" development of synthetic fuels and federal reimbursement for plant conversions or shut-downs that occur as a result of federal mandates.

The council also adopted the committee's recommendation to permit automatic fuel adjustments after

The nuclear resolution proposed assessments for nuclear power customers to cover the costs of waste disposal

The resolution, presented by Dr. William Fisher, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology, also offered these recommendations, which were adopted by the council:

— Making the governor solely responsible for con-curring with the federal government on any high-level nuclear waste disposal in Texas. - State legislation enabling Texas to manage low-level waste disposal sites in Texas. - Research to turn nuclear wastes into a less chaos in petroleum-pricing and currency values, is not designed > to $50 or $60 a barrel, but you can readily imagine the effect on the world economy," the Saudi oil minister, Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, said after the two-day OPEC conference ended here Wednesday. Instead, oil ministers said they fa-

We could cut production by 5 million barrels a day and prices would go

OPEC says it wants to end

vored more gradual and predictable price increases, while protecting themselves against inflation and declines in value of the dollar. Before the system can be launched, however, OPEC must put existing prices in order. Current prices are said to be "disunified," meaning different countries charge widely varying prices for similar qualities of crude

For instance, there are three prices for light Persian Gulf crude. Saudi Arabia charges $28 a barrel, Iraq $30 and Iran $35. Iraq will raise its price to $32 on July 1 under the OPEC agreement reached Wednesday. So will Qatar and Kuwait. Venezuela will hike its price between $1 and $2.

This multi-tiered price system causes problems for several reasons.

Yamani complained that oil companies with access to Saudi crude make excess profits because of the relatively low price. Industry analysts say the disunity tends to encourage leapfrogging, in which a price increase by one country leads immediately to hikes by all others regardless of whether their crude's quality merits higher prices in the market.

The accord here, which sets a $32 benchmark price and a $37 ceiling, will help to limit leapfrogging, but is only a first step toward reuniting OPEC prices.

"Now if a given country raises its price, it does not follow that the others increase immediately," Kuwait Oil Minister Ali Khalifah Al-Sabah said.

His statement was significant because Kuwait stymied two efforts by Saudi Arabia to reunify prices early this year. Kuwait raised its price by $2 a barrel to match Saudi increases and triggered a round of hikes by other producers in January and

Yamani's previous predictions that prices could fall have been proved
