FIRST POULTRY SHOW IN BAILEY COUNTY WILL BE HELD FEBRUARY 8, 9, AND 10 IN CITY OF MULESHOE

Bailey county's first poultry show will be held in Muleshoe, February 8, 9, and 10, according to preparations being made this week by the committee arrangements.

The showing will be held in the big greenhouse of the Hagemeier building at Main street, and judging will be made by B. Galloway, accredited and licensed judge of the American Poultry Association, coming from Amarillo.

Birds of all the popular chicken breeds will be accepted and given judging. They must be placed for showing February 8th. Judging will be done the following day, while birds remain on exhibition until the evening of the 10th before removal. It is now anticipated there will be about 100 pens of various kinds of chickens in the show.

Cash of merchandise prizes will be awarded to all first placings and to award prize winners, while second and third placings will draw appropriate amounts of honor. Showing of oddities and fancy breeds of various kinds will be accepted, but no awards given.

It is also planned there will be a special demonstration of chicken feeding put on by county authorities as well as some demonstration booths of special brands of chicken feeds, remedies of different kinds and chicken houses paraphernalia needed in the business. Chicken specialists will be present to disseminate information, display pictures and give away tracts and booklets on the art of poultry culture.

People from all over this section are assured of a bird show well worth their while during the three days designated.

IMPOSSIBLE! BUT MULE HAS A COLT

"It is biologically impossible," say biologists, "for a female mule to bring forth young." But that is what happened last week on the farm of B. J. Jones, 10 miles south of Black. The colt, a male, is doing well and so is the mother, Mr. Jones says. As a matter of fact, the rare animal is such a fine specimen a neighbor has offered Mr. Jones $100 for it.

Judge C. F. Kerr and L. Baskin drove out to see the animal this week. They intend to let Ripley know about it.—Hereford Brand.

IMPORTANT METHODIST MEET HELD AT AMARILLO, FEB. 6

A very important all day meeting is scheduled to be held at the Polk Street Methodist church, Amarillo, February 6, according to Rev. E. C. Roney, local Methodist pastor, and all Methodists of this section are urged to attend.

A covered dish luncheon will be served at the noon hour.

Six bishops of the M. E. church, South, are to be present and take part in the program which is to be an inspirational nature, both evangelistic and economic.

If Methodism is to continue her part in the great plan of Christendom it must renew its activities in a more efficient and fruitful manner, declares Rev. Roney, commenting upon the forth-coming meeting, and a large delegation is urged from Muleshoe.

LIVESTOCK SALE AND AUCTION TO BE HELD FEB. 5TH

A big livestock sale and auction is to be held in Muleshoe, Monday, February 5, and plans are this week being worked out by the committee in charge of details for the day's interests.

All kinds of livestock, including horses, mules, hogs, sheep, goats and poultry of different kinds, all kinds of implements, farm machinery and tools household goods of various kinds—in fact, anything anyone has who wish to dispose of will be received on that occasion.

Special arrangements have been made with two or more skilled and experienced auctioneers to handle the sales and without charge of any kind to those offering commodities for sale. There will be the usual swap and barter feature, wherein parties may make direct personal sales and trades as they desire.

It is understood that several large showings of livestock have already been arranged for and will be present on that day. Now is the time when many are casting about for more teams, cows and other stuff needed for the coming spring months, and it is intended that a good supply of such will be here on Monday for accommodation of the buyers.

J. F. Strickland Is Ready To Again Serve As Constable Prec. 4

J. F. Strickland, of Enochs, in the southern part of Bailey County, announces through the columns of this Journal, his candidacy for re-election to the office of Constable in Precinct No. 4.

In again submitting his name to the voters of this county for re-election, Mr. Strickland states it has been a pleasure to have served in this capacity and that he greatly appreciates the courtesies and assistance given him by the voters at any time or in any manner. Being a constable has always been his first duty, and while there have at times arisen some technical situations, as is invariably the case with peace officers, he has never failed to perform his duty, according to the law.

"In the performance of this duty it has been my constant aim to be fair and unbiased in my actions, to be courteous and gentlemanly in my dealings with those under my jurisdiction, yet to be firm and resourceful in all my acts, realizing full well the rights of my fellow-citizens as well as the duties of my sworn office."

"Experience counts for much in performing satisfactorily the duties of this office, and because of my past experience, my general knowledge of conditions throughout the county and especially in my precinct, because of my wide acquaintance with the people, I feel I am now in better position to acceptably and efficiently serve my constituents in the future than I have ever been during the past."

"I, therefore, most earnestly and respectfully request the general support, influence and favorable votes of the citizens of this county toward my re-election to this office at the coming primaries."

J. F. STRICKLAND.

Cecil H. Tate Asks Re-election As Co. Attorney For Bailey

Cecil H. Tate makes announcement this week for re-election as County Attorney, under the banner of the Democratic party.

In making this announcement, Mr. Tate says he is doing so not merely because it is Democratic custom for an office-holder to be accorded a second term, but because of the fact that he feels confident he has served his constituents well and faithfully, and on the merits of his past service is entitled to re-election.

"I have always been on the job," said Mr. Tate, "and have never failed to give of my best and constant service to the intricate and important duties of this office, and because of my past service, I feel I am now even more qualified to efficiently serve in this capacity during another term."

All citizens of the county coming into this office, and have been given the fullest courtesy and my sincere interest in their problems, it invariably being a pleasure to assist them in handling their legal matters coming under my jurisdiction.

"I have been especially careful in taking complaints filed with me and in preparing cases for court, that such cases might be of the nature wherein positive results could be obtained at the least possible expense. In all instances, I have fully realized I am a servant of the people who elected me to this office, and have been glad to lend my every influence toward keeping down the expenses of the county to the lowest possible minimum consistent with efficiency."

"It has been my one aim in office to see that the laws as relating to Bailey County have been reasonably enforced. I have never sought to persecute anyone; but where willful and flagrant violations of a premeditated nature have occurred I have never hesitated in performing my duty, in connection with other enforcement officers, toward seeing that such violators received their just dues."

"Permit me at this time to express my great appreciation to the various citizens throughout the county who, from time to time, have rendered valuable service in connection with the duties of this office, and to assure you one and all in advance that your votes and favorable influence toward my re-election will be gratefully appreciated and fully availed by my most faithful service.—CECIL H. TATE."

Allan McGee Is Out For Co. Commissioner Job in Precinct No. 1

J. A. (Allan) McGee, residing four miles north of Muleshoe, makes announcement of his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner, Precinct No. 1, in this issue of the Journal.

Mr. McGee states he has been a lifelong Democrat and is now a staunch supporter of President Roosevelt and the "New Deal," believes firmly in the principals of that political party and to the methods and movements now being advanced by it for rejuvenation of economic conditions of the nation.

Mr. McGee has been a resident of Bailey County for the past five years and is a property owner in this county. He states he has never before run for a political office, and is doing so now in the belief that the county at this time needs an administration of real business economics, more so than perhaps at any time during the past.

"I have always been rated as a conservative," said Mr. McGee, "and I claim to be conservative in my very nature. I have never been accused of being a spendthrift in any of my business dealings, neither am I of a reactionary nature. I believe in getting full value for every dollar expended and making every dollar do its full duty, whether spent individually or in a collective manner."

"Right now, while business conditions are improving somewhat, yet it is a crucial time all over the country, a time when the keenest business ethics and the soundest of good judgment must be employed. We are not yet out of the depression by any means. Counties everywhere are short of money, yet there are certain improvements that are always mandatory and certain expenses that can not be obviated. It is good business, under these conditions to carefully scrutinize every necessary expenditure and make every dollar go as far as possible."

"I believe in good roads all over the county, and assure my constituents I shall work with other members of the Commissioners' court toward securing the very best roads possible at the least expense, and it shall be my pleasure to co-operate with other Commissioners of this county in formulating and carrying out a plan of strictest economy in a business like manner."

"I feel I am well competent to look after the business of the public in this particular manner, promising the citizens of this county my very best services, and assuring them their influence and favorable votes in my behalf will be rewarded by diligent service."

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT MAY USE COMPULSORY METHODS TO GET A REDUCTION IN COTTON ACREAGE

Clearly the great sustaining force in the cotton market today is the belief that the cotton acreage reduction campaign for 1934-35 will be successful, but reports coming in as the sign-up campaign closes with the end of January indicates the sign-up for this and next year will not be nearly so great as it was in 1933.

Some counties have estimated the sign-up will not be more than six or seven per cent of what it was last year, others are ranging considerably higher in the percentage. In Bailey county present indications are it will be about a 50 per cent sign-up of what it was last year.

"Throughout the cotton belt in the southern part of the state reports indicate from 20 to 30 per cent of the acreage being signed. A survey of 74 counties shows a considerable slump in the signing, and it is now officially estimated by officials at College Station that the estimated total acreage of 6,000,000 reduction in Texas may not exceed 2,000,000.

"Unless there is a heavy signing with the closing of January it is entirely probable that growers will see a distinct drop in the price of from 11 to 15 cents per pound shortly after February—unless the government sees adequate to extend the period of contract signing, of which there is at this time no public information available. And even should there be an extension in the contract signing period, it still appears many are not going to avail themselves of the opportunity."

Many landlords are reported not cooperating with the government in the sign-up campaign. In Bailey county alone it is said there are approximately 200 tenanted contracts now being held up for lack of landlord signatures.

On the other hand, reports coming in indicate there is going to be a big acreage of cotton planted this year—many new acres going into cotton for the first time—and if such procedure continues as is now apparently contemplated, the federal crop reduction plan will be for naught and the big acreage of previous years will return along with it, a possible price of 4 cents per pound for the staple.

Present conditions point to a compulsory plan of controlling cotton production by the federal government. It is a known fact that President Roosevelt stands ready to adopt such methods if, in his opinion they become necessary.

The Department of agriculture is sending out questionnaires to cotton farmers to learn their sentiment toward more specific acreage control and what form it should take. The questionnaires, which will be mailed to 50,000 farmers in all cotton-growing states, asks, "Do you favor a plan of compulsory control of cotton production to compel all producers to cooperate in cotton adjustment program?"

It further asks the opinion of each individual on whether the cotton farmers in each community favor such a plan and whether they favor a restriction in the number of bales each farmer would be allowed to produce, or prefer a tax on all cotton to be ginned or sold with an exemption for the average producer permitted to those who co-operate voluntarily in adjustment programs.

Both plans, the President said last Saturday, would accomplish the same result and the difference is largely a matter of legal opinion. He added that he felt the taxation method would be best.

Asked about the extension of compulsory control to other crops, such as wheat and cotton, the President said that was too far off.

Secretary Wallace in a letter accompanying the questionnaire said, "The Government itself is not proposing compulsory control, but wishes to ascertain the sentiment of the South." He added that the Administration was merely seeking to determine the sentiment of farmers and that the proposed compulsory plan was not a movement to abandon the voluntary principles of the present pact as it is working out in the adjustment campaign now under way.

"It is important," he said, "that the cotton farmers of the South recognize the implications of compulsory control."

"If, after sufficient consideration and debate, it is evident that the cotton producers as a whole are ready and willing to take this step we shall then join in the development of specific plans which will be designed to bring in the dissenting minority, prevent the planting at least temporarily, of new lands and supplement the present voluntary program which is now under way and which is apparently destined for success."

Other officials of the Farm Administration in close touch with the cotton situation declared they felt sentiment of Southern farmers would be overwhelmingly in favor of the compulsory plan.

CO-OP HANDLES BIG SHIPMENT OF COTTON FOR GOVERNMENT

More than 10,000 bales of government cotton have been handled by the Cotton Co-operative association through the compress at Littlefield, this cotton coming mostly from Lamb and Bailey counties, and some from Hockley and Cochran counties.

It is expected the total handled by this association will exceed 18,000 bales by the time the season closes.

The compress there has handled about 50,000 bales all together.

A VALUABLE PANTRY

"I value my pantry complete at $81 but it is worth more than that to me and my family, and $8 is all the money I put out to get it," testifies Mrs. M. M. White who won first prize in the Lamb county farm food supply demonstration contest recently. She is a member of Sod House Home Demonstration Club.

Following a circulated petition, an election has been called in the Oklahoma Lane school district, northwest of Muleshoe, for the voting on having a $18,000 bond for building a combination gymnasium and auditorium.

MORE TRUCKS ARE NEEDED

Several more trucks for hauling cattle are needed on the North and South road improvement project, according to Pat R. Bobo, director.

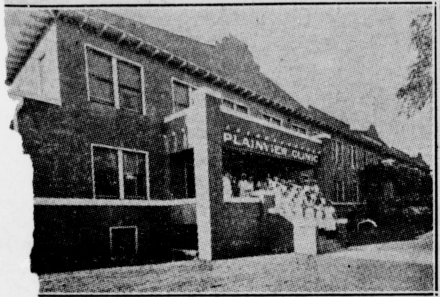

For this service the CWA is paying 65 cents per hour to approved men. Anyone having trucks to rent may also see Mr. Bobo.

Lubbock Demo Meet To Draw Many State Men High In Party

Lubbock, Jan. 31.—At least three candidates for governor, one candidate for attorney general, and a number of other candidates for public office in Texas will be in Lubbock, Saturday, February 3, for the organization meeting of the Young Democratic Club of West Texas, J. Doyle Settle, president of the Lubbock club, has announced.

Already five dozen county clubs or more have been formed in West Texas and efforts will be made at the convention here to perfect the organization of a county club in each of the 131 counties of West Texas. Each and every county should be represented by three or more delegates at the convention, Settle said.

Maury Hughes, Dallas, chairman of the Texas State Democratic Committee will be principal speaker at the convention. Walter Nelson, Jr., Wichita Falls, Texas' youngest mayor, will be the keynote speaker.

Dances, luncheons, banquets and other entertainments will be mixed with business sessions at the convention.

The West Texas club will be another big link in the chain of clubs over the United States, all under the leadership and direction of the National Young Democratic Club, which was formed several months ago under the direction of James A. Farley. Postmaster General and former member of the National Democratic Executive Committee.

Officials of the National Committee, in organizing the Young Democratic club, expressed a keen desire to recruit the younger democrats of the nation, organizing them and giving them an incentive and opportunity to have a greater hand in public affairs, national, state and county.

It was also hoped by some officials that amendments of some kind might be passed whereby the time could be extended for paying of poll tax, but a ruling by the attorney general declares such is impossible without a vote by the people.

It is thought by some legislators that not more than $4,000,000 in relief bonds will be authorized by the legislature at this time.

A game of play ground baseball was played here last Friday afternoon between juniors of the Muleshoe and West Camp schools, ending in a score of 26 to 13 in favor of Muleshoe.

Notwithstanding the wide variance in scores, it was a hotly contested game the visitors carrying the lead in the first innings, and not until the last two innings did the local team forge ahead. Both teams knocked a home run each.

A game between Muleshoe and Baileyboro juniors is scheduled to be played here Thursday afternoon of this week.

Texas Legislature Began Special Meet For Relief Measure

An extraordinary session of the Texas Legislature convened in special session last Monday upon call of Governor Ferguson. Three subjects were named by the governor to be considered by the law-makers.

The governor's proclamation described the emergencies as follows: "To pass such law or laws as may be necessary to issue and sell the remaining bonds and permitted under the constitutional amendment of the state adopted by the voters of Texas at an election duly held on the 26th of August, 1933, for the purpose of affording relief to the unemployed and indigent persons of the state."

"To pass such law or laws as will grant relief in certain cases during the present emergency and depression from inequitable foreclosure of mortgages on real estate and execution sales of real estate and for postponing certain sales and for extending the periods of redemption from certain others, and relating to the jurisdiction and procedure for such relief and for the right to possession during the extended period and for limiting the right to maintain actions for deficiency judgment and for extending the expiration of certain periods of redemption by moratorium provisions.

Messages Planned
 "To consider and act on such other subjects and questions as I as governor may from time to time during said session submit by message or otherwise to the legislature."

It was also hoped by some officials that amendments of some kind might be passed whereby the time could be extended for paying of poll tax, but a ruling by the attorney general declares such is impossible without a vote by the people.

New "Knee-Action" Chevrolet Gives Passenger Ride Like a Glide

In the design and development of the new 1934 Chevrolet, particular attention has been given to driver and passenger comfort; all annoying vibrations of disagreeable sound and feeling having been eliminated. The upper photo shows the new Chevrolet coach with its long, sleek lines. Wind rush has been eliminated by the Fisher No Draft Ventilator and the new streamlined bodies.

completely enclosed in a weather-tight housing the coil springs, shock absorbers ride in a bath of oil. William F. Heller, Chevrolet general sales manager, is shown at the left holding a chart which shows the internal construction of the system. The radiator of the new car has added beauty through its graceful and simple pointed design. Smartness has been the theme every line of this year's Chevrolet.

The driver and passengers in the new 1934 Chevrolet get a ride like the glide of an airplane. One of the main factors in improving the riding qualities of the new car to such a great extent is the "Knee-Action"—or independently sprung front wheels, to use the technical term.

So much has been written about independent springing that the public has doubtless concluded that it is something too technical to understand. As a matter of fact, there is nothing complicated about either the principle involved or the construction of the system. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" enjoys the advantage of being enclosed in a welded weather-tight housing in which the entire spring mechanism and shock absorbers ride up and down in a bath of oil.

An automobile gives a perfect ride when both the front and rear springs have the same "frequency," or tension. Actually this has been impossible to carry out in the past because the front springs had to be over twice as "stiff" as the rear springs in order to hold the front axle, wheels and brakes in place. In independent springing, the wheels and spring mechanisms are rigidly attached directly to the frame and there is no front or rear springing. By relieving the front springs of the task of carrying wheels and axle, therefore, it became possible to make the front springs as "soft" as the rear springs. With the new Chevrolet strikes an irregularity in the road both front and rear move up and down with the surface frequency—there is no inclination on the part of the rear end of the car to leap into the air and throw passengers forward and upward.

Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" has additional advantage—all contributing to a comfort in riding never before thought possible in a motor car. There is a decided improvement in handling, steering, safety at high speeds and tire economy.

In design, the front spring is a neat, compact and efficient unit, as Mr. Heller points out in the above picture. The entire spring mechanism is rigidly to the frame. From this enclosure spring vertically at the ends of struts arms.
