Iran may not release all 52

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iranian authorities are considering a plan to release most — but not all — of the 52 American hostages held there since last Nov. 4, U.S. officials acknowledged Friday night.

But the officials said a number of options presumably are under discussion in Tehran and no single plan has been formally presented to the United States. The officials asked not to be named.

"I'm sure they've considered every variation," one official said. "But we have nothing directly in front of us. We are not considering any particular plan."

A proposal to release many of the hostages, but not all of them, "would give us a real problem," he said. The Carter administration has insisted since the U.S. Embassy in Tehran was overrun by militants that all Americans taken captive must be released.

Throughout the day, the Carter administration worked to dampen speculation on an imminent release.

One high-level U.S. official checked for late developments and told the Associated Press that Iranian authorities had given no indication to the United States that a hostage release was imminent.

Earlier in the day, the president said that "bitterness and disappointment" could result if people think the hostages in Iran are coming home soon. He said:

"You know one thing that concerns me a lot lately has been a buildup in the American press, the television, radio and newspapers, of expectations that the hostages are going to come home early that I don't think are justified."

NBC's report cited "a reliable and high-ranking Moslem diplomat" at the United Nations. The network said its source had talked Thursday night with the Iranian prime minister and the speaker of Iran's parliament and they told him that barring unforeseen circumstances, the hostage release would begin Sunday.

A State Department spokesman, John Trattner, said of the NBC report: "We have no information from any source whatsoever about any Iranian plans, including this report."

The department also denied a report that Secretary of State Edmund Muskie was preparing to fly to Wiesbaden, West Germany to receive the hostages.

"He has no plans to go to West Germany," Mark Sawoski, a department spokesman said. Muskie and his wife are flying Saturday to Durham, N.C., to visit their son at Duke University, he said.

An official of a foreign corporation that does business in Tehran told AP Friday that the hostages were being reassembled in preparation for a possible release. It could not be confirmed; reporters for U.S. news organizations are no longer allowed in Iran.

CBS News quoted Swedish television as saying that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini planned to announce a decision on the hostage situation on Tuesday.

The word was "caution" among top Carter administration officials as the speculation continued. At the headquarters of Republican presidential challenger Ronald Reagan, spokesman Lyn Nofziger said he was unaware of any information relating to a hostage release, "and I don't think anyone else is" in the campaign. Some reports cited Reagan campaign sources.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale urged restraint in anticipating early release of the hostages from Iran, warning against too much hope because "we've been through this many, many times."

First lady Rosalynn Carter said in Milwaukee that the United States would not make any "embarrassing" concessions to win the hostages' release. She said she had talked with the president about latest developments and that he told her "we know of nothing" beyond news reports from Iran.

Mondale, warning that speculation about the release should be approached with "substantial caution," also said there were no U.S.-Iran negotiations over conditions for release of the Americans who have been held since last Nov. 4.

Iranian officials said this week that the Majlis, or Iranian Parliament, expects to announce the conditions Sunday.

The release conditions set out in September by Khomeini, were return of $8 billion in frozen Iranian assets, guarantees of non-interference in Iran, return of the wealth of the late shah of Iran, and withdrawal of legal claims against Iran.

Hashemi Rafsanjani, speaker of Iran's Parliament, hinted in an interview with the French newspaper Le Monde that other conditions might acceptably be fulfilled after the release.

"There are certain conditions which the Americans can execute immediately," he said, mentioning those Iran often has repeated. "If the other conditions are difficult to satisfy immediately, Parliament could demand guarantees, still to be defined and free the hostages without delay," he said.

Asked whether the United States was prepared to meet Iran's demands, Mondale said Friday, "We've said several times the terms set forth by Khomeini some time ago provided the basis for progress. ... But I want to caution at this time in strong terms that as I read the papers, as I watch television, I think there's much more hope being pumped up than I believe is the case."

The vice president pointed out that Iranian officials have postponed important decisions and parliamentary debates before.

"We've been through this so many, many times. I think it's very, very important to approach the whole matter with substantial caution," he said.

Ax murder trial attorney freed

McKINNEY (AP) — Candy Montgomery's attorney, with the help of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, walked out of jail Friday after spending less than two hours of a 72-hour sentence imposed by State District Judge Tom Ryan.

Don Crowder left jail at 5:15 p.m., after the court granted his application for a writ.

Ryan found Don Crowder in contempt of court Friday, for the second time in Mrs. Montgomery's ax murder trial. Crowder also was fined $100 dollars.

Ryan had allowed Crowder and other attorneys to use the Collin County Courthouse library over the weekend to prepare for a competency hearing he ordered for Monday morning.

The murder trial will be interrupted Monday for a competency hearing ordered by State District Judge Tom Ryan as testimony in the sensational case neared an end.

Mrs. Montgomery is charged with hacking her friend, Betty Gore, to death with a three-foot ax in the Gore home June 13.

Ryan said Friday's testimony by doctors and a psychiatrist convinced him that such a hearing was necessary.

"Where the courts fail to (order a competency hearing), the case could be reversed," he said.

Two psychiatrists were contacted Friday and agreed to examine Mrs. Montgomery over the weekend. If the doctors find her competent, her trial will resume Monday. If not, the trial will end and she could be committed to a state mental institution.

Ryan sentenced Crowder to 72 hours in jail Friday, and added a $100 fine, finding him in contempt for the second time since the trial opened. The first time was Tuesday when Ryan declared Crowder had violated a gag order by giving a news interview about the case.

Friday Crowder accused Ryan of "interfering" with his questioning of witnesses after the judge told him to stick to a strict question-and-answer format.

"I won't lay down for you," Crowder told the judge angrily.

Ryan ordered the jury from the courtroom then told Crowder, "For that remark I'm going to hold you in contempt."

Mrs. Montgomery had testified Thursday that she and her friend engaged in a fierce struggle for the ax after Mrs. Gore learned of an affair between her husband and Mrs. Montgomery. She said she finally wrestled the ax away from Mrs. Gore and hacked her to death in the utility room of the Gores' Wylie home.

Mrs. Montgomery's 35-year-old husband, Pat, took the stand Friday and said his wife was so opposed to violence that "we don't allow our children to have toy guns or anything of that nature."

"She's very protective of any kind of life," he said.

He described Betty and Allan Gore as "friendly acquaintances" and said he learned of the affair last April when he found a letter Gore had written his wife.

He said he first learned of his wife's involvement in the slaying from Crowder.

Dr. Maurice S. Green, a Dallas psychiatrist, said he had seen Mrs. Montgomery 12 to 15 times since Sept. 2. He said she suffered a "disassociative reaction" in which she detached herself from the slaying.

In this manner, she could have appeared normal to friends at a Bible school teachers' luncheon an hour afterward, he said.

NEWS BRIEFS

Three die in plane crash

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Three men died Friday when a twin-engine plane lost power in overcast weather, clipped a television tower guy wire and spun into a fiery crash as the 800-foot structure buckled and fell.

Alachua County authorities withheld the names of the three pending notification of next of kin.

No one on the ground was injured as the WUFT-TV transmitting tower collapsed, knocking the station off the air, station spokesmen said.

Federal Aviation Administration spokesmen said the plane, a Beechcraft owned by Tampa Air Center Inc., had tried to land at Lake City's municipal airport earlier but was redirected to Gainesville because of bad weather.

She just wants to settle down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veronica Lynn Compton, accused of trying a "copycat" strangulation to free convicted Hillside Strangler Kenneth Bianchi, says she wants to marry the former security guard.

Miss Compton, 24, said she wants to "have a little girl" after the couple are wed March 1.

"He's great with kids," Miss Compton said of Bianchi in an interview with the Los Angeles Herald Examiner at the Los Angeles County Jail, where she is being held pending extradition proceedings to Washington. The self-styled playwright-actress faces attempted murder charges in Bellingham, Wash., in the "copycat" case.

"He's generous and strong — he's the strongest man I've ever met," she said. "I'm saying Kenneth Bianchi is stone cold innocent and he hasn't killed any of the girls he's accused of killing. I believe that fervently."

Miss Compton, who claims to have been in bed with Bianchi every night a Hillside Strangler murder was committed, is accused of trying to kill a Bellingham parks employee in a motel room Sept. 19. Investigators say the idea was to make it seem that the "real strangler" was still at large and thus prove Bianchi innocent.

Pumping to begin in California

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Crews were to begin the 2½-month task of pumping water from 12,000 acres of San Joaquin Delta land Friday as divers checked the strength of aqueduct supports buffeted by rushing floodwater.

Water spread seven feet deep across a 6,300-acre tract of land Thursday when an embankment for the main Santa Fe Railroad line gave way. The collapse forced the evacuation of 25 people and tumbled two diesel locomotives and a flatcar into the rushing water.

Homes were ruined as the floodwater covered 800 acres where various owners grew corn and asparagus.

NBC says release may come Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC News said Friday that a source at the United Nations reported that the release of 52 American hostages in Tehran will take place — barring any unforeseen circumstances — on Sunday, just short of a year after they were seized by Iranian militants.

In Washington, a high level U.S. official checked for late developments and told the Associated Press that Iranian authorities had given no indication to the United States that a hostage release was imminent or that the hostages had been assembled in one staging point.

DST will end on Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight Saving Time is winding down. It ends a six-month run at 2 a.m. local time Sunday when clocks in most of the United States should be set back an hour to Standard Time.

Most people probably will reset their timepieces before they retire Saturday night, gaining back that hour of sleep they lost in April when DST began. It also means the sun will rise about an hour earlier on Sunday and that it will get dark about an hour earlier in the evening.

Reagan hits president's tax policies

By the Associated Press

Ronald Reagan says President Carter can't control inflation because he doesn't understand that his own spending and tax policies have caused it.

"The cold, hard fact is that inflation is going to get progressively worse if Mr. Carter is re-elected," Reagan said in a televised address on the economy Friday night.

Referring to the one percent increase in the Consumer Price Index in September, which was reported earlier in the day, Reagan said it is further evidence of Carter's "record of economic failure."

"That is failure on a scale so vast, in dimensions so broad, with effects so devastating, that it is virtually without parallel in American history," Reagan said.

He promised he would balance the budget by 1983, and possibly by 1982, and that his administration would remove budget deficits as a major inflationary force from the economy.

A key Reagan economic adviser, Alan Greenspan, told reporters that Reagan himself had no specific target for reducing inflation other than to eliminate it entirely. But he declined to say when that might be done.

"We don't have an explicit number on grounds that as low as it can be gotten, we should get," Greenspan said.

Reagan has been highly critical of Carter's failure to achieve his inflation target of 4 percent. Another Reagan adviser, Edward Meese, said the decision not to set a specific target, against which Reagan's performance could be judged, was "an economic decision and also a prudent one."

In his speech, Reagan promised Americans again that he would provide them with a 30 percent reduction in income tax rates over the next three years, followed by an indexing of tax rates to the rate of inflation.

Reagan added: "Jimmy Carter says this can't be done. In fact, he says it shouldn't be done. He favors the current crushing tax burden because it fits into his philosophy of government as the dominating force in American economic life."

The program, aired on ABC television, cost the Reagan campaign about $150,000.

Carter, meanwhile, said the rise in consumer prices in September showed that inflation is still bad and Reagan's proposed tax cuts would make matters worse because they would overstimulate the economy.

"It would jeopardize all the progress we have made in dampening inflation," Carter said.

John Anderson, the independent candidate, said he thinks the latest price report further demonstrates Carter's inability to run the economy. "I think he has clearly disqualified himself as a candidate in 1980 on the basis of his record and his mismanagement of the economy," he said.

Miller boasts of recovery for economy

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury G. William Miller says the Carter Administration has made the tough decisions and now has a "nice recovery" of the economy underway.

Miller told a news conference Friday Americans need to re-elect President Jimmy Carter to continue with "sound economic policies."

Miller downplayed the September Cost Price Index released Friday which showed inflation had jumped back into a double digit figure. He said Americans should not pay as much heed to short-term figures such as the September CPI as to averages for an entire quarter.

"Although the increase in September is disappointing, we believe a more likely real rate of inflation is more in the range of 9 percent," Miller said. "The monthly figures will be higher or lower, but we think that (9 percent) is true."

Friday's CPI was up four points from the August figure.

At the news conference and earlier in a speech to the Greater San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, Miller defended the Carter Administration's economic policies and contended, "we have a nice recovery going now."

He said President Carter had made the "tough decisions" on energy and in other areas to arrest inflation over the long term rather than using "superficial treatment" that would only have a short-term effect.

DEATHS
Dell Johnson

SWEETWATER — Services for Dell Norris Johnson, 52, of Sweetwater, sister of Jewel Harris of Midland, will be at 2 p.m. today in the McCoy Chapel of Memories with burial in Sweetwater Cemetery.

Johnson died Tuesday in a local hospital.

He was born March 7, 1928, in Hearne. He was a Navy World War II veteran and a Sweetwater resident most of his life.

Other survivors include his wife, two sisters, a son, a brother and a half-brother.

Gov. Clements' profane remarks about president draw quick response

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements came under criticism Friday for language he used in remarks about President Carter in the Texarkana Gazette, but the governor said the newspaper violated his confidence in using some of the comments.

Clements told the newspaper's editorial board that "when Jimmy Carter says we are stronger militarily now (than when he took office), he is lying."

"I just can't say it any stronger. Well, I could say he's a goddamn liar."

Carter campaign manager Robert Strauss said in Dallas that Clements "is not an evil man or bad man," but just so obsessed with defeating the president that he has lost his judgement and is helping to carry the state for Carter.

Texas Attorney General Mark White said Friday Clements had reached a new low in campaigning.

But Clements' office, in a statement released late Friday afternoon, said the newspaper shouldn't have printed all his remarks.

"The blunt language attributed to him by the Texarkana Gazette was part of a 'privileged discussion' with the Gazette editors Thursday," the statement said.

"They violated my confidence. I considered it a privileged discussion. I certainly wasn't saying those things for quotation," Clements said in Dallas Friday.

He said he had no apologies to make.

However, Gazette Managing Editor Dennis Byrd said the newspaper's account of the interview was well within the boundaries of fairness.

"There was never any discussion by him or anyone else about the discussion being privileged, off the record or anything else," said Byrd.

"In fact, the editor who was taking notes was doing so in full view of the governor. And at one point when the governor was discussing his poll ... he pointed to the editor taking notes and said, 'You may want to write this down,'" said Byrd.

In his discussion with the editorial board, Clements complained about not being notified when the late Shah of Iran was brought to a San Antonio Air Force base to recuperate from cancer surgery.

"I learned it from the newspapers. Now, they don't have to ask me about doing anything on that Air Force base, but they didn't even make a courtesy call to let me know the Shah would be coming to Texas."

"But in all fairness, I must say this: Mr. Carter understands full well that I am after his ass," Clements said.

Strauss said he got a number of calls on Clements' remarks from people around the country who "find it incredible that a governor of this state would embarrass the people of the state in this manner."

"I've told them that Clements

"They violated my confidence. I considered it a privileged discussion. I certainly wasn't saying those things for quotation." — Gov. Bill Clements really isn't a bad man or an evil man. He is just getting uptight, feeling the pressure and he is obsessed about this election, which has made him lose his judgment.

"The funny thing is he is obsessed with trying to defeat Carter and I think he is probably doing as much to help us carry the state as we are able to do for ourselves," said Strauss.

"He does owe the people of Texas an apology and I am sure he will give them one," Strauss added.

White, in replying to Clements' statements to the newspaper, said:

"Today Gov. Clements carried the 1980 campaign to a new low. The language he used to describe the President of the United States is embarrassing and reprehensible. "He has not only tarred the presidency, he has tarnished the image of the Texas governorship as well."

"Texans — of all political persuasions — are outraged by the governor's ill-chose words. Texans are not squeamish, nor do they object to hard-hitting, aggressive campaigns. But they do not like to see the office of the presidency be defiled by profanity."

"I would hope that Gov. Clements would apologize, not only to President Carter, but to the people of Texas as well."

Clements also told the Gazette he was "convinced that Carter is the most dangerous individual to ever occupy the office of the president, and that's why I'm here today." Clements met with the newspaper's editorial board Thursday, one day after Carter visited the city.

Rookie politicians learn how it's done at campaign school for newcomers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — It takes more than a filing fee and a hearty handshake to run for office. You'd better dress right, smile right, talk right and, yes, shake hands right — or you're likely to be on the short end of the vote count.

Where to learn such fine touches? At school.

Both major political parties run campaign schools for political newcomers, sort of finishing schools for candidates, where they learn the techniques that turn voters on, and to shy away from those that turn them off.

One political rookie who went to school this year was Frank White, a freshly proclaimed Republican wagging an uphill battle to unseat Gov. Bill Clinton in Arkansas, a traditionally Democratic state.

White who had served in a previous state Democratic administration, has never run for office before. He declared as a Republican when he entered the gubernatorial contest this year. In May, he went off classes at the Republican Candidates' School in Arlington, Va.

"It was a super school," White said. "It brought me from knowing completely nothing about the magnitude of a political campaign to where I think I'll win."

White admitted that it's sort of a shame that a politician has to study such things as what clothes to wear to have a realistic chance of winning.

"You don't have to go to school to become a politician," White said. "You could learn it naturally, learn it by experience. Of course, you might lose a couple of times in the process, and those are pretty expensive lessons."

White said part of candidates' school, by necessity, must be devoted to image-making.

"Candidates' school doesn't refine you to be a smooth, glib, articulate person. It encouraged me to be myself," White said. "I was told how to articulate. If you're not schooled in that, you start to ramble. They tell you to be brief, to sprinkle answers with details. Give some statistics, but don't overbear people with them."

"Bill Moyers' Journal" on public television recently devoted an hour to showing what went on at the Republican Candidates' School. One theme repeated over and over was that issues should be used as a vehicle to build images.

The concept is that few voters actually get involved with the often intricate pros and cons of issues such as budgeting. Instead, voters support the candidate who, in addressing such issues, is able to build an image the voter likes.

White says he is seeking the image of a fiscal conservative with experience.

He is a former director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, a cabinet post, and most recently has been president of Little Rock savings and loan association.

Clinton is seeking his second term as governor at the age of 33 — the youngest governor in the nation.

Debaters will be able to challenge each other

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in the brief history of presidential debates, the candidates next Tuesday will be able to bypass their questioners and challenge each other directly.

Under the format worked out by representatives of President Carter, Ronald Reagan and the League of Women Voters, there will be opportunity for rebuttal and surrebuttal when the candidates debate in Cleveland.

The format is in two parts. In the first, each of the four panelists will pose one question to be answered by both candidates. In this half, the panelists will be able to ask a follow up question. Ten minutes is allotted for each set of questions and answers.

In the second half, the candidates get two minute answers to each question, then are allowed 1 1/2 minutes each for rebuttal and another minute for surrebuttal. The candidates alternate in each response-rebuttal-surrebuttal sequence.

The first presidential debates matched John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon in 1960. They were questioned by four panelists and 2 1/2 minutes were permitted for each response.

'Trick or treat' box explodes, injuring nine in Phoenix firm

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A package bomb bearing a "trick or treat" message mailed to a former partner in an accounting firm blew up in a shower of nails and tacks Friday, injuring nine people, one critically, police said.

Employees of Brookshire's Pacific Association picked up the package at a post office, and called the address, Jason K. Himmelstein, for permission to open it, police said.

"Go ahead," said Himmelstein, who sold his interest in the firm last January, police said.

Office workers gathered around as Starlene Grimes, 26, opened the package, revealing a jewel box with a "trick or treat" tag attached, said Police Sgt. T.M. Jahn. "When they opened the jewel box that was inside the package, the bomb exploded."

"We heard a loud boom," said Tammi Anderson, 19, who works in a printing office next to Brookshire's. "There was smoke all over and there was blood on this lady. One lady was holding her neck, and another lady — her face was just gone."

Warming trend may send temperatures to near 80

Don't give up hope. It's not winter yet.

The National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport forecasts a warming trend for Sunday, with a high near 80.

The forecast calls for fair skies through Saturday, becoming partly cloudy Sunday. High Saturday is expected to be in the mid 70s, with the overnight low in the mid 40s. A gradual warming trend should bring Sunday's high to the near 80s. Winds Saturday should be southwesterly at 5 to 10 mph.

Friday's high of 58 degrees was nowhere near the record high of 92 set in 1933. Friday's low was 33 degrees. The record low for Saturday is 34 degrees set in 1955.

Precipitation for the month, to date, is .10 inch.

Major quake hits southern Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A death-dealing earthquake ripped through southern Mexico Friday, sending tens of thousands of people fleeing into the streets as adobe and brick buildings crumbled. Mexico City skyscrapers rattled and swayed.

Authorities said at least 31 people were killed.

Hardest hit was the town of Huajuap de Leon, near the epicenter of the quake. The Red Cross said 15 people perished and more than 250 were injured when a crowded public market building, two hospitals, a secondary school, the city hall and scores of houses collapsed. Two deaths were reported in the nearby village of Acatlan.

Roads into the Huajuap de Leon and Acatlan were blocked by earthshakes and the federal government dispatched three police helicopters to assist rescuers.

Marie Gomes of Hayward, Calif., said she was sitting in her 11th-floor room of a Mexico City hotel "when the chair began to sway. I remembered that people told me to get into a doorway in case of an earthquake, so I did and prayed to God it would stop shaking."

Four students and a teacher were reported killed in the town of Tehuitzingo, southeast of Mexico City, where a school building collapsed. Seventy other children escaped unhurt.

To the south, three deaths were reported in San Pedro Yeloixtlahuaca, but the Red Cross had no details.

In the historic city of Puebla, 70 miles east of Mexico City, officials said at least 180 children suffered minor injuries when they panicked at a sports event and fled, falling over one another.

Red Cross officials in Puebla said at least two children died in the village of San Mateo Xolco when dozens of houses collapsed. They said the quake destroyed about 70 percent of the rural village, which lies between the volcanos Popocatepetl and Iztacihuatl.

The officials said a woman was killed in central Puebla and two other people perished when a wall near a prison fell on them.

Police in Mexico City said one man died here when he was hit by a falling beam. The Red Cross said two people died of heart attacks, apparently related to the quake, and about 40 people were treated for injuries and hysteria in the capital. A professor and a student were hurt when a wall fell on them at Metropolitan University.

The quake, felt in a broad belt over south-central Mexico and northern Guatemala, was centered about 150 miles southeast of Mexico City and registered 6.5 on the Richter scale — a jolt capable of doing severe damage according to the U.S. Earthquake Information Center at Golden, Colo.

The tremor came at 8:55 a.m. (10:55 EDT), lasted for more than a minute.

It was felt as far away as Guatemala City, the capital of Guatemala 600 miles to the southeast, and in the Mexican gulf port city of Veracruz.

Mexico City police said the quake shattered windows and caused gas leaks that started some fires. Two policemen were hospitalized with burns suffered while trying to stop a gas leak.

Minor injuries were reported from falling plaster, facades and cornices from buildings. Subway service stopped briefly.

Some phone and electricity service was interrupted for a short while, and the city water supply ran murky and foul-smelling hours after the quake.

There was some building damage in the "Pink Zone" area that contains many of the hotels frequented by American tourists, but there were no reports of injuries there. Two Pink Zone hotels, the Montescasino and International, were evacuated because of gas leaks.

In Mexico City, a secretary, Marta Vargas, standing outside a cracked and damaged office building, said, "First the ground went up and down then side to side. I worried about my son who is in a day care center."

L.D. Edmonson of Giddings, Texas, said, "We were out here on Reforma (a major avenue here) hunting out a guide when all the buildings started shaking and cracking. We could hear the groans and were hoping no windows would fall on us. None did. I was watching two buildings side by side. They were about two feet apart normally but as they began to sway they got closer then farther but didn't touch."

Most modern construction in Mexico City is designed to withstand earthquakes, which are common here. Seismologists say small quakes are almost a daily happening but are too light to be felt.

Mexico's earthquake problem is a result of its proximity to the Circum-Pacific fault off the Pacific coast of Mexico. In addition, Mexico City is built on an old lake bed and does not have a stable geologic foundation.

The last major quake to hit Mexico City was in March 1979. It measured 7.0 on the Richter scale, killed four persons and destroyed 150 homes.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a reading of 7.5 reflects an earthquake 10 times stronger than one of 6.5.

An earthquake of 6 can cause severe damage in the local area, a 7 reading is a "major" earthquake, capable of widespread heavy damage; 8 is a "great" quake, capable of tremendous damage.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906, which occurred before the Richter scale was devised, has been estimated at 8.3 on the Richter scale.

Two quakes shake Connecticut, but no damage, injuries reported

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Walls shook and windows rattled as a slight earthquake measuring at least 3.0 on the Richter scale rumbled through south-central Connecticut Friday afternoon.

A second tremor occurred at 8:41 p.m., also with a Richter strength of 3.0.

State police said they had received no reports of damage from the quakes. Police in East Haven said they had received "lots of calls," but none reporting any damage.

Richard Block, a resident of the Cozy Beach section of East Haven, said he was at home talking with his girlfriend by telephone when the quake struck.

"The whole house started shaking, and then she said her house started shaking," Block said. "I looked around and the pictures on the wall were moving."

The U.S. Geological Survey reported that the quake occurred at 1:28 p.m. and lasted a few seconds.

Reports of the earthquake were received from Derby to East Haven, about 15 miles to the east, and from New Haven northward about 20 miles to Meriden.

Boston College's Weston Observatory in Weston, Mass., reported that the quake's epicenter was about 20 miles north of New Haven in the area where Cheshire, Wallingford and Meriden meet, said John E. Ebel of the observatory.

Weston Observatory listed its official measurement of the quake at 3.0 on the Richter scale, while the U.S. Geological Survey said the tremor measured 3.2, a difference attributable to equipment deviations.

The observatory described the quake as shallow, originating at a depth of about 4 1/2 miles.

"I never experienced a sensation like that before," said Richard Ziembra of Hamden. "I thought it was a low-flying plane ... and noticed quite a few people in the neighborhood were looking out their doors with funny looks on their faces."

An earthquake of the magnitude of Friday's quake occurs an average of once every month or so in New England, according to the Rev. James McCaffrey of Weston Observatory. The last such quake, measuring 3.2 on the Richter scale, shook the area northeast of Dixmont, Maine, on Sept. 8. The Richter scale is a gauge of the energy released by an earthquake.

U.S. raps nuke blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has instructed the U.S. Embassy in Peking to express concern over last Thursday's Chinese nuclear explosion in the atmosphere, a U.S. spokesman said Friday.

"We have instructed our embassy ... to reiterate to the Chinese government our position on atmospheric testing and to bring to their attention the potential dangers such tests pose worldwide to public health," said John Trattner, the department's chief spokesman.

Trattner declined to characterize the U.S. action as a protest.

Midland police hunt pair suspected in robbery

Police are looking for two women, one of whom was dressed as a man, as suspects in an armed robbery Friday afternoon.

The robbery reportedly occurred at Kwik Cleaners, 1407 N. Lamesa Road, at 1:04 p.m. Police were told that the two women entered the cleaners and asked about cleaning a shirt. They then pulled a pistol and demanded the money in the register. The cashier took the money from the register and placed it on the counter.

She said the two women took the money, then forced her to lie on the floor before they left.

They got away with an undetermined amount of money.

Yolanda Maria Bonilla of the Apollo Motel reported Friday that she had been assaulted Thursday night.

At 8:30 p.m. Ms. Bonilla said she was leaving Church's Fried Chicken, 202 S. Midkiff Road, when a woman grabbed her hair and shirt front and pulled her across into a vacant lot. Ms. Bonilla said the woman threw her to the ground and began striking her in the face. The woman reportedly beat Ms. Bonilla for about five minutes when another woman pulled up in a car and told the woman to stop.

When she stopped, Ms. Bonilla ran toward her residence and escaped.

Police are also investigating a $626.45 theft that reportedly occurred between Tuesday and Thursday.

Taken were two microcassettes, postage scales, a leather carrying case and a box of microcassette tapes.

Cardinal Caprio

BOSTON (AP) — Cardinal Giuseppe Caprio may be a high official of the Roman Catholic church, but he was simply one of the family when he stepped off a plane at Boston's Logan Airport.

The cardinal was greeted Thursday by 50 of his 300 American relatives who had come from New England states and New Jersey for a family reunion.

His trip came almost 80 years after his grandfathers, Victor Caprio and John Statuto, left their native Italy for the United States.

The cardinal, 65, is chief administrator in Rome of the Patrimony of Apostolic See, which supervises the church's annual $25 million administrative budget. A native of Lario, Italy, he was elevated to cardinal last year by Pope John Paul II.

"And I hope I can bring back to Italy the warm friendship I have received here from my relatives and friends in the United States," he said upon his arrival.

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Montgomery County Circuit Judge David L. Cahoon has seen the courtroom from inside the jury box, and he's been impressed.

In the first switch of its kind in the state, Cahoon doffed his judicial robe and sat on a jury.

He was impaneled Oct. 16 by Judge Robert Klapp in a case where a woman was suing for damages from a car accident. The other driver had already admitted being at fault.

After two hours of deliberations, the jury, which did not know Cahoon was a judge, awarded the woman $11,500.

"One of my strongest impressions was of the conscientiousness of the jurors," the judge-turned-juror said. "Everybody wanted to be fair and consider all points of view."

In 1976, the American Bar Association changed its rules to no longer excuse judges, lawyers and other professionals from jury duty. But in almost all cases, judges have been kept from being jurors by wary lawyers.

Cahoon, administrative judge for the circuit, was answering his own summons when he appeared for jury duty.

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard M. Daley, son of the late Chicago mayor and a candidate for Cook County state's attorney, has denied accusations of racism leveled against him by a fellow Democrat — Mayor Jane Byrne.

Daley, a state senator, said at a news conference Thursday that Mrs. Byrne was using smear tactics. Daley is locked in a tight race against incumbent Republican state's attorney Bernard Carey.

Daley is considered a likely candidate for mayor in 1983 and has been at odds with Mrs. Byrne for months. She had supported him in his race against Carey, but then rescinded her endorsement.

The mayor claimed Daley and Cook County Assessor Thomas C. Hynes used building permits issued in their wards to discourage blacks and Hispanics from moving into the areas.

She said her appointment of William L. Duggan as commissioner of the new Department of Inspectional Services ended the practice.

Both Daley and Hynes denied the charges.

NEW YORK (AP) — A fascination with evil and an absorption in how Adolf Hitler could gain absolute control over a civilized people are factors in the growing trend by the TV networks to schedule films on the Nazi period, says William L. Shirer.

Shirer, author of "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," notes in an article in the November issue of Panorama magazine that at least six well-budgeted television projects on the Hitler era are now scheduled for prime-time broadcast. He mentions, among others, "The Diary of Anne Frank" on NBC and CBS' production of John Hersey's "The Wall."

"Why all these films on such a subject? And why now?" Shirer asks, then suggests several possible reasons, including a widespread interest in the Nazi story, a curiosity about the cast of "thugs, knaves and cutthroats" that surrounded Hitler, and perhaps the fact that many Americans "look back to World War II with a touching nostalgia."

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A single-engine plane piloted by a member of the musical group, the Commodores, was attempting an emergency landing on an Arizona freeway when it collided with a pickup truck and burst into flames. No serious injuries were reported, officials said.

Milan Williams, 32, of Tuskegee, Ala., a keyboard man for the group, and press agent Lester Mornay suffered "bumps and bruises" in the Thursday night crash, a fire department spokesman said.

The driver of the truck received minor injuries, officials said. Williams said the Bellanca Viking was en route from Provo, Utah, to Phoenix for a Friday night concert when he had engine trouble on final approach. An air traffic controller suggested the freeway landing. The crash occurred about three miles west of the airport.

"They just had enough time to get out before it caught on fire," said Allan Schmidt, a Department of Public Safety spokesman. The cause of the engine trouble was under investigation.

School band suffered 'hysteria,' says doctor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Jefferson County's health officer, Dr. William Roper, said Friday at least 40 members of a high school band that suffered a mysterious illness experienced "epidemic hysteria."

At least 22 members of the Carver High School band were hospitalized Oct. 16 after they suffered fainting, vomiting, nausea, coughing, chest pains and dizziness at a high school football game.

Doctors and health officials ordered tests on food and beverages taken from a concession stand at Lawson Field and from a neighborhood convenience store where several band students reportedly purchased candied apples prior to the game.

Roper said tests ruled out the food and beverages and investigators had to look for other answers.

He said health department investigators reached the conclusion that the band students suffered "epidemic hysteria," or mass hysteria, because the phenomenon can be linked to teenagers that are close to one another.

"We're not saying at all that these young people are faking it or that they pretended to be ill when they were not," Roper said. "They were sick."

"We're saying that sometimes things like this spread from person to person and maybe its in a way other than a germ or something like that," he said.

At least 74 band students began showing signs of a mysterious illness shortly after a half-time performance. Some students were hospitalized up to five days recovering from the mysterious illness.

Sniper hits another bus in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Officials of the strike-plagued Dallas Transit System say they are becoming increasingly concerned about passenger safety on city buses, after a bullet shattered the door of a bus early Friday in the second sniping incident in 10 days.

DTS spokeswoman Cynthia Gopad said transit system officials are growing increasingly alarmed about the attacks, but are uncertain how to insure the safety of all city buses.

"It's really difficult to beef up safety when you have 200 buses on the road", she said. "I mean, you don't know where it's going to happen, really, and I don't know what we can do about increasing security."

DTS officials say they are unsure if the shooting is related to the strike, which has been at a bitter impasse since the first of the month, when 470 workers walked out in a dispute concerning wages and working conditions.

"You don't know if it's related to the strike, but police say the shot was near the front, where the driver is ... but you just don't know," Ms. Goad said.

Driver Marvin Ray Johnson, 24, was cut by flying glass when a sniper opened fire on the bus around 5:30 a.m. Johnson narrowly escaped serious harm when a bullet smashed into the front door of the vehicle and disintegrated into small pieces, police said.

"It would have got him if it had gone through the glass," said police Sgt. Harold Rice.

Rice said the sniper was apparently hidden in a wooded area west of a South Dallas residential street.

"He could have been back up in there and still gotten a good, clean shot," Rice added.

On Oct. 14, a shot shattered the window of a bus loading passengers in the same South Dallas area, wounding three people. A bullet struck nine-year-old Alisa Williams in the back of the head.

The fourth-grader remained in critical condition Friday in a Dallas hospital.

Charles Ray Goff, 23, was charged Monday with three counts of attempted murder in the incident.

A "DO NOT TOUCH" sign is taped to the front door of a Dallas city bus that was shot by a sniper early Friday, shattering the bus door window and slightly injuring the driver who was hit by flying glass. (AP Laserphoto)

Seals, sea lions threaten spawning fish, Oregon wildlife officials say

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Seals and sea lions, protected by a 1972 federal law, are multiplying so fast they threaten spawning salmon and steelhead trout, the Oregon Fish and Wildlife Commission said Friday. The commission adopted a resolution to support the findings of Dale Snow, a marine biologist, who recommended lobbying in Washington to amend the law.

"The public expects us to take some action in this matter," said Allan Kelly, commission chairman.

Kermit's art and crafts festival to be held today

KERMIT — The eighth annual October Affair Arts and Crafts Festival will be held today and Sunday in the Winkler County Youth Center in Kermit.

The show will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. today and from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Artists from throughout Texas and Southeastern New Mexico will be exhibiting and selling their works in a variety of media and crafts: oils, watercolors, pastels, woodworks, china painting, clock-making, weaving, jewelry, decoupage, dolls, stained glass, floral arrangements, quilting and other crafts.

Judges arts and crafts will be Bill Hughes, an Amarillo fine-arts dealer.

In addition to the exhibits, a potpourri of foods will be on hand.

Last year, more than 90 artists participated in the October Affair.

Police mum on psychic's revelations as search for child killer resumes

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta police, stumped by the slayings of 10 black children, pondered the psychic revelations of a New Jersey housewife Friday while hundreds of volunteers organized a search of abandoned buildings and sewers for more bodies.

With little else to go on in a case that has this southern metropolis on edge, officials turned to Dorothy Allison, 55, of Nutley, N.J., who arrived earlier in the week to offer her services as a clairvoyant, provided the city paid her expenses.

Police wouldn't disclose what she had to say after two days of visiting the scenes of the murders and talking with the parents of some of the 10 dead children and four others who are missing.

Mrs. Allison, escorted by two out-of-state detectives who interpret her clues, was sequestered at the Colony Square Hotel, where a single room costs $70 a night.

In this city of 1 million-plus people — now more racially tense than at any time since the civil rights struggles of the 1960s — Mrs. Allison's claim that she has solved 13 murders and found more than 50 missing persons was met with some skepticism.

Reginald Eaves, a former Atlanta public safety commissioner and an incumbent Fulton County commissioner, Thursday accused the psychic of "showboating."

"I'm really a little disgusted this has turned out to be such a show," Eaves said.

The commissioner was particularly upset at Mrs. Allison's challenge to the child killer to confront her.

"I know he is a bully," she had said. "Let him come and try to strangle me."

Eaves said, "We don't need that showboating. It's not consistent with the very serious atmosphere in the city right now."

Inflation report fuels new campaign rhetoric

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation bounded back into the 13 percent annual range in September, handing Ronald Reagan new ammunition to attack President Carter's management of the economy.

Jody Powell, the president's chief spokesman, said the 1 percent jump in consumer prices cannot be taken as "an indication of failure of the anti-inflation effort."

And Carter said the increase in inflation "confirms the wisdom of our policy of holding down government spending and totally opposing the election-year tax cut proposed by the Republicans."

In its last report on inflation before the Nov. 4 election, the Labor Department said Friday that two months of moderating consumer prices were reversed by the 1 percent jump in September. A steep rise in food prices led the way.

Prices also showed larger increases across an array of goods and services, from housing to entertainment, but gasoline prices declined for a fifth straight month.

Reagan, who was preparing a television address on the economy as the figures were issued, released a statement saying the surge in inflation demonstrates the administration's "utter failure" in dealing with soaring prices. He predicted that "inflation will become a permanent way of life" if Carter wins re-election.

In his televised speech, taped Friday afternoon, Reagan said Carter's economic record "is failure on a scale so vast, in dimensions so broad, with effects so devastating, that it is virtually without parallel in American history."

He promised to pursue his plan for a 30 percent reduction in income tax rates over the next three years, followed by an indexing of tax rates to the rate of inflation.

Then he said: "Jimmy Carter says this can't be done. In fact, he says it shouldn't be done. He favors the current crushing tax burden because it fits into his philosophy as the dominating force in American economic life."

But Powell told reporters that "you cannot honestly call this a failure, one month's CPI, an indication of failure of the anti-inflation effort." He said the figures only show Carter was correct in opposing Republican proposals for an income tax cut. But he said the president's own tax cut plan would not be inflationary.

In his statement, Carter criticized the Republican tax cut plan, saying it would "jeopardize all the progress we have made in dampening inflation. Enacting it would be like pouring gasoline on a smoldering fire."

He said the new inflation figures are a warning that "we must not add to inflationary pressures; we must not overstimulate the economy; we must not permit massive across-the-board tax reductions, and we must not add to federal deficits."

Carter said that on Election Day, voters "must choose between my policies, which will build our country's economic strength and actually work to reduce inflation — that lay the foundation of a true economic renaissance in America — or those which will squander our hopes on economic voodoo."

In a separate report, the government said workers' real buying power fell in September for the first time in three months because of the higher inflation rate.

Proving that pets can be patriotic too, a local pet store Friday helped celebrate Yellow Ribbon day by tying ribbons to all its pooches. Store employee Linda Hawthorne poses with, from left, Gossip,

Venezuela will increase its price on 'residual' fuel, experts say

NEW YORK (AP) — Venezuela is increasing the price it charges for heavy industrial fuel oil as much as $3.74 a barrel, oil industry sources said Friday.

Traders said the increase was believed to be the largest ever announced by the South American oil exporter.

Heavy — or so-called "residual" — fuel is used to run electric generating plants and heat large apartment buildings, mostly on the U.S. East Coast. It is not used as a heating fuel for private homes.

Buildings OK'd at UT-Arlington

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas regents approved Friday two UT-Arlington building projects with a combined total cost of more than $29 million.

One project, costing $18.7 million, calls for expansion of the College of Engineering facilities. The second project, to cost an estimated $10.4 million, is for construction of a new thermal energy plant on the campus.

Regents also approved a contract for $4,966,200 for work on two buildings at the Galveston Medical Branch. The work calls for remodeling of the Department of Pharmacology buildings and construction of a new physical plant building.

The sources, who asked not to be quoted by name, said Venezuela notified American oil buyers by telex Friday that the price increase would take effect Monday. Venezuela did not raise crude oil prices, they said.

According to the sources, the Venezuelan price increase reflects heavy demand for residual oil in Europe and Japan since the outbreak of the Iran-Iraq war last month, rather than increased consumption in the United States.

But the "very, very substantial change" in prices will have "a direct impact" on U.S. buyers of the fuel, a source at one major oil company said. Another source said many utilities would be able to pass the price hike on to consumers quickly through fuel-adjustment clauses.

The impact on the American consumer will vary widely from utility to utility, depending on such factors as the grade of residual oil, and how much Venezuelan oil each utility buys.

The United States each day buys about 270,000 barrels of residual oil from Venezuela, about one-quarter of its total residual oil imports and 10 percent of its 2.6 million barrels-a-day residual oil consumption.

Residual oil imports, much of them from Caribbean refineries reliant on Venezuelan crude oil, account for 5 percent of U.S. oil needs, according to government statistics.

The Iran-Iraq war has removed about 3.8 million 42-gallon barrels of oil exports a day from world markets. Included in the total is about 300,000 barrels a day of residual oil that had been coming from Iran's severely damaged Abadan oil refinery.

The exports of residual oil from Abadan reportedly had been destined for Japan.

Venezuela last raised residual oil prices Oct. 13, when it increased the price for all grades except its best by $1.50 to $2.25 a barrel.

According to the sources, Venezuela is raising its best grade of oil, that with an 0.3 percent sulfur content, $1.15 a barrel to $32.40. The top-quality oil is used in power plants in large East Coast cities.

Truesdale reappointed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has taken advantage of the congressional recess to reappoint John C. Truesdale to the National Labor Relations Board.

Although presidential nominations to the labor board normally require Senate confirmation, the Constitution lets presidents make temporary "recess appointments" when the Senate is not in session. Truesdale's appointment Thursday to a full five-year term was opposed by Senate Republicans, who have blocked confirmation so that Ronald Reagan could make his own nomination if he is elected president on Nov. 4. Under the "recess appointment," Truesdale can serve on the five-member agency up until the Senate's next session.

Noted geneticist resigns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Martin J. Cline, the UCLA professor who performed the first genetic engineering experiments on humans, has resigned as chief of the university's division of hematology and oncology at the request of the university officials.

Dr. David Solomon, chairman of the department of medicine, said he asked Cline to give up his position temporarily until the issues raised by such research are settled.

"We in the department are not passing judgment and have not reached any judgment on the probity of his experiments in Israel and Italy," Solomon said.

Cline added a new gene to the living cells of a 21-year-old woman July 10-11 in Jerusalem and a 16-year-old girl on July 15 in Naples while attempting to cure a fatal inherited blood disease known as thalassemia.

THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF Health is now investigating the experiments. UCLA's human subjects committee on July 22 rejected Cline's proposal to try the treatment on campus with victims of sickle cell anemia, an inherited blood disorder that primarily affects blacks.

Cline said he attempted the experiment overseas, not to evade the decision of the UCLA committee but to conduct the procedure in places where thalassemia was encountered more frequently.

Texas collages may need tax hike

Study also suggests statewide high school test

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas College Coordinating Board received a long-range planning study Friday that suggests a tax increase probably will be needed to finance higher education in the 1980s.

Board members will vote in January on the 57 specific recommendations suggested in the report submitted by Kenneth Ashworth, commissioner of higher education.

Highlights of Ashworth's recommendations are:

— A standardized statewide test for graduation from high school.

— If adequate funds for higher education are not available, the Legislature should consider eliminating some or all of the seven branch campuses or "centers" of state universities.

— Continuation of the present tenure system for college teachers, but with faculty taking a greater responsibility for identifying professors who should be fired for cause.

— No new law schools or medical schools.

— Inclusion of all University of Texas and Texas A&M campuses in the Permanent University Fund if it appears the $1.2 billion fund and its income are sufficient to meet all the schools' construction needs.

— Dedication of part of the PUF's $120 million annual income to creation of permanently funded professorships in the liberal arts, humanities, fine arts and sciences at UT and A&M.

Ashworth's report is sure to generate controversy among citizens, legislators, board members and administrators of the 37 public senior colleges and 60 junior colleges.

Board member Marshall Formby of Plainview expressed immediate dissatisfaction with the report's suggestion that Texas medical schools might soon be graduating too many new doctors.

"I assure you that we do not have a surplus of doctors. ... We should let economics adjust the shortage or the so-called surplus. We should educate enough doctors so that more of them are forced to locate where they are needed to make the kind of money they expect," Formby said.

Ashworth issued a gloomy economic forecast, based largely on continued inflation. He said by 1990 it will take a biennial appropriation of as much as $8 billion just to fund higher education at existing levels. The present appropriation is $3.4 billion.

"These figures tell the legislators that higher education probably cannot be funded at projected levels during the next decade without tax increases, especially in consideration of the other enormous and urgent demands being made upon state government," his report said.

The study said the Legislature might be faced with the difficult choice of reducing quality or cutting some expenditures in order to maintain quality elsewhere.

Ashworth said that's the point where the Legislature might be forced to consider eliminating branch campuses, which would save about $10 million a year, or merging some universities.

Branch campuses or centers are located at Laredo, Victoria, Texarkana, Brownsville, Uvalde, Orange and Port Arthur.

The study said possible mergers could include Texas Woman's University and North Texas State University.

Another possibility would be to bring Pan American University into the University System of South Texas, the report said, and a third would be creation of a single administration for TWU, NTSU and East Texas State University.

Other cost-cutting measures could include eliminating state support for off-campus courses, which would save $11.5 million a year, it said.

Ashworth has made it known for some time he opposes the proliferation of off-campus courses and their use to build up enrollment, which generates state funds.

The study reiterates the board's earlier call for higher tuition and higher faculty salaries, a step it says would help avert unionization of college professors.

It disagrees with the Special Higher Education Finance Study committee's recommendation that UT and A&M be allowed to issue construction bonds valued at up to 30 percent of the PUF, compared with the present 20 percent.

Raising the construction bond limit could have the effect of "over-obligating the PUF for construction purposes at the expense of the use of PUF income for academic enrichment and improvements."

UT to open 'test tube baby' lab next year

HOUSTON (AP) — The nation's second "test tube baby" laboratory will open at The University of Texas medical school sometime next year, the project director said Friday.

Dr. Martin M. Quigley said the project involves removing an egg from a woman's ovary, fertilizing it in the laboratory and returning it to her body to develop into a baby.

The University of Texas Health Science Center's department of obstetrics and gynecology is sponsoring the experimental research project.

Quigley said the "in vitro" (in glass) fertilization program is still in its early stages, and he cautioned hopeful candidates the elaborate procedure is rarely successful.

"The current worldwide success rate is only about three or four percent," Quigley said. "We're hoping to improve that, but it's too soon to talk about babies being born."

Quigley and co-researchers Drs. Robert Jackson and June Z. Kendall have begun preliminary studies on a small number of couples who may be candidates for the procedure. Quigley said only married women under 35 who can't become pregnant because of blockage or absence of fallopian tubes will be accepted in the program.

Quigley said the egg must be removed from the ovary within two hours of its release. The procedure involves inserting a laparoscopy, a lighted metal telescope most often used in sterilization operations, into the woman's navel and locating the ripe egg.

A needle is then passed through the abdominal wall and the egg is removed, placed in a mixture of sperm, and — theoretically — fertilized.

Quigley said that the fertilized egg will be allowed to develop in the laboratory for "two or three days" before it is surgically implanted in the woman's uterus.

Quigley, noting that only two children have been born to women who underwent such procedures, said that patients will be expected to pay for their hospitalization, but will not be charged for the complicated, delicate operations.

"Based on the experiences of the Norfolk Eastern Virginia Medical School, who've been working about a year on this and have had no successful pregnancies, the procedure would cost the patient about $4,000," Quigley said. "That's hospitalization for two or three attempts."

DPS practice of threatening drivers with jail criticized by peace justices

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Bexar County Justices of the Peace say they may ask the state legislature to stop Department of Public Safety troopers from threatening motorists with jail if they don't pay roadside traffic fines.

Precinct 3 Justice of the Peace Danny Loveland of Bexar County said he learned about the practice in July and has written a letter to Gov. Bill Clements complaining about it. DPS officials have acknowledged they require out-of-county motorists to obtain money orders and pay the fines, post a bond or go to jail.

DPS information officer Bill Carter said the procedure was started in 1978 mainly for the convenience of out-of-state drivers. DPS troopers at no time accept roadside fines, Carter said. All they do is furnish a pre-addressed envelope from the JP. It's state law that says a traffic law violator will be jailed if he is not released on appearance bond by a magistrate, not the trooper.

Precinct 2 Peace Justice Phil Harris, who also is a practicing attorney, said all four Bexar County justices have agreed to condemn the DPS practice.

"There are many serious questions involved in something like this," Harris said. "It seems to be coercion to pay the fine. The motorists don't have much of a chance."

Harris said once a fine is paid, it is impossible for a motorist to appeal the conviction to a county court-at-law.

"Once it is paid on the side of the road like that, that's it," he said, of the road's fines.

Houston's mayor criticizes U.S. attorney's office in Brilab

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Mayor Jim McConn said Friday that at least three members of the City Council had been "wronged by the office of U.S. Attorney A.J. Canales."

The mayor refused to name the councilmen but said "they are being held hostages by federal prosecutors."

"If they are involved in some type of wrongdoing then indict them."

Councilmen Jim Westmoreland and Homer Ford and former councilman Frank Mann were called to testify before a federal grand jury looking into the FBI undercover operation called Brilab for "Bribery-Labor."

A federal court jury Wednesday, after listening to five weeks and two days of testimony, found Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and Austin attorneys Randall Wood and Donald Ray innocent of all charges.

Canales said he expected more indictments to be handed down in the Brilab operation.

The FBI used a convicted insurance swindler, Joseph Hauser, as an informant during the investigation.

He posed as a representative of Prudential Insurance Co. and offered kickbacks to labor and political leaders for new insurance contracts.

McConn said federal prosecutors should "be embarrassed" because they brought charges without enough evidence to sustain them in court. Asked to comment on reports that the U.S. Attorney's office plans to seek more indictments, McConn said, "I don't know if they are, but I would be embarrassed if I were them. It is nonsensical unless there is some motive behind trying to embarrass people and ruin their reputations. I don't know. You would have to go across to the funny building (the Federal Building) and ask them."

Smoking key to brown lung illness severity

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Smoking appears to be the key to whether the brown lung condition found among many textile workers exposed to cotton dust develops into a disabling illness such as chronic bronchitis and emphysema, two Duke University researchers say.

The Duke physicians contend that brown lung, or byssinosis, does not become chronic obstructive lung disease — the term applied to a group of diseases including chronic bronchitis and emphysema — among textile workers who do not smoke.

The cause of brown lung is a subject of continuing debate among physicians and the textile industry and its workers. Some attribute the disease to cotton dust while others contend smoking contributes to the illness.

In the Oct. 17 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Siegfried Heyden and Dr. Philip Pratt acknowledge "a vast difference of opinion" on whether cotton dust can cause the lung disease.

"Many experts question whether a disabling disease develops from long-term cotton dust inhalation and do not accept a cause-and-effect relationship between cotton dust and chronic obstructive lung disease," they say in the article.

The report by Heyden and Pratt was submitted earlier this month in a friend-of-the-court brief to the North Carolina Supreme Court. It was part of arguments opposing an appeals court ruling that workers with brown lung are entitled to full state compensation even though all the problems aren't job related.

Heyden and Pratt cite autopsy evidence that emphysema occurs almost equally among textile workers and nontextile workers. The key to whether emphysema occurred was whether workers smoked, the doctors say. In both groups, those who did not smoke rarely had evidence of emphysema, they say.

But critics have pointed out that cotton dust exposure in mills varies widely, and that Pratt's after-death analysis did not determine where in the plants the workers had labored.

Heyden, meanwhile, cites a new study showing the incidence of lung cancer among Cannon Mills employees was smaller than expected. The study of 19,000 workers showed that lung cancer represented 18 percent of all cancer diagnosed, compared with 22 percent nationally.

Cannon employs about 22,300 workers in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

The Duke doctors conclude, "It is difficult to conceive the legislative need for compensation of a disease that rarely reaches irreversible disabling degrees among ex-smokers or non-smokers who continue to work under the same cotton dust exposure."

Will Michigan taxpayers spell relief A, C or D?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan voters will decide on Nov. 4 whether to spell property tax relief with an "A," "C," or "D."

Proposals A, C and D are rival tax-slashing measures appearing on Michigan ballots on Election Day. The first two would cut property taxes, but would make up at least part of the difference with other tax hikes. Proposal D, the one backed by Michigan's best-known tax-cut advocate, Bob Tisch, drain commissioner of rural Shiawassee County, is the one that scares this state's politicians.

The Tisch proposal would roll property taxes back to the 1978 level, then cut them in half. Local governments would lose $1.5 billion in tax revenues, estimates Tisch — or $2 billion, according to state budget officials. Currently property taxes generate about $4 billion a year, financing about half of public education and most local government services.

And the Tisch proposal, if voters approve it and reject its two rival proposals, would forbid new or increased statewide taxes without approval of 60 percent of the voters.

Gov. William Milliken contends the Tisch proposal is so drastic that colleges and universities would close, 75 percent of the state police force would be laid off along with more than a third of the state's 70,000 employees, and all but 2,000 patients now in state mental hospitals would have to find care elsewhere.

Tisch calls those claims "scare tactics." "People don't want a shift, they want a cut," says Tisch, author of a less radical tax-cut measure that was defeated by state voters in 1978. "We want to bring government back to basics."

Proposal A, a recycled version of a measure Michigan voters rejected in 1972, would end use of residential property taxes to finance public education, cutting them about 50 percent in favor of higher taxes on industrial and commercial property and an increase of 6 percent to 10 percent in the state income tax.

That measure is supported this year by the Michigan Education Association, which says it will help end disparity in educational opportunity between rich and poor districts.

Judges, timber interests oppose wilderness areas

HOUSTON (AP) — Four county judges joined spokesmen for timber interests Wednesday in loudly opposing the creation of 10 wilderness areas on National Forest lands in the heart of East Texas.

The judges were among 50 witnesses at a hearing conducted by U.S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Houston, on a National Forest Service recommendation that 10,212 acres of national forest woodland in Texas be put aside as wilderness areas, with an additional 18,032 acres protected during further study.

Judges Dan Jones of Angelina County, Royce Smith of Sabine County, H.R. Morgan of Houston County and Ralph Davis of Walker County charged that the action would eliminate 300 jobs in the timber industry and hurt the economy in their counties, the areas most affected by the proposal.

But proponents of the recommendation, including Eckhardt, the Sierra Club, the Audubon Society, and the Texas Committee on Natural Resources, said only 50 jobs would possibly be affected.

Davis was hissed by proponents of the recommendation when he scathingly called the proposal a result of "ecology, big trees and all that baloney."

The proposal being pushed by Eckhardt, a member of the House Subcommittee on Public Lands, is an outgrowth of federal efforts to get national forestland across the country preserved as protected wilderness areas.

Eckhardt said he hoped the hearing would serve to deter the Texas Forest Service from giving timber companies additional contracts to cut lumber on the land being studied.

THE NEWSPAPER BIBLE

The test: Is it helping others?

So you see that being able to "speak in tongues" is not a help to God's children, but is to interest the unsaved. However, prophecy (preaching the deep truths of God) is what the Christians need, and unbelievers aren't yet ready for it.

Even so, if an unsaved person, or someone who doesn't have these gifts, comes to church and hears you all talking in other languages, he is likely to think you are crazy.

But if you prophesy, preaching God's word [even though such preaching is mostly for believers] and an unsaved person or a new Christian comes in who does not understand about these things, all these sermons will convince him of the fact that he is a sinner, and his conscience will be pricked by everything he hears.

As he listens, his secret thoughts will be laid bare and he will fall down on his knees and worship God, declaring that God is really there among you.

Well, my brothers, let's add up what I am saying. When you meet together some will sing, another will teach, or tell some special information God has given him, or speak in an unknown language, or tell what someone else is saying who is speaking in the unknown language, but everything that is done must be useful to all, and build them up in the Lord.

No more than two or three should speak in an unknown language, and they must speak one at a time, and someone must be ready to interpret what they are saying.

But if no one is present who can interpret, they must not speak out loud. They must talk silently to themselves and to God in the unknown language but not publicly.

Scholars seek Jesus' exact words

DENVER (AP) — A team of New Testament scholars is starting an unusual, five-year project called the National Seminar on the Historical Jesus to determine exactly what Jesus said.

After a first meeting held this month at the Iliff School of Theology, the 14 participating scholars are to meet three times annually over the next five years to examine each of the gospel sayings.

The Rev. Helmut Koester of Harvard Divinity School terms the project "the most prestigious and canonically sound ever." The scholars are to determine which sayings are accurate by majority vote.

Freedom group hails California decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state attorney general's decision to withdraw suits alleging misuse of church funds is a signal to other states that there are limits to a government's power to supervise religion, say those who count California's decision as a victory.

"We may have to live with what a great majority of citizens might consider bizarre religious activities, but in our opinion, that's a lesser evil than opening ... the road to regulation of religious activity by the state," said William Ellis of Seattle, an executive of the Center for Law and Religious Freedom.

The Oak Park, Ill.-based organization, the American Civil Liberties Union, and a dozen other religious and civil liberties groups had jointly opposed the attorney general in the suit he had brought against the Worldwide Church of God, based in Pasadena.

That case is being dropped, says California Attorney General George Deukmejian, along with two other active and eight pending cases.

The state, in trying to find out if Worldwide Church leaders misused funds for personal gain, had obtained a court-appointed receiver who moved into church offices with the aid of sheriff's deputies, changed locks, fired ministers and ordered donations to be sent to him.

Such actions coalesced "a strange mixture of bedfellows on the side of the church and against the state," said Ellis, even though many of the organizations disavowed any affection for the Worldwide Church's theology and practices.

Deukmejian's actions were based on an interpretation of the state's corporations code, which gives the attorney general the right to supervise non-profit corporations, including charitable trusts. The dispute centered over whether churches are charitable trusts.

The Faith Center Church in Glendale refused to honor the state's subpoena of its records. The attorney general kept winning court decisions and the California Supreme Court was scheduled to make a decision within weeks on whether it would hear the case.

While the cases went through the courts, and the churches claimed that the attorney general's interpretation was in error, the law changed. On January 1, a new law went into effect that clearly put religious groups under the supervision of the attorney general.

But then State Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, sponsored a bill repealing that section of the code and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. signed it.

Deukmejian said he was bowing to legislative intent by pulling out of the Worldwide Church of God, Faith Center and Synanon cases, and dropping probes of eight other churches, including Van Nuys Baptist Church, Lincoln Avenue Church of Christ in Pasadena, Fresno Church of the Living Word and Church of our Savior-

Lutheran in Bakersfield. The Synanon case involved charges that the drug rehabilitation center solicited money for charity and used it for weapons. Synanon leaders declared last year that its principal function is now religious.

It is these questions of what is a church and what isn't, and how much bizarre behavior by religious groups can be tolerated in a society committed to religious freedom that indicate the conflict between church and state is not over.

The urge to regulate religious groups arose after the Jonestown, Guyana, murder-suicide of 940 followers of the Rev. Jim Jones, says Lyn Buzzard, executive director of the Christian Legal Society.

"People said there ought to be some way of stopping things like that. But the Peoples Temple was one of the most registered and checked-out groups there are," said Buzzard.

He acknowledged the state has a duty to determine if a group is a religion for tax-exempt status, and he predicted the next battle will be over Internal Revenue Service decisions. As for fraud and misuse of funds, Buzzard said there are remedies for that in criminal codes.

Ellis, who had been working on a revamp of the state of Washington's corporations code and using California's law as a model, said those plans have now changed.

"The whole country has been waiting to see what would result from the California situation," he said.

The Faith Center Church's legal problems are not over yet, however. Attorney Peter Esser said the church's broadcasting network is being denied a licence by the Federal Communications Commission, because it "decided the church had no constitutional right to withhold records." That administrative decision by the FCC will end up in federal court, Esser said.

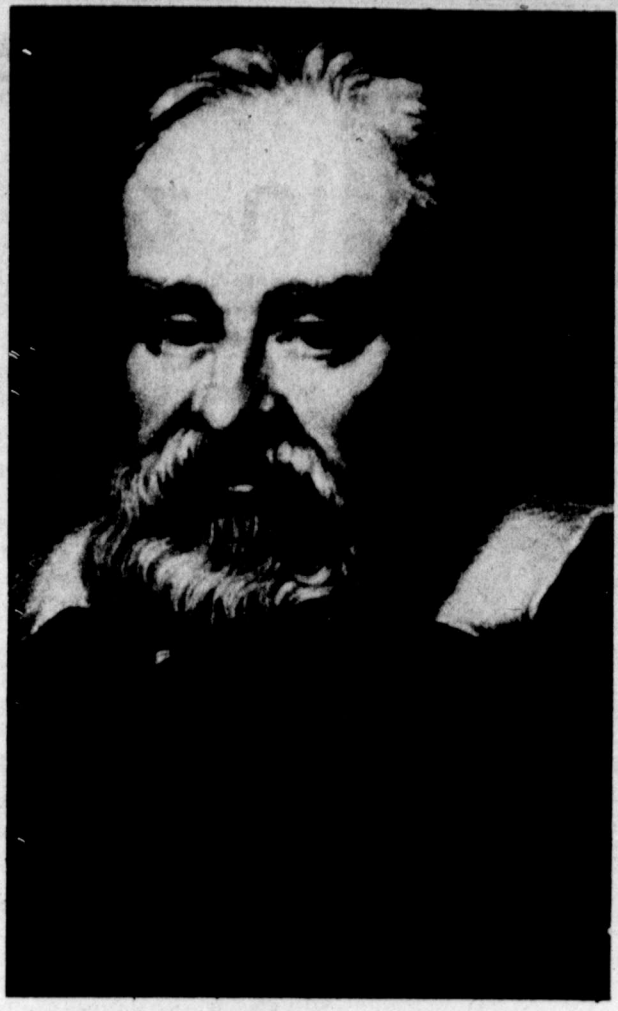

Worldwide Church of God treasurer Stanley Rader said suits are being planned against "those people who, for personal gain, almost did great harm to the freedom of religion."

Buttery to deliver annual sermon

William Buttery will deliver the annual Layman's Day sermon Sunday at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, 4501 Thomason Drive.

Buttery, who is principal at Crockett Elementary School, will preach on "The Last, the Least and the Lost" at 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. The scripture is Matthew 25: 31-46.

Friends and guests of St. Paul are welcome to attend either service.

The Vatican announced recently it will reopen the case of Galileo Galilei, the 16th century Italian scientist condemned by the Roman Catholic Church for defending his theory that the sun — not the earth as believed at the time — was "at the center of the universe and does not move." The action being taken is the "precise wish" of Pope John Paul II and comes a year after the pope said the scientist was "wrongly" condemned by the church. (AP Laserphoto)

Court indicates parents may take child from cults

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court, in its first ruling in a "deprogramming" case involving a religious cult, suggested today that parents may go to great lengths to free their children from cult domination.

The court did not spell out precisely how far parents could go when they believe a child has been alienated from family life by involvement in a religious cult.

RELIGION

In cautious language, the court said that where parents believe a child's judgmental capacity has been impaired, and when the child seems to assent at some point, then a temporary confinement is not illegal.

But the court also said that deprogramming poses a threat "to public order," and did not flatly endorse "kidnappings," the physical removal of a child from a cult.

In a 5-2 decision, the court rejected an appeal by Susan Jungclaus Peterson, who sued her parents for false imprisonment after they turned her over to a deprogrammer in May 1976. She was 21 at the time.

The court said the use of "coercive persuasion," or brainwashing, by religious cults impairs the judgmental capacity of children — even though they are legal adults.

The jury exonerated Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jungclaus on the false imprisonment charge. It awarded $1 in actual damages against Veronica Morgel and Kathy Mills, who acted as deprogrammers at the request of Norman Jungclaus, and assessed punitive damages of $4,000 against Mrs. Morgel and $6,000 against Mrs. Mills. The high court let stand those awards.

Mrs. Peterson had grown up on a farm near Bird Island, graduated second in her high school class and then attended Moorhead State University. There, she joined The Way of Minnesota, Inc., and ultimately devoted virtually all of her time and energy to the cult.

Church-state confrontation likely on abortion issue

ROME (AP) — The leader of the Italian Socialist Party told the chamber of deputies today that Pope John Paul II's campaign to repeal Italy's abortion law may lead to a confrontation between the Italian state and the Roman Catholic Church.

Bettino Craxi, secretary of the Italy's third largest party and a partner of Christian Democratic Premier Arnaldo Forlani's coalition government, said the Polish-born pontiff, "despite his great personality and stature, appears to have difficulties in understanding the complexities of the Italian reality because he is a foreigner."

"There are signs of a revival of intolerance, improper interventions and excessive zeal on the part of the Roman Catholic Church over the abortion issue," said Craxi, a former premier-designate widely considered one of Italy's most powerful politicians.

Craxi spoke during a parliamentary debate on the programs of the new Cabinet made up of Christian Democrats, Socialists, Republicans and Social Democrats. The majority government formed last Saturday is expected to receive a vote of confidence on Saturday.

The pope has spoken out vigorously against abortion in general and Italy's abortion law in particular. The two-year-old law permits free abortions on demand for women 18 years of age and older in the first 90 days of pregnancy. Nearly 200,000 abortions were reported in Italy last year.

The pope has drawn sharp criticism from a wide spectrum of Italy's liberal and left-wing politicians who charged that the papal statements represented an interference in politics of a sovereign nation.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Presbyterian women to gather

The Women of the First Presbyterian Church will gather for their annual annual meeting at noon Tuesday.

A salad luncheon will open the session with the church providing the bread, beverage and dessert. The meeting will include installation of officers and a special presentation on the hospice concept of care.

The officers being installed to serve a two-year term are Mrs. James Lucas, second vice president; Mrs. Jack Swallow, leadership and resources chairwoman; Mrs. Naresh Kumar, ecumenical mission and relations chairwoman; and Mrs. Bill Hightower, historian.

Mrs. John Holman will be the guest speaker. She will discuss the hospice concept of caring for the terminally ill. Quality of life and symptom control are two of the most important areas emphasized in this approach to dealing with death.

phone only with a firm whose address and phone number can be verified.

Church plans celebration

Bethel Baptist Church, 3125 Travis St., will celebrate its 18th anniversary Sunday beginning at 10 a.m.

The day's activities include special singing at 10 a.m. by the Kristian People Quartet, the Church Quartet and others. At 11 a.m. the Rev. Roy Day will speak on "The End of the Beginning."

Afternoon services will be from 2 to 3:30 p.m. with a night sermon at 6:30 p.m. The evening sermon topic is "Iraq, Iran and Blood to the Bridle Bits." The public is invited to attend.

Dancing program set

Special program for the Tuesday 11 a.m. meeting of the Episcopal Church Women of the Holy Trinity Church will be liturgical dancing by Tinka Tarver of San Antonio.

Mrs. Tarver is the wife of San Antonio attorney Lewis Tarver and the mother of three children. She received her degree in painting from The University of Texas and has participated in numerous art shows over the years.

It was not until a few years ago that she became involved in liturgical dancing. She joined a class being taught by Joanna Lee, a fellow member of the Church of Reconciliation. She is now the leader of the Company of Heaven dancers and has spoken and danced often at Trinity University's Margarite B. Parker Chapel.

She will hold a liturgical dance workshop at 1 p.m. Tuesday, by reservation only, for $10. Reservations may be made by calling Holy Trinity Church, 1412 W. Illinois Ave., 683-4207.

Homecoming planned

The First Church of the Nazarene, F and Wall streets, is holding a Homecoming Celebration Sunday.

The Rev. F.W. Rogers, a former pastor, is the guest pastor. He will be the speaker for both Sunday services at 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Following the morning service, there will be a noon fellowship dinner in the Fellowship Hall. The public is invited to attend.

Fourth film to be shown

Fannin Terrace Baptist Church, 2800 Mogford St., is presenting the fourth film in the series "Focus on the Family" Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

This segment is "Preparing for Adolescence: The Origins of Self-Doubt." The public is invited to attend.

Breakaway church admits two dioceses

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The Anglican Catholic Church, a breakaway Episcopal denomination, has formally admitted two more dioceses, bringing the number of its dioceses to seven.

One of the new dioceses includes the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and parts of Tennessee and Louisiana. The other is a missionary diocese serving the New England area.

The church was established in 1977 by former Episcopalians concerned over that denomination's decisions to ordain women to the priesthood and adopt a modernized Book of Common Prayer.

The Rt. Rev. Frank Knutti of West Palm Beach, Fla. was named to serve as episcopal authority for the new Southern dioceses until it elects its own bishop.

The Rt. Rev. William O. Lewis, bishop of the Midwest diocese, is episcopal visitor to the missionary diocese in New England.

The Anglicans met in Mobile on Wednesday for the church's third annual national synod.

Men, boys meeting set

This week Our Lady of Guadalupe Church is holding special meetings for married men and young boys.

The meetings will be held at 7 p.m. Monday through Friday in the church.

St. Ann's site for service

St. Ann's Catholic Church, 206 N. Main St., will be the site of a special Lutheran-Catholic service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. Gary Haaland of Midland Lutheran Church. Ed Leps will be the choir director and Bertha Johnson will be the organist. The offering will be donated to the Battered Women's Center.

The service is a joint effort by Midland Lutheran, Hope Lutheran and St. Ann's Catholic churches to provide their congregations with the opportunity to become aware of and experience the similarities between the two faiths. Last Sunday a special dialogue service was conducted at Hope Lutheran with about 80 persons showing up for the service.

The performing choir is composed of choir members from all three churches. A fellowship time, when refreshments are served, will follow the service.

The public is invited to attend.

Singles evening is set

The United Methodist churches are planning a special get-acquainted singles evening Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. at St. Mark's United Methodist Church, 1701 N. Main St.

The evening is a "Wear Your Jeans" event and is calling for singles from all denominations in Midland. After several small group encounters from 7 to 8:30 p.m. designed to break the ice, there will be a dance. Refreshments will be served. Those attending are welcome to bring their own records.

The churches are hoping for a good turnout. It is their desire to provide singles in Midland with ways to get acquainted. Later activities may include bowling, attending sports events, or whatever other activities may interest the singles involved.

Luncheon held Tuesday

The Midland Council of Churches held its monthly luncheon meeting Tuesday at St. Mark's United Methodist Church.

After routine business was conducted, those present heard from three guest speakers. A representative from the Midland Reporter-Telegram discussed church news as it appears in the newspaper.

A representative from Midland Memorial Hospital discussed policies dealing with the clergy and the hospital. And a representative from the Better Business Bureau discussed the most recent con game, or "Office Supply Schemes and Paper Pirates," now being practiced on churches as well as businesses.

This particular game, which is most often handled on the phone, has struck local concerns. The bureau recommends that businesses do not buy from a new supplier until his credentials have been verified, especially if the original contact is made by phone.

It also recommends that offices not accept C.O.D. deliveries and insist instead on open account billing. Their last recommendation is to do business by

'Kitchen syncs' play in zany musical band

NEW ALEXANDRIA, Pa. (AP) — Conductor Cal Breneman took a swipe at a big, brass gong and set a zany band of senior citizens in motion.

The kazoo band, called the Kitchen Syncs, hummed, sang and pounded out a concert full of toe-tapping tunes.

"It's brought a lot of happiness to other people and to us," the 69-year-old Breneman said in an interview.

Woven into the performance were solo spots by old timers who performed original songs, poetry, jokes and dances — all designed to make people smile.

Ruth Siegel, a grandmother of five, stepped up front and swished a grass skirt in a barefoot hula dance. An 84-year-old widow, Eleanor Power, pranced across the stage on a wooden stock pony to the tune of "The Old Gray Mare." And "Uncle" Harry Gehr, 93, rested both hands on a cane and spun a yarn about delivery room jitters.

"Our Syncs are turning into hams," said Flo Buccerio, nodding in approval. Mrs. Buccerio is supervisor of the YMCA senior citizens center here and has helped guide the band since it formed nine months ago.

For now, the group is happy to play at Westmoreland County church festivals, nursing homes and golden-wedding anniversaries. But the band has set its sights on a national stage.

"The White House, that's our goal," said Mrs. Buccerio. The band hopes to play at the National Conference on Aging at the executive mansion in November 1981.

The group used to play for the price of its bus fare, but now asks a donation to build up a fund for the proposed Washington trip.

Band members, who use homemade instruments, are quick to admit that their performances do as much to lift their own spirits as those of the people they entertain.

"We love to do it. When you live alone you want to get away from the four walls and see something different," said one of the participants.

"Life without humor is a vacuum," said Jim Betts, 68, a retired school principal.

Breneman says he thought of the band idea last January.

Seattle voters to decide on rent control

SEATTLE (AP) — When Ce Ootkin moved into her comfortable, two-bedroom apartment 5 1/2 years ago, her $185-a-month rent was ideal for retirement.

Since then, her elderly neighbors have been replaced by working young people and her rent is $315. Now her landlord wants to increase the 66-year-old retired Army officer's rent to $500. She is looking for a new place.

"I really would have preferred staying here," she said.

Mrs. Ootkin has become a central figure in a battle over a rent control initiative Seattle voters will decide on Election Day. Initiative 24 would limit rent increases to about one-half the inflation rate, conserve rental housing with strict rules on condominium conversions and demolition, and set rules on evictions.

The pro-rent control group Renters and Owners Organized for Fairness (ROOF) learned of Mrs. Ootkin's plight and trotted her out at a press conference to tell her story.

Meanwhile, the anti-controls group, Washington Coalition for Affordable Housing, also learned of the rent hike. The group persuaded the landlord to rescind the increase, and held its own press conference the same day ROOF held theirs.

The ROOF group accuses the Coalition for Affordable Housing of trying to confuse voters by choosing a name that sounds pro-controls.

Judy Kuskin, ROOF spokeswoman and a renter, says the pro-control forces had spent about $47,000 on its campaign. Jim Tablino, of the anti-Initiative 24 forces, said $400,000 was being spent to defeat the measure.

Ms. Kuskin said early polls had indicated support for the initiative.

"But in other cities, massive publicity in the last two weeks changed things around," she said.

In the past three years, Ms. Kuskin says, Seattle rents increased an average 60 percent — more than double the rate of inflation — and in the past five years 15,000 households were forced to move because of condominium conversions, building demolition and rent increases.

"It is just killing the old people and the families," she says.

Tablino counters that while there are a few rent-gougers among landlords, the initiative is too broad. It would result in few benefits while costing landlords and renters alike, he said, and would slow construction of new rental properties in Seattle, a city with a serious housing shortage.

Tablino says rents in the city had gone up rapidly after 1976 — but only because rents were locked at an artificially low rate during the "Boeing Bust" years when Boeing Co., one of the city's mainstays, was in financial trouble and Seattle was practically a depression town.

Associate director of nursing named

Charlotte Blaschke, R.N., has been named associate director of nursing at Midland Memorial Hospital, according to Helen Hayden, R.N., assistant administrator of nursing services.

"This is a new position and replaces the day supervisor position," Mrs. Hayden said. "I feel Mrs. Blaschke is most qualified for this job and will add a new leadership dimension to nursing service."

Mrs. Blaschke received her registered nursing training at Lutheran Hospital School of Nursing in St. Louis, Mo., in 1955. After moving to West Texas, she completed her bachelor of science degree in nursing from West Texas State University in Canyon in 1975. Four years later, she received her masters in education from University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

While living in Houston, Mrs. Blaschke was head nurse on a pediatric unit at Jefferson Davis Hospital. She later held various positions on the nursing staff at Heights Hospital, including head nurse of both a surgical unit and a medical unit, ICU supervisor and inservice director.

During 1971-72, Mrs. Blaschke was on the nursing staff of Parkview Hospital in Midland. She joined the MMH staff in May 1978 and worked in post critical care until she resigned in late August. She again joined the MMH nursing staff in May 1979. She was named associate director Oct. 5.

Her husband, David, is an engineer with Shell Pipeline.

Midland absentee balloting picks up, county clerk says

Absentee voting in the Nov. 4 general election shot upward to 2,121 votes by 5 p.m. Friday, when the poll closed for the weekend in the Midland County Courthouse, according to County Clerk Rosenelle Cherry.

The voting, which began Oct. 15, will resume at 8 a.m. Monday and will continue from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the week. The in-person absentee balloting will close out at 5 p.m. Friday.

Mail-out ballots to date have totaled 1,342, Ms. Cherry said.

About 44,100 Midland Countians are registered to vote in the election.

In the 1976 general election, 4,418 absentee ballots were cast in Midland. In that election, about two-thirds — 27,369 — of the county's 37,393 registered voters voted.

The Texas Election Code permits registered voters to vote absentee if they expect to be out of the county on election day.

The Texas Election Code allows five reasons for registered voters to cast absentee ballots by mail or in person:

—Voters must either be absent or expect to be absent from the county on election day or during the clerk's regular office hours; be age 65 or older; hold religious beliefs which prohibit attending the polls on election day; be confined in jail; have sickness or physical disability.

Those wishing to vote by mail may write the county clerk at P.O. Box 211, Midland, Texas 79702 and request an application for ballots. Ballots must be returned to the clerk by 7 p.m. Nov. 4 to be counted.

Midland College enrollment shows slight increase over last year

Midland College trustees learned Friday afternoon that official enrollment figures at Midland College showed a slight increase for the fall semester.

MC Registrar Dee Windsor reported that the official enrollment figure for this semester was 2,699 students. The registrar noted that would be the figure reported to the state for funding purposes.

Last year Midland College reported 2,550 students to the state. The occupational-technical program noted a 2 percent increase in the number of contact hours whereas the academic program generated a 1 percent increase, Windsor said.

The early admissions program that the college offers to senior high school students also showed an increase; but Trustee Reagan Legg questioned why there aren't more high school students taking advantage of the program.

Many students are employed during their senior and many would rather take a summer break instead of taking more classes at the college, several trustees noted.

Trustees also heard a report concerning the occupational department programs.

Two resignations for instructors in the occupational-technical area were approved by trustees. Dr. Al Langford, MC president, explained that the instructors left the college because of better wages in private industry.

Other routine items which met trustee approval included financial and vouchers for September.

UT's Bybee Building in Midland to undergo $95,000 rehabilitation

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The University of Texas System Board of Regents Friday authorized emergency repair and rehabilitation of the Hal P. Bybee Building in Midland.

The building houses the headquarters operations of University Lands in West Texas. Estimated cost of the project is $95,000. The regents also authorized construction of a 1,500-square-foot addition to the building at a cost of $98,000.

Peters and Fields architecture firm of Odessa was appointed to prepare the project plans.

The addition is needed because of expansion of management functions for oil, gas, mineral and surface interests.

The regents also awarded a $98,289 contract to Basco Building System, Odessa, for construction of a vineyard field warehouse near Bakersfield.

Riot trial begins in Miami

MIAMI (AP) — A legally blind woman and a black couple said to fear reprisal for their testimony are among key state witnesses in the trial of two black men accused in a fatal attack on a white youth during the bloody race riots here that left 18 dead.

The trial, which began Thursday in Dade Circuit Court, is the first murder case stemming from the riots.

Frankie James, 18, and James McCullough, 20, are accused of second-degree murder in the death of 22-year-old Jeffrey Kulp. The white youth died four weeks after being beaten, stomped and stabbed on the first night of May 17-19 riots.

The defendants also face aggravated assault charges in the beating of Kulp's 18-year-old brother, Michael.

Defense attorneys say Jeffrey Kulp was the victim of "a mob action in chaos," not the actions of one or two people.

A defense challenge was also anticipated to the testimony of Mary Kinsey, who prosecutors have said will testify that she saw defendant James kicking Kulp. Mrs. Kinsey is judged legally blind because of a condition that impairs night vision. The attack occurred at night.

Also scheduled to testify were Felman and Shirley Reddick, a black couple who own a market on the street corner where the killing took place. Judge Mario Gerdich warned them Thursday they could be cited for contempt of court if they refused to testify.

"They fear for their lives and livelihood," Keg Drucker, an assistant state attorney, said of the couple.

More than $100 million worth of damage was done during the three days of violence, triggered by an all-white Tampa jury's acquittal of four former Dade Metro police officers in charges related to the December beating death of black businessman Arthur McDuffie.

Bulldogs win, but discover Cats do have claws

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Sports Writer

The Midland High Bulldogs helped run San Angelo's losing streak to seven games at Memorial Stadium Friday night with a 22-14 District 5-5A verdict, but somehow it seems that the Purple Pack is doing everything in its power to keep their fans on the edge of their seats.

The Bulldogs never trailed in this contest, leading 14-0 at one point and 22-8 at another, but they never really put it away until late in the game. The victory was the Pack's third straight and all three have been enough to drive even the most ardent fan up the wall.

This was supposed to be one of those skate jobs since the Bobcats haven't won a game since beating Big Spring to end the season last year, but they darned near scared the Bulldogs in this one. In fact, the Bobcats won the battle of yardage gained by a 252-217 margin.

The Bulldogs looked like they were going to blow San Angelo off the field when they came out and took their first drive 48 yards in 14 plays for a 7-0 lead while eating up 5:28 of the first period clock. The touchdown was set up when quarterback Michael Feldt hit Wade Johnson for 15 yards to the Bobcat five. Tailback Johnny Garza then got the final five and Hank McClung hit the extra point. The Bulldogs got the ball when the opening kickoff hit San Angelo's Ed Cervantes in the leg and that made it a live ball for Midland's Bill Manning.

THE BULLDOGS jumped to a 14-0 lead in the second period after a fumbled punt recovery by Buckner Smith set up a 46-yard drive. The Feldt-to-Johnson routine paid off for the final 19 yards of the drive and McClung was true again.

It was inbetween those scores, however, that San Angelo squandered two scoring opportunities, which could have possibly given them the lead in the first half.

San Angelo got to the MHS nine after a 50-yard drive, but an incompletion on fourth down stalled the threat. The Bobcats nixed the chance at a field goal.

Then with field position at hand, San Angelo got to the MHS 38 where another fourth down try went awry. Quarterback Mike Flores had Steve Yarbrough open for a certain score, but overthrew the receiver.

However, the Bobcats did narrow the gap to 14-8 58 seconds before the half with a 58-yard drive. Flores hit Mark Lambert for 20 yards, Ken Love ran for 23 and Flores got the final 18 on two carries. Flores then hit Paul Hayes for the two-point conversion.

MIDLAND High started the third quarter like the first with a 72 yard drive that saw Scott Yocham carry seven times for 57 of the yards, including the final three, which was made possible by a crumpling block by Craig Bostwick. Field ran for the two-point conversion and a 22-8 lead.

Then it was time for Midland High to sit back and make things exciting for the fans as San Angelo cashed in on only one of three great scoring opportunities.

San Angelo moved from its own 35 to the Bulldog seven in the third period after Love ran for 20 and Flores passed for 19 to Hayes for the big gains. Tackle Joe Goebel, however, tackled Flores for a four-yard loss and the Bobcats sputtered for four downs and again neglected the field goal.

Flores got hot again in the fourth period when he hit fullback Kel Crain for 27 yards to the Bulldog 26. Later, an controversial interference call against the Bulldogs gave San Angelo the ball at the MHS five. But Love fumbled on the next play and tackle Jerry Dedrick pounced on it to keep the wolf away from the door again.

SAN ANGELO'S fate for their seventh consecutive loss was sealed by then, but the Bobcats did come back for one more score. Steve Flores recovered a Yocham fumble at the 25-yard line and Flores later hit Hayes for a 14-yard TD bomb on third down. The extra point attempt was wide and the final margin stood at 22-14.

Yocham led all rushers with 90 yards on 16 carries and Garza had 62. Love led San Angelo with 78 yards on 10 carries.

Midland High did not squander any scoring opportunities during the night, but they do like to test the heart, at least once a week. The secondary was porous again on occasion and they were hurt by some sweeps. But Dedrick, Goebel, Gary Willis, Lance Langford, Elston Montgomery and Curt Holcomb all came up with some big defensive plays.

Midland High is now 5-2 on the year and 3-1 in loop action, and still in the hunt. And San Angelo — well, the beat still goes on, but they are getting closer all the time.

Lee grinds out 26-7 victory over Steers

By BOB DILLON
Sports Writer

BIG SPRING — The Midland Lee Rebels methodically ground out a 26-7 victory over the Big Spring Steers Friday night in a District 5-5A football game in Memorial Stadium.

Leading by only a 6-0 score at half-time, Coach Spike Dykes' Rebels woke up in the third period to score 20 points to seal the victory, on the great running of quarterback Barry Corley, fullback Calvin Riggs and tailback Rodney Hemphill.

CORLEY, A 170-pound senior, rushed for 153 yards on 22 carries and scored three touchdowns for his best performance of the season. Riggs, the No. 1 rusher in 5-5A going into the game, picked up 125 yards in 20 cracks into the line and Hemphill added 80 yards on 13 carries as the Rebs had 378 yards on the ground.

The Steers got the first break of the game in the opening period when Leonard Williams fumbled a punt with Marty Rice pouncing on the ball at the Lee 21, but the rugged Rebel defense held.

NEITHER TEAM threatened again in the first period and after Corley got off a beautiful 52-yard punt, Lee held and then drove 45 yards in four plays to draw first blood. Riggs burst down the middle for 43 yards to the Steer two and three plays later, Corley banged over from the one. A bad snap on the extra point made it 6-0 in favor of the Tall City team with 6:47 left in the first half.

Lee got a break when Riggs recovered a Steer fumble at the Big Spring 22, but Dykes' crew was turned away when Van Gravitt missed a 37-yard field goal with one second left on the clock as the ball hit the cross-bar.

Niatross triumphs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — World champion trotter Niatross took the lead before the first turn Friday and paced easily the rest of the way to win the $27,315 Hanover Stake for 3-year-old pacing colts and geldings at Liberty Bell Park.

Niatross, driven by part-owner and trainer Clint Galbraith, won with a time of 1:56.5.

Mavericks lose

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Mychal Thompson and Calvin Natt combined for 43 points as the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Dallas Mavericks 120-105 in a National Basketball Association game Friday night.

Thompson, with 22 points, and Natt, with 21 points and 10 rebounds, gave the Blazers, 3-3, an inside game that overwhelmed the expansion Mavericks, 2-6.

Portland shot 57.1 percent for the game, connecting on 52 of 91 field goal attempts.

Midland, New Mexico dash in polo match

Midland will play New Mexico in a Governor's Cup tournament USPA today at 2 p.m. at the Midland Polo Club, north of Midland on Garfield Street.

The Rebels took the second half kickoff and stormed 66 yards in 10 plays to score with Hemphill, Riggs and Corley taking turns carrying the mail. Corley's 14-yard run was the longest of the drive and he capped it off by going over from four yards out. A pass for the two-point conversion failed, making it 12-0 with 8:34 left in the quarter.

Lee score again on its next possession, going 56 yards in nine plays with Corley skipping 32 yards on a keeper play for the TD. This time, Gravitt's kick was true for a 19-0 lead with 3:43 left in the third period.

Big Spring struck quickly with junior Bobby Earl Williams scampering 70 yards on a counter play for the score. He cut across the grain and outran Bart Ryan to the end zone. Edward Vela booted the PAT to cut Lee's lead to 19-7 with 3:29 left in the period.

LEE WENT 65 yards in eight plays to more or less ice the game. Riggs had runs of 16, four and four yards while Corley had an 18-yarder and then went the final 10 for his third TD of the night. Gravitt split the uprights for the final 26-7 score.

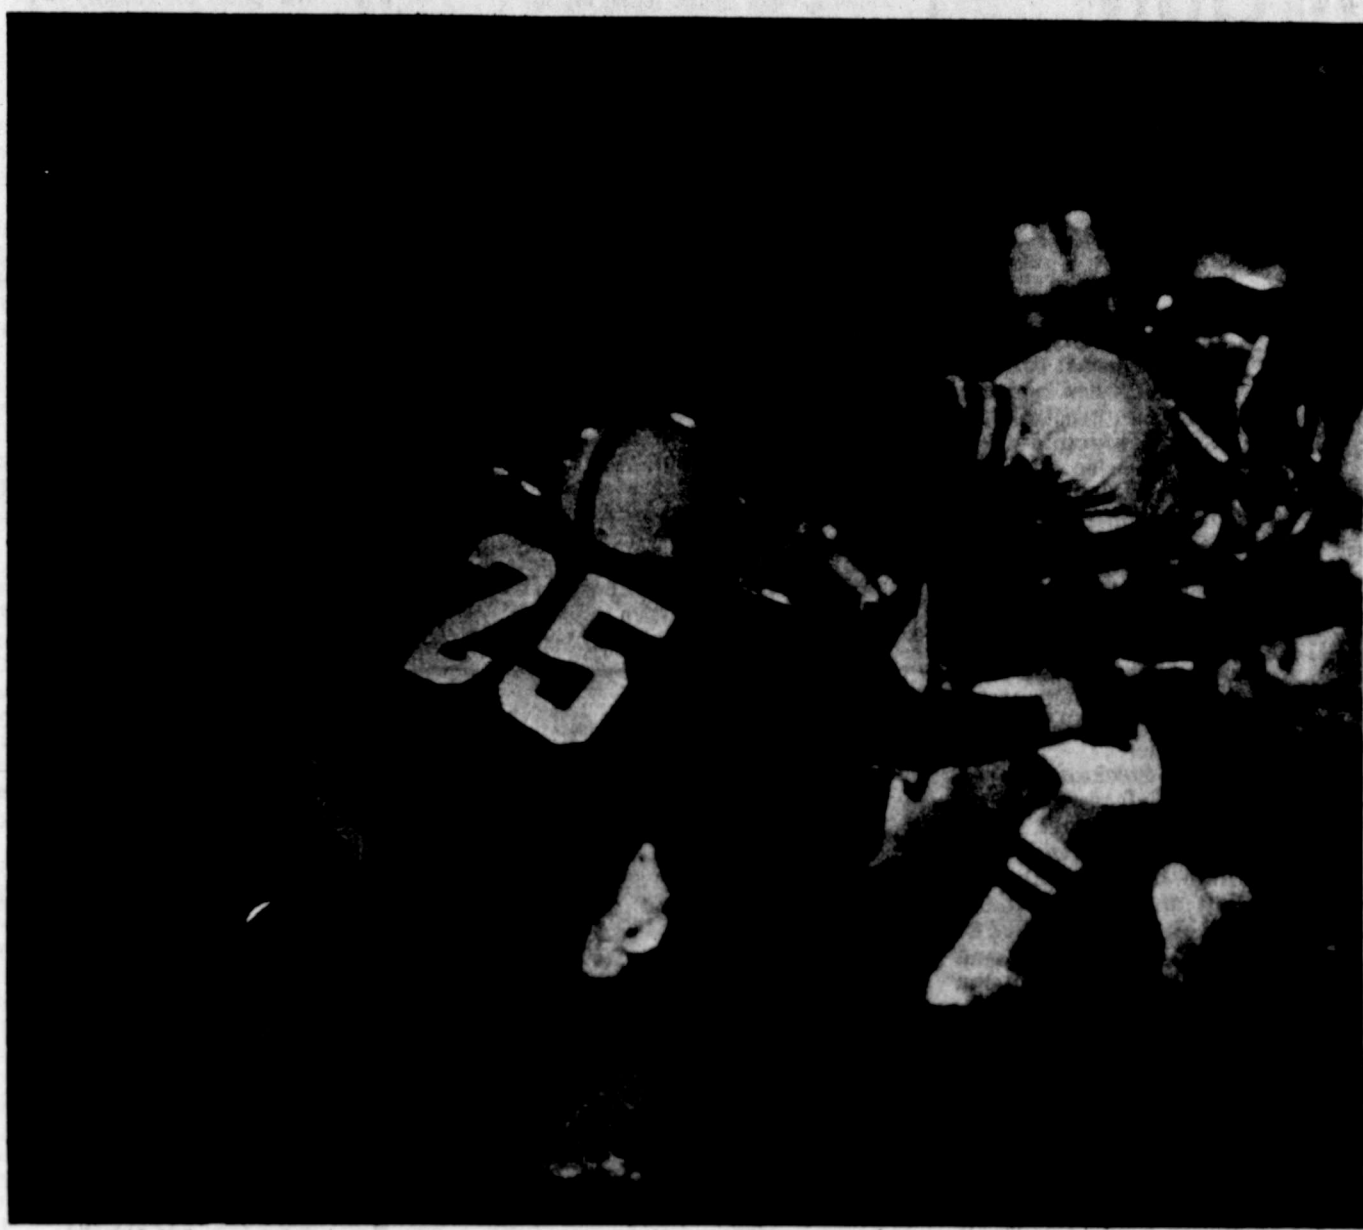

The Rebels now stand 4-2-1 on the year and 2-1-1 in 5-5A play while the Steers are 2-5-0 and 0-4-0 and play Abilene Cooper next week. Lee entertains Odessa Permian in Midland next week.

Williams was the leading rusher for the Steers with 109 yards on 15 carries, but it was the tough Rebel defense that stood out, holding the Steers to five first downs.

Buckner Smith (25) gave the Midland High Bulldogs a lift when he made this first half tackle on San Angelo fullback Kel Crain. The Bulldogs went on to win the game, 22-14, but the Purple Pack continues to leave fans with goose bumps — and victories. Midland High is now 5-2 on the year. (Staff Photo by Brian Hendershot)

"I'm alarmed that an athlete can be caught with dope today and suspended with pay. It makes me believe there are not too many commissioners who have the guts to make a tough decision. They are so afraid of lawsuits that they don't know what stand to take. In our day, we'd have a couple martinis, raise a little hell — and that was considered all wrong. The only thing that made me stop betting on football games was (my) suspension." — Football great Paul Hornung, looking at the changing face of professional sports.

Alborn says Owls better shows how tough it is to pick these things. Last week after going 10 for 15, the season's mark is 63-19.

This week in the SWC...

Texas 28, SMU 17—It's one thing to switch horses in mid-stream. It's possible, but not against Texas, especially when you are switching to a freshman at quarterback...

Texas A&M 14, Rice 10—Will it be the Aggies who thrashed Texas Tech or the Aggies who rolled over and played dead against Baylor?

Baylor 29, TCU 14—Bears simply have too many claws.

Arkansas 27, Houston 17—Loser drops out of SWC running with two losses. The big ones...

Alabama 33, Southern Mississippi 7—Both teams nationally ranked, but they still play in different worlds, I think.

Oklahoma 23, Iowa State 13—If Cyclones couldn't play with Kansas, what chance do they have against the Sooners?

Notre Dame 28, Arizona 7—Surprising, isn't it, that the Irish would play a football factory like this.

Ohio State 58, Wisconsin 0—Buckeyes aren't as good as they were last year when they beat Badgers 59-0.

Penn State 21, West Virginia 0—Easy one for Lions.

Pitt 14, Tennessee 13—If Vols hadn't played Alabama last week...

UCLA 38, California 37—It would be higher, but they'll be using a center tip after each basket.

The little ones...

Washington 27, Navy 14—Surely the team that beat Stanford wouldn't stub its toe on the Middies.

Harvard 10, Princeton 7—Tigers will never be able to figure out Crimson's offense.

Rutgers 10, Syracuse 7—But Syracuse will win the riot after the game.

Baylor wary of wounded Horned Frogs

By Associated Press

The unbeaten and No. 11 rated Baylor Bears are not exactly overjoyed by their Southwest Conference football trip to Fort Worth Saturday to play crippled and winless Texas Christian.

"I can remember some games with them (the Horned Frogs) that were really dogfights," said Baylor center Buzzy Nelson. "They have an excellent defense that gets after you from the start... It'll be up there in their stadium where they think they're the Dallas Cowboys."

Bear safety Vann McElroy said "When they play Baylor they're fired up. Playing an undefeated team will fire them up even more."

Baylor defensive end Max McGeary added "last year we had some trouble with them... you just can't overlook them."

The Bears subdued TCU 16-3 last year. Baylor Coach Grant Teaff is 7-1 against the Horned Frogs. The Bears have won the last six games between the schools.

IN OTHER games across the SWC Saturday, No. 2 ranked Texas hosted Southern Methodist, Arkansas traveled to Houston meet the defending champion Cougars, and Rice was at Texas A&M.

There will be some personnel changes for the SMU-Texas game.

Halfback Bobby Micho will replace Rodney Tate, who has had fumble problems.

A J. (Jam) Jones is hurt and Darryl Clark and Carl Robinson were expected to get plenty of playing time.

Receivers Les Koenning, who is hurt, and Maurice McCloney will likely be replaced by Sanford Coggins and Herkie Walls, respectively.

SMU (4-2, 1-2 in SWC) at TEXAS (5-0, 2-0 in SWC), 1 p.m. — Longhorns going for 6-0 start — last four times they've done that, they finished with perfect regular seasons, winning national championships in '63 and '69. Texas currently ranked second in AP poll... teams meeting for 60th time with Texas holding a 36-19-4 series lead, winning the last 13... Mustangs' last win over Horns was their 1966 championship year... Texas has won 20 of last 21 at Memorial Stadium, has lost only five at home since Mustangs did it 14 years ago.

RICE (2-4, 1-2 in SWC) at TEXAS A&M (2-4, 1-2 in SWC), 7:30 p.m. — Teams renew rivalry for 65th time as Owls make first visit to expanded Kyle Field where record crowd is expected... Aggies trying to rebound from 46-7 loss to 11th ranked Baylor last week... Rice lost close one at home to Tech, 10-3... A&M leads series 35-26-3 with a six-game series winning string to lead... last Rice win was 1973.

BAYLOR (6-0, 4-0 in SWC) at TCU (0-6, 0-3 in SWC), 2 p.m. — Bears seek to become first Baylor team in history to win first seven games after tying record of six straight shared by five other Baylor teams... Bears ranked 11th in Associated Press writers poll — which is nothing new for TCU; Baylor is Frogs' fifth foe to be ranked at some point this season... Bears lead SWC and fourth nationally in total offense (458.2 yards per game)... also lead SWC in total defense (247.7), rushing offense and defense (274.5 and 115.3), and passing offense (184.7)... Baylor has won last six against Frogs, longest streak for Bears in series that began in 1969... TCU has all-time lead at 42-37-7 and leads in SWC series by 39-29-3.

ARKANSAS (4-1, 1-1 in SWC) at HOUSTON (3-3, 2-1 in SWC), 7:30 p.m. — Last year's Southwest Conference co-champions meet for seventh time, looking to break 3-3 series deadlock... both teams trying to avoid fatal second loss, which history shows eliminates a team from championship hopes... Cougars appear recovered from 1-3 start with back-to-back SWC wins over A&M and SMU... Arkansas riding four-game win streak after Sept. 1 loss to Texas on national television... Razorbacks ranked 15th in AP writers poll... and third in SWC... Cougars have won two straight from Arkansas after Arkansas won first two SWC meetings.

Permian blanks Abilene Cooper, 17-0

ODESSA — The rugged Odessa Permian Panthers completely shut down the Abilene Cooper Cougars Friday night in W.T. Barrett Stadium and they continued their winning ways with an impressive 17-0 victory.

With the victory, Mojo stands 7-0 on the year and 4-0 in 5-5A play and the shut out was the ninth in the last 10 games for John Wilkins team and sixth this season.

Permian harassed Cooper quarterback Lanny Dycus all evening long as the 190-pound senior was only able to complete three of 13 passes for 32 yards. Cooper also only had 53 yards in the ground for a total offense of 85 yards. Permian held the usually-potent Cougs to five first downs while racking up 209 yards on the ground and 42 more through the airways.

The Panthers took a 3-0 lead in the second period on a 32-yard field goal by Roy Dunn and then added single touchdowns by tailback Kent Sager in the third and fourth periods to win going away.

ODESSA 21, Abilene 12
Abilene - The Odessa High Broncos chalked up their sixth victory of the season in seven outings by downing the Abilene Eagles, 21-12 in P.E. Shotwell Stadium Friday night.

With the win, OHS stands 6-1 in the year and 3-1 in 5-5A play while Abilene is now 3-4 and 1-3.

Dwayne Conklin scored OHS' first TD on a 34-yard run in the first period. Junior Cobos added the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

Abilene came back to score in a 34-yard pass from quarterback Loyal Proffitt to David Coffey. Ken Hall misfired on the extra point, making it 7-6.

Tide, Southern Miss match 6-0 marks in Top 20 battle

By HERSHEL NISSENON
AP Sports Writer

Two of the nation's eight unbeaten-untied college football teams collide in Tuscaloosa, Ala., Saturday. One of them is top-rated Alabama. Can you name the other?

Hint: It's a team from Mississippi and it's not Ole Miss or Mississippi State.

Give up? Well, look out, Bear, but here come the Golden Eagles of the University of Southern Mississippi, sporting a glittering 6-0 record, just like Alabama, and owners of a prized No. 20 national ranking — their first appearance ever — in The Associated Press poll.

"Just look at the situation," says Southern Mississippi Coach Bobby Collins. "Here we are undefeated, having worked our way through the ranks to major college status and having done all the things necessary to build a winning program.

"Now, all of a sudden, we're 6-0 and we're going to Tuscaloosa to play the No. 1 team in the nation. Can it get bigger than that?"

No, Bobby, at least not this weekend. The Alabama-Southern Mississippi pairing is the only one between members of the Top Twenty.

FOR THE record, the nation's other perfect teams are second-ranked Texas, third-ranked UCLA, No. 4 Notre Dame, fifth-ranked Georgia, No. 7 North Carolina and No. 11 Baylor.

On Saturday, Texas hosts Southern Methodist, UCLA visits California, Notre Dame plays at Arizona under the lights, Georgia is at Kentucky for a night game, North Carolina entertains East Carolina and Baylor is at Texas Christian.

Elsewhere, sixth-ranked Florida State visits Memphis State, No. 9 Nebraska is at Colorado, 10th-rated Ohio State at Wisconsin, No. 12 Pitt at Tennessee, No. 13 Penn State at West Virginia, No. 15 Arkansas at Houston for a night game, No. 16 Missouri at Kansas State, No. 17 Oklahoma at Iowa State, Navy at No. 18 Washington and No. 19 Brigham Young at Hawaii at night. Eighth-ranked Southern California and No. 14 South Carolina are not scheduled.

Southern Mississippi has an opportunity to crack the ranks of college football's big-time names if it can beat Alabama, which is something the Crimson Tide's last 27 opponents have failed to do. On the other hand, the Golden Eagles can join teams like Maryland, Arizona State, Florida and Iowa State, all of which made the rankings one week this season only to disappear the next.

While there are numerous games that will affect conference races and bowl alignments, the day's most intriguing match is the emotion-filled clash in Knoxville which pits Tennessee's Johnny Majors against Pitt, the school he coached to the 1976 national championship.

Both Majors and Jackie Sherrill, his former chief aide and later his successor at Pitt, have spent much of the week denying that there is any friction between them. Indeed, there have been hints that a Majors-Sherrill confrontation might be better than Pitt-Tennessee.

"If it was Jackie against Johnny, I'd pay to see it," says Bob Matey, Pitt's defensive line coach. "I'd like to be the official."

UCLA, 5-0 overall, begins a stretch against six consecutive Pac-10 opponents. "Obviously, we're very pleased with the first half of the season," says Coach Terry Donahue. "We have played some very good teams and the results have been gratifying. If we continue to improve as much during the second half of the year as we did during the first half, I'm sure this will turn out to be a very successful season."

After playing four of its first five games in friendly South Bend, Notre Dame takes to the road four weeks in a row, starting at Arizona.

LCC dedicates first tennis court

LUBBOCK—Lubbock Christian College has finished in the top five nationally three times since introducing tennis in 1959, but has never had a campus court...until Tuesday.

Among those attending Tuesday's dedication was Mary Lowry, president of the LCC Associates from Midland, the group whose fund-raising efforts made the court possible. Later a reception at LCC's Arnett House was held for the Midland Associates.

Participating in the dedication ceremonies for the new tennis court at Lubbock Christian College were: from left, Harvie Pruitt, president of LCC; Larry Hays, athletic director, and Mary Lowry, president of the Midland LCC Associates

The court was dedicated in memory of Oza Walker, Midland, who died in India in Feb. 1978. Mrs. Walker's husband, William, was minister of the North A-Tennessee streets Church of Christ at the time. Walker and son Doug also were at the dedication.

Phils earn $1.5 in post-season

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies earned approximately $1.5 million in the National League Championship playoffs and the World Series, according to a club official.

William Giles, executive vice president, said Thursday the sum was a "rough guess" because exact figures won't be available for a month or so.

The club took in $1.1 million in ticket sales during the playoffs against Houston and $645,000 in the Series against Kansas City. It got $300,000 for television rights to the games and a 15 percent commission on all concession sales at the games.

Giles said that total revenues for the playoffs and Series were about $2 million.

But he noted the postseason play enabled the club to earn a profit. Last year, for the first time, the club had no profit because its player payroll increased sharply, Giles said. He had said previously there also would have been no profit this year if the team had not won the NL Eastern Division.

Cooney flattens Ron Lyle in first round

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Gerry Cooney knocked out Ron Lyle in the first round with a left hook to the body and a hook to the head that sent Lyle out of the ring and boosted Cooney a giant step toward a heavyweight championship fight.

It was a tremendous victory for the 24-year-old Cooney, ranked the No.1 challenger by the World Boxing Association and rated No.2 by the World Boxing Council.

With the crowd of about 10,000 cheering wildly from the time Cooney stepped in to the Nassau Coliseum ring for the scheduled 10-rounder, Cooney took control from the outset.

The 6-foot-5 Cooney scored with several stiff jabs, two good left hooks to the body and a sizzling right to the body. Then, as the round drew to a close, Cooney rammed home eight or nine hooks to the body.

The 38-year-old Lyle sagged against the ropes and Cooney crashed home a powerful hook to the body. He followed with a left hook to the head, but Lyle already was on his way through the ropes from the shock of the body shot.

Lyle landed on the ring apron and was counted out by referee Arthur Mercante at 2:49 of the round.

When Lyle struggled to his feet and got back into the ring, he was holding his ribs on the right side.

It was the 24th victory and the 21st knockout for the unbeaten Cooney. Before the fight, co-manager Dennis Rappaport had said he expected Cooney to get a title shot by next spring. It could come faster now and could be against the winner of the WBA title fight Saturday.

No "Free Ride" For Crime

PAT BASKIN STANDS FIRMLY AGAINST THE CONCEPT OF A "FREE RIDE" FOR HARDENED CRIMINALS AT THE EXPENSE OF LAW-ABIDING CITIZENS. HE BELIEVES THAT SOCIETY HAS GONE TOO FAR IN THE DIRECTION OF BLAMING OURSELVES FOR THE ACTS OF THOSE WHO HAVE NO RESPECT FOR THE LAW. OUR COURTS MUST VIGOROUSLY UPHOLD LAW AND ORDER.

Your vote for PAT BASKIN is a vote for firm fair law enforcement in your District Court. The young can-and must-be rehabilitated if at all possible...but the hardened criminal must pay his debt to society behind bars, if law and order is to be maintained in Midland County...or anywhere else.

Midland Needs The Best!

CHICAGO (AP) — American League baseball team owners voted Friday to deny the bid of Ohio multimillionaire Edward J. DeBartolo Sr. to buy the Chicago White Sox.

"The owners' concern appeared to be that the team would be leaving Chicago," said AL President Lee MacPhail. "There appears to be a strong feeling to keep local ownership if it is available."

Eight owners voted in favor of DeBartolo's bid and six voted against. He needed 10 affirmative votes to win approval of the sale.

MacPhail said the league would not reconsider the vote, which came after some three hours of meetings. He added that baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's stated opposition to DeBartolo's bid did not influence the vote.

"I have no reason to believe it would have come out differently even if Kuhn was not involved," MacPhail said.

White Sox President Bill Vecek said "the whole thing is weird."

Bradshaw practices throwing

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Quarterback Terry Bradshaw practiced passing Friday for the first time since he injured his thumb on his throwing arm last Monday, the Pittsburgh Steelers said.

Bradshaw, hurt in Pittsburgh's Monday night loss to Oakland, is listed as questionable for Sunday's National Football League game against the Browns in Cleveland.

Running backs Franco Harris and Sidney Thornton are listed as probable for the Cleveland game. Harris is nursing a knee injury and Thornton has an injured shoulder.

Defensive ends L.C. Greenwood (neck) and Dwight White (thigh) and offensive tackle Ray Pinney (hip) are also listed as probable.

Wide Receiver Lynn Swann, sidelined the past two games with a cracked rib, has practiced this week but is doubtful for Sunday's game, the team said.

Middle linebacker Jack Lambert is definitely out of Sunday's game with a knee injury.

You won't find a U.S. Government warning label on this Amana Radarange MICROWAVE OVEN

MODEL RR-10A

Features:

- Exclusive Rotawave™ Cooking System — a rotating shower of power that cooks more evenly and cooks most foods faster than ever before!
- Cooks by time or cooks to temperature.
- Even holds at temperature to tenderize economy cuts of meat.
- A wide range of CookMatic™ power levels because different foods cook best at different speeds.
- Advanced memory Touchmatic II can remember an amazing combination of defrost and cook programs.
- Even remembers the time of day.
- Automatic start time.
- Separate timer you can use anytime.
- 700 watts of cooking power.
- Stainless steel interior.

After Radarange Ovens passed a series of torture tests, the U. S. Government granted Amana an exemption from displaying a warning label on the door of all "RR" series Radarange Ovens (and derivative models).

In one of these brutal tests, Amana actually hit the door seal with a 5-pound steel ball from a height of 8 feet! And after every test, the Amana ovens did not allow microwave leakage in excess of the Federal standard. Because the patented Amana Choke Door Seal reflects microwaves back into the oven.

No other microwave oven manufacturer in the world has earned this U. S. Government exemption.
