Campaign '80: It's down for the count

WASHINGTON (AP) — Their long, sometimes bitter campaign over, President Carter and Ronald Reagan could only cast their ballots and wait today for a troubled nation to decide the outcome of the one of the most closely fought elections in recent times.

On the first anniversary of the capture of American hostages in Iran, one of the darkest moments in his presidency, Carter returned to Plains, Ga., early today and voted in the old brick high school of his hometown. "I think it's very close," he told reporters.

Asked if he expected to win the election, Carter replied: "I hope so. We'll see. I've always felt confident. I've always come out well." He said the size of the voter turnout would be a big factor in the outcome.

While Carter gave emotional thanks to supporters who rallied at the Plains railroad depot, Reagan, his Republican challenger, awaited the voters' decision at his oceanfront home at Los Angeles.

The 24 registered voters in Dixville Notch, N.H., traditionally the first to cast their votes for president on Election Day, gave Reagan a 17-3 lead over Carter shortly after midnight. Independent candidate John B. Anderson got two votes, Libertarian candidate Ed Clark got one and one ballot was left blank.

"I hope it's the forerunner of things to come," Reagan said in Los Angeles before going to bed. But Dixville Notch has voted for the loser in every presidential election since 1960, with the exception of 1972.

The early voter turnout was described as heavy in several states, including Virginia, industrial northern Ohio, Maryland, Mississippi, Michigan, Alabama, Oklahoma and Indiana, and moderate to heavy in Kentucky and Connecticut. Steady rainfall failed to discourage long lines of voters in Maryland and the northern Virginia suburbs of Washington.

An official in the Massachusetts secretary of state's office said preliminary surveys, initially from metropolitan Boston, indicated a "phenomenal, heavy" turnout. In Savannah, Ga., election supervisor Mary Humberd said: "The lines are heavy all over. We're going to have a real heavy turnout, it looks like."

Voter lines also were long in affluent West Houston, where Republican vice presidential candidate George Bush cast his ballot for Reagan. "If the country goes the way this district does," he said, "we're in like a bur-glar."

After months of Reagan's harping on Carter's handling of the economy and the president's hints that Reagan could start a war, the final days of their campaign were dominated by swiftly moving events in Tehran that encouraged speculation that the ordeal of the 52 American hostages soon may end.

No one could say how those events would affect the outcome of the presidential race, and the candidates reacted cautiously.

"Don't know yet," was the president's response on Monday when asked if he was encouraged by the news that the Iranian militants holding the hostages had agreed to relinquish custody to the Iranian government.

Referring to the hostages in an election-eve address for which his campaign purchased time on the three television networks, Reagan said, "Like you, there is nothing I want more than their safe return — that they be returned with their families after this long year of imprisonment."

Another unpredictable factor in the presidential race was Anderson, who insisted on Monday there could be "dramatic shifts" to his candidacy on Election Day.

Iranian protesters mark U.S. embassy takeover

By The Associated Press

Tens of thousands of Iranians marched on the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and in a carnival-like atmosphere entered the grounds on the first anniversary of the takeover today. The Iranian Foreign Ministry asked the Carter administration for a quick, public response to its demands for the release of the 52 U.S. hostages.

The demonstrators, shouting "Death to American Imperialism" and carrying placards saying "Shame on Carter," were joined by Iranian troops carrying their newest weapons and merchants from Tehran's bazaar. Police helicopters dropped leaflets over the crowd, the official Pars news agency reported.

A Western reporter at the rally said a sea of Iranians filled the embassy grounds and spilled into the surrounding streets. Thousands of school children were in attendance as well as soldiers and revolutionary guards who paraded with flowers in the barrels of their rifles. Brightly-colored banners decorated the embassy grounds.

The reporter said the militants did not allow the demonstrators to enter the embassy buildings, where the hostages are believed held. Estimates of the size of the crowd ranged from tens of thousands by Western reporters to hundreds of thousands reported by Pars.

Speeches were broadcast to those outside the grounds by loudspeakers, and reporters said the rally could be heard for blocks.

None of the buildings was open to the public, and revolutionary guards manned the various entrances inside the compound, whose lawns and buildings appeared well-kept. Western reporters said papier-mache effigies of President Carter were burned, and one described the scene as "relatively calm and happy."

Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rejai addressed the crowd, saying that regardless of the outcome of the hostage crisis the United States would remain Iran's No. 1 enemy. "The U.S. will continue its assault against us," he told the crowd gathered on the warm, sunny day.

The rally opened with an address by Hojatoleslam Mousavi Khomeini, the spiritual adviser to the militants who seized the embassy and the head of the parliamentary committee that drew up the conditions for the freeing of the captive Americans.

Meanwhile, Iran's Foreign Ministry said a U.S. government note delivered by the Swiss ambassador in Tehran Monday contained "some provisions ... which are contrary" to the demands, the official Pars news agency said.

It said the Algerian ambassador in Washington has been asked to request the Carter administration to reply as soon as possible to Iran's official text of the conditions for the hostages' release "and they should notify the peoples of the world through the mass media of this matter." It did not elaborate.

The Israeli daily newspaper Maariv reported today it reached one of the militants by telephone, and he told their reporter the militants would issue a statement following a meeting on "when and how to free the hostages in accordance with the decision of the Majlis and the government."

The militants said earlier in addition to the demonstration there would be a special program inside the embassy. But details were not announced in advance.

Forty-nine of the hostages are believed still inside the 27-acre compound, despite claims by their captors that they were transferred to other cities after the unsuccessful U.S. attempt to rescue them on April 25. The other three have been prisoners of the Iranian Foreign Ministry since the embassy was occupied last Nov. 4.

The official English-language text of the Iranian Parliament's conditions for releasing the hostages was delivered to the State Department late Monday by Algeria, which represents Iran's interests in Washington and has been designated to act as its intermediary in the negotiations for the release of the Americans.

State Department officials said the negotiations were not likely to start soon. Spokesman John Trattner said the American response to the Iranian communication would not be drafted until the government has time to "think about it and study it."

Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie said the developments in Tehran and Washington "should be viewed as initial steps in a process which will require time, patience and diplomacy."

"There has been progress," he said. "However, much remains to be done. We will continue to pursue our goals with patience, diligence and determination."

Many Midland voters spend morning in line at polling places

By LANA CUNNINGHAM

Midland voters were turning out in heavy numbers this morning to let their voice be heard in the general election with the presidential race between President Jimmy Carter and Republican Ronald Reagan cited as the biggest drawing card.

By noon today, several precincts were reporting half their registered voters already had pulled the voting machine levers or marked the absentee ballot.

Telephone calls to polling places throughout Midland brought the consensus from poll workers and election judges that this election should break a record in pulling out voters.

The poll worker at the fire station located at Golf Course Road and Garfield Street said more than 500 persons had voted by 11 a.m. and 900 had voted absentee. The 1,400 total is about half of the 2,500 registered voters in that precinct.

"We've been processing them (voters) as fast as possible," said the poll worker.

Mary Thompson, election judge at West Elementary, said more than 300 persons had voted this morning and there were 193 who voted absentee in the precinct with 1,045 registered voters. "We haven't had a slack moment yet," she said, adding that it probably will be the heaviest voter turnout she's seen in an election in Midland.

South Elementary reported 244 voters by 11 a.m. with 79 absentee. "There's been a steady stream here all day," said the poll worker, who expected things to pick up around lunchtime and quitting time.

Jo Stewart at Midland County Exhibit Building reported 142 persons had pulled the machine's lever this morning and 50 had voted absentee.

"We're delighted," she commented. "This is the best turnout we've ever had."

The precinct at Western State Bank recorded 360 voters this morning out of 1,556 registered voters. Added with the 328 absentee ballots, half the voters in the precinct already had made their decisions. And a poll worker said about a dozen people had been in line since 6:30 a.m. when the polls opened at 7 a.m.

Chaparral Center reported 550 voters had made it through the line before lunchtime.

Samples of a few places about an hour after the polls opened revealed long lines of people and heavy voter turnout.

In little more than an hour of voting at Jane Long Elementary School, 201 voters already had made it through the line, according to Dale Stice. It was taking voters about an hour and 10 minutes to make it from the end of the line to the voting booth, he said.

The line wasn't that long, he added, but it was taking people a long time to make up their minds after they got in the booths.

Stice, who worked the polls during the presidential election four years ago, said he didn't remember the lines being so long or the turnout so heavy. "It's the presidential election that's drawing a lot of people," he surmised.

Goddard Junior High had 180 persons voting after 1 1/2 hours today, and the line was reported to be one block long.

Cecilia Hull, election judge in that precinct, said, "I know we don't have enough voting machines. We only have three and we need about two more."

There are 2,228 registered voters in that precinct, she noted. People were lined up at 7 a.m. to vote and it was taking them about one hour and 45 minutes in line to reach the voting booth.

With about 400 voting absentee in the San Jacinto Junior High precinct and another 160 voting by 9 a.m., half the people had voiced their opinions before the polls had been open two hours there, said one poll worker. That precinct has a little more than 1,000 registered voters, she said.

Another woman who had been working at the poll there for several years said the turnout was heavier than four years ago for the 1976 presidential election.

Bowie Elementary had almost 200 persons voting by 9 a.m. "We've got good long lines," said a poll worker. But the lines were moving quickly and voters only had to wait about 30 minutes.

Carver Cultural Center also reported good voter turnout. By 8 a.m., about 150 persons had voted, said Jean Ward. "It's been real good since 7 a.m. We've had a continuous line."

For a presidential election, she noted the turnout was about normal.

Parkview Hospital changes hands

By SUE FAHLGREN
Staff Writer

Parkview Hospital changed owners over the weekend when Western Hospital Corporation sold the 60-bed private facility to American Medical Center Thursday and AMC took over on Friday.

Parkview's new administrator, Steve Wallach, from Arlington, Texas, took over the hospital's operations management Sunday.

Although deliberations on the sale of the hospital have been going on since July, the change was a surprise to most. Wallach said the two corporations began making deals in August and "got serious in September."

Wallach, formerly with Westgate Hospital in Denton under Hospital Affiliate Inc. management, said he knew about Parkview's past ownership problems. "I know Parkview's had a lot of owners over the years — and each one has had its reasons for buying and selling — but AMC is here to stay," he said.

Wallach said although previous administrator Thomas Moses knew about the hospital's negotiation, Moses was unaware of the sale until Friday morning.

American Medical Center Inc. is affiliated with Psychiatric Centers International (PCI) of Nashville, Tenn. The AMC subsidiary has only been in existence for about a year, Wallach said.

"PCI established AMC to direct more of their attention to short-term community hospitals," Wallach said.

AMC owns eight hospitals in the southern states, Wallach said, three of which are located in Texas. "AMC is not in California and not in New York," Wallach said. "It's right here in Texas." Western Hospital Association, the previous owner, was located in California. It bought Parkview in January and installed Moses as administrator in February.

Since February, Moses had been updating the facilities and upgrading the staff. Wallach said he would continue with projects Moses started, yet he would ask for additional improvement changes.

"Quite frankly," Wallach said of the former owners, "I don't know what their motives are."

He went on to say, however, "we're prepared right now to make it (Parkview) a major investment."

Wallach said although he didn't expect to make any staff changes — with the exception of possibly increasing it as new services were added — he did have other changes in mind.

Carter administration pondering next steps in hostage situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after 52 Americans were taken prisoner in Tehran, the Carter administration is pondering what to do next, rejecting Henry Kissinger's advice to tell Iran there is no basis for negotiation in the terms for release it laid down Sunday.

There's a good deal of rubber in this particular-rubber band and we shouldn't give up now, presidential counsel Lloyd Cutler said of the conditions the Iranian Parliament set for the captives to be set free.

Hours before Cutler's remarks on the Public Broadcasting Service, Iran's official translation of the terms for ending the crisis had been delivered to the State Department.

There, spokesman John Trantner said no response would be forthcoming until the United States has time to "think about it and study it."

claims against Iran and an American pledge not to interfere in Iran's internal affairs. Earlier Monday, Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie told reporters the latest developments should be viewed as "initial steps in a process which will require time, patience and diplomacy."

Although there has been progress, Muskie said, "much remains to be done." Officials said negotiations were not likely to start soon. No one in authority would speculate whether it would be days, weeks or months before the hostages' ordeal ends.

He also welcomed Monday's announcement that the students holding the U.S. Embassy in Tehran since last Nov. 4 had given responsibility for their captives to the government. Since the hostages were taken, the American position has been that they must be in the hands of those who can negotiate before their freedom could be secured.

Three hours after Muskie spoke, Algerian Ambassador Redha Malek delivered the official translation of Iran's four conditions to Assistant Secretary of State Harold Saunders. In the absence of diplomatic relations between the United States and Iran, Algeria represents Iran's interests in Washington.

On Sunday, administration officials said the official English translation could provide "clarifications" that would ease the conditions. But officials who asked not to be identified said Monday that the official translation did not appear to differ significantly from the unofficial version obtained earlier.

The officials reiterated that some of the conditions, if taken literally by Iran, may be impossible to meet. They added that it remains to be seen how flexible the Iranian interpretation will be. Neither President Carter nor Republican Ronald Reagan offered any substantive comments on the hostage situation as they ended their campaigns for the White House.

Former Midland geologist awarded $35,000 in suit

A former Midland geologist and oil producer was awarded $35,000 and not the $1 million-plus he had sought in a cross-action suit in 238th State District Court after a well he had drilled in 1978 in Gaines County was plugged and abandoned by Verna Drilling Co. of Odessa.

The judgment was awarded to J.J. Travis, the 68-year-old geologist who now lives in Rockport, Monday night by the jury which had deliberated about seven hours on the issues in the case and which heard testimony for a week in Judge Verna Culp's court.

350.97. The bill included $41,788.08 for the lost drill collars. Verna sued Travis for the drilling costs of the abandoned well, and Travis, in a cross-suit, sued Verna for loss of production. Travis reportedly has two other producing oil wells, near the abandoned well, and wells which feed from the same reservoir.

Verna claimed that the drill string got stuck after Travis's "geologist, not being sure of his geologic correlation, directed" Verna to "circulate for two hours and come out of the hole in order that an electric log might be run."

Friends, family display ribbons, light candles on hostage anniversary

By DAVID GREEN Associated Press Writer. Families and friends of the American hostages in Iran displayed yellow ribbons and lit candles today to mark the first anniversary of the U.S. Embassy's capture, but some said wearily that Day 367 seemed no different than the previous 366.

"It's just another day to be endured," said Patricia Boggs of Elyria, Ohio, mother-in-law of hostage Joseph Hall. "We'll be watching television for the latest news out of Iran and voting to make sure our country doesn't turn into one like Iran."

"It probably will be just another routine day, except for the voting," said Margaret Lauterbach of Dayton, Ohio, mother of hostage Steven Lauterbach. "We've always had hopes, but whatever happens, we try not to get too enthusiastic."

In Los Angeles, candles were being lit every hour in the Civic Center and giant yellow ribbons were tied around trees lining Hollywood Boulevard. A 24-hour candle-lighting vigil began at noon Monday. County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn urged the crowd of 200 "to rejoice" when the hostages are released, "whether it is an hour from now, or a day from now or a week from now."

In Hermitage, Pa., relatives of some of the hostages marked the anniversary Monday with a flag raising at a cemetery. One flag has been raised for each day since the embassy at Tehran was captured by militants seeking the return of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, now dead, from the United States.

"It strikes me hard to see all these flags waving in the land of the free," said Richard Hermening of Cudahy, Wis., father of hostage Kevin Hermening. "I hope they will be home soon to be free, too."

Hermening was joined by Eleanor Kupke of Francisville, Ind., mother of hostage Frederick Lee Kupke, and Gary Cooke of Pittsburgh, brother of hostage Donald Cooke. All three wore yellow ribbons in their lapels, a gesture of support for the hostages that derives from a popular song of a few years ago. "I've had to mask my emotions throughout the crisis," Mrs. Kupke said.

"All of the ups and downs are really hurting me," she said, adding she had to fight back tears when a high school chorus sang the "Star-Spangled Banner" as the 366th flag was raised.

In New York, a class of schoolchildren and 200 tenants of an apartment complex also wore yellow ribbons in a simple ceremony near Times Square commemorating the anniversary.

They prayed that the hostages will be "returned unharmed in body and mind." Behind them, yellow ribbons fluttered from the balconies of apartments in the 45-story, twin-tower Manhattan Plaza apartments.

It was announced Monday that custody of the hostages would be transferred from the militants to the Iranian government. Carol Elledge of Kennewick, Wash., sister of hostage Joe Hall, said the latest developments left her quivering "like a bowl of Jell-O."

Parkview Hospital has new owner. (Continued from Page 1A) ee salaries and "if necessary, to bring them in line with the community."

Wallach said the corporation is also interested in buying some land nearby for the construction site of a doctor's office facility. He said he knew there would be some structural changes needed at the hospital to "improve the structure of the building."

'Statutory' rape laws questioned

By RICHARD CARELLI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The familiar legal issue of sex discrimination is before the Supreme Court wrapped in a new question: do "statutory" rape laws discriminate against men?

The nation's highest court was set to hear arguments today over a California law making it a crime for men of boys to have sexual intercourse with consenting females not yet 18.

As in other states, women cannot commit the crime under the California law.

The California Supreme Court upheld the law as a permissible means of preventing teen-age pregnancies.

Court to decide on double ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court will decide, sometime before next July, whether it's ever a constitutional violation to put two prison inmates together in a cell designed for one.

The justices said Monday they will review a federal appeals court ruling that "double ceiling" at Ohio's only maximum-security prison imposes impermissible "cruel and unusual punishment" of inmates.

The court's eventual decision will carry significant financial stakes as well for other states where prison overcrowding is even more of a problem.

A federal trial judge in 1977 ordered the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility in Lucasville to end all double ceiling. Completed in 1973, the prison has 1,620 one-man cells. At the time of Hogan's ruling, the prison housed 2,200 inmates.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Hogan's ruling, seeming to outlaw the placing of two long-term inmates in one small cell in any prison in Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan and Tennessee.

In seeking a Supreme Court reversal, Ohio Attorney General William Brown is relying heavily on a 1979 ruling by the high court in a case called Bell vs. Wolfish.

In it, the court gave federal prison officials broad discretion in running the prisons as they saw fit as long as certain measures — such as double ceiling — were not imposed as punishment.

Writing for the court's 6-3 majority, Justice William H. Rehnquist discounted the belief "that there is some sort of one-man, one-cell principle in the (Constitution)."

The Constitution's 8th Amendment prohibits cruel and unusual punishment.

In other matters Monday, the court took these actions:

—Agreed to decide in a case involving the University of Texas whether the nation's public schools and colleges must pay for interpreters to help deaf students in their classwork.

A federal appeals court said such payments are required under a federal law prohibiting all programs and activities receiving federal funds from discriminating against any "otherwise qualified handicapped individual." That would include all public schools and most private colleges and universities.

—Said it will decide when broadcasters can refuse to sell air time to candidates for federal political office. The case involves the so-called "reasonable access" provision of the federal Communications Act.

—Voted to decide in a case from Lima, Ohio, whether employees must adjust work schedules so military reservists can meet their duty obligations without loss of pay.

—Agreed to decide in a Washington County, Ore., case whether women who cannot prove that their salaries violated the Equal Pay Act get a chance to prove that some other federal law banning on-the-job sex bias was violated.

—Voted to decide in a California case whether individuals can transfer assets before qualifying for certain types of Medicaid.

abortion. In sum, (the law) provides for the special problems of young women based on non-invidious biological distinctions between males and females."

But the Washington-based Women's Legal Defense Fund, in its brief, argued that the law should be struck down.

"The notion...that because young women are incapable of making informed decisions to engage in sexual intercourse, it is appropriate to shield them from the consequences of their folly, while at the same time criminal sanctions may legitimately be imposed on young men because they by contrast are sufficiently competent to make such decisions, is simply another remnant of...romantic paternalism," the defense fund contended.

Michael's lawyers asked that the charges be dismissed, but a state trial judge turned down their request.

The state Supreme Court ruled that, even though the law discriminates between males and females, such differing treatment is justified by "a compelling and demonstrable state interest in minimizing the number of teen-age pregnancies and their disastrous consequences."

The court's vote in upholding the law was 4-3. Michael's case, accepted for review by the Supreme Court last June 9, attracted three friend-of-the-court briefs.

The Justice Department said statutory rape laws involve "one of what we believe is a quite small class of situations in which a legislature may justifiably differentiate between men and women."

The government added, "Women alone can become pregnant, and they alone must face the physical and psychological dangers of childbearing or

The time to realize that Social Security is not going to be enough to live on is not when you are 65 and about ready to retire!

Now is the time to begin preparing for your retirement with an IRA or KEOGH. Either account is as easy to open as a simple savings account... and if you are not participating in a company-sponsored plan where you work, then IRA and KEOGH may be the best plan for you.

With the First Savings IRA, a typical 35 year old employee regularly saving the maximum $1500 each year, may retire after 30 years as a quarter-millionaire!

Setting aside $7500 each year in a KEOGH plan for 30 years allows a 35 year old self-employed businessperson to retire as a self-made millionaire! With either program, our 35 year olds will save thousands of tax dollars throughout the years because of the tax shelter both programs enjoy.

Consult a Retirement Specialist about IRA or KEOGH programs at either First Savings and Loan location in Midland... downtown at 500 West Wall or in San Miguel Square.

Fire breaks out twice

A determined house fire brought Midland firemen out twice early this morning.

The first alarm at 603 N. Madison St. was turned in by police at 2:19 a.m. Four units and an ambulance were dispatched. It took firefighters about an hour to extinguish the blaze. Two rooms received heavy damage and the roof moderate damage.

No one was injured in the fire.

Then, at 5:57 a.m., police reported the fire had rekindled. This time it took firemen only about 20 minutes to finally put out the fire.

Monday was a busy day for firemen. It began with a dumpster fire at 2407 Apperson Drive at 5:35 p.m., another dumpster fire at 3306 W. Shandon Ave. at 9:38 p.m., a grass fire in the 4000 block of Valley Drive at 10:05 p.m. and then the house fire on Madison.

In addition, three people were transported by CFD ambulance.

Housing audit to be reviewed

An audit on 48 months of the Housing Authority of the City of Midland will be reviewed Wednesday when the five-member panel meets at 2:30 p.m. in City Hall Council Chambers.

The audit was made by J.E. Walston, CPA, for the four years ending June 30, 1980.

Reappointed commissioners to the board will be sworn in by James McCullough, city secretary. The board then will elect a chairman and vice chairman.

Harry Clark, chairman, will give an update on the Midland County Housing Finance Corporation and its home mortgage loan program.

A great new day

Midland's skyline is changing once again.

The 1980 construction picture for the Tall City already has been unbelievable, shattering previous records. But that picture got another healthy shot in the arm last week with the announcement of two major building projects on the city's northern side.

First was the announcement by Gulf Oil Corp. of plans for a massive six-story, 200,000 square foot office facility near Midland Air Park. That facility will serve as headquarters for the Western Division of Gulf Oil Exploration and Production Co.

Following closely on the heels of the Gulf announcement was the second major notification. An official for the Williams Companies announced plans for the construction of twin six floor towers that will encompass a total of 190,000 square feet of working space. One of the towers will serve as the corporate headquarters for all the Williams Companies; the other will be for lease to other companies.

The two construction projects will be a part of ClaDestra Plaza in north Midland, a 105-acre office building-business complex. Construction is expected to begin shortly after the first of the year.

The overall concept of ClaDestra Plaza is intriguing. The plaza will feature spacious parking and beautifully landscaped grounds. There will be a 3 1/2-acre "people park" in the center of the project for the enjoyment of people working in the plaza's office buildings and for others.

A mall on the ground floor between the twin six floor towers also will serve employees in that area.

These two announcements bring fresh excitement to a city that's become accustomed to major construction projects during the past few years. They further attest to the vitality and the stability that Midland has come to represent.

Midland has a beautiful downtown office area. The towering steel and glass office structures have become a symbol of the city, making it truly "The Tall City."

But now other areas of the city are beginning to develop, each with its own special blend of individuality. This development in the areas away from the downtown district will be important to the overall development of the city.

Midland's future is bright. It's a city spreading its wings and learning that it really can fly.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 4, the 309th day of 1980. There are 57 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Nov. 4, 1979, Iranian militants seized the United States embassy in Tehran along with its occupants, and demanded the ousted Shah of Iran as ransom.

On this date: In 1825, the first boat to reach New York City by using the Erie Canal arrived nine days after leaving the Great Lakes port of Buffalo.

In 1922, the entrance to King Tutankhamen's tomb was discovered in Egypt.

In 1944, the World War II allies announced that Greece had been completely liberated from the Nazis.

In 1952, Dwight Eisenhower was elected the 34th president of the United States — becoming the first republican to win that office in 20 years.

And in 1973, Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts became the first republican senator to publicly urge President Richard Nixon to resign.

Ten years ago, the United Nations General Assembly called for a 90-day cease-fire in the Middle East.

Five years ago, Federal Reserve Board chief Arthur Burns said he still was not convinced that the need was clear for federal financial aid to New York City, which was on the brink of default.

Today's birthdays: CBS News anchorman Walter Cronkite is 64 years old. Actor Art Carney is 62.

Thought for today: Political elections are a good deal like marriages: there's no accounting for anyone's taste. — Will Rogers, American humorist, 1879-1935.

INSIDE REPORT

Soviet Union undermining Carter on hostage situation

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Soviet intrigue against President Carter's hostage-release plan reached a peak in a clandestine broadcast beamed from Russia to Iran accusing the U.S. of instigating the Iraq-Iran war and of using the war "to establish a bridgehead" with Iran so that the "arch Satan" can reassert its old influence.

That Farsi-language broadcast was intercepted by monitors on Oct. 24, even before the Carter administration had fully revealed its plan to send hundreds of millions of dollars of spare parts to Iran in exchange for the hostages. "America, this arch Satan, is talking nonsense about its neutrality," the Soviet-based Voice of Iran thundered.

That is the real Soviet policy on U.S. machinations to gain release of the hostages and reassert American influence in post-shah Iran. While officially favoring hostage release, Moscow subverts it behind the scenes. The Soviet Union wants the pre-eminent position in post-war Iran for itself. Even though the Russians clearly favor Carter over Ronald Reagan, they are willing to risk Carter's defeat on the hostage issue to block a U.S. return to Iran.

reliantly joining the Reagan campaign this fall in a subordinate role. But he was not subordinate for long. Baker was alone among Reagan advisers in urging him to debate President Carter. He now gets credit for his wisdom in pushing that necessary step to save Reagan's candidacy, as well as for his skill in negotiating the debate conditions.

A footnote: Lyn Nofziger, Ronald Reagan's political adviser off and on for the past 14 years and currently his press secretary, definitely will leave Reagan after Nov. 4 no matter what the election outcome. Nofziger, downgraded in 1976 and purged in 1979 before his resurrection last spring, has no taste for palace intrigue in the White House. "I'd rather go home (to California) and beat Democrats," he tells friends.

REAGAN'S NEW CHIEF?

The rise within the Reagan camp of James Baker, the Houston lawyer who fought Ronald Reagan's presidential nomination attempts in both 1976 and 1980, has been so quick that influential insiders are pushing him to be White House chief of staff should Ronald Reagan win the election.

Baker battled Reagan as manager of Gerald Ford's campaign four years ago and George Bush's this year, only

'JUST THINK - I'VE GIVEN YOU FOUR YEARS OF PEACE' CHARLEY REESE

President Carter's record summarizes all his failures

Since President Jimmy Carter has wisely refrained from discussing his record, perhaps we should summarize the chicken tracks the Carter Administration has left on the sands of recent history.

These will necessarily be pity summaries, but they are factual. Let us begin with the broad area of national defense.

1. President Carter pardoned the Vietnam draft dodgers and deserters, an insult to those who died or were wounded or just served their nation when it called.
2. In the area of weapons development, Carter: (a) refused to produce the neutron warhead, and anti-tank weapon needed to offset Warsaw Pact superiority in armor; (b) killed the B-1 bomber program; (c) shut down the last missile production facility; (d) delayed the MX missile; (e) delayed development of the cruise missile; (f) cut the Navy shipbuilding program in half (the fleet is now pre-Pearl Harbor size); (g) refused to authorize a new communications grid system that would allow our aging nuclear submarines to cruise deeper and avoid trailing a surface antenna; and (h) delayed production of the Trident program.
3. In the conventional forces, the Carter Administration has been so niggardly that today six out of 13 carriers are rated not fit for combat and 10 out of 16 army divisions are not rated fit for combat. Shortages of ammunition, fuel, and spare parts have drastically cut back training.

Charley Reese

The percentage of aircraft in the field rated not ready for combat is running as high as 50 to 60 percent. Both numbers and quality of recruits have gone down, with nearly 50 percent of recruits falling into the lowest percentile of mental capability. Lack of adequate pay and lack of discipline have caused a hemorrhage of qualified men and officers in all of the services.

Let us now move to the area of diplomacy. President Carter conceded to every single demand of Red China as the price for diplomatic relations, dumping Nationalist China and giving that old and faithful ally seven hours notice. Carter overthrew the government of Somoza and Nicaragua is now a communist country. The rest of Central America is in flames. Guiana, Grenada and Jamaica are Marxist. In South America, Carter has alienated Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile and Bolivia. Relations with Mexico have never been worse.

WASHINGTON-MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mobsters still eyeing Teamsters' fund

WASHINGTON — While the Labor Department and the Internal Revenue Service have tried, with less than spectacular success, to clean up massive corruption in the Teamsters' Union's Central States Pension Fund, there are disturbing signs that the Mob is still trying to muscle in on the fund's $2.2 billion in assets.

There is also evidence that the mobsters are in league with Teamsters International Vice President Roy Lee Williams, who was supposed to have been removed from any control over the pension fund four years ago.

A key weapon in the government's cleanup campaign was an IRS threat to remove the pension fund's tax-exempt status unless the old trustees, who had authorized millions of dollars' worth of unwise loans, were replaced. Williams was one of the ousted trustees.

But law-enforcement agencies, including the FBI, have developed leads that point to an attempt by Williams to interfere with the pension fund at the behest of the reputed Kansas City organized crime boss Nick Civella.

As far back as 1971, a secret Labor Department document stated: "It was learned that Roy Williams was under the complete domination of Civella. Williams will not act contrary to the wishes of Civella, apparently because of both self-interest and fear."

One lead that's being developed — apparently based in part on wiretaps placed on Williams in Chicago and Kansas City — involves an alleged meeting on April 23, 1979, at the home of a Kansas City union member. Williams and Civella were there, as was Allan Dorfman, who once went to prison for getting a kickback from the fund while he served as an adviser.

At the meeting, according to staffers of the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, Williams reportedly promised to change the fund's trustees, regain control of the assets and use a specific medical prescription plan requested by Civella.

The Senate investigators are also looking into the possibility that Civella instructed Williams to initiate challenges — in the form of letters and resolutions — to the independent financial managers hired by the fund to handle its portfolio.

Another conversation that interests the investigators occurred that same April. Williams allegedly relayed to Civella a conversation he had with a representative of Chicago crime figure Joey "The Doves" Ajuppa. The Chicago Mob wanted direct access to Civella's power over the pension fund.

Investigators are also pursuing a report that on Sept. 19, 1979, nearly two years after he resigned as trustee, Williams told the new trustees to worry about their own affairs and "keep your noses out of the pension business."

Footnote: Williams, through an attorney, declined to talk with my associate Tony Capaccio. The lawyer stressed that there are no public documents linking Williams and Civella.

COALBOYS AND INDIANS: After centuries of losing, American Indians in recent years have hired lawyers and lobbyists and succeeded in whipping the wily white man at his own game.

The latest triumph for the native Americans involved the Cheyenne tribe of southeastern Montana and a pesky bunch of coal companies.

In an agreement worked out with the Cheyennes, Congress and the Interior Department, the coal companies agreed to give up their claims to 250,000 acres of tribal lands. But it wasn't until President Carter signed the bill that the coal companies realized they had — financially speaking — suffered the same fate as an earlier Cheyenne adversary, George Armstrong Custer.

The tribe not only managed to drive the stunned coal companies off their reservation in total disarray, but charged them millions of dollars for the privilege of leaving.

"It was like charging someone to see a show, canceling the performance and then charging them on the way out," said one official involved in the settlement.

What happened was that the Cheyennes, acting on bad advice from the Bureau of Indian Affairs, had granted mining leases to the coal companies that would have despoiled more than half their tribal reservation. Realizing they had been stung, the tribe appealed to the Interior Department and Congress for help.

After years of heavy lobbying by the Indians, Congress ordered the coal companies off the reservation — and gave the Cheyennes veto power over any settlement negotiated between the government and the companies to compensate them for loss of the leases.

Skillfully playing this ace-in-the-hole, the Indians held up the settlement until the coal companies agreed to pay damages claimed by the tribe. Peabody Coal Co. was the first to surrender, paying the Cheyennes $3 million. The other companies are expected to follow suit.

KOSYGIN WANTED OUT: For once, the Kremlin's claim that falling health led to a top official's retirement was quite correct. Premier Alexei Kosygin's farewell from power occurred, in fact, five years after he privately told Soviet colleagues and diplomatic confidants that he wanted to step down.

A secret intelligence report in 1975 stated that "Kosygin had sought to retire because of poor health, but reportedly had elected to remain so that his departure would not be interpreted as politically inspired."

In Europe, Carter embarrassed and enraged the West Germans by asking them to push for deployment of the neutron bomb and then backing down in the face of Soviet bluster.

In the Middle East, Carter cut and ran on the Shah of Iran and allowed 53 Americans to be taken hostage. They are still hostages. He has catered to the Arab oil sheiks. He has failed to build up our strategic oil reserves because the Saudi Arabians told him not to. He has provided offensive weapons to the Saudis and to the Jordanians despite the fact both violently oppose the Camp David agreement.

In the related field of energy, Carter has created the Energy Department, a $12-billion-a-year monstrosity. He has succeeded in regulating intrastate natural gas as well as interstate gas in direct violation of an explicit campaign promise. He has taken millions of acres of land out of consideration for exploration and production. He has allowed the EPA to put up new restrictions on drilling and production. He has done nothing to discourage the multinationals from spending money developing oil in the OPEC nations. The net result of his non-energy program is to make us more, not less, dependent on foreign oil.

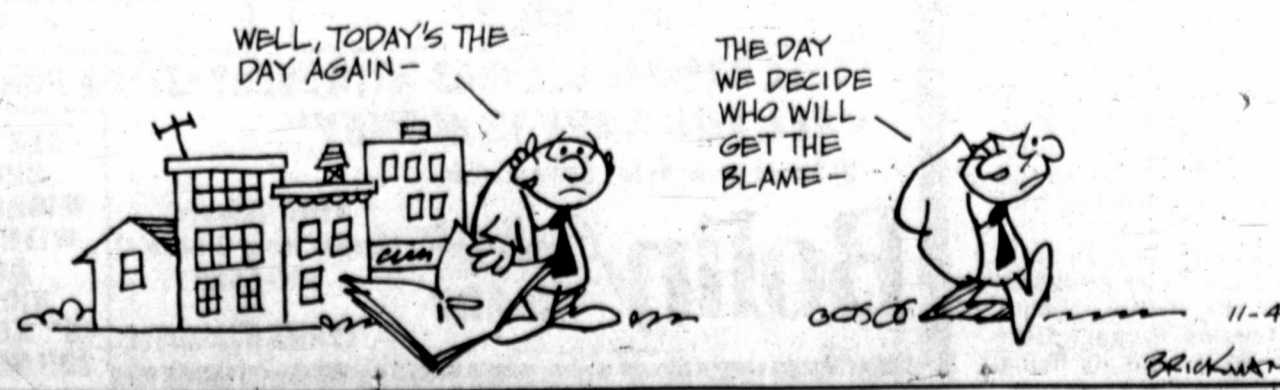

In the area of human rights, Carter fought a Congressional move to embargo coffee from Idi Amin's regime; he has paid reparations through the International Monetary Fund to Vietnam; he has supported the seating of the infamous Pol Pot regime in the United Nations. He welcomed Vietnam into the United Nations. He has embraced Robert Mugabe, Marxist terrorist who butchered priests, nuns and children; he has cowed Castro and Torrijos of Cuba and Panama, both with terrible records of human rights violations. He has been silent on the horrible repression in the Soviet Union and Red China.

"I'm sorry, but I'm running out of space. If you detect a pattern of weakening the United States and of catering to communism, you are correct. Jimmy Carter is the best president the Soviet Union ever had, and if re-elected, will be the last president the United States ever has."

Refugee center deserted today

FORT MCCOY, Wis. (AP) — The refugee resettlement center at Fort McCoy, through which thousands of Cubans had passed since May, is deserted today.

The last group of refugees — 85 juveniles — left the western Wisconsin facility Monday for a youth camp at Wyalusing State Park, where they are to stay while arrangements are made for their placement in foster homes, group homes or other facilities.

The resettlement center, opened May 29 to shelter refugees from the "Freedom Flotilla" boatlift, housed about 15,000 Cubans at the peak of its activity last summer.

About 3,200 refugees were transferred a month ago to winter quarters at Fort Chaffee in Arkansas, and the closing of the center, originally planned for Oct. 15, had been delayed while attempts to find suitable facilities for the juveniles continued.

Fort McCoy was the site of several outbreaks of violence and one fatal stabbing, but Robert Heuer, a U.S. government spokesman at the center, said involvement with the refugees had been a rewarding experience for staff members.

"It was an opportunity for the federal, state and local agencies to work together for a common cause," he said. "Let's face it. This was the fastest resettlement program in the history of this nation."

Earlier this year, claims that juveniles were the victims of abuse, including sexual attacks, from adult refugees at the center prompted investigations and the filing of a lawsuit. The federal and state governments later agreed on procedures for speeding the resettlement efforts for the juveniles, many of whom had no known relatives in the United States to sponsor their release.

On Monday, Circuit Judge James Rice of Sparta refused a request by the state public defender to set a maximum limit of two weeks on the time the Cuban juveniles spend at the youth camp, near Prairie du Chien. State officials said the juveniles may stay at Wyalusing as many as 75 days while sponsors are found.

Rice requested that the public defender's office and the state Department of Health and Social Services provide him with a report on progress of placements of the juveniles.

Get out and support athletic teams

By MARTHA WENTWORTH, JANET LANDEBERGER and DEBBIE FOSTER

Attention Rebel football fans! Last Thursday night our Rebel Stonewall Brigade tried, but couldn't hold out against that Mojo Magic. The ending score was 35-0. We all have faith in this mighty team and know they'll practice hard this week and stomp the Bulldogs next week. Since Junior Varsity is open this week, our Super Soph team will play Stanton in their home town this Thursday night. Everyone go out and support this great team!

In varsity action last Friday night, our Rebel men really gave those Panthers a hard fight, but in the end, Permian won with a score of 13-0.

We are all behind you, and we know you did your best guys! Everyone come out to Memorial Stadium Friday night to see our Rebels beat Abilene High.

In volleyball play last week our girls played two great games, but couldn't hold out against Abilene and Midland High. This was their last week of volleyball action, and the REBELS are proud of these girls. Great season girls!

We'd like to say good luck to the cross country trackers in their regional meet in Lubbock Friday night. Show that Rebel Pride. Good luck also to all the speech people traveling to San Antonio Churchill Tournament and the Hereford Tournament. We know you'll do a great job and we'll be proud of you.

Thanks to all you who came out and supported the Chorale Spookhouse. It was a big success, thanks to ya'll!

SENIORS: You will be ordering invitations Thursday in the auditorium from 10:20 to 11:20 a.m.

One last comment — all you registered voters need to get out to the polls and support your candidate.

B.C. COMMENTS:

I'm not really interested enough in your getting to have dances to do ALL the setting up by myself.

SO the dance scheduled for Friday, Nov. 7 HAS BEEN CANCELED. Maybe we'll try again on Nov. 14 if you ARE INTERESTED ENOUGH TO HELP OUT!!

Stock market gains

By FLOYD NORRIS AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With defense issues pacing the gain, the stock market moved up sharply Monday, the last trading session before the election.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues rose 12.71 to 937.20 as advances out-numbered declines by a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange issues.

Boeing was up 1 1/2 to 37 1/2. United Technologies gained 2 1/2 to 52 1/2; Lockheed was up 2 1/2 to 32 1/2 and General Dynamics rose 2 to 68.

Most petroleum issues were also strong. Mobil rose 1 1/2 to 74 1/2, Exxon gained 2 1/2 to 78 1/2, Gulf added 1 to 40 1/2 and Texaco was up 3/4 to 38 1/2.

Phillips rose 1 1/2 to 53 1/2 after saying it was dropping plans to acquire Great Basins Petroleum, a Canadian company. But Getty dropped 3/4 to 88 1/2.

Volume on the Big Board was a moderate 1.1 million shares, compared to 40.11 million on Friday.

The NYSE's composite index rose 83.74 to 34.76. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 2.76 to 338.75.

With the markets closed Tuesday, the trading was the last before the election results are known. In the four years since President Carter was elected, the Dow Jones industrial average has fallen almost 30 percent, from 966.09 on Nov. 1, 1976, the day before the election.

But the more broadly based New York and American stock exchange indexes are up sharply, having reached record highs last month. The Amex market value index was at 99.05 the day before Carter's election, and the NYSE composite index was at 55.00.

At the Amex, New York Times class A rose 3 1/2 to 38. Earth Resources leaped 7 1/2 to 10 1/2 after Mapco said it will tender for all the company's shares, instead of only some. Mapco slipped 1/2 to 43 1/2 on the Big Board.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrial stocks rose 1.98 to 147.14 and S&P's composite index of 500 stocks rose 1.57 to 129.04.

In the over-the-counter market the NASDAQ composite average rose 37 to 193.15.

Mixed drink sales increase

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock said last week the sales of mixed drinks in Texas during the third quarter of 1980 pushed the yearly total during the first nine months to more than $700 million.

Bullock said mixed drink taxes collected during July, August and September total $24.2 million. There were $22.1 million and $23.6 million collected during the first and second quarters.

He said his office is mailing checks totaling $7 million to 212 Texas counties and 366 cities as their share of the 10 percent gross receipts tax on mixed drinks for the third quarter.

Bullock said continued growth in sales of mixed drinks for the remainder of the year could push total sales in Texas this year to nearly $1 billion dollars.

The state's General Revenue Fund will receive $17.2 million of the tax money collected during the third quarter.

Texas cities and counties receive a 15 percent rebate of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized mixed drink sales.

In Midland County, the county received a rebate of $31,800 of the $212,005 it paid in taxes on mixed drinks. The city of Midland received $28,353 of the $189,024 it paid last quarter.

In Ector County, $40,861 was rebated on the $272,407 paid by the county on mixed drinks. Odessa itself received $33,017 of the $220,118 it paid for the beverage taxes.

The tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and the city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by the comptroller's office.

Texas' gross sales up, Bullock says

The NYSE's composite index rose 83.74 to 34.76. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 2.76 to 338.75.

With the markets closed Tuesday, the trading was the last before the election results are known. In the four years since President Carter was elected, the Dow Jones industrial average has fallen almost 30 percent, from 966.09 on Nov. 1, 1976, the day before the election.

Average discount rate up on 13-week T-bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average discount rate of 13-week Treasury Department bills was 13.34 percent Monday, the highest since the 13.81 percent rate of April 14. The rate was 12.33 percent last week.

The average rate on 26-week bills was 13.26 percent, the highest since 13.49 percent on April 14. The rate last week was 12.284 percent.

The sharp increases in interest rates on short-term federal government securities came as the Treasury Department borrowed $7.8 billion.

An investor's return on these government securities is higher than the discount rate because a portion of the price is refunded at the time of purchase. The average investment rate on 13-week bills was 14.00 percent and on 26-week securities was 14.42 percent.

The maximum interest that financial institutions may pay on six-month money-market certificates is tied by law to the discount rate on 26-week Treasury bills.

Banks and thrift institutions may pay up to 13.519 percent on six-month certificates sold during the week that begins Thursday. The current limit is 12.534 percent.

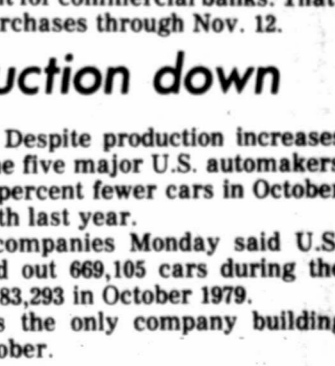

The current limit on 30-month "small-saver" certificates, which is pegged to yields on 30-month government securities, is 12 percent for thrift institutions and 11.75 percent for commercial banks. That limit is in effect for purchases through Nov. 12.

Auto production down

DETROIT (AP) — Despite production increases for the new models, the five major U.S. automakers say they produced 15 percent fewer cars in October than in the same month last year.

Reports from the companies Monday said U.S. assembly lines turned out 669,105 cars during the month, compared to 783,293 in October 1979. Chrysler Corp. was the only company building more cars during October.

DEATHS

C.A. McKinney

Services for C.A. McKinney, 79, of rural Midland, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home chapel. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

McKinney died this morning in a Midland hospital. He was born Dec. 19, 1900, in Ranger. He came to Midland in his early teens from Ranger. He started in construction work and was employed for many years by J.C. Velvin Construction Co. In 1945, he became a roofing contractor. He retired in 1971 after suffering a fall. He was a charter member of the First Assembly of God Church and a member of the Carpenters Union.

Survivors include five sons, James Edward McKinney Sr. of Midland, Hubert Donald McKinney of San Angelo, Earnest Clayton McKinney of Wichita Falls, Roy Earl McKinney of Carlsbad, N.M., and David Lee McKinney of Louisiana; three daughters, Mrs. Alvis Nieddeck, Mrs. Harvey Hector and Mrs. Cecil Livingston, all of Midland; 48 grandchildren and 41 great-grandchildren.

Carlos Ramirez

Rosary for Carlos Ramirez, 58, 609 N. Tyler St., will be recited at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home chapel. Mass will be said at 4 p.m. Thursday in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church with the Rev. Jim Foelker officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Ramirez died Monday in a Big Spring hospital.

He was born July 5, 1922, in Midland, where he lived all his life. He served in the Army during World War II in Europe. After being discharged, he came to Midland where he worked for the city for 18 years, then for Andy's Lumber for five years and for Home Lumber Company.

Survivors include his wife, Jessie; a son, Chon Ramirez of Midland; two daughters, Mary Ramirez and Sally Ramirez, both of Midland; four sisters, Merce Ramirez, Petronila Ramirez and Ramona Hernandez, all of Midland, and Rosalia Vasquez of California; a brother, Lorenzo Ramirez of El Paso; nine grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Mamie G. Riley

ODESSA — Services for Mamie Gladys Riley, 80, of Odessa were to be at 2 p.m. today in Easterling-Wilson Funeral Home chapel here with burial in Sunset Memorial Gardens.

She died Sunday in an Odessa hospital following an illness.

Mrs. Riley was born Sept. 25, 1900, in Coleman County. She was married to William Tom Riley Oct. 10, 1915. He died in 1963. She was a housewife and a member of Trinity Baptist Church.

Survivors include five daughters, two sons, two sisters, two brothers, 17 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Brandon Stanley

Services for Brandon Ray Stanley, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanley of 1002 Tarleton St., will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. Curtis Hollis officiating. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

The infant died Monday in a Lubbock hospital.

He was born Oct. 29, 1980. Other survivors include his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Madry and Mrs. Winell Hardy, both of Midland, and Stan Stanley of Dallas; his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Burke of Borger and Marie Patten of Midland; two uncles and several cousins.

13-ounce baby dies

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A 13-ounce baby girl born in this Panhandle city Friday morning died about midnight Monday, a Northwest Texas Hospital spokesman said.

The health of the 10 1/2-inch child — named Guadalupe by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Flores of Amarillo — had steadily declined and some doctors had rated her chances of survival as zero.

She was breathing on her own initially, but later had to be hooked up to a respirator, said Gwen Halley, the hospital's nursing supervisor.

Doctors said the child was normal physically and mentally.

Striking city workers vote to accept contract

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Striking municipal employees in Michigan's second-largest city have voted to accept a two-year contract and end the longest walkout in Grand Rapids history.

Some 677 members of Local 1061 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which represents the 850 city workers, cast ballots to approve the pact on Monday, the 87th day of the walkout.

Local 1061 President Edwin Muste said the tally would not be released. However, he said the vote was "real mixed all day; I wouldn't have tried to predict" the outcome.

The workers, mostly clerks and public works employees, struck Aug. 9 after working for a month without a contract. The strike disrupted few services in the city of more than 180,000 people as supervisors operated water and sewer plants and drove garbage trucks to pickup points.

The agreement, which will be considered by the City Commission tonight, gives workers a 25 percent wage-and-benefits increase over two years. The workers currently earn an average salary of slightly more than $13,000 annually.

City officials said the workers could be back on the job as soon as Wednesday, but Muste said the union has a seven-day return period following ratification by the City Commission.

The union bargaining committee took a neutral stance on the pact because it did not contain a cost-of-living clause or provisions for full amnesty from disciplinary action for union members arrested for strike-related offenses.

Several strikers were arrested in connection with picketing at construction sites at the municipal convention center and the sewage treatment plant. Charges against the workers ranged from obstructing traffic to minor assault.

Muste said the city agreed not to fire any of the workers, but would not guarantee that lesser disciplinary action won't be taken.

He also said: "I'm terribly proud of our members and our union. But I'm disappointed we couldn't meet their needs as well as their wants."

No patients hurt in fire in San Antonio hospital

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Firemen climbed ladders and broke out windows to evacuate patients from a San Antonio hospital late Monday after fire erupted in a conference room, sending smoke throughout the three-story building.

No patients were injured in the fire at Southwest General Hospital, located about five miles south of downtown San Antonio, although some were treated for smoke inhalation, fire officials said.

There were 110 patients in the 166-bed hospital, according to hospital administrator Ralph Aleman. They were evacuated from their rooms and sent to eight other San Antonio hospitals.

ODESSA — Services for Elaine Tanksley, 39, wife of Dr. William Tanksley of the College of Arts and Education at The University of Texas at the Permian Basin, will be at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the UTPB courtyard directed by Resthaven Funeral Home of Lubbock. Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Gardens here.

Officiating will be the Rev. Robert Tanksley, coordinator of religious affairs at Turgers, the state university of New Jersey.

Mrs. Tanksley died Oct. 26 in an automobile accident near Littlefield.

The Tanksleys were married June 29, 1963, in Wallace, Idaho. She was a graduate of Wallace High School and held a bachelor's degree from Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash., and master's degrees from University of Illinois and Idaho State University. She taught school in Rochester, N.Y., and served as a social work counselor in Australia.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Gregory Tanksley of Odessa; three daughters, Kristin Tanksley, Kimberley Tanksley and Wendy Tanksley, all of Odessa; her mother, Jennette Dunnigan of Wallace, Idaho; and a brother, Michael Dunnigan of Mullan, Idaho.

The family requests memorials be made to the High Sky Girls' Ranch of Midland.

Tobacco companies announce increase in cigarette prices

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Vending machine prices for some brands of cigarettes could rise 5 cents a pack following the announcement by four major cigarette manufacturers of a wholesale price increase.

Increases of 15 cents per carton wholesale were announced Monday by R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. of Winston-Salem, Lorillard of Greensboro and Brown and Williamson of Louisville, Ky. Other tobacco companies are expected to follow suit.

Philip Morris Inc. said it was raising its price to direct-buying customers by 85 cents per thousand, or 17 cents per carton.

Mark Gutsche, information officer for Reynolds, said the increase "meets the need to offset rising material and manufacturing costs."

"Some of the areas in which we've had cost increases are leaf tobacco, wrapping materials, cigarette filters, freight and utilities," Gutsche said.

Major Bowes, general manager of Lorillard, said his firm also has encountered overall increases in costs.

Jerry Pappas, president of Tobacco USA Inc., a Greensboro distributing firm, said the current wholesale price of cigarettes ranges from $3.79 to $4 a carton, depending upon the brand.

Fred Ayers, president of Colonial Vending Co., said his machines probably would reflect a 5 cent increase as the machines are tied to specific coin denominations. "Mostly cigarettes from (local) vending machines are around 65 a pack now," he said. "That would mean they'd be about 70 cents."

Wholesalers were to be notified of the price increase Monday. The Act IX's costumed event

Merriment was in order Saturday at the annual Beaux Arts Ball in the Midland Community Theatre.

About 300 people in all shapes, sizes, and in varying costume were in attendance at the $50 per person affair.

Benefits will go to the Midland Community Theatre. Sponsors were Act IX, a theatre support group.

Creative costumes following the black and white or opposites theme ranged from a couple dressed as Mickey and Minnie Mouse to a couple dressed as a minister and "lady of the evening."

Other originals were clowns in black and white attire, nuns, cowboys and "saloon girls."

Party-goers ate a cocktail buffet and danced to the music of "First Crossing" and "Shirley and Friends."

Chairman was Shari Koziol and assistant chairman was Mrs. Greg Campbell.

Family Services to host series of classes on divorce

Family Services of Midland is offering a series of four classes on dealing with and recovering from di-orce. "Being alone again after years of being a part of a 'couple' is a very difficult and traumatic life adjustment," said Linda George, Family Services director. "Every person who goes through a divorce faces pressures which which he or she cannot deal. What used to work does not work anymore. These classes will set forth how one can move from the end of a marriage and get on with the business of life," she said.

The class will meet Monday nights from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Girl Scout Center, 901 W. Dengar.

Class will be limited to 20 participants and the cost is $35 per person. Both men and women are encouraged to enroll.

Instructors will be Ms. George, ACSW, and John Young, MSW, of Family Services. To make reservations or obtain more information, call 682-4241.

Soviets get counterfeit blue jeans

MOSCOW (AP) — The young woman gladly parted with a month's salary for the crisp new jeans adorned with the prized Wrangler label. But on the first washing the jeans and the label disintegrated into a shapeless, spotted rag.

The woman was among hundreds of victims of a counterfeit jeans ring which, according to the government newspaper Izvestia, was recently broken in the Crimean port city of Odessa.

The paper's report detailed one of the biggest and most innovative operations yet to profit from the seemingly insatiable craving for American jeans among Soviet citizens, and more specifically for real Wranglers, Lees or Levis.

Sixty swindlers were given sentences ranging from one to six years, authorities confiscated 250,000 rubles ($387,500) and more than 400 witnesses gave testimony.

The Soviets have tried to counter the fad with home-produced jeans, but these are scorned by customers for whom much of the status in a pair of jeans is in the big, Western label.

DEAR ABBY: Policemen don't need another siren in car

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I almost always agree with you, but your reply to JEALOUS, who was upset because her policeman husband was working nights with a female officer, really lit my fuse!

My husband is a police officer (11 years), and I have lots of reasons for not wanting him to ride around with a "cute, single, bright and funny" woman all night.

In the police academy, they are taught that for every 1,000 hours of police work, there are 10 minutes of excitement. Just put a man and a "cute, single, bright, funny woman" in the same car for eight hours, and if there's no action on the street, you can guess where the action will be.

Men will be men. And they all have their weaknesses. You wouldn't put an alcoholic in a bartender's job any more than you'd put a diabetic in a candy store. Knowing my husband as I do, I certainly wouldn't feel comfortable having him work with a cute lady.—SEATTLE

DEAR ABBY: I know you won't like this, but there are some jobs women are just not suited for, and being put on patrol as a police officer is one of them.

I'm a police officer, and I'm scared to death to have a female with me. I am given unofficial orders to "take care of her," and woe be it to me if she is hurt. When we go to a violent scene, I have to handle myself and her. I tell her, "Please sit in the car, and if I give you the signal, call in for help." At least she is good for that. There are other jobs they are good for, such as getting out on the street and pretending to be prostitutes and other such undercover work, but not police roadwork. They are apt to end up killing someone, and I don't want it to be me.

I am not a woman-hater, Abby, but I have a family, and I'd like to stay alive.—POLICE OFFICER IN MIAMI

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to JEALOUS. I don't blame her for being jealous. She has every right to be. I don't consider a woman in a police officer's uniform a cop. I see her as a woman wearing a man's uniform. Why do you suppose there is no lone woman portraying Dirty Carrie or Hopalong Katherine? Women just don't fit into that role. Does Barney Miller have a woman working with him? When he needs a woman

Coleman named NCWW director

WASHINGTON (AP)—Winifred E. Coleman, dean of students at Trinity College here since 1971, has been appointed executive director of the National Council of Catholic Women. The NCCW is a federation of 8,000 Catholic women's organizations. Founded in 1920, it is currently celebrating its 60th anniversary.

'Jesus is ultimate authority' says actress

By SANDI BREENEN Lifestyle Writer

"Jesus Christ is the ultimate authority and if your life is not compatible with that authority, you are frustrated," said Jeanette Cliff George of Houston at a Midland Christian's Women Club luncheon.

Mrs. George, who played Carrie Ten Boom in the motion picture "The Hiding Place," kept the 350 people at Midland Woman's Club building laughing while giving her Christian testimony, but when her speech got to the basics of God, seriousness prevailed.

Raised in a home where Christian faith was prominent, Mrs. George said she did not accept Christ as her Saviour until she had moved to New York and had become a successful actress. "All my life I wanted to be an actress," she said. "I thought everybody wanted to be and some just didn't make it."

"I got what I wanted and then wondered why I wasn't satisfied. I became depressed and it's hard to be depressed when you are in good circumstances," she said with a laugh. "I had my nervous breakdown before they were popular and I had to hide. I was suicidal, lonely, hostile and resentful."

"I KNEW WHAT was in the Bible, but I hadn't studied it until someone gave me the Phillips translation of the New Testament," she said. "With that translation, I could understand what I was reading."

It was reading that translation that started the change in the young actress. "One of the first scriptures I read was in Romans, chapter 12. It said 'Don't let the world squeeze you into its mold.' That really hit me," she said quietly. "I realized then that I had spent my life by pretending to be what people expected of me."

"Here I was in my middle twenties having a major identity crisis — I didn't have an identity and I knew it," she said.

"There are things we know about ourselves we hope no one will ever find out," she said. "This comes up when we are trying to be accepted. Before I accepted Christ as my Saviour, I thought nobody who knew me would want me."

"But," she added, "did you know God knows everything about you and loves you anyway. God wants to set you free so you can reach your full potential."

SPEAKING ABOUT THE commandment from Christ to forgive, the actress said, "Forgive them not because they deserve it, but because God commands it."

Mrs. George talked about the shortcomings many Christians have and said, "Sometimes we don't proclaim Christ because we don't know that He settled once and for all the problem of sin that had separated us from God by dying on that cross and rising again. No matter how many times you look for something, you won't find it until you look for it where it is."

Not unlike the invitation to accept Jesus Christ given at the end of a

Adolescent acne not just for teens

Facial acne is not confined to adolescents, a survey found. The survey of 1066 healthy women and 1089 healthy men aged 18-70 years was described in the "British Medical Journal."

The acne was found to be more prevalent among men than women at 18 and beyond the age of 23.

sermon, Mrs. George said. "Have you thought once you had all your questions answered, you'd come to Christ? Lots of luck. Eternal life is not something that starts when we die; it starts when we accept Christ."

Prior to Mrs. George's speech, Beverly Madry of The Final Touch talked about holiday decorating. According to Ms. Madry, decorating the home is a way of telling guests, "I took the time to decorate because I care about you."

Candles create a feeling of welcome in the entrance way, said Ms. Madry. The decorator said an easy way to say 'hello' is to put holiday bows in pot plants and put pine cones on the mantels. She also suggested propping a candle in front of a brass tray in the dining area to create a warm atmosphere.

Saying that the letter X is Greek for Christ, Ms. Madry said, "Keeping Christ in Christmas is the most important thing we can do. Read the Christmas story — take the time to light your candles for Christ."

Club has costume party

LION TAMERS CLUB

Members of the Lion Tamers Club entertained their husbands at a costume party recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hoff, 2504 Shandon St.

A Mexican food dinner for the function was prepared by Mrs. Wendell Thomason, club president, and Mrs. George Loudamy.

Contest costume winners included Mr. and Mrs. Phil Scott, best costumed couple; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Darden, most original costumes; Mr. and Mrs. Loudamy, most mysteriously-costumed couple; and Wilson Hollis, most daring attire.

A feature of the program included the awarding of numerous unique prizes with Mrs. Bill Collyns in charge of the presentations.

Table and room decorations were in keeping with the Halloween season. The Lions Tamers Club is the woman's auxiliary unit of the Midland Downtown Lions Club.

GRAND STAFF MUSIC CLUB

Grand Staff Music Club met in the home of Taffy Staley with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilson as special guests.

Wilson, Midland High School band director, was the judge on the poise points.

Newly elected officers are Taffy Staley, president; Shelly Davis, vice president; and Jennifer Davis, secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting will be in December at the home of Jennifer and Shelley Davis.

Through giving you receive

Now here are the directions about the money you are collecting to send to the Christians in Jerusalem; (and, by the way, these are the same directions I gave to the churches in Galatia).

Every Sunday each of you should put aside something from what you have earned during the week, and use it for this offering. The amount depends on how much the Lord has helped you earn. Don't wait until I get there and then try to collect it all at once.

When I come I will send your loving gift with a letter to Jerusalem, to be taken there by trustworthy messengers you yourselves will choose.

And if it seems wise for me to go along too, then we can travel together.

I am coming to visit you after I have been to Macedonia first, but I will be staying there only for a little while. It could be that I will stay longer with you, perhaps all winter, and then you can send me on to my next destination.

This time I don't want to make just a passing visit and then go right on; I want to come and stay awhile, if the Lord will let me.

I will be staying here at Ephesus until the holiday of Pentecost.

For there is a wide open door for me to preach and teach here. So much is happening, but there are many enemies.

If Timothy comes make him feel at home, for he is doing the Lord's work just as I am.

Don't let anyone despise or ignore him [because he is young], but send him back to me happy with his time among you; I am looking forward to seeing him soon, along with the others who are returning.

I begged Apollos to visit you along with the others, but he thought that it was not at all God's will for him to go now; he will be seeing you later on when he has the opportunity.

I Corinthians 16:1-12

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

High blood pressure indicates risk

Dear Dr. Solomon: My doctor tells me I have moderately high blood pressure, and he suggests I take medication for it. I am reluctant to do so, mainly because I feel well and don't believe my risk for a heart attack is too great. Do you see any reason for me to start taking pills to control a moderately high blood pressure? — Mr. J.L.

Dear Mr. L.: First a word about blood pressure in general. An elevated blood pressure not only makes the heart work harder, it also speeds up the process of arteriosclerosis — that is, the depositing of fatty substances on the inner lining of the arteries.

When a person's blood pressure is high, this process takes place earlier and develops more quickly.

As for moderately high blood pressure, a person with a reading of 150/95, which may even be said to fall within the upper limit of normal, is two and one-half times more likely to have a heart attack than if the blood pressure was at a normal level of 120/80. I imagine your doctor is taking these factors into consideration when he recommends you go on medication to control your moderately high blood pressure.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I've decided to switch to contact lenses rather than continue wearing eyeglasses, but I'm not certain about the relative merits of the hard lens versus the soft lens. Is one better than the other? I would welcome your recommendation. — Cathy

Dear Cathy: The choice of a hard or soft contact lens is very much a matter of individual preference; each has its advantages and disadvantages.

The soft contact lens is more expensive and has a shorter life, but many people prefer it because it is more comfortable than the traditional hard lens. Because the soft contact is more easily tolerated by the eye, individuals who generally use eyeglasses but want to wear contacts on special occasions find they can switch to the soft lens and adjust to it within only a few minutes. Use of a hard lens requires a much longer period of adjustment.

The soft lens, however, tears easily and wears out from handling. Since it becomes brittle when exposed to air and, as a result, subject to chipping or breaking, it must be kept in a liquid solution when not in use. In addition, since the soft lens is moist, bacteria and other foreign substances tend to adhere to it. This poses a threat of infection unless the lens is disinfected daily.

Finally, since the soft lens can correct only a limited range of visual problems, it is suitable for only about 40 percent of persons who use contacts.

As you can see, a choice between hard and soft contact lenses involves more than simply flipping a coin. Your ophthalmologist can help you decide which would be better in your particular case.

Scientists puzzled by stop in 'swelling' of volcano crater

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Swelling has stopped on the north rampart of Mount St. Helens' crater, and puzzled scientists are trying to find out why.

However, the state of the art of volcano research sheds little light on why the crater rim was expanding in the first place, said Joyce Routson, spokeswoman for the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

The crater had been swelling since the last eruptions of the southwest Washington volcano, a series of five bursts last month.

No seismic activity was recorded around Mount St. Helens on Monday, said Christina Boyko at the University of Washington geophysics center.

Meanwhile the U.S. Forest Service's restricted red zone was closed because poor weather obscured the mountain from view. A spotter plane was unable to make its usual pass to check for steam activity, Ms. Routson said.

Snow is collecting on the mountain — even on the crater walls, she said.

The volcano has alternated periods of quiet with spectacular eruptions of steam and ash since it came to life this spring. Its first devastating eruption on May 18 killed 34 people and left 28 others missing and presumed dead.

Amoco well opens Wolfcamp pay

Amoco Production Co.'s No. 1 C. G. Munn has been reclassified from oil to gas to open Wolfcamp gas production in the Munn-Green (Wolfcamp) oil pool of Tom Green County, 18 miles northwest of San Angelo. It is a calculated absolute open flow potential of 1,900,000 cubic feet of gas per day, with a gas-liquid ratio of 145.269-1. Gravity of the fluid is 44 degrees.

Completion was through perforations from 6,205 to 6,263 feet and from 6,782 to 6,883 feet after 70,000 gallons of fracture fluid.

The well is a former Wolfcamp oil producer. Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of Stanley Turner survey No. 1126.

CROCKETT PRODUCERS

Harrison Interests Ltd. of Houston No. 3 John L. Henderson Jr. has been completed as the second well in an unnamed Strawn gas field in Crockett County, 12 miles southeast of Ozona.

It is 1/2 mile west of the other producer, and it finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 5 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 8,891 to 8,976 feet after 7,500 gallons of acid.

Well site is 660 feet from south and 1,520 feet from east lines of section 1, block F, GC&SF survey.

International Oil & Gas Corp. No. 2-43 Perner has been completed as a gas well in the Ingham (Devonian) pool of Crockett County, 24 miles west of Ozona.

The well finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 2,150,000 cubic feet of gas per day, natural, through perforations from 8,326 to 8,428 feet.

The well, 5/8 mile south of the closest other Devonian gas well, is 990 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 43, block 2, I&GN survey.

It was drilled as a wildcat to 9,480 feet. Operator set 5 1/2-inch casing at 9,483 feet and plugged the hole back to 9,430 feet.

SCHLEICHER WELLS
Delta Drilling Co., operating from Midland, has reported potential tests on three wells in the Eldorado (Canyon gas) field of Schleicher County, two miles west of Eldorado.

No. 4 West was finished for a calculated absolute open flow of 1,650,000 cubic feet of gas per day, with a gas-liquid ratio of 26.614-1. Gravity of the condensate is 72.1 degrees.

Completion was through perforations from 6,334 to 6,440 feet after a 2,000-gallon acid treatment and a 51,775-gallon fracture job.

Total depth is 7,030 feet. The project, drilled as a wildcat, topped the Strawn lime at 6,928 feet on ground elevation of 2,444 feet.

Location is 1,834 feet from south and 1,267 feet from west lines of section 78, block A, HE&WT survey.

Delta No. 2 Keeney was completed for a calculated absolute open flow of 5 million cubic feet of gas per day, with a gas-liquid ratio of 26.593-1. Gravity of the condensate is 70.1 degrees.

Completion was through perforations from 6,354 to 6,378 feet after 2,500 gallons of acid and 19,600 gallons of fracture fluid.

Drilled as a wildcat to 7,030 feet, the well topped the Strawn at 6,920 feet on ground elevation of 2,446 feet.

Location is 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 77, block A, HE&WT survey.

Delta No. 3 Jackson, also drilled as a wildcat, was completed for the Canyon for a calculated absolute open flow of 560,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 6,372 to 6,442 feet. The pay was acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 36,600 gallons.

Total depth is 7,020 feet. The Strawn was topped at 6,939 feet on ground elevation of 2,413 feet.

Well site is 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 44, block LL, TCRR survey.

STERLING OILERS
Jatam Inc. of Sterling City has completed a in the Jameson (Strawn oil) pool of Sterling County, nine miles northeast of Sterling City.

The operator completed No. 1-198 R. C. Bynum for a daily flowing potential of 14 barrels of 43-gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 7,710-1, through a 1/4-inch choke and perforations from 7,363 to 6,398 feet.

The pay was acidized with 1,500 gallons.

The well is 2,184 feet from south and 1,811 feet from west lines of section 198, block 2, H&TC survey.

CRANE AREA

The Lea multipay field of Crane County gained a new Tubb well, the ninth, with completion of Gulf Oil Corp. No. 109 P. J. Lea and others 10 miles west of Crane. Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 300 barrels of 42.5-gravity oil and 142 barrels of water, with a gas-oil ratio of 723-1.

Completion was through a 20/64-inch choke and perforations from 2,000 to 4,691 feet after 60,000 gallons of fracture fluid.

Location is 2,105 feet from south and 2,030 feet from east lines of section 39, block 32, psl survey.

Sidwell Oil & Gas Inc. of Pampa spotted a pair of projects in the WTG (Glorieta) field of Garza County, 10 miles north of Post.

Each will be drilled to 3,300 feet.

No. 1 Welch "A" is 2,173 feet from south and east lines of section 13, block 4.K. Aycock survey.

Sidwell Oil & Gas staked No. 1 Cross 467 feet from north and west lines of section 13, block 4, K. Aycock survey.

REVENU SERVICE
Turin, Italy (AP) — Twenty-eight people have been arrested and more than 1,000 bank checks seized in the latest aspects of an investigation into a six-year-old oil scandal, Finance Ministry officials reported Monday.

These were the only firm clues disclosed in the developing case that could have repercussions on Premier Arnaldo Forlani's newly formed coalition government.

More than 80 people, including two former top officials of Italy's internal revenue service, have been arrested since the scandal surfaced in 1974 allegedly involving bribery, tax evasion and illegal distribution of oil products at levels above those set by the government.

Finance Ministry officials and investigators said at a news conference here that names must be withheld for now because the case still is under investigation. They said 10 people were arrested in recent weeks in Turin and 18 in other cities.

tion for No. 3 Emma Cole, a 4,700-foot wildcat seven miles northeast of Winters.

It is 3,250 feet from south and 2,350 feet from east lines of Thomas J. Hardeman survey No. 267.

The re-entry project is Jim B. Curry of Abilene No. 1 Bryan.

Drilled to 4,003 feet and plugged by Fox & Witherpoon in 1951, the project will be deepened as a wildcat to 5,400 feet.

Location is 2,100 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 139, I. P. Wallace survey, abstract 503.

GAINES PROJECT

Petroleum Exploration & Development Funds, Inc., of Midland No. 1/R O.D.C. is to be drilled as a 10,000-foot project in the Bale, East (Wolfcamp) field of Gaines County, eight miles southeast of Denver City.

It is 1/2 mile northwest of the discovery well of the two-well field and 1,933 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 341, block G, CCSD&RNGG survey.

DAWSON LOCATION

John R. Parish of Andrews staked a 10,200-foot project in the two-well Jo Mill (Fusselman) field of Dawson County, 14 miles northeast of Lamesa.

It is No. 3 E. S. Whalley and others, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 27, block 33, T-5-N, T&P survey.

It is one location south of production and one location north of production.

Three brave ladies fight back, try to set up worker-owned business

By JUDY GIBBS
Associated Press Writer
PROVO, Utah (AP) — When the Barbizon Corp. shut down its lingerie sewing shop here June 1, it tossed 320 women out of work. Three are fighting back, trying to set up a worker-owned business.

It's a brave story, but a not uncommon story in times of recession and layoffs.

What gives this labor tale a twist is that instead of fighting management, the women find themselves bucking their own union, the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Janice Stringham, 32, Mary Mecham, 44, and Norma Carlson, about 50, had worked at Barbizon for a combined total of 45 years when the firm announced it would close its Provo plant.

Barbizon President Anthony Ritter blamed the economy, the changing nature of the industry and the need to consolidate operations in the East, where the textile mills are located.

"We were stunned," Ms. Mecham said. "There was a lot of panic on the part of the employees."

WITH GOOD REASON. Barbizon was the only union sewing shop within a 40-mile radius, and one of only four in Utah, a right-to-work state. Nearby non-union shops paid wages averaging 25 percent to 50 percent lower than Barbizon's union scale.

As officers for ILGWU Local 430, the three women began looking for options to keep their members employed. Most ended up taking non-union sewing jobs or simply returned to hearth and home.

Warner Woodworth, a Brigham Young University business professor, suggested the women re-organize Barbizon as a worker-owned shop. The idea caught on locally, and Local 430 asked the international for $10,000 from their union dues to fund a feasibility study.

Officials at ILGWU headquarters in New York turned them down. ILGWU President Sol Chaikin wrote in a letter: "The amount of capital required and the complex nature of a manufacturing venture precludes the consideration of this approach.... A feasibility study... could only find that a worker-owned contracting shop in Provo would be unsuccessful."

Chaikin concluded, "I would strongly urge you and other members of Local 430 to refrain from going forward in this matter."

MS. MECHAM SAID THE women were shocked by the rejection. "We felt it was our union dues from our local. Our membership had voted to spend the money. We felt they didn't have any alternative but to give it to us."

Woodworth, a professor of organizational behavior who has organized worker-owned shops in other industries, said the response fortified the women's resolve to re-establish the sewing shop.

"My perception is they're fighting mad and want to go ahead and do something," he said.

The women are faced with establishing a small, independent sewing shop where a powerful, New York-based company familiar with the garment industry failed.

The business is still mostly concept. The next step is to get financial backing and contract work. Then they can set up shop and hire seamstresses.

"We're bound and determined to get this off the ground and get it going," said Ms. Mecham.

Woodworth said that if the Barbizon workers had been men, "you'd have had all kind of concern flooding in. The assumption is that women are going to take it on the chin and quietly go away."

The three women say they feel the same. "Everybody we've talked to, we get the feeling that because we're women, we don't matter," said Ms. Stringham.

"I think if we'd been 320 men, there'd be more people up in arms. But we're supposed to be at home cooking and cleaning and taking care of babies."

THEY ALSO CAN'T understand why the union would abandon them when membership is so scarce in Utah. "It was an excellent opportunity to promote unionism — to show that it stands behind its members," said Ms. Mecham.

Union officials deny the local was abandoned. ILGWU regional director Cornelius Wall in Los Angeles said the women "don't know what they're getting into."

"We did everything we possibly could. Because of the economy and all the other aspects of going into this business, at this time we thought the chances were almost totally nil. We knew we didn't want to lead someone on."

Wall said the Barbizon women should have taken jobs at non-union shops, where they could have promoted unionism. "The most fruitful thing for these girls would be for them to go to work and help us organize," he said.

Ms. Mecham and Ms. Stringham scoffed at that suggestion. "We can't prove it, but we think we've been blacklisted" for being union leaders, Ms. Stringham said. "We couldn't get jobs if we wanted to."

And if they could, they would find it hard to enlist support for the ILGWU, said Ms. Mecham.

"These people are bitter. We've put a lot of blood, sweat and tears into that union and got nothing for it," she said. "I'm pro-labor, but if anyone asked me what I thought of the ILGWU, I'd tell them. The union can go to hell."

Norma Carlson, left, Janice Stringham, center, and Mary Mecham, right, members of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, are still trying to reopen a sewing factory in the building union used to hold Barbizon's Provo production facilities. The building has been sold to another company since the sewing manufacturer closed it in June. Part of it now houses an electronics company and the rest is up for lease. (AP Laserphoto)

Ex-migrant to get degree

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer
EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Diana Torres recalls well the summers of her childhood. She picked nectarines and peaches, traveling from Texas to California with her family of migrant farmworkers.

"I knew all along I wanted out of that," said the second of five children. "All my relatives went, too, to the same area. It was like a support system. Out of the eight families that went, ours is the only one not migrating anymore."

Mrs. Torres, 22, has come far from the peach orchards of California. This year she will earn a master's degree from Pan American University and begin doctoral studies in education at Notre Dame with a $15,000 grant.

She is one of many "success stories" among former migrants who credit much of their educational advancement to a program begun in 1972 to help migrant students attend college.

THE COLLEGE Assistance Migrant Program is a federally-funded service operating at three colleges to meet the financial, scholastic and social needs of freshmen who come from migrant families.

Other programs are at St. Edwards University in Austin, Texas, and Adams State College in Alamosa, Colo.

Pan American, here in Edinburg, is located in Hidalgo County, one of four counties that make up the lower Rio Grande Valley, home base for the nation's largest collection of migrant farmworkers.

The Labor Department counts 144,332 migrant and seasonal farmworkers in the Valley and 496,000 in Texas. Mexican-Americans make up 85 percent of the Valley's total population.

In the latest Commerce Department report, the average per capita income for the McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg area was $4,323, the lowest of any metropolitan area in the country.

Dr. Lucas Hinojosa, CAMP director at Pan American, says the average student in the program comes from a family with two parents and four children.

The families generally close up their houses three to four months a year and head for work in the Midwest and Northwest. Local public schools have special programs to accommodate families who generally leave the area in April and don't return until after school starts in the fall. But college students cannot afford to miss classes.

WE SOMETIMES have to convince the parents to leave the child in college or to return home by Aug. 22," he said. "It's very hard to break into the Mexican-American migrant family. They want 100 percent total supervision of their children. But once we tap into the family, it appears the siblings will follow suit."

To qualify for one of the 150 CAMP spaces at the 9,000-student Pan American campus, a student's family must have migrated in the last 18 months and earn up to 50 percent of its income from farm work.

The total family income must be below poverty level, which is considered $8,400 for a farm family of six.

Students must be high school graduates, meet regular entrance requirements and be citizens or have permanent visas. They receive a $500 annual stipend and their financial needs are met by a combination of sources from CAMP and the university aid office.

Only freshmen participate in CAMP, but Pan American often picks up the bill for continuing upperclassmen. Pan American's program has an annual funding of $369,000.

Hinojosa says the program concentrates on retaining students. It started with a 67 percent retention rate and is up to 86 percent now. This year, 80 percent of CAMP students commute while the rest live in university dorms.

CAMP STUDENTS, who are recruited from 34 high schools in southern Texas, have a 2.3 grade point average compared to 1.93 for other freshmen.

María Elene Torres, no relation to Diana Torres, is the fourth of eight children and a 19-year-old freshman from Crystal City. Her family migrates to North Dakota to harvest beets for three months a year. Back in Texas, her father works at odd jobs three or four days a week — if he can find jobs.

"My parents have always encouraged us and they brought us up to seek more education," said Miss Torres, a law enforcement major.

She said her father in particular wants his children to have a better life than that of a migrant.

"My dad went through a lot of suffering. He never did finish school, only went through the third grade," she said. "We have to look for one way or another to get out of all that (the migrant work)."

Mrs. Torres and CAMP counselor Felipe Lozano agree it is important to help students break the migrant cycle if they want a different kind of life.

"I think it's the immediate gratification that influences a lot of people to continue the cycle. They can make $500 a day, the whole family, but when they're older, they're not going to be able to continue," said Lozano.

"Some of my uncles will never stop migrating," said Mrs. Torres. "It has to do with their background, their values. There will always be families that will keep that outlook."

Civil rights suit filed in Klan action

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Friends and relatives of the five people killed during an anti-Ku Klux Klan rally here have filed a $38 million federal suit charging local, state and federal officials with civil rights violations.

The suit, filed Monday in U.S. District Court, alleged the Greensboro Police Department failed to stop a caravan of Ku Klux Klansmen and American Nazis from entering the site of the Communist Workers Party rally. It also charged the department actively recruited Nazis and Klansmen to participate in the caravan.

The suit was filed as prosecutors made their closing arguments in the murder trial of six Klansmen and Nazis charged in the slayings.

Assistant District Attorney Jim Coman argued the six went to Greensboro last fall "with one intent and one intent only — to disrupt that rally."

The defense, in its closing arguments last week, contended that those charged acted only in self-defense. More prosecution arguments were scheduled today.

Coman said Monday a gunshot from the Klan-Nazi caravan was the first shot fired during the Nov. 3, 1979, confrontation.

He argued the Klansmen and Nazis "didn't have to shoot those people to get out of there... they had any opportunity to leave... Did they want to? I submit they didn't."

"They saw their opportunity to engage these people in a fight — which is what they went there for — and jumped on it with both feet," he said.

Meanwhile, city attorney Jim Warren said he had no immediate comment on the CWP suit because he had not seen the documents. Robert Pence, agent in charge of the FBI in North Carolina, declined comment.

The suit requested damages of $6 million for the estates of each of the victims, $1 million for each of the injured and smaller amounts for CWP members who were arrested following the shooting.

Those named as defendants in the CWP suit included five U.S. attorney generals from John Mitchell to Benjamin Civiletti; undercover agent Bernard Butkovich of the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, who allegedly infiltrated local Klan units; Klansman Eddie Dawson, who served as an informant for Greensboro police; Gov. Jim Hunt; and all 14 Klansmen and Nazis indicted on murder and rioting charges in connection with the shootings.

The suit also charged the defendants with wrongful deaths, negligence, assault and battery, defamation of CWP members' characters and subjecting the CWP to false arrest and malicious prosecution.

The complaint contended the CWP members were targeted since 1968 because of their efforts to organize textile workers and their civil rights activities.

Mafia trial in federal jury's hands

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The case of five reputed Mafia figures — a tale of alleged extortion and gangland execution — was in the hands of a federal jury today following warnings from the judge and defense lawyers about the credibility of the government's star witness.

And while defense attorneys told jurors not to be swayed by the Hollywood-style glamor surrounding the case, prosecutors pleaded with the panel to help rid Los Angeles of organized crime.

"Ladies and gentlemen, this is the Mafia, this is La Cosa Nostra," prosecutor James Henderson said in his closing argument Monday, gesturing toward the five men on trial: Dominic Phillip Brooklier, 66; Samuel Orlando Sciortino, 62; Louis Tom Dragna, 59; Michael Rizzitello, 52 and Jack LoCicero, 68.

"It's not a social club," he said. "They don't ask people like you or me to join this organization. It's an organization with a purpose — to make money by illegal means."

But defense attorney Howard Weitzman warned jurors to disregard the exciting nature of the racketeering and conspiracy trial, which included vivid descriptions of Mafia rituals by prosecution witness Aladena "Jimmy the Weasel" Fratianno, a confessed mob hit man.

"It's true there's something big about this case," Weitzman told jurors.

"It has the aura of organized crime, 'The Godfather,' Marlon Brando and the horse's head," he said, referring to the scene in "The Godfather" in which a movie mogul awakens to find the severed head of his favorite horse in his bed — an underworld retaliation.

But the "excitement and drama" and allegations of Mafia membership are not a basis for convictions, he said.

U.S. District Judge Terry Hatter gave the jurors nearly two hours of legal instructions Monday night before ordering deliberations to begin today. In his instructions, he cautioned jurors to weigh Fratianno's testimony carefully.

"A witness who realizes he may procure his own freedom by testifying against another has a reason to lie," the judge said.

Hatter said Fratianno was an admitted accomplice in the crimes alleged in the Los Angeles indictment — obstruction of justice, racketeering, conspiracy and extortion.

"The unsupported testimony of an accomplice should be weighed with great care," the judge said.

Fratianno fingered the defendants as leaders of the Los Angeles family of La Cosa Nostra and tied them to extortion attempts against pornographers. He also linked three of the men to the 1977 gangland slaying of Frank

"The Bomp" Bompensiero in San Diego.

In return for his testimony, Fratianno was spared a possible death sentence in a Cleveland murder case and received the promise of a new identity and relocation under the Justice Department's witness protection program.

Defense attorneys, in their closing arguments, hammered away at Fratianno's criminal record and his involvement in 11 killings.

"The government made a pact with the devil," defense attorney Alvin Michaelson said. "He is an absolute pathological liar."

Henderson, the prosecutor, defended Fratianno's credibility, telling the jury: "It would be nice if we could pick our witnesses. But unfortunately, civic leaders and ministers... are not invited to join La Cosa Nostra."

"This case presents a unique opportunity for you," he told jurors. "Organized crime activities have been uncovered in Los Angeles and can be dealt with severely and eliminated quickly or these people can go back to the streets and do what they've been doing."

Weitzman reiterated the main defense contention that the real killer of Bompensiero was reputed mobster Joseph "Joe Banannas" Bonanno. Henderson called the Bonanno theory "a red herring."

With only two weeks of action left in the football season it appears certain that some area schools were celebrating district championships and moving on to playoff action.

Rankin was the big winner. With tailback Terry Turner, rushing for 162 yards on seven carries and grabbing a 39-yard touchdown pass from Bo Rose, leading the way Rankin stopped Greenwood 49-8 in a key District 6-A tilt. The win left Rankin with a 5-0 district mark, 8-0 overall. Greenwood fell to 3-2, 5-3 overall.

Wink, with one district defeat is Rankin's nearest challenger; lost to the Red Devils in an early season encounter.

District 5-AA remains a dog race. Plains dumped Ropes 50-6 while Stanton staggered O'Donnell 32-0 to remain deadlocked for the top spot. Seagraves, one-half game back, kept pace by pasting Morton 45-7.

Stanton was led to victory by Craig Eiland's two TD passes and Curtis Williams' two TD runs.

Opening District 6-AAA action on a high note was the Crane Golden Cranes. After starting the season with seven straight losses Crane picked up its first win of the season over district foe Coahoma 27-21 Friday.

The Bulldogs scored first to open up a 7-0 lead. Crane exploded for 20 points in the second quarter to take a 20-7 halftime lead. It still took a two-yard TD run by Johnny Sanchez in the last four minutes to sew the victory up.

Another team enjoying a win in their first district outing was McCamey. The Badgers, 6-2, dumped Marfa 35-13 to take the district 6-AA 11 lifter.

Tailback B.J. Terry, 13 carries for 145 yards, and Ben Ferguson, 15 totes for 121 yards, keyed

BOXING—Boxer Johnny Owen of Wales, who never regained consciousness after being knocked out by Lupo Pintor on Sept. 19, died at California Hospital Medical Center. Owen, 24, had undergone brain surgery twice after his loss to champion Pintor of Mexico City in their World Boxing Council bantamweight title bout at the Olympic Auditorium.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame replaced Alabama's defending two-time national champions as the No. 1 team in The Associated Press college football poll, ending the Crimson Tide's seven-week reign. Alabama slipped to sixth place after a 6-3 loss to Mississippi State, which snapped Bama's 28-game winning streak.

Notre Dame, 7-0, whipped Navy 33-0 and received 47 of 65 first-place votes and 1,281 of a possible 1,300 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Georgia, 8-0, received 15 first-place votes and 1,235 points as it climbed from fourth place to second thanks to a 13-10 victory over South Carolina. Behind Georgia is Florida State, a 4-2 winner over Tulsa, with one

Girls Junior High cage play begins Thursday

Foes catch up with Jack

Redskins Coach Jack Pardee has reaped some success over the past two years by utilizing the full 45-man squad each game, inserting defensive substitutes depending on down and distance. It all fell apart Sunday against the Minnesota, a team that had not scored a touchdown in two games and had lost four of their last five.

The Vikings, using a substitute quarterback who had thrown only eight passes in two years, romped to an easy 39-14 victory. The Vikings threw the Redskins substitution pattern into utter chaos by keeping 12 offensive men on the field until the last possible moment.

The Redskins, thoroughly disorganized, had to call two timeouts in the first half, once when they had too many men on the field and another when they had too few. "Probably what happens is that teams might be keying on the personnel we're bringing in," said defensive tackle Dave Butz. "They (Redskins coaches) are platooning everybody — and every-

the fans who booed the Bengals off the field after a 31-14 trouncing by San Diego on Sunday aren't half as disappointed as the players. "I think right now we are trying to work with the things we have and it isn't any time to be making wholesale changes," said Anderson. "We just haven't been able to have the nice mixture of offense that keeps our opponent off balance. That's one of the big reasons we haven't been successful offensively. You can't just sit in there and then expect to run the ball. You've got to be able to pass, too, and we haven't been consistent with what we have been doing. That's why we have been struggling."

Houston Coach Bum Phillips once said of running back Earl Campbell, "I don't know what class he's in, but it don't take long to call the roll." And Sunday he added, "There are a lot of impostors, but there ain't but one Earl Campbell."

The bruising Campbell carried 36 times for 157 yards and two touchdowns Sunday.

Quarterback Gary Danielson and tackle John Woodcock claim the tough stance on contracts by Detroit Lions' GM John Thomas is hurting the team's performance. "When he (Thomas) starts using the word 'fair,' I start laughing. That's the last thing he is — fair. Woody (Woodcock) never would have wanted to walk out of here. I know what I had to go through," the quarterback added.

Baylor-Arkansas tops Saturday's TV schedule

Arkansas-Baylor will be one of the games telecast at 11:35 a.m. Saturday by ABC-TV along with Georgia-Florida, Indiana-Minnesota, North Carolina-Clemson, Bowling Green-Central Michigan, At 3:45 p.m., USC-Stanford, Virginia Tech-Florida State and McNeese State-Louisiana Tech will be telecast.

St. Lawrence University inducted motion picture star and former wrestler Kirk Douglas into its Canton, N.Y. hall of fame along Hal Schumacher, who was a three-sport star in the late 1920s and pitched for the New York Giants from 1931 to 1942. Massachusetts quarterback Tim Fontaine, injured in Saturday's game with Connecticut, was in guarded condition Monday in the intensive care unit in Northampton, Mass. Fontaine, a senior from Bellows Falls, Vt., was hospitalized after being rammed in the lower abdomen with a helmet during the 39-21 victory over the Connecticut.

Reggie wants George to retain Dick Howser

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees' Reggie Jackson and Bucky Dent said Monday that owner George Steinbrenner should keep Dick Howser as manager despite their highly publicized conflicts.

"I've tried to stay from all this stuff because George is a funny guy," Jackson said. "He does a lot of strange things and he can only hurt you. But Dick is the best manager I've played for. I like him and respect him a lot. The biggest reason is because he's an honest guy."

Texas Coach Fred Akers said sophomore Rick Melvor, who rallied UT for 20 points in the second period against Tech last week, will join Donnie Little in working with the first team this week, but said he had not decided who would start against Houst Saturday.

The SEC may use a double method of deciding its Sugar Bowl representative in the event of a tie. If there is a two-way tie involving teams that faced each other, the regular season winner would go.

Evening TV Schedule

Election Team

John Chancellor, lower right, and David Brinkley, lower left, who co-anchored NBC News' coverage of the Republican and Democratic National Conventions, will co-anchor the network's election night coverage.

They'll report the national and state-by-state presidential contests and offer analysis of those races.

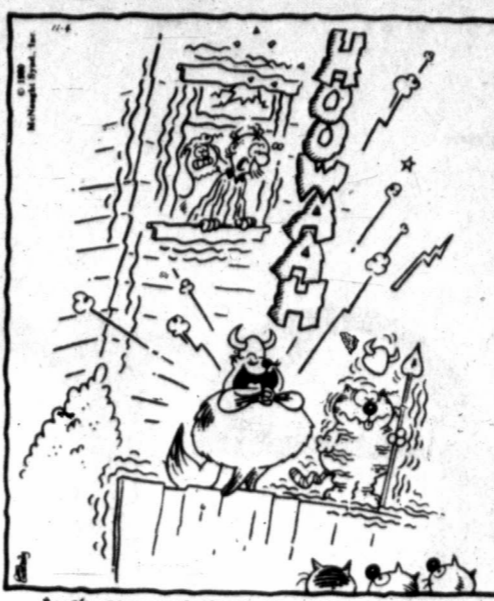

With them will be Tom Brakow, upper left, covering the Senate races, and Jessica Savitch, reporting on House and gubernatorial contests.

Your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

Wednesday, Nov. 5, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY: Those who share your birthday include actress Elke Sommer, Roy Rogers and the late Vivian Leigh. In the coming year, you try to lure your more practical friends into joining you in a madly romantic adventure. Social activities will take on a new importance in both your business and personal life. Financial security can be enhanced by some intelligent investments and a systematic savings program. The right romantic partner will make a favorite dream come true.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): The morning should slide by smoothly enough, but business considerations can slow you down in the early afternoon. Extra cash is available from an unexpected source.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Tend to your own affairs before trying to sort things out for others. Your generous nature comes to the fore, along with an urge to travel. Check the costs involved before making vacation plans.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Concentrate on doing one thing at a time. Progress is slow but sure during morning hours, and the pace will pick up in the afternoon. Relaxing at home with a good book appeals to you this evening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Give an old idea a new twist if hoping to recycle it. Scholastic affairs and travel matters require careful handling. It is now possible to obtain something which has eluded you in the past.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A sudden, confidential proposal will give you the edge over competitors. Your love of adventure brings you new happiness! Move ahead with speed and the knowledge that success is close at hand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Tap new talents to improve profits. A conversation which takes place today could be part of a chain of events that will boost your career in the near future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Keep abreast of financial developments. Take the time you need to write an important letter. The ability to communicate your thoughts clearly, concisely is a great asset in business.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A new alliance involving friends or relatives could prove disappointing. Make sure partner knows where you stand on a financial issue. If a tax question arises, consult the experts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Steer clear of schemes that promise "something for nothing." Influential people may not be on your wavelength right now. Timing is the key to greater success in business.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A partnership could make it hard for you to advance some special plans today. Compromise is the intelligent way to solve domestic conflicts. Lace your logical arguments with good humor.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Attend to family obligations before turning your attention to business matters. Someone close to you needs extra encouragement, but watch your step if you decide to play matchmaker.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): When tackling complex work assignments be systematic. The emphasis is on assuming greater responsibility without waiting to be asked. Higher-ups are looking for a show of initiative.

GOREN BRIDGE

By CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF

Both vulnerable. South deals.

NORTH
 ♠ J97
 ♥ AKQ74
 ♦ 432
 ♣ 54

WEST EAST
 ♠ AKQ542 ♥ 1083
 ♦ J862 ♥ 1053
 ♣ 976 ♦ A108
 ♠ Void ♠ J972

 ♥ 9
 ♦ KQJ5
 ♣ AKQ10863

The bidding:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 2 ♥ Pass
 4 ♠ Pass 4 ♥ Pass
 5 ♠ Pass Pass Pass
 Opening lead: King of ♠

Good defense is an exercise in logic. If you put together the information you have gleaned from the bidding and the play, you are more likely to come up with the correct solution.

When he opened the bidding, South thought that his hand contained definite slam potential. However, North's heart rebid dampened his enthusiasm, so South wisely decided to settle for the club game. Note that he could not risk asking for aces, because he would have had no place to go had North responded with one ace.

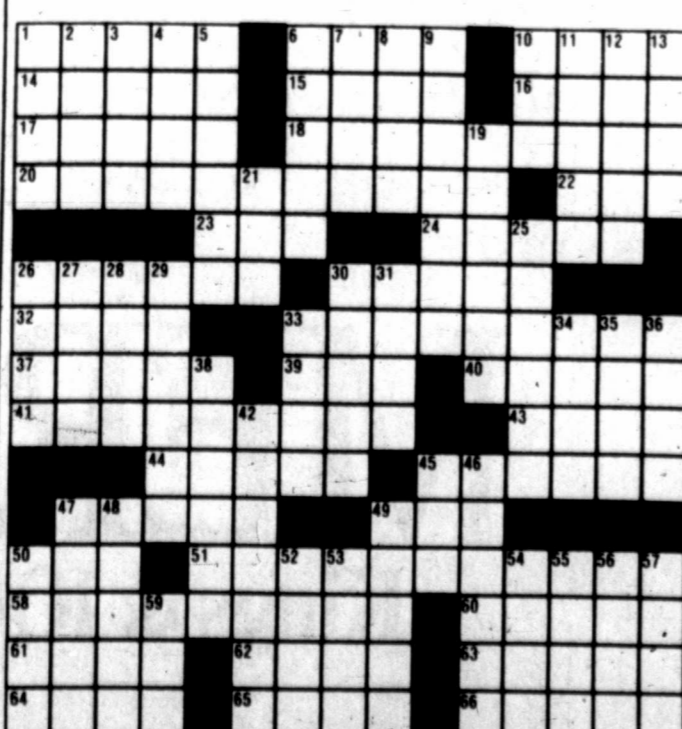

West led the king of spades, and East dutifully played his low spade to show an odd number of cards in the suit. Now West shifted to the nine of diamonds. East won the ace and paused to consider what he had learned about the hand.

Obviously, West knew that he could not cash another spade trick—if the spades were going through a second time, West would have cashed a spade before shifting.
