Reagan calls for boycott of airport

WASHINGTON (AP) - With the 39 freed American hostages returning home, the Reagan administration is calling for an international boycott of Beirut airport and says it may undertake military strikes against terrorist camps in the Mid-dle East.

President Reagan was planning to salute the hostages at Andrews Air Force Base this afternoon in what was described by his spokesman as a brief, simple greeting ceremony on their arrival from Weisbaden, West Germany. All were pronounced in good mental and physical health Monday after checkups at the U.S. military base there.

Twenty-nine of the freed hostages and about 40 relatives left the Rhein-Main Air Base aboard a special TWA flight for Andrews. The 10 remaining Americans had made 'private arrangements," officials

"We ought to put Beirut International off limits until Beirut puts terrorists off limits," said a senior U.S. official who briefed reporters on the condition that he not be identified.

Elaborating on the action Monday night, Secretary of State George P Shuitz said the number of American carriers with flights to Beirut is negligible but that many Americans are ticketed to Beirut by foreign airlines. He said this practice will be

Twenty-nine former hostages on their way home

WIESBADEN, West Germany (AP) Twenty-nine Americans freed after being held hostage for 17 days by Lebanese Shiite Moslem hijackers took off from the U.S. Air Force base near Frankfurt today on the final stage of their long journey

About 300 people, many waving small American flags, cheered and applauded as the freed Americans, accompanied by about 40 family members, boarded a TWA L-1011

The plane was headed for Andrews Air Force Base just outside

Washington, and the White House said President Reagan was scheduled to welcome the former hostages at about 3 p.m. EDT.

Robert B. Oakley, director of the State Department's Office For combating Terrorism, said 10 of the Americans, who were aboard TWA Flight 847 when it was hijacked June 14, had made "private arrange-

"Some will stay in Europe a little longer and a couple have already left," Oakley said. He did not identify the 10 and did not say if those who had left were bound for the United States.

U.S. Navy Capt. Jay Coupe, a spokesman for the hostage reception in West Germany, said that one or two of the former hostages might spend tonight at the U.S. military hospital in nearby Wiesbaden for further medical tests. He refused to give their names.

Gilmore said a few of the group may experience "non-serious problems down the road such as overall fatigue and some difficulty relating to unknown situations," but added that "they really did not undergo a tremendous amount of psychological trauma.

Many of the ex-hostages carried flowers and waved back to the crowd as they boarded the plane. The 29 former hostages had been driven to the Rhein-Main base with their relatives in three buses, following the overnight stay in Wiesbaden.

After arriving in Frankfurt on Monday, the former hostages were taken 24 miles west to the hospital, where they were reunited with relatives and telephoned other family members in the United States.

Many former hostages and their families left the hospital later in the day to shop or dine in downtown Wiesbaden, a picturesque resort city with natural hot springs.

Parliament elects Gromyko Soviet president

MOSCOW (AP) - Andrei Gro- discounted them. myko, the Soviet Union's foreign minister for the past 28 years, was elected president today at a national Parliament session after being nominated by Communist Party chief Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

Georgia party chief Eduard A. Shevardnadze, 57, a new full member of the Politburo who has a reputation for being tough on corruption, was named to replace Gromyko, 75, in the Foreign Min-

Gromyko's election was a major departure from the recent Kremlin practice of having the party leader also hold the title of chief of state.

There had been rumors in Moscow that Gromyko might be named president, but most Western observers

There was speculation after the announcement that the naming of Gromyko amounted to a graceful exit of a well-respected member of the Kremlin "old guard" as the Moscow leadership swings to a new generation. However, it also showed that Gorbachev, who has made domestic economic issues his prime concern, is now ready to take control of the field of foreign policy, although Gro-myko as president is still expected to be a major figure on the international scene.

Gorbachev was elected to the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, which would allow him to represent the Soviet Union at international gatherings in Gromyko's place.

The official report of Monday's session of the party Central Committee said the Politburo removed

Romanov, 62, for "health reasons" at his own request, but it was clear that he had been ousted

Shevardnadze, 57, was elevated from alternate to voting status on the Politburo at the Monday session. Gromyko did not become a full member of the Politburo until 1973, 16 years after he took over the Foreign Ministry portfolio.

Gromyko was unanimously elected by the 1,500 deputies to the Supreme Soviet following Gorbachev's brief nominating speech.

Gorbachev said the party Central Committee had decided in its Monday meeting that Gromyko should be nominated. "The name of Andrei Andreiye-vich Gromyko is well-known both in our country and elsewhere as an eminent political activist, one of the oldest members of the party, who makes a great contribution to our foreign policy," Gorbachev said. Gorbachev noted that the posts of general secretary and chairman of the presidium - or the presidency — were linked in 1977.

"In the conditions of that time, the uniting of such posts was justified," he said. "Changes in legislation occurred and control improved on managing bodies.

Lebanon to protest plan to close airport

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Leba non plans to protest a U.S. campaign to close Beirut airport to international travel following the hostage-taking hijack of TWA Flight 847 by Shiite Moslem extremists, a government official said today.

The official, who spoke only on rate official, who spoke only on condition he remain anonymous, said the foreign ministry was in the process of instructing Lebanon's ambassador to Washington, Abdallah Buhabib, to lodge a formal protest with the U.S. State Department against the Ameri-

Several were taken by bus to the local U.S. military shopping center to buy new clothes.

"I'm wearing a pajama shirt and the same pants I've had on for two weeks," Toga told reporters.

Scores of relatives flew to West

Germany during the day.
Former hostage Robert Brown, of Stow, Mass., hugged his wife, Donna Jill, on a hospital balcony as reporters shouted questions up to them. 'What are you doing?" one reporter asked.

"Kissing," he replied. With the Browns was their 13-year-old-daughter, Melissa.

The Reagan administration hinted Monday that the United States would strike terrorist training camps or support bases in retaliation for the June 14 hijacking to Beirut of the TWA jet the hostages were on. National security adviser Robert C. McFarlane said there are "two or three strategic locations in the Middle East" that might be targets.

The State Department announced it was taking legal action and diplomatic steps to isolate the Beirut airport and Secretary of State George P. Shultz said the United States knows the identities of the hijack-

Shultz, in an interview on the PBS program MacNeil-Lehrer Newshour, was asked if the United States would go after the hijackers and he replied, "We will. Among other things, I think there are legal steps that will be taken, and it's important

In recounting the story of their captivity, two of the former hostages said they were kicked and beaten by the gunmen who hijacked the TWA airliner on an Athens-

Rome flight. Asked to describe the scene on the jetliner, Brown said: "When they (the hijackers) first gave the demand that everybody should (get) down, people did not go down (and) they came along and hit them on the back of the neck and hit them on the back of their heads and in some cases kicked them in the ears. "I was kicked in the face one time," and suffered a broken blood vessel in one eye as a result, said the 42-year-old Brown, one of four hostages who were separated from the main group when they later were removed from the TWA jet in Robert Trautmann, 37, recalled the death of TWA passenger Robert Dean Stethem, 23, a U.S. Navy frog-man who was brutally slain by the hijackers on the first day of the drama.

"I heard somebody beaten, I heard somebody screaming," he told reporters. "The second time we landed in Beirut, I heard a shot, but I didn't see anything."

The ex-hostages drew sharp distinctions between the extremist hijackers and Lebanon's Amal militia, the mainstream Shiite group that later held most of the Americans in houses scattered throughout Beirut. Amal leader Nabih Berri was the pivotal figure in negotiations for hostages' release

They said Amal treated them humanely, and probably saved their Toga said most of the hostages were kept in small groups in slum-like apartments infested with rats and cockroaches.

Brown said his group, guarded by the radical Shiite Hezbollah, was held in steel cells in what appeared to be a prison.

Trautman said: "The people who hijacked us were animals. I don't feel sympathy for anyone who participates in a hijacking or in the murder of innocent people. Maffet said rooms had been provided for a debriefing of the ex-hostages by U.S. government officials from Washington, but he declined to give further details.

Monday's Politburo changes, and the addition of two new party secretaries, demonstrated that Gorbachev has forcefully and rapidly consolidated power since succeeding Chernenko less than four months ago.

Gorbachev may have forced the ouster of Romanov, a reputed party hardliner with a tough, orthodox attitude toward economic management that contrasts with Gorbachev's calls for limited reform.

Romanov's reputation also has been tarnished with rumors of the sort of personal excesses Gorbachev says he wants to eradicate.

Romanov was probably hurt by widely circulated stories that he borrowed priceless porcelain from Leningrad's Hermitage Museum in 1978 and smashed it in celebration of his daughter's wedding, and that he behaved badly during his last official visit to Finland.

When Andropov died, Romanov - along with Gorbachev — was seen as a possible successor if the leadership passed to a younger man.

But Chernenko, then 72, was elected, leaving Gorbachev and his rival to jockey for position in another succession battle.

Gromyko has outlasted Soviet leaders Josef Stalin, Nikita S. Khrushchev, Leonid I. Brezhnev, Yuri V. Andropov and Konstantin U. Chernenko.

Although he had been considered Brezhnev backer, Gromyko was thought to have switched allegiance in Brezhnev's last year in power to become a backer of Andropov, who succeeded Brezhnev after his death Nov. 10, 1982.

Under Andropov, Gromyko's star rose. In March 1983, he added the title of first deputy premier to his portfolios of foreign minister and member of the Politburo. The move was seen as simultaneously enhancing his prestige and strengthening Andropov's hand. Gromyko generally took a backseat to the leaders he loyally served during the years that the Soviet Union cemented its grip on Eastern Europe and rose to become a nuclear power. But Tass once said he took part in "the most important foreign politi-cal developments of our time" and former U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance commented that Gromyko had "few peers in the modern world" as a diplomat. The craggy face, its jaw seemingly permanently set beneath hornrimmed glasses, became instantly recognizable to the outside world.

As he ended a tour as the first Soviet U.N. ambassador in 1948, Gromyko was quoted as saying he hoped he would never return to the United taken on more influence in Brezhnev's declining years, Gromyko never was considered the forger of Soviet foreign policy — a role that may have saved him from blame for its failures.

He served instead as the articulator of Kremlin positions to the world thr in his speeches. Gromyko also was known for his off-the-cuff speaking ability and his talent at handling the world press with a mixture of vitriolic rhetoric and sarcas-

Goldwater tells a slightly different tale: "My old grandfather, who was the mayor of Prescott at that time, got a horse, got the key to the jail from the sheriff and went down to the jail that night, got Mr. Udall onto the horse and told him to get the hell out of town and don't come back."

Much of the Goldwater-Udall humor centers on their unsuccessful bids for the presidency -Goldwater as the GOP nominee in 1964, Udall in the Democratic primaries of 1976.

"I used to say that Barry was beat by 17 million votes by Lyndon Johnson and I came in second 14 times to Jimmy Carter, Udall said. "Between us, we made Arizona the only state in the union where mothers dare not tell their kids they can grow up and be president.'

Udall recalled that Goldwater was the target of more damn humor in 1964, and he held it better than anybody.'

You remember the old story that Barry was making a new movie and had the studio lined up — 18th Century Fox. And the other one I always remember was after you supposedly had been elected and you were asked what to do if the Soviets attack and you said, 'the first thing is to put the wagons in a circle.' "That was fun," Goldwater responded. "That was so darn long ago, 20 years ago, I'd darn near forgot about it. That's the only trouble about me and politics in Arizona. Everybody is dead who remembers I ran.' "I hope to reach that situation soon," Udall said. "I get tired of being reminded of being beaten by Jimmy Carter."

"Well," Goldwater said, "that's not as bad as being beaten by Lyndon Johnson.

Udall, who credits Goldwater with bringing campaigning-by-airplane to Arizona, recalled the senator's first speech in St. Johns, a town founded by the Udalls and which he once described to Carter as being "so small you couldn't even lust in your heart."

"When Barry came to St. Johns he was the only candidate in Arizona history who could get God, motherhood, the Fourth of July, the flag and one other thing in the first sentence of his speech," Udall said.

Here are excerpts of editorial reaction to the release of the 39 American hostages in Lebanon:

The Salt Lake Tribune: "In considering the release from Shiite Mos-lem captivity of those 39 Americans, an ancient sentiment comes to mind — It's all over but the shouting.

'And, at the moment, an overabundance of elated shouting might be uncalled for; still unaccounted for are those other seven Americans kidnapped in Lebanon during the past 16 months."

The Arkansas Gazette: "It would be counterproductive to retaliate or even to talk seriously of retaliation, when the shades of differences between the good guys and bad guys remain so subtle and complex...Careless talk about general retaliation surely cannot help the fate of the seven Americans, as well as other Westerners, still in captivity...'

The Arkansas Democrat: "The 39 Americans are on their way home and their Shiite captors are strutting the streets of Beirut as Moslem heroes — the life blood of an American seaman on their hands.

What will we do? Will we retaliate now — or continue as before to threaten retaliation?

Mr. Reagan declares that we gave the terrorists neither rewards nor guarantees for releaseing our people, and that's good. his life. Suggs said today he still has a scar from the beating he received from the hijackers. He said he was bound and threatened with death and was only five feet away when Navy diver Robert Dean Stethem, 23, was beaten and fatally shot.

"The purser, Uli Derickson, saved my life," Suggs said in an interview on NBC's "Today" show. "While they were beating Robert when we had landed in Beirut the second time, I could hear him screaming and yelling and he was just in sheer agony. And then I heard the gun go off...

"And then I could hear them say, 'One more. Five minutes. And the hijacker came back where I was and he was kicking me and hitting me and calling me 'American pig'. And then the stewardess rushed over and she talked to him and said, 'No,

Guards taken hostage in prison riot

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Convicts at the Tennessee State Prison took over the prison hospital today and took five guards hostages, officials said, while heavily armed guards and troopers marched into the state prison at Only after inmates released their hostages fol-lowing an all-night siege.

Twenty nurses were held briefly but were released at the Tennessee State Prison. Five guards at the main prison were taken hostage, according to John Parish, press sec-retary to Gov. Lamar Alexander.

Convicts in Nashville set fire to a pile of uniforms before taking over the hospital, where another fire was set, officials said. At least five Nashville fire trucks were inside the prison compound, along with state troopers and police. Gene Dade, a guard at Tennessee State Prison, said warning shots were fired at the prisoners. Report-ers heard three rounds, No injuries

Myron Wadell, an employee of the blood plasma center near the hospital, said smoke was coming from the medical facility. He said he heard Warden Mike Dutton order the building evacuated.

The episode at the main prison started about 8:30 a.m.

An hour earlier in Only, officers in riot gear and backed by police dogs entered the Turney Center. "There's been no resistance...what-soever," said John Taylor, a Correc-tion Department spokesman. "Most of their inmates are back in their housing units." Turney inmates wielding home-made knives and chains had set fires in three buildings and took a group of fellow prisoners hostage when the siege began at dinnertime on Monday, and warned authorities that retaliation would cause "killing and harm on both sides."

One inmate was stabbed, another had a heart attack and three were beaten in the disturbance that broke out Monday at Turney Center after some inmates were denied food because they didn't wear uniform shirts to dinner, officials said. They have been working on the cafeteria this morning, throwing rocks. And they are on top of the leased by their Shi'ite Moslem captors and their ordeal is over, there will be a natural tendency for Americans to forget.

That's what happened after the Iranian hostage crisis in the early days of Ronald Reagan's first term. And after the last American body was brought home following the truck bombing of the U.S. Marine barracks in Beirut. And after countless other occurrences of terroristsponsored violence against Americans. After the pain and the suffering end, Americans are prone to push from their consciousness any thought of seeking a way to resolve the situation that keeps another hostage crisis just a heartbeat away. So the saga continues and soon the 17 days the Americans were held hostage will fade into memory, the brutal murder of Robert Stetham will be forgotten and this most recent exhibition of terrorist insanity will become merely another in a long list of assaults on innocent Americans.

Of course all Americans revel in the safe return of the hostages. That was the primary con-terrorism is refined.

Now that the remaining 39 cern throughout the 17-day or-American hostages have been re- deal. It's a great satisfaction to realize that this situation ended without further loss of American

But it would be extremely naive to assume that the ending of this hostage crisis ends the threat to Americans; it doesn't. As has been illustrated all too graphically in recent months, almost as soon as one hostage crisis ends another is beginning.

For that reason it's imperative that the Reagan administration continue to place top priority on developing effective methods for protecting Americans traveling abroad. Until such methods are in routine use, no American traveling overseas can feel completely safe.

The administration also must develop its game plan for combating terrorism because until it does, America will continue to be subject to the whims of any group with a bomb that can grab and hold an American hostage.

In an earlier time, Reagan spoke of responding to terrorism with swift and certain retribution. He should remember that when the policy for countering gentina was viewed as a moderate, cautious politician when he took office. That he may be, but in less than two years he has also proved tough and courageous, as demonstrated most recently by his dramatic campaign to straighten out the economy.

Man of courage

In a series of sudden moves last month, Alfonsin stopped a run on Argentine banks with a brief bank holiday, imposed wage and price controls to stem an inflation rate of more than 1,000 percent a month, replaced the increasingly weak Argentine peso with a new currency to restore the confidence of Argentines in their own money, and promised to back up these reforms by ordering his government to stop printing funny

Alfonsin's economic plan is pure shock treatment, but it may be the only hope of returning to a prosperity that the country has not known since the 1940s, when Argentine meat and grain helped feed a war-ravaged world. Argentine governments since then have experimented with various economic programs, but none have been wholly successful.

When Alfonsin took office in 1983, his economic policies were characteristically cautious. He formulated a too-gentle inflation policy that attempted to slow the rate by permitting monthly wage increases equal to only 90 percent of the previous month's inflation. It failed miserably. He tried to rally other deeply indebted Latin American nations

President Raul Alfonsin of Ar- into a united front to resist the demands for austerity being made by their creditor banks and the International Monetary Fund. That, too, failed. Mexico, Brazil and other Latin debtors cut their own deals with the fund, and left Argentina to cope with its $48 billion debt virtually Aides to Alfonsin say that by April of this year he realized that half-measures were not working, so he replaced his political appointees in the Finance Ministry with a team of young technocrats, immunized against politics. They persuaded him that only a bold stroke could shake Argentines from their cynical. every-man-for-himself attitude toward economic matters.

The sudden run on several Argentine banks forced Alfonsin to start putting the bold plan of his technocrats into effect earlier than he wanted to, but it appears to have had a salutary effect so far. There has been no financial panic, and public-opinion polls indicate that Argentines are largely supportive of Alfonsin. These are hopeful signs.

It is just possible that Argentina's political leaders of the recent past sold their fellow citizens short, underestimating their willingness to sacrifice for the good of the nation. They certainly underestimated Alfonsin's willingness to sacrifice for Argentina. He is risking the future of his government and his political career - a career that certainly will end abruptly if his economic experiment fails.

Pentagon hid chopper's flaws

ASHINGTON — The Pentagon's failure to correct dangerous flaws in its equipment is an outrage that we've been reporting on for years. Yet the military brass continue to pretend there's no problem.

The CH-47 Chinook helicopter, for example, has a nasty habit of crashing to earth and killing its occupants. If these helicopters had down by terrorists, there would have been a national uproar. But they were downed, according to the accident reports, by faulty transmissions that the brass failed to correct. Accidents might have been prevented and lives saved if the mili-tary had been less stubborn about admitting mistakes. We've caught the Army in public statements that are at best misleading and at worst outright lies, for example, concerning a fatal accident we first cited more than a year ago.

A Chinook helicopter crashed at an air show in Mannheim. West Germany, on Sept. 11, 1982, killing eight Americans and 38 Germans, British and French parachutists. The cause of the crash was identified as a malfunction in the "combining transmission," which normally keeps the Chinook's two sets of blades from chopping into each other.

After the Mannheim crash experts assembled behind closed doors. According to a former Army safety official, they admitted that there had been 22 Chinook accidents involving the transmission during the 18 months prior to the Mannheim crash.

RUSSELL BAKER

But Army officials have vehemently denied this. A recent frontpage story in the Washington Post, for example, quoted a high-level official "surrounded with the Army's top safety specialists" as saying they were not aware "of any previous incidents involving the combining transmission.

While this may have been technically arguable, it was misleading. The underlying cause of the Mannheim crash, according to documents obtained by our associate Donald Goldberg, was a malfunction in the forward transmission. This ultimately led to the helicopter's two sets of blades hitting each other.

Essentially, the crash of the CH-47C resulted when the lubricator oil jets in the forward transmission input assembly became clogged," explained the final report of a Defense Department panel of Army records show a number of revious Chinook accidents so similar to the one in Mannheim that the safety experts must have been aware of the problem. In fact, the Army's final report on the Mannheim tragedy noted that a CH-47 'experienced a similar but not fatal problem at Fort Carson, Colo., approximately six weeks prior to the Mannheim accident."

Accident reports involving Chinooks, obtained under the Freedom of Information Act, make us wonder how many times the same thing can go wrong before the Army decides it ought to correct a problem - or at east admit there is one

More examples? Five crewmen were killed in the crash of a Chinook in West Germany on Feb. 25, 1980 two-and-a-half years before the Mannheim air show accident. According to the heavily-censored accident report, "At approximately 1610, at an altitude of 500 feet above ground level, the aircraft experienced meshing of the rotor blades and subsequently crashed."

The four other accident reports dealt with crashes - three in Vietnam and one in Alabama - that claimed a total of 25 American lives. The accidents dated back to 1968.

NO PHEWS IS GOOD PHEWS: Rep. Edward Feighan, D-Ohio, would like to borrow a White House maintenance crew — the one that located and removed a cricket that was trapped in an air vent and was keeping Nancy Reagan awake with its chirping. Judging by the awful smell that's enveloping his office, Feighan thinks there may be "a dead rat smothered in anchovies" somewhere in the wall near an air vent. The House maintenance men can't find it.

WATCH ON WASTE: Thanks to the beneficence of the federal taxpayers, Miami has a new elevated rapid-transit system. It cost $1 billion to build. It would have been cheaper to give each rider cash to purchase and maintain a new car. Now Los Angeles wants a transit system just MINI-EDITORIAL: Recent reports from California say that some moderate Republicans are trying to per-suade former President Gerald Ford to run for the Senate next year Alan Cranston. We have a lot of respect for Cranston, who would be hard to replace in the Senate. But we also have a fondness for the decent, unassuming, old-fashioned politician who did so much to restore Americans' faith in their government after Richard Nixon did his best to undermine it. We think Ford never got the credit he deserved. A Cranston-Ford race would be a sure winner. No matter who won, the Senate would benefit.

Midlander's help cited

Midland, Texas has a good Samaritan that rivals the one in the Bible, and Midland should know about

A speeding 18-wheeler ran an elderly couple off Interstate 10 about 16 miles west of Van Horn as they were pulling a 31-foot trailer in a Suburban. The tow car and trailer were turned over and the Suburban were turned over and the Suburban ended upside down. The seat-belts saved us. An Odessa man helped us get out of the upside-down car and Ed Franke of Midland stopped his pickup to offer assistance.

Both men worked with us for four hours, training to salvage what we hours, trying to salvage what we could for both vehicles were total wrecks, and it was hard work. Ed Franke loaded his pickup and drove us to the El Paso airport for a 5 p.m. flight back to Austin.

Ed Franke missed his business appointment, drove back to Midland that evening, rented a U-Haul the next day, and Ed and his wife, Wanda, loaded our possessions and pulled them to Austin on Saturday.

Our injuries were slight, and the aches and trauma didn't hit us until Friday, but Elsie and Jim Warden of Austin are eternally grateful for the help of two West Texas men.

'Mummers' sets great summer!

What a summer, Midland! Fourth of July fireworks (rather common this time of year), Midland Centennial celebration, and even a Centennial edition of Midland's renowned Summer Mummers. The Yucca Theatre has been "padded" to improve sound intelligibility, the Summertime Girls are gorgeous (as usual) and even Lum Medlin (Midway's first actual resident) wanders through the melodrama subtitled They Could Lead Their Horses to Midland Water, But Only a Jackass Would Drink It."

Summer Mummers villains are as hissable as always, the hero as feckless, the heroine as pure, and the popcorn as delicious (and throwable) as in the past 36 years. Alcoholic drinks will be banned two evening this year (July 11 and Aug. 8), and low-cost "bleacher seats" have been opened in the balcony (where popcorn is never thrown) for those who might want to sample their first Mummers before becoming an addict with the rest of us.

But alas! Again this summer the very patrons who will be pleading for tickets to sold-out performances in August are passing up available tables in July. Even opening night (July 5), with special celebration and souvenirs, is not sold out! In fact, the box office at Midland Community Theatre reports choice reservations remaining for every performance in July, although some nights are filling rapidly.

Two notes of import to old-time Summer Mummers fans: Curtain times have been moved up for every performance, to 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays. Additionally, "Mule Train" is back in the Gala Olio which follows each and every melodrama. See you at the Mummers!

Look what changes are bringing

'Right to Die' dangerous step

Recently the liberal media has been rather one-sided with regard to the "Right to Die" issue. This will help balance it.

"Right to Die" means different things to different people. In some cases legislation is sought to allow doctors to stop caring for people not having "meaningful life."

This legislation is a time bomb, and you could become a victim. So what about living wills? Depending on the wording, rather than making remaining days as rewarding and pain-free as possible, it may provide an excuse to give you no care at all.

The term included in living wills — "extraordinary" medical care — is never defined clearly. Thus you are signing away unspecified treatment in an unknown situation.

Aren't some people "better off dead?" Courts have ruled there is no ogical basis for that assumption. To judge whether your life is worth the living, there's a degree of wisdom needed that is never attained by mortal fallible minds. Yet a government official has "memoed" the living will would trim the aging population and reduce health care expenses. Sound cold? Once mercy killing of any kind is legalized for "persons of sound mind," there will be pressure to kill in assumption for those who can't speak for them-

"Right to Die" is a rose-colored, humanistic un-Biblical, subtle sec-ond step from deciding for our unborn whether they have permision to live.

Barry's catalogue illustrates an important result of many recent changes — the triumph of galloping ackiness —but one that is hard for he news business to report. Consid er a current instanc of galloping tackiness- the decline of American telephone service.

Everybody senses that something unhappy is happening to his telephone. Newspapers have tried to cover the story, only to get hopeless ly entangled in incomprehensible statistics that leave the reader stupefied with boredom. Coverage of mass unease and unarticulated suspicion is not easy. The customer knows that something disturbing is happening. He senses a long, slow, erosive assault on his spirit, but news people cannot report that. Mystifying bills arrive. Baffling explanations are given when the user calls for help. Talking machines dispense wrong information. The newspaper, of course, cannot say, "Americans sank yesterday into melancholy and despair because of possibly incorrect suspicions that their telephone problems are going to get worse and worse." Melancholy is not like an explosion in Beirut. It grows gradually over weeks and months. And things that have been going on for months are hard to justify as news, especially when there was an entertaining space rocket launched yesterday. Things that have been going on for months are even harder to get onto television when there are films of the pope waving, Frank Sin-atra arguing, tanks and misery in the Mideast. And so we gallop on, Barry fears, toward an age when writers of greeting-card verse will receive Pulitzer Prizes for poetry, civics stu-dents will be required to subscribe to the National Enquirer, and Elvis Presley's birthday will be declared a national holiday.

who successfully fought city officials in an effort to open a group home for the mentally retarded in Cleburne says she'll start plans "right away" to open up the home.

Jan Hannah won her five-year battle with Cleburne Monday when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the city could not require a group home for the retarded to seek new zoning when other group homes, such as nursing homes, were not required to

Mrs. Hannah's proposed group home, which she hopes to open Sept. 1, would offer the residents a chance to live independently outside an institutional environment.

Cleburne City Attorney Rita Papaohn said, "The city will do whatever the Supreme Court mandates." She said city officials would not have any comment until they read the court's opinion. The victory won by Ms. Hannah and her clients was not a total one.

Advocates for the retarded had hoped the court would designate the mentally retarded as a special class protected against discrimination as blacks and women are.

We would have been overjoyed if courts had found mentally retarded people deserve higher scrutiny. This is second best," Mrs. Hannah said. Justice Byron R. White, writing for the majority, said "mental retar-

Two ex-convicts held in mosque's bombing

HOUSTON (AP) - Two ex-convicts were held without bond today after they admitted to the June 22 bombing of an Islamic mosque in Houston, federal authorities say.

Charged with illegal possession of explosives Monday were Daniel Allen Russell, 21, on parole for a 1984 robbery, and Randy James Jones, also 21, who is on probation for a 1983 burgiary.

U.S. Magistrate H. Lingo Platter ordered the two Houston men held * without bond for 10 days until their criminal records can be reviewed. Russell and Jones, along with a third man, allegedly were involved in the bombing of the Dar Us Salem mosque.

The Midland Angels, trying to recover from a nightmarish 2-10 road trip to open the second half of the Texas League season, return home tonight with a tribute to the Tall City's Centennial celebration.

A trio of parachuters from West-Tex Sky Sports will drop into Angels Stadium just before game time and deliver the ceremonial first pitch. A large crowd is expected with Petroplex seat cushions being given to the first 1,000 customers in the gate and hot dog, soft drink and popcorn concessions on sale for ¢25 all night.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the Angels, in cooperation with KMID-TV will present the traditional Fourth of July fireworks display at the close of each ballgame.

The Angels are hoping the hoopla surrounding the Centennial-Fourth of July celebrations will inspire the beginning of a new winning streak that will vault the club into contention again for the second half title. against the Dodgers is pivotal. Going ery cracked three homers over the the second half season.

AFTER FINISHING in the basement of the Western Division in the first half, the Angels opened the second half with a win over Beaumont on the road. Then, however, Midland took a nosedive that stretched to nine games, again leaving the Halos

But a strong performance by starter Bob Kipper and a return to form by reliever Todd Fischer, who had two rocky appearances in a row, got the hometowners back in the winning mode. Monday night, however, the Angels were again doused, this time by the strong pitching of Dia-blo Dan Plesac, who has now won three straight starts.

If the Angels entertain hopes of becoming a force in the second half race, this for Midland in the opener with San Antonio will be Doug Banning, making his third start for Midland after being promoted from the Class A Quad City to start the second half of the season. Banning is 0-2 so far as an Angel with a 7.30 ERA.

FOR THE fireworks games, Fred Wilburn is expected to get the start Wednesday, then Ray Chadwick, another recent call-up from Redwood. on Thursday.

Chadwick was impressive in his Midland debut with six strong in-nings before the relief corps let him down in El Paso.

While the pitching staff has struggled so far in the second half, the Angel bats have been picking up steam. Outfielder Reggie Montgom-

Ryan serves up winner to ex-receiver Bochy

Associated Press

Bruce Bochy used to catch Nolan Ryan, and he can tell you it's a lot tougher trying to hit against him.

But Monday night he caught a pitch from the Houston right-hander in the bottom of the 10th inning and drilled it into the seats at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium for a 6-5 Padres' victory.
"I played there three years, so I know he's a power pitcher and he's going to go after you in that spot," said Bochy, who played with the Astros from 1978-80. "But as a catcher you see him from a differ-ent angle. This was only the second time I've faced Nolan in a game."

According to Ryan, Bochy saw the best possible pitch he could see in that situation.

"I gave him a pitch he could hit out of the ballpark," said Ryan, who would have given way to a reliever had there been an 11th inning. "It wasn't where it was supposed to be. We had enough runs to win. I just didn't pitch a good game. I hadn't thrown that many pitches (123 according to Astros' Manager Bob Lillis) but I made some bad pitches in situations where you can't afford Bochy clubbed the first pitch from Ryan, 8-6, into the left-field seats for his third home run of the year. The blow made a winner of Goose Gossage, 2-1, who came in to pitch the 10th inning for the Padres.

The Padres, who trailed 40 at one point, came back to tie it 5-5 in the ninth inning on pinch-hitter Kurt Bevacqua's sacrifice fly.

Montreal Manager Buck Rodgers said. "We came right back from a tough loss (to Philadelphia on Sunday) and beat a very good team." Gary Lucas, 3-0, worked the final two innings to get the victory.

Pirates 1, Mets 0 Rick Reuschel and John Candelaria teamed on a six-hitter and Marvell Wynne lined a run-scoring double in the second inning as Pittsburgh beat New York and sent the Mets down to their sixth straight loss. Reuschel, 6-1, allowed five of the New York hits, striking out even and walking two.

The Pirates, making the most of only four hits, scored the game's only run when Wynne doubled off Sid Fernandez, 2-5.

"That's some job he did with just one day's rest," Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner said of the 36-year-old Reuschel, who pitched one inning and got the victory in a 15-inning triumph Saturday night.

Mets Manager Dave Johnson: "I've exhausted what changes we can do. It's not one or two guys struggling, it's the whole team.

Ray Fontenot scattered seven hits in seven innings and catcher Steve Lake squeezed home the winning run with a sixth-inning bunt as Chi cago beat Philadelphia.

Fontenot, 3-3, struck out four and walked two before giving way to Lee Smith, who pitched the last two innings for his 17th save. Smith struck out five batters, including beleaguered slugger Mike Schmidt with runners on first and second with two out in the ninth.

Schmidt, who criticized Philadelphia fans in an article published in Montreal Saturday as "beyond help and uncontrollable," turned boos into cheers when he took the field for warmups wearing a long flowing wig and dark glasses. He had twe singles in four at-bats, hitting in his 10th straight game.

Angels return to form, fall to Diablos, 6-2

From Staff Reports

EL PASO-After a short respite on Sunday night, the Midland Angels returned to their old habits Monday, falling 6-2 to the Diablos in Texas League action to lower their mark to 2-10 for the young second

El Paso, 9-3, showed Midland that its win Sunday was a fluke right out of the chute by scoring solo runs in each of the first two innings off starter Doug McKenzie, 1-8. Rightfielder DAve Klipstein led off the bottom of the first inning with a double and then came home on a ground out by Billy Joe Robidoux. In the second, Jesus Alfaro cracked his ninth homer of the year, a solo, for the Diablos' second run.

Meanwhile, El Paso starter Dan Plesac was putting the cuffs on the Angel hitters. Plesac, who was clocked at 94 MPH, scattered seven hits and did not allow a run until the eighth inning in picking up his third straight win to improve to 8-4 on the

Drug test shows Howe clean, but his absence still a mystery LOS ANGELES (AP) — Reliever

Steve Howe of the Los Angeles Dodgers had been showing signs of being frustrated, but his problems didn't appear so bad that he would become "incapable of handling his assignment."

The Dodgers, however, came to that decision Monday and placed the left-hander on baseball's restricted

The move came after Howe and his attorney Jim Hawkins met with Dodger officials for less than an hour Monday afternoon to discuss the pitcher's mysterious absence from the Dodgers' game Sunday.

Hawkins advised the Dodgers that Howe submitted to a urinalysis test for drugs Monday afternoon and that the test proved negative.

"THIS SHOWS that this matter is wholly unrelated to Steve's previous drug use," Hawkins said in the statement released by the Dodgers.

After Monday's meeting, Dodger Executive Vice President Fred Claire said in a prepared statement:

'Steve's account of his actions shows that he is incapable of handling his assignment as a member of the Dodger team. In view of this, we must focus our attention on our obligations to the members of the Dodger team and to our fans and act in the best interest of all con-his pitcher but to little avail.

"Well, I was trying to simply encourage him and tell him that those things happen, and don't get down on yourself because you've got lot of ability and forget about it. That tomorrow is another day," the manager said. "We spent a lot of time together that night."

Glenn Cook notches No. 2

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — When pitcher Glenn Cook was called up to the Texas Rangers from the team's Class AAA Oklahoma City farm club, he got his first major-league start, picked up his first major-league victory and headed back to Oklahoma City for the birth of his first child. Cook's baby has been born. But with that exception, the 25-year-old righthander felt almost as good in his second start Monday night as he picked up his second victory, this time a 10-5 triumph against the California Angels. "I was still a little nervous out there tonight," said Cook. "I made a few mistakes and this is the bigs, so when you make mistakes you usually get penalized. But we scored enough runs so it didn't matter." Ranger Pete O'Brien backed the rookie pitcher while pulling out of a batting slump, hitting a home run and two doubles and driving in five Cook pitched six innings, giving up all five California runs on 10 hits, including Ruppert Jones' three-run homer in the sixth. Dave Rozema went 2 2/3 innings before Dave Schmidt came on with the bases loaded and threw a double-play ball to Juan Benjauez for his save.

Loser Jim Slaton, 47, lasted only two innings, giving up seven runs, five of them unearned, on five hits and two walks.

Texas scored five unearned runs to take a 7-2 lead in the second. Larry Parrish reached base on a fielding error by third baseman DeCinces and one out later Glenn Brummer singled.

After the second out, Oddibe McDowell walked to load the bases and Wayne Tolleson hit a two-run single. Bell then walked and O'Brien followed with a three-run double.

After Jones' 12th homer cut the Rangers' lead to 7-5, the Rangers scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth on pinch hitter Bill Stein's single. They added a run in the seventh when O'Brien led off with a double and scored on a single by Parrish.

Brewers 5, Red Sox 1 Cecil Cooper hit two doubles,

including a two-run shot in the first inning, and Pete Vuckovich and Bob Gibson combined on a five-hitter as Milwaukee won its third game in a row and handed the Red Sox their third consecutive setback and 10th in the last 13 games.

Paul Molitor and Jim Gantner singled off rookie Mike Trujillo to begin the Brewers' first and Cooper doubled them home. Cooper went to third on Robin Yount's infield hit and scored on Ted Simmons' sacrifice fly. Boston scored in the fourth on Jim Rice's 15th homer.

homer with two out in the ninth inning off Kansas City relief ace Dan Quisenberry for a 42 lead and Jay Howell notched his 17th save after allowing a run in the bottom of the ninth. Baker, who drove in Oakland's first run with a third-inning grounder, lashed a 2-1 pitch deep into the left-field bullpen for his 10th home run of the season after Rob Picciolo opened the Oakland ninth with an infield single off starter Danny Jackson, who then fielded Alfredo Griffin's bunt and threw too late to second.

Mariners 3, White Sox 1

Seattle's Frank Wills and Chicago's Floyd Bannister were locked in a scoreless pitching duel until the eighth inning when, with one out, Ivan Calderon singled, Gorman Thomas walked and Cowens hit his eighth home run of the season. The White Sox, who stumbled to their sixth straight defeat and 10th in the last 11 games, scored in the bottom of the eighth on Rudy Law's RBI single that chased Wills.

Yankees 4, Blue Jays 1

Don Mattingly hit a tie-breaking home run with two out in the eighth inning off Doyle Alexander and Joe Cowley and Dave Righetti combined on a three-hitter. Alexander has given up 19 home runs this season, tops in the AL. New York added two insurance runs in the ninth on Ron Hassey's double, singles by Willie Randolph and Mike Pagliarulo - who had an RBI double in the fifth - and an error by second baseman Damaso

Tigers 7, Orioles 1

Darrell Evans clouted a two-run homer in the second inning and Kirk Gibson and Larry Herndon added solo shots in the third and fourth, respectively, off Scott McGregor, who became the 17th Baltimore starter to fail to survive the fourth inning. Detroit got seven-hit pitching from Randy O'Neal and Willie Hernandez.

The loss was Baltimore's third in as many games against the Tigers this season and gave the Orioles a dismal 2-13 record against East Division contenders Detroit, New York and Boston.

Rozier, Oilers agree Rozier won the Heisman Trophy

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers are gambling a four-year, $2.25 million contract that running back Mike Rozier will be more successful in his second attempt at playing back-to-back football seasons.

The Oilers ended a year-long pur-suit of Rozier Monday by signing the former Nebraska All-American only days after he completed his United States Football League career with the Jacksonville Bulls.

Rozier, the No. 2 rusher in the USFL, now has barely three weeks to prepare for his first National Football League season with the Oilers, who open camp July 19 at San Angelo, Texas.

He intends to be ready.

"It won't be as hard as coming out of college with an ankle injury and besides, I didn't run the ball that much this year," Rozier said. "I didn't get banged up that much."

Rozier moved from Heisman Trophy winner at Nebraska into the camp of the Pittsburgh Maulers but hobbled to only 782 yards rushing in a disappointing rookie year. He rallied at Jacksonville this season to finish with 1,361 yards, second to New Jersey's Herschel Walker. Another reason Rozier expects more success with the Oilers is their young and talented offense line.

"All running backs look for big guys like the Oilers have to block for them," Rozier said. "I came out of this season healthy, not like when I went to Pittsburgh.

Most end plays are designed to trap a specific opponent. But once in while you don't care which defender you saddle with the lead either must do something to help

Note that South did not feel compelled to open with a forcing twobid despite his powerful playing hand. With his distribution he was reasonably sure that one diamond would not get passed out. East-West made life as difficult as possible for South by preempting to the hilt, but South was just too strong to be kept out of the auction no matter what the level.

Against five diamonds West led the king of spades. Obviously, declarer's problem was to avoid losing a heart trick and two clubs. There are any number of ways you might tackle the hand after drawing trumps. You could play ace-king and another heart in the hope of dropping the queen, finding a 3-3 break or having West turn up with four searts. If that fails, you can try eading a club to the queen. And if hat doesn't work, you can fall back on a finesse of the ten of clubs. The various possibilities combine to well over 90 percent, but fate is unkind in this case.

Declarer increased his odds to 100 percent by a simple expedient. He ruffed the opening lead, drew the outstanding trumps, and then cashed the ace-king of hearts. Next he crossed to dummy with a trump and led the table's last spade. Instead of ruffing, however, he discarded the three of hearts and claimed his contract.

If the defender who wins plays another spade, he concedes a ruffsluff. If he shifts to a club, declarer cannot lose more than one club trick. What happens if a defender exits with a heart? If East wins the spade and returns a heart, declarer sluffs a club and the jack of hearts in dummy is promoted for another club discard. If West wins the spade and returns a low heart, declarer simply covers with the jack. Should East produce the queen, declarer ruffs and the board's last heart is set up for a club discard.

LONDON (AP) — Want to know how to keep a boyfriend like rock star Mick Jagger? Model Jerry Hall, Jagger's girlfriend for eight years and the mother of his daughter, says the keys are a clean house, good cooking and plenty of sex.

"You just have to be a maid in the living room, a cook in the kitchen and a tart in the bedroom," Miss Hall, 28, told Woman, a British magazine, in an interview published today. "As long as the house is clean and organized and they are fed and they have plenty of sex, they'll never run away."

The Texan said she learned the formula from her

The facilities were "our gift to the people of Chicago...especially for people who need tender loving care," said the 74-year-old Roman Catholic nun and founder of the Missionaries of Charity. Mother Teresa said Monday she saw no irony in bringing her mission from the crowded streets of Calcutta, India, where it was founded 35 years ago, to one of the wealthiest nations of the world. The number (of impoverished people) is less, but there is the same hunger for love, the same hunger for food...You can not spend your time comparing, or you get nothing done," she said. ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) Frank Sinatra says he's going back to New Jersey now that a casino commissioner who called since Casino Control Commissioner Joel R. Jacobson criticized him and singer Dean Martin for a December 1983 incident at a casino. Martin and Sinatra had forced a blackjack dealer to deal from her hand rather than a plastic card dispenser, violating a state law. The two later apologized, saying they were unfamiliar with

Jacobson said Trudeau did not accurately portray the incident in his comic strip, one of a series that also depicted Sinatra as a willing associate of organized crime figures.

'One's sense of justice is easily outraged when a big guy' unjustly pushes a 'little guy,'" Jacobson said Sunday. "I find it equally disturbing, satire notwithstanding...when a 'big guy' unjustly pushes around another 'big guy."

Sinatra's spokesman said Monday the crooner will appear at the Golden Nugget Casino but there is Sinatra said in a statement: "I cannot help but admire Commissioner Jacobson's forthrightness and want to thank him for having the courage to come forth and put things in their proper perspective."

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chairman of United Press International said lawyers for a group of uni-dentified investors have made an offer to buy the news service, which has been under federal bankruptcy protection since April.

The offer exceeds $14 million, according to an unidentified source quoted Monday in a UPI story that was made available to The Associated Press.

The UPI story said chairman Luis Nogales declined to name the prospective investors because doing so might jeopardize the sale.

"I will confirm that we received an offer today from a very credible group," Nogales was quoted as saying. The new investors are represented by attorneys David Rubenstein and Richard Beatty, the UPI story said.

In its Tuesday editions, The Washington Post quoted Rubenstein as saying the group numbers fewer than six and includes individuals with experience in the media.

Gold lower

LONDON (AP) - The dollar rallied in brisk European trading early today amid new optimism about the American economy. Gold prices moved lower.

Explaining the dollar's strength, currency dealers pointed to the expected release later in the day of U.S. factory goods orders for May. Market predictions were for a sharp jump, perhaps as much as 2 per-cent, after the 0.3 percent decline in April, the dealers reported.

That would be new evidence of a resumption of the strong American economic recovery, which slowed during late winter and early spring.

Thursday's rally pulled the dol-lar nearly level with its value before a wave of selling hit last week amid disappointing news on America's trade balance.

"There hasn't been any negative news (today)," said a Frankfurt dealer. "Interest rates are steady. Last week couldn't push the dollar below 3.02 marks, so everything points to keeping the dollar where it is for the new $2 billion decision against the Exxon Corp., the government has collected or received judgments totaling more than $4 billion for overpricing by the oil industry during the energy shortages of the

A special federal court ruled Monday that the world's largest company overcharged its customers by $895.5 million for crude oil from its Hawkins Field in east Texas from 1975 until 1981.

But the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals agreed with the Reagan administration that "it would be impossible to identify the ultimate victims of Exxon's overcharges due to the pervasive system of price controls in the petroleum industry.'

The court, therefore, ordered Exxon to pay the $895.5 million plus more than $1 billion in accrued interest to a special Treasury escrow account. Money from that account should be distributed to the 50 states for energy conservation programs, the court said, upholding a lower court ruling. Rep. John Dingell of Michigan, chairman of the House Energy Committee, and other Democrats in Congress have opposed the administration's attempts to use the refunds rather than tax revenues for energy conservation programs. Both attorneys for Exxon and the government said they believe the judgment is the largest ever against a single defendant.

Attorneys for Exxon said the company also will likely be suing some of its minority partners, which owned one-third of the production from Hawkins Fields, to recover some of the judgment.

Those minority partners include other oil giants such as Texaco, said Larry P. Ellsworth, deputy Amoco, Sun, Mobil and Conoco plus chief counsel for the Department of Energy's Economic Regulatory Administration and the chief govthe company wrongly interpreted regulations under the 1973 Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act to price an excessive share of the pro-duction from its 10,000-acre Hawkins billion the total amount of settle-Field near Tyler, Texas, as "new"

The 1973 law set up a two-tier pricing system for domestic production in response to the Arab oil embargo that sent international oil prices trols eight days after assuming from $3 to $13 a barrel. Under the myriad regulations, production from a particular field above the 1972 level was allowed to command a higher price.

Because Exxon had invested mil-oil from the dwindling East Texas field, it contended that a large share of its production was "new" even though the total amount was falling every year.

Ellsworth said the Exxon case raises to between $4 billion and $4.5 ments and judgments the govern-ment has won the past five years in pursuing violations by the oil industry during the price control era. President Reagan abolished the con-

Bank says local economy to rebound

Frank Tromley Staff Writer

Statistically, according to the annual Texas Facts & Figures report released by Texas Commerce Bancshares during a news conference Monday, the Midland-Odessa economies are slowly but surely rebounding from the recent economic downturn that wrecked havoc on the area's energy-based economy.

The impact of then bust lingers on in some segments of the economies of both cities, but Texas Commerce Bancshares' figures show steady growth will continue in several important areas, with some areas showing significant growth. The three areas of strongest growth through 1986, according to the report, should be personal income, retail sales and value added by manufacture. Personal income in the Midland-

Odessa areas is forecast to increase in excess of 8.1 percent from 1985 through 1986. The report noted Midland is one of the most affluent areas in the nation, with estimated per capita income of $18,800 per year, which is 48 percent above the U.S. average. About 15 percent of Midland's households earn $50,000 or more per year, according to the report. In 1983, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce, Midland ranked 8th nationally with a per capita income of $15,507. In that same year, Odessa ranked 127th nationally with per capita income of

RETAIL SALES through 1986 should trail about a percentage point behind personal income at 7.1

In the realm of value added by manufacture, growth in Odessa is forecast to be about double that in Midland, with Odessa's value added by manufacture figure increasing by about 13.1 percent, compared to Mid-land's expected 6.8 percent.

The Texas Commerce Bancshares projects average employment growth in the two cities to be about 3.3 percent, though indications are employment growth may be slightly stronger in Midland.

There is a significant variation between Texas Commerce employment figures and those issued by the Texas Employment Commission for the same period. TEC figures for April 1984 showed the number of persons employed in Odessa to be 62,300 and in April 1985, 65,000. Texas Commerce Bank figures show Odessa with an employment figure of 52,700 for April 1984 and 54,800 for April 1985.

TEC figures for Midland for April 1984 show 60,400 persons employed and in the same month in 1985. 62,100 persons employed. The Texas Commerce Bank report shows those figures to be 51,300 and 52,800 respectively.

ECONOMIST Jim Williams, a partner in the Odessa-based Texas Business Forecasts, said the difference between the TEC figures and those in the Texas Commerce Bancshares report appears to be due to the fact that figures representing only nonagricultural wage and salary employees were used by the bank's economists in compiling the report. This would account for the variation," said Williams, noting that most economists generally feel the figuers for non-agricultural wage and salary employees are more represenative of the true number of persons employed because only those people working strictly for wages or salary are included.

Texas Commerce Bancshares' economists see the populations in Midland and Odessa continuing to grow modestly through 1986. Midland County's population is expected to grow at a rate of about 23 percent, to about 98,000, while Ector County should increase its population at a rate of about 2.5 percent, to as much as 131,200.

Ed Jones, Texas Commerce Bank-Midland president, during Monday's news conference, noted that trade employment in April of this year was 4.2 percent ahead of the same time in 1984, while "service employment is up a remarkable 12 per-

WITH PERSONAL income forecast to grow at a rate of 8.2 percent in 1985, Jones said, it "should cross $2 billion for the first time in Midland next year. Jones further noted that retail sales in Midland, which increased at a rate of 10.4 percent last year, grew at a faster rate than the Texas average and that Midland's retail sales "are expected to cross $1 billion for the first time this year. Texas Commerce Bank-Odessa president Ron Fancher noted that 1984 was "a pivotal year for Odessa as the unemployment rate declained by 40 percent." Fancher observed construction contracts for the first five months of this year "are up 17 percent in Odessa from the same period last year. cent higher than a year ago,"

"Residential contracts are six persaid, "and nonresidential contracts are 26 percent greater than in early

In remarks opening Monday's news conference, Jones said one tends to look forward and wonder what the future's going to bring to the community.

"That can be a tough question," he said, "with uncertain oil prices, declining gas prices, it could be an easy and almost reflex action to pull in your horns and say let's just wait for better days."

ACKNOWLEDGING that some projections would indicate this as a wise course of action, Jones said, "But we don't believe that our future's as dim or as distant as some of those projections might indicate.
"Clearly, Midland's future is tied to the oil and gas business," said

Jones, observing that more than 700 oil and gas and related companies have their offices in Midland. He pointed out that, even with 25 percent of Midland's work force involved in the energy industry, retail sales made impressive gains last year "in a down energy mar-

The economy of Midland, Jones noted, will generally outperform other oil-based economies, since its energy business is focused on research, engineering and financing of energy investments throughout the nation, rather than the cyclical drilling industry that varies sharply with oil prices. Fancher, noting there are mean-ingfull differences between the economies of Midland and Odessa, stated that of the 180 manufacturing facilities in Odessa, 35 have become involved in some phase of the export business. He indicated such activity has maintained, even added, jobs in the area.

Some analysts worry that capital flight has been increasing in recent months as more and more Mexicans with money become jittery about the future course of the economy, oil price cuts and the policies of President Miguel de la Madrid's administration.

Indeed, a sharp fluctuation in the exchange rate of the peso in recent weeks is viewed as a sign that nervous Mexicans want to buy dollars to

When dollars leave the country and aren't replace by fresh revenues the government has less foreign currency to pay its debts and to buy needed goods and services from other countries. The subject of capital flight in this

Hearing set to hear white oil operators

AUSTIN (AP) — A hearing asked by "white oil" operators in the Panhandle Field against the state of Texas was scheduled to begin today in 250th District Court.

The 19 operators want the court to stop the Texas Railroad Commission from enforcing a May 13 order which requires wells with "low temperature and-or high pressure" - LTX - facilities to retest their wells within 75 days.

The commission on June 17 denied a motion for rehearing.

A complaint by Phillips Petroleum Co. in September 1981 resulted in the commission review. Phillips contends that some operators in the Panhandle Field use LTX wells to chill vapor to a white liquid the operators call oil. This is done, Phillips says, to get particular wells classified as oil wells, which can be drilled closer together than gas wells. The suit filed by the operators asked for a temporary restraining order against the commission order, which they contend exceeds the commission's authority and would shut down many of their wells.

El Paso Natural Gas forms partnership with MidCon

EL PASO-(SWN)-Subsidiaries of system at Topock, Arizona to the El Paso Natural Gas Co. (a unit of Burlington Northern Inc.) and Mid-Con Corp. have agreed in principle to form a partnership to buy gas for sale and arrange for its transportation to oil producers engaged in enhanced oil recovery and associated co-generation operations in has steam requirements which are central California. The partnership equivalent to more than 700 million has been tentatively named "ELCon

Gas Marketing Company. The partnership will unite two major transmission companies which have access to virtually all major producing basins in the United States, as well as in Canada and Mexico, thus making available for transportation any gas in North America. Existing facilities would be used for moving the gas to Califor-

It is also anticipated that the partnership would purchase gas for end users to transport in the Mojave Pipeline, a special pipeline to be built to serve the enhanced oil recovery market. Mojave, a 388-mile, 600-million cubic feet a day pipeline project, would extend from the termination of El Paso's and Transwestern Pipeline Company's interstate central Califonia area. Mojave would be built by El Paso, Transwestern and a subsidiary of Pacific Lighting Corporation, parent of Southern California Gas Company. It would operate as a contract carrier of gas.

INVESTOR'S GUIDE Get SS number of one's own

By BILL DOYLE

Q. At the bank where I work, many sweet old ladies use their deceased husband's Social Security numbers on their certificates of deposit and other accounts. These dear women have never worked and do not understand the importance of obtaining their own SS num-

When I explain to them that withholding will occur from their interest if they do not apply for their own SS numbers, most do so. Some do not.

One very nice little lady said she did not "want to upset the apple cart" by changing the number on her account. She signed a Form W-9, claiming her dead husband's SS number as hers. I know this is wrong. But, by signing the W-9, doesn't she relieve the bank of responsibility? A. Nope. When you or anyone else at the bank is aware that a customer has given an incorrect SS number as a "taxpayer identification number,' the bank is not off the hook. Under the rules, the bank is required to use "due diligence" to obtain correct identification numbers from each and every person with interest-paying accounts. The same rule applies to all payers of taxable interest and divi-

The W-9, of course, is the form on which a recipient of interest or dividends attests to providing the correct number. By accepting a W-9 from the lady who used her dead husband's SS number, you didn't use due diligence.

You should have informed that lady that 20 percent of her interest will be taken out as "backup withholding" income tax and that she can be hit with Internal Revenue Service penalties, unless she gets things squared away.

She can do that by writing "applied for" in the taxpayer identification number space on the W-9. Then, she can give the bank her own SS number, after she gets it.

A SS number can be obtained by filling out and mailing Form SS-5, available at Social Security Administration and IRS offices.

In its computers, the IRS matches the identification numbers on W-9s, 1099 "information returns" and individual income tax returns. From recent stories, we all know that the revenooers' computers sometimes goof. Nonetheless, chances are they'll catch up with that little lady sooner or later.

Q. Isn't it true that a widow who has never had a Social Security number won't get in trouble with the Internal Revenue Service if she uses her dead husband's SS number on her income tax returns, bank accounts, etc. for a couple of years after her husband's death?

A. A widow or widower (the rule isn't sexist) is allowed to file a joint income tax return for the markups change year in which the spouse died. For the following two years, the surviving spouse can file as a quali-Prices do not include fying widow or widower - and be taxed at the same rate as on a joint return — if she or he was entitled to file a joint return for the year in which the spouse died, has not remarried and pays more than half the cost of maintaining a home for a dependent child, stepchild or foster child.

Under those circumstances, if a widow uses her late husband's SS number, it's unlikely she'll hear from the IRS. The number she puts on her bank sent to the IRS and with the taxpayer identification number on her income tax returns. The IRS computers shouldn't go "tilt."

Just the same, she should get her own SS num-

Q. Do you recommend getting insurance for safe deposit boxes? I have no need for house, car, etc. insurance, as I do not own them. I keep bonds, as well as items of personal and sentimental value in my lockbox.

A. I'd have to call insurance on safe deposit box contents an unnecessary expense. Although we occasionally read of a modern day Willy Sutton breaking into and looting a safe deposit vault, such happenings are mighty rare. However, if you are dead set on being super-safe, you can put out the money to buy insurance coverage of what you keep in your lockbox. Banks usually do not have that insurance. Some homeowners' and renters' insurance policies cover part of the contents of safe deposit boxes. If you live in an apartment, furnished room or such, you should have a renter's policy.

You may enter up to 10 requests per call. STOCK CODES

All Stock Codes are based on industry standard Ticker Symbols provided by your broker or available from any Standard & Poor's Stock Ticker Guide. Codes are made up of a series of two-digit numbers, each representing one of the letters in the Ticker Symbol.

To determine the two-digit code for any letter of a Ticker Symbol, remember: The first key to be depressed is always the one on which the letter appears. The second key is always a "1, ""2" or "3" indicating that letter's position on its own key (first, second or third position). EXAMPLE: "IBM" = "43 22 61"; "BX" = "22 92." Remember to depress the star key (*) after entering each code.

While 13-yearold Michael Corbin slumbers in a coma, his family and friends are praying for his recovery.

"His vital signs are stable," said his aunt, Jo Ann Malone, who has visited Michael four times a day the maximum Michael Corbin allowed — in Midland Memorial Hospital's intensive care unit since an accident two weeks ago today left him unconscious. "He's just not breathing on his own. He's not wak-ing up. It's just like he's asleep; he just lays there with his eyes closed." She and her husband, Ben, 35, are the boy's surrogate parents.

"I think prayers are going to pull him through," said Mrs. Malone, 34. We've got to have hope and faith

He was injured about noon on June 18 when he fell from a pickup driven by his 22-year-old cousin, Donnie Cole. Michael and his older brother, Rodney, 15, were riding in the bed of the truck after they had cleaned up a residential construction site for their uncle, Ben Malone, Midland building contractor. Michael was sitting on the plywood and held onto it as the truck rounded a corner. Michael and the board plummeted to the roadway.

HIS HEAD slammed against the pavement and fractured his skull. "He wasn't breathing; he had a very faint heartbeat," Mrs. Malone said. Cole administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until paramedics arrived and took him to the hospital. "That's the Michael is with us." "That's the only reason

The boy's neurosurgeon, Dr. William L. McGavran III, "won't even discuss" the extent of any brain damage, she said, for "it's entirely too early." Michael has undergone brain CAT scans. Nevertheless, she said the physician "is giving us a chance" for Michael's recovery.

"At the beginning, there was none nothing at all," Mrs. Malone said. "He didn't have any chance. At least

"He's just a very caring doctor," she said of McGavran. "He does everything he can for a patient. I have all the faith in the world in Dr. McGavran...He's done Michael a

"May His will let me have him

Mrs. Malone's mother-in-law lay in a coma for two or three weeks following a cerebral hemorrhage several years ago. McGavran operated on her, and today "she's doing just fine. He did her a good job."

Despite her optimism, Mrs. Malone

That is her prayer.

"Of course, we still realize Michael's condition is critical," she said. "We know it could go either way. We've thought about the whatifs...He could be a 'vegetable.' He could wake up all of a sudden and be perfectly fine."

"MICHAEL HAS got to make it. He's just got to.

"He's basically as good as he's going to be until he comes out of the She said her nephew "seems to be responding to us some."

"Sometimes he'll squeeze your hand," the aunt said. "His brain is definitely still active, and he is

If his blood pressure goes up and his heart rate increases when she visits him, "that's a signal he can hear. Occasionally that will happen." Michael has "very minimal move-ment" on his right side, she said, but he can move his left side fairly well. "A lot of it is involuntary movement; a lot of it is purposeful move-ment...You can tell him to squeeze your hand, and he will attempt to squeeze your hand.

"It's just like a bad dream," she said of Michael's plight. "We're just hoping and praying."

Church congregations are joining the family in praying for God's will in Michael's life.

Meanwhile, Darrell and Roberta "Sue" Galloway, friends of the Malones and their children, have set up a Michael Corbin Trust Fund Account No. 508-978-4) at Texas American Bank to help offset Michael's medical expenses not covered by insurance. Their daugh-

Accused man's brother held as material witness

By MARK LEWIS

Staff Writer The 27-year-old brother of a Midland man accused of murdering a security guard was being held in county jail this morning as a material witness to the June 16 incident at a racetrack southeast of town. Witnesses have linked Jaime Bujanda, 1711 S. Marshall, with a pistol believed to be the one used to kill 25-year-old James Belis of Odessa, according to sheriff's investigators. Reportedly, Jaime gave it to his 33-year-old brother Ruben Bujanda, who is accused of Belis' murder.

Jaime Bujanda had been sought by sheriff's investigators since the day after the shooting. On Monday, he was brought in for questioning, but refused to cooperate in the investigation, according to the Sher-iff's Office. He was ordered held on a writ of attachment by 236th Dis-trict Court Judge Vann Culp, who set bond at $10,000.

We had informants tell us that he and (two other suspects) had fled to gator Jim Newsom at the hearing to set Bujanda's bond. Midland County District Attorney Al Schorre requested a bond of "at least" $10,000 to make sure Bujanda, a resident alien, appears to testify at hearings and before the grand jury. Sheriff's investigators indicated charges may yet be filed against Bujanda in the incident.

The other two suspects are being sought for the stabbing of Charlie Coleman Jr., another security guard, in the same incident in which Belis was killed. They are believed to be in Mexico.

Ruben Bujanda was free on a $20,000 bond today after 142nd District Court Judge Pat Baskin reduced his bail Friday from the $100,000 originally set by Justice of the Peace Charlie Sprayberry.

The June 16 incident reportedly took place after Belis and Coleman intervened in a gambling dispute at the racetrack near county roads 1140 and 120. Ruben Bujanda himself was shot five times in the incident, but both he and Coleman have Mexico," testified Sheriff's Investi- recovered from their wounds.

Midlander found drowned

From Staff Reports

A 25-year-old Midland man was found drowned in the bottom of a pool Monday, according to police reports.

Luis Muniz was found laying face down in the bottom of the deep end of a pool at the Village Manor Apartments, 2929 W. Kansas, about 8:30 p.m. He was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Charlie Sprayberry.

Muniz, who lived in that apartment complex, had been drinking and wasn't a very good swimmer, witnesses told police. Abrasions were found on his face, indicating he may have hit his head on the side of the pool or on the bot-tom, police said. From Staff Reports A 28-year-old Breckenridge man accused of killing his estranged wife outside her Midland apartment complex Monday was being held in city jail this morning on a $100,000 bond. Marion Allen Warren is accused of shooting 24-year-old Judi Kay Warren through the heart with a 9mm pistol at the Cimmaron Apartments, 5244 N. Loop 250, about 4 a.m. Monday. According to police reports, Ms. Warren noticed a man prowling around her pickup truck, and came out with two male companions to investigate.

When they approached Warren, he allegedly shot 21-year-old Robert Jeannotte of Rankin once in the abdomen, then killed his wife, police said. Warren was arrested at the scene shortly after the shootings.

Jeannotte was listed in satisfactory condition in Midland Memorial Hospital this morning, according to a hospital spokeswoman. Warren may later be charged with attempted murder in the shooting of Jeannotte, police said.

Reportedly, Warren and his wife had been divorced once, had remar-ried, and then separated, with Judi

Texas can have 'model' prison system

HUNTSVILLE (AP) - The new director of the Texas Department of Corrections says prison officials already have laid the groundwork for safer and better correctional facilities. "Now I think we're at the stage we need to start implementing. In the next four or five years, if we build on the base, we can have one of the best prison systems that will be a model for other systems to view, TDC Director Lane McCotter said Monday.

The prison director, in his first lengthy interview since being named two weeks ago to head TDC, said he was shocked at the condition of the state's prisons when he arrived last year.

"The lack of control, how dirty the prisons were, overcrowding. I think that's what led to most of the problems," he said. "Prisons in 1970 that were model prisons with 1,000 or 1,200 inmates now had 2,200 or 2,400 inmates with the same support facilities. What happened is that they increased beds but not support

TDC Director Lane McCotter

"And when you do that you wear out your institution, your equipment, very quickly. It's almost dying of old age," said McCotter, who turns 45 this month.

McCotter spent 22 years in mili-tary corrections before coming to Texas a year ago. He succeeded Raymond K. Procunier, who quit last month, saying he was burned out. He had been Procunier's deputy, but said it would be "impossible to state all the things I learned from him. A lot of things you learn in a subtle way.'

However, he said, one thing Procunier taught him was patience "He was very astute in the political arena," McCotter said. He said the legacy of Procunier in Texas would be the classification program under which inmates are grouped.

"I think we have one of the finest in the country. It's designed for Texas and not a copy of anything. It's sort of the foundation of which we built everything else," he said.

McCotter said he did not feel he was under any additional pressure because Gov. Mark White urged prison board members to name him as Procunier's successor.

"I think this system puts all the pressure you can stand," he said.

"I'm just a person like everyone else I must do things my way." Part of the foundation for a better prison system is an agreement reached in a civil rights suit filed by 13 years ago by inmates contesting prison conditions.

McCotter said the agreement "in essence is our blueprint for the next four years."

The so-called Ruiz agreement named after inmate David Ruiz who filed the suit alleging civil rights violations in Texas prisons — is to be formally signed later this month.

The major effect of the agreement will be to limit the population of existing prisons at 34,210 inmates — or about 4,000 fewer than the system now holds.

"I am concerned about growth and how we are going to take care of growth at the same time we are depopulating." McCotter said. "Obviously, we're adding beds with new facilities but I'm hoping our growth is not going to outgrow our construction program.

Crime Stoppers seeks data in theft of pickup

This week Crime Stoppers is seeking information on the recent theft and burning of a GMC pickup taken from Frontier Furniture, 1909 Andrews Highway in Odessa.

The beige 1985 GMC pickup valued at $12,000, was taken sometime after 6 p.m. June 15. About 3 a.m. June 16, an Odessa police officer noticed smoke in the Monahans Draw and found the pickup engulfed in flames, a total loss.

Crime Stoppers will pay $1,000 cash this week only for any information leading to the arrest and felony indictment of a suspect or suspects in this case. Crime Stoppers pays cash rewards for tips on other felony crimes, as well. Call 694-TIPS in Midland or 333-TIPS in Odessa. Callers do not have to reveal their identities.

In June, 54 suspects were arrested and 80 offenses cleared with the help of Crime Stoppers tips, according to the Midland County Sheriff's Office. A total of $5,000 was paid to nine infor-

Midland Exterior Designs: little details make big differences

Steve Tillman, the son of Bill and Nita Tillman and owner of Midland Exterior Designs, grew up in Midland so he knows what Midlanders expect when it comes to maintenance-free exteriors, complete remodeling and interior design. That's why he choose to start his business in Midland where, he says, "there's too many out of town folks selling low class material for high class prices." Steve is equipped to handle new construction, apart- ucts you need. ments, commercial buildings, and that make a whole lot of difference.

Siding can make your home main-tenance-free, yet Steve points out that homeowners need more than an estimate-they need to be informed. For example, thin vinyl siding which is often sold because of Hollow extrusions and the solid PVC its low price, can not endure the multi-chambered system bine to installs steel siding and high quality inside. vinyl siding which is at least 40 mil and can endure West Texas three-tier storm windows afford a

Unique Windshield Repair faster, more economical than replacement

Chips and cracks in your car windshield may be small, but they they distract from the beauty of your car and can be irritating when you're trying to drive. Have you checked on the price of replacing that windshield? If you have, you've probably decided to just grin and bare the chips and cracks. Well, Unique Windshield Repair offers you a better alternative.

Unique Windshield Repair can have your windshield looking like new for just a small investment. Owner Bill Conner explains that he can repair any crack up to six inches and the starting price is just $20. Windshields are made of two layers. The outer layer of glass is bonded to a plastic-like inner layer. When the glass begins to pull away from the inner layer. a crack occurs. Regardless of how the crack got there, to get rid of it Bill uses extreme pressure to inject resin into the crack. The resin then acts like a glue and bonds the two layers back together.

This entire process takes only about 15 minutes, but you won't even have to wait around a shop for a single minute. Bill works from a mobile unit. This way he can save you the worry and hassle of getting your car to the repair shop and then yourself on to work. Instead, all you have to do is give Bill a call at 685-1967. He'll come to you.

Furthermore, Bill guarantees his work not to run. He takes care of the windshields for entire fleets of oil company cars.

Unique Windshield Repair puts an end to annoying chips and cracks in your windshield and to the outrageous expense of replacing the glass. Bill Conner, owner of Unique Windshield Repair, uses extreme pressure to inject resin into the crack. The resin then serves as a glue to weld the two layers back together. For more information, call Bill at 685-1967.

Only the best carries the name Upjohn

Upjohn HealthCare Services is the largest private in home health care service in the United States, with offices throughout the country and in Canada. Midland's Upjohn office, now located at 101 South "I" Street (on the Corner of "I" and Wall), is locally managed by Pat Daw-son with Nursing Supervisor Melba Cooper, R.N. and Office Manager Mitchie Patrick. These professionals have 16 years combined experience in home

The people at Upjohn say, "Our business is caring." In addition to assisting individuals or families with in-home health care and supportive needs, they also provide hospital and nursing home staffing, nursing assesments, private duty care, paramedical insurance physicals, air and ground ambulance nursing care. Ms. Dawson points out that Midland's locally managed Upjohn office has the backing of a national company and "If they haven't thought of it, it hasn't been done.

Upjohn does this by sending highly qualified nurses, nurse assistants, homemakers and companions to the elderly, the injured, the convalescing patient, and the invalid-to anyone who needs them—at any time, at home or the hospital. That's why Upjohn has a 24 hour answering service at 687-0508 and 561-8420.

When you call you will want to speak to Nursing Supervisor Melba Cooper, R.N.. She will talk with you to determine your exact needs. Usually this can be done on the telephone. Other times, it may be better to visit with you in your home or in the hospital before scheduling the care needed. When appropriate, the Upjohn professionals will seek the advice of your doctor to make certain the care you need will be provided.

Upjohn HealthCare Services provides registered nurses, licensed practical and vocational nurses, nurse assistants, home health aides, companions, home managers and homemakers. Depending upon your needs, each of these specially skilled people is available on an hourly, daily, or weekly basis.

For your added assurance, each of Upjohn's employees is individually screened, bonded and insured. They are also under 24 hour R.N. supervision. They're experienced and professional in their manner. But most of all, they're concerned and sensitive to individual needs.

Many R.N.'s, L.V.N.'s, nurse aides, home health aides, companions, homemakers, physical therapists choose to work with Upjohn because they like the one on one care opportunities and a flexible schedule. Upjohn offers these professionals an opportunity to use their skills, helping other people.

Crystal-Vend brings you crystal clear, delicious water for 30 cents a gallon drinking water and purified, mineral-free water right to your container at only a fraction of the cost of other bottled water.

With the price of delivered bottled water going up and up, due to sky-rocketing fuel and labor costs, the CRYSTAL VEND machine bypasses those expenses and offers you good-tasting drinking water, as well as purified water for distilled water needs at only 30 cents a gal-

The processing system within the Crystal Vend machine eliminates sediments and water cloud, dissolved chlorine, metallic salts and organic impurities. It is also designed to statically control bacteria. The drinking water which is ideal for cooking, coffee, tea, ice, fruit juices, and aquariums contains a trace of minerals for taste; whereas, the purified water is 99.9% mineral-free and suitable for distilled water uses such as steam irons, car batteries, photography and potted plants. It is also ideal for low sodium diets advised by doctors.

Not only is Crystal Vend the best buy for your dollar it is also the most convenient selection. Crystal-Vend machines are available 24 hours a day at six locations in Midland. That means you don't have to wait on a home delivery. All you have to do is take your container by one of the following locations:

M System - 400 Midland Drive M System - 2200 Rankin Hwy M System - N "A" and W Scharbauer Safeway - 4340 W Illinois Safeway - Wadley and Garfield Walgreen's - 215 Andrews Hwy

Each machine is coin operated and gives you the choice of drinking water or purified water, anytime you want it! Just push the green but-ton for CRYSTAL-CLEAR drinking water and the blue button for PURI FIED water. And, you don't have to buy more than you want. Big users can fill five-gallon bottles, while small users have the option of getting as little as one gallon.

Crystal-Vend water exceeds all federal, state and county drinking water standards. Electronic safeties are built into the machine which will turn on the sold-out light and refund your money if the high

Costume designer wants glamour's return

Hearst News Service

LOS ANGELES - Who remembers what Sly Stallone wore in "Rambo" (black fatigues and mud), let alone what "Goonies" goonies sleuthed in? Well, in "Prizzi's Honor," the John Huston film starring Jack Nicholson, Kathleen Turner and Anjelica Huston, the criminal cast is dressed to kill.

Veteran costume designer Don-feld is the man responsible for the drop-dead fur-trimmed coats, wide-brimmed hats, beaded lace dresses, slinky gowns and many of the flashy suits in "Prizzi's Honor." And he's on a one-man mission to revive Hollywood glamour. "Hollywood filmmakers seem to have abandoned the visual arts that help a motion picture," he said during an interview here recently. "I believe today's administrators - the powers behind the scene - have forgotten audiences plunk down their bucks to be entertained and that the clothes play an important role in doing that.

"I understand that not every production can afford to make the principal costumes from scratch," he continued while dashing off one sketch after another of his favorite "Prizzi" pieces, "but whether ward-robe is purchased or leased and revised/re-worked or made-to-order, any film would benefit from the input of an accredited costume designer who is accomplished and sophisticated in dealing with the business and politics that make up today's FILM FASHION has also suffered, in Donfeld's opinion, because of the influx of dilettantes. "It seems everyone today is a fashion expert - production secretaries, Hollywood wives, store clerks, even hairdressers and makeup people. Worst of all are the costumers or dressers who present themselves to administration as designers. What you have is just a lot of Hollywood hot dogs pretending to be chateaubriand." Donfeld should know, since he has more than 50 major film and TV credits to his name, including "The Great Race," "China Syndrome," "Diamonds Are Forever," e's Killing the Great Chefs of Europe," "The Adventures of Huckleber-ry Finn," "Hombre," "Wonder ry Finn," "Hombre," "Wonder Woman," "The Star Maker" and "Cat Ballou." He received Oscar nominations for his work on "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?," "Days of Wine and Roses" and "Tom Sawyer."

"The Cincinnati Kid" marked the first time his screen credit read "Donfeld," said the designer, who was born Donald Lee Feld in Los Angeles in 1934. "It was an impulsive thing to do," he said, chuckling at the memory, "but during the film-ing of The Great Race' which was released after 'Cincinnati Kid,' our European staff kept calling me Monsieur Donfeld. My assistant, Leah Barnes, and I liked it so much I decided to use it from that point on."

DONFELD IS particularly proud of his work on "Prizzi" because of the design freedom and wardrobe budget he was provided. While he declines to divulge just how much money he had at his disposal, he is effusive in praising producer John Foreman, "an old friend" who hired him and supported his concept for the clothes. "John wanted them to look like substantial characters, not a fashion show," Donfeld explained. Working at breakneck speed - only 10 days were allowed for prep" or concept meetings, shopping for fabrics, accessories and wardrobe, measuring and fitting the principals — the designer and his staff created hundreds of outfits. On even shorter notice, he had to react to costume changes during filming.

Donfeld seizes every opportunity to champion some of his fellow costume designers, ticking off a list of those he most admires:

Dorothy Jeakins ("Sound of Music" "South Pacific," "Let's Make Love"). He calls her a "genius, a brilliant designer respected in all areas of art. She left the industry because she didn't like being subject to mediocrity. She couldn't take it."

- Irene Sharaff (five Academy Awards and nine nominations; "A Star Is Born," "Guys and Dolls,"

"The King and I," "Porgy and Bess,"
"West Side Story," "Cleopatra," "West Side Story," "Cleopatra,"
"The Sandpiper," "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," "Funny Girl,"
"The Way We Were" and "The Other Side of Midnight"). "She doesn't compromise. She has no affection for bad design camouflaged by designs.

— Jean Louis ("The Misfits," "Backstreet," "Gilda") is a "genius who's had a tremendous impact on the fashion world."

- Orry-Kelly. The "legendary genius from Warner Brothers' golden era took me under his wing early in my career and gave me encouragement and strength, which meant a lot to a young man who'd grown up admiring such Kelly triumphs as 'Auntie Mame' and 'Oklahoma!'

- Milo Anderson "dazzled the movie industry with a versatility unlike anything we've known before or since. He created the look of 'Mildred Pierce, 'Yankee Doodle Dandy' and The Fountainhead."

Renters need insurance, too

WASHINGTON (AP) - Apart ment dwellers are being reminded, as summer vacation season gets into full swing, that buying renter's insurance may prove important to them.

Many renters assume that their landlord's insurance covers them, but that is rarely the case, according to Geico, the Washington-based insurance company.

Renters who want their posessions protected in the event of fire or burglary, the firm said, usually need to purchase their own insurance policy.

Here are some other suggestions from Geico:

 Place smoke detectors in strategic locations in the apartment and check the batteries regularly.

- Keep a fully-charged fire extinguisher in the kitchen. Install deadbolt locks on all exterior doors. Stop all mail and newspaper deliveries when you go away.

Teen-agers should use their talents to improve world

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I read your column about whether the parents were guilty of child abuse for making their sons, 9 and 11 years old, walk to school and back after they were kicked off the school bus for bad conduct, I was reminded of this column (enclosed). I've had it for many years and still think it hits the

DEAR MRS. GALLAGHER: So

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and your talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick

"In plain, simple words, grow up; quit being a crybaby. Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like an adult. "You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibility your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit. This they have done gladly, for you are their dearest treasure. But now, you have no right to expect them to bow to every whim and fancy just because selfish ego, instead of common sense, dominates your personality, thinking and requests.

Well, Abby, listen to this. After miles of avoiding tailgating trucks and speeders hurrying to resort areas, I slowed down as I drove through the small town of Shafter. Calif., where apparently some kind of doings was in progress.

Crossing with the green light were about 25 teen-agers pushing wheelchairs containing senior citizens, apparently from some nursing home. I called out, "You young people are doing a marvelous job!" Abby, they answered me in sign language!

Basin 2-Way Radio offers sales and service on mobile equipment

"It's a fact that air time is 98 percent cheaper than road time," says than it was two years ago. Kenneth Cook, president of Basin 2-Way Radio, Inc. 1135 West 42nd.

From the oilfield to the professionals, to a single user, Basin 2-Way Radio, Inc. has been serving the Permian Basin since 1977, selling, designing, installing, licensing and maintaining commercial business Basin 2-Way radio systems.

Basin 2-Way supplies mobile equipment for RCC Operator Assist Service and IMTS Bell Telephone

Basin 2-Way keeps abreast of all the latest technology introducced by the manufacturers, so if you haven't shopped lately to update or replace your out-of-office communications equipment, you owe it to yourself to look at the newest product lines.

Technological advances in the industry and the definite need for state-of-the-art mobile equipment in this area recently prompted Basin 2-Way to introduce "Petro-Phone," the newest innovation in mobile phone/2-way radio equipment.

Petro-Phone operates on the 800 MHZ frequency and features 563 exchange on all mobile phones. It features an out of range indicator, last number redial, speed dialing, ten number storage for most frequently called numbers, call forwarding, direct dial, full duplex or common carrier long distance and credit card calling. 1-800 and directory assistance calls are permissible. Your telephone will ring when you get a call while you are in the dispatch or 2-way radio mode.

Please feel free to call Basin 2-Way Radio Inc. at 915-563-9135, 915-362-4777 or stop by 1135 West 42nd in Odessa for a personal demonstration of the new "Petro-Phone" or other 2-way radio equipment.

Basin 2-Way is manufacturer's representative for Uniden Corpora-tion of America, Standard, E. F. Johnson and Tac-Tel (formerly RCA), and is equipped to service virtually all makes of mobile telephones or 2way radios such as Motorola and GE.

"We have an excellent service department and you will receive service from the one who sells it. We won't sell you, then forget you," says Joe Casas, sales manager. Service manager George Scarpa coordinates all service activities in the area

Eduard Shevardnadze

By ALISON SMALE Associated Press

MOSCOW (AP) - Eduard A. Shevardnadze, the Georgian Communist Party boss chosen to succeed Andrei A. Gromyko as foreign minister, is virtually unknown worldwide but has a reputation domestically as an articulate party official in the mold of Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

Shevardnadze's reputed modesty, crackdown on rampant Georgian corruption and pioneering of some economic experiments mark him as a supporter of Gorbachev's campaign for discipline and limited

His relative lack of foreign experience also leaves the way clear for Gorbachev, backed by the veteran Gromyko as president, to play the most important role in making any new foreign policy initiatives.

The 57-year-old white-haired, blue-eyed Georgian was first considered a candidate for promotion when Gorbachev became Communist Party secretary in March, succeeding Konstantin U. Chernenko.

But Shevardnadze, who had alternate or non-voting membership in the ruling Politburo since 1978, was passed over when three clear Gorbachev allies, KGB chief Viktor G. Chebrikov and Central Committee secretaries Nikolai I. Ryzhkov and Yegor K. Ligachev, were promoted to full Politburo membership in April.

On Monday, Shevardnadze was made a full Politburo member at a meeting of the more than 300-member Central Committee. The Supreme Soviet, or national Parliament, named him foreign minister

In contrast, Gromyko was named foreign minister in 1957 but did not become a Politburo member until Shevardnadze has hosted conferences for Third World nations in the Georgian capital of Tbilisi and headed some Communist Party delegations on visits abroad, most recently to Algiers last year.

He has also traveled to Austria, Brazil, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, India, Portugal and Tuni-

He has spent almost all his life in the has spent almost all his life in the Georgian Communist Party, ris-ing through the Komsomol Commu-nist Youth League and serving from 1965 to 1972 as Georgian minister of internal affairs. He became the republic's party leader in 1972. A Western diplomat said after Shevardnadze was named foreign minister that the choice left room for a continued foreign policy role for Gromyko.

Shevardnadze "is an intelligent, articulate man who can handle the nuts and bolts while Gromyko takes care of the really important stuff," said the diplomat, who requested that he not be identified.

Shevardnadze was born Jan. 25, 1928, in the village of Mamati near the Black Sea coast west of Tbilisi. He became a Communist Party member in 1948 after two years as a Komsomol instructor and rose to become a full member of the Georgian party's Central Committee in 1958.

Georgians are notorious in the Soviet Union for corruption. Shevardnadze, who had a reputation for personal modesty, played a key role in one of the republic's most infa-mous tales of nepotism and bribery. The case involved Otari Lazishvili, a one-time driver who was said to have become a millionaire. A personal friend of a former Soviet general prosecutor, he used that con-nection to protect his numerous illegal economic dealings.

As interior minister, Shevardnadze gradually and successfully moved against Lazishvili in 1972. He was then made party boss, and continued the crackdown.

In the economy, Shevardnadze has overseen a number of economic experiments - most notably the development of regional agricultural-industrial complexes — that have drawn national attention.

Israel to release 300 Lebanese prisoners

Assad emerges winner by releasing hostages

By G.G. LaBELLE Associated Press

Ceasefire

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — When the American hostages were released from 17 days of captivity. their spokesman stood before a portrait of President Hafez Assad of Syria to thank the man who emerged as a winner in the hostage

It was Assad, an ally of the Soviet Union who has been criticized by the United States, who was able to free the 39 Americans from Beirut and get them safely to Damascus. The Lebanese Shitte leader Nabih Berri also could take credit for stepping in to take custody of the hostages and open negotiations for their release. But it was Assad who played the key behind-the-scenes role and ultimately enforced his will on the other participants.

Allyn Conwell spoke for the hostages at a Damascus news conference where he thanked, "President Assad and all of the people of Syria for the part they played in gaining our freedom. Without their assistance...we would undoubtedly still be in Beirut with an uncertain future. According to sources both in Beirut and Damascus, Assad had to "knock a few heads" to get radical Shiftes in the Hezbollah, or Party of God, to release the four hostages they held so the deal could go

Assad has again demonstrated that he can control some events in Lebanon and that his wishes must be reckoned with in dealing with any Middle Eastern issue. His ability to get the hostages freed indicated Syria could improve ties with Washington and at the same time showed Washington that Israel is not the only country that can help America in the Middle

But cooperating with Berri, Syria also showed itself aligned with the Shitte factions that seem to be gaining strength in Lebanon. It was an important victory for Berri over the more radical, Iranian-style Shiite one person and injured 39.

An Analysis

According to sources both in Beirut and Damascus, Assad had to 'knock a few heads" to get radical Shiites in the Hezbollah, or Party of God, to release the four hostages they held so the deal could go forward.

If, as expected, Israel releases the more than 700 Lebananese it holds prisoner, more than 500 Shiites will return to strengthen Berri's militia in south Lebanon.

For Israel, the hostage crisis strained relations with the United States, seemed to advance Syrian interests in the Middle East and appeared to weaken the political position of Prime Minister Shimon

Both Assad and Berri proved they could deliver as promised. And although the TWA jetliner was hijacked by radical Shiites, Assad and Berri snatched the initiative from the leaders of Hezbollah. It was especially important for Berri, whose leadership among the Shiites has been challenged by fundamentalists.

Berri is a member of President Amin Gemayel's Cabinet. He may now try to use his success in the hostage crisis in an effort to gain greater power for the Shiites in the Christian-dominated Lebanese gov-

While the hostages were in Beirut, Berri's Amal militiamen were shown in a better light than the Hezbollah gunmen who killed one passenger and beat some of the others in the early hours of the hijacking. Many of the hostages spoke of how well they were treated by Berri
