Donny Inks Green Bay Pact

DONNY ANDERSON SIGNS ON DOTTED LINE... As Green Bay Official Pat Pepler Smiles

$600,000 Is Reported As Top Figure

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Donny Anderson, who says "happiness can not be measured in dollars and cents," late Friday became the highest-priced grab in professional football history when he signed a three-year contract with the Green Bay Packers.

Both Anderson and the club remained mum on the price of the package, but people supposedly in the know place the pact's total value at "well above a half-million dollars" — with close family sources setting the figure at "over $600,000."

The pact reportedly had a three-year no-cut provision with apparent provisions for extension.

Follows Tech Loss
Anderson, at a pre-arranged press conference in a downtown hotel here, clutched in one hand a glass of ice water and a box of Anacin in the other while answering questions from some 25 newsmen who had scrambled from the Gator Bowl in order to attend the session.

Texas Tech had just lost a 21 to 21 decision to Georgia Tech in the Jacksonville classic before a record-breaking crowd.

Pat Pepler, director of player personnel for the Packers received the signature that ended a week's speculation over which choice Anderson would make.

No Official Comment
But the Green Bay executive would not release any figure nor would Anderson's attorneys, State Sen. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard of Lubbock and Thurmond Adkinson of Shamrock, comment on terms.

Actually, the only element of surprise in the entire transaction was the three-year element. Most expected it to run for a five-year period.

The 215-pound all-purpose player insisted on making the announcement personally at a downtown hotel, saying: "I want to be fair to both sides who have been bidding for me, and I want to tell the loser myself."

Fabulous Offer
Bud Adams, president of the Houston Oilers of the American League, said earlier he had offered Anderson an $887,000 package, which included a $200,000 home in Houston, $16,000 worth of furniture and a $36,000 swimming pool.

"I know that Green Bay's offer was $200,000 less than ours," Adams said.

Attending the signing in a cramped mezzanine room were Pepler, for the Packers; Blanchard, as Anderson's agent; and Donny Spurns, Page 6

'Bigger' Viet War Possible
Reds Told U.S. Uncompromising

By DONALD H. MAY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, despite apparent rebuffs from Moscow and Hanoi, pursued its peace offensive Friday. But officials warned privately that the war in Viet Nam could get bigger and more dangerous unless a settlement can be negotiated.

Administration officials took in stride sharp rejoinders by North Viet Nam President Ho Chi Minh and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin to the U.S. overtures.

With bombing raids on North Viet Nam suspended for the eighth consecutive day, U.S. officials made it clear that they were awaiting a definite "yes" or "no" reply.

Warning Implicit
U.S. officials insisted that President Johnson's representatives were not presenting ultimatums in Communist and free world capitals.

But while the U.S. messages sought a path to the peace table, they also contained a warning: unless peace is achieved, the Viet Nam war may escalate into a much larger problem for all the world.

Administration officials said the warning was necessary to prevent a Communist miscalculation about U.S. determination.

It wants peace but is prepared if necessary for a big war. It is flexible on many minor negotiating points, but never on the basic issue of protecting South Viet Nam from aggression.

Demanding withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Viet Nam, Kosygin said that the war developments "increasingly endanger the cause of universal peace." His remarks strengthened belief that a forthcoming Soviet mission to Hanoi would involve plans for Red military aid instead of moves leading to the truce table.

The Russian news agency, Tass, quoted Ho Chi Minh as accusing President Johnson of talking peace while making war.

Efforts Intensified
Despite the statements, Johnson's representatives intensified the U. S. peace initiative. Its plan was being discussed by emissaries in these places: —Brno, Yugoslavia. Roving U.S. Ambassador Averell Harriman was hurrying by Yugoslav President Josef Tito. Harriman, an old hand at dealing with Communist leadership. See U.S. SEEKING Page 6

MISS MAE MURFEE
Pioneer Lubbock Resident

Death Takes City Pioneer

Miss Mae Murfee
Veteran Educator

MAE MURFEE, 1923 14th St., former Lubbock County superintendent of schools and pioneer educator and civic leader, died at 6 p.m. Friday in Methodist Hospital.

Miss Murfee was hospitalized Thursday night following a stroke at her home.

Funeral services will be at 4 p.m. Monday in the First Methodist Church with Dr. Paul M. Bumpers, pastor, officiating, assisted by Dr. J. O. Haymes, associate pastor.

Held Unique Post
Burial will be in City of Lubbock Cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral Home.

As an educator, Miss Murfee pioneered in many phases of Lubbock County's school system and served as the only woman on the steering committee which located Texas Tech here.

She was not only active locally, but was widely known across the state, having served as the supervisor in this district in the Department of Education. She worked unceasingly for free textbooks for Texas schools.

Noted For Motto
For over a half a century Miss Murfee became known among teaching circles for her motto, "Every child may be saved to useful citizenship if the right person is there at the right time and nine times out of ten it is the parent or the teacher."

She first taught in the Lubbock county schools in 1907 at the Block 20 School of Slide. She was recently honored at the second annual reunion of that school.

In 1914 she became the first woman principal of Lubbock Junior High School, after having taught several years in the junior high grades.

ISL Pioneer
Later, as head of the history and government departments at Lubbock High School, she obtained the first state credits of affiliation for the school in those fields. She also was responsible for bringing the Intercollegiate League to the Lubbock institutions. Using her own books, she started the first library in Lubbock High School and was outstanding in visual education here.

As the county official she was outstanding in bringing a state recognition to Lubbock institutions and helped in organizing the Parent Teachers Association here.

Not only did she work as an educator, but was outstanding in veteran organizations, having won many citations for war work in World Wars I and II. She was instrumental in the organization of Allen Bros. V.F.W. See EDUCATOR Page 6

NEW BATTLE LOOMS

Steel Price Boost Rapped By LBJ

NEW YORK — Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's second-largest steel producer, Friday boosted the price of some of its products and thereby pitted President Johnson toe-to-toe against business interests in his battle to hold the price line.

Johnson asked Bethlehem to reconsider the price boost in light of "the impact of unnecessary price gain against the sacrifices of our men in Viet Nam." He said the increases came at "a critical hour in our history."

Less than five hours after the surprise action was announced, President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers condemned the $5-a-ton boost as "inflationary and not in the public interest."

Other Hikes Recalled
The accusation was similar to the one the government leveled at the nation's leading aluminum and copper companies last month when they announced price increases. Those hikes were quickly rescinded when the Johnson administration threatened to release the huge government stockpiles on the open world market.

The statement issued in Washington by Johnson's economic advisers did not include any reference to possible sanctions against Bethlehem.

Johnson said that Chairman Gardner Ackley of the Council of Economic Advisers—who earlier had condemned an increase as inflationary—had told him that Bethlehem's response "contains no information on the price increase that release and no justification for the action."

"This is a critical hour in our history and it is highly important that we have a good show."

WELCOMES '66
City Shares In Year-End Celebration

HAPPY New Year!
This was the common greeting on everyone's lips today after Lubbock and South Plains joined millions of other celebrants around the world Friday night in greeting 1966.

The New Year's Eve was celebrated in the usual fashion and was generally quiet around the area. To a late hour Friday, five persons had been injured in automobile accidents.

Area merry-makers swarmed to nightclubs for gala parties with everything from luau to formal dinner dances on the entertainment menu.

Church Services Held
Others attended special New Year's Eve church services, and special worship services are planned throughout the day at some churches. Many churches had come-and-go services, while young people took part in traditional watch night events.

Meanwhile, the entire world took time out to unwind some of its tensions in annual celebrations, but for an unwelcome change, 1966 was being marked against the background of gunfire in Vietnam.

Over 100 Couples Seek Reno Marriages
RENO, Nev. (AP) — More than 100 couples came to Reno to get married New Year's Eve. The marriage license bureau clerk, Archie Nixon, said he didn't think they did it on impulse.

"They are just in love and want to get married," he said. Nixon and a helper issued 110 permits during the two hours the office was open Friday, the usual legal holiday schedule.

Nevada has no waiting period or blood test requirement for matrimony.

TECH STUDENTS SAFE
Texans Rescued In Ruidoso Ski Area

RUIDOSO—Six Texas skiers, including two Texas Tech students, were found safe Friday following a 24-hour search in the South-Central New Mexico mountains northwest of Ruidoso.

The skiers were located about two hours apart in groups of three in the 11,000-foot Sierra Blanca ski area. The last group was found by a ski patrol party shortly before dark.

Found In Canyon
The two Tech students, Dana Juett, 18, of Amarillo and Phil Dettle, 19, of Stratford, and Terry Noyes, 12, of Bryan were found by a horse patrol in an upper canyon of the Rio Ruidoso River near the ski area.

The others were found in the same area about 5:35 p.m. They were Dr. T. A. Noyes, 42, a professor at Texas A&M; his nephew, Tim Noyes, 15, of Corpus Christi, and Randy Jaster, 17, of Austin.

In Good Condition
Juett, Dettle, Dr. Noyes and his son, Terry, were reported to be in good condition. Tim Noyes was treated for frostbite, and Jaster reportedly sustained a wrenched knee in a fall.

Juett, a freshman at Tech, lives at 2310-A 21st St. in Lubbock, and Dettle, a sophomore finance major, resides at 1626 Ave. Y in Lubbock.

Officers quoted Terry Noyes as saying Jaster wrenched his knee when he fell down an embankment.

Boy Sought Help
The Noyes boy was quoted as saying he volunteered to go for help, not realizing his party was off the main ski slopes. It became dark, he said, and he called for help, realizing he was lost.

He told officers his calls were answered by Juett and Dettle.

Today's Prayer
Dear Lord, as we start a New Year, give us the strength and courage to do those things which must be done, to follow in Thy footsteps, to be of service to those less fortunate than we. In Christ's name.—Anonymous.

IN VIET NAM
With Bob Hope At The Front

By BOB HOPE
HOLLYWOOD (Special) — Our weary Viet Nam vagabonds made it back on the last leg of a memorable Christmas tour and Friday were getting their breath.

As we returned home, the memories of our last show were still fresh in our minds. Wednesday night, immediately after we finished our show at Da Nang in a blinding rainstorm and only a few miles from the boom of artillery, some of us jetted to the hospital at Clark Air Base in the Philippines, where the more serious Viet casualties are evacuated. It was a sobering experience.

THE REST of the troupe caught up with us at Clark Field, and we flew to Guam for our final show. What a smashing climax to 12 unforgettable days! Twenty thousand GI's were whooping it up from the time we got off the plane until the cast joined the audience for "Silent Night."

We've learned a lot on this trip. We entertained more than 100,000 of our men, and not one among them was an "ugly American." We've had many great moments, some sad, some funny, all inspiring.

We were fortunate in having Les Brown and his stalwarts and five of the greatest gals who ever graced a jungle—working under really rough conditions but always coming up looking beautiful. People still ask me why I "give up my Christmases." On this trip, I took a lesson in giving.

New Wildcat Site Staked In Pecos

Standard Oil Co. of Texas has filed completion for the No. 1-12 Sealy-Smith Foundation, a 1/2-mile south extension for the Arenoso (Strawn detritus) pool in Winkler County.

It was perforated at 8,706-780 feet and fractured with 20,000 gallons of fluid. Potential gauge of 199 barrels of 37-gravity oil per day, was measured pumping with gas-oil ratio of 340-1.

Location is nine miles northeast of Monahans, 1,320 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of Section 7, Block A, G&MM B&A survey.

PECOS—Brown & Throp Oil Co. of McCombs has staked site for a new wildcat, the No. 5-1-19 Roy Gilvin, in Pecos County, three miles east of Gilvin.

Flow was through a 24 1/2-inch choke under 40 pounds tubing pressure and no water was reported. Operator is testing through Mississippiian perforations at 11,590-610 feet which have been stimulated with 500 gallons of acid.

No gauges of production have been listed for that zone. Site is two miles south of Sundown, surrounded by San Andres production in the Slaughter field, 660

AS PRESSURE MOUNTS OVER WORLD FOR NEGOTIATIONS

U.S., Vietnamese Officials Considering What Peace, Cease-Fire Might Bring

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — What would peace mean in Viet Nam? What would a truce or cease-fire bring? U.S. and Vietnamese officials alike are considering these and related questions as pressure mounts in many parts of the world for negotiations to end the war.

These officials are not talking for publication, but their views are known to be along these lines:

The Allied side, as of today, is not in a strong position to go to a peace conference.

Even the start of peace talks could undermine or destroy the U.S.-backed government in Saigon.

There is no sign that Peking and Hanoi are budging from their hard line that in effect demands American capitulation as the price of peace.

Communists they cannot win on the battlefield. The Communists, who control more than one-half of the country and more than one-quarter of the population, apparently feel they can, North Vietnamese regulars still are pouring into the South. The peace offensive has many positive aspects since the United States can show it tried to end the bloodshed, thus answering critics at home and in foreign capitals.

But Saigon sources say that the problems posed by even starting peace talks should not be minimized.

On the military level the cease-fire presumably could not keep North Viet Nam from moving troops and equipment through Laos and Cambodia, if it chose to consolidate its position in the countryside.

That is one of the major criticisms heard here of the halt in the air raids on the North to pave the way for peace moves.

These critics say that after improving their military posture for weeks or months the Communists could renew the war, as they did in Laos.

The United States, on the other hand, would be hampered by operating in the open through ports and airfields.

If a truce were established today, no one knows who would hold what in the greater part of the country. The Allied side controls the big towns, province capitals and most district towns.

But the Viet Cong controls most of the countryside. Rice paddies only a few miles from Saigon have proved lethal traps for government troops. A Viet Cong military operation recently was launched in Saigon's suburbs where a police station was overrun.

Neither the United States nor the Vietnamese government is believed to have any detailed plans for policing a truce or even setting up lines of control and buffer zones.

One source says it would take tens of thousands of inspectors to police the jungle and mountain vastness through which the Ho Chi Minh trail passes. Communists control that portion of Laos through which the trail passes.

Because there are no trench lines to mark the limits of Allied and Communist control, no one can guess how the problem of drawing cease-fire lines could be solved.

Geneva Most Mentioned

One source, however, said the Advance Research Projects Agency in the Pentagon and other groups may have done preliminary work on this problem.

Who would police the truce? Mention is sometimes made of reconvening the Geneva conference which settled the Indochinese war. The old agreements included a control commission staffed by Canada, India and the French and brought independence to the North. Many in the South are neither anti- nor pro-Communist but admire and respect Ho.

Buddhists Not Party

The Buddhists, only major political movement in the South, are far from being a political party as it is generally recognized. And several factions inside the Buddhist movement either are not against the Communists per se, or clandestinely support the Viet Cong.

Both North Viet Nam and the United States have said that a peace settlement would mean an end to foreign troops and foreign bases. U.S. withdrawal would seem to pose the probability that South Viet Nam would quickly succumb to the Viet Cong even if the estimated 25,000 North Vietnamese regulars went home and Communist aid stopped.

Sources here argue that once the United States gets out of South Viet Nam, getting back in even if there were truce violations could prove diplomatically and politically difficult.

One factor is that some top Vietnamese military brass, who live well as long as the war lasts and who fear negotiations for various reasons, might well attempt a coup if the government and United States moved from the battlefield to the conference table.

Negotiations likewise could affect the fighting will of Saigon troops. Many are weary to the point of not caring after so many years of war. As one U.S. adviser to a Vietnamese unit said: "No one wants to be the last to die in any war."

Government Questioned

Cells operate everywhere in the country including the capital. With a cease-fire, the Communists could turn full attention to subversion and recruitment.

Doubt is expressed that the present government — a military dictatorship — probably could last long in an atmosphere of peace. Yet no one on the horizon favorable to the U.S. interests enjoys any measure of public support.

In fact, one of the most famed in Viet Nam is Ho Chi Minh, the man who kicked out

MOTHER SAYS Pilot Nearly Pulled From Jet Window

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP) — A Whittier woman related a hair-raising story Friday of her son's narrow escape when he was sucked out through a window in a jet tanker traveling 600 miles per hour five miles above the ground.

Mrs. Roland Beck said her son, Air Force Lt. Bradley Beck, gave this account of the incident:

Beck was copilot aboard a KC135 jet tanker on a refueling mission over Greenland last Dec. 1. After the mission was completed, he noticed a crack in the window of his pressurized cabin.

He yelled a warning to his crew members, grabbed his helmet and then was sucked out through the window.

His seatbelt slipped, started to give, then locked. His head, shoulders, hands and arm were held out the narrow window in temperatures Beck said were near 100 below zero.

As the navigator a tor struggled to return him to the plane, the slipstream ripped his helmet off and hurled it against the plane, denting the wing.

While the navigator worked to pull him back into the cabin, the pilot cut the craft's speed and dropped to a lower altitude.

Beck said he was outside three or four minutes before the navigator finally managed to haul him to safety. His only injuries, he said, were badly frostbitten hands, arms and cheeks.

Beck now is in a military hospital in San Antonio, Tex., where doctors are grafting skin to the back of his fingers. Mrs. Beck said doctors believe no permanent damage was done and estimate Beck will be flying again in three months.

In Washington, the Air Force acknowledged such an incident occurred but said it had no details.

Market Hits Record High

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rose to historic highs today as trading ended for 1965.

Volume was 7.25 million shares compared with 7.06 million Thursday — considerably less than some Wall Streeters had expected for a year-end session when last-minute tax transactions and portfolio switches usually boost the total to one of the highest in a year.

There have been a number of eight and nine-million-share days this year and the biggest was 11.48 million on Dec. 6.

Analysts said that obviously many of the year-end tax transactions were taken care of days or possibly weeks before the final day.

Bethlehem Steel's surprise announcement of a $5-per-share price increase for structural shapes and piling caught Wall Street flatfooted. Steel shares, which were narrowly mixed at the opening, surged ahead to gains of 1 or 2 points as investors began acting on the news.

No other steel companies followed Bethlehem's example, however, and Gardner Akley, chairman of the Committee of Economic Advisers, condemned the rise as not justified. Steels quickly retreated from their best price. Bethlehem, which had been up 1 1/2 at its best, closed at 40 1/2, a net loss of 1/2.

The vigorous early leadership of the steels, however, sparked many other sections of the list. The market as a whole was well ahead all day, closing a little below its best prices. Selective gains by big blue chips boosted the averages to new highs.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

Bonds Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Treasury bond prices rounded out 1965 today the way they behaved during most of the year — down. Corporate bond prices were mixed.

Dealers attributed the final day's performance more to pending developments in the money markets than to year-end needs, even though some banks were buying and selling for year-end statement purposes.

Among the factors tending to depress bond prices was yesterday's Federal Reserve report of another $75 million gold outflow. The move served to remind the markets that the nation is still plagued by a balance of payments deficit.

Of the 40 Treasury bond issues $30 declined and one held unchanged.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the day totaled a par value of $11.17 billion, compared with $10.99 billion Thursday.

Of 250 issues traded, 88 advanced in price, 100 declined and the remainder were unchanged.

Ground War Intensifies In Viet Nam

SAIGON (Saturday)—A fierce ground fighting raged into the new year today while U.S. planes refrained from attacks on the Communist North for the ninth consecutive day and American diplomatic peace moves continued in the capitals of the world.

A multi-battalion Vietnamese government force of airborne troops and rangers slammed into a Viet Cong battalion of about 600 men within 2,000 yards of the Cambodian border Friday. Reports from the scene said the Communist guerrillas were being cut to pieces by air attacks and infantry charges in the battle 35 miles west of Saigon.

Bomb In South
Fighting also was reported in the Da Nang and Chu Lai areas about 375 miles north of Saigon, where a regular North Vietnamese army force has been on rampage for a week. This same unit was blamed for the execution and mutilation of three U.S. Marines and eight Vietnamese captives last week.

While the moratorium on American air raids against North Viet Nam continued, Guam-based B-52 bombers hit targets in Western Tay Ninh province late Thursday. The area 50 miles northwest of Saigon is the reported location of the Viet Cong High Command.

At Dalat, 145 miles northeast of Saigon, Viet Cong terrorists slipped through the guard around an American military billet Friday and exploded two bombs. One American was killed and 10 others were wounded.

Fire From Tropics
The fighting near the Cambodian border appeared to be the heaviest in recent weeks. UPI photographer Steve Northrup reported from the scene that fighting was so intense U.S. helicopters could not fly in needed ammunition or ferry the wounded for hours.

The battle started after Vietnamese troops fled by helicopter ran into deadly fire from the tree lines near the Cambodian border. They were forced to call for reinforcements. The Reds zoned in on the landing strip with mortar and sniper fire but the reinforcements came in anyway.

Rain and wind hampered American air support in the fighting in a number of places around the big U.S. bases at Da Nang and Chu Lai and all indications were that the Viet Cong had overrun a series of outposts in the Minh Long area 30 miles south of Chu Lai.

Garrison Overrun
The Viet Cong also struck the district town of Song Ha, about 25 miles southwest of Chu Lai. The little garrison of 30 to 40 militiamen held out during the night but a spotter plane pierced the mist overhead Friday and saw only the Viet Cong swarming in the area.

A battalion of government soldiers relieved the district town of Dai Loc, 14 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing more than 50 of the Communists in fierce fighting. UPI correspondent Robert Ibrahim said the Vietnamese soldiers then captured strategic hill 60, killing another seven Viet Cong.

stop in London for a meeting with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

—Ottawa. Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson was told U.S. plans by presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy Thursday night.

—Manila. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey asked Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos to increase support for South Viet Nam.

Johnson, meanwhile, conferred with his top diplomatic and military advisers.

The Texas White House would not provide details of the President's talks with Sec. of State Dean Rusk and Sec. of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

All that acting press secretary Joseph Laitin would say about those calls—and others to Undersec. of State George W. Ball, Budget Bureau Director Charles L. Schultze and Special Assistant Joseph Califano—was:

"The conversations covered number of wide-ranging subjects."

In London Prime Minister Harold Wilson was reported cutting short a New Year's holiday in the Scilly Isles to return for a weekend meeting with Goldberg.

De Gaulle Negative
Wilson has been a prime mover in efforts to bring North Viet Nam to the peace table.

Shortly before meeting Goldberg, De Gaulle recorded for New Year's broadcast a speech saying France will stay out of the conflict.

"We ourselves are engaged nowhere," De Gaulle said, "and we will do what is necessary not to be integrated in any way which is not our own."

important for responsible representatives of this one steel company to meet with the President's Council of Economic Advisers "right away," Johnson declared.

The government looks upon price increases in the metals industries with deep concern for fear they could disrupt the wage-price guidelines and push the nation's economy into an inflationary swirl.

Ackley said the President's council was ready to talk with Bethlehem about the price increase "and with any other company that might contemplate similar action in the future."

Good Year For Steel
He added that 1965 has been "an exceedingly good one for the steel industry."

Bethlehem's price increases apply to structural shapes and pilings used in building bridges, highway work and large equipment such as railroad cars. The materials carrying the new price tags account for about 7 per cent of U.S. Steel production. The move will sell most sharply by the construction industry.

Bethlehem's number one competitor, U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel producer, declined comment on the action. A spokesman said U.S. Steel has issued no price changes.

Chain Reaction Seen
Observers, however, predicted that other steel companies would follow suit in the event the government goes along with the price boost.

With the administration taking issue with the increase, the stage may be set for the biggest government-steel showdown since 1962 when U.S. Steel and the late President Kennedy became embroiled in an angry squabble.

That dispute was ignited by the announcement of a 36 per cent across-the-board increase which Kennedy defeated. The following year, however, a number of large steel and aluminum firms made selective price increases which the White House did not deem inflationary. Kennedy said at the time the industry had acted with "some restraint."

Actor Anthony Quinn Plans Marriage Soon

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Academy Award actor Anthony Quinn said Friday he expected to marry long time friend Yolanda Addolori within the next few weeks.

Quinn, 50, who has won two Oscars in supporting movie roles, and Miss Addolori, 30, took out a marriage license Thursday.

The couple met five years ago in Europe when Quinn was making a movie. They now have two children, Frank, 2, and Daniel, 1.

Bob Hope Back From Yuletide Trip Overseas

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedian Bob Hope, returned from a yuletide tour of Southeast Asia, says servicemen he talked to there think the anti-war demonstrations in the United States are "pretty ridiculous."

"I told them," said Hope, "that the students are letting up on the draft demonstrations—they've run out of matches."

"And I suggested to Secretary of Defense (Robert) McNamara that if they are old enough to use matches, they are old enough to be drafted."

Hope and his troupe came home Thursday. He was greeted by his wife, Dolores, his two sons and two daughters, and newsmen. Reporters asked him about injuries he suffered in a fall last week in Thailand.

Hope pulled up a trouser leg and showed his bruises. "I just fell off the stage," he said. "I'll do anything for a laugh."

Skiers

Terry Noyes told officers and reporters that after he, Juett and Dettle woke up this morning, he remembered from his Boy Scout training that he should follow a stream downward.

They followed the Rio Ruidoso, discarding their skis. The lost skiers spent the night in 30-degree weather. Up to a foot of snow covered their tracks and hindered the search.

Dettle and Juett were reported missing when they failed to keep dates with girl friends at a restaurant. It was first thought they had returned to Ruidoso, but a check of all motels and hotels failed to locate them.

The two students were skiing in a party separate from the Noyes and Jaster. Of the six skiers, only Dr. Noyes was said to be an experienced one.

FOUR TEEN AGE HIKERS SOUGHT IN CALIFORNIA

FONTANA, Calif. (UPI)—Searchers battled heavy snow and poor visibility Friday to seek four teen-age hikers feared lost in the San Bernardino mountains near Lytle Creek.

But the adverse weather forced the sheriff's rescue party to interrupt the second day of an intensive search. The hunt will resume tomorrow.

"The snow is very, very heavy," a sheriff's investigator from Fontana reported. The four boys all were to have met Thursday with their parents at a predetermined location after a three-day hike. But they did not appear and the parents became concerned of the delay and weather conditions in the vicinity of Mt. Baldy and Lytle Creek.

The four were identified as John Preston Clayton, 17, La Habra; Raymond De Lea, 17, and Willis De Lea, 15, brothers of Fullerton and Jeff Willeford, 17, Buena Park.

SNOWSLIDE KILLS ONE SKIER, INJURES TWO
PARK CITY, Utah (AP)—An avalanche 200 feet wide poured down an isolated hillside and killed at least one skier Friday. Two others were reported injured.

A spokesman for United Park City Mines, Inc., which operates the resort, said volunteers and sheriff's officers were probing the path of the avalanche looking for possible victims.

lawyer, and the football player's mother and father. (The fact that Anderson would receive in the neighborhood of $600,000 was reported exclusively by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal last week. The Avalanche-Journal also reported earlier in the week that all indications pointed toward Anderson signing with the Packers.)

Anderson was the No. 1 draft choice of the Packers and the Oilers a year ago when he was selected as a future choice.

No Details Given
Pepper declined to divulge any details of the contract, saying, "Vince Lombardi (Packers' general manager and coach) considers this private business."

Lombardi said in Green Bay, where he is getting the Packers ready for Sunday's National Football League title game with Cleveland, that he was pleased with the signing, but he declined to name the sum.

"Everybody is just guessing," he said. "There is no way of getting the price from Anderson or the Packers."

Asked if Anderson signed a term contract Lombardi said "When you sign a first draft choice these days you sign him for more than one year."

Must Earn His Pay
Lombardi refused to disclose if the contract had a no-out provision but added, "He must play to earn his contract money."

Blanchard, however, said the contract was the richest ever signed by a football player. It is reported to call for a sizable bonus, a three-year no-cut stipulation and many fringe benefits.

May Be Starter
Anderson was also quoted by another wire service as saying that he would be an offensive back for the NFL western division champions and it was his understanding he probably would start. The Packers now have two veteran running backs—Paul Hornung and power-runner Jim Taylor, but neither was as effective this past season as in previous years.

Anderson emphasized that his decision was not made merely on the basis of monetary gain. "I have felt for a long time that I wanted to play for Green Bay. My heart is there. I feel that I'll be much happier with the Packers, and happiness is not something you can measure in dollars and cents."

Anderson was voted his team's outstanding player Friday in the Gator Bowl football game won by Georgia Tech 31-21.

Two Sensational Catches
He made two sensational one-handed catches which led to touchdowns, scored one touchdown and showed a lot of power in carrying the ball.

For the last two years as an All-American he has been the country's top offensive performer, as a runner, pass receiver and kick returner.

The $600,000 figure for Anderson exceeds the $427,000 contract given to last year's top-rated signee, Alabama quarterback Joe Namath, who signed with the New York Jets of the AFL.

Other High Jackpots
However, there have been unconfirmed reports that Illinois fullback Jim Grabowski, who also signed with Green Bay, and Texas linebacker Tommy Nobis, who signed with Atlanta of the NFL, received contracts that might be in the same neighborhood as Anderson's.

The unconfirmed reports have listed Nobis as receiving as much as $700,000 and Grabowski as much as $825,000.

12 Minutes Late
Anderson arrived 12 minutes late for the 6:30 p.m. EST news conference, which he had scheduled himself.

After the signing, someone asked Anderson the length of the contract and he replied: "Three years."

New Year

Viet Nam.
Locally, party-goers could find almost any kind of entertainment Friday night. Most night spots reported they were "full up" early in the evening and some even noted they were forced to turn away crowds.

Long Waiting Lines
One club reported that celebrants were waiting in line for the buffet dinner several hours after entering the club, with large crowds noted at most places where partygoers gathered.

Today, many public offices, businesses and restaurants will be closed to observe New Year's Day. The county courthouse closed at noon Friday, but state offices, other than those in the old courthouse, will take no extra time off although they are normally closed Saturdays.

The post office and banks will also be closed. The leaders of the nation, and their people, followed the news reports of President Johnson's efforts for a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam war.

The White House said President and Mrs. Johnson had no special plans for New Year's. In New York City, incoming Mayor John V. Lindsay planned to see the new year in at the negotiating table, bargaining to avert a transit strike that could cripple the city.

New Times Clock
But the threatened strike wasn't to start until 5 a.m. Saturday and New York's Times Square was still the center stage of the nation's celebration. There was a new clock this year, ticking off dying 1965 in tenths of seconds. As usual, police arranged to close the square to traffic so the throng could assemble.

As the tenths of seconds counted down to midnight in Times Square, it was already 1966 in Japan and temple bells tolled out the Year of the Snake and welcomed the Year of the Horse.

Japanese clad in furs against a sudden cold spell crowded shrines as the bells rang 108 times. According to ancient Japanese belief, each stroke of the bell atones for one of the 108 sins each human being has committed during the year.

Concludes
For the world's Roman Catholics, New Year's Day also began a jubilee proclaimed by Pope Paul VI to mark the conclusion of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

During a jubilee, the Church grants a full indulgence—taking away all the earthly punishment due for past sins—for participation in special services or for certain private acts of prayer.

New Year's fall in the Moslem holy month of Ramadan. Adherents of that faith were warned to follow the Koran's injunction against taking any food or drink from dusk to dawn.

Rabbis reminded Jews that this New Year's Eve is also their Sabbath, starting at sundown. In Detroit, three rabbis said "parties and celebrations can be neither in keeping with the spirit nor respectful of the appropriate observance of the Sabbath."

proud to be from Texas." Approximately 500 persons registered with the Texas Tech Ex-Student Association prior to kickoff with Dr. Byron Riegel of Seattle, Wash., claiming the longest haul. Riegel is the nephew of Mrs. Berl Huffman, wife of the Tech freshman coach.

Mrs. B. B. Kirk, 50, said she was cheering at every pleasing phase of the Raider performance. Mrs. Kirk, a resident of New Boston, Texas, reached her 84th birthday not long ago.

"Oh, I don't have any particular attachment to Tech other than the fact that I like the Red Raiders. Fact is, I love the game. Since I have relatives in Florida I just decided to fly down and see them and the Raiders at the same time," she said, with a gleaming smile.

Cody Draws Queries
Also in the crowd was Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Abram, former Texas natives residing in Miami. "We really do like it down here, but when a team from Texas gets down this way to play, you can bet your life they have our support," said Mrs. Abram.

Charcoal Cody and rider drew numerous queries from the stands along with the Goin Band from Raiderland.

Everything possible was done to see that Texas Tech felt at home in the bell and a dozen or so members of the Saddle Tramps arrived Friday morning. The cheer-leaders had driven down Wednesday.

"Man alive," said pretty cheer-leader Patti Perkins, "no matter how low we try to yell, it sounds like everyone in the state of Georgia is in the stands."

Johnson's Struggle In Campus Politics Told

By DAVID ANDERSON — SAN MARCOS, Tex. (UPI)—A secret campus political society gave Lyndon Johnson his first experience in personal politics, according to the authors of a new book on the President's early years.

The writers say Johnson and half a dozen friends in 1928 organized the "White Stars" and wrestled control of campus politics at Southwest Texas State College from a rival society dominated by athletes.

The White Stars rejected Johnson's bid for membership, he and his friends organized the White Stars. Unlike the Black Stars, the White Stars chose their members on the basis of intelligence and ability. "The members took vows which even to this day they will not talk about," the book says.

The White Stars met secretly late at night in members' rooms and "devised special stratagems. For instance, several times they engineered the nomination to split the opposition vote.

"On one occasion, when the White Stars feared defeat in an election for a class presidency, they moved to elect the class officers in reverse order.

Cheer Leader Chosen First
Then they nominated the most popular Black Star for the relatively unimportant office of cheerleader, and he was elected easily. This left the way clear for them to win the presidency.

Johnson became an assistant in the college president's office and "was able to help the White Stars get good student jobs." The White Stars won control of the campus publications, which paid their editors $30 a month. Johnson was editor of the student newspaper one summer.

The struggles for campus leadership required "person-to-person politics," the book says. "Every student had to be contacted personally and often had to be convinced by long arguments.

"It is easy to see how such experience helped the naturally gregarious Lyndon Johnson to develop the effective techniques he used later as Senate majority leader.

Johnson's opinions in a body of voters of about the same size as his senior class."

Police Capture Teen Kidnaper Near Corsicana
CORSCICANA, Tex. (AP)—Police, acting on a quickly traced phone call, overpowered Friday night a kidnaper they surprised in the midst of a ransom call. One of the policemen, J. W. Pritchett, was wounded in the scuffle.

Wanda Chandler, 16, of Ennis, Tex., for whom ransom was demanded, was freed unharmed. The abductor's wife also was wounded during the scuffle. Her four-year-old son was not hurt.

Demands $5,000
Wanda was kidnapped about 5:20 p.m. when a man attempted to hold up the Davis Hilltop Drive-In at Ennis of which her parents are co-owners. When he failed to get any money he took Wanda hostage.

Later the store received a phone call demanding $5,000 for Wanda's release. The caller said he would call back in 45 minutes for an answer.

Wanda's parents reported the call to Ennis police and the call was traced to Corsicana.

Account Given
Lloyd Huffma, Corsicana Police Dispatcher, who directed officers there, gave this account of what followed:

"When the abductor called the drive-in the second time, Mrs. Bertha Williams, telephone supervisor in Corsicana, traced the call in about 45 seconds to an outdoor telephone booth at the corner of West Seventh and 15th Streets in Corsicana, and patrol units were directed to the scene.

Girl Frightened
Huffma said he was listening in on the line when he heard Patrolman Pritchard and an auxiliary officer, Horace McAdams, arrive.

He said Wanda was talking in a frightened voice to her parents.

Pritchard ordered the man out of the phone booth and told the girl to run to his squad car.

The man turned on the officers and in the scuffle Pritchett was wounded in the hip.

Man's Wife Shot
McAdams called over the police car's radio for an ambulance and additional officers.

As he talked Wanda interrupted to say that the man's wife and little boy were in a car back of a nearby service station.

McAdams said that he thought he heard a second shot as he left the car.

Other officers who rushed to the scene found the man's wife and son in the car. She had a gunshot wound in the leg.

Injunction Defied By Transit Official
NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York State Supreme Court justice Friday night issued a temporary injunction barring a New Year's Day transit strike as Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay personally sought to settle the labor dispute.

Transport Workers Union President Michael J. Quill said he would advise his membership to ignore the order even if he has to go to jail.

GAS WELL

Attempt To Snuff Out Fire Fails

LOOP (Special) — Efforts to extinguish a gas well fire that has burned out of control near here for more than three days failed Friday, but J. J. Travis of Midland, owner of the well, said he expected the fire to be snuffed out sometime today.

Travis said, "We came real close Friday, but a seal failed to hold."

To Try Again
Extinguishing operations by the Red Adair oil well fire-fighting crew from Houston will be resumed about 8 a.m. today.

Adair is attempting to pump water and mud down a tubing in the well. Because of the intense heat generated by the fire, Adair's crew is working from a distance of about 50 feet from the well.

Travis said the same extinguishing procedures would be used again today. He added that dynamite would be used only as a last resort.

The fire has been burning since early Wednesday morning, and flames are still soaring from 20 to 50 feet high.

Big Damage
The only damage from the fire thus far has been the burning of a rig, valued at $150,000 by Rod Ric Corp., a drilling firm from Midland.

Adair used a large crane Friday morning to remove part of the melted rig from atop the well.

Travis said he still has hopes that the well will be a highly productive one.

Travis summoned Adair to the scene of the fire, one mile northwest of Loop, Wednesday afternoon.

The well is located on the C. E. Fleming lease.

City Forgeries Net More Than $800 In Cash

Several burglaries and a number of forgery incidents—which netted passers more than $800 in cash from city businesses—highlighted a varied list of offenses reported to Lubbock Police Department New Year's Eve.

Detectives said at least six checks, drawn on "Firemen's Fund Insurance Co." through the National Bank of Commerce, Dallas, were returned to Lubbock merchants here Friday, all marked "forgery."

Hunting Suspect
Police noted that three of the victimized merchants gave similar descriptions of the suspect, but the others could not immediately recall the characteristics of the passer.

Generally, officers were hunting a suspect 25 to 30 years old, 5-10, 170 pounds, well-dressed and wearing black horn-rimmed glasses.

The series of incidents netted $806.19. Officers said checks were passed at stores of J. C. Penney, downtown $117.49; and Monterey shopping center for $128.59; Hemphill-Wells, Monterey, $149.12; TG&Y in Monterey, $109.56; Dunlap's Caprock Center, $176.84; and Sears' downtown store, $128.59.

Police discovered break-ins at three business places early Friday. Losses included vending machine change and a portable television set at Humble service station, 102 E. Broadway; a radio, tire and money from two vending machines at Godwin's service station, 3807 15th St.; and vending machine money from Jim's drive-in cafe, 2601 Clovis Rd.

Purses Are Taken
Doris McBee, 1809 Ave. S, reported a burglary at her apartment, saying that two purses, containing four credit cards, a wallet, cigarette lighter and some prescription tablets were taken.

A purse also was reported taken from a car belonging to Lloyd Cellner, Houston, while the vehicle was parked in the 1900-block 18th St.

In addition, loss of a drill and a power saw were reported in a break-in of Squire Construction Co., 509 Ave. H, police said.

A movie projector, valued at $50, was listed missing from a car owned by Bill Garrett, 2002 47th St.

Windshields of cars owned by W. R. McClurg, 473 36th St., and Steven Mitchell, 1800 5th St. were reported damaged or broken.

Four Persons Hurt In Four-Car Mishap

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in a four-car pileup about 8:45 p.m. Friday in the 900-block E. 34th St.

Taken to West Texas Hospital by Rix Funeral Home ambulance were Bonnie Byrd, 21, and daughters, Loraine, 4, and Debra Ann, 5, all of 1003 E. 29th St., who were given emergency treatment and dismissed.

Cindy White, about 16, 2906 28th St., suffered facial lacerations and was taken to Highland Hospital by Henderson Ambulance Service, police said.

PROJECT FUNDS APPROVED
AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Connally approved Friday a Neighborhood Youth Corps project for Galveston County. The project will be financed by a $139,520 federal grant and local funds of $33,580. The project, directed by commissioners' courts, will offer employment to 129 out-of-school youths in Galveston, Texas City, Dickinson and La Marque.

She ran back to her home to get the penny, then started back across the street.

Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner said a traffic light would be placed at the intersection, even though the city traffic engineers last month rejected a request by residents for the signal.

German Defects To East Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—A German employee of the U.S. Army defected to East Berlin Friday after telling the Army he was resigning.

He was identified as Erich Kobel, a member of the 477th Labor Service Co., a unit composed of Germans who guard Army installations.

The unit wears military uniforms similar to the Army's, and West Berlin police at first reported a U.S. soldier had defected.

An American spokesman said Kobel possessed no Army information that would be of use to the Communists.

An hour after Kobel defected, two East German border guards escaped successfully through barbed wire in the French sector of the border into West Berlin.

Queen Makes Knight Of Irreverent Subject

By GRANVILLE J. WATTS
LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II today bestowed knighthood on one of her most irreverent subjects, a newspaper columnist called Cassandra.

The award, announced in the queen's traditional New Year's honors list, was a staggering surprise.

Cassandra, William Neil Connor, 50, is an Irishman who has been hitting out at authority and privilege for most of the 30 years he has worked for the 5 million circulation Daily Mirror.

He made headlines around the world in 1959 when he insulted American pianist Liberace so severely that The Mirror paid out $22,500 in a libel suit.

The royal award means Connor will be called Sir William. The acid-penned critic has denounced everything from excessive adulation of royalty to the power of American womanhood.

The awards were picked by the Laborite government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson but are nominally conferred by the queen. They are made to people of many walks of life.

There was one striking omission this year — no awards to citizens of Rhodesia, the rebel colony.

In other awards: Author Graham Greene, 61, British novelist, was made a Companion of Honor.

A similar honor — a rare one in British chivalry — went to the Baroness Dr. Edith Summerskill, 64, Labor Party legislator who has long campaigned for a ban on professional boxing.

Named Privy Councillor was got awards.

IN SPEECH

Smith Hits British Acts

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI)—Rebel Premier Ian Smith accused Britain Friday of stealing oil, imposing punitive sanctions and of directing vicious propaganda against his breakaway colony.

In a nationwide radio new year's speech, Smith claimed Rhodesia had been a model of peace and stability since his government proclaimed its independence from Britain Nov. 11.

Warning Recalled
"This peace and tranquility has been maintained in the face of punitive sanctions and the masterly, vicious and even vindictive propaganda of a country we once held in the highest esteem," he said.

"Rhodesians are strong in the knowledge that their cause is right and just and have merely smiled in the face of such actions."

Smith recalled that when independence was declared he had warned Britain might make "attempts to visit retribution on us." He said further sanctions might be imposed.

Seizure Overcome
Smith said Rhodesia had overcome Britain's seizure of its funds in London and replacement of the governors of the Rhodesian Reserve Bank.

"More recently two tankers of oil which belonged to us which we had paid for were pirated on the high seas. As a result of this the government decided it was better to play safe and introduce rationing sooner than we anticipated."

Rhodesians had much to be thankful for on New Year's Eve, Smith said.

"We are at last a sovereign, independent state," he claimed.

"Rhodesia will emerge from the situation stronger than before, and moreover, I am convinced that when the final struggle for nationhood is written, history will recount the retribution which, in turn, will be exacted from those who today dance the tune of world Communism in the guise of democratic institutions," he said.

Crowds Crush Four At Year-End Dance

NUNEATON, England (AP)—Three young men and a teenage girl were crushed to death at a New Year's Eve dance.

They were killed when crowds surged down from the balcony at Nuneaton's Cooperative Hall toward the dance floor.

"There was a terrific stampede," a witness said, "all hell broke loose. People fell to the floor screaming and they were trampled on as others tried to push forward."

real restrictions on pre-trial publicity.

However, like many of the code's provisions, that section has been subject to much debate and a variety of interpretations.

"This must all be thrashed out," said Brazoria County Dist. Atty. Tom Kenyon. "We're not really sure what it means." In the meantime, he added, his office "does not want to be in a position of denying any defendant a fair trial."

In Austin the city council has voted to establish a night court, even though Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has ruled that the code does not require it.

The city council's action was prompted by a much-publicized section of the new code requiring that a defendant be taken before a judge "immediately" after his arrest.

However, Carr ruled that "immediately" means exactly the same thing as "forthwith"—the word used in the old code. He said a defendant arrested at night does not have to be taken before a magistrate until the next day.

Dist. Atty. Tom Blackwell of Austin said a requirement that prisoners be advised of their right to have a lawyer before they confess "will result in undue obstacles to police investigation."

But he added, "The new code does eliminate many unnecessary, unjust and outmoded procedures."

Wait and See
Dist. Judge John F. Onion Jr. of San Antonio said the new code should not be judged until it has been in operation awhile.

Then, he said, "it will undoubtedly be discovered that it has not held a wake for policemen; it has not buried the confession, nor has it altered the basic principles of law enforcement."

In addition to the section on confessions, lawmen complain about a provision allowing defense attorneys, under certain conditions, to examine before trial some of the evidence to be used against the defendant.

Blackwell said this provision permits "fishing for evidence" by many police man-hours will be lost in these new pre-trial procedures.

Onion, on the other hand, applauded these sections and said they "should reduce the chance of trial by ambush."

Many of the code's provisions have been praised by lawmen and defense lawyers alike.

These include changes that allow juries to hear evidence about the defendant's record before sentencing him, allow juries to go home at night, extend probation to all types of offenses, and permit judges to accept cash bonds and release defendants without bond.

Insure Fair Trial

Actually, the code says only that lawyers, judges, and police must "so conduct themselves as to insure to the defendant a fair trial upon the presumption of innocence and at the same time afford the public the benefits of a free press."

When the legislature wrote that section, it was considered a mere restatement of long-law and a defeat for lawyers who wanted to clamp some

New Road To Be All Multi-Lane

AUSTIN (UPI)—Interstate Highway 35 will be a multi-lane expressway all the way from the Red River to the Rio Grande, state highway engineer D. C. Greer said Friday.

The highway department previously had planned to develop only a two-lane road on a 13.6-mile section in South Texas because of light traffic.

However, Greer said engineers decided a short two-lane stretch in what otherwise would be a continuous 590-mile expressway would be too hazardous, so they won approval of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads to make the section four-lane.

Greer said 408.2 miles of Interstate 35 are now complete.

AFTER LETTERS ARRIVE

Tragedy Of Viet Nam Felt In American Delicatessen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The heat, the poverty, the deprivation and terror of Vietnam are a long way from Mavrides' delicatessen in San Francisco.

But these are felt there now because of a letter from a Hungarian refugee fighting with the U.S. forces. And the way a Vietnamese boy, 13, feels about it all is there too, neatly penned.

Typewritten Letter
Nick's friend, Sgt. Vilmos I. Moczary, wrote on a typewriter from Qui Nhon: (Spelling exactly as he typed it)

"I wish that some of the young draft dodgers would get over here and witness with their own eyes how the people live over here. They won't believe it until I have seen it with my own eyes. The people over here are at the trash dump every day around five when we throw our trash away and they swarm over the entire area in minutes. They even take food from the fire and they walk in the fire for food without shoes."

Encloses Boy's Note
"As you know I have had my time to fight Communist life and I'm happy that I can serve my country again and with my fighting I'm not just fighting for my family and my freedom but for yours and for every one in the US and for the better future for our children and when I think about the freedom that my children and every one else will enjoy I'm glad that I'm here and I have the chance to stop Cominsem (communism) before it is late."

"To give you a better knowledge I will enclose a letter that I received from a Vietnamese boy."

On flimsy paper the carefully penned letter read:

COAST GUARD OPERATION 35 Persons Rescued From Picturesque Windjammer

MIAMI (AP) — A quick distress call sent by a passenger and fast Coast Guard rescue work saved 35 persons from dark and stormy seas when the 96-foot windjammer Mandalay smashed aground on a Florida reef Friday.

A. E. Lundquist of Scituate, Mass., a passenger pressed into duty as a radioman, sent the SOS that brought Coast Guard helicopters out of Miami to pick up the picturesque cruise schooner's 24 passengers and 11 crewmen.

The Mandalay, fourth ship owned by Capt. Michael Burke of the Coast Guard, Lundquist passed word to the passengers that the helicopters were coming, "and it was a great relief to them," he said.

"It was a frightful experience," said Walter H. Ballard, president of the W.H.R. Chemical Co. of Westchester, N.Y. "We are afraid the boat would fall apart. It was pitch dark and we were afraid of sharks."

Burke's wife reported at his Miami Beach home that he was taken to the hospital.

Because of the roughness of the voyage, Lundquist said, all passengers were awake when the two-master was driven aground. This contributed to an orderly evacuation of the listing vessel.

High Court Rules On 'Loan Law'

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas finance companies that make loans of more than $1,500 are subject to both banking and small loan regulation, the State Supreme Court said Friday.

The important test of the 1963 "loan shark" act was one of 42 cases passed on by the high court in a special session closing out the court's 1965 term.

In other cases, the court: —Said it had no jurisdiction over the appeal of a Gregg County Negro, Billy Ray Bennett, who cited recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions to back up his claim that his 10-year prison term for burglary was invalid because Gregg County "systematically excludes" Negroes from its grand juries.

—Rejected two doctors' appeal of a lower court ruling ordering a new trial in a malpractice suit brought against the doctors by Mr. and Mrs. Waller J. Levermann of Del Rio.

Claim Negligence
The Levermanns sued Drs. L. M. Cartall and H. E. Newby on grounds the physicians did not properly diagnose and treat head injuries suffered by the Levermann's 10-month-old baby in a fall from a high chair.

A jury said the doctors were not liable, but the San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals granted the Levermanns an appeal for a new trial and the Supreme Court upheld that decision.

MOUNTAIN RESERVOIR FLOODGATES OPENED

Man-Made Flood Hits Phoenix

Thousands Are Forced From Homes In Area

PHOENIX—Water stored up from record snow and rainstorms surged down into the Phoenix area Friday in a man-made flood that chased several thousand people from their homes.

The floodgates of brimful mountain reservoirs released the rampaging water in an effort, officials said, to prevent a later disaster.

As the water surged down the normally dry Salt River, flooding a stretch half a mile wide, a young man was caught in a car and feared drowned.

Major traffic jams were created on normally busy highways and streets as the curious drove closer to look at the rampaging river.

Salt River Project spokesmen said the river flow had crested by noon in the Mesa-Tempe-Phoenix area and should remain constant at 75,000 cubic feet per second until at least midnight.

In addition to the one apparent drowning, several businesses and homes were inundated, a main runway at the airport was partly covered and the newly opened Interstate 10 freeway was damaged and had to be closed.

The water was released from the six reservoirs which have been at or near capacity on the Salt River chain northeast of Phoenix. Spokesmen for the Salt River Project said this had to be done to avert the chance of a major flood in the near future.

They said the water should start subsiding today barring more heavy rain and snow on the watershed. December storms have dumped record precipitation on many parts of the state, especially the watershed areas.

The latest heavy storms hit Thursday in northeastern Arizona.

A 12-square-mile-area of south Phoenix was warned to evacuate after Gov. Sam Goddard declared a state of emergency during the morning.

The National Guard called out 320 men and, by midafternoon, had placed 2,300 persons in shelters. Another 4,000 were expected to be housed in armories, churches and three schools by nightfall.

Police cars, sirens screaming, gave the alarm as army trucks cruised neighborhoods to pick up persons without transportation.

No Residential Flooding
No flooding in major residential areas was reported.

Only two bridges were left to link the north and south banks of the Phoenix-Tempe area.

North Tempe appeared to receive the worst early damage. A night club, pet cemetery, several other business and homes, all located in the eriver bed, were flooded.

Electrical power to a large area of Tempe, Phoenix and adjoining Scottsdale was out for more than two hours when transmission lines across the river were swept away.

Carl Pasterino, about 23, of Tempe, apparently drowned See FLOODING Page 8

TECH KEEPING PACE WITH AGE

Academic Plans Upgraded

While Texas Tech's enrollment was a little less than doubling (from 9,178 to 16,305) in the past five years, its academic program was being expanded in some areas as much as 200 per cent.

Such giant strides in academic improvement are reflected in direct proportion, Tech administrators feel, to the increasing diversity of interests fostered by today's complex society.

The Country Parson

"You can have nothing for nothing—anything more has a price on it."

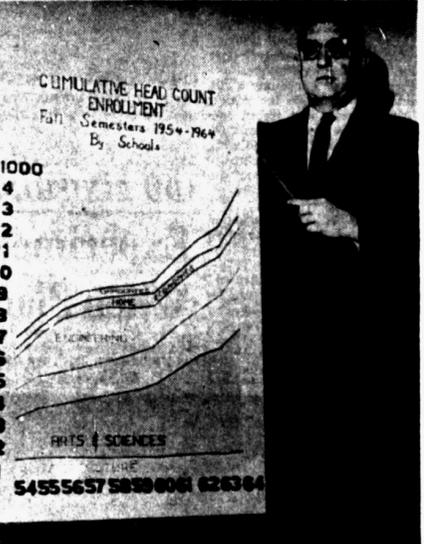

"Students are well aware of the explosion of knowledge on every hand," said one professor, "and they want to be where the action is."

Hunger For Knowledge
This hunger for knowledge in more and varied career fields is being felt in every department of the college's six schools, observed Tech's Academic Vice President, Dr. William M. Pearce.

It is particularly apparent at the graduate level.

"As late as 1960," Dr. Pearce said, "Tech offered the doctorate in five areas only: chemistry, English, history, psychology and education (Ed.D.)."

"Since that time the college has been authorized to offer the doctorate in 10 additional areas: biology, geosciences, government, mathematics, physics (engineering area), chemical engineering, civil engineering, elec-

LISTS ARE, BUT IDEAS AREN'T

Resolutions 'Out Of Style?'

By GAYLE NOLL
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Are New Year's resolutions "going out of style?" Eight of 10 Lubbock teenagers and adults interviewed this week think so. Especially the teenagers.

But all 10 admitted they still "think about resolutions" some serious, some in jest — although they don't write them down anymore.

List Of Resolutions
Most felt the New Year's resolutions are "made to be broken." Some said they're sincerely going to try to stick to their self-promises. Resolutions made by the four teenagers interviewed included: "not to pick on my little brother... be more understanding of my parents... not to be so much trouble for my teachers... study more... keep my room clean."

One teenager, 15-year-old Jan Tillery, 2130 55th St., promised herself and her mother "to stop putting chewing gum on my nightstand when I go to bed at night."

The six adults resolved to do such things as: "not to say 'I didn't have time'... get up on Sunday morning and go to church... get better organized... lose weight... be more patient and tolerant."

Adding to a list of resolutions, Mrs. Tim (Mary) Tillery, 2130 55th St., a counselor at Thompson Junior High School, made these humorous promises: "to learn to do the drug... not to get mad at officials at Tech basketball games... and to catch one of See RESOLUTIONS Page 8

Dunlap's Year 'Round "Optional Credit Plan"

Dunlap's Optional Credit Plan makes family financing simple all year... It's a regular 30-day account when you want it or it's an account which you can stretch over many months when you need extra time. You may make a minimum payment one month and pay in full the next... YOU decide when you need extra time... no special arrangements, it's automatic with your decision. When you make a partial payment a small service charge is added, computed on the UNPAID balance. As your unpaid balance is reduced from one bracket to another, your minimum monthly payment decreases likewise.

William Bankston, Miss Thaxton Wed

LITTLEFIELD (Special) — Miss Karen Sue Thaxton and William Lee Bankston exchanged double ring wedding vows at 7 p.m. Tuesday in First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Robert Longshore, minister, officiating. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ewing C. Thaxton and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bankston. Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie designed with a scoop neckline and tapering sleeves ending in petal points. The bodice front and bell-shaped skirt were enhanced with Alencon lace motifs and the four-tile chapel-length train was bordered by Venice lace attached under a Parisian bow at the natural waistline. Her veil of English silk illusion was supported by a pearl trimmed rose cluster and petals of peau de soie. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of french-ed carnations topped by a white orchid. Miss Melaine Cantrell served as maid of honor, Mrs. Barry Armes was bridesmatron, and Miss Lana Burkett of Andrews was bridesmaid. They wore floor-length taffeta dresses in royal blue featuring wide oval necklines and elbow-length sleeves. They carried tapered hand corsages of white french spider mums. Candelighters were Miss Kathy Woody and Terry Stone, Miss Ann Farmer, organist, accompanied Miss Sue Hebel, soloist. Serving the bridegroom as best man was David Smith of Fort Stockton. Groomsmen were David Loyd of Borger, and Charles Heathman. Ushers were Robert Bolton and Jimmy Palmer. Following the ceremony a reception was given in the parlor of the church. For travel the bride chose a moss green, raw silk two-piece suit trimmed with Belgium blue cufflets, and brown lizard accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bankston are graduates of Littlefield High School. The bride is attending Texas Tech majoring in elementary education, and the bridegroom is attending South Plains College in Levelland, and plans to transfer to Tech in the School of Engineering. He is employed by Southwestern Public Service Co.

Experiment With Frozen Foods When Planning Dessert Menus

If you haven't already discovered what frozen foods can mean to your dessert menus, January is the perfect time to do some experimenting. In your grocer's freezer cases you'll find a multitude of ready to serve items that permit you to place the most delightful desserts on your table in no time. And through the miracle of freezing, cakes are baked using only the finest quality ingredients and can keep them at the peak of oven freshness until you serve them. You can also add your own special touches to frozen convenience foods to create some delicious fancy concoctions. Who would ever guess you spent only a few minutes in the kitchen when you serve tantalizing Individual Mocha Fluff Alaskas? This impressive dessert is quickly designed with frozen pound cake, ice cream and a meringue topping. INDIVIDUAL MOCHA FLUFF ALASKAS 3 egg whites 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 cup sugar 1/4 teaspoon instant coffee 1 pint chocolate ice cream 1 frozen pound cake. Beat egg whites and salt until frothy. Gradually add sugar and instant coffee, continuing to beat until stiff peaks form. Cut 4 slices of pound cake about 1 inch thick and place on baking sheet covered with heavy paper. Slice pint of ice cream into 4 slices and place them on top of cake. Spread meringue on tops and sides, covering completely. Bake in pre-heated 450 F. oven until lightly browned, about 45 to 50 minutes. Serve immediately. 4 servings.

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: When hard-boiling eggs, I like to peel them the easy way. Here's how: Just pour the hot water off, and immediately shake the pan vigorously (with the eggs still in it) until they're all well cracked. Then pour cold water on them. Now, watch 'em practically slide right out of their shells. This sure eliminates work, and saves time. La De De: I'll bet none of you will believe this until you have tried it. But, don't laugh at it before you do. Then, I can just see that sly smile come across your face as it did mine. It was most unbelievable. Actually, the eggs just sorta scooted out of the shells when I filled the pan with the cold water. I didn't really have to peel them. Thank you kindly, ma'am. I think you are the genius—and I consider your hint one of the discoveries of the year—since most of us boil eggs at least once a week and always have trouble peeling them. Dear Heloise: I am a faithful user of nylon net. Besides the uses mentioned in your column, I just place a piece of wet net under my string mop, and it really gets those awful spots up when mopping the kitchen floor. F. K. Dear Heloise: I have some suggestions which I think make a world of difference between insipid and real good tasting coffee. To insure freshness, I keep opened (re-sealed) cans of coffee in my refrigerator. When making percolated coffee, I always start with cold water. I measure a heaping coffee-spoonful of coffee for each cup, and add an extra "one for the pot." For good, strong coffee, I let it perk at least 15 minutes. If using an automatic coffee maker, I set it on "stronger." If you like your coffee milder, percolate it for a shorter time—but use the same amount of coffee. I use a drip-grind in my percolator, since it makes stronger coffee. I make only enough for one time, and never reheat it. It is most important to keep the coffee pot clean. After each use, I wash and dry each part thoroughly, and do not put it back together—instead I leave it out to air between uses. Coffee Lover Dear Heloise: What would you do if you stepped on some chewing gum, and it got all over your shoe? M. L. I would put the shoe (this also works on clothing) in a plastic bag, put it in my deep freezer, and leave it there all day. Then, when I removed it from the freezer, the gum would be frozen solid, and I could flick it off with a dull knife, or my fingernail. Heloise Dear Heloise: For those who collect stamps: Please tell them that after they have soaked the stamps off in a basin of water, to lay them FACE-DOWN on paper towels. Sometimes glue remains on water-soaked stamps, and they will become stuck again if laid face UP. I lay mine on paper towels instead of newspapers, so that the ink from printed material will not become transferred to the face of the stamp. Stamp Collector Dear Heloise: Before ripping black, dark brown or navy seams, run a piece of white chalk lightly down the seam. This makes the stitches easy to see, and the chalk can be

Ignore 'Package Part'

Dear Ann Landers: Is there a tactful way to tell close friends that their speech habits get on your nerves? My husband and I see quite a lot of a nice couple. Every time the wife opens her mouth she starts with, "I want to tell you something." We know she wants to tell us something. That's why she's talking. Her husband has another little habit that drives us nuts, too. Whenever he finishes a sentence he adds, "Do you know what I mean?" My husband says this is an insult. Does he think we are morons? Why must he ask if we know what he means? Should we tell them of our irritation and hope they do something about it or will they think we are picking on them?—Perturbed Dear Perturbed: If your friends used offensive language I would urge you to speak up. But the speech habits described in your letter, annoying though they may be, are part of the package and should be ignored. Dear Ann Landers: Don't give me, heck, Ann. I know I did wrong. What I need now is advice on how to get out of it. I went steady with Stewart for three months. He was 18 and I was 15. I was so afraid of losing him that I did some things I'm sorry for. It almost killed me when he said he wanted to spend more time on his car. When a week went by and Stewart didn't call I got so sick I told my mother I had the flu. It took me a whole month to accept the fact that I had been dumped. Now a wonderful fellow named Nate has told me he'd like to take me out but he has heard such wild stuff about me from Stewart that he's going to think about it for a while. How can a girl overcome a bad reputation? Is there any way I can get that rat-fink Stewart to keep quiet?—Miss Regrets Dear Miss: No. Rat-finks talk. That's why they are called rat-finks. Conduct yourself like a lady and hope that Nate or some other nice young man will accept you for what you are and not what you were. Dear Ann Landers: Please don't regard this letter as an insult because I really think very highly of you. You make a lot of sense, Ann, but some of your advice is not practical. For example you say, "He needs psychiatric help." You know very well a person can't go up to a friend or relative and say, "Ann Landers says you need psychiatric help." This would not go down very well with most of the folks I know. Why give advice that people can't use? I'd like to see you answer this in the paper. Miss Blue Jay Dear Miss Blue: When I say, "Your uncle needs professional help" I want you to know that your uncle's behavior is not normal. I don't mean you should tell him. Erratic behavior may be a symptom of emotional illness. If a relative or close friend understands this, he may be able to persuade the sick one to level with his physician and get the treatment he needs. Confidential to Wized Up: Women don't have to run after men for the same reason. Men don't have to run after mice. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

James Wayne Hobbs, Miss Branham Exchange Ring Vows In Seagraves

SEAGRAVES (Special)—Miss Karen Doreen Branham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Branham, and James Wayne Hobbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Hobbs, were married at 7 p.m. Sunday in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. H. F. Scott, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white wool knit dress with long tapered sleeves and lace edging. Mrs. Lois Martin and Miss Paula Branham attended the bride, and Perel Hobbs served his brother as best man. For a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride chose a blue two-piece suit with matching accessories, and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. Mrs. Hobbs is a senior at Hobbs High School, and Hobbs, a graduate of the same high school, is stationed with the U.S. Marines in San Diego, Calif.

Tech Students Hear Vows In Lovington

LOVINGTON, N.M. (Special) — Miss Carolyn Ruth McCracken and David Mitchell Adriance were married in a double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Church. The Rev. Joe Emanuel officiated at the bride was given in marriage by her father. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Manfred McCracken, and Mrs. D. M. Adriance and of La Marque, Tex., and the late Mr. Adriance. The bride wore a formal sheath gown of white satepeau designed with a scoop neckline and long petal point sleeves. Re-embroidered Alencon lace motifs enhanced the princess bodice and extended onto the sheath skirt. Tiny seed pearls accented the lace motifs, and a detachable bouffant chapel train flowed from a natural waistline. A headpiece of petals edged in seed pearls with a pearl drop held a tiered veil of imported silk illusion. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid. The bride was attended by Miss Judy Richards of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Dudley Mueph as maid and matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Hilda Harrod and Patsy Haekler of Lubbock. They wore formal-length gowns of emerald green peau de soie, designed with scoop neckline and long sleeves. Best man was Don Rodie Jr., of Lubbock, and groomsmen were Larry Craig of Lubbock, Walter Cunningham Jr., of Galena Park, and Sam Savage. Ushers were Rusty Durham, Larry Pugh and Ted Swiggert, all of Lubbock; Vic Spizey of Denver City and Fred McCracken. Flower girl was Mary Harless and ring bearer was Mike McCracken. Mrs. Billy Biffle of Lubbock, organist, accompanied Miss Susan Adriance, soloist. Following the ceremony a reception was given in the Fellowship Hall of the church. For travel to Carlshad, N.M., the bride chose an emerald green wool suit with natural knit collar, and lizard accessories. The couple will be at home at 3102 4th St., Apt. 49, in Lubbock, where the bride is a sophomore at Texas Tech majoring in English. She is social chairman of Alpha Chi social sorority. The bridegroom is a 1965 graduate of Tech and is currently working toward a masters degree in marketing. He is rush chairman for Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

G. R. Crosses Honored In Ralls On 50th Anniversary

RALLS (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Cross were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 23, in the American Legion Hall. Hosts were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Calvin Cross of Morton, and their three daughters and son-in-laws: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Fresno, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lynch, Sacramento, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hunderson, Ralls. Cross and the former Miss Herod Ann Wright were married Dec. 24, 1915, in Calhoun County, near Cross Plains, where Cross was in the tin business. They moved to Stamford where they were in the thrashing business and then to Tres Lagunas, New Mexico, in 1929. They moved from New Mexico to Spur where they farmed. The couple farmed in Lubbock and Mulshoe before moving to Ralls where they retired. The Crosses have seven grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Plains Farming Damp Conditions Hamper Harvest

By DUANE HOWELL
Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor

Damp mornings and recurring spells of adverse weather have permitted only sporadic cotton stripping operations of late, preventing South Plains farmers from putting a finish to the 1965 crop harvest.

With the arrival of the New Year today, cotton observers are estimating that approximately 25 per cent or more of the area's 1965 crop still is in the fields.

Many observers believe solid weed of pretty weather would enable farmers to just about wrap up the harvest, although receipts still would continue dribbling in for weeks.

Daily receipts at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's three area classing offices have been fluctuating widely, reflecting the stop-and-go harvesting situation.

Norman Sloan of the classing office in Lubbock says receipts here have trailed off to about 5,000 samples a day.

Receipts Trail Year Ago
Combined classing receipts for the season through Wednesday totaled 1,560,849 bales at the Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa offices. This includes a 9,500-sample carryover.

The fact that areawide receipts at the same time a year ago totaled 1,694,085 bales gives an idea of the lateness of the current harvest.

That was a much smaller crop (1,913,000 bales) than estimated 1965 production of 2,273,000 bales.

Receipts at the Lubbock office, which has a 1,000-sample carryover, totaled 1,301,321 bales through Wednesday. Lamesa had received 123,984 bales, including a 6,000-sample carryover. Brownfield, with a 2,500-bale carryover, had received 135,544 bales.

Purchases on the Lubbock market for the week ending Wednesday totaled 30,103 bales, compared with 21,519 for the same period last year.

Prices continued to decline slightly, according to the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Price Quotations Noted
Light spotted grades with a micronaire of 3.5 and better were reported ranging from the low for strict middling light spots to $4.25 per bale over the low for low middling light spots.

Middling light spotted was reported bringing low prices and strict low middling light spots were being quoted at $2 to $2.50 per bale over the low.

Prices paid for cotton stapling 16/16ths-inch include 27.55 cents for middling, 26.20 for strict low middling, 26.25 for middling light spots and 25.60 for strict low middling light spots.

Quotations for 31/32nds-inch staples include 28.35 cents for middling, 26.70 for strict low middling, 26.75 for middling light spots, and 26 for strict low middling light spots.

Cottonseed prices at gins are reported ranging from $45 to $52 per ton.

Youths Going to Odessa
Eight Lubbock County 4-H members will exhibit livestock at the Sand Hills Hereford and Quarter Horse Show opening Monday at Odessa, according to Kenneth D. Cook, assistant county agent.

Hereford steers will be shown by Bobby Rush, Pam and Brady Mimms and Max and Joyce Thomas, all from the Roosevelt Community 4-H Club.

Fat finewool lambs will be shown by Andy Watkins, Gary Schaffner and Nathan Griffin, all of the Cooper Community 4-H Club.

Cook said the Odessa exposition will be the first of the stock show season for Lubbock County 4-H'ers. The show ends Jan. 8.

Ben Holcomb Honored
Ben Holcomb, a versatile 24-year-old Castro County farmer, has been named the Outstanding Young Farmer of the year by

Russia's Venus Probes Reported Working Okay

MOSCOW (UPI)—One of Russia's Venus probes is on course to pass the mystery planet at the planned distance and the other has been corrected to take it closer to Venus, the news agency Tass said Friday.

Tass said Venus-2, launched Nov. 12, and Venus-3, launched four days later, were respectively 9.3 million miles and 8.58 million miles away from the earth Friday.

Regular radio contact has been maintained with both probes, Tass said. It added that data received in the 52 communications sessions to date showed that the scientific instruments and power systems are functioning normally and conditions aboard the probes—such as temperature and such as temperature and pressure—are also normal.

Russia's first Venus probe, Venus-1, passed within about 60,000 miles of the planet in 1961 and then went on toward the sun.

It weighed 1,420 pounds. Tass said Venus-2 weighed 2,123 pounds.

The Venus-2 probe will pass Venus at the prescribed distance, Tass said. "On Dec. 26 the flight course of the Venus-3 probe was corrected in order to bring it closer to Venus."

The correction on the course of Venus-3 was made by means of a special correcting liquid-powered engine. Before the corrective maneuver the probe was oriented in a definite direction in space with regard to the sun and the star Canopus.

ON DISCHARGE Navy Dismisses Oswald Petition

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Navy review board has refused to act on a petition seeking to give an honorable Marine Corps discharge posthumously to Lee Harvey Oswald, assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The discharge review board decided that the petition, submitted by Oswald's mother, presented no new evidence, the Navy said. Oswald received an undesirable discharge from the Marines in 1959.

The petition has been sent to the board of corrections of naval records "which is now assembling all information on the case and will handle the matter in routine fashion," the Navy added.

There was no indication as to when the petition would be finally disposed of. A discharge review board previously dismissed a similar request submitted while Oswald was alive.

Cyanide Death Ruled Suicide

MIDLAND (UPI)—Justice of the Peace Robert H. Pine has ruled suicide in the death of Watha Wayne Cutbirth, 41, Midland.

Police said Cutbirth, an oil-field worker, swallowed a solution of cyanide poison as his wife watched horrified late Wednesday.

Mrs. Cutbirth said her husband stopped at a drugstore Wednesday on his way home from work and purchased a small can of ant poison.

She said her husband poured five of the pellets into a jar of water. Police said the pellets were mostly cyanide.

Mrs. Cutbirth said her husband drank some of the solution before she could grab the glass from his hand. Cutbirth died on the way to a Midland hospital.

Experiment Will End Early

ROME (AP)—The city's experiment with a "pedestrian island" of downtown shopping streets from which auto traffic has been banned will end a day and a half ahead of schedule.

The City Council decided Thursday night to terminate the test Tuesday, instead of Wednesday. It began last Monday.

Newspapers, shopkeepers and exasperated motorists caught up in maddening snarls of traffic along its fringes called the experiment a failure.

The experiment was designed to end traffic congestion, and theoretically making a 10-block-long area more pleasant for strolling shoppers. Shopowners inside the island turned off their outside lights and street signs Thursday night for the second day to protest the experiment, claiming a loss in business.

Kashmir Talks May Be Relayed To World

MOSCOW (UPI)—The peace talks between India and Pakistan on Kashmir in the far-off Uzbekistan capital of Tashkent in the Soviet Union next week may be televised live to the world.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported Friday a 2,299-mile-long multi-channel television cable has gone into operation between Tashkent and Moscow. From Moscow, live television programs could be relayed via East, then West European networks, then by satellite to the Western hemisphere.

TOKYO—Movie ticket prices are up again in Japan.

WITH DRUGS New Hope In Treating Mental Illnesses Seen

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—New hope of controlling mental diseases with drugs was offered Friday at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The hope—based on new approaches to causes of such ailments—was voiced by Dr. Bernard B. Brodie, chief of the Laboratory of Chemical Pharmacology of the National Heart Institute.

Dr. Brodie attacked a widely held belief that mental illness may be due to the body's manufacture of subtle poisons that affect the brain.

"Mechanism" Eyed
"Despite a decade or more of biochemical investigation," he said, "the fact remains that not a single biochemical defect in mental disease has been established."

Brodie suggested that researchers learn how nerve and brain impulses jump from cell to cell. "The fault may lie in the mechanism of this communication," he said.

He pointed out that certain nerve-muscle ailments, such as myasthenia gravis, have been traced to failure of an electrical signal to jump from nerve to muscle, although the nerve and the muscle may be in good condition.

Signal Can Be Blocked
Certain chemicals must be present between the close-lying cells to conduct a signal from one to the other. If they are not present, or if the area between the cells somehow becomes non-conductive, the signal is blocked.

Father Gets New Tax Deductions

DALLAS (UPI)—Mrs. Jam Mills, 32, of Garland Friday gave birth to triplet girls, a new $1,800 tax deduction for her husband on the final day of the year.

Mrs. Mills was not caught by surprise by the triple addition. Doctors had told her to expect four children. But in the excitement of the big occasion, Mrs. Mills was caught without a name for the girls.

They were called simply Baby A, Baby B and Baby C. Baby A weighed 3 pounds, 15 ounces. Baby B weighed 5 pounds, 5 ounces and Baby C checked in at a whopping 5 pounds, 14 ounces.

The Mills have another child, a teen-age daughter.

Males Catching Up With British Girls

LONDON (AP)—British girls got the good news today that men are catching up on them—in numbers, that is.

By the year 2000 men will outnumber women in the United Kingdom by 260,000, said a Central Statistical Office report. At present, there are nearly two million more females than males.

BLANKET WORKS TOO GOOD Tuffy's Pad Not So Cool

PLAINVIEW (Special)—Like Tuffy's pad wasn't so cool man?

Tuffy is a Boston Bulldog belonging to Robert Thomas, 11, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas here.

The pet received an electric blanket heating pad for his dog house at Christmas from the Thomas girls—Debbie, Penny and Angela.

Tuffy's comfortable nights in the doghouse since Christmas were interrupted by a fire the other night.

The doghouse caught. It was destroyed and so were 10 feet of backyard fence at the Thomas home. Damage estimate was pegged at $50. The Plainview fire department extinguished the blaze.

Dr. Thomas said apparently the heating pad shorted out igniting hay in the pet's house.

And Tuffy? Oh he spent the remainder of the night asleep on master Robert's bed.

EMIGRATION IN CANADA
LONDON (AP)—Emigration from Britain to Canada, Australia and New Zealand rose to 124,204 in 1964 for an increase of 21 per cent over 1963, the Commonwealth Relations Office reported.

Revival Slated At Assembly Of God Church

A Week of Prayer will be observed during New Year's revival services opening Sunday at Faith Assembly of God Church, 3001 E. 7th St.

The Rev. E. R. (Pete) Winter of Muleshoe, who is known as the "cowboy preacher," will give sermons.

Services will be conducted at 7 p. m. Sunday and 7:30 p. m. each weekday except Saturday. The revival will close Jan. 9.

The Rev. Mr. Winter worked on the range in Arizona and New Mexico in 1914. He was a peace officer at 21. For 42 years he has been a preacher. He has conducted approximately 490 revivals and has been pastor of churches. He recently resigned as pastor of the Assembly of God Church in Tucuman, N. M.

Observance Set
The Rev. Sam Wagener, pastor of Faith Assembly of God Church, said the revival would be held in connection with the Week of Prayer in Assemblies of God churches.

Leaders of the Assemblies of God in the United States, the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada and the Assemblies of God in Great Britain and Ireland have jointly proclaimed the week "consecrated by our people and churches to the seeking of God in prayer meetings, prayer chains and renewal of private devotions."

For millions on the eastern seaboard of the United States, this is where it happens. A lighted "ball" falls from the top of a tower—and it's 1966. But in Chicago and Winnipeg it is still 1965. In Saskatoon and Denver it is 1965. In Frisco and Vancouver it is 1965. So where in this broad continent is the New Year really born?

When it is born at all—it happens in men's own hearts!

Otherwise the Old Year goes on. And older years add not their blessings but their dregs . . . as men grope for shreds of time to complete old patterns . . . remnants of hope to patch worn-out dreams.

But somewhere a heart speaks to God. In the quiet of a churchly sanctuary it recounts the past with its failures, its defeats. And boldly it enquires into the future with its hope and promise. That soul commits time and talent and treasure to the purposes of Jesus Christ.

And the Father of All, who is not clock-watcher but soul-watcher, turns the page of that calendar. For one soul at a time the New Year is born.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

YEAR BRINGS CHALLENGES, PROMISES

Courage And Hope Needed For 1966

NEW YEAR'S DAY is not greatly different from any other day on the calendar, yet for all of us it has a profound significance. Always it has been considered a time for turning a new leaf, for taking a fresh start.

And New Year's Day, indeed, is a time for hope. The old calendar is thrown aside and a fresh one is before us. All its pages are blank, ready for the recording of new deeds and accomplishments. The mistakes, the failures, the disappointments of the Old Year are part of a story that has been told. The future glows with promise, and we step upon the threshold of the New Year with singing hearts.

It is only natural to expect that the New Year will bring a fulfillment of dreams which the Old Year denied. It is a part of human nature to look forward hopefully. Were it not for the fact that "hope springs eternal in the human breast," the world would be drowned in a sea of despair. Hope is one of man's most precious possessions. Without it, life would lose its savor.

The departing year, for most of us, left many wishes unfulfilled, many hopes unrealized. Something seems to whisper that 1966 will bring these desires to realization. And if it fails—well, there'll be another year to look forward to.

What the year 1966 holds, no one knows, but it is natural to feel that it will be better than 1965. At least, it is an untried and unexplored land which we move into in the spirit of adventure. And no doubt, a surprise awaits us as we reach each bend of the road.

As the New Year dawns, with all its challenges and problems, as well as its promises, the great need of all Americans is courage to face whatever lies ahead and determination to uphold the principles for which our country stands.

For the individual, New Year's Day is a time to square one's shoulders, lift one's eyes and look toward the future. For here, indeed, is the Land of Beginning Again, warm with the dawning sun, bathed with the light of hope. Although uncharted, it spreads before him in glowing vistas, its magic distances touched with the radiance of a brighter day. For the brave in spirit and happy in heart, entering the New Year is like venturing into a far country.

Age Discrimination Ban Is Discussed

THE EQUAL employment Commission, created by the Civil Rights Act of 1964, has discovered a new problem to add to the many with which it has been beset.

The problem, job discrimination because of age, has been around for a long time, but a new angle has been created simply because of the advent of the Commission. Older job-seekers want to get in on the act.

When Congress, as an afterthought, added "discriminatory hiring" by sex to the forbidden list, along with race and color, it pushed the Commission into a jungle which has kept members busy ever since issuing "guidelines" for employers.

Now it is suggested that Congress in the next session be asked to set up legislation of some type to deal with employers who will not hire someone because of his or her age. The Commission is particularly concerned with the women over 35 who are having the most difficulty finding employment.

At the same time, the Commission is almost certain to ask that it be given the power to hold hearings and to issue "cease and desist" orders against employers. At present it can only attempt to conciliate complaints. Any person dissatisfied with the Commission's efforts can file suit in court against an employer.

In its early months, the Commission, headed by Chairman Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., seemed to feel that race and color were enough for a starter, and that even with the enactment of broader enforcement powers it would have its hands more than full.

It will be most interesting to see how Congress reacts to the age and tougher enforcement requests. After all, employers form a rather important segment of any Senator's or Representative's constituency. Many of them hold to the old-fashioned notion that they ought to have quite a bit to say about whom they hire.

Granted that a lot of them practice a hard-to-understand discrimination against any except younger applicants, they scarcely can be blamed if they protest against further bureaucratic invasion of their management prerogatives. The question of their Constitutional rights might even be raised.

Perhaps Congress will at least give them some satisfaction by taking a good, hard look at the 1964 legislation.

Going Highbrow

THE TENDENCY of some people nowadays to describe ordinary jobs and services in highbrow words sometimes is amusing.

Not long ago, an employee of an industrial firm in the East reported that when his company became automated and moved into a new building, he was able to keep his job, but instead of calling him a janitor, which he was, his employers now designated him as "a specialist in environmental control."

A story out of Knoxville, Tenn., the other day said the name of the sewage disposal system of that city had been officially changed to "waste and water control."

Probably it won't make much difference to the citizens of Knoxville what the sewage disposal system is called so long as it continues to do an efficient job of disposing of the sewage.

Survival Prospects

BRITISH HISTORIAN Arnold J. Toynbee said not long ago: "The human race's prospects of survival were considerably better when we were defenseless against tigers than they are today, when we have become defenseless against ourselves."

Which is true. Tigers are dangerous, but their power to destroy human beings is limited. But it is freely admitted that modern man now holds the veto power over the continuation of humanity. And that veto power, unfortunately, is held by some who would not hesitate to use it to destroy a good part of the human race, if they were not afraid that in attempting it, they might be destroyed themselves. How long the fear of reprisal will deter the enemies of freedom from unleashing the power of destruction which they hold, remains to be seen.

DAVID LAWRENCE:

It's Time North Viet Nam Agreed To Indefinite Pow-Wow

WASHINGTON — The truce in Viet Nam was violated by the North Vietnamese, but whether by design or accident isn't clear as yet. The United States prefers to go on the assumption that the violation was unintentional.

For even if the Communists, including the Viet Cong, aren't skillful in avoiding unfavorable public impressions, the United States sees an opportunity to convince the world that it is being patient under the most exasperating circumstances in the hope of getting the other side to talk peace.

IT IS BEING assumed here, for instance, that the violations of the truce on Christmas Day were due either to faulty communication between the Hanoi Government and the guerrillas in inaccessible locations, or that communication between the North Vietnamese and their masters in Peking is slow and clumsy and needs time for clarification. Americans generally do not realize that red tape in the leadership committees of the Communists can often delay decisions. Nor is discipline easy to apply in the field during guerrilla warfare.

Meanwhile, the United States is, in effect, telling the world that it wants to extend the truce and would like to arrange some kind of armistice out of which peace talks could develop. The attacks on American forces since Christmas Day have not caused any stepped-up warfare. Retaliation is being confined instead to defense tactics in the areas where the assaults occur.

THE REAL TEST of whether the war should be resumed on a full-scale basis will come when something happens that necessitates the bombing of military installations in North Viet Nam. The failure to carry on vigorously in the interim may be hard to bear, but the United States Government sees in the long run some benefits from a psychological standpoint. For, if the war should be renewed, the whole world will have had a dramatic manifestation of America's forbearance and sincere desire to bring the war to a peaceful conclusion.

So Peking is up against a serious decision. If it gives the word to its subservient ally in North Viet Nam to return to the fighting on an aggressive basis, the inevitable result will be a change in world opinion. It will have been demonstrated that the United States went to the limit of actually prolonging the Christmas truce in an effort to get negotiations going. The Communist side will be shown to have disregarded all offers of peace and to be interested solely in prolonging the war. Under such circumstances, the United States would be able to point out that it had no other choice but to step up the bombing raids.

INCIDENTALLY, quite a debate has been going on inside the Government here, with the military men arguing that larger armies of ground troops aren't so necessary today as a concerted attack by air on North Viet Nam bases and installations. If such raids are ordered, the Communists will sooner or later be compelled to undertake peace talks. So they might as well take advantage of the truce dialogue, which they themselves initiated, and try to work out a formal armistice that could stop the fighting while the pow-wowing goes on indefinitely.

Nothing is lost strategically by the United States in the effort to get the Communists to extend the truce into some kind of formal cease-fire while peace talks are held. The United States can employ its air power just as effectively at one time as another. So it is a public-relations problem for each side. The North Vietnamese and Chinese Communists have to make up their minds whether they want a long war or will take advantage of the truce talks to bring about a real cease-fire.

THE UNITED STATES, if forced to go ahead with the war, will be able to tell the people of the world that it had no alternative. Also, when Congress assemblies, a request may be made for authorization to carry on an even more extensive military action and a blockade of the ports through which North Viet Nam now is getting its supplies.

Unless the Communists have lost all sense of what is practical and want to risk heavy destruction and gain nothing by it, they may yet find some way to join in a move to put into effect an armistice.

A Jump That Looks Steeper And Steeper

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK:

Liberals Worry Connally

AUSTIN—Even before the year's end, both Gov. John B. Connally's office and the Connally-controlled State Democratic Executive Committee were quietly at work preparing for a potential political showdown next May 7.

May 7 is the date of the Democratic primary, but the immensely popular Connally will face no serious opposition. What he and the Texas Democratic party's dominant conservative wing are girding themselves for is not the primary but an assault by the liberal wing in hundreds of precinct conventions around the State that day.

THE REASON for Connally's concern: court-ordered legislative reapportionment has so changed the makeup of the State Convention that liberal control of precinct conventions in just 12 urban counties counties where the liberals mass their strength could capture the convention. That would take the Democratic party away from Connally and make a misery of his next two years as Governor.

Connally's present control over the party machinery probably is sufficient for him to forestall such a catastrophe. But the very fact that the liberals again are harassing Connally hints that Texas Democratic politics is entering a new phase.

IN 1961, WHEN John Tower became the first Texas Republican elected to the U.S. Senate since Reconstruction days, the State seemed on the way toward a Northern-type, two-party system: a generally conservative Republican party and a liberal-labor Democratic party.

This process was interrupted by a wholly unpredictable series of events: a Democratic President was assassinated in Texas, a Texas native son became President, conservative Democrat John Connally emerged as the state's most popular politician in at least a generation. Add to this Barry Goldwater's disastrous Presidential campaign, and a Southern-style, conservative Democratic party renewed firm control here under Connally's leadership.

NOW, HOWEVER, Texas politics has entered a post-assassination stage. The lack of a liberal candidate for Governor against the unbeatable Connally only makes more menacing the liberal bid for party control at precinct conventions. Connally's men are genuinely worried about stirring up conservatives for the precinct conventions if the primary is as dull as it promises to be.

Another sign that Texas may be resuming its march toward two-party politics is the resurrection of Senator Tower. Given up for dead a year ago, Tower spent 1965 minding his Texas fences and along with other Texas Republicans making his image less rigidly conservative.

AS A RESULT, Tower has an excellent chance for re-election in 1966. Contrary to published polls which show him trailing badly, Tower is given a slight edge privately by Connally's advisers. They are backed up by unpublished polls taken by a highly reliable New York firm (thru the Republican State Committee) which shows Tower slightly ahead of the two leading Democratic rivals.

Tower's aces in the hole are the liberals. Their defection from his conservative Democratic opposition in 1961 was essential to Tower's victory. Five years later, liberals want to show again they can defeat a conservative Democratic nominee by withdrawing support.

THE VICTIM would be Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, Connally conservative and leading Democratic prospect for Governor. With heavy support from Texas business interests and the Austin lobbyists, Carr has come close to clinching the Democratic nomination. But lacking Connally's magnetism, Carr is threatened not only with organized sabotage by liberals but also conservative defections to the articulate Tower.

Indeed, Republicans believe the toughest Democrat for Tower would be Cong. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, a moderate who could keep all but the most militant liberals. But conservative influence and conservative money, still dominant elements in the Texas Democratic party, undermine Wright's chances against Carr. Consequently, Wright hesitates on the brink of entering the primary (while his supporters search the state for backers and money).

A most unhappy observer of this current state of Democratic politics here is Lyndon B. Johnson. However, the President's political problems in his home state are worthy of attention in another column.

ANDREW TULLY:

Cop-Baiting Dangerous

WASHINGTON—Indisputably, there are some cops who are not above working over some innocent citizen unnecessarily, especially if the victim is black.

These animals should be rounded up forthwith and shipped to Moscow or Ghana in exchange for a shortstop who can go to his left.

But in the emotional hubbub over civil rights, the poor American boob also suffers the stomp speeches of professional breast beaters who cry police brutality every time a cop arrests a Negro. The prisoner may have been engaged in trying to beat the cop into an economy-sized pulp, but he is a pathetic victim of fascist injustice by the time the civil rights' mimeograph machines complete his beatification.

On Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche Jan. 1, 1946)

CHUNGKING — While Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek hailed Gen. George C. Marshall as "an exemplar of what the military man should be," Chinese Communist quarters declined to comment today on the government's proposal for a truce which would set up Marshall as mediator between the two factions.

The nation's New Year was ushered in with a total of 268 victims of violent deaths during the weekend starting at 6 p.m. Dec. 28 up to a late hour last night. Traffic accidents accounted for more deaths than all other causes.

LONDON — Winston Churchill, who last July declined the order of the Garter, highest British decoration of chivalry, was awarded the Order of Merit today in King George VI's New Year honor list.

President Truman took steps last night to head off a nation-wide steel strike set for Jan. 14 by appointing a fact-finding board and instructing the OPA to review the price ceiling structure on steel products.

Lubbock ushered in the bright New Year last night in much the same manner as the rest of the nation, some with reverence and hope as the world slowly swept away the ashes of war in order to light the lamp of peace, while in a period of gaiety as the sorrows of the past were cast away for a time.

THE GRAND jury's action was not only an indictment of the youth who allegedly slugged the cop, however. It was an indictment of the liversharp irresponsibility of a certain segment of Negro leadership whose reaction to any clash between Negroes and police almost automatically is to place the blame on the cops. This has reached such heights of paranoia that the sleaziest black dope pusher, suddenly confronted with imminent arrest, can slug it out with the cop in the happy knowledge that if he loses the brawl he can set hearts to bleeding by whining that he was man-handled.

Happily, most Negro leaders have eschewed the instinctive cry of "police brutality" every time a cop is forced to use his nightstick to subdue some colored hoodlum. They may not trust the compassion of the constabulary, but they know that in this enlightened era police authorities crack down on Negro-busting dicks if only to avoid getting into hot water with vote-conscious politicians. But as this incident has shown, it is a hard habit for the breast beaters to kick. It will be their own fault if it develops they have been hollering "wolf" too often.

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

Our Nation Won't Fail

THAT WAS America, 1966, we saw up there in outer space.

In the cosmos the sunlight is violet. The stars do not blink. The sun sits like a jewel in the black velvet sky. Its mass is 332,000 times that of our earth. And there are other suns farther on that are a million times as big as our sun. The colors are incredibly intense. All is utter silence.

When a great nation thinks there is no more great work it should do, and that the purpose of its life is to hang on and stay put, the night has come, such a nation dozes off and begins to die.

BUT THERE we see the two Gemini craft—the four Americans maneuvering at the edge of the universe.

Below, all of us are whirling into the new year in the magnificently conducted vehicle we call earth and are being ushered into a new era of advancement, of understanding, and of imagination that will affect the lives of each of us, and of our children's children.

IT TOOK a long time to brush aside the curtain which concealed the system of the world and let us discover that our planet itself is almost imperceptible in the vast extent of the solar system, which in turn is only a pin-point in the immensity of space.

Not until 1851 in Paris did Foucault's pendulum supply the first direct method that proved the earth's rotation. In fact, all-yes, all-physical laws still remain inexplicable. We can describe them but we do not know why they are as they are.

ISAAC NEWTON surmised much about this celestial hinterland three centuries ago. Yet that modest genius said, "To myself I seem to be only like a boy playing on some seashore and diverting myself now and then in finding another pebble of knowledge, or a prettier shell than ordinary, while the great ocean of truth remains all undiscovered before me."

On March 28, 1727, England laid his body to rest in Westminster Abbey with all the pomp and ceremony the kingdom could muster. Newton's physics were true, so far as they went, for 300 years—until Einstein's intuitive leap to a new truth left several Newtonian laws largely obsolete.

ALL THE CENTURIES from Galileo to Newton and from Newton to the new year 1966, and all the zones from the man-cradle of Turkey to the plains of Texas, united in the eerie spectacle we saw.

The industry, science, art, geography, commerce and mind of the whole human race were accumulated in this Gemini rendezvous.

What accumulated all this was teamwork. The worker of the miracle was teamwork. It was a hope so extravagant, so shot through with rainbows. Yet it came off. And if in the result we could so magnificently prove the strength of our system, founded on human freedom, what challenge is there in 1966 that we cannot meet?

SEVERAL OF these challenges are very clear. At home, our financial stability is threatened. There is a moral crisis as well. The problem of fairness to minorities and equal fairness to the majority continues. We must strive for a more perfect union. There is much that we can do in 1966 to make this land better for all the people.

Abroad, a great Sino-Soviet storm cloud mounts and darkens, and its crimson rim reaches out to suck down the sun. Deep and dark our troubles flow, for we are fighting the fringes of this in Viet Nam. And we are driven deeper and deeper into dismay that burst fissures in the rock of our resolutions.

BUT THERE have been many other times when great difficulties were stacked against us and we have always somehow pulled through. We will again.

For just as Gemini 7 and 6 had their difficult rendezvous, so have we a rendezvous with destiny in this nation maintained and cherished from generation to generation for the advancement of the public good and the glory of Almighty God.

GUEST EDITORIALS: Texas Project

PROBABLY THE most important study of man and something in research is being undertaken by a division of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical school.

The proposed study in human growth and development is so tremendous that it may take more than one generation to complete it. Dr. A. J. Gill, dean of the medical school, announced the project this week.

Heading up the research will be Dr. Thomas Cone Jr., an associate professor at Harvard University Medical School.

The plan is to study many individuals from a period before they are born to the end of their lives. It will start with a prenatal study of a large number of children and their families and give minute attention to everything which happens to them all their lives.

The goal is to obtain for the first time a thorough and complete understanding of human growth and development as a continuing process. This will make it possible for medicines goal to be preventive rather than remedial.

In order to reach this goal the outline proposes intensive research in various physical and emotional developments and attain an understanding of how these factors are affected by disease as well as social and environmental circumstances.

The project will then be broadened to a variety of related problems in morphology, physiology and biochemistry. Studies of psychology and sociology in each case could lead to an understanding of the child as a member of the family unit.

The sponsors of the project say we are ready to land a man on the moon without understanding even what makes him a human. We have had and are having a tremendous study of the sick individuals. But never before has there been concentrated study of a well child or children.

We of today envy the people of the future who will have the privilege many years from now of reading the reports and analysis of this ambitious study. (Wichita Falls Record-News.)

French Quarter

MOST HEARTENING to thousands of Texans is the news that New Orleans' Vieux Carre, the historic French Quarter, has been declared eligible for designation as a National Historic Landmark. This should help to protect the quarter from being rolled over by a new freeway.

The French Quarter has been preserved by New Orleansians as a living reminder of the history of their city. By extension it is also a significant part of the history of the South and Southwest. It belongs in a sense to the nation as a whole and therefore is eminently qualified for designation as a national landmark, for it actually has been a landmark for decades.

In our rush to improve, to streamline, to update, we have been guilty in this country of destroying irreplaceable evidence of our heritage. Freeways are fine in their place, but their place is not over the wreckage of historic sites like the French Quarter. (Dallas Morning News)

Offhand Thoughts

According to an economic survey, prices of luxury items will continue to rise. That's distressing, as so many people will have to scrimp on necessities in order to continue to enjoy luxuries.

A judge says it is not unlawful for women to play poker. Neither is it unlawful for men to play poker with women, but it's extremely unwise.

Virginia Students Plan Conference On Cheating

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A conference on cheating, organized and led by high school students, will be held in Richmond next week because a survey has shown that cheating is a widespread problem in schools.

Pressure Major Cause
About 100 high school students, who were asked to indicate about 70 of them have a serious cheating problem.

Another reason given for cheating was pressure to conform with other students, but Conte said this could be made to work against cheating.

Cheating Also Game
Other major reasons were the belief that it is easier to cheat than prepare in advance and the attitude that cheating is a game.

The survey showed that about 20 per cent of the students see nothing wrong with any cheating by fellow students. Thirty-five per cent said cheating on tests was wrong but they had no obligation to do anything about it.

Growth

Programs have been implemented to round out a curriculum now offering 83 areas of study leading to an undergraduate degree — a far cry from the fledgling college of 40 years ago which offered undergraduates programs in less than a dozen areas.

Recent additions at the undergraduate level also reflect changing interests in career fields. They include mechanized agriculture, medical technology, Latin, geophysics, geophysics, and textile technology and management.

The thousands of additional students who knock on Tech's gates each year represent a comparable number of individual ambitions — hence the growing emphasis on diversification.

Thus, "being where the action is" for one student may mean learning two or more foreign languages in preparation for a career in government, medicine or law, while for another who wants to work with the handicapped, it means courses in speech and hearing therapy, a relatively new field. Computers attract those who consider automation a vital factor in a business career, and agronomy appeals to those with a love for the land.

Student architects design buildings which Tech educated engineers may someday build and home economics students look forward to careers as homemakers, illustrators, designers and dietitians.

Tech's department of education, already bulging with students on their way to becoming qualified teachers, accounts for almost one fourth of the enrollment of the School of Arts and Sciences, traditionally the largest school on campus. Of the 6,982 students currently enrolled in A&S, 1,676 undergraduates are education majors.

Programs for the future, now in various stages of development, will offer tomorrow's graduate an even greater choice of career fields.

A School of Law has been approved.

The college's request for a School of Pharmacy currently is in the hands of the coordinating board of the Texas College and University System.

A request to expand the department of education into a School of Education also has been presented to the coordinating board.

Looking toward the long range development of the college, Tech's Board of Directors also has authorized preparation of a request for addition of a School of Medicine and a School of Dentistry.

Guidelines for these curriculum additions are in keeping, Dr. Pearce explained, with the statement of purpose adopted by the College's Board of Directors.

This statement of policy, envisioned as a blueprint for the future of Texas third largest state-owned college, reads as follows:
"Based their decision upon current trends, geographical considerations, and a philosophy of higher education, the board of directors hereby declares that this educational institution can and will best serve the future by becoming a multi-purpose state university of the first class — a center of learning — which provides, and will continue to provide, the opportunity for a liberal education and professional training for all students at the undergraduate and graduate levels."

The test of the regulatory loan act was brought by 44 allied finance companies after state banking commissioner J. M. Falkner attempted to regulate the portion of the companies' business that involved loans of more than $1,500.

The "loan shark" law, which governs only loans of less than $1,500, contained a section that said companies subject to the regulatory loan act would not be subject to banking regulations.

Falkner contended the exemption clause was invalid because the caption of the loan shark act had not mentioned it.

The finance companies said Falkner's interpretation of the law would subject them to a double system of regulation and record keeping, and require them to pay double license fees to the banking and small loan agencies.

The Austin Court of Civil Appeals agreed with Falkner and in a brief, unsigned opinion upholding the Austin court, the Supreme Court specifically declared the exemption clause invalid.

Fire In Saigon Provokes Fear

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — While merry-makers thronged around, fire broke out at the Saigon radio station just after the new year was rung in Saturday. It touched off fears that a Red bomb attack was coming, but authorities declared the blaze was not the work of the Viet Cong.

TIME FOR THE TRUTH ABOUT FUNERALS

This picture could be of someone near and dear to you. It is not a pleasant one. A widow, alone, is deciding how much to spend on a funeral. And this time—the time of crisis—is the worst time in a woman's life, or a man's, to make the decision: "How much shall I spend on a funeral?"

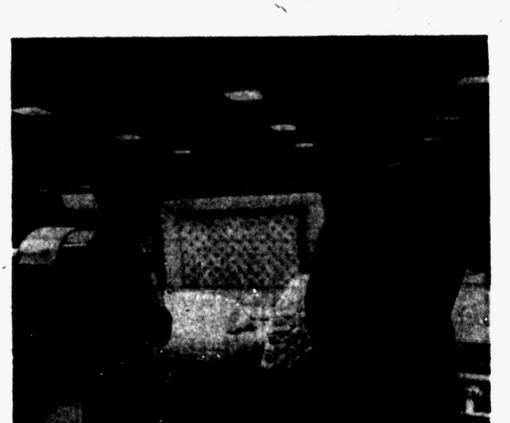

You CAN make this decision and arrangement NOW, far ahead of that moment of crisis and emotion.

HOW?—THE COMMON SENSE WAY
Resthaven urges that you make arrangements in ADVANCE OF NEED. Resthaven has a common sense "PRE-NEED" plan. It is under the close supervision of the Texas State Department of Banking. It is available on installments as low as $1.25 per week. Money paid in can be used for a funeral for any member of the family (unlike burial insurance). You never lose what you have paid in (unlike burial insurance).

The plan is available to EVERYONE—REGARDLESS OF PHYSICAL CONDITION; REGARDLESS OF AGE. The plan is NON-CANCELLABLE.

In Lubbock, this plan, including funeral and cemetery arrangements all at one place is available only at Resthaven. The Resthaven plan enables you to make funeral arrangements complete in every detail. These decisions made in advance bring priceless peace of mind to you and your loved ones.

Why shouldn't the cost of funerals be kept within the bounds of common sense? It can be, by arranging this inevitable purchase NOW. We invite you to visit or call Resthaven for further information. What's wrong with common sense? WHAT'S WRONG WITH COMMON SENSE?

A TIME TO BE FRANK
The entire subject covered in this series, Resthaven realizes, is a sensitive one. We humbly apologize if these cause anyone unhappiness. But we consider the truths in these messages of such vital importance to the people of Lubbock, that they must be told.

Georgia Tech 'Snows' Raiders, 31-21

Donny Shines Despite Loss

Porous Raider Defense Succumbs To Big Yellowjacket Ground Game

By BURL PETTIT
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—The rain Texas Tech feared would bog down its offense never came. But a whizzing blizzard of snow froze the Raider defense into literal helplessness and the results were catastrophic, anyway.

With the largest crowd in the history of the game booming forth with vocal encouragement, Lenny Snow led a Georgia Tech barrage of infantry firepower through the Raiders, 31-21, to add strength to any argument that Texas Tech should refuse all bowl bids.

Raider Defense Porous

Snow, a 194-pound jackrabbit, drew great assistance from Tech's most sloppy tackling exhibition in years as he rambled for 136 yards to highlight the Georgia Tech victory and win for himself a berth in Gator Bowl immortality.

The Raiders, who scored on the game's first offensive series, fell behind by nine points, fought back into the lead with two touchdowns in five minutes to grab command of the game, 21-16, late in the third period.

Game At Glance

But the defense failed to gain sufficient inspiration, and the Jackets continued to run unrelentingly up and down the field. They marched 70 yards to a touchdown immediately after the Raiders had moved ahead, then iced down the victory by turning a Tom Wilson gamble into an insurmountable lead.

Trailing by 24-21 and faced with a third and 20 from his own, 10, Wilson tried a sideline shot at end Jerry Shipley near the Raider 42. But Georgia Tech's Tommy Bleick shot forth, picked off the ball and headed down the sideline.

He was shaken loose from the ball at the Tech 15, it flew forward and Claude Shock claimed it for the Jackets at the Raider 12. On the first play from that point, Ed Varner steamed in, Bunky Henry converted and Georgia Tech had its 31-21 margin.

The game, however, lived up to its billing as the two teams ripped off a total of 837 yards and swapped the lead back and forth three times.

Anderson Finishes With Sparkle

Donny Anderson, who signed a pro contract for a record pay-off following his final amateur game, went out strong. The Stinnett Stingray rushed 13 times for 85 yards, caught nine passes for 138 more and punted for a 41.6 average.

It was a one-handed catch by Anderson that put Tech back into the ball game after Georgia Tech had taken a 9-7 lead in the second period and padded it to 16-7 in the third.

Wilson shot the ball straight down the field and Donny—under the close surveillance of two defenders, reached up at the 10, plucked a pass that folks already had given up on out of the air and skidded to the one-yard marker.

Snow, Donny Voted MVP's

On the next play, he dived in to bring Tech within striking distance. After Kenneth Gill's conversion, the Raiders trailed by only 16-14.

Snow and Anderson were prohibitive favorites in the press box poll naming the most valuable players for each team. The Georgia Tech tailback received unanimous support from the 32 voters, and Anderson gathered in 28.

The game opened on a note that sounded like a possible Red Raider rout. Tech took the opening kickoff and drove 63 yards to the game's first touchdown.

Wilson hit Johnny Agan with a swing pass from the four for the payoff, and Gill boomed through the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Henkel Blocks Field Goal

But here came Snow and Georgia Tech with a ground game that found the Raider defense ripped literally to shreds. The Jackets drove to the Raider two from their own 18 in 15 plays that clicked with blackboard rhythm.

Finally, after arriving at the Tech two-yard line and missing three opportunities to get in, the Jackets had a field goal effort blocked by James Henkel.

A Tech miss on a field goal on the ensuing series put Georgia Tech back into possession, and they played this one for keeps.

With the Raiders muffing tackle after tackle, the Jackets marched 80 yards and tied the score on Giles Smith's two-yard touchdown and Bunky Henry's conversion.

Yellow Jackets Get Safety

After an exchange of fumbles—Georgia Tech getting the first when the ball was knocked from Donny's hands and recovered by Tommy Elliot on the kickoff, and the Raiders reclaimed a miscue at their own one five plays later.

Then, with it fourth and two from the nine, Anderson went into the end zone to punt. Sophomore Jerry Turner's snap, however, went over Donny's head and out of the end zone and Georgia Tech led, 9-7.

It almost grew even more before halftime. The Jackets came a hat's width from breaking loose with the ensuing free kick, but a clipping penalty backed them up to their own 32.

From there they drove to the Raider seven before safety John Scovell picked off a Kim King pass to halt the threat.

Georgia Tech Takes Over

The Raiders appeared on their way out of the game very early in the third period when Georgia Tech drove 53 yards for a touchdown on their first possession of the second half. Snow got the final two, and Henry kicked the advantage up to 16-7.

Then here came Tech, starting its most inspired drive of the

IN AMARILLO TONIGHT

Westerners, Caprock In 3-AAA Skirmish

AMARILLO (Special) — The Lubbock High Westerners, having lost their stranglehold on the coveted ABC Caprock tournament, travel here tonight to do battle with unpredictable Caprock at 8 p.m. in hopes of gaining a stronger grip on their lofty District 3-AAA position.

Coach Max O'Banion's Westerners saw their bid for an unprecedented fourth straight Caprock crown bite the dust last Tuesday as San Angelo took a 39-31 win, handing the Hub City crew its second loss in 14 outings. Cross-town rival Monterey went on to capture top honors by downing the Bobcats in the grand finale.

The Westerners shoot for a rebound into the win column, boasting a perfect 4-0 district ledger, good enough for a share of the lead with the Amarillo Sandies, pre-season favorites.

The AHS combo saw its win streak halted at 11 straight earlier in the week when El Paso Austin triumphed, 64-62, in its holiday tournament.

Caprock, which depends primarily on the efforts of Danny McDuff for its offensive attack, has enjoyed a mild amount of success with its "slow down" technique thus far this season, holding such teams as Amarillo and Pampa at bay for as much as three quarters before falling to defeat.

And, with the Westerners owning the stingiest defensive record in the league, things point to a low-scoring affair. Lubbock High, in its four loop outings, has allowed only 38.5 points-per-game while hitting at a 49.0 clip.

Caprock has managed a 40.9 scoring average in winning one and losing four in district play and has allowed its opponents a 55 points-per-game production.

O'Banion will likely open with leading scorer Bill Green (6-5, 14.0), Wesley Verner (6-1, 10.5), Jimmy Poe (5-9), Ronnie Shuffield (6-1) and Freddy Dickson (6-0). Don Burrell (6-3, 10.5), Nello Armstrong (6-6) and Steve

National Crown On Line In Bowls

Top College Teams Show Stuff Today

Razorbacks, Spartans, Nebraska Favored To Win Gridiron Wars

By JIM HACKLEMAN

College football's top team will win the national championship today and several of college football's top players will pick up instant bankrolls.

First-ranked Michigan State heads the list of the country's six leading teams which will see action in the big bowl extravaganzas.

The Spartans of the Big Ten will face fifth-ranked UCLA in the most glamorous of the spectacles — the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

Plenty Of Action

Arkansas, rated No. 2 and with a 22-game winning streak, takes on Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Third-ranked Nebraska and fourth-ranked Alabama tangle in the Orange Bowl at Miami, and sixth-ranked Missouri plays Florida in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska, all 10-0, and Alabama, 8-1-1, are front-runners for the national title, which will be decided in a post-Jan. 1 poll of The Associated Press' panel of experts.

But before today is over a highly prized group of young men will become wealthy young men by the get-rich-quick process of signing pro contracts.

Roland's Bids High

Probably the top catch among those eligible to sign after bowl games is Johnny Roland, Missouri's versatile halfback. His reported price tag is $500,000, with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League and the New York Jets of the American Football League holding draft rights.

Other stars in the bonus scramble are defensive lineman Hal Lucas of Michigan State; ends Tony Jeter and Freeman White and defensive lineman Walt Barnes of Nebraska; tackle Glen Ray Hines and halfback Jim Lindsey of Arkansas; tackles Francis Peay and Butch Allison of Missouri; tackle George Rice of LSU; and guard Larry Gagner and tackle Randy Jackson of Florida.

Spartans Favored

Michigan State opened its all-winning season with a 13-3 victory over UCLA and is heavily favored to roll over the Bruins in the Rose Bowl. Lucas anchors a solid defense for the Spartans, whose strong attack is engineered by All-America quarterback Steve Juday and sparked by halfback Clint Jones.

Arkansas also is a heavy favorite to win its second straight Cotton Bowl game, with the versatile Razorback offense rated too much for LSU to handle. Quarterback Jon Brittenum and halfback Bobby Burnett are the Arkansas standouts on attack.

LSU's Tigers take a 7-3 record into the game.

Alabama Orange Choice

The huge Nebraska Cornhuskers and the lean Alabamians are expected to put on a close fight in the Orange Bowl tonight with "Barma" the slight choice. Experts figure the Crimson Tide has the quickness to overcome Nebraska's big edge in size.

The Missouri-Florida match at New Orleans also shapes up as a tight one. The Tigers from the Big Eight, 7-2-1, field a tough defense and a diversified offense led by quarterback Gary Lane. Florida, 7-3, depends

LSU Praised

Roper, a 195-pound defensive end from Sherman, Tex., said, "Our defense would like to do more. We are tired of having the offense carry us and would like to see a good effort against LSU."

Roper added, "Of course, a good effort may not be enough against LSU. They have a tremendous club with great personnel and it will take a maximum effort on our part. He said he had mixed emo-

JUST A 'ROUTINE' PLAY—Texas Tech's Donny Anderson (44) made a spectacular catch near the sideline on the Georgia Tech four-yard line on this play that set up the Raiders' first touchdown Friday in the Gator Bowl. ## Interceptions Hurt, Says King; Jackets Jubilant

Donny Sits With Cigar

By CARLTON STOWERS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—He stood helplessly surrounded by sports writers, pro scouts, relatives, and teammates. Giant Donny Anderson, the most heralded athlete ever to don the colors of Texas Tech, slowly removed the tattered sweat bands from his wrists, then asked:

"Has anyone here got a cigar? By golly, I'm gonna smoke me one." Ever-present H. J. (Doc) Blanchard, whose name has been tossed around almost as much as Anderson's since the Raiders' arrival here, was quick on the draw and the Stinnett All-American, who becomes Mr. Moneybags of professional football following his Friday career windup, fired up.

Tension Gone Now

His hair down over his broad forehead and his eyes showing the fatigue that an afternoon of football and the tension of worry produced by wondering just what his financial future is to bring, he, like most of the other Red Raiders looked somewhat relieved.

The pain of defeat was evident—quarterback Tom Wilson reviewed the after-game statistics and shook his head and Johnny Agan looked at the cold, gray wall in speechless silence—but Coach J. T. King's forces dressed quickly, ready to leave the colorful setting where it had fallen 31-21 at the hands of the explosive Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets.

"Georgia Tech," said Raider Coach King, "did a helluva job—they played a fine game. They made some very timely interceptions and generally moved the ball well against us... as a matter of fact, they jammed it down our throats near the end when we had to gamble for the long passes."

King Leads Squad

Pausing a moment to review the hectic season which produced an 8-3 record and the bowl bid for his Raiders, King termed the 1965 squad "the best offensive ball team he had had" at Reidland. "We played a poor game defensively, today," he pointed out. "But, don't get me wrong—I'm not allibing. Coach Bobby Dodd and Georgia Tech deserve all credit in

Muleshoe Wins Farwell Tourney

FARWELL (Special) — All-tourney choice Mickey Wills on sparked the Muleshoe Mules to the championship of the Farwell tourney here Friday night as he tossed in 28 points in the 73-57 win over Springlake.

Pete Glasscock, who also made the all-star team, led Springlake with 17 points.

Others on the all-tourney team were Jay Ward of Muleshoe, Larry Crews of Anton and Larry Gregory of Farwell.

Sherry Caddell tossed in 27 points as she led Olton to the girls championship with a 51-41 victory over Dimmitt, led by Donna Summers' 26-point performance.

Both of those players were named to the all-tourney team along with forward Glenda Miller of Armstod and guards Laura Alkin of Olton, Penny Hayes of Dimmitt and Thelma Jackson of Muleshoe.

Diane Wilson poured in 25 points as Muleshoe whipped Farwell for girls third place, 51-48. Diane Lovelace had 23 for the losers.

Dodd Had Hopes Up

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Coach Bobby Dodd had a premonition his senior quarterback Jerry Priestley, who lost his job early in the season to a sophomore, would be the star of the Gator Bowl game.

Dodd mentioned this Thursday, Friday, Priestley took over after Kim King was injured and helped lead Georgia Tech to its 31-21 victory over Texas Tech.

"It's easy to pick out the obvious stars, like Lenny Snow, Kim King, Tommy Bleick, John Battle, Ed Varner," Dodd said after the game. "But most of all I'm happy right now for our senior quarterback, Jerry Priestley, who all season had one of the greatest attitudes of any player I have ever coached."

Priestley's deception, ball handling and quarterbacking were so effective that King's sharper passes weren't missed.

Although not drafted, Priestley said he has been approached by some pro teams. However, he doesn't plan to sign any contracts because he plays varsity basketball and baseball, as well as football.

Coach J. T. King of Texas Tech wasn't ready to concede the game until with six minutes left his quarterback, Tom Wilson, missed three long passes.

Sun In Eyes?

"The sun may have been in his eyes there in the fourth quarter," King said. "They were ready for the long ones then, because any team 10 points behind has to throw."

Donny Anderson, the great halfback for Texas Tech who gained 85 yards rushing and 138 yards receiving passes, thought the sun was a definite disadvantage in the last quarter.

Maybe Dodd had the sun in mind when he chose the goal rather than the football at the start of the game, King said.

"He's played in this stadium enough to know those things," the Texas Tech Coach said. "Our offense was ready but our defense wasn't." King said.

Stevens' Passing Pushes TWC Past TCU By 13-12

Miners' Quarterback Shines In Sun Bowl

Horned Frogs Lose Halftime Lead To Texas Western's Air Offense

EL PASO (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Billy Stevens found his passing magic in the second half and carried Texas Western to 13-12 Sun Bowl football victory over Texas Christian Friday.

Stevens, voted the game's most valuable player, completed 21 passes for 208 yards in 34 attempts and passed for one touchdown.

B TEAM

Coronado, MHS Vie

The Coronado Mustangs, winners of two straight basketball contests, hope to keep that streak going today when they take on Monterey B at the Monterey Gym. Tipoff is set for 6 p.m.

Coronado snapped a four-game losing streak last week when it won its first game from a District 3-AAAA B-team member, Borger, then two nights later, the Mustangs whipped Petersburg.

Coach Carl McMillan, trying to give all of his sophomores and juniors as much experience as he can because they'll need it next year when they play for keeps in Class AAAA, will play again tonight.

The former Graham mentor will start five players and they'll get about four minutes in each quarter before another group will take over.

Because of this method, several different players have emerged as top scorers for the Mustangs who now have a 5-6 season record.

Lynn Shuttlesworth, Dan Gobin, Rodney Cradick, Mark Clark, Ron Deshires, Sammy Holt, Mike Jones, Mark Leaverton, Chuck Rosebrough, Robert Sweet, Bill Turner, Gary Mattison, Bob Townley, Richard Black and Gary Kirksey will be most of the playing tonight for the Mustangs.

Coach Joe Michalka's Lancers are having a fine year and currently are 3-2 against district members. Among their non-conference triumphs was winning the Snyder B team tourney.

Ricky Dyer is among the leading scorers for the Lancers this year.

MacKenzie Goes To OU Sunday

DALLAS (AP) — Jim MacKenzie ends nine years of association with Arkansas coach Frank Broyles Sunday when he goes to Norman to take over head coach duties at the University of Oklahoma.

The 35-year-old chief assistant for the Razorbacks said Thursday he plans to use the same system at Oklahoma, which Broyles has used with such success at Arkansas. Broyles went to the "I" formation for the 1964 season and the Hogs have not lost since.

MacKenzie said he will talk Sunday with present Oklahoma assistants and added that he will probably "release something next week" on his assistants.

He said he already had offered the offensive coaching job to "a young man who I think is a winning football coach."

Biggest immediate concern, MacKenzie said, will be setting up weekends for high school prospects to visit the Oklahoma campus.

BEEBAE, Ky. (AP) — An Ohio man saw the stalled car in which he left his wife demolished by a train.

Then he collapsed and died. Mrs. James H. Clemons was a few hundred feet away, shouting to her husband that she was safe. She told officers she thought Clemons, 56, had heard her.

Clemons, from Woodfield, Ohio, had caught a ride into Berea to seek help after their car became stuck between tracks at a crossing. As he returned, he saw the train bearing down on the vehicle.

Plaza, U.N. Mediator In Cyprus, Resigns

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Galo Plaza of Ecuador has submitted his resignation as U.N. mediator on Cyprus.

In a letter to Secretary-General U Thant, Plaza said the Turkish government has taken the position that present arrangements for mediation are unacceptable. Plaza said he resigned in the interests of the continuation of efforts to find a solution to the Cyprus problem.

FRANCE'S HIGHWAY DEATHS PARIS (AP) — Highway crashes are killing nearly 1,000 persons a month in France, the government reported. Official figures showed 1,804 died in the first nine months this year and 216,795 were injured — both representing increases over last year in the country of nearly 50 million.

Miners Learned To Score, Says Coach

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Texas Western's football team has learned how to score, said coach Bobby Dobbs about the team he took over at the start of the 1965 season.

The team he inherited had finished the 1964 season with a 0-8-2 record and a season total of 64 points.

Duke Downs Notre Dame

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Duke's Blue Devils recovered from a slow start after a 10-day holiday layoff and rolled to a 95-73 basketball victory over Notre Dame Friday night.

The Irish, apparently not awed by Duke's No. 1 ranking, led by as much as eight points in the early going and were in control 16-9 when Coach Johnny Dee put in his five-man second unit midway in the first half.

Duke caught up, but when the Notre Dame starters returned they got a 25-22 margin. With 5:41 left before the rest period, Mike Lewis tapped in a goal, gave the Blue Devils a 29-27 advantage. Duke then scored eight straight point and led the rest of the game.

Leading 46-34 at the half, Duke's Steve Vacondak and Jack Martin got quick goals and the march was on. Martin, with 15 points in the first half, topped the Duke scoring with 24 points.

High scorer for Notre Dame with 15 each were Brian Keller and Jim Monahan.

Qualls Hired By Arlington State

ARLINGTON (AP) — Charlie Qualls, a highly successful high school football coach, will join Arlington State's coaching staff Feb. 1, Athletic Director Chena Gilstrap announced Thursday.

Qualls will be first assistant and handle the defensive line. He completes the staff of new head coach Burley Bearden, who replaced the retiring Gilstrap earlier this month.

As head coach at McKinney and Mesquite, Qualls' teams won 56, lost 15 and tied 3. He had a 14-5-1 record the past two years at Mesquite after moving from McKinney where he posted a 42-10-2 in five seasons.

Two of his McKinney teams made the state playoffs, one advancing to the semifinals and the other to the quarter-finals. The 35-year-old Qualls played under Bearden at Arlington State in 1948-49 and then earned three letters at North Texas State.

Russian Hockey Team Takes World Crown

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Russia won its second consecutive International Hockey Tournament championship Thursday night with a 3-0 victory over Czechoslovakia.

The Russians finished with a perfect 3-0 record for the second annual tournament. They lost one game, 5-3 to Czechoslovakia, before winning the championship a year ago.

Goalie Victor Konevalenko of Russia scored the first shutout of the four-team tournament with brilliant saves in every period. He was helped by a granite-like defense in front of him that kept the Czechs from working in for close shots.

FIRES THREE TD PASSES

Washington's Hullin Leads West Past East By 22-7

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Washington quarterback Ted Hullin fired three touchdown passes to bring the underdog West a 22-7 victory over East Friday in the 41st annual East-West football game.

The 190-pounder from Seattle, who won his starting job during the past week of practice, connected on a 42-yard pass to Arizona State's Ben Hawkins, a four-yard pitch to Gary Garrison of San Diego State and a nine-yarder to Ron Sbranti of Utah State.

Grabowski Handcuffed Hullin's first two scoring throws came in the final two minutes of the first half to put the West on top after trailing 7-3.

A crowd of 56,121 watched in sunny, chilly weather at Kezar Stadium as the big West defenders checked Illinois' All-American Jim Grabowski, the chief running threat for the East.

Quarterback John Hankinson drew first blood for the east when he hit his University of Minnesota teammate Aaron Brown on a 32-yard scoring pass in the opening quarter. Ken Ivan of Notre Dame kicked the conversion.

From then on, Hankinson was in trouble with the West's secondary defense. Linebacker Dave Tobey of Oregon picked off a pass at the West 41 and returned to the East 47 to set up a 34-yard field goal by Washington's Ron Medved.

Hawkins Scores Trailing 7-3 with 1:40 left in the second quarter, Hullin hit Hawkins on a long pass. The Sun Devil receiver made it back at the seven and raced in to score.

Then Stan Quintana of New Mexico intercepted a Hankinson pass at the West 8 and returned to the East 28. Six plays later Hullin found Gary Garrison in the end zone with the four-yard pitch.

Only five seconds remained in the half when Medved converted. The halftime intermission was lived as Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett, the Southern California star playing with the West, signed his pro contract with the Kansas City Chief.

co-defensive players of the game. Brown played both on offense and defense.

The East's only touchdown drive went 37 yards, most of it on the pass to Brown after a 72-yard punt by Ohio State's Corn Barrington had set the West back on its heels.

East Stars Stymied From then on the West turned in a great defensive effort. In addition to McAdams and Tobey, Charles Harper of Oklahoma State, Pat Matson of Oregon, Greg Kent of Utah, Fred Forsberg of Washington and Jack O'Billovich of Oregon State kept the East in check.

The East gained only 70 yards rushing. The West collected 207 on the ground and 144 passing to 165 for the East.

Grabowski, signed recently by Green Bay for a reported $250,000, could gain only 16 yards net on 10 carries. Barrington had 44 in 4 and Bill Wolski of Notre Dame had 42 in 12.

Lamesa Collects League Opener

SNYDER (Special) — The Lamesa Tornados used a well-balanced scoring attack, a tough zone defense and cold shooting by Snyder to down the Tigers, 65-30, here Friday night in the first District 3-AAAA contest for both clubs.

Lamesa rolled to an 11-3 first quarter lead and hiked it to 31-12 at halftime and it was 31-19 after three periods.

Jay Thompson led the way with 13 points, while Tap Mason had 11 and Pat Fees and Gogo Everhart had 10 each. Tommy Bullard paced Snyder with eight points.

Lamesa hit 27 of 50 field goal shots for 58 per cent, while Snyder made 11 of 56 for 20 per cent.

Lamesa won the B game, 56-54, as Beatty tossed in 19 points.

game. Mike Leinert brought the kickoff from the 20 to the 32 and a 15-yard personal foul scooted it on to the 47.
Then Wilson—who missed by only one completion tying the Gator Bowl record—used only 55 seconds and four plays in getting the touchdown that eventually prevented a rout.
Thirty of those yards came on Anderson's spectacular catch. The defense appeared to gain inspiration. For the first time all afternoon, it forced Georgia Tech to punt, and Tech took over on its own 29.
It again took only five plays to rack up a touchdown, the big spurt being a Wilson-to-Bobby Davis pass that carried from the Jacket 37 to the 17.
Two plays later, Wilson hit Shipley from 15 yards out for a touchdown, and Gill pushed the Raiders into a 21-16 advantage.
Which didn't last long. Georgia Tech traveled 70 yards, eating up the clock and humiliating would-be tacklers by the dozen, to take command of the game for keeps.
Jerry Priestly sneaked the last yard, then ran across a two-point conversion to run the reading to 24-21.
It was on the next series of downs that Wilson's pass was intercepted to set up the game-clinching score.
Georgia Tech's ball control can be evidenced by the fact the Jackets ran 79 plays to break by 11 the old Gator Bowl record.
Other marks established in this the 21st edition that drew 60,127 fans were Snow's 35 carries, Wilson's 40 pass attempts, and Georgia Tech's 23 first downs rushing.
Anderson dotted the list of "almos." His nine pass receptions and 41.6 punting average rank second among the all-time bests, and his 138 yards receiving places third.
Wilson's 22 completions are the second best ever, and Snow's 136 yards rushing is third.

GARRETT GOES TO CHIEFS

Pro Bidding War Rekindled With Signings After Post-Season Bowls

By MIKE RATHET
AP Sports Writer
Texas Tech's Donny Anderson and Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett of Southern California, playing in bowl games 3,000 miles apart, rekindled the bidding between the National and American football leagues for player talent by signing pro contracts Friday for a total of close to $1 million.
Anderson finished his college career at Texas Tech lost to Georgia Tech 31-21 in the Gator Bowl game at Jacksonville, Fla., and then announced his decision to sign with the Green Bay Packers for a reported $600,000.
Garrett, playing for the West in the Shrine game at San Francisco and reportedly involved in a $300,000 bidding war for his services, announced on national television during the halftime show that he had signed with the Kansas City Chiefs of the American League.
Garrett played with a winner, the West whipping the East 22-7.
In the only other bowl game scheduled, Texas Western edged Texas Christian 13-12 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.
But the big news was the signings.
However, there have been unconfirmed reports that Illinois running back Jim Grabowski, who will be Anderson's teammate with Green Bay, received $625,000 and that Texas Linebacker Tommy Nobis received $700,000 for signing with Atlanta of the NFL.
Garrett, picked on the second round of the NFL draft by the Los Angeles Rams, was only a 20th round selection by the Chiefs, who did not think they had a chance to lure him away from California.
"We really didn't think we had a chance to get him," said Chiefs' talent scout Don Klosterman. "But after the death of Mack Lee Hill, Garrett thought he had an opportunity to step right in."
Hill, Kansas City running back, died recently while undergoing a knee operation.
The underdog West won behind the passing of Washington quarterback Ted Hullin, who fired three touchdown passes. Hullin hit Arizona State's Ben Hawkins with a 42-yarder, flipped a four-yarder to Gary Gassion of San Diego State and connected with Utah State's Ron Stranti on a nine-yarder.
TCU took a 10-0 halftime lead but Texas Western came back in the second half behind sophomore quarterback Billy Stevens, who completed 21 passes for 208 yards and one touchdown. Joe Cook's second field goal, a 20-

Hobbs Rips By Cooper, 104-69

HOBBES (Special)—The Hobbs Eagles went over the century mark for the first time this year Friday night as they swarmed all over Abilene Cooper for an 104-69 victory in the Hobbs cage meet.
Hobbs will now play Lawton for the championship at 8:15 p.m. (MST), while Cooper meets Odessa for third place at 6:30 p.m. (MST).
Cooper jumped to a 3-0 lead, but the Eagles came back to take a 30-15 first quarter margin and built it up to 53-35 at the midway point.
Hardy Murphy led the Eagles with 20 points while Jeff Stoltz tossed in 18. Jack Mildren led Cooper with 20 points.
Tommy Pieper tossed in 22 points as Odessa spanked Lawton, Okla., 77-67, in the other semi-finals contest. Robert Wooten had 21 points for the losers.
Plainview and Lovington posted wins to gain the right to play for the consolation championship. Plainview held the upper hand most of the way in downing Clifton, Okla., 59-46, while Lovington rallied to down Silver City, 88-82.
Plainview and Lovington clash at 3 p.m. (MST) today for consolation or fifth place, while Clifton goes against Silver City for seventh place at 1 p.m.
Plainview led, 15-14, after the first quarter, but upped it to 30-22 at halftime and it was 47-36 going into the final period. Bob Bolding had 20 points for Plainview and James Angel 12, while Carlos Bell had 28 for the losers.
Silver City had a 45-41 halftime lead over Lovington, but the Wildcats outscored the Foxes by 13 points in the third period to take a lead they didn't lose.
Tommy Caudle tallied 20 points for Lovington and Tommy Robertson had 23 for Silver City.

yarder in the fourth quarter, clinched it.
Besides Anderson, three other players signed pro contracts after the Gator Bowl game, Georgia Tech defensive back Tommy Bleik with Baltimore of the NFL, Georgia Tech halfback Terry Haddock with St. Louis of the NFL and Texas Tech line-backer John Carrell with Houston of the AFL.

Evansville Is College Leader

(By The Associated Press)
The Evansville Aces, rebounding with two victories after sustaining their first loss in 44 games to a small college team, continues to hold a slim lead in the Associated Press small-college basketball poll. Southern Illinois replaced Central State of Ohio in the runner-up position.
There was some additional minor shuffling among the top 10 teams, notably the rise of Mt. St. Mary's, Evansville's conqueror two weeks ago, to 10th place.
In the latest vote by a special panel of 14 regional experts based on games through last Saturday, Evansville collected six votes for first place and 101 points. The Aces, who lost to Iowa of the Big Ten in their opening game, walloped Toledo 97-82 and San Diego State 89,76 last week for a 5-2 record.
Southern Illinois, 6-1, advanced from the No. 3 position after defeating Wichita State 89-68. The Salukis drew three votes for first place and 97 points. Central State, idle last week, collected 85 points on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second, etc. One selector placed the Ohio team first.
Grumbling switched positions with North Dakota, the Tigers climbing to fourth while North Dakota fell to fifth. Grambling beat Paul Quinn 67-64.

ACCIDENT ALREADY PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Boyce Regional Park, the only city operated ski slope, opened Wednesday and within minutes recorded its first accident.
James J. Ryan, 32, an employee of the slope, suffered a broken jaw when the nozzle on a hose that sprays artificial snow snapped back and hit him in the face.

Donny Not Tired

"This has been a great team to play on," he went on. "I've been fortunate to have some fine teammates and they—as I well know—are the ones who have made me."
Named Tech's outstanding player of the game by sportswriters on hand, Anderson said that he was neither tired physically or mentally from the ordeal of bowl preparation and professional bidding for his services.
"No, I don't feel tired and am not planning on any kind of 'vacation' or anything. I don't think that worrying over who I

"When Georgia Tech changed quarterbacks, we tried to set our defense to change to a run-and-type defense. They would change one play; then see those flankers and go back to defending against passes."
"But I'm not going to criticize my defensive coaches," King said. "That didn't cost us the game. Nor did the way the officials called pass defense. It's different in our conference—where if you go down field and get hit, it's interference. They didn't call it although our boys got hit several times."

Roper also touched on the Forker winning streak. "This club has great pride. But we've got to finish it by winning the 23rd one. I just think that 20 years from now I would wake up and think that had I been just six inches this way or that we might have won. Winning 22 straight is great, but we've just got to get the other one."

Doug Breaks Ankle Again

JACKSONVILLE (Special)—Doug Young, you might say, is injury prone.
The Texas Tech junior guard from Brownwood broke his ankle for the fourth time since he has been at Raiderland Friday in the 31-21 loss to Georgia Tech at the Gator Bowl.
In addition to the ankle breaks, Young has had a torn knee which required surgery during the 1964 season and it kept him out of action for most of the season, only to make it back in time for the Sun Bowl game. He was hurt there, too.
This year, he was hurt again and missed most of the season. He was the only casualty among the Raider forces in the game Friday here.

Betting, Crowds Soared At Horse Races Past Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Wagering on horse racing in the United States soared to nearly $4.5 billion in 1965 as 59,272,489 fans kept the turnstiles clicking merrily at thoroughbred tracks in 24 states and at plants catering to trotters and pacers in 16 states.
With $3,128,722,482 bet on the runners and $1,334,759,973 on the harness races for a total of $4,463,482,455, a survey by The Associated Press Thursday showed the sport paid $355,206,380 into the states' treasuries.
In 1964 the states' share of the pari-mutuel handle was $350,095,928 from a total of $4,015,569,347 reported by 27 states in which thoroughbred racing is legalized and from 15 in which it is legal to wager on trotters and pacers.
Attendance at the running tracks was up from 37,838,210 to 38,965,689. But there was a slight decline in attendance at harness tracks with the unofficial figures showing a drop from 2,434,604 to 2,040,800.
Eleven other states went over the one million mark in attendance at thoroughbred tracks with California second with 5,362,819. Then came Illinois, 3,637,461; New Jersey, 2,981,000; Maryland, 2,070,000; Michigan, 2,058,834; West Virginia, 1,927,823; Ohio, 1,675,546; Florida, 1,511,830; Rhode Island, 1,347,600; Kentucky, 1,230,767; and Massachusetts, 1,156,191.
Outside of New York the leading states in money wagered on the thoroughbreds were California with $475,591,242; New Jersey with $286,300,000; Illinois with $283,638,361 and Maryland with $191,588,000. Florida counted $172,964,973 in wagers and Michigan $149,611,294.
Trailing New York in state revenue from the runners were California with $37,807,274; New Jersey with $28,700,000 and Illinois with $21,035,525. Florida, where the figures were based on the fiscal year ending last June 30, contributed $14,721,823 to the state while Michigan took $12,765,377 as its share and Maryland, $10,760,180.

Dunbar Rips Blackshear

ODESSA (Special)—The Dunbar Panthers whipped Odessa Blackshear, 64-47, here Friday night to take third place in the Blackshear cage tourney.
El Paso Patterson won the title by downing Abilene Woodson, 79-71. Woodson had beaten Dunbar earlier in the day, 84-68.
The Panthers rolled to an 18-5 first period lead against Odessa and were not headed as Larry Blalock tossed in 21 points to pace the easy win. Clarence Redic had 11 for Odessa.
Abilene took advantage of Dunbar mistakes to win the semifinals contest. The Rams had a 23-14 first quarter lead and hiked it to 55-27 at halftime. It was 75-43 going into the final stanza.
Dunbar began to press in the final period and outscored the Rams, 25-9.
James Gary, picked on the all-tourney team, sparked Dunbar in this one with 22 points, while Glenn Cotten had 25 for Woodson.
Dunbar is now 12-6 for the year and the Panthers play host to Lubbock Christian High Tuesday before resuming district play Friday night on the home court against Odessa.

Pampa Wins Cage Meet

PAMPA (Special)—The Pampa Harvesters won their 10th straight Top O' Texas basketball tournament here Friday night, downing Phillips, 48-44.
It was a nip and tuck affair all the way with the lead changing hands 17 times and being tied on nine occasions. However, David Cain hit a field goal with 4:30 left to put the Harvesters ahead, 42-40, and they never lost the lead.
Cain would up with 13 points, while Mike Wise and Ken Williams both had 10 points. Charles Harpmon had 16 points for Phillips and David Bailey added 10.
The score was tied at 25-25 at halftime and 35-35 with eight minutes left.
Big Spring won third place with a 48-37 victory over Dumas as Robert Jackson and Robert Jones both had 10. Ronnie Stephenson led Dumas with 14 points.
Named to the all-tourney team were Mike Wise and Steve Williams of Pampa, Bob Griffin of Big Spring, Stephenson and Mike Timmons of Phillips. McWil-

Mustangs Post Narrow Victory

DENVER CITY (Special)—The Denver City Mustangs fought off the Ector Eagles for a 61-60 victory here Friday night as Van Vernon led the way with 17 points.
It was close all the way with Denver City behind at the end of the first quarter, 14-13, but ahead at the midway point, 32-26. It was tied up after three periods, 46-46.
Eddie Prado had 13 points for Ector.
Ector won the B game, 42-40, as Jim Junker tossed in 20 points. Robert Daidh led Denver City with 15.
Denver City, now 10-2 for the season, takes on Plains Tuesday night on the home court.

WITHOUT PARALLEL SINCE RECONSTRUCTION

Racial Conflict Brings Changes In South During Year

EDITH NOTE—Racial changes in the South during the year 1965... ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Southern racial conflict in the past year wrought changes without parallel since Reconstruction.

to deal with all-white juries and protection of civil rights workers in the South. 500,000 Become Voters Ku Klux Klan factions enjoyed a resurgence and came under scrutiny of a congressional investigation.

White political leaders showed growing awareness of the mounting Negro vote. Negro candidates were more plentiful and won more public office than ever before.

steered his state along a moderate course, winning voter approval of unrestricted registration procedures. Louisiana's Gov. John J. McKeithan said he was willing to risk his political future and flew into two racial trouble spots to mediate the disputes.

Five weeks later, the civil rights campaign recorded its first death, a Negro laborer named Jimmie Lee Jackson of nearby Marion. He was shot by a state trooper during a night march.

The Selma-Montgomery march, Negro G. I. Graduates, Negro G. I. Graduates announced the arrest of three Klansmen in the slaying and called for an investigation of the Klan.

Next day, a Negro laborer named Jimmie Lee Jackson of nearby Marion. He was shot by a state trooper during a night march.

over school issues. Florida passed the year without major disturbances.

'MAYBE APPROACHING A CROSSROAD'

Federal Experts Expect '66 To Be Critical Year For U.S. Trade Policy

WASHINGTON — Government experts are expecting 1966 to be a "critical year" for U. S. trade policy. Anthony M. Solomon, Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, speaking in Dallas in October, said the United States "may be approaching a crossroad" in its trade policy and that the nation faced challenges "from three directions."

policy obsolete," he said. Solomon said increasing trade with the Soviet bloc would benefit the United States economically, help lessen world tension and encourage "external independence and internal liberalization in individual Communist countries."

The Committee, composed mainly of businessmen and educators, said "political, not commercial or economic considerations, should determine" the U. S. trade policy with the Communists.

There were even some indications as the year closed that the South had passed its worst conflict, 11 years after the battle began in earnest with the Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools.

Faculty Integration Starts The number of Negro pupils attending school with white children tripled the 1964 figure in the 11 states. The percentage was about 15.2, compared to 9.7 for the preceding year.

Faculty desegregation began in some areas. But the National Education Association reported that hundreds of Negro teachers had been fired or demoted because of desegregation in the South. Only about 95 were forced out of teaching, the NEA said.

But on Dec. 2, an Anniston white jury convicted a white man of murder in the Brewster slaying and set a 10-year prison term. The next day at Montgomery, Wilkins and the other two Klansmen were convicted of criminal conspiracy and drew 10-year sentences.

White Man Killed In Americus, Ga., street marches climaxed July 28 with the shooting death of a white man, Andrew Whatley, 21. Two Negroes were indicted for murder and await trial.

According to congressional officials, any proposed legislation to expand East-West trade would probably be based on recommendations by the President's Special Committee on U. S. Trade Relations with East European Countries and the Soviet Union.

President Johnson indicated support for expanded East-West trade in his State of the Union Message in January. A number of members of Congress and groups, including the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the American Farm Bureau Federation, also have called for increased trade with the Soviet bloc.

Mass registration opened the possibility of Negro political dominance of more than 100 Southern counties. Negroes gained nine legislative seats in Georgia, giving them 10 of the 250 seats.

Tennessee elected its first Negro legislator since Reconstruction. Atlanta elected a Negro alderman. At Daytona Beach, Fla., a Negro won a City Commission seat for the first time in history.

Solomon, in his Dallas speech, indicated the United States would continue to oppose moves to give preferential tariff treatment to lower income countries. European nations generally favor preferential treatment for poor countries, and the EEC has preferential agreements with 188 African nations.

Solomon said preferential systems discriminate among developing nations and that the United States was urging countries to end such agreements.

Woman Chases Off Armed Man

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Are you crazy? That's only a water pistol," Evelyn Morganstein told the masked man confronting her with a gun. "Now come on, get out of here," she said. "My husband is in the back of the store," she added with a threatening tone. The robber pulled the handkerchief from his face, said, "Forget it lady," and stalked out of the dress shop. Mrs. Morganstein later told police only her salesgirl was in the back.

WORKER IS CRUSHED

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — A Beaumont construction worker, George Pearson, 36, was crushed to death here Friday between a ditching machine and a 36-inch pipe.

BY SCIENTISTS

Decay Attributed To Gum Disease CHICAGO (UPI) — Three dental scientists said Friday that the leading cause of tooth loss in adults is gum disease. Drs. John M. Grewe, Robert J. Gorlin and Lawrence H. Meskin, all of the University of Minnesota School of Dentistry, analyzed nearly 4,000 tooth extractions in 1,030 patients aged 10 to 89. "Significantly more teeth were lost because of periodontal (gum) disease in males (29 per cent) than in females (17 per cent)," they said. "Females had significantly more impacted teeth removed (11 per cent) than did males (6 per cent)."

BY POLICE

Vandals Thought 'Glue Sniffers' FORT WORTH (UPI) — Police worked on the theory Friday that vandals who broke into five mausoleums at Oakwood Cemetery this week were participants in a "glue sniffing party." "Many empty tubes of airplane glue and several paper sacks used in the sniffing process were found near the cemetery which was ransacked Tuesday night. Two caskets were ripped open by the intruders and ashes from two urns were scattered.

Natchez Man's Store Bombed

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — A supermarket, owned by Mayor John Nossor, was fire-bombed New Year's Eve. There were no reports of injuries. "It definitely was a fire bomb attack, but who did it, we don't know," one officer said. Nossor also operates two other supermarkets, a discount store and a variety store in Natchez, scene of recent racial activity. Nossor's home was bombed last year. Earlier in 1965 he accused civil rights workers of using threats and physical violence to keep Negroes from buying at his business establishments.
