CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATORS BEGAN SEEKING LIST IN 1963

State Department Refuses To Turn Over List Of Security Risks To Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The loyalty of employes without the permission of the President. Shrouded List The Senate committee sought the 1955 list as part of its investigation of State Department security in 1963. The committee Tuesday released previously secret testimony dealing with its efforts to secure the information. The testimony was given two years ago.

The list was such a well-kept secret that William J. Crockett, the deputy undersecretary for administration, admitted that neither he nor Secretary of State Dean Rusk knew of its existence until the committee informed them. Crockett conceded that "frankly, we had a very difficult time finding the lists in the Office of Security." At the end of 1955, Crockett said all State Department employes including the 800 had been cleared after an evaluation of information and allegation against them. "Of these 800 or so, 258 were indexed by the Office of Security to show that they had been cleared after the evaluation of information which had raised 'major' questions," Crockett said. He said that of the 258, 92 employees had left and 71 had been reinvestigated and recommended a large number for dismissal as security risks. The final decision to clear the employes in such cases was made by higher authorities. Otepka said in a memo to the subcommittee by Otto F. Otepka, a chief State Department security evaluation officer, who was dismissed for giving the subcommittee information.

Otepka said he granted clearances to a majority of the more than 800 but that he also recommended a large number for dismissal as security risks. "The final decision to clear the employes in such cases was made by higher authorities," Otepka said in a memo to the subcommittee. Otepka said he disagreed with the impression given by State Department officials that the derogatory information against the 800 consisted generally of questions of suitability rather than risk of security. The former security officer said the list included allega-

AFTER LBJ TALK

GOP Plans Own State Of The Union Message

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Subject to several "ifs," Republicans may deliver their own state of the union message probably a day or so after President Johnson's address. After countless drafts, the GOP message has been pretty well whipped into shape. It will be revised—right up to air time—depending on developments, including the inevitable surprises in Johnson's address to the customary joint session of Congress. The President's timetable has not been firm. Considering the fast-changing world situation, his message presumably is a long way from being printed right now.

Several Alternatives Ford would like to have the broadcast originate, as does the President's, in the House chamber. But under House rules this is precluded, unless the House itself votes otherwise. Several alternatives have been under study, the latest being the Capitol's historic old supreme court chamber. The Senate met in the semi-circular chamber until the Civil War, and the night court sat there until 1935, when it got its own building. The chamber would be properly packed with GOP lawmakers and other receptive listeners. Ford believes a short, pointed address, aired from the Capitol with this venerable hall as a backdrop, could hold the tv audience about as well as any show lacking a horse or a girl. His hope apparently is that it will be able to claim at least a couple of heroes.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., said the GOP's counter plans are not firm but that he expects the networks will be asked as a matter of fair play to give equal and equally good time—and color, too. If that's what they give Johnson — to a presentation of the minority stand.

CLUSTER OF TANKS CATCHES FIRE

12 Reported Dead In Butane Gas Blast At Modern French Refinery

LYON, France (UPI) — A cluster of tanks containing liquefied butane gas caught fire and blew up like a string of giant firecrackers at France's most modern refinery Tuesday, killing and injuring scores of firemen and plant workers. A fire captain was killed and 11 other persons were reported dead in the fire and explosions which ripped through the nationalized Feyzin Refinery six miles south of here. Nine of the missing were firemen and two were refinery workers.

DURING BIRTHDAY PARTY

Dirksen Issues Caution On Viet War Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., interrupted his 70th birthday party Tuesday to caution against any settlement which would compromise the freedom of South Viet Nam's peoples. With friends and neighbors about him at his DeBary, Fla., winter home, the Republican leader of the Senate confided that he was snowed under with birthday telegrams, telephone calls and flowers from all over the country.

Sen. and Mrs. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., dropped in to help him celebrate. "I may be 70 tomorrow, but in viewpoint and in ideas I'm still 50 or even less." Points To Pledges Turning serious in response to questions, Dirksen said he goes along with President Johnson's worldwide peace offensive. But he issued a danger signal against any future negotiations which might compromise the 1954 Geneva agreements under which South Viet Nam's people would be free to choose their own government.

Our endeavors must be to bring this war to an end honorably and victoriously. We have got to make good on our pledges that the people of South Viet Nam will remain free," he said. "I am not one to compromise with the Communists. The problem is, what is a successful conclusion?" Dirksen said that when he returns to Washington for the

TREAT SNAKEBITES

PERTH, Australia (AP) — When a deadly yellow and black tiger snake bit 14-year-old Suzette Hughes on the leg, she wrapped a tourniquet above the wound, used a knife to cut around the fang marks and applied medication. "It hurt a bit, guess," she said. Her brother, Brendan, 15, summoned aid. Later, Brendan became dizzy and discovered he also had been bitten. He followed the same treatment and a neighbor drove him to the hospital. "The children did a marvelous job," a nurse said.

Cassidy said it took about two hours to land the ray after the initial harpooning.

FIRST APPLICATION OF NEW LAW

Plans To Move Proposed Cooper Reservoir Water North Approved

AUSTIN (UPI) — In the first application of a new law on inter-basin water transfer, the Texas Water Rights Commission Tuesday approved plans for moving water from the proposed Cooper Reservoir in East Texas to water uses in North Texas.

The commission accepted the outline of an agreement drawn by the Sulphur River Municipal Water District, the North Texas Municipal Water District and the city of Irving.

Although the new inter-basin transfer law was considered potentially controversial, the Cooper Reservoir plan was uncontested. Southern Canal Co. filed a written protest but did not appear at the hearing. The new law, passed by the 50th Legislature, permits water to be transferred from one river basin to another only if the applicants can prove that the water will not be needed in the source basin for at least 50 years.

Engineers Agree Engineers for the water districts and the city of Irving agreed that the Sulphur River Basin is capable of yielding five to six times as much water as will be taken out under the Cooper Reservoir plan.

William H. Sims of Dallas, consulting engineer for the North Texas district, said the Sulphur River, when fully developed, can yield more than 1.5 million acre feet of water annually.

Marvin C. Nichols of Fort Worth, consulting engineer for the city of Irving, said growth of the cities in the Sulphur River basin over the next 50 years should be relatively stable, but Irving's population will increase four-fold to 350,000.

Cooper Reservoir, expected to cost $18.5 million, will be built by the Corps of Engineers in Delta and Hopkins counties. It is to be in operation sometime in the early 1970's.

Equal Share Plan The Sulphur River District asked for $1,470 acre feet of storage, with the other two agencies sharing equally in the remainder of the reservoir's capacity of 310,000 acre feet. The three agencies proposed to share diversion rights in the same proportion.

The commission unanimously agreed to give the three agencies rights to the reservoir's full capacity, but declined to specify each's share until the agencies complete their contracts with the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

The Sulphur River District will use its share of the water to supply industrial needs and the municipalities of Commerce, Cooper and Sulphur Springs.

The north Texas district will supply its share to 10 member cities and 10 other customers, including the city of Dallas. The Irving portion will be used for industrial and municipal purposes in that city.

Dr. Menninger Has Surgery TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Dr. William C. Menninger, president of the Menninger Foundation, underwent exploratory chest surgery in Methodist Hospital in Rochester, Minn., on Tuesday.

A son, Dr. Roy Menninger, said his father withstood the surgical procedures very well. He said a mass was found in the left side of the chest. He said it is probable the mass is lymphoma, a form of malignancy of the lymph nodes.

The son said this carries a less ominous prognosis than cancer of the lung associated with smoking. He said treatment with X ray or chemotherapy is probable but will await further studies of the tissue. As president of the Menninger Foundation, Menninger, 66, heads a noted psychiatric treatment, training and research center.

WOMAN TALK New Ideas For Food Discussed

By JEANNE LESEM
NEW YORK (UPI)—Remember when we telephoned our orders to the corner grocery store for home delivery?

An automated version of this old-fashioned service is possible but not probable, says Robert C. Cosgrove, a top food industry executive.

In an interview, Cosgrove discussed the future of food distribution, processing and packaging. He expressed doubt that the typical homemaker of our times ever would want to give up the freedom of choice she now enjoys in supermarket shopping.

It represents a great economy in processing when a grocery order is punched card via telephone, but a similar system used by the homemaker would be too impersonal for her taste, Cosgrove believes.

Cybernetic Kitchens
Automation is making headway in institutional food service, he said. One national motel chain operates practically automated kitchens in which staffs get card directions for heating packaged precooked frozen foods in high-frequency ovens.

Another company is using automatic processing and punch cards to dispense such foods as hamburgers and milk shakes in its employee cafeteria.

Women may not be ready for automated shopping, but they can look for more and more fancy precooked frozen foods.

Cosgrove mentioned the steadily growing popularity of ethnic foods such as Italian, Chinese and Mexican, and speculated that sauced foods widely used in French cookery would lend themselves especially well to freezer processing.

In-Bag Boiling
He also foresaw the introduction of hot-in-bag home-style foods that normally are boiled in preparation. They would include corn on the cob, rice, and pasta.

If the market becomes big enough, there may be consumer distribution of dietetic foods, already available on a limited scale in institutional use.

Conversely, Cosgrove added that the emphasis on low-cholesterol foods in recent years has not affected the popularity of those in butter sauces.

Another possibility: thaw-in-bag fruit that is ready to eat after its container is immersed only 15 minutes in lukewarm water.

Cosgrove said that his company is planning to store, in a few such items in one city to see who buys it, why they buy it and how they like it.

Becoming Outdated
Even though frozen prepared foods still are growing in popularity, the food freezing process could become obsolete in five years, added Cosgrove, because of the high cost of distribution and storage.

Canning or heat processing food in hermetically sealed containers probably is the best method. Currently, we have tin cans. But I can visualize air tight plastic bags for canning. There are so many revolutions in packaging and food processing that today's machinery can become obsolete before it lives its normal life.

PENSIVELY PRETTY—... and so flattering to the petite figure... is a skimpy A-line shift with slimming lines. Flecks of white dot the dress body... and a perky flower print bands the bell sleeves and neckline, finishing with a graceful bow. By DOREEN KING
NEW YORK (WNS)—Felicia Sanders is a mature woman who sings well.

She has a deep intimate emotion-laden voice, a devastatingly poignant way with a lyric and a coast-to-coast underground fan following who, I suspect, probably recognize each other by secret handclaps and mystic passwords.

Felicia has been dubbed the American Edith Piaf. The comparison is legitimate enough.

She sings to tell a story and communicate feeling. She wears simple black dresses and prefers the informal atmosphere of the Bob Soir club in Greenwich Village to the most lavish celebrity, filled nightspot.

As Felicia explained when I met her in New York this week she never expects to be a mass artist.

"I know my audience—my following if you like—is an intensely personal one. They found me. So many people today are searching for their own special things as a defense against conformity.

"And I suppose I've fallen into that category for them."

Felicia and her husband, songwriter-arranger Irving

Joseph, are currently starting a venture which they like to think of as the equivalent of FM programming for the record industry.

They have just launched their own record company. The first effort—a Felicia Sanders album recorded live and available through mail order.

Felicia repeated with sorrow rather than anger the hard facts of the record industry today.

"The market is so flooded with records that the dealers cannot afford to stock anything that they are not 100 per cent sure will sell fast."

"Whatever his personal taste, no dealer wants to take the risk of carrying records which appeal to—I won't say a minority—the selective many."

Felicia knows she has ardent fans in Detroit, Texas, points north, south, east and west.

She also knows they cannot find her records in their local dealers. The answer—bypassing the elaborate merchandising structure of the record industry giants and going straight to her public.

Felicia refers with wry amusement rather than bitterness to the "hucksters."

Felicia's adventures in Tin Pan Alley-land, she now looks back on with detached humor.

She smiled as she recalled, "I went along with it for a while. I tried the plunging necklines and the beaded gowns. It didn't work. It was wrong."

Felicia is not resentful about the current cult of youth, overnight success and electronically created voices, especially in the rock and roll field.

She merely remarks with genuine puzzlement, "People who go for that kind of music—it's not so much that I wonder about their taste and their ear—I wonder about their innards!"

Felicia likes to sing sad songs and her fans like to hear them. "I have to throw in a few happy ones now and then," she shrugged. "But sad songs are more meaningful."

"Everyone's suffered and struggled, except perhaps the untouched wealthy. I have a friend who says the older you get the more sadness there is in your life that can be touched by sad songs."

Her Biggest Fans
Many disparate people belong to the unofficial nationwide Felicia Sanders following. But she believes her biggest fans are mature intelligent women.

She explains, "Women have many problems. Their lives are based more on emotion. And they don't resent me. I'm not a glamor image."

"I'm not more beautifully coiffed. They are much more jeweled. I'm not competing."

The essence of Felicia Sanders is probably as simple as the fact that she doesn't care for compromises.

A position she made clear when she told me the story of why her 13-year-old son Jefferson could not go and see her while she was appearing at the Americana.

Jefferson is a young artist and his mother remarks affectionately, "going through a Wagnerian phase." He is also growing his hair long and flowing.

The Americana management said no admission without a conventional haircut.

Jefferson said, in that case, no admission. His hair was staying just the way it was.

"I was sorry he didn't come and hear me," said his mother proudly. "But he was right."

Stop Winter Wrinkles

Use the colder months to give your skin a lovely peach-and-cream appearance, but guard against wrinkles caused by the cold air. Even mildly crisp air causes the skin to contract, preventing protective oils from reaching the surface. Ask your druggist for oil of Olay, and before you make-up, smooth it over your face, neck and hands, being careful to pat it generously around the eyes. You will be amazed how quickly this beautifying moist oil will give the skin a healthy bloom even on winter days.

WINTER WONDER LAMB—Serve With Citrus Fruit

Perfect Partners: Lamb With Fruit

Lemons and kumquats are sub-tropical fruits, and in the United States we are blessed with ample supplies of each.

Lemons are available as a fresh citrus fruit all year round, and you can buy many frozen and processed lemon products.

Fresh kumquats are often seen in specialty fruit markets... sometimes with their leaves intact... but they are always available preserved in syrup and packed in jars.

Both fruits make marvelous partners for meats... and in particular with Winter Wonder lamb, which is now in meat markets everywhere.

Loin lamb chops, as the name implies, come from the loin section of the animal.

If the loin is split down the backbone it can then be sliced for single loin chops or kept whole and sliced across the entire loin section to form a double loin or English chop.

Our first recipe calls for single 1-inch thick loin lamb chops... perfect for broiling... lemon slices, spices and kumquats in their syrup as a hot pour-over sauce for the lamb.

The pre-sliced square shoulder of lamb is excellent with its mincemeat stuffing. Try it soon.

LEMON KUMQUAT LAMB CHOPS
(Makes 4 Servings)
4 loin lamb chops, 1-inch thick
Salt and pepper
Ground mace and ginger
1 lemon slices, halved
1/2 cup preserved kumquats
1/4 cup kumquat syrup
Sprinkle lamb chops on both sides with salt, pepper, mace and ginger. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat 5 to 7 minutes on each side, or until desired degree of doneness.

ANN LANDERS

Select Female Doctor

Dear Ann Landers: I am beginning to think my mother was right. She once told me that there is not a decent, clean-thinking man in this world. I'm convinced she knew what she was talking about.

I am 48, and have been married twice. Both my husbands were skirt chasers—morning noon and night. The office manager made a play for me the second day I started to work here. The window washers and the janitor made goo goo eyes at me the same week.

Yesterday the meter-reader made an indecent proposal. This morning the bus driver gave me a come-on wink of the eye. I am so sick of sex maniacs I don't know what to do.

What advice do you have? Is there an escape? Please don't tell me to see a doctor for a check-up. The last time I went to see a doctor he propositioned me right in his office.—Desperate

Dear Desperate: I think you ought to see a psychiatrist. But make sure you select a female. And I am not kidding.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to say a word to the grandmother who signed herself "Beck and Call." She was annoyed because her married daughter used her as a sitter, a cook and a seamstress. They also had a habit of dropping off their children at her house when they went away for weekends.

I am in the same boat, so I know how she feels. But the solution you suggested won't work for me. Here is my story: Several months ago my daughter asked if I would take the children for four days while she and her husband went out of town. When I hesitated, she said, "Well, if you have to think about it, skip it." She hung up and would not speak to me for three months. I missed the children so much it almost killed me.

Now when she asks if I will take her youngsters I say yes without hesitation. The price for refusing is more than I want to pay. Maybe you will say I am a darned fool, but I love my grandchildren.—L. A. Granny

Dear Granny: Don't look now but your daughter is blackmailing you, and she is using her children as bait. I hope, for your sake, Mother, that there are no more at home like her. One is enough.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 16 and going steady with one of the coolest cats in the senior class. We haven't done anything wrong yet and that is why I am writing. I believe in preventing trouble before it starts. Please give me some advice.

After four dates I let Ronnie kiss me. Now that is all he wants to do. I can't get him interested in going to a movie, bowling, playing records or looking at TV. I even tried your formula of asking him questions about himself to get a good conversation going, but no dice. Ann, Ronnie would rather make out than do anything.

Last night he said if I cared for him as much as he cares for me I wouldn't fight him on this. I don't want him to ditch me, but I don't want to give in either. Please give me some advice and fast.—Hanging On By My Fingernails

Dear Hanging On: I'm typing as fast as I can and I hope I am not too late.

Give this creep a final no and tell him to stop pestering you or to find another girl. If he ditches you, you haven't lost much.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

18TH CENTURY CHARM—Gentle curves have been added to this new sofa derives from 18th Century museum designs. Modern construction, however, has brought to it a comfort which the hard seat padding of early times lacked. On the other hand, the slender lines and air of elegance of the originals have been beautifully preserved in the delicately carved frame which outlines the sloping back and arms, in the tapered legs and the rope carving around the base. Shown here in a living room setting, the soft is covered in a rich cut velvet, whose patterned stripes are different shades of olive green and gold.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

A nice doctor I know told me recently: "Of course baby care is a serious business but sometimes mothers take it too seriously. As a consequence, they often develop a kind of grim tenseness which is easily transmitted to a baby and the baby may develop a corresponding tenseness. The mothers who laugh with their babies, and at themselves occasionally, are the most successful ones."

Points to remember: Grim determination to see that baby "licks the platter clean" may turn a naturally eager eater into a mealtime rebel. Food served with a smile usually gets a good reception.

There'll be baby-emilies to spare when the menu features a Gerber Strained or Junior High Meat Dinner. For these hearty dishes have 5 times as much excellent meat as regular combination dinners. Add to this extra meat, garden-good vegetables and subtle seasoning and you have "meatwise" dishes with exceptional flavor character. P.S. Apart from the eating pleasure your baby will have, Gerber High Meat Dinners are a good source of protein... the mighty "helping hand" of growth.

Super Supper Plan
(a la Gerber!)

Veal High Meat Dinner
Squash or Sweet Potatoes
Chocolate Custard Pudding
Formula or Milk

*All the above in both strained and junior versions.

Strengthening influences. Overall buttons will stay put longer if you sew them on with elastic thread. Sweater buttons will be more secure if you reinforce thread at center of buttons with clear nail polish.

Start to finish. Don't forget that baby cereals provide special nutritional benefits right through the toddler stage. Gerber Cereals are fortified with a special kind of iron, easily assimilated by babies, plus calcium and important B-vitamins. All 5 are deliciously delicate in flavor. Gerber Baby Foods, Box 73, Farmington, Michigan.

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Here's a tip for tight budgets, that suddenly have maternity clothes added:

All one has to do is rip open the front seam of slacks or Bermuda shorts, and insert a V-shaped panel (with drawstrings threaded across the top of the inserted panel). Presto—maternity slacks at no extra cost; and the best part of it is that after the baby arrives, the panel may be removed and the garment sewn up on its original seam again.

The most unusual part of this is that the idea was my husband's!

Mrs. R.A. Guth

Dear Mrs. Guth: Before I had my last baby, I split the seams on all my skirts that had a seam in the middle of the front, and used pieces of colored T-shirts for the insert. (The hem serves as a casing for the drawstring). The jersey-type material stretched beautifully, and is so soft. This is especially good for black or navy skirts.

Along about the last few months, I discovered that if made my blouses long enough, they would cover the insert nicely.

Another little hint for those in their first months of pregnancy—Buy a package of big safety pins.

You can unbutton the band on any skirt, open the zipper a bit, and use these wonderful gadgets to put through the button-hole on the skirt band, and pin it to the side with the button. As each week or so passes, just add another safety pin!

On some skirts you can use as many as four pins, one interlocking.

JOB CORPS DISCUSSED

Baby sitters from the FFA chapter were Miss Linda Calkick and Miss Gloria Sallinas.

PROGRAM PLANNED

Tech Puts Press On Baptists Glover Shines In SWC Opener

By BURLE PETTIT
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Some guy kept saying things would be different once Tech got into conference play. And bruther...

The Red Raiders got there Tuesday night, arriving at full speed and maintaining the torrid pace until the clock finally whistled them dead at the sizzling end of a 115-77 victory over Baylor — a team that used to play mighty well on these boards.

Tech, paced by virtually everybody and most especially by Bob Glover, jumped atop their Baptist buddies with a tenacious full court pressing defense and greased-lightning offense, and the game wasn't even a minute old before the story began to appear in bold letters on the Coliseum wall.

Set Scoring Mark
The Raiders' effort surpassed the Southwest Conference single game scoring mark, and any one among the 8,315 on hand would tell you it could've been worse. Much worse.

Tech was snagged on 111 points for 14 minutes at the tail end of the game, when Coach Gene Gibson sent in everyone except Charlie Lynch, the student manager and—of course—the bench in order to let the Bears think they'd at least run through an offensive warm-up drill.

"The Press' Took Toll"

By BILL HART
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Baylor's soft-spoken Darrell Hardy probably summed up Texas Tech's basketball performance Tuesday night the best when he said, "We knew they played in streaks, but the one they had tonight lasted 40 minutes."

And Hardy agreed with Coach Gene Gibson and the Tech cagers that the Raiders' pressing game was the difference in the easy victory, Tech's fifth in 10 games.

"Tech Surprised Us"
"We had played against a press before this year, but the Raiders surprised us tonight with a different type. They put more pressure on the ball than we had seen and they picked us up when the ball was thrown in. No one else had done this to us," he added.

Gibson said the Raiders had worked on the press all year, but more emphasis had been put on it since the last game with New Mexico State during the Christmas holidays.

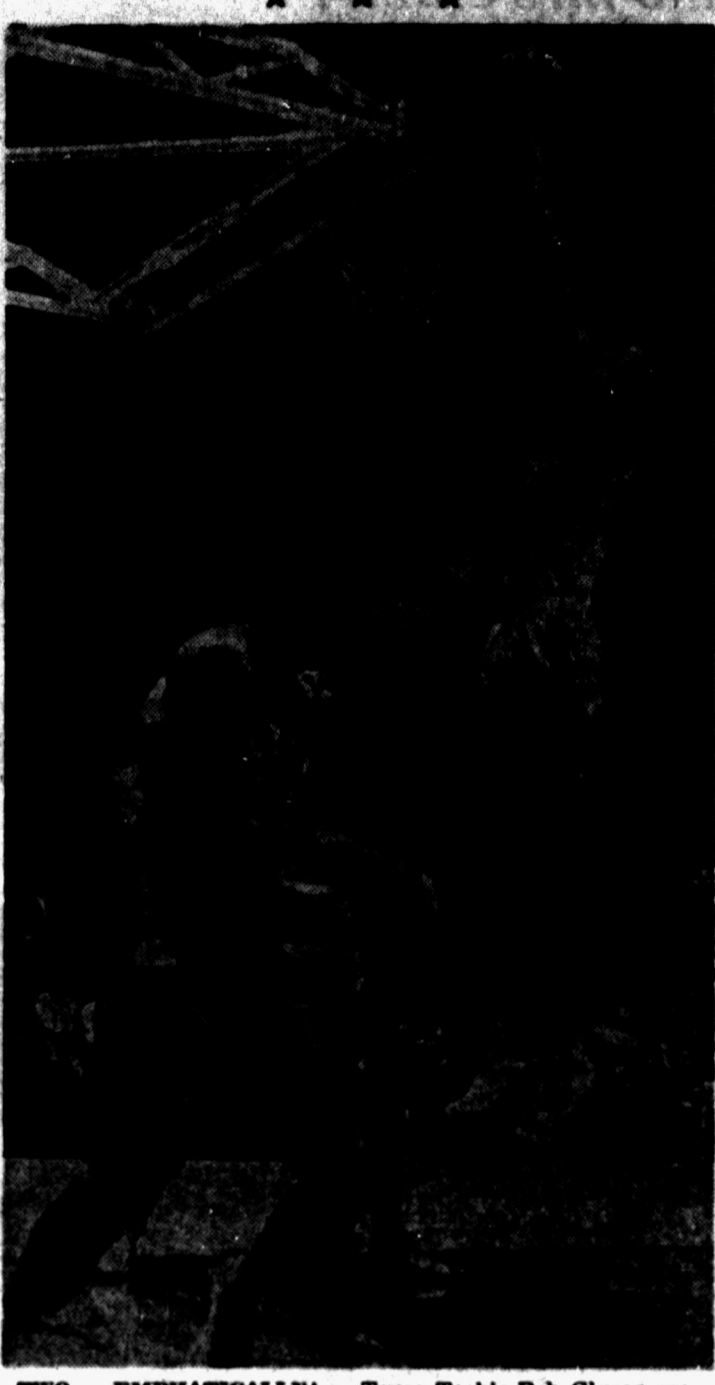

But Gibson had his charges ready for this one because the Bearshipped the Raiders twice last year, the only conference team to do this.

TIDE RUSHES IN 'Bama Bear-Hugs Top Grid Ranking

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Alabama's Crimson Tide whopped it up Tuesday after learning they were voted the national football champions for the second consecutive year. They immediately set their sights on making it three in a row.

None was more jubilant than Coach Paul Bear Bryant, who apparently tossed and turned while the Associated Press final poll votes were being tabulated overnight.

He arose at 3 a.m., learned 'Bama was voted No. 1 for the third time within five years, and hustled over to the athletic dormitory to post this note on the dining room door:

"Let's Have Three"
"Just notified. Congrats national champions. Paul Bryant, P.S. Let's start working today to make it three in a row."

The final poll this year of a nationwide panel of 57 sports writers and broadcasters was taken after the New Year's bowl games.

Alabama moved up three notches from fourth place after No. 1 ranked Michigan State lost to UCLA in the Rose Bowl, 14-12, and previously No. 2 Arkansas was dropped by Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl, 14-7.

Bryant's team, which had what he called the lightest line-up and most powerful offensive unit he ever coached, swamped Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, 33-28, New Year's night. See ALABAMA Page 3

Michigan State Miffed At Poll
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The sentiment at Michigan State University Tuesday was that regular season games — not bowl games — should be counted in picking the No. 1 college football team in the nation.

That was the reaction after Alabama won the nod over the Spartans in the Associated Press final poll of the season. Michigan State, upset 14-12 by UCLA in the Rose Bowl, dropped to second place.

"I've always thought the regular season should be taken into account," said MSU Athletic Director Biggie Munn. "A bowl game is just like another season, especially after the players are laid off for a month."

"But we're not crying over split milk and have no complaint on the vote," Munn added.

Lambert New LHS Boss

By CARLTON STOWERS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Gerald Lambert, who has served as first assistant under Freddy Akers for the past two and one-half years, was named Tuesday morning by the Lubbock school board as the new head football coach at Lubbock High School.

The 29-year-old McAllen native replaces Akers, who resigned last week to accept the offensive backfield coaching duties at the University of Texas.

The action marks the initial step into a head coaching position for Lambert.

"There's no doubt about it," said the congenial Texas A&I ex. "I'm really excited about it." His appointment to fill the vacated position marked a major turnabout in what had appeared to be board policy on hiring new head coaches.

Lambert's salary will be $9,200. He was earning $7,361 as an assistant. The board voiced unanimous consent to his elevation.

Gerald," said public schools Athletic Director Pete Ragus, "has as many of the ingredients needed for a head coach as one could hope to put together. If ever an assistant deserved a promotion, he does because of the qualities—loyalty and dedication—he displayed as a member of Akers' staff. I'm just real happy about the entire situation."

"He's a real exceptional person," continued Ragus. "He was a tremendous asset to the staff See LAMBERT Page 3

COMPLETE MARKETS - New York Stocks & Bonds - Cotton - Livestock - Grains

Late Sales Trim Gains

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market made a powerful advance early Tuesday but it was cut back considerably by late selling. Trading was very active. Despite the continuation of New York City's transit strike, volume increased to 7.55 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended the day with a small rise of 72 at 869.26, equaling its historic high of Dec. 31. At the end of the first hour, however, the average was up 4.56 and it seemed almost certain that this gain to make a new peak by an easy margin.

Prices began to soften late in the day after Colorado Fuel & Iron announced it would "postpone" its price increase on structural steel. The steel stocks had been in the forefront of the advance, along with coppers, aerospace defense issues, utilities and merger-oriented firms.

Of the two other steel companies which have raised prices for structural steel, Bethlehem ended the day with a loss of 1/8 and Inland Steel gained 1/4.

The biggest of them all, U.S. Steel, closed unchanged after being ahead as much as 3/4.

Copper stocks were spurred once again by the increase in copper prices abroad. International Nickel followed along by raising its European overseas price. Its stock advanced 1/4.

Aerospace defense stocks were well ahead most of the day because of the apparent futility of the U.S. peace offensive but they also turned mixed in the final hour.
