

NOT ORDINARY FISH TALE

Fisherman Baited Into Court

MUNFORDVILLE, Ky. (UPD) — Anglers note: the "moment of truth" is when a fish takes to the bait—not when it is landed. That was the decision of a Hart County jury Wednesday in the case of a record-size muskie.

After deliberating for nearly an hour the panel ordered the Rev. Otha Durrett to pay $750 damages for pulling in a 51-pound muskie on a pole and line that belonged to Quentin Vance. Vance sought $400 for the fish itself and $5,600 for "great values, prizes and endorsements."

He brought the suit on grounds the preacher "unlawfully detained" the fish.

Last February Vance set out a pole and line in the little Barren River. The preacher happened along, picked up the pole and—lo and behold—the muskie was on the other end of the line.

The clergyman then proceeded to have the muskie stuffed and mounted as his own. "Unfair," cried Vance.

The jury went for his story hook, line and sinker.

News About Area Men In Service

Two Lubbock area men, Pfc. Larry D. Lide of Shallowater and Spec. Joseph C. Watson of Lamesa, have been stationed in Viet Nam with the United States Army.

Lide, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Lide, Route 1, Shallowater, has been assigned to the 1st Cavalry Division, Watson, whose mother, Mrs. Edna F. Watson resides at Lamesa, was assigned to the 1st Infantry Division.

Lide, 20, was assigned to the 2d Battalion of the division's 17th artillery. He is a 1964 graduate of Shallowater High School.

Watson, 21, is in the division's 1st military police company. He attended Lamesa High School.

National Park Service Historian Aids Tech Study

Robert Utley, chief historian of the National Park Service, is on the Texas Tech campus this week conducting informal seminars with Department of Park Administration, Horticulture and Entomology graduate students who are engaged in surveys and research involving historical and recreational possibilities for parks in Texas.

"I am quite impressed by the students' eagerness, thorough planning and potential," Utley said. "I have been offering as much help as possible in our discussions." The graduate student, Alden Sievers of Escalon, Calif.; Jerry Rogers Vega; and Don Stence, Miami, Fla.

Screen Sites

Elo J. Urbanovsky, professor and head of the department, said Utley is the first of several National Park Service officials who will visit Tech in the next two years to offer assistance to park administration graduate students.

Utley is involved in plotting strategy on historical portions of the parks operated by the National Park Service.

"It is our job to define historical sites, survey the resources and screen out less significant locations," Utley said.

Ties To Past

"Evidences of the past are disappearing from the United States, and I believe we need tangible ties to the past to remain a great nation," Utley said.

"Americans, with more leisure time on their hands, are discovering that history is a part of recreation as they visit parks and historical sites over the nation," he said.

Utley pointed out that a majority of the 50 states have formed historical recognition programs of one kind or another, which serve not only to preserve historical sites, but also to add tourist dollars to the local economy.

Tower's Overseas Junket Lauded By GIs, Embassy

By ED JOHNSON
Associated-Press Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Congressional overseas tours invariably become junkets when the ports-of-call arouse the exotic imagery of continental cafes or tropical moons.

Even when the itinerary lists dismal or dangerous global backwaters, the lawmaker is put on the defensive.

Any tour is apt to provoke a torrent of publicity about the foreign service types fatigued to the bone from meeting so many VIF planes.

IN NEW DISTRICT

Sen. Snelson To Seek Re-Election

MIDLAND (AP)—State Sen. W. E. Snelson of Midland said Wednesday he will seek re-election.

Snelson said he will be a candidate for the new 25th District, which includes the home of state Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, who also is seeking re-election.

In the senatorial redistricting bill passed by the last legislature Midland and Ector counties were shifted from Dist. 29 to Dist. 25.

Dist. 29 under the redistricting bill includes only El Paso, Hudspeth and Culberson counties.

The new Dist. 25 includes 20 counties from Jeff Davis County east to Tom Green and Uvalde counties, and from Ector and Midland counties south to the Rio Grande.

"I now represent the majority of the people placed in the new 25th District and I am delighted with the opportunity of representing all the people in all areas of the new district," Snelson said.

Tower Returns

The implication is that the congressman out-of-the-world is pulling the generals away from winning the war or the State Department from winning the peace.

Sen. John Tower is just back from a globe-circling, month-long trip. His purpose was to visit defense installations and get military briefings as a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Even before he arrived back in Washington, his office here began to accumulate information that the Tower trip was not popular in all quarters.

GIs Welcome Tower

The word is that the senator pleased some Americans in such diverse outposts as the jungles of Viet Nam and the embassy in Paris.

The GIs at the front were glad that he came. The cookie-pushers on the Seine were relieved that he didn't.

A soldier from Massachusetts wrote to friends in San Antonio and the letter has made its way to Tower's office, though his staff wouldn't release his name for obvious reasons. The soldier wrote:

Visit Praised

"The brass is plagued by visiting congressmen. However, everyone understands that the trips are necessary. Recently it was a pleasure to have Sen. John Tower. He made an efficient, unobtrusive visit with minimum fanfare."

Another letter comes from a Dallas father who heard from his son, Bob Lawrence, a helicopter machine gunner with the 1st Cavalry Division. The GI wrote:

Skipped Paris

The Dallas soldier also gave politician Tower another accolade—credit for a short speech. Tower was on his final lap in the more attractive haunts of Western Europe when he made a decision to skip Paris.

He was in Madrid to visit 16th Air Force Headquarters and telephoned our embassy in the French capital, which was to be the next-to-the-last stop.

(Paris, of course, is the prime junket spot and the City of Light this season supposedly will welcome 120 globe-straddling congressmen to her bosom.)

Lists Persons

Tower was told by an embassy functionary that everybody was in a sweat in Paris what with:

1. The deluge of congressmen.
2. The visit of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.
3. The French runoff election with General deGaulle likely to explode any minute on television.

The functionary asked Tower would it be possible for him to get his NATO briefing in London?

"That's okay with me," the senator replied.

The sigh from the Paris embassy was heard 'round the world and Tower, cutting two days from his schedule, returned early to the safe harbor of Washington, which doesn't rate as exotic in anybody's passport.

Poll Tax Payments Said Below Normal

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said Thursday poll tax payments in some counties are running below normal. He urged eligible Texans to pay the tax and qualify to vote.

Carr said some attribute the lag in poll tax payments to confusion arising from the pending federal law suit to outlaw the tax as a voting requirement.

But, said Carr, the suit is not likely to be decided before the poll tax deadline, Jan. 31.

TO ENTER HOSPITAL

SLATON (Special) — Don Townsend Jr., 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Townsend of Slaton, has been accepted for entrance to the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children at Dallas, it was reported by officials of the Slaton Masonic Lodge 1084. The lodge submitted the application for Don, who was stricken by an undetermined illness several months ago. He is scheduled to enter the hospital, Jan. 18.

PRESS JOB

Moyers Denies He Is Leaving

WASHINGTON (UPD)—White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers Thursday denied reports that he is searching for a successor.

Moyers told a news briefing that he planned to continue as press secretary for "the foreseeable future."

"I am here to stay," he said, but added that this did not mean indefinite tenure.

"Is it true that you do not enjoy your job?" a reporter asked.

"No, I do enjoy working with you," Moyers replied.

There were reports Wednesday that at least two prominent figures in the news field had been approached about the possibility of succeeding Moyers. None of the reports indicated that a hard offer had been made.

Tower Endorses Weaver For Post

By NED CURRAN
Associated-Press Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Sen. John Tower Thursday endorsed the nomination of the first Negro cabinet member in the nation's history.

Tower pledged his support of Robert C. Weaver as secretary of the new housing and urban development department in his role as a ranking Republican on the senate committee without jurisdiction over the appointment.

Weaver will have to be confirmed by the housing subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on which Tower is the top GOP member.

"I have always enjoyed cordial relations with Dr. Weaver and his department," commented Tower. "I am delighted that his important nomination now has been made after some delay. Certainly, the new department can now function more efficiently with positive direction from the top."

His reference was to the extraordinarily long lag between creation of the new department in the last session of Congress and the nomination of Weaver as secretary.

Weaver has headed the housing and home finance agency which existed as an independent agency before its merger with the new department.

Man Gets 20-Year Sentence For Attack

BRYAN (UPD) — A nine man three women jury Thursday sentenced Napoleon Twitty, 42, to 20 years in prison for the rape of a young girl.

Twitty was found guilty Wednesday, after the jury deliberated about an hour. The jury returned to its deliberations Thursday, and took about 2 1/2 hours before returning with the sentence.

The maximum penalty for the crime would have been death, but the prosecution had asked for only life imprisonment.

Stock Mart Makes Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—Strength in aerospace issues featured an advancing market Thursday. Trading was heavy.

The ticker tape was four minutes late at the close of trading which produced volume of 8.7 million shares. It was another abbreviated session due to the New York transit strike. Even though the strike ended, the exchanges in New York decided to continue to close at 2 p.m. EST before resuming the regular 3:30 p.m. closing time starting Monday.

The volume totals this week would have been impressive even on full five-and-a-half-hour sessions and the pace of trading reflected an eagerness to complete dealings within the limited four-day stock exchange day.

Optimism on Wall Street was enhanced by President Johnson's State of the Union speech, as it contained no particular jolts for the financial community. Those traders who had sold as a precaution against what ever surprises the President might have in store were back in the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index advanced but remained below the historic peaks they made Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks made another record high as it rose 1.1 to 366.8 with industrials up 7 and rails up 11.8, both to record peaks, and utilities up 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.73 to 965.69. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index advanced 17.1 to 93.36. Of 1,426 issues traded, 699 rose and 467 fell. New highs for 1966 totaled 103 and new lows 12.

ON AID Meeting Set By Kremlin

LONDON (UPI)—Diplomatic sources said Thursday the Kremlin planned to summon a high-level Warsaw Pact meeting later this month to "coordinate" Viet Nam aid and strategy with the East European satellites.

The meeting of leaders from Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, East Germany and Romania will be held either in one of the East European capitals or Moscow, the sources said.

The talks will follow the current discussions in Hanoi by Alexander Shelepin, No. 2 man in the Soviet Communist party hierarchy, and the consultations by a touring delegation of North Vietnamese Communists with East European leaders.

The sources said they will be of considerable consequence for the future course of the war in Viet Nam.

Moscow has sought for some time to bring about greater coordination of aid-to-Communist Viet Nam within the Communist camp. But it has been rebuffed by Peking.

As a result, the Kremlin has been active, the informants said, in seeking to align the East European satellites with Soviet strategy. Above all, they are to be made to contribute to the defense effort "by concrete offerings."

AT SHOW Boat 'Arrested' Miles From Sea

LONDON (AP)—It had never happened before in all the centuries of British marine law—a boat was "arrested" miles from the sea, indoors in fact.

It took place Wednesday at the international boat show in London's Earls Court, a giant exhibition center.

The arresting officer, a representative of the 60-year-old admiralty marshal's office, had either in one of the East European capitals or Moscow, the sources said.

His way was barred at the turnstile until he had paid the required five shillings—60 cents—admission fee to the exhibition. Then he found he couldn't pay the fee, and the boat was "arrested" until he did.

The detained boat is the ocean-going racing sloop Magnifik Midget, valued at $4,620. It was put on show by a Swedish firm. A court writ accompanying the arrest warrant claimed that $18,544 is owing to a firm of British boatbuilders.

Said the admiralty marshal's representative: "I shall leave the boat here until the show closes Saturday. After that I don't know what we'll do."

Slaton Students Get Half-Day Off Today

Slaton (Special)—Slaton public school students get a half-day breather today as teachers of the system work to determine mid-term grades.

Slaton pupils have been busy since Wednesday taking final exams for the fall semester. Tests continue until noon today.

The announcement that classes will be dismissed this afternoon was made by Supt. Dr. F. L. Vardy. Classes will resume at 8:45 a.m. Monday.

AFTER JOHNSON'S PROPOSALS

John C. Taxpayer Must Be Confused Over 'New Ideas'

BY STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the case of John C. Taxpayer, whose middle name is Confused.

He got an income tax cut in 1964 and a follow-up reduction in 1965. Excise taxes were cut last year, then cut some more on Jan. 1.

The take-home portion of John Taxpayer's weekly wage looked more robust than it had in years. It looked somewhat less so in the first paycheck after New Year's, when John found that his Social Security tax deduction had jumped 60 per cent from a year ago.

It looked even less robust after John and his wife Thelma listened to President Johnson's State of the Union message Wednesday night.

John Taxpayer devoted only 100 words to tax recommendations, but the words left Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer bemused. Although the President had not called for the general tax increase which some had predicted, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer found their tax prospects further deteriorated.

It was quite a surprise. They had just received, along with their phone bill for December, a printed leaflet from the telephone company congratulating them on the telephone excise tax savings they would henceforth enjoy each month.

The 10 per cent tax was cut to 3 per cent. That meant a saving of $10 telephone bill.

The congratulations, it seemed, might be premature. Wasn't the President asking Congress to rescind the tax cut, restoring the rate to 10 per cent? He was, indeed.

John and Thelma would get their $10 back, of course, in early 1967, by the refund route. But in the meantime they wouldn't have the use of the

Grains Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn and soybeans were in fairly good demand most of the time again and led a generally steady to firm grain futures market.

After having been ahead about three cents a bushel at the extreme, however, soybeans came under increased profit selling as prices declined somewhat the peaks in the early afternoon. Exporters again were active buyers of corn, presumably to fill bookings of more than 2 million bushels.

Scattered speculative support imported a little firmness to wheat. Dealers said trade in that grain, though, was slow and mixed after the first several minutes.

John C. Taxpayer Must Be Confused Over 'New Ideas'

BY STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the case of John C. Taxpayer, whose middle name is Confused.

He got an income tax cut in 1964 and a follow-up reduction in 1965. Excise taxes were cut last year, then cut some more on Jan. 1.

The take-home portion of John Taxpayer's weekly wage looked more robust than it had in years. It looked somewhat less so in the first paycheck after New Year's, when John found that his Social Security tax deduction had jumped 60 per cent from a year ago.

It looked even less robust after John and his wife Thelma listened to President Johnson's State of the Union message Wednesday night.

John Taxpayer devoted only 100 words to tax recommendations, but the words left Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer bemused. Although the President had not called for the general tax increase which some had predicted, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer found their tax prospects further deteriorated.

It was quite a surprise. They had just received, along with their phone bill for December, a printed leaflet from the telephone company congratulating them on the telephone excise tax savings they would henceforth enjoy each month.

The 10 per cent tax was cut to 3 per cent. That meant a saving of $10 telephone bill.

The congratulations, it seemed, might be premature. Wasn't the President asking Congress to rescind the tax cut, restoring the rate to 10 per cent? He was, indeed.

John and Thelma would get their $10 back, of course, in early 1967, by the refund route. But in the meantime they wouldn't have the use of the withholding rates for personal income taxes and speed the collection of corporate taxes. Those are money raising measures which would increase the sums the government has on hand.

No Target Date Set

Fowler estimated overall revenue increases from the entire package at $4.8 billion during the government bookkeeping year that begins next July 1. The Treasury set no target date for the excise tax boosts, but figured government revenues on the basis of an April 1 date for the higher telephone levy and March 15 for the automobile tax boost.

The speedup in corporate tax collections was sought by April 15, the withholding rate boosts by May 1.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.) said the accelerated collection of personal and corporate taxes "will not strengthen the long-run soundness of fiscal policy."

$1.8 Billion Deficit Seen
"It may help to make the deficit look smaller in fiscal year 1967," said the Virginia, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee. "But a given tax can only be collected once, and earlier collection will only increase the deficit in the succeeding fiscal year, when government spending may be even higher than in fiscal 1967."

Johnson estimated revenues for the new budget year at $111 billion and forecast a $1.8 billion deficit.

Robertson said that is an unprecedented jump in the government's forecasts of its income.

At the White House, press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson plans a stream of separate messages to Congress, spelling out in detail the broad proposals of his State of the Union address.

Budget Due Jan. 24
He said Johnson's $112.8 billion budget will go to Capitol Hill Jan. 24, and the annual economic report on Jan. 27. In addition, he said, there will be special messages on topics including civil rights, transportation, health, education, foreign aid, government reorganization, highway safety, and city problems.

Lawmakers on both sides of the Capitol are still voicing their views on the Johnson address.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) "I think the goals are excellent and commendable. If the war in South Vietnam continues, I'm not sure the economy can take all of them."

Rep. Winfield K. Denton (D-Ind.) "I am glad to head that the 'Great Society' program will be carried on and that the economic health of the United States can afford it."

Scott A. Skeptic (Sen. Frank E. Moss (D-Utah)) "Our national productivity has increased sufficiently to where we can carry our military burdens and continue to attack our domestic problems."

Sen. Alan Bible (D-Nev.) "He has posed a broad and sweeping domestic program that will need a long, hard examination by the Congress."

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) "I certainly support the President's Vietnam policy but I cannot understand how he plans to carry it out without strain of stress on, or leakage from, the domestic economy."

Loan Rate
The minute you raise the interest rate, that ups the monthly payment by the buyers. A certain number who are already just marginal would be eliminated automatically. In this area especially it might have a pretty serious effect because sales are slow as it is."

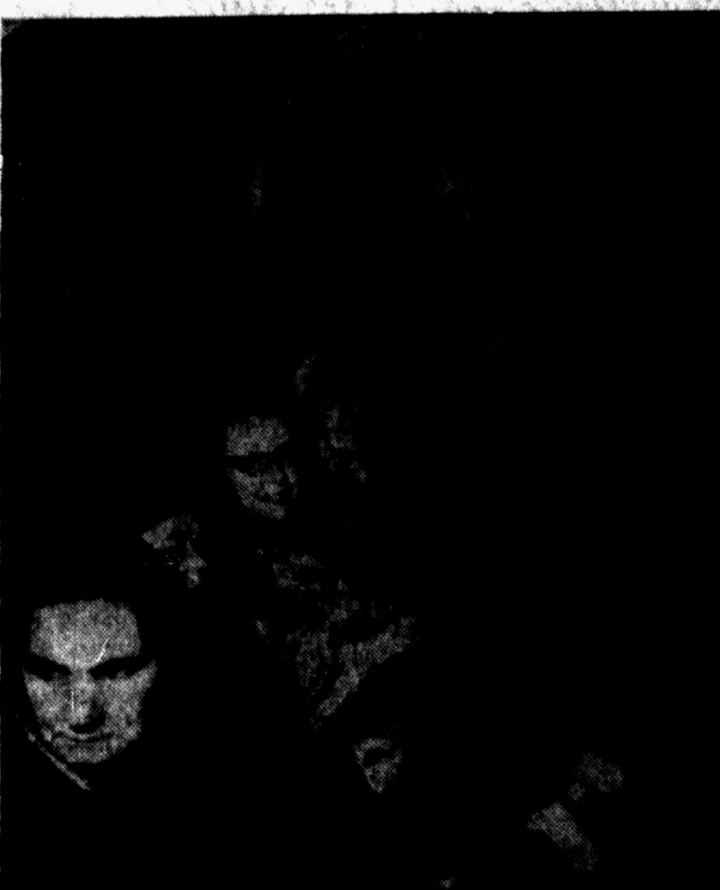

John S. Correll, director of the Georgia Institute of Real Estate, said much would depend on the size of the interest rate. But, he noted, the last time the rate went up, under the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration, building of houses slowed greatly.

Fears One - Third Cut
A spokesman for a construction firm in Los Angeles said "We're planning to go completely FHA this year, and it would be very bad. It might cut us down by one-third."

George Arguilla Jr., president of the Home Builders Assn. of Chicago, said a boost in the interest rate would certainly "have some effect on retarding sales, it always has in the past and there is no reason to assume it would not in the future."

But David E. Todd, secretary-business manager of the Building and Construction Trades Council of Kansas City, commented: "I don't think it will have great effect on buying immediately — it's just another of the price increases that have become a trend."

Bertman Druker, a Boston real estate man, had another opinion. "A higher interest rate will attract more money to FHA loans, which are attractive already because they are backed by the federal government," he said. "That means that more housing money will be available at what will probably be only a slight increase in the rate."

WHEELS ROLL AGAIN IN NEW YORK—Passengers ride in a Second Avenue Bus in New York City today shortly after the transit strike was ended with the reaching of an agreement by the Transit Authority and the Transit Workers Union (TWU). It was one of the first busses to operate since Jan. 1 when the strike was called by the union. Subways were to roll later in the day. (AP Wirephoto)

Porter said he had heard only one shot and that sounded like a small caliber gun. Officers said the woman told them she had thrown the gun out of the car a short distance from the scene of the shooting, but a search of the area Thursday night failed to produce the weapon.

City, Area Weather

Mostly fair weather and slightly warmer temperatures are due to spread over Lubbock and the South Plains again today.

Forecasters at the U. S. Weather Bureau Station, Lubbock Municipal Airport, said the mercury would rise to near 50 this afternoon under clear skies. Southerly winds up to 20 miles an hour also are forecast.

Temperatures peaked at 53 degrees Thursday after an overnight low of 28. Tonight's low is expected to be in the upper 20s.

Macrus said at the luncheon the Peruvian ambassador was in Lubbock because this area had been one of the most powerful in producing backing for the organization.

Various civic groups in Lubbock already have assisted the Texas Partners of the Alliance in cooperation with the country of Peru. Dr. Pastor said here he was aware of the contributions of the Lubbock area.

The Exchange Club here furnished work tools for a vocational school in Peru. Also, the Lubbock Jaycees arranged for obtaining, rolling and shipping a large amount of cable to the Peruvian village for a bridge. This cable allowed the villagers to report to their fields for work each day without a lengthy detour around a deep chasm.

"There is a great need for this type of assistance," the visiting ambassador pointed out here.

affairs, is a part owner and treasurer-director of the Los Angeles Rams football team and is the president of the Los Angeles Angels baseball club.

Police gave this account of the kidnaping attempt: "At 6:20 p.m. today a black sedan pulled up in front and two large men emerged and advanced to the door. One was wearing a Halloween mask over his face and the other wore a hat pulled down over his eyes. They rang the doorbell."

The officers looked out of the windowpane and saw that one man had a gun in his hand and the other had two guns in his hands. The man with the mask had a sack, which we found out later contained several rolls of adhesive tape."

Identities Known
The officers opened the door and the man with the mask rushed in with drawn gun. The officers opened fire. The first man dropped at the door, the other fell backward."

Hankins said that the identity of the kidnapers was known before the attempt, but that detectives were not able to locate them before Thursday night.

Hankins was asked why the police opened fire, and replied: "Because the past records of the suspects indicated no chances should be taken."

Hankins said both men had long records for burglary, robbery and robbery with violence. Hankins said detectives weren't sure exactly how much ransom was to be asked, but officers said a paper found in Bailey's wallet had two figures: $2 million and $8 million.

Kept In Touch
"About 10 days ago we found the victim was to be Mr. Leonard Firestone. At that time we contacted Mr. Firestone and made arrangements to have him move out of his home and go into hiding. We have been in touch with his hiding place every day," Hankins explained.

No members of the family were at home at the time of the kidnap attempt, officers said. Firestone's wife, Polly, died a year ago.

Firestone has two sons, Kimball and Anthony, and a daughter, Lendy. His brothers are Harvey S. Firestone Jr., chairman of the board of the rubber company, and Raymond C. Firestone, president of the Firestone Plastics Co. and Firestone Synthetics Co.

WAGE CALLED 'INFLATIONARY'

New York Strike Settled, But Agreement Terms Hit

the guideposts" and "the Transit Authority had no choice but to accept."

The Transit Authority declined comment on Johnson's news conference statement.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said, "Mayor Lindsay did everything in his power to see that the strike was settled within the guidelines."

Wage increases granted transit workers amounted to 4 per cent this year and 11 per cent next year, a total of 15 per cent. Present wages range from $2.75 an hour for change-booth clerks to $3.46 for subway motormen.

Losses Far Above Cost
A roar above ground and a rumble beneath heralded the restoration of service to 800 miles of subway and bus lines after the first total tie-up of city transit in New York's history.

Losses of $500 million to $800-million during the municipal crisis were grievous, and strike settlement terms placed the 15-cent transit fare in jeopardy.

But 8 million footsore New Yorkers hailed with jubilation the end of the mammoth tieup.

Peace terms were drawn up by a three-man team of nationally known mediators, although Lindsay hailed the agreement as a triumph for collective bargaining. The cost to the city was estimated at from $52 million to $70 million over two years.

Another Traffic Jam
The strike ended before dawn and by noon subways and buses were reported on schedule on nearly all lines.

Conductor John T. Downes, 59, aboard one of the first subway trains to roll, said: "It sure feels good. It was the first strike and I hope the last."

However, Manhattan underwent another big traffic jam as motorists poured to work before the resumption of transit service.

Quill Freed
With the strike over, Michael J. Quill, president of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union, was released from imprisonment as were eight other strike leaders jailed for contempt. Quill remained in Bellevue Hospital, where he was taken two hours after being jailed. But the bills for his $48 a day hospital room and for extensive treatment as a "cardiac patient" were no longer being picked up by the city.

Quill's wife emerged Thursday night from a long visit with her husband with this quote from the union leader: "For the first time in New York City history, this contract heralds the end of serfdom for transit workers."

A little while later it was learned that Quill had been discharged from Bellevue Hospital at 9 p.m.

Also dropped was a $322,000 a day damage claim brought by the city to see the station disappear as it was a longtime landmark.

In fact, some of the Bledsoe residents offered to purchase the station from Hemmie, but his plans were already made and he couldn't be persuaded to change his mind.

But he said, "The citizens of Bledsoe will always be welcome if they wish to come to Lubbock and visit the station."

Hard To Move
Although the station hasn't been used for several years, Hemmie found painted under the eaves. "Painted two coats, Pittsburgh, 1963."

Hemmie considers it a stroke of good fortune that he was able to buy the station and cites the fact it was up for sale for several years.

"It was so far away from everywhere and there was so much work involved in the moving, that I imagine it made a man think before he would buy it," Hemmie said.

MRS. KENNEDY PERMANENT MEMBER

12 Best Dressed Women Are Named

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy was named to the Fashion Hall of Fame on Thursday, but her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, who often shared honors with her on the annual best-dressed lists, missed out in the 1965 lineup. The announcement of the 1965 international list of best-dressed women in the world gave the No. 1 position, customarily held by Mrs. Kennedy, to a newcomer, Mrs. Carter Burden, 22, of New York, wife of a Columbia University law student and daughter of Mrs. William Paley, herself a member of the Fashion Hall of Fame. The list, primarily made up of members of wealthy, socially prominent families, also included Barbara Streisand, Brooklyn-born actress and singer who in 1965 wore a dress designed by her. The elevation of Jacqueline Kennedy, the former First Lady, and five others — including her friend, Mrs. Charles Wrightman of New York and Palm Beach — to the Fashion Hall of Fame, made way for some new names on the list, which is chosen by a committee from votes cast by perhaps 2,500 fashion experts from around the world. Mrs. Liberman Savitt, Mrs. Leonard Bernstein, Jeanne Crozier, Murray Vanderbilt and Mrs. Cherto Agnelli. Six women in the fashion profession also received Fashion Hall of Fame ratings: Sybil Connolly, Irish fashion designer; Endi (Mrs. Irai Haupt), publisher of Seventeen magazine; Mrs. S.I. Newhouse, wife of the publisher; Geraldine Stutz (Mrs. David Gibbs), president of the New York store, Henri Bendel; Anita Colby, former cover girl and author of books on beauty and dress; and Princess Irene Galitzine, Rome fashion designer. After Mrs. Burden, the former Amanda Mortimer, the list proceeds in this order: Mrs. Alfred Gayne Vanderbilt, New York; Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, New York; the former Anne and Charlotte Ford who recently became Mrs. Giancarlo Uzielli and Mrs. Stavros Niarchos, mother of the late president; Mrs. Kirk Douglas, Los Angeles; Mrs. Angus Ogilvy, the former Princess Alexandra of Kent, London; Mrs. Charles Engelhard, wife of the mining magnate, New Jersey; Mrs. York and South Africa; Mrs. William McCormick Blair, wife of the U.S. ambassador to the Philippines; Princess Luciana Pignatelli, Rome; and Princess Paola of Belgium, Italian-born wife of the Belgian crown prince. The Ford sisters were listed as one entry, for the second year. Said a committee spokesman: "Their taste is identical, representing the best of the young international way of dressing." Besides Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Wrightman, the new members of the permanent, noncompetitive Fashion Hall of Fame are Queen Margot of Thailand; Dame Margot Fonteyn, British ballet star; Mrs. Gilbert Miller, wife of the New York and London theatrical producer and Dina Merrill, actress. Recipient Votes Princess Radziwill, who was on the 1964 list with her sister, received numerous votes but didn't make the final list of 12. Neither did Mrs. Paul Mellon of Upperville, Va., wife of the industrialist and art collector; Mrs. Alfred Bloomingdale of Beverly Hills; Mrs. Stanley Denen (former Adele) Lady Beatty of London. Other top contenders were Princess Ira Frenzenberg, Mrs. Graham Martin, Mrs. Vincente Minnelli.

New Course In 'Drinking' For Schools Urged

NEW YORK (AP) — A Harvard University psychiatrist proposes that a new course be taught in the nation's schools and colleges — "practice drinking." The psychiatrist, Dr. Morris Chafetz, told a conference Wednesday on "Alcohol and Food in Health and Disease" that the purpose of the course would be to instruct young people how to drink socially under supervised conditions. "Alcohol is here today," he said, "and people must learn to develop a healthy attitude toward it." Chafetz suggested that "practice drinking" be initiated at very early age, in elementary school, and continue through college. He said that the young children should be given very weak drinks at first, perhaps sherry in water, with the alcoholic content gradually increased for the older students. Chafetz, an assistant clinical professor of psychiatry at Harvard, is also director of the Alcohol Clinic and Acute Alcohol Psychiatric Service of Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. He told the conference that the home is not the place to teach youngsters how to hold their liquor because many parents have guilt feelings about their own drinking. In school, he said, the young people could be instructed on the hazards of improper use of alcohol. Chafetz contended that the drinking would not encourage heavy consumption but would reduce it because there would be fewer heavy drinkers. By drinking small amounts with others, he said, the young would learn how to form relationships and derive a sense of relaxation and well-being from the experience.

Services Monday For Mrs. Moon

PLAINVIEW (Special) — Funeral for Mrs. Maggie Burl Moon, 77, former resident here, will be at 2 p.m. Monday in Lemons Memorial Chapel with Dr. Marshall Rhoads, pastor of Plainview First Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Plainview Cemetery under direction of Lemons Funeral Home. The body will arrive here by rail Saturday. Contents Of House Destroyed By Fire

Flames gutted the home of Arthur Babb, 1509 E. 16th St., shortly after noon Thursday, destroying all the contents and charring the interior of the house. Firemen received the call about 2 p.m., but said the fire was well under way when the fire truck arrived. Babb said Thursday night that he had been working when the fire broke out, and that his wife had come to pick up a baby stroller before she went to work. He estimated damage to work property at about $1,000. Firemen described it as a total loss. Neither Babb nor the fire department had any idea how the blaze started, but an investigation was being made Thursday. The house was owned by J. W. Ivey, 4709 Ave. C.

Panel Discusses Community Arts

"The Role of Fine Arts in the Community" was the subject of a panel discussion held in the Reddy Room at Monterey Center Thursday before an audience of approximately 50 persons. All phases of community cooperation between the multiple phases of arts and entertainment in the city and on the Texas Tech and Lubbock Christian College campus were covered by the panel and audience and plans were discussed for the formation of a coordinating Fine Arts Council in the future, which would help alleviate conflicting dates and give mutual aid and benefit to each other in the pursuance of fine arts activities. Introductory remarks were made by Mrs. Dorris Jeanne Smith, president of the sponsoring Theatre Guild of the Lubbock Theatre Centre and by Mrs. David Keay, chairman of the meeting. The panel members included Jack Sheridan, Avantage Journal's arts editor, as moderator; Carl Gandy, manager of the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium-Coliseum; Mrs. Dorothy Pijan, program director of the Texas Tech Student Union; Mrs. Vera Simpson, representing the Tech speech department; Mrs. June Bearden, speech head at Lubbock Christian College; Dr. Harold Simpson, chairman of the Tech Artists Course series; Mrs. Burt French, representing the Lubbock Theatre Centre; and Walter Windsor, past president of the LTC.

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT SURPRISES, MYSTIFIES UNION LEADERS

Anti-Strike Proposal Viewed As Move To Help LBJ Fulfill Pledges To Labor

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's surprise anti-strike proposal was viewed Thursday as a probable move to help him fulfill his pledges to organized labor.

And it could lead to a new law empowering the President to order strikers back to work while a special emergency board strives for a settlement, well-informed sources said.

Meaning Not Clear
But, Johnson made clear in his State of the Union speech Wednesday night, this would be done only in strikes which threaten irreparable damage to the national interest.

Beyond that, no one seems sure just what he had in mind. Johnson delivered the strike proposal like a fast ball whizzing past the startled eyes of labor leaders and all but an inner circle of White House advisers.

A spokesman for the 13-million-member AFL-CIO said "we were mystified" by Johnson's statement. He had plenty of company. Members of Congress, government officials and business leaders all seemed puzzled about just what the President had in mind.

For example, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., in his capacity as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, talked Wednesday with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz in an effort to find out what's afoot.

No Legislation Drafted
Powell told reporters afterward that about all he had learned was that no legislation had been drafted. He added he would meet with Wirtz again in a day or two to examine the matter further.

Powell instructed his committee staff to prepare a study on the laws of the 50 states dealing with the right of public employees to strike. This was done, Powell's assumption, that Johnson's request traces to the just-concluded transit strike which crippled New York City.

Speculation on the anti-strike proposal went this way in highly responsible quarters: Johnson proposed it as an answer to critics who oppose his support of the bill to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The repeal of 14B is in trouble, said a knowledgeable official. Johnson reiterated Wednesday night his support of the repeal measure, apparently for the benefit of labor leaders who have become increasingly restive since the filibuster led by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois last year blocked it.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Thursday the week of Jan. 24 had been tentatively set for renewal of debate on the House-passed bill to wipe out 14B. This section of the Taft-Hartley Act permits states to outlaw union shop contracts under which union membership is made a condition for retaining a job. Nineteen states have such bans. In announcing plans to resume the struggle, Mansfield

CITY LEADERS PROUD OF RECORD

Negro Students Assert Tuskegee Council Drags Feet On Demands

By REX THOMAS
TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — Negro students say Tuskegee's biracial City Council is dragging its feet on civil rights. And until their demands are fulfilled, they say street demonstrations will continue.

But the council, which includes two Negroes among its five members, claims an unprecedented record of progress in tearing down the racial barriers in the 15 months since it took office.

"I don't see how any community could move any faster without causing trouble among the white residents," says Councilman J. Allen Parker, a bank president.

Dr. Stanley Hugh Smith, a faculty member at Tuskegee Institute and one of the two Negro council members, disagrees that the city could not have done more. But, he says, "We are proud of what we have been able to accomplish in the space of a little over a year."

What has the city done? It's a matter of record, says Mayor Charles M. Keever, that the 10-man police force includes three Negro officers who, unlike Negro police in some Southern cities, are under orders to arrest white law violators as well as members of their own race.

Police have been forbidden to use the word "nigger" in the performance of their duty. They must address Negroes as "Mr." and "Mrs."

NEWS BRIEFS

Lubbock County Heart Association board member and executive committeemen will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Courtesy Room, Plains National Bank, College Avenue and 50th Street.

Soim C. Huff, 3710 43rd St., who was critically injured in a head-on auto collision Dec. 2 near Bridgeport, remained in satisfactory condition today in University Hospital here. Mrs. Huff also was hurt in the mishap but was dismissed from the Lubbock hospital about three weeks ago. Huff is a cotton buyer.

Firemen Thursday pegged spontaneous combustion as the cause of a fire which extensively damaged 4,000 tons of cottonseed hulls at Plains Co-Op Oil Mill, 2301 Ave. A, on Wednesday. Firemen watched over the blackened hulls throughout Wednesday night and removal of the soaked hulls was underway at the mill Thursday. Fire which broke out about noon Wednesday smoldered for more than three hours.

Funeral services for Elam Hall, 65, of Abilene, whose wife is the former Mrs. Mabel George of Lubbock will be at 10:30 a.m. today in the Westgate Church of Christ at Abilene. Burial will be in Oddfellow Cemetery in Abilene under direction of North Funeral Home. Hall died Wednesday morning after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Twenty students in an advanced oil painting class at Texas Tech are exhibiting 50 paintings at Municipal Garden and Arts Center, 4215 College Ave., today through Jan. 20. Hugh Gibbons, instructor, is co-ordinator of the showing sponsored by Lubbock Art Association.

The public is invited to attend a 30-minute film and display of original objects in a program, "Arts and Crafts of Mexico," at Municipal Garden and Arts Center, 4215 College Ave., at 3 p.m. Sunday. No admission will be charged, according to Dorothy Gay Irwin, program director of Lubbock Art Association.

Officers of the board will be elected at 2 p.m. today when directors of Lubbock County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 meet at the administrative building at Buffalo Springs Lake. Additionally, the five directors will canvass returns from today's election of directors and conduct routine business.

C. W. Jester, 18, 118 Vernon, was admitted to Methodist Hospital about noon Thursday for treatment of a leg injury suffered when some angle iron fell on him at the APBM Inc. building, 1st and Waco. He was listed in fair condition Thursday night.

SUPPORTS VIET NAM POLICY

Tower Lists Disagreements With President's Address

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John G. Tower (R-Tex.) listed specific Thursday in which he said he disagreed with recommendations made by President Johnson in Wednesday night's State of the Union address.

At the same time, Tower reiterated his support of the President's policy of continuing U.S. support of South Viet Nam.

Tower said he was "most disappointed" that Johnson called for elimination of state right-to-work laws. He also said he would oppose any efforts to destroy the right of workers to strike the substitution of free collective bargaining for compulsory federal arbitration.

Tower gave this point-by-point summation of his reaction to the speech: "Trade with Communist nations. We should not increase trade nor grant trade benefits to Communist nations which are supporting the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong in the attack upon South Viet Nam's independence and the killing of American boys."

"Trial by jury — The trial by jury is a basic American freedom. We must be very careful not to damage that right."

"Called Unnecessary — Department of transportation. This is unnecessary and could prove fantastically bad. The President once talked of streamlining the executive branch, but now he seeks a proliferation of vastly expensive new bureaucracies."

"House terms. The two-year term should be preserved. The House of Representatives is the legislative body closest to the people. Times are moving so fast that it is vitally necessary for the American people to have the chance to pass upon their government's actions every two years. A House elected only in presidential-election years would become totally subservient to the executive."

"Increased taxes — This seems unnecessary. It envisions the shortest tax reduction of all history if last year's tax cut is now to be negated. Reimposing the telephone and automobile excise taxes will bring in very limited revenues and will strike hardest at those Americans who use these necessities every day. Cutbacks in presently wasted funds can easily match the revenue this tax increase would bring in."

"Says Meaning Unclear — Federal unemployment system — The President did not spell out exactly what he means. I believe the states must retain their participation in this vital program so that it can be most effectively administered."

"Minimum wage — Any sizeable minimum wage increase or extensive expansion of coverage well could prove destructive of both jobs and small business at a time when our nation needs all the jobs it can get."

"Right to strike — I will oppose efforts to destroy the right of workers to strike. If the President proposes to substitute compulsory federal arbitration for the free collective bargaining process, he would destroy free bargaining between management and labor, something neither party wants."

AT FARWELL

Arguments Set Today In Area Slaying Trial

FARWELL (Special) — The murder trial of Bernardo Salcido, 26-year-old Muleshoe man, moves into its third day today with closing arguments scheduled to begin when 15th District Court resumes activities at 9:30 a.m.

Salcido is accused in the shooting deaths of his 21-year-old wife, Guadalupe, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Duran Murillo, 41, last March 31. He is being tried in the death of his wife.

Both sides rested their cases Thursday after defense attorneys paraded 11 character witnesses to the stand after the defendant testified for more than six hours.

Shot During Argument — Dist. Atty. Jack Young, Muleshoe, called 18 witnesses before resting Thursday morning.

The jury was retired about 9 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Salcido and her mother were shot to death during a family argument at the home of Esteban Hernandez on the Dargan Kirk farm near here.

Both victims were shot in the head with a .38 caliber pistol.

Salcido, his wife, two children and Mrs. Murillo had just arrived at the Hernandez home when the shooting occurred.

Eye-Witness To Shooting — Mrs. Hernandez, an eye-witness to the shooting, testified Wednesday. She said she was alone in the house when the group arrived in separate cars. Salcido alone in one and the other, traveling in the other vehicle.

She said the adults were quarreling and the squabble continued as they went inside the house, where the shooting happened. Mrs. Hernandez said she ran outside.

Salcido was arrested the following day at Carlsbad, N.M., after a gun battle with policeman Gary Kennedy, who suffered a bullet wound in the shoulder.

Judge Pat Boone Jr., Littlefield, is presiding.

Leaders Meet In India For Almost Two Hours

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sec. of State Dean Rusk met with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Thursday for a long discussion, presumably on the possibility of peace negotiations in Viet Nam. There were hints the talks made some progress.

They met for an hour and 50 minutes, far longer than expected. Asked about the meeting by an Indian government official before leaving for Washington, Humphrey said: "We had a visit we hope was of some help." A high-ranking source said the talks "were not disappointing."

There were these other developments:

The Soviet government paper Izvestia said President Johnson's State of the Union message meant "the United States intends to continue war by means of arms to impose its will on the Vietnamese people."

In its first comment, Peking radio said the speech showed "clearly that the U.S. government's peace offensive is nothing but a smokescreen to cover up its scheme for a wider war." The Red Chinese charged that the President's references to preventing the spread of nuclear weapons meant Washington "will strike more deals with the Soviet Union so that they can maintain their position of nuclear overlord."

Moscow radio declared the Soviet Union is taking all measures to ship modern weapons to North Viet Nam as soon as possible to help defeat U.S. forces.

Alexander N. Shepin arrived in Peking to a cool reception after talks in Hanoi with North Vietnamese leaders, presumably to try to wean them away from Chinese influence. The No. 2 man in the Kremlin was believed to have agreed to increase Soviet military aid.

Rusk sets off for Bangkok, Thailand, today to meet with presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman, who has been explaining Johnson's peace offensive to leaders around the globe.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, leader of the Soviet Communist party, began talks in Mongolia, and Moscow sources said his aim was to fight defenses against Red China. The Chinese in 1964 claimed that Mongolia and 580,000 square miles of Soviet Asia belong to China.

Humphrey declined to discuss the substance of his talks with

Mud, Debris Slides Hit Rio Areas

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — New tragedy struck Rio Thursday when an avalanche of mud and debris smashed a 40-foot wide hole through an apartment house, killing from 18 to 25 persons.

Three trucks on the street in front of the house were crushed. Bodies of three occupants of one truck were recovered. Fifteen workmen who had been cleaning the street were believed dead under the torrent of mud.

Heavy rain continued to fall and authorities rushed evacuation of endangered hillside slum dwellings to avert further loss of life, already estimated in the hundreds.

Nearly 300 bodies had been recovered from mud and debris. Police said casualties among the hundreds of persons reported missing could raise the death toll sharply. An estimated 30,000 were homeless.

U.S. Peace Corps volunteers, 60 of whom are assigned to Rio's slum areas, joined the rescue operations, giving vaccinations against typhus and helping the homeless reach schools and churches turned into emergency centers.

Police roped off the entire hill called Santo Amaro in the heart of the city and ordered all inhabitants out. They said it appeared landslides would occur there at any moment.

They acted after four homes on adjoining Pedro Americo Street collapsed in the span of a few hours. Santo Amaro hill is next to Santa Teresa hill, where other mudslides occurred.

An air force helicopter delivered emergency rations to one block of residences in the area that was cut off on all sides by slides.

Inside Rio, the food shortage was a serious problem.

Man Killed When Truck Turns Over

COLORADO CITY (AP)—Earl Ray Richardson Jr., 22, was killed Thursday when his gasoline truck overturned near this West Texas town.

Richardson was making a delivery to a contractor at the Texas Electric Service Co.'s power plant when the 11:30 a.m. accident occurred.

He was dead on arrival at a Colorado City hospital.

IN VIET NAM Pupils Get Mail From U.S. Troops

By GAYLE NOLL
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Warm letters of appreciation from three soldiers in Viet Nam have arrived in Lubbock for elementary school students who sent Christmas cards to American troops.

One of the letters sent to Mrs. Roy Lee Risner, 5310 45th St., for her third-grade class at Stewart Elementary School, was from Capt. Don E. Brown whose family resides in Lubbock at 4806 45th St.

Capt. Brown's 8-year-old son Jeff is in Mrs. Risner's class, which sent 31-hand-made Christmas cards to the Army officer.

The 31-year-old captain, who is stationed in Quang Tri, Viet Nam, said in his letter: "It was a very pleasant surprise to receive the Christmas cards from your thoughtful students. It was very heart-warming to read the students' notes. Things like this make me happy that I can play some small part in keeping children like them free from what these people are having to endure over here."

The other two letters were sent to Arnett Elementary School for students in Mrs. Richard Hammock's sixth-grade class that sent to Viet Nam a bundle of 24 Christmas cards.

Ricky Urrutia, 13, 1005 N. Ave. H, one of Mrs. Hammock's students, received a letter from Pfc. William S. Ciabattari, who drew Ricky's card out of a stack of mail in Viet Nam.

Ciabattari told Ricky: "I feel I must write you to let you know that I was very happy to be the soldier who

Dalhart Man Robs Bank Of $2,500

DALHART (UPI) — A long-time resident of Dalhart, armed only with a grocery sack, Thursday robbed the Citizens State Bank of $2,500. Police arrested the bandit minutes later in his home, where they found him writing on the bed, suffering from an overdose of nerve pills.

Charged with bank robbery was Charles Archie Floyd, who police said had lived in Dalhart for most of his 25 years.

They said Floyd walked into the bank about 2:45 p. m. and handed a grocery sack to teller Willie Lowe. He told her to fill it up.

She tossed $2,500 into the sack, and Floyd calmly walked out of the bank. Witnesses said Floyd apparently did not Mercedes Belaunde de Pastor, wife of Peru's Ambassador to the United States, was entertained with a coffee Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Marion T. Key, 3007 Mesa Rd.

Mrs. Pastor, who began learning the English language at the age of seven when she spent three years in Miami, Fla., is the sister of Peru's president, Fernando Belaunde Terry, who at one time attended the University of Texas.

She found little trouble conversing with guests at the coffee, which was attended by wives of city officials, wives of the presidents of four civic clubs and wives of the Texas Partners of the Alliance for Progress, host of the couple's tour.

Mrs. Pastor has visited in Texas several times, but never in West Texas, she reported.

However, she chatted easily with the representative West Texas women on such "typical" subjects as the weather—of course, foods and eating, making coffee and the attributes of several Texas cities.

"Someone told me the Americans don't eat very much," she laughed, "but it seems like we've been eating all the time."

She added that she had also been drinking coffee a lot, although it is not so strong as "Peruvian coffee," which is made "drop by drop."

"In Peru we have many ladies luncheons and teas, but not so many 'coffees'—that is more of an American custom."

Mrs. Pastor reported that, in addition to "ladies luncheons" women in Peru are very active in social welfare projects and also participate in politics.

Several Congresswomen "In addition to the women's activities in helping with political campaigns, we have several Congresswomen in Peru, and several women who serve on city councils," she said.

The Ambassador and Mrs. Pastor have been in Washington, D. C., for two years, during which time Mrs. Pastor apparently has become a great "booster" of the U. S. Capitol.

"Everyone is so kind, and so hospitable—I really love it," she said.

The Pastors were accompanied Wednesday night to Houston, final city on their Texas tour, by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shipley, 3005 25th St. Shipley is an executive committee member of the Alliance.

The Ambassador and Mrs. Pastor will return to Washington on Saturday.

Lambda Iota Chapter Sees 'Nature' Program

Lambda Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Wednesday night in the home of Miss Marilyn Miller, 4601 30th St., for a program on "Nature" given by Mrs. Jack Raines, assisted by Mrs. Pike Murphy.

Slides were shown by both women. Mrs. Bill Parrott gave the city council report. The city council newsletter was read.

She also suggested that members visit Gilstown in Whiteface, and bring items usable there.

A letter was received from International, complimenting Mrs. Don Woodman recording secretary.

Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Cam Jordan, 5424 8th St.

2 cups pecans
Scant tsp. vanilla
Cook slowly to soft ball stage on burner. Add pecans and vanilla. Stir a few times, drop on waxed paper on board or marble slab. Loosen before quite dry and turn over. Let dry. Work Quickly!

CHICKEN SPAGHETTI

1 1/2 lb. hen, or canned chicken
1 box spaghetti
2 large dried onions
2 large dried green peppers
1 cup dried celery
1 can diced pimento plus juice
1 can diced mushrooms
1 No. 2 can sieved tomatoes
2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 lb. grated American cheese
Salt, pepper and garlic to taste

Dice chicken; combine with other ingredients and mix well, using some chicken fat. Top with cheese and bake 2 1/2 hours in 350 degree oven. May be frozen and reheated. Save broth to add when reheating. Mrs. Daniel explains that she has kept the dish frozen up to six weeks.

ICE BOX SALAD

1 can evaporated milk
Approximately 2 cups miniature marshmallows
1/2 cup hot water
1/2 cup nuts
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup grated American cheese
Medium can crushed pineapple
Chill milk and whip. Add hot water to marshmallows and heat until half dissolved. Remove and continue beating until entirely dissolved. Add mayonnaise to milk, then dissolved marshmallows and beat until smooth. Add other ingredients and place in suitable container for freezing. Slice to serve.

HARVEST APPLE PIE

6 cups fresh apple slices or 1 can apples
1/2 cup raisins, if desired
1/2 cup sugar
2 tsp. flour
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
Toss apples and raisins with mixture of sugar, flour, and cinnamon. Turn into pastry-lined 9-inch pie pan. Sprinkle Walnut Crunch Topping over

WALNUT CRUNCH TOPPING

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup fine graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 tsp. cinnamon
Dash nutmeg
Combine all ingredients and sprinkle over apple mixture.

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever thought you just have to have a certain electrical appliance, then discovered you didn't like it or use it a tenth as often as you had thought you would? And wished you didn't have the darned thing taking up space, and you had your money back—so that you could buy something you needed more?

My sister and I have found a way to prevent that from happening, and to save some money.

We swap or borrow each other's electrical appliances for a week or 10 days, and find out just how often we use them, and how well we like them.

For instance, they have a small baby, so she borrowed my blender to see whether it was practical for her to buy one—mainly to make baby food. She decided it was.

Dear Heloise:

I thought I wanted an electric knife sharpener, but after borrowing hers for 10 days, I realized there were a dozen things I'd rather spend that money on.

This borrowing idea could apply to many articles—electric can opener, hair dryer, vacuum cleaner, waxer, etc. And, it sure would save on our budgets.

You can bet they've never missed finding a single one, as that is one of the first places they head for!

Mrs. F. R. M.

Dear Heloise:

I never peel potatoes before boiling for salad. The best part of the potato is next to the skin. While the potatoes are still warm, I use a paring knife to skin each one. This saves much of the potato that would ordinarily be thrown away.

If the condiments and dressing (whatever you use) are mixed with the potatoes while they are still warm, they will absorb the flavors. If you wait until they are cold before mixing them, the ingredients will not be absorbed into the potatoes as well.

ANN LANDERS

To Call Or Not To...

Dear Ann Landers: Why don't you keep your nose in your own century, Granny, and stop telling us teen-agers how to live our lives? I am a 17-year-old high school boy who likes to have girls call me on the telephone. If you had your way no girl would ever call a guy on the phone unless she had some important news to tell him, like his house was on fire.

A fellow feels great when chicks call him up. So why don't you stop handing out old-fashioned advice, and start writing a sewing column instead?—Tiger Joe

Dear Joe: If you don't mind I think I'll continue with this column for a while. If I decide to switch to sewing, I know where I can get an extra needle. Read on, Chum:

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 16-year-old girl who wishes you had printed that letter about girls telephoning boys a year ago. This is what happened to me.

A certain fellow I will call Jerry seemed to be paying quite a lot of attention to me in English class. One day (this was about six months ago) he said, "Why don't you call me up tonight?" Like a big dummy I was flattered and said, "Sure."

Well, Ann, I telephoned him and we had a great talk. He asked me to call him again the next night so I did.

I got so I was calling him about four times a week. The conversations seemed to get mushier and mushier. I couldn't figure out why he never asked me out, if he liked me so much.

Then one day my cousin tipped me off. He said, "Why don't you quit calling that phony bum Jerry?" He has been inviting guys over to listen to you gush over him on the extension telephone."

Honestly, Ann, I wanted to die. After that rotten experience I made up my mind I would never telephone a fellow again, no matter what. I never have, and I never will.—Learned a Lot

Dear Learned: Cheers for you Honey. Read what another interested party has to say:

Dear Ann Landers: I was delighted to see you print a letter recently about girls who telephone boys. I hope they will heed your advice.

As a mother of two married sons and a teen-age daughter I can vouch for the wisdom of your counsel.

My sons were both handsome teen-agers, excellent students and good athletes. Our telephone began to ring steadily when the older boy was 16. It rang for six years until the younger son went off to college.

Neither of the boys liked it when girls telephoned them. Their feelings ranged from mild irritation to real annoyance. They were always polite, however, and tried to spare the girls' feelings. One evening the younger boy said to his sister (who was then only 12 years old) "Sis, when you get to thinking about boys, remember one thing. Never pester them on the phone."

When it came time for marriage, both our sons selected lovely girls. These girls never called them on the phone—not even once—until they were engaged.—Happy Mother

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'LITTLE SOMETHING FOR EVERYBODY'

Big Stick At Home But Not In Asia

WHEN PRESIDENT Johnson outlined to his ghost writers that State of the Union message he delivered on Wednesday night, he must have had uppermost in mind the advice given him many times by his great friend and mentor, the late speaker Sam Rayburn.

"Mister Sam's" philosophy covering political addresses basically was this: "Always include a little something for everybody."

Whether Mr. Johnson promised "a little something" or a whale of a lot, is a matter of opinion but, as he ran the scale of his lengthy commentary, he forgot nobody. As one irreverent local observer put it, "he even included teaching algebra to Hottentot Kids—at the expense of the U.S. taxpayer, of course."

The President's decision to urge the Congress to continue full blast with his "Great Society program" may or may not have been entirely his own. Yet in so doing, he surprised no one, since he has been under great pressure of late to insist that we can fight a war in Viet Nam, support much of the world in various activities in a constantly increasing way, and still ladle out more and more subsidies here at home. The Americans for Democratic Action, the other extreme liberals in his own Party and in the GOP as well, the highly organized and vocal Negro groups and, of course, organized labor, have contended for "more and more Great Society, no matter what," and all of them represent big votes to which the President, like most political pros, is most sensitive.

One most disturbing point in the President's address—which might pass unnoticed except through careful study and analysis—was Mr. Johnson's repeated recommendation of more and more Federal power and control over the citizen's daily life. Nearly every suggestion for what he deemed desirable Congressional action carried a requirement of enforcement by way of the Washington Big Stick, relegating both personal liberty and the authority of the States to a still further back row position.

Sensing mounting irritation—if not outright rage—over the New York transit strike, on its last costly legs as the President spoke, Mr. Johnson made one fleeting concession to the view that no small group of headstrong men should be permitted to kick the public around, willy-nilly. He said something ought to be done about that, but he didn't say what. But in the same "package" on labor, he reiterated his pre-election pledge to the AFL-CIO to support the repeal of Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley law, which of course, would give organized labor still another advantage over both business and the ordinary, unorganized citizen.

The somber tone of the message reflected the President's, and the nation's, deep concern over the Viet Nam conflict. There can be no doubt that his re-definition of the American purpose will strengthen his support among the great majority of the people. His "We do not intend to abandon Asia to Communism," and "We fight for the principle of self-determination," and "We do what we must" express the sentiments of a people wishing for peace but unwilling to seek it at the disastrous cost of appeasement of militant Communism.

Yet there are doubts that the strategy in conducting the fighting, with accompanying strategy of trying to force peace negotiations, is the right one. There is deep concern over one aspect of the President's position, that the war might go on for year after year, as the North Vietnamese government has declared it will. His pledge to fight on "as long as aggression commands us to battle" will be pointed out as confirming the criticism that too much "commanding" is being done by the aggressors, that American and South Vietnamese military forces are responding to their enemies' initiative so completely that Hanoi, Peking and Moscow see every advantage in a war of attrition, however long it might take.

This year, and this meeting of the Congress, may see a great disillusionment with the "building of a Great Society" while the nation is unable, or unwilling, to take the steps necessary to achieve its goal in Southeast Asia in a relatively short period of time.

Transit Strike 'Benefits' Uncertain

GREAT EXPECTATIONS have been aroused by the damaging transit strike in New York City.

It should now be possible, because of public outrage, for the Congress to pass legislation effectively curbing the power of union bosses to inflict unnecessary hardships on the general public. The hangover from the stoppage should make it impossible for labor to force repeal by the Senate of the "right-to-work" section of the Taft-Hartley Act. And Mayor John V. Lindsay should be able to boost his national political prestige simply by being in office when the buses and subway trains started rolling again. And so on.

Realistically, however, the expectations are a long way from being certainties. While it is quite obvious that Transit Workers President Michael J. Quill was the villain, two principal background facts are being cited as having a lot to do with the catastrophe. The transit systems were short on funds mostly because of a 15 cent fare termed "totally unrealistic" and "fiscally indefensible" in these days of devaluation of the dollar. And New York City seems not to have a responsible system for fixing wages for its employees. Many of the transit workers were paid less than other employees doing comparable jobs.

Employees of governments have a "built-in" cause in that they are generally not highly paid, and have fewer striking rights, than those in private employment. Besides, they and their friends have votes.

And votes, ready to be cast in this year's Congressional elections could mean a rough time for the protectors of Section 14-B.

Mayor Lindsay's failure to shorten the strike's duration is being sharply criticized by his constituents and by segments of the New York press. Whether he has gained or lost is very much a moot question at present.

"Only one woman in 1,150 now wears black lace panties," says a statistician. Some jobs are far more interesting than others.

A civilized country is one in which the rate of thefts from parked cars is rising

DAVID LAWRENCE:

Biggest War Is Bloodless One Between Russia And Red China

WASHINGTON: The biggest war in the world today is being fought without bloodshed. It is a cataclysmic struggle between Red China and the Soviet Union for mastery of the Communist parties in Asia, Europe, Africa and Latin America. Viet Nam itself is just one of the pawns over whose control Red China and the Soviet Union are playing a desperate game.

Until one or the other of the two Communist adversaries gets the upper hand in Asia, the conflict in Viet Nam—in which the United States is so heavily engaged—will not be settled.

AMERICA'S PEACE offensive is well intentioned, but it ignores the battle going on between Russia and Red China, each of whom is anxious to assert itself in arranging for the future of Viet Nam.

If the United States is to affect the outcome of the game being played by Red China and the Soviet Union, the case must be taken by President Johnson to the court of world opinion. By exposing the aggressive and ambitious programs of the Communist nations, this country can emphasize that the inevitable result will be to embroil the people of Red China and the Soviet Union, as well as the peoples of other continents, in more and more war.

FOR THE MOMENT, the attempt of the United States to get negotiations going for peace in Viet Nam is being overshadowed by the tactics of the Soviet Union against Red China. By sending to North Viet Nam a high-level delegation to promise not only more military aid but financial and economic support, the Soviet Union has aroused the envy of Peking. The Red Chinese have accused Moscow of working secretly to sell out North Viet Nam in a peace settlement, and they insist that the visit to Hanoi by a leading Soviet Communist, Shelepin, was co-ordinated behind the scenes with President Johnson's peace drive.

The North Vietnamese themselves are trying to avoid offending either Red China or the Soviet Union. In the final analysis, however, it is the Russians who will be able to furnish more actual aid to the North Vietnamese and eventually to obtain political control of North Viet Nam. They can then seek a patched-up peace agreement with South Viet Nam, comparable to that which happened in divided Korea.

The Peking government has been accusing the United States and its allies of trying to take over Asia. There's no doubt that Red China feels the effects of America's military operations in Viet Nam and finds it necessary to exhort Asian peoples to join in bolstering the North Vietnamese. But if the Soviet Union should make a deal with the Hanoi government in North Viet Nam, it will be Moscow which will dictate the course of events.

IF THE UNITED States begins to bomb North Viet Nam effectively, the big question is whether the Red Chinese would expect the Russians to take on the burden of supplying the military weapons necessary for reprisal. The more it is apparent that the Viet Nam war is not a simple affair between North and South Viet Nam, but deeply involves Red China and the Soviet Union.

A collateral issue that arises is whether the Moscow government sees the necessity for obtaining control in order to preserve peace, or whether it regards the whole game as a means of finally administering to Red China a humiliating defeat, so that the Soviet Union will emerge as the sole leader of Communism in Asia and hence throughout the world.

THE AMERICAN people have little concern with any dialogue on the merits of Communist ideology, but they are going to be very much affected by the rivalry between the two giants of Communism.

So the real question now is whether the United States should intensify the war or let it drag on for several years while the Russians and Red Chinese strain themselves to the utmost in trying to get control of Asia—a continent that has in it many millions of people who are not ready to become the tools of any Communist autocracy.

Johnson Has Gumshoe

WASHINGTON—When the White House switchboard was ordered three months ago to record the names of all incoming callers, the only unruffled White House staffer was W. Marvin Watson Jr., the Presidential assistant who contrived this unusual tattletale system.

Watson did not even confide his plan to Bill D. Moyers, President Johnson's No. 1 assistant (who is exempted from the monitoring system). Presumably, only Watson and the President knew, and today know, the full reason behind the record-keeping of every outside caller and the assistant he is calling.

ONE ASSISTANT—McGeorge Bundy, the President's outgoing national security expert wrote a non-sensical memo to the President complaining that one of his personal civil rights was the right to receive phone calls in privacy from any one he wanted.

Since then, the Watson system of keeping tabs on White House assistants has expanded. White House chauffeurs now turn in a complete log of every stop they make with a White House aide as passenger, how long the stop takes, the address, what other passengers may be riding with the White House assistant, plus other details.

ANDREW TULLY:

Nugent Job Is Natural

WASHINGTON: I refuse to join the mentally unbalanced who have raised their sanctimonious voices against Lyndon Johnson for finding a good job for his daughter's husband-to-be. They sneer suggest that the President should be indicted for the offense of being human.

Representative Cederberg (R, Mich.) is correct when he states with mealy-mouthed sarcasm that it is obvious Pat Nugent's assignment to an Air Force National Guard clerical job in Washington "was not accidental." Nugent, who volunteered in the reserve training program, got the job because he is going to marry Luci Johnson.

BUT THIS does not mean we should forthwith stretch Lyndon Johnson out on some convenient wreck and then impeach him. The President has done only what comes naturally; he has lent a helping hand to the young people. The fact that he lives in the White House is irrelevant, as it would be if he owned a bank and installed Nugent as cashier.

Nugent joined the Reserves as an alternative to being drafted, along with thousands of other volunteers. The program was set up by the Government years ago to provide trained recruits for the Air National Guard and Reserve. Presumably he will be shipped to Viet Nam if his body is required there; it is unfair to both Nugent and the Johnsons to suggest otherwise.

MEANWHILE, I see no peril to the national interest in Lyndon Johnson's showing the normal interest of a prospective father-in-law in Nugent's career. If a boy is going to marry a man's daughter, then nothing is too good for him. Every day for males in Johnson's position are finding room for their daughters' boy friends in brokerage offices, law firms and oilium dens. They may have reservations about their sons-in-law-to-be, but their main interest lies in making Suzy or Martha happy.

In point of fact, fathers of little girls deserve sympathy, not criticism. In the nature of things, no boy is good enough for a man's daughter and it is a traumatic experience for a father to accept even a church-going, millionaire, Eagle Scout, Ph.D., world's heavyweight champion as a son-in-law. Daughters are too nice to waste on such mediocrities. Contemplating a son-in-law who has just been named man of the year, a father yet will ask himself if Sheila couldn't have done a little better.

I DO NOT know too much about Pat Nugent, but as an expert on daughters I claim Luci Johnson is worthy of any paternal benevolence her Pa can bestow. She seems like a nice, normal girl who likes to go dancing and shoot the feminine equivalent of a little pool. She has danced on no public tables, has wooed no third-rate bullfighters and has refrained from punching head waiters in the snoot. As a nation, we are lucky to have Luci and Lynda Bird living in the White House if only because they have not insisted on being Secretary of State.

Naturally, I do not expect the President to give Pat and Luci Fort Knox for a wedding present, nor even a little old over-aged battleship. Pat would even be somewhat put out if he named Luci Secretary of Defense. But I do not tolerate the premise that because a father happens to be President of the United States he is barred from acting like people. In fact, I think Lyndon Johnson should settle a million or two on the happy couple. Money is more fun when you're young.

STILL ANOTHER source of intelligence, always available but seldom used by other Presidents, is the log at all White House entrances. It records every visitor, from Congressmen to cleaning women. These logs, which used to be filed in a dusty bin, now go to Watson for regular scrutiny.

The reason for all these gumshoe activities is ostensibly Watson's efficiency studies of White House work standards, triggered by President Johnson's well-known drive to reduce expenditures. But Watson's background distorts this drive.

WATSON IS OUT of small-bore big business (assistant to the president of labor-baiting Lone Star Steel Co. before joining the President) and has infused his new job with the enthusiasm of a nit-picking efficiency expert. Time studies, coffee breaks, paper-pushing, and the like were understandable targets for routine efficiency attacks in Watson's earlier world of Lone Star Steel. The White House staff is no assembly line of clock punchers but highly respected experts covering the whole range of public affairs who work with amazing efficiency without overtime and without public praise.

THIS IS FOR WATSON to discover, as he has that one assistant got only eight telephone calls in a 10-hour period or only had three callers in two days is scarcely evidence that that assistant isn't pulling his weight. And yet invidious comparisons like that are becoming a somewhat sour Washington joke.

When the new telephone-monitoring system went into effect we were informed it would last a short time. Its apparent purpose (although no one knew for sure) was only to measure the input of calls to various White House offices in preparation for a new switchboard system. But it immediately put everyone in the White House on notice that Watson could know the identity of every person calling in.

ALTHOUGH BUNDY was the only Presidential assistant audacious enough to put his concern in writing, other White House staffers have felt a certain apprehension that Watson can at any time confront them with a list of every telephone caller from outside and, in fact, construct from other records a fairly complete story of their outside life. It gives them an unpleasant feeling of "big brother" watching.

Whether the President himself is aware of this is an open question. Although he keeps close touch with the comings and goings of his assistants, there is general agreement that Watson's checking up may have gone much farther than the President ever intended.

WATSON, INDEED, is a detail man of formidable dimensions. For instance, he personally has inspected, measured, and approved every small detail of the new guardhouse now being placed at the White House gates.

This attention to detail was fine for Lone Star Steel. In the White House it's out of place. And when it turns into gumshoe tactics, it'd downright demoralizing.

KENNETH DIXON:

Own Labor People Hurt

LAKE CHARLES, La.—Those union leaders who ordered the New York transportation strike might be interested to know that they do not have the support or approval of the rank and file of union laborers in at least some parts of the country.

And since this city has long been known to be, for its size, one of the top two or three most highly organized labor cities in the land, perhaps its reaction to the New York transit strike carries some importance.

THERE ARE several reasons for the reaction, but the chief one seems to be that the strike is hurting union labor's own people.

Said one local labor leader: "A handful of men have thrown hundreds of thousands of men and women out of work, because they couldn't get to their jobs. Sure, it hurts the companies some, but most of the companies—at least the big ones—can stand the cost. They'll make it back later. "But a great many of the workers will lose their wages because they can't get to the jobs and they're not even connected with the strike. And when that happens their families go hungry."

TWO THINGS should be pointed out here. One is that local union leaders seem to be in favor of the principle behind the strike. They think the New York transit workers deserve more pay. It is just that they don't think they should get it at the expense of so many fellow workers.

The second is that they have been in contact with friends and relatives in the New York area who, although they are not connected with the strike directly, needed financial help because they couldn't get to work.

THIS IS relatively a small city, but you might be surprised to know how much money has gone from here to help out those in the New York area who couldn't get to work. When you live under today's hand-to-mouth economy even the loss of a week's wages can become a calamity. So what do the local union labor leaders suggest?

"Well, for one thing," says a college-educated man who has long been active in local unions, "the first principle is that you don't devour one another. You don't pull a strike for the benefit of one or two men when it will throw hundreds of other men and women out of work."

THAT IS what appears to have happened in this case.

Asked what he would have done if he had been in charge of the Transport Workers Union, he hesitated a long time before answering. "That is hard to say," he finally replied. "But I think I would have ordered a stop-work for an hour or two at a time each day. That way, the transit companies would have gotten the idea as to what could be done, and the whole thing might have been settled over the conference table."

BUT HE LEAVES no doubt that he does not approve of the total shutdown—and he is far from being alone in his opinion. As far as his fellow union members are concerned, "You figure out a way to bargain without hurting the other workers who are not involved," he says. "There's always a way. But you don't have to throw hundreds of thousands of people who are on your side out of work. That is what they have done up there."

GUEST EDITORIALS:

For Safer Tires

THE RUBBER Manufacturers Association, which includes the country's 17 makers of automobile tires, has established higher safety standards for passenger car tires in an attempt to head off Federal legislation. The standards are considerably more stringent than those set only a year ago, and they ought to contribute to safer highway travel.

There is something to the industry's contention that automobile manufacturers and the public have a responsibility in this matter, and we should add that tire retailers do also. Auto makers have the responsibility of selecting the proper tires for particular vehicles, and so do dealers. A cheap lightweight tire that is suitable for a small sedan may be lethal on a station wagon. There are nearly 1,000 brand names for replacement tires, so the name is an inadequate standard.

What is needed is a strict and accurate grading system indicating that tires carrying certain designations have certain characteristics related to speed, weight of the vehicle and road condition. A large safety margin is necessary to take care of excess speed, overloading of the machine and unexpected road obstructions. It might be desirable to establish an inspection system to keep cars with badly worn tires off fast interstate highways.

In many cases the final responsibility is that of the individual motorist, but he first must be provided with an accurate measure of his tires' capability. If the manufacturers can accomplish what is needed without Federal laws, so much the better. If not, the Government will have to step in, and may do so in any event. The Government has an obligation to see that motorists who travel federally-financed roadways do so in as much safety as possible.—(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Turning Point

A MOST depressing attitude about the War on Blackbirds is that hardly anybody believes man is winning, or even can win, especially at the present level of effort. Some people are even cynical. Last March when Congress was considering the annual appropriation bill for research into the control of blackbirds and starlings, UPI reported on the debate:

Representative H. R. Gross (Rep., Ia.) said he had heard that a government-financed researcher once had "died a bunch of sparrows' pastel colors" to see what the effect would be.

"Maybe we ought to do that for the blackbirds," Gross said. "Then they might disappear like the money for that study on the sparrows did."

Our purpose in recalling Mr. Gross's words is to demonstrate how low the country's morale has sunk during the long struggle. Against this fatalistic background the full significance of the Pulaski County Audubon Society's 12th annual bird count over the week end can be understood. The report says the county has 8 million fewer blackbirds this year than at the same time last year. While others may point out that 36 million blackbirds remain we choose to take the optimistic view. We see in the decrease a turning point in the War and especially want it noted so that in some future year when man achieves the final victory all will remember that the beginning of the end was first reported right here in the heart of Arkansas.—(Arkansas Gazette)

Kosygin, U.S. officials said orders had been issued against the release of any information until after Humphrey reports to Johnson.

"Courtesy Call" Tass, the Soviet news agency, said only that Humphrey and Rusk made a courtesy call on Kosygin and "had a talk on questions of interest to both sides."

The trip by Humphrey, Rusk and Kosygin to attend Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's funeral set the stage for the meeting. It took place in the Soviet Embassy compound.

Humphrey is the highest ranking American to carry on the Viet Nam peace offensive launched last month by Johnson.

Izvestia's comment on Johnson's State of the Union address was viewed by diplomatic sources in Moscow as an indication the President had got across his message that the United States means business in Viet Nam.

"They said the Johnson administration wants to be certain the Soviet Union will not urge further Viet Cong resistance in the belief the United States will give up in Viet Nam."

"All those concerned with the dangerous developments in Southeast Asia looked for evidence of U.S. readiness to take real steps toward the cessation of armed aggression in Viet Nam," Izvestia said. "But the decisive thing in the message turned out to be an assertion by Johnson that Americans do not intend to leave Viet Nam."

The Moscow radio broadcast on arms for North Viet Nam was beamed eastward in the Japanese language, probably destined to convince Asians of Soviet determination to stick with the North Vietnamese.

"All available aid will be extended to North Viet Nam to defeat the U.S. aggressors," the broadcast said.

The broadcast was a commentary on Shelepin's visit to Hanoi and talks with President Ho Chi Minh. Informed sources in Moscow said Shelepin and the weapons experts on his mission may have arranged to increase Soviet military aid. But they did not rule out the possibility that he might have tried to steer Ho toward peace.

Shelepin planned to stay 24 hours in Peking before returning to Moscow but the nature of his reception seemed to rule out any possibility of important policy talks with the estranged Chinese.

The Moscow correspondent of the Hungarian news agency MTI reported, however, that Shelepin was believed discussing in Peking "the topics of the Hanoi talks and Soviet-Chinese relations."

for what one act of vandalism would cost." The 650-car Coronado parking lot is just off well-lighted 34th Street. The superintendent says he expects more night activities there than on other campuses because the school system plans to use the spectator gymnasium for basketball games and other events.

The lighting system will be operated by an automatic clock and the lot is expected to be illuminated about six hours nightly, presumably until most vandals have gone to bed. The lights also can be turned on manually. Municipal electric officials say the power cost will be 13.2 cents per hour, or about $290 annually based on six hours nightly.

Ralph Spencer, who supervised Coronado's construction, said the cost of installing the lights was figured at $3,920 but that slightly less than this was charged to the school system because the lights were included in the overall contract. He said it would have cost about $1,000 more to install the 18 light standards if the work had not been done before the lot was paved.

Williams said the school district also plans to light the parking lot around another new high school, to be built this year in northeast Lubbock.

'COIN COLLECTOR' STORY

Short-Change Routine Nets Man $1 Profit At Banks

A man who said he was a coin collector short changed two Lubbock banks Thursday, and made an attempt to short change a third bank, but ended up with only $1 profit for his trouble.

An employee of First National Bank told sheriff's deputies that a man came into the bank and cashed in $100 in dimes for another $100 in dimes. He told the teller he was a coin collector trying to find some rare coins, deputies reported, but after the man left and the money was counted, it was found to be 50 cents short.

Another attempt to cash the check was made at Plains National Bank, where the man cashed in $50 in quarters and $20 in dimes, but the man was kept at the bank until the change was counted. When it was found to also be 50 cents short, he made up the difference.

Deputies were trying to locate the man Thursday night. Lubbock police Thursday were looking for clues in the theft of about $106 in cash from the office of the TG&Y Store, 314 N. College.

Byron Watts, 3508 30th St., assistant manager of the store, told officers that he had left the office about 2:30 p.m. He discovered the cash drawer in a desk had been pried open and the money taken. The silver in the drawer was left untouched.

Police said the thief had apparently used a screwdriver to get into the drawer. Probe Burglary Police were also investigating a Wednesday night burglary of Dorothy's Dress Shop, 10 Broadway, in which 25-30 dresses, about 20 coats, and $100 in cash was taken.

Officers said the burglar had entered the building by prying up a skylight on top of the building and breaking through the roof onto the mezzanine floor.

The store manager said 25-30 dresses had been taken from the racks, 17 coats were missing from the front of the store and another two or three from the rear and $100 in change was missing from the cash register.

In addition to the cash and clothes, the burglar also got a coffeemaker, three pounds of coffee and an iron from the rear of the store, police said.

Other Incidents Several other incidents were under police investigation Thursday. Harold Harvey, 2305 60th St., told police someone had stolen 14 bottles of Cutty Sark Scotch whiskey valued at $94.50 from his garage Wednesday night. The whiskey was in 4/5 quart bottles.

A young burglar who broke through a grocery store window early Thursday was run off by the owner, but took the grocer's rifle as he fled.

The incident took place about 1:45 a.m. Thursday at Blaylock's Grocery, 4903 Quirt Ave., according to police reports.

R. B. Blaylock, sleeping in the store, said he was awakened by breaking glass. He grabbed his 22-caliber rifle, and then he saw the youth crawling through the window. As he moved close to the burglar, the suspect suddenly grabbed the barrel and fought with Blaylock to keep the gun pointed upward.

Slipped And Fell Then, Blaylock said he slipped and fell. The youth scrambled away and there was the shattering of another window. Blaylock said he could hear the suspect yell at someone on the outside.

The burglar was described as a Negro, about 16 years old, bare-headed, wearing a green shirt and red trousers, and believed injured by the broken glass.

In other break-ins Wednesday night, a $75 transmission was taken from Central Wrecking Co., 908 E. Broadway, and five machines were broken into at Imperial Laundry, 3418 Ave. H.

Vending machines were looted at Charles Patton's Chevron station, 5735 19th St., Ray Towner's Texaco station, 5001 Ave. A, and M. E. Young's Fina station, 2310 Clovis Road.

IN TRIAL Final Arguments Set For Today

JASPER, Tex. (AP)—Final arguments in the murder trial of Henry Edward Morse, 38, charged with slaying a state game warden, will be presented Friday morning.

The defense rested Thursday after the youthful defendant took the stand on his own behalf. The case is expected to go to a District Court jury of three women and nine men Friday afternoon.

Morse testified he shot the warden, J. D. Murphree, 35, of Mauriceville, after growing to fear the officer, who the youth said once threatened to jail him. Morse said that on Dec. 8, 1963 he had shot two ducks and had sought to retrieve them when he heard Murphree shout, "Now I got you!"

He said he fled the officer, heard a pistol shot, fell and turned to find the warden standing near him. This was when he shot Murphree, the youth testified.

A state witness testified that the warden was shot once in the stomach and again in the back of the head.

The citations, proposed a week before by its investigating subcommittees, carry a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and a $1,000 fine on conviction.

The full House was expected to approve the recommendation swiftly. Citations then would be turned over to a federal grand jury in the District of Columbia.

At the same time, the committee recommended contempt citations against three witnesses at a hearing last May in Chicago on Communist activities. Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., committee chairman, said they had "refused to testify and walked out of a hearing without being excused from their subpoenas."

The Chicagoans were identified as Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, Yolanda Hall and Milton Cohen.

State Officials Cited Besides Shelton, the officials of the United Klans of America, Inc., involved were Grand Dragons J. Robert Jones of Granite Quarry, N.C.; Robert E. Scoggin of Spartanburg, S.C.; Calvin Craig of Atlanta, Ga., and Marshall R. Komegay, who operates in Virginia.

The two others are George F. Dorsett of Greensboro, N.C., imperial kladd or chaplain, and Robert Hudgins of Raleigh, N.C., imperial kladd or conductor of ceremonies.

The mustached Di Salvo sat silently when Appell asked whether he had suggested to Klansmen in September, 1964, that the First Lady's campaign train be blown up or whether he had discussed bombing the railroad bridge it was to pass over.

Appell said Di Salvo "discussed places where dynamite might be obtained and the use of boats for possibly dynamiting a bridge over which the train carrying Mrs. Johnson was to travel."

But the plot apparently fell through because, Appell added, "he couldn't get anyone to go along with him."

PAPER ATTACK Soviet Identifies Writers Held For Publications

MOSCOW (AP) — The government acknowledged this week that two arrested writers have been publishing anti-Soviet material in the West under assumed names.

The government paper Izvestia said Andrei D. Sinyavsky is "Abram Tertz" and Yuli M. Daniel is "Nikolai Arzhak." Both are 40.

Izvestia called the two writers "renegades" and "werewolves" and said their writings "cannot be considered as otherwise than hostile to the homeland."

It was the first official identification of Tertz and Arzhak. The names have appeared on books published in the West that have been sharply critical of Soviet life. Western critics have praised the books.

The two writers were arrested in September. The Soviet government refused to admit until Dec. 8 that they were under investigation. It did not say then whether they will stand trial, nor did Izvestia Wednesday in its vitriolic article.

A group of perhaps 200 Soviet students protested on Dec. 5 against the treatment of the two writers. Police quickly broke up their demonstration. A group of American writers also signed a petition against the arrest.

The arrest of the two writers and the attack on them by the government's paper makes this probably the country's biggest literary scandal since Boris Pasternak was forced to reject the Nobel Prize in 1958.

Leadership Clinic, Youth Council Meet, Teen Jury Revival Slated In City

Organization of an All-City Youth Council, plans for a Monterey Leadership Check - Up Clinic and revival of the teen-age jury in Lubbock are among the many activities coming up after the new semester gets underway.

The Leadership Check - Up Clinic is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. Jan. 21 at Monterey High school and continue through the afternoon of Jan. 22. Students from 101 schools, including 86 area schools, have been invited to attend the clinic.

which will feature such speakers as Sen. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard and Mrs. Joyce Brown of Abilene, assistant executive secretary of the Texas Association of Student Councils.

Robert T. Davis, Austin director of the Attorney General's Youth Conference, will also attend the clinic and lead a discussion group on the modern concepts of leadership.

Party Scheduled
Registration is scheduled for 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Jan. 21 at Monterey, to be followed by a basketball game and after-game party that night.

Students will be allowed to register from 8:30 a.m. to 9:15 a.m. Saturday, then a general assembly is scheduled from 9:15 a.m. to 10:15 a.m. during which time Sen. Blanchard will speak on the importance of leadership for youth and for America.

After a coffee break from 10:15 a.m. to 10:45 a.m., participants will split into two groups, one going to the discussion group led by Davis, and the other attending any of the 25 various discussion groups being offered at the clinic. Those attending the smaller discussion groups will actually attend two sessions of their choice while the other half remains with Davis.

From 12:15 p.m. to 1:15 p.m. a luncheon is scheduled at Underwoods, then the participants will return to Monterey to attend more discussion groups. Those who have heard Davis in the morning will attend two of the 25 groups to be offered which include various phases of leadership, organization of clubs, and other topics, while the other half meets with Davis.

Another coffee break is slated from 2:45 p.m. to 3 p.m., then from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. the students will attend the final general assembly, during which time they will hear an address by Mrs. Brown on the tools of leadership.

"We wanted to have a project that would help other area schools," said Ann Armistead, president of TASC and chairman of the clinic.

Others working on the committee which planned the clinic are Sharon Young Susan Cathey, Kim Gilbreath, Jim Gilbreath, Ann Cocanougher, and Jan Price. The clinic is being sponsored by the Monterey Student Council with assistance of student activities at Monterey. J. W. Edwards, director of student activities at Monterey, is supervising students in planning the clinic.

The revival of the teen-age jury which began last spring has had a slow start, but hopes are high that the red tape which stands in the way will be cut in the near future.

The jury met only twice last spring and then suffered a temporary collapse when its sponsor, Walt Lindsey, who formerly headed the Citizen's Traffic Council, left the jury without a leader. Johnny Walker, who originally started the jury, has taken over the leadership but is having legal troubles now.

Must Be Voluntary
Walker has been told by Corporation Court Judges that only those cases in which the defendant is entering a plea of innocent will go before the teen-age jury voluntarily.

Walker contends that so few cases come up in a city the size of Lubbock that this would cut deeply into the success of the teen-age jury. He has written Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr asking him to make a formal ruling on whether or not the defendants tried must be volunteers and expects to get an answer soon.

If Carr hands down a ruling in support of the demands of the teen-age jury, the system will be kicked off this year with a workshop for teenagers. Walker has tentatively set Jan. 29 as the date for that workshop, which would include a mock youth jury, orientation, discussion of penalties, defendants' rights and basic law enforcement.

An organizational meeting of the All-City Youth Council is scheduled for 5 p.m. Jan. 22 in Room 143 at Monterey High School.

The idea for the council arose out of the Attorney General's Youth Conference which was conducted last August in Austin, and on hand for the organizational meeting will be Davis, who directed the youth conference.

Walker has been instrumental in organizing the youth council, along with Herman Williams, pastor of the Second Baptist Church.

Students from the Lubbock schools who attended the conference in Austin have been asked to attend the organizational meeting.

'WOULD HAVE DIED ANYWAY'

Murder Charge Is Dropped As Result Of Rare Disease

(By The Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA — Calvin Jones, 33, escaped a murder charge this week because of testimony that the woman he brutally beat had a rare blood disease from which she would have died within hours.

"If it wasn't for the medical reports, this man would have been facing a murder trial," said Judge Stanley W. Greenberg in accepting Jones' plea of guilty to aggravated assault and battery.

Sentence was deferred pending psychiatric examination.

William H. Wolf Jr. assistant district attorney, reported the medical findings in explaining why the murder charge was being dropped. He called it "one of the most extraordinary coincidences in the annals of criminal prosecution."

The beating, he added, "as vicious as it was, had nothing to do with the death."

Jones, a laborer, was accused of beating Sara Tolbert, 23, in June 1964 during what Wolf described as a "lovers' quarrel" in Jones' automobile. She died after being struck at least 15 times with a rubber hose, police said.

Jones drove around Philadelphia with her body in the car for several hours, then drove to Newark, N. J., where he walked into a police station and reported what he called a murder.

In a routine medical examination, Edward H. Albano, the Newark medical examiner, found the cause of death was not the beating. Further tests showed the cause of death was sickle cell anemia, a rare blood disease. Albano reported that Miss Tolbert would have died that morning as a result of the disease and listed the death as due to natural causes. A Philadelphia medical examiner concurred in the finding.

Sickle cell anemia takes its name from the shape imparted to red blood cells by a hemoglobin abnormality transmitted as a dominant characteristic. Very few of its victims live beyond the age of 40.

Judge Greenberg noted in court that the "bizarre aspects" of the case were added to the fact that in April 1960, Jones was convicted of trying to poison his wife and sentenced to two to 23 months in prison.

Soup Suppers for Frosty Nights

a guide for those who enjoy good FOOD
 Lubbock Avalanche Journal
 FRIDAY, JANUARY 14, 1938

GUEST SUPPER — Steaming soup and homemade hot breads make happy partners for a simple but elegant Sunday supper. Creamy shrimp soup prepared with chopped cooked spinach can be ladled from an attractive tureen into pewter or pottery mugs for serving. The contrasting colors of the cloth and napkins contribute to the dramatic setting. Each napkin is placed through a mug handle. To complete the supper include a green bean salad and a homemade dessert.

Steaming Soups Win Acceptance

JOY PENROD, Food Editor

There is nothing quite so welcome when the temperature dips to frosty lows than a hearty, hot bowl of soup. It's a frequent basic choice for family meals but it can be a tasty treasure for company.

Even the home cook who claims she has no talent for soupmaking has little excuse in not creating an appealing blend. She can start with any of the convenience combinations and vary them to please her taste desires. An important point to keep in mind, however, is never to boil soup because this impairs the flavor. Heat it gradually to the simmering point and simmer slowly for the required cooking time.

Although substantial soups are excellent for the family, guests will enjoy this informal dish for lunch or supper. With it serve appealing breads and salads.

Soup can be elegant when served, as the accompanying pictures prove. Handsome accessories turn the trick. Choose a creamy shrimp soup, flavored with a dash of nutmeg and garnished with crisp green spinach, along with assorted hot bread sticks, twists and scones and you'll be amazed at the response from guests. This supper requires only a green bean salad and a homemade dessert to round out the menu.

Creamy Shrimp Soup

1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
 1 soup can milk
 1/2 cup chopped cooked spinach
 Nutmeg

Combine soup, milk and spinach in saucepan. Heat, stirring now and then. Do not boil. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes two to three servings.

Chicken Cheese Soup

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
 1 soup can water
 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
 1/2 to 1 teaspoon chopped chives

In saucepan stir cream of chicken soup until smooth. Blend in water and cheese. Heat, stirring often, until cheese melts. Garnish with chives. Makes three servings.

Potato and Asparagus Potage

1 can (10 1/4 ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup
 1 soup can milk
 Dash ground nutmeg
 1/4 cup cooked asparagus pieces (about 1/2 inch long)

Combine soup, milk and nutmeg in saucepan. Heat until soup thaws; stir now and then. Add asparagus; heat. Makes three servings.

Four Dimension Salad Shrimp Squares

1 package lemon gelatin
 1 cup hot water
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 tablespoon vinegar
 1/2 cup cold water
 Cooked shrimp, cut in 1/2 inch pieces (about 1 cup)
 1 medium avocado, diced

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add seasonings and cold water. Pour into 8 by 4 inch loaf pan. Chill until slightly thickened. Then arrange small groups of cut shrimp and diced avocado, one inch apart in the thickened gelatin. Chill until firm. Cut in one inch squares. Arrange on top of tossed ingredients such as grapefruit sections, diced tomatoes, thin strips of cheddar cheese, ripe olives, chopped green onions, and salad greens. Dress with a garlic flavored salad dressing.

SOUP AND SALAD SUPPER—When homemade bread, delicate chicken-cheese soup and a combination gelatin and tossed salad are served, most appetites are satisfied. Shredded cheddar cheese is blended in a condensed cream of chicken soup and garnished with chopped chives for the hot dish. The salad features shrimp gelatin squares arranged on top of tossed ingredients including grapefruit sections, diced tomatoes, thin strips of cheddar cheese, ripe olives, chopped green onions and salad greens. A garlic salad dressing is mixed with the ingredients.

Do you have a MOSCOW ACCUSED OF COLLUSION WITH AMERICANS ON VIET NAM

Chinese Leaders Enraged At U.S., Soviet Maneuvers

By WILLIAM L. RYAN—AP Special Correspondent
 Red China's leadership is reacting with rage to American and Soviet diplomatic maneuvers, as if gripped by a major peace scare.

Evidently Peking dismisses as empty propaganda the suggestions from Soviet bloc Communists that if the United States intensifies the war in Viet Nam, the Soviet Union will introduce significant escalation of its own. Peking has weighed the evidence and expressed the conviction that Soviet words are not to be trusted. By implication, Red China accused Moscow of collusion with the Americans in a search for a road to negotiations. The timing of a recent Peking blast reflects the Red Chinese leadership's attitude toward Soviet moves. On the day that Alexander N. Shelepin and his delegation arrived in Peking en route to Hanoi, People's Daily printed a long tirade against the United States and its motives in continuing a pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam.

When there was a bombing pause last May, it recalled, there were "murmurs from among the modern revisionists—meaning the Soviet leaders—that the suspension was too short and 'the trick had not been very well played.'"

Now, it continued, "the Johnson administration appears to be taking the advice of these people."

Evidently "these people" included not only advisers in Washington, but those same "modern revisionists."

Evidence Presented
 The paper, which is the official voice of the Chinese Communist party, then presented this as evidence against the Russians:

"In pursuing its 'peace talks' box, the Johnson administration places special hopes on the Khrushev revisionists and their followers. It began the 'pause in bombing' on Dec. 24, and on the same day its ambassador in Moscow, Foy D. Kohler, called on Soviet Vice Foreign Minister V.V. Kuznetsov.

"Three days later, it published its '14-point' proposition—the American terms for peace talks with North Viet Nam."

"The next day the Soviet Union announced that a delegation headed by Shelepin would visit Viet Nam. Then on Dec. 23, the senior U.S. officials began their travels overseas as salesmen for the 'peace talks' scheme. On the same day, Kohler called on Nikolay V. Podgorny, president of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R."

The paper quoted comments abroad to show that the Soviet and American actions might have "common features," and that "before taking the decision that Shelepin should visit Hanoi, the Soviet Union obviously was tipped off in one form or another by the United States about the pause in its bombing."

Heavy Pressure
 There were evidences of heavy pressure on North Viet Nam's Communist leadership from both Moscow and Peking. Comments from Hanoi welcome Soviet aid but at the same time invariably mention gratitude for Chinese aid, too. Still, there has been less emphasis on China in recent days from Hanoi than there has been in the past, and possibly Peking is worried about the Soviet delegation.

This does not mean that peace is around the corner. If present peace offensive efforts fail, the war could intensify. The presence of Soviet military brass with the delegation in Hanoi could mean that if no road to negotiations is visible, the Soviet Union will be prepared to introduce modern weapons and massive military aid.

The Communist press of Europe has been dwelling on this possibility, and there is implicit in it a prospect of a Soviet-American showdown in the style of the Cuba missile crisis of 1962.

Plains Farming Higher Supports On Beans Sought

By DUANE HOWELL
 Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor

Sharply conflicting advice is being given the U.S. Department of Agriculture on its price support policy for the 1966 soybean crop.

The American Soybean Association has advised the government to raise soybean supports by 10 cents a bushel.

The National Soybean Processors Association said this week it had no comment at the moment. But there were reliable reports that the association didn't ask for an increase in soybean supports.

Officials of the processor group and the soybean association, which represents growers, met with USDA people in Washington this week.

The ASA made two proposals, both aimed at inducing farmers to grow more soybeans this year.

Calls For Support Hike
 The first proposal calls for a 1966 average support price of $2.35 a bushel, 10 cents above the level which has been in effect since 1962.

James Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, went the other way and advocated an increase of 25 cents a bushel.

The ASA's second proposal urges the USDA to consider allowing farmers to collect feed grain price support payments if they plant soybeans on feed grain acreage—that is on acreage eligible for feed grain support payments under the federal grain control program.

These two measures, the ASA says, would be aimed at encouraging farmers to plant about 37.5 million acres of soybeans in 1966, up 3 million from 1965.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has attacked the proposal for higher supports. He says farm income will be higher if soybean pricing is left to the market instead of the government.

"Same Old Trap"
 "An increase in the support price for soybeans would lead farmers into the same old trap of inducing surplus production," he said. "That in turn would enable the governments to again get into the business of using surplus stocks to keep down prices."

The ASA, however, contends that without new government inducements, the acreage of soybeans may show a substantial drop, resulting in a cut in production in spite of an increase in demand.

Other crops, the ASA says, are becoming comparatively more attractive to farmers because per-acre yields of soybeans haven't risen as fast as those for many crops.

Soybean acreage on the High Plains has fluctuated considerably in recent years. The total in 1965 was 94,895 acres. This area produces most of the Texas soybean crop.

A USDA spokesman said Thursday the department has reached no decision on soybean supports for 1966.

Program Changes Seen
 President Johnson's State of the Union address for 1966 could be interpreted as pointing to changes in the government's Food for Peace Program.

The President told the nation he plans to "conduct a worldwide attack on the problems of hunger, disease, and ignorance." He went on to say "We will place the matchless skill and resources of America—in farming and in fertilizers at the service of those countries committed to developing a modern agriculture."

The Chief Executive gave no details about his plans for the attack on hunger. These presumably will come later.

But several things can be inferred from what he said and from what administration sources have said earlier.

First, the Food for Peace Program is scheduled to expire at

Instructor Pilot At Reese Honored

First Lt. Jeffrey W. Berno, instructor pilot in Flight A, has been selected as instructor pilot of the month for December in the 350th Pilot Training Squadron on the basis of outstanding performance.

The lieutenant is credited with attaining a high level of experience in his year as an IP, with excellent job knowledge, determination to aid students and drive for perfection.

Lt. Berno also was praised with keeping the best grade book in the flight and with doing outstanding job as flight publications officer. He also was credited with spending much off-duty time in various flight projects and with doing a good job in remodeling the flight scheduling board.

"SUGAR-BOWL" figure?

Too many sugar calories can give you a "sugar-bowl" shape. The easiest, most convenient way to reduce is to completely cut out sugar. Just substitute RIL-SWEET* in coffee, tea—on cereals, fruits, in cooking—everything! Reduce without weakening diets. Meals can actually be more strengthening. Get Ril-Sweet in effervescent tablets, or liquid. More sweetening power, better taste than ordinary sweeteners.

DESPITE RUSSIA'S PROMISE OF MODERN ARMS FOR HANOI

Developments Spur Hopes For Lessening Tension

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A new Soviet pronouncement promises modern weapons for North Viet Nam to "defeat imperialist aggressor," but developments of the past few days kindle hopes for lessening tension in Southeast Asia.

These come from a combination of President Johnson's measured treatment of the Soviet bloc in his State of the Union message and hints from the Soviet mission to North Viet Nam apart from what is said for general world consumption.

Johnson's address left an impression that U.S. policy as it is developing tends to view communism as two distinct worlds: Soviet and Chinese.

China Main Threat

The President spoke of building bridges to Communist East Europe, of making it possible to expand trade between the United States and Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. China seemed singled out as the most dangerous antagonist of the United States, the main threat to Asia, which the President said the United States would not abandon to conquest.

Moscow says Alexander N. Shelepin, who headed the Hanoi mission, promised North Viet Nam "all available aid to defeat the U.S. aggressions." Shelepin also left the Ho Chi Minh government some sobering thoughts.

Pravda has published Shelepin's principal Hanoi address. The Communist party organized Shelepin's hosts to a lecture on Soviet problems, as if to tell them that the U.S.S.R. had no intention of risking war with the United States. The Soviet Union, he made clear, has many problems on its collective mind.

Talks Of Germany

Shelepin told the North Vietnamese that "more than anyone else, the Soviet people fully understand the calamities of war," and that Soviet policy was aimed at "insuring peaceful conditions for the construction of socialism and communism, and at preventing a new world war."

He elaborated on the question of Germany and the possibility of a West German finger on the nuclear trigger. He seemed to imply that this question was of most immediate importance to Moscow.

Then he went on to say that the U.S.S.R. is trying to improve food and other consumer production and raise living standards at home. This, he said, would be of great importance to Russia's allies in years to come, because a strong U.S.S.R. would constitute a "prop for all progressive and peace-loving forces."

He put it this way: "When we tell you about the achievements of the Soviet Union, this absolutely does not mean there are in our country nothing but achievements, and no shortcomings or pending problems. No, comrades, it is not so. We frankly tell you that while implementing the plans already worked out, we have had to overcome difficulties, and sometimes these are no small difficulties."

May Be Impossible

In conditions of extreme tension and a possible showdown with the United States, and with the Soviet Union's own "hawks" nagging in the background, getting the program in motion might be next to impossible.

Shelepin promised that Moscow would enhance the "defense potential" of the Vietnamese Communists. He could hardly say less, and Moscow seeks to rebut Red Chinese charges that it intended to abandon revolution in Asia.

Expansion of U.S. trade with the Soviet bloc must be an attractive prospect for Moscow if it is to deliver on promises the collective leaders have made to the consumer. That, along with growing mutual distrust between Moscow and Peking, might inspire greater Soviet efforts to lessen the peril to world peace in Asia.

Witness Asserts Magazine Had Losses Three Years

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (UPI)—A prosecution witness in a $1.8 million libel suit Wednesday said "The Southwestern" magazine suffered net losses for three years following a letter to advertisers asking they withdraw.

Millard Micholson was the final witness called in the first day of testimony. The suit against A. A. Webster Jr. of Alamogordo continues Thursday before Dist. Judge George Zimmerman.

Webster was named defendant by magazine editor William McGraw who alleged the man wrote letters asking advertisers to withdraw support after a magazine editorial attacked the John Birch Society in 1963.

McGraw charged Webster was a section leader of the Birch Society at the time the letters were written. In a pre-trial hearing Tuesday, Webster admitted writing the letters under a pseudonym.

Micholson, who followed Mc-

Grav and Texas Western Dept. of Journalism Prof. John Middag to the stand, said the magazine suffered net revenue losses from 1963-65.

The accountant, formerly employed by "The Southwestern," said there was no concurrent drop in circulation, however.

McGraw, who testified for more than two hours, sketched the background of the magazine and charged Webster's letter injured "The Southwestern's" reputation.

The defense has indicated it will call a minimum of five witnesses, one of whom will be Dallas radio news commentator Dan Smoot.

38 Vocational Nurses Capped In City Rites

Thirty-eight members of Class 28 at the Lubbock School of Vocational Nursing were presented in a capping ceremony at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Central Baptist Church.

Delivering the main address was Miss Pamela Stuart who spoke on "The Nurses' Cap." Miss Stuart also played the professional and gave the benediction, entitled "Nurses' Prayer."

Presentation of the class was made by Mrs. Corine Lattimore, R.N., director of the school. Cap were presented by Mrs. Louise Linker, R.N., and Miss Doris Willoughby, R.N.

The devotional and presentation of Bibles was by Mrs. A. L. Faubion.

Graduates Listed

Members of the graduating class were Karen Bahi, Sharyn Ball, Barbara Beckham, Mary Bitela, Bertie Chew, Mary Cline, Jeanetta Cowell and Mae Ruth Deary.

Also, Jo DiCuffa, Betty Goodwin, Gwen Haberbosch, Jasine Hamilton, Sarah Hancock, Shirley Hairgrove, Barbara Haynes, and Barbara Herman.

Others were Clara Hubbard, Leila Jewell, Sue Jones, Shirley Jovin, Rose Lemon, Barbara Lewis, Beverly McCafferty and Paralee Mabry.

Aid, Dorothy Martin, Margie Martin, Clara Maxse, Bettie Mitchell, Benda Shuler, Ella Faye Six, Mary Smith and Janet Stewart.

Also, Linda Stone, Edna Stuart, Van Allan Van Wie, Anna Wallace, Gloria Warren and Linda West.

A reception was given at the school after the ceremony.

Testimony Set In Civil Suit

Testimony in a civil suit arising from a traffic accident Aug. 17, 1964, got under way in 137th District Court here Thursday afternoon.

The trial is scheduled to continue at 9:30 a.m. today.

The action brought by Margie Lee Sisk against Paul Reed Burns and J. H. Burns, asks $8,170 damages, alleging injuries in the crash at Nashville Ave. and 31st St.

A suit for intervention brought by Joseph S. Miles, asks $363.05 for alleged damages to his car he claims was parked at a curb and was struck by the Sisk auto. Members of the jury are Joe B. Pate Sr., Maria Sanchez, W. D. Cross, William M. Paul, Robert Terry, Marlo D. Davis, Mrs. Alton Meeks, E. L. Tatum, Thomas J. Wooten, Janice M. Owen, Betty J. Smith and Wayne L. Hogan. Judge James A. Ellis is presiding.

A jury hearing a child custody case in 140th District Court was dismissed by Judge Robert H. Bean after the parties in the suit reached agreement Thursday morning.

Frightened Cow Sets Off Red Land Mine

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—A frightened cow spared a U.S. Marine patrol from possible death or injury Thursday.

The cow darted from a thicket 25 feet in front of leaders of a Marine patrol. A puff of smoke went up from a detonator but a hidden land mine did not explode.

Monterey, LHS Start League Anew

City Duo In Action On Road

MHS At Borger; Rebs Host LHS

With clean slates and high hopes, the Monterey Plainsmen and Lubbock High Westerners hit the road tonight to initiate the second round of District 3-AAAA basketball action.

The Amarillo Sandies, who marched through the first half of play undefeated, assured themselves at least a spot in the playoff for the outright title and, unless someone is able to do what no one was able to in the first half, Coach John Ethridge's troops could walk off with the title without even a playoff.

Amarillo (8-0) took the No. 1 spot with Monterey (7-1) second and Lubbock High (6-2) third.

Monterey Meets Borger Coach Gerald Myers' Plainsmen, fresh from a 47-41 victory over cross-town rival Lubbock, launch their second round hopes against Borger while the Westerners, laboring under a two-game losing streak, travel to Tascosa. Both games are on tap for 8 p.m.

Other loop action tonight finds Palo Duro at Amarillo. Pampa, fourth place finisher in the first go-round, hosts non-conference foe Phillips Saturday.

The Plainsmen and Westerners will both be out to make it two in a row over their respective opponents tonight after registering first round wins. Monterey downed Borger, 73-52, in Lubbock and the Westerners edged Tascosa, 42-38, at home.

Plainsmen Now 16-2 Borger, which can claim but one district win to date, fell to Amarillo in its last outing and can boast only four wins in 14 trips out this season. Tascosa's Rebels fell to Pampa Friday to end the first round with a 3-5 league mark and a 4-11 season mark.

Monterey is now 16-2 for the season and Lubbock is 14-4.

Myers will field the same starting lineup which has proved successful all season for the Plainsmen. Getting the nod before tip-off will be David Reed (6-3), Kenny Coleman (6-3), Steve Hardin (6-9 1/2), Chuck Lewis (6-2) and Craig Wright (6-4 1/2). Also expected to see a lot of action in the MHS continuity offensive are Danny Sledge (6-8), Steve Hurt (6-2) and Randy Andrews (6-3 1/2).

Borger coach Tom Hanna will likely open with scoring leaders Dale Dawson (6-1) and Keith Pettigrew (6-2), Pete Loftis (6-0), Sonny Jordan (6-0) and Richard Cornelius (6-2).

Westerner mentor Max O'Banion will open with Bill Green (6-5), Wesley Verner (6-1), Ronnie Shuffield (6-1), Freddy Dickson (6-0) and Jimmy Poe (5-9). Don Burrell (6-3), the team's leading point-maker who started against Monterey, is not expected to be at full strength tonight after suffering a turned ankle in Monday night's game. He is, however, expected to see action as are Nello Armstrong (6-6), Steve Leftwich (6-3), and Jimmy Sawyer (6-1).

Tascosa's lineup, which has changed more times than a baby's diapers thus far this season, is expected to be made up of Dick Storseth (5-8), Pat Estes (6-1), Jerry Mudroch (6-1), Ronnie Evans (6-6) and Jerry Burkhalter (6-4). John Burkhalter (6-10) is likely to see a good deal of action for the Rebels.

The LHS 'B' team Cowhands and Monterey's Lancers will take on Tascosa and Borger 'B' units in 6 p.m. preliminary tilts tonight.

Harry Buffington Expected At Tech

By BURLE PETTIT
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Among the problems waiting to greet Coach J. T. King when he arrived Thursday from an extended jaunt to Florida, Hawaii and Washington, D. C., was the task of replacing assistant Joe Blaylock.

Although all indications point toward Harry Buffington, King would not confirm that the ex-Raider aide had been selected to fill the vacancy created when Blaylock accepted a post on Mike Pittman's staff at Tulane.

CHS Tries Pampa B

The Coronado Mustangs will try to move above the .500 mark for the first time in some time tonight when they host Pampa B at 6 p.m. in the Monterey Gym.

However, it won't come easy because the Shockers ran all over the Mustangs in their first meeting of the year in Pampa.

Coach Carl McMillan's cagers are 8-8 for the year, but they are 3-6 against District 3-AAAA B-team members.

McMillan will go with his usual strategy of playing five players for half of each quarter, then play five more for the rest of the contest.

Ron DeShirra, Rodney Cradick, Lynn Shuttlesworth, Gary Kirksey, Dan Gobin, Mark Leaverton, Mark Clark, Richard Black, Robert Sweatt, and Sammy Holt will do most of the playing for the Mustangs.

The Mustangs scored one of their most decisive wins here last Tuesday night by rocking Caprock, 78-38.

SANTA FE, N.M. BASIN

SANTA FE, N.M. (Special)—Skiing is good to excellent. Base snow is two to three feet. No new snow since last report. This weekend will have an additional chair lift and Poma in operation. There should be no lift line. Cafe Bar Alpine Sport in operation daily. Sunday fun races will start this coming Sunday. Road is clear.

Blocker In San Diego Lead

(Avalanche-Journal Wire Service)
SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Tommy Aaron and muscular Chris Blocker fractured par by six strokes — with 65s — Thursday to lead a parade of low scoring professionals in the first round of $40,000 San Diego Open Golf Tournament.

The 26-year-old Blocker, from Jal, N.M., and Aaron, 28, from Gainesville, Ga., each toured the par 35-36-71 Stardust Country Club course in 33-32-65.

Blocker, starting only his second year on the PGA tournament circuit, finished his round with a dramatic chip shot that holed out from 50 feet.

Blocker didn't shoot a bogey all day, and rattled off three straight birdies on the back nine, one on a 40-foot putt.

Blocker, who won only $3,818.21 on the tour last year despite missing more than two months of action, failed to place in the Los Angeles Open last week. His highest finish in 1965 was a tie for 13th at the Los Angeles Open.

Steve Spray, the former Eastern New Mexico golfer, had a 35 on the front side, but ballooned to a 40 on the last nine for a 75 total. Former Muleshoe golfer Terry Dill isn't playing in the tourney this year.

One stroke back of the leaders, after a round played in bright sunshine in which 39 contestants broke par, was Lou Graham of Nashville, Tenn. He scored 32-34-68.

Four tied at 67 were Mason Rudolph, 31-36; Harold Kneese, 33-34; Bob Zimmerman, 32-35; and Paul Bonderson, 35-32.

A most unusual and unhappy round was turned in by John Josephson of Westfield, N.J. He shot two eagles on the last nine, but the best he could get out of it was par-36.

Japan's entries, Mitsutaka Kohno, with 36-37-73 and Teruo Sukahara, 38-35-73, fared none too well.

Lodged at 69 were Chi-Chi Rodriguez, the colorful little Puerto Rican, with 35-34; Larry Wes Ellis Jr., the defending champion, had a 68 to tie with six others. In the group was veteran Mike Souchak, who had one of his best rounds in recent tournaments with a 32-36-68.

Aaron could manage only a 72 in Wednesday's pro-amateur prelude but Thursday morning his putting improved. He had a total of only 27 putts. He said, "the greens were real smooth and there was very little wind."

He tanked birdie putts from 20 feet on both the 10th and 16th holes. His bogeys came on the fifth hole where he missed a three foot putt and on the eighth where he hit his second shot close to a water hazard and then missed an eight foot

IN LOOP SHOWDOWN

Panthers Host Carver

The Dunbar Panthers and the Amarillo Carver Dragons battle for the District 1-AAA (Negro) top spot here tonight in the Dunbar Gym.

The B-game is slated for 6 p.m. and the varsity contest should get started around 8 p.m.

Both teams are tied for the league leadership with 3-0 records and they hold a two-game lead over the rest of the loop members.

This will be the second meeting of the year for the two clubs with Amarillo winning the first contest, 65-43, in the Carver tourney earlier in the season.

Carver Has 17-1 Mark

Carver boasts a 17-1 record with the only loss to Lubbock High, while Dunbar is 15-6.

Probable starters for the Dragons will be forwards Ronnie Shanklin and Jerry Lewis, center John Allen and guards Clifford King and L. V. Turner. Shanklin and King are the leading scorers.

Coach Curtis Gipson probably will start guards Buford Wiley and Jimmy Gary, forwards James Johnson and James Gary and at center it will either be Larry Blaylock or Alphonso Durham.

James Gary is the leading scorer with a 19.5 average, while Johnson is hitting at a 15.1 clip.

Wahoo Credits Wrestling For Better Pro Grid Year

WAHOO McDANIEL HAD his best season for the New York Jets this past fall and he credits a healthy offseason activity in pro wrestling as the main reason.

In fact, he hit the grunt and groan circuit a couple of weeks after the football season was over and wrestled almost every night but Sunday in the New York area, winning all but two bouts in around 120 appearances before the football training camp started in July.

"Wrestling doesn't interfere with football and you can switch right over from one to the other and not lose time or money. And, it helps keep you in shape for the other. If you have the talent and the size, a guy may make a lot of money wrestling and if you check back, most of the top wrestlers were football players, too," he said the other day.

Figures He Won't Be With Jets

EVEN AFTER THE TRAINING season started last summer, Wahoo wrestled one weekend in a nearby city. He hit the circuit earlier this time, wrestling here four days after the Jets played their final game of the season.

There's probably a reason for it besides money. Wahoo will have a tough competitor for his linebacker spot in Oklahoma All-American Carl McAdams, who signed for over $300,000, a lot of greenbacks for a lineman, and if he's with the club next year, he plans to play a lot of ball.

But Wahoo figures he won't be with the Jets next year because he guesses he'll be on the list for the Miami club to choose from next month.

Each club will have 23 players protected from Miami's special draft, but the new team then can draft two players from the rest of the names on the roster. Wahoo's not sure, but he thinks one player then will be protected before Miami picks another player from each club. He's pretty sure he won't be in the 23 because of McAdams.

"I FIGURE THE JETS have too much money invested in McAdams for him to ride the bench, so I'm not going back unless I have a guaranteed contract," he said emphatically.

"For one thing, they haven't adjusted the salaries of the guys who are playing for them every week, while some of the high priced rookies are sitting on the bench making more money. Oh, they tell us the base salary isn't different, that it's all in the bonus, but we don't know if this is true or not," he said.

"Wahoo's sure about the adjusting of salaries because the only way he got a raise last year was because he was a hold-out until the last moment.

HOW DO THE PLAYERS feel about Joe Namath, who reportedly signed with the Jets for $400,000?

"Well, he's a funny guy, but you can't put the blame on him. The owners took him to night spots and treated him royally and they didn't do this for any of the other players. He didn't associate with the rest of the team too much, but personally, this doesn't bother me if he produces because if he leads us to a win, it will mean more money for all of us in the long run," he said.

"But, he's gonna be a great football player, there's no doubt about it. Why, he was the second best passer in the league last year as a rookie and he didn't play just a whole lot the first four games," he added.

Wahoo Would Miss New York

McDANIEL, WHO WAS an all-stater at Midland about 10 years ago and later played for Oklahoma, says he played the lightest this past season. At one time, he was down to 208 pounds, but most of the year he was around 220, kinda small for line-backers, but he has been up to 265.

"I'd miss New York because I'm known pretty well in that area, and I made quite a bit of money wrestling up there in the offseason. I got to appear in Madison Square Garden eight times and five of those drew over 17,000 fans.

"One night, Jet owner Sonny Warblin came down to see me wrestle and one of the papers there ran two action pictures on my bout and another with my boss. Those were the first wrestling pictures that had been in the papers there for some time," he said.

Although Wahoo hasn't made up his mind if he wants to go into wrestling full time when his football days are over, he's concerned about it right now and he wouldn't have the opportunities in Florida that he enjoys right now. It netted him around $20,000 the six months he performed last year and that's good off season pay.

"I'VE HAD OFFERS to wrestle in Florida," he said when asked if playing football in that state would hurt his other career, then added, "But travel is a problem there and there aren't too many big cities where you can appear."

You'd have to go about 400 miles and that would soon tire you out."

Last year, Wahoo wrestled in New York, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Washington and Boston and they were not too far apart so he could go at it almost every night.

Right now, it's set up for him to appear in St. Louis, Kansas City and Albuquerque besides such Texas points as Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and Amarillo besides here. However, he's putting in a restaurant in Midland and this may cut down on his wrestling, at least for a while.

But he plans to be ready for the next football season, regardless of where he's playing. He just wants to play—he likes the money.

New Mexico Tankers Win

New Mexico University's swimmers continued their dominance over Texas Tech's tankmen Thursday night as the Lobos won a 63-32 decision over the Red Raiders.

The Lobos won seven of 11 events in racking up the win. Leading all individual scorers was NMU's Tom Hendry who tallied 11.75 points. Hendry was followed by Robert Graham who wound up with a total of ten points.

The win stretched the Lobos winning string over the Raiders to five in a row.

The Raiders' next meet will be against Kansas University on Jan. 31, here.

Texans To Play AJC

LEVELLAND (Special)—First place is at stake in the Western Junior College Conference here tonight when South Plains takes on Amarillo College.

South Plains is 3-0 for the loop season with wins over New Mexico Military, Odessa College and Frank Phillips, while Amarillo is 2-0 after beating Lubbock Christian and Clarendon.

For the year, Coach Bill Powell's cagers are 11-8 while Amarillo is 5-6.

Probable starters for South Plains will be guards Dennis Patton, Vic Hines and Ronnie Phillips, center Dwight Haley and forward David Rape.

Second Meeting This will be the second meeting of the year between the two clubs. Amarillo won the first meeting in the Odessa Tournament, 79-67, and that was the first one for Haley to play after hurting an ankle.

Probable Amarillo starters will be Bill Abernathy, Charles Johnson, Sammy Gast, Mickey Vaclav and Jay Christopher. Vaclav is the leading scorer for Amarillo, followed by Christopher.

Tipoff is set for 8 p.m. in the South Plains Gym and this is the last league game for the Texans in about 10 days because of the semester break.

Rice Owls Announce Schoolboy Signings

HOUSTON (AP)—Rice University officials announced Thursday the signing of two Austin High School of Houston football stars.

They are center Ricky Spence and halfback Butch Robinson who will graduate at mid-term and enter Rice for the spring semester.

FOR CHICAGO SUPPORT

Leo Durocher Waves Cub Banner On Lengthy Tour

By JERRY LISKA CHICAGO (AP)—New Manager Leo Durocher, on a 600-mile bus trip, has waved the Chicago Cub banner more than a parcel of so-called head coaches did in five previous seasons. Like a baseball Lochinvar from out of the West, Durocher has ridden through the Chicago-land area since Monday, spreading the Cub gospel in his inimitable, confident style. After an unprecedented Cub publicity tour touching Milwaukee, Rockford, Ill.; Davenport, Iowa; Peoria, Ill.; and Joliet, Ill., Durocher turned his peppery charm on Chicago sportswriters and sportscasters Thursday.

AFTER 20 YEARS

Auerbach Gets 1,000

BOSTON (AP)—It took Arnold (Red) Auerbach, coach of the Boston Celtics, 20 years to win 1,000 basketball games and he's anxious to start on the second 1,000 tonight.

The National Basketball Association's winningest coach hardly paused after the Celtics gave him his historic victory Wednesday night by beating Los Angeles 114-102.

"We've got to keep winning and Philadelphia is just itching to stop us," Auerbach said, referring to tonight's game with the 76ers in Philadelphia.

Among the results of the big victory total are nine Eastern Division titles by the Celtics, plus eight world championships.

Red said it all began when he came out of the Navy in 1945 with a reputation as a top notch coach. His first pro job was with the old Washington Capitols, then Tri-City, and finally in Boston.

With the Celtics, Red rang up 848 of the victories, the remainder coming with the Capitols and Tri-City.

Auerbach says he has no ambition to make his victory total 1,500 or 2,000 and indicated he's coaching his last season. In addition to his coaching duties, Auerbach is general manager of the Celtics organization.

Which of the 1,000 victories is impressed most on his memory? That was the playoff game in 1955 when the Celtics topped the St. Louis Hawks for Boston's first league title.

LEO'S LOOK AT RELIEF—New Chicago Cubs manager Leo Durocher talks with pitcher Ted Abernathy, left, Thursday at a sports meeting in Chicago. Durocher hopes he'll have the same success developing relief pitcher Abernathy as he did with another famous reliever he managed at one time, Hoyt Wilhelm. Durocher and various members of the Cubs are touring the Chicago area drumming up support for the National League team. (AP Wirephoto) leads us to a win, it will mean more money for all of us in the long run," he said.

"But, he's gonna be a great football player, there's no doubt about it. Why, he was the second best passer in the league last year as a rookie and he didn't play just a whole lot the first four games," he added.

Wahoo would miss New York because I'm known pretty well in that area, and I made quite a bit of money wrestling up there in the offseason. I got to appear in Madison Square Garden eight times and five of those drew over 17,000 fans.

One night, Jet owner Sonny Warblin came down to see me wrestle and one of the papers there ran two action pictures on my bout and another with my boss. Those were the first wrestling pictures that had been in the papers there for some time," he said.

Although Wahoo hasn't made up his mind if he wants to go into wrestling full time when his football days are over, he's concerned about it right now and he wouldn't have the opportunities in Florida that he enjoys right now. It netted him around $20,000 the six months he performed last year and that's good off season pay.

I'VE HAD OFFERS to wrestle in Florida," he said when asked if playing football in that state would hurt his other career, then added, "But travel is a problem there and there aren't too many big cities where you can appear."

You'd have to go about 400 miles and that would soon tire you out."

The South Plains Sportsman

by LEO NEALER

LAKE J. B. THOMAS continues to be low, some 16 1/2 feet below spillway, but the water is clear and in good condition. So far this week it's been almost exclusively crappie to save the day and made for fun for fishermen. The black bass, sand bass, and catfish just haven't been found.

Monday and Tuesday were very favorable days for the crappie fishermen. A lesser amount were taken on both Wednesday and Thursday. The report is that crappie are not biting fast every day, but do have some periods of activity every day. There's no pattern as to when the crappie will go for either minnows or jigs. One day, there may be a 45 minute period of activity, then a skip in activity to be followed by a two hour period for biting.

Crappie, though sporadic in biting, are running of good size for the man who stays with it, and this has been true every day this week. One barge fisherman, for instance, had a trio of crappie on Tuesday and they averaged one and three-quarters pounds in weight. There was one unconfirmed report that another angler reeled in a crappie which measured 18 inches. Sometimes jigs are good, but the biggest crappie this week have been caught on minnow.

So if you're hankering for some crappie fishing this week and are willing to stay with it and be there when they decide to feed, then try Lake Thomas this weekend. (Reported by Ottus Boyd, Boyd's Lodge, Snyder).

LAKE BUCHANAN saw a decline in good fishing from this same time last week.

A week ago some mighty fine sand bass fishing was taking place. But a couple of cold fronts moving through, plus some drizzly weather, has put a damper on the sandies, and saw crappie fishing take over. There seems to be no activity on the part of black bass and catfish, and only a few sand bass are currently being taken at Buchanan.

Crappie activity is limited, with action taking place at 14 to 16 feet from the surface over water which is 50 to 60 feet deep. Minnows are taking about 99 per cent of the crappie caught.

Crappie catches at Buchanan this week include Mr. and Mrs. Dean McKinney and Mrs. Lewis Johnson of Lamesa, who had a "good mess" the first day of fishing and are still there, promising to "bring home some crappie." Mr. and Mrs. Curtis L. Ashby of Hale Center strung 35. A week's crappie catch for Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald of Canyon came to 120.

Buchanan's not running fast with fishing right now, but slow moving crappie catches are in prospect. (Reported by Jim Daricek, Silver Creek Lodge, Burnet).

AT LAKE LYNDON B. JOHNSON (formerly Granite Shoals Lake) has been, just to tell the plain ornery truth, has been pretty dull this week.

Maybe it's because few anglers have appeared and those who did caught only a few fish. Maybe the reason no more anglers showed up was because of a little colder weather and two cold fronts moving through the hill country on the heels of some drizzly and damp weather.

Indication are that both black and sand bass are schooling, mostly small ones, are integrating over sand bars in the lake. Crappie fishing is reported to be "just average" over the lake, with dock and barg prospects below par. All catfishing seems to be at a standstill.

Those who take to their boats and troll for sandies and blacks usually take some, most always enough to have enough for a good fish fry if you'll troll spinner type lures.

Afternoon temperatures are currently running into the mid-sixties, with 40 degrees nighttime weather. Anglers should remember that whenever fishing isn't good at Lake LBJ (formerly Granite Shoals) the situation can be expected to be only temporary, due either to big rains or cold fronts. An enormous shad population assures a good supply for the lake's fish, and the angler who just keeps plugging away is going to find takers. (Reported by B. C. Dyess, Dyess Lodge, Kingsland).

FALCON LAKE continues to yield good catches of fish, as it has done since the first of the year. Thus far, this January has been far better than it was in the same period last year. A slow-falling rain, colder weather, and a cold front going through the area on Thursday morning, dampened fishing for a part of Thursday. The 20-30 mile per hour wind which mixed with the rain kept fishermen off the lake for a bigger portion of the time Thursday.

The good part of Falcon has been results on all kinds of fish. Continued good fishing is expected, and the early spawn of crappie and black bass is expected before month's end, depending on temperatures and wind conditions.

The following catch reports give a partial picture of what Falcon has produced:

Using jigs and spoons, a party from Clovis and Farwell — Bill Roberts, Everett Kelso, W. B. Howard, and Joel Sealy — strung a total of 212 black bass and crappie, with the big ones going four and a half pounds.

Four days of fish by Levelland anglers S. T. Cooper and L. M. "Peck" Cameron provided a stringer count of mixed fish, including 167 sand bass, black bass, and catfish. Worms, minnows, and spoons were used by the Levelland fishing partnership.

Floydada fishermen Cammer Oden, Dr. Guthrie, and Dale Goen, talked with 12 fish, mostly blacks and crappie, when they used jigs and spoons.

Minnows, jigs, and spoons were used by the Dee Brown party of Muleshoe when four fishermen put 117 fish, mostly crappie but some black bass, on their stringers.

It's really a fabulous sight when crappie and black bass start moving into the shallow water area around points and gravel and rock areas. This provides "mile a minute" fishing and in an average year generally starts about Jan. 20 and extends for several weeks. If you had just one time to get to Falcon, go when this spawning is underway. Just keep reading the Friday morning reports from Falcon for the right time. (Reported by James Lovvorn, Lakefront Lodge, Zapata).

INTERESTED in a real good chance to lock horns with a lunker bass by using a topwater plug is January?

Then Oak Creek, near Blackwell, is the spot you'll need to be this weekend. The brush in the area warmed by the discharge from the electric plant on the lake has been a veritable lodging place for big bass for the past two weeks. If there's any wind at all, it's hard to work this spot right with a boat. The best stringers are being filled by fishermen going into the brush by way of chest high waters and a big fishing tube. This way, the topwaters can be plopped right into the brush, and the big ones are not spooked by a lot of noise.

This last weekend saw Roy Carden and Jim Shockley of Anson at Oak Creek for a try at the big ones. They had difficulty in maneuvering the boat, but one incident will likely take them back to the lake before the power plants shuts down for repairs around Feb. 1.

One of these anglers threw a topwater plug right smack into the brush, and a bass "so big he shook the brush" when he came after the plug struck and missed. This happened three times.

Harry Brady of Odessa fared better last weekend. By using the tube-topwater formula, he strung eight blacks, biggest one going an even seven pounds. Roland Pitts of Sweetwater landed an even dozen blacks, four of which were in the five and six pound class.

FOR SCORING LEADERSHIP

Schellhase Challenged By Syracuse Ace Dave Bing

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Bing of Syracuse has rushed from 14th place to challenge Purdue's Dave Schellhase for the scoring lead among major college basketball players.

The latest statistics released Thursday by the NCAA Service Bureau disclosed that Bing has moved into the runner-up position with a 30.6 average on 367 points in 12 games. He was 14th among the scorers four weeks ago, advancing to ninth, eighth and then third a week ago.

Schellhase has a 32.4 average, the result of 356 points in 11 games. Bob Lewis of North Carolina is third with 30.2 followed by Dick Snyder, Davidson, 29.2 and Cazzie Russell, Michigan, 28.5. The figures include games of Saturday, Jan. 8.

Bob Hopson, Dayton sophomore, is the only new individual leader. He took over first place in free throw accuracy with a .955 mark on 42 free throws in 44 attempts.

Holdover pace-setters are Doug McKendrick of Rice in field goal accuracy with a .638 and Jim Ware, Oklahoma City, Sunday's Pro Bowl football in rebounding with a 21.2 average.

Grambling Moves Up

Evansville Slips In Small College Ballot

(By The Associated Press) The Southern Illinois Salukis, leaders in the Associated Press small-college basketball poll, go after bigger game this weekend when they face major opponents Arizona State and Arizona.

The Salukis, whose 8-1 records includes this week's conquest of Kentucky Wesleyan, take on Arizona State Friday and Arizona Saturday. Their only setback came at the hands of Iowa, another major-college foe, Dec. 6.

In the latest balloting by a special panel of 13 regional experts, Southern Illinois collected eight votes for first place and 111 points on a basis of 10 points for a first place vote, 9 for second etc. The voting was based on games through last Saturday.

Grambling moved up one place to second, replacing Evansville which slipped to the No. 1 spot. The Tigers have a 12-1 mark. Evansville lost its fourth game last week, 83-73 to Valparaiso.

Akron, the only unbeaten team among the top 10 at 9-0, climbed two places to third after beating Hiram and Marietta, North Dakota, 12-2 including three victories in last week's action, advanced from sixth to fourth.

Youngstown, Central State of Ohio, Northern Michigan, Valparaiso and Mt. St. Mary's complete the rankings. Valparaiso is the only new team in the top 10. Arkansas State, eighth in last week's ratings, dropped out of the ratings after losing to Abilene Christian.

SIGNS WITH SYNDICATE

Heavyweight Joe Frazier To Stage Run For Title

By RALPH BERNSTEIN PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heavyweight Joe Frazier has been signed to a three-year contract by a syndicate that number as high as 40 "managers."

Unbeaten in four fights since he turned professional last October, Frazier will receive $100 a week plus expenses from the corporation known as Cloverly Inc.

The 22-year-old fighter's pastor, who helped negotiate the contract, told a news conference Thursday that Frazier was now in the hands of people "who weren't hungry and wouldn't exploit him." The pastor, the Rev. William H. Gray, is a member of the corporation.

Follows Clay's Steps This does the 1964 Olympic champion follow in the footsteps of heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, who was launched by a smaller but similar syndicate. Both the corporation and Frazier's trainer, Yancy Durham, estimate it will take at least 18 months for the hard punching Philadelphian to approach the big time.

Frazier, the only U.S. boxer to win a gold medal at Tokyo in 1964, gets his weekly stipend as a draw against 50 percent of his earnings. The corporation has two three-year options, with the fighter's take increasing to 55 and then to 60 percent in the two additional three-year terms.

The syndicate is headed by Dr. Bruce Baldwin, president of a local dairy firm.

Each stockholder in Cloverly paid $250 per share, and no one

Littlefield's Howle Quits

LITTLEFIELD (Special) — John Howle, head football coach here at Littlefield for the past four years, has resigned his post.

Howle hasn't revealed his plans for the future, but he does plan to stay in the coaching profession. He has been attending the NCAA meeting the past few days.

Howle came to Littlefield from Anson after leading the Tigers to the Class AA quarterfinals that year. At Littlefield, his teams won 15 and lost 25.

After the 1964 grid season, the school board announced it would not renew his contract this year. At the time of the board announcement, Howle had a year to go on his contract.

The school board is taking applications for the position right now although Howle's resignation does not go into effect until June.

Howle, a native of Abilene and attended Texas Western College, is married and has three children.

This past year, Littlefield compiled a 3-7 record, but four of the losses were by one touchdown or less and the Wildcats lost to District 3-AAA champion Lamesa by only 9-6.

IT'S WHITEY'S 15TH — Veteran southpaw Whitey Ford holds a baseball as he signs his 15th contract in New York to pitch for the New York Yankees. With Whitey is Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk. Terms of the new contract were not released, but Houk indicated Ford's salary remains the same as it was in 1965. (AP Wirephoto)

MICKEY DUE EXAMINATION

Ford Signs Again, But Yankees Worry About Mantle's Bad Arm

By JOE REICHLER NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees apparently are more worried about the throwing arm of Mickey Mantle than they are about the pitching arm of Whitey Ford.

The one-time world champion signed Ford for the 1966 season Thursday at the same salary he received in 1965. Then they also revealed that Mantle, their brilliant but brittle outfielder, recently played touch football with his sons and aggravated the right shoulder which tormented him last season.

Mantle, in town for the day on a business trip, will go to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., next Monday for a thorough examination.

Contemplated Quitting The $100,000 star, plagued by assorted injuries last year, had his poorest season in 1965.

So upset was Mickey by his 1965 showing that he contemplated quitting but changed his mind at the end of the season.

He played in only 122 games and batted .255, his career low. He hit 19 home runs, giving him a total of 473, second only to Willie Mays among the active players.

Ford, who posted a 16-13 record in 1965 despite finding it almost impossible to pitch in cold weather, reportedly signed for $60,000. Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk, who staged the press conference at Mr. Laff's, a restaurant owned by former Yankee Phil Linz, declined to reveal the figures except to say:

"Ford will get the same money he received last year, equaling his all-time high mark. "You all know what Ford has meant to the club over the years. I know he is 37 but he tells me he is in wonderful condition. It scares me to see how good he looks. I hope he looks as good in the spring."

Ford, who leaves for Europe on a good will tour for the U.S. Air Force Jan. 25, said he never has received a cut in salary since joining the Yankees in 1950.

"In fact," he said with a grin, "the only time I was ever cut was in my second year in baseball. I earned $250 a month at Butler, Pa. in Class C in 1947, was promoted to Norfolk, Va., in Class B after winning 13 of 17 and was cut to $200 a month."

The story brought a chuckle.

INDIANS SIGN WAGNER CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Signing of Leon Wagner, who led the Cleveland Indians in the home runs last year, was announced Thursday.

Wagner hit 28 homers and was the fifth-ranked hitter in the American League, with a .284 average.

Wagner reportedly signed for an increase that will boost his pay to near $40,000 this season. He is the fourth Indian to return a signed contract.

TASMANIAN TOURNEY

Ashe In Semifinal Round After Wins

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — Arthur Ashe, already winner of the current tennis season, reached the semifinal round of the Tasmanian championships with a pair of victories Thursday.

After he eliminated Alan Lanyon of Australia 6-4, 6-1, in the third round, the Richmond, Va., Negro slugged it out with Tom Okker of The Netherlands before winning 7-5, 11-9, 11-13, 10-8. His kicking service and steady backhand pulled him through.

Ashe and Okker advanced another notch in doubles with a 6-3, 6-4 verdict over an Australian club pair but Davidson and Bowry stopped FitzGibbon and McManus 6-3, 6-4. Mrs. Graebner and Nancy Richey of Dallas, eliminated Helen McKenzie and Theresa MacKay of Australia 6-1, 6-2 in their doubles encounter. Miss Richey is not playing singles here because of muscle strains in her left leg.

Ashe Meets Bowry Okker, whose mid-court smashes kept him in the running, was eliminated when one of his powerful shots went out.

Ashe next plays Bill Bowry of Australia, who gained the round of four with triumphs over Brian Walsh of Australia in the third round and over Richard Russell of Jamaica, 11-9, 6-4, in the quarter-finals.

The other semifinal pits John Newcombe against Owen Davidson. Both are Australian. Davidson eliminated Herb FitzGibbon of Garden City, N.Y., in the round, 6-1, 10-8 while Newcombe stopped Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., 3-6, 11-9, 6-2.

Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., triumphed in the third round, 6-4, 6-3, over Allen Stone of Australia.

WASHINGTON—Football coaching jobs have not kept pace with the nation's expanding economy.

In almost every other occupational field, there is more and more room at the top for qualified men. In football, it's just the opposite. There is a greater-than-ever supply of good coaches, but fewer major jobs to absorb them.

Now, more than ever before, you almost have to know the right people and be in the right place at the right time to land one of the better positions. This can be mostly a matter of luck but the young coach can create some luck by seeing to it that he meets the right men.

That's why the annual convention of the American Football Coaches Association, held here this week, is important to the man who wants to move up.

IT'S IMPORTANT FOR two reasons. This is the place to meet the coaches, athletic directors and faculty athletic representatives who can help young men up the ladder. And it's a place to learn to be a better coach, which will result in a better record. That certainly is important, too.

This is convention of handshakes, lobby talk and long football sessions in a hundred different suites. If you wind up in the right one, it might establish a contact that will lead to something big some day.

It also is a convention of football lectures by the best coaches in the game at all levels—from the major universities to the high schools. There also are films and demonstrations. There is something valuable here for every coach, no matter what his job.

I know that luck can play a key role in a coaching career. I met Jim Tatum in the navy, and because of this he offered me an assistant job at Oklahoma in 1946. I very nearly didn't take it. But a year later, when Tatum resigned to go to Maryland, I was in the right place at the right time—luckily.

SURPRISINGLY, ONE of the men being discussed the most here is not a coach. He's Tom Matte, the Baltimore quarterback who filled in so amazingly well in the final three games of the season. The consensus is that Matte proved that pro quarterbacks can run successfully.

It long has been the popular opinion that pro quarterbacks shouldn't run even if they could, because of the risk of injury. I never have subscribed to this idea. It seems obvious to me that a quarterback is much less likely to be injured while running than while standing still, feet planted, as he throws the ball. In this position, he is a true sitting duck.

Dan Devine, Missouri's fine coach, put it succinctly. "As far as I'm concerned," he said, "Matte destroyed a myth. I believe you'll see many roll-out, running quarterbacks with the pros in the future."

DUFFY DAUGHERTY of Michigan State, nosed out of national championship and coach of the year honors, took it gracefully.

"Tommy (Prothro, of UCLA) deserves to be coach of the year," Duffy said. "He did a great job, and he never had won this honor before."

"We're disappointed that this year, for the first time, they didn't base the national title on the regular season. Alabama was the sharpest-looking bowl team, no question about that. But we had the best record, even including the bowl game. That's why we're disappointed."

JAN. 29 CONFLAB

Region One Coaches Meeting Set At Tech

The Region One coaches will have their annual meeting Jan. 29 at the Texas Tech campus. John McGuire, director, has announced.

Coaches in all sports are urged to attend the session because voting for coaches and nominating players for this year's Texas High School All-Star games will be made.

Registration will start at 8 p.m. in the Tech Student Union Building and at 9 a.m. lectures will start.

Football lectures for the one-day session will be given by Coach J. T. King of Texas Tech or members of his staff, plus Bill Spahn of Dumas, James Odom of Monterey and Colie Huffman of White Deer.

O'Banion To Speak
Basketball lecturers will be John Ehrig of Amarillo High, Max O'Banion of Lubbock High, Jerry Hale of Dumas, Gene Kins of Quitaque and Tom Gilley of Palo Duro.

Miking lectures on track will be Merv Fuquay of Caprock, James Harris of Phillips, and Lubbock, Monterey and Corona will be Abilene, Midland and Midland Lee.

The match is set to get underway at 11 a.m.

Representing Lubbock High in the match will be Carl Kirk, John Carpenter, Lyndell Spinks, Andy Kerr and Robert Benefield. Coronado's team members will be Freddy Smith, Ronnie MacFarland, Brad Robertson, Steve Furr and Kenny Lorenzen. Steve Furr and Kenny Lorenzen, from Monterey it will be Buddy McClung, Allen White, Frank Johnson, Billy Byrd and Billy Roy-crow.

TAYLOR TRADED
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Rangers sent left winger Ted Taylor to Baltimore of the American Hockey League Thursday. He played in four games for the National Hockey League club, collecting one assist.

MIDWESTERN JV
LCC Plays Tonight
Lubbock Christian College takes a short rest from Western Junior College Conference play here today when they host the Midwestern Junior Varsity team at 7:30 p.m. in the LCC Fieldhouse.

LCC is 8-6 for the year and 2-1 in league play. The Chaparrals resume loop warfare Saturday night in Clarendon against the Bulldogs.

Coach Lester Perrin's cagers are led by Robert Evans, who is scoring at a 27 point clip this year thanks to his second 41-point performance Monday night in the 99-96 win over New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell.

Joining the Hobbs sophomore in the starting lineup will be Jim Harp, who is tossing 'em in at an 18-point average; Ernest Chessire, Gene Hight and Marvin Levels, all averaging over 10 points a game.

Evans and Harp are the top scorers in WJCC circles and Evans is averaging 10 field goals a contest. Evans is third in Region V scoring with a 26-point average as one of the contest results didn't count under regional regulations.

Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor Districts 3-AA and 4-AA open play for keeps tonight with key games on tap at Friona and Post, while other important contests are slated at Stanton, Crosbyton, Dumas, Springlake, Ropesville, Shallowater and Jayton.

The winner of the Abernathy-Friona contest is slated to battle it out with Dimmitt for the 3-AA crown, while the Slator-Post victor will contend with Denver City for the 4-AA marbles.

Sudan, Springlake Vie
Sudan and Springlake, first round winners in 3-A Tuesday night, battle it out at Springlake, while Lorenzo goes to Crosbyton in a key 4-A contest.

Lorenzo is currently leading 4-A with a 3-0 record and is a game ahead of Crosbyton, Petersburg and Idalou, so a victory tonight would put the Hornets in pretty good shape because Idalou and Petersburg are playing at Petersburg.

Seagraves and Stanton both won their 5-A games tonight and the winner is assured of at least a tie for first place unless Wink loses to Plains, then the victor would be in the top spot.

McAdoo Meets Jayton
Tulia and Dumas lock horns in a key 1-AAA game tonight, while Ropesville and Meadow play for the 8-B lead. Cooper is at Shallowater in a big 9-B game and both are unbeaten although Cooper has played just one loop contest and Shallowater has three under its belt.

McAdoo goes to Jayton in a battle of undefeated teams in 11-B and this one is what many in the circuit feel will go a long way in naming the loop champion.

However, Roaring Springs is undefeated, too, and could play a big role in naming the champion. It plays at Girard tonight.

Levelland stands alone in the 3-AAA race after beating Lamesa Tuesday night and the Tors are in Lake View for a battle with the twice-beaten Chiefs.

Down in 2-AAA, Seminole tries to stay alive when it meets Peecos, and Kermit tries to stay unbeaten when it tangles with Fort Stockton. Andrews, also unbeaten, is playing a non-loop game with Denver City tonight.

Drake Throttles
Touted Bradley
PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Drake's Bulldogs throttled the fifth-ranked Bradley Braves with stubborn zone defense Thursday night and captured a 75-66 Missouri Valley Conference basketball triumph.

Drake, now 1-2 in the conference and 6-6 overall, grabbed a 36-21 halftime lead after the Braves hit only three field goals in the first 14 minutes.

Harold Jeter collected eight of his total 21 points in the first half and his out-shooting, along with that of John Mayes, who hit a total of 13 points, were Drake's main weapons.

Other double figure scorers for the winners were Hal Aldridge with 14, Herman Watson and Bob Netolicky, each with 10.

Bradley tied the score three times at 2-2, 48-48 and 50-50. Allen's tip-in made it 48-48, but Irwin Cox put Drake ahead 50-48. Willie Betts' 10-footer made it 50-50. Jeter then hit 10-foot and 12-foot corner shots, and Drake burst ahead to stay. The closest Bradley came after that was 68-62 at 1:35.

Drake's dominance in the first half was underlined by capturing 28 rebounds to Bradley's eight. The Bulldogs wound up with a 51.3 field goal percentage on 34 out of 66 shots while the Braves made only 28 of 80 for 35.0. Bradley now has a 3-1 conference mark and 14-2 for the season.

Aaron has been on the pro tour since 1960 and although he hasn't won a title he's done all right financially. Last year he was 16th on the PGA money list with $44,829 in official winnings.

Bill Casper, who lost in a playoff with Ellis last year, came in with 34-36-70. Also at 70 was Al Geiberger, 35-35, who played the round with his good luck charm tucked in his golf cap.

It is a plastic bird which Geiberger's 2-year-old daughter Lee Ann gave him Wednesday. Geiberger proceeded to win first money of $500 in the pro-amateur competition.

Dallas Plans New Stadium
DALLAS (UPI)—Two plans for new stadiums in Dallas were discussed by sports fans Thursday at one of the 55,000-seat roofed downtown stadium and the other a 75,000-party covered stadium at Fair Park.

Clint Murchison, owner of the Dallas Cowboys, made public an architect's sketch Wednesday of the downtown arena. It would be located near the Municipal Auditorium and be part of a three-building complex, to be financed partly through city bonds and partly through private investment.

Officials of the State Fair of Texas ordered a study last year of costs of improving the Cotton Bowl. Estimates of $20 million to modernize the stadium were considered prohibitive by some, leading to the plan to build a new one.

It would have theater-type seats and be at ground level, sunken in a bowl shape. The new stadium at Fair Park also would be semi-domed and have cover from goal post to goal post over spectator stands.

Plans also called for a series of lakes, new parking areas around the fairgrounds and rehabilitation of slums in the area. Joseph Rucker Jr., executive vice president of the State Fair, said plans for overhauling the entire park as well as the stadium are being worked on.

Duke Defeats Terps, 76-61
DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Duke's Blue Devils broke open a tight Maryland defense early in the second half and went on to bomb the deliberate Terps 76-61 in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game Thursday night.

The Terps had held the lead several times in the early going, but when the No. 1 ranked Blue Devils found the range at 14-12 with 10 minutes left in the first half, Maryland never was in front again.

New Power Play Stirs In Indonesia

LONDON (AP) — A new power-crunch is shaping up in Indonesia, with President Sukarno...

Authorities have based their figures on reports received from their own diplomatic missions in Jakarta...

At least 45 of the 50-member Central Committee of Indonesia's Communist party, have been reported shot, or killed in other ways.

EISENHOWER MOVES TO SECOND PLACE

Johnson Chosen 'Most Admired' Man For Second Straight Year

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion. For the third consecutive year, President Lyndon Johnson is the overwhelming choice of Americans as the "Most Admired Man" in the world today.

largest number of mentions, followed by the Rev. Billy Graham and Pope Paul VI.

The real master of the country is the defense minister, Gen. Nasution, who escaped assassination Sept. 30 by scaling his garden wall.

Believe It Or Not

7 SARACEN SKULLS FOUND ON THE BATTLEFIELD OF POTTERS IN 732 AND PLACED IN A NICHE IN THE CATHEDRAL OF MAULIERS. FRANCE ARE THE ONLY REMNANTS OF THAT VANISHED CITY STILL IN PERFECT CONDITION.

GREAT PITCHERS OF ABRERA. 2 HUGE POTS, EACH WEIGHING 66 LBS. ARE FILLED TO THE BRIM WITH WINE AND ANY PASSEBY CAN DRINK HIS FILL.

CROCODILES CONSIDERED SACRED BY THE ANCIENT EGYPTIANS WERE PRESERVED BY EMBALMING THEM IN A SHEATH OF THEIR OWN TANNED HIDE.

These were filled by Richard Nixon, Vice President Hubert Humphrey and former President Harry Truman.

At the end of every year since 1946 the Gallup Poll has asked this question of a representative sample of the nation's adults.

What man that you have heard or read about, living today in any part of the world, do you admire the most?

- Most Admired Man - 1965: 1. Lyndon B. Johnson, 2. Dwight D. Eisenhower, 3. Robert F. Kennedy, 4. Rev. Billy Graham, 5. Pope Paul VI, 6. Martin Luther King, 7. Richard M. Nixon, 8. Hubert H. Humphrey, 9. Barry M. Goldwater, 10. Harry S. Truman.

Examination of the public's choices throughout the years always shows a heavy predominance of persons associated with politics and government.

- Most Admired Man - 1964: 1. Lyndon B. Johnson, 2. Sir Winston Churchill, 3. Dwight D. Eisenhower, 4. Rev. Martin Luther King, 5. Robert F. Kennedy, 6. Barry M. Goldwater, 7. Rev. Billy Graham, 8. Adlai E. Stevenson, 9. Dr. Albert Schweitzer, 10. Pope Paul VI.

Many other men received mention in this survey. They include, in alphabetical order: Konrad Adenauer, David Ben-Gurion, Leonard Bernstein, Frank Borman, Willie Brandt, David Brinkley, Jimmy Brown, Ralph Bunche, Chiang Kai-Shek, Gov. John Connally, Walter Cronkite, Bing Crosby, Charles DeGaulle, Everett Dirksen, Walt Disney, Hugh Downs, Ludwig Erhard, John Glenn, Arthur Godfrey, Dick Gregory, Cary Grant, Mark Hatfield, J. Edgar Hoover, Bob Hope, Joseph Kennedy, Edward Kennedy, John Lindsay, Art Linkletter, Henry Cabot Lodge, Mickey Mantle and Robert McNamara.

Also, Norman Vincent Peale, Linus Pauling, Ronald Reagan, Walter Reuther, Rev. Oran Roberts, Nelson Rockefeller, George Romney, Dean Rusk, Bertrand Russell, Dr. Jon Salk, Carl Sandburg, Walt Whitman, J. Willard Marriott, Rev. Fulbright, J. Sheen, Alan Shepard, Frank Sinatra, John Steinbeck, Lowell Thomas, U. Thant, Johnny Unitas, George Wallace and Robert Welch.

Better Business Bureau To Meet

Installation of 1966 officers for the Lubbock Better Business Bureau will be made at a luncheon today in the Hemphill-Wells Hob Nob Room, Monterey Center, according to Tom Watson, manager of the bureau.

Rex Webster, retiring president, will preside in installation ceremonies, and Robert L. Snyder, 1966 president, will hear reports to conclude the board meeting.

New officers include Snyder; Alex Miller, 1st vice president; E. K. Hufstader, 2nd vice president; and C. H. Cummings, treasurer.

New directors are Robert B. Gaffga, Owen Hamilton, J. R. (Bob) Hancock, Joe R. Horkey, M. P. J. Minter and J. C. Rickman.

City Man Is Named To Tourist Board

A Lubbock businessman was among six new members elected to the Texas Tourist Council Board of Directors during a recent meeting of the council in Austin.

D. F. Eaton, owner of Eaton Motor Co. in Lubbock, was named to help direct the privately financed enterprise devoted to increasing tourist traffic to and from Texas.

Robert W. Kneebone of Houston was elected president of the council.

Power Destroyed

British, American and Malaysian authorities are convinced, however, that the power of Indonesia's Communist party has been temporarily destroyed by the wholesale slaughter of its leadership, organizers and key agents.

With three million members before last September it was rated the world's second largest. Today it is reported down to a hard core of less than 200,000.

Fragments of the story still are trickling through to Western capitals where diplomats are trying to piece together the jigsaw.

The tale these diplomats tell includes such sidelights as: —In the island of Bali nearly 4,000 Reds and their friends were killed during the last 10 days of 1965. Troops in helicopters were hurried to restore order.

Known Leaders Out —The army has claimed officially to have killed or arrested all the known leaders of the Oct. 1 uprising.

—Red China since has suspended all aid and trade, running in value to scores of millions of dollars, with Indonesia, while Soviet leaders are on good terms with Nasution and have provided him with arms, though Pravda has denounced the Communist party.

Nasution's cold hatred of the Reds is explained in part by the death of his 5-year-old daughter as a result of the Oct. 1 coup. She was wounded and died within a week.

Dinner Slated For Jan. 26

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Chief Justice Earl Warren will be honored at a formal White House dinner Jan. 26.

A dinner for the Vice President, the Chief Justice and Speaker of the House is an annual White House social event.

However, the White House said Thursday Speaker John W. McCormack has asked to be excluded from this year's event because he is in mourning for younger brother, Donald McCormack, who died last week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, said a smaller gathering will be held later in the year for McCormack and his wife.

City Man Fined In County Court Case

Timothy W. Thompson, 18, 223 Indiana, entered a plea of guilty to an aggravated assault with a motor vehicle charge before Judge Pat Moore in County Court-at-Law No. 2 here Thursday and was fined $100 and court costs.

Judge Moore set bonds for two other defendants that pleaded not guilty in misdemeanor cases. Placed under bond were James Stephenson, 26, Rt. 1, Lubbock, charged in the breaking of a window of a truck owned by Texas Floral Co., and Mrs. John T. Haynes, 40, 4714 40th St., charged with check law violation.

TO HURT LINDSAY'S CAREER?

Strike's Political, Economic Effects Still Not Measured

NEW YORK (AP) — The subway and bus strike already has cost an estimated $500 million to $800 million, but the long-range political and economic effects still are to be measured.

Mayor John V. Lindsay put the over-all economic cost at "upward of $500 million," a severe blow to the new mayor's hope of wiping out big city budget deficits.

The Commerce and Industry Association estimated the cost at $800 million. The strike seemed likely to affect the political career of

State Office Bid Rejected

BY ROBERT HEARD. AUSTIN (AP) — State Sen. Gallaway Calhoun of Tyler tried to file for attorney general at Democratic headquarters Thursday and, like Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio last Monday, was turned down.

Will Davis, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee said Calhoun's senatorial term overlaps the attorney general's term he seeks.

Confrontation Friendly. Calhoun said he would file for a writ of mandamus with the state Supreme Court as soon as possible. His attorney, Dan Moody Jr., said it probably would not be possible to file for the writ before Friday morning.

The Davis-Calhoun confrontation was friendly and was preceded and followed by light banter.

Davis knew Calhoun was coming. He had a printed letter ready for him.

In the letter Davis argued that Calhoun's election to a four-year term in 1964 placed him in a constitutionally prohibited position of seeking an office the pay for which was increased while he was a member of the legislature.

Confident Of Running. Even if last year's reapportionment plan has the effect of shortening Calhoun's elective term — by merging his senatorial district with Longview Sen. Jack Strong's — the shortened term would expire only after the canvassing committee meets on the second Monday of next January, Davis said.

The attorney general's term would begin Jan. 1. Calhoun said he was confident his name would appear on the ballot for the Democratic primary in the attorney general's race.

"We're satisfied there's no overlap in my senatorial term and the term of the attorney general," he said.

PARIS — France will try a new type of subway car.

Fare Raise Due?

The Republican liberal, 44, appeared to have weathered the first test well — but what if he must raise the 15-cent transit fare?

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a Republican seeking re-election this year, announced he will ask the legislature for $100 million more in state aid to the city. He said it would help save the 15-cent fare and make up for the strike-caused revenue losses.

Organized labor in general was wondering if it got a black eye from the conduct of the strike by the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union and its president, Michael J. Quill.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said he thought labor was harmed.

Politicians were talking about possible new antistrike laws, and union leaders wondered about labor's drive to repeal authorization for state statutes banning the union shop.

But the Transport Workers Union claimed a great victory. Working people in low economic levels were hardest hit by the strike because they were least able to get to their jobs.

The loss of wages boosted jobless benefit applications 50 percent above normal. The long-range effect on welfare rolls and tensions in the Negro and Puerto Rican neighborhoods was still unknown.

The garment industry centered in New York reported 50,000 of its 180,000 workers idled, and deliveries cut by 40 percent.

As a result, milady in Wichita and Walla Walla might not get her new bonnet and suit in time for Easter.

The strike had some good effects. Police reported a drop in crime. Hotel and auto parking business was up, as were the shoe, bicycle and roller skate sales.

Just In Time. The end came just in time for some Manhattan hotels, who were flagnag to get rid of strikebound local guests so they could honor reservations for 5,000 retailers and 10,000 clothing buyers, arriving for spring fashion showings.

The stock exchanges planned to continue early closing through Friday, despite end of the strike. Since last Thursday both the New York and American exchanges have been closing at 2 p.m. instead of 3:30 p.m. to allow employees to get a head start on the homeward rush.

The early closing hampers stock-buying by Western investors, whose clocks are three hours behind New York, but the exchanges continued it through this week, apparently because of a paper-work jam.
